Community Building Could Be Completed This Year

Northville's Community Building may be completed and in use before the end of the year if the Village Commission moves promptly and if no legal hitch occurs.

This was reported to the Commission Monday evening by Walter Anicka, Ypsilanti architect, who has drawn up preliminary plans that have been tentatively approved by the Commission and the Community Building Committee headed by Wilson Funk.

The one remaining legal technicality to be straightened out is the securing of a "release" from Kasurin & Kasurin, architects, who designed a similar building for the village several years ago and hold a contract for constructing any community building the village may build. The firm has promised to give Northville a release on the contract but, when Village Attorney Philip Ogilvie went to Ann Arbor last week to pick up the release, the partner in that office had just suffered a paralytic stroke and was unable to sign the papers.

Upon being assured by Anicka that the building he has designed can be constructed for between $190,000 and $200,000, including some additional seating capacity and other minor changes, the Village Commission instructed Ogilvie to work out a contract with Anicka to design and supervise the construction of this building. Signing of the contract, it was said, will be contingent upon getting the existing contract with Kasurin & Kasurin cancelled by that time.

To avoid further delay while this release is being obtained, Anicka told the commission, he would start immediately to have final plans drawn so the village can advertise for construction bids as soon as possible.

The building is to be constructed with cinder blocks faced with brick and will occupy land to the east of the present school. It will

Plan New Highway from Farmington to Kensington Park

Initial steps are now being taken by the State Highway Department to relieve the existing serious week-end traffic congestion on Grand River between Detroit and Kensington Parkway by construction of a new limited-access highway paralleling Grand River. Such a highway, patterned after some sections of the Willow Run Expressway, would branch off Grand River to the east of the Kensington Parkway cut-off. It would greatly shorten the driving time to and from the country and, in the summer, eliminate the miles of automobiles that creep into the city at a snail's pace on Sunday afternoons.

A surveyor's crew from the State Highway Department is making its headquarters at Novi and is working out the details of a route slightly to the north of Grand River. Although this appears to be the most suitable route, it is probable that before a final decision is reached, another route paralleling Grand River on the south may also be worked out for comparison. A third alternative would be to widen and improve the present Grand River road to at least double its capacity.

Even though the proposed new highway will not be constructed for at least another year, its importance was emphasized last week by the Chrysler Corporation's admission that it has purchased approximately 600 acres fronting on Grand River just east of New Hudson. While the corporation has not decided definitely what to do with the new factory site, its size is so large that it is logical to anticipate the employment of several thousand persons when Chrysler decides to start construction.

The proposed new road would then be an absolute necessity, not only to handle week-end traffic, but for normal week-day use as well.

Commission Hears Methods Used to Finance Parking

Methods used by other municipalities in acquiring adequate off-street parking space, and the advantages to city growth that result from good parking facilities, were described to the Village Commission at a special meeting Wednesday evening by Matthew B. Carey, Detroit financial expert.

Carey came to Northville at the commission's invitation to discuss the local parking situation and if the commission so desired, to do a comprehensive study of local parking that would lay the groundwork for a revenue bond issue if the local need warrants a sizable outlay for vacant property. It was his second meeting with Northville officials, the first having taken place more than a year ago. At that time he met with Commissioners John F. Stubenvoll and Gerald C. Woodworth, and Village Treasurer A. Russell Clarke, to outline in general terms the steps that must be taken if the village should require outside financing to handle its parking problems.

Such financing can be handled without cost to taxpayers by issuance of bonds that are repaid from proceeds of parking meters over a period of 10 to 15 years, Carey explained.

The Commission showed Carey what it has done to date in the way of off-street parking space along the alley east of South Center St. and the new parking lot next to the First Presbyterian Church; also the lot at the southwest corner of Main and Center streets. In doing so, its members expressed their appreciation of the voluntary cooperation of certain property owners in deeding portions of their property to the village at no cost, and instructed Clerk Mary Alexander to write to such persons individually to express the commission's thanks.

In this connection it was noted that Eaton & Bryan, after having been the first firm in Northville to give the village a deed to property required for the alley parking program on the south side of Main St., has just given the village permission to use the rear 40 feet of its 66-foot wide lot for parking until such time as the area may be needed by its owners for other purposes. Also, Roy Stone has given the village permission to use similarly the rear portion of the lot known as the Burgess property, which adjoins the Eaton & Bryan lot. These areas will provide additional parking space that is much needed.

Commissioner Woodworth described the progress of negotiations with property owners along the north side of East Main St. for acquisition of parking space in the rear of stores located in that block, and of negotiations for an alley entrance to the area from Dunlap St.

Also discussed in some detail was the off-street parking plan submitted to the Village Commission last summer by the Village Planning Commission. This plan resulted indirectly from Mr. Carey's recommendation a year ago that village authorities make a preliminary study of the local situation as a basis for deciding on just how far it will be advisable to go in buying downtown property for parking use.

One point stressed by Mr. Carey in discussing utilization of existing space to the fullest extent was the need for metering all downtown space under the village's control. "If this is not done," he explained, "it is inevitable that employees of local business establishments will preempt the best parking spaces early in the day, and by leaving their cars parked until the stores close at night, will prevent the general public from using any space which the village provides."

Huge PTA Carnival Is Ready for Presentation Friday Night

It'll be hard to recognize the interiors of Northville High and Grade schools when the dozens of organizations, teachers, students and parents finish decorating Friday for the annual PTA Carnival.

The gym will be a huge midway with game booths and other attractions. Halls will be jammed with people coming from one exhibit or piece of entertainment to another. Classrooms and other rooms will be changed into all sorts of concessions, games and diversions to catch the eye of visitors.

Door Prizes Given
One of the big events—the giving away of two bicycles donated by Village President C. E. Langfield and the Driving Club, and many other gifts donated by Northville merchants—will come about ten p.m.

Displays will include a narcotics and safety exhibit sponsored by Northville police in conjunction with Michigan State Police. Another will be a boat and boat kit display by the Junior Optimists. A third display will be under the sponsorship of the Michigan Home Demonstration Service.

The Senior Student Council will sell hot dogs and soft drinks, and popcorn will be on sale by the Junior Student Council. Cake, ice cream and coffee will be sold in the grade school lunch room by the Woman's Club.

For the archery enthusiast, the Recreation Committee will sponsor a bow and arrow shoot in high school room 6.

3 Main Shows
Entertainment in the auditorium will feature three shows: Rew the Magician at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m., and the Belleville Farris Community Singers at 8:30 p.m.

The midway, as in professional carnivals, will attract many people, who will line up for dart games, ring-a-game, weight guessing, Tom Cots, the balloon man, drive-a-nail game, penny toss, pitch-til-you-win and duck pins.

Sure to get a lot of attention will be the auctioning of photographs bearing the authentic autographs of such people as President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Detroit's Mayor Cobo, Senator Homer Ferguson, Bob Hope, Judge Lila Nuenfelt, Hopalong Cassidy, the Cisco Kid and Detroit Lions' star Pat Harder. Also to be auctioned will be baseballs signed by members of the Detroit Tigers, and Governor G. Mennen Williams' bow tie. These items have been provided by the Northville Cooperative Pre-School Play Group.

Dancing Baileys
Free entertainment will feature music, songs and dances by The Dancing Baileys on the grade school lunchroom stage between 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. The dancers and singers, Mr. Bailey says, "will take you back to the old South, old time vaudeville, the slums of New York and into the Flapper days of the early 1920's". Included in the acts will be Karen Pankow, Dave Hay, Sharon Butdrew, Racina Bailey, Richard Drew, Sharon Allen, Barbara Mapes, Glenn Schultz, Phyllis Wendland, Donna Frisbie, Leo Campbell, George Bennett, Arcey (Continued on Back Page)

Final Softball Meeting Friday

Final organizational meeting of the Northville Softball league will be at the Village Hall Friday, May 8, at 8 p.m., when schedules for the summer season will be given.

Douglas Slessor, who has charge of the softball program this year, asks anyone interested in playing who hasn't signed up to come to the meeting. Umpires also are needed.

The season will begin about June 1, with seven teams already in the fold, and the possibility of an eighth team.

Looking over the bicycles and gifts to be given away Friday night at the PTA Carnival are Mrs. David Gearne of 16261 Franklin Rd. and son, Earl 6, (left) and Chuckie, 2. The prizes are on display in the lobby of Depositors State Bank.

School Board Seeks New Gravel Pit Acreage for Elementary Building

Manning & Locklin Gravel Co. received formal permission Monday evening from the Novi Township Zoning Appeals Board to open a new gravel pit on the 55-acre tract of land at the northwest corner of Center St. and Baseline Rd.

Simultaneously, the Northville School Board reaffirmed its desire to purchase the area to be occupied by the proposed gravel pit for use as a future school site, and instructed Eural F. Clark, board president, to arrange a meeting between board members and Mr. Perry Manning, to discuss terms under which the land may be acquired for school purposes.

The Manning & Locklin property was recommended to the school board for purchase more than a year ago by Wilfred Clapp, of the State Department of Public Instruction, together with another site at the southwest corner of Bradner and Six Mile roads. The school board also plans to meet with the owner of the latter property to discuss terms for its acquisition.

Whether the board's desire to buy the Manning & Locklin acreage will prove feasible will depend upon the price at which it might be acquired through negotiation or condemnation. That this may prove to be a more serious stumbling block for the school board now than before Manning & Locklin had signified its intention to open a gravel pit is recognized by all concerned.

School board members feel, however, that an elementary school at that location could care for the many children in the Oakwood Subdivision area, and that the additional acreage would provide suitable space for the location of an athletic field and playground area.

Northville Township residents must register with Clerk Fred W. Lyke, 430 E. Main St., Northville. Novi residents should register with Clerk Earl Banks, 39700 E. Eleven Mile Rd. Salem Township residents must register with Clerk Grant Currie, 7670 Currie Rd. Lyon Township residents should register with Clerk F. Lyman Joslin, 54299 Nine Mile Rd.

If registration has been made with the above clerks, new registration is not necessary.

Rotary Wives to Attend Meeting

Wives of Rotarians will be able to get a close look at the Rotary Club in action next Tuesday noon when they are invited to attend a meeting.

Rotary District Governor Ted Kuckleman will be principal speaker. He will talk on the background, purpose and functioning of the international organization of clubs, and show how the local club fits into the community.

Lack of Class Rooms Forces Use of Storage Space, Stage

Serious overcrowding of Northville schools, a condition they have managed to escape until now, will be noticeable when grade and high school sessions begin in September.

This became evident Monday night when the Northville school board decided that 23 tuition students from Cooper school district and three from Nankin Mills district would not be allowed to attend high school here next year.

The move became necessary when Principal E. V. Ellison reported an anticipated influx of at least thirty new students next fall, and the necessity of making room in the grade and high schools for two classes now being conducted in the Brock house located at the corner of West and Main streets. This house, and the two adjacent to it, will be moved or torn down if the proposed Community Building is erected on that site.

Stage to Be Classroom
One of the two classes will be shifted to the basement of the grade building into present storage space. The other will be located on the auditorium stage after installation of a partition and ventilation facilities. This will eliminate use of the stage for the school year, and force other arrangements for school plays and other events requiring a stage.

Use of high school rooms by grades seven through 12 has been scheduled so tightly that only one room is available for one hour during the school week. Such normal events as student council meetings and others must find room somewhere in the building, but nobody knows where, as yet.

More and More Coming
In addition to this state of affairs, Mr. Ellison receives frequent telephone calls from new families moving into the area wanting to send students to school here.

The thinking in some quarters is that construction of the Community Building could provide gymnasium and stage facilities for use by the high school, and permit remodeling of the present gym into several classrooms, thus relieving the overload for a time. Other opinion, however, favors continued use of the present gym in addition to the new one, plus the need for more commercial class space, an increased machine shop program, and a grade school gym program.

"Double Curriculum"
Mr. Ellison pointed out that an even fifty percent of Northville graduates went on to higher education in colleges, universities, commercial and trade schools last year. This trend points to an increase in a "double curriculum", which can care for both a college preparatory course and added emphasis on commercial and industrial courses. This is especially needed if the area surrounding Northville grows according to expectations.

The immediate need, it is felt, is the construction of a new elementary school. (Continued on Back Page)

Village Ratifies Park Place Sale

Sale of Park Place to Michigan Powdered Metal Products Co., Inc. was ratified informally by the Northville Village Commission Monday evening.

Philip Ogilvie, village attorney, was instructed to draw a contract for commission approval May 18 to provide for certain improvements to be made by the company and transfer of some property now owned by Powdered Metal Products to the village.

Details of the combination sale-trade deal were worked out by Commissioners A. Malcolm Allen and Gerald C. Woodworth and John Haller, vice-president of Allied Products Co., of which Powdered Metal Products is a subsidiary.

Messrs. Allen and Woodworth told the commission that Haller has agreed to lease a portion of the property to the Weber Machine Tool Co. for use as an employee parking lot.

Many people of the area have already visited the hospital and inspected its facilities, according to staff representatives, but the many who have not are especially welcome to the open house May 8.

State Hospital Open House Fri.

With National Mental Health Week being observed from May 3 through May 9, Northville State Hospital will hold its annual Open House program on Friday, May 8 from 9 a.m. through 3:30 p.m. This year special programs have been prepared for visitors. Tours of the hospital and the new admissions wing will be part of the program, along with color movies of patient activities and lectures by the clinical team, about treatment programs at the hospital.

While the patient is receiving the latest and most progressive treatment in modern and efficient buildings, the hospital staff works as a team toward returning a healthy individual to the community. The hospital responsibility does not end when the patient leaves the hospital, but it is shared with a newly added team member, the community.

Rolling Down The River

by the PETZ BROS.

Did we ever get around to telling you of the two hunters that were out for bear? One morning, while one was getting breakfast, the other took his gun and went for a short stroll. Not far from the cabin, he sighted a bear and promptly shot. Badly wounded, the bear charged, the hunter ducked and the animal crashed through the cabin door, into the stove where the second hunter was preparing breakfast. "There he is Jim," called the marksman, "you skin him, while I go out and get another."

Or we could tell you of a conversation a friend of ours overheard. Two women were talking about driving their cars while shopping. "The one thing I can't stand," said one, "is the horrible crunch that happens every time I try to park."

What she needs is a fine new Studebaker for '53 with its perfect, all around visibility. All she has to do is look over her shoulder to see where any particular rear fender may be at the moment. Easy to operate too, and amazingly comfortable riding. Power when she needs it and an operating economy that will go far in balancing the budget. And they haven't got around to inventing the car that is more dashingly beautiful than the '53 hardtop convertible. If you haven't driven a Studebaker, you've missed the biggest thrill of the '53 season and you should, by all means, make haste to correct the situation at once.

We know of a man, who perhaps may be badly crippled about now or at least slightly battered. His wife, a most talkative sort of a woman, returned from a bridge party, and he promptly asked her, did she enjoy herself.

"No," said the lady.

"What's the matter," he asked, "did someone interrupt you?"

Well, if you should be driving along the road some day and something interrupts the operation of your car, it's one of two things. Either you're out of gas or you failed to take advantage of all the warnings we tossed your way and didn't get that car of yours in the shop for a motor tune-up. You'll be surprised what a difference a little attention from these mechanics of ours will make in the car's performance. It won't hurt either, if while you're here, you have the car completely lubricated for extra safety in the warm months ahead.

That's that, but we would like to mention that while a lot of money won't make you happy, it sure helps to rest your nerves.

Pike Fishing Made Easy for Novices

ANN ARBOR May 6 — Along streams, into shallow pools and out in deep lakes, the Michigan angler may go in search of pike and muskies, but the success of his expedition depends upon knowledge of the fish, according to Karl F. Lagler, U-M Department of Fisheries chairman.

A prized catch of almost any Michigan fisherman is the pike, of which only a small percentage is caught. Professor Lagler explains that although it is not an abundant fish, except in particularly favorable or restricted habitats, pike can be found in marshes during the spring. They move to shallow, in-shore waters for the summer and deeper ones early in winter, returning to the shallow areas for mid and late winter.

How To Fish

Bait-casting with treble-hook spoons is the favorite means for catching the fish. "Best casts allow the bait to settle to the bottoms of pools," he says, "which are the favorite pike hideout and resting areas."

Very similar to the pike, and often confused with it, is the grass pickerel. This fish seldom reaches a length of more than 14 inches and therefore is often mistaken for young pike, which the law says must be thrown back in.

Professor Lagler states that the main distinguishing feature between the pike and grass pickerel is that the latter has scales covering both the cheek and the gill cover, while the pike just has them on the cheek and upper half of the gill cover.

Largest Michigan Fish

Rarest of the pike group is the Great Lakes muskellunge. Largest of Michigan game fish, over 5 feet long and 55 pounds in weight, it is a favorite catch and is taken mostly by deep trolling with large spoons or occasionally by bait-casting. The muskellunge differs from the pike and grass pickerel by having scales on only the upper half of its cheek and gill cover.

John Williams, U-M graduate student in fisheries, 1328 S. Main, Ann Arbor, is currently conducting research on pike in Michigan, with special reference to the life history and requirements of the "muskie". It is being conducted in cooperation with the state's Institute for Fisheries Research, located on the U-M campus.

"Walleye" Not a Pike

Speaking of the so-called walleye pike, Dr. Lagler says that it is really not a member of the pike family at all, but rather of the perch. It may be told from the pike-pickerel (grass pickerel) and muskellunge, he points out, by the two fins on its back and large shiny eyes high on the sides of its head, from which comes the name "walleye".

Harder to catch than pike, but not as hard as "muskies", walleye prefers clear water. It can be found in shallow waters of the Great Lakes in spring and summer, but moves into deeper ones in the fall. In inland lakes, it lives in deeper water. A fine booklet on the habits of this fish is available through the State Conservation Department, Professor Lagler states.

A variety of methods can be used for walleye, ranging from

Street Painting Equipment Bids

The Northville Village Commission voted Monday evening to advertise for bids to supply mechanical equipment for painting directional lines on streets, curbs and in parking lots. Such work has been done previously by hand at considerably greater cost than it could be done for if the village owned the necessary equipment.

Michigan Traffic Accident Report Shows New Highs

Michigan's 1952 traffic accident report just released by the State Police reveals new all-time highs for the record book.

For the sixth consecutive year, the total number of licensed drivers, motor vehicles registered and miles traveled set new peaks. The injury toll was a new high for the fifth consecutive year.

There were 1,727 persons killed and 49,110 injured in 160,829 accidents. The daily average for the year was 47 deaths and 134 injured in 439 accidents.

The death total was the fifth largest, but combined with the injuries gave the state a new high casualty toll for the fourth consecutive year and exceeded 50,000 for the second successive year. The highest death total was in 1937, with 2,175.

Deaths increased 87, or five per cent, over 1,640 in 1951. Injuries increased 692, or one per cent, over 48,418, which was the previous high. Accidents dropped 16,178, or 11 per cent, under the 1951 all-time top of 176,587.

On a percentage basis, total casualties closely paralleled increases in drivers, motor vehicles and miles traveled.

There were 96,713 more licensed drivers in 1952, a three per cent increase, bringing the total to 3,162,160. Registered vehicles increased 26,182, or one per cent to 2,586,834. Based on the census, one vehicle was registered for every 2.5 persons in the state.

What the Classes Are Doing . . .

by Larry Goits

SENIORS

The Senior Prom, April 24, was the biggest success of the year. The gym was packed. For those of you who didn't see the gym, it was very picturesque in shades of blue. Why, even the sky outside was blue from the glare the gym threw off. Everyone had a very enjoyable time.

The seniors now have the task of planning Class Night. Various committees necessary for writing the class will, history, and prophecy have been chosen and are working to complete the preparations before the senior trip.

Speaking of the Senior trip, the girls are really in a jam. Well, not exactly, but they are still puzzled at what to get new, what they have that they can take, and what they have that they should not take. Watch for an article next week advising what to take.

JUNIORS

The Junior play last Thursday and Friday nights was a huge success. If you didn't see it, you really missed something! The Juniors had a great time doing it, but are glad that it is over. Nearly every actress and actor admitted feeling quite a few butterflies in the stomach before the

SOPHOMORES

The Sophomores have almost reached their $500 goal that we have mentioned so often. When their pen sales ended, they had about $400. They earned another $30 by addressing envelopes for Northville Downs. A bake sale and a class party are being planned, so maybe that $500 goal isn't too far away.

Col. Van Atta in Military Maneuver

Colonel Ward H. Van Atta, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Van Atta, of East Cady St., is now at Camp Pickett, Va., where he is participating in the Army's fifth annual logistical support maneuver May 4-9.

Two thousand Army, Navy, Air Force and Allied officers from 16 Army schools in the U.S. perform all the technical and administrative functions necessary to provide a half-million man combat army with everything it needs to live and fight.

In the "classroom war," future logistical support officers gain valuable experience by maintaining continuous services and supply under adverse terrain conditions and in the face of an enemy using atomic, chemical and biological weapons.

Things . . . and Stuff

Cathy Rambeau - Larry Goits

Friday, April 24, the band traveled to the Jim Daly School at Wayne where they presented a short concert for the teacher's institute. They returned to Northville around noon.

G.A.L. just bought a new full length mirror which has been installed in the girl's locker room. They are busy with a playday coming up next week and the revising of their constitution. Their spring sports are well under way with baseball Monday and Tuesday nights and tennis Wednesdays and Thursdays.

This Michigan weather sure has the girls of Northville going around in circles. One day it's in the 60's or 70's and the next day it drops to low 30's. What's a girl supposed to wear in weather like this? If she wears summer clothes (like a full skirt and sleeveless blouse) she freezes all day. If she wears a skirt and sweater, chances are it will be hot that day and she'll roast. Boys, you don't know how lucky you are to be able to just put on a pair of jeans or sport slacks and a sport shirt and be comfortable in any kind of weather.

Fourteen members of the Future Teacher's Club recently attended the F.T.A. day at Michigan State Normal College in Ypsilanti. They toured the college campus and met with other clubs from all over the state.

On April 21, winners of the district speech contest traveled to Waterford High School to compete in the regional contest. Those from Northville winning banners were Sally Wagenschutz in declamation and Nancy Dewsbury in original oratory. Second place honors were taken by Lucien Love well in extemporaneous speaking and Leanna Doeksen in interpretative reading. Northville again came through with flying colors taking most honors for the day.

Miss Knapp has arranged a bulletin board display of maps and pictures of Washington, D.C. We see the Seniors looking at it as if they plan to buy the place!

Track Meet Held in Clawson Wed.

Wednesday, April 29 the Northville track team ventured to Clawson for their first track meet of the season. This year's team consists of eight men with only one being a veteran Northville, South Lyon and Clawson competed. Ed Nash took a first in the 440, Bob Burgess was third in the pole vault, and Darwin Teschka was fourth in the mile run.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP NO. 1

We met at the Presbyterian church April 22. We talked over what we were going to eat at camp. Then Mrs. Austin taught us how to make a bed roll.

Friday we left at 1:00 and came back Saturday afternoon. We camped at the Plymouth Girl Scout cabin.

We met at the Presbyterian Church April 29. Mrs. Austin received the badges and we talked about what we had to do to earn them.

Madonna College New Scholarship

Madonna College announces scholarships in medical technology available to senior girls in Northville, Plymouth, Garden City, Bentley and Clarenceville high schools. Applicants must have high scholastic standing, especially in science, and must be in actual need of financial assistance.

The $1500 scholarship fund was donated by Arthur J. Rooks, of the A & A Asphalt Paving company, Levan and Amrhein.

The scholarship will cover a full year's tuition and may be renewed annually upon maintaining satisfactory grades and good conduct throughout their college career.

Students interested in this grant may obtain further information and application blanks from their high school principal. Blanks and transcripts of credits must be returned to the registrar of Madonna College by May 11.

The Medical Technology curriculum consists of three years of courses at the college and a fourth year of internship at a hospital laboratory. The program has attracted a number of students ever since it has been introduced.

The college will train medical technologists for the proposed St. Mary Hospital to be built on the grounds within the next two years.

Plans for the two-million dollar general hospital, to be conducted by the Felician Sisters, have already been made public at an open meeting in February. Civic leaders and physicians of surrounding localities have given their hearty approval of the project and have pledged their support.

And apparently he has good reason, for his numbers and distribution have greatly declined as people moved into his domains, research at Cranbrook Institute of Science, Bloomfield Hills, and elsewhere has shown.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

That God is not the creator of a sinful man is clearly shown in the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, May 10, under the subject "Adam and Fallen Man". The Golden Text is from Ephesians (5:14): "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light." Among the Bible citations as this passage, (Matt. 18:12): "At the same time came the disciples unto Jesus, saying, who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven? And Jesus called a little child unto him, and set him in the midst of them." Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "The Christlike understanding of scientific being and divine healing includes a perfect Principle and idea,—perfect God and perfect man,—as the basis of thought and demonstration." (p. 259)

Methodists Hold Funds Campaign

Announcement has been made by the Rev. Ivan E. Hodgson, pastor of the First Methodist Church, that a campaign which will reach all members and friends of the local congregation is now in progress.

The object of the campaign is two-fold: to better acquaint the church member with the work of the Methodist denomination's World Service; and to give each one an opportunity to share regularly in humanitarian work around the world as well as to support his church in its own local and Conference responsibilities.

"Last week and this week," indicated the Rev. Hodgson, "mailings were made to all members of the parish. This is preliminary to 'Victory Night', which is scheduled for Wednesday, May 13 at 6:30 p.m. It is hoped that most of our families will be represented at this pot-luck dinner. The program and the budget for next year's work will be presented. A pledge and consecration service will close this important meeting. Following that, each of those members who were not able to be present at the dinner, will be called on at home by one of the stewards during the week of May 17 through 24.

"In this manner we will reach our entire membership in this important campaign."

The Rev. Hodgson indicated that Methodists gave more than 40 million dollars last year to the total benevolence program of the denomination. The local congregation has more than met its missionary appointment for this year. The success which accompanied this year's efforts gives the church much reason for praise and a renewed hope to greatly increase their fields of spiritual service another year.

Laboratory Open House This Month

In order to acquaint the public with the role played in modern medicine by the hospital laboratory and the medical technologist, many hospitals are planning to hold Laboratory Open House for part of one day during National Hospital Week, May 10 through May 16.

The diagnostic tests performed by medical technologists have become so much a part of the routine of the modern hospital that certain of them are performed on most patients brought in for treatment or surgery.

If you are interested in seeing how some of these tests are actually carried out, why not visit one of the hospitals during its hours of open house, and find out what goes on "behind the scenes?"

University Hospital at Ann Arbor will open its laboratories to the public from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday, May 10; the laboratory at Wayne County General Hospital will be open from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, May 16. For information concerning other hospitals, call Mrs. L. M. Hotchkiss, Farmington 2875.

The state's hot potato tax problem was passed deftly from freshly washed hands of Representatives into reluctant laps of Senators last week when the House approved both an income tax bill sponsored by Senator Joseph P. Cloon and the Nill corporate profits tax. By their action, House members removed pressures from themselves and left the next move up to the Senate.

First reaction there was to arrange an organized stall for time, so the Senate asked for an agreement with House members to recess from May 22 to June 15 at which time only tax and appropriation bills could be considered. In the meantime, Senate logic went, the path would be clear for many other bills, which have been sidetracked by lack of time, to be considered.

But House officials refused to go along with this plan and Senate members had to devise a different program.

Ironie outcome of the rapid maneuvering in the House is that Sen. George N. Higgins, bitter foe of corporate profit taxation, found the wording of Rep. Walter H. Nill's bill substituted for his own in a proposal already cleared through the Senate. This has the parliamentary effect of making Higgins sponsor of the corporate profits tax, which he detests.

The maneuver was possible because a majority of House Republicans and Democrats got together on the plan to get some action on tax legislation. Once agreement was reached, it took about 15 minutes to make it legal by floor action. Voting ran about 70-15 on the issues as they came up rapidly for action. The procedure involved a vote for immediate consideration of the Christman tax bill which provided a flat one per cent income tax. The House then approved a motion to substitute the words of the Cloon Senate bill for a tax on business and individuals with incomes over $10,000, which was bottled up in the Senate Tax Committee. It was then voted to change the wording of Senator Higgins' bill by inserting Nill's, and the deed was done. The problem became the Senate's.

Advantages of the Nill bill, which has been supported strongly by Governor Williams, are listed by Rep. Nill, who says no corporation has to pay anything unless a profit is made. He compares Michigan to an average of other states; showing that here corporations pay direct taxes amounting to only eight per cent of the state's income. The national average is 23%, individuals in Michigan contribute 79% of the tax income as compared to 55%. His bill, he says, will make Michigan's tax spread more like the national average, and will leave more money in the hands of consumers. This, he continues, is good for manufacturers because they can sell more products.

MICHIGAN OUTDOORS

GOVERNOR'S CONFERENCE INAUGURATED

The first annual Governor's Tourist and Resort Conference in Lansing proved itself a springboard for a lot of new thinking on outdoor problems. Our natural resources were put under a kind of microscope for study, carefully appraised, then considered in the light of long range planning.

Dr. Justin W. Leonard, Research Chief of our Conservation Department, explained the "new look" at wildlife management—an approach that has been widely discussed and discussed by sportsmen everywhere in Michigan.

By most of our old standards when a species of fish or game began to disappear there was only one logical move: The State must restock in a hurry. This called for game farms and fish hatcheries operating full blast at a cost that put a terrific price tag on every planted fish or game bird brought home as a trophy of the chase. Pheasants were worth about $3.50 each . . . legal sized trout in the creek about $1.20 per. It was costing the sportsmen and taxpayer a lot of money—some of it still on the books.

Science Steps In

But gradually more and more straight thinking is taking place among the sportsmen of Michigan who are finally beginning to believe the research biologist. They've been telling us for the last ten years that money used for stocking and planting would be far better spent in habitat improvement.

They've been preaching that a given amount of land or water endowed with definite food and cover limitations can harbor just so much fish or game and no more. And more often than not the encroachments of civilization are doing more harm than good to game and fish living quarters. So the combination of more fishermen and hunters plus the degeneration of habitat has resulted in a steady reduction of the "take" per customer.

Will planting restocking help in such a case? Definitely not, say the experts, except on a "put and take" basis. By that they mean plant today and kill tomorrow by rod or gun before natural limitations step in and kill the fish or game by starvation.

Trout Planting Persists

About a million legal-sized trout are planted each year for "put and take" purposes. Most of them are caught in a hurry. It costs plenty—and our research experts say this money would be far better spent in stream improvement, enabling more wild trout to live and to reproduce naturally. There are hundreds of miles of trout streams in Michigan in dire need of improvement. Here's hoping the day will come—and soon—when the cost of planting trout will be diverted to the cost of opening up long miles of new trout fishing spread over a lot more area in Michigan Outdoors!

ed by Rep. Nill, who says no corporation has to pay anything unless a profit is made. He compares Michigan to an average of other states; showing that here corporations pay direct taxes amounting to only eight per cent of the state's income. The national average is 23%, individuals in Michigan contribute 79% of the tax income as compared to 55%. His bill, he says, will make Michigan's tax spread more like the national average, and will leave more money in the hands of consumers. This, he continues, is good for manufacturers because they can sell more products.

There are those in the Legislature, it is only fair to mention, who disagree completely with Rep. Nill's line of thought.

Action can be expected on many other bills once the Senate frees itself from tax problems, for this weighty riddle has kept most legislators on edge for many weeks. Friday was final date for bills to be out of committee and there was the usual rush of committee meetings to secure approval of matters considered worthwhile. These can now be considered by the law makers until May 22.

Senate approval for the Mackinac Bridge maintenance bill was predicted by Sen. William A. Ellisworth, one of its sponsors. But he made no such predictions about the House. Decision on this matter seems to boil down to the committee that will study the bill. If it is reported out, Representatives will have a chance to vote it through. If not, it will die.

Tough luck has dogged Bridge financing. Bond salesman say the identical issue which was refused last month without a guarantee of maintenance could have been sold in January. Several similar issues from other states were bought up, but the abundance of such bonds on the national market, forced sellers to make their deals better. The state must now agree to maintain the bridge during retirement of the bonds (to the tune of an estimated $419,000 per year) if the bonds are to be sold. Arguments on both sides of this question may lead to some interesting battles.

Resorters and cottagers expressed happiness earlier in the session with a bill which controlled the speed of motor boats on lakes and rivers. The bill passed almost unanimously in the House and was sent to the Senate. There it died in committee. Reason given is that sections of the bill proposed drastic police control and no time remained to revise the terms. Other objections were made against provisions which required permits from a proposed waterways commission for the use of lake bottom to build docks or wharves. An offer to remove this section of the bill did not convince members of the committee the speed control portion should be approved for Senate vote.

Michigan's Supreme Court elections have taken to the limelight lately. Chief Justice John R. Deethers recently attacked the present system of selecting judges asking, "Can judicial officials be expected to hand down impartial decisions when those decisions may affect their re-election?" He also cited instances where organizations worked in elections to defeat judges who had ruled un-

Garbage Disposal Study Under Way

Northville and Northville Township will participate in a study to determine the best method of dealing with the long term garbage and rubbish disposal needs of 18 Wayne County municipalities and townships. The cost, estimated at $106 for the village and $138 for the township, has been authorized by the village commission and township board.

The survey is to be made by a sanitary engineer who will analyze present and projected disposal facilities for each of the communities involved and recommend either an incinerator to be used jointly, or a sanitary fill disposal system.

The survey is the outgrowth of plans put in motion several months ago to enlist the cooperation of several communities faced with the problem of finding a permanent solution to their garbage disposal requirements. This idea blossomed into the Central Wayne Planning Council, which has a membership of 18 governmental units. These are: Northville, Northville Township, Allen Park, Dearborn, Dearborn Township, Detroit, Ecorse, Garden City, Inkster, Livonia, Melvindale, Nankin Township, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, River Rouge, Trenton, Wayne, Wyandotte.

Completion of the study is expected to enable Northville to decide on how to handle its garbage-rubbish disposal most economically—whether a sanitary fill, or an incinerator built jointly with other communities.

favorably in litigation affecting the group.

The Chief Justice supports a plan currently advanced by the Michigan Bar Association where judges would be appointed rather than elected.

Justice Deethers won the recent election for his position over Justice Clark J. Adams by only 2,054 votes and many people expected the loser to ask for a recount. Although this may seem close, it's a wide margin compared to the spring of 1943 when Emerson R. Boyles of Charlotte defeated Bert D. Chandler of Adrian 179,228 to 179,226. Despite the slim two vote margin, Chandler did not ask for a recount. Adams followed this precedent, holding that the integrity of the Supreme Court should be held above the questioning of a vote of the people.

There were, at least at last count, 88,000,000 cows in these U.S., or would you care?

THE LADY SAID "NO"

Newspapers often contain strange advertisements. One of the most singular to be called to our attention was the following classified ad which appeared in the Portales, Tribune: "Wedding band and engagement ring for sale; she said 'No'. We know that because there can be a proper marriage, the answer must be, 'Yes'. The marriage relation is used to illustrate the tie between the Lord Jesus and the believer. The Apostle Paul said: 'Wherefore, my brethren, ye also are become dead to the law by the body of Christ; that ye should be married to Another, even to Him who is raised from the dead, that ye should bring forth fruit unto God.' (Romans 7:4) When the gospel is preached it is as though God were presenting His Son to the sinner, and asking: 'Will you have my Son to be your Lord and Saviour?' Silence in this instance does not give consent. There must be a definite 'I will' before the union with Christ is effected. There is every reason why a person should say 'Yes'. In Himself, the Saviour is 'altogether lovely'; and He has loved us unto death for our sins and rose again for our justification. He is willing, ready and able to save, to keep and to satisfy.

Merchants Ball Team Wins, 12-11

The Northville Merchants baseball team held off a rally by the Redford Food Fair team Sunday and emerged 12 to 11 victors in the first game for Northville in the Inter-County league. The 12 runs were scored on 11 hits and three errors. Pitcher Lou Vendetti got credit for the win although he was relieved in the third inning by George Tracey.

The Northville team will entertain Farris Furniture at Cass Benton Park Sunday, May 10, at 1 p.m. in the second game for Northville.

Players on the local team, sponsored by the S. L. Brader Department store and Cy Owens Ford dealership, are from Northville, Farmington, Livonia, Detroit and Redford. Player-manager Steve Folino heads the team. Schedules can be secured from either of the sponsors.

In Sunday's game, Redford led off with four runs in the first frame, helped by two Northville errors, but Northville bounced back with eight big tallies in the second half of the first. Nothing happened in the second, but Northville added two more runs in the last of the third.

Food Fair came up with three in the top of the fourth, but Northville got two in the last of the fifth to move the score to 12 to 7. A four-run rally by Food Fair in their half of the sixth was cut short, and Northville kept the Northville's response last Monday to the Red Cross drive for blood donations was measurably better than it was last December, and well above the national average in the ratio of donors to those who had previously signed pledges, according to Charles Carrington, local chairman.

More than 200 persons out of the approximately 300 who had previously promised to be donors showed up at the bloodmobile, or 66%, against a national average of about 50%. One hundred and sixty-eight pints of blood were taken compared with 142 pints last December.

A building and site committee, made up of two school board members, has been investigating purchase of future school sites for more than a year, and last week recommended an 18 acre area at the intersection of Bradner and Six Mile roads, and a 57-acre tract owned by the Manning & Locklin Gravel Co. west of Oakwood Subdivision as the most desirable sites in the area for locations of new elementary schools.
