Mrs. Ruth Starkweather prepares filling for her custard pie

Custard pie secrets from England are revealed by Mrs. Ruth Starkweather in her recipe. The crust is extra rich — making for a mouth-watering dessert.

CUSTARD PIE (9-Inch Pie)

Crust:
2 cups flour
1 cup shortening
½ cup ice water
Press crust firmly into pie plate so filling won't bubble up.

Filling:
3 eggs
2 cups milk
¾ cup sugar
pinch salt

Beat eggs very lightly, stop before they reach frothy stage. Heat milk, sugar and salt just until sugar is dissolved. Do not boil. Pour hot milk-sugar mixture into beaten eggs. Sprinkle top with nutmeg.

Bake at about 400 degrees for 25 minutes, then at 350 for about 20 minutes.

Garden Club Hears Speaker Discuss Highway Beauty

The Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association met at the home of Mrs. H. N. Frogner Monday, October 8.

Speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Clarence Johnston of Farmington, presented ideas to preserve the beauty of our streets and highways and keep them free from litter.

Mrs. Johnston heads the committee on Roadside Development of the Michigan Federated Garden Clubs and has helped several communities in Litter Bug campaigns. She showed many types of trash containers that can be carried in cars and Litter Bug posters for use in schools and public places. She noted that many cities are strictly enforcing the state law fining $100 to persons found throwing trash on highways.

Committee members for the meeting were Mrs. T. G. Hegge, Mrs. E. E. Miller, Mrs. H. Wagen-schutz, Mrs. T. J. Knapp and Mrs. E. Mueller.

Garden Club President Mrs. Glenn H. Cummings is asking members to hang a Harvest Swag on their doors at Thanksgiving time.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Dean King

Gail Waterman Now Mrs. King

At an eight o'clock ceremony Saturday evening, September 29 in the First Presbyterian Church of Northville, Gail Ann Waterman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Waterman, of Six Mile road, became the bride of Billy Dean King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy King of South Rogers street, Northville.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. John O. Tax is in a chancel decorated with palms, candelabra and arrangements of white mums and gladioli. "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by W. G. Williams, accompanied by Mrs. Barton Connors at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length wedding gown of white hand clipped chantilly lace with appliqued overskirt and bodice highlighted by a scalloped lace neckline. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, and carried a white bible centered with two white orchids surrounded by stephanotis and ivy.

The maid of honor, Shirley Adcox, cousin of the groom, wore a ballerina length gown of blue crystaletta. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses and yellow mums.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. William Maxwell, cousin of the bride, and Miss Janice Owens, friend of the bride, wore ballerina length dresses of rose taffeta and carried colonial bouquets of hibbard roses and bronze mums.

Bonnie Krumm, cousin of the bride, was flower girl in a long pink taffeta dress. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and white mums.

For his best man, the bridegroom chose his brother, Aubrey King. Larry Gotts, cousin of the bride, and Cliff Napier, Robert Schock and Ronnie Weber were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Waterman selected a beige Italian silk sheath dress with brown accessories. Mrs. King, the bridegroom's mother, chose a cocoa brown silk dress with rose and brown accessories. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

A reception for more than 200 guests was held at the Northville Community building following the ceremony. Guests came from Northville, Plymouth, Bay City, Livonia, Allen Park and Detroit.

Following their honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and through the Eastern states, the couple will live on West Seven Mile road.

Ceramics can refer to anything made from fired earth, including glass window panes, bathroom fixtures, wall and pipe tile, enamel on copper, china dinnerware and porcelain.

Let us be clear about the role of the classics; they are worth studying as examples of how to think, not of what to think.

Has So Many Students It Doesn't Know What to Do

A WALK IN THE OPEN is necessary for the many students who have classes in the Community building. During winter, it will be a question of carrying bulky clothing to class or going cold.

Northville High School is packed. It is overflowing with the largest enrollment in its history — more than 725 students in a school that was built 40 years ago to handle 300 students.

For teachers and students alike, the overcrowding is reaching an almost unworkable stage.

So many shifts, improvisations, and temporary plans have had to be made in the past few years that administrators are seriously asking themselves how much longer it will be before the quality of education in Northville suffers to the danger point.

Students, too, are unhappy with the situation. It's no fun for them to take a math class in a room filled by the humming and roaring of power tools in a machine shop next door. Nor do they appreciate having to stand outside during noon hour or having to walk between buildings in rainy weather.

But at present, those are the conditions they must face—simply because Northville high school is too small for the number of students within its walls.

Not every parent can get to the high school to see first hand what the conditions are. (And even if they could, there wouldn't be room for them.)

On this page, therefore, the Record attempts to illustrate graphically just what the word "overcrowding" means when applied to Northville high school.

The problem is not unique to Northville, of course. Hundreds of other communities in the country are faced with the same sudden growth in population and overcrowding of schools. Some are coping with the problem successfully. Some are not.

Parents of children will hear much more about such conditions in the next few weeks. Administrators and teachers will try to bring home the importance of alleviating a situation that, before long, could seriously affect the education of Northville's youth.

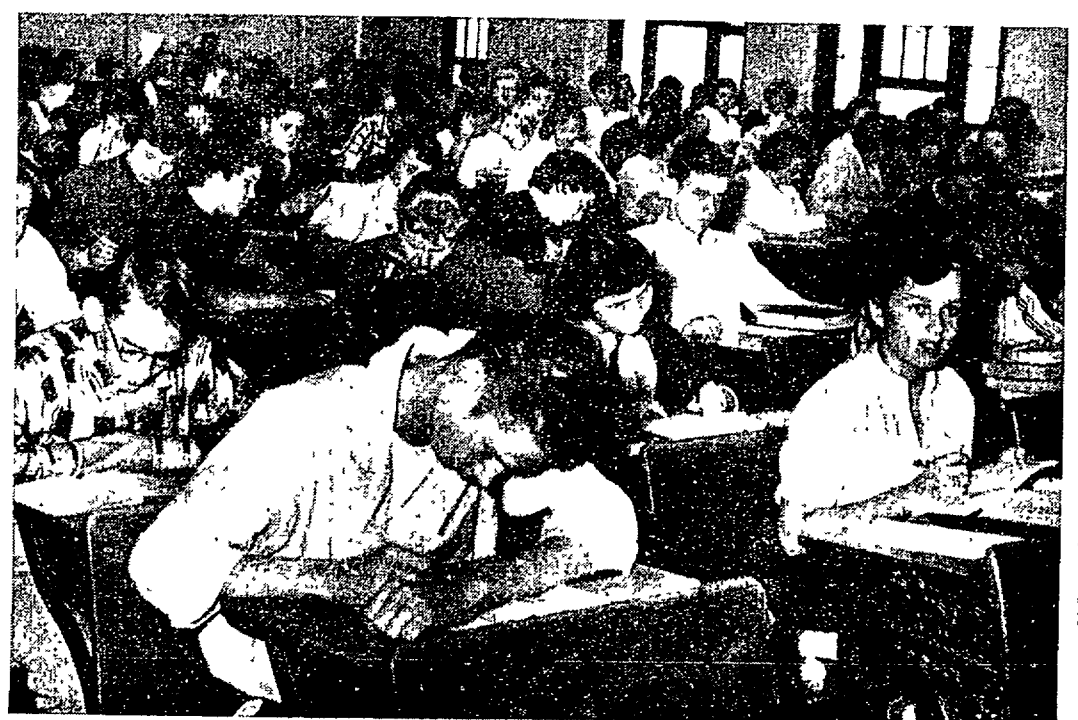

Ultimately — perhaps within two months — school officials will ask voters to approve a bond issue that would provide funds for a new high school. It would be a school large enough to handle Northville's children — one that would offer the many new concepts of education that have developed since the present high school was built.

It will cost a lot of money. The Northville school board has decided not to skimp or cut corners. Board members do not intend to throw money away, but they do want freedom to include all facilities that studies indicate are necessary for the next 10 years.

When the issue goes before the public, school board members hope voters remember what it is they are deciding on: whether Northville students will have the educational facilities they need, or whether they will continue to attend a school that was originally meant to handle only half their number.

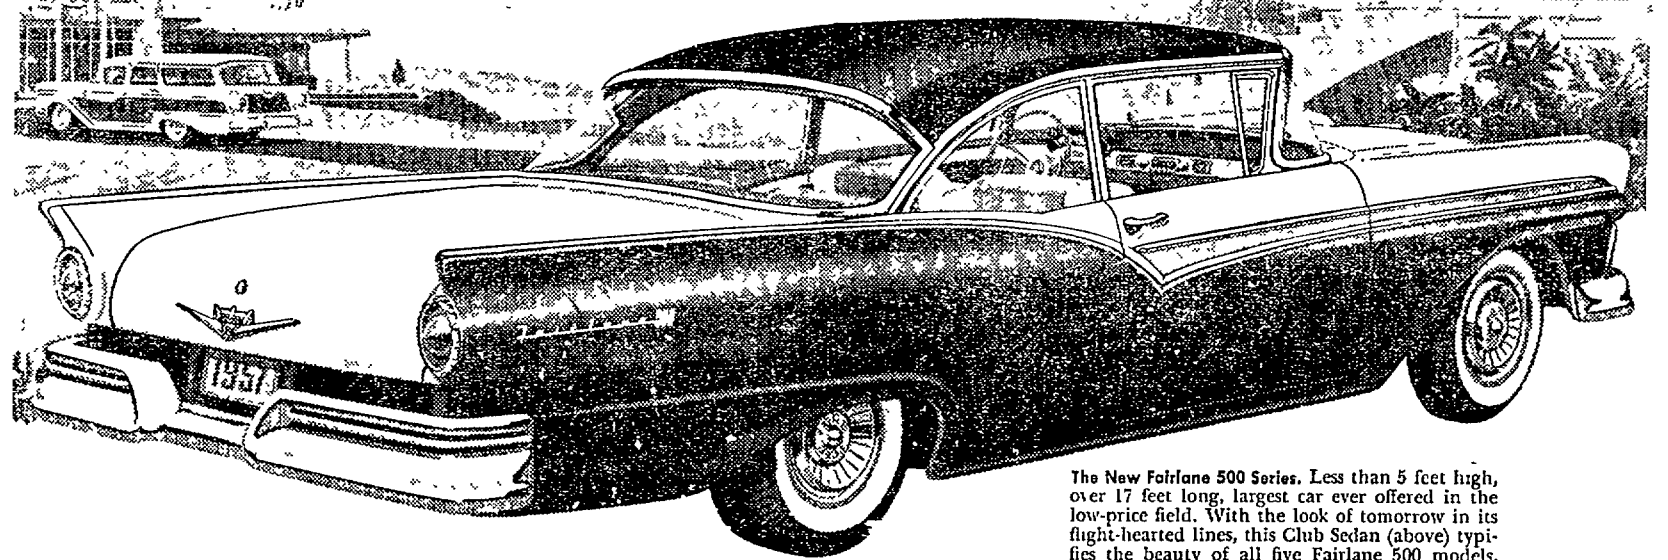

A SHOP CLASS hums and roars — and its noises carry over deafeningly into a math class taught in the next room, separated from the shop room only by a glass partition. The shop class, with 33 students, is itself overcrowded.

A SEA OF STUDENTS overflows in the third hour study hall each morning. Miss Lemoyne Markham, study hall teacher, says the giant classes make for mass confusion and prevent adequate supervision of the almost 190 students.

People are funny — and then some.

Some public speakers can talk as easily as others of us can snore.

FINAL POINT — Northville end Bill Yahne clutches a pass in the end zone to give the Mustangs a point-after-touchdown in their 25-6 rout of Clarenceville last Friday. Moments before, Yahne had scored Northville's final touchdown on a 13-yard pass from quarterback Pete Gross to complete a steady 50-yard drive in the game's waning moments.

Penalties Stop Northville From Scoring Even More

Paced by a sparkling performance on the part of left halfback Dick Biery, the Northville Mustangs smothered a hapless Clarenceville squad 25-6 last Friday night in their first home appearance of the season.

The victory gave Clarenceville the undesirable "Vinegar Jug" which goes to the loser of the annual game.

Biery, playing his best game of the season, did just about everything against the Trojans — and did it well.

He scored two touchdowns — one on a dazzling 75-yard interception, the other on a 26-yard pass play. He picked up 24 yards rushing, and 61 on four passes. He intercepted two key passes. And, to round out his performance, he even took a turn at passing and punting.

The story was not all Biery, however. Junior-quarterback Ed Wittenberg, playing his first game of the season, handled the pivot-spot with skill. And the big Mustang line stubbornly refused to give ground until the fourth quarter when Coach Ron Schipper sent in a flock of replacements.

Clarenceville was never really in the game, as the Trojans suffered their fourth straight loss of the season.

Northville showed the Trojans it meant business the first time the Mustangs got the ball, but a 73-yard drive fell apart as they barged offside twice and finally had to give up the ball just short of the goal line.

Minutes later, the Mustangs swarmed in to block a Clarenceville punt and recovered on the 1-yard line. The Trojans, aided by two more penalties against Northville, held for three downs. But fullback Gary Holman then found a hole and slipped across from the 6.

Clarenceville drove in Northville territory but was stymied on the 23. After an exchange of downs, a Trojan back fumbled and the Mustangs had the ball on the Clarenceville 48.

It was then that Biery went into action—single-handedly taking the ball the entire distance in three quick plays. A statue of liberty picked up 11, and two passes from Wittenberg took Biery into the end zone.

The halftime break apparently failed to deaden Biery, for the fleet halfback came on to intercept a Clarenceville pass on his own 25 and dash 75 yards down the sidelines to give Northville an 18-0 margin.

The Mustangs kept rolling in the fourth quarter, as they launched a steady ground-and-air drive that swept them 50 yards for another score. Quarterback Pete Gross hit end Bill Yahne with a 13-yard pass for the touchdown, and Wittenberg tossed to Yahne for the final point.

With Mustang reserves in the game, Clarenceville — led by bruising fullback Dale Devitt — marched 64 yards in seven plays for their lone marker.

Northville center Harry Sedan smashed through the Clarenceville line to block the attempted conversion.

Statistics indicate a closer game than was actually played, as both teams collected eight first downs and the Mustangs totalled only 25 more offensive yards than the Trojans.

But half of Clarenceville's first downs and almost half its yardage were made in the fourth quarter, long after Northville had wrapped up the game.

Kritch, Gotro Star As Northville Colts Split Two Contests

A freshman passing combination starred brightly for the Northville Colts recently as the junior varsity gridders split their second and third contests of the season.

Quarterback Joe Kritch tossed to end Joe Gotro for three touchdowns as the Colts dropped West Bloomfield 20-6 on September 25.

Kritch and Gotro teamed up for another score the following week, but the Colts bowed to Milford 25-14. Left halfback Larry Nitzel scored from the six yard line for the other touchdown.

Junior High Team Drops Thurston 7-0

Northville junior high gridders squeezed out a tight 7-0 victory over Thurston in their first game of the season Friday night.

Northville scored on a pass from Kent Frid to George Kuchinskus to give Coach James Madigan's charges the victory.

ALL SMILES — Northville's pert and pretty head majorette, Sandra Gotro, poses for the camera at Friday night's game against Clarenceville. A ninth grader, Sandra has three more football seasons in which to help lead her fellow cheerleaders and bandmen.

Friday's Sidelights:

Band Struts Its Stuff With Musical Doodles

With a bright-eyed, baton-twirling majorette at its fore, the Northville marching band put on its best show of the season Friday under the lights at Ford Field.

The Orange and Black bandmen and women tickled the fans' fancy with a display of "musical doodles", developed by Directors Leslie Lee and Robert Williams.

The formations included everything from an ovaloid shape with a wiggling tail ("a football made of real pigskin") to a smoking cone with a strange cap at its end ("a volcano with a filter tip").

Wearing the distinctive cap of the head majorette, Sandy Gotro—who can hardly keep from smiling brightly even if she wants to—strutted and twirled in a style that belies the fact that she is yet a freshman.

At her sides marched three sister majorettes—Jay Ann Wittenberg, Alice Sutton and Elsa Couse—in their colorful cream and gold uniforms.

Ford Field came alive for the first time this season as more than 2,000 fans turned out for the Mustangs' game.

One eager fan at the contest watched from the sidelines with his leg in a cast. He was "Cap" Pethers, who returned recently from the hospital after his leg was broken in the Northville-Plymouth game a month ago.

Seniors Get to Work On New Yearbook

Each year the members of the senior class at Northville High put their heads together and come up with a school yearbook called the Palladium.

A Palladium committee is chosen from the class to work with Charles Yahne, the yearbook advisor.

This year the seniors have discussed at length various ideas for the project. Many 12th graders feel that the members of the committee ought to receive points toward credit for the future class trip. Although compiling the Palladium is not a money-making project, the seniors agree that a lot of time and work is put into it.

Many New Books Awaiting Students In School Library

There are many new books now in the school library. Here are some of the more nature student.

"Tolbecken", a novel by Samuel Shilabarger, is about a normal American family and a man's struggle to find his roots in a world of change.

"Hannah Fowler" by Janice Holt Giles tells of the life of a young girl in the early west who takes over a man sized job of running a ranch after her father dies.

Alide Walker's book, "The Sea and Its Rivers" offers a change from most books. The book is mainly underwater research and a geography of the ocean floor, with some sidelights of the author's trip while in the process of finding material for his book.

For the younger set are books like "Wilderness Teacher" and "Blueberry Summer". "Wilderness Teacher" is by Zachary Ball and is about a teacher in the Florida everglades who is trying, with an Indian guide, to find a lost girl. The book deals with the adventures of the guide and the teacher.

"Blueberry Summer" is set in Maine. The girl concerned in the story tends to her family's blueberry crop for the summer and in the process she meets two young men.

Miss B. Ione Palmer, the librarian, also suggests that any students who wish so, may request a book and she will try to obtain it for them.

Skits Take Over

Anyone passing by the open door of the speech classes last week, would have seen some odd goings-on.

Husky football players earnestly spouting poetry... a German lass singing a song from the Old World... bloody melodramas... impersonations of such famous personalities as Elvis Presly, James Cagney, Liberace and his brother, George, and Tallulah Bankhead... funny gestures pan-tomizing popular songs... the sky was the limit.

What was the reason for all of this fun and frolic during school hours? Miss Florence Panattoni is starting the school year off by inducing the students to lose their inhibitions before audiences. By participating in all sorts of gesture activities they will learn how to speak in front of an audience without being held back by self-consciousness.

NHS Debate Team Attends Conference At Central Michigan

A group of Northville high school debaters, Sandra Strasen, Lillian Zinnecker, Carol Krezel, Bernhard Muller, David Nash and Charles Hicks, attended the Central Michigan High School Discussion and Debate conference at Central Michigan college on October 6.

Dr. Alfred W. Storey, manager of the Michigan High School Forensic association, introduced the conference with a speech on the values of debate.

This was followed by a series of discussion groups involving characteristics of good debating, sources of materials, background for the proposition, and issues involved in this year's question.

The question for debate this year is: "Resolved: That the Federal Government should sustain the prices of major agricultural products at not less than ninety percent parity."

The highlight of the day was a demonstration debate with Robert Holm of Ottawa Hills and Boyd Conrad of East Grand Rapids holding the affirmative and Bernhard Mueller of Northville and Tom Wheaton of Lansing Sexton upholding the negative.

'Fashion Plates'? Nope, Just Seniors Waiting for Photos

Last Monday and Tuesday, many Northville high school undergraduates noticed a continual parade of "fashion-plates" that had seemingly sprouted in the high school halls.

The students soon discovered that these "fashion-plates" were none other than the seniors, decked out in their Sunday-best for the senior pictures.

The Spellman studios from Detroit has set up shop in the library. Here, operations were carried out by a photographer and his secretary.

The seniors ordered pictures ranging from wallet size to large frame size. The average amount spent was approximately $24, which will be paid on a basis similar to the installment plan.

New Teacher Really Isn't New to NHS

One of the new faces at NHS this year is William Hensch, science and driver training teacher.

He came to us from Bedford, Iowa, where he taught for a few years. Before that he taught at NHS for six years.

Mr. Hensch is a graduate of Wayne university, where he majored in education and obtained his degree in physical science. During the summer he took courses at Michigan State in driver training.

Before he started teaching in 1937, Mr. Hensch held various jobs, including foreman in an ice cream plant. He loves to drive and travel, but he likes Northville best.

He lives in Northville with his wife and daughter, Sharon, who is in the eighth grade. He also has a son, William, Jr.

League Students Discuss Plans for College Night

Four Northville students, Bob Bake, Bernhard Mueller, Mary MacDermaid and Lillian Zinnecker, and Principal E. V. Ellison attended a League Conference of Schools last week at Walled Lake High school.

The purpose of the meeting was to plan and organize the program for College Night, November 8. Although Northville will be host, the event is to take place at Walled Lake because of more adequate facilities.

All Junior and Senior students from the Wayne-Oakland county league and their parents are invited to attend this program.

The main reason for College night is to familiarize the students interested in attending college after graduation from high school. Twenty-six colleges in the state of Michigan will be represented at this time. The program will last from 8:00 until approximately 11.

After the meeting was over, Northville and Walled Lake had a closed discussion about details that had not been covered. Both schools agreed that students should compose a list of questions before coming. The reason was that the college representatives will not have time to answer questions that are of relatively little importance.

New Club Promotes Attendance

A new club - the 100 Per Cent Club - has been started by Assistant Principal Fred Stefanski.

Its purpose is to promote maximum attendance of students throughout the year. Members are not composed of individuals, but rather, homerooms.

To be eligible for membership, a homeroom must have a perfect attendance record for a full school day. A homeroom belongs to the club as long as it is able to hold a perfect attendance record.

Literature Classes Get New Approach

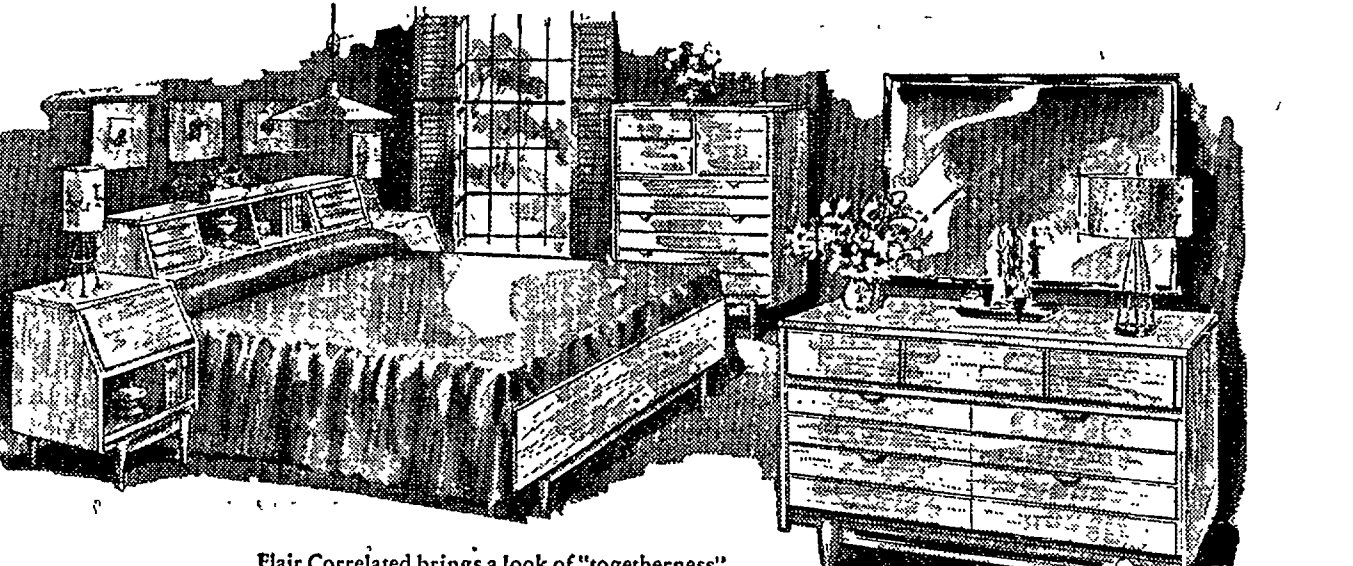

Miss Patricia Dorrian, is using a new process of teaching ninth grade literature this year.

The process is simple; instead of confining all the students to a general ninth grade text book, she is using nine sets of four books each, plus several single copies. The books are on various levels so that each student is able to progress at his own speed in the book he can comprehend. The question Miss Dorrian asks must be general ones. An example of one type of question is: "From the story you read identify the main character's struggles." The questions are such that they may be answered by reading any story.

The books are checked out like library books during a study hall or overnight. A rental fee is charged for the year instead of buying the books. Miss Dorrian says she is extremely pleased with the results.

State Suggests Tour of Colorful North

FALL "COLOR TOURS" are in order as autumn brings glorious hues to trees and shrubs throughout northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula.

So says Robert Furlong, director of the State Tourist Council. Plugging for leisurely drives through areas where color reigns as king, Furlong urges Michigan residents to see their state at its best.

To help you plan a tour at exactly the time colors are at their height, the council offers a tailored information service.

Send a self-addressed post card to the tourist office at Lansing stating where you plan to travel in Michigan. Just before the color is at its peak in the area you name, the council will remail your card to you saying "now is the time."

And best of all—the whole majestic show is free.

The autumn season also gives the Tourist Council a breathing period to evaluate last summer's tourist business.

Figures now coming in indicate that this was a "pretty good" tourist year—although it did not reach pre-season expectations. Bad weather played a major role in limiting tourist spending.

"Tourist traffic through Michigan was good, but people kept moving around in search of better weather," Furlong comments. "In all, we had four inches more rainfall this summer."

Mackinac Bridge construction brought people flocking to the straits to see the new structure. Traffic between the two peninsulas was up 1½ per cent over last year.

Until all figures are in, best "guesstimates" by the Council are:

Summer tourist business won't reach the $800 million level predicted last spring.

But it won't fall below the $600 million mark set last year.

THE BIG JOB handled by the "little people" in Michigan's state government is being done well according to C. J. Hess, deputy civil service director.

While politicians are making headlines in newspapers, the business of government continues to run smoothly in the hands of some 25,000 state employees who provide services through 117 state agencies.

Scientific appraisal through promotional examinations given employees seeking better positions shows that 71 per cent of them are qualified to handle more important jobs.

The system of competitive examinations for promotion is popular with state workers, Hess asserts. It gives an employee a stake in his own promotion—a goal reached by personal achievement. Out of all those taking examinations only 10 per cent have been found unsuitable for advancement.

The rating plan was introduced in 1949 to provide a standard yardstick for measuring worker aptitude, efficiency and satisfaction. Before that time promotions were based on recommendations of agency and department heads.

If an employee is not satisfied with his rating, which is always presented for his signature, he can appeal for a change in jobs, Hess explained. "We have conducted surveys that show even those denied better ratings are for the most part satisfied with the test and show determination to do better the next time," he concludes.

A UNIQUE MICHIGAN newspaper is served up each Friday to perhaps the most eager "captive" audience a publication could desire. This newspaper—"The Spectator" is the weekly at Jackson prison.

The prison administration holds censorship to a minimum, leaving editing and printing to the inmates. The result: a witty, intelligent publication that wins praise of college professors and a reputation for being one of the finest prison papers in the country.

Speaking words of hope to the 5,900 inmates, the Spectator prints a cheerful balance of news, editorials and personal items about prisons in general and Jackson in particular. A sort of wry humor is apparent in most stories.

"Stirtistics", a column showing high and low numbers assigned prisoners, and the totals in the various parts of the prison is popular.

Typical comment on prison activities: "Beginning immediately card playing will be authorized. . . .Crap shooting is still taboo. Dice is out and gambling is still against the rules."

Robbers, forgers and arsonists with literary inclinations are among the members on the publication's staff. Its editor is a college graduate and a convicted forger. A regular columnist is a classics scholar convicted of setting fire to Haven Hall at the University of Michigan in 1950.

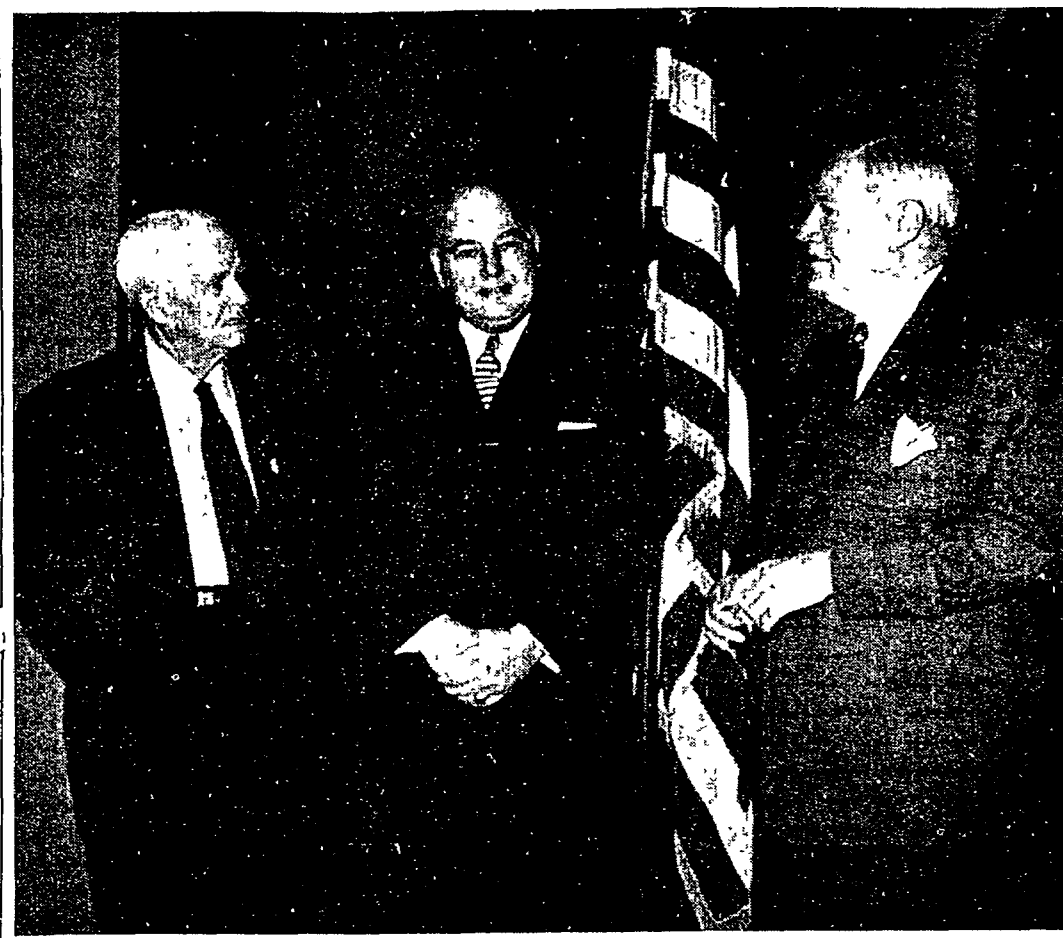

Much of the material in the newspaper aims at "bettering" both prisoners and society. Prison reforms, contributions to charity and worthy projects tend to receive witty attention. For example a promotion for a blood donation drive was worded thusly:

"Bob (Corpuscle) Marshall wants it to be known despite all the rumors he'll be out in force trying to con you of a pint of blood come the next Red Cross Drive."

The response is amazing.

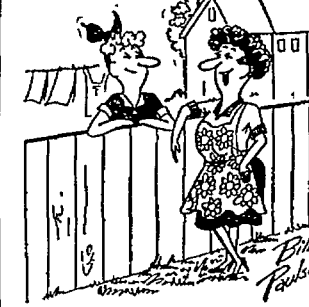

In the Service Industries for the Printing Trade such as typesetters, engravers, etc. there are 2300 establishments, 44,000 employees and an annual sales volume of about $350 million.

The Printing Industry expends the smallest amount of money for research of any of the nations industries reporting in the 1952 Survey of Manufacturers.

MICHIGAN BELL

TELEPHONE lines

SIGN OF SERVICE.

This pin identifies members of the Telephone Pioneers of America. And delegates from Pioneer chapters all over the U. S. and Canada held their annual meeting in Detroit recently. With their strong sense of duty, friendship and loyalty, the Pioneers are an inspiration to all telephone employees. To be a member you must have at least 21 years in the telephone business. In Michigan Bell there are about 4,000 Pioneers—each one with more than 21 years of telephone experience. That's a lot of "know how" in back of your telephone service. And it's a pretty good indication that they regard the company as a good place to work.

HUNTERS WILL BE in the fields and woods this month, bagging their limit of birds and other small game. Lots of luck to all of them, and a word of caution. Please be careful of telephone cable. It doesn't happen often, but once in a while a stray shot hits phone lines and cuts off service. Makes it mighty inconvenient for people who temporarily lose the use of their telephones—particularly when they have important calls to make.

THROUGH THE YEARS college boys and girls don't change much. Getting them to write home (except when their cash gets low and a big date is coming up) has always been a major chore and probably always will be. Why fight it? The easy, sure way to keep in touch with your youngsters at college is by telephone. Rates are surprisingly low, especially after 6 p.m. and on Sundays. Arrange to have them call you often. Have them reverse the charges if you like. You'll enjoy the conversation as much as they will.
