Michigan Heads Toward Road Toll Of 2,000 Persons

With the worst highway death toll on record for the month of June, previous estimates that Michigan is heading towards a fatality toll of more than 2,000 this year continue to be borne out, according to the state police monthly report. It would be the third time it has gone over that mark.

There were 194 persons killed in June, an increase of 52, or 33 per cent, over the same month last year. Likewise, this was the fourth consecutive month in which more persons lost their lives than in the same month of 1954.

Injuries totaled 5,304, a gain of 12 per cent, while there were 15,238 accidents, an increase of 830, or six per cent.

The record for the first six months of this year is 875 persons killed, an increase of 16 per cent over the same period a year ago, 26,953 injured, up seven per cent, and 90,225 accidents, a gain of two per cent.

Mileage traveled the first five months of the year—the latest figures available—was 11.5 billion, or nine per cent more than 10.5 billion in the first five months of 1954. The death rate of 6.0 per 100 million miles of travel was up two per cent.

Vote To Annex Chapman With Northville School Passed 55-18

Chapman School District No. 7, Novi township, electors voted Monday, 55-18, to annex the Chapman school at Nine Mile and Taft roads to the Northville Public School system. One ballot was not counted because of improper marking. Ballots cast in the election totaled 74.

Robert Coolman, president of the Northville board of education, has called a special meeting of the board for Thursday (Aug. 11) at 7:30 p.m. for formal acceptance of the Chapman district building, other assets and records.

An increase in taxes against property in the Chapman district of $10 per $1,000 from 1955 through 1964, and a boost of $5.50 per $1,000 from 1955 through 1973, carried 54 to 19.

Another proposal on the ballot for the annexing area to assume its proportionate share of the outstanding bonded indebtedness of $377,500 of the Northville schools, received 54 affirmative votes and 18 against the measure.

Good Turnout of Voters
Moderator William Templeton of the Chapman district commented that "in view of the fact that many electors are on vacation, the turnout at the election was highly satisfactory." Templeton estimates that there is a potential of about 110 voters in the district.

Northville Supt. of Schools Russell A. Amerman said that all that remains in the annexation process is "the mere formality of acceptance of Chapman district properties."

High School Principal Elroy V. Ellison, in anticipation of the joining of Northville and Chapman, which was started the latter part of December, arranged bus transportation schedules for Chapman pupils prior to leaving on his vacation.

In a relatively short time after Chapman started the ball rolling members voiced their approval of the neighboring district's plans. Failure of the office of the state superintendent of public instruction at Lansing to place its O.K. on the proposal checked consummation of the annexation until July 18 when the merger was approved.

Serious Consideration

At that time State Supt. of Public Instruction Claire L. Taylor, declared, "Our indications are that the Northville board is giving serious consideration to all districts that are a part of its logical service area."

"The annexation of Novi No. 7 is a step in solidifying the Northville High school area."

Remaining to be settled, will be the disposition of the desire of three other Novi districts which voted July 11 to request annexation with Northville. They are Novi No. 8, East Novi No. 2 fractional and the Putnam district.

The Northville board of education on May 19 voted in favor of annexation of any of the Novi districts, plus the Salem Union district, if asked to do so. Incorporated in the resolution was the right to submit any such annexation proposition to the Northville electorate and to abide by the result of such vote.

The Eighty-Plus Club

"Growing Old Is A Privilege Denied To Many"

Wolves and wilderness are a part of Michigan to Mrs. Carolyn Roy, whose parents emigrated from Germany and were pioneer settlers in the Big Rapids area in 1868.

The spry, 84-year-old woman remembers living on a farm on Jenshens lake when she was eight years old. Wolves could be heard howling in the hills at night, and their next-door neighbors were Indians, living in tents. A team of oxen was the only means of transportation to the nearest town, and wild deer and turkeys adorned the land. The lakes were so full of fish in those days, she recalls, that one could practically dip them out by the tub-full.

Attended Ferris Institute
Mrs. Roy, the former Carolyn Voss, was one of the first students of Woodbridge N. Ferris when he established Ferris Institute. At the age of 18 she was teaching in a country school near Big Rapids for a salary of $25 month. It wasn't as meager as it sounds, she says, because her room and board was only $2 at the time, and a good pair of overshoes could be bought for 25 cents.

She lives with her only daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Duerson, at 504 W. Dunlap St., and has one grandchild, Gay Duerson, now in France.

In 1897 she married Capt. A. L. Roy, who died in 1925. Being the wife of a lake captain meant practically living on the water between Great Lakes ports such as Duluth, Houghton, Sault Ste. Marie, Sturgeon Bay, Wis., and others. She didn't quite share her husband's enthusiasm for boats, and often got sea-sick in rough water.

Narrow Escape on Steamer
Mrs. Roy remembers one narrow escape in 1900 when she and her sister were going from Duluth to Hancock on the packet steamer "Bon Voyage". Fortunately, they stopped off in Ontonagon to visit friends, for the boat went up in a blaze of fire just before it reached Duluth and 12 passengers were killed. She also recalls temperatures of 40 below zero during Duluth winters.

Possessing a "green thumb", she loves flowers and enjoys working in her garden. She listens to news commentators regularly, and is interested in world affairs.

She is noted for her delicious home-baked bread and rolls, and can still turn out a mouth-watering batch of golden brown bread.

Sunday marked her 84th birthday, and many friends and neighbors dropped in at the Duerson home for birthday cake, and to extend birthday wishes.

Price Hike Predicted For Poultry and Eggs By Michigan State

Poultrymen can expect prices for high quality eggs to increase rapidly during the month of August. This outlook for the egg market was included in a report on the outlook for cattle, hogs, eggs and poultry made by farm economists at Michigan State university.

According to the economists, prices for grade A large eggs may be 20 to 25 cents a dozen above the June price by mid-October. However, poor quality eggs and small-sized eggs will not increase as much in price.

The poultry outlook indicates a decline in prices for old hens during summer and early fall.

October is usually the lowest price month of the year.

Prices of broilers and fryers are expected to stay at present levels during the remainder of August. They'll strengthen some in September but will drop again in October, November and December.

Always iron dark cottons and linens on the wrong side to prevent that shiny look, advise clothing specialists at Michigan State university.

Bride Chooses Chantilly Lace For Evening Wedding Costume

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell

Before an altar banked with gladioli, shaggy mums and candelabra, Donna Deater and Robert Gordon Campbell were united in marriage in the First Presbyterian church of Northville. Rev. John O. Taxis officiated in the evening ceremony Aug. 6.

The wedding dress chosen by the former Miss Deater was made of chantilly lace over satin with a strapless lace bodice and a flowing nylon floor length skirt. The removable short jacket of lace featured a Peter Pan collar and Leg of Mutton sleeves coming to a point over her wrists. A coronation crown trimmed with seed pearls held the fingertip illusion veil. A white bible, white orchid and Stephanotis formed the bridal bouquet.

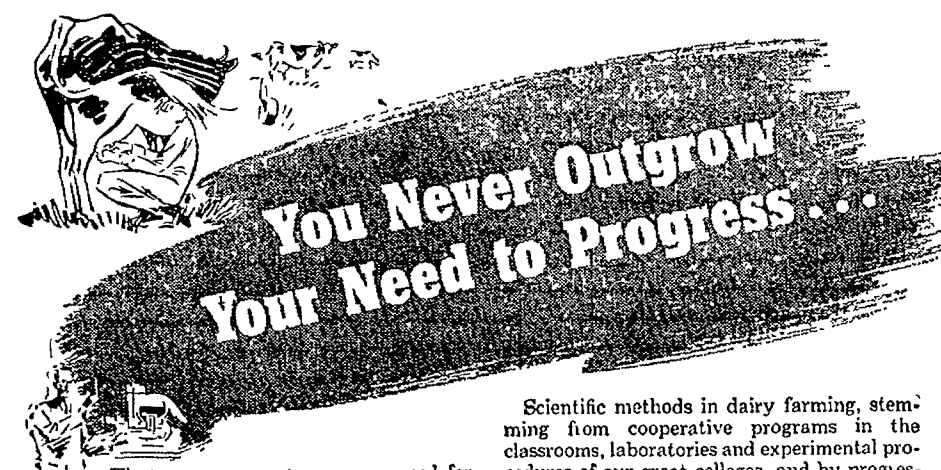

The maid of honor was the bridegroom's sister, Jean Campbell who was gowned in pink crystallite with headpiece to match. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Jean Polley of Plymouth, Opal Martindale and Wanda Deater of Rapid City were bridesmaids and wore yellow, green and blue crystallite frocks with matching headpieces and all carried bouquets of yellow roses.

Thomas M. Campbell was his brother's best man. Ushers were Gerald Deater of Rapid City, David Pottinger of Detroit, Robert German of Ann Arbor and Malcolm Pierce of Plymouth.

Mrs. Bart Connors played the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Carl Farquhar of Detroit, who sang "If I Could Tell You", "I'll Walk Beside You" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Campbell of Wing Ct., Northville, and Mr. and

That you never outgrow your need for milk is a matter of medical record. Physicians will tell you that the calcium content of your body needs constant replenishment. Milk is your principal source of calcium.

Your dairy farmer knows this, among other scientific facts, and he knows that the high quality of the milk he produces today makes it possible for physicians to recommend three glasses every day as an almost indispensable health formula. For growing children, the rate of consumption is higher.

PROGRESS PROVIDES PROTECTION

One of the outstanding progressive steps taken by the Michigan Milk Producers Association was the adoption and perfection of its plan for leveling production and minimizing seasonal variations in the milk supply in the Detroit Metropolitan market.

Known as the "base and excess plan", it assures consumers of adequate supplies of pure, fresh milk throughout the entire year. For the dairy farmer, it provides a real incentive for adopting modern methods of management and production, resulting in more profitable disposition of his milk supply.

Just how this progressive step reacts to the public benefit is well shown in the box score at right. The figures compiled by the U. S. Department of Agriculture represent the percentage of fluctuation between the seasons of high and low milk production in the major marketing areas listed.

Detroit's exceptionally low percentage of seasonal variation guarantees an ample supply of pure, fresh milk during the winter months when many cities suffer shortages—it safeguards the public health and welfare.

Milk is one of life's essentials. Like water, it is needed every day of the year and a constant, dependable supply of milk flowing into a big city is as important as a constant flow of water through its mains. Members of the Michigan Milk Producers Association, by means of their progressive thinking and action, have made that constant flow of milk available in Detroit as well as many other Michigan markets.

John Ledford Succumbs At 78

John Boyd Ledford, 78, of 47661 Ten Mile Rd., died Friday at his home of a cerebral hemorrhage. Mr. and Mrs. Ledford celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in 1950. He was the son of John and Nancy Ledford and was born in Jackson, Ky. The Ledfords had been residents around Northville since 1923.

Besides his wife, Susie Sowers Ledford, he is survived by one daughter, Ida Lee Thomason of Cadillac and five sons: James, Boyd, John C. Burnam and General, all of Northville. A sister, Minnie Rachel Nannie of Kentucky also survives.

Funeral services were held on Monday at the Phillips-Bahmiller Funeral home at 2 p.m. with the Rev. Frank Schultz of the South Lyon Baptist church officiating. Burial was in South Lyon cemetery.

Former Northville Man Dies In Crash

A former Northville resident, George Donaghy, 58, of 21505 Farmington Rd., Farmington, was killed July 29 and Alfred Schaufelburger, 14369 Mansfield, Detroit, died later in a hospital in Cadillac Saturday as the result of an automobile accident on M-115, three miles southeast of M-66 near Reed City. Donaghy's young son, Ronald, was driving, and is in the Cadillac hospital, seriously injured.

The crash involved a frozen foods truck and a wrecker had to be called from Detroit to separate the cars.

The three men were on their way to Platte Lake, near Beulah. The Donaghy's formerly resided at 543 W. Dunlap and were well known here. Schaufelburger was an official with the Kelsey Hayes Wheel Co.

Funeral services for Donaghy were held at the Thayer Funeral home in Farmington.

Deer Hunting Rules Follow 1951 Pattern

Michigan this fall is headed back to about the same deer hunting regulations as were used in 1951.

The state Conservation Commission will study Conservation Dept. recommendations on Aug. 14-15, calling for a regular Nov. 15-30 statewide firearm season on legal bucks and an Oct. 1-Nov. 5 bow and arrow season.

The bow and arrow season, as recommended, permits archers to take one "any" deer during the season. The regulations would be in effect everywhere except in Menominee, Emmet, Cheboygan, Bay and Huron counties and the mainland of Chippewa county where only a legal buck could be taken.

These regulations are nearly the same as 1951; in that year, any deer could be taken with bow and arrow in Bay and Huron counties.

Also recommendations call for an Oct. 1-Dec. 15 bow and arrow season for taking any deer in Allegan county and for a special any-deer, firearm season in part of the county, Dec. 1-11. These, too, are similar to 1951 regulations, except the special firearm season is somewhat liberalized in area and dates.

Urge Fast Action To Combat Elm Disease

Individual participation by every land-owner in the battle against Dutch Elm disease will decide whether or not Michigan saves its elms. That is the opinion of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, five county park and parkway agency which pioneered the fight in 1950 and is now spending upward of $70,000 annually to save the elms on 9,600 acres surrounding Detroit.

Unless land-owners in rural and fringe districts comply with the State Department of Agriculture Regulation No. 613 which declares diseased elms a public nuisance to be eradicated and burned within ten days following discovery, the fight will probably be lost. That is the prediction of Hugh A. Lamley, chief landscape architect of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority. "Spraying and sanitation measures in our property in Wayne, Washtenaw, Livingston, Oakland and Macomb counties cost us $38,000 in the first six months of 1955 and may well be doubled by year's end. But although the incidence of the disease is far less in treated areas, there is constant reinfection from uncontrolled tracts along the boundaries," Lamley said.

Quick Action Needed — "In spite of all being done to protect public lands and by cities and smaller communities, the disease will not be blotted-out without protective enforcement in unincorporated districts," he emphasized.

"Immediate and total action is vital," he pointed out. "Because while present spraying and sanitation measures are fairly effective, it cannot be determined how long it will be before insect carriers of the disease develop an immunity to chemicals currently in use."

Lack of personnel and funds is currently hindering both rural enforcement and experimental lab work, he added.

While the worst incidence of the disease on H-C-M-A holdings is in Lower Huron Park near Belleville, all of the agency's property is covered by the spraying and sanitation program.

Started In 1951 — Since 1951, all elms, including new plantings at Metropolitan Beach, have been sprayed as a precautionary measure. The spraying begins in March and covers all areas and is resumed in mid-July with a repeat coverage to protect new branches.

It is a night and day operation, machines being equipped with flood lights to permit spraying when there is less interference from wind and traffic.

Intensive sanitation measures mean the removal and destruction of all dead and dying elms, the pruning of dead limbs from healthy trees, and the burning of all wood piles or litter and debris containing bark-covered elm wood favorable to the propagation of insect carriers.

During the past 18 months, 1639 such dead and dying trees, many over 30 inches in diameter, have been eradicated on Authority property and pruning has been done on 1730 others in good health to safeguard their survival.

"Without cooperation from land owners in fringe districts we can only foresee a long, grim battle with the total loss of all the elms at the end," Lamley predicted.

He warned: "Conditions are rapidly building up into a disaster far worse than that caused by the Chestnut Blight which within a few years killed practically all the native sweet chestnut in the Eastern United States. Elms are among our most common and best known shade and ornamental trees and their passing would create a void impossible to fill."

Bike Riders Told Rules For Safety; 800 Die Annually

Youngsters, particularly those who ride bicycles, should learn traffic laws and regulations early in life.

Bicycles, if ridden thoughtlessly, can get children into the same kind of trouble that adults often experience with a car, according to the Institute For Safer Living of American Mutual Liability Insurance Co.

Statistics show that at least 25,000 injuries and 800 deaths on the highway occurred to cyclists during the past year, mostly resulting from actions which were traffic regulation violations. Defective bicycles accounted for one out of every three of these accidents.

With the opening of school, when hundreds of additional youngsters will be riding bicycles, the institute warns that parents should make sure that children know and obey the following traffic regulations and common sense practices:

When turning left or right, use the same arm signals that are followed by motorists. Traffic lights, signs and regulations are meant to be obeyed. At busy intersections, dismount and walk across.

In many places riding on sidewalks is taboo. Where this is the law obey it! For night riding, keep your headlamp and tail reflector in good working order.

For all riding, equip your bicycle with horn or bell.

Give passing cars plenty of room, hug right side of road. Never ride in center or two-abreast.

Take the necessary time and pains to learn to ride well. Get a experienced cyclist to help. Practice in a safe area, away from traffic.

Make sure handlebars and saddle are properly adjusted. Set saddle so that when pedal is at lowest point rider's leg is comfortably straight.

Stunts like riding no-hands, standing on seat, coasting with feet on handlebars being in the circus. Leave them for professionals.

Two-on-a-bike is dangerous since it interferes with rider's vision, steering and balance.

Use special care on rainy days to prevent skidding. Take wet streetcar tracks at right angles (90 degrees) or as nearly so as possible.

Watch out for the standing car which has someone in the driver's seat. Look out for parked cars pulling suddenly into traffic. Keep a sharp look-out for unexpected opening of auto doors on the street side. Never hitch on other vehicles, or race on street used by automobiles.

Four from Northville Attend Conference On Forestry At MSU

Up-to-date information about irrigation, soils, and other topics was obtained at the annual Nursery and Landscape conference at Michigan State University, Aug. 2-3 by John M. Miller, Robert D. Hanson, Bernie Bovee and Wilber Treeland, Jr., all of Northville.

Lectures, field trips and movies featured the educational conference, co-sponsored by the MSU Dept. of Horticulture, Michigan Assn. of Nurserymen and the Michigan Landscape Conference organization.

Prospects of increasing business was cited by Joseph Poleo, of Detroit, president of the Nurserymen, who contended that the contemporary home is a great boom to gardening.

"More than ever before, people are living out-of-doors and are wanting gardens," he observed. And he said the highway problem was keeping more people at home and thus increasing the desire for more garden plants."

Dr. Donald P. Watson of the MSU Dept. of Horticulture, in his address, forecasts more community gardens in America. Recently home from a short tour of Europe, he showed slides of many of the famed civic gardens in European communities.

Longest snake in the world is said to be the reticulated python, found in India and Malaya, which has been measured at 32 feet; second largest, the South American anaconda.

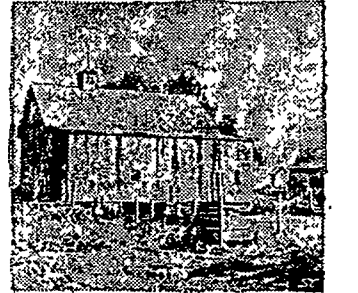

President A. Russell Clarke of Depositors State Bank, Irv Richardson, owner of Rich-Art Signs, and John F. Stuebenvoll, cashier of the bank, place the new mural of Northville's famous Old Spring on the wall of the bank quarters. The mural is a reproduction of the prize winning photo in a snapshot contest sponsored by the bank. Harry A. Ernst, 9278 Littlefield, Detroit, took the photograph.

BORROWED $20 NOW $2½ BILLION FOOD BUSINESS

Chicago—On $20 borrowed from his father a 16-year-old New England lad began the business that now ranks eighth in the U. S. in sales.

Custavus Franklin Swift bought his first livestock with the borrowed funds and sold the meat to his Cape Cod, Mass., neighbors, 100 years ago.

In 1954 the business which he founded—Swift & Company—distributed $2,510,000,000 worth of foods and other products. Swift is celebrating its Centennial this year.

Famous First—the First Swift Meat Packing Plant at Barnstable, Mass.

This livestock purchase was a bold investment in 1855 but young Swift knew exactly how to go about making it pay. He dressed the animal—a heifer—in a barn at home. His cuts were so good and his prices so economical that he had no trouble selling the beef to women of the neighborhood. He ended up with a small profit after selling the heifer's hide. From that time on he was in business for keeps. He became known to his neighbors as "C. F. Swift, dealer in meats."

This was the heifer deal, celebrated in meat packing lore, with which Swift began his career. To this deal can be traced also the modern meat industry, shaped by the methods he established in his own firm.

Will County Station of Commonwealth Edison Co., Chicago, will use less than a pound of coal to produce a kilowatt hour of electricity, compared with the 1954 average for the entire system of 1.23 pounds per kilowatt hour. This follows the trend of increasing efficiency throughout the industry.

Here's a Pie for You to Sing About!

Remember the old song about a "buttermilk sky"? By rights it should have been written in June—and for Dairy Month! Who knows, maybe it was! In any event here's a Buttermilk Pie that will, without doubt, call forth many a song of praise from every member of your family, from your guests—or from the lucky folk who share its joys at a village summer festival.

TROPICAL BUTTERMILK PIE

- 1 cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 3 egg yolks
- 1½ cups buttermilk
- ¼ teaspoon grated orange rind
- ¼ cup butter, melted
- 3 egg whites
- 1 unbaked Coconut Pastry Shell

Combine sugar, flour, and salt. Beat egg yolks slightly and add buttermilk, orange rind, and melted butter. Add sugar mixture, blending thoroughly.

Beat egg whites until stiff; then fold into buttermilk mixture. Pour filling into pie shell and bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 40 minutes, or until knife inserted near edge of filling comes out clean.

COCONUT PASTRY SHELL

- 1 cup sifted flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons lard

2 tablespoons butter
¾ cup shredded coconut, chopped
2½ tablespoons cold milk

Sift flour once, measure, add salt, and sift again into mixing bowl. Cut in lard and butter until particles are the size of small peas. Add coconut and mix well. Add milk, a few drops at a time, mixing with a fork until dough will form a ball.

Roll pastry on a lightly floured board to ¼-inch thickness. Fit into a 9-inch pie pan, allowing pastry to extend ½ inch over edge. Turn under rim and flute edge with fingers. Prick pastry well with a fork. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) 12 to 15 minutes, or until pastry is lightly browned. Cool crust thoroughly, then fill with pie filling.

To make party sandwiches, use bread that is one day old; it will cut more easily, point out Michigan State university food specialists.

SCIENCE IN YOUR LIFE

New Anesthetic

Scientists have long been searching for an ideal anesthetic—one that is safe, effective and free of unpleasant side effects for the patient. Without anesthetics, modern medicine could not attempt life-saving surgery.

A new anesthetic, tested by doctors at the University of California Medical School Hospital, recently has been developed along the lines of the much sought "ideal" agent.

This anesthetic, Viadril, when injected intravenously and combined with inhaled nitrous oxide, provided effective and safe anesthesia for 130 patients of Dr. Frank J. Murphy and his associates.

Viadril is a steroid—like such compounds as cortisone—but it does not exhibit any hormone-like effects when injected in humans.

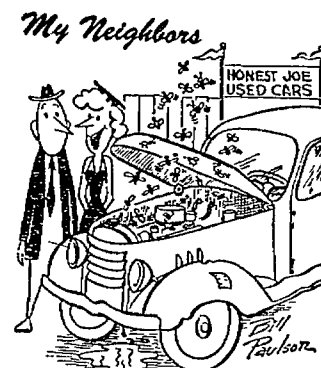

The new anesthetic was developed and synthesized at the pharmaceutical laboratories of Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc., after a screening program which tested more than 100 new steroid compounds.

First hint of the anesthetic-like qualities of the steroids came more than 20 years ago when Dr. Hans Selye, famed Canadian physiologist, reported that steroids exhibit a sedative effect in laboratory mice.

Other scientists, in the first decades of this century, developed the local, spinal and intravenous anesthetics in use today. Ether and laughing gas came into general use less than 100 years ago, but were great advances over the earlier anesthetics such as marijuana, henbane, mandrake root and cocaine.

Scientists believe Viadril will supply the surgeon another useful tool, and may well open a whole new area in the field of anesthetics.

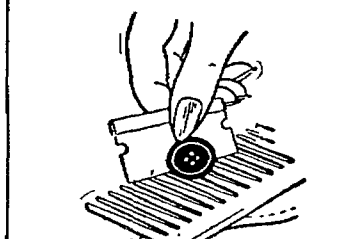

A new Indiana electric utility generating station brings mechanization to a new peak by moving coal direct from the mine to the station's coal handling and burning system. The power plant is built atop its coal mine supply.

"He said there might be a few bugs in this car—and there was."

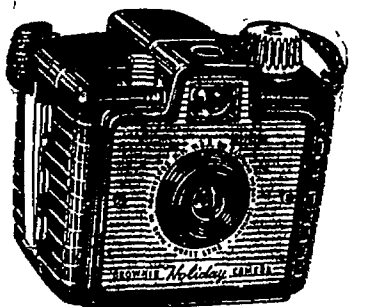

Average width of a tornado path is 1,200 feet; average length of path, 16 miles.

Harry Watson

Out in Dallas County, Iowa, folks were talking about two rapidly growing "money towns" back east, Detroit and Flint. Headquarters for such names as Chalmers, Essex, Winton and Maxwell, these two towns were full of opportunity and money, according to common rumor in Dallas County.

With high hopes, 25-year-old Harry Watson headed east to see the auto industry for himself. It was the year 1925, work was plentiful, and he soon found himself working at the Dodge truck plant in Detroit.

Watson found the pay was good but the work in the shop was too confining. However, in 1928 he took another step equally confining but more to his liking . . . he married Marjorie Hunt of Detroit.

Watson steadily advanced at the Dodge plant and was a foreman in 1931 when he decided to leave Detroit and start a business of his own nearby. He had heard that a fellow named Rueben Ward out toward Lansing had a small service station that might be for sale. On the way out to see Ward, Watson stopped at a gas station on the southeast corner of Novi Rd. and Grand River to ask directions. A fellow named Gould gave him the directions and he also gave a pretty good sales talk because Watson ended up buying Gould's business instead of Ward's.

Peach Pie - Dutch Style

This Dutch peach pie is a true beauty with its swirl of peach slices resting on top of the nutmeg sprinkled filling.

The filling of the pie is made of canned peach slices, flour, sugar, butter and nutmeg together with evaporated milk for extra richness.

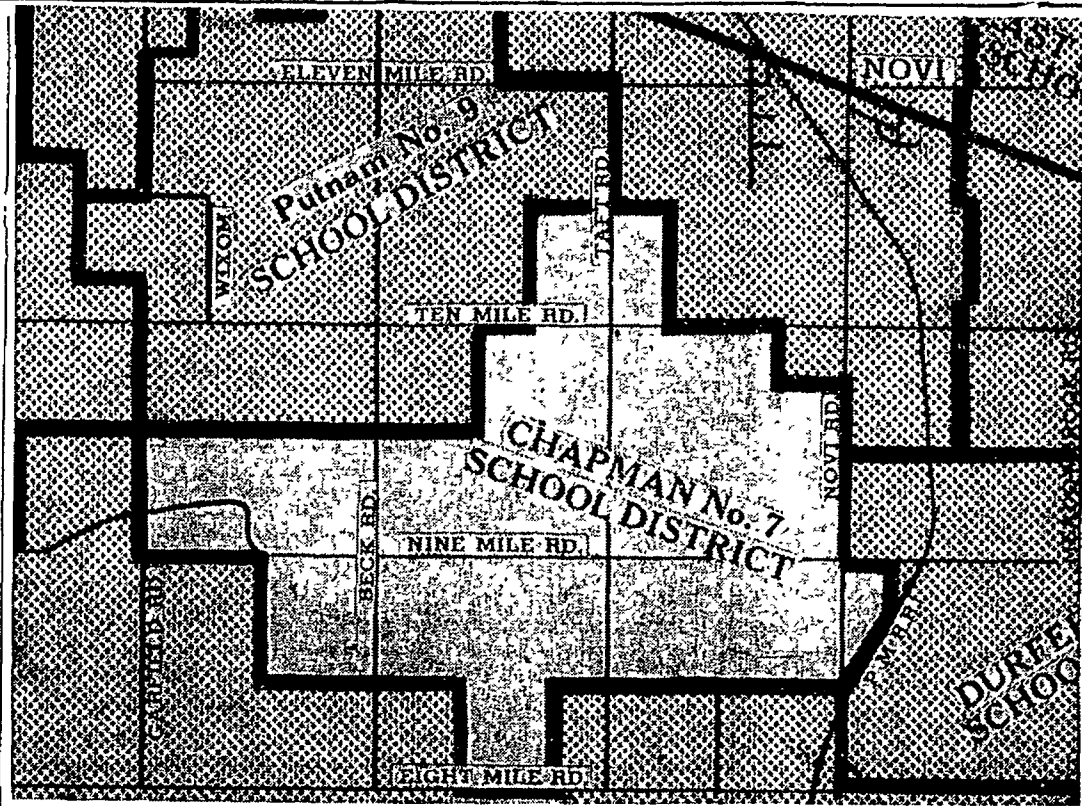

The luscious pie is good either slightly warm or completely cool, so plan your baking time according to preference.

DUTCH PEACH PIE

19-inch unbaked pastry shell
1 No. 2½ can sliced peaches, well drained
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt

¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup syrup drained from peaches
1 cup evaporated milk
2 tablespoons butter, melted
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Arrange sliced peaches in the unbaked pastry shell. Mix together in a small mixing bowl the ¼ cup sugar, flour, salt, nutmeg, peach syrup, milk and butter. Pour over peach slices. Mix the 2 tablespoons sugar and the ¼ teaspoon nutmeg and sprinkle over top of pie. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) until top of pie is lightly browned and pie is set, about 35 to 40 minutes. Cool before serving. Makes one 9-inch pie, 6 to 8 servings.

Bad Business Good, Chief BeGole Reports

Business was bad last week end . . . and that's good! This past week end was the quietest of the summer, according to the Novi police department. Sunday, usually the busiest day of the summer week, saw only three minor traffic violation tickets handed out, according to Chief Lee BeGole.

BeGole attributed the slump in business to the cooler weather's soothing effect on the human disposition and the declining consumption of beer once the heat wave had broken.

"Also, many people who regularly travel Grand River on week ends have found that we mean business with regard to crossing yellow lines and exceeding the speed limit," he added.

US-16 Bridge Contract Awarded

The first project in the $11,000,000 Farmington to Brighton expressway, a bridge carrying 12 Mile and Beck roads over the new highway, was awarded last week to C. A. Hull Co., on a low bid of $144,007.

Completion date for the bridge is set for June 15, 1956. Plans call for an expressway exit at this point.

It will be a 253-foot bridge of four spans. Both Beck and 12-Mile Rd. will cross the new road at this point two miles northwest of Novi.

"We want to get started on this expressway as quickly as possible to relieve one of the serious areas of traffic congestion," Charles Ziegler, state highway commissioner, said.

The expressway, when completed, will start at US-23 east of Brighton and extend 12½ miles to connect with the present divided highway on US-16 east of Farmington, near Middle Belt, replacing US-16 between the two points.

Consumers Power Extends Gas Mains to Novi Twp.

Construction Schedule to Start In Several Weeks, Official Says

Consumers Power Company plans to extend a gas main into Novi were announced Tuesday by W. L. Whitfield, district manager. Construction will be started in the next few weeks, he stated.

The gas mains will come from the east along Grand River and will extend through Novi to the C & O Railroad where they will service the Paragon Construction Co. Another length of gas main will run from the Grand River intersection south on Novi Rd. to serve the Novi Equipment Co.

Hugh Rader Stands Mute In Auto Death

Hugh Rader, well known former Northville resident, stood mute Monday in Oakland County Circuit Court to a manslaughter charge in the traffic death of John C. Welch, 18-year-old Walled Lake youth.

Welch was killed June 27 when his car collided with Rader's on Middle Belt near Lone Pine Rd. Another passenger in Welch's car, Miss Iris Richardson of Novi, was seriously injured but has since recovered.

Judge George B. Hartrick entered an innocent plea for Rader, 60, of 2870 Pine Lake Rd., West Bloomfield township. Rader was released on $2,000 bond. The date of the trial was not set.

Rader owns the Hugh Rader Lumber Co., 15175 Hamilton in Highland Park.

John Harnden, Helen Stevenson To Wed Friday

Helen R. Stevenson and John Allan Harnden, both well-known residents of this community, will be united in marriage Friday, Aug. 12 at 8 p.m. in the Novi Methodist church. A reception will be held afterwards in the Veterans' Memorial hall, Northville.

Jack Eby Recovering

Jack Eby returned to his home on Twelve Mile Rd. several days ago from University hospital in Ann Arbor where he was taken in May after an auto accident. He is still a bed patient.

Further main extensions may be made in the future in accordance with gas load potential. Domestic use, such as water heating, cooking, clothes drying, incineration and refrigeration is available without restrictions and warrants an extension of 94 feet of gas main per customer.

A gas space heating permit would warrant a gas main extension of 421 feet per customer, Whitfield said. A charge is made for the gas service, which is the connection between the gas main and house.

Space heating is still restricted and permits are issued on an application and allocation basis. Several Novi addresses have been in the space heating application file for some time and some will come up for space heating approvals in a space heating release that is under way at the present time.

Consumers Power Co. has made substantial amounts of additional space heating available each year for the last seven years, according to Whitfield.

Applications for gas service, applications for space heating, inquiries, and calls for service will be handled by the Farmington office of Consumers Power Co.

Novi Youths Take Part In 4-H Fair

The Oakland County 4-H club fair started Tuesday in Pontiac with 2,000 young members exhibiting. About 30 boys and girls from Novi will be taking part in the activities, with their leader, Mrs. James Wimmer.

Novi will be represented in the parade of floats on Wednesday night and will also take an active part in the dress review Thursday night.

Historic Safe Saved

MOVED FOR SAFE KEEPING, this historic old safe now anchors down a corner of the Novi Township hall. Purchased near the turn of the century, the safe was located in H.H. Jones' general store on the northwest corner of Novi Rd. and Grand River. In case your memory doesn't go back that far, Jones was Matt Moeren's father-in-law. Moeren ran the general store until a year before his death in 1953. Moeren was Supervisor Frazer Staman's father-in-law. (Or to put it a simpler way, Jones was Mrs. Staman's grandfather and Moeren was her father.) Anyway, the store is scheduled to be torn down soon and Staman decided the safe should again serve a useful purpose. He had it removed from the old store and taken to the Township hall with the aid of a lift truck from a local manufacturing plant. Police Chief Lee BeGole had it cleaned and polished and spanned it when he went to use it. He found that the combination still worked. He was locked out and he hoped Staman had taken the time to learn the combination from his father-in-law, Moeren, who had learned it from his father-in-law, Jones.

Bogart Family Owns House for Century

The LaRue N. Bogart home may not be a modern, ranchtype, but its antique walls hold an unusual history and many century-old memories.

Located at 50747 W. Twelve Mile Rd., the farm was proclaimed an Oakland County centennial farm in 1948 because it has been in the same family for 100 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Bogart, a well-known couple in Novi township, have lived in the home for 49 years, but the 200-acre plot was originally purchased over a century ago by Bogart's grandfather, Henry. In 1800 the Twelve Mile area was completely wooded, and in 1848 only about ten acres had been cleared.

Grandfather Bogart, who died 60 years ago, once sold ten acres of fine timber land for the now-unbelievable sum of $10. The timber was used to complete the planking of Grand River Ave., then known as "Plank Road".

The Bogarts, who will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary in December, have five daughters and one son, all of whom live in Michigan, 20 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Bogart Farm ...

Bogart Was Novi Township Justice of the Peace

Bogart has served Novi township as Justice of the Peace for the past 30 years, and gave up his position on July 4th of this year. He is now in a Pontiac hospital suffering from a heart condition and a broken arm.

Bogart's eight-room home has been modernized since 1856, but the room he was born in 71 years ago is now the bedroom of he and Mrs. Bogart. The 200 acres has been narrowed down to 74, and the fields are now rented out. At one time, says Mrs. Bogart, they had a 35-acre orchard.

The 68-year-old Mrs. Bogart attended Northville schools and moved to Wixom when she was 16. She taught in a country school at Thirteen Mile and Beck, which has since been torn down.

She remembers vividly the bitter winters when her oldest children had to cut across the fields to Grand River to get to school because Twelve Mile Rd. was not plowed. At that time the telephone poles were of shorter length, she recalls, and the snowbanks were so high that they had to climb over telephone wires atop the banks.

Member of Wixom Church for 60 Years

The family attends Wixom Baptist church, where Bogart has been a member since he was 11 years old. He left school in his senior year at South Lyon High, but he likes to read and has always taken several newspapers.

He has unusual writing ability, and has compiled a large book of poetry written over the years on every nameable occasion. The book includes dedications to family members and friends, and lyrics for gospel hymns which have never been published. A portion of "Ever Forward", written for the new year, follows:

As we sit in reminiscence
Of the year that's past and done;
And look in anticipation
To the year that's just begun
How we cherish all the good things
As we view them o'er and o'er;
Yet we wonder what the future
For each one, may have in store.

The Bogarts were presented with a certificate from the Oakland County Commission, and a sign was placed on their property announcing the 100-year ownership.

Beaver Too Busy To Realize What He Is Doing

A misguided beaver was live-trapped recently trying to dam up a storm sewer in Rogers City. Conservation officer Ned Curtis was called when startled city police reported an animal emerged from the sewer, lopped off a bush and dragged it up the 12-inch opening.

Neither the sewer nor a nearby ditch held any water, but that didn't stop the beaver.

Curtis parked a live-trap at the entrance of the sewer and bagged the confused little engineer the first night.

The only problem is, Rogers City officials are wondering about the dam. Is it completed or not? What happens when the first big rain comes? Down on hands and knees, it's possible to peer up the sewer, but all there is to see is blackness.

The beaver, who could answer official questions, has no time for discussion. He's busy building dams on the Swan River, where Curtis released him, five miles southeast of the city.

Superintendent's Report: The Superintendent still on his vacation, there was no report from him at this meeting.

Old Business:

There was no old business brought up at this meeting.

Unfinished Business:

Mrs. Junod, Mrs. Austin and Mr. Facknitz approached the Board regarding the sidewalk and highway situation in the area of the Amerman School. The Board has been working on this matter for some time and is presently attempting to gain some assistance from the Wayne County Road Commission. Mr. Clark has an appointment to meet with a member of the Commission in the near future on the site, to try to determine what improvements can be accomplished before the opening of school and who is to make them. The Board explained its efforts in this direction in some detail and assured the parents that adequate provisions for the safety of the children will certainly be made before the opening of school in September.

The written request for annexation from Novi District No. 8, which was a confirmation of an oral request received some time ago, was acknowledged by the Board and the secretary directed to reply stating that the matter would be considered in due course.

New Business:

Mr. Carrington, of the Carrington Insurance Agency, outlined a program of fire and extended coverage insurance for the Amerman School. The holding policy on this building expires on the 2nd of August. After some discussion Mr. Severance moved that Mr. Carrington be asked to write a new policy on the new building in the amount of $220,000.00 on a five-year premium payable annually with the annual amount reducing over a period of four years. The motion was seconded by Mrs. Wagenschutz and was carried.

New Business:

The oral request of Salem Union School District that their 6th, 7th and 8th graders be allowed to attend Northville Public Schools this year on a tuition basis was considered and tabled pending the return of the Superintendent.

The bids on the Driver Training car were opened by the Secretary and read as follows:

Dealer, Miller; Make, Plymouth; Model, 4-Dr. Sedan; Standard, $1,440.45; Automatic, $1,559.80.

Dealer, Miller; Make, Plymouth; Model, 4-Dr. Suburban;

Standard, $1,665.22; Automatic, $1,784.57.

Dealer, Taylor; Make, Ford; Model, 4-Dr. Sedan; Standard, $1,412.37; Automatic, $1,557.57.

Dealer, Taylor; Make, Ford; Model, Station Wagon; Standard, $1,912.44; Automatic, $2,057.64.

Dealer, Rathbun; Make, Chevrolet; Model, 4-Dr. Sedan; Standard, $1,372.50; Automatic, $1,517.50.

Mr. Severance moved that the matter of the Driver Training car be tabled until Mr. Amerman and Mr. Ellison have returned. The motion was seconded by Mr. Clark and was carried.

Treasurer's Report:

Cash Received since July 1, 1955 $76,233.51

Balance in General Fund, 7-31-55 $86,749.85

There being no further business to come before the Board, the meeting was adjourned, on motion of Mr. Clark and second by Mr. Severance, at 9:45 p.m.

SWIMMING
Swimming every day, Monday through Friday for young and old. A bus will leave the high school at 1 p.m. All you need is a swim suit, towel and 15 cents.

THEY'RE STILL talking about the game-winning steal of home against the mighty Yankees by Detroit's new first baseman, Clifford Earl "Torgy" Torgeson, and they'll be talking about it for a long time to come.

Called Earl or Torgy by his teammates, aggressive, tobacco-chewing Torgeson excited everyone in both major leagues by his dramatic theft some Sundays ago to give the Tigers a clean sweep of the three-game series and help tighten up the pennant race.

The fellow Old Diz shares a microphone with Van Patrick, still calls it his greatest thrill in all his years of baseball broadcasting.

Torgy can be expected to do things like that. He's a fierce competitor and fast of foot. In the short time he's been with us, Torgy's fit into Detroit's plans like the spokes on a wheel.

Former National Leaguer
His inspiring play is of as much interest in the National League as the American because he spent more than eight years in the senior circuit, coming to the Tigers last June 14 from the Philadelphia Phillies.

Big, bespectacled Torgeson, who looks enough like Clark Kent to be called "Superman" by the players and even many strangers, is in his fifteenth season of professional baseball.

While attending Washington State Teachers College and Ellensburg Teachers College, Torgeson broke in with Seattle in 1941 and stayed there through the 1946 season, with time out for Army duty during 1943-45.

Sold to the Boston Braves before the start of the 1947 campaign, he enjoyed his best major league season there in 1950, batting .290, scoring 120 runs, stealing 15 bases and getting 167 hits, including 23 home runs, 30 doubles and three triples.

Edged Out of Job
He sustained a broken foot in 1953, and in 1954 dislocated a shoulder and thumb, the latter requiring an operation. This year he was edged out of his regular first baseman's job by Marvin Blalock and was used largely in relief. Thus he was expendable to the Phils when the Tigers came along.

Torgy is known as one who never backs away from a fight. He's paid the National League some $700 in fines for his on-the-field encounters. Among his more notable scrapes were those with Pittsburgh's Cliff Chambers, a pitcher, who dusted him three times and broke two ribs with a fast ball, and Giant catcher Sal Yvars, who broke Torgy's bat on home plate after he had singled.

Born in Snohomish, Wash., of Norwegian descent, Torgeson, now 31, was married in 1946 to the former Norma Syverson. They have two children, Christine, 8, and Andy, 6.

The Torgeson home is on Anna Maria Island, 10 miles from Bradenton, Fla., and a four wood shot from Fred Hutchinson's place.

Banking On Banks, No S.S. Worry For Cubs In Ten Years

When they start comparing a shortstop with Marty Marion and Eddie Miller, two great stars of the recent past, the player must have something. It's Marion and Miller the big leaguers mention when they talk about Ernie Banks, who is doing the short-stopping for the Chicago Cubs these days.

There's a story about Banks in the July 20 issue of The Sporting News. It's full of superlatives. Among other things, it says the Cubs should have no shortstop worries for ten years at least. Banks, an All-Star choice in just his second year, lives up to the superlatives.

Major league bosses first heard about the young Negro from Dallas early in 1953, when he was playing with the Kansas City Monarchs. Paul Richards, then manager of the White Sox, sent his scouts to have a look at the 22-year-old shortstop sensation, but says to this day that he doesn't know what they decided, or why.

At any rate, Banks is not with the White Sox, nor with the New York Yankees, who also might have had him. He's with the Cubs, and we're coming to that story.

The Cubs have two men in particular to thank for Banks. First, there's Tom Gordon, business manager of the Cubs farm at Macon, Ga. He called the club's attention to the shortstop. Then, second, there's Wid Matthews, director of playing personnel. It was his persistence that brought Banks into a Cub uniform, although the White Sox and Yankees had first call. After getting Gordon's tip on Banks, Matthews sent scouts to look him over. All reports were rosy. Then, the day after Labor Day in 1953, Matthews himself saw Banks play in an all-star game in Comiskey Park. He liked what he saw, and got in touch with Tom Baird, owner of the Monarchs. Baird told him the White Sox and Yankees would be given first chance, because the Monarchs were playing some games in Comiskey Park and Yankee Stadium and felt obligated to the two clubs.

Matthews wasn't discouraged. He offered to buy Banks and a young pitcher named Bill Dickey from the Monarchs for $35,000. With nothing to indicate great White Sox of Yankee interest, Baird accepted. Banks became an immediate success with the Cubs, and Dickey is in the club's minor league system.

While buying Banks, the Cubs hadn't given up on Roy Smalley, who was in his sixth season with him. And they were planning to have a second look at Gene Baker, their shortstop in Los Angeles, in the 1954 training camp. But Banks took care of all that. He played in ten games at the end of the 1953 season, hit .310 and fielded magnificently. The Cubs were so sold on him that they traded Smalley before the next season opened and made Baker a second baseman.

Banks played in every inning but one in 1954. He hit .275, hit 19 home runs and drove in 79 runs. This year he had improved so much that he was picked for All-Star competition. At mid-season, he had set a National League record for most runs by a shortstop, with 23.

Through it all, says The Sporting News, he's the same kind of a quiet, unassuming young man before he won all the acclaim. His manager, Stan Hack, says he doesn't know what the club would do without him. And Catcher Clyde McCullough says he's the greatest shortstop he has ever seen. "He's as good or better than Marion when Marty was with the Cardinals," says McCullough, "and certainly he's a better hitter."

ARCHER, 84, WAITS FOR 1955 DEER SEASON

The oldest reported archery deer hunter was William H. Osborn, Manistiquie, who was 84 years old during the 1954 hunting season.

Osborn wrote the Conservation Dept. when an earlier report indicated that Joseph Gatzert, 78, Baraga, was the oldest archer last season.

Osborn bagged deer in 1951 and 1953. Last year he wounded one, probably fatally, but it got away. This year, again, he has high hope for success.

He was nine years old when he first went squirrel and rabbit hunting in 1880 and 21 when he bagged his first deer with a shotgun in 1892.

SPARKLES FROM THE DIAMOND

From Sporting News

There's an easy way to get Ted Williams' autograph. On the back of a check. A check sent to Ted Williams-Jimmy Fund, Boston, goes into a children's cancer fund. Williams endorses the checks and the writer will have his autograph when the cancelled check comes back.

Catcher Ray Katt of the Giants has been hitting only around .192, but he handed out an important hitting tip the other day. When the Giants and Reds were tied up in a 14-inning game, July 22, Katt next up to bat, with Harris to one side, told him to relax; that he was too tense and stiff; Harris took his advice and hit the ball out of the park to win the game for the Giants.

The first home run Frank Lary of the Detroit Tigers ever hit in the majors will never show in the records. It was washed out when the game with Washington was ended in the fourth inning by rain. But, the young pitcher got consolation from another Tiger pitcher, Frank Birrer. "Just keep swinging," Birrer said. "With his own swinging, Birrer astonished Detroiters by hitting two homers in one game."

Stan Musial believes he'll be in the thick of the fight for the National League batting crown before the season is over. As quoted in The Sporting News, Musial believes the title this year will be won with a figure of about .330, or not much higher. Musial is a cinch for at least 30 homers, and 100 or more runs batted in.

If he can win another batting title he'll have seven, which will tie Rogers Hornsby's career mark. Hans Wagner holds the National League record, with eight batting championships.

Eight men now active players in the majors have stolen 100 or more bases. Earl Torgeson of the Tigers reached the 100-mark on July 22. The others who in their major league career have reached or passed that mark are Pee Wee Reese, Jackie Robinson, Phil Rizzuto, Mickey Vernon, Richie Ashburn, Minnie Minoso and Elmer Valo. Reese, at the top of the list, had a total of 210. Robinson was next with 180.

It's worth $10,000 for a Pioneer loop hitter to put a ball through a knothole in the right-center field fence at Boise, Idaho. That's the standing offer. The catch is that the hole is 335 feet from home plate and is only three and one-half inches in diameter, just a half inch more than the diameter of a baseball. A Boise insurance man figures the odds at 60 million to one. In Seattle of the Coast league, a similar knothole feat would bring the hitter $100,000.

The one-hit job Pitcher Jim Hearn of the Giants turned in against the Reds July 23 was the ninth one-hitter in the majors this year. Others who have done it are Bob Turley, Bob Feller, Early Wynn, George Susce and Alex Kellner in the American League and Don Newcombe, Warren Hacker and Rudy Minarcin in the National. Hearn had another one-hitter in 1950 in Pittsburgh. After giving up a single to Bob Dillinger, who was the first man up, Hearn retired the next 27 men in order.

The first major leaguer to bat in 100 runs this season was Duke Snider, Dodger outfielder. Duke reached the 100-RBI mark when he hit his 34th homer against the Braves July 24.

Thursday, July 14, was a night-mare for pinch-hitters. The Sporting News points out that 26 men were called upon in the major leagues to hit in a pinch. Not a single one of them got a hit. Five of the 26 got on base, but through three walks and two errors.

STATEWIDE STREAM IMPROVEMENT PLANNED

No more than 200,000 Michigan sportsmen choose to fish for trout as opposed to nearly 800,000 who prefer bass, pike, and panfish as their angling targets. Yet the state is spending far more money to improve or maintain trout fishing than for the betterment of the warm water species.

Recognizing this fact the Conservation Department is giving careful study to the possibility of extending more aid, particularly in the direction of small mouth bass fishermen who find their sport in many of the state's well known rivers.

Experimental Project Underway

First on the program, as an experimental project, is an improvement plan for the Huron River between Ann Arbor and Dexter—a stretch of water heavily favored by bass and bass fishermen. The river in that section is relatively free from pollution, has a good growth of trees along the shoreline to curb erosion, and a fairly substantial supply of natural food.

Its weakness lies in the lack of deep channels and fast moving current—characteristics favored by small-mouth bass. Steam shovels are wading into the Huron River now, gouging 5 foot channels, lifting the bottom onto the shore where it forms a long deflector. The deflectors are so located that the sluggish river is narrowed. The current is forced into high gear rushing into the man-made deeper channels where bass will lie in wait for the food carried directly to them.

The backwater eddies form resting pools for the fish behind the deflectors, and the increased current in the improved portions of the river will restrain weed growth in late summer months.

Plan to be Studied

Some 20 miles of the river is now undergoing improvement work. The deflectors are so designed as to withstand heavy floods and spring runoffs of ice and snow. Added current means good gravel stretches washed clean to make ideal bass spawning areas.

The Huron River improvement project will be judged and appraised during the next five years. Should better bass fishing result, as is almost a certainty, similar plans are in store for a number of rivers, particularly in central and western Michigan. It may well mean a big swing to better bass fishing in Michigan rivers.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

A REPORT FROM THE CAPITOL

By Elmer White

NORTHLAND RESORTS have the promise of a highway funneling thousands of cars into their driveways—one way or another. The tug-of-war between toll roads and free superhighways is the focal point of one of the bitterest disputes in years.

On one end of the rope is the Michigan Turnpike Authority and on the other end is Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler.

The people are in the middle. Ziegler, really, must play a dual role. He is also a member of the turnpike authority, a situation that has had him dodging brickbats from all directions for two years.

The authority is guided by experienced hands who insist on a 113-mile toll road between Flat Rock and Saginaw.

Ziegler is rushing work on a competitive route, a relocation of US-10 from Detroit to Saginaw and of US-25 from Detroit to the Ohio border near Toledo.

"We've got a lot of money tied up in that road now and we can't walk away and leave it," Ziegler said.

Turnpike champions, headed by the authority chairman, George N. Higgins, Ferndale Republican, figure Ziegler is perpetrating a dastardly doublecross.

"Ziegler has caused the authority a lot of problems," Higgins said. "But I don't think he'll block us anymore."

From a cash-on-the-line standpoint, the turnpike will cost $165, million and the free highway $138, million. Ziegler said he could finish the free road in three years. Higgins said the turnpike can be completed in 39 months after the bonds are sold. They will be retired from tolls.

There was a poignant moment when Congress killed President Eisenhower's highway aid plan, which would have given Michigan federal money for interstate highways at 90-10 ratio, federal to state matching.

"If we got that, we can finish the free highway in three years," Ziegler said.

When the bill was killed in Congress, Ziegler said state money would do the job in the same time. Higgins, mourning the death of the program in Congress on the surface, privately was jubilant.

"This will put all the more steam behind the turnpike program. We'll get started as soon as we can and build the toll road."

Serious questions have arisen from the situation. If there is to be a competing free road—with the same superhighway construction—will New York financiers go for the revenue bonds?

Will motorists prefer the free superhighway to the toll road, creating a boycott and a virtually impossible financing problem for the turnpike?

Ziegler denies he doublecrossed the turnpike authority. He said he was assured by the engineers for the turnpike that a free route along the same general route "would have no effect."

There have been hints that the 1956 legislature, recognizing the tight spot occupied by Higgins, a former senator, could remove Ziegler from the authority.

On the other hand, Ziegler may be running for re-election next year. Republicans would think twice before jeopardizing his chances against a Democrat.

Best bet here is that the turnpike authority, with Higgins at the helm, will be told to go ahead. Ziegler will be told to take it a little easy and maybe change the route of his free road a bit.

WATER WONDERLAND may be junked as the license plate slogan in 1956.

It became a hot weather issue for Secretary of State James M. Hare, with touches of legal trouble and with visual acuity of motorists.

Hare said that dozens of motorists had written, complaining that the "Water Wonderland" slogan at the bottom of the plates squeezed the numbers into hard-to-identify proportions.

So, Hare asked a special committee to look into the problem, among others.

Then came the legal questions.

Physical Culturists Vie For Titles At Kensington Saturday

Some of the country's leading physical culturists will compete in the fourth annual Weight Lifting and Physical contest Saturday, Aug. 13, at 2 p.m. at Metropolitan Beach. They will lift up to 600 pounds dead weight and the selection of Mr. Metropolitan Beach will climax the event.

Among the leading contenders in the three lifts, prone press, squat and dead lift, will be Don Van Fletteren and Victor Seipke who tied for third place as Mr. America in Cleveland in June. Both are past "Mr. Metropolitan" title-holders and Seipke is Jr. Mr. America for '55, named in May in Ft. Lauderdale.

Carol Hall of Mt. Clemens, the 18-year-old beauty who is Miss Metropolitan Beach for 1955 will present official AAU awards.

Norbert Schemansky, world heavyweight champion, will be an official Clarence Johnson, national AAU weight lifting chairman will be master of ceremonies. Likely contenders for the Mr. Metropolitan title will be Ken Patterson of Western YMCA, Mr. Michigan for 1955, Sam Adams of Northeastern Body Builders club, who is Jr. M. Michigan, and Nelson Ego, also of Body Builders club.

Seipke, Van Fletteren, Frank Matteis and Frank Cuva, all of Northeastern Y's Body Builder club and Al Kerke of Ann Arbor are known threats in the weight-lifting competition, all veterans of past contests at the beach, but unknown competition is expected from outside. This is the first year the event has been open to the entire state, being previously limited to the five metropolitan counties.

DeMatteis, Body Builders' club president, said he expected about 40 entries.

An unidentified attorney in Detroit asked whether the state was violating its own law against advertising of any kind on the license plates. Hare answered: "You've got me, but I'll find out."

Hare is still checking with Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh. The law plainly states that there shall be no advertising of any kind on a license plate.

Hare, mourning the state of affairs which has the 1956 plates rolling off the lines 30,000 a day at Jackson state Prison, figured the question would be answered before production of 1957 plates.

"I expect the committee to recommend that the slogan be dropped for 1957 and thereafter," he said.

July Attendance Topped 500,000 At Kensington Park

All-time attendance records were broken at both Metropolitan Beach and Kensington Metropolitan Park during July, the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority said today.

The five-county park and parkway agency revealed that Kensington park topped the half-million mark, nearly one-third of the total attendance recorded at the 4,500 acre park near New Hudson in the entire year of 1954.

Metropolitan Beach on Lake St. Clair chalked up an attendance of 312,000 for July, nearly one-third the total for all of 1954, and approximately twice the July total for last year.

At Kensington park, an eight-year-old girl, Nancy Gellenbeck, 15750 Glastonbury, holds the current record for heaviest panfish. She caught a nine-ounce crappie to win a fishing contest prize for July. At month-end, good catches of largemouth and smallmouth bass, panfish and pike were reported in spite of the heat.

With the enlargement of the beach area and completion of a new bathhouse and food bar, Maple Beach on Kent Lake is accommodating three times as many bathers as last year, with a total of some 60,000 for July. Martindale Beach, larger of the two Kent Lake beaches, totaled approximately 100,000 bathers for the month.

New, High Protein, Low Calorie Bread Offered By A & P

A new type protein bread that is tasteful and highly nutritive is being introduced in the Detroit metropolitan area, according to the A & P Food store.

The new bread contains 53 per cent more protein than the same weight of regular white bread, has fewer calories per slice (only 45) and is made without the addition of either sugar or shortening, the company states.

Proteins contained in most vegetable foods are deficient in one or more of the amino acids known to be essential to the nutrition of man. Wheat, for example, contains only half the required amount of lysine. Now, with the recent development of lysine the equivalent required for good nutrition can be added, and the situation no longer need exist, it adds.

The new bread is not intended as a substitute for white bread, according to A & P, but was developed in response to growing consumer demand for a high-protein bread that would be highly nutritive as well as lower in calories. It is especially recommended for those who need to add more protein to their regular diets.

A NEW SUNDAY

The Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Oregon, suggests that churches get together and establish a mid-week "Sabbath". The reason for such a move is that everyone in his church seems to be too busy on the regular Lord's Day with their fishing, hunting, golfing, etc., and besides all this, the "best" shows of the week are scheduled for Sunday. It seems to me that perhaps the churches that find difficulty in finding their Sunday crowd had better look at the kind of spiritual menu they have been feeding their folks. When they preach a Christ without Deity, a Salvation by man's own efforts, a Heaven but no hell, the natural but no supernatural, a Social but no Spiritual Gospel, a Bible that is only partially true, just how can they expect to hold their congregations by feeding them that kind of sawdust? If you want to find churches that are still full, then look to those who still hold to the Book as the inspired Word of God, with a living, Divine Redeemer who stands ready to forgive the repentant sinner who will cry out to Him. People who are really born again believers rejoice in the opportunity of attending church where God's word is preached. Tell me, are you found among them?

God's inexhaustible goodness and abundance will be brought out in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul" which will be read in Christian Science churches on Sunday.
Bible passages will include the admonition of Christ Jesus with regard to man's sustenance: "And seek not ye what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, neither be ye of doubtful mind. For all these things do the nations of the world seek after: and your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things. But rather seek ye the kingdom of God; and all these things shall be added unto you" (Luke 12:29-31).

Also emphasizing the importance of looking to Soul, God, rather than to mammon for happiness, a correlative passage to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (60:29-31): "Soul has infinite resources with which to bless mankind, and happiness would be more readily attained and would be more secure in our keeping, if sought in Soul."

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

By this time you have probably heard that the Citizens' Auxiliary Committee has presented a bus to the patients of Northville State Hospital. As you know, the purchase of this bus was made possible by the proceeds obtained from the Northville Country fair held last June 25th on the grounds of the hospital.
Naturally, all of us having a part in the fair are very grateful to everyone who worked with us. Because of this, the members of the Citizens' Auxiliary Committee have asked me to write you expressing our most sincere thanks for the important role

When you want to be sure you're safe with a gasoline that won't cause your car to sputter, stumble or stall, stop in at your Gulf station and ask the man for New Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX—and don't forget its super-refined teammate, New Gulfpride H.D. Select Motor Oil.

New Gulf No-Nox Gasoline delivers not just the highest octane but
