$2.50 Per Year in Advance

for the Record

by G. H. C.

Several weeks ago the Wayne County Road Commission installed new traffic lights at the corner of Main and Center streets. Many persons commented at the time that they were hung too high to be readily visible to pedestrians at the corner and that someone was likely to get hurt. Because the Record office is located at this corner we are perhaps more conscious of these lights than we otherwise might be. School children, especially the younger ones, coming downtown at noon are a special hazard. It seems to us, after seeing a great many adults and children start into the street against the red lights, that the Village Commission might be well advised to study the lights at this corner with a view to asking the Road Commission to either lower them or relocate them so they will better serve their purpose. One woman has already been injured since the lights were installed, although fortunately she escaped with only minor bruises. It could easily have been a serious accident.

While we're on the subject of traffic lights, the "blind" side of the one at Hutton and Main streets makes this probably the most dangerous corner in Northville. Pedestrians crossing to Kroger's from the corner parking lot can see no light to tell them whether approaching cars will stop or not. If ever a corner needed a pedestrian light this one does. It is the responsibility of the Wayne County Road Commission, but the first step toward getting action is to call the situation to the commission's attention.

The Northville Junior High School plans to publish a sizable historical booklet about the village in the near future. One thing lacking to make the project especially worthwhile is a sufficient number of good clear pictures of early-day scenes. Mr. Alvin Skow is in charge of the undertaking for the High School. He will appreciate borrowing any pictures which you may have so they may be copied for the book. He will see that they are returned in good condition immediately after being used. Pictures can be delivered or mailed to Mr. Skow at the High School.

Northville merchants report that the "Home Town Bargain Day" sale last Friday was most successful. It attracted several thousand shoppers to the Village. While it was promoted by a special edition of the Northville Record, which circulated approximately 14,000 copies throughout the Northville shopping area, the effectiveness of the promotion was due directly to the attractive prices which local merchants put on a wide variety of merchandise for the occasion. While some of the sale items were stocked and priced particularly as bargain day specials, those who patronize Northville stores regularly find their day-to-day prices almost universally competitive. An added incentive to shopping locally—a compelling one to many persons—is the friendly personal contact which is an important part of small town life. The next "Home Town Bargain Day" is scheduled for Friday, Nov. 5.

Township Zoning Ordinance Hit At Board Meet

How vigorously should the Northville township board enforce the township zoning ordinance?

This question became the highlight of the board's monthly meeting Tuesday evening after Building Inspector Donald Nutton had informed the board that a house has been erected in the township without the owner taking the trouble to get a building permit. Nutton said he was told that it is a multiple dwelling which does not conform to zoning restrictions in the area. He asked that some member of the township board accompany him to inspect the building.

Terrill Objects

Roy Terrill, township treasurer, argued against enforcement of the zoning ordinance in this instance, saying: "If the man is putting up a three-family home he is adding property to the township tax roll. He added: 'I don't like the zoning law. People have violated it and we (the township board) haven't done anything about it in the past. Why should we get excited when this man is putting up a good house?'

Terrill's remark drew immediate response from Ralph Hay, board member, Robert Schaffer, chairman of the zoning board and James E. Littell, township attorney. Schaffer told Terrill that told that a multiple residence the property owner had been would be in violation of the ordinance. Nutton reported that no effort had been made to obtain a building permit, and Hay pointed out that his failure to get such a permit was a clear violation of the ordinance.

Schaffer added: "The people of the township elected you, Roy, to uphold the legislation of the township. The government of the community is the people. The officers they elect are expected to follow the people's will."

In Transition

Littell said that the township is in a transition stage in which many large farms are being broken up into smaller estates. "We're trying to make this a decent community for the future. The people of the township want the zoning ordinance. Let's enforce it."

To Terrill's statement that the township board hasn't enforced the zoning ordinance in the past, Littell said: "I agree with you."

As the meeting ended it appeared that board member Ralph Hay would accompany Nutton to inspect the house under discussion and determine if it is in violation of the zoning ordinance.

Northville Marine Lands In Turkey

Marine Cpl. Thomas A. Mosher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Mosher of 355 E. Base Line Street, Northville, Mich., participated with 1500 other Leathernecks of the 1st Battalion, 6th Marines, in an amphibious landing on the beaches of Dikili, Turkey, recently.

As members of the landing force of "Exercise Keystone", the Marines stormed ashore in support of Turkish troops defending the area against an airborne "enemy" invasion.

"Keystone", a combined exercise, involved Greek ground, air and naval units; Turkish air and ground elements; and U. S. naval sea and air units in addition to the Leathernecks. It was designed to improve the teamwork and efficiency of the participating NATO units.

Race Track Man Dies In Bed Here

Charles Failla, 35, an employee of an American Totalizing Co. crew working at Hazel Park race track, was found dead in bed at 223 Linden St. in Northville Wednesday morning.

Death was believed due to heart failure, according to Police Chief Joseph Denton. Efforts are being made to locate Failla's wife and relatives at Benton, Ark.

The body was taken to the Wayne county morgue.

TO MAKE CIDER, first you get the apples. Then they are ground and squeezed until the rich juice oozes out into catch basins. Above, Miss Leanna Doekson of Northville watches intently as Larry Crum, of South Lyon, an employee of the mill, spreads the pulp preparatory to the squeezing operation. —Record Photos

Watch Out! It's Nearly Time When Ghosts and Hobgoblins Slink About

Oh-oh! It's nearly hobgoblin time again!

That's the time when witches (bad cess to 'em!) mount their brooms and roam the land looking for unwary humans, mostly children.

Then there's elves, assorted ghosts, banshees, ghouls, apparitions, and maybe a few leprechauns (bad cess to them, too, the

There will be a parade, prizes and treats for children ranging from toddlers through the sixth graders. Festivities for those in this group will be held between 6 and 8 p.m. with treats passed out at the community building.

Other plans are under way to provide a real evening of enter-little Irish rascals!) it's best to watch out for. And hoot owls and black cats, too. Put all together, they're liable to make more noise around here than a band of howling dervishes, in a vacant lot, come Oct. 30.

In case you've forgotten, that's Halloween, a time when its not safe for man or beast to be abroad in the baleful light of the moon. Wierd things have happened.

Just so the evening won't pass unnoticed—as if it could!—the Northville Mothers club in cooperation with other civic and ser-

New Subdivision May Be Doomed By Restrictions

Promoters of a new subdivision to be located at the west end of Dubuar St. struck a new snag Monday night when a committee of the Village council reported a list of recommendations which may doom the project.

Jack Burkman, Northville builder, asked approval two weeks ago of a proposal to build 66 rental units on a six-acre plot of ground owned by Mrs. Jennie Cousins, of Ann Arbor. At that time, he requested that a street through the subdivision be provided by the Village, but this request was turned down by unanimous vote.

Included in the recommendations made by an investigating committee Monday night were the following: "The developers, should acquire the additional land either off of lot 375, owned by Cy Frid or Lot 384, owned by E. Kator or a portion of both lots, in order to eliminate a jog on Dubuar St. This land if and when acquired, should be included in the paving and be of a width of 50 feet.

"A street of proper width in the proposed project including the turn around space, the paving of which should be of grade A construction, meaning concrete. Also, curb and gutters.

"Sidewalks.

"Proper and adequate parking space.

"Water and sewer mains. Note: There is at present a 4-inch water main running off Rogers St.; this should be a 6-inch main running to the proposed project. We believe there is sufficient pressure to supply water in this 6-inch main to this development. However, if it proves inadequate the developers must install a booster pump at their expense.

"All of the above installations to be supervised by our Village Engineers and according to their plans and specifications.

"The developers submit to this body, for approval, plans and specifications of the buildings to be erected upon the site in question.

"Proof (either by the filing of a bond or deposit of cash covering the above expense) insuring that all of the above will be done must be submitted to this body before any rezoning of this area should be considered."

Discussion centered around the requirement for a paved street which, Comm. Earl Reed said, is required by FHA to be of concrete where the development is for rental purposes.

He estimated the cost of such paving at $200,000.

Burkman asked whether the council would approve a black-top street if the FHA would agree and was informed that it would. However, the feeling was that the FHA would not agree to anything but concrete in this instance.

Burkman said he would attempt to comply with the recommendations.

City Status Committee To Inaugurate Campaign For Support for Spring Vote

A renewed attempt to gain city status for Northville was inaugurated Wednesday evening at the Village hall as a newly appointed committee headed by Lynn Sullivan, 405 Orchard Drive, began deliberations.

Tentative plans discussed at the meeting call for a campaign of information, public meetings and concerted effort to gain support for placement of the issue before the electorate next spring. Proponents of the project declare there is much to be gained for adopting a city form of government, aside from the large financial returns expected to accrue to a city.

See Success

They also feel that if residential areas, which were against the proposal last spring are eliminated, the proposition will carry overwhelmingly at the polls.

The Village commission appointed Sullivan as chairman at its regular meeting Monday night. With him as co-chairmen are Tom Carrington and Stuart Thomson.

Other members of the group are Levi Eaton, Edward Mollema, Postmaster Leland Smith, Mrs. William Milne, a member of the School Study committee now surveying the needs of Northville and Novi, Mrs. A. C. Carlson, Mrs. James Green, Charles Bahnmiller, Cyril Frid and John S. Canterbury.

To Schedule Meetings

Mayor Claude N. Ely said the group will make plans for the campaign, which will be designed to lay before the voters all the facts both for and against a city form of government. Meetings at which the public will be given an opportunity to ask questions and gain information will be announced in the near future.

The accident occurred while George, a Northville High School senior, was helping repair a tire in the Miller garage on Rayson St. It is believed that a casing had not been properly seated on the rim, and when young Miller began to inflate it, the tube burst.

The steel rim smashed into the youths face, hurling him several feet into the air, and crashed into the ceiling of the garage with such force that it left indentations. Marks of the tire also were left on the ceiling.

The youth was expected to undergo further surgery Wednesday. Although he is in severe pain, his condition is no longer believed to be critical, hospital authorities said.

Rotary Auction Nets $402 Profit

Northville Rotarians realized $418 on the two-day auction and rummage sale held Friday and Saturday at Northville Downs.

W. A. Westerfield, committee chairman, reported that expenses of the annual auction were only $16, leaving a goodly sum for use in various projects. Rotary members and their wives who participated in the event were voted the thanks of the club.

Since the auction is an annual affair, Northville citizens are requested to save articles they may discard or give to out of town agencies so that they can be included in next year's event.

Ex-Novi Couple Adopts Hopi Girl

A former Novi family now residing in California has adopted an Indian child in addition to three of their own, Novi friends of the Donald Munro have learned.

The Munros became so fond of an Indian girl named Iris when she visited them during the summer that steps were taken to adopt her.

Iris' brother, Sylvan has been adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rowley, parents of Mrs. Munro, although they already have an adopted son, Tommy.

Both of the Indian children, who are from an Arizona tribe, the Hopi, are now entered in the public schools of Pomona, Calif., where their adopted parents live.

Bargain Day Is Decided Success, Merchants Say

The first of a series of "Home-town Bargain Days," held last Friday, was declared a success by Northville merchants who participated. Shoppers also appeared pleased with the bargains offered, according to Carl Johnson, president of the Retail Merchants Association, and a tabulation reveals that residents of no less than 11 communities shopped here.

"This pretty much bears out our contention that Northville is an excellent shopping center, and that the merchandise we offer and the prices set are comparable to those in other localities," Johnson said.

Northville's business men offered sale items at extremely low prices to attract people to the local stores. The occasion also served to introduce Northville as a center which is convenient to people in this entire area.

Prizes donated by the merchants association were on display in the bank lobby. The winners of the prizes were Mrs. Leo Hollis, 355 First St., Northville, radio; Mrs. R.C. Salow, 412 Dunlap St., Northville, canister set and Mrs. H.V. Reed, 8503 Ravine Drive, Plymouth, a card table and chair.

Everyone who received a Northville Record or a Home Town Bargain Day Shopper, of which there were approximately 14,000 copies distributed, was eligible for a chance on the prizes by clipping the lucky number coupon at the top of the paper and dropping it in a box in any cooperating store.

First Federal To Hold Open House Next Monday

First Federal Savings of Detroit, Michigan's largest savings association, will celebrate its 20th anniversary with an Open House starting Monday, Oct. 11 at all 7 offices of the association. The Plymouth office is a 843 Penniman.

There'll be special gifts for all who stop in, including a 32-page book of the Favorite Verses of Edgar A. Guest Detroit's own, nationally-recognized poet of the home. Other useful souvenir gifts are on hand for visitors, too, during the Anniversary celebration.

During the anniversary celebration, all who open new savings accounts with $10 or more will be presented with an Ever-sharp Star Reporter Pen and Pencil set, or with an Add-O-Bank, that registers and records nickels, dimes and quarters.

At the end of its first two decades, Federal's record of growth is an impressive one. Opening its doors in 1934, when Detroit and the country were painfully merging from the Big Depression, First Federal began operations with an original investment of less than $10,000. By the end of 1934, this had grown to $160,000, and within another year, assets were already over a million dollars and the association ranked 20th in size among Michigan's savings and loan associations.

Today, First Federal assets are in excess of $130,000,000 and it is one of the larger savings institutions in the country.

The federal savings and loan system of which First Federal is a part was set up by Act of Congress in 1933, just before First Federal of Detroit was organized. It represents a streamlining of the savings and loan idea which has been part of the American scene since 1831. It embodied the features of mutuality, local management encouragement of small savers, and financing of homes through monthly-payment loans that bring debt-free home ownership.

First Federal serves 78,000 savings customers with a flexible and helpful savings plan. Savings accounts may be opened with any amount; additions and withdrawals may be made in person or by mail. 2% current rate is paid on savings, which are insured to $10,000 by Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., a U.S. government agency.

Other services include Christmas and Vacation loans, money orders, and travelers checks.

Stanley Douglas, of Shadyside Ave., who for sometime was in a serious condition because of bad burns received at his employment, is reported to have successfully undergone a skin-grafting operation last week.

Mr. Seauright, of Norfolk Ave. is convalescing from surgery recently performed at one of the local hospitals.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Schult and their baby daughter, Janet, of Shadyside Ave., spent a recent week-end with relatives in Indiana.

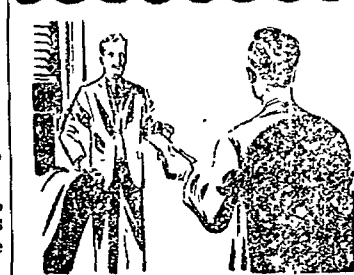

Mrs. Ralph Davis (Alice Vance), of Mayfield Ave., has returned to her employment with the Bell Telephone Co. in Farmington.

As a result of his polio illness last year, Robbie, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Innoven, Hubbard Ave., last week underwent some minor surgery, from which he is recuperating nicely.

Interesting announcement has been received here that eleven-year old, Carol Anne Porter, of New London, Ohio, has received a first prize for the biscuits she baked and displayed at her County Fair. Carol Anne has grandparents and many uncles, aunts and cousins living in this locality. Her mother is the former June Ault, of Mayfield Avenue.

Mrs. Herman Schult of Shadyside Ave., is preparing to move to Ellwood, Indiana, where her husband is employed, just as soon as a house can be located near the town mentioned. The Schult property on Shadyside Ave. will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James Schult.

Roger Barnes, lately enlisted in the U. S. Army, has written from a camp in Missouri.

Help The Teachers

With junior, or sister, just starting school, this is the perfect time of the year to appeal to all parents for restraint and good judgment in dealing with school teachers and administrators. No doubt junior and sister will encounter some difficulties during their school year, if indeed they do not encounter them at the beginning of the current term.

However, the teachers and administrators who are attempting to drill a bit of information into your sweet things' heads have troubles of their own and unless there is an obvious need for a protest, parents would do well to remain in the background and see—at least, for a while—how things work out before they ask for special treatment, special care or special attention for junior.

It will also be well to remember that the nation's schools must be based upon generally accepted average standards and that special operations cannot be undertaken for you, or any small group, no matter how good the idea may be. It should also be remembered by parents, that their support of the school, its teachers and administrators is vitally important to the happiness and satisfaction of their children.

In a surprisingly large percentage of cases, where students fail to do satisfactory work, the reason can be traced to parental neglect, attitudes or incapacity.

A helping hand for junior, a consistent policy of aiding him and requiring him to do his lessons, will pay large dividends for him in future years, even though it requires some of your time today. It is well worth the effort.

U. S. Economy Healthy

Expert economists, attending the annual forecasting session of the American Statistical Association, in Montreal, have announced that they saw on the horizon the beginning of a moderate recovery in the United States.

The recovery is expected to take effect in the late months of the year and the economy experts predict it will increase the total output of goods and services before December 31. However, they look for no great change in the number of unemployed by that time.

The most encouraging thing about this forecast is that the expert economists of the American Statistical Association have a perfect record of forecasting for the past ten years. They have successfully called the tune on business fortunes in the United States for ten successive years.

Martin Cainsbrugh, chief economist of the National Industrial Conference Board, presented the analysis of the business outlook to the session. His report showed that no great upsurge in business is expected, but did find justification for a prediction of moderate recovery in the closing months of this year, superimposed on a healthy, long-term growth trend for the years ahead.

Now, all we have to do is wait to see if the ASA is right for the eleventh straight year. The ASA prediction is in line with the forecast of most economy experts, which millions of Americans sincerely hope will prove accurate this year.

About Journalism

Last week I was invited to the first meeting of a seminar in journalism, attended by several members of the faculty and a group of capable and ambitious graduate students, at the University of Michigan.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss various projects which might be pursued by research, reports and conferences. There is a wide field for this work and study for those who plan to be professional journalists. An experienced news and editorial writer was asked to address this group on the general subject of Journalism. The following, in substance as I remember it, was what he said.

Journalism is probably the most useful of all the professions because very important news books, magazines, attractive and informative pictures are given directly, or indirectly, to more than a billion people daily, in a never ceasing stream of print, most of which journalists must write and edit. One cannot imagine any other agency performing so vital service of information, teaching, persuading, warning, and helping people direct their affairs and pursue their life objectives in a constantly changing world.

Preparation for a career in journalism, therefore, demands intensive study of the liberal arts, literature, history, political economy, science of government, psychology, logic, ethics, sociology, the history of philosophy (for the profound thinking of the past is the main bulwark of civilization), and specialized training in descriptive and argumentative writing. But the speaker added, with great emphasis, a philosophy of life.

A philosophy of life, he said, includes some sound reasoned convictions about this universe in which all men are bound together in a brotherhood of mutual service and independence. "Service," not fame or wealth (most newspapermen die poor—and happy!) must be the controlling motive of journalist. I found myself in complete agreement with the speaker.

Bible Comment:

The Gospel Can Be a Way of Life

THE nature of a man's daily life is not determined by accident or chance, or by the circumstances and happenings of the day, unless one's character be so weak as to be subject to every passing mood or influence.

It is true that some annoying incident of the day may lead to outbreaks of ill-temper, or arouse feelings of hatred, envy or jealousy. But what one does, in the long run, if life has any real worth, is determined by what one is. Character lies back of every thought and deed. It was thus that Jesus stated it again and again, thus fulfilling the religion of the Old Testament saints and prophets, which He said He had not come to destroy but to fulfill.

In the Gospel there is the word of life, the revelation of God's love and grace; the gift of God, which is eternal life.

In the Gospel there are the words of guidance for living, set forth in the teachings even as in the examples set by the Master. In the Gospel there is the inspiration and incentive in the promise of power, the infusing of a divine help that uplifts and strengthens human weakness; the experience that St. Paul meant when he said, "My strength is made perfect in weakness."

"To know the Gospel, to live 'from day to day in the records of what Jesus said and did, is to discover the Gospel in all its reality and power."

When such knowledge is available to all of us, how can we fail to make the Gospel a way of daily life?

How can we fail to take advantage of Jesus' promise of a more abundant life?

MICHIGAN MIRROR

A REPORT FROM THE CAPITOL

by Gene Alleman

Big and small business will be bailing out the state treasury for years with a "temporary" tax not expected to die.

Tax authors in the legislature already planning to extend the $32,000,000 business activities tax beyond its June 15 deadline.

Senator Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo), considered a tax expert of some talent, figures it's the way out because nobody has complained and the money is very nice, indeed.

"Where else can we get $32,000,000 a year so easily?" he asked.

The tax started as an unwanted child two years ago when the legislature was frightened by the deficit of $65,000,000. Gov. Williams pouted that it might help the state's financial position, but let it become law without his signature. He favored a cooperation profit tax.

Businessmen fought it originally because they were hazy about it—and a flexible tax bill in the hands of legislators can be a lethal thing. Later, after study, business and industry supported the measure.

Now everybody is happy about the whole arrangement. At least on the surface.

Legislators figure they can keep the tax on the books and the cash rolling in without causing a stir. Businessmen see it's a better tax than one on incomes over $10,000 or others equally obnoxious.

Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler would like to build roads with the proposed $500,000,000 bond issue.

Gov. Williams would like to name a 50-member statewide commission to tell him where they should be built, hinting broadly that Ziegler would bow to political demands.

Mayor Ralph W. Crego, of Lansing, is organizing one group to promote U. S. 127 and U. S. 27, which go through the center of the state, making local merchants delighted with their free-spending tourists.

Others are pushing for a super-highway along the routes, U. S.

-23 along the Lake Huron shore, on U. S. 131, all figuring on a tourist bonanza.

groups are (1) becoming ready-made campaign organizations for the bond issue when it hits the ballot next year; (2) confusing Ziegler and his long range plans.

Ziegler is sure taxpayers will complain mightily if the $500,000,000 is spent on a single highway. He thinks a Detroit-Muskegon superhighway is one of the top priorities, anyway.

Then, Ziegler thinks the local promotion may have been misled. He puts it succinctly: "Superhighways don't go through towns, of any size."

Forest fires caused less damage this year than any since records have been kept.

The conservation department reported that total loss for the year is limited to 3,599 acres of land. This is well below 1851, the previous record low.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Clever Decorations Are Often Simple, Inexpensive Ideas

EYE-CATCHING decorative ideas are often the result of imagination more than money. If you study some of the following tricks which have been used, they'll probably lend themselves to your home or may tickle the imagination to something equally effective for your particular use.

There's nothing static about today's furniture, for example. You may take old pieces or unfinished pieces and work them out to look really expensive and stunning.

Need a chest for dining room, bedroom or hall? Start with an old or unfinished piece and cover Bedsprad and draperies in this entirely new effect are called Fiesta. Three rows of self-tone bullion fringe are used on both bedspread and drapes. Eleven distinctive colors are available including emerald, brass, rosepink and charcoal. Made with rounded corners, the spread is completely washable (colorfast and pre-shrunk), lintless and requires no ironing.

with a paper in a Chinese motif. The top can be finished plain or antique, and paper and all may have a final coat of clear-satin-finish varnish for easy wear, easy care.

Cabinet Decor

Another idea is to combine a chest with a hanging shelf. These can be unfinished pieces or pieces with old finish removed painted to match the woodwork in the room. Drawer fronts can be covered in wallpaper left from the walls. The hanging shelf against the wall will look as though it is part of the chest with such a treatment.

Here's an idea that's practical for chests as well as other pieces of furniture such as bookcases or cabinets. Finish the outside of the piece in natural, then paint inside of bookshelves or doors or drawers in paint to go with the room color.

Cozy Kitchens

Problem windows above the kitchen sink which don't take to draperies or curtains will become an asset if you mount colorful plants there. Train the plants to grow up and across the top of the windows by taping the vine or stems in the direction desired.

A kitchen corner with a table can become attractive with a good color combination. Paint table and chairs a bright blue, for example, and cover the chair seats with cushions in a cherry red. For the wall nearest the table, have narrow shelves to display plates, figures or a collection of salt and pepper shakers.

If plants are your hobby, install glass shelves by screwing ratchet strips to the sides of the casing and thus make it a display for your greenery. If desired, use wood shelves cut as wide as needed and support them with screw eyes.

Desserts Essential To Most Meals

Desserts are essential to menus because they add the smooth, filling touch. The sugar and starch, or carbohydrate, as it's called by nutritionists is essential to diet to give a feeling of well being.

Arrange peaches in greased 8-inch round pan. Combine sugar, oats, flour and butter. Spread over peaches. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven about 30 minutes. Top with additional peaches. Serve warm with whipped cream.

SUNDAE TARTS

Northville Girl, Ypsilanti Man Exchange Vows

Before an altar decorated with white mums, greens and candle-bra, Barbara Jean Busch became the bride of Victor C. Plumley at a double ring ceremony in St. Paul's Lutheran church Saturday at 7:30 p.m. Rev. E. E. Rossow read the marriage service. J. Pederson, accompanied by C. L. Luechtman, sang Wedding Prayer and The Lord's Prayer. The bride was given in marriage by her brother Duane Busch.

Barbara is the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Busch of Northville and Victor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Plumley Sr., of Ypsilanti.

The bride wore a gown of white taffeta with dropped waist line gathering into a full skirt falling into a chapel sweep. The bodice had a boat neck line bordered with Alencon lace and long fitted sleeves edged with matching lace. Her fingertip veil fell from a fitted cap of Alencon lace. She carried a bouquet of Fugi Mums and white rose buds with Angel feathers.

The maid of honor, Lois Rossow of Utica, wore a wine red Crystallat frock and carried pink and white mums. The bridesmaids, Jean Buttermore & Joan Rody of Northville wore the same wine red gowns and carried pink and white mums.

Major C. Gwyllt of Ypsilanti assisted the bridegroom as best man and Robert A. McDonald and Berney Plumley, Jr. of Ypsilanti were the ushers.

Mrs. Busch wore a gown of oxford gray and a shoulder corsage of roses and mums. Mrs. Plumley also chose gray for her gown and wore a corsage of roses and mums.

Lillian Dickerson and Judy Sechlin assisted at the reception for over 200 guests in the church parlors.

Following the reception the young couple left for a honeymoon in New Orleans. They will reside in Ypsilanti where Victor is Station agent for United Airlines.

You Can Do Better Than That!

Sure you can—better than that little ditty in the "Hole In The Head" up there in the left hand corner of this page.

See if you can't! Write a four line verse—on any subject—and send it in to the "Hole In The Head" Editor, The Northville Record. If it's cute, clever, informative or just entertaining, we'll be glad to use it, and with your name as author if you wish.

Try it. It's a lot of fun.

Creative Art Is Development Aid, Says Instructor

What is the purpose of having Art in the schools? Is it included in the curriculum in the hope that the child will become an artist? No, says Stanley Hench, art instructor in the Northville grade school. The reason is that Art, creative art, will help the child to grow and develop into a happy, well balanced person, Hench believes.

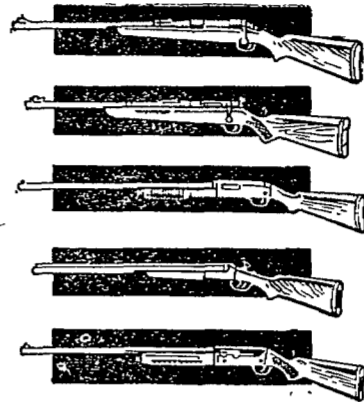

A child has certain abilities, and to explore—and these are taken into consideration when an Art program is planned.

In the second grade, for example, the children cut out basic geometric shapes from colored paper, arrange them into pictures or design and pasted them down on a background. This project which the children enjoyed (and that is very important) involved thinking because the children planned their design or picture; they did a little exploring by rearranging their shapes to find the best design; the children used their imagination by building different kinds of objects like trees, houses, boats, children, airplanes, etc., out of the shapes.

Their interests are brought in because they are making pictures of the things they like; finally the children are learning the skill of cutting and pasting.

Mustangs Trounce Milford for First League Victory, 9 to 6

Teams Battle On Muddy Gridiron; Clarenceville Next

Northville High school's Mustangs, jubilant because of a hard-fought victory over Milford in their first league game, will take on Clarenceville here Friday evening.

With Clarenceville the underdog because of an indifferent season thus far, Coach Kay's squad hopes to make it three victories in a row.

Last Friday's game with Milford was played without benefit of row boats or oars, but those appearances would have come in handy.

Storm Hits Area
Half an hour before the kickoff, a severe electrical storm dumped a deluge of water upon the area, and the Milford gridiron was liberally spotted with pools of water and an occasional quagmire. Players on both squads were liberally spattered with mud as the game progressed.

The first half was a see-saw affair, with neither team able to get anywhere. Northville had three scoring chances, but all were ruined by costly fumbles.

One of these came with the ball on the half yard line. Two futile slashes at the Milford line netted exactly nothing after the ball was placed there on a first down smash by Fullback Bud Lovett.

On the fourth down, Quarterback Bud Bell elected to pitch out to Halfback Joe Girardin, who fumbled the wet ball and Milford recovered on the six to end the threat.

In the third period, Northville again forced Milford to punt from its end zone. When the Milford kicker stepped over the end line, however, the referee ruled a safety and Northville was in front, 2 to 0.

The battle of the mud continued without appreciable gain on either side until midway in the last quarter, when Girardin and Lovett combined to work the ball to the Milford ten yard stripe.

"Swims to Score"
There Ball took the full from center, cut between right guard and tackle and sloshed through a pool of water to score. Lovett repeated from the two for the extra point.

Milford came right back with a passing and running attack which culminated in a successful two yard toss to Davidson for a touchdown. The extra point was missed, and the game ended soon after with Northville winning, 9 to 6.

Northville held a decided edge over Milford in statistics. The Mustangs gained 83 yards rushing to 42, made 12 first downs to 5, but lost three out of five fumbles and had a passing yardage of 21 to 52.

THE RAINS CAME, and the Northville High school band was unable to "strut its stuff" between halves of the Milford game. But the three drum majorettes and the cheerleaders were at their prettiest. STRICTLY FRESH FALLING in-and-out of love is the formula for longevity, according to a 90-year-old Los Angeles man. We can remember when a broken heart made us feel at least 110.

A Vancouver, B. C., paper had to call in a translator to read a letter believed to be written in German. Turned out it was just a combination of poor English and bad spelling. That's not. Fellow across the desk from apparently learned to write Chinese laundry.

Enterprising moonshiner near Woodson, Ark., operated a still on a platform in the middle of a lake and it wasn't discovered until the lake dried up. He probably got greedy for quick profit and bottled the lake to serve a cocktail parties.

Radio Moscow says that a Soviet fisherman caught a halibut weighing 660 pounds. Sounds more plausible than most fish stories broadcast from behind the Iron Curtain.

Silver dollars are in common only in a few western states, according to banking experts. If the U. S. mint would pass a few carloads of 'em in the '50's, they'd become popular!

Wild Life Notes...

LANSDING.—Hunters, it is time to act if you plan to hunt in this fall's special deer season.

Game workers again emphasize that Oct. 10 is the deadline to apply for permits to hunt in the Dec. 1 special season.

The permit costs nothing, but deer hunters must buy their license now and must make application to the department's game division before the Oct. 10 deadline if they expect to take part in the special season. Application forms may be obtained from any of Michigan's 4000 license dealers and the drawing will be held about October 20.

A top limit of 81,000 permits will be issued for hunting in three special areas of the northern peninsula.

The annual deer hunting information folder is now available to hunters, the conservation department reports.

The popular folders may be obtained upon request from the conservation department's game division at Lansing, 26.

—About 163,000 acres of southern Michigan farm land will be available to hunters this fall under the Williamston plan of cooperative land use.

Under the plan, a group of farmers whose lands adjoin organize into a Williamston "club" to manage hunting.

A limited number of hunters is allowed on club lands, but they can range over the entire block of club land after getting permission from any one of the farm members.

A limited number of hunters is mail carrier brood counts of ruffed grouse bear out earlier reports that "pat" hunting this year will be definitely below par compared to the last few years.

In 1951, carriers in the upper peninsula reported seeing a fairly high number of grouse. In 1952, they saw fewer and in 1953 the total dropped again. This year the carriers saw the least number of birds recorded during the four-year period.

The project aimed at growing more muskies for Michigan lakes drew a blank this year, but state fisheries workers say next year they will be better equipped and better able to handle the task.

State workers, aided by Wisconsin conservationists, live-trapped 16 big muskies in three western upper peninsula lakes early this spring. From these, they "stripped" 400,000 eggs.

But the eggs were damaged by cold weather during shipping so only a handful hatched and workers later reported none of these survived the critical early-growth period.

Next spring, state workers will be busy live-trapping fish again with muskellunge the main objective. Ten big box-shaped nets were ordered recently and knowledge gained from the 1954 attempt will guide future work.

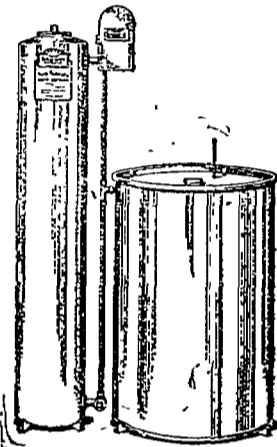

Trappers bagged six timber wolves in the upper peninsula during August, conservation department bounty records show.

Two male and two female wolves were bountied in Alger county, one female in Gogebic county and one male in Luce county.

It was the highest monthly total in several years and increases to 11 the number taken thus far this year.

Let us design a one or two-color letterhead you will be proud to use in your business. Best quality, reasonable prices. The Northville Record.

The GREEN THUMB

by Paul Newton

When I visited several model gardens last spring I made notes on how I might improve my own garden. Those notes have guided my planting of bulbs and shrubs this fall.

Notes made now of deficiencies in your fall garden may serve as a guide to help in your spring planting.

The masses of gorgeous chrysanthemums in fall gardens always make me wish I had used more of them. They extend the flowering season well into November, if the blossoms are protected on frosty nights.

How To Multiply Chrysanthemums

From the chrysanthemums now in your garden you may have ten times as many next year. Mark the plants now by name, color and height. Next spring, tiny green shoots will appear on the outer edges of the old root mass. These make the best planting stock. The old center should be thrown away, it has such a condensed and crowded root system that it will never mature and will harbor disease. The small root stalk from the outside edge, with not more than three growing shoots, should be taken in mid-May. Some gardeners plant these directly in the garden. Others have better luck putting them in-

Toxoid

Miss Ruth Knapp, RN, announces the results of the Toxoid program. Twenty-one grade school students were given their first dose; Seventy-four were given booster shots and were vaccinated. Sixteen students from OLV received their first shots.

October 27 is the date set for toxoid shots and vaccinations of high school students.

to pots for six weeks to form a good root system. Then by removing them carefully so as not to disturb the root system, they are ready to be put into the border by early July. The tops should be snipped back to 2 or 3 inches, and about August, snipped to about 4 or 5 inches in height. This process of shortening promotes sturdier and more prolific stem growth and better flowers.

Protection During Winter

Winter protection is an important part of this program, so that there may be plenty of new shoots for division next spring. The freezing and thawing, usual in Michigan winters destroys root structure unless a mulch is provided. Marsh hay is a good mulch, also evergreen boughs. Leaves tend to pack and smother. Mulches are never put on until the ground is frozen.

Chrysanthemums are heavy feeders. A good fertilizer is a mixture of 2/3 Milorganite and 1/3 5-10-5. A handful of this mixture can be spread in a ring about 4 inches from the base of the plant.

The aphids which attack the plants at this time of year can be destroyed by spraying with a solution of nicotine sulphate (black leaf 40).

Six Attend Civil Defense Program

Mrs. Arthur Carlson, Red Cross Chairman; Mrs. C. O. Hammond, Civil Defense Chairman; W. E. Forney and Mrs. Forney, who is Blood Bank chairman; and member, attended the Civil Defense show in Livonia Sunday. Mrs. Carlson stated that the show was not a demonstration of efficiency but a practice to determine the weak spots in the set-up and also the good points.

Twenty members of the Civil Defense Air corps under the direction of Lieut. Harter were there and they made an impressive group in their uniforms. Lieut. Harter will come to Northville and organize a Civil Defense club here, composed of young people, if enough interest is shown to warrant it.

The Northville representatives who attended the show felt it was satisfactory and hope that Northville can arouse the interest shown in Livonia.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The ever-availability of the healing power of the Christ. Truth, will be brought out at Christian services this Sunday.

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon. Selections to be read from the Bible include the account of Christ Jesus' healing of the leper as given in Matthew (8:1-3).

"When he came down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him. And, behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And Jesus put forth his hand and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed."

Among the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following (142:31): "Truth is God's remedy for error of every kind, and Truth destroys only what is untrue. Hence the fact that, today, as yesterday, Christ casts out evils and heals the sick."

WHAT DO YOU BELIEVE?

What do you believe regarding the life to come? Regarding the way to heaven? Many folks are so busy with this life that they have not taken time to consider their eternal destiny. Will you pause long enough now to think or perhaps even jot down what you believe about God, about Christ and about eternal life. Having done this let me ask you this question: "How do you know what you believe is true? What is your belief based on?" We have learned by experience that we cannot always trust in what others tell us; we have learned that we too have been wrong even when we thought we were right. Does God permit everyone to be saved by believing their own ideas, whether right or wrong? What confusion there would be if this were true. No, we cannot trust our own opinions and ideas, for the Bible says, "There is a way that seemeth right unto a man but the end thereof are the ways of death." In dealing with eternal issues it is a good thing to see what God says about it in the Bible and then to believe and do what He says. Let His Word be a lamp to your feet and a light to your path.

Council Thanks Citizens Giving Aid During Storm

Two violent electrical storms which struck Northville Friday night and Sunday brought out the good in Northville homeowners, the Village commission indicated Monday evening at its regular meeting in the Village hall.

The deluge of water literally swamped the public works department, and Mayor Claude N. Ely and the commissioners reported that many citizens turned out with brooms and other equipment to help control the flood.

"We really appreciate the help that citizens and the police gave the public works department during and after the storms," Mayor Ely said. Without their aid, Village employees would have had considerable difficulty.

He commended Patrolman Frank Heintz, who got himself thoroughly drenched trying to help, although his duties did not require his assistance.

In connection with Northville's recurring drainage problem, the commission agreed to help relieve a situation where property of Parker Holden, 628 W. Main, is being endangered by flood waters. A committee will consult with county highway officials to obtain construction of about 200 feet of drain to carry flood waters into a storm sewer. Holden announced himself pleased with the commission's action, in contrast with the usual criticism.

In other action, the commission: Took action to determine what shall be done about the Boy Scout building when the new elementary school is completed. The recreation committee, headed by Robert Merriam, will seek support of various organizations so that a caretaker can be employed, although school authorities indicated Tuesday they may seek to retain the building.

Directed Village Atty. Philip Ogilvie to write an opinion on the responsibilities of both homeowners and the Village as regards the construction of sidewalks. Such construction has been stopped until the matter is settled.

Directed police to prohibit cars in front of the high and elementary schools. Parents who previously have picked up their children there will no longer be allowed to do so, but must either park

Square Dance To Be Held In Comm. Bldg.

Members of the Cooperative Nursery school will sponsor a square dance Oct. 16 in the Community Bldg. Mrs. Douglas Lorenz, publicity chairman, announced this week. Tickets will be available at the door or can be obtained by calling Mrs. Wm. Secord, 271. This project is to raise funds for playground equipment.

Mrs. Charles Hall, president, explained that the Cooperative Nursery school gives children an opportunity to develop through supervised play and learn how to get along with youngsters his own age. One of the most significant factors in the program is that when the parents assists in the play sessions, he can see his own child in an entirely new light.

School meets three mornings a week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 to 11:30 in the basement of the Presbyterian church but with no affiliation with the church.

Any mother interested in the Cooperative Nursery school is welcome to bring her child and visit one of these morning sessions, stated Mrs. Hall. In this way the mother and child can be introduced to the program.

Mrs. Irv. Marburger is membership chairman.

Presbyterians To Commemorate Church Founding

The 125th anniversary of the founding of the First Presbyterian church in Northville will be commemorated at a banquet at the Church house, Thursday, Oct. 21. All the living ministers who have served as pastors of this church in the past will attend.

The general public is invited to participate.

More than 200 persons are expected to attend, and reservations are desired in advance since the seating capacity is limited to 250. Dr. Wilbur Johnston is in charge of ticket distribution.

In the lot behind the Community building, or along one of the side streets. The commission's voted unanimously to keep Main St. clear for traffic.

"Born Free" Book Reviewed Tuesday

Mrs. C. E. Woodruff, a member of the Tuesday Book Club, reviewed "But We Were Born Free" by Elmer Davis, and read excerpts from the "Mind Alive" by Harry Bonaro Overstreet.

The club met at the home of Mrs. Glenn H. Cummings. Guests were Mrs. S. L. Lockwood of Clearwater, Florida, Mrs. Gerald R. Ohnston, and Mrs. Catherine Lans of Wasenaar, Holland.

Two Adult Classes Are Planned Here

Ever envied a person who can give an acceptable talk at a dinner or some other gathering?

If you have, Northville High school will teach you to be an accomplished public speaker in eight easy lessons starting Monday evening.

A course in public speaking will be offered in the Northville area by Miss Florence Panattoni, speech instructor at the high school, in Room 129, and will last two hours.

A second adult education class to be offered by the high school Oct. 12 will be on accelerated reading, designed for the improvement of comprehension and the reading rate, according to Prin. E. V. Ellison.

The instructor will be Marlin Hill, director of Adult Reading courses at Wayne university. It will be of eight weeks duration, and will be held in the high school auditorium from 7:30 to 9:30.

The courses will be sponsored by the Northville Coordinating council and the Board of Education, and the fee for each is $10. Enrollment should be made by calling Mrs. Samuel Geraci, 168, or Mrs. Robert Coolman, 1130.

Ellison said a total enrollment of 30 is necessary for the adult reading class but that he speaker's course could have fewer students.

Woman's Union

The Woman's Union of the Presbyterian church will have its regular meeting Oct. 13 at 1:30 p.m. There will be an election of officers and faith goals to be approved. Also, the program to witness through fellowship.

Your Child and Reading

Some of you who read this are the parents of small children not yet attending school, others have children entering school for the first time, and still others may have children well advanced in elementary and secondary schools.

Some of you are wondering what can be done to better prepare your child for school or what can be done to help him now that he is starting school. Others of you have children who are not succeeding in school as well as you feel they should and would like to know what can be done to help them.

Mastery of Reading

Many of you feel that the foundation for succeeding in school is a mastery of the reading skills. In a sense this is true. One would certainly think so if he accepted, at face value, the articles which appear on this subject in the various popular magazines.

Since there is such an interest, especially on the part of parents, in how children learn to read and why some children do not learn to read, this series of articles has been designed to acquaint you with the kinds of problems faced in teaching children to read and the part parents can play in helping children.

Perhaps a fresh look at a few facts may help us attain mutual understanding. In spite of what critics of the public schools say, children in the elementary schools of today read as well as, if not better than, children of comparable grade levels in the schools of 40 or 50 years ago.

More Training

It is also probably true that your child has or will have a teacher with more training than your teacher had when you were in elementary school.

And finally, modern methods of teaching reading are based on what is known about how children learn best. Certainly no one would argue that the ABC method of teaching reading did not develop good readers, but from the evidence available there are better ways of teaching reading. That is the reason why teacher training institutions now teach prospective teachers other methods for developing reading skills.

It is not the purpose of this article to discuss methods of teaching reading. The only reason for the three previous paragraphs is to point out a very important matter. That is, if we as parents

Civil Defense Talk Is Given Here

Northville's aid will be needed in the event of an atomic attack upon the Detroit area, William Siebert, Wayne county civil defense coordinator, told Northville Rotarians Tuesday noon.

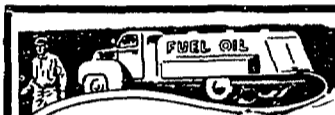

He said there were two danger points in Michigan—Flint and the entire Wayne county area—and that in the event of an attack, there would be a great rush of residents of those areas into outlying regions.

He said the picture is a frightening one—if an attack comes—and that Northville should be prepared.

His talk was a prelude to the Civil Defense demonstration which is to be held here Oct. 25 under the direction of Oscar Hammond, Northville's civil defense chief.

as effective as they were years ago, or if we disapprove of modern methods of teaching, there is danger that our children will reflect these same attitudes. And most of us would agree that we do not accomplish as much as well when we approach a task with a good deal of skepticism.

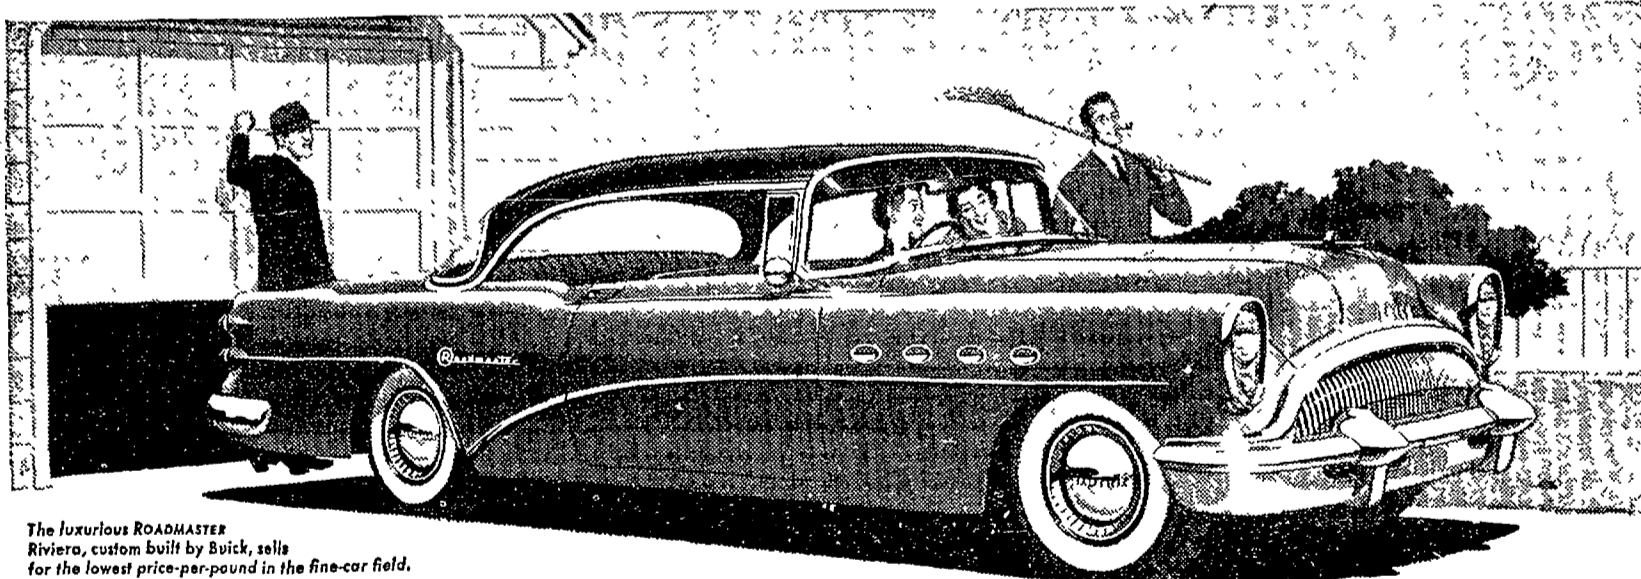

The first step in preparing a child for school then is for the parents to develop a constructive attitude toward the schools. Before deploring the reading instruction your child is receiving or criticizing the schools for ineffective methods let us make certain that the blame lies with the school.
