Sliger Purchases Northville Record

Assumes Position As Publisher of Two Papers Today

Ownership of the Northville Record and the Novi News passed this week to William C. Sliger of Plymouth. Sliger assumes active direction of the two newspapers Aug. 2.

The new owner is an experienced newspaper man who has been with the Plymouth Mail as general manager since 1953, and for the two preceding years was its advertising manager. During this period the Mail won three state awards for General Excellence and twice won honorable mention awards in national contests.

Sale of the publications by Glenn H. Cummings, former owner, was prompted by enlarged public relations activities in Detroit and Cleveland, which made it impossible for him to devote sufficient time to local affairs. Cummings and N. W. Hopkins, of Plymouth, purchased the Record on Jan. 9, 1952 from Louise Cansfield, Arthur H. Cansfield and Florence D. Cansfield. The former devoted the major portion of his time to the paper until December, 1954, when Tom Cummings moved to Northville to become business manager. It was he who conceived and started the Novi News early in 1955, and has served as its editor since that time.

Sliger is 33 years of age. He is a graduate of Albion college and served three years in the Army Air Corps as a pilot of a B-29 in the Pacific theatre. He worked in both the advertising and editorial departments of the Albion Evening Recorder, Cadillac Evening News and Merced (Calif.) Sun-Star before coming to the Plymouth Mail.

With Plymouth merchants he conceived and organized that city's Community Stamp program which is now supported by 38 Plymouth merchants. He has served as the corporation's secretary since its beginning 10 months ago. He is a member of the Plymouth Kiwanis club and Chamber of Commerce retail merchants' committee. He has been a director of the Plymouth Symphony Society for three years (Continued on Page 12)

Street Improvement Bids To Be In for August 13 Meeting

The Northville city council voted Monday evening to advertise for bids on installation of curb and gutters and storm sewers on First St. and S. Wing St., between Fairbrook and Cady, and on Fairbrook between First and Center streets.

The bids are to be submitted in time for a special meeting of the council on Aug. 13.

Plans call for proceeding with a portion of the job, and perhaps all of it, as quickly as possible after the council decides how far the current budget will permit going this year.

The engineering firm of Atwell & Hicks estimated that the entire project may cost in the neighborhood of $41,500.

Tickets On Sale for Carol Ann Dinner

Tickets for the benefit turkey dinner for Carol Ann Donnelly, three-year old leukemia victim, are being sold at a fast rate.

The dinner will be held Aug. 26 at the American Legion Hall in Northville. It is sponsored by the ladies auxiliary of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and is open to the public.

Tickets may be purchased from club members, at the Northville Record office, or at the door. The tickets cost $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children.

Additional Contributors
Additional contributors to the Carol Ann Fund include Mr. and Mrs. Hiltunen and the Novi AM-VETS Perry Kenner Post No. 76. Their gifts bring the fund total to $800.

The Donnelly family lives at 45350 W. 10-Mile Rd.

CITY COUNCIL SIGNS 2 YEAR CONTRACT WITH DOWNS

for the Record

Elsewhere on this page there is a news story about the change in ownership of the Northville Record and the Novi News which occurred this week. It includes a short resume of the educational and professional background of the new owner, William C. (Bill) Sliger, of Plymouth, who has been general manager of the Plymouth Mail since 1951. In this capacity, he has played a large part in that paper's excellent news coverage of the area it serves and has demonstrated his capacity as a good newspaper man.

In assuming the much broader responsibility of becoming publisher of newspapers in two growing communities, Sliger is converting into actuality the dream of a great many newspaper men whose fondest desire is to own the newspaper they serve. Simultaneously he inherits the responsibility of furnishing a factually accurate record of events that will transpire in the area, and of undertaking through the editorial columns to influence public opinion for the good of the entire area.

Mr. Sliger will find the Northville and Novi communities a challenge to his ability both as a newspaper man and as a private citizen willing to take an active part in civic affairs. Based upon his past record, his reputation among his friends for the highest integrity, and our own personal knowledge of his attitude toward the newspaper profession, we are confident that he will be a good publisher and a valuable citizen to the communities which his papers serve.

City Manager Hearing Held; To Vote on Adoption Aug. 6

That the Northville city council will vote to adopt a city manager form of government at its next regular meeting Aug. 6 appeared likely at the conclusion of a public hearing last Monday evening on a proposed amendment to the city charter.

Only a handful of city residents attended the special council meeting to discuss the proposed ordinance. One was strongly against the proposal and a second appeared only lukewarm to it, but the others were uniformly in favor.

Mayor Claude N. Ely stated at the conclusion of the hearing that "a while back I was not in favor of a city manager because I had seen where a city manager had caused a lot of trouble in a neighboring community. Upon investigation, I found the trouble was the fault of the city's charter, whereas Northville's charter gives the council authority over a city manager and the power to discharge him at any time."

S. Frid Says Mgr. "Too Costly"
Sidney Frid was the lone outright opponent of the city manager ordinance. He opposed it on the ground that a city manager would be too costly.

L. M. Eaton appeared lukewarm toward the idea at this time, saying that he had not anticipated that the matter would come up so quickly after adoption of the city charter last fall. He added, however, that if the argument is sound that a city manager will save the city money "we'd all be in favor of a city manager as soon as possible."

Other Citizens Approve
Francis P. Gazlay supported the proposed ordinance, saying "we should have had a city manager long ago."

N'ville Adds 107 Homes in 6-Year Period

Occupied dwelling units in Northville increased from 973 on April 1, 1950 to 1,080 on July 1, 1956, according to estimates released Friday by the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission.

The increase of 107 occupied dwelling units meant a growth of 12% in a 6½ year period.

The greatest numerical gains in Wayne County (excluding Detroit) were made by Redford township (10,984), Livonia (7,368), Dearborn City (6,508), Allen Park (5,978), Garden City (5,271), Dearborn township (5,113), and Lincoln Park (5,055).

Riverview recorded the highest rate of increase with a gain of 277.8%. Garden City increased 226.3%, Redford township 216.6%, Allen Park 191.5%, Livonia 152.5% and Ecorse township 137.2%.

Increased dwelling units of nearby areas were as follows: Northville township, 214; Novi township, 534; Farmington City, 755; Farmington township, 2,093; Keego Harbor, 120; Milford township, 156; Milford Village, 213; South Lyon, 96; Walled Lake, 70; Livonia, 7,368; Plymouth City, 488, and Plymouth township, 460.

Policeman Captures Pig On Wing Street

Northville patrolman Roman Nowicki got his share of exercise early Saturday morning when he chased a couple of pigs on Wing and Main streets.

Nowicki received the call at 7 a.m. and immediately set out to capture the pigs. He caught one pig between the public library and 109 Wing St. The other pig is still at large.

The animals were reported lost by E. Metoff, 19484 Gerald Ave.

Agreement to Include Several City Services

The Northville city council voted this week to enter into a two year contract with Northville Downs covering installation of water and sewer lines direct to the new barns on the St. Lawrence property, auxiliary police services, fire protection and an unlimited amount of water for the years 1956 and 1957.

This is the first contract ever drawn between the city and Northville Downs. It supersedes an existing contract between the city and the Northville Driving Club, owner of the track, under which the city has been receiving $500 per night of racing for several years. The city's out-of-pocket expense under the old contract has been about $3,000 per year.

City Will Receive $28,000

The new contract provides for payment to the city by Northville Downs of $27,500 this year, plus the salaries of four additional auxiliary policemen for the final two weeks of the racing season, amounting to about $500. City Attorney presented the Downs' check for $17,500 to the council together with a contract signed by John Carlo, general manager of the Downs. This sum represented $500 per night for the 35-day racing season. An additional $10,000 is to be paid by the Downs on or before the last day of racing.

In return for these payments, the city is to defray the approximately $13,600 cost of laying sewers and water lines direct to the barns and provide the usual police protection and water which together should amount to about $4,400.

Net Gain About $10,000

Councilman John F. Stubenvoll said the city will make about $10,000 from the Downs contract this year. Next year, the contract provides for payment by Northville Downs of $7,500, for which the city is obligated to supply only water to the Downs. The race group will provide its own police protection in 1957. It was pointed out during discussion of terms of the new contract that the existing contract between Northville Downs and the Driving Club, which gave the city $500 per night of racing, was not enforceable by the city and that the money had been forthcoming in the past only by mutual consent of the Downs and the Driving Club. The contract could have been amended by the two parties to exclude the city at any time.

Contract Protects City.
"Under the circumstances," say members of the city council, "the new contract is as good as could be expected." Councilman Earl Reed said the city probably would have received nothing next year without the contract.

Councilman John F. Canterbury asked if it was correct to assume that the city will receive no revenue direct from Northville Downs after 1957. Stubenvoll replied: "Very likely, yes." He also said: "I was elated to get this contract even if we do have to kick back, part of it."

(When Northville became a city last year it became eligible to receive 20% of the state's tax on pari-mutuel betting at the local track, which amounted to $89,464 last year and should run to a nearly comparable figure this year. This revenue will continue in future years.)

Stubenvoll was referring to the fact that the city is paying the $13,600 cost of installing the water and sewer lines direct to the barns, which Canterbury had previously described as an obligation of the Downs under normal circumstances.

Financial Advantage To Downs
One councilman pointed out that it was to the financial advantage of the Downs to have the city defray the cost of running the sewer and water lines to the barns. Reimbursement of the city for the cost of these improvements is chargeable as expense by the Downs under the new contract and becomes of immediate benefit as a tax deduction, whereas if the Downs were to install these facilities itself it would have to treat the cost as a leasehold improvement to be charged off as expense over the term of the lease.

RIGHT ON SCHEDULE, construction work on the Ford Motor Company's new Lincoln plant and office building on Wixom Rd. is progressing rapidly during the summer months. Footings are being poured for the 200,000 square foot office building (center, foreground) which will be completed and ready for occupancy in March, 1957. In the background is a 300,000 gallon water tank recently erected northwest of the plant building. Only 50% of the tank's capacity will be used for domestic purposes, while the remaining 50% will be held in reserve for fire-fighting. Workmen in the left photo are putting finishing touches on a concrete slab foundation in one of the plant's boiler pits. The plant and offices will have steam heat. Two wells are being drilled north of the plant and will be approximately 250 feet deep, officials say. Some of the 12-inch casings for the well are shown in the foreground.

Verschaeves See Art Exhibits In Belgium and England

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Verschaeve and daughter, Artura, of Clement Rd., returned recently from a six weeks vacation in Europe. The trip was made by plane, train and auto and was highlighted by a visit with Mr. Verschaeve's family in Belgium, after an absence of more than 40 years.

They also visited England, Holland, France, Germany and Switzerland. The Verschaeves' chief objective was to visit the European art galleries and they were richly rewarded in Amsterdam where they saw a large exhibition of Rembrandt's paintings and another one of his etchings and drawings in the British museum in London.

Ham And Wheat Croquettes An Unusual Combination

You never outgrow your need for cereal and milk! Try Ham and Wheat Croquettes for a unique way to include cereal and milk in your family's diet. These oven-baked croquettes will delight homemakers. They eliminate the tedious deep-fat frying usually required for cooking croquettes. Ham and Wheat Croquettes can be made earlier in the day and refrigerated until time to bake—a real timesaver for the busy homemaker in the late afternoon.

Milk and cereal make an equal contribution to the food values common to both. This combination offers nine important nutrients: protein, carbohydrate, thiamine, niacin, riboflavin, iron, phosphorus, calcium, and fat. There are few foods that can better the nutritional composition of cereal and milk—whether used as a main dish at breakfast, luncheon or snacks, or in combination with other foods such as the Ham and Wheat Croquettes.

Ham And Wheat Croquettes'
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
few grains pepper
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup whole wheat cereal, uncooked, instant or regular
1 cup boiling water
2 cups ground cooked ham
1/4 cup minced onion
2 tablespoons minced parsley
2 tablespoons water
1 egg, beaten
1 cup crushed corn flakes

Melt butter, add flour, salt and pepper and stir until smooth. Add milk gradually, stirring during addition. Cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Cook 5 minutes longer. Add whole wheat cereal gradually to rapidly boiling water; stir constantly until thickened; cook slowly 2 minutes. Combine white sauce, cooked whole wheat cereal, ham, onion, and parsley; mix well. Chill thoroughly. Form into 8 croquettes, 1/2 inch thick. Mix water and egg. Roll croquettes in crushed corn flakes, then in egg mixture, and again in crushed corn flakes. Bake in shallow pan in hot oven (400°F.) 20 minutes. Serve with mushroom, cheese, or tomato sauce, as desired. Yield: 8 croquettes.

He is also a board member of the Michigan Welfare League and the Southern Oakland County United Community Service, president of the Wayne Social Work Alumni Ass'n. and the secretary of the Oak Park District School Board of Education.

Contest At Fair for Young and Old

The Michigan State Fair, one big contest itself, is adding 10 special contests for children and older folk.

Donald L. Swanson, general manager of the State Fair to be held Aug. 31 through Sept. 9, says that now is the time for entering these various contests by sending him the name, address and telephone of the contestant and the name of the contest.

The children's contests are for two age groups — 6 to 9 and 10 to 14 — with finals to be run on Children's Day, Tuesday, Sept. 4.

There'll be cash prizes of $5, $4, $3, $2, and $1 for winners of the following: pie eating, watermelon eating, most freckled face, cutest and longest pony tail and a picture taking contest.

But the youngsters have no monopoly on contests designed strictly for fun. You are eligible if you are 60 years or over for the following new competition this year: oldest man, oldest woman, oldest couple, prettiest hat and longest mustache. Of course, there are the husband calling and hog calling contests for which oldsters also are eligible.

Most of the old folks contests will be held on Old Timers Day, Thursday, Sept. 6.

Lutheran Minister Back from 10-Day Convention in Minn.

The Rev. B. J. Pankow, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church in Northville, recently returned from the triennial convention of the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod in St. Paul, Minn. He served as pastoral delegate for the XII Electoral Circuit of the Michigan District.

The convention was attended by over 1,000 delegates and lasted for a period of ten days. After the convention Rev. Pankow joined his wife and children for a brief vacation in North Dakota. Among the many resolutions adopted by the convention was one that strengthened the emphasis on parish education. The 1,894 men teachers and 2,081 lady teachers who are teaching the more than 125,000 children enrolled in the synod's parochial schools were commended for their work. The synod instructed the Board for Higher Education to increase teacher training facilities to still further meet the demand for more church trained teachers.

The church body also urged the recruitment of more full-time workers. "The Lutheran church needs more able and dedicated men and women for training as pastors and teachers than at any time since the Reformation," asserted the Rev. Dr. Walter F. Wolbrecht, executive secretary of the board for higher education. The board was charged to make necessary budgetary provision for the development of techniques and materials essential to an effective recruitment program of students preparing for full-time service to the church.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (182:30-4): "To admit that sickness is a condition over which God has no control, is to presuppose that omnipotent power is powerless on some occasions. The law of Christ, or Truth, makes all things possible to Spirit; but the so-called laws of matter would render Spirit of no avail, and demand obedience to materialistic codes, thus departing from the basis of one God, one lawmaker."

The Rev. Peter Nieuwkoop, Pastor
 First Baptist Church, Northville

"And God Said — Thou Fool!"

Jesus once used this example while He was preaching. He told of a rich man who had an abundant harvest. In fact it was so great that he needed to enlarge his barns and granaries to hold the overflowing harvest. He laid his plans and at the same time addressed his soul by saying "Soul, you have plenty of good things laid up for many years. Go on and take your ease; continue to eat, drink and enjoy yourself!" It was then that God stepped in and said "Thou fool, this night shall thy soul be required of thee. Then who will have all that you have prepared?" To which He adds the spiritual application "So is it with the man who continues to pile up possessions for himself and is not rich toward God."

Why Did God Call This Man A Fool?

Surely He did not use this word idly as some do today. He did not use it to be calling him a bad name. He used it because he behaved himself in an unwise manner, even as a foolish one. Now because there are so many people in this world who are following in this man's footsteps it would be well for us to consider three mistakes which this man made which drew from the Lord the expression "Thou fool!"

First — He Left God Out of All His Calculations

He did not consider that he was but a tenant on God's earth. He considered not that it was the providence of God who had given him the sunshine and the rain nor the fertile soil from which the harvest had come. He sounded as if he had been responsible for it all for he says "I" and "My" eleven times — but he gave no credit to the goodness of the Lord. Never once did he offer a prayer of thanksgiving. It says not that he took a thank offering or a tithe to the house of God. He never consulted the Lord how his harvest could be used to God's glory. There was no song of praise to God. A former home

Missionary once told me about other words, it was a confession visiting in a home on his field. He was invited to stay for dinner at a certain home. As they sat down to the table there was that embarrassing pause as there is sometimes in the homes of non Christians who are not accustomed to saying grace. The Missionary spoke up and said, "Now I think it would be a good thing to bow our heads and give God thanks for this good food that is set before us." The unbelieving farmer spoke up and said, "I see no reason for giving God the thanks — I'm the one that worked to provide the food for this table." Poor shortsighted man!

The Second Mistake — He Thought His Soul Could Be Satisfied With Material Things

"I will say to my soul — Soul, eat, drink and be merry." Oh, how many thousands are trying to find happiness in this way. King Solomon, the wisest and richest king that ever lived once attempted to find satisfaction in this way too. In fact the Book of Ecclesiastes records this experiment. He dabbled in the wisdom of the world. He made a hobby of his vineyards and gardens. He assembled an orchestra and a choir and many more things. But in the end he says, "Vanity of vanities sayeth the preacher." In

JUST BETWEEN US SPORTSMEN

— by Joe Bates, Jr., Guest Columnist

Here's a trick for keeping fish fresh when you're away from refrigeration. Clean them thoroughly while still cool from the water. Wipe dry and roll them in corn meal; then in newspapers. (Newspapers are excellent insulation.) Keep them in the coolest place possible. Proper cleaning, plus keeping fish dry and cool is the answer. Good idea is to carry some plastic bags in your pocket. Tie the package water-tight in a plastic bag and you can keep it in the cold water of a lake or stream until time to go home. Then, just unwrap your catch and it is ready for the skillet.

A fishing pal of mine has a neat idea for solid comfort while trolling. When he wants hot coffee, tea or soup, he makes it fresh on a propane gas cook stove placed on the seat or on the bottom of the boat. Advantage of propane gas, he says, is that there's no liquid fuel to spill; no fuel cans to lug; no pumping or priming. This stove (called the "Bernz-O-Matic") costs less than ten bucks and will cook a hot meal anywhere. Sportsmen in the know prefer it because it's absolutely safe; in fact, you can tip it over without increasing the flame. So I got one, and it has my vote for safe, easy, efficient outdoor cooking. You light it as easily as your gas range at home. Each gas cylinder provides a solid week of cooking. When the cylinder finally gives up, just throw it away and screw in a new one—as easily as attaching a light bulb!

These propane gas stoves are pretty handy around camps, too. There's also a double burner model; light, compact and fool-proof. Great as an accessory for back yard open-fire cooking, and worth its weight in gold when the current goes off at home. When not on the water, I keep mine in my car for fast cooking anytime, anywhere.

Speaking of cooking, the folks who make the stove put out a 52 page illustrated cook book called "Outdoor Cooking—Made Easy". It contains dozens of simple, unusual, recipes and many helpful hints for foil cooking, building cooking fires, equipment needs, etc. To get one, just send a quarter in coin to the Otto Bernz Company, Inc., Rochester 6, New York.

A recipe I like in this cook book is for "Bannock"—the woodsmen's bread on the trail. Just mix 2 cups flour and 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder. Add a tablespoon of cool bacon grease and a half teaspoon of salt. Knead this together thoroughly, adding enough water to make the dough pliable. Cook over moderate heat in a greased skillet and turn the cake over when the bottom is brown and crusted. When you think it's done, test it with a straw or splinter. If no dough collects on it, the cake should be done. Serve with butter and preserves, and add raisins, blueberries, sugar, cinnamon, etc., if you wish. What? No skillet! Just wrap the dough cruller fashion around a green stick and toast it.

Friend of mine finds he saves hours removing paint from his boat or cabin by heating it with a Bernz-O-Matic torch. Just heat and scrape off with a putty knife. This torch uses the same cylinder as the cook stoves, and an ingenious valve lets you transfer cylinders whenever you wish. I find this torch helpful in getting fires going without kindling—especially in wet weather. Also, you can use it for freeing frozen pipes, and scores of soldering and other "Do It Yourself" jobs.

Woods are dry—and sparks fly! Small, well sheltered fires in safe places are the mark of a good woodsman. Douse the fire with plenty of water before you leave. Better yet, use a propane gas cook stove. It's quicker, easier, safer and cleaner. It also keeps you from running afoul of the fire warden!

The Northville Midget League will hold their play-off games this Saturday, Aug. 4 at the ball diamond north of the wading pool in Cass Benton park. The public is invited to attend.

Members of the midget league are all 12 years old and under. The league is co-sponsored by the Northville Recreation Dept. and the Northville Optimist club. At the end of regular league play the Lions and Bears are tied for first place with four wins and two losses. The Panthers and Tigers are tied for third place with two wins and four losses.

The Bears and Lions are co-champions in regular league play but they could possibly meet in the play-offs this Saturday.

The first game will pit the Lions against the Panthers at 9:30 a.m. The second game will start the Bears against the Tigers at 10:45 a.m.

The two winners in the morning games will meet at 2 p.m. for the play-off championship game.

Handy Jim's Fix-Up Tips For the Home

Hang Up Tubes of Glue
A MIGHTY smart way to organize adhesive container tubes at the workbench is to adopt the recommendation of The Home Craftsman magazine. Instead of using the threaded pins which usually come with such containers, obtain some inexpensive cup hooks and use them as caps. With their concave flanges, these hooks create a double seal which keeps out the air. They also enable the craftsman to hang the tubes of glue, household cement, wood putty and other items in a neat row above the workbench, within reach and quickly identifiable.

Two-Freak Accidents At Island Lake

Lansing, July 31 — Simultaneous freak accidents were featured at Island Lake recreation area near Brighton last week end.

First, a top-down convertible car got frisky, jumped off one of the park roadways and plunged into the lake. Both occupants scampered to safety as the car submerged.

A wrecker was called and someone volunteered to dive down and attach the cable so the car could be towed out.

The owner said he was trying to avoid another car when the accident occurred.

Meanwhile, at the opposite end of the lake, a boater was having trouble starting his 25-horsepower outboard engine. He pulled and pulled without success.

Finally, with throttle wide-open, the engine caught and the boat roared away. The boater was tossed clear, dunked, and came up just in time to see the boat bearing down on top of him. He dove in the nick of time.

All that horsepower, feeling its oats, drove the boat in a half circle and headed it for the crowded swimming beach. Most of the bathers were as yet unaware of the danger.

Luckily, another boat was at hand and caused enough wake to turn the rampant outboard on a new course.

By now, the boat was traveling an estimated 40 miles per hour. It continued on, rammed a docked boat, leaped 10 feet through the air and smashed a concrete pillar of a building near the shore. There wasn't much left of the boat after all this and the owner was wet and shaken, but no one was injured.

Pastor's Study ...

soul after death. A king was annoyed one day at the presence of his court jester so sent him out with a golden scepter to find the greatest fool in his kingdom. Years passed and the king fell ill. When the court jester heard of his master's illness, he rushed to his side. They talked of the affairs of the kingdom and the king told him about his preparations for the throne and kingdom after he had departed. He told of the details he had made for his funeral. Then the servant asked, "And what preparations hast thou made for thy soul?" The king replied that he had not made any. The servant reached beneath his garment and presented the golden scepter to the king and said, "Thou art the greatest fool in all thy realm. Thou hast made preparations for everything else except the most important!" Friend, do not make these same mistakes.

Eight-Day Girl Scout Encampment Underway At Camp Mindokwin

The woods at 12½-Mile and Dixon Rd. rang with songs, laughter and squeals of delight and amazement last week as 40 Novit Girl Scouts and their leaders ended an 8-day training period at Camp Mindokwin July 26.

Mindokwin is an Indian name meaning "many maples" and the campsite, on the Marvin Guntz-viller farm, is located in a grove of maple trees.

The young scouts attended the camp each day from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. and practiced the various phases of outdoor living. They learned to patch tents, build shelters, construct outdoor kitchens and cook over campfires.

Different types of meals were prepared each day in many different ways. Stew was prepared and cooked in large tin cans, vegetables and meats were cooked wrapped in foil, and baked goods were prepared in outdoor ovens.

The camp is an annual affair organized for scouts in this area by Novit Girl Scout leaders under the direction of Mrs. John Eby.

MAYBE THEY CAME FROM A DINOSAUR or a prehistoric mammoth, but more likely the large jawbones being so proudly displayed by these two young scouts came from an old horse or cow. At any rate, Judy Dye (left) and Patty Dye were quite excited and pleased with these "souvenirs" of their day's expedition into the woods.

ALTHOUGH NOT QUITE AS SMOOTH as the kitchen counter mother has at home, this dish pan and kitchen utensil platform proved to be just as useful as the girls prepared their own food in their woodland kitchen. Girl Scouts Shirley Coleman (left) and Noel F'Geppert carefully tie the final rope lashings before putting the platform to use.

er, Harvey Ritchie and Dick Ritchie, expressed their approval more briefly.

George Clark, who lives in the township but is a substantial property owner in the city, told the council he was attending the hearing as an "observer". After the meeting, he announced that he will be a candidate for the city manager's job if the council adopts the ordinance.

Orson Atchinson, who also has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the job, attended the hearing as a spectator.

Canterbury Explains Mgr. Gov't.

Councilman John S. Canterbury opened the hearing with a discussion of the city manager form of government, saying that it is considered by many people as the most efficient form of municipal government. He described the city manager plan as 45 years old and the most rapidly growing type of government. "There are more than 1500 city manager governments in the United States and more than 100 in Michigan," he said.

Canterbury emphasized that if Northville decides to hire a city manager, that official will serve as the city's chief administrative officer, in the same manner as R. H. Amerman serves as the school district's chief administrative official with the title of superintendent of schools. "Like Amerman, who functions as an administrator within policy lines laid down by the board of education, a city manager would be responsible to the will of the city council, which is elected every two years," he said.

Cost of Mgr. Debated
Frid asked how much salary the council contemplated paying a city manager and said he understood it might cost as much as $25,000 a year. Asked by Canterbury where such a salary was being paid by a city of comparable size, Frid said: "In Farmington. It isn't just the manager's salary, it's the other costs — a secretary, travel, an assistant, etc."

Replied Canterbury: "I spent this afternoon (Monday) in Farmington talking to the city manager and to the editor of the Farmington Enterprise. The Farmington city manager receives a salary of $7,500 per year, plus a definite maximum allowance of $800 per year for all travel expense, conventions, etc. He has a secretary who devotes a considerable part of her time to other city departments. The city manager used to be the city assessor also, but he had to quit because of the pressure of other duties which have mounted as Farmington has grown."

Canterbury quoted Mike Kiley, managing editor of the Farmington Enterprise as saying: "Farmington has had a professional city manager for five years. It hasn't cost us money, but instead has saved the city expense."

At this point Canterbury pointed out that Northville has recently renewed its garbage removal contract for $6,600 per year. "We have about 1,700 homes here. Farmington has a population of over 6,000 and just signed a contract for $7,200 for garbage and rubbish collection."

He said he was not criticizing the local contract because it probably is all right, "but I think a professional manager can often size up situations and have a better idea about costs than a non-professional city council which must necessarily sandwich in city business with the private affairs of its members."

Frid replied: "That's a very good speech, but you should talk with the councilmen in Farmington instead of taking the word of the local newspaper editor."

"Canterbury pointed out that inasmuch as the Farmington city manager is hired by the Farmington city council and can be removed by the council at its will, it must be presumed that the council there believe he is doing okay."

Asks About Definite Qualifications

After supporting the city manager form of government, Gazlay inquired why the proposed city manager ordinance fails to outline definite qualifications for a city manager. Canterbury replied that the National Municipal Ass'n. does not recommend iron-clad or rigid specifications, because these might hinder hiring a good man at times. "While there is something to be said for formal educational and experience requirements in some instances, we don't feel that they should necessarily be the deciding factor in choosing a manager. Such a person must have the ability to get along with people and induce pleasant working conditions, as well as formal education along engineering and municipal administration lines. We shall do our best to choose a manager who is best equipped for the job if Northville decides to adopt the city manager form of government."

Tom Carrington said he has always been in favor of a city manager. "A good many communities are adopting this type of government and few are discontinuing it. It must be good, but if it isn't we can kick it out."

Harvey Ritchie said: "I think the people are in favor of it. They approved the charter by a substantial margin."

The wealth of man is the number of things which he loves and blesses, which he is loved and blessed by.

State Fair To Honor Teaching Family

Wanted: the names of Michigan teachers who are at least third generation teachers within one family.

The Michigan State Fair will honor some teacher whose parent and grandparent also were teachers. Perhaps there is someone whose family contained teachers even further back.

Anyway, Donald L. Swanson, general manager of the State Fair and himself a teacher by profession, says the State Fair will select and honor such a renowned teacher and family on Teachers Day at the State Fair on Saturday, Sept. 8.

Swanson said the names of eligible teachers should be sent to Teachers Day Director, Michigan State Fair, Detroit 3, Mich.

This year Teachers Day, inaugurated two years ago, was switched from the first Saturday of the State Fair to the last to allow teachers a better opportunity to attend.

All Michigan teachers will be admitted to the grounds without charge to enjoy the entire State Fair and the special Teachers Day events that have been scheduled all day.

Cities are growing fast in Florida, the western South, and the far West, a recent survey shows.

Big Things Planned For Water Carnival Aug. 10

"The entire summer staff of the recreation department will be on hand to insure the safety and success of the big water carnival Aug. 10, at Groomer's Beach, Whitmore Lake," said Stanley Johnston, recreation director, this week.

Johnston said that four buses will be on hand to transport the youngsters to the lake. The only cost will be 15 cents for entrance to the beach. The buses will leave at 9:30 a.m. for an all-day affair of games, contests, picnic and swimming.

Duck Stamp Contest

Lansing, July 31 — the eighth annual federal duck stamp design contest has been announced for 1957-58.

Artists interested in the contest may obtain further information by writing the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Information Section at Washington, D.C.

Some of the activities that will fill the day are wading races for the younger children, swimming races for the older ones, canoe races, water relay games, diving for co. ns, and many other contests for both boys and girls. Prizes will be awarded to the winners.

"The youngsters should plan on bringing what they need for an all-day session," Johnston said. "Things like bathing suits, towels, lunches, articles of clothing and gear to enable them to enjoy the day." Refreshments and lunches can be obtained at the beach if the children do not want to bring a packed lunch.

Parents are welcome to come along and join the fun. Those who want to drive their car should meet at the Main St. elementary school and leave at the same time that the buses do. To take advantage of the 15 cents entrance charge the party will have to enter the beach as a group. Latecomers will have to pay the regular charge of 50 cents.

Children under eight years of age must be accompanied by someone 12 years old or older.

The water carnival will mark the end of the summer recreation program. However, if the weather is nice and there is the demand, swimming will be extended for the week, Aug. 13 to Aug. 17. All other activities will end Aug. 10.

All Boys and Girls Invited To Detroit Police Field Day

A special invitation was issued this week to the Northville Junior Police to attend the Detroit Police Field Day this Saturday, Aug. 4.

The invitation is also extended to any boy or girl who wishes to attend. What do you have to do? Just be on hand to board the bus at 11:30 a.m. this Saturday.

There is no cost for the field day and transportation will be free. Parents are also urged to come along with their youngsters.

The affair will be under supervision of the Recreation Dept. The buses will return to Northville about 4:30 p.m.

For information about boarding the buses phone Stanley Johnston at 687-R.

IF YOU THINK we're having an early fall this year here's a sure sign. Santa Claus sent a whopping big shipment of toys down from the North Pole last week via Jones Transfer Co. (Not enuf snow for reindeer). "And where were they all heading?" you ask.

"To Stone's Gamble Store toy department," we hasten to explain.

"How many toys?" you ask. "Six tons of 'em — 333 boxes in all," we breathlessly explain (having carried them up two flights of stairs to the toy department).

We'll have a sneak preview for all the kids (75 and under) late this month. Meanwhile, here are just a couple of clues to the spine-tingling thrills in store on our second floor — a set of Texas Checkers 16" in diameter. You play the game sitting down (everybody takes it easy in Texas).

And then there's a wireless intercom unit . . . radio controlled cars . . . a miniature shooting gallery . . . stucks, there's more than even Santa himself can keep track of. Just you wait and see!

Don't Forget To Discontinue Special Services At Moving Time

When you are moving, don't forget to have utility, newspaper and other services discontinued or transferred to your new address. If you don't have many of these cancelled, you may find extra bills awaiting you when you reach your new home.

Too, you may have some utility deposits due you. To aid families on the move, some of today's best known moving companies publish special lists of reminders. This reminder list is one used by the Aero Mayflower Transit Company:

1. Have such things as gas, electricity, water, garbage service, telephone, milk and newspaper delivery, laundry and diaper service discontinued from the day you leave your present address.

2. Have your refrigerator, automatic washer, home freezer etc., serviced for the trip.

3. Write to the utility companies in the city to which you are moving. Ask about necessary fees or deposits required for installation services.

4. Send the utility deposits requested telling when and where you will want the service.

5. Send your forwarding address to your local postoffice. Send change of address cards to magazine subscriptions and insurance companies.

6. Be sure to transfer fire insurance on household goods or personal possessions, so that they will be covered at your new home.

Air Conditioning Costs Much Less In Insulated House

Insulation of your home — or lack of it — has a lot to do with the initial cost of the air conditioning equipment you may be buying. And it means even more in terms of lower operating cost.

Tests conducted by the University of Illinois on a 4 1/2-room house showed that 6-ton air conditioning equipment would be needed in a house that is not insulated. But with a minimum of 3 inches of mineral wool insulation in walls and ceiling joists, 2-ton equipment would do the job.

The cost of insulating the house with mineral wool was estimated to be less than $240, and this would result in reducing the initial cost of air conditioning equipment by $840. The expense of operating the equipment also would be reduced more than half, year after year.

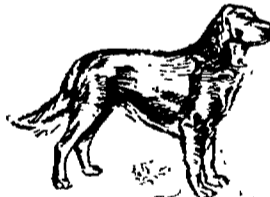

DOGS ON VACATION

by E. M. Gildow, D.V.M., Director, Friskies Research Kennels
Most families on vacation wisely include a list of first-aid "do's and don'ts" as part of their preparation. You should also be familiar with outdoor hazards that may mean trouble for your dog.

For example, your dog may be bitten by a poisonous snake, and Dog of the Week: GOLDEN RETRIEVER.

Sporting dog. Average weight: 65 pounds. Shoulder height: 23 inches. Coat: Double. Undercoat dense and water-resistant. Outer coat flat or wavy. Color: Rich golden brown.

a single snakebite might be fatal. If you see your dog bitten by a poisonous snake, promptly restrain him by tying his mouth shut and holding him firmly. Then made a cross (X) cut over the fang marks, deep enough so the blood flows freely. If the bite is on a leg or foot, apply a tourniquet above the bite, remembering to loosen it briefly every 30 minutes until a veterinarian can be reached.

Dogs are occasionally bitten by black widow spiders and sometimes dogs are stung to death by bee swarms. If the dog becomes sick and inactive and you suspect he has been bitten or stung, give him a small drink of strong coffee as a stimulant. Never use alcohol or apply any caustics to the bites. Contact a veterinarian immediately.

When your pet gets too friendly with a skunk (pity the poor pooch) wash him in hot water with soap, and repeat if necessary. Then place him in the sun — heat is the best way to dispel skunk odor.

Be sure the dog has plenty of fresh, pure water, so he won't be tempted to try pools that may be unclean.

Feeding Tip: A healthy, frisky dog requires a well-rounded diet, fed to him once a day. He also needs daily exercise, depending on his size and weight — everything from running over large open areas to ball chasing in the backyard.

There's music in all things if men had ears; their earth is but an echo of the spheres. —Byron

Can You Answer This One?

Some time ago it was necessary for me to visit the County Jail. As I sat in the sheriff's office waiting until he brought a prisoner in so I could talk to him, I noticed a list of articles that prisoners could take with them when they were transferred to the State prison. The first article mentioned was a Bible. It is the law in the State of Michigan that requires the chaplain to "hold religious services in prison, attend to spiritual wants of the convicts, give them moral and religious instruction and, at state expense, furnish a Bible to each convict." Yet, the Detroit camp of Gleasons were refused permission by the Detroit Board of Education to give copies of the New Testament to the students from the fifth through the twelfth grades. What inconsistency! Anyone with an ounce of common sense knows that the Bible and true Bible preaching acts as a retardation of sin and crime in any community. The man or woman who opposes the spread of Bibles and the teaching thereof is helping to increase crime and to destroy the very foundations of our Government. We cannot honor God unless we honor and uphold His word, the Bible.

Horse Show Entries Set All-Time Record

The numbers of early entries coming in indicate that the Northville Junior Horse show will set an all-time record for young riders competing in the 26 events that make up the show.

The event, sponsored by the Northville Optimist club for the benefit of youth projects in the community, will be at Northville Downs, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 11 and 12, from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. both days.

The honor of Number 1 entry this year goes to Linda Loveland from Grand Rapids, who will ride in the gaited horse classes.

Trying for the trophy that will go to the youngest entry in the show will be Stacy Ann Schaefer, 17 months old, of Northville. Stacey is the daughter of the Stanton Schaefer of 6-Mile Rd. In the 4-H horsemanship competition, clubs will be represented from Northville, South Lyon, Plymouth, Livonia and Belleville.

In the Junior Equestrian league, sponsored by the Northville Optimists, the teams will mark the half-way point in the season's competition. Last year's defending champions, the Bloomfield Irishmen, hold a slim margin of two points over the Outland Equestrians, 13 to 11. The Northville competition will be hotly contested in this close race. Fourteen teams with a total of 56 riders make up the league.

In charge of the various departments of the show are Adrian Willis and John Canterbury, co-chairmen of finance; Dr. Waldo Johnson and Harry Richardson, tickets; Merrill Sweet, boxes; William Cheetham, program advertising; Dr. L. W. Snow, trophies; Don Hannabarger, displays and concessions; J. P. Malley, general chairman; Maxwell Austin, grounds and equipment; James Green, stabling; Stanton Schaefer and William Taft, show operations.

Rotarians Plan Activities to Include Wives

Leland Smith, president of the Northville Rotary club, said this week that the Rotary club of Northville will endeavor to bring the Rotary Ann's (wives members) much closer to the club than ever before by including them in several of the club's activities.

The first item on the activities list that extends an invitation to the wives is the Farewell Dinner the Rotarians are sponsoring tonight (Thursday) at the Presbyterian church. The dinner is in honor of 27 foreign exchange students.

The second item includes a family activity planned for Aug. 23. That's the date of the Rotary picnic which will be held at the Willows, Cass Benton park. "Come prepared to eat, Rotarians and the whole family. All you bring is your appetite, knife, fork and spoon," Smith said.

Other activities planned which include the wives is the Rural-Urban dinner in October and the annual breakfast Jan. 1.

More than 78 per cent of vehicles involved in fatal accidents in 1955 were traveling straight ahead.
