Manning & Locklin Gravel Pit Approval Seems Likely

Manning & Locklin's petition for permission to open a new gravel pit on the 55-acre tract of land at the northwest corner of Center St. and Baseline Rd. probably will be acted upon favorably this week by the Novi Township Zoning Board of Appeals.

This became evident when none of the two dozen persons attending an adjourned hearing on the matter Tuesday evening, April 28, opposed approval of the gravel company's plan for removal of an estimated 1,000,000 cubic yards of gravel and rehabilitation of the property over a ten year period.

Meeting Is Peaceful

The meeting this week contrasted sharply with the original hearing in March, when a crowd estimated at 75 persons heckled the Appeals Board and other officials for appearing to favor the proposal. Not only was there no opposition this time, but several residents of Oakwood Subdivision adjacent to the gravel pit location told the Appeal Board that they have confidence in Mr. Perry Manning's plan for rehabilitation of the area and that they favor the contract that will be signed by Manning & Locklin and Novi Township officials.

This contract is better in three respects than the original one. James Erwin, chairman of the Zoning Appeals Board, pointed out. These are:

(1) It provides for setting aside 3 cents per cubic yard of gravel removed, against 1 1/2 cents proposed originally, for rehabilitation of the excavated area;

(2) The period allowed for removal of gravel and rehabilitation is reduced from 18 years asked for originally to ten years;

(3) Hours for operation of the property are to be from 6:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Fluoride Treatment to Be Resumed

With the consent of the parents of children in second, fifth and eighth grades of the Northville school, a sodium fluoride treatment clinic for the prevention of tooth decay will be held again this year, according to School Nurse Ruth Knapp, R.N. Letters advising parents of the program have been sent this week.

The program, instituted last year by the Michigan Department of Health, will be carried on with the approval and cooperation of local dentists, the Parent-Teachers Association and the Mothers Club, said Miss Knapp. Equipment will be loaned by the Department of Health which has appointed a hygienist from the University of Michigan to conduct the treatments.

Four visits to the clinic will be made over a two week period. Teeth are thoroughly cleaned and a series of four applications of fluoride is made to the surface of the teeth, the nurse reports.

A three dollar charge has been set to cover expenses, said clinic chairman, Mrs. Jack Reynolds.

Cancer Tag Day Set for Saturday

Volunteer workers in the Cancer Crusade have designated Saturday, May 2 as Tag Day in Northville. The day was originally planned for May 25, but postponed a week, said Mrs. E. J. Willis, chairman.

First Aid Classes to Begin April 30

The Red Cross first aid class will begin Thursday night, April 30, in room one at the high school, and continue for nine weeks. All persons interested should be at the first meeting. Classes will last from 7 to 9 p.m. Mrs. Hugh Godfrey is chairman.

Election June 8 to Fill 2 Posts on School Board

An election to fill two three-year terms on the Northville School Board will be held at the annual school meeting June 8. Both George L. Clark and Nelson C. Schrader, incumbents, will run for re-election.

Petitions for the posts must be filed with Mr. Clark, who is secretary of the board, before 4 p.m. May 9. Petitions may be obtained from either Mr. Clark or from Superintendent Russell H. Amerman. Terms of office will begin July 1, 1953.

Supt. Amerman warns prospective candidates to observe the number of petition signatures carefully. Act 199, Public Acts of 1951 of the School Code, states that less than 50 or more than 75 signatures make the petition illegal. The law was passed, Mr. Amerman said, to prevent the cornering of signatures in small school districts, since electors may sign only the number of petitions equal to the number of vacancies on the board. In this election, electors may sign only two petitions.

A new school law last year states that electors must be registered with the clerk of the township in which they live, regardless of previous registration. Northville school district includes portions of Northville, Novi, and Salem school districts.

To register, voters must have lived in the school district for 30 days, in Michigan for six months, and must be citizens of the United States.

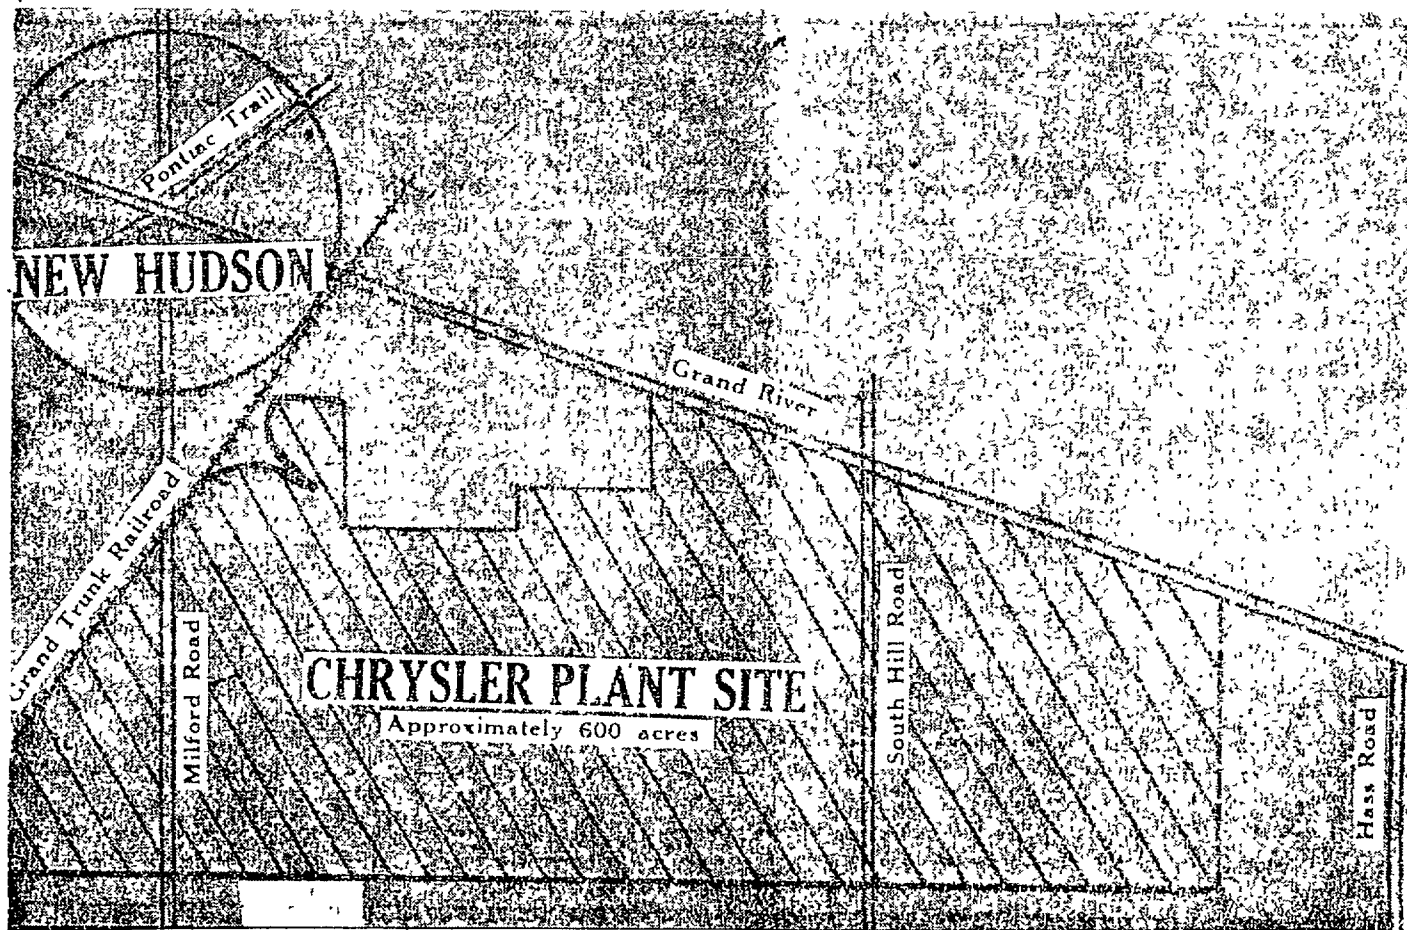

More than two hundred persons who signed pledge cards to make blood donations Monday, May 4, will receive reminder cards this week. All of them, however, if past experience holds true, will not show up to donate. Others will be turned down for medical reasons.

The last drive, in December of 1952, netted 142 pints, most of which was earmarked for delivery to Korea. That need is stronger than ever, Red Cross officials say, but also important is the need for keeping the local bank at full strength. Altogether, many more pints than the 142 donated last time are needed.

First Class-A Ball Game Is Sunday

The Northville baseball team will play its first game in Class A Inter-County league competition at Cass Benton Park Sunday at one p.m. against the Redford Food Market team.

The Northville team, sponsored by Cy Owens Ford Sales and the S. L. Brader Department Store, is managed by Steve Folino. There are 14 teams in the league, which, Folino said, will provide some of the hottest competition in sandlot baseball in years.

4 Chosen to Attend U-M 'Girls State'

Four Northville High School junior class girls will get a close look at government in action at Wolverine Girls State on the campus of the University of Michigan June 16 through 24 because of the generosity of five village organizations.

Jo Ann Wiesmyer, Carol Ann Sparling, Lila Lea Skow and Nancy Dewsbury will attend the eight-day community of girls who govern themselves by democratic procedures in a mythical state on the U-M campus. Sponsors of the girls are the Auxiliary of the American Legion's Lloyd H. Green Post 147, the Northville Woman's Club, the Mothers' Club, and, acting for the first time as sponsors, Northville Optimists and the Girls Athletic League.

Shirley Allen, Margaret Campbell, Veronica Batt and Barbara Prunty have been chosen as alternates. Selection of the girls was made by their classmates, with final choice determined by the sponsoring organizations and the local Girls State Chairman, Mrs. James Green.

Purpose and objective of Girls State, established in 1941 by the Legion Auxiliary, is to inspire and develop interest in the study of American government and to foster civic leadership. Considered most important, however, is the need to stimulate a desire on the girls' part to protect the privileges and responsibilities of the democratic form of government.

Birthday Banquet Marks 30th Year for Exchange Club

The Northville Exchange Club celebrated its thirtieth birthday Wednesday evening, April 22, with a banquet and a huge birthday cake.

Honored guest was Robert Brown, first president of the club, who cut the first piece of the big cake. Charter members present were Lou Stewart and Elmer Smith.

Other guests, present to help the club celebrate the thirtieth year of active and continuous service to the Northville community, included Mrs. Waldo Johnson, and Mr. Johnson, president of the Optimist Club, and Mrs. Carl Johnson, and Mr. Johnson, president of the Rotary Club.

Choose 2 Future School Sites

After three hours of discussion at a special meeting Tuesday evening, the Northville school board settled on two future school sites which would be acceptable from the standpoint of location and size.

These were an 18-acre tract in the southwest corner of the Six Mile-Bradner road intersection and a 57-acre parcel west of North Center St. and north of an extension of Base Line Rd. The latter tract is owned by the Manning & Locklin Gravel Co.

The special meeting had been called April 14 to consider future sites, classroom needs, and related matters. The problem now is finding a method of financing purchase of such sites if decision is made to go ahead.

These two sites were recommended by Wilfred Clapp, of the State Department of Public Instruction, as the two most acceptable sites in a school board meeting April 5, 1952, and a committee

Junior Class Play Ready for Curtain

"Our Miss Brooks" will be staged by the Junior Class of Northville High School Thursday and Friday nights, April 30 and May 1 at the high school auditorium. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

The three-act comedy, this year's choice as the annual junior production, has been in rehearsal for several weeks under the direction of Miss Florence Panattoni, high school speech teacher and dramatics coach.

The play concerns Miss Brooks, an attractive English teacher in her late twenties, and situations typical of most high schools.

Several of the roles will be taken by two persons, one for each night of the production. Miss Brooks will be enacted by Winifred Welch and Jean Nieuwkoop. Hugo Longacre, a coach, will be portrayed by Bruce Felker. Teenage roles will be taken by Joanna Wiesmyer, Nancy Dewsbury and Bob Burgess.

Stanley, the student who is always losing his voice at the wrong time, will be played by Bob Gregory and Mike Herbert.

Tickets are offered for sale by members of the class, or may be bought at the door.

Seven-year old Mary Suzanne Pauli was fatally injured last Friday afternoon when she darted into the path of an automobile on Northville-Plymouth road. The tragic accident occurred about 3:45 p.m.

Wayne County Sheriff deputies said she had been playing with a group of girls in front of the 18405 Northville road address on the east side of the road, and darted into the path of a car driven by Willis Turner, 32, of Walled Lake.

The little girl was taken by ambulance to Sessions Hospital, then transferred to University Hospital in Ann Arbor, where she died about an hour after admission. Death resulted from a skull fracture and other injuries.

Mr. Turner, in a statement to the prosecutor's office, said he was driving at 35 miles per hour at the time of the accident, and was travelling south on Northville Rd. He was released pending further investigation.

Mary Suzanne's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pauli, of 508 Gardner.

Large Crowd Expected at Cooking School

Friday will be ladies' day in Northville.

Most of the village homemakers will be noticeably absent from the streets and homes starting at 2 p.m., which is the time the Philco Cooking School will begin at the Northville Penniman-Allen Theatre.

Mary Scott, nationally famous food lecturer, will conduct the show from the stage of the theatre. Ladies will learn new angles on preparing meals for the family, new ideas for menus, planning, preparing and serving of meals, and other household hints.

Mary Scott specializes in the kind of cookery that the average woman can use every day, rather than in dishes that might be prepared once a year. A special lighting and mirror arrangement will be used so everyone can see what's going on.

In addition to the new angles and twists of better and easier cooking, another inducement has been added. Flowers and corsages, prizes will be given away to ladies who attend.

The audience will also see the Philco "Broil Under Glass" method of preparing foods without soot, smoke or stain, the refrigerator that "thinks for itself", and other attractions.

The cooking school is sponsored by the Northville Electric Shop and the Northville Exchange Club. Admission receipts will go into an Exchange fund to buy glasses for needy children.

Many people of the area have already visited the hospital and inspected its facilities, according to staff representatives, but the many who have not are especially welcome to the open house May 8.

Two radio programs have been developed by the staff during mental health week, to be heard May 2 over Station WJR and May 5 over Station WJLB.

Visitors will be conducted on tours of the hospital and the new admission wing, and be able to see color movies of patient activities and hear lectures by the clinical team about treatment programs at the hospital.

Northville State Hospital will hold its annual Open House on Friday, May 8, from 9 a.m. through 3:30 p.m., with special programs planned for visitors. The Open House is to be observed in connection with National Mental Health week May 3-9.

Visitors will be conducted on tours of the hospital and the new admission wing, and be able to see color movies of patient activities and hear lectures by the clinical team about treatment programs at the hospital.

May Eventually Employ More Than 15,000 Workers

Chrysler Corp. has acquired a 600-acre plant site at New Hudson, Mich., 30 miles out Grand River from downtown Detroit, for at least one of its major manufacturing divisions at some future date.

While a Chrysler Corp. spokesman told the Northville Record this week that no definite plans have been made for use of the property, there is reason to believe that Chrysler's top management regards the purchase as potentially very important.

PTA Carnival Shaping Up for Presentation May 8

Plans for the P-T-A Carnival to be held Friday, May 8, began taking shape this week as the committee, through the cooperation of Northville merchants, individuals and organizations, secured 28 door prizes and arranged for game booths, displays, attractions and the huge midway.

Interest seems to center around three of the attractions: the Optimist-sponsored midway in the high school gymnasium; the stage shows in the auditorium, featuring the Faris Singers of Belleville and Rew, the Magician, and the door prizes. Chief among the prizes will be two bicycles donated to the Carnival by Village President C. E. Langfield and the Northville Driving Club.

Tickets for the Carnival may be bought in advance from high school students in the form of certificates redeemable at the door May 8 for 22 tickets for the various events and concessions. Tickets will also be on sale at the door.

The Carnival has attracted hundreds in the past, and it is expected that this one will pull as large a crowd, or larger. Proceeds from the event will go into the P-T-A scholarship fund.

In addition to the two bicycles, door prizes will include two auto floor mats and a portable spot light donated by Lyke's Gulf Service; a wagon by the Schrader Furniture Store; a fishing rod by Clark's Hardware; two side-view mirrors by G. E. Miller Sales and Service; an automatic coffee maker by Northville Electric Shop; a table cloth by S. L. Brader's Department Store; an automatic corn popper by Gussell Drugs; a shine kit by Northville Shoe Repair; a gift certificate for RCA Victor records by Ellis Electronics and a cigarette lighter by Johnson's Jewelry and Gift Shop.

The list continues with a blanket by Northville Men's Shop; a $10 gift certificate by Atchinson Motor Sales; a string of pearls by Freydl Ladies Store; a sport shirt by Freydl Cleaners; a lady's hand bag by Sibley's Style Shop; a ten pound bag of detergent by the

Legion to Give 17 Prizes July 4

The Lloyd H. Green Post of the American Legion will give away 17 prizes at Veterans Memorial Building July 4, according to Chairman Sherwood B. Stevens.

Included in the prizes will be white sidewall tires, a power lawnmower, a deer rifle and 14 other prizes. American Legion members will furnish details of the program.

Many people of the area have already visited the hospital and inspected its facilities, according to staff representatives, but the many who have not are especially welcome to the open house May 8.

15,000 to 40,000 Employment

Independent investigation of the background for the deal by the Northville Record over the past three weeks has revealed that although future plans are not final, Chrysler executives have talked about the development in terms of ultimately employing from 15,000 to 40,000 persons and requiring 30% more electric power than Willow Run. Also K. T. Keller, chairman of the board of directors, has stated that "the purchase will complete any requirements that we can foresee and give us the largest tract of land owned by the corporation outside of our Chelsea proving grounds."

In confirming the purchase to the Northville Record exclusively this week, the Chrysler spokesman described the deal as "in line with the corporation's confidence in the future of Michigan as an industrial center." He added that "we had an opportunity to buy the property and regard the purchase as a good long-term investment, even though we have no present plans for it."

Ideal Industrial Site

The large industrial tract was purchased Mar. 12, 1953 from Charles E. Sorenson, formerly vice-president of the Ford Motor Company. It represented about one-half of Sorenson's extensive farm southeast of New Hudson, which has been for sale for some time.

The acreage purchased by Chrysler is ideally situated for industrial use, with its northwest boundary adjoining the Grand Trunk Railroad's branch line between Pontiac and Jackson, and 5,163 feet of frontage extending east along the south side of Grand River from a point about one-half

Rolling Down

The River

by the PETZ BROS.

So this week a lady brought her '50 Studebaker in this garage of ours and announced she wanted one of our beautiful '53 Starliner coupes. Of course, we took care of such a want with utmost haste so now she is driving what is perhaps, the finest coupe ever turned out by any manufacturer. Before she left, though, she registered a bit of complaint, not about us of course, but about her job. Seems she passes her working day educating the young in the first grade of one of the local bastions of knowledge and had trouble in getting the future of America to properly recite the alphabet. "They manage abcd all right," she said, "but for the life of me, I can't stop them from saying q-r-s-t-v."

If you've had any trouble in making up your mind as to which car you want to own this year, it's simply because you haven't driven the finest of them all, the Studebaker for 1953. There's certainly a lot of beautiful models to choose from in the line for '53 what with the hardtop convertible, starliner coupe and two and four door sedans in both the Champion and Commander lines, plus the big Land Cruiser that comes in the Commander model only. No matter what you desire, there's a sleek, roomy, powerful, economical Studebaker to meet your every need.

Fellow in this garage this a.m. had a flock of observations to get off his chest, some of them about the weather. "Yessire," he says, "this is the time for kites, jumping ropes, marbles, baseball and unexpected blizzards."

Man oh man, how right he was... and how right he was to get that car of yours over here. Our mechanics told us it needs a shot of lubrication and a bit of tune-up. They're ready and willing to do the job too, all they need is your car. Why not let them have it a couple of hours and be amazed at how easily the miles will roll by afterwards.

That's that, but a fellow told us a gentlemen's agreement is an agreement neither party would care to have in writing.

YOURS.

Believes 'City' Defeat at Polls Is Only Temporary

Dear Mr. Editor:

I wish to first thank you for your kindness in allowing my previous letter to be printed in your splendid weekly paper.

I had been of the opinion, after the results of the village-city vote by the good people of this village, that my first letter had not been read, or if so, had not been concurred in by many of the readers. However, after many of the good people in our village were kind enough to mention having read the letter and agreed with the sentiments expressed in regards to the future of Northville, I am constrained to write again.

I have received today a letter from friends in Denver, Colo., who read the letter in a copy of the Northville Record which was received by a Northville boy now stationed at the army flying base there, and shown to my friends and relatives living in the city of Denver. Their comments were complimentary, but they expressed regret that the results of the vote had not made us a city.

I still believe we have been only temporarily delayed in our eventual growth to become the progressive, attractive, most favored town in Wayne County in which to make our home. So many people from other places and from Detroit have expressed the wish to live here that they could live in Northville.

I say this because I believe great interest was aroused by your very impartial printing of the sentiments of both the advocates for and against making Northville a city. We have had sufficient proof that a goodly number of loyal and progressive minded people in Northville would like to see this village become the fulfillment of the vision of the early village pioneers. They laid out our streets and planted the grand old trees and built most of the homes and business places here more than sixty years ago. They expected us to carry on and build, and develop the village that they started so well.

As we pass through our streets, we note by the names on most of them the names of many of these early pioneers, and what a tribute to their memory! There will soon be very few still living who can remember who these pioneers were, but the good work they did for the village will last as long as we remain a town. Now, many people ask the question of us today: What has been the underlying cause of our inability to grow and develop in these last sixty years as we did in the first sixty?

Now, Mr. Editor, I may not be an authority on this important question, or able to give all of the answers, as I have not lived here sixty years. I have been here for 35, and I must give due credit to many of the splendid civic-minded men and women who lived and labored, and tried to make this town one we could be proud of during that time. Under their counsel and guidance we have made some progress, but it has been so gradual that we can scarcely notice it from year to year.

We have seen a few streets curbed and paved for each of the last three years. We would like to see many more of our much-travelled streets curbed and paved. These are the ones that got mused in the paving program of fifteen years ago. We who live on some of these streets are still waiting and hoping they will be included each year. When we ask our councilmen for an answer, they tell us there aren't enough funds to do this without an increase in our tax rate.

If this is the answer, will you tell me why so many of our fine people, who live on fine paved streets, partially paid for by all of us out of our general tax, could go to the voting booth and defeat our only chance to get approximately seventy thousand dollars and seventy thousand again next year without raising our taxes one cent?

In fact, we could have still gotten many of these improvements and been given a ten per cent cut in our next taxes, but a majority of our people preferred an increase of 10 per cent, as printed in your newspaper of two weeks past, and we still do not get paying or any other major improvements that this amount would have covered.

I believe that something is surely wrong with our ability to think or reason fairly. We have allowed those few who do not want this town to grow or improve to make confusing arguments and delay our chances of becoming a city.

Now, Mr. Editor, I sincerely believe the old quotation, that "without a vision a nation will crumble and die", will also be true of this village of Northville if we do not wake up and lay the plans that will bring us into our own, and do it soon. We must have homes for people to live in here, or we cannot expect to grow but we have very few vacant lots to even offer prospective builders within the village limits.

We have industries here seeking suitable room for expansion and others which would like to locate here. Where are they to go to find these locations?

We complacently sit back and let our neighboring communities on our east, south and north find places for them. Even the fast growing community of Novi on our north boundary is just now getting a new industry which will be a real asset to that progressive town.

I believe we must begin at once to welcome building of new homes and industry where the people who live here can find employment. Remember that not everyone who would work in these places has a car or can go long distances morning and night to find employment elsewhere, so they move closer to their work. I say again, that we must all

Amvets Driving for New Members

A membership drive by Novi Amvets, Perry Kenner Post 76, will result in free tickets to a Detroit Tiger ball game for several members, if they manage to accumulate enough points.

The post, now ranked seventh in membership in the state, can leap into fourth place by getting thirty more members, but is practically without hope of reaching first place. That lofty spot is held by Mt. Clemens Post with a membership of 265. The Novi post, although in a small community, has 106 members currently.

Members of the "Spirit of '76" post can gain points in this fashion: one point for signing up a new member, two for getting a renewal, and 12½ for each life membership. A total of 25 points entitles the recruiter to tickets to the game.

The post is now in a new home located at 43025 Grand River Ave. and held a "post-warming" dance for members April 25. Information on joining the post can be secured from Commander Duane Bell at Trickey's Hupling and Fishing Store on Grand River Ave.

BROWNIE TROOP 12

Brownie Troop 13 was our guest at our last meeting last week. We made plans and discussed about flying up into Girl Scouts in May. Marlene Coykendall told about what we would do when we were Girl Scouts and about some of the badges we would get. At the close of our meeting we were given our Girl Scout cookies to sell.

This is our challenge. Will we take it laying down? Northville never has. What is your answer? Sincerely

To the Editor:

Friday night, the High School gym had turned into a ballroom, verily a "Rhapsody in Blue" for the annual event known as the Senior Prom.

The party was a success, in all respects except the weather, which did not cooperate too well. Other than that, no complaint until "after the ball was over".

There was "no place to go". Many miles were covered by the couples in search of climaxed activities, which could be remedied locally.

One town (or is this a village?), like ours, with the help of a service club, put on a movie premier at midnight, "Hollywood style."

A post-prom dance and floor show followed. This event was called "After Glow."

In previous years, many youths would drive along highways, in search of places to stop. Dressed as they were, in formal clothes, they didn't want to stop at regular

Democracy Is What We Make It

(This essay, written for the annual contest sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was named first place prize winner last week. Author of the essay is 17-year old Carolyn Miller, of Napier Rd.)

Almost every month we are asked to contribute to some worthy cause to aid the sick and needy. Most of us contribute what we can afford after our own needs have been fulfilled because charity begins at home. Democracy, like charity, begins at home. Theoretical democracy exists in our government and daily life but true, complete democracy is what we, the human element, wish to make it. Democracy is not just a system of government of, by, and for the people; democracy is a way of life!

How can this democratic way of life be achieved or upheld practically as well as theoretically? Each individual who wants to be worthy of his American citizenship can and must practice the principles of democracy in his every day life. In this way, we can best build a solid foundation for our government; a foundation that will not crumble with weathering or the nibbling of communistic termites.

What are these basic principles with which we must construct this practical foundation for our government? They are principles which everyone practices to some extent but which few of us make an integral part of our life. As the foundation is an integral part of a house, so must these practical principles be an integral part of our everyday lives.

The first of these principles or building blocks in the foundation is made of a strong material called charity. The dictionary definition of charity is brotherly love, good will, leniency in judging others and generosity to the poor. It is natural to assume that brotherly love and good will cannot be successfully performed universally if they are not first performed in the home. If parents and other family members cannot live happily together, they cannot fulfill their responsibilities to society. We cannot expect people to use leniency and justice in judging their neighbors, if they have never judged or been judged leniently in their home. Generosity to the poor is non-existent in the lives of those who have never been treated generously themselves. Therefore, charity, the first building block in the foundation of a complete democracy, begins at home.

The second block, though strongly related to charity, stands out for its own importance and strength. Tolerance is a very necessary block in our foundation. Intolerance has been a cause of many world shaking struggles. For example, the Revolutionary and Civil Wars probably would not have occurred had it not been for religious, political and racial intolerance. It is essential that every American citizen be tolerant and respectful of his friend's and neighbor's opinions and beliefs even though they differ from his own. If people would not scorn the customs, religions, morals, politics, opinions, and ideals with which they are unfamiliar, the second block in the foundation of a democratic way of life would be securely placed.

"All men are created equal and endowed with certain inalienable rights..." This famous quotation from our Declaration of Independence well expresses what is to be the third block of our sturdy foundation—equality. We know that all men are equal in the eyes of God; why not so in the eyes of men? Money, rank, intelligence, race or beliefs should not be the basis for judgment because a "man is a man for all that." If all men would treat all men with equality, the lives of all men would be more worthwhile.

The fourth block necessary to build this strong foundation for a democratic way of life is responsibility. People must be able to accept responsibility in this way of life for it is individuals who shirk their obligations and duties who weaken the wall of defense and permit subversive groups to undermine the foundation.

Education is the fifth and final building block for actually it is the means of promoting charity, tolerance, equality and responsibility. Through the medium of education, people may learn the purposes of the other blocks and about the dividends which they will receive in return for practicing them. They also may become familiar with the factors that tend to breed non-conformity to these principles and thus recognize and defeat them within themselves. Education is the keystone in this foundation for if every American is educated in the basic essentials of all types of government and life, he will not be easily influenced by communist double-talk.

We now have the necessary material with which to build this foundation but we still need mortar to hold them together and labor to apply the mortar. As labor, we shall use the citizens of the United States of America and for mortar they shall use their own cooperation and practice of education, equality, charity, tolerance and responsibility. These laborers shall work a 24-hour day against many obstacles, and as wages they shall enjoy the happiness and safety of a democratic way of life because democracy is what we make it.

How and where can we start this building? Education can be started in the home through the parents, in the school through the teachers, in the church through the clergymen and in the individuals through the mind and heart!

How can our new education be put into application? Again, there is the home life, school life, and the church life in which it can be applied as well as learned but in addition there are the business, political and social lives through which it can be applied and bred to produce greater charity, tolerance, equality and responsibility. By these many means, democracy can become our way of life.

Democracy has been established in our country for many years but if we want to keep it, make it stronger, and make it a much

The theatre was marked with spotlight and all the trimmings of a big city premier. An orchestra played for a late dance. The youths had access to a soft drink and snack bar.

About 4 a.m., some 40 service club members served breakfast before the high schoolers called it a night.

How about such an undertaking for the next social event?

Penn Theatre

Plymouth, Michigan

April 30, 1953

Dear Friends:

In accordance with our policy of bringing you the newest in Motion Picture Entertainment, we are now equipping the Penn Theatre for projection of the new Third Dimension Films.

This is the greatest development in the motion picture industry since the first talkie was produced in 1927.

The third dimensional, or stereoscopic, process gives to the motion picture screen a quality of realism never before attainable. The viewers of this newest, and possibly greatest innovation to theatre entertainment are given the perfect illusion that the action they are seeing is actually taking place before their eyes, and that if they wished they could reach out and touch the players or leave their seats and wander through the beautiful scenic areas that will be used extensively by this new process.

The 3-D scene in Hollywood is confused at the present time. All the film companies are testing methods of producing third dimension films. Right now there are twenty systems in different stages of development. So far, the stereoscopic process that we are now installing is the only system for producing 3-D pictures which all the major film companies are using.

With the present stereoscopic system, polaroid viewers are necessary to bring the picture into perfect focus. The aim of the experimentation going on in Hollywood film laboratories is to find a 3 D, or a wide screen system giving the illusion of 3 D, that will eliminate the use of polaroid viewers.

We are following these developments with a great deal of interest. When a practical system is found, we will once again be among the first independent theatres in the country to bring it to our customers. As we are doing now, we will install the finest projection equipment obtainable to assure you perfect picture quality.

So watch for all Third Dimension pictures and latest Third Dimension developments at THE PENN THEATRE.

Cordially yours,

THE MANAGEMENT

Ken Rowe Rated as 'Great Prospect' in Farm League

Ken Rowe, who headed off to Tigertown in Lakeland, Fla., last month to seek his baseball fortune, created a good sized stir among Detroit Tiger farm system managers.

By this time, Ken is settled with the Jamestown Falcons in New York state, playing in the Class D league. How long he will stay there is pure conjecture, but most of the farm club managers have given him a good looking over.

Reason for all this is Ken's fast ball. He had trouble mastering control while at Lakeland and another, more famous namesake, Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe, worked with Ken to settle him down. He issued more than the average number of walks, but according to area sportswriters, left batters muttering and walking back to the bench when he did begin hitting the plate.

All agree that he had as much stuff as any hurler—Class AAA on down—in the camp. Since he is just out of high school, he is rated as a great prospect. One thing is certain, if he learns some semblance of control, Ken will be knocking bats out of the hands of batters with his speedball.

Ken was signed by the Tigers last summer when they held a tryout camp at Briggs Stadium

Learn Markings, Habits of Michigan Panfish for Better Fishing Trips

With the opening of the popular "panfish" season on April 25, Michigan fishermen once again took to streams, lakes and rivers in search of yellow perch, rock bass, bluegills and sunfish.

Those anglers wanting more fun and better catches are urged by Prof. Karl F. Lagler, chairman of the University of Michigan Department of Fisheries, to aid the state and its conservation efforts by learning characteristics, habits and habitats of these fish.

Correct identification of "panfish" will prevent mistaking them for other fish which are restricted as to size limit and catch.

Since most of these "panfish" stick close to the shore in early season, anglers do not have too much difficulty locating them but as the warm weather moves in, the fish go to cooler and deeper waters.

Probably the most easily identified of these fish is the yellow perch, known by its bright yellow sides bearing greenish vertical bars, plus its small size, which seldom exceeds eight to ten inches in length.

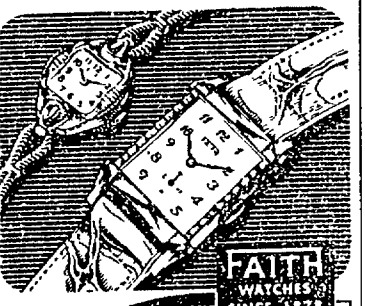

Since it thrives in deep, clear, cool-water lakes with an abundance of aquatic vegetation, the yellow perch is found in most of the larger lakes and streams. It is taken easily on worms or minnows, with best catches occurring in deeper waters in the day, shallower at night.

A typical small boy's fish is the northern rock bass, which can be caught with any sort of tackle. This hard fighter is found in clear, rock streams or hard-bottomed lakes. With sides marked by small dark spots and large, irregular dark blotches, it often is called "red-eye" for its red iris. "Fish for it close to cover," Dr. Lagler says, "because it is indeed a 'cover-lover' and comes out to feed in the open mostly at night."

Distinguished from other sunfish by its plain dark blue gill cover, the bluegill is one panfish with state-wide distribution. Preferring deep, weedy lakes for summer months, it also may be found in warm-water streams usually traveling in schools.

Easily caught by the novice with the simplest equipment, the bluegill bites at any time of the year. Anglerworms are probably the best bait, although artificial flies, on "small hooks, and small spinners also do the job well, according to Dr. Lagler. "Try a wet fly with rubber hackle for early season fishing," he urges.

Other popular panfish are the pumpkinseed, identified from other Michigan sunfish by the bright red spot at the rear of its gill cover; the green sunfish, which has a large mouth extending back as far as the middle of the eye and the black crappie, known for its very dark cover marked with spots or mottlings suggesting printed calico.

Kites Should Be Kept Away From Power Lines

Flying a kite can be a great springtime sport for the youngsters. It can be a forerunner to tragedy, too, reminds Emma DuBord, Wayne County Home Demonstration agent. If kites or their strings tangle with power lines, the result may be fatal to the child flying the kite. It is a good idea for both farm and city children to understand this danger. A wet or damp kite string, or the wire "string" sometimes used on kites, is an excellent conductor of electricity, advises the home agent.

If the kite hits a power line, the child may be on the receiving end of a fatal charge of electricity. Children should be warned against trying to rescue a kite that gets away and blows into power lines. They should leave it and parents should report it promptly to the power company or rural electric cooperative so a lineman can remove it. Parents also should caution young folks against trying to remove anything in contact with electric lines, Miss DuBord adds.

Never, under any circumstances should they touch broken lines on the ground or hanging from poles. These spell danger. Many children are killed every year from this one cause. A broken line should be reported immediately to the electric company. If possible, some adult should stand guard over fallen lines until the power can be shut off—in order to ward off anyone who may come near.

Mustangs Lose First League Game to Brighton, 9 to 8

(Results of High School baseball games will be reported in the Record by Mustang senior Otto Wendt, who, as a member of Coach Al Jones' diamond squad, will be pretty close to all of the games. Ed Note.)

by Otto Wendt

The Northville Mustangs were defeated by the slim margin of one run at the hands of the Brighton Bulldogs, 9 to 8, in the first Wayne-Oakland County game of the season in a sand storm which any normal camel would refuse to be found dead in.

High powered winds whipped up sand to such a degree that at times it was impossible to see across the baseball diamond.

With a three-run lead in the first inning, the result of third baseman Gene Rebitzke's home run over right field fence, the Mustangs seemed to be on their way to an early victory. Brighton, however, knocked starting pitcher Tex Mosher out of the box in their half of the first inning and scored four runs off relief hurler Arland Lovett in the second frame after two outs to get a lead they never relinquished.

The Mustangs outthit Brighton 9 to 4, but errors paved the way to a Bulldog victory. Brighton scored one run in the first inning on no hits, four runs in the second on three hits, one run in the third on no hits and three runs in the fourth on one hit.

The Mustangs had a fine opportunity to tie the score in the last inning when Girardin and Hayes walked and were sacrificed to second and third by Dick Somers. With one out, the Brighton pitcher bore down and struck out Lovett. A wild pitch scored Girardin to make the score 9 to 8. Hix then grounded out to the Brighton shortstop to end the game.

Hix and Rebitzke got home runs for the Mustangs and Brighton players also connected for two round-trippers. Altogether, Rebitzke got a homer, a double and a single in four times at the plate to lead Mustang batsmen.

The number "two" seemed to pop up in the fifth inning. There were two hits, two walks, two errors, two wild pitches and two runs scored in that frame.

Building Boom in Farmington

Farmington, once a sleepy little town in the midst of some of Michigan's best fruit country, is beginning to bulge at the seams.

In the first three months of this year, builders put up $275,000 worth of houses. All during 1952 they only built $233,000 worth.

And when building permit figures for April are tabulated they will break the record set in March, according to Harry W. Moore, 80-year-old City Clerk.

One hundred years ago, Farmington was the terminal of a 20-mile plank road to Detroit. It took the better part of a day to make the trip.

Now Grand River has put Farmington practically in Detroit's back yard.

The city has no railroad service, so heavy industry has never settled in Farmington. This pleases about half the residents very well, while others think it would be nice to have a few industrial plants to help pay the taxes.

In 1930, this city of homes had a population of 1,243. Now it is about 2,800, according to City Manager James O. Tennant.

"But there's no telling what it will be in another five years," he declared. "Plenty of builders have 'discovered' Farmington this year and we are due for a lot of expansion."

"Home buyers like the fact that we have good water, police and fire services. They like our system of sending school buses to pick up every elementary school pupil at his house."

Farmington has won a certain amount of fame as the home of former Gov. Fred M. Warner. The Warner dairy farm has been subdivided and 150 houses are being built there now. But the old homestead will not be touched.

A new high school is being built east of the city. When it is opened in September it will relieve the congestion at the old school, which now houses both senior and junior high students.

When a gymnasium wing is added next year, the building will be worth about $1,250,000.

Tennant pointed out that taxes are lower than in Detroit because property is assessed at only about 25 per cent of its market value. The average bill for city, county and school taxes is about $165 a year, he said.

THE CHURCH YOU NEED

Recently I read of Camp Upton being reconverted into a laboratory for atomic research. A reporter went to the scene to get a story. They took him around to see the changes of the military buildings. He marvelled at the transformation. Then they came to the little white army chapels, and the reporter asked, "What are you going to do with these?" They told him, "We haven't found any use for them yet." How this reflects the attitude of many people who are taken up with everything of this life but finding no time for the Church with the Jesus of redemption will notice in the Bible that God is very zealous for His churches that are ministering His Word. In Revelation we are told that Jesus Christ walks in the midst of the churches. By this we understand that He is constantly in touch with them and is hovering over them in love. To be in the midst of a congregation in a Christ-centered church is the nearest to heaven on earth that anyone can get. We often wonder if people really want to go to heaven after all when they seem to appreciate so little the Word of God and the company of His people down here.

mile east of New Hudson. (See map.) The railroad, which already has a spur track into the property, connects with the Chesapeake and Ohio lines between Detroit and Saginaw and Detroit and Grand Rapids, at Wixom and South Lyon respectively.

All Necessary Utilities

Also of major importance in Chrysler's purchase of the new plant site was the fact that an ample supply of natural gas for industrial use is readily available from a pipeline of the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. passing within less than a mile of the property. Consumers Power Co., which has a contract with Panhandle Eastern, has signified its intention of seeking a franchise to supply gas to South Lyon, four miles away, and its willingness to run a 12-inch pipe line from that city to the Chrysler plant when the need arises.

Sewage disposal will be possible through an open drain from New Hudson to the Huron River, four miles distant, although before using this open drain Chrysler would have to construct a sewage disposal plant of its own. Ample water for any conceivable industrial need is said to be readily available from wells that could be located in a gravel pit area lying north of New Hudson about two miles.

In response to Chrysler's inquiry about the availability of 25,000 kilowatts of electric power, as compared with 19,000 kilowatts that is available at Willow Run, Detroit Edison's response was that "if necessary" up to 90,000 kilowatts could be supplied. Electric power would come from three alternate sources, and thus would have a high safety factor in the event of a bombing or other emergency.

Chrysler's purchase may be regarded as of the greatest long-term significance for the entire outlying Grand River area from Farmington to Brighton and Northville to Walled Lake. It reflects the confidence of a large corporation in the possibility of expanding to the northwest of Detroit, and its appreciation of the fact that railroad and highway facilities to be found there are equally as good as those which have brought so many large industries into Livonia in recent years.

It is obvious that when Chrysler builds at New Hudson, the communities that will be affected most, in addition to New Hudson, will be South Lyon, four miles to the southwest, and Milford, six miles north. Novi, Northville and Walled Lake will be affected to a lesser degree, although the influx of new population that would follow construction of a major industrial plant would inevitably be reflected in improved property values and growth of the various communities as trading centers.

Lloyd S. Gullen, realtor with offices at 33123 Grand River, was the broker who handled the sale for Sorenson. He also has the exclusive listing of Sorenson's other property in the Grand River area.

Conditions Poor. But Young Anglers Turn Out April 25

Roiled waters in the Rouge River didn't help fishing much on opening day of trout season, April 25, but many Northville youngsters turned out in a drizzling rain for the Exchange Club Fishing Derby, which as early as one a.m.

Catches were brought to the official judging station at Clark's Hardware on North Center St., and prizes were awarded in four classes.

James Patterson, 11, of Group I, took first place in the Cady I with a 10½ inch trout caught at Bear bridge. Ten year old Jeff Rainey landed a 10½ inch trout at Couse bridge for second prize. Tied for third in the group were Barbara Rollings, 11, and Chris Kroutier, 11, with 9½ inch fish. Thirteen year old Ray Hood's ten-inch-plus trout won top prize in Group II. He caught his prizewinner behind the Petz garage. Bill Bake, 14, took second with a ten-incher near the cemetery and Nick Dillenbeck, 14, took third with a 9½ inch trout.

No fish were caught in the Group III age bracket, so a limit catch prize was awarded to Allan Cockin, 14, whose 9½-incher was the largest caught of limit.

Group IV winner was Michael Richard, 12, whose 16¼ inch sucker was the largest fish caught before the 2 p.m. deadline, regardless of species.

Boy on Motorbike Struck by Auto

Robert B. Bessey, 14-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Bessey, of 17775 Ridge Rd., is in St. Joseph's Hospital with a fractured leg and bruises as a result of driving his motorbike into the side of a car on W. Seven Mile Tuesday afternoon.

Witnesses, according to Wayne County Sheriff road patrol, said young Bessey stopped his bike to make a left hand turn off Seven Mile, and drove into the path of a car driven by Henry J. Marcella of Berkley. Marcella was headed west at the time. Witnesses held Marcella blameless, according to the road patrol deputy.

Six Months Delay
Mr. Manning explained that nearly six months will elapse after the agreement is signed with Novi Township before preparatory work, including removal of over-burden, will start. All gravel from the new pit will be hauled to the company's present location back of the depot for processing. Two or three trucks will do the hauling, each one averaging about two and one-half trips per hour. The route taken will be over Taft Rd. to Eight Mile Rd.; then over Randolph to Wing to Main St.

field pointed out that the Village Commission is concerned over the effect of the gravel trucks on the paving on Randolph St., and the possibility that this will prove expensive to the village if the street has to be repaved. In addition to Langfield, Commissioners John F. Stubenvoll, Gerald C. Woodworth, Alton Peters and A. Malcolm Allen represented the village at the meeting.

Members of the Zoning Appeals Board were James E. Erwin, chairman; Kenneth Farley and Frank D. Clark.

Picture Series Shows Ease of Giving Blood in Drive May 4

Frances begins by stopping at a table where she gives her name, address and other information to a worker, and designates whether her blood donation will remain with the local bank or be sent overseas.

A registered nurse checks Frances' blood pressure and takes a tiny sample of blood, after asking other medical questions, to be sure that the donation will not be harmful in any way to either Frances or the ultimate receiver.

Next step for Frances is the actual donation, made after drinking a glass of orange juice to add fluid to her system as an extra precaution. A pint of the precious blood is taken from each of the donors.

F.O.E. To Hold Spaghetti Dinner

A spaghetti dinner will be held Sunday afternoon, May 3, at the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall on Plymouth Ave. sponsored by the F.O.E. Aerie Lodge 2504.

The dinner, which will be served from one to six o'clock, has been planned in celebration of the seventh anniversary of the founding of the local lodge, according to George Robertson, secretary of the organization.

A variety of acts which appeared recently on the popular television program, "Starlit Stairway", will provide entertainment from 7 to 8 p.m. and the "Four H's" of Plymouth will furnish music for dancing until midnight.

Mrs. Vivian Aldrich of the auxiliary to the Eagles, is chairman.

Former Villager at Company Conclave

Charles F. Meinzing, formerly of Northville, is attending the 1953 regional conference of State

The pictures on this page were inspired last December when a Record reporter overheard a remark by a first-time donor in the blood drive: "I didn't know it was so easy, or I'd have donated before this." The next step was obvious. The Record photographer asked Depositors State Bank employee Frances Bonar for permission to follow her as she donated blood, to illustrate the simplicity of making a donation.

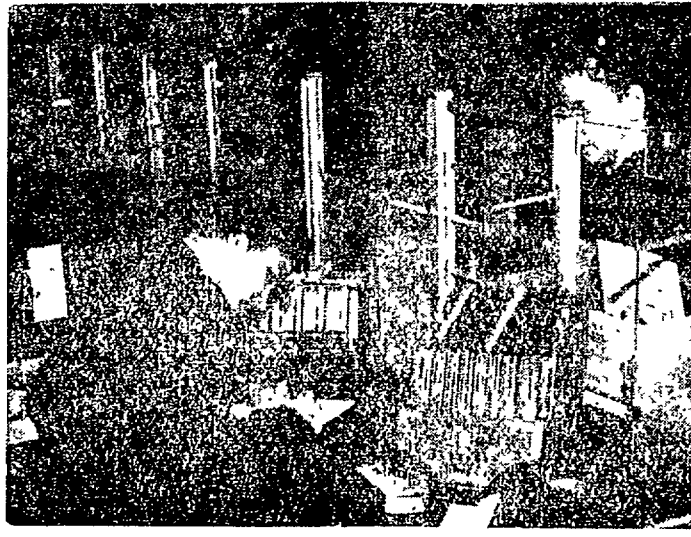

The pictures are reprinted here to urge all past donors to give again in the drive May 4 at the First Methodist Church House, and to convince those persons who have never donated that the process is very easy and takes only a few minutes.

Mutual Life Assurance Company at Chicago's Edgewater Beach Hotel.

He is one of a hundred company representatives to fulfill designated production requirements to qualify for this three-day educational meeting. Mr. Meinzing, now a career underwriter for the company, now lives in Detroit and has been associated with State Mutual for three years.

Now, a few minutes later, Frances jokes with other donors and sips coffee as she rests for a few minutes.

A little later, Frances is back at work at Depositors State Bank, happy to have been one of 142 persons who made donations in the vital blood drive, and none the worse for her experience.

Correspondence Courses Open Now to High Schoolers

High school students who want to make up credits needed for graduation or for college entrance during the summer months may enroll now in correspondence courses offered by the University of Michigan Extension Service.

During the past school year, over 300 students from 100 high schools throughout the state have signed up for these home study courses.

Most of them were attending classes in their local high schools at the same time, but used the correspondence courses to make up credits or to study subjects which were not offered by the high schools. Among the subjects most frequently elected were Latin, advanced mathematics and commercial subjects.

Students who wish to take a correspondence course in the summer are advised by Mrs. Bernice Lee, supervisor of the University's Correspondence Study Department, to consult with their high school principal about it now. The principal can help them select the course or courses which will be most useful.

Upper Grade News

Last Wednesday, April 15, 21 pupils from the third through eighth grade enjoyed their broadcast of songs over station WUOM in Ann Arbor and feel they learned a great deal about broadcasting. Thanks again to Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Gates and Mrs. Clemens for driving.

The seventh grade was entertained at Mrs. DeVine's home in Ann Arbor Friday, April 17. After a picnic supper and the playing of games, the class went to Angell Hall to hear a lecture on "A Day on the Moon" and then to the Observatory, where in spite of the uncertain weather, the moon finally peeped through the clouds so that it was visible through the telescope.

During this school year our school has accumulated $111.33 from the following sources: $94.00 from advertising for the Annual; $12.00 from Mrs. Bock as a gift; and $5.00 from the sale of seeds.

The school board offered to pay the difference between this amount and the cost of a sliding board for the school with the decision left to the pupils, so a vote was taken. With the exception of the eighth grade who voted to take their share for the annual eighth grade trip, the children decided that the slide would be enjoyed by all, so they are looking forward to a good time next year.

4-H NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson and Frederick Honke of Salem attended the Washtenaw County 4-H Leaders' meeting in Ann Arbor last Thursday evening. Mr. Hart of Livingston County and former agricultural agent of Washtenaw County, told the group what the leaders of Livingston County are doing to encourage more boys and girls to take advantage of 4-H work in their communities.

There is a new 4-H project being offered this summer from the county office called 4-H Baby Sitters, which would probably be of value to girls interested in baby sitting. Mrs. Wilson told me that she will be glad to lead a group in this project if enough girls are interested in it.

While on the subject of 4-H clubs, I'd like to say that there is a great need of leaders for various 4-H projects during the summer season, when the following projects are encouraged by the

Livonia Officials Moving Into City Hall This Week

Keys for the recently completed $285,000 Livonia city hall were turned over by the contractor to Mayor Jesse Ziegler last Friday.

The hall is a one-story, modern structure planned to house all the City offices except the police department. It was built on a 27-acre site at Five Mile and Farmington roads, and is the first structure in what is to be a centrally located civic center for the State's second largest city in area.

Officials said furnishings and city files will be moved into the new building this week from the old city hall at 33110 Five Mile. Formal dedication services will be held this summer.

Michigan Mirror

by Gene Alleman

Maneuvers, pot shots and pressures continue to characterize the state's tax picture. All agree that new taxes must be forthcoming; all continue to point fingers in the other direction when it comes to deciding who shall be taxed.

House Republicans have been making strong behind-the-scenes efforts to come up with a tax they could vote through the House. When and if they succeed in this, the bill must secure approval from the Senate before going to the governor. Representatives say that the Senate would not pass a corporate profits tax, should one get through the House; they say the Senate would not pass a payroll tax, should it get through the House. In short, some of them seem sure that a bill the House could agree upon, could not pass the Senate. So belief continues that no complete tax solution will be produced until after June 30, the end of the fiscal year, when the exact amount of the deficit will be known.

Talk of a special session led to a new idea that the Legislature might not adjourn on May 22 as originally planned but would recess with the idea of returning to handle taxation or whatever other matter it might choose. If there is an adjournment, with the governor calling a special session, he can also limit subjects for legislative consideration; a recess leaves the lawmakers with free hands.

With payroll, corporate profits,

This detracts some appeal from those who support a widely based, short term tax program temporarily affecting many people. They argue that these people will agitate for removal of the tax and elimination of the Constitutional earmarking provisions.

Main trouble with the "wide base" tax thinking is that people who are expected to exert pressure to change the Constitution after their taxes are collected and the deficit eliminated, are already agitating, and very hard, against any tax on themselves in the first place.

For instance, Rep. Nill has on his desk letters from members of the tourist trade objecting to proposed short term taxes on their operation. He has a copy of Senate Bill 1272 by Senator George N. Higgins (R Oakland and Washenaw) with this remark typed in the corner: This would mean about $21,000,000 a month tax for (a western Michigan oil business). He also has a letter showing that the bill, which taxes petroleum at 10c a barrel, defines barrel as 31 gallons and that the accepted barrel capacity in the industry is 42 gallons. This, he argues, would raise the tax from a dime to 13.55c per actual barrel used.

END OF THE RAINBOW?

Michigan's fishing world has been shocked and shaken by the unexpected lack of steelhead (lakerun rainbow trout) in its streams as the season opened April 11th. This year a tremendous crowd of anglers greeted the opening on scores of rivers emptying into the Great Lakes. Advance publicity in newspapers, national magazines and on television, based on angling success in the past three years, brought out thousands of new, eager fishermen. The chance at 13 and 14 pound rainbow trout is not to be overlooked!

But it turned out to be a thousand to one gamble—or worse! Never in the memory of this reporter has there been a more disappointing opening for any fishing season in Michigan—and everybody's asking "Why?"

Sea Lamprey To Blame?

Some point the finger of blame at the sea lamprey, the predator responsible for the disappearance of lake trout in Lake Huron and Lake Michigan. Many a big steelhead has been taken in the last couple of years severely scarred by lamprey attacks. Is it possible that the past year has seen such a large increase in lamprey population that the big rainbows have gone the way of the Mackinaw?

Human Predators Suspected

Or is the human enemy of the steelhead to blame? Evidence points to both. On the opening of the season April 11th the portions of the Platte River above the village of Honor constituted protected waters for rainbow spawning. Inspection of this area revealed dozens of freshly cleaned spawning beds in crystal clear water scarcely a foot deep. The beds, with few exceptions, were barren. Spawning had not been completed, yet the fish were gone in a section closed to fishing. Well-founded rumor whispered of illegal spearing on these beds. A local conservation officer admitted the presence of considerable violating in the area, and agreed it would take an enforcement army to put a stop to this type of poaching.

The Platte is just a single river subject to such human predation in Michigan—predation that seems to be mounting rapidly. Teenagers are charged with much of the violation, and it is so widespread that conservation officers can apprehend but a small percentage of the offenders.

A Community Problem

This, apparently, is a project for local sportsmen's clubs and parents who have sufficient foresight to know that this practice perpetrated by youngsters can ruin a very valuable sports fishing resource, the removal of which could be a disastrous economic blow to a community shunned by fishermen.

More Neff's "Michigan Outdoors" television show can be seen every Thursday over WWJ-TV, Channel 4, in a thrilling full half-hour show—7:00 p.m. till 7:30 p.m. DON'T MISS IT!

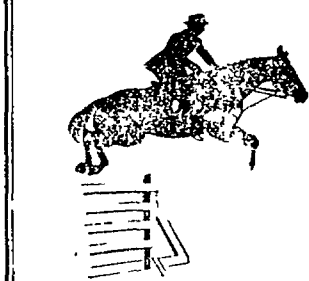

are grinding, as they sometime do in a democracy, slowly, tipping first one way, then the other as weight of public opinion and interest makes itself felt.

Plans to promote the state with a national publicity program are under consideration. It'll be called "Michigan Weeks" and may take place this October. Godfather of the promotion is Michigan Department of Economic Development which will try to coordinate statewide programs with local Chambers of Commerce and other service clubs. The same group will coordinate fund raising and interests of the widely diversified groups which are hoped will be interested in Michigan Weeks.

Screening of tourists for industrial prospects is being recommended by the Department of Economic Development. A 3-page memorandum sent to industrial and would be industrial areas urges that key points in the community be used in an attempt to interest any visitor connected with a factory to locate it there. Prepared placards inviting questions about industrial sites; seek assistance from hotel, resort or restaurant operators for tips about industrialists vacationing in the area; ask for newspaper publicity about advantages of the location. These and many other ideas are submitted in the hopes that a new industry will be sold on a Michigan location for its home.

Increased loss of life and property from traffic accidents caused increased concern in state and city circles. New and grimmer statistics were undoubtedly a factor in the passage last week of a Senate bill to limit Michigan highway speeds. The proposal calls for limits of 65 miles per hour in daylight and 55 at night. It is hoped that rigid control of speed will reduce accidents for figures show that driver violations are involved in 75 per cent of accidents; that excess speed is responsible for 45 per cent of these.

The house also trotted out and passed a bill for stricter control of driver licensing. This bill has been returned to committee but in the face of more traffic deaths, it was called back for approval. So serious is the situation in Detroit that Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard has considered asking for volunteers from the police force to work extra hours. Death rate there is 60 per cent higher than last year with speed and carelessness listed as major causes in the fatalities. The Detroit police department is 240 men below strength which makes the problem of strict enforcement more difficult than usual.

Saves Live Wire Victim in Florida

A former Novi couple, now operating the Bay Drive Trailer Park in Largo, Fla., figured in the saving of a man's life recently at their camp.

The story appeared in a Florida newspaper, and is reprinted below:

LARGO — Prompt work by owners of the Bay Drive Trailer Park here last night was credited with saving the life of one of their residents, according to Clearwater Fire Chief Peter Treola.

Robert Moore, 34, working on his trailer came in contact with a power line leading into the trailer.

His wife, Lavelle, 32, said she rushed out to see him doubled up under the trailer. She pulled the line from the plug and her husband fell to the ground.

The park owners, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Hines, also heard the cry and rushed to assist. They applied artificial respiration for about five minutes and brought Moore back to consciousness.

Chief Treola and a crew responded from Clearwater with a respirator but were not needed. Treola was high in his praise for the prompt action on the part of the Hines couple saying they undoubtedly saved Moore's life.

Compared to Sun, A-Bomb Is Minor

Energy released by the recent atomic explosion was relatively minute compared to that of the sun's radiation, a University of Michigan astronomer says.

Dr. Leo Goldberg, chairman of the U-M Department of Astronomy, points out that while the atomic bomb converts less than a fraction of an ounce of mass to energy, the sun converts four million tons a second.

This is energy released in the sun's steady state, he explains, not taking into account flare-ups, such as prominences, sunspots and other solar disturbances.

The energy is released by the union of hydrogen atoms. As a result, the sun shrinks each second, but the loss in mass is insignificant because of the sun's enormous size.

At the present rate of conversion, the process could continue for many millions of years without noticeable effect.

Professor Goldberg explains that if all the solar radiation hitting the earth in one second were converted to power, it would cost just under one billion dollars a second.

Even at that rate, the sun would be losing on its investment, for the earth is 93 million miles from the sun and intercepts only 1/2200 of the energy released.

Slopes, Sun, Shade Figure in Choosing Grass Seed for Starting New Lawn

(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series on how to prepare and care for your lawn. The articles were written by Harlow O. Whittemore, professor of landscape architecture, University of Michigan.)

Just any type of grass will not do for your lawn. You will need to consider any slopes present as well as conditions of sun and shade.

For a level or gently sloping lawn in open sun, Kentucky blue grass is recommended. For sandy soil with a slightly acid condition, the usual lawn is made up of a combination of native red top and New Zealand red fescue.

However, there are so many grasses and so many different mixtures that it would be desirable to get some advice from your local seed dealer as to which best suits your special conditions.

If your soil is poorly drained, some of the meadow grasses like red top meadow fescue and the like would be very useful. If your lawn is dry and overly drained, you might use the New Zealand red fescue or some of the creeping bent grasses. For a lawn partly in shade, the usual base consists of either meadow fescue grass or Cheving's New Zealand red fescue grass.

On a sloping bank, it is best to use special grasses which bind the soil and prevent erosion. Several kinds of creeping bent grass might be desirable here.

One of the principal problems in seeding on a slope is to keep the slope from washing away while the seed is starting. You can use a temporary, rapidly germinating grass which will grow fast and hold the soil while the permanent grasses are slowly developing. Most commonly used is perennial rye grass. However, it is good for only a few years, until the permanent grasses take over. If the slope is high and a large quantity of water rushes down, half the seed should be common oats or rye.

Water new grass with a fine mist spray every day until it comes up to a height of an inch or so. After that, once a week may be enough. Do not cut a new lawn until it is four or five inches high. Set the mower to leave two or three inches of grass below.

Weeds are bound to appear. There is only one thing to do—pull them up! Do not use weed sprays on tender young seedlings. When the grass is well established, anti-weed sprays can be used.

For purposes of economy in dealing with a large area, you can have two kinds of lawn. First, there is the garden lawn, or the area near the house. To insure rich, heavy grass, use the normal amount of grass seed and employ intensive soil preparation.

Second, there is the meadow lawn, farther from the house. This will require less expensive preparation. You may use about half the quantity of seed and cheaper grass, thus saving from one-half to two-thirds of the material cost. The cheaper meadow lawn will look at a distance nearly as good as the fine lawn near the house.

Livonia Rotarians to Sponsor Annual Carnival May 14-17

More than 50,000 people from all parts of Detroit and surrounding area are expected to attend the seventh annual Livonia Rotary Carnival and Exposition to be held May 14 through 17 at the Detroit Race Course, Schoolcraft and Middlebelt roads.

Highlighting a program of rides for the children, entertainment and exhibits of all kinds will be the gift of a $20,000 three-bedroom ranch home located at Five Mile near Farmington Rd., and a $1,000 doll house, a miniature home in every respect.

Proceeds from concessions, exhibit rentals and other sources will go into the building fund for a Youth Center of Livonia, according to Clarence Jahn, general chairman of the carnival and exposition.

General admission, including parking on the spacious race track lots, will be free.

3 Attend U-M Debate Banquet

Among the more than three hundred debaters and advisors who attended the 36th annual State Championship Debates for high school debaters and the fourth annual banquet at the University of Michigan April 24 were Miss Florence Panatieri, Northville High School speech teacher, and debaters Walter Newton and Lucien Lovewell.

The banquet honored all schools which participated in the 1952-'53 debate season. Both the championship and the banquet were sponsored by the U-M Bureau of School Services in cooperation with the Detroit Free Press.

Dr. Edward N. Hinko, assistant medical superintendent of Northville State Hospital, was elected to the Council of the Michigan Society of Neurology and Psychiatry when the group held its last meeting of the fiscal year at the hospital April 16.

A scientific program was presented by members of the hospital staff. Dr. Nate Kalichman, of the psychiatry department, read a paper dealing with electroshock therapy, and James Grisell, director of clinical psychology, along with Miss Elizabeth Hiett, psychiatric social worker, described the Patients Representative Council. Bruce Danto, psychiatric social worker, explained a recent survey on knowledge and attitude of Northville residents toward the hospital.
