

PERFECTING THE MESSIAH — Leslie Lee directs the choir during one of its final rehearsals for Handel's traditional Christmas oratorio, "The Messiah". The work will be presented Sunday evening at the First Presbyterian church, with members of the University of Michigan school of music in solo roles.

'Messiah' Performance Sunday Evening Heralds Christmas Services Next Week

Four soloists from the University of Michigan school of music will join Northville voices for the annual presentation of the "Messiah" Sunday to help usher in the Christmas season.

They are Kathleen Rush Van Den Brink, soprano; Alice Dutcher, contralto; Dan Pressley, tenor, and Charles Sims, bass.

The chorus will be under the direction of Leslie G. Lee. Organist for the evening will be Mrs. Mary Harrison of Farmington and Mrs. Kathleen Bosch will be the pianist. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian church.

Christmas services by local churches will begin with services Sunday and will also be observed Christmas eve and morning.

On Sunday morning the First Methodist church will present a Christmas cantata at both services, "God's Greatest Gift." Participating are soloists, mixed chorus, Carol choir and Harmony choir, and the congregation. The Christmas Eve adoration service will begin at seven o'clock with candlelight, music and the reading of the Christmas story.

St. Paul's Lutheran church will observe the last Sunday in Advent in word and song and on Christmas eve at 7:30 children will take part in the service by telling of the "Blessings of the Christ Child" in song and recitation. Services Christmas morning will be held at 10 o'clock.

The Christmas program at the Willowbrook Community church in Novi will be held on Sunday at 7 p.m. with all departments of the church participating. Sunday school children will present a tableau and sing carols.

At the First Presbyterian church of Northville, a candlelight service will be held Christmas Eve at 11 p.m. The candlelight service will include a cantata, "The Story of Bethlehem."

Midnight mass will be presented at Our Lady of Victory church in Northville.

Christmas services will be observed at the First Baptist church of Northville on Sunday, and on Monday evening at 7:30 the children of the church will present their Sunday school Christmas program.

Freshman Carolers Tour City Tonight

Traditional sounds of Christmas carols will fill the air in Northville tonight.

The Northville high school class will tour the city, singing carols whenever they find a porchlight on.

Two groups, accompanied by class advisors Miss Patricia Dorian and Jack VanHaren, will set out at 7 p.m. and will return to the community building at 9:15 for refreshments.

Class president Karen Hill said it is apparently the first time a class has gone caroling as a group at Christmas.

Don't forget — a lighted porchlight tonight (Thursday) will bring Christmas carolers to your door.

Bobby Will See Christmas, But Must Return to Hospital

Little Bobby Wilson probably will see Christmas after all.

Doctors have decided to postpone the delicate heart operation which may save his life. He has a cold, and the doctors don't want to take any chances.

So Bobby, 8, was sent home from University hospital this week, and will spend Christmas with his family.

Even so, the holidays will not be happy for the former Northville family. Bobby's doctors still do not know the secret of the rare and probably fatal heart disease which is slowly blinding him. Nor do they know their chance of success in the operation, during which they will use a mechanical heart while they work on his own.

Bobby's father, William, who drove an ambulance and worked at Casterline Funeral home while the family lived in Northville, said the doctors give his son only "a slim chance."

Bobby was to have had his operation Tuesday. So the hospital gave him a Christmas party last week, and from Santa Claus there was a football, bicycle, and cowboy suit. More than 50 other young patients sang Christmas songs to him — like "Have Yourself a Merry, Merry Christmas."

Most Northville people didn't know Bobby. He spent a year and a half in a hospital here, and didn't get out much.

But school children and teachers knew his brothers and sister, Billy, 9; Johnny, 6, and Paula, 3, until they moved from their apartment at 138 North Center.

Bobby knows about his disease and how his heart has swelled up and ruptured, and he knows of the possibility that he may die if the operation isn't successful.

"I wonder if God will know me when the angels take me to heaven," he said. "Heaven is a long way. I hope it isn't too long."

City Employees Get Pay Raise

Dismissal Request Brings Delay In Annexation Suit

A motion to dismiss court action brought against the city of Northville by Warren Products was filed in circuit court Monday by Philip Ogilvie, Northville city attorney.

The move brought a postponement of the hearing scheduled for Wednesday after Clark J. Adams, Oakland county circuit judge, asked that attorneys for Warren and the city file briefs so that the dismissal request may be studied.

A new hearing date, when Judge Adams will supposedly render a decision on the dismissal plea, has been set for January 6.

The suit was enacted by Warren Products after a November 19 election annexed some 220 acres of Novi township into the city of Northville. The tract includes the Warren plant extending northward to the 3 1/4-mile line and is bounded on the east by Novi road and on the west by a line 1000 feet west of Taft road.

Warren officials have challenged the interpretation of the law which governs annexations. Specifically, it singles out the matter concerning who should vote. Their attorneys contend that all residents of the township should be allowed to vote on the question, not just the residents of the area to be annexed.

Ogilvie's request to dismiss the case was based on three points: 1. A question of circuit court jurisdiction — the city attorney contends that the Secretary of State, not the city of Northville, was responsible for calling the election and is therefore a proper, or at least necessary, defendant in the action; 2. That Warren Products is not a proper party to bring action since it is a corporation and not a citizen; 3. That the Martin brothers (officials of Warren) are not proper plaintiffs for the action.

Judge Adams heard arguments from both the city and Warren attorneys before requesting briefs. Presumably, if the request is denied, a new trial date will be set.

Should Judge Adams rule that the action to dismiss is proper, then in all probability Warren attorneys would name the Secretary of State in the suit and the case would advance to the State Supreme Court for final decision.

In a move by Novi township to keep posted on the proceedings Judge Adams granted Anthony Renne, township attorney, permission to come into the case as a "friend of the court". This action allows Novi to support Warren attorneys in a background role.

MOVING OUT — After 37 years of continuous operation, Ford Motor company began closing its Waterford plant this week. Most heavy equipment was moved out Monday and Tuesday and taken to new quarters at the Rawsonville plant near Ypsilanti. The "Waterford operation," as it will continue to be called, will resume in the new plant the day after Christmas.

New Industry Eyes Ford Plant

As the Ford Motor company marks its final days in the Northville road Waterford plant this week, negotiations were all but completed for the sale of the building.

While the identity of the new owner was being withheld, The Record learned that only the formality of final signatures remained to conclude the transaction. Official signing was scheduled for Wednesday.

Earlier speculation that Koppers company of Pennsylvania would occupy the plant has been ruled out. The new tenant will be an industry well known to the area, however.

For Northville the exit of Ford Waterford operation will be cushioned by the immediate occupancy of another industry. The loss of Allied Products following a $1,000,000 fire last August still remains, however.

Hope is still being held out that Koppers will locate a 100-employee chemical division to manufacture a building product near Northville. The company is seeking a building to lease.

The closing of the Ford's Waterford operation ends 32 years of production.

The ordinances govern water and sewer rates, all night parking and subdivisions. In addition the council adopted a resolution spelling out responsibility on sewer repairs.

The meeting broke up at 1:15 a.m. All the ordinances will be published in The Record next week and are scheduled for public hearing and final approval of the council on January 6.

The water and sewer rate ordinances were adopted after long committee study and follow closely accepted practices of other communities. Councilman Malcolm Allen reported that the new water rate schedule would boost rates about 50 percent. Low city water rates have long been a target of the council. The boost will bring the revenue nearer the break-even point in water department operation.

The sewer rates will include a penny or two margin which will be earmarked for a sinking fund for future sewer repairs and construction.

Regulations governing new residential developments are covered in the subdivision ordinance, which was prepared by the Planning Commission. The ordinance makes all subdivision plats subject to the approval of the Planning Commission before council sanction may be given.

A no parking regulation between 2 a.m. and 6 a.m. on all city streets is provided in the final ordinance approved by the council. The action was taken to allow proper cleaning of streets. While some complaints of hardship have already been received, the council moved to go ahead with the action and deal with individual cases as they arise.

A resolution to determine the responsibility of payment for sewer repairs on private property was also adopted. The resolution provides that repairs on sewer lines leading from the city lines to a residence is the responsibility of the homeowner. Councilmen pointed out that this is general practice and that participation by the city interferes with the livelihood of private contractors.

But Action Brings Tiff In Council

Northville's city employees were given a Christmas present Monday evening in the form of a 10-cent-per-hour across the board increase.

The boost did not come without discussion, however. In fact the suggestion came in bombshell manner from the mayor and brought a rebuttal from Councilman John Canterbury that threw the council into one of its hottest arguments in months.

The pay raise proposal did not appear on the council agenda and apparently came as a complete surprise to most councilmen and the city manager.

Actually, the increase amounts to $4.80 per week to all public works employees, the police department and the city clerk.

After opposing any pay increases at budget hearings last spring, Mayor Ely hinted in council meeting two weeks ago that he had changed his mind. He saved his motion for the midnight hour Monday arousing a drowsy council.

Councilman Earl Reed stamped a quick "second" on the Mayor's motion before Canterbury got into action. Reed has favored increases all year, but had little support until Mayor Ely acted.

Canterbury made it clear at the outset that he did not oppose giving pay increases. "I'm not familiar with the situation and feel it should be handled by the Mayor," he said. "I oppose any 'across the board' raises until a study of the wage problem has been made. Also I'm not sure the raises are enough in some cases, while it may be too much in others," Canterbury stated.

He also referred to a fringe benefit program that had a brief introduction by the city manager two weeks ago, pointing out that retirement and insurance benefits were needed and also costly.

This argument received little support from Mayor Ely, who argued that "fringe benefits don't buy groceries."

Reed fired back at Canterbury's statements. "If you had taken time or effort to check you would have known our employees are underpaid," he exclaimed. Reed hinted that unrest existed amongst public works and police employees and that a raise was needed to avoid resignations.

As the discussion grew into an argument Canterbury suggested that perhaps the raise "should be 25 cents an hour."

"I'll go just as high as you want," retorted the mayor.

Canterbury received token support from Councilman Ed Welch who favored the raises with the stipulation that a study be made on salaries and fringe benefits.

Pleading for a three week delay in the action to allow time for a study, Canterbury said "it's illogical to perpetuate inequities by giving a blanket increase." Reed countered that raises should be given now to satisfy the employees and that a study could be made later. "This is just common sense, not a textbook decision," fumed Reed.

In one last effort Canterbury pointed out that a patrolman gets $3.00 a week more than a laborer. "That's a pertinent statistic," he ended.

In the voting, Canterbury was all alone on the negative side. He gloomily concluded that "it's not very popular to oppose pay raises."

The increases become effective December 30. Pay raises were last given city employees in the summer of 1956.

"I look upon every day to be lost, in which I do not make a new acquaintance."

IT'S TRAIN TIME—Every Christmas is "train time" for the George Hanleys, newcomers to Northville Estates. For its become a tradition with them to set up their model train outfit around the Christmas tree with engineers Bill and John (seated) directing the operation. Little Mary, one year old, finds being an observer just as much fun.

Little John and Bill Hanley moved to Northville with their family in August, but they've already picked their two favorite spots in the community.

One is Northville Estates, the new subdivision where their home is and where they love to watch the construction work, and the other is the parkway, where they've already had lots of fun playing and picnicking with their parents and sister Mary.

The Hanleys moved to Northville from the northwest section of Detroit. Their main interests are their children (John is six, Bill, five, and Mary, one year old) and travel.

During their trips to Canada and the western states, Mr. Hanley, supervisor of engine design at Detroit diesel division of General Motors, has made colored-slide records of their travels. He is a former member of the engineering faculty at the University of Detroit.

He is also busy now making ready an electric train set that holds a special place under the Christmas tree each year. Also busy with Christmas preparations, especially baking, is Mrs. Hanley, who also makes sewing a hobby.

Though now concerned with being a good homemaker, Mrs. Hanley is past president of a Detroit Business and Professional Woman's club.

Wearing a floor length gown of white taffeta trimmed in Alencon lace, Helen Jean Hughes became the bride of John Philip Boyer on November 22.

Helen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman W. Hughes of Detroit. John's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Boyer of Detroit, former residents of Northville.

The ceremony was performed in the Berean Baptist church, Dr. Hugh Horner officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The long sleeves of her gown ended in points over the wrists. She carried a white orchid centered on a white prayer book trimmed with stephanotis, white lace and net.

The church was decorated with palms, ferns and baskets of white pom-pom mums and gladioli.

Maid of honor was Linda Mae Hughes, who wore a pale green satin dress. Also gowned in green satin were bridesmaids Myrna Boyer and Sue Cantrell. All three carried large bouquets of bronze and yellow mums centered with yellow roses.

Flower girl Christine Boyer wore a yellow satin dress and carried a birdcage basket filled with yellow mums and white baby-breath. Ring-bearer was John Boyer.

Serving as best man for Mr. Boyer was Rodney Dahlager. Ushers included Don Pearson, Richard Trevarrow and Max Davey. A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the church parlors, at which approximately 375 guests were present.

Appointments at the reception were highlighted by pink and white gladioli, white mums and white roses.

The new Mrs. Boyer wore a dark blue wool sheath for her wedding trip to Florida.

Mr. Boyer attended Northville high school and his wife attended school in Chicago.

A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL!

Open Christmas Day, December 25 at 2:30

Willowbrook

A Christmas party was given Saturday night by Bill and Mary Gamber of McMahon for their neighbors. Their guest list read as follows: the Robert McKeons, the Charles Schingeks, the Alec James, the Joe Ardito, the Eugene Davis, the Gordon Petersons, the John Corscaddens, the Oliver Roses, the Bill O'Briens and the Bart Strahleys.

A dinner dance given by the Toastmaster's club was enjoyed Friday night by Fred and Kay Buck of LeBost. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Krieder of Detroit.

Jimmy and Janet Driscoll of LeBost went to a Christmas party Sunday at the Union hall in Detroit as guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Driscoll of Detroit.

Mrs. Dorothy Pavulich and her children of Three Rivers were the house guests recently of the Heinz Wengers and Mrs. Lefler of Millstream.

Thanks to all Willowbrook residents who gave so generously to the Goodfellow drive. We should be proud for we raised almost $90 here in Willowbrook.

The Jerry Galvins of Willowbrook drive are attending the Christmas play tonight at Our Lady of Victory. Three of their children, Larry, Cathy and Brian are in the play.

Godparents of their new nephew were Bob and Ginny Andraesen of Malott. Michael John Martin was christened Sunday, December 8 at the Zion Lutheran church in Ferndale. The Andraesens dined after the ceremony at the Ferndale home of Mr. and Mrs. William Martin.

Chuck and Jenine Duprey of East LeBost entertained Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mayler of Redford Saturday night.

Seven years old on December 10 was Glenda Diem of LeBost. She had a birthday party Tuesday and her young guests were Sharon Freytag, Melinda Needham, Ronnie and Cathy Radtke, Susan Vivian, Kim McCormick, Gail Kucinskis, Gary Boyer, Kathy and Johnny Johnson, Donna and Linda Lippert, Debby and Denny Diem and Doug Earl.

DECORATING THE SCOUT HALL for the first time in years was done this week by Girl Scout Troop 14 and Brownie Troops 1 and 4. The Northville junior chamber of commerce, Modified Auto club, and Boy Scout Troop 755 all donated trimmings. Here, three Brownies from Troop 4 add the finishing touches: (left to right) Jeanne Barnes, Susie Hill and Gail Verville.

Lincoln, Mark III
Off to Best Start

Lincoln and Continental Mark III sales in November, the first complete selling month for the 1958 products, were 25 percent higher than sales for the same month a year ago.

Retail deliveries totalled 3,914, the second highest November total in history. The November high was set in 1948, when 4,375 were sold. "This is the best monthly start we have ever had. Our introductory sales have reduced dealers' stocks below normal levels," said general sales manager Joseph E. Bayne.

Assault Charge Made by Woman

A 21-year-old Northville woman who is separated from her husband told Northville police this week she would charge two local brothers with criminal assault.

The mother of a 19-month-old child, she was reported missing by her mother, with whom she lives, on Monday evening. Upon investigation, police found her and one of the brothers in a car mired in the mud on Fuller road near Hagerly.

Police were led to them by the other brother, who was walking into Northville to secure help in removing the car.

The woman told police that she met one of the men, a Northville resident, about 8:30 p.m. Monday in Northville. He asked her to drive him to Plymouth. On Northville road they met and picked up his brother, a resident of Plymouth.

The three spent an hour in a tavern, but she had nothing to drink, she told police. She said that when they left one of the men insisted on driving, and that he parked the car on Fuller road where both forcibly assaulted her.

Mustangs Journey To Clarenceville

Councilman Burned

Councilman Malcolm Allen suffered second and third degree burns Saturday afternoon when an oil can he was carrying burst into flames.

The freak accident occurred as Allen held the container as he walked near a stove. Oil on the can ignited burning his right hand. The accident happened in the Allen Monument plant.

What Scientists Have Said

Regretably some teachers of science in our colleges and public schools have led their students to believe that scientists believe the Bible to be scientifically untrue. Allow me to quote some great Scientists on this question. James Dwight Dana of Yale University, probably the most eminent geologist America has ever produced, said to his graduating class, "Young men! As you go out into the world to face scientific problems, remember that I, an old man who has known science all his life long, say to you, that there is nothing truer in all the Universe than the scientific statements contained in the Word of God." Dr. Howard Kelly, authority on radium and herpetology, one of the founders of Hopkins University, said, "A definite Christian faith is one really important thing in life. I mean this literally. It is vastly more important than any profession; than any scientific research; than all the other activities of a man's life." W. Bell Dawson, Gold Medalist in Geology and Natural Science at McGill university, says "From a life long study of the Scriptures, I am convinced that every subject on which it touches is reliable and every word deserves consideration." Great men of science take their stand by the Bible. Remember that the next time you hear someone say the Bible is unscientific!

Cars Damaged In Two Accidents

Two automobile accidents in Northville last week resulted in damage to cars but no injuries to their drivers.

On December 13, a truck driven by Lawrence Krause of Allen Park struck a car driven by David De-John of Beck road. Krause told police that he was backing his car into a parking place on East Main near Hutton street when he hit De-John's car which suffered $50 damages.

At East Main at Griswold on December 16, a car driven by Kay Puckett of Walled Lake struck a car driven by Helen S. Bernie of Detroit. Miss Puckett started to make a left turn onto East Main and struck the other car. Both suffered $90 damage.

Rogers Takes Over Used Car Lot

Buck Rogers of Farmington has taken over the ownership and operation of the used car business located at Grand River and Novi roads in Novi.

The lot was formerly operated by Wes Coon, 40362 Eleven Mile road. Rogers has been associated in the sale of automobiles for 12 years and came to Novi from Plymouth.

Youngsters Invited To Christmas Party

There's a Christmas party in store for Northville kids next Tuesday — the day before Christmas.

Sponsored by the Northville recreation department and Northville junior police, it will be held in the holiday-decorated scout hall from 10 a.m. to noon.

All children of junior high age or younger are invited. Santa Claus will be on hand and refreshments will be provided.

In the afternoon, the Northville community building will be open for recreation activities.

Charles Ely, Jr. will return home Sunday from service in the Air National Guard at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas.

Lynda Kaye Bogart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bogart of Lake street, celebrated her ninth birthday Saturday with a party for 12 friends.

HAVE A FRUIT CAKE — They're delicious, says Leland Smith. He's boosting the sale of the Holiday cakes for the Northville Rotary club. All Rotarians have the cakes for sale. Proceeds will go towards the club's charitable activities.

Ideas for That Holiday Spirit

SNOWLIKE STYROFOAM is used by Mrs. William Crump for many varieties of Christmas decorations. The object in her hand was made by slicing a foam snowball through the center, joining it with colored pipe-cleaners, placing little figurines on the bottom half, and adding various trimmings.

Christmas in an Eggshell

to add to your collection of Christmas ideas.

1. With ice pick, make gentle stab in center side of uncooked egg to make hole size of quarter. With small scissors cut around hole until egg can be emptied. (Turn egg so you always cut far side, making certain that edge of finished hole is smooth. Wash and dry shell thoroughly.)

2. Using quick drying enamel, paint inside (2 coats). Paint outside and before dry, sprinkle with glitter. (Spray cans of paint might be the handiest to use.)

3. Place melted paraffin in bottom. Place cut outs, (last year's greeting cards make good ones), tiny figurines (ten cent store variety), etc. in bottom. Background cutouts may be glued in before paraffin is used.

4. When paraffin has hardened and glue is dry, put glue around edge of opening. Cover opening with saran, pulling taut. When glue is dry, dip face quickly in boiling hot water. Trim off excess saran to 3/8" from edge. It's a built-in picture window!

5. Apply trimming around edge, starting at top, attaching cord for hanging at the same time. Use jewels or sequins for covering up rough spots. Let your imagination run wild!

DAINTY EGG-SHELL DECORATIONS like these can be made and saved for many Christmases to come. These were made by Mrs. William Crump, who contributed the accompanying instructions.

The carols of Christmas and a youngster's wide-eyed look when he sees what Santa left never become tiresome, but sometimes other aspects of the holidays do tend to become routine.

Perhaps this year you would like to try something different. If so, here's a start:

On Christmas Eve, why not get out those old family pictures or movies and see what your Christmas was like 10 or 20 years ago? It's the perfect night for sentiment.

While you're at it, you might take another look at the Christmas cards you've received. After the rush of them during the preceding weeks, you may have forgotten how many of your friends have thought of you.

To make your dinner seem more Christmas-like, simply put on an album of carols during dinner. They'll seldom be more enjoyable.

To be sure your Christmas is safe, watch out for: fatigue due to shopping, decorating, cleaning, or partying; drinking and driving; using inflammable decorations; giving your children dangerous toys.

To make your youngster's Christmas collection a little bit larger, you can even refinish some old toys. With just a new paint job or a replaced wheel, he'll find them a thrill all over again.

To help your youngsters drift off to sleep on Christmas Eve, you might put on an album of children's Christmas songs in their bedroom. It'll not only shut out the noise of your own holiday doings, but will help relax their excited little minds. Remember to turn it off after while, however, for it may wake them up again just after you yourself have gone to bed!

For best lighting of your tree, use 35 lights for a four-foot tree, 56 for a five-foot tree, and 77 for a six-footer. If you use a variety of colors, rather than a single color, try using twice as many blue or green bulbs as others. It gives a spectacular effect, we're told.

Can't Win If You Can't Score, Mustangs Learn

Weak Northville Shooting Gives Brighton 46-43 Win

There was little to say in the Northville locker room Friday night.

Several Mustangs showered quickly. One player wept openly, then ripped the tape off his feet, angered at himself. Someone whistled nervously. Coach Stan Johnston sat silently.

The Mustangs had just lost their second straight game in a year that was to be possibly the best in the school's history. They had fallen to an inferior Brighton team, 46-43, in the final 26 seconds.

Likewise for Colts; They Bow, 40-30

It hasn't been a very merry season for the Northville Colts either.

Despite some scrappy play by Joe Gotro and Wade Deal, the Colts lost their second contest in three starts Friday night when Brighton held on for a 40-30 win.

Had it not been for Gotro's work, the Colts may have had an even wider margin of defeat. But defense alone won't win games (as the varsity has been finding out), and for that reason the Colts were never much in the game.

Deal, who had hit for 46 points in the first two games, had somewhat of an off night. It culminated in the fourth quarter when he exited on fouls.

With a fat cushion to ride home on, Brighton put on a last period stall. The Colts responded by going after the ball, and the result was one of the most spirited fourth quarters staged in many a game.

U.S. Asked to Okay Skating at Hatchery

Northville is still without an ice-skating area, but one may be found before long.

Recreation director Stan Johnston said city officials are awaiting approval from U.S. game and wildlife officials to use the fish hatchery ponds on Seven Mile.

The Northville mill pond, used for skating for years, was blacklisted by the recreation committee this year because of its dangerous open channel.

"The recreation department no longer will have a supervisor at the mill pond," said Johnston, "and the pond will not be cleaned off. Anyone who skates there will do so at his own risk."

Johnston said he has tried to locate a pond nearer the center of the city. One promising site fell through when neighbors objected, however.

Kensington Readies For Skating, Fishing

There may be ice fishing at Kensington Metropolitan park any day now.

"It all depends on the weather," said park manager David Laidlaw. "We will not allow fishermen on the ice unless we are reasonably sure it is safe."

Kensington expects skating areas to be ready soon, providing the cold spell continues.

Wiggle-Wimp?

If it's not in the Yellow Pages maybe there's no such thing.

NO PROBLEM HERE — The least of worries for coach Stan Johnston (right) last Friday night was the way Bill Yahne (shooting) handled his free throw chores. Yahne, playing a fine game throughout, sank seven of 11 and led his mates with 17 points. But he like the rest of his teammates, went through a rugged practice this week as Johnston attempted to get his team back on the winning trail.

Northville in Third Spot; Lowest Rating Since '56

The Wolves, hottest team in the Wayne-Oakland league in the final drive last year, picked up their second straight win last Friday to keep pace with a fast-moving Holly club.

Meanwhile, Northville found itself in an unfamiliar position this week as it shared third place with three other teams. Except for one week last year, the Mustangs had not been out of the top spot in more than a year — until Friday night.

At the bottom of the ladder, Milford and Bloomfield Hills are still looking for their first league win.

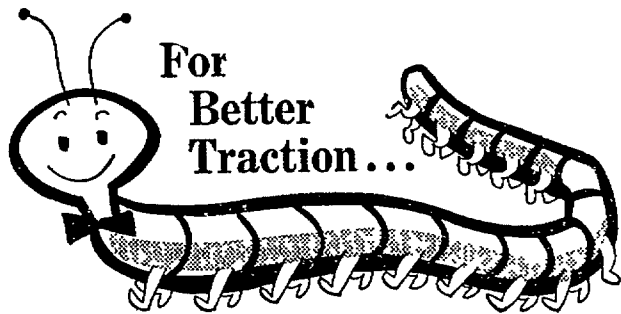

Clarkston, which now has taken three straight this season, had an easy time of it Friday in downing Bloomfield Hills, 49-33. The Wolves all-league Leroy Parks bucketed 23 for the winners.

(Clarkston, incidentally, had a fairly hard time vanquishing Brighton two weeks ago, but finally survived, 67-58. So far, that's the only comparative score between Northville and Clarkston.)

In other games last week, Holly hung on to a first place tie by edging Milford, 56-52, and West Bloomfield took the measure of Clarenceville, 52-45.

The Coach's Corner

by STAN JOHNSTON
Northville High School Basketball Coach

It's pretty tough to write this column when you lose. You keep saying to yourself, "What's your excuse this time?" "Where did you make your mistakes?" You know that those who read the column and see the games have their own ideas.

The new three-second rule has hurt us much more than I anticipated. We knew that we wouldn't be able to plant the big men under the basket, but we hoped to compensate for this with control of our backboard and by scoring on tip-in shots. We haven't scored over a total of 14 or 16 points on this type of shot in three games. Our big men are not getting the offensive boards.

In the Brighton game we lost on free throws. We hit in nine for 18 and Brighton had 20 for 27. We outscored them in total baskets 17 to 13. They stole the ball for several lay-ups as a result of careless ball handling on our part. They played a controlled game on offense in order to keep the score within striking distance for them. It worked. We couldn't hit for a decent percentage on our long shots and this was the break they were hoping for.

Bill Yahne played an excellent ball game. Dick Biery and Cap Pethers are having hard luck on their shooting. The whole team is stiff and ragged in moving and handling the ball. In practice we look good but the boys seem to freeze up in a ball game.

One fan mentioned to me that we expected great things, and that the boys, in trying to live up to pre-season expectations, have iced up in the attempt. Our scoring punch must improve over the present 41 point average we now carry. We have held our opponents to a 42 point average per game. I hope we can do this well, defensively, the rest of the year.

We are going all out for a victory over Clarenceville this Friday. I'd give a lot for some of that team confidence we wrote about in the first column.

Northville, Novi Skiers Have New Shop and Slope

Warm weather this week wasn't exactly made to order for Northville and Novi skiing enthusiasts, but there were a couple of encouraging notes just the same.

For one, Trickey's Sporting Goods in Novi has opened a complete new ski center which both rents and sells everything a skier needs. The week end skier can get a special rental price for boots, skis and poles.

The other item of cheer for skiers is the opening of a new ski area less than an hour's drive from both communities.

It is the Summit ski area just south of Fenton on Foley road. Compressors for Summit's snow machines were installed last week, and low ropes and motors are expected to be in place this week end.

Two other ski areas are within driving distance of Northville and Novi. One is Mount Holly (now in its second season) on US-10 between Pontiac and Flint, and the other is Grampian Mountain, two miles east of Oxford on Lakeville road.

For the less ambitious, the slopes at Cass Benton park in Northville's backyard can provide a good afternoon.

And for those who want to get away, weekend bus service to ski resorts in the upper part of the lower peninsula is available each Friday evening at 6:20 p.m. from the Greyhound terminal in Detroit. They return on Sunday evening.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

By the Rev. Fr. John Wittstock
Our Lady of Victory Church

MY GIFTS TO THE CHRIST CHILD

I have started by Christmas shopping. I am using my heart for a pocket-book and my love is the coin or money. I willingly offer it to those with whom I come in contact, irrespective of race or creed. With kindness I desire to buy people's love for the Christ they see in me. As I continue on my shopping tour I see Christ in the multitude of souls surrounding me; infants smiling, sometimes crying; little children laughing at their play; youth each day struggling against the dangers of life; parents oftentimes happy, other times insecure; aging people preparing soon to meet their Creator in Heaven.

I am shopping on bended knee in the silence of the church. Persevering prayer and a strong faith in God's mercy and goodness bring lost and confused souls to the fold. The Christ child will bless them for He loves each one tremendously.

I am shopping with gentle words, heard all too little in an angry world. Sure we want peace — so does the Christ Child. But peace is won by prayer and good moral conduct on the part of the majority of the world's creatures, not by just a few. Good moral conduct is based on sacrifice. We must be willing to give up the things that enslave our passions. When I make these sacrifices daily, then I am giving — I am contributing to the achievement of peace.

Sometimes I give up my will for the sake of just one soul. Christ loves souls for gifts. I am trying to renovate a 49-year-old gift for Christ — myself. This, I consider, is a gift that He appreciates, to strive to make my will conform to His. That is real love.

I am inviting you to come shopping with me. It is all for the sake of the Christ Child and His creatures. It will be a lot of spiritual fun and joy.

PRESIDENT'S PRIZE — Ed Langtry, president of the First Presbyterian church Men's club, was awarded this likeness (?) of himself at the annual Father-Son banquet last Thursday evening. A full house enjoyed a turkey dinner and color movies. A special gift was presented to each son and prizes, of the variety being displayed by Langtry, awarded to lucky winners.

Student's Cards Have a Personal Touch

Scores of art students at Northville high school have combined business, pleasure and the holiday spirit this year.

Using one of the world's oldest forms of printing, they have made their own personalized Christmas cards. From design to finished product, the cards are their own work. Most of the cards were done with linoleum blocks. Those shown on this page were printed directly from blocks carved by four of the students.

In linoleum block work, students drew a design first on paper, then traced it on linoleum. Using special knives and gouges, they cut away all excess linoleum, leaving a printing surface.

It was basically this same type of block work that was used by early Chinese and Egyptians in recording their histories.

The idea of having students print their own Christmas cards is that of Jack VanHaren of the NHS art department. It also was VanHaren's suggestion that led to the successful program of Halloween decorations on downtown store windows this year.

Some of VanHaren's students used another ancient art form — silk screen — for their Christmas cards. This process involves applying a design to the card by using a stretched piece of silk into which the design has been worked.

Both types of cards were spruced up with the addition of "glitter", sequins and other bright and colorful materials. In this way, students could come up with an almost endless variety of cards.

As with the Halloween decorations,

VanHaren designed the project so that it would not only be a classroom exercise, but would have a practical end as well.

Helping Santa's Helpers

Good old Santa has a staff of helpers, as everybody knows, for even as magical a man as he could hardly be expected to do such a tremendous job without some assistance . . . But do you know where his helpers get a lot of their help? Why, from the thousands upon thousands of trucks that daily transport raw materials, manufactured goods, farm products — everything it takes not only for day-to-day living but for a Merry Christmas, too. You can bet your boots that everything you see around the tree on Christmas morning traveled by truck for many miles before it got into Santa's pack . . . Merry Christmas, everybody!

Northville Student In U-M Concert

A student from Northville sang with the University of Michigan choir last night when it presented its annual Christmas concert of choral music in Ann Arbor.

He is Bruce Felker, 113 Randolph, one of 350 students from various colleges and schools in the university. The choir was directed by Maynard Klein, associate professor of choral music.

The program included such traditional works as Bach's "Sing Ye the Lord", Verdi's "Te Deum", and Brahms "O Saviour, Throw the Heavens Wide".

Patients Present Christmas Show

Patients at Northville State hospital last night presented an original Christmas variety show titled "Bright Night".

The show included vocal and instrumental music, variety acts, and a short drama. Costumes were made by the patients.

According to Mrs. Ann Snyder, musical therapist who coached the production, 40 patients took part. The show was held in the new 750-seat occupational and recreational therapy auditorium.

Engineer Club Plans Experiments

Starting after Christmas vacation, the Engineers club, sponsored by Mr. Neal Anderson, is going to run various experimental projects dealing in the science field.
Members of the club will be experimenting with electronics, radio and engineering drafting. They will also be building models of scientific equipment.
The club welcomes anyone that would like to join.

Council Members To Sell Candy

Selling candy for a project is the work of the student council members. The money will be used for purchasing useful items for the school.
Students who have been violating the smoking laws were brought before the student council court. They were not convicted but were given warning.
Yesterday was student exchange day at Northville high school. Students from Bloomfield Hills were guests of the school.

Forensic Members See Hit Play

Last night the Forensic club went to the Shubert theater to see the play, "No Time for Sergeants".
The club's purpose in going to see the play is to learn about the different types of play production.
By seeing these plays, the club learns what kind of sets are used in different types of plays.
Another activity of the club is the preparation for the presentation of three one-act plays at the beginning of February. As was the custom last year, students are going to direct the plays. The directors have not been chosen.
Some 45,000 books were recently moved into The University of Michigan's new undergraduate library.

Two young students from England and Germany will spend Christmas in Northville this year. While they are enjoying an American Christmas with their "foster" parents here, their families back home will observe the holidays in their own traditional way. Here, Susan Clarke and Jurgen Hamacher tell in their own way just what that means.

In England . . .

by Susan Clarke

An English Christmas is very similar to an American one. We have our Christmas trees, decorated in the usual traditional way, and we have Father Christmas, as we call Santa Claus, and his reindeer.

We use a lot of holly and mistletoe in our decorating, and in bygone days the Yule log used to play a big part in Christmas festivities. This was a huge log which burnt for most of Christmas day. Those who dragged it home were envied, as they were thought to be immune from evil spells and spirits for the next year.

The children all wrote to Father Christmas and "post" them up the fireplace. On Christmas Eve, each child puts out his stocking or pillow slip to await Santa's arrival with his presents.

On Christmas day itself, everyone eats a huge traditional dinner of turkey and plum pudding which is made at home, with each member of the family taking it in turns to stir the mixture and make a wish. Around the turkey is placed a string of sausages, a custom dating back from pre-Christmas times.

The day after Christmas is also a national holiday in England, called Boxing Day. On this day many families go to a pantomime, which is a Christmas show, usually a fairy tale, put on by adults for the children. The fairy tale is brought up to date by popular songs and jokes. In the evening of Boxing Day, many adults go to the Christmas dance.

Wherever one may be in the world, the Spirit of Christmas is always the same, and I am sure I shall enjoy my first American Christmas.

Both Debate Teams Win at Bloomfield

The Northville high school debate squad is off to a fine start again this year. Two weeks ago, at the West Bloomfield high school, both Northville teams won.

The affirmative team, composed of Becky Coolman and Lil Zinnecker defeated Clarenceville, while our negative team, composed of Marianne King and Sandy Strasen, were triumphant over Holly.

Yesterday the debaters went to Bloomfield Hills to debate in the league tournaments against Clarkston and Milford. In preparation for this event, the debate squad practiced with Thurston and Farmington.

The results of the tournament debates were not available at press time.

Student, Teacher Opinions Aired in Question Column

This is a new column on our school page. Each week we shall ask a question of six people — two girls, two boys and two teachers.

This week's question is: "Further Education — Is It Necessary?"

DIANE LUCHTMAN, Junior: "Yes and no. It depends on the individual — if he can afford it and if he has the desire to continue his education. Certainly anyone who can possibly afford it would benefit from a college education. It not only helps in getting a better job, but also helps give a more mature outlook on life."

LOU ANN COMER, Junior: "College education, no, but you should have some specialized training in case you have to earn a living — IBM or a commercial school is all right for this. I feel that rather than spend money on four years of college, why not get the same training at a special school in six weeks and spend the rest of the time making money."

MIKE JANCHICK, Sophomore: "I think it is extremely necessary if you plan to go into business, teaching or marriage."

In Germany . . .

by Jurgen Hamacher

As in all the Christian countries the Christmas holidays rank first in Germany among the various holidays. They are considered to be the most beautiful time during the whole year.

The four weeks before Christmas are called the "Advent" season ("advent" is a Latin word and means arrival). The Advent season is the time Christ is coming.

At the beginning of this season each family gets an Advent wreath with four red candles on it. This wreath is made of the branches of fir trees. The candles symbolize the last four Sundays before Christmas. At the first of these four Sundays the children light one of the candles. Each following Sunday one more candle is lighted until they all burn. Then the children know that Christmas is near. Usually the candles are burned at dinner or in the evenings when the whole family is sitting together.

The children have Christmas calendars, which make them think on Christmas.

In Germany it is not Santa Claus who brings the gifts at Christmas. It is the Christ-baby who brings them. Sankt Nikolaus (that's German word for Santa Claus) comes at a special Sankt Nikolaus Day and brings candies, nuts and cookies. This day is on December 6. The children put out their boots before the windows and Sankt Nikolaus fills them overnight with his sweet things.

The bestowal of gifts usually takes place on Christmas Eve. (Very few families do it on Christmas morning). The gifts are lying visible below the Christmas tree.

The Christmas tree usually is a fir tree. The tree is decorated with real wax candles and colored balls. Very few people have electric bulbs, because they prefer the warm light of wax candles. Almost each family has a little manger which is placed below the Christmas tree.

When all the members of the family have got their presents they start singing Christmas songs and the children recite Christmas poems. The song people like best is "Stille Nacht, Heilige Nacht". That's the original version of "Silent Night, Holy Night."

After the singing the whole family goes to church for the midnight service. The churches have wonderful decorations and also the streets are decorated with lights and Christmas trees.

Christmas is celebrated on the two days following Christmas Eve. They are days of family life and people mostly stay at home. The favorite food for Christmas is goose.

SAM CHIZMAR, Freshman: "It depends on what you want to be — some types of jobs require college degrees, others don't. A doctor has to have a college degree, but a ditch digger doesn't. I myself plan to go to college."

ROBERT WILLIAMS, Band Director: "For some people it is necessary — for others, no. In the first place, there are people who cannot handle further education, while on the other hand, there are other people who will not be educated no matter how many courses they take or how many colleges they go to."

RONALD SCHIPPER, Coach: "It depends on the individual and what he wants to be. Everyone does not have to have a college education to be a success. There are good trade schools for those that choose to work at something like tool and die. Everyone can derive something from college, if he or she wants to. If a person wants to enter a profession, he should go to college."

SPEAKING for the Record

By BILL SLIGER

The 10-month study of Detroit's finances by a committee headed by Joseph M. Dodge should be read by everyone who is even mildly interested in city government.

While the report was made on one of the world's largest cities, its findings can be applied to any size community. The facts concerning assessment practices and the burden of taxes should be of particular interest to Northville.

The report points out that many property owners are paying taxes that should be paid by their neighbors. Failure to assess all property at a uniform rate has resulted in some homeowners paying more than their share of taxes, while others pay less.

Most of Northville has been re-appraised. The results of this re-appraisal will not show up until next year, but its purpose will be to eliminate the inequities pointed to by Dodge.

The Dodge report also hits at assessment formulas which show personal property being assessed at 90 to 100 per cent, commercial and industrial at 60 to 65 per cent and homes at anywhere from 15 to 120 per cent of cash value.

Sgt. Gil Glasson is slightly upset by a report in The Record last week that had him in the wrong place. As a matter of fact, the story ran 100 per cent and had another officer in the wrong role. So for the record, Officer "Kane" found the little girl who forgot to go home and Glasson helped the Mayor while Councilman Canbury and Officer "King" continued to search long after the little girl was home in bed!

If you haven't visited the Ford Rotunda to enjoy the annual "Christmas Fantasy", make it a must on your week end family plans. The Rotunda is open daily from 8:30 a.m. until 9:00 p.m. until December 24 at 3 p.m. It's a treat for both children and adults.

There shouldn't be a family in the area "without a Christmas". But if you know of a needy family that may have been missed, call the Novi Goodfellows, King's Daughters in Northville or one of the service clubs. This information should be received before this week end.

Michigan Mirror

State Needs Doctors

MICHIGAN'S SHORTAGE of doctors, dentists and other medical personnel was underlined in a report submitted to the governor by a 24 member commission he appointed to look into the matter.

Wibur J. Cohen of the University of Michigan School of Social Work, who is chairman of the committee, reported that this state, which ranks 10th in wealth and personal income, ranks 35th in its supply of physicians.

National average is one doctor to each 1,761 residents, said Cohen. Michigan has only 200, his report showed.

Only sound solution to the situation seems to be the graduation of more doctors. Cohen's report urged that facilities for medical training be expanded rapidly at Wayne State university, where a minimum expenditure would permit an increase in student load, and the early construction of a third medical school in the state.

EDUCATION has become Michigan's top political and practical problem.

It will come into sharper focus during the 1958 session of the legislature when schoolmen and lawmakers will seek solutions to problems which are largely financial.

Interwoven into the money issue is the new emphasis on education as a cold war weapon for the nation.

Sputnik makes its point even before it becomes an important military weapon.

Republican legislators estimate that education costs through high school grades, the area covered by the school aid formula, will cost $41 million more next year.

It will take that much to make up a $2 million to $6 million deficit in the school aid fund this year. Another $14 million is needed because of an expected 70,000 student enrollment increase and to replace the $25 million raised this year only by cigaret and liquor taxes.

Legislators feel that the liquor and cigaret taxes, levied as an emergency maneuver to guarantee schools $190 per student this year, cannot be extended beyond the June 30 expiration date.

The sales tax revenue is down from last year, further reducing the automatic two cents on the dollar spent which goes to the schools. The third cent goes to the state treasury.

Demands have developed for a greater emphasis on science subjects since the Soviet Union launched its Sputnik, the earth satellite.

Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, told one group that the Russians are concentrating more on physics and mathematics in the high schools than the United States does.

His answer is more money for schools, higher salaries for teachers and a reassessment of curricula.

Dr. Samuel M. Brownell, superintendent of Detroit schools, calls for governments on all levels to determine who has the responsibility for improving schools.

He said that the Federal government, the states and local committees "all are pointing fingers at each other," demanding more participation and more help without attempting to solve the problem themselves.

Higher education will be asking for more money and help this year.

Both the University of Michigan and Michigan State university state they need more if they are to provide the education in science and other fields that students need.

John A. Hannah, president of MSU, said the institution needs help if it is to "achieve the near-miracle the American people expect of us."

HOUSE SPEAKER George Van Puurseum is urging the legislature to work as a "non-political unit" in solving Michigan's "economic climate" dilemma.

He pointed to the industries which have left the state in the last year, claiming they could obtain a Utopia of lower taxes and lower labor costs elsewhere.

Van Puurseum, in the forefront of the campaign to blame the loss of jobs and industry on Williams, urged that the legislature start picturing Michigan as a good place to do business.

"We have an almost-unlimited water supply, good transportation and other factors," he said.

Optimists Plan For Horse Show

Northville Optimists are already at work on plans for their annual horse show next summer.

A committee met last week to map initial plans and line up other committees for the show.

Committee members are: Adrian Wallis, William Taft, Don Hannabarger, Waldo Johnson, Don Van Ingen, Pat Malley, George Clark, Nelson Schrader, Harry Richardson and George Kohls.

Optimists held their annual children's Christmas party last night. They also noted that any members wishing to provide a present for a patient at Northville state hospital should address it to: Mrs. Carolyn Seefeldt, Director of Social Services, Northville State Hospital.

More than 20,000 school children visit the University of Michigan exhibit museum every year.
