Eight Youths Confess Spree; Included Seven Burglaries Here

Eight Plymouth and Livonia youths — one a 17-year-old girl — were held by police this week after confessing to more than 100 burglaries and car thefts including seven in and near Northville.

Held in Washtenaw county jail are:

Kirkland McGowan, 18, 18483 Ann, Plymouth.

Curtis McGowan, his twin, same address.

Bernard Fornland, 19, 397 Pacific, Plymouth.

Dow Swope, 19, 15137 Bainbridge, Livonia.

Leonard Bellenger, 19, 14894 Northville road, Plymouth.

William McIntosh, 17, 41811 Five Mile, Plymouth.

A 16-year-old boy from Plymouth. A 17-year-old girl, his sister.

The long list of confessions came after police arrested McIntosh in Ann Arbor, where several of the youths had fled in a car stolen from Northville.

Among the crimes confessed by the gang were seven burglaries in Northville: Northville Lanes bowling alley (twice), Asher Pure Oil (three times), Amerman elementary school, and Bel-Nor Drive-In.

Four of the youths also admitted setting fire to a barn at Six Mile and Sheldon on April 17 to distract police while they broke in to Asher's.

The seven Northville break-ins netted the gang about $1,000.

Altogether, they made off with 100-odd jobs. Police said 56 burglaries occurred in western Wayne county, 12 in Plymouth, 12 in Washtenaw county, and others in Livingston county.

The boys are all from good homes and told police they "stole for a lark." Though broke when arrested, they claimed they didn't need the money.

The gang's demise started late in the night a week ago Monday, after Curtis McGowan and one of the minors stole a car parked on E. Cady street in Northville, police said. (The car, ironically, belonged to the father of Helen Major, new women's editor of The Record.)

Picking up McIntosh and the other McGowan at the Northville well, the youths headed toward Northville state hospital to find a faster car.

Failing to find one, they drove in to Ann Arbor, broke into a shop and stole two motorcycles.

Police pursued the two cycle riders after a woman reported them for making too much noise. McIntosh was arrested, but the minor escaped. The other two escaped in another stolen car.

Holding McIntosh, police soon had leads on the rest of the gang. Then the confessions started. The youths admitted these incidents in Northville to Patrolman Ray Nowicki:

— March 7, 1:30 a.m., Northville Lanes break-in, netting $250. Fornwald, working there, let in Swope, McIntosh and a minor. Falling through the false ceiling, they fled and returned later to rob the place.

— April 17, 1 a.m. Asher Pure Oil, netting $31.80. One of the minors set fire to the barn at Sheldon and Six Mile, distracting police while Fornwald, McIntosh and the other minor broke in through a window.

— April 24, 12 midnight, Northville Lanes, netting $623. McIntosh and a minor cut steel bars and entered through a window left open by Fornwald, who was still working there.

State Plans A Look-See At Downs

The state legislative racing study committee will pay its first visit to Northville this week.

Chairman Sterling Eaton, representative from this district, stated that his three-man committee would attend the races at the Downs Friday night following a dinner with harness racing representatives at the Mayflower hotel in Plymouth.

Eaton's committee was appointed last spring after a bill that would have eliminated local tax revenues from racing came before the house of representatives. The bill was tabled by the house state affairs committee and the study group appointed. Working with Eaton are Representatives Edson Root (R), Benton Harbor, and Walter McMahon (D), Detroit.

"This is the initial step in our firsthand study of racing in Michigan," Eaton indicated. He said the committee, along with Kenneth Sanders, legislative attorney, and Secretary Mildred Hutchinson, would meet Friday afternoon. In the evening they will dine with representatives of harness racing at the Mayflower. Downs' Executive Manager John Carlo and Dr. L. W. Snow and Clifton Hill of the Driving Club are expected to represent Northville.

Saturday Eaton's committee will meet with representatives of the "runners" and later attend the "Michigan Mile" event at the Detroit Race Course in Livonia.

"We have gathered all the information we can from all sources in communities where racing is staged. It will be our job to study this information and then write a new racing law for Michigan by next November," Eaton said. He added that it was his intention to protect the tax rebates now enjoyed by cities in which tracks are located with a "minimum guarantee." Northville now receives approximately $90,000 yearly in state tax returns.

Phone Rates Rise Ten Cents a Month

The basic rate for residential telephone service here goes up 10 cents a month under the recent Public Service Commission order granting Michigan Bell Telephone Company an increase in revenues.

The 10-cent increase applies to 1-party, 2-party, and 4-party residential service. Rural rates generally are not affected. The new rate schedule boosts the cost of 1-party and 2-party business service 20 cents a month.

Additional directory listings for business service are increased 25 cents a month, while additional residence listings go up 10 cents a month.

The $1 charge for spring cords is eliminated in cases where a charge applies for other telephone work being done on the premises.

PHONE PREVIEW — It may be a bit premature, but Mrs. 'Blm' Baggett, 862 North Center, gets in some dialing practice in preparation for the cut-over to dial service in Northville Sunday. Helping her find her friend's new number (they're all changed, of course) is Teddy Telephone.

Haller, Inc. Gets Settled In Waterford Plant Site

Haller, Incorporated began operations in Northville this week with the announcement by the firm's president, John Haller, that the company had moved its facilities from Plymouth to its new Northville road plant.

Original announcement of the proposed move was made last December when Haller purchased the Waterford plant from Ford Motor company. The two-level, 11½-acre Waterford site was vacated by Ford when the company moved its precision gauge operations to Rawsonville.

Haller designs and sells equipment for the powdered metal industry, electronic ceramics, carbon and all other industries fabricating parts from powders. He stated that his new plant will house the expanded powdered metal operation where the Haller "Oilwell" bearings and parts are manufactured. It will also provide new and improved facilities for the press and equipment division which handles the Haller line of briquetting presses, sintering furnaces, as well as laboratory testing equipment, Haller added.

Haller is well known locally as the founder and operator of Michigan Powdered Metal from 1945 until 1951. He sold the plant to Allied Products in 1951 and later moved into his Plymouth location. Previously, Haller owned the J-H Tool and Machine and Haller Machine and Manufacturing firms in Detroit. He resides with his family at 18509 Sheldon road.

Haller's Plymouth office is located at 694 Ann Arbor road. He has indicated that his entire operation would be centered in the Waterford plant.

Elect Erwin, Taylor To Novi Board

Russell Taylor and Edward Erwin were named to the Novi board of education Monday in an election which drew less than 10 percent of the school district's registered voters turned out.

Only 131 voters turned out. A total of 1,353 were registered.

The race for a three-year term was close between Erwin and William O'Brien. Erwin won by only four votes, 65-61.

Rotary To Host Exchange Students Next Wednesday

A farewell dinner for some 53 foreign exchange students under the Ann Arbor Council of Churches program in Michigan will be held next Wednesday night at the First Presbyterian church.

The banquet is an annual event sponsored by the Northville Rotary club and promises to be one of the largest ever staged. Chairman Philip Ogilvie said that many of the foster parents as well as Northville Rotarians and their wives will attend the program.

Northville will have two exchange students saying their last goodbyes before returning home. They are Sue Clarke of England, who has been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Skow, and Jurgen Hamacher of Germany, whose foster parents have been Mr. and Mrs. Walter Couse.

The students, who will leave Ann Arbor on the day after the banquet for Montreal and a boat trip home, will gather in Northville from all parts of the state.

Ogilvie stated that much of the program will be taken up with introductions and short "goodbyes" from the students themselves. Remarks will be made also by Dr. Ferdinand Friedensburg, German consul in Detroit, and Rotary District Governor Eugene Olsen of Adrian.

The dinner will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Annexation Suit Is Heard; Expect Decision Next Week

A decision "within a week" was promised by Judge Clark J. Adams after hearing arguments in the Warren Products—City of Northville annexation suit in Oakland county circuit court, Tuesday.

The long-standing suit, brought by Warren Products following the annexation of 220 acres of Novi township to Northville last November, was scheduled to be heard last Friday. A shift to Tuesday was made when the court's docket became jammed with hearings.

Attorneys for Warren Products, which is located in the 220-acre site, argued that all residents of the township should be allowed to vote in an election pertaining to annexation of property from the township.

City Attorney Philip Ogilvie pointed out that the law provides that cities with a population under 15,000 follow the procedure used in the November 19 election. Only residents of the city and area of the township to be annexed can vote.

Warren attorneys were given support by Anthony Renne, Novi township attorney, who argued for the plaintiffs.

The area extends northward to the 8½ mile line and from Novi road westward to a point 1000 feet west of Taft road. In addition to Warren Products it includes Northville Lumber and Coal, the new Yerkes Estates subdivision and several other residences.

State Hospital No Peril

Are Northville residents safe with one of the state's largest mental hospitals in their backyard?

What safeguards are taken when or before one of the hospital's more than 2,000 patients escape?

Are escapes inevitable? Are those who escape apt to be dangerous?

These questions arose last week when an escaped Northville State hospital patient confessed that he had murdered a farmer near Metamora last April.

Dr. Philip R. Brown, medical superintendent of the hospital, this week assured The Record that Northville residents have little to fear.

Strongest assurance comes from the hospital's history of successful control of escapes, he indicated. The murder was the first act of violence ever committed by a hospital escapee.

No Building Permit To Baptist Church

The Northville board of appeals granted one request and denied another Monday night in a meeting held at the city hall.

Most of the discussion centered around a request for a building permit by the First Baptist church. A permit had been denied the church because a proposed addition would not comply with restrictions. The church is located at Wing and Randolph streets, an area zoned residential.

The Reverend Peter Nieuwkoop presented the church's plan to build an addition to the auditorium in the front. He pointed to difficulties that restricted building in other directions. The addition would bring the church building to within four feet of the sidewalk.

John Canterbury, 204 Randolph, acted as spokesman for a number of residents of the area who attended the meeting to protest the plan. The group maintained that the addition in the front would create a traffic hazard at the corner and also adversely affect the beauty and value of homes in the area.

Objectors and board members alike were sympathetic to the church's problem. The board finally voted against granting the permit, although two members, C. A. Hoffman and Essie Nirider, voted to allow the addition. Board Chairman Elmer DeKay indicated that new plans would be given careful consideration.

In a second request the board allowed a permit to move a house from 801 Carpenter to a lot between 723 and 741 Carpenter. Mrs. B. J. Simms, 723 Carpenter, objected on the grounds that the house was much higher than others in the neighborhood.

Yet even the Paul Sims murder—contrary to possible implications—was not a result of the patient's mental illness, Dr. Brown said.

It was a likely normal fright reaction, which "could have happened to you or me."

"I feel that more fear and anti-social health convictions can be stirred up among the public by sensational publicity," he said.

"Modern treatment of mental illness considers a person essentially ill, but not a pariah of society. The hospital is not a prison," he said. We certainly don't think today that mental patients are criminals. We try to treat them like human beings."

Correspondingly, the hospital believes giving some freedom to patients is medically beneficial.

Partly because of its program of "controlled permissiveness," Northville hospital has a greater number of escapes than most Michigan hospitals, Dr. Brown said. The number averages between 10-15 a month.

"I suppose 95 per cent of the patients wouldn't say they're happy committed to the hospital," he said, "so escape attempts are inevitable."

"Some will be successful," he said, "but the fact that so many patients are getting well and improving so rapidly reflects in part on our controlled permissiveness program."

"We wouldn't have the good outpatient rate we do if we didn't have it," he maintained.

He pointed out that in England some mental institutions have a policy of no locked doors.

It's Been David's Worst Week Yet

David Rochon had his worst spell yet this past week.

His dooming brain tumor is beginning to take its toll, and David has been in pain since last Thursday.

He aches continuously and finds it difficult to keep food in his stomach.

David's mother, trying to help him sleep, held his head throughout the night Monday and Tuesday.

His doctor was over, and prescribed additional medication for the plucky five-year-old. He must take pills every two hours.

The American Legion gave David $25 this week to help pay for the extra medicine.

Meanwhile, the Northville VFW is continuing to sell tickets for a Swiss steak dinner on July 27. Proceeds will go to the David Rochon fund.

ly opened eight or nine wards, Dr. Brown added, but patients began wandering in from outdoor activities during the day for naps.

This hampered their treatment, he said, so the wards were shut up again, in favor of the old program of supervised work schedules.

Although Northville gives more patients privileges than any other Michigan hospital, Dr. Brown states, adequate measures are still taken to prevent escapes.

First, a study is made of each patient's history, to determine how much freedom he can manage.

Psychiatrists diagnose the nature of his symptoms and the direction his thoughts are taking.

These are combined with electroencephalogram records and several tests and clinical examinations.

Persons in maximum security wards (one of 50 ward classifications) have a specially high ratio of attendants to patients (4:18).

In addition, they are ineligible for release from the hospital. Doors on these wards are always locked, and there are protective screens on the maximum security building, which houses 2 wards for 65 women and 2 for 65 men.

Persons in maximum security are there on the basis of their overt behavior, Dr. Brown said, and not on the basis of diagnosis. Many have merely displayed belligerence.

Of 2,000 patients, only about 6 have homicidal tendencies, he said.

The murder-suspect, Dr. Brown declared, was impulsive and under maximum security at one time, but doctors considered him sufficiently improved to be given leaves of absence.

After being released, he returned voluntarily when his mother's death caused him to feel himself slipping again.

His voluntary confession also, indicates a normal attitude, Dr. Brown claims.

When a patient does escape, a routine check is performed immediately.

Grounds and the surrounding area are searched by foot and car at once. Wayne county and state police, and the patient's relatives are notified. Most escapees are found before they leave the grounds.

When a matter of inter-state escape is involved, State mental health commissioner, Charles Wagg is contacted.

In many instances, the patient's own safety is the primary concern. One escapee from Newberry State hospital walked away in the winter and was found later frozen to death in a nearby woods.

Most escapees are "just trying to go home," Dr. Brown explains.

"In psychiatric treatment there's always a calculated risk," he concluded, "the murder could have happened when the patient was out or just before he came back."

PROBLEM CURVE — Several drivers have been killed and several dozen others injured at this curve on Randolph street where it becomes Baseline. Last week, Garrett Barry, who has the house at right listed with his real estate agency, suggested to the city council that the county buy it and straighten out the curve. The council concurred with the idea, and requested City Manager John Robertson to approach the county. For details of latest accident there, see page 12.

"I look upon every day to be lost, in which I do not make a new acquaintance."

Mrs. Robert Hodapp takes the children to the show while father stays home to cut the grass. The big smiles in the grandstand come from (bottom to top) Paul, Patti, Peter, Piper, Payge, and Pamela.

The Robert Hodapps and their six children, Peter, 13, Pamela, 12, Patti, 11, Payge, 8, Paul, 6, and Piper, 4, are pretty plumb pleased living in Northville.

The former Munster, Indiana residents moved into their South Rogers street home on Decoration day.

"We always get asked about the children's names," Mrs. Hodapp sighs good naturedly. She explains that Peter was named after his grandfather, and Pam became Pam just because Mrs. Hodapp liked the name.

The Peter-Pam combination became infectious Mrs. Hodapp says, "after you get started you can't stop in the middle."

Maybe to befuddle inquisitors for good, she adds that they've sometimes considered having Peter, Pam, Patti, Payge, Paul, Piper, and George.

All the children will attend Northville public schools this fall except Payge, who will be enrolled at Our Lady of Victory school.

NORTHVILLE

Northville Is Still Home for Well-Traveled Colonel Van Atta

Seventeen years ago, a sun-tanned youth who learned his tennis on the courts at Cass Benton park triumphantly brought home the Hearst regional singles championship to Northville.

Last week, still sun-tanned and still a tennis star, Ward Van Atta was back on the Cass Benton courts doing battle with anyone who would challenge him.

Van Atta — now Colonel W. H. Van Atta, U. S. Army — was on a brief stopover in Northville between a recent assignment in Japan and his new post in Washington.

Shedding his uniform for sports clothes, he dropped in at Exchange and Rotary Club meetings, visited his parents, reminisced with former classmates at Northville high, and talked on street corners with old friends — “most of whom amazingly, I still recognize.”

But duty called again Monday, and the Van Attas were off for Washington. There he will serve as chief of the topographic and geodetic division in the office of the assistant chief of staff for intelligence.

In layman's language, that means he will mastermind a massive project designed to bring the army's world-wide maps up to date. The 25 year program, now in its tenth year, will give the army the most complete set of maps ever compiled, all drawn to the needs of atomic warfare.

Such work — engineering intelligence — has been the colonel's forte since he completed studies (compliment of the army) at Harvard and Oxford universities. But serving in the Corps of Engineers hasn't always meant a desk job.

On the Normandy beachhead in 1944, he commanded a unit of combat engineers as they nervously neutralized minefields, demolished barb-wire emplacements and threw Bailey bridges across key rivers.

Promoted to colonel, he took over as engineering executive officer for the First Army in its dash across Europe.

Later he was transferred to the Pacific, and island-hopped with General McArthur's forces to the Philippines.

This should have ended his combat for awhile, but in 1948 Colonel Van Atta was ordered into China to get microfilms of key installations at Nanking and Shanghai before the Communist troops took over.

Completing the job, he and his men were rescued by an LST just as the Red troops swept into the darkened, shell-shattered city.

At other times, the colonel's army travels have taken him to Malaya, Taiwan, Panama, and Korea. But when the Korean War broke out, he and his family were aboard ship for U.S., and they missed that conflict by a matter of days.

Colonel Van Atta's last assignment took him to Yokohama, Japan, for three years. It was their second tour of duty in that country, and the Van Attas loved every minute of it. Among their memories:

— their home, complete with servants, which looked out across Yokohama Bay.

— the penny-easy prices: 13 cents for a gallon of gas, 25 cents for a haircut, $1 for a good meal.

— attending races at Japan's huge tracks and placing bets with young girls employed as bookies by the track. (Harness racing is just now catching on, he says.)

— boating in the bay, a sport at which the Van Attas and their two boys are quite accomplished.

— the two trophies dad won as the Far East senior men's tennis champion.

The colonel's wife, Jane, herself an army colonel's daughter, spent much of her time in club work and served as president of the Armed Forces Women's club and area chairman of the Red Cross. “She has more uniforms than I do,” observed her husband.)

For Pete, 16, there was often a sense of frustration in Japan, for he and other American civilians were prohibited from using their ham radio outfits. The reason: not security, as they had suspected, but pressure from Japanese telephone companies who didn't want to lose out on trans-Pacific business.

The colonel's work often brought him into touch with matters of international concern. Shortly before he left, for example, a government official approached him about getting more re-building work for Japanese factories from other Asian countries.

On the pressing question of tariffs and trade relations with Japan, the colonel says: “In most industries, we can compete favorably with Japan even under free trade terms. And even where we can't compete, the number of persons hurt is so small that they hardly outweigh the goodwill and better trade balance created.”

Arriving in the U.S. from Japan several weeks ago, the Van Attas camped their way cross-country to Northville, helping to fight forest fires in Glacier National Park and fleeing floods in the midwest corn belt.

In Northville, while dad rested and visited friends, the rest of the family kept well-occupied.

Pete talked ham radio with auto dealer Wilbur Petz, who has an acean-spanning ham rig himself. Mom toured the roadside markets, happy to again find fresh fruits and vegetables. And young Freddy, 11, enthusiastically pitched in to Northville's summer recreation program.

Braves Boost Record to 19-0 Hits and Pitches Wixom To Third Victory in Row

The regular season ends this week for Northville's two midget league teams, who last week came out victorious in five games and allowed a total of only six runs.

The Northville Braves, who, now have a 19-0 record, end regular play tonight. The Northville Orioles completed their season yesterday but have a makeup Saturday. (See below for schedules.)

Craig Bell and Dan Brown again led the Braves to victory, allowing but four hits and two runs in three wins.

Bell struck out 17 and gave up one hit as the Braves downed the Livonia Police, 12-0. Mike Zayti, with three for five, and Ed Beard and Bell, with two hits apiece, paced the Braves.

Bell allowed only two hits and whiffed 13 in the Braves, 5-2 conquest of the Elm Pirates. Brown and Bell each tripled, as Northville overcame a 2-0 deficit with a four-run fourth inning.

Brown also hurled a one-hitter and struck out 10 as the Braves defeated Wayne County Training school, 11-0. Once again Bell and Brown provided the punch, each slamming out a home run.

The Northville Orioles held on to third place in their league by downing the Police White Sox, 3-2, and the Wilson Red Sox, 11-2.

Billy Elwell held the White Sox to three hits. Northville scored in the first when Bill Lusk drove in Tom Swiss, and added single runs in the fifth on an error and in the seventh on Swiss' triple and Gary Gry's sacrifice fly.

Lusk downed the Red Sox on five hits while his teammates banged out 10. A five-run outburst in the sixth clinched the win.

In a makeup game last week, the Orioles and Jefferson Yanks again tied 0-0 in seven innings as darkness halted the game.

Games for the coming week: Braves: 6:15 tonight, v. Jefferson, Fisher No. 1, Middlebelt and C and O tracks Orioles, 10 a.m. Saturday, v. Rosedale, at Cass Benton. (Orioles will make up several other games next week. Times not set.)

Braves Eye Title

The phenomenal Northville Braves—who've yet to lose this season—will meet the Rosedale Tigers for the championship of the Livonia recreation league week after next.

The two teams, champions-apparent of their divisions, will vie for a spot in the Michigan Recreation Association state tourney.

The loser of the one-game playoff will go into the Wyandotte Inter-City Tournament, which Northville won two years ago.

Next week, the midget teams will play off a series of makeup games.

Caplin Does Well

A former Meadowbrook country club caddy, Ty Caplin of Plymouth, played sub-par golf to gain the semi-finals of the state amateur golf tournament at Charlevoix last week.

Caplin, a junior at Michigan State college, ousted A. T. "Tony" Skover of Northville 1-up in his march to the semis. Skover is Meadowbrook club champion. Although three under par for 17 holes, Caplin lost 2 and 1 to Tom Draper on Sunday. Glenn Johnson defeated Draper for the state crown.

NEW SHIRTS for the four Northville knothole baseball teams arrived this week, and among the first to wear them were the teams' captains (left to right): Jim Long, Artie Forth, Bruce Dayton, and Butch Pethers. The teams are sponsored by Casterline Funeral home, Stone's Gamble store, the Northville VFW post and The Record.

Pitching Aids E and F Teams

Northville's class E and F teams got some good pitching last week and came away from four games with three victories under their belts.

Northville pitchers allowed but 12 hits in the three wins.

Senior Girls Win Over DeHoCo, 16-9

Northville's senior girls softball team picked up its first win of the year last week by downing Detroit House of Correction, 16-9, with the help of eight errors.

The girls will end their first season of competition a week from Friday when they meet Ypsilanti at diamond 2 in Cass Benton park at 6:15 p.m.

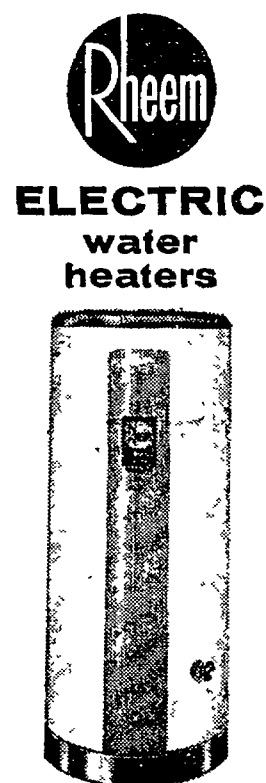

Northville picked up five runs in the first inning on three walks, three errors and a hit batsman.

Five more were added in the second on two walks, two errors and singles by Tommy Thompson and Frand Phillips and a triple by Mary Lou Jones.

Pat Bubel drove in one run in the third and another in the sixth on a home run. Hits by Laurie Bogart and Carol Ann Spaulding in the fifth brought two more across.

In other action last week, the girls lost to Garden City, 13-0, and to Ypsilanti, 21-1.

Hunting and fishing opportunities in Michigan are famed throughout the nation and the state annually lists more combined hunting and fishing license holders than any other state.

In class F play, Butch Willing coasted to an 8-5 win last Tuesday over the Livonia Jets but needed relief help from Bob O'Leary who struck out two in the final inning. Northville scored six runs in the first on four hits and three walks.

O'Leary held Livonia Police to six hits and struck out nine in a 9-1 win two days later. Jim Anderson's two-run-scoring hits and his steal of home paced Northville, while Bob Hansen snared a low liner and doubled a runner off first to get O'Leary out of his only jam.

In a tight defensive duel, Northville tumbled to Livonia Center, 2-0, Friday. Steve Juday allowed only five hits, as Livonia scored twice on errors. A sixth-inning rally failed to materialize for Northville.

The class F squad had won four and lost three as of Friday. In class E play, Northville downed Fisher's, 8-1, as Joe Kritch gave up but three hits.

Hugh Crawford scored on an infield out in the first. In the second Pete Gross doubled Bob Starnes and Cap Pethers home, and scored himself on Crawford's infield hit.

With bases loaded in the fifth, Starnes scored on a passed ball and Pethers and Gross came in on Kritch's single. Wade Deal scored the final run on a sixth-inning error.

12 in Row for Paragon Bank Bandits Keep Pace

The hard-hitting Paragon Steelers won their twelfth straight game last week to maintain a solid grip on first place in the Novi Little League.

But the National Bank Bandits, after a couple of rough weeks, came back with two wins to stay close on Paragon's heels.

Though out-hit 14-12 by Fiberglass, Paragon dropped the Sluggers 18-11 behind the hurling of Jim Schingek. For the winners Jim Mazel had four for five and Tom Bingham and Ron Rice each had three for three. For Fiberglass, Paul Rose doubled twice and picked up two more safeties while Carl Nealy had three for four including a double.

Paragon then turned its guns on Young Door, dropping the Tigers 28-17. Rice's homer and doubles by Steve Thurman, John Alexander and Schingek paced the Steelers. Mazel got credit for the win.

National Bank downed Fiberglass, 9-5, as Jim Brady and Paul Rose each allowed only six hits. National Bank scored three runs in both the first and the third innings to wrap it up.

The Bandits picked up their second win by defeating Young Door, 10-6, behind the pitching of Jim Krug. Gil Van Sickle registered four for four for the losers.

8 YOUTHS

— June 1, 1:30 a.m., Ashers, netting nothing. Broke window, but fled when Northville police made routine check. Returned at 3 a.m. but saw police investigating damage.

— June 12, 11 p.m. Amerman school, netting $40. Fornwald, McIntosh, Bellenger, Curtis McGowan and a minor forced rear door, forced office door, and knocked lock off safe.

— June 17, 3 a.m., Bel-Nor, netted $65. Swope, Bellenger and a minor broke front door window and smashed cigarette machine.

— July 3, 3 a.m., Ashers, $5. McIntosh, Bellenger and minor broke window, and lifted one youth through, who opened the door for others.

These represent seven of the nine break-ins reported in Northville since March 7, Police Chief Joseph Denton said.

The girl has admitted being involved in only one burglary.

Police are continuing to question the youths about other burglaries in the area. The FBI, meanwhile, is searching for a ninth youth, believed to be in Kentucky.

The gang usually would wait until police had made their routine check and then would go to work, police said. In most cases, they used only a screw-driver. The whole job usually took little more than three minutes.

Several of the youths have been in trouble before, police said. McIntosh is on probation on a federal car theft charge, Kirkland McGowan on a larceny charge, Fornwald on a larceny charge, and one of the minors on an armed robbery charge.

The youths are held in Washtenaw county jail in default of $5,000 bond for appearance in Washtenaw county circuit court. They waived examination in Ann Arbor municipal court.

They Sail Through the Air

At the signal of the flag the winch begins to pull the plane to a speed of approximately 50 miles per hour. Note that the wings are held level until the plane gains enough speed to control from the cockpit.

Taking their turn as winch operators are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ott. Members of the Vultures built the winch which is powered by a 1937 Chevrolet engine. Mrs. Ott is in telephone contact with the starters some 3000 feet away. At a signal Ott starts reeling the line starting the glider skyward.

If you've ever had the urge to "get away from it all," then you're a number one prospect for the Vultures!

This group of 26 flying enthusiasts get their weekend kicks floating through the skies in "sail planes", sleek motorless beauties that follow the thermals to gain heights recorded up to 40,000 feet.

Recently the Vultures, composed of families from Detroit, Birmingham, and Garden City, tried the commercial airfield of Vern Spencer in Wixom. With a motor-powered winch providing the pull to start them skyward the Vultures spent the day taking off and seeking the right currents of air for a silent journey over the countryside.

Sail planes are very much like normal airplanes except they have no engines or propellers. The controls—ailerons, rudders and elevators—give the pilot the same maneuverability. But in place of power he must seek out the thermals that will keep him airborne.

The gliders stay up for as long as seven hours and pilots have made 400 mile cross country trips. A glider and carrying trailer costs approximately $3700. Not all members of the Vultures own their own planes, but use the two-place sail plane owned by the club itself. Many of the members are former service pilots who find "sailing" more fun.

Sail planing is not strictly a man's sport. Actually, it's a family affair. Roy Winn, who is secretary of the Michigan Soaring Association, has taken up each of his children, ages 4, 8, 9 and 11. Mrs. Winn is also an avid glider pilot.

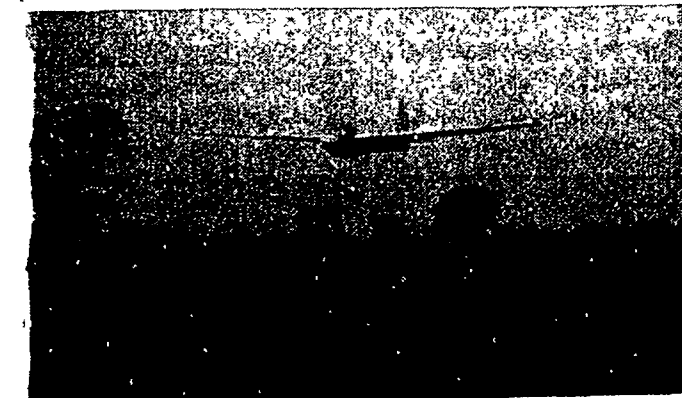

The Vultures fly almost every weekend, weather permitting. Their president is Harold Drew of Birmingham, chief engineer for General Motors' overseas operations.

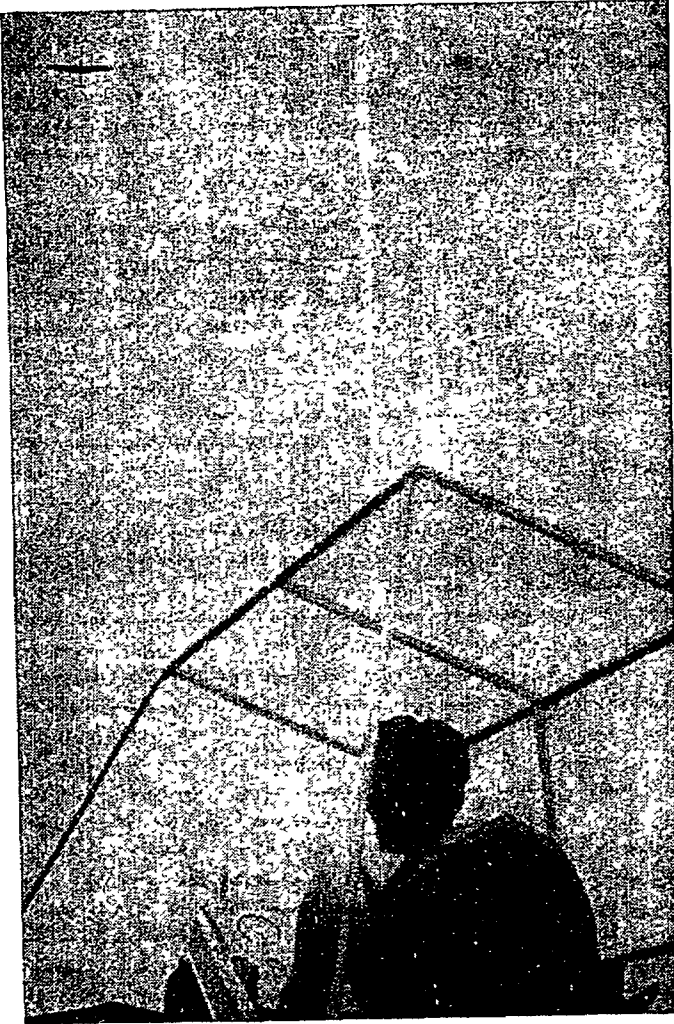

Getting set for take-off is Bob Bienenstein. Roy Winn will close the canopy and then hook the tow line to the nose of the sail plane. After the plane is about 1000 feet in the air the rope is released by the pilot. The chute permits the rope to descend slowly enabling the winch to wind it back in without falling to the ground.

Airborn! The glider zooms sharply skyward still being pulled by the tow line. The winch is located 3000 feet away at the end of the field. The glider will be almost directly above the winch before releasing the line.

Coming in for a landing after an unsuccessful attempt, Bienenstein failed to find thermals to stay up. He landed after 15 minutes, but went up again for a longer trip.

The glider, almost directly overhead, releases the tow line as Ott starts reeling. The chute slows the descent and the line stays aloft until it is completely reeled in.

Split in Dems' Ranks

DEMOCRATS ARE HAVING TROUBLE with political figures they used to call their friends.

For the first time since 1948 when he won his primary by a close vote, Gov. Williams has opposition.

His opponent Aug. 5 will be William L. Johnson, of Ironwood, a radio station owner who was on Williams' team as a candidate for state treasurer in 1954.

It was a team on which only the captain won that year.

Johnson finished down the scale from the top vote getters, and Republican D. Hale Brake began his final term. Now, Johnson has returned—and with a vengeance.

Johnson is one of the organizers of the Democratic Club of Michigan, Inc., which includes Ted Fry and former Congressman Frank E. Hook.

Hook has been disclaimed by the Williams organization of Democrats, which has won the state's top office five terms running. Fry is an Upper Peninsula leader in the group.

Horner Martin, former UAW president and onetime leader of a band of Michigan farmers who protested low milk prices, is also a member of the club. He is running for the U. S. Senate against Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart.

Michael T. Mohardt, of Detroit, is the club's candidate for lieutenant governor, opposing the Williams-approved Senator John B. Swainson (D-Detroit).

The irony of the situation has several aspects.

For the first time in years, Republican candidates for top state offices are running unopposed in the primary. Democratic leaders see a frightening possibility.

With no Republican contests in the primary, it would be possible for Republicans to flood the ballot boxes with votes for Johnson, Martin and Hook, giving Williams a real contest.

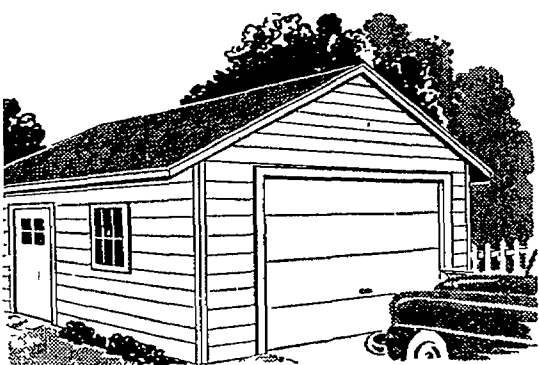

Paul D. Bagwell, on leave from Michigan State University where he headed Communication Skills, is the only Republican candidate for governor.

Senator Charles E. Potter is the incumbent and an automatic primary winner, without opposition.

Rep. Donald A. Brown is running as a Republican for lieutenant governor. None of them will admit that they are running as sacrifice candidates, just to put Republicans on the ballot.

All are campaigning hard, however, but their eyes are lifted over the Aug. 5 primary election horizon.

Babies and Business

Babson Park, Mass. For the first time since 1950, our birth rate is declining. Perhaps this is due to the current recession. Or perhaps it is because of a small downturn in the number of women in the 18-to-34 age group. I look for a further near-term drop in the birth rate and do not visualize a new baby boom for several years.

Pay Heed To The Economic Factor

Some population experts anticipate a new wave of births in the early 1960's. They base their forecasts chiefly on the fact that the number of women in the 18-to-34 age group (which breeds the most children) will soon increase rapidly as the war and early postwar babies reach maturity. But the fact that there will be more women of child-bearing age does not necessarily mean they will bear more children.

Years ago, the demographers, or population experts, were consistently on the low side in their forecasts. Many of my readers remember that we were told in the thirties that the U.S. population had just about reached its peak. Then came World War II and an economic boom which encouraged a record increase in the birth rate. This was at a time when we were making great strides in prolonging the life span. Again the demographers missed the boat, with forecasts too low.

Now their predictions appear too high! They are too eager to make simple projections of recent trends without taking into account the economic, social, and psychological factors which determine fertility response.

Trend Toward Later Marriages. During the first quarter of 1958, marriages were down about 10% below the number a year earlier. To me this indicates a trend toward later marriages. Assuming the present recession extends into 1960 and possibly beyond, barring war—then this trend toward later marriages will continue and could mean further cutbacks in our birth rate.

For this reason, I predict that the next baby boom will not really get going until the late 1960's and that it will extend well into the 1970's. I assume, of course, that today's depressed economy will have rebounded to new highs in the mid-or-late 1960's. My forecast is that 20 years from now our annual birth rate will be in the neighborhood of 7,000,000—up some 60% from this year's estimate of 4,250,000.

Long-Term Effect On Business. There is no doubt, in my mind, about the impact on business of a new heavy wave of births. It could be tremendous! But before any such baby boom gets rolling, American business faces some hard years of greatly intensified competition and continued high costs. Business should pay more attention to young adults, as this group—the fathers and mothers of tomorrow—will expand rapidly over the next ten years.

However, population growth by itself cannot provide the environment that will assure our meeting the needs of a bigger population. We have ample proof of this in the examples of China and India. A larger population has greater needs.

but it takes favorable economic conditions to stimulate the demand which guarantees a broadened market. If business confidence should be weakened by further sniping at the incentives which have made our free enterprise system excel, it will take more than another baby boom to set things right again.

Population Shifts

Even though the great population shifts of the early postwar period have largely subsided, there are still many more people moving each year than was the case before World War II. I look for continued good growth in Florida, California, and other Far Western and Southwestern states. In addition, I forecast gradual, though steady, growth in that area which is the very heartland of the nation—the "Magic Circle". With its center at Eureka, Kansas, the Magic Circle extends in a radius of 400 miles to include six Midwestern states—Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Nebraska, Kansas, and Oklahoma—as well as smaller portions of eight others. The Magic Circle has already produced some of the nation's greatest leaders, including Presidents Hoover, Truman, and Eisenhower, and Generals Pershing and MacArthur. Its growing forests, valuable minerals, virgin prairies, and vast hydro-electric energy would easily support a tenfold increase in population.

Shriners Attend Chicago Convention

Some 650 Detroit area Shriners attended the 84th Imperial Council Session of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine for North America in Chicago last week.

Making the pilgrimage were the Detroit Muslim Temple's five marching units and a motor corps which appeared in two Shrine parades during the convention.

A Suspicious Lady I Know

The woman marched into my shop. "I can't find it any longer. I have to start using flash. And that means a bulky flash-gun and a pocket full of batteries."

"I had a secret weapon. 'Have you seen the new Kodak Generator Flashholder?' I asked. 'It's compact enough to fit in your pocketbook.' I handed her a Brownie Starflex with the new flashholder."

"Humph. Probably uses batteries by the dozens." "No Ma'am. Fact is you don't need any batteries! You just give that little wheel on the side a turn and the generator stores enough power to fire the bulb."

She cast a suspicious eye. "How do I know it'll fit my camera?"

"Kodak makes two types, and one or the other will fit most cameras on the market. Not only that, you can use all of the popular-size flashbulbs in it—M-2, No. 5, or No. 25. It's the most versatile flashholder you can buy."

She gave me another suspicious glance. "How much does this thing cost?"

"One costs $13.95, the other $14.95. And besides that..." "Never mind," she interrupted me. "Wrap up the one I need. It looks easy to use, it's light and I can afford it. Just what I want!"

The case was closed on this note: Kodak products can solve most photographic problems. And they're reasonably priced—the products, that is.

Northville Council Proceedings

CITY PROCEEDINGS

A regular meeting of the Northville City Council was held at the City Hall Monday Eve., July 7th, 1958, at 8:00 P.M.

Present: Mayor Allen, Councilmen Canterbury, Reed and Welch. Absent: Councilman Stubenvoll.

Minutes of last regular and two intervening special meetings were read and approved.

Bills for $19,931.58 from the General Fund and $7,449.58 from the Water Fund were presented for payment. Moved by Welch, supported by Reed, that these bills be paid. Carried.

The resignation of Maxwell A. Austin from the City Planning Commission was read, and it was moved by Allen, supported by Reed, that same be accepted. Carried.

Moved by Reed, supported by Canterbury, that the annual membership in the Michigan Good Roads Federation of $5.00 be paid. Carried.

Bids for Police Car were opened by the Clerk. Following were the bids received:

G. E. Miller Sales & Service $1940.40
Marr Taylor Ford Sales. $1663.91
Comm. Welch felt that because of the small number of bids received, additional advertising for bids should be done before awarding the contract, but because of the large repair bills on present car it was felt there should be no further delay in accepting bid, but that in the future advertising for bids would not be confined to local dealers.

Moved by Reed, supported by Allen, that the City accept the bids of Marr-Taylor Ford Sales, delivery to be made 20 to 30 days after receipt of order.

Nays: Welch
Yeas: Allen and Reed, Canterbury abstaining. Carried.

The following salary schedule was presented by Mgr. Robertson for adoption by the Council, retroactive to July 1st, 1958:

City Clerk ..... $5,000.00 annually
Supt. Public Works 6,300.00 annually
Police Chief ..... 5,975.00 annually
Patrolmen ..... 5,400.00 annually
Laborers ..... 2.00 per hour
Lewis Clark ..... 2.05 per hour
Lillian Duerson ..... 1.65 per hour
Bldg. Inspector ..... 150.00 per month
City Attorney ..... 3,000.00 annually
City Manager ..... 6,000.00 annually
Caretaker ..... 5,260.00

until further notice
Moved by Canterbury, supported by Welch, that salaries as recommended by the Council and City Manager be adopted, retroactive to July 1st, 1958. Provided, however, as contained in the City Manager's report, the position of Police Sergeant be abolished, and that the salary of caretaker for the year 1958 be deferred for later action by the Council. Carried.

The following resolution was presented for consideration by the Council:

"RESOLVED, that 5c, 10c and 25c meters be installed in the Main and So. Center St. lot on the north and south edge of the lot.

2. That the same type of meters be installed in the eastern 15 meters of the alley parking lot south of Main St.; and two-hour parking signs be installed and enforced in the lots on W. Dunlap & Center St. and the lot adjacent to the Methodist Church, during business hours."

It was moved by Reed, supported by Welch, that this resolution be adopted. Carried.

Moved by Allen, supported by Canterbury, that the firm of Iereman, Johnson and Hoffman be engaged to audit the City books for the 1957-1958 fiscal year. Carried.

To fill the vacancy on the City Planning Commission because of the resignation of Maxwell Austin, it was moved by Canterbury, supported by Reed, that Don Hannabarger be appointed. Carried.

Mayor Allen appointed Councilmen Canterbury and Reed, together with the City Manager and Chief of Police, to work on a program for establishing rank and command of members of the Police Dept.

Atty. Ogilvie reported that the case of the Warren Products Co. vs. the City of Northville would come up for trial on July 11th, 1958.

Postmaster Smith wishes to place a street mail box in front of the postoffice, which the City Council feels is not feasible, and the City Manager was instructed to try to arrange for some spot other than the one proposed by Mr. Smith.

No further business appearing, meeting was adjourned at 11:30 P.M.

A False Faith

Some years ago I read about a Christian woman who had been a great warrior of faith and prayer. She had experienced many wonderful answers to prayer. She proved over and over again what a childlike faith in God could do. But one day she went to far. She was a poor woman and lived in a one room house with an open fireplace. It was winter. She awoke one morning and the room was cold. As she glanced toward the fireplace she saw that the fire had gone out. It occurred to her that since God could do anything, why didn't she ask him to make a fire for her. So she prayed for God to make a fire burn on her hearth. But God did not grant her request. The result that her faith was shattered and for a good number of years she lived a backsliding and defeated life. The reason she failed was because she had formed a false conception of God and the relation between faith and the answer to prayer. The rules and dimensions are clearly outlined for every believer in the Word of God. When our faith is not honored and our prayers are not answered we may be sure the fault lies with us, not with the Father.

DIRECT DISTANCE DIALING

DIRECT DISTANCE DIALING TO FILL GROWING COMMUNITY NEEDS

Northville and Novi will speak with a proud new voice Sunday.

It's a voice that can be heard almost instantaneously by 40,000,000 other people in hundreds of cities and towns around the country.

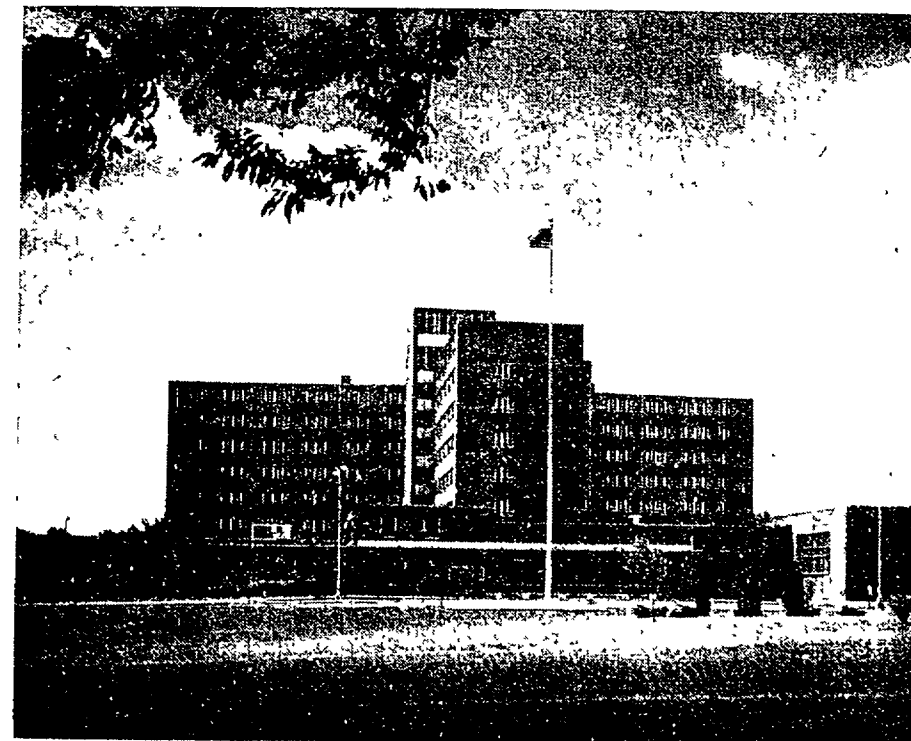

It spans mountains and prairies as quickly as it goes around the corner to the neighbors.

Someday it will be heard across the ocean just as quickly and easily.

Our new voice is strong and vigorous, and no other town in the world can boast one that's better. From one of the oldest, we've come to the very newest.

Direct distance dialing will come as a sudden and welcome change to our industry, commerce and citizenry bringing each of us within seconds of voices from the far corners of our nation.

At precisely 2:01 a.m. Sunday, July 20 telephone users in Northville and Novi will have said goodbye to the familiar "number, please" to join communication's most modern network — linked by a finger, a dial and a number.

Northville State Hospital

DDD: A Miracle of Electronics

It Reaches Across U.S. In Seconds

Northville's new Direct Distance Dialing system will put local users within finger-tip reach of about two-thirds of the nation's 60 million telephones.

The $1,500,000 system which goes into operation here early Sunday will enable one and two-party customers to dial their own long distance calls to some 40 million places in 29 states.

The Direct Distance Dialing network functions like one big, interconnected machine that stretches from coast to coast — the biggest machine in the world — with remote controls located on every Northville one and two-party telephone.

Despite its vastness, the machine is no more difficult to operate than any household appliance. A book explaining the system and listing all the places that can be dialed direct has been delivered to every local customer.

An integral part of Direct Distance Dialing is the nationwide telephone numbering plan. Under this plan, the nation is split up into about 100 numbering areas, with no duplication of individual numbers within an area. Each numbering plan area has its own three-digit number, called an "area code."

The three-digit code directs a long distance call to the proper geographic area. For example, dialing 212 before the telephone number directs that call to the New York area; 415 would have taken it to San Francisco, or 313 to Detroit.

The two letters and first numeral of the telephone number then direct the call to the proper exchange within the numbering plan area. The remaining four numerals pinpoint the exact telephone.

For example, "201 GREGORY 1-1234" is the number of one specific telephone in 60 million — GREGORY 1-1234 in Passaic, N.J.

Because of the lightning-fast speed at which the equipment works, pauses in dialing aren't necessary. That call to Passaic is dialed "2-0-1-G-R-1-2-3-4" and the call is on its way.

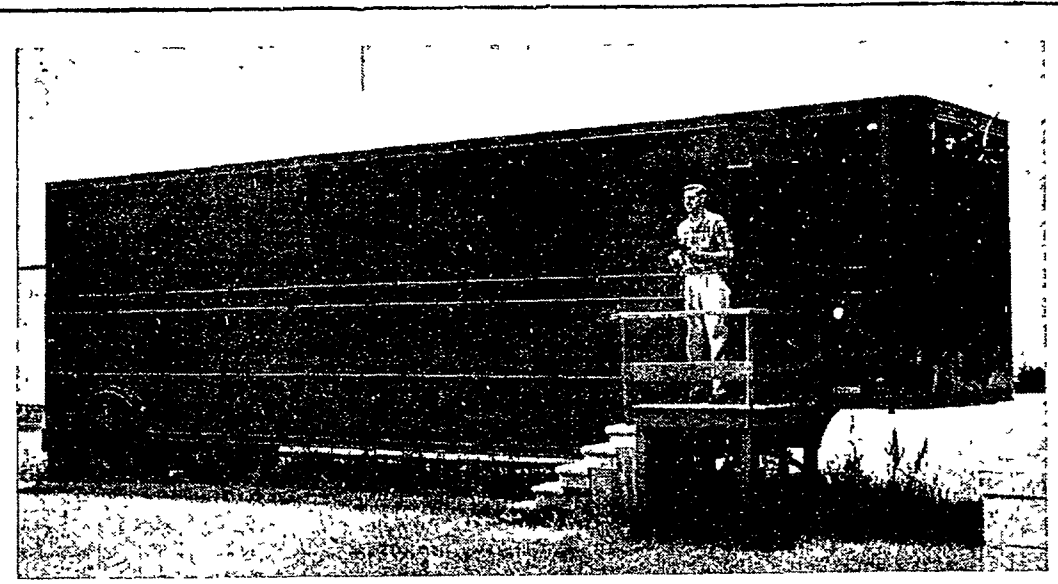

Even though it's hundreds of miles away from the caller, that telephone will start ringing, or give the "busy" signal, just seconds after it's dialed.

During the dialing process, the call is identified as a long distance call and is directed to its destination over long distance circuits. If the most direct route is busy, the call automatically is re-routed along "detours" to reach the right telephone.

New Automatic Message Accounting (AMA) equipment here will record the place and number called, the time of the call, the date, and the local number making the call. This information, recorded on paper tape, is used to prepare monthly telephone bills.

If the call isn't completed because nobody answers, or because the line is busy, the record of the call automatically is cancelled out by the AMA equipment.

Kamego pointed out that calls dialed direct carry station-to-station — the lowest rates. He said collect, person-to-person, and station calls to points which cannot be dialed will continue to be handled by Northville operators.

ABOUT 600 FIELDBROOK dial telephones, served by temporary dial facilities located in this trailer next to the Novi Township Hall, have been in operation since last year. The trailer is to be moved out once the new dial exchange building in Northville is activated.

Mis-Dials No Fun for Anyone

It could be on a Sunday afternoon when you're catching a little nap on the sofa. Or in the middle of the night when you're fast asleep after a hard day.

The telephone rings and rouses you from your slumber. And the words from the other end of the line are fighting words:

"I'm sorry. I must have the wrong number."

It's even more frustrating if the person who goofed up the call takes it out on you. He might blame you, the telephone company — or both.

Whatever the cause, when a person dials a wrong number he unnecessarily bothers a second person. Either that or the call winds up on Michigan Bell Telephone Company's "intercept" switchboard where operators try to determine what went wrong.

John Kamego, Michigan Bell area manager, said these dialing "irregularities" usually are the fault of the telephone user rather than the equipment.

"Our equipment is fast, accurate, efficient — and obedient," he said. "It does just what it's told to do, and no more. In nearly every wrong number case, the caller has dialed improperly."

Kamego listed these as being among the most common causes of wrong numbers:

- Starting to dial before the dial tone sounds.
- Dialing the letter "O" instead of the numeral "0" (zero) and vice versa.
- Letting go of the dial before it reaches the finger stop.
- Trying to speed up the dial process by "forcing" the dial back to its normal position.
- Trusting to memory rather than looking up a number in the Directory.
- Transposing letters and numerals while dialing even when the correct number is known.

Kamego pointed out that correct dialing habits are especially important here because the area has Direct Distance Dialing. He said an improperly dialed call could wind up in Maine instead of California.

"When this happens," he said, "the person who has dialed the wrong number should find out what town he reached. Then he should dial the local operator with this information so the mis-dialed call will not show up on his bill. Despite dialing irregularities, we don't charge customers for calls which do not reach the intended party."

At today's performance level, Michigan Bell estimates that about 2.4 per cent of all customer-dialed calls, both local and long distance, are dialed incorrectly. Based on the average of nearly 14 million calls a day in Michigan Bell territory, it means that better than 300,000 calls go away each day.

The equipment necessary to handle a volume of 300,000 daily calls is equivalent to the amount of dial equipment which serves the entire city of Pontiac!

Important Calls Often Lost If Receiver's Not Hung Up

Placing a telephone in its cradle requires care in order to assure a free line.

Michigan Bell says the subscriber should make certain the phone rests evenly and that the pegs, or hooks, are depressed all the way.

Otherwise, the result is a permanent signal in the telephone office.

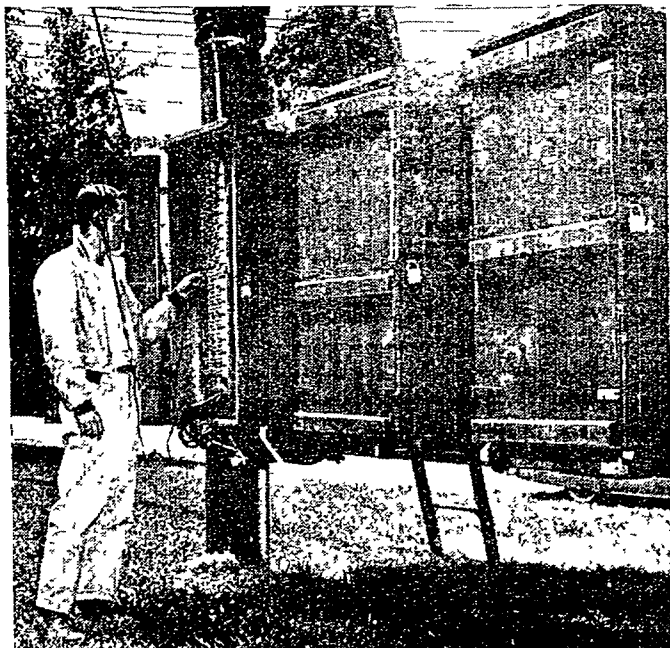

While this signal is buzzing, no other parties on that particular line can place or receive a call. The efficiency of the entire group of lines, with which the phone is connected, is decreased to some extent.

After the signal has continued for about 20 seconds, a permanent signal alarm sounds in the switching room at the central office. The man on duty must check to find the line in trouble, and then he notifies the operator.

She first attempts to learn whether the permanent signal originates from any kind of emergency; then she puts a "howler" on the line in an effort to call the subscriber's attention to his oversight.

In the meantime, important and possibly critical time has been lost. The answer is to replace the instrument carefully, and see that it is not lodged from its cradle by dusting or otherwise.

CUTOVER COMING—Rollin Gaab, 105 Fairbrook, Northville, a Michigan Bell Telephone Company splicer's helper, assists with pre-cutover work. Here he checks temporary cutover circuits in the green "cutover boxes" located throughout the area.

CIRCUIT TEST—Gaab, listens on circuits at the new Northville exchange building. Gaab and other Michigan Bell Telephone Company and Western Electric checked all circuits and connections preparatory to the Northville dial conversion.

DOUBLE CHECK—Edward Simetz, of Livonia, a Western Electric installer, takes readings at the new Northville exchange building's power control board to make sure the equipment is ready for the conversion to dial service. Generator is in foreground.

Fieldbrook: How Name Was Picked

The selection of "Fieldbrook" for inclusion in Northville's telephone numbers was a scientific process in which the technician had a stronger voice than the poet.

"The name didn't just happen," said John Kamego, area manager for Michigan Bell Telephone Company. "It was the result of a lot of study and discussion."

Kamego, who had a hand in selecting the name, said the determination was not at all in the same category as the naming of sailboats and cottages. He explained that the selection committee had to operate within specific limitations.

The limitations were established years ago when a nationwide numbering plan was worked out as the first step to direct long distance dialing. The plan provides for unduplicated telephone numbers in each of about 100 large areas across the nation.

In order to include Northville and all the other communities into this plan, each town's telephone numbers had to have an identifying first two letters and one numeral.

As far as the engineers and the dial equipment are concerned, those first two letters merely are numbers on the dial. For Northville, the engineers years ago determined the first three dial pulls would have to register 3-4-9. This was to be Northville's particular piece of the numbering area jig-saw puzzle.

Since those numbers represent the first three pulls of the dial, it meant for the first letter there was a choice of D, E, or F, and for the second letter a choice of G, H, or I. These letters appear in the same holes on the dial as the numerals 3 and 4.

However, not all names starting with combinations of those letters would do. The word had to be easily spoken, and easily recognized by everyone regardless of accents, twangs, drawls, or dialects.

The names chosen from the final list were offered to a local committee which finally settled on "Fieldbrook."

Our Telephones of the Future Have Amazing Things in Store

What does the future hold in terms of telephone progress?

Among the futuristic possibilities is one advanced by Harold Osborne, former chief engineer of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. In discussing the distant future, he once said:

"Let us say, in the ultimate, whenever a baby is born anywhere in the world, he is given at birth a number — which will be his telephone number for life."

"As soon as he can talk, he is given a watch-like device with 10 little buttons on one side and a screen on the other. Thus equipped, at any time when he wishes to talk with anyone in the world, he will pull out the device, and punch on the keys the number of his friend. And turning the device over, he will hear the voice of his friend and see his face on the screen — in color and in three dimensions."

"And if the day ever comes that upon dialing his friend's number, he does not immediately see him and hear him — then he will know that his friend is dead."

Far-fetched? Not necessarily, in the light of the tremendous technological strides taken during the comparatively brief period since Northville's first telephone exchange was established in 1883. That early exchange, located in a grocery, had 100 telephone lines and 20 subscribers.

Although Osborne's vision of portable television-type telephones for every person on earth appears destined for the Buck Rogers age, there is in use today what might be considered a fore-runner of this device.

It's a vest-pocket, radio controlled whistle that can inform a person he's wanted on the telephone even though he's miles away from his home.

This device was put into service recently by Pennsylvania Bell. The company says that whether or not it will be made available throughout the Bell System depends upon its acceptance in Pennsylvania.

The pocket whistler is contained in a radio receiver a bit larger than a king-size pack of cigarettes. When the subscriber is wanted on the telephone, an operator transmits a radio signal that blankets an 18-mile radius and sets off the whistle.

This tells the subscriber that somebody is trying to reach him, and he promptly heads for the nearest telephone and dials a pre-arranged number which puts him in touch with the caller.

Still in the experimental and demonstration stage is the television phone for the home or business place.

This type of phone is equipped with a small screen and miniature TV camera. A user standing in such a position that he can see the picture of the caller also will be lined up with the camera, and the caller can see him. Future development of such phones will depend largely on whether people want them.

At present, Michigan Bell is customer-testing three new ideas in the Birmingham area. They are the Bell Butler, the Patio Telephone, and the hands-free Living Room Telephone.

The Bell Butler has a small speaker-transmitter in the door. The home owner thus may answer the door by "remote control". He simply flicks a button at the base of an inside phone, picks up the receiver, and talks directly with the caller on the outside.

The Patio Telephone is of particular value outdoors, on a patio, or in the den or playroom. It is a portable, weatherproof, tripod-mounted phone with a hinged door covering the dial when not in use.

The Living Room phone almost could pass for an attractive cigarette box on a coffee table. The small, compact set does not employ the conventional transmitter and receiver. Instead, the instrument is operated hands-free.

Other new types of telephone sets are either on the drawing boards or in the model shop.

AUTOMATIC MESSAGE accounting equipment goes into operation along with Northville's new dial system. Here, Chester Sandeck, a Western Electric installer, reads the tape which records dialing information such as the calling telephone number, the party dialed, and length of call.

It's a Far Cry from the Old Days

The new and intricate Direct Distance Dialing equipment which goes into operation here Sunday is a far cry from the primitive system which supplied the community's first telephone service back in 1883.

It was in that year when the Michigan State Telephone Company—a predecessor of Michigan Bell Telephone Company—established Northville's first exchange.

The exchange, located in B. A. Wheeler's grocery, boasted 100 telephone lines. Its main switchboard was big enough to accommodate one operator.

Initially, there were 20 subscribers. These included the U.S. Fish Hatchery, Globe Furniture Company, Union Manufacture and Lumber Company, Northville Milling Company, and Dr. T. B. Henry.

At first there were no residence telephones—only business lines.

Shortly after the first exchange went into operation, the first long distance line was strung through Northville. It ran from Detroit to Holly. Then a rural line was built to Novi.

Around the turn of the century a competitor, the Local Telephone Company, appeared on the scene. It later was named the Interstate Long Distance Company.

Both companies saw the futility, complications, and unnecessary cost of a dual telephone system and agreed to consolidate their resources in the spring of 1913.

In July of that year, the Michigan State Telephone Company moved its equipment to the Lapham Bank Building where Interstate had its offices. The move marked the end of duplicate telephone service in Northville.

The local manager said after the consolidation that "the service is improving every day and subscribers are pleased."

John Kamego, the present Michigan Bell area manager, testifies to the service improvements his predecessor spoke of many years ago. He described the new equipment which goes into operation July 20 as "among the most modern to be found anywhere in the nation." He pointed out that the new exchange will offer:

—Direct dialing without long distance charge to more than 40,000 telephones in Northville, Novi, Farmington, Livonia, Garden City, Walpole Lake, Plymouth, and South Lyon.

—Direct long distance dialing to an estimated 40 million telephones from coast to coast.

—The newest type of automatic billing equipment.

"In the span of 5 years, Northville has seen the earliest and the latest in telephony," Kamego said.

Your Voice Goes Miles On Each Call

What's the path of your voice from the telephone in your home to that of your neighbor across the street.

From your phone, wires lead unobtrusively to an entrance block in the basement or at some other place where the "drop" from the pole enters your house.

The weatherproof drop wire then follows the pole line to a terminal box, some distance away on a pole or suspended from a cable.

This box, as its name implies, is at the end of an overhead or underground cable. The many pairs of wires from the cable are fanned out and attached to pairs of terminals.

The two wires of the drop from your house are connected to one of these pairs.

In the cable, the wires run all the way to the cable vault in the basement of the Bell Telephone Company building on North Center.

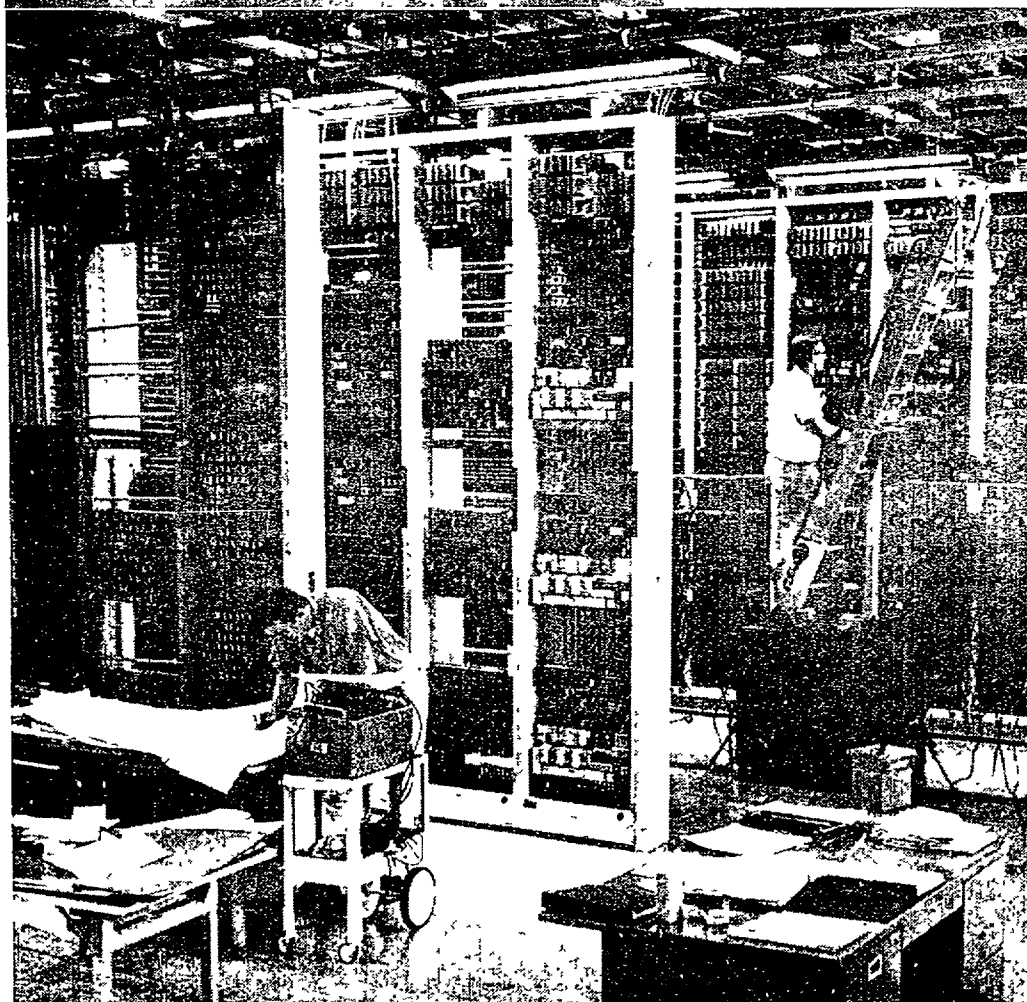

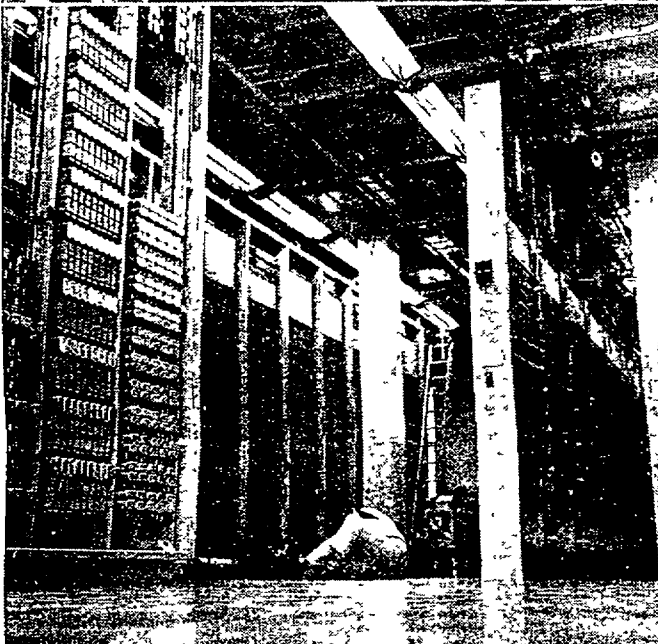

Here, again, the hundreds of wires are brought to the second floor and fanned out for connection to "distributing frames", from which the connections go to the tremendously complicated automatic switching devices.

There's the line finder, which sets up the path for your call; the selectors that narrow down its choice; and the connector, operated by the last two digits of the number dialed, which connects you to your friend's phone.

Perhaps a trip of a mile, or more, is required before your dialing path is completed so you may speak to someone, a few yards away.

That Boyish Voice Was the Operator

In the early days of the telephone, boys acted as operators. But, by 1878 women had begun to take over. They have held the job ever since. The headsets worn by the first operators weighed 6½ pounds. Those used today weigh 8 ounces.

Richard Scruggs of Dexter, a switchman, checks batteries in the power room of the new Northville exchange building. The huge batteries will supply electrical current for the dial system.

A technician watches a cathode ray oscillograph in Northville's new exchange building. The device is used to check for proper electrical frequency.

Hundreds of man hours of work were required to install and test equipment in Northville's new exchange building before the switch from manual to dial service. One company technician pictured here checks wiring blueprints and relays circuit information to a fellow worker.

"At Sound of the Tone . . ."

Northville telephone users will receive a valuable free bonus with their new dial service on July 20.

By dialing GR 2-1212, customers will be put into contact with some super-accurate clocks that give the time of day down to the second.

The clocks, called Audichrons, are located at Michigan Bell Telephone Company's time service headquarters in Detroit. Their voices are piped by long distance telephone lines all over the state.

When asked, the clocks speak the precise hour, minute, and second. The clock voices are a series of recordings. One speaks only the hours, one the minutes, and one the seconds.

So customers dialing GR 2-1212 will hear three records. The first will say, for instance, "at the tone the time will be one." The second will add "fifteen." And the third will come in with something like "twenty seconds," followed by a "beep".

Callers are on their own so far as a.m. and p.m. are concerned.

The recordings themselves are quite different from the familiar disc or magnetic tape. Like the sound track on movie film.

Again like the sound track on movie film, the recordings work with a tiny beam of light to produce sound. The light is reflected through the film by the shiny drum on which the film is wrapped.

The films—and the three-way split—save a lot of complexity. The film would have to be 10 miles long if a single sound track was used instead of the three synchronized recordings.

The drums on which the films are wrapped revolve at different speeds. They are controlled by assorted gears, including some square ones and others with diamond teeth.

The clocks regulate themselves regardless of fluctuations in current. Odds are long that the time will not vary as much as one-tenth of a second in two weeks. Another gadget on the clock's control board can advance or retard them to provide "real" time.

"Real" time comes from the National Bureau of Standards at Washington, D.C.

Starting Sunday,
you'll dial

TWO LETTERS

and all

FIVE NUMERALS

to telephone anyone in your local calling area

Your new dial system goes into service Sunday at 2:01 a.m.

Starting then, you'll just dial TWO LETTERS and FIVE NUMERALS to call anyone throughout this local calling area.

You'll need your new directory . . . starting Sunday morning . . . to look up new numbers. They all consist of the NAME (FIELDBROOK) and FIVE NUMERALS. For example:

FIELDBROOK 9-0163

Temporarily, you'll need your old directory to look up numbers in nearby communities which you'll dial yourself.

You can help yourself to best service by looking up each number and keeping it IN FRONT OF YOU as you dial. It helps to jot it down.

Is everybody in your home familiar with the difference between the LETTER I and the numeral 1 on your telephone? It's a good idea to make sure so that all your calls to new FIELDBROOK numbers will go through promptly, starting Sunday. Whichever type of dial you have, you'll find the LETTER I in the GHI 4 opening.

One-party and two-party line customers will dial your own calls across Michigan and across the U.S.

Northville's one-party and two-party line customers will enjoy the newest type of out-of-town service . . . Direct Distance Dialing . . . starting Sunday.

You'll find it easier and faster to "keep in touch" with many business associates, relatives and friends in many communities across Michigan and across the Nation.

Your new Direct Distance Dialing booklet tells WHERE and HOW you can dial out-of-town calls yourself.

According to the Rev. Donald R.
Good, pastor of St. John's, Mr.

JUST TALKING

Talking is a very favorite past time of the human species all over the world. We love to talk, therefore we often talk a lot and sometimes say very little. I read a very interesting bit of figuring the other day. It said that the average person spends at least 13 years of his life talking.
On a normal day something like 18,000 words are likely used, which is roughly the equivalent to a book of 54 pages. In a single year, one's words would fill 66 books, each containing 800 pages. Now I wonder how a library of our words would sound? There are four scriptures which should show us something of the importance of our words.

First Our Words Can Be A Thing Of Beauty

Proverbs 25:11 "A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver". How fitting is a word of encouragement to those who are downcast and discouraged. A word of sympathy spoken to a sorrowing heart. A word of praise for a deed well done. A word of congratulation for a worthwhile achievement. A word of exhortation for those who are ready to give up. Can you see how words can be like the picturesque statement in the verse above? How we ought to be using more of these words.

Second, Our Words Can Be A Blight!

Proverbs 10:19 "In the multitude of words there wanted not sin; but he that refraineth his lips is wise." Have you ever left a friend or neighbors house and said to yourself "I've talked too much?" Then as our abundant conversation is reviewed we see such blights as gossip, slander, sighting remarks, betrayal of secrets, character assassinations, unkindness and a host of other diseased expressions. Think of the sorrow, the misery and the damage such words have caused.

We ought to eliminate such words from our conversation by ending the visit when we have exhausted our supply of wholesome and helpful words.

Third, Our Words Are Recorded For Judgement.

Matt 12:36 "But I say unto you, every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give an account thereof in the day of judgement". Surely we should expect to give an account of the words which we have spoken meaningfully. Little have we thought about accounting for our idle prattle.
Yet—Jesus says here that it shall be brought into judgement too. We probably cannot remember them five minutes later but God's "Tape recorder" has preserved them for future judgement.
How little have we realized that God was listening!

Fourth, Our Words Tell Others What We Are

Matt 12:37 "For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by the words thou shalt be condemned". You can tell what's in a man's heart by listening to what he is talking about for "out of abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh".
If he is a true Christian, he is confessing the Lord with his mouth (Romans 10:13) and the things of God will be much in his conversation. If he speaks much of himself or things of this world, you can be sure where his interests are. If he curses his fellowman it is but the evidence of his rebellious heart. Our words then serve as public notice whose side we are on.

Attends Church Workshop

Mrs. Audrey Becker of Dubar street, next year's director of the First Methodist church choir here, learned ways of adding variety to the music program of the church at a Michigan State university workshop July 6 - 11.

Participants from throughout the state included choir directors, choristers, clergymen, teachers and others.

Mrs. Becker studied choral techniques from Dr. Theodor Schaefer, organist and choir director at the National Presbyterian church in Washington, D.C., President Eisenhower's church. Other courses were taught by members of the MSU music faculty.

Presenting this continuing education activity were the Michigan and Detroit councils of churches.
