

New Baseline Cut-off Planned For Northville

Plan Should Detour Much Heavy Traffic Around Northville Residential Section

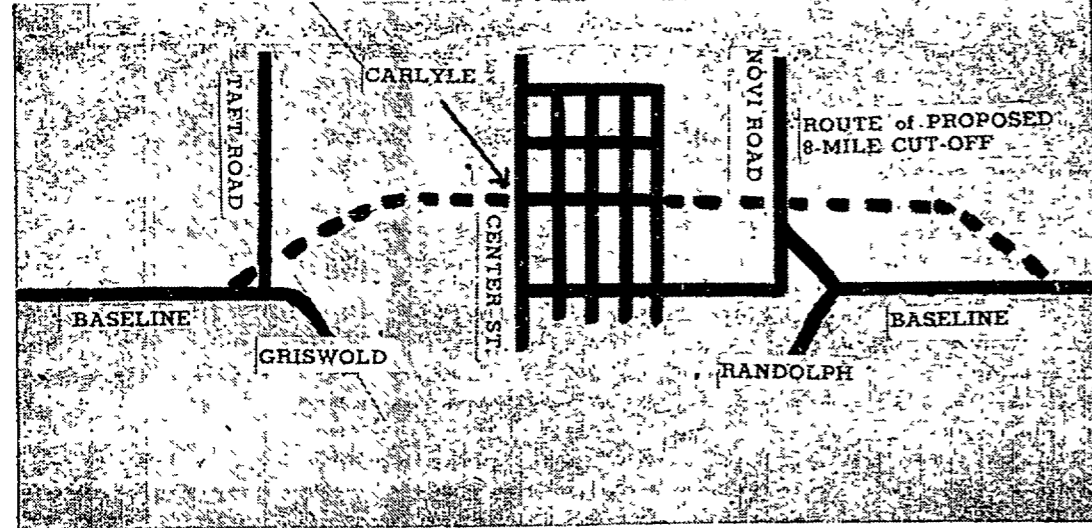

Agreement has been reached between the Wayne and Oakland county boards of road commissioners for joint construction of a new road to connect the two ends of Baseline Rd. that now terminate at Griswold St. on the east and Randolph St. on the west.

The new road, or cut-off, is planned to start approximately 1,300 feet east of the Griswold-Baseline corner. It will bear north sufficiently from the Wayne-Oakland county line to avoid the steep grade that would be encountered if the two ends of Baseline were to be connected on a straight line.

News of the agreement between the two county road commissions reached Northville in the form of a letter from Sylvester A. Noetzel, secretary and clerk of the Wayne county road commission asking the city commission to give joint jurisdiction over Carlyle Ave. to the two counties.

PROTEST CUT-OFF ROUTE
A petition protesting the route of the proposed Baseline Rd. cut-off through Oakwood subdivision was placed before the Northville city commission Tuesday evening. It contained the signatures of 111 property owners.

The request was for jurisdiction over "a strip of land 120 feet in width and 0.252 mile in length . . . lying northerly of and immediately adjacent to the southerly line of Carlyle Ave., 50 feet wide . . ." As interpreted by the city commission and confirmed by an official of the Wayne county road commission, this would mean acquisition from property owners along the north side of Carlyle of a 70-foot strip of land

Oakwood Residents Protest Closing Street for Safety

Eleven residents of Oakwood subdivision and one from Novi township attended to talk the Northville city commission out of closing N. Center, St. between Baseline and Hill streets during school hours as a safety measure to protect children going to the new Amerman Elementary school.

Most vociferous objectors to the commission's safety program were Herman H. Toussaint, 1035 N. Center, in Novi township, and Conrad Springer, 325 Lake St. Toussaint told the commission it cannot legally close the street because it is a county road. He also said cars travel at a high rate of speed over N. Center and are liable to run into the barriers which the city plans to erect. He visualized the city being sued by drivers who may hit the barriers at high speed.

Mayor Ely told the group that both Northville and the school board have been trying for months to arrange a meeting with the Oakland county road commission to show the latter the danger of the present road. Toussaint challenged the seriousness of the effort that has been made, and said he had been told this week by the chairman of the Oakland county road commission that he knew nothing about the Center St. situation.

Commissioner Reed replied that "Oakland county officials tell you they know nothing about this matter but we at this table know differently."

Ely told him "they're giving you the old run around," while Commissioner Stubenvoll asked so the present 50-foot road can be widened to the full 120 feet required for county roads (See map) Commissioner Ed Welch reported that he had been told by Mr. Hiltz of the Wayne county road commission that if the city grants jurisdiction over Carlyle St. to the county it should be possible to make a start this winter on building a badly-needed storm sewer along Carlyle St.

After length discussion of the proposed Baseline cut-off and the petition against it by Oakwood subdivision property owners, the city commission tabled the road commission's request to take over Carlyle St. until its next meeting. In the meantime, a committee consisting of Commissioners Welch and Allen and City Attorney Ogilvie was instructed to discuss the matter further with the road commission and report back at the next commission meeting Sept. 19. The committee plans to show the road commission the petition against the proposed route and discuss possible alternate routes.

If Carlyle were to remain a city street the city would have to stand the entire cost of putting in such a sewer, but as a county road a substantial part of the cost him: "What do you want us to do; take 'em by the ears and haul 'em over here?" He added: "You haven't given us one logical reason why we should keep Center St. open during school hours and, in our opinion, endanger the lives of Northville children."

Mayor Ely told the group that the city commission realizes that the real solution of the situation is to widen N. Center St., cut down the hills that it passes over, and build a sidewalk for the children to walk on. He also pointed out that the west side of the street, upon which this work must be done, lies wholly in Oakland county and is outside the city's jurisdiction.

"Until Oakland county is willing to meet with us and do something to correct the situation," Ely said, "the only alternative seems to be the closing of a few blocks on the street so the children may use it safely. I'll put the safety of our children ahead of the slight inconvenience to a few individuals any time."

At another point in the interchange, Ely told the group: "We have had a lot of complaints before this commission but this is one of the smallest complaints I've ever heard."

Other commissioners later echoed this statement by the mayor. After a short recess to allow tempers to cool and individuals to talk among themselves, Ely induced the group to "at least give the closing a fair trial, and if it doesn't work out come back and we'll discuss it again."

CITY TO PAVE TEN STREETS

City Extends Tax Deadline to Nov. 1

The city commission voted unanimously Tuesday evening to extend the deadline for payment of Northville taxes without penalty from Sept. 15 to Nov. 1. Mayor Ely explained that it has been the commission's policy for many years to permit tax payments without penalty up to the time the city treasurer must turn over funds to the county.

will be borne by the counties, it was argued.

Another argument in favor of the cut-off was that its construction should eliminate a large volume of heavy traffic from the present Baseline-Center-Randolph street route through the city. The proposed right-of-way for the new road, with the exception of the four blocks of Carlyle that it will traverse, is entirely in open country.

Many Legal Hurdles
While actual construction of a storm sewer along Carlyle may get under way in a few months, officials of the Wayne county road commission warned that it probably will take considerably longer to get all legal obstacles cleared away and to secure funds for actual construction of the new road, which will be a joint project of the two counties, the state highway department and the Federal bureau of public roads. Any project having as many parties at interest inevitably will require more time to get under way than if it were solely under the jurisdiction of Wayne county, it was pointed out.

It was stated, however, that the county road commissions are hopeful that a start can be made in a year or so.

St. Mary Hospital Fund Drive Again Considered

Reactivation of the fund raising program for the proposed St. Mary hospital which the Felician Sisters plan to build in Livonia moved a step nearer this week with release of a financial report of the project by Sister Mary Columbine, newly appointed administrator.

Plans are shaping up to renew the drive for funds later this year, Sister Mary Columbine told the Record.

The goal is a 100-bed hospital which it is said will cost $25,000 per bed, or a total of $2,500,000.

Physicians To Meet Sept. 29
A medical staff meeting of physicians interested in the hospital is being planned for Sept. 29, she said.

The original fund campaign two years ago was discontinued when it became apparent that donations from local industry were to be channeled through the Metropolitan Building Fund (Detroit), which at that time would not approve the hospital for contributions from fund members.

Hospital for Every Creed
As conceived by the Felician Sisters, the hospital is to be built for the exclusive use of the public, regardless of race, color or creed. It will serve the northwest Detroit area, including Farmington, Livonia, Northville and Plymouth.

The present financial report shows $327,089 pledged to date, exclusive of $37,000 paid by the Felician Sisters to the Community Counseling Service and land (Continued on Page 10)

Retail Merchants Hold Meeting at Mental Hospital

The Northville Retail Merchants Ass'n. will hold its first combined business and dinner meeting Monday, Sept. 12 at 6:30 at Northville State hospital.

Yoder, assistant medical superintendent, will discuss some care and treatment aspects of patients at Northville State hospital and Abraham Erickson, psychiatric social work supervisor will have as his topic, "Community Participation in the Hospital Health Program."

Gerald Taft Plans Subdividing Farm

Gerald Taft appeared before the Northville Township board Tuesday evening, at their regular meeting, with blueprints presenting the plans he has for subdividing his south farm.

Taft, who resides on W. 8-Mile, said that the project is still in the preliminary planning stage and will be presented to the zoning board for approval before further action is taken.

Teachers Have Busy First Week

Northville High school doors are swinging wide today for the Junior High grades 7, 8 and 9. Students of these grades are having full day sessions but will not meet again until Monday.

Tomorrow, Friday, grades one through six report for full day schedules and kindergarten groups report for regular, half-day sessions at Northville Grade school as well as the new Amerman Elementary school. Complete class schedules in all schools begin Monday when grades 10, 11 (Continued on Page 10)

Will Defray Cost With Proceeds From Racing

The Northville city commission voted this week to pave ten city streets this fall and to advertise for bids this week so the work can be started quickly.

The streets to be paved are Oakland, Rouge, Novi, Carpenter, Grace, Lake and Rayson, south of Baseline, and N. Rogers, Dubur and Linden. All of these streets have had curb and gutter installed during the past couple years but until now the city has lacked the money necessary for paving.

Cost of the entire job was estimated by Commissioner Allen at just over $20,000, based upon a figure of $1.20 per square yard. While this sum is not available from the current year's budget, it will be taken from the approximately $110,000 racing revenue which Northville is receiving for the recent Northville Downs harness meet.

The suggestion that the paving be done immediately was made by Commissioner Allen and approved unanimously by other members of the commission.

Commissioner Allen also proposed that the commission appoint a special study committee to develop a public improvement program to be financed from year to year out of proceeds from racing. He suggested that the committee be instructed to place such things as sewers, paving, water, etc. ahead of "frills" such as a swimming pool. He also stated that its recommendations should be merely "advisory" with the city commission free to use its own discretion as to what projects should be done and when.

While concurring with Allen's proposal in principle, Commissioner John F. Stubenvoll said he believed the matter should be left to the new city commission which will be elected when a charter is voted on later this fall. The committee suggested by Allen he said, could hardly start to function before it would die a natural death when the present commission goes out of existence. Should the incoming commission desire to utilize the services of such a committee, or wish to change its membership, Stubenvoll said, there might be some embarrassment to both the committee members and the new commission (Continued on Page 10)

Change in Contractors

Officials of the Wayne county road commission anticipate that Louis and Frisinger may also handle the contract for paving the 7-Mile cut-off as a subcontractor for the firm which was originally awarded the paving contract. Mr. Brighton of this firm is reported to have been in a serious automobile accident and doubts have been expressed that he will be physically able to fulfill his contract. Road commission officials point out that if the work can be done by Louis and Frisinger when that firm has its machinery on the Center St. job, it can probably be done more economically than if both jobs were done by different firms.

Removal of the trees will be followed by relocation of Detroit Edison poles along the street.

Both steps are necessary to permit widening the street and construction of curbs and storm sewers. The street has been completely resurfaced in recent weeks and property lines located several feet nearer the houses on the east side of the street. This will necessitate tearing up the present sidewalks and laying new ones at city expense.

Center St. Paving Will Start Soon

Thirteen large maple and box elder trees were cut down this week on S. Center St. between Cady and Edward Hines Dr. as a preliminary step in the paving of the street by Wayne county this fall.

V.F.W. Holds Two-Day Celebration

Exactly ten years from the day that VFW Post 4012 was organized the mortgage on the new post home was paid off. This event occasioned the two-day celebration to which all Northville was invited and which was climaxed by the mortgage burning ceremonies held Monday in the present post home. The post was started by a handful of veterans mostly of World War I. Meetings were held in a room above what is now the Gamble store. Continuous hard work built the post to over 200 members. In 1949 with only a small amount of money in the treasury a down payment was made on the present building. Slowly the work of remodeling the building was accomplished the result being a building well suited to the needs of the organization and a source of pride to its members. Clayton Myers, post commander, said, "Without the help of the Northville community we could not have been as successful in our building plans. Our way of saying thank you was the general invitation issued to the entire community to attend the festivities with everything free of charge, including the dinner. We also intend to continue our community work thus fulfilling our motto of 'honoring the dead by helping the living'. A dinner followed the afternoon ceremonies. Several hundred guests were served. Past commanders of the post, representatives from nearby posts, the Women's Auxiliary, city officials and citizens were present to wish the veterans continued success in the future.

Farmer-Hunter Relations Improve

Lansing, Sept. 7.—Both farmers and hunters have parts to play in improving farmer-sportsmen relations, and neither group is without blame when those relations are seriously strained.

Dan Reed, Michigan Farm Bureau official, pointed out this joint responsibility when 250 farmers and sportsmen got together near Lapeer to discuss the problem early this week.

He said farmers often fail to call law enforcement officials when hunters trespass on their lands. Law officers cannot invoke the Horton trespass law without a request from the land-owner. When such activity goes unpunished, it serves only to deepen the wedge between the two groups.

Hunters are responsible, Reed said, for respecting property rights and for exhibiting common courtesy when hunting in farm country.

The group had a picnic dinner at the County Center building in Lapeer, was rained out of a proposed field trip, held a lively round-table discussion of their problems and concluded with slides on the state's farm-game habitat program.

Hunters came from Detroit, Pontiac, Flint, Port Huron and Monroe county. Most of the farmers were from Lapeer county.

Reed termed the meeting "another successful step toward better farmer-sportsman relations" and said that only through such individual and group action would the problem be solved.

Conservation Commissioner F. E. Burch of Detroit attended the meeting and spoke briefly. Parts of the meeting were filmed and will be used on the Conservation Department's weekly television show, "Michigan Conservation", used on 12 TV stations in Michigan, Ohio, Ontario and Wisconsin.

Newcomers Should Find These Pictures Interesting

These pictures were loaned to the Northville Record by Mrs. Bernice Marshall of 43564 Reservoir Rd. as a reminder that there has been considerable change in the downtown area over the years. The top one shows E. Main St. when the village was still served by the old inter-urban line. At the bottom, the south side of Main looking west from the Center St. corner, was entirely different from today. The only familiar landmarks on the north side of the street (right) are the present Record building in the foreground, and back of it the frame building owned by Frank and George Hills.

Old Car Festival Scheduled Sept. 10 At Greenfield Village

Antique car enthusiasts from five surrounding states and as far away as Texas and California will head their favorite vehicles towards Greenfield Village Sept. 10 to compete in the fifth annual Old Car Festival.

Over 200 competitors from three leading clubs, Veteran Motor Car Club of America, Horseless Carriage Club and the Antiques Automobile Club, have been putting their autos in tip-top shape for several months in preparation for the gala affair.

As in previous years, favorite names of a half-century will be featured at the festival. Pope, Stutz, Hupmobile and Maxwell, as well as the unfamiliar Kiblinger, Olympian, Lozier and Jackson and many others will compete in contests throughout the afternoon, bringing to mind the days when motoring was a fashionable sport rather than an accepted mode of travel. An assorted variety of the famous Model T's—with and without gleaming brass radiators—will compete in the festivities.

A noon parade of old-time motoring will kick-off the festival as cars wend their way in chronological order through the streets of the Village. Cars will then proceed to the Village green where various contests, bringing to mind many problems that plagued the early-century motorist, will be held.

One of motoring's big headaches will be recalled when drivers perform in the cranking contest. Each driver must stand before his revered vehicle, and on signal, crank the engine, leap to the controls, and, if all goes well, race to the finish line.

A new event added this year is the Siamie twin race. Two cars, forming a team, are lashed together with two pieces of yarn and must proceed across a given course without breaking the cord.

Another big event for the old timers is the slow-speed contest. Rather than try to race at high speed, the driver attempts to take the longest amount of time in circling the green. Dragging the brakes or "riding" the clutch immediately disqualifies the competitor.

Cars will also be judged on beauty and authenticity of restoration, and they must conform as nearly as possible with the originals in order to qualify for the grand prize.

For each of the many contests, cars are arranged, according to age, in these classes: electric, cycle car, high-wheeler, Model T with and without brass radiators, and miscellaneous gas cars. Drivers and their companions will be attired in the costumes of the day, which includes linen dusters, caps and goggles.

Master of ceremonies for the festival will be Johnny King, former Detroit television personality. Musical renditions will be provided by George Finzel's Old Time Band and an old-fashioned steam calliope.

An evening event will be a gas light parade through Greenfield Village, with a gold-plated Model T tail-light going to the car that is appropriately lighted.

Which Hits Hardest?

Which produces the more severe impact: two cars colliding head-on at speeds of 40 miles an hour each, or a single car crashing into an immovable barrier at the same 40 mph?

Ford Motor Co. researchers say the greater impact would result from the car hitting the barrier. The two colliding cars, they explain, would mesh with each other, thereby absorbing and dissipating much of the impact energy.

Highways are extensions of our production lines. For example, eight out of every ten parts used to make war tanks in Cleveland are shipped by truck from 23 states. Three out of every four parts to make aircraft in Baltimore arrive via highways—and 60 percent of all outbound tonnage is road-borne.

Ford Money Grant Promotes Research in Crash Injuries

Henry Ford II has announced a Ford Motor Co. grant of $200,000 to the Cornell university medical college to help expand the institution's automobile crash injury research program.

He said the contribution will cover a two-year period.

"The purpose of our financial assistance is to enable the Cornell crash injury research program group to substantially increase their testing sample and to expand their vital fact-finding activities of surveying, analyzing and recording data concerning injuries resulting from highway accidents," Mr. Ford said.

The Cornell university medical college, located at the New York Hospital Cornell Medical Center, New York City, conducts a crash injury research program based on highway accident investigation to determine the cause and severity of injuries in highway accidents.

"The staff of the Cornell group has cooperated with the automotive industry and with the Ford Motor Co. engineering staff in providing results of their statistical sampling and analysis," Mr. Ford said. "Their facts have been of considerable help in developing features designed to reduce injuries incurred in traffic accidents."

Mr. Ford will present a check for the $200,000 grant to a Cornell representative during the first day of Ford's National Safety Forum and Crash Demonstration in Dearborn Sept. 7 and 8.

NEW $300,000 AMERMAN ELEMENTARY SCHOOL OPENS

10 Modern Rooms Are Equipped To Handle 300 Boys and Girls

Northville's new Russell H. Amerman elementary school will open its doors to 300 boys and girls today (Thursday) for the first time.

Modern to the nth degree, its 10 classrooms for kindergarten through sixth grade are fully equipped, the asphalt tile floors are waxed to a high gloss, and every window is spotless.

The school's nine teachers are braced for another year of taking over part of the responsibility for Joe's and Mary's teaching and behavior from Mom and Dad.

Richard Kay, principal, starts his first year of administrative responsibility in a new building named to honor popular Superintendent Russell H. Amerman, who is starting his 27th year as administrative head of Northville schools.

The only blemish marring a seemingly perfect building, important only as an indication of how destructive a man can be, is a small patch of crude scratches on a soft stone wall in the hall. Kay pointed it out last week as probably having been done by a workman in an idle moment while construction was in progress.

The Amerman school was built between June 1954 and June 1955 at a cost of approximately $300,000. The land cost an additional $15,000.

It has nine classrooms, two each for the first and third grades, and one each for the second, fourth, fifth, sixth and kindergarten. A tenth room, described as an all-purpose room, will be used as a lunch room, for games and for school plays and other forms of entertainment and instruction. Along opposite walls are built-in tables and seats which can be let down to provide ample seating space for any purpose.

All "blackboards" throughout the building are green.

The school is equipped with a hot water heating system, with radiators located between the walls of the classrooms. Warm air from these radiators is forced into each room by fans.

Also new to Northville schools is the location of two small lavatories and toilets between each two adjoining rooms.

Chairs, tables and desks range upwards from kindergarten size.

Alfred Macdonald is janitor of the new building. Marion Zayti will be clerk and Kay's secretary.

The 10-room Russell H. Amerman elementary school cost $300,000. It will handle 300 children. Inset: Sup't. R. H. Amerman.

Russell H. Amerman

Richard Kay, principal, is taking on his first taught sixth grade and coached football and administrative post in Northville. Previously he taught basketball. Marion Zayti will be Kay's secretary.

"Cute" doesn't quite describe the chairs, which range from 11 to 17 inches in height in the school.

One of the most interesting features of the school is a large all-purpose room with stage for amateur plays, large floor area for games, and built-in folding tables and seats which can be let down for lunches. The seats can also be used alone when desired.

The kindergarten room shows two table with 11-inch chairs and miniature fountain for tiny tots.

One of the classrooms for older children features modern desks and green "blackboards" on the wall.

Name Change of Street Ordered

The names of Whipple Dr. and Ross Rd., in the Whipple Estates subdivision, are changed by order of the Wayne County Board of Road Commissioners as of Aug. 11, 1955.

That road formerly known as Whipple Dr. is now designated as E. Whipple while the portion called Ross Rd. will now be called W. Whipple Dr. Both are county roads under the jurisdiction of the Wayne County office.

Judging from the sounds, a rav-ing beauty is a girl who didn't win first place in a beauty contest.

Mayor Ely To Attend Municipal League At Mackinac Meeting

Mayor Claude Ely will be among the delegates to the 57th Annual Convention of the Michigan Municipal League that will gather at Mackinac Island beginning today, Sept. 8, to concern themselves with the solution of problems currently facing city and village government. Mrs. Ely will accompany him and they plan to return Saturday, Sept. 10.

Highlighting the opening day will be the address by Gov. G. Mennen Williams at a luncheon session. Senator Charles E. Potter will be the principal speaker at the closing luncheon Saturday, Sept. 10.

The principal theme running through the entire program is the establishment of municipal policy on important problems deserving of legislative attention at either the state or federal level. Particular attention will be devoted to the need for an expanded highway program and revision of the state highway laws to better meet city and village street problems.

Mayor Albert E. Cobo of Detroit will speak Saturday, Sept. 10 on financing highway improvements, considering both the bonding and "pay-as-you-go" plans.

Highway Commissioner Charles Ziegler will talk on State Highway Dept. plans for implementing the federal aid highway act in municipalities.

Delegates will give consideration to stimulating the civil defense and disaster control program at the opening session today. Featured will be W. B. Pettigrew of the Federal Civil Defense Administration, and C. F. Van Blankensteyn, director of the Michigan Office of Civil Defense.

Navy Recruiter Assigned to Area

Chief Yeoman Francis J. Se-cord is the new navy recruiting officer assigned to this area out of the Dearborn district.

He will be stationed in the basement of the Plymouth post office two days a week, Monday and Wednesday, with hours from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Men between the ages of 17 and 30 are eligible to enlist. Chief Se-cord states that the navy offers an excellent opportunity to learn while you earn with the additional advantages of early retirement, travel and adventure. There is no waiting list, he announced.

MOM just came home with it a while ago, and now she's wondering if it does anything for her. She hates to change her mind about it, because she spent practically all day getting it. Drove way off to the big city, then battled jammed-up traffic, tramped around in crowded stores, until she finally chose this hat. Now, if she decides to change it, she has to go through all that again.

Her excuse is that she saves money by going off to the big city to shop. Actually, that's about as crazy as this bonnet. Just figure out what it costs to run our car on those long shopping trips. Then there's parking. And a sitter for me. And if something has to be exchanged, here we go again.

I think Mom is beginning to see the light. The other day I overheard several of her friends telling her they had discovered they were actually dollars ahead by doing all their shopping right here in our own community. The selection of merchandise is excellent. The prices are just as low as anywhere else. And they like the extra service you get when you deal with local merchants who really go out of their way to give you good service.

And here's another important point to remember. When folks shop near home, they're building up payrolls for their friends and neighbors . . . they're doing business with the people who pay for our schools and parks . . . our police and fire departments . . . our churches and charities.

FORD, GAS CO. OUTLINE NOVI PLANS

Walled Lake Reorganizes Mail Delivery System

Walled Lake's rural route mail delivery system will be discontinued effective Sept. 16 and will be replaced by "city" and "mounted" carrier type delivery, according to Postmaster Henry Greedy.

Patrons in the northern area of Novi Township now served on Walled Lake rural routes No. 2 and 3 will continue to receive their mail as at present through their boxes at the curb line.

"However, mounted carriers will not sell stamps, envelopes, and other stamped paper or pick up applications for money orders. These services will have to be obtained at the post office," the postmaster said.

Begin Foot Delivery
A short letter carrier (foot) route will also be inaugurated and will run from the post office to W. Walled Lake Rd. to Ladd Rd., to Pontiac Trail, Halifax, Rosebud, Pontiac Trail to Walled Lake Rd., east to Witherall to Market, to Ferland, to Northport to Pontiac Trail, northeast to Watkins Flower shop and return to the post office.

Plans call for extension of the foot route as adjacent areas acquire sidewalks and street lights. Lack of sidewalks has been the most serious handicap in getting this type of service started the postmaster commented.

Patrons will greatly assist the delivery of mail by seeing that their mail bears their correct street name and house number. "If publishers or correspondents do not have correct and complete addresses please advise them at once. This is important as mail incorrectly or incompletely addressed may be returned to the sender," the postmaster pointed out.

Patrons now receiving mail through general delivery should make other arrangements. Regulations provide that general delivery is primarily for transients. Under the new set up patrons will be given 30 days to make arrangements for getting their mail on the delivery routes or renting a post office lock box the postmaster stated.

Crews Drill for Water on Plant Site

DRILLING A TEST WELL for water on the proposed Wixom Rd. site of the Lincoln headquarters and assembly plant has been keeping drilling crews busy from early morning until late at night. The crews, working for the Layne Northern Co. of Lansing, were running a preliminary test of water conditions in the area to determine if the potential output would be sufficient to supply both the factory and surrounding homes. In the above photo, James Fields, left, and Edward Mossman lower the drill into the partially drilled hole.

Discuss Future Plans At Board of Commerce Dinner

Ford Motor Company and Consumers Power Company officials outlined future development plans for Novi township at the monthly meeting of the Novi Board of Commerce Sept. 1 in the Community building.

Robert J. Whan, Abner M. Haagen and Arthur Breeckert, officials of the Ford Motor Company, attended the meeting as guests of Supervisor Frazer Staman. In a question and answer session, they outlined plans for the proposed Lincoln assembly plant and headquarters at Grand River and Novi Rd.

Ray Viau and James Thomas, representing Consumers Power Co., set forth their company's present and future plans for the Novi area, including the possible extension of gas mains to the Walled Lake area as well as the proposed Ford plant site. They said November 1 was the tentative completion date for the gas main coming up Grand River to Novi Rd.

Breeckert, project engineer for all the Ford plants throughout the country answered questions from various board members. John Flannery, spokesman for several residents of the area who seriously question the advisability of having such a light industry as Ford Motor Co. in Novi township, fired questions at Breeckert during and after the meeting.

Flannery's questions dealt mainly with roads, sewage, and water. Regarding roads serving the plant, Breeckert said that Ford hoped to obtain direct access to the Farmington-Brighton expressway, thus eliminating most of the potential traffic problems involved in the operation of a plant of this size.

The sewage problem, Breeckert added, was fully covered at the Aug. 22 meeting with the township zoning board. The company plans to construct its own sewage treatment and disposal plant on the property. No local creeks or drains will be used, he emphasized. All sewage disposal will be conducted on the 325-acre plant site, he added.

When questioned on the availability of sufficient quantities of water in the area Breeckert stated that it was not the intention of Ford Motor Co. to construct any plant that would deprive residents in the surrounding area of their water supply. Unless sufficient quantities of water were located underground, plans for the plant in this area would be abandoned, he said. Drilling crews are working at the present time, he added, to determine the underground strata and availability of water.

A Novi businessman who operates a small plant on Grand River several miles from the proposed plant stated that he was operating a well capable of producing 10,000 gallons of water per hour without affecting the wells of surrounding homes. The Lincoln plant would have an average use of approx-mately eight to ten million gallons per month an amount slightly higher, if figured on an hourly basis, than the gallonage of the small plant's well.

It has been pointed out by township officials that a light industrial plant of this nature would use very little more water than a 325-acre housing development. Tentatively, Ford officials estimate they will need approximately three 8 to 10 inch wells to furnish their supply.

Breeckert cited the new Ford plants on Plymouth Rd. in Livonia as examples of the type of modern, relatively noiseless and smokeless plant planned for the Wixom Rd. site.

The Consumers Power Co. spokesmen outlined in detail their current quarter-million dollar expansion program in Novi township and gave some hint of future expansion plans in the area. A survey of gas needs in the Walled Lake area is definitely scheduled for early next year, Viau explained.

Future expansion, Viau added, will be determined by the number of potential gas users in the area. The present six-inch main being installed along Grand River will be of sufficient size to handle additional branch mains to Walled Lake and the Ford plant, he added.

Space heating applications are now being taken and some permits will be issued this fall, he said. The space heating permits are being issued in the order in which they were received. Additional information on space heating, he stated, may be obtained from the company's Plymouth office.

A film on natural gas, "The Eternal Flame" was also shown. In color, it dealt with exploration, distribution and uses of natural gas in today's economy.

The roast beef dinner was served by the Novi Blue Star Mothers.

UNITED 4-H NATIONS was the theme of the float entered in the Michigan State Fair in the opening day parade in Detroit by the Country Slicks, the Novi 4-H service club. A globe and flags depicting the many lands in which 4-H type service clubs are functioning decorated the top of the float. Beneath the flags sat the girls dressed in native costumes of the foreign

State 4-H Fair. The wagon for the float was furnished by Harold Miller, who also pulled the float during the parade with his 1916 Reo fire engine. Traffic on Woodward Ave. became so congested at one point during the parade that Miller was asked to lead the parade and sound his siren to clear the street.

The GREEN THUMB

by Paul Newton

Those interested in lawn care who were unable to attend the lecture last week by Dr. Carter Harrison, Michigan State University lawn specialist, may be interested in the following brief summary of his lecture.

When To Plant Lawns

Best time to start a new lawn in southern Michigan is between Aug. 15 and Sept. 1. Seeds planted then will grow sufficiently so they will not winter kill. Dr. Harrison warned against planting between Sept. 1 and Nov. 1 because of the danger that the grass will not live through the winter.

Seed can also be planted between Nov. 1 and 15, in which case it will lie dormant through the winter months and get an early start in the spring.

The spring planting season for new lawns is between Mar. 15 and Apr. 15. However, new grass growing in the spring must compete with weeds and does not get as good a start in life as that which is planted in August.

Those planning to reseed an old lawn can do so to best advantage by planting seed during early November. By this time weeds and crab grass will have died and the new seed will be washed into the ground by spring.

How Much Seed?

The usual amount of seed recommended is 4 to 5 pounds per 1,000 square feet, but Dr. Harrison suggested 1 to 2 pounds for the same area. He says it tends to crowd itself out when planted too thickly.

Planting On Hillsides

Dr. Harrison recommended covering hillsides that are liable to wash with a light covering of straw held down by binder twine woven around long nails driven into the ground.

Recommended Grasses

The best turf grasses are blue grass and red fescue, Dr. Harrison said. A 50-50 mixture was recommended if the lawn is partly shaded.

Blue grass grows well in full sun in a soil rich in humus. Red fescue grows well on red and brown clay and sandy soil in shady areas.

Dr. Harrison said the so-called "nurse, grasses" serve only to crowd out the better grasses. He referred to rye grass, which comes up in a week, whereas Kentucky blue grass and red fescue require 4 to 6 weeks to germinate but form excellent turf.

It is better not to fertilize lawns between June 1 and Sept. 1, he said.

Crab Grass Eradication

The best protection against crab grass is to set the mower to cut between 1½ and 2 inches so the better grass in the lawn will remain vigorous and tend to crowd out the crab grass. DRY, hot weather has made this summer an exceptionally bad year for crab grass, he said. It is too late to do anything this fall to eradicate it permanently because it will come up next summer from this year's seeds.

Crab grass treatment should be started next year in the latter part of June or in early July, when the two small blades of crab grass will have just sprouted. It should be sprayed then with 2-4D, and again in another three weeks. 2-4D is only effective on the crab grass seedlings and must be used when it is just sprouting.

Many lawns will have bare spots next spring where the crab grass took over this summer. These areas can be repaired for next year by planting blue grass between Nov. 1 and 15 so it will germinate early next spring.

Chlordane Treatment

Another remedy for crab grass—chlordane—has been used successfully at the MSU experimental department of botany and plant pathology. This treatment is outlined as follows by B. H. Grigsby, of the department staff.

1. An emulsifiable concentrate of chlordane must be used. The wettable powder forms are not satisfactory.
2. A highly refined oil (Standard Crabgrass Spray Oil) is preferred as a carrier.
3. A water-white grade of kerosene may be used. Impure or colored kerosenes may burn lawn grasses.
4. Use the following proportions: 72% chlordane, ½ pint per gallon of oil; 40% chlordane, 1 pint per gallon of oil.
5. Apply 1 gallon of the mixture to 1,000 square feet of turf, or 1 quart to 275 square feet. Heavier applications may cause injury to turf.
6. Applications may be made at any time of the day or early evening.
7. Fall rains may cause germination of grass seeds and thus require a second treatment in late fall.
8. Emulsifiable concentrates of chlordane can be secured from dealers who sell seeds, fertilizers and agricultural spray materials.

Exchange Student Here from Germany

Friedemann (Fred) Kuehnau, new exchange student from Bingen am Rhein in Germany, who will be 17 in October, arrived in Northville the first of August and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Severance on Fairbrook Ct.

He will complete his senior year at Northville High school, graduating with the June class. His curriculum will be mainly concerned with the social sciences.

Friedemann's father is a doctor of medicine and he has two younger sisters at home. His future plans and schooling, after he returns to Germany, will be focused around his own desire to be a doctor like his father.

Most of the time he has spent with the Severance family has been out at their summer cottage on Ore lake but he says that what he has seen of Northville he likes very much.

The township board accepted the change as far as their authority permits but since the change falls under the jurisdiction of the Wayne county road commission it was referred to that department

PRICE OF PROGRESS—These tree stumps testify mutely to the conflict between the tempo of suburban life in 1955 and the quieter pace of 50 years ago, when tree lined streets made a Sunday afternoon stroll around the village a restful relaxation. Thirteen trees like these have been cut down on S. Center St. this past week to permit widening the road to handle heavy auto traffic instead of the carriages used when they were planted.

Eleven aries were represented in the Labor Day parade staged by Northville Arie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles. The Pontiac drill team of the Pontiac Arie and the sound truck from the Rose Claire Arie participated in the parade. M. McGriff of the Grand Aries of the U.S.A., and Ralph Bird, secretary of the State Grand Arie, were the guest speakers at Ford Field. Galen Cripe, president of the Northville Arie, and Manuel Perez, vice-president, together with Mayor Claude Ely and out-state officers, led the parade.

Formerly Mary Sweeney, left, of Northville, and Vonda Whitt, of Plymouth, are now Mrs. William S. Lomax and Mrs. Claude Puckett, respectively. They were married at a double ceremony Saturday, Sept. 3. They worked together as clerk-typists at the Burroughs plant and decided to combine their wedding plans.

Move To Correct Parking Abuses

Mayor Claude Ely appointed Commissioner John F. Stubenvoll a committee of one to join Police Chief Joseph Denton in asking Marr Taylor Ford Sales to cease using the city's parking lots at the Community building and at the corner of N. Center and Dunlap as places to park their cars and trucks permanently. This move was a compromise with the alternative of placing a 12-hour parking limit on these lots, which was suggested by Commissioner Allen as a means of correcting what he termed "an abuse of the city's parking facilities by a private firm."

"Be sure and have the number of the house placed on the front of the house so it is plainly visible from the street," the postmaster cautioned.

The postmaster also advised patrons to place house numbers and street addresses on boxes, as under the new set up mail will be delivered according to street and number and it is impossible for a substitute carrier to know all names and boxes. "Many of our rural boxes have neither name or address on them," the postmaster stated.

INEQUITY OF HUNTING LAWS

In the first of a series of meetings between sportsmen and Michigan farmers preceding the 1955 gunning season considerable complaining was heard from both factions relative to that highly controversial subject, Sunday hunting.

One might expect to hear this sort of talk from hunters whose week end planning during the season must be fashioned around wide-spread differences in county hunting regulations. But loud walls came from the farmer contingent, too! The hard working members of the "backbone-of-our-nation" clan asserted that they, too, were mighty fond of hunting, but that farm chores kept them busy from dawn 'til dark most days except Sunday. Came a day off and the law says "NO HUNTING," even on their own lands, on Sunday. And so they were forced to hie themselves many miles away, into the next county, to enjoy a sport which they might have found right in their own back yard!

Causes Concentration

Even worse, said these farmers who happened to live in counties open to Sunday hunting, the non-uniform law results in surges of hunters from the closed sections, overcrowding available hunting lands, and overshooting the game populations. These farmers were not urging universal Sunday hunting, nor were they suggesting a general ban on gunning on the Sabbath. They are pleading for ONE law covering all counties, assuring an even spread of hunters, and equal shooting rights for all.

Difficult to Realize

This may be a difficult concept to write into our regulations. Strong lobbies pro and con are active in many counties. If the state ever adopts a single law covering Sunday hunting this writer believes it will BAN all hunting, simply because the minority group in favor is so strongly entrenched. While organized sportsmen battle in favor of Sunday hunting, they represent only one out of every six hunters.

Williamson Plan Scanned

The State's Williamson plan, calling for a union of adjoining farmers and subsequent issuing of numbered hunting permits on a per-acre allocation seems to be gaining favor. Conservation department supervision of the plan makes it still more attractive—but the problem of agreement between all farm owners involved remains the big stumbling block. One thing remains sure: The number of hunters is skyrocketing every year. The amount of available hunting land is actually decreasing. Borrowing from the lyrics of a popular song, "Something's gotta give!"

Equestrian Trials Saturday, Sunday at Franfield Farm

The International Junior Equestrian trials, which will be held this Saturday and Sunday at Franfield Farm, 46820 W. Eight Mile Rd., Northville, will see the Canadian Junior champions, the London Pony club team from London, Ontario, attempt to beat the best of Michigan's juniors for possession of the International Challenge trophy.

The Canadian jumping team is composed of captain of the team, Miss Janet Sponsley with her horse "Atomic"; Timothy Wright on "Snowboots"; Ronald Daron riding "Pegasus"; and James Detweiler with "Scotch Tape".

On Saturday, the Michigan championship will be decided by the finals of the season's series of competitions, and on Sunday the winning Michigan team will ride against the Canadians for the International cup.

Favorites to win the Michigan title are the Fairlanders from Bloomfield Hills, an all-girl team of four riders, Janey Bugas, Patti Bugas, Lou Wilson and Kitten James. So far this season, this team has won over the other 11 teams of the league twice.

Saturday's events, starting at 9 a.m. will take in the dressage tests, and the tough 2 1/2-mile cross country race, the first of the arena jumping, and horsemanship. Sunday morning will see the final jumping tests of the Michigan league to determine the championship, and will be followed by international jumping.

The competition is sponsored and put on by the Northville Optimist Junior Equestrian committee.

HOME DEMONSTRATION SERVICE

Wayne county home demonstration extension service will hold officers day in the Community building lobby, Sept. 22. The meeting will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Mrs. Geraci, president, announces all officers must be present.

A last-minute job at the Amerman elementary school last week was the raising of the flagpole, which was donated by the local Lloyd H. Green Post 147, American Legion. Flags for the pole and for each of the school's 10 rooms have been donated by Northville Post 4012, VFW.

"School's Open — Drive Carefully."

With the opening of Northville's public and parochial schools this week the importance of the above slogan cannot be over-emphasized.

School officials and the local police department have taken concrete steps to keep children and motorists safely separated. West St., between the Community building and the high school, has been permanently closed to automobile traffic and converted into a loading and unloading station for school buses. Center St., between Baseline and Hill St., is to be closed to automobile traffic during school hours because it is only 25 feet wide and affords no safe sidewalk for the use of children attending the new American elementary school.

Both steps are to be commended, even though they may inconvenience motorists and the public somewhat. If they save a single child from serious injury or death, however, they will have been justified a thousand times.

For the schools and police to take precautions is not enough, however. Equally, or probably more important, those of us who drive automobiles must do our part if safety measures are to be fully effective. This means driving at speeds which will permit stopping quickly in an emergency. It means having brakes inspected to be sure they are in proper working condition. It means driving alertly, with a thought to the other fellow and an ever-present understanding that a child, perhaps your own, could dash to his death in front of your car if you cannot stop quickly.

It is for these reasons that the slogan "School's Open — Drive Carefully" is particularly appropriate at this season.

There appears to be a growing awareness on the part of public officials everywhere of the need for preventive measures against Dutch elm disease. The City of Northville has been among the leaders in this respect, and for two years it has retained Green Ridge Nursery to spray all elms on city property twice each summer. The Wayne County Road commission is taking similar precautions with respect to elms in the parks. Detroit, now plans to start preventive spraying next summer of all elms on city property and to speed up its program of destroying dead trees before they infect healthy ones.

All this is good as far as it goes, but no control program by government agencies can be fully effective until private property owners take some precautions against spread of the disease. To the extent that private individuals cannot be induced to cooperate willingly, it might be desirable that their cooperation be made compulsory by law. The same principle which some states invoke in making every motorist carry liability insurance should be valid in compelling owners of elm trees to do everything possible to protect themselves and their neighbors.

Those who are prone to wise-crack about woman's propensity to have the last word may get a chuckle out of this publicity story from the State Conservation Dept.

"A state park manager recently was called on to give a woman visitor first aid for a bee sting. Unlike most stings, this one was inside the woman; she was talking and the bee flew in and stung her throat. It stopped her talking."

"The manager pointed out that there probably wasn't much to be done for an internal sting. He suggested rest."

"Cheered by the news, the woman's husband happily led away his voiceless wife. It was the first time in 10 years, he said, when she couldn't have the last word on anything."

Farmington Twp. Hires An Assessor

Ernest Blanchard, Farmington township supervisor announced that William H. Gallagher has been employed as assessor for Farmington township.

Gallagher will take over his new duties on Oct. 1. He is now chief of the Appraisal Bureau of the Veterans' Administration for the Farmington district.

The securing of an assessor for the township was approved by the qualified electors at the annual meeting. The township board also authorized the supervisor to proceed with the hiring of an assessor at a salary not to exceed $6,500 per year. Blanchard stated that he interviewed a number of applicants before hiring Gallagher.

The new assessor will work with the supervisor in the appraisal of property in the township. It is proposed that a new and complete system of appraisal records be set up. It is expected that this will require a re-examination of existing property as well as the continual addition to the records of new buildings. Blanchard stated that as a result of the tremendous growth and development in the township, it is necessary that a separate assessor be employed.

Schoolroom Progress, USA, New Museum Traveling Exhibit

Robert B. Johnson, 33, has been appointed curator of the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village's "Schoolroom Progress, USA" traveling exhibit, it was announced today by Dr. Donald A. Shelley, executive director of that institution.

Former director of Public Relations for the Indianapolis (Indiana) Public Schools, Johnson will accompany the exhibition, comprising two specially designed railroad cars which depict progress in America's schools, on a three-year tour through 250 cities.

The exhibition, cooperatively sponsored by the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village and the Encyclopedia Americana, will dramatize the contrast of the American schoolrooms of 1840 and 1880 with those of the present. Historic artifacts from the museum and village, including early American books, writing implements and school equipment made or used by famous Americans; will help portray progress in education.

Besides dramatizing educational advances it is hoped that the exhibit will encourage young people to enter the teaching profession.

Formal opening of "Schoolroom Progress, USA" will take place in Washington, D.C. Sept. 19. It will return to Greenfield Village during the summer and will be open to the general public.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

A REPORT FROM THE CAPITOL

By Elmer White

STATE REPUBLICANS ARE RUBBING their hands in happy anticipation of their 'open to everyone' political get-together at Mackinac Island Sept. 17-18.

They watched a similar meeting of Democratic bigwigs last month with some anxiety. But as the session continued, GOP leaders relaxed.

"They are just rehashing the same old chatter," said a leading Republican spokesman. "They just haven't got an issue and they know it. The Republican national administration has given the country peace and prosperity; provided the working man with the best income ever, and will probably balance the budget. Personal attacks on Eisenhower have been getting them nowhere, so they must scrape the bottom of the barrel for anything to criticize."

Truman's appearance failed to produce much interest according to GOP observers. In fact, they believe that it is Democratic worry about the former President's unpredictable statements that caused him to cancel several campaign speeches this fall—not his health as was announced.

Republicans are billing their meeting as the All Michigan Republican Forward to '56 Conference. Anyone interested in good government is said to be welcome.

Program calls for several nationally known speakers, like Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the national committee, to be present. There will be talks on foreign affairs, finance, domestic problems; panels on such subjects as mental health, education and state economy.

Subdivisions of the GOP will huddle to decide what should be done about winning the state election in 1956. Besides the State Central Committee, which will ponder the same problem, sessions have been scheduled for the Young Republicans, Republican women, Republican war veterans, etc.

"A blue ribbon slate." That's the aim of the GOP and its machinations. They are hoping to find a list of "well qualified, energetic" candidates, with irrefragable public appeal who they will be—or where they'll be found is not yet certain. In fact, recent trial balloons for candidates for the governor's race indicates that things are very much up in the air.

Peace and Prosperity for the Michigan of Tomorrow. That's the announced theme for the GOP Mackinac meeting. A necessary part of any such plan from their standpoint at least means the first big job to be accomplished is the organizing of their own party into a machine that can win Michigan elections.

ORGANIZED EFFORTS BY MANY LOCAL GROUPS will soon be made in a campaign to urge all eligible voters to register. This is part of a national drive, suggested by President Eisenhower, to get out the vote for coming elections.

Cooperating with the idea, Gov. Williams appointed a state committee to promote the idea through branches of their individual organizations — political, trade, civic, religious, etc.

Constitution Day, Sept. 17, will see the kick off of the seven day drive. The period will be called Citizenship Week. The governor has also issued a proclamation asking for wide spread participation in the promotion to insure registration of all eligible voters.

Various activities will be seen in various areas. In metropolitan areas branch registration offices will be set up, manned by firemen, policemen, policemen or other volunteers. In other localities, telephone campaigns will be organized. Bulletin boards will remind people to register. Newspapers, radio and TV will carry the message.

HUMOROUS SUGGESTION was submitted by the editor of a northern weekly newspaper in an open letter to the "New Secretary of State—Whoever You Are."

The editor referred to the running battle about the site of the jet interceptor base in northern Michigan calling it a "Lazy Susan basis, stopping here and there." He suggested that the matter be left to the U.S. Navy. The base could then be built on an aircraft carrier, which could steam to the area which satisfied the most political pressures. Other advantages of this plan were listed: no roads required; no television towers; no Congressional district boundaries. In the summer it could be moved from the National Music Camp area, because, he says, no enemy would be expected to attack during "music season."

SLOGANS ON LICENSE PLATES describing the wonders of Michigan may be abandoned in 1957. It all started when Secretary of State James M. Hare assigned a committee to make a study of highway safety measures and an anonymous attorney questioned the right of the state to advertise on license plates.

Hare mentioned that the National Safety Council was recommending that states drop the slogans to make the digits more readable.

Then came the dissenters. Robert J. Furlong, executive secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council, asked Hare to spare that slogan until the facts could be gathered. He said he had a letter from the National Safety Council, denying a recommendation one way or the other on the slogans. At the moment, the issue is still unsettled.

Fisher Body Develops New Safety Lock

Development of a new type of safety interlocking device to prevent automobile doors from being forced open in the event of collision was announced today by Fisher Body Division of General Motors.

James E. Goodman, general manager of Fisher Body, revealed that the new interlock is currently being installed in all General Motors passenger cars.

The first installations began last May, Mr. Goodman said. Production and installation of the device followed a long period of development work and exhaustive testing.

The new interlock device consists of a flange on the door portion of the locking mechanism which overlaps another flange on the striker mounted on the body pillar. This overlapping or interlocking prevents disengagement of the door lock from the striker, thereby preventing doors from opening even under severe driving impacts.

Mr. Goodman stated that exhaustive tests indicate that the new interlock will prove to be a significant advance in automotive safety, and that its introduction is the result of a continuing program devoted to intensive safety engineering.

Farmers Reminded of Child Labor Law

As schools prepare to open for the fall term, farmers and commercial growers whose crops or products go into interstate commerce, were reminded today that the child-labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act—the Federal Wage and Hour Law—make it illegal to employ children under 16 years of age in agriculture during the hours when school is in session, in the school district where the child is living while working.

William S. Singley, Ohio-Michigan Regional director of the U.S. Labor Department's Wage-Hour Division, emphasized that the law applies to children hired either as individuals or as a part of a family group. These requirements apply to the employment of migratory children as well as local resident children, but not to the employment of a farmer's own children by the farmer on his own farm.

Seeking the cooperation of all farmers in an effort to eliminate unlawful child-labor, Singley pointed out that there is no restriction on the employment of children, regardless of age, when working on farms before or after school hours, on week ends, during school holidays or regular school vacation periods.

R for community growth... VITAMINS G-A-S

Good gas service and plenty of it — around-the-clock and around-the-year — can be just what the doctor ordered to make your community grow.

It's a prescription your gas company seeks to live up to — for the availability of gas for industrial processing often is important in the location of new industry. However, additional gas supply and the underground mains and other facilities needed to deliver it to you can't be provided overnight.

That's why your privately-owned, tax-paying gas company must risk investments in new manpower and expanded facilities today for your industrial, business and home needs of tomorrow. These investments make sure you'll always have vitamins G-A-S available for your community's growth.

The Presbytery-owned Youth Island at White Lake, above Milford, will be the scene for the retreat. 1956 Fords Will Feature Safety

Ford Motor Co. this week announced that its 1956 cars will feature five safety devices aimed at substantially reducing injuries to passengers in the event of highway accidents.

The new safety features—which will appear when the 1956 cars are introduced—include:

1. A deep-center safety steering wheel which slowly gives way under crash impact, thus absorbing the energy and distributing it over the driver's chest;
2. Safety door latches, designed to prevent the door from springing open under impact, thus giving the passenger added protection against being thrown out into the road;
3. Seat belts which are structurally anchored to the vehicle with a steel plate. Belts will be available for both the front and back seats in 1956 models;
4. Crash cushioning which will be available for the instrument panel and sun visors;
5. Safety rear view mirrors which have a specially prepared backing to reduce the possibility of glass falling out when shattered.

Lakes Schooner Nearing End of Its Long Career

The Schooner J. T. Wing, which for six years has been the home of the Museum of Great Lakes History, a branch of the Detroit Historical Museum, will be closed to visitors after Oct. 30, it was announced this week by Henry D. Brown, director of the Detroit Historical Museum. The next two months will probably be the last chance for people to visit this, the last sailing schooner on the Great Lakes.

The Wing has served as a Museum since July 2, 1949, after the ship was donated to the City by Grant H. Piggott, of the J. T. Wing Co., and Joseph Braun of the Braun Lumber Co. Over 250,000 Detroiters and tourists have visited this museum of Great Lakes history. To operate another season, extensive repairs would be needed.

The Wing has had a long and interesting career. She was built in 1919 at Weymouth, Nova Scotia, and her first name was the Charles F. Gordon.

According to Captain Joseph E. Johnston, curator of the museum of Great Lakes History, she began her eventful life by sailing the Atlantic coast to the coast of Florida. Here she kept alive, along with other ships, the old sailing days when adventurous men sailed around Florida, Cuba and the Bahamas.

"On the night of March 12, 1923," Captain Johnston declared, "she ran aground on the island of Key Sal in the Bahamas. She was declared a total loss," the Captain continued.

The injured ship was sold to J. O. Webster, of Miami, Fla. for $450. Webster towed the ship to Miami with his small salvage vessel, the Salvor. She was re-rigged and renamed the J. O. Webster. She carried cement and lumber up and down the gulf coast and for awhile brought material for bridges which were being constructed at the Florida Keys.

Proposals are under consideration by the Detroit Historical Commission for a permanent Museum of Great Lakes History on the present site of the Wing. A committee of citizens interested in the Great Lakes and her shipping has been suggested by organizations concerned with marine history and activities.

In 1925 the Wing was sold to Alexander, Lewis and Stockwell, of Boston. While under the company's ownership, tragedy rode in the wake of a storm off Cape Cod as the Webster lost three of her original six crew members. According to newspaper accounts, Capt. Beryn Bradford master of the ship, was forced to watch his son drown in the wild wind-swept sea.

Working out of New York and Boston, the ship became a familiar sight along the eastern sea coast, until she ran aground for the second time at Norwalk Island, Conn. She was sold to the United States Marshall for the price of the repair bill.

In 1935, the old Webster was bought by Grant H. Piggott. She was renamed the J. T. Wing in honor of Jefferson Thurber Wing, who was president of the J. T. Wing Co. and a business associate of Piggott.

From 1936 to 1943, she served on the Great Lakes and for the most part carried lumber and logs except for two years, 1937 and 1938, when she sailed under the name of the Oliver H. Perry and was a Sea Scout training ship.

In 1943 the Wing came to an end of her sailing days on the Great Lakes. She had only one voyage after that, when on July 24, 1948, Detroit's birthday, she was taken to what has become her last resting place, the south shore of Belle Isle.

After the closing of the Wing—the marine division exhibits, including the largest collection of Great Lakes ship models in existence, will be moved to the Detroit Historical Museum, Woodward at Kirby avenues.

Farmington Plans Adopting of New Building Code

A resolution of intention to adopt a new building code for Farmington township is now being drafted by A. G. Leonard, township attorney, and is expected to be ready for board action at the next regular meeting on Sept. 13.

The township board, at its meeting last week, authorized Leonard and Albert Gain, building inspectors, to study the possible adoption of the abridged edition of the building code as prepared by the Building Officials Conference of America. The code sets up minimum standards for building construction for residential commercial and industrial structures.

Gain and Leonard have held several conferences regarding the possible adoption of the code and number of minor changes have been suggested. These changes are now being incorporated into the resolution for presentation to the board.

The code which has been adopted by a large number of cities and townships in this area, covers standards for building, plumbing and heating. Gain stated that because of the tremendous increase in building throughout the township, a more complete and detailed code is necessary. According to the legal procedures, the declaration of intent must be presented first. If approved by the board, the code will be adopted at the next regular meeting, to become effective within 30 days.

DOING OR BELIEVING?

In visitation work I run across many different beliefs that people hold as their hope of entering heaven. Perhaps the most popular of these hopes is the belief that if one does the best he can, then when the end comes, he will be received into glory. Now there are two things wrong with such a belief. In the first place, if we will be honest with ourselves, we will admit that none of us have ever done the best we could. In most cases, if we had our lives to live over, we could and would do many things better than we did. We seldom exert our full energy in a good cause. We "have not resisted unto blood, striving against sin" as the Bible tells us. So then the truth of the matter is that we are guilty of not doing our best at all times. Then the second error is that salvation is a gift of God to a sinner who repents and trusts in Jesus and not a reward for a life of well doing. Titus 3:5 makes this plain by saying, "Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to His mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Spirit."
