Scenes At The Turtle Race

HERE ARE THE LUCKY KIDS who copped the prizes in the Second Annual Turtle Derby sponsored by the Recreation Dept. and the Northville Record, last Friday at the school playground.

BILLY WEIDNER, age ten, shows Township Clerk Fred Lyke "Slowpoke." "Slowpoke" was just that, but no alibis were offered.

ROGER WEBER shows one of his racers to Mrs. Kenneth Conley, score keeper of the race and playground supervisor for the Recreation Dept.

AMONG THE INTERESTED, if not enthusiastic spectators, was Muriel LeFevre's dog, "Ribbon", who takes a condescending sniff at a pair of turtles with prize-winning hopes.

GARY KOHS and ELAINE MANZELL pose with two of their favorite entries. Both were among the prize winners in the Turtle Derby held last week.

Three Propostions On Ballot For Chapman District

When electors of Chapman School District No. 7, Novi township, vote at a special election Monday, Aug. 8, on annexation with the Northville Public School system they will also cast ballots on two related propositions.

The additional questions to be decided by the voters will be whether to increase the Chapman districts tax rate and whether it should assume its proportionate share of the outstanding bonded indebtedness of $377,500 of the Northville Schools School district.

In regard to the millage increase, the official notice of the meeting states:

"Shall the limitation on the total amount of taxes which may be assessed against property in this school district for all purposes except taxes pledged for payment of interest and principal on the obligations incurred prior to Dec. 8, 1932, be increased by 10 mills ($10 per $1,000) for the years 1955 to 1964 both inclusive and by 5.50 mills ($5.50 per $1,000) for years 1965 to 1973, both inclusive, for the payment of bonded indebtedness, in accordance with the provisions of Section 21, Article 10 of the Constitution of the State of Michigan, and Section 435 of the Michigan School Code of 1955, this increase to be effective on a favorable vote on the question of annexation of this school district to the Northville public schools school district of Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw Counties, Mich., in election of this date.

The election will be held at the Chapman school, Nine Mile and Taft roads. Polls will be open from 1 to 8 p.m.

Mich. Bell Boosts Individual-Line Cost $.25 A Month

The rates for individual-line residence telephone service in Northville were increased Aug. 1, 25 cents a month under last week's order by the Public Service Commission, according to Robert D. Maurer, manager here for Michigan Bell Telephone.

Rates for all other classes of service in the community will remain unchanged, Maurer said, except for exchange line mileage charges for both residence and business and a number of adjustments involving auxiliary services furnished business customers. Included in the latter category are such items as private switchboards, key telephone systems, inter-office communication systems, etc.

It was pointed out that while the cost of providing these auxiliary services has risen substantially, there have been no rate increases affecting most of them for many years.

Maurer said that the increase in residence individual-line rates recognized the greater value of this high-grade service and would help compensate for the additional investment involved in furnishing it.

"Telephone service," he said, "is no different than other services or commodities. People expect to pay the higher price for top-quality goods and services."

In commenting upon the commission's order, the company termed it "disappointing because it gives inadequate recognition to our increased costs and denies the company an adequate return on the money invested in the business."

"Telephone rates are up only 20 percent, on the average, since 1940, including this latest adjustment. During the same period, the prices of other goods and services have increased more than 90 percent."

"Our costs in the telephone business, like those in every other enterprise, have increased substantially. For example, our wage rates have much more than doubled and each telephone we add today calls for an investment of about $350 compared with $200 to $250 before inflation."

"Less than half of the rate increase ordered by the commission will remain with the company, the balance going to the Federal government in taxes."

"Although the order recognizes the fact that our rates have been too low, it is only a partial solution to the difficult problem of operating in an economy where prices in general have increased three times as much as telephone rates."

Billy Adams Wins Four Prizes In 2nd Turtle Derby

Billy Adams is the new king of the turtle racers in Northville—an undisputed title he clinched Friday in the second annual Turtle Derby sponsored by the Recreation Dept. and the Northville Record.

His "Jo" was first in the second race and in the third speed event, Billy's "Mike", "Dick" and "Fred" won prizes in that order. Entered by Mary Severance, "Friedemann", was second in the second race, while Charles Sample's "Jet 999", and "Meatball", entered by Roger Weber tied for third.

"Friedemann" was named after Friedemann Kuhnau of Bingen-the-Rhine, Germany, German exchange student Kuhnau will reside at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Severance, Mary's parents, during his year's stay in Northville.

"King" won first position in the first race for Lou Ann Godfrey; Elaine Manzell's "Curley Top" was second, and third place went to Bill Weidner's entry, "Slowpoke".

In the non-racing awards, Denzie Templeton's "Torpedo" was the smallest turtle. Garry Kohs' "Honey Chile" and "Peep-Peep", decorated by Elaine Manzell, took prize money for best design. "Meatball", sponsored by Roger Weber, was the largest turtle entered in the derby, which was held at the Elementary school grounds.

Over 90° Heat Given Assist By Fire In Furnace

The less said about the heat, the better—possibly. But at times it noses itself into news columns with much less justification than an incident at the township board meeting Tuesday night. When that body entered the city hall, it found that the radiator in the lobby was hot. That heat was about as necessary as a side saddle for a hog.

Every year before the cool weather (whatever that is) sets in, Arnold Teska, caretaker of the city hall, cleans the furnace, then starts a fire in it to test the efficiency of his chore. He chose Tuesday night for his job, apparently not knowing that the radiator was open. An observer suggested that Teska picked an ideal night to toil in the cool basement. On the favorable side of the ledger is the fact that there were no "hot" discussions at the board meeting to add to the heat.

Boys Given Chance To Join Jr. Police, See Field Day Sat.

All past members and those who would like to become members of Northville Junior Police will meet at the Community Bldg. tomorrow, Friday, Aug. 5 at 10 a.m.

Police Chief Joseph Denton will be present to sign up all new members.

The boys must be present in order to receive their T-shirts. The following day, Saturday, the group will attend the Police Field Day in Detroit.

Optimists Sponsor Free Trip for Boys To Tiger Ballgame

The annual Big League Baseball day, sponsored by the Optimist clubs, will be held again this year on Aug. 18, when the Detroit Tigers play the Cleveland Indians.

Local boys who wish to attend must sign up at the elementary school playground between 9 and 12 a.m. any day until Aug. 14. On the day of the game a school bus will leave the playground promptly at 9 a.m., supervised by a director from the Northville Recreation Dept.

All buses will meet at the Boys' Clubs of Detroit, 3910 Livernois Ave. Boys will swim in the pool there and be treated to lunch by the West-Detroit club. In case of rain and no game, movies will be provided. The entire trip is free of charge to the youngsters, and will be financed by local Optimist clubs.

Last year, according to Max Austin, over 50 boys attended from Northville.

The day is a boys work activity and it enables Optimists to do something for a boy to whom they may be indebted.

Public Hearing On Closing West Street Set For August 15

Intended as a safety measure for school children, the city commission has ordered a public hearing Monday, Aug. 15 at 8 p.m. at the city hall on the closing of a part of West St., according to City Clerk Mrs. Mary Alexander.

West St., separating the Community Bldg. from the high school and elementary school, is used for the loading and unloading of school buses. It also crossed frequently by individual students as well as groups from the schools to attend assemblies in the Community Bldg.

The commission proposes to close West St., running south 179 feet from W. Main St. Objections to blocking off the thoroughfare may be made in writing and filed with the city clerk.

Legion Auxiliary Remembers Vets

A Chinese girl, Helen Liew Kolsbeck, who was elected governor of Michigan Girls' State last month, will be the featured speaker at the closing session of the State convention of the American Legion Auxiliary in the Hotel Statler Aug. 4-7. Several members of the Lloyd H. Green post and auxiliary expect to attend this 37th annual State Legion convention.

Mrs. Charles A. Schoultz, publicity chairman of the auxiliary stated that the Lloyd H. Green Unit No. 147, with the assistance of the Myron H. Beals auxiliary, Livonia, and the Passage-Gayde auxiliary, Plymouth, delivered service baskets to 138 veterans at Maybury sanatorium and 26 baskets to veterans at Eastlawn on July 20.

3 Temporary Measures Offered To Cut Traffic Hazard At New School

A delegation to the meetings of the city commission and the school board last Monday evening seeking an early solution to the traffic hazards confronting students who will attend the Russell A. Amerman school were told that both bodies had been aware of the conditions for several months and had been trying to effect corrective measures in spite of numerous obstacles.

The absence of sidewalks and a steep grade on Center St. that obscures oncoming traffic have prompted objections from parents in the area whose children will attend the school, which will open for the first time this fall. Three solutions—all necessarily temporary—are under consideration:

1. A meeting expected in the near future between the Northville city commission, the local school board, Wayne and Oakland County Road commission officials and Novi township officials to discuss the problem.

2. The employment of adult citizens for safety patrol duty.

3. The closing of Center St. to Baseline Rd. during school hours. The east side of Center St. is in Northville, Wayne county, while the west side is in Novi township, Oakland county, thereby involving all these governmental units as well as the Northville board of education.

Zone Law Violator Given Month To Correct Sanitation

Carl Schoultz, owner of the property on Plymouth Ave. that does not comply with the Northville township zoning ordinance was given another month to comply with sanitary regulations. The motion was made by Ralph Hay at the regular meeting of the township board.

Township Supervisor Mrs. Molly Lawrence told fellow members, "The sanitary condition must be taken care of—that is my idea. I don't know how the rest of the board feels."

At its July session the board instructed its attorney James E. Littell to seek action from the owners of the tracts at 19000 and 19630 Plymouth to bring their property in conformance with the township zoning ordinance.

After the meeting, Littell reported to the board meeting Tuesday night, he sent a "cease and desist" order to the owners of the property, Schoultz, who resides in Northville, and Carl Bunya of Plymouth. No further action was taken in the case of Bunya.

A report on these and other properties in the township had previously been given to the board by Waring and Johnson, Detroit, planning consultants to the village.

Spokesman for these groups stress the impracticability of laying sidewalks before a grade height is established prior to paving the street. Engineering of the street for this purpose was started several months ago.

Then it was discontinued as a futile project when it was announced that a proposed Eight Mile cutoff route would cross the area, thus making a determination of the Center St. grade contingent on the planned cutoff for Eight Mile Rd.

No further developments on the projected Eight Mile Rd. change have been reported by the Wayne County Road commission. In some quarters it is felt that the Eight Mile proposal is a "dead issue."

The group visiting the city commission and the school board sessions Monday night in behalf of parents in the vicinity of the school was composed of Mrs. Max Austin, Mrs. Sidney Junod, Mrs. Nelson Liebhold and Conrad Facknitz.

This turtle had little difficulty in demonstrating his speed and stamina as he crosses the finish line ahead of his competitors.

"Torpedo", Dennie Templeton's entry was judged the smallest turtle in the contest for size on the tiny side.

Hot Weather Hints For Baby

by Martha Logan

"Baby Goes On a Picnic". Take baby along on the family picnic this summer and let him benefit from the outdoor air and sunshine, too. He will enjoy the change as much as the rest of the family and can be just as comfortable in the woods or at the picnic grounds as he is at home.

Of course, you'll want to take along a portable bed equipped with netting to protect baby from pesky mosquitos and flies and, if there's one available, a collapsible play pen so that he will have more room to stretch and play when he wakes from his nap.

As for clothing, just use your own good judgment. A sweater and a blanket are musts since it usually gets much cooler toward evening, but otherwise, baby wears essentially the same clothing as he does at home.

Feeding baby on a picnic should be no problem at all. Just take along his usual daily supply of strained meats and strained vegetables. And don't forget, baby likes and needs variety, so it's a good idea to take along several different kinds of foods for baby too. Then, for example, if strained chicken doesn't appeal maybe his strained beef will. Swift & Company makes available eight different kinds of specially prepared meat for babies, so there's plenty of variety right at your fingertips. Take your choice of beef, pork, lamb, veal, liver, heart, liver and bacon or chicken, all just the right consistency for baby.

After baby has had a hearty meal and has played in the open air to his heart's content, he will probably welcome his car crib and sleep all the way home.

What's Cooking?

(What's your favorite dish? If you will share it with other Northville housewives, please call The Northville Record's society editor, telephone 200.)

Mrs. Ed Angove above, with her three year old daughter, Mary Lynn, is giving us a glimpse of her Thermidor oven in which she will bake a Schnitz pie as soon as the thermometer starts behaving and reaches a reasonable temperature.

The Angoves also have a son, Larry, nine and a half and their newest addition, Ronald Scott, who will be two months old in August. The Angove's new home on Valley Rd. was a feature article in the Record a couple of weeks ago.

This pie is a dreamy concoction and Mrs. Angove cannot remember where it came from originally. It sounds so good you may want to try it in spite of the heat.

SCHNITZ PIE

The old recipe calls for a pie crust made with sweet, fresh lard. But that should be the cook's own pleasure. Northern Spy apples or some good tart cooking apples were always used for best results. They must have ring and not tenderize too rapidly and become mushy. The "schnitz" is in the cutting of the apples. . . . they should be cut 3/4 of an inch thick and be sure the pieces are well overlapped. Since this is a completely "open face" pie, just fill nicely with one layer—and then sprinkle just a "breath" of salt evenly over the apples.

Now the brown sugar . . . not too refined and not the heavy dark type; if possible, somewhere in between. Pile it on pretty heavily for if the apples are tart they will need plenty for the result you want. Now comes near-40 minutes. The heat is reduced to quite a slow degree so as not to brown the crust edge too deeply, but to continue the caramelizing, which is what makes this pie different. A couple of tries may be necessary before you hit it just right.

Never serve it hot—just nicely cooled or a normal "cool" it would attain after a couple of hours in room temperature. One can fairly drool at the thought of a piece left, by some kind fate, to eat the next day.

Visitors from Coalinga, Calif. are Mr. and Mrs. Don Crawford and family who are visiting Mrs. C. M. Chase of Clemen Rd. Mrs. Crawford was formerly Marjorie Chase.

WOMEN AND WHEELS

Feminine Influence Seen in Trucks

By Mary Lou Chapman

They were so colorful and gay, we knew the ladies must have had a hand in this somewhere.

And sure enough, when we talked to the display manager, he told us that women are responsible for many wonderful changes in truck design in recent years.

It seems that on many farms across the country, the half-ton truck is the most practical vehicle a family can have. And if a family has to choose between a car and a pick-up truck it often takes the latter.

Women Drive Trucks In this way, many women find themselves behind the wheel of a truck. They drive them to town shopping, to parties and to church.

Like women, they have asked for special features. And they're getting them.

For example, women do like color. So we see many new hues in trucks this year—white, rose, pale yellow, light blue and other pastels. And now some of the trucks are appearing in three-tone color treatment.

Women's influence is seen in the interiors too. All manufacturers are taking greater care than ever to "color match" the interiors with the outside of the truck. One dealer told us you even can have brocade seat fabric, if you wish to special order it.

Other special features that have been developed with the ladies in mind are automatic transmission and power brakes. With these, driving a truck becomes easy as pie. Seats are more comfortable and windshield visibility is vastly increased.

The new trucks have been designed for easier turning, and some can turn in a diameter of only about 36 feet. Also the loading height of some truck beds has been lowered to only 24 inches from the ground. Step height into the cab is a mere 14 inches.

No wonder the farm girls love their trucks. They are prettier and easier to handle than ever before.

(Fashion writer, artist, and TV personality, Miss Chapman is a native of Detroit and has spent the last several years working with automobile stylists, designers and engineers at Chrysler Corporation.)

Northville Woman Sees Family Again After 49 Years

A Northville woman made possible an unusual and dramatic family reunion in Troy, N. Y. early in July.

"We never thought we'd live to see the day," said Bridget and Philip Rosney, who gazed upon their sister, Mrs. Margaret McLean of 16480 Franklin Rd., whom they hadn't seen in 49 years.

The Rosneys, three survivors of a family of 12, came to the U.S. from Ireland and settled in New York.

They separated almost a half-century ago when Margaret's yen for travel led her to Detroit where she got a job, and later married James McLean. They have a daughter, Mrs. Matthew Piach of Plymouth, and a son, Walter of Detroit.

As sometimes happens, moving, changing addresses and the like, the family lost contact. "I did everything trying to locate my brother and sister until one day I contacted Chief of Police Joe Denton," said Mrs. McLean. Soon police efficiency was at work, and contact was made with Frank Kendall of the Troy police. The leg-work of Troy's Sgt. John Noonan soon had bridged the years of silence, and a family that had emigrated from Ireland was once again together.

During the first week of July the 49 years were blurred into one big memory when a plane, which took off from Willow Run, landed at Albany airport and Margaret stepped out. "Sure and it's as fine a day as you'll be seeing ever," her brother beamed as he played host to the reunion at his home. "Never in the whole wide world would you be finding anyone as happy as the three of us today," he declared as he embraced his two older sisters. They cried enough for years, said 86-year-old Bridget. Mrs. McLean is 70 years old, and Philip is 60.

Mrs. Margaret McLean of Northville (left), sees her brother and sister in Troy, N.Y. after 49 years of separation. The family emigrated from Ireland, then lost contact with each other. Police Chief Joe Denton helped Mrs. McLean locate them.

Unlike the past, the three plan to maintain close contact by mail so that no more years are wasted.

Camera Club Meetings Changed There will be no more meetings of the Camera club until Sept. 1. At that time the meetings will continue every first and third Thursday of the month.

Same Rules Apply To Calling Either Husbands Or Hogs

Wives, the proper way to call your husband is to imagine you are calling a hog.

Anyway, the Michigan State Fair says the technique is the same and advises ladies entering in its husband calling contest to observe the same rules set up in the Premium Book for hog calling.

Both contests again will be featured at the Michigan State Fair Sept. 2-11. Until this year there were no judging conditions for the husband calling event and when someone thought there ought to be, general manager Donald L. Swanson, a husband and father of four children, took a look at the hog calling rules. He concluded they would do for husbands, too.

So here's some hints on calling your hogs and or husbands, as explained in the Premium book:

Thirty percent for volume necessary to reach the ears of the hogs and or husbands, especially if they are in the back 80 and the wind is blowing from the wrong direction.

Twenty percent for variety which is more effective than a monotonous, uninteresting call.

Twenty percent for voice charm or appeal which convinces the porker and or husband of sincerity and honesty.

Ten percent for originality which allows the hog and or husband to distinguish its master's voice from those of the neighbors. Ten percent for musical quality which makes hogs and or husbands happier and light-footed as they come in to eat.

Ten percent for facial expression of caller in action which is the surest way of judging the extent of the effort.

By the way, all State Fair entries close Aug. 12 this year—including entries in the hog and or husband calling contests.

From Drill to Router

A BROKEN drill may readily be converted into a wood router for small jobs, according to Popular Mechanics. You simply ply grind the end of the bit at right angles to its length. For the average job, a 5/16" drill is about the right size. This router bit works best when it is used in a drill press, but it also can be used in an electric drill.

An oil filter will remove a pound or more of dirt and sludge from a car's oil during 5,000 miles of driving, according to automotive engineers.

It is believed that the first drive-in service station began operations in 1905, at the plant of the Automobile Gasoline Company, in St. Louis

LUNCHTIME AT THE TRACK means more than the nosebag for the horses. ### Carriers Richards Litsenberger, Aid Pheasant Census

Joe Litsenberger and Harry Richards, rural route carriers of the Northville post office, are participating in the annual mail carrier count of pheasant broods in 43 southern lower peninsula counties.

About 800 rural and star route carriers are counting pheasants as they see them during their regular mail runs.

So far, according to the state conservation department, Michigan is headed for another bumper pheasant crop. An early hatch has given the birds a good start this year and nesting was reported as generally successful.

Old Man Weather will force a halt to major fighting in Indo-China from late June to early fall, with his annual torrential bombardment of water during the rainy season.

An enterprise, when fairly once begun, should not be left till all that ought is won.

EVEN THOUGH THE TOP LEVELS of the thermometer have been working overtime, it may be an omen of cooler weather that the high school band has completed its schedule of summer concerts. Here under the direction of Robert Williams, the group plays its final concert until resumption of the programs in the fall.

Visnyak's Regiment Participates In Test For Battalion Units

Army Sgt. Robert H. Visnyak, 21, son of Louis Visnyak, 50191 W. Nine Mile Rd., Northville, recently took part in a battalion test in southern Germany.

Sgt. Visnyak, a section leader in Company K of the 5th Infantry Division's 11th Regiment, entered the Army in March, 1953, and completed basic training at Camp Rucker, Ala.

He previously was employed as a machine operator for Evans Products in Plymouth, and was graduated from Northville High school in 1952.

contest for the visiting nine.

Northville's seven hits compared with four for Lincoln Park. Each club committed one error. Batteries were Northville: Durue and Benequist; Garden City: Stiles and Emmet.

No game is scheduled for Northville next Sunday. On Sunday, Aug. 14 the local team will play Garden City at Nankin Mills park.

Because of its loss of the third game Sunday, 10-9 to the Pittsford team in the National Baseball Congress tournament at Frankfort, Mich. Sunday, Garden City, representing the Inter-County league, was eliminated from further competition. The St. Joseph club is favored to win the playoffs at Frankfort next week end, according to Steve Folino, manager of the Northville club.

If St. Joseph wins the upcoming series, it will play the best Ohio team in a regional playoff: a chance to take part in the national competition at Wichita, Kans. on a date in September to be announced later.

Handy Jim's FIX-UP TIPS For the Home

Panelgroove Siding
A NEW, attractive siding which is both economical and durable has been introduced and now is available at most lumber yards. Known as Masonite Panelgroove, this panel siding has distinctive-appearing grooves,  $\frac{3}{4}$ " wide, which appear vertically at intervals of 4 inches.

Made of Tempered Presdwood, a material already in wide use for exteriors, Panelgroove is distinctive for these reasons:

Its resistance to weather. Its dramatic appearance, which presents a pleasing architectural effect.

Its easy, economical installation due to the large size panels and shiplap joints requiring no special skills or treatment.

Available in lengths of 12' and 16' and in widths just over 4', Masonite Panelgroove may be applied directly to studs, or over sheathing. Like the plain Tempered Presdwood, Panelgroove takes and holds paint unusually well.

Pine Louver Doors Let Air Circulate, Protect Privacy

Air circulates freely right through these doors. They are ponderosa pine louver doors constructed with horizontal slats, which can't be seen through but which permit air to flow from room to room. The doors may remain shut to preserve privacy and a neat, uncluttered appearance. Clothes closets get plenty of needed ventilation even with doors closed. These are stock doors, available through local building material dealers.

The Old Timer
"The person who goes in for low balls—or high balls either—seldom strikes anybody out!"

Mix 'em yourself ...it's fun!

Come summer, the smart mamma sets up a soda fountain at home, the best of insurance for keeping the small fry in seeing distance and for keeping close tabs on teenagers.

Easy enough to do—tall glasses, straws, iced tea spoons, chilled sparkling water, a variety of syrups and fruits, and plenty of ice cream. Let each one make his own. There will be no need for "Come and get it" bell-ringing!

ICE CREAM SODAS—HOME STYLE

The idea, in general, as to the making is simple. Into a large glass put about  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup of crushed sweetened fruit—strawberries, raspberries, peaches, apricots, pineapple, or about  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup syrup—chocolate or maple for example, then two tablespoons of ice cream. Mix the syrup or fruit with the ice cream. Almost fill glass with chilled sparkling water. Stir. Add a scoop or two of ice cream. Add more sparkling water to fill to top of glass.

Add straws and serve. Different flavors of ice cream can be used by way of variation—the choice depending upon the syrup, sauce or crushed fruit used.

TRY FLAVORED SPARKLING BEVERAGES

Cola, root beer or gingerale sodas are good. First, stir a portion of ice cream and beverage together. Then, almost fill with chilled beverage desired. Stir well. Add a large scoop of vanilla ice cream.

FRUIT JUICES ARE GOOD

Fruit juices and nectars may be used in much the same way, though they're really not a true soda. A good one is made by putting a generous scoop of vanilla, pineapple, or lemon ice cream into a glass. Pour ice cold pineapple juice over it. Muddle it just enough to mix the flavors slightly. Add a spoon and gay straws, then more ice cream. This makes a tasty light top-off to a summer meal.

LeBost Offers Land for Catholic Church

Paul LeBost, Willowbrook builder, is reported to have recently offered to donate a large tract of land on Ten Mile Rd. adjacent to Willowbrook village for use by the Catholic church.

The plan, as outlined to Novi township officials at a meeting July 28, envisioned the building of a Catholic church, school, and home for the teaching nuns.

At present, Catholics in the rapidly growing area attend either St. Williams church in Walled Lake or Our Lady of Victory church in Northville.

Catholic Officials Interested
Officials of the Catholic Archdiocese in Detroit are reported by Carson Hollingsworth, executive vice-president of the LeBost Construction Co., to have expressed interest in the offer. They are anxious, Hollingsworth said, to see a Catholic church and school in the area. Further meetings with Archdiocese officials are scheduled for the coming week, he continued.

Temporary Church Proposed
A large frame farmhouse on the proposed tract might possibly be used as a temporary church, Hollingsworth added. The tract of land is reported to be on the south side of Ten Mile Rd. just west of Willowbrook Estates Subdivision No. 2 or approximately midway between Meadowbrook and Haggerty roads.

Democrats To Host Adams, New Judge

Clark J. Adams, recently appointed circuit court judge for Oakland county, will attend the meeting of the Novi Democratic club Aug. 8 at 8 p.m.

The meeting will be held at the home of Roy Crites, 120 Rexton Rd., Walled Lake.

Boulder On Track Halts Freight Train

A 60-pound boulder placed on the railroad tracks between Novi Rd. and Nine Mile Rd. brought a Chesapeake & Ohio freight train to an abrupt halt early Monday morning.

FBI and railroad agents called to the scene found that the boulder had been removed from a nearby creek. A single pair of footprints at the scene led them to believe that only one person was involved in the incident. Since the train was halted at approximately 2 a.m., officials believe that the boulder was placed on the track late Sunday night.

A report of the accident was phoned to the Northville police who relayed the call to the Novi police department. Chief Lee BeGole investigated the accident and immediately notified the FBI and railroad officials.

The incident occurred on a straight section of track just outside of Northville and the train was going at a slow speed. No damage was reported to the train.

Flannery Resigns C.D. Director Post

John Flannery resigned as Novi Civil Defense Director effective Aug. 1, it was announced at Monday's Township Board meeting.

In a letter received by Clerk Earl Banks, Flannery said that the press of his other business made it impossible to devote enough time to the civil defense job. Flannery owns and operates a local printing plant.

Supervisor Frazer Staman and Trustee Frank Clark commended Flannery for the "fine job" he has done for the township. A motion was passed accepting Flannery's resignation and the board voted to send him a letter of thanks.

Possible Gas Line Surveyed

POSSIBLE GAS PIPE LOCATIONS in the vicinity of Novi Rd. and Grand River were being surveyed last week by a group of Consumers Power Co. engineers. The engineers were trying to determine property lines in the area with the aid of an electronic pipe finder (right). The pipe finder locates underground pieces of metal such as existing pipe lines and property stakes. Company officials said that an official announcement on the project would be issued later this week. Township officials have been trying for some time to secure gas lines for this area. The large potential of industrial users alone in the area would make it worthwhile for the company, they speculate. An official of Novi Equipment Co., the area's largest industry, said that he had been approached by a Consumers Power Co. representative and had been told that gas would soon be available in the area.

Board Discusses Licenses, Roads, Sewage Disposal

Liquor licenses, roads and sewers were the main subjects discussed at the township board meeting Monday night.

The application of Elmer Bergstrom for a "resort license" entitling him to sell alcoholic beverages in the community of Wixom was tabled until the next meeting. A "resort license" allows the sale of beverages for a total of eight months each year.

Bergstrom presented petitions from residents of the area asking for such a service in their community. Another petition was also presented by residents not wanting such a business in the area. The township board agreed to consult the state liquor commission on the township's role in recommending licenses.

Subdivision Meets Opposition

The proposed 103 lot subdivision northeast of Thirteen Mile and Novi roads was again discussed but three of the five board members voiced themselves in opposition to approving any subdivision that did not include black-topped roads as called for in a recently passed township ordinance.

Advocating black-topped roads were Charles Trickey, Jr., Mrs. Russell Woodworth and Frazer Staman. Trickey voiced the sentiment of the three in saying that they felt "they had to start somewhere" with regard to enforcing the ordinance.

No formal vote was taken on the matter and Staman agreed to discuss the matter further with the Oakland County Road Commission Tuesday.

The property, a portion of the Walled Lake Golf and Country Club, is owned by Mrs. Phyllis Kahner of Detroit. She maintains the position that such a requirement works an undue financial hardship on small land developers.

Road Budget Depleted

Supervisor Staman read a report of the current status of the road budget. The township received $16,406.59 from Oakland county for the yearly maintenance of local roads. At present, the balance is $539.87, and this amount will have to last throughout the remaining five months of the year, Staman said. He cited the unusual spring road conditions as the reason for the heavy expense.

Sewage Disposal Proposed

The question of sewers for Willowbrook Estates subdivision No. 2 and subsequent subdivisions in the area was also discussed. Staman said the Willowbrook builders netted an outlet for their proposed sewage disposal system and Wayne County officials have objected to the use of a nearby creek for the purpose.

The builders have also expressed themselves to Wayne county officials as being willing to connect with that county's sewer system, a project which would involve laying several miles of connecting sewers at the builders' expense. This proposal has not met with Wayne county approval either, Staman said. He expressed doubt as to the jurisdiction of Wayne county over that portion of a creek lying approximately two miles beyond the Wayne county line.

Correct Water Mains

Staman also announced that he has been informed the level of the water mains and service lines in the Willowbrook area south of Ten Mile Rd. is going to be corrected. Recently the township refused to approve the newly installed water system, claiming that the lines were not deep enough and would be subject to freezing in severe winter weather.

FOR THE VETERANS HOSPITAL IN ANN ARBOR, this new deluxe model refrigerator was recently purchased through a fund raising drive of the Novi Blue Star Mothers. Donations for the project were made by individuals, businesses, and through a benefit card party and bake sale at the Community Bldg. last month. Frisbie Refrigeration furnished the refrigerator to the group at cost and delivered it to the veterans the day following the benefit. Two of the patients at the hospital, Michael McPeown and H. W. Sapes, are shown with the gift which will go in the recreation room kitchen.

INSPECTING THE SITE OF PARAGON Construction Company's $100,000 plant addition is Charles Burt, plant engineer. Part of the structure will be an enclosed addition to the existing plant. The rear portion will be an open shed type building which will house a crane and supplies of steel. Construction of the building began last week and completion is expected within 90 days, according to company officials. A $75,000 office building is being built in front of the plant just north of the Grand River viaduct. The firm fabricates structural steel and employs about 200 people.

Your Merchants . . .

Myrza and Rueben Ward, two of Novi's pioneer merchants, own and operate Ward's Grocery at Grand River and Beck Rd.

It was the lure of the auto industry that brought Rueben Ward, his wife, and son, Doise, to Michigan in 1927. The son of an Arkansas merchant, Ward grew up in a general store. However, he decided to leave the family store and try his luck at the auto business. His brother was already employed at the rapidly expanding Ford Motor Co. and Ward thought he, too, would stake his future with the "horseless carriage".

The family arrived in Detroit on Friday. Ford's hiring offices were closed Saturday so Ward went to Briggs and landed a job starting Saturday afternoon. It was in Detroit that their second son, Lester, was born.

Being a merchant was in his blood, he says, and in 1929 the Wards, with their two sons, moved to Novi. They opened a small grocery store and filling station on Grand River near 12 Mile Rd. They were located just west of the old Novi School on the north side of Grand River. The property was known as the Witt place.

Four years later they moved across Grand River and opened a store on the Frank Thompson farm. In addition to taking care of the store and filling station, the Wards operated a licensed dairy and milked 20 cows daily.

In 1939 they bought 10 acres of land on the southeast

Introducing . . . The B. B. Bradshaws

Our newcomers for this week are the B. B. Bradshaws, who reside at 19061 Sheldon Rd. in the house formerly owned by Don Sober.

Bradshaw is a member of the training department at J. L. Hudson's in Detroit, and also lectures on interior decorating for the Hudson lecture bureau program. His wife is a teacher.

The couple has two sons: Robert, 14, and Kent, 17. Robert will enter Northville High this fall, and Kent will enroll for his freshman year at Denison university in Ohio.

"This country air must really agree with the boys," says Mrs. Bradshaw, "because they've been drinking a gallon of milk a day."

"Rogue," their stately boxer, (who doesn't like photographers that shoot off flash bulbs before his eyes!), likes to romp in the spacious yard.

Residents of Detroit for 26 years, the family moved into their present home June 28. They have big plans to remodel the 7-room home, and Bradshaw's interior decorating knowledge tells him "it has great possibilities."

Kent took over the one-room studio on the left of the house, and rigged up a telephone so that Mom doesn't have to run over to call him for meals.

A large barn to the right of the house is used for attic space and hobby quarters for Bradshaw, who likes to do silver work.

The view from the Bradshaw's front yard is a beautiful one—showing many of Northville's rolling green hills.

GIANT MAN TELLS HOW TO EAT

Chicago—Want to learn quickly and easily how to live a longer and happier life through right eating?

Visit the free Museum of Science and Industry on Chicago's south side, where there is a newly opened exhibit, "Food for Life."

This giant man tells the right eating story—how properly balanced meals can promote health and happiness and longer life.

The "Food for Life" exhibit, donated to the Museum as a public service by Swift &amp; Company, contains information based on latest findings of nutrition research.

A feature of the exhibit is a live farm animal nursery where proper nutrition, as practiced in producing livestock, is illustrated. Baby pigs, lambs, chicks, and ducks are on display and there is a glass enclosed incubator where visitors can see chicks hatching.

Serve 'em a Quick Supper With Extra Nourishment

BAKED MEAT BALLS WITH MUSHROOM SAUCE

Meat balls made with nonfat dry milk solids are many ways better than usual—plump and juicy, tender and flavorful. That's because juices don't cook out, they stay in. The generous servings make this an economical dish—and the nonfat dry milk solids add protein, calcium, vitamins, and other nutrients important to the family's health and well being. In fact, this will supply nearly half of the family's daily protein needs. This recipe is sure to be a family favorite. You'll like it especially on busy days because you can pop it in the oven—no watching. Combine it with baked potatoes and a simple dessert for an oven meal. It's easy, convenient, economical, and so good!

1) A Negro woman, Deborah Gannett, served as a regular soldier in the 4th Massachusetts Regiment of the Continental Army for 15 months: from May 20, 1782 to October 23, 1783. The State of Massachusetts commended her after the war and gave her a grant of 34 pounds sterling. She served under the name: Robert Shurtliff.

2) Among the many Negro soldiers at the Battle of Bunker Hill was Peter Salem, who killed the first Englishman to mount the breastworks—Major Pitcairn. It was this same Major Pitcairn who led the British against Lexington and Concord. Peter Salem was commended in a resolution signed by 14 officers including the Col. William Prescott who gave the famous command: "Don't fire until you see the whites of their eyes!"

3) Two Negro soldiers crossed the Delaware River to reconnoiter at Trenton prior to Washington's surprise attack, thus helping to make possible a significant and much-needed victory.

4) At the American and French siege of Savannah in 1779, the French forces included 700 free Haitian Negroes in a regiment called the Pontage Legion. During the battle the Allies lost 1,100 men including the Polish hero, Pulaski; and were being annihilated when the Pontage Legion charged, repulsed the British and saved the day.

5) General Anthony Wayne's capture of Stony Point was greatly due to Pompey, a Negro slave of Captain Lamb, who spied, obtained the British password and thus made it possible for the Americans to overcome the guards and surprise the garrison.

6) James, a Negro slave of William Armistead, was freed by the State of Virginia in 1786 because, in 1781, he successfully executed an important mission entrusted to him by Lafayette.

7) A Hessian officer, Schloezer, in the service of King George the Third, wrote in a letter on October 23, 1777: "No regiment (among the Americans) is to be seen in which there are not Negroes in abundance and among them are able-bodied and strong fellows."

8) On the bloody field of Eutaw, South Carolina on September 8, 1781, were found the bodies of a Negro of the Maryland line and a British soldier, each transfixed by the bayonet of the other.

9) In a surprise American raid on British headquarters at Newport, Rhode Island on July 9, 1777, Tack Sisson, a Negro soldier, was among a small group who crashed into the house of British General Richard Prescott and captured him alive, together with Major Barrington.

10) Three Negroes: Primas Black, Lemuel Haynes and Ephraim Blackman, were among the Green Mountain Boys of Ethan Allen who captured cannon at Fort Ticonderoga and the fort itself. They dragged the cannon down to Washington's army facing Boston and forced the British to evacuate.

11) Negroes were often the famous drummers and fifers who gave spirit to Washington's men. Among them was Tom, drummer for Capt. Benjamin Egbert's company at New York; another was Barzillai Lew, fifer for Capt. John Ford's company of the 27th Massachusetts Regiment. Barzillai Lew fied and also drummed his way through the whole revolution, serving from May 6, 1775 until the end of the war, seven years later.

12) Many black soldiers were at Valley Forge during the terrible winter of 1778, and at least one, Phillip Field, a native of Dutchess County, N.Y., and a soldier in Capt. Pelton's company of the 2nd New York Regiment, died there.

MARTINI 'N' A HAIRCUT—That's what the President ordered, and that's what this man just delivered to the White House. He's barber Steve Martini, who visits like once a week to trim the busy chief executive's hair. He's one of more than 100 persons whose labors assure smooth functioning of White House routine.

13) When the British, led by the traitor, Benedict Arnold, stormed Fort Griswold on Sept. 6, 1781, two Negroes: Jordan Freeman and Lambert Latham, were among the massacred garrison. Before dying, however, Jordan Freeman managed to kill British Major Montgomery.

14) Francis Marion the "Swamp Fox" of South Carolina, numbered some Negroes among his guerrilla forces.

15) There was at least one mixed company in Washington's army, composed of Negro and White soldiers: a company in the 2nd Massachusetts Regiment commanded by Col. John Bailey. Perley Rogers, a Negro, was corporal in this company.

16) Austin Dabney, a Negro from Georgia, was commended for bravery, awarded an annual pension of ninety-six dollars and granted one-hundred and twelve acres of land.

17) At least one South Carolina Negro distinguished himself in the Revolutionary Army and received his freedom and land. This was John Eady.

I have not detailed the above in order to glorify war but to indicate that the struggle for our independence, of which we are justly proud, was not won without the significant, and perhaps indispensable, aid of the Negro people.

Sincerely yours,
Harold S. Hartley

Conjestion Stressed To House Members By 10-Inch Autos

Congresswoman Martha Griffiths (D) Michigan, handed each member of the House last week a model automobile and commented:

It's Time to Order Coal and Eek-Oil NOW!

COAL & SUPPLY CO.

"These are about the only cars that will be able to get on our highways in a few years."

Mrs. Griffiths' gesture was pointed at the defeat in the House Wednesday of the $48 billion dollar highway expansion program. She said:

"We in Michigan, the auto center of the world, are naturally vitally interested in improving our highway network. But this is a national problem that demands a national program."

The distribution of the cars which are about 10 inches long and models of the Ford Thunderbird sports car, turned the corridors of both House Office buildings into race tracks.

Employees from members' offices poured into the corridors after receiving the cars and conducted races against each other.

In a letter accompanying the cars, the congresswoman told her colleagues the know-how of management and the skill of free American labor in the auto industry have combined to contribute greatly to the high standard of living Americans enjoy.

Ford Motor Co. cooperated in the distribution, Mrs. Griffiths said.

VISITORS from Livonia soak up sparkling water from Northville's popular spring, which was covered by a well house in the 30's by the local Rotary club. (inset) This picture of a man drinking from the old spring was taken in 1913, and found in files at the Record office.

Historic Spring Flows On 'n On; Countless Numbers Taste Water

By Lauretta Paternoster

Jack and Jill would have loved it, and Michigan folks appear to.

In pails, jugs and mouthfulls, Northville residents and people from all over the state carry off limitless quantities of water from the old and historic spring on Plymouth Ave.

Considered a landmark of the city, the spring boasts cool and crystal-clear water that has been spurting out of the earth for as long as anyone can remember.

It is not known exactly when the spring was discovered, but Charles Shultz says that in the olden days the railroad engineers and trackmen beat a path from the tracks to the spring, where they filled their jugs with drinking water for the trip. Located nearby was a large railroad water tank, removed in 1901.

The picturesque well has become almost a symbol of Northville. Its picture appears on checks of the Depositors State Bank, and for many years it appeared weekly on the front page of the Northville Record.

At one time the water from the spring was tested by the state department and found to be almost 100 percent pure.

The Detroit Times ran a syndicated comic strip, starting in 1923, called Nebbs. It was drawn by W. A. Carlson, and the locale of the strip was "a small community named Northville—famous for its spring water."

Naturally, Northville residents thought the strip was about their town. But they were mistaken. Carlson, the strip's creator, had never heard of the village. Northville to him was just a "typical name for a typical country town".

The spring water was "just thrown in because it made a good story."

At a convention of some sort, the Northville postmaster happened to meet Carlson and began talking about the strip. When finally the artist learned there WAS a Northville, he was quite surprised and interested. Soon a postmaster, and the names of various local people and stores began appearing in the comic strip.

Several restaurants and hotels in the vicinity advertise "drinking water from the Northville spring", and on week ends Plymouth Ave. is crowded with cars carrying people from all over for a drink of the refreshing water.

Sometime in the 1930's, a well house was built over the old spring as a Rotary club project. This helped to beautify an object that has brought many visitors and much publicity to Northville.

When the Newspaper Does Not Come

My father says the paper he reads ain't put up right; He finds a lot of fault too, he does, perusin' it all night; He says there ain't a single thing in it worth to read And then it doesn't print the kind of stuff the people need; He tosses it aside, and says it's strictly on the bum, But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come. He reads about the weddings and he snorts, like all get out; He reads the social doin's with a most derisive shout. He says they make the papers for women folks alone; He'll read about the parties and he'll fume and fret and groan. He says of information it doesn't have a crumb — But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come. He is always first to grab it and reads it plumb clean through. He doesn't miss an item, or a want ad—that is true. He says they don't know what we want, those darn newspaper guys; "I'm going to take a day some time and go and put 'em wise; "Sometimes it seems as though they must be deaf and blind and dumb." But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.

Bible Comment: Man Fails To Execute God's Plan

THE Bible is our chief source for the knowledge of God. It is a record of how saints and prophets revealed what they had found, and what God revealed of Himself to them.

What then does the Bible say concerning God's plans for men? The record is very clear and plain. As God is the source of life, it is His plan and will that man should live. Early in the story of mankind is the commandment, "Thou shalt not kill." The sacredness of human life is emphasized in the early records of Israel, in the brand of the murderer upon Cain. It is again emphasized in mention of the cities of refuge in which even a wrongdoer might find protection, and in early measures to promote hygiene.

It might be said that life is the supreme theme of the Bible, rising to the declarations of Jesus: "The gift of God is eternal life," and "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

But life as mere existence would be of little worth. God's life for man is a life of righteousness and justice, of mercy and peace. Measured against God's will and God's plan, how deep has been man's failure!

Must failure ever be the story? The answer is "no." The faithful carry within themselves the spark that will someday ignite the nations, fire them with the worthiness to keep covenant with their God and make His will and plan their supreme purpose.

The fact that spiritual understanding of God results in practical goodness, health, and power will be stressed at Christian Science services Sunday.
Readings from the King James Version of the Bible and "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy comprise the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Spirit".
Among the passages to be read from Science and Health is the following (99:23): "The calm, strong currents of true spirituality, the manifestations of which are health, purity, and self-im-molation, must deepen human experience, until the beliefs of material existence are seen to be a bald imposition, and sin, disease, and death give everlasting place to the scientific demonstration of divine Spirit and to God's spiritual, perfect man."

The Golden Text is from Ephesians (5:9): "The fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness and righteousness and truth."

The United States Air Force band will be presented at the Michigan State Fair Friday, Sept. 8 through Monday, Sept. 11, in afternoon and evening concerts.

The 1955 fair dates are Sept. 2-11.

The USAF band is considered the world's most versatile musical organization, according to Graham T. Overgard, state fair director of music. In turn it is a 100-piece marching band, a 90-piece symphony orchestra, an 85-piece symphonic band, a 25-voice glee club (The Singing Sergeants), 5 dance bands, and numerous instrumental groups and ensembles.

"We consider this one of the major attractions for the 1955 Michigan State Fair," commented Don L. Swanson, general manager. When the band was organized in 1942 over 1,400 professional musicians were auditioned from a wide variety of organizations ranging from the Philadelphia Orchestra and Honolulu Symphony to the Tommy Dorsey dance band. The 100 members are experts in their field, capable of producing a program of music to satisfy every appetite with selections ranging from opera to be-bop.

Frequently referred to as a "Symphony in The Sky", this colorful aggregation has presented its art in five international tours. It has the distinction of being the only American musical

NORTHVILLE DOWNS

Michigans First Night Harness Track

Saturday night will bring 1955's colorful racing season at Northville Downs to a close. The Downs, the nation's pioneer track west of New York, held its first season in 1944. The meeting was anything but a huge success, but from that small start developed one of the Midwest's leading harness programs.

The operation reached its highest peak in history in 1933, when the average handle soared to a record $239,833. Bettors poured a record $11,512,019 through the mutual machines, and the state profited to the tune of $506,513.68.

Several readers expressed amazement over the Record's statement last week that Northville residents and the city itself will profit to the extent of more than $400,000 from the current 38-day race meet at Northville Downs. The total figure is based on these estimates:

The City of Northville will receive: As a rebate of the state tax on betting	$30,000
From $500 nightly for police, water, etc.	19,000
180 Driving Club stockholders who own the track will receive approximately	30,000
Local people employed at the Downs will be paid approximately	85,000
Merchants and homeowners will benefit from spending of 500 outsiders connected with racing to the extent of about $5 per day or	100,000
Rental paid by Downs for parking lots, plus private receipts from parking, a minimum of	20,000
TOTAL	$404,000

Racing enthusiasts from all over the state and nation flock to Northville each year during the racing season. Some go home happy—others sad. But the losers are not discouraged, and can usually be seen at a later date edging their way to the daily double window. Our Record photographer, lodged seclusively in the giant crowd, stumbled out of the race track uncrushed and bearing the pictures shown below, which portray a variety of activities and expressions—typical of the nightly program at Northville Downs.

The Downs features nine races nightly and pari-mutuel betting but perhaps the most interesting race of all is the human race. Deep in thought and full of optimism when they approach the betting windows (above), their mood changes to one of rapt attention as the trotters come down the field (below). Rapt attention in turn gives way to mixed emotions (above left) as the horses cross the finish line.

An aerial view of Northville Downs as it looks today. The track, considered by many racing men to be one of the country's most beautifully situated, occupies approximately 30 acres of the Rouge River Valley on the southern edge of Northville.

Loyle German and Clair Cooke, two Northville residents, officiate on the judges' balcony on top of the grandstand. Perhaps the smug look on the face of the unidentified young man in the lower photo indicates he is highly pleased with the judges' decision.

"I thought No. 8 had been scratched," says Carl Cooper of Detroit (above) as he tries to piece together the parts of his ticket that had won the daily double. Some folks (left) feel that deep concentration is a major factor in making the right selection, while others, having tried deep concentration and lost, limit their selections to black coffee (above left).

Racing Began on Streets of Northville 60 Years Ago

(Editor's Note: These facts are from a history of racing in Northville by Dr. L. W. Snow.)

"And they're off and running!" is not a new cry to reach the ears of Northville people.

Although the first official season at Northville Downs began in 1944, racing was held some 60 years ago on five blocks of Dunlap St., with the finish line set in front of the old Opera House.

They raced six abreast and in place of a purse, the reward was usually some form of harness equipment, or perhaps a blanket.

So much interest was shown in harness racing that at the turn of the century a track was built on the Ed Starkweather farm on W. Seven Mile Rd. Starkweather was then one of the outstanding breeders of harness horses in the state.

After three years at this location, a group of citizens banded together and purchased 26 acres of land in the southern part of the village, east of Center St. Building bees were inaugurated, and soon a beautiful one-half mile track was completed and dubbed The Northville Driving Club. They incorporated with 300 shares of capital stock and on Oct. 31, 1907, drew up the articles of association with 159½ of the 300 shares sold.

The first barn, housing eight horses, was constructed where the restaurant now stands. Later an L-shaped barn was built where the grandstand is now.

Matinees were held and entrants came from all parts of Michigan, Indiana and many eastern states. At this early date, Northville was already recognized for having the best track in this region.

In 1916 a group of citizens decided that a county fair should be held in conjunction with the race meet, and this was the beginning of 27 annual fairs at the grounds. The name was then changed from The Driving Club to the Wayne County Fair Assn. Hordes of people came regularly to see the variety shows and rodeos, only a few features of the fair.

The present grandstand was erected in 1922, when the old one was razed and used to build the major part of barns P and Q. William Rattenbury was in charge of the track, and remained in that capacity for 35 years.

In the early part of 1944, through the encouragement of William Dowling, at that time commissioner of racing for the State of Michigan, thought was given to a pari-mutual harness meet at the grounds.

This meet was finally put on by the Northville Downs Assn. in compliance with a contract between the Downs and The Northville Driving Club in August, 1944.

The 16-day meet, held that fall, was a small success, and racing in Northville has become bigger and bigger each year since.

Nerve center of the nightly races is the announcer's booth, located on top of the main grandstand. Art Putnam of Flint (above) keeps the fans informed of the track's activities from this lofty perch. He is in constant contact with the judges, the track office, and the betting windows.

A state law requires that the winning horse in each race be given a saliva test to determine that the horse has not been drugged. This saliva test is administered in an area just east of the grandstands known to horsemen as the "spit pit". Dr. E. Cavell (above, center), track veterinarian, takes a sample of the horse's saliva and seals it in a special container which is analyzed by state inspectors the following morning.

For those folks who aren't quite sure whether to bet on No. 8 or No. 3 to win in the fifth race, "Doc Brown's Specials" or "Sulky Joe's Selections" can remove all doubt. Flamboyant salesmanship (above, right) plus a notable record of past successes have made these two tip sheets popular with Downs fans for many years.

Results of every race are photographically recorded and timed from a booth high atop the grandstand. The film is developed within a matter of seconds and projected through a slide projector into the judges booth immediately below. In the upper right photo (inset) Charles Kohout, camera man from Walled Lake, is shown inspecting one of the films prior to projecting it down stairs to the judges booth.

The humility of hypocrites is, of all pride, the greatest and most haughty.

"Preacher" Pines For Spitball Within The Law

When Preacher Roe disclosed in a national sports magazine recently that the outlawed spitball was his "money pitch" during his seven years with the Dodgers, the outcry was immediate and prolonged. But Roe stood his ground, with head unbowed. And now, in an exclusive interview with J. G. Taylor Sping, publisher of The Sporting News, he replies to his critics.

Roe takes back nothing. "If I'm a sinner," he says, "some others are going to the bad place, too." His only purpose in reporting his use of the spitball, he says, is that he wants to help bring it back to the game as a legal pitch. His only regret is that he may have put Pee Wee Reese or Billy Cox in a bad light. He was quoted in his spitball article as saying that once in a while after the ball had been tossed around the infield, Reese or Cox would come up to the mound, drop the ball easy into his glove, and say, "Give us a good pitch now."

"I'm Sorry I Told"

"I must have told it wrong," he told Spink. "If Pee Wee, Cox or anyone else on the Dodgers ever helped me throw a spitter, I don't know anything about it. I'm sorry

SPARKLES FROM THE DIAMOND

From Sporting News

Since Baltimore got into the major leagues 22 months ago, it has seen one of the most thorough turnovers of players in modern major league history. Every one of the St. Louis Browns players who went to Baltimore with the franchise have been traded off, sold or optioned. However, one of the Browns, Outfielder-Third Baseman Jim Dyck, is back with the Orioles, after having once been traded.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees is having his best year as a major leaguer. But, says The Sporting News, he still ranks third among the center fielders in the city of New York. Duke Snider of the Dodgers and Willie Mays of the Giants are out-stripping him.

The last laugh is still the best one. When Harry Walker, Cardinal manager, went in as a pinch-hitter in a game against the Pirates July 17, the Pirate bench got a big laugh when Harry if I told that part of the story a little wrong. It's the only thing I feel bad about."

He doesn't feel bad about the rest of it. As he said to Spink in The Sporting News interview, "I told my story with just one point in mind—to show that the spitball isn't a dangerous pitch, and in the hope that maybe I could bring it back as a legal pitch. I'd just like to live long enough," he went on, "to see 'em put in one rule that would help the pitcher. Everything in recent years has been done to help the hitter and handicap the pitcher. They've made the strike zone smaller. They let the hitter crouch, wear loose shirts and put stuff on his bat—pine, tar, rosin, everything under the sun.

"They put the three-second stop rule on the pitcher, and made him keep both feet in contact with the rubber. The pitcher must deliver the ball within a given time, but the hitter can back out of the box all he wants. They've brought the fences in closer and made the ball livelier. In view of all these advantages to the hitter," Roe said, "I figure the pitcher is entitled to try to help himself."

One or Two A Game

Roe told Spink that maybe he threw one or two spitballs a game and now some people are trying to make out that that was all he threw. "I had some other good pitches," he said. "If I threw a few spitters, I didn't hurt anybody physically, I didn't steal any money, I didn't break any moral law. I didn't sin against God.

"Opposing ball clubs," he went on, "will steal your signs and nobody thinks that's wrong. They call it smart baseball."

Roe said that before he told his story about throwing the spitter, he asked the advice of many friends—writers, players, businessmen and bankers. Only one man was against the revelation, Pitcher Carl Erskine of the Dodgers.

His only regret, as we said before, is that he may have given the impression that Pee Wee Reese knowingly aided him. "But as to the rest of the story," he told Spink, "my conscience is clear. I don't think I did anything wrong. My only purpose was to bring the spitball back to give the pitcher a break he needs."

swung wildly at a pitch—and missed badly. A moment later, it was Walker's turn to laugh. He laced a double into left center. Up to that time, in the eighth inning, Pitcher Elroy Face had allowed the Cardinals only two hits.

Just how do you figure Casey Stengel? A story in The Sporting News says a New York writer asked him what he thought of Cleveland's acquisition of Ferris Fain. Casey replied: "Fain is a wonder at darting in for a bunt and throwing the runner out at second." When the writer mentioned that Fain's knee is a handicap, Stengel said: "That's just it. Fain can't do that any more."

Fenway Park, home of the Boston Red Sox, doesn't favor left-handers, yet Ted Williams has done better at home than he has on the road. His lifetime average is .363, but his road average is .332.

The New York Yankees became the first American League club to hit 100 homers this season. No. 100 was the one hit by Eddie Robinson off Early Wynn of the Indians on July 15. It was Robinson's 14th of the season.

At the recent All-Star game, Ted Williams put up a mild beef when news photographers asked him to pose for pictures with Ted Kuszewski. It wasn't spottiness. Williams just complained that the big Cincinnati muscle man "makes me look anemic."

by DIZZY TROUT

WHEN THEY'RE on the road, baseball players find themselves with a lot of time on their hands between games. Far away from friends and families, they while away idle hours in a variety of pursuits.

But card playing (for small stakes) and movie-going are the two most popular forms of recreation on any ball club.

Among the Tigers, bridge is popular with Frank House, Bubba Phillips, Bill Tuttle, Ferris Fain and coach Billy Hitchcock, and you'll always see a game going among four of them.

Al Aber joins with Al Kaline, George Zuverink and Harry Malmberg in fantan, which is highly popular with ball players.

Ray Boone and Steve Gromek are in a seemingly constant gin rummy game.

Poker is not permitted by the Detroit management.

Likes Westerns

When he's not "knocking with two" against Gromek, Boone reads a lot of fiction and enjoys Western movies, Randolph Scott being his favorite actor. He also devotes considerable time to browsing around sporting goods stores.

Gromek also likes Westerns, but John Wayne is his favorite. He enjoys reading Zane Grey Western novels.

Red Wilson is a cross-word puzzle fan. Paul Foytack likes card playing and going to the movies.

Jim Delsing enjoys playing hearts. Ned Garver does a lot of reading and writing. He answers all his fan mail and business correspondence on the road. He also works cross-word puzzles, assisted by Reno Bertola, who also likes the movies.

Prefers Sleeping
Fain, in addition to card-playing, puzzles and reads outdoor magazines. Harvey Kuenn likes playing cards such as hearts and window shopping, but most of all he prefers to just plain sleep.

Billy Hoft enjoys cards while Jack Phillips prefers movies of any kind. New bonus player Jim Small gets a kick out of sitting in the hotel lobby and watching people come and go.

Werner Birrer reads and writes a tremendous volume of letters to former service buddies. An amateur photographer, he has pictures he's taken all over the country.

Chuck Maxwell, who's a number painting addict, works on the paintings all the time he's on the road and has them ready for hanging by the time he gets home.

As for Ol' Diz, I used to be a history bug and spent my first three years in the majors sight-seeing at all the important historical spots. Now that I'm no longer active in the Hickory and Horsehide game, I spend most of my time away from the microphone in gabbing and playing cards.

Red Cross Warns Swimmers Using Floating Devices

Air mattresses, inner tubes and other devices to help keep a person afloat in the water are lots of fun but potentially dangerous if not used properly, Frederick K. Cody, Water Safety Chairman of the Detroit Red Cross chapter, cautions.

"If you can't swim, never go in water above your shoulder level, even when you have something to keep you afloat," Cody warned. "Inner tubes, mattresses, and other floating devices can slip away easily, leaving the non-swimmer helpless and in panic."

"Consider the safety of others, too. If you are using an air mattress or surfboard to ride the waves, make sure no one is in your path. You may strike them and cause injury."

"Follow the regulations for use of flotation devices in pools and other swimming areas. These rules are made for your safety," Cody concluded.

Fisherman Reporting Catches of Big Ones in Bass Family

Conservation Dept. officers have received field reports of several big largemouth black bass taken recently, one of which threatened the 11-pound, 15-oz. Michigan record set in 1934.

Harry Nuoffer of Holt was reported to have taken the biggest of the recent catches, an 11-pound, four-ounce granddaddy, from Sheets lake in Gregory state game area.

Other catches include two 8 3/4-pound largemouths, one taken by Bud Weal of Kalamazoo, the other by Dick Strong of Fowlerville.

STREAM POLLUTION PROBLEM

The streams and rivers of the nation have undergone a tremendous change in the past half century. Fifty years ago there was little pollution, and the clear-running waters were filled with fish. Today teeming populations are concentrated along waterways, for water is vital to big industry.

Today big city sewage is a growing problem, and in too many instances the "problem" is being dumped directly into our rivers. Game fish cannot survive—and recreational use of the water for swimming is out of the question.

Concentrated "Urban" Growth

Out of a total population of 160 million two thirds live in cities, many of them on our major waterways. A good many of these cities have good sewage treatment plants... but there are still too many without this essential to good health and good living. Actually 12,000 communities with a population of 100 million people have sewer systems, and 8,000 of these cities with a population of 60 million discharge inadequately treated sewage directly into our rivers!

Public health is constantly endangered by such neglect—and insofar as sports fishing is concerned thousands of miles of potentially fine water are ruined.

There is little excuse for such practice in an age when the disposal problem can be licked by a community of any size. True, a good system costs money—but surely the advantages to public health and added recreational facilities more than offset the cost.

How Pollution Works

The introduction of bacteria in water results in a much faster absorption of dissolved oxygen—and oxygen is essential to fish life—as essential as it is to our own. The gills of a fish are like our lungs, and take oxygen from the water for their bodies. Game fish—our most highly prized species—unfortunately need the most oxygen. Carp and other rough fish need less. Crayfish, minnows and insects—all natural fish food—are destroyed by pollution, too. As the polluted water moves downstream it gradually becomes purified. New oxygen is absorbed from the air, and the swifter the flow the faster the re-purification. In most streams where the current is slow pollution extends for many miles below the offending community.

Here in Michigan too many cities, large and small, are still without proper sewage disposal systems. If YOU live in one of them help stimulate a plan to correct this evil. Michigan is truly a "Water Wonderland." Let's make sure it's CLEAN, water!

Rabbits, Pheasants Top Hunters' Take

Michigan's rabbit and pheasant kills dropped slightly last year, but the two species still were most popular with state hunters.

The Conservation Department's annual summary of hunting information, based on post-card polls and voluntary hunter reports, was released this week and shows that 1,115,000 pheasants and 1,430,000 rabbits were taken last fall and winter. The previous year, 1,126,000 pheasants and 1,634,000 rabbits were bagged.

Hunters took 570,000 fox squirrels, 474,000 ducks and 395,000 ruffed grouse. The previous year, hunters bagged 684,000 squirrels, 489,000 ducks and 700,000 grouse. The sharp decline in the grouse bag was expected and is in keeping with the usual 10-year cycle of high and low populations.

Also, firearm hunters bagged 67,000 deer, 205,000 snowshoe hares, 96,000 raccoons, 54,000 gray squirrels, 54,000 coots, 55,000 woodcock and about 20,000 prairie chickens and sharp-tailed grouse, all totals which were below the previous year's bag.

Hunters took 23,000 geese, 1,200 bear, 21,000 red foxes, 700 bobcats and 3,700 coyotes, all totals which showed a slight increase from 1953-54.

GOD

MEANS IT!

In San Diego, an agent put an automobile in a prominent place in his used car lot. On top of the car he displayed a large sign, "You can steal this one from us". That very night some one took the agent at his word and stole the car. It was evident that the agent did not mean to be taken quite as literally since he reported the matter to the police. Why didn't he say what he meant and mean what he said? Friend, when you go to your Bible and read the promises of God, you never need to wonder if God says what He means and means what He says. God means it when He says, "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God (of Rom. 3:23). He says, too, that you are to believe the Gospel that Jesus Christ died for your sins; that He died to save you. He says that if you receive Jesus Christ as your Saviour then He will grant you the right to become one of His sons and have eternal life. (John 1:12-13) God means it. Will you, even as you read this column, acknowledge your need of a Saviour and receive Him into your heart?

A REPORT FROM THE CAPITOL

By Elmer White

A SUMMER-LONG SEARCH for a place to build a children's mental hospital is under way.

The quest is a "halfway" answer by the legislature to the issue which stirred weeks of cloak-room debate during the last session.

About 1,100 mentally deficient children who need care and treatment have not been admitted to Michigan's three institutions because of overcrowding, said Chas. F. Wagg, state mental health director. This is a pressing condition which concerns many lawmakers.

Dr. Harry C. August, of the mental health commission, said the proposed hospital should be in or near a metropolitan area near the source of a staff and in the area which draws most patients.

Commenting on the long waiting list, Dr. August said: "Some of the courts have stopped committing children because it has become only a gesture."

The commission is casting an eye on the Wayne County Home them with the products they sell.

National Congress of Petroleum Retailers, an organization of station operators, will most likely be spearheading the campaign. They are holding their annual convention in the Motor City Aug. 21-24.

The "average" gas station owner works for $1.02 per hour according to a survey undertaken by a Toledo CPA. He puts in more than 80 hours per week to earn about $4,283. Allowing interest of 6 percent on the average amount invested, he earns more like $1.18 per hour (for an 80-hour week).

CPA figures also show that the gas station operator actually loses money on the gas he pumps and must count on income from service and sales of TBA (tires, batteries and accessories) to make a living.

Hub of the trouble, retailers feel, is that they are tied up too tightly by gasoline companies. The large companies, in most instances, own the station and lease it to the "owner". Lease provisions permit periodic increase in rent, so if the proprietor does a good job, his lease payments are increased.

Station operators are not free to handle TBA of their choice. They must deal with brands approved by gasoline suppliers and within terms set down by them. Station proprietors feel sure the large companies benefit financially from this arrangement. They are also sure they could do much better if gas companies left them a free hand to buy and sell tires, batteries and accessories under open market conditions.

FRIED TURKEY? That's right. This is another way of preparing one of Michigan's fancier fowl foods. Donald C. Miller, secretary of the Michigan Turkey Assn., says fried turkeys have been served for four or five years, and are now getting more and more public attention.

Miller might be called "Mr. Turkey" in Michigan. In addition to his work with the state's 1,000 plus growers, he is a poultry professor at MSU.

Incidentally, he says that consumers will be paying more this year for their Thanksgiving turkey than in 1954. "There was an oversupply last year," he explains. "People who bought turkeys then for 37c or 39c per pound were paying less than it cost to produce them." There will be fewer birds this year and demand is expected to be higher, he predicts.

Always the promoter of turkey, Miller hastens to add: "Birds produced this year will be better than before."
