Community Building Called Entirely Feasible by Couse

We have received a constructive letter from Mr. Walter L. Couse, which takes exception to some of the things that were said in this column on Dec. 18 about renewed interest in a Northville Community Building. Our comment then was that some members of the Village Commission are interested in going ahead with such a building on a more modest scale than was envisioned earlier last year when the project was tentatively tabled because of its estimated cost of approximately $525,000. We expressed the opinion that it was better to go ahead with a less expensive building that was within the Village's financial capacity than to continue postponing construction until enough money had been saved to pay for it in cash.

Mr. Couse makes some excellent points which we gladly endorse in principle. We hope something can be worked out along the lines he suggests. His letter follows:

"In reading your issue of December 18th, and more particularly your column 'For The Record', I was quite upset by your references and discussions on the developments of the community building, et al. I know of your intense interest in the Village of Northville and in this community building and the developments in the school building program, so that I know that your remarks were not intended to be such as to discourage these developments. However, there were statements made in this editorial which, because of its circulation throughout the entire Northville area, will be taken as fact and all-conclusive by those in this area, and will have a tendency toward the wrong overall impression on what the plans of the building and estimates for same cover and what has already been done toward accomplishing the new community building. In fact, I have already heard them so stated as fact.

Cost Is For Over-All Program

"To begin with, your reference to, 'the astronomical total of upwards of half a million dollars,' for a community building is not correct. Such figures as were given to the Village Council and School Board last spring were for an overall program, including the community building, a new boiler house and heating set-up for the high school, which is now long overdue, and also the remodeling of the high school itself making possible the development of at least six new classrooms or laboratory rooms, improved toilet facilities and other conditions. This would do away with the need for a new high school building at this time and save the taxpayers the cost of such a structure.

"A new high school building alone would cost as much, if not more than this whole program, including the community building, boiler room alterations and high school revisions. The plans, as prepared previously, were not altered last spring or redrawn to include village offices and village jail and other features. Also, those plans are flexible enough that the entire building need not be built at this time, but certain sections of it could be postponed if necessary to meet the financial possibilities of the Village. Also, there are features of the building that could be reduced in cost and made in keeping with present day architectural developments and still leave all the community building. That this Village will require for many years to come, and will still be in keeping with good architectural workmanship.

Plans Were Carefully Drawn

"You refer to a group making a study to tie the community building and the school together in new plans. These present plans were not developed haphazardly, but were the result of six to eight months of work and study by the members of your Northville Planning Commission existing at that time, the Northville School Board, including Mr. Amerman, your Northville Village Commission and other interested citizens and groups who were drawn in because of their knowledge of the requirements and desires of the community. Many community buildings and schools in this area of the state were visited on trips of investigation by this overall planning group and many architects' works were inspected and their ideas discussed and incorporated in the final plans that were drawn. All this was done at no expense to the Village. Then, the Village spent several thousands of dollars in architect's fees on these plans and their final development, half of which was gotten from the State of Michigan through the solicitation of the writer for funds which were on hand at Lansing for so-called postwar planning. This program, after many trips to Lansing by myself, was included under that postwar planning program and nearly $3,000 given to Northville by the State for the preparation of these plans. Part of this money that normally would have gone to the Northville Township and the School Board for their own use, but was waived by them at our solicitation, because it was felt the purpose of this community building was for the community as a whole, and they waived these funds so that they might be used in the drawing of these plans.

"It seems regrettable to me that all of this work by many people in Northville, who thought it out carefully and for a long range period, and that all of these funds, already spent, should be entirely thrown out the window and a new program started, new plans developed and new architectural drawings made, for which the architect, whether he be the old one or a new one, will charge several thousands of dollars more to develop same. The present plans can be made use of with slight alterations and changes to conform to the funds that the Village might make available for construction of this structure, or sections of this building can be deferred for later construction when more funds are available. All these facts have been brought out at meetings of the Commission and other assemblies but are apparently now forgotten.

No Change in Plans

"You state, 'Now the Village Commission is thinking in terms of a community building that can be used jointly by the schools and various Village groups.' This was always the thinking from the inception of this project and the plans now developed are based on that thinking. You state further, 'it is hoped that this can be built with the approximately $180,000 fund that has been saved over the past few years from the $500 per day which Northville Downs pays Northville during the racing season. This is a sensible approach that may lead to construction of a building that is within the Village's financial means.'

"I would agree with you that such hopes are ideal, but I also feel that over-optimism so widely circulated as this one will have been, and possibly so widely accepted, will only lead to greater confusion and disappointment when they cannot be realized. The program and building plans that were developed were definitely based on a building for the common use of the Village and the schools. The thinking of the overall committee was that more good could be accomplished by building a larger gymnasium which could be used likewise as an auditorium and general assembly hall for community and school alike, because both of these were definitely needed. As a result the present areas now making up the gymnasium and adjacent rooms in the present high school could be made into classrooms and laboratories at a much lesser cost than the building of an entire new school. The thinking of the fifteen to twenty men who made up the overall group that developed these existing plans was toward the building of a structure to house a new and larger gymnasium, which everyone knows we need, which gymnasium could also be used as an auditorium, which everyone likewise knows we need, both of them fireproof and meeting all of the requirements that the Village could ask for in the need for basketball and other interior sports, as well as for community banquets or dinners, community meetings of large size. Also areas were made available for the band which is really a community project as well as a school project, the boy scouts, the girl scouts and all of the other community units of common endeavor, as well as a cafeteria for the school's use.

"All of these things were planned on in this building. You will necessarily have to plan on the same things in a new program that might be considered. Believe me, Mr. Cummings, I know that our company is very aware of what buildings cost today, and to feel that you can accomplish all of this, or anything that will hope to include a common gymnasium and auditorium, as well as a heating plant and other facilities of a community nature of a size required for Northville within $180,000, is just not being realistic.

Delay Has Been Expensive

"This entire structure could have been built at the time of its planning within the $180,000 now available, and would have been (Continued on Back Page)

Enforce No Parking Regulation

Chief Joseph Denton warned Monday that Northville police officers have begun ticketing automobiles parked on village streets between the hours of 2:30 and 6:30 a.m. in a drive to clear the streets to facilitate snow removal and cleaning.

Large "No Parking" signs have already been posted on trees and posts on most village streets forbidding parking during the early morning hours, following authorization by the village commission Dec. 15.

Chief Denton said he hoped villagers will cooperate with the no-parking plan and avoid the many tickets which will become necessary if the order is ignored. Car owners themselves, he pointed out, will benefit most by the plan. Decent parking spaces in the downtown area will always be available if cars are kept off the streets to allow village crews to clear away new-fallen snow before it is piled and packed by car tires the next morning.

Streets Superintendent Herman Hartner, Jr., said at the Dec. 15 meeting that the work of his crews would be greatly lessened if they had a chance to get at new snow before traffic prevented effective removal.

ON JOB FAST

When snow falls during the night and early morning, he said, the crews get to work as soon as possible. They first clear away snow from the centers of streets so traffic can maintain traction. The crews then begin working on curb areas.

It's here they run into trouble if cars are parked all night.

"All the snow plowed out of the center of the street has to go somewhere," he said, "and where, it usually goes is against the wheels of cars parked along the curbs. We don't have time to stop and shovel it up. That has to wait until the centers of the streets are cleared."

If cars are parked off the streets, Mr. Hartner explained, the scraper crews can make fast sweeps down each side of the streets and clear them from side to side, providing clear parking space for cars in the morning.

Methodists to Hear Southern Doctor

Dr. Robert F. Thomas, M.D., superintendent of Pittman Center, Sevierville, Tenn., will speak at the First Methodist Church in Northville Sunday, Jan. 11, in the 11 a.m. service.

Pittman Center is the first southern mountain project established by the Board of Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Church.

From 1926 until 1942, when he was made superintendent, Dr. Thomas was in charge of medical work and health education at the Center. He was the first graduate doctor to serve the large mountain area and for a number of years made all his calls on foot and horseback.

Working patiently among the mountain people, he has helped to break down superstition, has won their confidence and respect and now his services are sought by people within a 15 to 25-mile radius of the Center, said a Board of Missions representative.

He is now invited to "light, sup and stay all night" in almost any house in the valley, where he has regarded suspiciously 15 years ago.

Retail Merchants Plan Dinner-Dance

The first Retail Merchants Association dinner-dance will be held Saturday, Jan. 31, at the Hawthorne Valley Country Club at 8 p.m.

Verne Stephenson and his orchestra will play for dancing following the dinner.

The dinner-dance is open to the public. Tickets may be purchased from Sid Junod, Harvey and Dick Ritchie, who have made arrangements for the affair, or from other members of the association.

Maybury San Teacher Honored

Even tuberculosis can't keep children at Maybury Sanatorium from getting their full share of education. Not when they have a teacher like Ethel Cameron.

In recognition of her skill and for the unique role she plays in the lives of her students, Miss Cameron has been selected as the January Teacher-of-the-Month by the Detroit Teachers Association.

"Tuberculosis can't keep these children from school. They have a real need for self-confidence, security and hope for the future," says Miss Cameron.

Teaching the kindergarten and first grade classes at Northville Sanatorium School, she works in a hospital atmosphere in which the primary emphasis is on the physical condition of each child. Miss Cameron finds, then, that teaching is resolved to an individual basis. Porters push the children's

EMPHASIS ON CONDITION

School is a link with home for these children. Many keep up their studies during their illness and return to public schools without loss of time. Others get remedial help and achieve goals they thought were impossible. Their minds are kept alert so they will be ready to return to a normal pattern of living after leaving the sanatorium.

The educational program for these children varies depending upon individual needs and physical ability. Singing is limited; physical education is non-existent. Yet an observer sees children keeping rhythm by clapping their hands, others reciting, and even—once in a while—a healthier boy or girl bounding in bed.

CAN'T LEAVE BEDS

Miss Cameron's colleagues say the quiet, pleasant, unemotional and helpful way in which she teaches is inspiring. The children look forward to her coming with anticipation. Their eyes begin to sparkle as soon as they see her in her white coat. To them she represents a happy part of the day.

NEW TECHNIQUES

Miss Cameron has devoted hours to working out techniques and methods best suited to youngsters of low vitality and limited physical ability.

The entire educational program is under the jurisdiction of the Detroit Board of Education and the children find that they can adapt themselves quite easily to the methods and techniques used in other schools.

Miss Cameron is a native Detroit who was graduated from Teacher's College and later received her Bachelor of Science degree from Wayne University. She had taught in various elementary schools in Detroit prior to her present assignment.

A reception honoring Miss Cameron was held yesterday, Jan. 7, at 4:15 p.m. in the Hall of Citizenship of the Detroit Historical Museum.

Holly Cagers Here for Game Friday

The Northville High School basketball team will begin the 1953 leg of its current cage season by entertaining Holly at the local high school gym Friday, Jan. 9.

Coach Dick Kay's quintet will go into the game with a two and one record, the only defeat coming at the hands of Brighton by two points in December.

Coach Stan Johnston's reserves will lay their first game at 7 p.m. against the Holly reserves. The varsity match will follow at 8:30 p.m.

Bell, Wooten Win Ping Pong Crown

Bud Bell and Joe Wooten teamed up to carry off top honors in the doubles ping pong tournament played Saturday, Jan. 3 under sponsorship of the Recreation Department.

Paul Schultz and John Funk were runners-up, with Bill Deitz and Roger Nicotell. Philip Kearney and Darwin Teshka getting to the semi-finals.

The S. L. Brader Department Store awarded each of the winners a bright bow tie.

TO RAISE $40,000

The program to raise $40,000 toward the restoration of what is thought to be the oldest church building in the Detroit area was launched last Sunday morning when the Rev. Charles Riley, a specialist in pastoral visitation, preached at the Presbyterian Church service.

Rev. Riley will spend the rest of January visiting in the homes of the parish. Plans now call for work to be started on the sanctuary in the early part of the spring, although contributions to the fund are being received over a three year period.

Dr. Wilbur H. Johnston is the general chairman and Ed C. Welch is treasurer of the Building Fund campaign.

beds from the wards down the corridors into a large auditorium where Miss Cameron sets up school at eight o'clock each morning. The classroom is shared with another teacher. A screen separates the two classes.

Since the children are not permitted to leave their beds, Miss Cameron goes from bed to bed, distributing materials and giving assistance. The large room houses 20 to 25 hospital beds with children doing their lessons on their lap boards. Others are lying flat on wooden frames doing their assignments.

Miss Cameron's colleagues say the quiet, pleasant, unemotional and helpful way in which she teaches is inspiring. The children look forward to her coming with anticipation. Their eyes begin to sparkle as soon as they see her in her white coat. To them she represents a happy part of the day.

Rileys Injured in Auto Collision

In one of Northville's earliest automobile collisions Jan. 1, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Riley were injured when their car was struck by another at the intersection of Main and Center streets about 3:15 a.m.

According to the police report, a car driven by Donald C. Ramin, of 14948 Sorrento, Detroit, was travelling west on Main at about 40 miles per hour. Thinking he had the green light, he drove into the car driven by Mr. Riley, who had been traveling south on Center St. on the green signal.

Mr. Riley suffered head lacerations and a leg injury. Mrs. Riley sustained a sprained back and leg bruises, police said.

Mr. Ramin was given a reckless driving ticket by Officer Frank J. Heintz, who arrived immediately at the scene of the accident.

Play Group Hears Mental Health Talk

Mrs. Carolyn Seefeldt, Social Welfare director at Northville State Hospital, stressed the importance of the first five years of a child's life in forming a healthy mental background in a talk before the Northville Cooperative Play Group Monday night at the First Presbyterian Church.

Evidence of this, she said, is that mental patients frequently return to childish ways and, when under the influence of drugs or hypnosis, they often refer to incidents arising in their childhood.

OWN AGE GROUP

Mrs. Seefeldt also pointed out that play with children of his own age is important to the development of a child and that a Cooperative Play Group can thus be valuable, especially to children living in neighborhoods where they have playmates in their age group.

A Play Group can also be important in providing a good choice of play activities and standards of behavior, she said.

SECOND SECTION

The Northville Play Group is now accepting applications for a second section which is to meet on Tuesday and Thursday of each week. The first section, which meets Monday, Wednesday and Friday, is already full, caring for 20 children.

Parents wishing to enroll their children—between the ages of two-and-a-half and five—should telephone either Mrs. Clinton Russell at Northville 653-W for information, or Mrs. Clifton D. Hill at Northville 127.

The Play Group meets at the First Presbyterian Church from 9 to 11 a.m.

Township Association Fails in Bid to Halt 'City Petitions'

An attempt by the Township Improvement Association to stop circulation of petitions which would place the city-village question on the ballot was defeated Monday night by the Village Commission.

The Association had submitted a petition of its own, asking the Commission to order the city group circulating the city-village petitions to stop. The Commission refused the request, telling the Association that it has no right to stop any group from circulating petitions, that it only has a right to act on petitions after they have been submitted to the Commission.

Woodworth Buys Record Building

Statements in the Association's petitions which inferred that Village Attorney James E. Littell was acting improperly in connection with the city group were emphatically denied by Mr. Littell.

He pointed out that he has no connection with the group and that the only service performed by him was in making a request to the State Attorney General for an opinion on whether or not an incorporated village can legally become a city. In doing this, he was acting on behalf of the Commission.

Mr. Littell stated that he has never attended meetings of the city group or received any money or any other kind of reward from the group.

Members of the Township Association later said that they had not meant to question Mr. Littell's reputation but that they did not want to see a village official paid for services to a group opposed to theirs with taxpayers' money.

3 POINTS

The Association, led by A. E. Northup, of Spring Drive, and C. Don Hix, president of the Association, struck out at the group which favors changing Northville from a village to a city on three primary points:

1. They questioned the legality of the group's actions.

2. They took issue with the nature of the "survey" being made by a Plymouth civil engineer describing the boundaries of the proposed city.

3. They charged that confusion exists regarding the status of the so-called "City Incorporation Committee" and asked that the Commission clarify the matter.

Mr. Northup claimed the city group is acting illegally and attacked the information on the city-village question provided by the Michigan Municipal League. The Association representatives were then told by Commissioner John Stubenvoll that if the city group makes mistakes, the errors will have to be decided in court, that the Commission has no power to decide such questions.

ATTACK SURVEY

The "survey" attacked by the Association is the one made by Herald Hamill, Plymouth civil engineer. Mr. Northup charged that the survey is not a physical one, in which instruments are used to measure mathematically the boundaries of the proposed city, but is only information gathered from existing plats and subdivision maps.

Mr. Hamill, in a telephone conversation with the Record Wednesday, said that a physical survey was not ordered, that he had compiled a description of the boundaries from existing plats and maps. Philip Ogilvie, attorney for the city group, said that the law does not require a survey, but only demands that "the proposed boundary be accurately and adequately described."

The group sought certification by a registered civil engineer only to assure that circulation of maps with their petitions would be correct.

"Any description given by us over our signature would be considered by us to be a proper one," Mr. Hamill said.

When questioned about the status of the city group insofar as the Commission is concerned, the Commission said that the group was originally activated to study the question of city versus village. When the group submitted its report to the Commission, it ceased to act with the Commission's sponsorship and became a free agent, acting only in behalf of those residents who desire the change of Northville from a village to a city.

Grade Children Attend Symphony

As part of the music appreciation program of the grade school, 22 sixth graders attended the Detroit Children's Symphony Concert at the Masonic Temple in Detroit yesterday morning, Jan. 7. The concert was one of a series of four sponsored by the Detroit Board of Education for schools in the metropolitan area. Valter Poole, the symphony's conductor, presented a program with a march theme.

Five thousand children from the sixth grade through high school grades are scheduled to attend the concerts. Yesterday's program will be re-broadcast over radio station WWJ Saturday morning.

The children went to Detroit in a school bus, and were supervised by Eleanor Peeke and Gertrude Martin, both grade school teachers.

2,000 Boy Scouts to Invade Park

Two thousand boy scouts of the Detroit Area Council's sixth district will invade Cass Benson Park Sunday for their annual "Yukon Trek".

They will split into teams of six to eight scouts each and drag homemade sledges from one end of the park to the other, solving scouting problems assigned to them as they go.

This will happen, that is, if there is snow. They want no repeat of last year's "Mud Trudge", when the sun unexpectedly melted the thin layer of snow.

Approximately five hundred cars will disgorge the scouts and their equipment on the Northville Downs parking lot between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., then move to the other end of the park to await completion of the trek.

As the scouts pull their sledges along, they'll solve problems in compass reading; first aid; rescue; judging heights and ages of trees; laying and lighting fires and cooking, and track identification at six stations along the route. Altogether, about a hundred troops will participate.

Rolling Down The River

by the PETZ BROS.

Well, we see by the paper it's a brand new year and not too much different than the one just past, no matter how you want to look at it. Of course, we've a brand new administration, but they haven't had a chance to warm up their pitcher, really, and the war in Korea, high prices, high taxes and some high gentlemen, who hung around a bar too long, the 31st, are still with us. The only difference between this year and last, as far as we can figure, is last year you could make a phone call for a nickle.

Last year we were selling the finest car that you could buy, the Studebaker, of course, and come to think of it, we still are, so nothing is changed, except that the car keeps getting more beautiful, keeps giving you better service and the fact that it has proven itself to be most economical to even a greater degree, than formerly, is strictly in our favor and is something you should remember, when it comes new car time in your family. Besides, we're giving a tremendous trade-in allowance this month, and if we were you, we'd get right down here and take advantage of us.

Did we remember to tell you of the gal that took a trip south this winter. She dropped the boy friend a card with the usual inscription, "wish you were here!" So the guy hops a plane and not too many hours later knocks on the door of the gal's room and when she opens, says, "in response to your card of the 6th."

Now that's what we call prompt service. Almost as prompt as the service you get around this establishment every time you bring the car in for a bit of lubrication, motor tune-up or some other incidental, that you should keep getting at regular intervals to be sure of a smoother operating car. Getting sort of snappy too, these brisk January days, so suggest that you bring the car in immediately and be sure it will continue to give maximum performance.

That's that, but we hear of a family with a lot of money, several cars and a daughter that just learned to drive. Threatened with the loss of privilege if she got a ticket, when a cop told her to pull over recently, she labeled the cost of the ticket thus in her checkbook . . . one pullover . . . $10.00.

Yours,

BILL and WILL PETZ.

Practical Nursing Class to Start in Ann Arbor Jan. 26

A new class in practical nursing will begin at the Ann Arbor Practical Nurse Education Center on Jan. 26 for women between the ages of 17 and 55, according to the Center's director, Miss Mae Edna Doyle.

For admittance to the course, a tenth grade education is required for girls under 25, and an eighth grade education, or its equivalent, for those over 25. The fee for the one-year course is $110.

Training will include a four-month period at the Ann Arbor Practical Nurse Education Center and seven-month period of 155 working days during which trainees will be assigned to an affliating hospital in Ann Arbor. Ypsilanti or Pontiac. While affliated with the hospital, student nurses earn $3.50 a day for a five-day week.

VARIETY OF WORK

A variety of work is open to the practical nurse in this area, according to Miss Doyle. Graduate practical nurses can care for the chronically ill, convalescent, handicapped, aged, mothers and newborn babies. Some jobs are available to the practical nurse in doctors' offices.

Practical nurses cannot substitute for registered nurses, but they can play an important part in the care of the sick and help their communities by releasing professional nurses for more skilled work.

"Practical nursing can offer a real opportunity to the older woman who wants a chance to contribute effectively to her community and to provide herself with added income," said Miss Doyle. "Younger women, too, find that practical nursing gives her security and a respected place in her community."

Ferguson to Renew Civil Rights Bills in 83rd Congress

Senator Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) today announced his intention to re-introduce two pieces of civil rights legislation in January during the early days of the new 83rd Congress.
Ferguson said he would put Anti-lynch and Anti-poll tax bills into the legislative hopper as soon as possible after the new session of Congress convenes. He has sponsored each of the bills in the previous sessions of Congress.

The Ferguson Anti-lynch bill is officially titled "a bill to provide for the better assurance of the protection of persons within the several States from lynching".
It received favorable action from the Senate Committee on the Judiciary in 1948 and again in 1949, during the 80th and 81st Congresses, but it never came to a vote on the floor.
"I will re-introduce the Anti-lynch bill in the form which was approved by the Senate Committee in the past because I believe that version meets every objection which has been raised with respect to the constitutionality of this type of legislation," Ferguson said.

The Ferguson Anti-poll tax bill is described as "a bill making unlawful the requirement for the payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite to voting in a primary or other election for national officers".
Similar legislation introduced by Senator Ferguson in the 81st and 82nd Congresses was never acted upon by the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration, to which the bill was referred.

Forester At Work

The pulpwood industry, long important in Michigan's economy, is currently experiencing a "slump" in production. Good logging weather of late has enabled mills to stockpile considerable pulp, so that little cutting is having to be done at present. Here conservation department forester Bernard McTiver scales the volume of pulp cut on state land in an upper peninsula woodlot. Cuttings on state lands are leased to commercial companies and part of the forester's job is to keep close check on such operations.

Ford Motor Company to Celebrate 50th Birthday with Numerous Events

Ford Motor Company is 50 years old this year.

To mark its 50th anniversary, the company has planned a series of commemorative events during 1953.

Highlight of the anniversary will be dedication of the company's $50,000,000 Engineering and Research Center in Dearborn, Mich. The ceremony is set for June 16, date of the company's incorporation in 1903. It will be followed by a state dinner to be attended by several hundred national figures.

BOOK IN APRIL

A pictorial book, "Ford at Fifty," will be published by Simon and Schuster in April. A portrait of an industrial enterprise taken in its 50th year, the book graphically depicts the American environment and the people who make possible the growth and success of such an institution.

Approximately 500,000 copies of the book will be produced. Each of Ford's 160,000 employees will receive one. The publication was edited by Joseph J. Thorndike, Jr., formerly managing editor of "Life," and was written by Joe McCarthy, former managing editor of "Cosmopolitan." Pictures for the book were taken by several noted photographers including Philippe Halsman, "Life" cover photographer.

The Ford Archives, largest institution of its type in industry, will be dedicated early in May. Some of the country's leading scholars, archivists, and historians are expected to attend the ceremony.

A motion picture, which centers around the anniversary theme, will be premiered in Dearborn during May.

ROTUNDA TO OPEN

The Rotunda, the world's largest privately-owned industrial display building, will be reopened as a public showplace around June 1. It was converted to an office building during World War II. Theme of its exhibit will be "Progressive Research and Engineering."

United States dealers will hold open-house programs for the public in June. Employees and their families will participate in "birthday party" events in the Detroit area and all branch locations in July and August.

Approximately 2,000,000 anniversary calendars, featuring Norman Rockwell illustrations were distributed in December. All Ford employees received copies. Ford's world-wide dealership organization distributed approximately 1,750,000 of the calendars, which were printed in seven languages.

Increased Performance in New Chevrolets

The low, sweeping lines of the 1953 Chevrolets are exemplified by this four-door sedan in the "Two-Ten" series, which this year offers increased performance, comfort and convenience in addition to a complete re-design. Apparent in this view are the enlarged front and rear vision, new fender and hood contours and a fresh grille treatment that enhance the rugged beauty of the cars. Four-door sedans are also available in the "One-Fifty" and the new Bel Air series.

Livonia Zoning Voters to Decide Dispute Feb. 16

Threatened by the municipal jumble of other planless cities, Livonia—Michigan's second largest city, in area—hopes to have its tangled zoning affairs straightened out in the Feb. 16 municipal election.

The 2½-year-old city's "model" ordinance, contrived after 17 months of consultation with experts, was effectively shelved last fall when two civic associations opposed it. Meanwhile Livonia has been leaning gingerly on the township zoning ordinance which City Attorney William W. Breashear "seriously doubts" would stand a legal test of its application to the city.

The two civic groups obtained a temporary injunction against the zoning ordinance adopted by the Council last November. The injunction was later withdrawn, but the objectors filed petitions for a referendum at the next election.

Elbert M. Hartom, president of the Northeast Livonia Civic Association, said his group disliked the ordinance because "it sets us in competition with Detroit by permitting too much heavy industry."

Hartom, a chicken farmer, envisions the sprawling, 36-square-mile suburb as the "bedroom" of the Motor City.

Livonia already boasts two large, modern auto plants within its wide-flung limits.

Breashear, speaking for the present city administration, contends the proposed ordinance provides good regulation for both industry and homes.

"It is better to get a plan established now," Breashear said, "and avoid future conflicts."

If the voters turn down the ordinance on Feb. 16, the Council will have to start from scratch on a new one.

Earth to Eclipse Moon on Jan. 29

A total eclipse of the moon Jan. 29 will be a feature of the astronomical events for this month.

The eclipse will take place when the full moon becomes totally immersed in the cone-shaped shadow cast by the earth, which means the earth will be right between the sun and moon. Such an eclipse happens about every six months.

According to Miss Hazel M. Losh, associate professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan, the first part of the eclipse will not be favorable for observation because the moon will first contact the shadow at 4:45 p.m., before the moon rises.

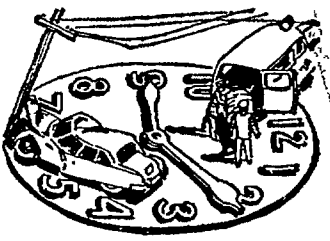

It will take more than an hour for the moon to go completely into the shadow. The middle of the eclipse is timed for 6:47 p.m., while 7:30 p.m. is when the moon will begin to leave the shadow.

The moon still will be visible throughout the event, however, for sunlight which filters through the earth's atmosphere will cause it to shine with a dull reddish light.

Miss Losh also indicates that on the evening of Jan. 17 in the southwest sky, Venus will pass above Mars at a distance of less than one-half the apparent diameter of the moon away, and on the next night the crescent moon will pass very close above both planets.

These two planets, bright and so close together in the sky, will appear as a brilliant double star and should attract more than usual attention.

GOP Already Seeking Candidate for Governor

By GENE ALLEMAN

With the dust barely settled on this year's state election, Republicans already are casting around for a gubernatorial candidate for 1954.

It's strictly conversational at this point, but at least five hopefuls are being considered as the next Republican governor. Oddly enough, Fred Alger, who lost the last election by a hair's breadth, isn't even being considered. Not only is he figured as being washed up in Michigan politics, but it is expected he will be offered a post in Washington by the new G.O.P. administration.

Names getting more than casual mention for the 1954 campaign are D. Hale Brake, who has made it no secret that he would like to be governor. Owen J. Cleary, new secretary of state and for four years chairman of the State Republican Central Committee, Donald S. Leonard, Detroit police commissioner, John B. Martin, Jr., auditor general and Frank G. Millard, attorney general.

Brake has served 10 years as treasurer of Michigan and eight years in the senate. He seriously considered entering the race for governor in 1950, but he is a strict party man and stepped aside for Harry F. Kelly, who Republicans thought would have a better chance against Williams.

Cleary had his eyes on states political office as far back as 1946 when he ran for lieutenant governor, and it is no secret that he considers his election as secretary of state a stepping stone to a higher office.

Don Leonard surprised the state when he piled up a substantial vote for governor in last year's primary. He now has a fine job as top banana in the Detroit police department but he would like to be governor, and many observers consider him the most likely to win the nomination two years from now.

John B. Martin has political ambitions. He served one term in the senate and jumped from there clear up to the auditor general's office. He lost out in the primary to Charles E. Potter when he took a crack at the U. S. senate, but he's by no means discouraged. He's not going to be content as auditor general for long.

Millard was the best vote-getter on the Republican state ticket last year, which is probably the only reason his name comes up here. He hasn't announced his intentions and isn't expected to for a good while yet. As attorney general, however, his name will keep popping up before the public Republican policy makers are very sensitive to anyone who can grab off a hatful of votes.

Now for the Democrats. Immediately the question is "will Williams run again if not who will succeed him?" It generally is conceded that Williams has a weather eye peeled for the U. S. senate seat of Homer Ferguson. Assuming that to be true, what Democrat has the vote-getting ability needed to win over any Republicans?

Blair Moody, who was appointed to the senate by Williams and then knocked out of the seat by Potter, may have a go at it. Philip Hart, federal district attorney, former corporation and securities commissioner and once candidate for secretary of state, is a good man to watch. George J. Burke, Jr., also is moving steadily forward in Democratic politics. Burke recently was reappointed chairman of the liquor control commission.

The entire question is purely speculative, but that's what is buzzing around the capitol these days. At least it makes for interesting conversation.

Michigan isn't the only state to spend more than its income. According to the Tax Foundation, a New York organization, 27 states in the U. S. are busily engaged right now in deficit spending. But Michigan was first and has remained most consistent. In 1946 Michigan was the only state with a deficit. By 1948 15 states were running in the red. And this state is the only one continuously operating with a deficit the last seven years.

Encouraging: Some 21 percent more women entered nurse's training in Michigan in 1952 as compared to 1951. This set a post-war enrollment peak of 1,674 women.

Sports Car Show Will Begin Jan. 9

The evolution of the sports car will be traced in a new exhibit at the Henry Ford Museum opening to the public on Friday, Jan. 9.

The show will feature about thirty European and American cars and will trace the sports car from a cutdown roadster of antique design to today's sleek competition models of watch-like precision.

The show is sponsored jointly by the Ford Motor Sports Club and the Henry Ford Museum.

The earliest car in the exhibition will be a special 1910 Ford which once topped 103 miles an hour and helped to open the sports car era. Other early cars will include a 1914 Thomas Flyer, a 1927 Mercedes and a 1929 Bu-gatti and M.G.

Modern sports models will be an American Nash-Healy and Cunningham; an Italian-made Fiat at 1100s, a Ferrari, and special Abarth Bertoni; a British Jaguar XK-120 and M.G., and a German Mercedes 540K.

The exhibition will be open for three weeks with movies showing sports cars in action the first day.

HERE you see pictured the Golden Anniversary ROADMASTER—engineered, styled, powered and bodied to be fully worthy of its paragon role in this fiftieth year of Buick building.

A quick listing of simple facts will reveal just cause for celebration.

- ★ It has the world's newest V8 engine. Vertical valves; 12-volt electrical system; 180 pounds lighter; entire engine is so compact, a new, more maneuverable chassis has been built around it.
- ★ It has 188 Fireball horsepower. A new Buick record; engine horsepower per pound increased 40%.
- ★ It has a compression ratio of 8.5 to 1. Highest compression on the American scene today; bettered fuel economy.
- ★ It has a dynamic-flow muffler. For the first time in automotive history, a muffler with zero power loss.
- ★ It has a new Twin-Turbine Dynaflo Drive. Now adds far swifter, quieter, more efficient getaway to infinite smoothness at all speed ranges.
- ★ It has new braking power. Most powerful braking action of any Buick in fifty years; plus the new ease of Power Brakes, optional at extra cost.
- ★ It has a still finer ride. The softest, steadiest, most buoyantly level ride that Buick's advanced engineering has yet produced.

It has, also, wondrous handling ease, with Power Steering as standard equipment. It has superb comfort. It has sumptuous fabrics and tailoring. And its acoustics are so thoroughly mastered that it may well be one of the world's most quiet cars.

But no listing of facts can do true justice to this phenomenal automobile, or to its brilliant brothers, the 1953 SUPERS and SPECIALS.

And no words can really tell you the beauty you see, the comfort you feel, the excitement you experience—when you look at and drive any one of these big, beautiful, bounteous Buicks for 1953.

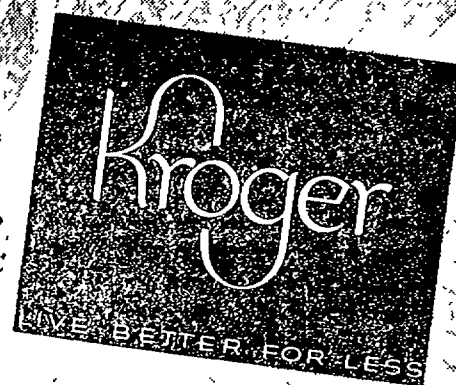

Will you come in and see for yourself that these are, in simple truth, Buick's greatest cars in five brilliant decades?

LIFE'S SHORT DAY

Five persons were asked the following question by Chicago Tribune's Inquiring Camera girl, "Are you doing what you really want to do with your life?"

A railroad rate clerk, a building engineer, a building owner and manager, a theater manager all answered "No".

A dress shop manager was the only one who said "Yes, I am." I do not know if this would prove to be the average ratio, but we do know that many people are forced through circumstances to accept positions which are not of their own choosing. It is regrettable that life's short day must be spent without being able to do with their lives what they really want to. But it is even more regrettable when one spends his entire life on earth without ever having rendered service for God and for eternity. We have seen the motto, "Only one life, 'twill soon be past, only what's done for Christ will last." In Colossians 3:23 we have this exhortation, "And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily (as unto the Lord, and not unto men; knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance; for ye serve the Lord Christ." Our first service is to be a witness of the glorious gospel of Christ. Is this your aim in life?

in use now for over four or five years and entirely paid for. We urged the Commission and the School Board to appoint a committee on financing to consummate this program of construction. The School Board were always ready to meet with the Village Commission, and the writer wrote two letters to the Village Commission at that time and begged them verbally at meetings to appoint a committee on finances to work with the School on this program. A committee was finally appointed. I believe one meeting was held and nothing more was done. The writer called to the attention of all concerned at that time, and many times since, the importance of doing the work as soon as possible because of the anticipated rise in costs. If it had been done then, it would have been entirely paid for by this time and we could be enjoying it for many years. If we continue to wait we are going to be meeting the same problem five years hence, maybe ten years hence, and wondering how we are going to finance it.

"If you build an inadequate building for the future, it will be years before the Village and the School Board and others in this area would be willing to tear down or add to what you have built and build one of adequate size and equipment to take care of your needs, not for today alone but for five years and ten years from now. This building should not be a Village of Northville building alone. It should encompass the requirements and needs of the entire area and school district, as well as Northville, and help in payment for same should come from the entire area. I believe as I felt then and urged many years ago, that such a program of financing could be accomplished in which the entire area is brought into the picture. This could be done by putting the responsibility on the School Board who can raise a bond issue that is spread over the township and its greatly enlarged school district in the community outside of Northville. The funds from these would naturally be supplemented by those already available and those to come from the racing set-up in the years to come. I sincerely believe that in the long run very little, if any, actual cost would accrue to the taxpayers in this area should this program be brought into being and followed through and consummated, as your racing program for many years to come will go far, if not entirely take care of all of the costs involved.

Costs Will Increase

"Further delays will definitely increase your costs. The ground work has been laid and much study has been given, the plans already available can be adjusted and this program can go ahead at once if the efforts of the community are intelligently coordinated.

"Again let us emphasize that the so-called 'astronomical total of upwards of a half million dollars' was not for the community building. It covered this building and the equivalent of a new six room school and a new boiler house, with a new heating system for the present high school to meet the fire code and laws of the State of Michigan. The laws for new schools today do not permit the boiler room inside the school as now exists in Northville. The new school alone would cost you that much if you went out and started from scratch.

"This has been a long letter I hope not too long, because it might help to clear up some of the misunderstandings that now exist in regard to this program, and I hope it will be an incentive for consummating this deal in which I and many others have placed great amounts of time, interest and hope for the benefit of Northville and the surrounding area and its enjoyment and pleasure."

Yours very truly,

Club to Sponsor Mental Health Film

A program of community-wide interest will be held Sunday evening, Jan. 11, at 8 o'clock when the movie, "Angry Boy," will be shown at the church house of the First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Philip N. Brown, medical superintendent at the Northville State Hospital, has been asked to lead a discussion of the film following its presentation.

The film is sponsored by the Michigan Department of Mental Health, and is considered one of the best approaches to a family discussion of sound mental health. It is the story of a ten-year-old boy, his home situation and the work of a children's center. Dr. Brown was instrumental in the filming of the picture.

The program will be sponsored by the Couples Club of the Presbyterian Church, with Clyde H. Williams, club president, presiding.
