

Old Barns Retired for Winter; Seek Rezoning at New Site

Representatives of Northville Downs and the Retail Merchants association sent up a "trial balloon" Tuesday night before members of the planning commission.

With the announcement that horses would not be wintered in existing barns at the track site the group sought an opinion from the commission on its feelings regarding use of the new barns for wintering of horses.

Current zoning on the Sheldon road barns restricts their use to a period extending 15 days before until 15 days following the racing season.

This restriction was placed on the barns after they were constructed nearly three years ago. Petitions from area residents were presented the commission at that time seeking the restriction.

Appearing before the board Tuesday night were John Carlo, Dr. L. W. Snow, C. A. Hoffman, Leland Smith and Esme Nirder.

Carlo, executive manager of the Downs, pointed out that the new barns were better suited for winter use. "They have toilets, hot water, drainage, a lunch room and are not a fire hazard," Carlo stated. The new barns, located just off Sheldon road, have 300 stalls. Carlo pointed to the "deplorable" condition of the old barns and stated they would not be used for wintering again.

Nirder and Smith pointed out that the 100 to 150 groomers who stayed with the horses were regular customers of the business district. They also added that it would be a benefit to the community, especially Bealton, to remove the horses from the track area to the new barn site.

Driving club representatives, Dr. Snow and Hoffman, explained something of the history of wintering horses in Northville. Horsemen prefer Northville because the track is near the community where shopping is convenient. Also the track is kept in condition for trotters, they pointed out.

Carlo added that wintering horses is a money-losing proposition. "The other two tracks (Wolverine and Hazel Park) each pay $2000 towards the cost of wintering horses here. It cost the Downs an additional $2400 last year," he said.

Informal discussions of the request followed the departure of the track and merchant representatives. Of the seven members of the nine-member commission present, four lined-up in favor of the move. Three others sought some assurance that the old barns would be renovated for summer use before allowing winter use of the new barns.

Presumably a formal request for the rezoning will be made at the September 23 meeting of the planning commission. Chairman T. R. Carrington indicated that he would tell the group seeking the change that the board was "favorably inclined."

Scouts Could Use Your Old Uniforms

Is a boy scout uniform gathering dust in your attic?

Or perhaps a canteen, knapsack or hatchet?

Northville scouts could put them to good use if you'd like to donate or sell them.

Donations of uniforms or equipment may be dropped off at Stone's Gamble store in care of Wilson Funk, committeeman for Troop 731.

Persons wishing to sell scout articles should contact Scoutmaster Jake Morgan, 719 Novi street, Northville.

The uniforms and equipment will be distributed among all Northville troops.

Students Spy on the Moon With Miniature Palomar

When Larry Hill and Bob Van Hellemont gaze at the moon, they're not just daydreaming.

Chances are they're counting craters or checking out an ice cap.

Larry and Bob gaze at the distant satellite through a telescope they made themselves last spring as part of a science project in school.

But home-made thought it may be, the instrument put them right on top of the moon. It's nearly as sharp as the University of Michigan's telescope on a hilltop in Ann Arbor, Larry says.

For all its space-searching perfection, the telescope cost them only about $12 — and most of that went for mirrors. (They decided to buy them since there wasn't time to grind their own.)

The telescope is little more than a large cardboard tube mounted on a wood base. Inside are two mirrors which catch the moon's reflection and bounce it into an eyepiece.

But it's not as simple as all that. The real work comes in determining what size the tubes should be, how to line up the eyepiece, and at what angles the mirrors should be inclined.

It's essentially the same type of telescope as the mammoth one at Mount Palomar in California. The only major difference is in size — for Palomar's 200-inch mirror is the world's largest.

Elementary Classrooms Nearly Full

Northville school administrators faced up to a serious realization Monday night and found themselves on the brink of plunging into another building program.

Despite a current building program which includes an addition to the Amerman elementary, a new high school and rejuvenation of the present high school for junior high school use, projected enrollment figures plainly point out that Northville's elementary classrooms will be filled to capacity within a year.

The enrollment report was made to the school board by Principals E. V. Ellison, Harry Smith and Richard Kay. It was based entirely on development of the Northville Heights and Yerkes Estates subdivision without considering other growth in the area.

Based on the figures supplied by the principals, Northville's elementary school population will have outgrown its capacity by 200 pupils by the middle of the 1959-60 school year.

Acting President William Crump described the board's plight as one of "meeting continuous deadlines" to avoid classroom shortages.

The board learned that Northville's total enrollment is now 1706. This is expected to increase somewhat before the final tabulation is recorded for state aid purposes on September 26. Of the total 540 students are enrolled at Amerman elementary, 370 at the Main Street school, 370 in junior high and 426 in senior high school.

Amerman elementary is already 40 students beyond its capacity. The faculty, art and music rooms are being used as classrooms. When the high school is opened in February, this situation will be eased.

Some 150 junior and senior high school students are currently using seven rooms in the Main Street elementary. Thus after the junior and senior high schools are ready for students the Main Street elementary can handle 150 more students.

Nevertheless these subdivision growth facts pointed up the board's plight.

In the proposed 150-home Northville Heights subdivision there will be 10 children of pre-school age, 25 elementary students and three high school students by January 1. Ten more homes will be occupied by June 1.

In Yerkes Estates Trend Homes subdivision 67 homes will be occupied by January 1 averaging one elementary child per home. The proposed 200-home development currently shows a 1.7 child per home average.

While the schools can probably handle the situation next September, administrators are in agreement that a new elementary must be under construction next year to meet the growth.

While plans for an immediate study into population centers and likely locations for the new school get underway, Superintendent Russell Amerman is checking the stipulations governing the current $3 million bond issue. Approximately $650,000 is expected to remain after completion of the high school and junior high school renovation. The money had been earmarked for acquisition of an elementary site but would be more than sufficient to construct the school. Amerman must learn from state authorities if construction would be allowable under the bond issue.

School authorities were unable to predict the growth of the two new subdivisions when the current building program began some three years ago. Presumably, keeping with efforts to build schools as close to centers of population as possible to avoid transportation problems, another elementary would be located in the general area of the present Amerman school.

Children's Reading Hour To Be Continued This Fall

A reading hour for children will be continued this fall at the Northville public library under the sponsorship of the Northville P-TA.

If you are interested in reading and telling stories for approximately one-half hour on Saturday, please call Mrs. Sliger, committee chairman, at FI-9-0581.

NO RATS HERE — Picnickers complain that rats are taking over "The Willows" in Cass Benton park, but no rodents were to be seen there this week — despite open garbage cans and traces of food on the ground. Park officials found no sign of rats either, but decided to begin rat-control measures just in case.

No Rat Problem at Park, But Controls Planned

Reports of rats in Cass Benton park brought a quick investigation by park officials this week and a promise to rid the area of the rodents — if there are any around.

But neither the park officials nor The Record could find evidence of rats in the area where upwards of 50 of them were reported.

"We'll do our best to eliminate rats in the park if we can find them," said Carroll Porter, parks and forestry field supervisor for the Wayne county road commission.

"But so far, we haven't seen any," he added.

The report of rats came after a picnic in "The Willows" — the park area just north of Six Mile road. Northville residents said as many as 50 rats were seen around the picnic grounds.

A Record staff member contacted the road commission and took a look at the area himself. No sign of rats was seen, even though several garbage cans were open and considerable food littered the ground.

Park officials investigated the area, Porter noted, and found only one possible sign of rats: burrows in a bank along the river. Carbon monoxide will be pumped into the tunnels, he said.

"We hesitate to put poison around the park," Porter noted. "There's always the danger that a child or a pet would eat it."

"But we have contacted other agencies to see if there is a new poison we could use safely," he added.

Porter said the best protection against rats is to keep the park clean. Park crews pick up picnic areas as often as possible, but cannot keep up with sloppy picnickers. "Rats are like people," he said. "If they can't make a living, they'll go somewhere else."

Porter said Cass Benton park has never had trouble with rats. The Record's inquiry was the first indication of any present problem in the park.

Record Wins State Award

A special citation for photo presentation of Michigan Week activities has been won by The Northville Record.

Announcement of the award came this week from Tony Spina, chief photographer of The Detroit Free Press and chairman of the Michigan Week News-Photo committee.

Using seven first graders from Amerman school The Record portrayed the spirit of each of the days of Michigan Week. Mary Hart symbolized Spiritual Foundation Day, Chris Bennett—Mayors Exchange, Beverly Hill—Hospitality, Kris Wister—Education, Kevin Crow—Livelihood, Paulette Stenzel—Heritage, and Brian Myers—New Frontiers.

The pictures appeared in the May 1 edition and were taken by Robert Webb, Record news editor.

Awards for the competition open to all newspapers in the state will be made at the annual Community Newspaper Editorial Conference at Michigan State university on September 26.

Day Left to Register For Novi School Vote

Novi school districts have until 5 p.m. Friday night to register for the September 22 election in which they will be asked to increase school taxes by 2½ mills for the next five years.

Registration will be taken at the township hall.

The Novi school board is seeking the 2½ mill increase to offset an expected deficit of more than $19,000. School taxes, including 7 mills for debt retirement, will total 17.48 mills if the new tax is approved.

Northville Included In Polio Shot Survey

The United States public health service needs to know how much polio vaccine will be required for the 1959 season.

To assist the health service in estimating requirements, information on polio shots will be collected in the September current population survey by the U.S. census bureau's regional office in Detroit.

Northville and Novi will participate in the survey, which is conducted on a sample basis throughout the nation.

The questions, to be asked of all persons under 60 years of age are: Have you had any polio injections or shots? How many shots have you already had? When did you get the latest shot?

These special questions on polio immunization will be in addition to the usual inquiries on employment and unemployment which are asked each month of the 35,000 "sample" households covered in the current population survey.

New Trial Request Scheduled Monday In Warren Suit

A request for a new trial in the Warren Products-City of Northville annexation suit will be heard Monday morning by Oakland county circuit court Judge Clark J. Adams.

The suit was brought against the city following a November 19 annexation election in which 220 acres of Novi township, including the Warren plant, was annexed to Northville. Last month Judge Adams ruled that the election was legal.

Warren's request for a new trial is expected to be denied. The move was taken by the company's attorneys to allow time to perfect an appeal to the state supreme court. The appeal will probably come up during the January session of the court.

In its appeal Warren Products is expected to contend that the law governing annexations from townships was misinterpreted in conducting the local election. Because the entire area of the township is affected by the loss of valuation when part of its area is annexed, Warren attorneys claim that all residents of the township should be allowed to vote.

It will mark the first test of the controversial annexation law before the supreme court.

The Novi township board joined Warren in the fight by voting to support the appeal and share expenses up to $500.

Cobb of Beck road made a clean sweep with: third prize for her canned pork, first prize for canned beef, third prize for canned veal, first prize for canned apricots, a prize for canned sweet cherries, first prize, canned rabbit; second prize, canned sausage; second prize, canned pineapple; second prize, crab apple pickles; third prize, canned chicken; fourth prize, canned ground beef, and fourth prize, canned lamb.

The food contest included entries of baked goods, candy, needlework, canning and preserving.

The winning entries will be on display at the State Fair in the home arts display in the clubhouse through Sunday, September 7, closing day of the 10-day program.

Camera Club to Meet

The Northville adult Camera club will meet Monday, September 15 at 7:45 in the basement of the Northville library.

Visitors and potential members are invited.

Village Meeting In Novi Tonight

Novi residents will have their last big chance tonight to hear the pros and cons of village incorporation.

In the meantime, unregistered voters were reminded that they have until next Monday to register for the September 22 village election.

The meeting tonight (Thursday) is to begin at 8 p.m. in the Novi community building.

At that time, the proposed village charter and the general question of incorporation will be debated in public for the last time before the election.

Unregistered voters may register at the township hall today, tomorrow and Monday from 4 to 8 p.m. and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

All voters, whether they have voted in the past or not, must re-register for the election.

A NEW SEASON of club activities in Northville is heralded by the 19th annual women's garden club flower show to be held from 2:30 to 9 p.m. Saturday, September 13 in the community building. Shown here making arrangements using dried materials, driftwood and garden flowers are (from left) Mrs. Glenn H. Cummings, Mrs. C. A. Lipa, Mrs. D. Hurd Clark, vice president of the Northville branch, and Mrs. John Northup. Mrs. N. K. Pattison, president, pointed out that the flower show is not for garden club members exclusively and that gardeners from the entire surrounding area are invited to enter specimen plants and flower arrangements. See complete program on page seven.

STUDY BEGINS — Preliminary steps leading to a bond issue for improvement of the city's water system began this week in Northville. Frank Pollock (left) financial consultant retained by the city to direct the bonding program, started analyzing the city's water roll and rate system. His study will determine the amount and type of bonding program the city can undertake. He's shown above with City Manager John Robertson. Pollock's work, along with a survey of existing facilities by the city manager and city engineer, is expected to take two months. Six months are needed to complete bonding arrangements.

900 Bowlers In Action Here

The familiar sound of a bowling ball on hardwood was echoing louder than ever before this week as another year of league competition got underway at Northville's two bowling alleys.

More than 900 bowlers — the most ever in Northville — are bowling on teams at Northville Lanes and Royal Recreation.

In all, the two alleys are accommodating 17 leagues and 180 teams — making bowling by far the most popular sport from the standpoint of participation.

At Northville Lanes, every night is taken up with league play, although several alleys are free for open bowling on Saturday nights.

Fourteen leagues totalling more than 150 teams will bowl at Northville Lanes, with as many as four leagues scheduled on some days.

At Royal Recreation, leagues are scheduled on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday. Open bowling is scheduled for the other nights.

Bowlers are still needed for the Monday night men's league at Royal Recreation, according to proprietor Joe Alessi.

Both alleys again will offer special rates for students during the day. In addition, Northville Lanes will host the Girls Athletic Association leagues twice a week and a general student league on Saturday mornings.

Improvements have been made at both alleys over the summer. Royal Recreation's alleys have been completely refinished. At Northville Lanes, non-chipping plastic pins have been installed.

Several special attractions are planned at Northville Lanes during the year, including home-and-home match games between teams from Northville and other cities.

Proprietor Angie Gadioli said Northville will also send teams to various tournaments during the year.

THE NORTHVILLE RECORD—Thursday, September 11, 1958—5

Come and Meet Mustangs At Football Clinic Tonight

The Northville Mustangs will take time out from their toil on the practice field to greet their fans tonight.

The first of what may become an annual series of football clinics will be held tonight (Thursday) starting at 8 p.m. in the Northville community building.

Coach Ron Schipper will introduce the 1958 Mustangs and give an inside look at how the coming season shapes up.

Then, players going through the motions, Schipper will explain what sort of basic offense and defense the Mustangs will use this year.

At the same time, Schipper and his staff will indicate some of the finer points of football that often are overlooked by fans.

"There's more to the game than passing and punting," Schipper said. "The spectator in the grandstand can enjoy the game better if he knows what to watch for and understands something about the overall strategy."

The program will be similar to a basketball clinic held last December. More than 400 fans greeted Mustang cagers and got a preview look at the coming season.

Prior to tonight's program, the Mustangs and their families will gather for their annual banquet.

Mustangs Could Be Tough Again, If ...

Given a bit of luck and an absence of injuries, the 1958 Northville Mustangs could be tough.

That was conceded this week by Northville coaches as the Mustangs reached the half-way point in their fall drills.

"There are some question marks," Coach Ron Schipper said, "but this team could rate right up with our championship teams of the past two years."

This is no prediction of another title, however.

"Every team in the league is going to be laying for us," Schipper said. "They'll be playing their best game against us, and we'll have to be up for every team."

But before looking ahead to the league schedule, the Mustangs have a non-conference foe to get past. Northville will open against traditional rival Plymouth a week from Friday night.

"Plymouth has some mighty good backs," Schipper said, "and it will be up to our defense to contain them. It'll be the usual tough game, but we're not conceding anything."

If practice goes as well as it has so far, the Mustangs should be ready for Plymouth.

The big Northville line, mainstay of the Mustangs the past two years, is hitting harder again. Veterans N. C. Schrader, Jeff Goodrich, Bill Chizmar and Wade Deal will be back in action, though two-time letter winner Bob Niemi is not out for football this year.

If the Mustangs have a major problem, it's in the backfield.

Right now, only one back from last year's team — Halfback Bob Starnes — is certain to start. Fullback Spike Walker, still recuperating from an operation, has been working out but is a doubtful starter.

From there on, the Mustangs have relatively green — although promising — material. Fred Schwarze and Bill Boyd are battling for quarterback, while Gary Morgan and Roger Cheeseman are after the other halfback spot.

"Once Walker is back, we'll have a good starting backfield," Schipper said. "But we're not deep enough, and an injury or two could hurt us bad."

The Mustangs have one thing on the plus side that could make up for any shortcomings: spirit. Practice sessions have been rugged, but "fun".

Commented a former Mustang of a few years ago: "We sure didn't have turnouts or spirit like this when I was playing."

Answered Schipper: "That's what a couple good seasons will do for you. Let's hope we can keep it going."

Trout Season Ends, Rainbows Still OK

Fishermen are reminded that this Sunday is the last day of angling for trout and several other game fish species in Michigan.

The statewide trout season closes that date, along with seasons on all other species in designated trout waters.

Both largemouth and smallmouth bass may be taken in non-trout waters through December 31. Pan-fish may be taken throughout the year, except in designated trout waters.

VISITOR IN NOVI, Dikron Ornekian from Turkey, dashes through tires and heads for blocking dummy held by Keny Hayes. Novi drills opened Monday.

30 Novi Gridders Start Workouts

Football workouts began at Novi school Monday for some 30 candidates, including a young man from Turkey who thinks the game is "pretty good".

Dikron Ornekian, 14, is more used to soccer than American football but showed right off that he could adapt to the local brand.

Dikron is staying in Novi on a student's visa. Sponsoring him are his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Vahram Jamian, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wallace.

A six-game schedule for the Novi gridders is now being drawn up by Coach Gail Perkins.

11 Ex-Gridders Off for College

All brawn and no brains? That common thought about football players doesn't quite fit the 12 Northville lettermen who graduated with the NHS senior class last June.

Of the 12, 11 are on their way to college this fall. And several of them are on scholarship, as academic as well as athletic.

Three of the former Mustangs will enter Ferris Institute at Big Rapids — Pete Gross, Joe Krith and Dan Howell.

Otherwise, they're scattering to different colleges across the country.

The breakdown: Bill Yahne to the University of Louisville, Ed Wittenberg to the University of Florida, Harry Sedan to Michigan State, Dick Biery to Central Michigan, Dick Buckley to Hope, Jim Hammond to Albion, Ernie Ebert to Olivet, and Dick Stuber to Massachusetts Institute of Technology (M.I.T.).

Only four of the 11 have football in their plans. Yahne, on a full athletic scholarship, is already at work on the Louisville practice field. Biery, after making the Central Michigan varsity, decided to play freshman football so as to play regularly.

Wittenberg at Florida and Buckley at Hope also are out for football. The average of 11 of 12 is higher than the general student average even at Northville, which has an unusually high percentage of graduates going on to college.

"This doesn't necessarily prove that football makes for brain power," Schipper said. "But it does show that good athletes can be good students at the same time."

Summary of Novi Board of Education Meetings

The following is a summary of the board of education minutes of several meetings held since the annual school election on July 14, 1958. In the future, minutes of all regular and special meetings will be published in the Novi News.

Novi Community School District
Kenneth Bernard, Secretary

July 23, 1958
A special meeting was called to order at 8:16 p.m. by acting chairman William Medlyn.
Present: Heslip, Crawford, Bernard, Erwin, Taylor and Medlyn.

An election of officers within the board was held with the following results: president, Arthur Heslip; treasurer, Jack Crawford; secretary, Kenneth Bernard.

Mr. Erwin and Mr. Taylor were named to the auditing committee for the fiscal year.

Mr. Medlyn was instructed to investigate the possibility of installing permanent or movable flashers on Ten Mile road in the vicinity of the Orchard Hills school and to present a report on the school census and growth prediction at the next meeting.

Expenditure of $600 for physical education equipment and $99.50 for a photo-copy machine was authorized.

Approval of the hiring of Mrs. Price as a teacher for the coming year was made.

It was decided that a special meeting be held on July 30 for the exclusive purpose of accepting school furniture bids and to examine samples of the various bidders.

The meeting was adjourned at approximately 11:45 p.m.

July 30, 1958
A special meeting was called to order at 8 p.m.

Present: Heslip, Crawford, Bernard, Erwin, Taylor and Medlyn, together with salesman named below:

Mr. Klein, Mr. Randall, Mr. Lett, Mr. Bottomley and Mr. Gaylon presented the bids of their respective companies, Classrooms, Inc., Michigan School Service, McFadden Corp., B. F. Farnell Co.

After questioning the salesmen on the various differences in their bids, it was decided that copies of the bids be made for each board member for closer examination and future decision.

A special meeting was called for August 6, 1958 and the meeting was adjourned at approximately 12:30 p.m.

August 6, 1958
A special meeting was called to order at 8:15 p.m.

Present: Heslip, Bernard, Erwin, Taylor and Medlyn. Also in attendance were Mr. Weiland of Chas. W. Lane & Associates (Orchard Hills school architect) and Mr. Dobrowitzky of Stephan & Allen (former owners of Orchard Hills school property).

Mr. Dobrowitzky presented three problems:

1. Detroit Edison requested a 12' easement from Stephen & Allen for poles to service the Orchard Hills school property. Mr. Dobrowitzky did not feel that this request was fair to Stephen & Allen.

2. Top soil had been stripped from the school site and deposited on Stephen & Allen property to the east. Mr. Dobrowitzky claimed that this had damaged some of his graded roadbed, but had received verbal assurances from the Atkin & Fordy superintendent that the road would be returned to the original condition.

3. Storm water drainage from the roofs and parking lot would be concentrated at the southeast corner of our property flowing heavily onto their property and causing them a drainage problem.

In a discussion of the three problems Mr. Weiland gave these answers:

1. The change from the East boundary was decided for esthetic reasons and also because of the fact that the Edison pole had been located a short distance from the planned location, making the previously-cut underground cable too short.

2. Mr. Weiland felt that the top soil problem would be taken care of in a satisfactory manner by the general contractor.

3. Mr. Weiland contended that the drainage was still generally to the southeast, as it had been previously. He reviewed the possible alternative solutions, if the board felt that it should accept partial or complete responsibility.

Because 88% of all regular grade gasoline fails to give you full performance ...

Shell introduces a brand-new class of gasoline at "regular" price

NEW SHELL GASOLINE with TCP

It's the successor to regular gasoline.
Loaded with premium grade features yet doesn't cost any more than regular grade

If you want to get real gasoline savings and better performance ... if you want sure protection against power loss from spark plug "miss" ... you need this new class of gasoline.

New Shell Gasoline is the successor to regular grade. It was developed because 88% of present-day regular gasoline fails to deliver full performance.

That is why you get so many premium features ... like TCP*, the greatest gasoline discovery in 31 years.

You get higher octane, too — all at the price of regular gasoline. Try new Shell Gasoline today!

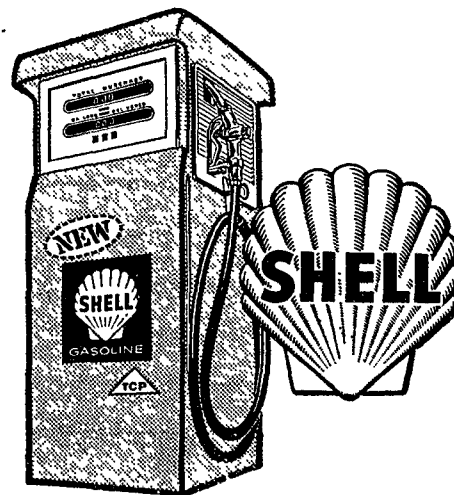

Look at these premium grade features!

TCP additive effectively neutralizes the deposits that cause spark plug "miss" and rob you of power.

HIGHER OCTANE than the top premiums of only a short time ago — gives you added assurance of freedom from knock under all driving conditions.

NEW VOLATILITY New Shell Gasoline's volatility is adjusted 6 times a year to suit the weather in your area. This means easy starting and freedom from vapor lock.

ANTI-RUST Rust is a greater problem today so New Shell Gasoline contains a special rust inhibitor all year 'round.

Water Wonderland Faces Shortage

PARADOX: Michigan is bordered on three sides by water; has more than 11,000 inland lakes. It boasts myriad streams and rivers stretching in every direction across the land.

But, Michigan has a water shortage.

It is a problem of mal-distribution: enough water is not always in the right place. Enormous new uses of water for farm irrigation, for industry, for sewage disposal systems of mushrooming cities and for recreation emphasize the shortage.

The legislature is concerned. The problem has been growing more acute for five years. It is approaching the critical stage as industry and cities expand into new areas.

Rural areas, which once made Michigan an agricultural state, are shrinking under pressure of progress in other fields. Now, only 10 percent of the population is engaged in agriculture.

Farmers are turning to irrigation to make the fields do more work; to produce food for Michigan's 7,000,000 people and other markets.

Experts recommend that artificial ponds be created to collect water during the winter and spring for use during the hot, dry summer. George S. McIntyre, state director of agriculture, contends ponds are impractical because of the large investments, land and equipment.

As the study goes on, the problem becomes more serious.

Industry needs more water in its processes.

A new copper mining technique to coax low grade ore out of the ground in marketable quantities uses tremendous amounts of water—1,000,000 gallons for each ton of ore mined.

The process, which has been tested and proven in the Upper Peninsula, promises to bring another economic boon to the state. But the supply of water must be guaranteed.

The Bear Creek Mining company, planning an installation in the Upper Peninsula is waiting for, among other things, the certainty that it will have sufficient water over a long period of time.

Rep. James Goulette (R-Iron Mountain) said the company, assured by geologists that the copper field exists under Lake Superior, is not interested even in test borings until making sure of water.

New cities spreading out from the metropolitan centers are preparing sewage disposal systems of the most modern design. They need water to make them operate efficiently.

Southeastern Michigan, a honey-comb of small towns grown into big cities, critically needs water for their new homes and factories.

As the shortage grows daily, the state still argues about a solution.

The issue: whether to set up a priority system for water use or stick with the present system which guarantees the first owner the right to use it any way he sees fit without damage to others.

The solution becomes important when the use of water by an industry or city lowers the stream level and the shoreline property owner declares it is diminishing his rights.

This, too, affects the resort and recreation industry, which has made Michigan a vacation spot for the nation during the summer months. Lower levels on inland lakes and streams would give the tourist industry a new headache.

Already, there is competition on the water between fishermen and swimmers, boaters and water skiers. This situation will become more severe with more people and longer vacation periods.

Senator Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) is chairman of a special House-Senate water rights study committee which plans to develop a legislative proposal for the 1959 session.

What it will be remains the problem—whether to protect existing rights of ownership or place a priority system on the way water is used.

AN IMPORTANT ISSUE comes before voters November 4 when they select state and local officials for coming terms.

It involves a proposal to call a state constitutional convention. If approved, machinery would be set in motion to redo the present state constitution which was last designed in 1908.

Republicans have supported the proposal in their state convention. Democrats oppose it only because they feel the manner of selecting delegates would give Republicans an "unfair" majority in the convention which would decide terms of the new constitution.

New Tax Laws Offer Small Business Relief

Babson Park, Mass. — At last Congress has gotten around to doing something for small business. Three major bills designed to give small business a break have been enacted. For the information of my readers, I am detailing here the highlights of these new laws.

Long-Needed Tax Relief

Included in this year's tax law revision are several provisions which give small business firms a better break. One of the most far-reaching of these permits an individual — or a corporation — to treat as an ordinary loss, rather than a capital loss, any investment loss up to $25,000 on an individual income tax return and up to $50,000 in a joint return. Of course, this ordinary loss treatment is restricted to original purchasers of common stock in small businesses. Transferees of the original purchaser may not claim this privilege.

In addition to present depreciation rates, a separate first-year allowance of 20 percent of the value of the depreciable property up to $10,000 is now provided. This allowance is boosted to 20 percent of the first $20,000 when a joint income tax return is made. Of course, if this extra depreciation is used, it will reduce the amount of regular depreciation available on the same property in future years. You should also note that this depreciation concession is limited to equipment and machinery. Buildings are not included. A further break for small business permits accumulated earnings of $100,000 rather than $50,000, without being liable for payment of the special surtax penalty.

Spreading Estate Tax Payments
Until now, the death of one whose estate consisted largely of his interest in a closely held business often resulted in forced sale of the business to obtain cash for death taxes. Now, in cases where the value of interest of the deceased in a given business exceeds 35 percent of his gross estate, federal estate taxes may be spread over a ten-year period. Payment may be made in ten annual installments plus interest at 4 percent per year on the unpaid balance.

Congress has also raised the loan limit of the Small Business Administration from $250,000 to $350,000 and elevated this bureau to a permanent government agency. Those borrowing directly from this agency get a break too, for the SBA's maximum interest rate on its short-and-intermediate-term loans is reduced from 5 to 4½ percent.

Small Business Investment Act
To my mind the most significant legislation affecting small business is the Small Business Investment Act. This is an unprecedented step toward overcoming one of the greatest handicaps facing small business today, namely its inability to obtain readily the equity capital and the long-term debt capital it requires.

Investment companies whose primary purpose is to provide venture capital for small and expanding businesses can be established by ten or more persons. Each company must be chartered and its charter must be approved by SBA. It must also have a paid-in capital and surplus of not less than $300,000. However, as much as half of this might be obtained from S.B.A. The small investment companies thus organized could make long-term loans of up to twenty years or even more. They could also advance equity capital to small firms through purchase of the small firm's debentures. By law these debentures must be convertible into the small company's common stock.

Tax Benefits for Small Investment Companies

Of course, the chief advantage to a small business investment company and its shareholders lies in the chance of long-term capital gains which would be tax-favored. Investment companies holding the stock of small business would be entitled to a 100 percent dividend-received deduction instead of the normal 85 percent.

Space does not permit listing additional tax advantages to investment companies chartered under this new law. If you have interest in venture capital companies, finance companies, or like enterprises, I suggest you may gain taxwise and otherwise by converting these firms into small business investment companies under this new law. Look into it!

Chats with Parents

Reading Should be Learned Slowly

The emphasis which the schools place on reading is causing some parents to become unduly concerned about their child's progress in learning to read. While we know that much of the child's learning comes from reading, we need to keep in mind that certain other phases of his growth and development must come before he is ready to learn to read. Among his first developmental needs are learning to walk, talk, develop muscle coordination, and strengthen eye muscles to the point that he can focus on such small and detailed objects as printed words. Moreover, he has to learn an over-all kind of muscular coordination of the sort that will permit him to control his body so that it is able to respond to his demand that it all go together in the same direction at the same time. Until this integrating kind of coordination has been achieved, including the maturing of the eye muscles, the child can't possibly be ready to learn to read. In most cases, according to opinions of experts cited in the book, "How To Help Your Child In School", by Mary and Frank Lawrence, children are not ready to begin to learn to read until late in their sixth year.

The concern of parents about their child's reading progress is usually not justified. Dr. Donald E. P. Smith, head of the Reading Improvement Services at the University of Michigan has an encouraging word to say about this. He points out that in a typical classroom of 30 first graders, 20 will have learned to read by the end of the second grade. Six others will be reading by the start of the fourth grade and four others will need special help.

Of these last four, three will be poor readers and will need special help, and the 13th child will learn to read little or none.

If a child doesn't learn to read as rapidly as his parents think he should, they begin to seek a reason for the delay. Sensible sounding reasons are plentiful, but most of them are wrong. A common complaint of parents is that the schools don't teach phonics any more. Actually most teachers include phonics as a part of reading instruction. Another hastily drawn conclusion is that the child lacks intelligence for learning to read. Dr. Smith points out that though little is known about the role played by intelligence in learning to read, the evidence indicates that there is very little relationship between reading and intelligence in the primary grades.

Non-readers are found among bright children just as they are among those not so bright. Dr. Smith concludes that poor reading ability most likely comes from the difficulty the child experiences in putting two sounds together to form a word and two or more words together to form a sentence. If this is the child's trouble and he fails to overcome it through reading practice, he is likely to remain a poor reader.

Failure of the child to read during the first two grades doesn't mean that he will be a poor reader. However, Dr. Smith warns that if doesn't spur in the third grade, it is time to begin looking for special help. Many colleges and universities have clinics which can either help the child or advise how and where help for the child can be obtained.

A Little Loose With the Facts

To the Editor:

As a rule it would be against my principles to write a letter of this type, but after reading the article in the September 4th issue of the Novi News by Herbert Koester I found it impossible to sit idly by and avoid expressing my objections.

It seems to me that Mr. Koester, who has been opposed to incorporation for more than a year, could have been better informed. After discussing many of these very problems with him personally, I find he still persists in mis-stating and mis-using the facts involved. This is evidenced by the many glaring examples in his article and in the yellow circular he has been distributing.

He has made repeated comments on the power of this village to tax. I hope the copy of the charter which he now has had an opportunity to read and study was clear on the issue of taxation. It states that a MAXIMUM millage of five mills can be assessed. This means that any further millage increase must be approved by the residents of the Village of Novi.

Therefore, there is no truth in the statement made that residents will be charged $12.00 per thousand. Mr. Koester must be familiar with the fact that all of the incorporated communities in this area have tax millage maximums considerably higher than the proposed five mill maximum.

Redford Township was cited by Mr. Koester as a township that voted against incorporation because it would have been financially disastrous to do so. Mr. Koester failed to mention the reasons for Redford's dilemma.

They are as follows: Redford could not incorporate as a city because this would force higher taxes on a community that has no industrial tax base. Thus the residents have to finance all projects because the City of Detroit has annexed most of the industrial tax producing areas.

This has left Redford with irregular boundaries and no room for industrial expansion. On the other hand, Redford is limited in her powers to govern the community efficiently because it still remains a township. In this instance, the governing body is faced with the problem of trying to govern an area with an unusually large population with an antiquated form of government.

This problem would not have been as acute if Redford had become an incorporated form of government before the annexation to the city of Detroit took place. There is only one bright aspect in the Redford situation and that is its large population affords a very high sales tax return.

In his article Mr. Koester referred to a panel discussion between the Incorporation Committee and Mr. Gilbert Savage who is planning commissioner of Southfield Township. This so-called expert indicated that annexation could be stopped with an incorporated township but upon inquiries from the other members of the panel he could not explain what the advantages were. On the other hand the Incorporation Committee pointed out many advantages of an incorporated home rule village and Mr. Savage could not dispute any of these advantages.

It was stated by Mr. Koester that he had done considerable research to substantiate his opinion. I find it hard to appreciate that one who has done any research could provide so many inconsistent statements showing a thorough lack of familiarity with the problem.

I urge all residents of the incorporated Village of Novi to read the charter in the September 4th issue of the Novi News so that they may get the facts from the document written for them and not from anonymous uninformed sources. Your Charter Commission, of which I am a member, will be happy to answer questions or clarify anything appearing in the proposed charter.

Sincerely yours,
Dicon Tafraian

City Parking Meters Are Being Misused

To the Editor:

Are parking meters a necessity—or is it just another form of tax revenue to swell the city coffers?

My understanding has been that parking meters are for the sole purpose of allowing parking space for shoppers and people doing business while in the city, and to discourage people from all day parking in the business district.

I am sort of dubious for at least two reasons.

One is that as long as you keep putting coins into the parking meter you are not in violation, but you would be in violation for the purpose that the meter was intended for.

Second, I noticed in several instances in Northville where the police officer on the beat will put coins into expired meters instead of issuing tickets, and issue tickets to others.

Is this service paid out of the receipts from the parking meters? I am sure that the officer would not pay for it out of his own pocket.

Then again this also defeats the purpose of the parking meter.

In Detroit you have to move your car after the time limit is up to make room for others.

Students in England Top Ours in Math

To the Editor:

This is written in the hope that it will arouse the interest of your readers in the Northville Citizens' Committee for Schools. Professor G. T. Buswell, school of education, University of California, reports a comparison of an arithmetic test for eleven-year-olds, administered to a cross-sample of 3191 English pupils with a similarly selected sample of 3179 pupils in Central California. His conclusions follow:

"The hard fact that emerges as the result of this study is that in England, following its customary educational procedures, their pupils at age 11 show a two-to-one superiority in arithmetical achievement as compared with pupils in California of the same chronological age and following its customary educational procedures. The question for the public to decide is whether it is satisfied with this outcome and, in case it is not, to decide under what conditions and limitations improvement should be sought. . . . It is the duty of research to publish its findings, whether pleasant or unpleasant. Facts in themselves are neutral. Friends of the school cannot afford to ignore them. Although the data for this study were limited to California, there is no reason to assume that the problem is local."

I think the phrase: "Friends of the school cannot afford to ignore . . ." is significant. The real friends of the school are those who criticize constructively, not those who ignore the facts.

Sincerely yours,
F. R. Sproule

GOD IS LOVE

"God is love" is mentioned twice in John's First Epistle.

This simple statement is a little understand truth.
A few months ago a U. of M. student won his exemption from the Armed Forces
as a conscientious objector even though he was not a member of any organized religious group.
He stated, "His God is love. Love is a supreme Being." He was right in the first statement but wrong in the second. God is love, but love is not God. It is plain from the Greek Grammar that this statement cannot be reversed. Then too, love is not a person. Love is an emotion, an attitude, a behaviour. God is an invisible Being, a real person who manifests Himself as the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit.
When the Bible says God is love, it means that God is love personified. He is so perfect in love that when one asks what love is, the reply is "God is love." If you want to know what love really is, do not look in the dictionary, or to experience of others, but to God. God manifests this love in the common graces of life. But most of all do we see this love when He condescends to be the Saviour of sinful men.
