

Dollar Polio Clinic Coming Thursday

Some 30 volunteers have signed up to assist in Northville's anti-polio clinic on October 9 and 15.

The clinic will be held from 6:00 to 8:30 p.m. in the community building as part of the Wayne County Medical Society "crash" program to check the current polio epidemic in the Detroit area.

Any of the series of three shots of Salk vaccine can be obtained at the clinic for a $1. The first and second shots are given a month apart; the third, at the end of six months.

Local civic organizations, school administrators and city officials are cooperating in the program.

Persons who have not had any shots are especially urged to take advantage of this opportunity.

The clinic will be open to persons of all ages from Northville city and township and surrounding areas.

Literature will be distributed at the clinic telling when to get second and third shots.

"Families coming to the centers for polio shots will be asked to pay $1 per shot," Dr. Joseph G. Molner, county health director, explained. "If they can afford to pay more, it is hoped they will be generous because all the money taken in will be used to purchase additional vaccine."

"On the other hand, every consideration will be given to those who cannot pay even the nominal $1.00 charge. No one will be turned away for lack of ability to pay."

The Wayne county chapter of the March of Dimes has given 100,000 shots of vaccine to get the program started. It is expected to be used up rapidly and the money taken in at the centers will be used to buy additional vaccine. The Wayne county chapter is also spending $8,500 for needles, syringes and other supplies.

Top State Award Goes to Record

The top photographic prize for coverage of Michigan Week activities by Michigan weekly newspapers was awarded this year to The Northville Record.

The presentation was made Friday night at a newspaper conference in Lansing by Tony Spina, Detroit Free Press chief photographer.

Grand award certificates were presented to The Record and the Owosso Argus-Press, winner in the daily competition.

The Record portrayed the seven days of the Michigan Week observance by using pictures of elementary school children with the theme "What Michigan Means to a Child". The pictures were taken by Robert Webb, news editor.

Catholic Survey Starts This Week

Catholics in Northville, Novi and Wixom will be interviewed within the next two weeks as part of a complete census of the Archdiocese of Detroit.

The census is being made at the request of Edward Cardinal Mooney, archbishop of Detroit.

An estimated 1,200,000 Catholics live in the eight-county archdiocese. The Northville area survey from October 5-19 will be directed by the Rt. Rev. Eugene Paddock, pastor of Holy Name parish in Birmingham. He will be assisted by a number of priests and volunteer census-takers.

The census record will call for: family name, street number, father's name, mother's name, religions (if mixed marriage), name of church regularly attended, sex, birthdate, baptism, first communion, confirmation of children's schools, and military service, if any. At non-Catholic homes, the only record will be a notation that "there is a non-Catholic family at this address."

Joseph Lester, executive secretary for the Council of Catholic Men and the Holy Name Society for the archdiocese, stressed that the census is "not a campaign to proselytize non-Catholics."

Purpose of the survey, Lester said, is to estimate needs for future programs and new church and school buildings, to determine how many Catholic children are in public schools, and to gather other miscellaneous information.

The dances, which have drawn as many as 150 teen-agers, are held each Saturday afternoon at the Veterans' Memorial home under sponsorship of the American Legion and EN/1 John Goss, Navy recruiter in Northville.

Memorial Exhibit Traces Northville Artist's Work

The first memorial exhibit of paintings and drawings by the late John Herman Gabriel of Northville will close tomorrow at the Scarab club in Detroit.

The exhibit traces the interests of the artist from the time he was in the commercial field until he died in June, 1957.

Gabriel was voted the "best landscape artist in Michigan" in the late 20's when he took many prizes with impressionistic landscapes that combined realism and fantasy.

Gabriel was one of the first members of Scarab. He travelled and exhibited widely across the country in his early years.

A philosophic reader, Gabriel eventually leaned toward mystical, religious and symbolic paintings. One portrait is almost a complete study in brown.

Other works in the exhibit include non-objective watercolors, chalk abstractions, an oil in modified cubism, and a church landscape in chalk.

Two of his last works, "Christ in the Garden" and "The Master", were done in oil using only his fingers.

Another portrait of Christ was named most popular work last year

SHOT BOOSTERS — Representatives of the schools and civic groups were busy backing the polio prevention clinic campaign this week. Shown above (l. to r.) are Nurse Mary DeWan of the Wayne county health department, P-TA President Mrs. Crispin Hammond, Coordinating Council President Mrs. Louise Canfield and Russell Amerman, superintendent of schools. The group is checking a list of some 30 volunteers.

OK, Quarterbacks; Try and Pick Them

It's time again for the "armchair quarterbacks" to sharpen their wits and pencils and "pick-the-winners" in The Record's annual football contest.

Once again $15 in cash prizes will be given weekly during the football season to the contestants who most accurately predict the outcome of 15 games. There's nothing to buy and anyone can enter.

Actually, past performances reveal that it isn't always the "experts" who win the prizes. Often it's the casually-interested housewife who enters just to show her husband or son that she knows her football, too. But everyone has fun trying to predict the upsets and rarely does the same person win more than once.

Fifteen area merchants are sponsoring the contest which this week appears on page 13.

For the first week — as a special bonus (?) — readers will have the advantage of some expert advice from "Ye Old Contest Editor" who foresees an upset or two this Saturday.

So write these down before you forget: SMU to surprise Notre Dame; the Wolverines to rise to new heights and trip MSU; the Air Force to enter the bigtime football picture with a victory over powerful Iowa; and Green Bay to scare the Lions, but fall short by three points. (This last bit of information should be of tremendous help as contestants must pick the probable score of the professional game.)

That's all the help. You're on your own now. Turn to page 13 and "pick the winners". Be sure to sign your entry and then either mail or bring the entries to The Record office before 5 p.m. Friday.

Tuck is Novi President; First Council Sworn In

The man who led Novi's incorporation movement from its very beginning three years ago was sworn into office Wednesday night as first president of the village of Novi.

Walter Tuck was elected to the office by a unanimous vote of his four fellow councilmen.

Tuck and Councilmen Dirk Groenenberg, Russell Button, Diron Tafraian and Philip Anderson took the oath of office from Harry Watson in his last official act as charter commissioner.

Groenenberg, who served as clerk of the charter commission, was elected president pro tem.

Though the vote for president was not cast until last night, it was certain for several days that Tuck would be named.

Tuck was a prime force behind incorporation since it was first seriously discussed three years ago.

He headed the Novi board of commerce committee which first studied incorporation and then got the issue on the ballot last fall. In that election, he led the field of 10 candidates for charter commission.

Tuck served as chairman of that group while it ground out the lengthy document during the spring and summer. Then two weeks ago he again led a field of 10 candidates seeking five seats on Novi's village council.

Throughout the long incorporation process, Tuck gained the respect of co-workers and the general public alike. Even opponents of incorporation had only good words for him personally.

A life-long resident of Novi, Tuck has owned Novi Auto Parts on Grand River since 1925.

He is no stranger to public and civic office. In the past he has served as Novi school board president, board of commerce president, fire chief, and in various positions with church and lodge groups.

Tuck will serve for two years as village president, a position comparable to mayor of a city.

He will be the village's chief executive and will preside over council meetings, but his vote will carry only the same weight as votes of other councilmen. He will have no veto power.

The council has tentatively scheduled its first regular meeting for next Monday at the township hall.

Kids Warned About Missing Pistol

The possibility that a loaded pistol is lying somewhere in the Northville area brought a worried warning to parents from Northville Police Chief Joseph Denton this week.

The pistol is the one used in the shooting of Mrs. Evelyn Little Saturday night.

Northville and state police have been unable to locate it despite exhaustive searches of fields, woods, alleys, creeks, and even sewers.

"Parents should warn their children not to touch any pistol they might find," said Denton. "It could be loaded and might easily be discharged."

Denton said police should be contacted immediately if any weapon is found.

Mustangs Rated Second; Meet Hills Tomorrow

The Northville Mustangs were rated second behind River Rouge in the Detroit Times' weekly football poll Tuesday.

The Mustangs, fresh from an opening league victory over Holly Friday, will take on Bloomfield Hills tomorrow night on the Hills' gridiron.

Bloomfield lost its opener last week to Brighton, 13-0.

Annex Appeal Bid Goes to High Court

First step in the appeal action of Warren Products in its suit protesting annexation into the city of Northville is scheduled for next Tuesday when the state supreme court will consider a "right to appeal" request.

The action is normal procedure in seeking an appeal before the high court. It is expected that the request will be granted and the case heard before the supreme court during its next three-month session which begins in January.

Court troubles with Warren Products began in 1956 when the original annexation of 220 acres of Novi township (including the Warren plant) took place. The firm won a reversal of the action in the Oakland county circuit court when vote fraud was claimed in the election.

The area was again annexed to Northville in November, 1957 and the action upheld in circuit court when Warren brought a suit claiming the law governing such annexations had been misinterpreted.

Warren officials have declined to accept the lower court decision, and now seek the supreme court opinion on the validity of the law under which the area was annexed to Northville. In its supreme court appeal action Warren Products is receiving assistance in the amount of $500 from Novi township.

Specifically, Warren officials maintain that because the entire area of the township is affected by the loss of valuation when part of its area is annexed that all residents of the township should be allowed to vote.

In the November, 1957 election Northville voted for the annexation 159 to 32. Residents in the area to be annexed supported the action nine to five.

In addition to Warren Products the area includes Northville Lumber & Coal and the D & R Building company's fast-growing 200-home subdivision, Yerkes Estates.

A peculiar twist has been added to the situation since Warren took its court action. Most of Novi has become a village. If Warren should win its case, it would find very little township to join. The remaining Novi township area exclusive of the village boundaries lies in Northville Estates and Brookland number one subdivisions.

Goodwill Pick-up Tuesday

The next visit of Goodwill Industries pick-up trucks to Northville is scheduled for next Tuesday.

Goodwill trucks collect household discards of clothing, shoes, hats, toys, most types of furniture and other household discards.

To arrange for a Goodwill Industries truck pick-up, call the local Goodwill representative, Mrs. Lora Ault, at GR-4-4294.

BLESSING BY THE CARDINAL — Edward Cardinal Mooney, archbishop of Detroit, kneels before the altar at Our Lady of Victory church Tuesday night and blesses the striking new building. More than 30 priests took part in the ceremony. The church was completed last year.

Look for Prizes Saturday!

Saturday is Northville's first of nine "Parade of Progress" award days!

Local shoppers who have saved their tickets may win valuable gift certificates from any of the 23 participating local merchants. The windows of these stores will reveal who the lucky shoppers were during the first week of the event.

Each week during the two-month-long promotion three of the stores award $10 gift certificates and the other 20 will give $1.00 gift certificates. On the final week end (November 29) all stores will award $10 gift certificates.

Regardless of where you have shopped to receive your tickets during the past week; look in all the participating store windows. Maybe you will be a first week winner!

Shooting of Woman Unsolved

A Northville woman narrowly escaped death Saturday night when she was shot through the head apparently while riding with her husband in their car.

But the case was marked closed Wednesday morning because of insufficient evidence.

Mrs. Evelyn Little, 31, was shot through the left jaw and right temple by a .38 caliber bullet. It narrowly missed the base of her brain.

Northville and state police questioned her husband, Joe Little, Jr., for three days. Little told them he remembered nothing of the shooting.

From her bed at University hospital in Ann Arbor, Mrs. Little also said she remembered nothing. She would not sign a complaint.

Police have only the Littles' blood-soaked car to go on. No weapon has been found, and paraffin and lie detector tests have proved inconclusive.

Little drove his wounded wife to Atchison hospital in Northville at 11:55 Saturday night. She was rushed to Ann Arbor in critical condition, but was out of danger by the next day.

They recently moved to Plymouth. Mrs. Little's three children by a previous marriage are staying with her former husband.

More Gray Ladies Needed At Northville State Hospital

Recruitment of Red Cross Gray Ladies to serve at Northville State hospital will begin October 14 and continue October 16 and 17 at the hospital.

Gray Lady and hospital representatives will interview prospective volunteers from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

Red Cross Gray Ladies have been serving at the hospital since September 1952, nine months after the opening of the hospital with 250 patients.

With the hospital census over 2100, Dr. Philip N. Brown, medical superintendent, says Red Cross Gray Ladies are more needed than ever.

They perform many non-medical services, depending on individual preferences and skills. Assignments are flexible and varied, providing added interest for the Gray Lady.

Gray Ladies are needed to assist in simple arts and crafts projects with older patients, teach square dancing, take library carts to bed patients, assist with religious services, assist in the apparel shop where donated clothing is selected by needy patients, and visit with patients.

One of the most popular volunteer programs is the "Adopt A Patient" service. People in the community make arrangements to either write or visit patients who have no other relatives or friends.

Some 23 Gray Ladies served patients at the hospital 4,445 hours last year.

Applications must be 21, high school graduates and American citizens. They must present medical certificates from their own physicians, complete a 10½ hour training course at the hospital, and serve a 35-hour probationary period on duty.

Women who complete these requirements then pledge 150 hours service in the first year and purchase their own uniforms and shoes.

Red Cross Gray Lady Service hours are between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., with each lady choosing the day most convenient for herself.

Mrs. Seefeldt may be reached at FI-9-1800 for further information or to make appointments for interview.

FUTURE BRAVE?—Young Joe Boland (right), born before Mother and Dad moved to Michigan, looks like he can handle a bat in real Milwaukee style, but Kathy and Johnny (left), native Michiganders, cast a wary Tiger-fan look, outnumbered three to two.

This is no time of year to be making baseball wagers with the Dan Bolands of Northville Heights.

Native Milwaukeeans, and first residents of the new subdivision, Dan and Marilyn Boland, are still rooting for the penant-contending Braves.

The family, including children,

Joseph, 4; Kathy, 3, and Johnny, 19 months, moved to Northville from Oak Park in August, where they've made their home for three years since their move from Wisconsin.

The Bolands also enjoy a game of tennis, and Dan is a player to beat, his wife claims.

Mrs. Boland says her talents are centered in the kitchen. Her specialty is cheese cake.

The Bolands belong to Our Lady of Victory parish and Mrs. Boland is a member of the church's woman's club.

Mr. Boland works for Eaton Manufacturing company.

Michigan 4-H Club Offers Scholarship

Michigan's 4-H'ers have an opportunity to apply for a new $800 scholarship which will be given for the first time this fall to a college junior majoring in agricultural economics, and who is particularly interested in grain marketing, according to the National Committee on Boys and Girls club work. The award is provided by the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago in cooperation with the Extension service.

To be eligible, the candidate must have completed three years of 4-H club work. Records will be reviewed by Dr. Russell G. Mawby, assistant director of extension 4-H club program.

The best one will be sent to the National Committee where a group of extension judges will determine the final winner. College scholastic standing and all-around 4-H achievement will be considered.

Deadline for submitting the candidates' records is October 20.

Winners, accompanied by a chaplain will spend three days at the Chicago Board of Trade next January where they will see and hear experts in the grain business.

By The Reverend Paul M. Cargo,
First Methodist Church of Northville

COMMUNION

The first Sunday in October is broadly known in Protestantism as World Wide Communion Sunday. In many churches the Sacrament of Holy Communion will be administered as an act in which we remember Christ's life and death and risen power and find ourselves to be one in Him.

Nathan M. Pusey, president of Harvard university, said recently that secularization — "a way of life in which there is neither need nor place for religion" — has become "a very serious stumbling block in our society." He called upon the churches to be concerned "lovingly, for the whole of the world and the whole of life within it."

Kneeling at the altar in the Methodist way, or seated reverently in the sanctuary in the Presbyterian way, or in the Roman Catholic way of the Mass each can be spiritually sensitive to individual and social need.

"How through this Sacrament of simple things
The great God burns His way,
I know not — He is there.

The silent air
Is pulsing with the presence of His grace,
Almost I feel a face
Bend o'er me as I kneel."

—G. A. Studdert Kennedy
Americans don't seem to worry much about their sins any more, but there is One who said, "Come unto me, all ye who are weary and heavy laden. There's no Burden-Bearer like Him. Something happens with confession and forgiveness and we can lift our heads and our hearts to serve anew the Master of Life.

Let our prayers about the communion table include the whole family of faith throughout the world the homeless and the helpless
the wayward and the sinful
the down and out, and the up and out and ourselves, just as we are — in our smugness and complacency
— in our negligence and indifference
— in our self-righteousness and pride
— in our unprofitableness to Christ's Kingdom
— in our spiritual blindness and dire need.
O God, help us!

Bazaar for Lapeer Kids

The Lapeer Parents association will present its annual Harvest Festival and bazaar October 11, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. at Carpenter hall, 22521 Grand River.

Proceeds will benefit the 4,000 retarded children at the Lapeer Home and Training school.
Toys, recreational and educational equipment are not provided by the institution. Each year the Lapeer Parents association furnishes these things from proceeds of the festival.

Plan Retreat Days At Duns Scotus

An October to May schedule of retreat days for men has been announced by Duns Scotus college where "Days of Recollection" will be held on eight Saturdays from 2 until 8:30 p.m.

They are October 11, November 8,
December 13, January 10, February 7,
March 7, April 11 and May 9.
The program is conducted by the Franciscan Fathers of the college and sponsored by St. Elizabeth Astrinity of the Third Order of St.
Francis.

The retreats are suggested as days of spiritual recreation from material concerns and as time for caring for individual spiritual needs.
For reservations, call LO-5-1525 or LU-2-6833.

Several Religions Studied by Church

The church school of the Farmington Universalist church has began a study of various religions by its junior and senior high group.

The first study will cover Islam, the religion of the Moslems. This will be followed by discussion of Hindus, Buddhists, and other world religions including Taoism and Zoroasterism.

Some time will be spent on the primitive religions like nature worship, totemism, fetishism and ancestor worship.
Also, included in the series will be
Jewish, Greek Orthodox, Roman Catholic and Anglo-Catholic or Church of England beliefs, the Lutheran movement; the Quakers and Mormons; all Protestant religions and the fringe sects.

Wherever possible, the class will study the religion one week, attend the particular religious service the next week, and evaluate what they have seen and heard the following week.

In the end, the program is intended to develop religious conviction in the members of the class but not until as much objective information as possible has been made available to them.
Junior and senior high school students interested are welcome to attend these sessions each Sunday morning, 10:30 a.m.

ALL DONE — Cy Frid and Ed Devine were two tired salesmen when the Rotary rummage sale closed last Saturday afternoon. Luckily, one of the few remaining unsold items was a davenport! Their efforts, along with a host of other Northville Rotarians, netted $900 for the club's charitable activities. Chairman of the event was Wally Westerfield. The sale was held Friday and Saturday under the Downs' grandstand.

More Photo Awards For Harold Hartley

Hartley learned he has won a national honorable mention and two state certificates of merit in the 1958 Kodak high school photo contest.

His honorable mention photo was of a math class taught by Ron Schipper, Northville high school teacher and football coach.

Earlier this year, Hartley won two awards in the Scholastic Magazine contest sponsored by Ansco. One was of a baseball game at Cass Benton park and the other of a midnight scene in Greenwich Village.

Track Calls Turn At Planning Meet

September 25, 1958
Northville Record

For any of us who thought that Northville Downs had turned over a new leaf with regards to its methods of doing business, the Northville Planning Commission's September 23 meeting was an eye-opener.

Except for the setting, this September 23 meeting had more than a slight resemblance to a country square dance — Northville Downs called the tune and most of the Planning Commission members willingly danced.

The caller for the square dance was, in this case, Downs' General Manager John Carlo. The tune Carlo called was in the form of a virtual ultimatum to the Planning Commission — either allow the wintering of up to 300 horses on the St. Lawrence property south of town or we'll compel the horses to winter in some other community.

For most Northville residents, the latter alternative would be the obvious, simple, and preferable choice. But for a number of financially interested members of the Planning Commission, there appeared to be little or no choice.

Basically, Carlo's demand was for the removal of a zoning restriction limiting the use of this St. Lawrence property for quartering horses to a period of from 15 days before to 15 days after the racing season. This restriction was placed on the property two years ago for the protection of nearby property owners.

Similar "15-day" restrictions are also in effect at the Hazel Park and Livonia tracks.

Planning Commission Chairman Tom Carrington opened the meeting by questioning the legality of the petition and the irregular manner in which Carlo arranged to have it submitted.

In the discussion which followed, three of the commission members — George Zerbel, Ernest Ebert and Harvey Ritchie — openly questioned the Downs' demand. They cited the Downs' evident refusal to renovate the rapidly deteriorating barns adjacent to the Seven Mile cut-off. They cited the doubtful legality of Carlo's formal petition. They cited a number of promises made by the Downs in past years and as yet unfulfilled. And they cited the fact that this same Planning Committee had seen fit to create these very restrictions.

As Zerbel himself pointed out, the commission would look like a bunch of "stoops" if it reversed itself after only two years and now proposed an amendment on their own hook, thus inferring the commission's endorsement of Mr. Carlo's plan.

Two Workmen Injured As Water Main Explodes

Two workmen suffered minor eye injuries last Thursday when a water main they were testing at Wayne County Training school exploded. James Palmer, 48, of Brighton, and Agostino Piergendili, 25, of Detroit, were treated at Wayne County General hospital where doctors removed pieces of mud and metal from their eyes.

The eight-inch water main was getting its final test, according to Walter S. Mackey of the state building division.

It was under pressure of 100 pounds per square inch.

Palmer, Piergendili, and two other men were checking the pipe for leaks when it suddenly blew up without warning. A 40-pound piece of pipe three feet long blew out of the trough, narrowly missing the four.

The pipe cracked in its center rather than at a seam, indicating faulty manufacture rather than faulty installation, Mackey said.

Such accidents rarely happen, he said.

The water line leads from a water tower across Sheldon road from the Training school and will service the new Plymouth State Home and Training school on the same site.

PTA Group Hears Curriculum Report For Junior High

Northville's Parent-Teacher association got off to an impressive start last Thursday evening with a large attendance meeting the school system's new teachers and hearing recommendations for a junior high school curriculum.

P-TA President Mrs. Crispin Hammond offered official greetings for the new year while Superintendent of Schools Russell Amerman introduced his administrative staff. New teachers were introduced by the school principals.

Mrs. William Davis acted as program chairman for the evening.

William Crump and Robert Hart outlined a program of study for seventh and eighth grades produced by a volunteer curriculum study group. In presenting the recommendations Crump and Hart pointed out that the program reflected the ideas of the group collected through cooperative study and consultations with teachers. "We do not expect, however, that it will be accepted without change by school authorities," they emphasized.

Some parts of the group's findings came in for mild criticism during the meeting. Suggestions that music and languages would not be emphasized in the junior high school period brought rebuttal from the audience. In defense Crump and Hart explained that crowded schedules made it necessary to limit certain studies, although some free time had been provided for inclusion of these subjects. Language, they added, would be emphasized in the elementary and high school periods.

Basically, the study group curriculum for a continuity from elementary learning and preparation for high school; an emphasis on study habits to prepare the junior high student for high school and college; teaching the child to make decisions; and a coordination between studies so that a student may see how one subject relates to another. As a practical application of this the group suggested that work presented for social studies might also be graded for grammar and spelling.

School administrators are currently studying the high school curriculum recommendations for application next year. Following this the junior high school curriculum will undergo staff study.

It's "More Power with Womenpower" Week

Northville's Mayor A. Malcolm Allen has proclaimed next week (October 5 - 11) as National Business Women's Week.

This annual week, sponsored throughout the United States by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., is set aside to pay tribute to women in business and the professions, and the contribution they make to the nation.

The theme of 1958 "National Business Women's Week" is "More Power with Womanpower".

Scrambled Gridders

"You can't tell the players without a program . . ."

And sometimes not even with a program.

Like at last Friday's Northville-Holly football game. There, over the name of rangy Tackle Nelson Schrader, was a photo of former Guard Dick Buckley.

For the record, Schrader looks the same as ever. The next program will prove it.

Buckley, meanwhile, has gone on to Hope college and has made the football team's traveling squad.

Colts Dump Holly For Second Win

The Northville Colts are not ones to disdain a winning formula.

The Colts, following in the footsteps of the Mustang varsity four nights earlier, dropped the Holly junior varsity, 25-0, Tuesday night for their second win against no defeats.

Like the Mustangs, the Colts scored one on a dazzling 30-yard reverse and again on a 30-yard pass.

Halfback Bob Stuber carried the reverse across, while Halfback Steve Juday hit End Joe White with the touchdown pass.

Stuber scored again on a 2-yard plunge, and Fullback George Howell rounded out the scoring with a six-yard dash.

Coach Joe Wilkinson praised the defensive work of Guard Dick Keronozok, End Dick O'Hare, and Howell and the backfield showing of Juday and Quarterback Bud Adas.

The Colts' next game is Tuesday against Bloomfield Hills. Game time at Ford field is 7 p.m.

Mrs. Herman Hartner, Jr. of Plymouth avenue, and Mrs. Robert Norton of Livonia attended the Monday night performance of Romanoff and Juliet at the Cass Theater in Detroit.

Camera Club to Meet

The Northville Adult Camera club will meet next Wednesday, October 8 at 7:45 p.m. in the basement of the library.

The club will be holding regular meetings on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month.

Eighty-four fourth grade students of Miss Ada W. Fritz, and their families attended a get-acquainted pot-luck supper in the Community Center last Tuesday. The committee of mothers who assisted Miss Fritz were Mrs. Clifford Smith, Mrs. Frank Swiss, Mrs. Stanley Smith, Mrs. Keith Metcalf and Mrs. John Canterbury.

LIFE CAN BE WORTH LIVING

Many times I have heard people say, "When I became a Christian, somehow everything in my life was changed." Then in a variety of ways they testify how these changes have taken place.

The problems of the home were changed. The drudgery and humdrum of everyday labors were changed. The despair of the future was changed to joyful anticipation. And in addition, the blessing of giving purpose to our present lives. The trouble with many people today, they have no purpose in living. Just to exist from day to day is not enough to please God or bring satisfaction to the heart of man. God has placed us on this earth for a purpose. The first purpose is that we might bring glory to God. The second purpose and in line with the first is that we might accomplish something worthwhile for time and eternity. We can never get our sights straight until we have been to the cross. When we see Christ, as our substitutionary sacrifice, redeeming us so that we might live to the glory of God, then our outlook is changed and life becomes worth living. Every aspect of our lives will be effected. We just cannot be the same after accepting the work accomplished on Calvary. Have you been to the cross?

Ol' King Football's Back Again

The Northville Record

THE OLDEST WEEKLY NEWSPAPER IN WAYNE COUNTY — EST. 1868 Thursday, October 2, 1958—11

Football returned to Northville Friday night with another crowd at Ford Field, another win for the Mustangs, another noisy, happy celebration down Main street.

Familiar sidelines attraction were there too. Cheerleaders yelled the team on. The snappy Northville band took the field at halftime. Lines formed at the refreshment stand for hot dogs and coffee.

In the stands, young ladies shuddered until their boy friends bounced back up after a jarring tackle. Dad explained that last play to mom, or tried to. And bleacher quarterbacks second-guessed the one on the field.

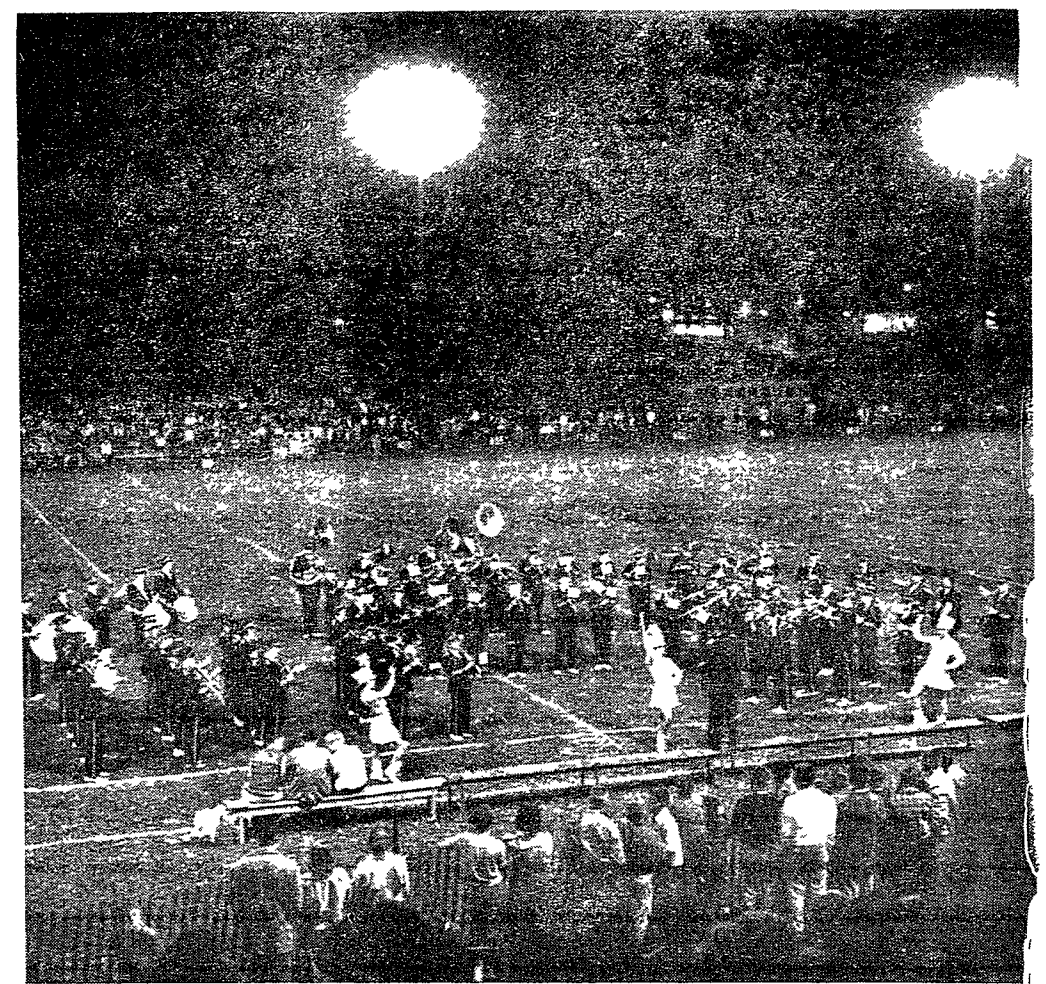

Football is much the same spectacle year after year. But it always seems good to have it back again.

POINT-AFTER touchdown is signalled by one of the officials . . .

WHILE Rev. John Taxis, from his usual sideline position, happily twirls the downs' marker.

IN CONCERT FORMATION, the Northville band serenades fans at halftime with the numbers they were to play the next day at Michigan's band day at Ann Arbor. Numbers included "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "76 Trombones".

Without even stealing a look at the calendar, I can always tell when autumn is nigh.

Around this time of year, I find myself extra busy helping people select color-slide projectors. I guess as evenings begin to lengthen, folks start getting anxious to have some good, big-screen looks at the color slides they made during their summer outings.

While we carry a complete line of slide projectors, the one that has been catching everybody's eye recently is the new Kodak Cavalcade Projector. This really is the LAST word in slide projectors.

All you have to do is slip in a tray-full of your favorite slides and press the button — the Cavalcade does the rest. Your slides slip on and off the screen like clockwork. When one of them draws "ohs" and "ahs" from your audience, a control wheel lets you keep the show-stopper on the screen as long as you like.

The Cavalcade has a dozen other features like a remote control cord, built-in pointer, and editing lever that you really have to see in action to appreciate.

Tell you what. Bring a batch of your slides down to the shop first chance you get. We'll load them in a Cavalcade so you can see for yourself.

HADLEY J. BACHERT, Township Clerk

Northville Still Holly's Nemesis

An unheralded halfback who had run only one play this year picked the Northville Mustangs off the ground Friday night and led them to a 26-6 win over vengeance-minded Holly.

The Broncos, still smarting from their last two losses to Northville, threatened at times to hand the Mustangs their first league loss in three years.

But they didn't reckon with Halfback Larry Nitzel, a 158-pound scat-back who ran the ball only seven times as a sophomore last year.

Streaking at will through the Holly defense, Nitzel scored twice on dashes of 17 and 38 yards, set up another touchdown on a 32-yard punt return, and hauled back three more punts for a total of 43 yards.

His first score made up for a 6-0 deficit after an early Holly touchdown, and the second put the Mustangs' first league victory completely out of Holly's reach.

Without Nitzel's performance, the Mustangs might have had a down-to-the-wire struggle on their hands.

The Broncos effectively matched Northville for most of the game, and held the one-two punch of Fullback Spike Walker and Halfback Bob Starnes to only 68 yards rushing.

Only in the second quarter did Northville have control of the game.

Holly lost little time in trying to make up for its 32-0 and 14-13 losses to Northville in the past two years.

After halting the Mustangs' first drive on the Holly 15, the Broncos came to life. Fullback George Coggins blasted through the Northville line and Quarterback Darrell Kinney connected on two long passes to move the ball 73 yards to Northville's 12.

Then, before Northville could catch its breath, Coggins slid off tackle and raced into the end zone standing up. For the first time in three years, Northville trailed a league opponent by a touchdown.

The angry Mustangs struck back quickly. Starnes took Holly's kick-off up the middle for 28 yards. Bill Boyd replaced Fred Schwarze at quarterback and threw a picture-perfect pass to Starnes for another 19 yards. With Walker adding short yardage, the Mustangs moved to the 17.

Then Nitzel took the hand-off, broke off tackle and streaked into the end zone with the tying score. The conversion attempt was fumbled, but Northville was back in the game.

It took the Mustangs only three minutes to score again. With Holly punting from its 40, Nitzel gathered in the ball and rushed back 32 yards before on lone defender brought him down. Three plays later, Starnes hit Walker with a pass in the clear and the speedy fullback rumbled on behind excellent blocking for a 33-yard touchdown.

After two penalties moved the ball back and forth, Walker went in with the conversion.

Then began possibly the longest and wildest three minutes of football ever played at Ford Field.

After a towering 52-yard kickoff by Starnes, Northville and Holly swapped the ball five times on four fumbles and one interception, drew a penalty apiece, used every available time-out, ran more plays (19) than in the rest of the quarter put together (18), and presumably went off the field at halftime completely fagged.

Northville seemed on its way again after the half. Nitzel stormed 18 yards to midfield, but Holly intercepted and moved to Northville's 35 before Coggins fumbled to Center Steve Juday.

The Mustangs stalled again, and the teams continued to struggle back and forth across the midfield stripe for the remainder of the quarter.

Earlier in the final period, Holly began to fade before the battering of Northville's mammoth line.

But the Mustangs failed to move until Halfback Gary Morgan picked off a Holly pass on the 23 and went into the end zone behind a squadron of blockers to put Northville in front, 19-6.

Schwarze's attempted quarterback sneak failed for the conversion.

Holly wasn't quite dead, however. Coggins ran the kickoff back 20 yards, galloped another eight, and passed for eight more. Another 11-yard pass was nullified by a penalty, and with 1:16 left to play, the ball went over to Northville.

With only seconds left, the Mustangs could have run the clock out. But Quarterback Fred Steeper decided to give the crowd its money's worth.

The ball flashed from Steeper to Halfback Roger Cheeseman to Nitzel on a perfectly-executed reverse, and Nitzel scampered 38 yards into the end zone without a Bronco in sight.

The crowd-electrifying play came with 0:29 left on the clock. Except for the formality of a kickoff, that was the game.

Though Starnes and Walker were often bottled up on rushing, they made up for it passing. Starnes completed three passes for 74 yards and caught two himself for 37 yards, while Walker was hauling in two for 48 yards.

The Mustangs' defense was more effective than it looked at times. Holly picked up 166 yards on offense but 85 of these came in the first quarter. After that, the Broncos could net only 29, 10 and 42 yards per quarter.

Undaunted by Spill Sky Boy Goes West

Undaunted by a recent bad spill, the Northville pacer Sky Boy left last Thursday for Hollywood Park in California.

If his luck holds, Sky Boy could have a profitable winter as well as a warm one.

In 17 starts at Michigan tracks this summer, Sky Boy won five times, placed four times and showed three times.

His best time was 2:06.4. Sky Boy's final performance in Michigan nearly had a tragic ending.

Coming into the stretch at Wolverine Raceway, the leading horse suddenly fell. Sky Boy, close behind, went over the top in a bad spill.

The drivers and horses walked away with only minor cuts and bruises, but both carts were demolished.

Sky Boy is owned by Mrs. F. L. Doren of Northville. Joining him for the seven week Hollywood Park meeting are several other horses from Wolverine.

FIRST DOWN for Northville comes on pass to Fullback Spike Walker. He later scored on similar play covering 33 yards. Both came from Bob Starnes.

FIRST TOUCHDOWN for Mustangs is scored by Halfback Larry Nitzel on 17-yard dash around end. He added another on a 38-yard reverse.

ROUGH GOING for Holly Fullback George Coggins as he bumps into Northville defense. Making tackle are an unidentified Mustang and Center Wade Deal (center), while Bob Starnes moves in. The Mustangs' hunking line began taking its toll on Holly late in the game, enabling Northville to score twice in the final four minutes.

Lakers on Rampage Again

West Bloomfield poured it on again Friday night and served notice that it is out for a crack at Northville's Wayne-Oakland league title.

The Lakers, with some brilliant passing by Quarterback John Lucadam, crushed hapless Clarenceville 33-14. The week before, West Bloomfield ran up the same number of points in drubbing Pontiac St. Michael, 33-7.

Lucadam, probably the best passer in the league, connected on touchdown tosses of 30, 12 and 50 yards and bumped across himself from the 4.

Brighton made it two shut-outs in a row (including one non-league win) by downing Bloomfield Hills, 13-0. Ron Bisel flipped two passes, good for 30 and five yards, for the Bulldogs' first score. Sean Lovan went 27 yards for the second.

Milford marched 90 yards in the last quarter to gain a 13-13 tie against Clarkston.

The special seasons were established by the state Conservation Commission to harvest more white-tails in 37 deer starvation and crop damage areas. Applications for special season permits can be obtained from hunting license dealers and must be mailed to Michigan Conservation Department, Lansing 26, not later than midnight, October 10. Each permit is valid for only one area.

SPEAKING for the Record

By BILL SLIGER

Next Thursday night from six until eight-thirty the Wayne county "roving" Polio Prevention Clinic will be held at the Northville Community Center.

One gets some idea of just how serious the Polio epidemic in Wayne county has become from this "crash" program undertaken through the joint sponsorship of the Wayne County Health Department and the Medical Society.

Everyone is being urged to take the Salk vaccine, regardless of age, at clinics throughout the county. Officials are not drawing the lines at the county, either. Residents from surrounding Oakland and Washtenaw counties are also urged to attend the clinic if they need shots.

Health authorities are especially concerned with persons who have not yet received their first shot. They are urging those from three months to seventy to come in and get the series started. Second and third series shots will also be given.

More information about Northville's clinic may be found this week on page one. Don't forget — there's no excuse for not having your shots. It's only one dollar, and this will be waived if you haven't the cash.

We always like to hear about the prompt results of our classified ads, but we're not taking credit for the response Mac's Berry Patch on Novi road received recently. The night after Mac advertised his tree-ripened peaches they were gone . . . but Mac doesn't know where. Someone picked the trees clean during the night!

The rumor mills are running full blast throughout the Northville business district. One, and maybe two, supermarkets are supposedly close to completing building negotiations. One would (according to rumor) be in the present business district and the other on the fringe.

Local businessmen are 100 percent behind the idea believing that this would keep more shoppers in Northville and also attract new ones.

Speaking of our business district, the Masonic Association is to be congratulated on its face-lifting of Ellis Electronics, EMB Market and Revitzer's. Ditto for Leo Mainville and his remodeling project at Northville Drugs.

Your Child's Needs

In addition to the everyday need for food, clothing, and shelter, your child has other needs which are essential to his development, and in some ways they are more important than some of his obvious needs. While psychologists generally agree that habit patterns and other aspects of the child's personality are pretty well established before he is old enough to enter school, his behavior and personality are influenced for good or bad throughout his life by the people and the environment around him.

Though listing any childhood needs in order of their relative importance is sure to arouse disagreement, four needs have been identified as demanding the attention of parents and teachers of small children.

One of the unique characteristics of the family is its intimacy, the sharing of possessions, achievements, joys and sorrows by all members of the group. Another characteristic of the family, one found in no other social group, is the love and affection of each member for each of the other family members. These two characteristics combine to satisfy two of the child's important needs: the need for love and affection and the need for feeling that he really BELONGS to a group. Both of these needs when satisfied contribute to the child's feeling of security and the assurance that he is really wanted and needed by someone. These feelings are important to him throughout his life.

The two other highly important needs of the child are companion needs, just as are the feeling of belonging and the desire for love and affection. These are the needs for achieving — doing constructive things with a reasonable degree of success — and then having people whom the child loves or admires recognize and appreciate his achievement. Psychologists refer to these two needs as ACHIEVEMENT and RECOGNITION.

These needs, feeling of belonging, love and affection, achievement and recognition, unfortunately are not always satisfied by the child's family for one reason or another. Some family groups are disorganized as a result of both parents working away from home, lack of mutual affection between parents or parents and children, or for some other reason the family circle lacks some of the important qualities found in highly compatible families. In such instances, an appreciation of these basic needs of the child need to be fully understood by the child's teacher.

The child whose need for love and affection is not satisfied at home may attach himself to his teacher as a substitute parent. He may identify himself with his school-room group and accept them as a substitute for his brothers and sisters. He may substitute the lack of recognition for achievement at home by making a special effort to achieve the things which the group and the teacher think are important or which he believes them to value highly. The able teacher senses these needs in the child and makes a point of trying to satisfy them. She recognizes, too, that even though the child's basic needs are met at home within the family group she must still see that they are again satisfied at school. When the child first starts to school, the achievements within his group take on a vast importance and it is important that the teacher help him to gain the security which comes from being successful in his first association with an out-of-family group. The child who talks at school about family interests and projects, and talks at home about the activities of his school group is usually making a happy adjustment in both groups. His needs in both settings are extremely important, a fact which the teacher and members of the family should recognize. The child's successes in the early days of school life are likely to temper his later years of schooling.

Demos See Williams '58 Win; Wonder About '60

MOST VOTERS going to the polls for the first time November 4 have had only Governor Williams as their symbol of political supremacy in Michigan since they were in the sixth grade.

They must learn from their elders, if at all, about former Governor Kim Sigler, the last Republican in the executive office.

Republicans this year are being down appropriately on the ancient political theme, successful in other places and other elections: "It's Time for a Change".

Their top elected official now is Senator Charles E. Potter, running hard for his second six-year term against Lt. Governor Philip A. Hart who was once Williams' heir-designate.

* * *

And many Democrats are wondering about the future in Michigan, even while they are confident of victory November 4.

Party guessers in both camps are trying to figure what Williams will do in 1960, assuming he gets, by Paul D. Bagwell, a Michigan State university speech professor and the strongest Republican campaigner in years.

They are guessing that Williams will try for the nomination for president in 1960.

If all this came to pass, it would leave the Democratic party in Michigan without the leader who has brought it back from biennial defeat to domination of the state government.

Nonetheless, Williams would be leaving a party with leaders groomed to take his place. There could be a race for spots on the ticket for the first time in years.

* * *

What are Williams' chances in 1960?

The five-term governor of Michigan has been mentioned only as a possibility when Democrats get together nationally. The polls list twice-defeated Adlai Stevenson; Senators Kefauver and Kennedy; Governors Harriman of New York and Meyner of New Jersey.

On Williams' side, none of these is staging a runaway in popular appeal at this early stage of the game.

Williams has been busy making political friends around the nation and trying to live down the civil rights row in the 1952 convention which created new enemies for him in the south.

Democrats are rich in talent now whereas in 1948 they had trouble finding candidates to fill out the slate.

That year, Mrs. Margaret Price, of Ann Arbor, an active lady party leader since the early days of Williams' career, was the candidate for auditor general.

Looking at the issue realistically, it will be years before a party with a chance of winning all the marbles nominate a woman on the state ticket. It will come, observers say, but not now.

Through the years, Democrats have been building.

They now have veterans who have learned from the Williams touch in every major state office. The Democratic governor has filled dozens of long-term judgeships and all state appointive offices.

Democrats now have a 5 to 3 majority on the state's "non-partisan" Supreme Court.

Younger leaders are being groomed.

They include State Senator John B. Swainson, a bright, one-time Republican club member, who is Williams' running mate this year for lieutenant governor.

To make the changes they insist are overdue, Republicans must unseat Williams after 10 years in office, and take over state offices other Democrats have held for four years.

Republican leaders are fighting against the natural discouragement of repeated defeats.

The comeback route is rugged, and enthusiasm is difficult to generate. For the first time since Sigler, there has been no opposition for the gubernatorial candidacy in the primary.

But Republicans are being rallied. State Chairman Lawrence Lindemer has promised an organizational fight in every county. Bagwell is campaigning very hard on a county-by-county, hamlet-by-hamlet schedule.
