for the Record

by G. H. C.

Not the least of the troubles which beset the editor of a home town weekly newspaper is how to explain the omission of a news item which some friend of the paper has turned in because he or she believes it to be of interest locally. Several such instances have occurred in recent weeks, and because of the possibility that even one of the paper's friends may feel that we have been negligent or indifferent, we are devoting this week's column to explaining the problems which confront us each week.

First, we cannot overemphasize that the Record wants to print much more local news than it is able to get. Folks in a small town are intensely interested in what is going on—not only the public meetings of various local groups like the Woman's Club, the Business and Professional Women's Club, various veterans' groups, etc.—but the social doings of every reader. The latter include small "at home" gatherings such as bridge parties, luncheons and dinners given by many ladies each week.

Our readership depends quite largely upon such news. Unfortunately, some persons do not like to have such news printed when it concerns their own activities, probably because they have been unable to include as guests all whom they would have liked to invite, and they feel that some one who was not invited may feel hurt.

The Record staff calls a large number of women every week to see if they have, or know about, any social news that would be of interest. From a considerable number, it picks up the items which appear from week to week. We wish that every reader would either call us or drop into the office to tell us about things which they believe would interest their neighbors and friends.

As to the occasional omission of a news item, or the fact that when it appears in print it may have been rewritten, certain unchangeable facts about the weekly newspaper business should be understood by everyone.

The first fact is that the Record staff consists of young men and women who are human, and therefore sometimes make mistakes. (Don't we all?) They try, however, to do a good job and, in accordance with their best judgment, to write stories and edit copy so it will conform to newspaper style, be interesting and grammatically correct. When they fail, they are sincerely sorry.

In addition to the human factor, there are mechanism considerations in printing a weekly newspaper that sometimes make it impossible to run a story in full, or perhaps result in it being left out entirely. This occurred just last week when at the last moment we had to leave out a half dozen stories and shorten others because there just wasn't room to get them in the paper.

The apparent contradiction between leaving out local news and, simultaneously, urging greater reader cooperation in giving us even more news, arises from the fact that the paper is printed in three sections. One of these goes on the press late Monday afternoon. Almost always we have difficulty getting in enough local news for inclusion in this four-page section and, more often than not, we find it necessary to use "filler copy" so the Record can go to press on time.

The second four-page section goes to press Tuesday afternoon, and generally we are able to fill this with live news that is of interest to our readers. The third section goes to press Wednesday noon, but except for stories of outstanding importance, news for the third section should be in our office by Tuesday afternoon so it can be set in type and proofread before press time.

Advertising also plays an important part in getting out the paper, and the first job every Monday morning is to estimate how many pages are to be published in the paper which reaches our readers Thursday morning. This estimate is based upon a tabulation of the number of inches of advertising that is already in the office, plus the number of inches which our advertising department believes is "in sight". By this we mean the amount that probably will come in from local merchants prior to our advertising deadline Tuesday afternoon.

Based up this forecast, we determine how many pages are to be printed. Advertisements are scheduled for each of the sections of the paper, and the balance must be filled with news. Sometimes these estimates go haywire. Last week more advertising came in on Monday and Tuesday than we had foreseen. The result that some "filler news" was used in the first section printed Monday afternoon, that could just as well have been left out if we had enough local news in early to fill the allotted space. When it came time to go to press Wednesday noon, however, we had too much local news and too much advertising to fill the space that was available. Our only solution was to omit both advertising and news which we wanted to carry but didn't have room for.

This week we got whipsawed again, but in the reverse direction. Advertising that we had planned on didn't materialize. Neither do we have enough local news to fill the allotted space. Hence, we are running what we call "house advertisements" to fill the space for which we lack news.

All of the foregoing explanation points to just one consideration that should be uppermost in the mind of everyone who desires to have the Record print news which they feel will be of local interest. "Get your news to us at the earliest possible moment so we can handle it promptly to your satisfaction and ours."

Meet to Untangle Community Bldg. Material Delay

The contractor and architect constructing the Northville Community Building worked Wednesday to untangle a materials snarl in an effort to avoid any delay in the building's completion.

Cause of the possible delay is a 40-foot steel beam, which is to be used over the front of the stage in the $206,000 building.

BEAM UNAVAILABLE

The beam was ordered when the contract was let from Arrow Steel Co. of Detroit, steel subcontractor on the job. Arrow says the beam is unavailable at the present time.

Herman Wallace of the Wallace Construction Co. which is building the structure, said if the beam is not obtained within several weeks, construction might be delayed as long as three months, since it would take that length of time to obtain the material from a mill.

He said the beam was needed before the roof could be put over the building and interior work begun.

SUBSTITUTE OFFERED

Arrow Steel has offered to substitute a beam made of two welded sections, but so far this plan has been rejected by Anicka Bros., the Ann Arbor architects supervising construction.

Arrow was to meet again Wednesday with one of the Anicka brothers and submit drawings of the proposed weld.

A representative of the architects' firm said Wednesday morning if the welded section is finally rejected, there are several alternatives.

One is to find another steel sub-contractor who can supply the piece. Another would be to find another kind of steel beam to use in the section or use some other type of construction.

"We don't feel it's fair either to the community or to the other contractors who bid on the job to substitute a welded section when a whole beam is called for," the spokesman said.

He said that a welded section would cost less than the full beam. It was expected that by later this week, a final decision would be made on the matter.

Wallace hopes to finish the building by April 15.

Flames Destroy Home

Aenchbacher Home on Seven Mile Rd. Guttled Wednesday

Fire of undetermined origin Wednesday morning completely gutted the home of Horace Aenchbacher at 47545 Seven Mile, near Beck Rd.

The flames, first spotted between 10 and 10:30 a.m., spread quickly through the one-story frame dwelling.

The building's interior was completely burned out with only the shell left standing.

FURNISHINGS DESTROYED

Contents of the home, except for a bicycle, washing machine and lawnmower which were dragged outside, also were lost.

No one was home at the time of the fire. Aenchbacher was at work at Maybury Sanatorium while his wife was at her job at Peanut's Restaurant on West Main St.

Fire Chief Bill McGee said the home was insured for $2,000. The furnishings were insured.

UNDETERMINED CAUSE

Cause of the blaze had not been officially determined at noon Wednesday.

Wayne Glass, a driver for Eckles Coal Co., first spotted the blaze and reported the fire to Charlie Butler, who runs a Standard Service Station near the Aenchbacher home.

Butler then turned in the alarm. The Northville Fire Department fought the fire for more than an hour.

Group Discusses Supervision of Community Bldg.

A joint committee to formulate a plan for administration and supervision of the Northville Community Building was appointed Monday night after a lengthy meeting of Village Commission and School Board members.

The meeting, held at the Village Hall, was called to map preliminary plans for the building's use after it is completed.

After some two hours of discussion, it was decided that a plan could best be outlined by a joint committee, which would then report back to a meeting of both groups with its recommendations.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS

Members of the committee will be School Board President Robert C. Coolman, Superintendent of Schools Russell Amerman, and Commissioners A. M. Allen and John Stubenvoll.

The meeting was attended by Commissioners Allen, Stubenvoll, Gerald Woodworth, Claude N. Ely and Alton Peters and School Board members Mrs. Harry Wagenschneider, Eural Clark, Coolman, Nelson Schrader and Donald Severance; Lynn Sullivan, member of the Recreation Committee; Recreation Director Wilson Funk, High School Principal Elroy Ellison, Superintendent Amerman, and Coaches Al Jones and Dick Kay.

ELY PRESIDES

Commissioner Ely presided at the meeting in the absence of Mayor Conrad E. Langfield.

Much of the discussion centered around the question of whether the building would be available

Trial of Mrs. Flynn to Start Nov. 9

The first degree murder trial of Mrs. Elizabeth Flynn, former Northville housewife, is scheduled to begin Nov. 9 before Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Ira Jayne.

Mrs. Flynn is charged with shooting her husband, Walter, Aug. 19, as he sat in the kitchen of their home at 116 N. Rogers St.

The defendant confessed the murder shortly after giving herself up to police. She blamed the shooting on a long series of domestic troubles.

Witches and Hobgoblins on Prowl Again

Better put your screens back up and bring your garbage cans inside.

The hobgoblins and witches are on the prowl again in Northville. While Halloweeners have been at work for the past several weeks—as witnesses the soaped windows along Main St.—their activity is expected to reach a peak this Saturday night, Oct. 31.

Window screens should provide some defense against soap-wielding youngsters, but you're still taking a chance. You may lose your screens.

So far, Chief Joe Denton reports, Northville youngsters are having fun of the good, clean variety. No cases of vandalism have as yet been reported.

"We hope it stays that way," the Chief said.

Denton also listed a few simple rules to make sure Halloween is a happy holiday instead of a time for tragedy.

He asks that the smaller youngsters make their "trick or treat" rounds before dark, and accompanied by their parents, if possible.

Denton also says it's a good idea to remove Halloween masks before crossing streets.

As for the older youngsters, Denton asks that they respect the property of others and especially, to keep obstructions off Village streets.

A fund-raising campaign sponsored by the women of the Methodist Church will be part of the Village Halloween scene this year.

Children are asked to stop by the Methodist Church House after 4 p.m. Halloween Day to pick up canisters in which to collect money for UNICEF—The United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

The money collected by the youngsters on their Halloween rounds will be used for the world's under-privileged children.

Junior Police Meeting

Junior Police will meet at 3:30 Wednesday, Nov. 4, in the Elementary School lunchroom.

21'ers Honored At Citizenship Dinner

An overflow crowd of parents, friends and Northville residents attended the annual Citizenship Banquet last week to honor 20 local boys and girls who have attained their 21st birthday and are now entitled to assume one of the prime responsibilities of citizenship—the right to vote.

President Harlan V. Hatcher of the University of Michigan reviewed briefly the fundamental principles upon which the constitution of the United States is based. He stressed his belief that so long as the nation does not forsake these principles, but instead conducts its internal and foreign affairs along the lines laid down by its Founding Fathers, it will be able to survive any crisis that may occur. To see that the government is conducted along these lines, is a prime responsibility of those who now have arrived at voting age, President Hatcher said.

Frederick Sterner served as toastmaster at the banquet and Dr. and Mrs. Hatcher were introduced by Mrs. L. M. Eaton, incoming president of the Northville U. of M. Club. Mrs. Samuel Geraci, chairman of the "21er" Registration awarded the certificates of recognition to the new voters. Recipients were Faye Austin, Anne Beckel, Frederick Bernhardt, Laura Mae Black, Thomas Campbell, Corine Kay Clark, Charles Freydl, Russell Frid, William Green, Jr., Dorothy Kehrl, Susan Ketter, John Poulos, Shirley Smith and Janette Wick.

Others who received certificates in absentia were Harold W. Atwood, William Canfield, Mary Louise Lee, Richard Pohl, Peggy Price and Alice Woodruff. All were attending college except Atwood, who is in military service.

That the significance of the occasion made an impression upon the young folks who were honored is indicated by the letter below, written by John Poulos, Jr. to Mrs. Geraci:

"Dear Mrs. Geraci,

"I wish to extend my gratitude for an evening which will remain in my heart forever. I believe that my thoughts are expressed by all 21'ers, and I feel free in saying that we all appreciate what you people did for us. I would also like to say that you opened our eyes to the responsibilities which we, as voting citizens, are about to face. In the future if we ever tend to get off the path of citizenship, we only have to look back at the evening of October 21, 1953, to see the trust and respect that you, the people of Northville have for us; which will enable us to return to the path of a true, honest and intellectual citizen.

With all my admiration,
John Poulos, Jr."

O.E.S. Practice Meeting

A practice meeting for O.E.S. Chapter No. 55 will be held Sunday afternoon, Nov. 1 starting at three o'clock at the Masonic Temple. Installation of officers will be held Nov. 6.

Northville Mayor Conrad E. Langfield, at right, is shown presenting his check as a $4,800 memorial gift to the St. Mary Hospital Building Fund Campaign. Accepting the check is Mother Mary Annuncia of the Felecan Sisters. Looking on is Bruce Turnbull, chairman of the Northville Commerce and Industry Solicitation Committee.

Mayor Langfield's gift was given in honor of his late mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Langfield. The money will be used for the doctor's room in the new hospital, which is to be located at Levan and Five Mile roads in Livonia. As of Tuesday, a total of $83,360 had been subscribed to the hospital fund.

Area Truckers Say:

Unionist Dealt Honestly Here

Five Northville gravel and trucking firms, who dealt with an official of an A. F. of L. Teamsters Union Local now under indictment for extortion, said this week they had never been solicited by the man for a bribe.

The union chief, Dan Keating, president and business agent of A. F. of L. Teamsters Union Local 614 in Pontiac, is charged with five other union leaders on four counts of requesting and accepting "gifts" and extortion money and of conspiracy to do so.

He was indicted in Detroit by a one-man grand jury conducted by Judge Miles Culehan.

MORE THAN 100 WORKERS

Keating's local represents more than 100 union members in the Northville area working for Chubb Sand and Gravel, Manning & Locklin Gravel Co., Heichman & Van Every Gravel, J. J. Zayti Trucking and Northville Sand and Gravel.

"You could hardly say our relations with the union have been peaceful," Perry Manning, of Manning & Locklin, said. "But at no time have I been openly solicited although there have been hints dropped now and then. I'd say our relations with the union are 'workable.'"

TAFT TESTIFIES

Gerald Taft, one Northville contractor who did get nicked by one of the defendants in the Detroit trial, told his story last week at the Recorder's Court examination of the six union men.

Taft said he made payoffs to Sam Morroso, business agent for Teamsters Local 247, in 1951.

Taft said he was working on an excavating job at the Chrysler Plant in Trenton, Mich., when Morroso came to him and said: "You'll have no labor trouble if you play along with me."

Taft said "playing along" took the form of a five cent royalty on every cubic yard of dirt his trucks hauled. The pay-off amounted to $2,900, Taft said.

'Harvest of Gold' Nov. 5, 6, 7

Northville merchants will unite next week-end (Nov. 5-6-7) in promoting a three-day celebration of major improvements in the village's shopping center that have taken place during the past year.

The event is to be known as the Northville "Harvest of Gold" because of the large number of shoppers' bargains that will be featured by practically every business establishment downtown. It is expected that hundreds of bargain hunters will be drawn from a large surrounding area, including Livonia, Plymouth, Walled Lake, Farmington, South Lyon and Wixom.

"HARVEST OF GOLD"

The immediate cause for the "Harvest of Gold" is the remodeling of Schrader's Furniture Store and Stone's Gamble Store, and the move by the Glenn Long plumbing business into a large new building on Seven Mile Rd. just east of the Northville-Plymouth road. These three business establishments decided some time ago to hold their "Grand Openings" at the same time, Nov. 5, 6 and 7, with the thought that by combining their advertising and promotion they could more effectively call attention to what they have done to improve their businesses.

When their plan became known, however, other merchants were quick to see the advantage of a cooperative merchandising event on a much broader basis than was originally planned. Many of them also had improved their stores in recent months and were in a position to offer their customers and the general public better bargains and improved service over what they were able to do only a year ago.

ADEQUATE PARKING SPACE

An additional incentive to shop in Northville, they believe, is the major improvement in parking facilities for shoppers, which has come about through the opening of a large off-street parking area on East Main St. next door to the First Presbyterian Church and extending along the widened alley west to Center St. and the additional area at the southwest corner of Main and Center streets.

SPECIAL EDITION OF RECORD

Kick-off for the "Harvest of Gold" is to be a special 12-page "Shoppers' Section" of the Northville Record which is to be circulated next week to approximately 18,000 homes in Northville and the surrounding area. It will blanket every mailing address in Livonia, Farmington, Walled Lake, Wixom, South Lyon and Northville, as well as all rural residents served by the post offices in those places and some routes out of Plymouth.

Theme of the "Shoppers' Section" will be the many constructive improvements that have occurred during the past year to make Northville a better place to shop, as well as other happenings

Rolling Down The River

by the PETZ BROS.

One of our favorite ladies, she drives a Studebaker, dropped in the garage the other day for a bit of lubrication and check-up on that fine car of hers. Her color was much like the autumn leaves and we were about to compliment her on her appearance when she said, "Am I blushing. We're having a new walk poured today and the crew waited until 9:30 to get around to the job. I chided the foreman about being lazy, finishing up with the fact that even my two little boys had to be up and about much earlier."

"That's just it lady," the man answered, "if we wait until those kids are up and about and locked in a school room, this cement we're going to pour for you has a fifty-fifty chance of getting hard without a lot of immortal verse being engraved on its otherwise smooth surface."

Well it just goes to show you can't jump to conclusions and so when we tell you the finest car in America is the new Studebaker, we hope you won't jump to a conclusion we just say it because we happen to sell the car. Of course it helps to be proud of the product you sell and who wouldn't be proud of this compact bundle of power, beauty, dependability and economy that makes up the Studebaker. Prove it to yourself today with a demonstration. You'll be ever so glad you did.

A lawyer friend of ours finally got around to buying a second Studebaker and after the sale was doing a bit of talking, which seems to be a habit of lawyers. He told us he had finally discovered a sure method of telling acquaintances from friends. "Acquaintances," said he, "are invariably nice people. Friends figure out new and novel ways to insult me."

We sort of figure you are all friends of ours and if we could think of a novel insult that would get you to bring your car in for the check-up it certainly needs, we'd be only too glad to use it. However, in a family newspaper, such as this, we'll have to limit ourselves to a mild request to get that car in here soon if you want it to give the performance necessary to keep you happy this winter.

That's that, but a kid told us the first thing he learned at his mother's knee was not to snag her nylons.

Yours,

Northville High Students Attend "M" Debate Clinic

Five students from Northville were among approximately 550 high school debaters and their coaches from throughout Michigan who gathered in Ann Arbor last Saturday for a day-long debate clinic, sponsored by the University of Michigan Department of Speech.

Attending from Northville were Lucien and Mary Lovewell of E. Main St., Barbara Prunty of W. Main St., Darwin Teshka of W. Main and Bernhard Muller of Novi Rd. They were accompanied by their coach, Miss Florence Panattoni.

Approximately 65 high schools were represented by the debaters, who spent their morning discussing the question picked for this year's high school debate topic.

Three U-M political scientists conducted the symposium dealing with the question "Resolved That the President of the United States Should Be Elected by Direct Vote of the People". Taking part were Joseph E. Kallenbach, professor; Samuel J. Eldersveld, associate professor; and George A. Peek, assistant professor.

During their afternoon meeting, the students viewed a demonstration debate staged by four members of the University Debating team.

Hope for More of Same Parent-Student-Teacher Get-Together Success

Believe it or not, youngsters don't mind spending an occasional evening in school—if they can bring their parents.

This was proved Tuesday, Oct. 20, when fourth grade youngsters at Northville Elementary School, students of Miss Ida Fritz, brought their families to the school for a pot-luck dinner.

The parents enjoyed themselves, and so did the kids. In some cases, not only parents came, but older brothers and sisters as well.

"I wish we could do this more often," one youngster said. "Because it's fun to show my mother and dad what we're doing in school."

The second social evening was held last Tuesday by members of a first grade class. Parents and children gathered for a movie and a program put on by the students.

Final Rites Held for George Tanner

Geroge E. Tanner of Salem died Sunday, Oct. 18 at Sessions Hospital at the age of 60 years. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Casterline Funeral Home with the Rev. Cora Pennell officiating. Rev. Wilfred Simpson, cousin of Mr. Tanner, assisted. Burial took place at Salem-Walker Cemetery.

Mr. Tanner was born March 11, 1893 in Vars, Ontario, Canada. He had made his home in Salem for the past 16 years. He was a member of the Railroad Trainmen's Association of Canada.

Surviving are his wife, Eleanor; one son, Jimmy, and one daughter, Sharon; his father, Willie Tanner of Vars, Ontario; four brothers, Jack of Winnipeg, Canada, and Allan, Wilber and Walter of Vars.

Karl, Viktoria Right at Home

It doesn't take long for visitors from other lands to become thoroughly Americanized—especially if they're teen-agers.

Take Viktoria Schmidt and Karl Hofmann, for instance. Viktoria and Karl arrived in Northville late in August for a year's stay under an exchange student program sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches and the Village Rotary Club.

TYPICAL TEEN-AGERS

Today, less than two months after their arrival, you'd have trouble distinguishing them from youngsters who'd lived on Main Street, U.S.A. all their lives.

Both have adopted American teen-age styles. Karl sports levis for everyday wear while Viktoria leans toward the typical skirt, sweater and saddle shoe uniform. At Northville High School, where both are seniors, Karl and Viktoria have wasted little time in joining student activities. Viktoria is a member of the Dramatic Club and recently was elected treasurer of the senior class.

AIDS IN VICTORY

Karl, a six-foot plus 190-pounder, is on the football team where he quickly earned a reputation as a place-kicker. In his first game against Plymouth, played when he'd been on the squad only three weeks, he kicked three straight extra points. His percentage has dropped since then but he still came through with an important conversion in the 20-19 victory over Clarencville several weeks ago. He also kicked three extra points in last Friday's 27-6 win over Clarkston.

Football, incidentally, is one point where Karl and Viktoria differ as far as their impressions of the United States are concerned.

Both think Northville is wonderful. Both agree that high school here is easier than in Germany and both think their foster parents are perfect. (Karl is living with Mr. and Mrs. Al Jones on Horton and Viktoria with Mr. and Mrs. James Brummell on Six Mile Rd.)

FOOTBALL CONFUSING

But while Karl thinks football is just fine, Viktoria isn't sure. "I went to two games and I wasn't sure just what was going on," she said. "Maybe you better not put that in the paper or everyone will try to explain it to me and that will make it more difficult."

Both Karl and Viktoria pick speech as their favorite high school subjects. Viktoria hopes eventually to get into the dramatic field while Karl has his eye on a career in engineering.

Aluminum Foil Should Be Used With Care in Oven

One of the many ways homemakers are using aluminum foil these days is in the oven under pies or other baked dishes to catch any possible run-over of food.

Olevia Meyer, home management specialist at Michigan State College, gives these directions for proper use of foil for this purpose:

Use a piece of foil only slightly larger than the pan or dish holding the food. Turn foil edges up and place it on a rack directly under the pan or dish.

Authorities caution against covering the entire bottom of the oven with foil because this cuts off circulation of heat and prevents proper cooking.

Also, the heat given off by electric units or gas burners will be reflected back by the foil. This will overheat electric units, possibly causing them to burn out. With gas burners, it will cause incomplete combustion of gas which requires air circulation to burn properly.

Another precaution—foil should never touch open heating wires in any electric appliance because it is likely to cause a short circuit.

Two Grape Recipes from Miss DuBord

If your family favors homemade grape jelly and fruit butter take advantage of the Concord grapes now available in Michigan markets, advises Emma DuBord, home demonstration agent, for Wayne County.

Natural grape juice is always good, but for party occasions you might like to serve one of these beverages which Miss DuBord suggests:

GRAPE PUNCH

2 cups grape juice
2 cups water
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup orange juice
Mix ingredients. Allow to stand until sugar is dissolved. Serve very cold. Makes six to eight servings.

SPICED GRAPE JUICE

2 whole cloves
1/2 small stick cinnamon
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups water
2 tablespoons sugar
1 quart grape juice
The spices in cheesecloth bag. Simer with remaining ingredients 15 minutes. Serve hot or chilled. Makes six to eight servings. If you wish more recipes write to Emma DuBord for Bulletin No. 164, "Fruits for Year Around Use", or call Wayne 2360.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear father and husband, George Van Sickle, who passed away one year ago, October 24, 1952. Though God has called you home we still feel you walking beside, guiding our way.

Sadly missed by his wife, children and grandchildren, Mrs. Clara Van Sickle and family.

Remember that a loss of liquid in processing fruits and vegetables does not cause food to spoil even though such loss may cause the food above the liquid level to darken slightly, says Jennie Day, extension nutrition specialist at Michigan State College. Never open a jar to replace liquid lost in canning, she cautions.

Beef will be plentiful in the markets during September—especially beef of the intermediate and lower grades from grass-fat animals from the range country. This meat is particularly well suited to stews, pot-roasts and the wide variety of dishes made from ground beef.

Wild Life Notes...

Araujo, Davis to Clash on T.V. Friday Night

George Araujo, the hard-hitting, third-ranked lightweight clashes with Teddy (Red Top) Davis, second-ranked featherweight in a ten-round catchweight bout to be nationally televised and broadcast Friday night, Oct. 30, from Madison Square Garden on the Cavalcade of Sports.

The fight starts at 10 p.m. New York time, and will be seen on NBC's television network and heard over ABC's radio network.

The battle has championship aspects and is causing quite a bit of excitement among New England sports writers.

TEDDY (RED TOP) DAVIS

 FEATHERWEIGHTS

Although the match is being held in New York, the winner will be declared lightweight champion of New England, since Araujo is from Providence and Davis from Hartford.

Araujo, a busy, two fisted punch thrower, has scored 30 knockouts in his 51 fights. He has lost only three. He holds decisions over Sandy Sadler, Orlando Zuleta and Del Flanagan. He has kayoed Charley Riley and Joe Brown, among others.

Davis, hot right now, is a fighter who goes in streaks. He has fought nearly twice as many professional bouts as his rival. His record shows 50 wins, 46 losses and 16 kayoes. He has beaten Corky Gonzales, Percy Basset and Dennis Pat Brady. Jimmy Powers will do the TV commentary, with Don Dunphy giving the blow-by-blow on radio with Win Elliot handling color.

Growing Art of Archery Has Been Popular for Centuries

The rapidly growing art of archery is no newcomer to sporting circles. Robin Hood, King Arthur and William Tell, were experts at a sport old before they were born, one now past its 50,000th birthday.

Archery is so old, in fact, it even helped the cavemen obtain their daily food supply, according to Glenn P. Bruneau, supervisor of the University of Michigan's Wood Technology Laboratory.

Bruneau, an archery enthusiast, points out that ten years ago an archer in Michigan was a novelty. This year upwards of 30,000 hunters, men and women alike, will take to the north woods toting their bows and arrows in hopes of finding deer, rabbits, grouse, pheasants or bear.

WOOD IMPORTANT

In all phases of archery, Bruneau explains, "wood plays an important part, with its advantages over metal and synthetic counterparts being manifold." Wood permits ease of working and is relatively inexpensive, inherently beautiful and readily available, he says.

The woods naturally divide themselves into two categories: Those for the bow and those for the arrow. Today's beginner's bow, Bruneau states, is usually one of two species—exotic De-game (Lemonwood) or Hickory. The archer with more training and skill usually picks Osage Orange or Yew to give a bow with more beauty and "life" in the limbs. He advises archers to pick a composite or laminated bow using a variety of wood species, "each imparting its best qualities of strength and beauty." It has been found, he adds, that bows of one single species have a tendency to "take a set easily" or lack tensile or compressive strength. Bruneau recommends combinations of Osage Orange, Yew, Maple, Hickory, Lemonwood, Greenheart, Bamboo or several tropical woods. For further compressive strength, synthetic resins sometimes are added to woods on the bow's face.

ANCIENT ARROWS

Ancient arrows were whittled out of any straight grained wood or fashioned from bamboo shoots, saplings or reeds. "At best, the majority were crudely made and inaccurate," Bruneau says. Today's perfectly turned dowels of scientifically selected woods are a different story. Excellent arrow materials, he explains, are Sitka Spruce, Port Orford Cedar and Norway Pine. The Port Orford Cedar makes up the bulk of all wood arrow materials, he indicates, although it lacks compressive strength.

Recreation BB Teams to Sport New Jerseys

Teams playing in Junior and Senior High School basketball league, sponsored by the Northville Recreation Department, will be decked out in new uniforms this season.

The uniforms will be supplied by the following team sponsors: Braders, Northville Optimist Club, Northville Drug, Atchinson Motor Sales, Joe Spagnuolo and Cy Owens Ford. The jerseys are on display at Northville Drug at the present time. The teams already are practicing outdoors and the first practice games will start Friday, Nov. 20, at 7 p.m., in the Northville High School gym.

Material for Dr. Tewes' talk will be derived from questions asked by the mothers at last month's meeting. Also on the agenda are four films concerning the pre-school child: "Terrible Two," "Trusting Three," "Frustrated Four," and "Fearful Five." Everyone interested is cordially invited.

Northville Meets Holly Tomorrow In 4th League Game

Northville football players could be excused if they thought there were three teams playing at Ford Field last Friday night—one from Clarkston and two from Northville.

There was that big a difference between Northville's first and second half performances. In the opening half, the Mustangs frittered away two scoring opportunities with fumbles and spent the rest of the time falling backward before the Clarkston attack. The visitors led 6-0 at intermission.

After the half, it was different. Blame it on the magic of Coach Al Jones' half-time pep talk, or what you will, but Northville started and finished the second half an entirely different team, streaking to four touchdowns and a 27-6 victory.

FIFTH WIN

The win was Northville's fifth of the year and third straight in league play. The Mustangs have lost once. Tomorrow, the local squad moves to Holly for a go under the lights. A win would put Northville within striking distance of the Wayne-Oakland County.

League title since remaining games are with twice-beaten Keego Harbor and not-too-dangerous Brighton.

If the ability to come back is indicative of a good team, Northville was one last Friday. Their first half play was extremely shabby, with that old weakness—pass defense—accounting for the lone Clarkston tally. Cal Carmean got behind the Mustang line-backers, took a short pass from his quarterback and streaked 50 yards for the score.

Both before and after the Clarkston TD, Northville fumbled away paydirt chances. After a first quarter exchange of punts, half-back Bob Burgess galloped 40 yards from scrimmage to the Clarkston 15 but the Mustangs dribbled away the ball on the next play.

SECOND FUMBLE

In the second period, Burgess and Larry Meyer powered the locals to the Clarkston 27, where the goal-line on a quarterback sneak. Karl Hofmann missed the conversion.

After the kickoff, Scheffer intercepted a Clarkston pass in the flat from which the two yard line, from which point Burgess bucked over.

Hofmann's extra point gave Northville a 13-6 edge.

The final two touchdowns came on dramatic runs by Girardin and Meyer.

Ed Nash set up the first when he gathered in a Clarkston fumble on the visitors' 40. On the second play from scrimmage, Girardin scampered 37 yards for the tally. Hofmann picked up his second straight extra point to make it 20-6 Northville.

On the next kickoff, a Clarkston back, evidently thinking about next week's biology examination, allowed the ball to roll to a stop on his own 25, where Girardin covered it.

A penalty set the ball back on the Clarkston 40, but it only delayed the inevitable. Meyer covered the whole distance in one play, Hofmann converted, and the score was 27-6. That was the ball end play from scrimmage, Girardin

DEATH BY GUNFIRE

Safety experts are predicting that from 20 to 30 people will die violently from gun accidents in Michigan this year—unless past performance has taught us to be more careful.

This reporter has no intention of charging that hunting is a dangerous sport. Insurance analysts and safety experts too, will admit you're probably safer hunting than you would be driving your car! Yet death by gunfire has a way of making headlines and thereby magnifying the hazard.

FIRST TOUCHDOWN

After Clarkston lost the ball on downs early in the third period, Northville took over at midfield. Burgess and Rebitzke powered the drive, Rebitzke carrying from the 16 to the one and then over Automobile accidents may result from so many complications of fate that causes are often not involved. That's why they're hard to prevent. But a hunting accident is relatively simple. Someone gets hit with the shot because (1) the gun was accidentally discharged, or (2) the trigger was pulled deliberately.

The latter cause is so easy to erase theoretically: "Always be sure of your target." Yet "snapshooters" continue to invade the woods. They go hunting with the firm belief that they're going to get a deer, pheasant, grouse, rabbit or other game. Anything that moves is bound to be that target. So they pull the trigger. It's a fixation. Only the awful shock of having struck a fellow hunter can cure such people—or some grim method of subjecting this shock vicariously to others through grisly publicity.

Happily the type of hunter is disappearing slowly but surely. Safety education in sportsmen's clubs, schools, newspapers, and by radio and television is paying off. But the statistics involving "accidental discharge" may remain pretty alarming.

In this reporter's book the worst offender in the anti-safety league is the hunter who roams the woods with the gun safely in "OFF" position, his finger on the trigger while he's walking—or even running! Accidental discharge can happen at any moment—and if a fellow hunter is in the way, his blood is on your hands.

NO TIME SAVED Hunting with the safety "OFF" doesn't save you a split second in shooting, and you can prove it to yourself. Walk with your gun cradled or carried in normal position. Your hand should be partially covering the trigger guard. The safety is "ON." Now pretend your game target appears suddenly. As you swing the gun to the shoulder your finger flicks to the safety "OFF," slides over the trigger and you're ready to pull just as quickly as your sights are on the target. No time lost—and maybe a life saved. Practice safety with your gun. Help cut those hunting accidents in Michigan Outdoors!

AL PARMENTER BAGS DEER WITH BOW AND ARROW NEAR MIO, MICH.

Al Parmenter of 727 Thayer Blvd. is apparently the first Northville hunter to bag his 1953 deer.

Parmenter got his the hard way—with a bow and arrow—early Saturday morning, Oct. 17.

The scene of his kill was about 15 miles west of Mio, Michigan. Parmenter said the spike buck weighed 90 pounds and dressed out at 65 pounds.

The Northville archer, who was hunting with his wife, said he'd seen other deer in the area that Saturday morning but his prize was the first he'd been able to shoot at.

He nailed the buck at a distance of 30 yards using a 58 lb. bow.

Planting—

On Oct. 11, Frank Mueller, Thomas Heatley and Harold Duncan Hartley, members of the Northville Junior Audubon Society, planted 100 scotch pine seedlings, 100 young black locust trees and 50 nannyberry shrubs on the 9-acre Hartley property at 602 Randolph St. It was difficult work, particularly on the steep gravel pit scar, whose erosion the black locust trees are designed to prevent.

This past week end an additional 200 white pine seedlings and 50 red-osier dogwood shrubs were planted with the assistance of seven boys and girls from Mt. Clemens, members of the St. Clair Metropolitan Beach Sanctuary Association, under the leadership of Miss Bertha Daubendiek, secretary of the association, and leader in the Michigan Audubon Society. The Sanctuary Association members have done a splendid job of saving and protecting the unique colony of Common Terns which from early times have continued to breed by the thousands each spring near beautiful St. Clair Beach.

These young people came all the way from Mt. Clemens, and the Northville boys did this work because the planting of these trees and shrubs is primarily intended to provide increased food, cover and nesting facilities for wildlife. The plants are provided free of charge by the Michigan Conservation Department Game Division under an agreement with the landowner (Harold S. Hartley) covering a period of ten years. A total of 4,000 evergreens, black locust trees and berry-producing shrubs will be planted.

Communities wishing to cover gravel pit scars, prevent erosion or develop a sanctuary area for school and public enjoyment and study should contact the Michigan Conservation Commission for advice and assistance. Hartley will be glad to supply whatever information he has with regard to wildlife plantings.

MUSKIES—

The best muskellunge catches in Michigan are taken from Lake St. Clair, says a recent Conservation Department report of fish and fishing in the connecting waters of Lake Huron and Lake St. Clair.

The report was compiled by the Department's Institute for Fisheries Research at Ann Arbor.

Walleyed pike dominate the catch in the St. Clair River, the report states, and notes that Lake St. Clair, along with its top muskie catches, also has good perch and bass fishing.

In the Detroit River, yellow perch, rock bass, walleyes, white bass and sheepshead are the fish most often found in anglers' creels.

However, anglers aren't limited to those types of fish. Sixty-seven species of fish are present in these connecting waters, including all of the principal warm water game fish.

PHEASANT WARM

The first few days of pheasant season in Michigan this year will have to be chalked up as "dog days," despite the calendar saying it's October and autumn.

Hot, dry weather, reminiscent of late summer, wore out hunters and their poaches and held kill success down from what might have been the best opening in years.

Still, over most of the southern Lower Peninsula, fair bags of birds were being taken. In general, hunting pressure was about the same or slightly lighter than on opening day last year. The better areas, such as the Thumb district and the Grand Rapids-Holland region saw as many or more hunters than last year, while the poorer areas received less hunting than last year. Again, the weather appeared the factor that held hunter numbers down.

Best hunting in the state was reported from the southern Otsewa-northern Allegan county area where hunters bagged an average of about 1 1/2 birds each. Last year, this area produced about one bird per hunter to place second behind the Thumb district. This year, the Thumb placed second with an average one bird per hunter.

Bird populations are definitely up over last year, hunters report. Pre-season mail carrier reports and conservation department surveys indicated an over-all 80 percent increase and field reports opening day seemed to bear this out.

With the heavy emphasis on pheasants, other game species were largely ignored. Rabbits and squirrels were being taken incidentally to pheasant shooting, with only scattered reports of success on other species being noted. Woodcock, ruffed grouse, hares, rabbits, raccoons and woodchucks all opened at the same time in the southern lower peninsula, with hunting of these species expected to pick up at a later date.

Here's fun for the gang! Smooth bowling on well-conditioned and maintained alleys. No wonder old friends make this their "fun-night" headquarters.

Nursery Gives PTA Model Morning Show

At the P.T.A. meeting Thursday, Oct. 22, the nursery school gave a demonstration of a typical nursery school morning. The youngsters painted, played, and sang group songs. Outstanding was the ease with which the children accepted one another and shared the presence of their mothers with the others. Mrs. Helena Guernsey, founder of the Cray Cooperative Nursery, spoke of the nursery schools as strengthening factors in home and community relations. Mrs. Guernsey credited the local group with having an exceptionally well organized nursery school program of activity and instruction. Following the program was the regular business meeting at which the social committee discussed the business at hand. Miss Fritz' fourth grade was the winner of the P.T.A. banner, which is presented on the basis of room parents attending the meeting. The next P.T.A. meeting will be held Nov. 12 in conjunction with Education Week, Nov. 8-14. The man who owns but one suit is spared at least one decision every day of his life.

THE VILLAGE --- AT WORK

A Visit With Your Neighbors On the Job

This week's Villager at work is familiar to all Northville book-lovers. She is Miss Rhea Lyon, librarian of the Northville branch of the Wayne County Library.

Miss Lyon has lived in Northville for 18 years and for 14 of those years, has worked at the Library.

She started work there in 1939 as assistant to Mrs. Carl H. Bryan, the head librarian. When Mrs. Bryan retired in 1946, Miss Lyon was placed in charge.

Miss Lyon enjoys her job. "I like meeting people and since we charge out over 3,000 books each month, I see a lot of new faces," she said.

Miss Lyon was born in Detroit and attended Northwestern High School for two years. She later transferred to the high school at Grosse Ile.

After graduation from high school she enrolled at St. Mary's Convent in Monroe and attended school for a second year at Detroit Teacher's College.

Miss Lyon spends much of her spare time knitting and cooking for herself and her mother, Mrs. Walter Lyon, at their home on Cady Street.

Jury Finds South Lyon Youth Guilty of Speeding Here

A five-member jury in Northville Justice Court Monday found 19-year old Wilburn A. Smith of 57300 Ten Mile Rd., South Lyon, guilty of reckless driving.

Smith was arrested Oct. 2 by officer Frank Heintz after he was observed driving in a reckless manner on Village streets. He demanded a jury trial.

The verdict was returned by a panel composed of Mrs. Edna Mitchell, Mrs. Avril Green, Ralph Hay, Sr., Harvey P. Ritchie and Charles Carrington.

Judge E. M. Bogart fined Smith $25 and assessed costs of an equal amount.

Teen Agers Charged in Two Burglaries

Two Northville teen-agers have been charged with breaking and entering in the theft of more than $80 and the destruction of several vending machines at two Northville business places last week.

The boys are charged with breaking into the Sinclair Service Station at the corner of Hutton and East Main and Royal Recreation on West Main St. Wednesday night, Oct. 21.

The pair was captured after John Badalutz, owner of the service station, told officers he suspected a former employee.

Badalutz became suspicious of the youth when he found a box, in which once kept cash, had been ransacked. He said the box had not been used for cash since the time the youth worked at the station. An employee of Badalutz' also had seen the youth near the station Wednesday night.

Badalutz relayed his suspicions to Patrolman Legette Oaks, who then told Sgt. Gil Glasson. Glasson then arrested the boy, who confessed both break-ins and implicated a companion.

One of the boys is 19 and the other 16. They were arraigned last week at Wayne County Circuit Court and released on $500. Trial date has not been set.

Supervision of Bldg.

There was general agreement on several points:

1. There should be some provision for joint control of the building so that it is not monopolized by either the school or private groups.

2. Private groups using the building for meetings, dances or other programs should pay a maintenance fee.

3. Some sort of central clearing house should be set up to form a week-by-week schedule for the building's use so as to avoid conflict between the different groups asking for space.

MAINTENANCE COST

While no firm figure was set, it was reported that it will cost a minimum of $10,000 annually to provide the building with heat, light and janitor service.

Schrader suggested that one solution to the problem of overall control would be for the School Board to lease the building from the Village and operate it.

Under this arrangement, meetings and activity times would be scheduled through the school calendar, which is planned well in advance.

Amerman pointed out that in any agreement involving an expenditure of money on the school board's part, agreement of the State Board of Public Instruction would be needed.

The building will contain a gymnasium, stage, and several large meeting rooms.

Most persons at the meeting seemed to feel there would be little conflict between the school and public and private groups since the school's main need will be the gymnasium while other groups will be primarily interested in the rooms for meetings.

Amerman said the school's principal need of the building will be for basketball games, dances and plays—all of the activities confined largely to the gymnasium.

Ely said that in any event, operation of the building for the first year will be largely an experimental proposition. Only after it is seen how first year plans work out can a permanent set-up be devised.

Mason Past Masters

The Annual Past Masters meeting of Northville Lodge 186, F. & A. M. was held Monday evening, Oct. 26.

After a dinner at 6:30, Rev. G. Gillman Morse, pastor of the Novi Baptist Church, gave a talk on Masonry.

Later, the Past Masters of Northville Lodge, under the direction of Roy Stone, conferred the third degree on a member.

'Harvest of Gold'

(Continued from Front Page) and plans for the future that spell still greater progress ahead. These include not only such things as parking, but definite improvements which many merchants have made, such as the conversion of the George Clark Hardware to a Serv-Self basis, the enlargement of Stone's Gable Store to include a second floor devoted to this season especially to toys, the opening of the new Henry's House of Meats store on Center St., Schrader's remodeling inside and outside at a cost of over $35,000, and the expansion of Glenn Long's plumbing business into a large new building which is unsurpassed in the entire northwest area of Wayne County. Not only will Long expand his line of plumbing supplies, but he also will henceforth sell the complete Westinghouse line of household appliances as well as Hamilton washers and dryers and other products.

Other stores which are participating in the "Harvest of Gold" are Brader's Department Store, Tewksbury Jewelers, Northville Men's Shop, Northville Electric, the D & C Store, Freydl Cleaners, C. R. Ely & Sons, the E.M.B. Market, Depositors Bank, Nowels Lumber, Stanley-Dean Carpet Co. and the Northville Veterinary Hospital.

Bike Waits for Owner at Village Hall

There's a new bicycle waiting for some Northville youngster at the Village Hall.

The blue bicycle, a girl's model made by Monarch, was brought to the police station Wednesday by David Earl and Jim Sutton, elementary school pupils. They said the bike had been on the playground for the past several weeks.

The owner can claim the bicycle by giving police its serial number.

New Scout Leader

George Muller of 314 Dunlap St., who for the past two years has served as cubmaster of Cub Scout Pack N-1, has resigned to accept appointment as Neighborhood Scout Commissioner for Northville.

Muller will serve the Northville Cub Pack and Explorer Post in the role of liaison officer between the Detroit Area Scout Council and the local units.

Parental Responsibility

From the pages of the "Christian Victory" comes the information that there is almost no juvenile delinquency problem in India, according to S. S. Roberts, inspector of police. The reason seems to be, that when a minor commits a crime the parents are sent for immediately. They must post a sizeable bond, and then the young culprit is released into their custody. If the minor commits another crime the parents forfeit the bond. The result is that they keep watch of their child after that. Parents are primarily responsible for the conduct of their children. It is their responsibility to give them their moral and spiritual instructions. Public school teachers, preachers and Sunday School teachers, and various community clubs and organizations stand ready to help the parents in this important task, BUT it is not their responsibility primarily. One of the wisest of kings said, "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it." Proverbs 22:6. The reading of the Bible, family prayers, and the hickory stick make an excellent combination. This formula has put a great deal of moral and spiritual fibre in the greatest men this nation has ever known.

Peter F. Nieuwkoop, Pastor

Social Security Tax to Rise January 1

The rate of social security tax will be increased from 1½ to 2 per cent of your gross earnings after January first, the Social Security officer serving the Northville area reminded Village residents this week.

Employer's contributions to the social security fund also will be raised to two per cent of the workers' gross wage. Only the first $3600 in wages is taxable.

The present tax-rate for self-employed persons is 2½ per cent of net earnings up to $3600. However, this rate will be $3600 beginning in January.

These increases were planned when the social security law was passed to meet the needs of retired workers and families of deceased workers, the social security office declared.

Charles Trickey of Novi, state commander of the Amvets. (right, first row) met recently with members of the Amvet State Executive Board. The meeting was held at the Novi Post Home at Meadowbrook and Ten Mile roads. The executive board is composed of the state commander, senior vice-commander, three junior vice-commanders and a finance officer.

Resting—After a Long, Hard Day!

Twenty minutes ago, the man you see in this picture came out of a long and harassing conference—tired, tense and with a bit of a headache.

And he said to himself—"I'll take the long way home tonight, and drive out by the waterfront, and let the Cadillac relax me!"

And that's just what he's doing.

If you own a 1953 Cadillac, you know exactly what's taking place. But if you don't—let's see what happens as he climbs into the driver's seat and lets his wonderful car begin its magic.

It's relaxing just to sit there—and look out over that long, beautiful hood into the beckoning distance.

The seat cushions hold him in buoyant comfort; the slender wheel fits naturally into his hands; great areas of glass surround him and let each glance reveal a panorama.

And, of course, he's proud—for it's an endless satisfaction to command such a respected possession.

And now comes the great lift to his spirits: He touches the key, and hears that deep-throated response so characteristic of a Cadillac engine—and, in an instant, he's off for a wonderful, wonderful hour!

Steering is no more than a gesture . . . the lightest touch on the throttle gets immediate action—smooth, quick and positive . . . the brakes are easy and certain under his foot.

So he just sits back and rolls along—with the soft sound of the wind for a lullaby—and the beautiful view for a tonic—resting, relaxing, at peace with the world!

His wife will never suspect, as he wheels into the driveway, that he was a tired and weary husband just one short hour ago.

That's one of the nicest things about a Cadillac. It's a proven therapeutic for a work-weary man!

Try it, soon, at the end of a long, hard day. We'll furnish the car. You name the time and place.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

A REPORT FROM THE CAPITOL
by Gene Alleman

A RED HOT BATTLE is shaping up between Michigan's 1,267 townships and a movement which wants to siphon off part or all of the $13 million now being returned to township governments from the state treasury.

FIGHTING STARTED when the September issue of "Inside Michigan," a magazine reporting state affairs with particular attention to finance, announced a crusade against townships. Their claim: "Township residents are riding a 'gravy train' at the expense of those who live in organized municipalities." Using figures compiled by Princeton tax experts for the Michigan State Aid Survey, the magazine presented a strong case.

TOWNSHIP OFFICIALS RESPONDED by forming an organization dedicated to "sponsoring of legislation beneficial to local government, particularly townships, and to engage in the exchange of ideas and services for the improvement of township government." The quotes are those of Joseph A. Parisi, Kalamazoo

Township clerk, who was elected executive secretary of the newly formed lobbying group.

BEST ARGUMENT FAVORING townships is the "grass roots" aspect. Advocates claim this system is the only method to keep voters close to their government. Opponents assert that county agencies could maintain an equally desirable relationship with the voter, perform more and improved services, and for less money. What's more, they say, the change would permit a fairer distribution of tax money returned to local governments under present state law.

FACTS AND FIGURES from the State Aid Survey show that 35.7% of Michigan's population is in township areas; 84.3% in cities. Cities and villages produce 95% of all taxes collected, but receive back only 80% of diverted funds. Looking at it another way: Townships raised 5.1% of the taxes to be diverted, received 19.6% of the money diverted. This contrasts with cities which supply 91.5% of the taxes, receive 75.3%; and villages supplying 3.4% and receiving 5.1%.

SUPPORTERS FOR BOTH sides of the fight are hard at work. Politicians are sizing up the contest and wondering how it will affect voting. Observers are preparing to watch an interesting struggle as has occurred in a long time.

You'll hear much more about the value and drawbacks of township government—and soon.

ARE THERE STRINGS ATTACHED? That seems to be the question both Michigan State College and University of Michigan officials are asking themselves—but very quietly. On its face, the idea submitted by Gov. Williams that a trophy be presented each year to the winner of the MSC-U. of M. football game looks like a fine idea. But college people are wondering and stalling while they try to decide the answer.

Before accepting the trophy idea, college officials want to know more about it. Although they do not admit it publicly, it's certain they want to know whether the award will be known as the Governor's trophy or as the Governor William's trophy. It's understandable that they would want to keep individual names out of the tremendous interest in the annual MSC-U. of M. classic.

"IT'S A VERY FINE IDEA," said an MSC representative. "We will discuss it in the college athletic council." U. of M. authorities were cooler but they also agreed to consider the proposal.

Gov. Williams thinks this year is a good one to launch the trophy because it's the first game played with State a member of the Big Ten.

MICHIGAN WINS HONORS at the National Future Farmer Convention in Kansas City this month. A Marlette youth, David Boyne, was elected national president; the Cassopolis chapter was awarded the top Gold Emblem rating, while Owosso and Williamston were awarded Silver Emblem ratings; Rollin Blossley of Williamston, was winner of a Star American Farmer award for the central region and a check of

Commission Takes Step Toward Control of Box Elder Bugs

Village Clerk Mary Alexander has been asked by the Village Commission to secure data on the control of box elder bugs after Commissioner A. M. Allen said he had received several complaints on the pests.

One of the complaints came from his wife, Allen said. Seems the bugs chewed up a set of her spun glass curtains.

Allen said some communities had attacked the problem by destroying female box elder trees, believed to be the breeding place for the bugs.

The Commission suggested that Mrs. Alexander discuss the problem with John Miller of Greenridge Nurseries and then write either Michigan State College or the State Conservation Department for further information.

Attend Pep Clinic

Seven cheerleaders from the Northville High School Pep Club attended the cheerleading clinic at the University of Michigan last week.

Purpose of the clinic is to teach cheerleaders new cheers and how to promote better sportsmanship in their schools.

$500; his father, Clarence Blossley was presented with an Honorary American Farmer Degree.

COMPETITION WAS KEEN for these honors. FFA has 8,500 chapters and gave only 97 emblem awards. Rollin Blossley's distinction was won from a field of 363,000 members. Only five were selected.

Duties of the national president require David Boyne to spend approximately 180 days away from home during the next year. He is now a student at MSC, majoring in dairy production. Young Boyne recently returned from a four-month tour of Great Britain where he represented FFA as an exchange student. He has a long list of honors in high school activities as well as farming accomplishments.

Corwin-Griswold Wedding
 In a Saturday evening ceremony, Oct. 24 at 8 o'clock at the Salem Federated Church, Nancy Jean Griswold became the bride of Willard Corwin. The Rev. C. M. Pennell of South Lyon, the bride's former pastor, officiated. Preceding the ceremony, Rev. Douglas Couch, pastor of the church, read the scripture and led prayers. Nancy is the daughter of Mrs. Anna Griswold of South Salem Rd. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lester Corwin of Plymouth.

White spoon chrysanthemums and pom-pom mums adorned the altar. Mary Hartwick of Plymouth sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" accompanied by Mrs. Hamilton Searfoss of Plymouth.

Nancy wore a waltz length gown of nylon net over satin. The bodice was of lace and her veil caught to her hat. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Lee Bertha, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a gown of pale blue nylon net over taffeta fashioned similar to the bride's. Mabel Hefter was a bridesmaid and she wore a pale yellow nylon net over taffeta gown.

Willard asked Melvin Corwin, his brother, to assist him as best man, and seating the guests were Melvin Griswold and Richard Hawk.

The reception for the guests was held at the Town Hall with many friends and relatives present.

Following the honeymoon the couple will reside with the bride's mother. Both Mr. and Mrs. Corwin are graduates of Plymouth High School.
