Center St. Paving Expected To Be Begun Next Year

Paving of S. Center St. from Cady to Hines Dr., may be undertaken next summer by the Wayne County Road commission, Mayor Claude N. Ely reported to the Village commission Monday evening.

Ely said that a conference with county officials disclosed that the highway budget was completed last month, and in it is a provision for paving Sheldon Rd. (Center St. within the Village) from Cady all the way to Michigan Ave. south of Plymouth. This would provide the only through, paved highway running north in Northville.

A further meeting will be held with county officials in January, Ely said, to discuss the responsibility of the Village in providing curbs and gutters along Center St. in preparation for the paving.

In other action, the commission discussed:

—An inspection of Northville Downs following the disastrous Livonia race track fire in which a number of horses were killed. The state fire marshal visited the Northville track and recommended certain changes to be made before the next racing season. A number of new stalls are being built at the track, and these are being equipped with fire walls to prevent any disaster like that at Livonia.

—The need for a checking room or coat racks in the new Community Center. It was suggested that the manual training class of Northville High school build the racks as a class project, since students use the building more than any other single group.

—Need for provisions for cooking facilities in the Community Center. Wiring plans omitted connections for an electric range, and also omitted outlets for additional stage lighting. Comm. A. Malcom Allen and his committee will consult with the Community Center committee on these matters.

Northville Sailor Ends Foreign Tour

Newport, R.I. (FHTNC) — Wilbur L. Johnson, gunner's mate third class, USN, son of Mrs. Nellie B. Johnson of 446 Dubuque St., Northville, aboard the destroyer USS Abbot was scheduled to arrive here Dec. 18 completing a tour of duty in the Far East and a "round-the-world" cruise with Destroyer Division 242.

The destroyers left Newport in June and transited the Panama Canal, stopping at San Diego, Calif. and Pearl Harbor on their way to the Far East.

While in the Orient, the ships operated as part of a fast carrier Task Force. They took part in the search and rescue operations of the British Cathay airliner, shot down by Chinese Communists off Hainan Island last July.

They returned to their home port via Singapore, Suez and the Mediterranean Sea.

Salem Soldier Is Awarded Badge

Fort Campbell, Ky. — Pfc. Richard A. Honke, son of Bessie Honke, 9296 Six Mile Rd., Salem, has been awarded the Wheeled Vehicle Drivers' badge for outstanding driving with Co. A, 645th Engineer Battalion, Fort Campbell, Ky.

Pfc. Honke entered service May 7, 1953 and took his basic training at Fort Belvoir, Va.

Pfc. Honke is the personal driver of the company commander. He took part in "Exercise Flashburn" held at Fort Bragg, N.C. last spring.

A PRAYER FOR PEACE and good will, typifying the traditional Christmas spirit, is said by Joyce Alkire, kneeling at the altar of the First Presbyterian church. Joyce, member of the Presbyterian Bell-Ringers' choir, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Alkire, 1979 Fry Rd. —Record Photo

CHILDREN at Maybury sanatorium and the Farmington Handicapped Childrens' hospital were not forgotten by Northville Rotarians and others who contributed many presents as part of their annual Christmas program. ### Burkman Subdivision Again Is Rejected By Northville Commission

The plan of Jack Burkman for development of a six-acre subdivision at the west end of Dubuque St. received a flat rejection from the Northville Village commission at its regular meeting Monday night.

Following a meeting of a committee with Burkman and a representative of an architectural company last week, the commission accepted a report which recommended that approval of the project be withheld. Burkman had requested that the commission give him an informal approval pending action by state and county authorities so that he could start work immediately.

Second Rejection

This is the second time a plan for the subdivision has been turned down. Last fall, a proposal was rejected because paving plans and other items were not acceptable. Burkman then set about revision of the project.

In its report the committee, headed by Comm. Earl Reed, pointed out that in the development or planning of any new subdivision, the surrounding area should be taken into consideration in order to have a well planned community.

"To the west of this proposed development," the report stated, "is Hillcrest Manor, one of the newer subdivisions, on which plat shows a 30 foot strip along the section line for street purposes. To the east and south we have one of the older subdivisions of Northville, but which was laid out with the prospect of future development. Bounded on the north we have acreage which some day will probably be developed."

"In planning the future, this proposed development should be so laid out that there would be proper ingress and egress to any subdivision now of record, or any potential development in that area. This proposed development does not fit in at all with any future planning or development of the surrounding area. As a matter of fact, it is set off entirely by itself."

"There is only one street in the entire proposal, which is a cul-de-sac of approximately 900 feet in length and a width of 50 feet with inadequate turn around space. This proposed street would serve approximately 40 families. In conjunction therewith is an ingress and egress of 24.75 feet in width. This in itself in case of an emergency may prove to be entirely too narrow, along with the width, length and turn around space as proposed, thereby creating a hazard for the safety of our citizens."

"In looking to the future, Northville, will, in our opinion, expand. If we do not plan for that event we may be put to great expense for condemnation proceedings, or otherwise, in order to have proper ingress and egress to a subdivision or subdivisions which we have hastily approved."

Plan For Future

The committee said it would like to see the piece of acreage in question developed, but developed in a manner of planning for the future and not set apart by itself.

"In view of the above," the report concluded, "we do not wish to recommend to this commission the informal approval of the subdivision as planned."

"However, we would recommend the following:

"1. An ingress and egress to be at least 50 feet in width for any street.

"2. One or more through streets without any cul-de-sac.

"3. A strip of land 30 feet in width off the entire west side to be reserved for a road along the section line.

"4. A strip of land at least 25 feet in width off of the north end to be reserved for a potential street."

Senior Class Play Is Presented At State Hospital

The Northville Senior Class play, "Goodbye, My Fancy", was given for the patients of Northville State Hospital Dec. 20. The play was directed by Miss Florence Pannatoni and had the same cast which appeared in the play when it was first presented at the Northville Community center. This is the second year the senior play has been presented for the hospital's patients.

In addition to the play, the patients will have a number of other activities during the holiday season. The festivities began with decorating the hospital ward with Christmas trees donated by the American Red Cross Gray Lady service.

Aid Project

Northville State Hospital Gray Ladies who have been busy on this project include: Mrs. Margie A. Davis, Mrs. Joyce L. Gruner, Mrs. Helen McCarthy and Mrs. Isobel Partridge.

The Citizens' Auxiliary committee for Northville State hospital, an organization of relatives and friends of the patients, has arranged donations of gifts from downtown stores through the Detroit Retail Merchants Assn. The committee hopes to provide at least two presents for every patient who has no relatives or friends.

Greetings Sent

In the hospital Christmas greetings, sent to almost a thousand people in the community who have assisted in the hospital program during the past year, Dr. Philip Brown, medical superintendent, sent the following message:

"On behalf of the patients and staff, I would like to take this opportunity to extend our best wishes.

"The interest and help from you the members of the community have made this past year an important one at Northville State hospital. Your participation has greatly assisted us in the total program and makes this Christmas a more meaningful one for all of us."

Groups contributing to the patient's Christmas included many from Northville, Livonia, Plymouth and others in the Detroit metropolitan area.

Winners Announced in Decoration Contest

Winners of the Northville Retail Merchants Assn. contest for the most attractively decorated homes during the Christmas season have been announced by Carl Johnson, president of the association.

As The Record stated last week, the Village was divided in four sections and prizes were awarded to one home in each section.

Winners were: W. C. Higgins, 46180 W. Main St.; Harold E. Wagonschutz, 225 Church St.; Bruce McAllister, 47033 Timberlane, and Clarence R. Davis, 20889 Cambridge Dr.

Northville Company's Customers and Employees "Adopt" Needy German Family

Through the generosity of Northville citizens, a family of seven in the occupied American zone of Germany will have one of the finest Christmases possible.

The hearts of many Northville residents were touched by publication in The Record of a letter from an 18-year-old German girl telling of the thrill she got when a package from Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stover and other members of St. Paul's Lutheran church was delivered. In the letter of thanks to the Stovers, the German girl told of life in her war-torn country, of her mother and father and five "kinder", three boys and two girls.

This week, customers and employees of the Northville Sand & Gravel Co., of which Donald Richardson is president, decided they would "adopt" the family and send additional gifts of clothing and food.

So they put out a box for "donations", and customers, visitors and employees have kept it full of dollar bills.

A special committee is to be formed to contact the minister of the German church to which the original package was sent, and probably other families will be added to the "donation" list. The Heinrich Fiege family, which received the first package, found the Stovers' address in the pocket of a coat.

And because the girl was impelled to write a letter of appreciation, now other German families may have a cheery Christmas also.

Tomorrow's Citizens

Yule Drinking Warning Issued

Chief Joseph E. Denton announced today that the police department of Northville is co-operating with the Michigan Liquor Control commission and State Safety Commission on the state-wide emphasis program aimed at reducing accidents due to drunk driving.

"This is the holiday season when everybody is well aware of the many celebrations to come but everybody is not aware that holiday drinking is also deeply involved in traffic tragedy," the chief said. "The mixing of drinking and driving last year was such that 23 percent of drivers involved in fatal accidents in Michigan were reported as 'had been drinking'."

Chief Denton issued a special warning to persons celebrating in private homes. He pointed out that 80 percent of the alcohol is now consumed in homes and only 20 percent is consumed in bars and taverns. He urged all motorists to keep in mind the official safety slogans "Drunk Drivers Lose Their Licenses - Go To Jail".

Record Office To Be Closed On Friday, Dec. 24

So that the employees and editorial staff of The Record may enjoy the traditional Christmas holiday period, the office of The Record will be closed from 5 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 23 until 8 a.m. Monday, Dec. 27.

Advertising or news copy intended for next week's issue, however, may be left under the door as usual.

And, in keeping with the holiday spirit, we all wish you the merriest Christmas ever—Mary Donovan, Lillian Duersen, Florence DeVriendt, Evan Howells, Earl Gordon, Frank Brennan, Art Stewart, Thomas N. Cummings, Glenn H. Cummings and G. R. Johnston.

Cpl. Eckman, a bandsman in Headquarters Co., entered the Army in October, 1952, and arrived overseas the following May.

New Oil Well To Be Started Soon

A new oil well will be begun on the Walter Stobbe farm, Eight Mile and Curry Rds., shortly after the first of the year.

Keith Krizer, of Detroit, who was superintendent of operations on the Nerret well on Chubb Rd., and other successful wells in the Northville area, will be the driller.

Blindworking work on the site is now under way.

Wild Life Notes...

Lansing — The ice-fishing brigade, as many a crew of anglers as ever baited a hook, will soon slide into action.

Last year, first ice fishing in Michigan was reported on Dec. 31, but this year the federal weather bureau reports temperatures the first week of December were much lower than in 1953. The average low for the first six days of 1953 was 32 degrees at Marquette and 36 degrees at Alpena. This year, the average low at both Marquette and Alpena during December was 22 degrees.

So tip-ups and shanties and icicle noses and ice-cold feet will soon again be in vogue.

Michigan's conservation officers last week reported that 451 persons were apprehended, taken to court and convicted of conservation law violations.

The total was the highest reported for one week during the entire year, and represents mostly pre-deer season infractions.

Trick Didn't Work

Ralph MacMullan, in charge of the conservation department's Houghton Lake wildlife station, was working at a checking station in special deer season when a hunter drove in with a deer on his fender bearing six inch antlers. "Nice young buck," commented MacMullan, prying the animal's mouth open to check its age. The teeth, however, showed the deer could not have antlers. The animal had fawn teeth, and deer do not grow antlers until their second year. MacMullan, puzzled, checked again. No retreat, the teeth showed the animal was still a fawn. MacMullan then checked the hunter, who stood about whist-

ing. Still no answer.

Just at the base of the antlers, however, was the key. The hunter had somewhere acquired a pair of antlers and skull plate and had sewed them neatly into the head of his fawn.

Sheepishly, he explained he just could not bring himself to carry a fawn home on his fender. "What would the youngsters say?" he wondered.

Red Cross Aides Are Needed Here

A call for Red Cross volunteers was sent out this week by Mrs. A. Carlson, Red Cross branch chairman for Northville. Those who desire to participate in this work are to attend a special training class at which civil defense procedures will be discussed.

"All of us hope that never again will we go to war," Mrs. Carlson said, "but it is sheer folly to be unprepared, and preparedness demands action on the home front as well as military action."

Not every community will be attacked she pointed out, but those that are attacked cannot hope to take care of themselves without help. Help must come from the organized civil defense forces of communities and states which are not attacked. That is why all communities must be organized.

Northville civil defense and its local Red Cross branch are working together. The Red Cross will take the responsibilities of doctors, nurses and reuniting families.

In all, over 17 million hard-working, well trained volunteers are needed. Northville needs volunteers now and for years to come.

Training will begin with a first

Classes will continue for nine weeks with one additional evening for make-up work. The course must be completed in order to get a first aid certificate. In case of an enemy attack or natural disaster only trained volunteers are allowed directly on the scene.

"When you have trained your family," Mrs. Carlson said, "and prepared your home, you have more than doubled your chances for survival in an atomic attack or a natural disaster. It is advised that one person in every home be trained in first aid."

"You must volunteer by calling Mrs. H. Godfrey, 793 W. or the Red Cross Branch Chairman, 402 Please do so at once in order that books and supplies may be ordered in time for the Jan. 7th class."

What Means Democracy?

An interesting sidelight to the racial controversy which shook the Northville Exchange club last week was the emphasis placed by some embattled members on the word "democracy".

The basic issue was whether the national constitution should be amended to eliminate the words "white male" as restrictive to membership, a provision extending back to 1911.

A representative from national headquarters pointed out that many clubs, including Exchange, are not "democratic", but rather are "selective", meaning that members are handpicked and nominated by other members, instead of gaining admittance through application or competitively.

Admitting that racial barriers are slowly crumbling, we see nothing wrong in groups of citizens banding together in fixed purpose and selective membership. Doctors do it, engineers do it, even old maids do it, and nothing is said about it.

Much, however, WAS said about democratic principles governing Exchange policies. If democracy is a primary issue, then color or race should not be the sole consideration.

Democrats do not want Republicans in their ranks—except as converts; no one but a lawyer can belong to a bar association; the American Legion limits its membership to veterans. On the racial side alone, ever since this nation began the minority segments of our population have banded together exclusively: Germans, the Irish, Italians, Chinese, the Spanish, and many more. Whites are not permitted in a number of Negro organizations.

Is this undemocratic? Not at all, just as there is nothing undemocratic in groups of Chinese merchants banding together for their own purposes in many American cities, or in groups of white business and professional men doing the same.

In a democracy, the majority rules. There is no compulsion, as the National Exchange representative pointed out, for anyone to belong to any club with whose policies he is in disagreement. He intimated it would be undemocratic for a minority group to disrupt an organization whose policies had been approved by a majority.

Since most clubs, therefore—be they sewing circles, dentists, explorers or Tall Tale Tellers—have their own bylaws, regulations and constitutions, it would seem that those who dissent from those bylaws and do not want to abide by them, should withdraw. That is a right they are guaranteed in the democratic way. Conversely, they should have the right to band together in their own way, with whatever rules the majority deems applicable.

In America, a man's house is still his castle; his club is his refuge.

While it is understandable that members of any group might be hesitant about airing their internal troubles in public, it appears rather incongruous that those who argued the loudest against exclusion of race or color should demand the exclusion of visitors and the press. Were they ashamed of their contemplated action?

Democracy is not a two-faced word. If it can be applied fairly to any exclusion, then it should be applied to all.

... About the Christmas Tree ...

The Christmas tree has come to us from days before Jesus was born, but it was not originally "Christmas". In the invasion of Gaul, 13 B. C., the Roman general Drusus took to the North the tree decorated with toys and manikins as a part of the ancient Roman Saturnalia, a sort of Harvest Home festival, happily riotous, but through the years increasing in exhibition of vice.

Norsemen adopted the Saturnalian tree as a prominent item in their Yule-feast which lasted from December 25 to January 8, celebrating the winter solstice and worshipping their gods, especially Odin.

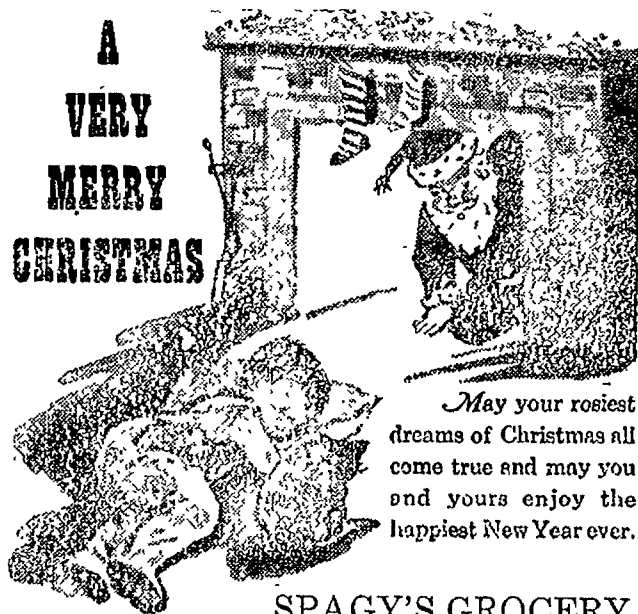

The earliest authentic references to the celebration of the birth of Jesus are found in manuscripts dating between 180 and 192 A. D. For a century following that date Christian groups observed this custom at any time of the year locally convenient, later adopting December 25, the date of the Norse Yule-feast. In the earliest celebration of the Nativity, Christians adopted some features of the Saturnalia, among them the gaily decorated tree, but making it the symbol of wholesome happiness. They did this to declare to the heathen world that Peace and Good Will, rather than riotous vice, is the way to win the favor of Heaven.

In the centuries later there were added to the Christian festival beautiful "Manger Songs", Carols and dramas, commemorating the gift to the world of Jesus, the Prince of Peace, The giving and receiving of gifts and the peace and good will in "Merry Christmas" moved many worshippers of false gods to adopt the Christian Faith.

The Christmas tree, loaded with gifts, gay lights and shining baubles proclaims the fellowship and brotherhood of Mankind, peace, good will and happiness to all the world, regardless of race or creed. What would Christmas be without the Tree?

GOOD WILL, PEACE, MERRY CHRISTMAS AND HAPPY NEW YEAR!

MICHIGAN MIRROR

A REPORT FROM THE CAPITOL

by Gene Alleman

EDUCATORS HAVE STARTED an 11-month campaign to learn more about Michigan's school problems.

The program is designed to prepare 27 state delegates with information to take to the 1955 White House Conference on Education next November.

President Eisenhower has asked for the nationwide conference to determine what role the Federal government must play to keep America "the most enlightened nation in the world."

The state has been divided into 14 regions, each of which will hold its own conference and pick delegates to a state meeting.

State meeting, in turn, will coordinate all the problems and send them with the delegates to the Washington conference next year.

"The time has now arrived, I believe, when the people are ready to do something more about the schools," said Dr. Clair L. Taylor, superintendent of public instruction.

Main problem in Michigan now is finding money to build the 2,000 new classrooms needed to handle enrollment increases in the next few years—and teachers to preside over them.

Dr. Taylor stated succinctly that these questions will be asked of every community in the next 11 months:

"Where are we?
How did we get here?
Where are we going?
How are we going to get there?"

Importance of education in estimation of officials jockeying the United States in the cold war with Russia was stressed by Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State College.

Dr. Hannah, recently returned from an 18-month tour of duty as assistant Secretary of Defense, said:

"We know that Russia is training engineers and scientists faster than we are, and good ones too. We must do something quickly if we are going to keep pace with them."

MICHIGAN'S 1955 SENATE will have a number of new members, but the leadership will be the same that chartered the chamber's Republican course for the past two years.

Senator Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek) again will be Republican caucus chairman, Senator Harry F. Hittle (R-Lansing) will be president pro tempore and Senator Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo) Republican floor leader.

Coleman led a group of younger members into power in the Senate two years ago when Republicans had 24 votes to 8 for the Democrats. During 1955, the majority will be shaven to 23 to 11.

"We may have a more difficult time this year with more seats and more Democrats, but we're more united now," he said.

Major issues facing the 1955 session in both the Senate and House include what to do about taxes when the Business Activities tax, worth $30,000,000 this year expires in spring; how to finance education; a fresh look at social legislation.

REPORTS PERSIST that Gov. Williams is looking for a spot on the 1956 national ticket, and his fellow Democrats are doing nothing to dispell the thought.

CIO meetings in Detroit have flatly said they would support Williams in the 1956 convention. Williams has remained silent on his plans, but attentive.

Democrats and Republicans alike predict that Williams will spend more time on national issues during the next two years and do a lot more traveling around the country. Said one Republican: "We should get behind him, too, for anything he wants to get in the way of political prominence—nationally."

STATE WELFARE officials would like to have more power over campaigns for charitable purposes — to protect the public and the legitimate fund-raising organizations.

W. J. Maxey, state welfare director, said his office licenses 46 charities which conduct cam-

No Ordinary Fish Story

Naturally, the Lone Star state being as big as it is, though possibly not as big as the natives seem to think, you could expect to hear tall tales from tantalizing Texans.

Maybe you haven't heard the one that Bill Bridges, as salty a Longhorn as they come, tells on a buddy of his at the University of Texas some years ago when Gen. Douglas MacArthur was trying to forget his tilt with one Harry S. Truman by going fishing.

This buddy of his also liked to fish—but let Bill tell it.

The Horseless Headman

This guy was the kind who liked to fish in style, and couldn't afford it. But do you think we could get him to sit on the bank like us peasants? Not my pal Nolan Borden. He had to get out on the water.

He didn't have a boat, but that didn't stop him. He hummed an old inner tube from a truck driver, patched it up, and used it to float on all over Lake Austin.

Since he bobbed around in bathing trunks, it wasn't long before mosquitos and sunburn bothered him more than he could stand. So he bought an old Army-surplus poncho. He weighted the hem of it so that the thing hung down low in the water, and when he got in it, he pulled the drawstring around his neck.

He soon became a character pointed out to little children whose parents brought them to the lake shore just to see him.

By that time Borden had added an old motorcycle cap and a pair of dark glasses to his regalia. The result was that spectators often thought that Gen. Douglas MacArthur himself was standing waist-deep in water, his head through the top of a sort of tepee. And fishing. Always fishing.

Floating on the inner tube, which was hidden by the weighted poncho, Borden gave the impression of a man standing in shallow water. The spectacle fooled lots of people, including a man in a motorboat. One Sunday afternoon Borden had his line dangling in the water when this boat pulled up beside him.

"How's fishing?" the stranger asked.

By this time Borden had grown used to the gibes of witty passers-by, and he was a little surprised at this apparently honest question. He told the fellow the fishing was good.

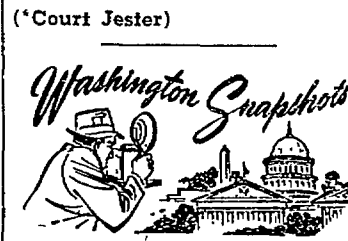

Borden watched while the man pulled on his hip boots and began rigging his line. Just as it occurred to Borden to say something about the twenty feet of water he was floating in, the man stepped over the side.

By the time the stranger surfaced, Borden already had decided to go elsewhere, and was paddling like mad with both hands. The stranger took off after him, swimming. He was a good swimmer, too, but he was hampered by his fishing pole with which he lashed out at Borden from time to time.

My buddy made shore a bare three lengths ahead of his pursuer, but, being more familiar with the rocks and weeds in the shallow water, was able to pound up the bank to the safety of his car before the stranger could gain solid footing.

Borden still likes to spin this yarn about Lake Austin. When he does he always starts off the same. "In this story," he begins, "I'm the one that got away."

The Christmas season — an interlude of giving and of receiving — seems to be a good time to review the manner in which the administration's tax revision bill benefits the people as a whole. A few examples:

More than 1,500,000 retired policemen, firemen, teachers and their widows get a 20 per cent tax credit on retirement income up to $1,200.

Some 8,500,000 people can deduct medical expenses of 3 per cent or more of their income, as compared with the old requirement that medical expenses must be 5 per cent or more of income.

Some 1,300,000 taxpayers can claim as dependents children earning over $600 a year.

Some 500,000 farmers get more liberal soil conservation expense allowances.

Your Congressman Reports . . .

by Rep. Charles G. Oakman

CLOSING 'SHOP' AS YOUR CONGRESSMAN has brought me back to Washington.

AS 1954 'FADES AWAY' I feel we can all be grateful that the dire predictions of depression and disaster on the economic front as heard on radio and television during the past many months by the "Disaster Droolers" have proved to be nothing more than political fraud. Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Democrat of Virginia, stated this week: "We are enjoying the greatest prosperity in our history."

MY PREDICTION—Concensus here has it that the President's foreign policies get stronger bipartisan support during the 84th Congress. On the other hand, the outlook for Presidential-Congressional harmony on domestic issues is dubious. The Democrats fully realize that a record of their own is essential to their success in 1956. But they also recognize that because of the President's popularity, great care must be exercised. Too much criticism or opposition may well react to the advantage of the Republican Party.

Many thanks for the privilege and pleasure I have had as the Representative from Michigan's 17th Congressional District in the 83rd Congress.

Quick Cooking Helps
Keep Flavors in Fresh Fruit Jams

WHO doesn't like the fresh fruit color and flavor of jams? Short cooking time preserves fresh fruit values and gives a superior product.

Put in a stock now while the fruit is in season, and enjoy spreading biscuits and rolls later when you yearn for them.

Peach Jam
(Makes 11 medium glasses)
4 cups prepared fruit (about 5 pounds ripe)
1/2 cup lemon juice
7 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 bottle liquid fruit pectin

Peel pit or core fully ripe peaches. Grind or chop very fine. Measure 4 cups into large saucepan; add lemon juice. Add sugar to fruit and mix well. Place over high heat bring to a full rolling boil. Boil hard one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat.

You can stock your jam and jelly shelf easily and quickly when you make these goodies with commercial pectin. Used with ripe rather than underripe produce, it shortens cooking time and thus gives superior flavor and color in the finished product.

and stir in pectin at once. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Stir and skim by turns for five minutes to cool slightly thus preventing floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover jam at once with 1/2-inch hot paraffin.

Pear Conserve
(Makes 4 pints)

Keep Your Papered
Walls Attractive

Papered walls are attractive in so many types of rooms, but many a homemaker is at a loss as to how to keep them attractive because of the difficulty of keeping them clean. Knowing exactly what to do about stains and tears will preserve the paper to be enjoyed for a long time.

Special Cleaning Tips

Get to stains as promptly as possible before they have a chance to penetrate. This applies particularly to grease spots. Hold a clean white blotter and press over it with a warm iron, moving to a clean spot on the blotter as soon as one portion of it absorbs grease. Stubborn spots will often respond to Fuller's earth or to sponging with carbon tetrachloride. Food stains may be treated with the latter also.

Crayon marks should also be sponged with carbon tetrachloride.

Smudge or grime usually responds to dough-type cleaners which are kneaded and then applied to the stains. Soft stale bread with crusts removed will often work as well as an art gum eraser.

For ink stains, blot surplus quickly. An absorbent powder will be of help too. Repeat this treatment until no more ink can be taken up.

Small Tears

Tears which are small and have not resulted in removing the paper from the wall may be repaired as follows: apply paste carefully to the spot with a small brush. Press paper back in place. Hold clean white blotting paper over the section and rub briskly until the paper holds.

Open seams may be repaired in the same fashion as these small tears.

Large Holes

Patch these with matching paper left from the original supply. Tear the paper for the patch rather than cutting, as torn edges are less conspicuous. Match paper as closely as possible to the torn area.

Apply paste to paper and place over the hole. Hold blotting paper over the patch and rub briskly until the paste will hold.

What's Cooking?
(What's your favorite dish? If you will share it with other Northville housewives, please call The Record's society editor, Telephone 200.)

Plum puddings, England, and Christmas all go together and with Christmas season here what could be more appropriate than an old English plum pudding recipe brought to America by Mrs. Joseph Denton, wife of Northville's chief of police.

Mrs. Denton has made this pudding every year for a good many years for her family and it is as much a part of Christmas as the traditional tree. It isn't too late to prepare it and you will enjoy this real English pudding.

English Plum Pudding

1 lb. chopped beef suet
2 lbs. seedless raisins
1 lb. seedless raisins
1 lb. currants
1 lb. mixed peel
2 cups flour

1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 cups bread crumbs
1 teaspoon mixed spices
2 cups brown sugar
6 eggs
Milk to make proper consistency

Mix suet, fruit and peel and dredge with some of the flour. Mix together the rest of the flour, crumbs, spices, sugar and baking powder and soda. Add well beaten eggs and stir in the fruit and suet into this mixture and mix thoroughly.

Put batter into greased molds or basins. Make a dough of flour and water and roll out enough of this to cover each pudding. Drop into a kettle of boiling water and boil 6 or 7 hours.

Serve the pudding with hard sauce or any desired liquid sauce. These puddings can be made before Christmas. Keep in a cool place and when ready to use, boil for an hour before serving.

Mr. and Mrs. Denton live at 503 Randolph. They will have Christmas dinner with their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stephens of Norton St., Northville.

SIX SIDED SNOWFLAKES LEND BEAUTY TO WINTER—Snowflakes float down to earth in an almost unlimited number of shapes, according to Lewis S. Fensholt, University of Michigan mineralogy professor. The flakes form from water vapor in the air and usually take some variety of a six-sided star, such as those above. The lace-like patterns, he says, happen because the water vapor contains so little of the crystallizing material needed to fill out the design.

Parmesan Puffs
Recipe Given

As a result of the Myrtle Labbitt TV show, which featured Black's Whitehouse Dec. 16, numerous requests have come in to the Record office and Station CKLW-TV for some of the recipes demonstrated on the program that day. Below is the recipe for Miniature Parmesan Puffs.

1 cup water
1/2 cup butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup flour
2 tablespoons parmesan cheese
4 eggs

Bring water, butter and salt to boil. Turn heat to medium. Add sifted flour, all at once. While beating briskly with wooden spoon, continue cooking until mixture forms a ball and clears the sides of the pan. Remove from heat. Add cheese. Chill. Beat chilled batter with mixer on medium speed. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Drop by teaspoon on lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake in preheated oven at 425 degrees for about 12 minutes.

Cut off top, fill with hot giblet mix, (or your favorite salad or creamed chicken) replace top and serve at once.

Appliances On Christmas List

The harried Christmas shopper will find a friendly haven at the neighborhood appliance store in Northville. Harry Wagenschutz, manager for the Detroit Edison Co., said this week.

Electric appliances make ideal gifts at any time, but they have a special charm for anyone who has come down to the last few days before Christmas with a list that's still not completed.

Most major electric appliances are gifts that mother enjoys but benefit the whole family. They usually require family consultation and should be bought carefully after the specific needs of the family are determined.

Small appliances, on the other hand, are welcome in every household, Wagenschutz said, can be bought with full assurance that they will be received with appreciation.

Cash Is Offered For 2 "Hot" Dogs

A pair of black and white beagle hounds disappeared Dec. 13 from their home at 18651 Sheldon Rd. Their owner, Herbert N. Frognor, could give no reason for their sudden departure. The possibility of kidnaping is being investigated.

However, in the hope that these two young ladies have merely wandered in search of worldly wonders, Frognor is offering a $25 reward for information leading to their whereabouts.

The holly brush originally was called the holy-brush, because in its natural state the berries ripen at Christmas time.

South Lyon Man Pays Traffic Fine

Richard Drake, of 9615 Marshall Rd., South Lyon, contested his arrest for failure to stop at a red light flasher at Fairbrook and Rogers Sts., but came off second best when arraigned before Justice E. M. Bogart.

Officer Eugene King reported that Drake had failed to stop, as required by law, and had only slowed down instead. In court Drake contested that he had followed a green car through the intersection, and did not see why he should be arrested. King, however, testified that there had been no green car ahead of Drake, and the latter was found guilty. He paid a fine of $10 and costs.

QUOTING THE DOCTORS
"Doctor So and So said this and Doctor So and So said that." Quote "Professors Worldly wise and Author Apostatize", and thus a long line of educated of this world are called to witness a proposition that the congregation didn't get in the first place. I don't blame people for staying home from that kind of preaching. I believe it is high time ministers all over start letting the people know what God says and what Jesus Christ says and back up their preaching with the Word of God. I'd a thousand times rather be able to say "God says thus and so" and give them the chapter and verse than to quote the most able of the professors in America's largest Divinity School. People need to hear God's opinion of matters of personal salvation, on morality, on matters of life and death and the reality of getting right with God. It is the Word of God that bringeth light and absolutely essential before one can ever be born again into His family. Paul said in II Tim. 3:15 "that from a child thou hast known the Holy Scriptures which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith in Christ Jesus". Let's get back to the Holy Scriptures for our authority!

SCHOOL CHILDREN MAKE DECORATIONS FOR SANATORIUM
The boys and girls of the fifth grade got into the real Christmas spirit by making decorations for the children's wards at Maybury Sanatorium. The ornaments were made of styrofoam and decorated with metallic paper. The children of Mrs. Huff's room cut Santa Claus faces out of the soft material and completed them with metallic paper beads, nats and a three dimensional nose.
In Mrs. Upthegrove's room the boys and girls made angels. They had to be careful in cutting the styrofoam so as not to split it. It was interesting to watch as these decorations were developed, but it was even more interesting to observe the children as they were absorbed in their work. The new material gave the children a new experience, an opportunity to explore, and a chance to express their ideas about an old and beautiful tradition in a new and exciting way. Their decorations will mean a great deal to the boys and girls at Maybury sanatorium.

Michigan Author's Book Is Lauded

The November 29 issue of the Christian Science Monitor carries a review of a recent book by Russell Kirk, entitled "A Program for Conservatism". The author, well known in this vicinity, graduated from Plymouth High school and has had a number of serious non-fictional books published.

Kirk makes an observation in this book well worth quoting—"The world is governed by love or by hate; and if love, which is community, decays, the hate which is collectivism grows proportionately."

In his newest book, "The Indian Pipe", which is soon to be published the author departs from the serious nature of the previous books and tells the story of the Indians in Northern Michigan.

At present, Kirk is in England on a Guggenheim scholarship gathering material for more books. He lives in Mecosta, Mich., when not on research assignments.

Scottish Rite
Male Choir Is Well Received

The concert given by the Detroit Scottish Rite Male choir here December 4 at the Presbyterian church, proved to be a rare and delightful experience and it is hoped that Northville will be privileged again to hear this splendid choir.

The first part of the program was devoted to sacred numbers. "The Creation", which was the first number on the program, was particularly dramatic. The familiar selections from Oklahoma were brought on colorfully done. This was followed by the old Christmas carols and three more Christmas songs which featured Richard Fogel as soloist and the choir director Robert Jones. The finale was a Gilbert and Sullivan piece with Harry Bunnell and Harold Prim at the piano.

Between the second and third selections of the program, three Northville women, Louise Older, Audrey Becker and Clare Williams, sang two numbers, accompanied by Kathleen Bosch. This is a newly organized trio and a happy combination of excellent voices.

The accompanist, Harry Bunnell, is a well known organist and pianist in the Detroit area.

Geracis Return
From California

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Geraci have returned from California after spending a month visiting relatives and sight-seeing. They left Nov. 8 on the celebrated first non-stop flight from Willow Run to Los Angeles, leaving at 10:25 a.m. and arriving in California at 3:20 p.m.

Fourteen families, many of whom met them at the airport, gathered for a reunion that same evening. The Geracis visited beautiful Lake Arrowhead, Montrose and Hollywood, stating that they missed the "smog". They also visited the Furnace Creek ranch in Death Valley, and a nephew in Arcadia. Arcadia is near the St. Gabriel mountains, a locality noted for its beautiful wild flowers. A week end was spent in the Sequoia Forest National park.

While in Montrose, Mrs. Geraci called the experimental department of the Ford foundation and talked to the director, who is head of Pasadena college. He was impressed with the success of the Adult Education course assigned to Northville and stated that the Ford foundation is working out a new course for young mothers on the psychology of "do's" and "don'ts". However, this course will not be ready for assignment until the latter part of March. The Geracis spent Thanksgiving in Van Nuys.

Methodists Open
Yuletide Program

The colorful Christmas season opened in the First Methodist church on December 6 with the traditional Carol service featuring three choirs. A fine audience was in attendance.

The sanctuary was decorated with candles and greens, making a beautiful setting for Nativity Pantomime. The Cantata, "Christmas Scripture in Song" by Guy Chambers Filkins was sung by the Harmony choir. They joined with the Carol Choir to sing the "Carol of the Sheep Bells" by Kountz and the Sanctuary choir completed the program with traditional carols and anthems.

The woman's Society of Christians Service held its Christmas tea Tuesday afternoon with the Presbyterian women as guests. Mrs. Ivan E. Hodgson was in charge of the program which centered around the Christmas Carols and related readings.

Special music was furnished by Mrs. Shofers' Brownie Troop, a woman's trio and the Harmony choir.

All five choirs will participate in the service Sunday morning, Dec. 19, at which time Rev. Hodgson will speak on the theme: "The Who's Who of the Advent".

The massed choirs will sing "Gloria in Excelsis Deo", and The Cherubs will be heard in "Christmas Bells" with a background of bells by the Melody choir.

They in turn will sing "Lullaby to the Baby"; an arrangement of "O Come All Ye Faithful" will be sung by the Carol, Harmony and Sanctuary choirs.

Thursday evening, Dec. 23, the church school program will be held in the Sanctuary. Santa Claus will make his appearance at the party immediately following in the church house.

Blessings of the season upon you
