

Council Starts Campaign to Win Bond Issue Vote

The serious business of how to win an election will be given the combined attention of all city councilmen and a field of eight city candidates tonight (Thursday).

They will not be concerned with their own election to office, however. The matter for discussion will be the proposed $300,000 water bond issue.

The improvement program, which will go before the voters February 16, may be in for some rough sledding, councilmen fear. Consequently, the mayor called for a special meeting and, at the suggestion of Councilman John Canterbury, has invited all candidates for city offices to participate in the session.

Specifically, the council wants to outline the entire program: the present condition of the water system; the plan for improvement; what the new facilities will do to improve the water; how much it will cost and how it will be financed.

The council is determined to present these facts to the new candidates — to win their support for the program — and then spread the information to all the voters.

Councilman Canterbury described the council's effort to win the bond issue election as of highest importance. "If this measure doesn't pass the consequences are bad, and we shouldn't allow this possible injustice to happen to our citizens," he stated.

The council decided last November to enter into a water system improvement program. The project will include additional valves, fire hydrants, larger lines, a 400,000-gallon elevated storage tank, completion of a new well site, installation of some additional lines. Treatment of the water will also be undertaken to improve the taste and odor.

Actually, the council can start the program with a $190,000 revenue bond issue without an election. This straight revenue-type bond carries a high interest rate and limits the amount of money that can be borrowed, however.

Therefore, while the $300,000 bond will be retired over 27 years by revenues from water rates now being paid, the council will ask voters to "guarantee" the loan as a "general obligation-revenue" type. This lowers interest rates and increases the amount that can be borrowed.

Property owners must approve the bond issue by a 60 percent margin.

The council's job — and anyone else whose aid they can enlist — is to convince the taxpayer that the proposed water improvement program is essential and will not boost city taxes.

In the face of present conditions — with residents smarting under current school tax payments — some councilmen fear this may not be an easy assignment.

B-R-R-R — Old Man Weather showed little respect for the birth of a New Year last week. As a matter of fact, it's still giving 1959 the "cold shoulder". Freezing rain made New Year's Eve the worst here in half-a-century and the week end brought four inches of snow and sub-zero temperatures. The thermometer at C. R. Ely and Sons is shown recording 1-degree below zero this morning. It was colder during the night.

'Worst Weather' Greets New Year

No one hereabouts can remember a more treacherous New Year's Eve, and most hope they'll never experience another.

Oddly enough, however, the freezing rain and super-slick streets caused no major accidents. But they left countless cars stranded and ditched. The slippery underfooting also resulted in numerous pains and bruises as the result of falls.

Traffic was literally frozen. Northville police received 32 calls — and answered but four. They couldn't move either. Officers told stranded party-goers to "stay-put" and wait for public works' salt crews to cover the streets.

Police went to the scene of one accident where a pedestrian had fallen and was apparently seriously hurt. He recovered soon after their arrival, however, and went on his way.

City work crews poured 80 tons of salt on every street in town during a 12-hour work stint that began shortly before midnight. Superintendent Herman Hartner said the trucks had to be driven backwards so that wheels could gain traction from the salt.

"I never saw anything like it," said Hartner. "Everywhere we went there were cars stranded." In most cases the celebrators either walked home or stayed and continued partying.

After the New Year's "ice-capsade" the weather continued on its rampage and brought freezing weather and a four-inch snowfall Saturday night. Public works' crews put in another six hours Saturday night to clear all the city streets. The temperature dipped below zero to a local reported low of 4 below Sunday night.

PASS THE SALT — Northville's public works' crew did just that New Year's Eve. Eighty tons — the largest amount ever spread at one time on the city's 11 miles of streets — was distributed between midnight and noon. Superintendent Herman Hartner says the freezing rain brought the worst conditions he's ever experienced in his 14 years on the public works department. Hartner, shown above, was commended by the city council in an official resolution Monday night for his department's work New Year's Eve and during Saturday night's four-inch snowfall.

Ladies Take a Bow As Legal Offenses Tally Lower in '58

What Northville's 1958 crime picture lacked in numbers it made up in dramatics.

Nevertheless, despite flashy moments — an attempted bank robbery, the unsolved shooting of a local waitress, and the smash-up of a teen-age band responsible for local burglaries, auto theft, and arson — the annual tally of legal offenses actually dipped from last year's.

Only 1,286 police calls were answered as compared with 1,426 in 1957, and $8,285.68 in fines collected, against $11,756 a year ago.

Probably the biggest difference showed up in the number of parking violations reported: 3,945 this year and 4,286 last.

Other comparisons include:

Traffic violations, 389 now against 933 then; grand larceny, 14:11; juvenile cases, 3:10; breaking and entering cases, 13:5; auto thefts, 8:5; bike thefts, 25:8; arrests, 75:133; commitment to DeHoCo, 11:9; persons bitten by dogs, 16:7; persons put on Indian list, 3:0; petty larceny, 17:22; vandalism, 14:12; prowler calls, 22:19; recovered autos, 10:9; recovered bikes, 23:6; forgery cases, 7:3; court cases, 75:133; driver's license revoked, 10:12; cases referred to juvenile court, 0:2; cases referred to Eloise, 0:1.

Heartening for the ladies is the fact that not a single female was involved in any offense on the Chief's FBI crime report.

However, parking and traffic violations remain anonymous as to sex.

Schools Face Financial Crisis

System at Loan Limit As State Aid Lags

The serious financial condition of Northville's school system brought suggestions for drastic measures Monday night as board members surveyed the plight facing nearly every Michigan school district.

Curtailment of certain school activities and services was tossed into the discussion as economy recommendations; even half-day sessions and complete curtailment of school operation were mentioned, but these steps seem to go far beyond the seriousness of the local situation — at this date.

Specifically, Northville is suffering from delinquent state aid payments. School officials have been offered no encouragement from the state as to when funds may be expected.

To offset this anticipated lag in state aid the school district has borrowed $300,000 in anticipation of taxes and state aid since July 1. Taxes, now beginning to trickle-in, promise relief but some of these funds must be earmarked for repayment of borrowed dollars.

At least $200,000 of the borrowed funds have been used to meet the $50,000 per month expense of running Northville's school system.

Superintendent of Schools Russell Amerman, who terms the predicament "serious but not critical," says the critical point is only two months away.

"If we do not receive our state aid funds by March, I don't know what we'll do," Amerman stated.

Of its general fund budget the school system receives about half — or $370,000 — from local tax revenues. Approximately $340,740 comes from state aid and tuition. To date Northville has received $90,922.50 from the state. In addition to state aid funds, which are based on gross payment of $190 per pupil, the state is delinquent in transportation monies.

Cutting expenses was pictured as an almost impossible task by Board President Nelson Schrader. He points out that 83 percent of the budget goes for salaries.

"Teachers work on contracts, so we can't cut expenses there — and, besides, most people believe that teachers are underpaid already," Schrader said.

The board president was inclined to take calmer view of the situation. "We're running the school system the way the majority of the people want it to be run. To curtail band, athletics, bus service to athletic contests and other similar activities is not what the taxpayer wants or expects — and besides, such action wouldn't save enough money to alter our present situation," he concluded.

Amerman pointed out that Farmington has borrowed $1,000,000 and Plymouth $400,000. "Now we must wait and hope for the state to solve its financial problem," he added.

Northville can't borrow any more money on anticipation of state aid. And until funds borrowed in anticipation of taxes are paid back, no more can be borrowed against this source.

Druggist Stricken

M. C. Gussell, owner of Gussell Drugs, is recovering at home following a sudden illness which hospitalized him for three days.

The attack was attributed to overwork and indigestion. Gussell is expected to recuperate at home for several weeks.

WINTER BEAUTY — Week end snows brought picturesque scenes like this to Cass Benton park. The fresh snow also brought out hundreds of winter sports' fans with skis, sleds, toboggans and skates.

All-Night Parking Ban OKed

Signs prohibiting parking between the hours of 3 a.m. and 5:30 a.m. will go up on streets in the city proper district January 19.

The night parking ban — passed by the council to allow proper cleaning of streets — will receive final approval at the next regular council meeting.

The streets where all-night parking will be banned are: Main from Linden to Park Place; Hutton from Main to Dunlap; Dunlap from Hutton to Center; Center from Dunlap to Cady and on South Wing from Main to Cady on the west side of the street and 200 feet south from Main on the east side of Wing.

The city manager and engineer told councilmen Monday night that sewage facilities for the 91-home subdivision proposed by Gerald Taft on 32 acres on Taft road directly west of Northville Heights subdivision would cost an estimated $80,800. This would provide a new sewer line from the area down Taft to Eight Mile and Randolph to Wing and then to Fairbrook and Center to the present interceptor sewer at Hines drive.

Councilmen asked for this report after Taft revealed his plans two weeks ago. He appeared before the planning commission Tuesday night and indicated he would present a full plat of the subdivision for commission approval in two weeks.

Councilmen learned that beginning April 1 the county will boost its sewer rates from 5 cents to 11½ cents per thousand gallons of water. It is unlikely that the city will pass along this full increase to the public, which currently pays 10 cents per thousand gallons to the city under present water rates. Presently, five cents is retained by the city for maintenance of sewer lines. In addition to the sewer rate boost, the county will also make a $50 tap charge to new sewer users beginning April 1.

In other business the council discussed construction of sidewalks along High and East streets for student access to the new high school. The matter was tabled for further discussion.

A check for $132.36 was returned to Detroit Edison company for its personal property taxes which were lowered by that amount in an appeal before the Michigan State Tax Commission. The council also discussed the future use of a water line extending from a spring near Beck and Nine Mile roads into the city. The line, tapped-in by several farmers over whose land the line runs, is no longer used by the city. State health authorities have urged its abandonment. What to do with the water flow is a problem that Mayor Malcolm Allen turned over to a committee of Councilman Earl Reed, the city manager, attorney and public works superintendent.

Because of confusion with Novi road, the council discussed the possibility of changing the name of Novi street. It was decided to contact residents of the street for their opinion.

The council set Thursday, January 15 as the night to allow a hearing for two public works employees scheduled to be retired January 16. The employees have entered a protest.

The council decided to take no action on resolutions from Lincoln Park urging Sunday closing for most businesses and a proposal to seek advice from municipalities before acting on proposed new tax law revisions.

Councilman Reed suggested a letter to the state department of public instruction urging standardized school building plans for all communities to help reduce building and architectural costs in money-pinched school districts. The council postponed action on this.

GATHER 'ROUND the Christmas tree, the familiar holiday invitation, is an almost inescapable situation in the George Merwin home, where the huge, beautiful yule tree spans a large portion of the living room. Mrs. Merwin sits with "Nipper" joined (left to right) by Mimi, Vicki, Mr. Merwin and Jacqueline in front with her favorite stuffed lion "Simba".

Newcomers to Novi are Mr. and Mrs. George Merwin and daughters, Jacqueline Lee, seven months; Mimi Laurette, three, and Vicki Lyn, 13.

The Merwins, former Livonia residents, moved into their Brookland Farms home early this September.

Mr. Merwin works in the Dearborn Car Promotion and Training offices of the Ford Motor company and is a candidate for trustee in the coming Novi elections. He is vice president of the Novi Republican club.

Active in girl scouting, Mrs. Merwin was recently appointed second town chairman and neighborhood chairman coordinator and trainer in Livonia.

Vicki is a Northville troop scout. As an avocation, Mr. Merwin does free lance commercial art painting and also has an interest in photography. He is a member of the Scarab Art club.

Although they have never lived in the Northville-Nowi area before, Mrs. Merwin was a frequent visitor here as a girl, when her parents were on the horse show committee at Northville-Downs.

During the time her mother was marshal at the track she occasionally substituted for her leading the pre-race parade on horseback.

The Merwins say they like small town living, and especially enjoy the rolling countryside hereabouts.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Gaab, Jr. left on New Year's day for Big Rapids where they both will attend Ferris Institute. Mrs. Gaab is the former Nancy Lawrence.

What Is The Largest "Farm Group" In Michigan?

112,000 Farm Families That Regularly Save Trading Stamps Are The Biggest "Farm Group" In Michigan.

America's farm families are traditionally thrifty. The same pattern of thrift is found in Michigan. It is only natural, therefore, that the response of Michigan farm families to one of the oldest forms of thrift—the trading stamp—is so noticeable.

Today over 112,000 farm families save them. You might almost say that these savers constitute the largest single farm group in the state.

During 1957 alone, thousands of dollars worth of trading stamp merchandise went into farm households in the state, and every 2 seconds a farm family is redeeming trading stamps. There is still another side—direct income for farmers. During 1957 the stamp industry purchased from Michigan farmers $975,000 worth of primary materials that go into the manufacture of merchandise for stamp redemption.

No one can contemplate these facts and fail to realize that both personally and economically the trading stamp industry is a meaningful and welcome force in the life of our state.

1100 West Ann Arbor Trail
Plymouth, Michigan
How prayer and watchfulness brings freshness and newness into human experience will be a topic presented at Christian Science services Sunday.
"Sacrament" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon. Passages to be read from the Bible include the following: "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me."
From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (4:17-22): "Simply asking that we may love God will never make us love Him; but the longing to be better and holier, expressed in daily watchfulness and in striving to assimilate more of the divine character, will mould and fashion us anew, until we awake in His likeness."
The Golden Text is from Hebrews (13:16): "To do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased."

LAY CORNERSTONE NEW YEAR'S EVE

Members of Walled Lake Methodist parish celebrated New Year's Eve, the last day of the church's 1958 Centennial year, with a cornerstone laying ceremony for a new church, expected to be completed by early spring.
The audience-participation program was led by the youth fellowship.
A short service preceding the cornerstone laying was led by Wayne Parnall.
The congregation walked from the present church to the building site singing "How Firm the Foundation."
Pastor Rev. John Mulder, and churchmen Robert Philp, Elmer Conrad and Floyd Chownen recited statements during the ceremony which were followed in the litany response by others present, "We lay this cornerstone."
Cameron Rose read a list of articles contained in the cornerstone for posterity.
Masons were Ruben Cissus and William Hurtubise.
Some 100 church members attended in spite of the inclement weather.

LIVONIA CHURCH SETS GROUND-BREAKING DATE

Ground breaking ceremonies will be conducted at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, January 11, starting construction of the first unit of a Livonia branch of the Ward Memorial Presbyterian Church of Detroit.
The ceremonies will be held on the 8-acre building site on the southeast corner of the intersection of Farmington and Six Mile roads in Livonia.
Greetings will be extended by Dr. Harold Fredsell, superintendent of the church extension board of the Presbytery of Detroit of the United Presbyterian church of the United States of America.
Dr. Fredsell was former pastor of the Northville Presbyterian church.
Other speakers will include William Brashear, mayor of the city of Livonia and Rev. Reinhardt Niemann, pastor of the Newburg Methodist church and president of the Livonia Ministers' association.
The first unit will consist of a chapel with a seating capacity of 315 people, social hall, kitchen, heating plant and a large "off the street" paved parking area.
The cost, excluding land and interior furnishings, will be $232,000. Approximately one year will be required for construction.
The contemporary design of the chapel's exterior will complement the general trend of the housing developments in the surrounding areas.
The congregation of the branch church has, for the past two years been holding 9 o'clock Sunday morning worship services in the Lincoln school on Ashurst avenue, two blocks north of Five Mile road. This will continue to be the meeting place until completion of the new chapel.
The main sanctuary, which is to be added later, will complete an arrangement as planned by the architect to retain and enhance the natural contour of the building site and to utilize many of the existing native trees in the landscaping.
The church will be fittingly known as the "Garden Church".

The Rev. Peter Nieuwkoop, Pastor
First Baptist Church, Northville
"OPEN LETTER TO GOD"
Recently there appeared in the Western Voice the following letter addressed to God—
"Dear God:
"I'm certainly sorry that You made Sunday where You did! You see, it's like this, our whole family could attend more regularly if You day came at a more convenient time. You've chosen a day that comes at the end of a hard week, and we're all tired out. Not only that, but it's the day following Saturday night.
"Saturday night, You know, is the one time we feel we should enjoy ourselves, so, we go to the movies or have the neighbors in for a card party and often it's after midnight when we get to bed. You can realize now it's almost impossible to get the family up on Sunday morning. You have chosen the very day that we want to sleep later, and it takes enough effort to get the children off to Sunday School especially when they have to go so early. Then there are the dishes to wash and we almost always have a few things to rinse out.
"I mean no disrespect, Lord, but You must remember that You picked the wrong day on which we have our biggest dinner. And top of it all, the Church has fixed the time of worship at the very time we must be home cooking the ham.
"Then too, have You ever thought of John? He's cooped up in his office all the week and Sunday morning is the only time he has to tinker with his car, mow the lawn. When he gets into his old clothes and his hands are all greasy, he really seems to enjoy himself, and I don't have the heart to ask him to dress and go to church.
"I'm telling you Lord, because I really want You to know our viewpoint. It's really not our fault that we're not able to get to Church oftener than Easter and Christmas. We'd like to go and we need to go, but there are so many things to see and so much to do on week ends that the Church gets crowded out. You see, You made a mistake in choosing the wrong day. It's really the only day we have to ourselves."
Hopefully yours,
"I. M. BUSY"

Library Plans Spurred By Book Donation, Letter

A "rental bill" and a book donation have spurred efforts to establish a library in Novi.

The village council agreed Monday to study the library situation after receiving a letter from Wayne county asking that something be done about sharing the operating expenses of the Northville library.

Meanwhile, citizen Herbert Koester, a library booster, has urged that anyone willing to donate books to the village contact him or the village clerk.

More than 1,000 books "of all kinds" were donated to the village this week by St. John's Provincial Seminary.

Koester, a seminary employee, Councilman Philip Anderson, Emil Arbour and his son Ralph picked the books up Tuesday.

According to the seminary librarian, Fr. Thomas Doyle, the old books are being replaced with new and different volumes. The old books originally were to go to Saginaw, but Koester asked Fr. Doyle if they might be donated to Novi.

More seminary books may be donated to the village later. Koester, a seminary employee, Councilman Philip Anderson, Emil Arbour and his son Ralph picked the books up Tuesday.

Three Area Youths Admit Shanty Thefts

Three 16-year-old boys were turned over to Oakland county authorities last week after they admitted to Novi police that they damaged and stole equipment from eight fishing shanties on Walled Lake.

The youths — two from the Walled Lake area in Novi village and the other visiting here from Detroit — are in the custody of the Youth Protective division of the Oakland juvenile court.

According to Police Chief Lee BeGole, the boys admitted using a stolen ice spud to force their way into the shanties. Some shanties were ripped apart or overturned, he said.

Reports of damage and theft are expected to continue until all owners have inspected their property.

Much of the equipment reported stolen has been recovered. Local police hope to recover most of it before they complete their search.

The boys reportedly denied stealing equipment or damaging shanties until police discovered some of the stolen equipment behind one of the youth's home.

Transfer Managers At Novi Bank Office

A managerial transfer involving executives of the Novi office of the National Bank of Detroit was announced this week.

George N. Kenyon, 39, has replaced H. George Burrows as assistant manager in charge of the Novi office, and Burrows, manager at Novi since 1956, has been transferred to the Farmington office.

Robert J. Kenyon, brother of the new Novi assistant, has been transferred from Novi where he was in charge of customer relations to the Plymouth-Deering office in Livonia.

He was replaced here by Peter Kelly who was with the Plymouth-Deering office in the same position.

The new assistant manager at Novi, who lives at Plymouth, came here from the Livonia office of NBD. He was with the First National Bank of Plymouth when it merged with NBD in 1952.

Burrows came to Novi in 1956 when NBD established its temporary office.

The temporary bank was built in a record 46 hours as NBD moved fast to beat another bank to the choice Novi location. Federal banking authorities generally allow only one bank in the area.

National Bank's new office on Grand River just east of Novi road, was opened for business in November 1957.

The temporary office building was turned over to Novi residents by NBD as "the nucleus for a Novi community library".

Work on Novi Road To Start in 1959-60

Council Approves Payment of Bills For 3-Month Period

Councilmen Monday night authorized payment of more than $12,000 in outstanding village bills.

Payment for other services and goods received by the village during the past three months were postponed until formal billing is received.

Of the more than $12,000 in bills, $3,540 was for payment of the village road grader, $1,014 for councilmen's salaries (the president receives $12.50 per meeting, the councilmen, $10 per meeting), and $367 to Novi firemen.

The council also formally adopted zoning ordinances and codes of the township, which have been used by the village since incorporation, by the establishment of a record book called "Interim Legislation".

Under the charter, the zoning ordinance and building code of the township were continued by the village — and are to be administered by the village for one year after incorporation.

However, the council may in the meantime legally adopt other zoning and building regulations and ordinances.

Village Attorney Howard Bond was requested by the council to draw up an agreement with Gus McCreedy for operation of a dump on his property off Nine Mile road west of Beck road.

Under preliminary plans worked out by the council, the proposed site would be available for free village dumping at a token fee of $1. McCreedy would operate the dump under village rules and would use it as part of his rubbish collection business.

McCreedy told the council earlier that the site is situated far away from roads and is hidden from view by wooded areas. Rubbish in the proposed dump would be covered over with dirt.

Councilmen decided to drop plans for a dump on the Leo Russell dirt farm at 42201 Twelve Mile road because of neighborhood opposition.

Other action by the council: Tabled action on the proposed taxicab ordinance, pending study and revision by the village attorney; Agreed to consult the township about purchasing all police equipment, including cars and radio equipment;

Discussed question as to whether councilmen should continue to act as the village appeals board on grounds that it may not be fair to appealing citizens;

Approved renewal of a junk license for Grand River Auto Service, 41841 Grand River.

Board of Commerce Meets To Discuss Programs

Plans for a minstrel show, a hospital survey and a history booklet of Novi will be discussed at 8 p.m. today by the Novi board of commerce at the Rosewood restaurant.

Today's meeting was originally scheduled for December but was postponed because of the holidays.

According to Dieron Traftalian, president, the board plans to launch a hospital survey soon to determine the needs of the Novi area. A survey manager must be appointed, however, before the program can get underway, Traftalian said.

Nearly all the entertainment for the minstrel show, an event sponsored annually by the board, will be provided by local talent. The tentative date for the show has been set for March.

Board members are seeking information from numerous area sources to help establish a booklet on the history of Novi.

The next meeting is February 1.

Republican Club Laws Adopted at Monday Meet

A 10-point set of governing rules was adopted by the Novi Republican club at the organization's regular meeting Monday at the community hall. Other business was discussed. The next meeting was set for February 2.

Plans for "rebuilding Novi road between Northville and US-16 have not been abandoned, Robert O. Felt, chairman of the Oakland county road commission, declared this week.

"Our (Oakland county's) three year road program includes the Novi road project," Felt said.

The road chairman estimated the cost of the three-mile stretch of road rebuilding at $375,000. He said work on the project will probably begin late this year or early next, with completion by the summer of 1960.

All road plans, he cautioned, hinge upon the financial condition of the county. But there is no reason to believe at this time, he added, that the project will be dropped.

Cost of rebuilding Novi road, Felt explained, will be shared by the federal government. Under an agreement with the government the county will pay only half of the cost, the government the other half, he said.

Under such an agreement, the project will cost the county only $188,000.

The county road commission announced plans for rebuilding Novi road — called "one of Oakland county's worst conditions by road authorities — more than a year ago.

At that time Paul Van Roekel, highway engineer, said two miles of roadway between Grand River and Walled Lake as well as the stretch of roadway from Northville to Novi were included in county road plans.

However, present plans include only the three-mile stretch, Felt said Monday.

"We haven't dropped the other part of our original plan," he said, "but we probably won't get to it until another two or three years."

Felt said the road will be completely torn up and its road bed will be widened. Hills will be cut down to improve sight distance, and drainage will be improved.

Rebuilt Novi road will remain a two-lane road, but its 22-foot-wide surface will be of concrete — not asphalt.

Construction of the south end of the road will tie in with construction of the proposed Eight Mile cutoff around Northville, under present plans.

(The Eight Mile cutoff will go across roadless land near the American school in Northville, connecting the east and west sections of Eight Mile. At present the Eight Mile route dips into Northville for about a mile).

Present cutoff plans also call for Novi road to be sealed off north of the C&O tracks outside Northville, and for Novi-Northville traffic to be re-routed over the cutoff and down an improved Center street into Northville.

Novi road long has been a headache to police and a menace to drivers. It is narrow, has a high center crown, and its many hills make passing hard.

Within the past two weeks, the county road commission installed a signal light at the Novi-Twelve Mile intersection and a flasher at the Novi-Nine Mile intersection.

Need for installation of the lights was based upon a traffic survey taken several months ago by the county — and upon the number of traffic accidents occurring at the crossings.

Novi road is one of the few roads within the village remaining under the control of the county. About 58 miles of roads were turned over to Novi when it was incorporated as a village.

Admits Burglaries Of Local Businesses

Two burglaries and one attempted burglary involving G. E. Miller Sales and Service, the Center Street Shell gas station and Juday's Standard Service, were solved last week with the confession of John Snyder, 31, of 607 Horton.

Snyder was apprehended in Ann Arbor building which he had entered illegally. He then admitted committing a second burglary there recently.

Checking reports of Snyder's method of operation — similar to that used here — Northville police found him responsible for the local offenses.

Snyder has been living in Northville since December 6, when he arrived from Steubenville, Ohio.

Detectives revealed that he has a long history of arrests for breaking and entering.

Ann Arbor police said this week that Snyder was arraigned in a lower court and has waived examination by circuit court.

Legislators to Speak At Dem. Meeting

The Northville Democratic club will meet next Monday, January 12 at 8 p.m. in the UAW hall, located on East Main street over the Sally Bell bakery.

Newly elected State Senator Raymond Dzendzel and State Representative Harvey J. Beadle will be guest speakers.

The meeting is open to the public. Charter memberships to the club will be available through January.

Northville Sailor Alerted For Cuban Evacuations

Standing by to aid in the evacuation of American citizens from Cuba aboard the submarine tender USS Howard W. Gilmore, should the necessity arise, is Richard Roe, USN, son of Mrs. Mable McCurry of 510 Randolph.

Chief of Naval Operations Admiral Burke, ordered the ship from Key West following a request from the U.S. State Department.

The Gilmore departed from Key West last Friday and is now standing by off the coast of Havana.

Local Youth Joins Navy; Leaves for Great Lakes

Norman Tibble, son of Mrs. Maxine Dethloff, 304 Norman, enlisted in the United States Navy this week and has left for Great Lakes, Illinois where he will complete his basic training.

A graduate of Northville high school last year, Tibble worked part time at the post office before enlisting here at the Naval Recruiting station.

Responsibility Of Parents

Mr. Edgar Hoover says, "The home is the front line in the battle against delinquency. Parents must learn to face facts, live by the truth, set good examples, take time to understand their children, and above all, truly love them. The parent who really loves his child will be concerned about him, will know where he is and what he is doing. Too many are unaware of their youngsters' activities outside the home." Another wise man by the name of Solomon once wrote under Divine Inspiration, "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it." The difficulty is that parents start too late to teach their children to be obedient. Obedience is not a natural virtue in any child, it must be taught. A small shoot of a tree can easily be straightened but after a few years it is impossible to do anything with it. A parent's responsibility of rearing their children will be greatly aided if the father and mother will accompany that child to a good Church and Sunday School where they teach the Bible. Then when they become of age it will be the parents privilege to introduce them to the Saviour. Let Christ help you raise your children.

THE TRUTH ABOUT PAUL BUNYAN

In our great north woods era that wonderful Michigan hero Paul Bunyan could do anything needed around the logging camps, anything at all. That's legend.

Today the people of any Michigan community, planning and working together, can do and can achieve anything their community needs for its sound development and the greater prosperity of its citizens. That's fact.

Like Paul Bunyan when he had Babe the Blue Ox at his command and every logger in the camp behind him, the people of a community can do anything when they work together.

And that's the truth about Paul Bunyan.

Join hands with your local industrial development organization and the Michigan Economic Development Department to help your community prosper.

SPEAKING for the Record

by BILL SLIGER

For six years Rotarians and their wives have been enjoying New Year's morning breakfast at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Belasco on West Main street.

And despite weather, the early morning-after hour and a visit by the flu-bug to Mrs. Belasco, the breakfast was held as scheduled.

Only 30 braved the icy streets — which had stranded many party-goers New Year's Eve — but they were served by a volunteer crew headed by Dr. Belasco.

For the "hearty thirty" there was a huge breakfast (planned for twice as many customers) of fruit, pancakes, sausage and coffee. Mrs. E. M. Bogart, Mrs. Fred Casterline, Wellman Parsons and Judith Leavenworth helped make the event a success for the sixth year.

Merchant Roy Stone, just back from Florida, is raving about the south — but not because of the weather. "That was nice, about 80 degrees in Largo," says Roy, "but you ought to see the Christmas decorations."

From Kentucky south Stone says that nearly every town has highly elaborate decorations. The best he saw was in Atlanta where a tractor firm had Santa on one of its huge tractors with bigger-than-life-size reindeer with legs in motion running into the sky above the city streets.

Despite the icy weather — worst for a New Year's Eve that police can remember in this area — there were no reports of serious accidents. Officer Eugene King, on duty until midnight, said that the only calls received were for drivers unable to move their cars. "We couldn't move either," said King, who told callers to stay put until the streets were salted.

Best story we heard came from Fred Casterline. He reports that he only had to make one ambulance call. It was the first call of the evening, shortly before midnight, to Novi road and Eight Mile. In a valiant try to climb the hill of sheer ice, Casterline slipped back into the ditch, stepped out of the ambulance, slipped into a huge puddle of water, went home and stayed there for the evening. Fortunately, the accident was not serious.

Speaking of ambulances, we can't leave out Dempsey B. Ebert. We received this interesting bit from Elmer DeKay, local electrical contractor. Last week he complied with a request by Ebert to install an electric heater in his ambulance — so that there will be "instant heat" and sheets won't be cold when victims are slipped into the ambulance! H'mmm — no hot coffee?

Lake Michigan Crisis

MICHIGAN AND FIVE other states are fighting in court to keep Chicago from stealing the Great Lakes.

The simple statement of a complex problem distorts the issues on both sides of the courtroom, but the danger is here and immediate.

Chicago for decades has been draining water out of Lake Michigan for navigation at the rate of 1,200 cubic feet per second. That much is all right with all concerned.

But the city also is increasing its flow to 2,000 cubic feet a second for another purpose: treatment of sewage. The water then goes through a sewage canal, ultimately reaching the Mississippi river.

The result is a development impossible except in the wildest of dreams. The level of the Great Lakes is being lowered!

Attorney General Paul L. Adams has charged that the drainage into Chicago is damaging the recreational lure of Lake Michigan, lowering property values, and creating chaos.

If the drain continues, the level of the lakes will be lowered another two inches, reducing the tonnage freighters can carry into available dockage space and ports.

Adams warned that this alone will cost shippers $4,000,000 a year and raise prices of products shipped into Michigan by boat.

Not only will Lake Michigan's level be lowered, but, ultimately, a heavy impact is foreseen on the other Great Lakes which surround Michigan on three sides.

Chicago officials, visiting Lansing for a conference on the problem, said the citizens are turning to their only natural source of water to help them solve their sanitation problems.

Michigan and the other protesting states are insisting that Chicago return the water, treated and restored, to Lake Michigan.

Chicago people said this would double the costs of pipelines at a time when financing merely the taking of water for a public purpose is burdensome.

States involved in the legal fight, which is now before the United States Supreme Court, are Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

While that case awaits action, three of the states, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin, refused to allow three small Chicago suburbs to finance an $18,000,000 pipeline to the lake.

It was blocked by refusal of the states to agree to a "non-litigation" guarantee, demanded by investors before they would buy the revenue bonds.

Michigan officials contend that residents of the state have a vast investment in the values the Great Lakes offer. A high percentage of the state's economic life depends on them.

An added factor of significance is the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, which is expected to carry Michigan products to world markets and return the goods of other nations to the state.

It probably will be months or years before the case is finally decided, but the problem will smolder until then.

FOOD-BUYING housewives, with the family budget to juggle in an era of rising prices have a champion in state government.

It is the foods and standards division of the State Department of Agriculture.

The department, headed until January 1 by Miles A. Nelson, a veteran career state employee, makes certain all goods meet the Michigan standards before they are sold. Its range of operations is amazing.

It constantly checks the accuracy of the weight machines, from the penny scales patronized by pound-conscious citizens, to the giant scales that weigh coal.

The department checks to determine if packaged goods contain the same weight as advertised on the label, guards against false claims for all products and approves labels.

In Nelson's office there are samples, a bottle of beer with a claim suggesting it has more inside than others of the same size, a misbranded package of sausage, or a jar of pickles that did not measure up to Michigan standards.

Nelson has been a fighter for perfection in his department and has not hesitated to seize a shipment of potatoes or other produce that didn't measure up. He has one pat answer to complaints:

"Let's look at the law on that subject."

Chats with Parents

Preparing Baby Sitters

Baby sitters, especially the inexperienced, live a life of frustration about how to handle the numerous problems which pop up as soon as the child's parents set foot outside the door. Parents need to give a great deal of thought to the things which make the home safe for their child and the baby sitter before they leave them alone. Remember that your baby sitter must do most of the things for the child you do when at home, and has to do it without being as familiar with the house as you are.

The first thought of parents when planning an evening out is for the kind of planning with the baby sitter which will not only make her feel safe but will send parents away with the comfortable feeling that everything will be taken care of in their absence. How to lock outside doors, working the furnace controls, getting the child ready for bed and in at a good time, and the danger spots in the home which will be made safe by acquainting the sitter with them.

One family recently had an experience which points out the negligence of parents in leaving a baby sitter without acquainting her with all of the things she should know about. The family dog was asleep in the house when the parents left without thinking that the dog might awake and find a total stranger in the house. After the child had gone to bed, the dog suddenly appeared and barked boisterously at the baby sitter. The girl made her way cautiously to the door and bolted home half frightened to death. Reaching home she called the parents and announced that she was not going back to babysit an unfriendly dog. The parents had no choice but to leave the social affair and return home.

Incidents of this kind happen frequently because parents fail to take time to acquaint their baby sitter with things in the home about which she needs to know if she is to be depended upon to take proper care of the child. Happenings of this sort are clearly unnecessary and can be avoided by thoughtful parents.

The most glaring faults of parents in helping the new baby sitter are discussed in a 31-page booklet published by the Michigan Interdepartmental Staff on Children and Youth under the title "Baby Sitting". The suggestions for preparing the baby sitter for the important details of the job are extremely helpful even for parents who are old hands at using sitters. The importance of pointing out the unexpected danger spots in the home was illustrated in a recent newspaper article. The baby sitter started to the basement, which she had done many times before in the home, and was injured by a fall as a result of a step having been removed for repair. Result: the sitter was awarded damages for the parents neglect in failing to tell her of the missing step.

One of the major complaints of baby sitters is that parents do not give the child to understand that the sitter occupies the role of parent when with the child. Many parents leave to the baby sitter the responsibility of persuading the child to follow the orders left by the parents about bedtime and the like. Parents should be willing to take time to prepare the baby sitter for the same responsibilities which parents have when at home with the child. The care and protection of the child is certainly worth a little time and thought before parents trip out for an evening of the light fantastic and it will be a much happier evening when they have the secure feeling that everything will be fine at home.

Date Set for Month-Long Easter Seal Campaign

Plans are underway for the 1959 Easter Seal campaign to run this year from February 27 through March 29. According to L. C. Sullivan, chairman of the Crippled Children's committee of the Northville Rotary club which spearheads the drive in Northville, 2,500 letters carrying the Easter Seal appeal will be mailed in Northville this year.

Sullivan is assisted by a committee composed of Dr. T. G. Hegge, Charles F. Strautz and Dr. V. G. Chabut.

The Easter Seal Society of Western Wayne county relies on the distribution of Easter Seals, local Lily Parades and special events connected with this annual campaign, always geared to Easter season, for most of its support. Last year 104 adults and over 350 children in the western Wayne county area received help from the society. This includes the payment of fees for diagnostic medical examinations, the purchase or loan of special equipment, counseling, or help with social adjustment through classes, groups, summer day camp, or other recreational activities at the center. The center located in Inkster, near Michigan avenue and Middlebelt road, was built through special contributions from individuals and groups, but is maintained by income from the Easter Seal campaign.

The local Easter Seal Society is an affiliate of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc. and the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc. These groups carry on a program of research into the causes and treatment of crippling conditions, as well as public education toward the development of opportunities for the physically handicapped through special education and treatment facilities.

Thank You Mr. X

Mrs. J. R. Cunningham, 46125 Bloomcrest, just has to thank the man whose warning saved her from being hit by a car Friday morning on West Main street.

The trouble is, Mrs. Cunningham doesn't know who the man was.

"He kept warning me — 'watch the car, lady' — but I was looking the wrong way," she related. "It was slippery and I guess he didn't want to upset me by yelling. He continued his warning quietly, but firmly."

Finally, Mrs. Cunningham saw the oncoming car and hustled to safety. By that time the man had driven away — unthanked but appreciated.

Weighty Problem

Mrs. Donna Offord, 309 Debra Lane, needs help.

Mrs. Offord is a newcomer to Northville. She moved here from Redford last month where she was a member in good standing of the TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly). She was down to a trim 124 — but now, since attending her last meeting in November — she admits to 148 pounds.

"I lack willpower and so do many other women. But together we can lick this problem," Mrs. Offord declared. She's certain a TOPS club in Northville would be a pound-shattering success and hopes every (pleasingly) plump will contact her at FI-9-3199 and join up.

Congress Calls Page Boy Jim Wharton

OFF TO WASHINGTON — Page Boy Jim Wharton is back in Washington, D.C. this week awaiting the opening of the 86th Congress. The 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wharton of 24233 Coral Lane will be serving his second term as page in the House of Representatives. He is shown above checking a document that is the foundation upon which our government was built — the Bill of Rights.

Atomic Power Plant Expert To Speak at Rotary Meeting

Progress at the atomic power plant under construction at Monroe will be discussed January 13 by Joseph T. Kelly, an electrical engineer, at the luncheon-meeting of the Rotary club at the First Presbyterian church.

The electrical engineer is an employee of Atomic Power Development Associates, Inc., Detroit.

APDA is a non-profit corporation formed by 43 private companies pooling money and technical know-how to do the research and design work for the Enrico Fermi nuclear power plant on the shore of Lake Erie, about 30 miles south of Detroit.

The APDA 'breeder' reactor design actually produces more atomic fuel than it consumes to make power.

It includes a blanket of normally 'inert' material around the core that is converted to fuel by the nuclear radiations obtained in making atomic power. These radiations are partially 'soaked up' by the blanket in the process of creating fuel.

Kelly joined the APDA staff in 1955 and is currently specializing in electrical power and control system design and engineering.

He received a BS degree in electrical engineering from Washington university in 1947 and a MS in electrical engineering from the University of Pennsylvania in 1954. He is a registered professional engineer in the states of Michigan, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Like lawmakers from all over our nation, Jim Wharton, 15-year-old Northville high school junior, is taking up residence in Washington, D.C. this week preparing for the opening of the 86th Congress.

While Jim won't be making any speeches from the floor of the house of representatives, he'll see to it that only qualified representatives do — at least Republicans.

Jim is a page boy assigned to the GOP side of the house of representatives as an attendant at the door. This marks his second term in Congress and he'll probably serve through his senior year in 1960 before "retiring".

Being a page boy calls for a busy schedule. Jim reported this week. Schooling continues, only now its from 6 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. daily with page boy duty following from noon until the session ends, between 3 p.m. and 7 p.m., or later.

Like all the 80 pages in the House, Senate and Supreme Court, Jim is "on his own". He's paid $250 a month. This must buy his food, clothes and shelter as well

Walled Lake Youngster Wins Essay Contest Prize

A Walled Lake youngster has been named a top winner in the first annual Detroit Pistons essay contest.

Danny Burt, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Burt, 1933 South Commerce, was one of two winners to receive a portable TV set — top contest prize.

Thousands of Michigan boys and girls entered the contest which closed December 20. It was open to all youngsters, 15 and under.

All entrants will be guests of the Pistons at the February 8 matinee game with the Minneapolis Lakers and will receive autographed team pictures and booster club memberships.

Entrants had to complete, in 50 words or less, the statement: "I like the Detroit Pistons because . . ."

BIRTH

Albert and Ruth Wilson of Plymouth announce the birth of twins December 28 at Garden City Osteopathic hospital. James Frederick weighed three pounds, eight ounces, and Jeanne Louise weighed three pounds, 13 ounces at birth. The Wilsons, former residents of Northville, have two other children, Sally, and Tom. Grandfather is Floyd Leavenworth.

Review Autobiography Of Ivy Baker Priest

The Tuesday Book club met at the home of Mrs. T. G. Hegge. Mrs. Philip Brown reviewed "Green Grows Ivy", an autobiography by Ivy Baker Priest, who became treasurer of the United States.

as provide the "extras any teenager might want."

He must dress right — blue suit, black shoes, black tie, blue or black socks, white shirt — be alert, polite, and know everyone of the legislators in the House.

On the Republican side Jim must know the members by name and face. He must be able to recognize all Democrats but it is not necessary that he remembers their name.

Appointment to the job of page boy comes from the party in power in the House and Senate. Naturally, for some time the Democrats have been handing out the patronage positions. Jim, whose family moved to their 24233 Coral Lane residence, in Novi from St. Louis, Missouri, received his appointment from an Illinois congressman.

Classes are held in the Library of Congress for all the pages, but they must seek out their own living quarters.

Jim — a Democrat — says working with the Republicans hasn't changed his political convictions, but admits that there are some "pretty fine Republican representatives". As a matter of fact, Jim thinks all congressmen are definitely high-caliber-type gentlemen and says he can instinctively pick out a legislator even though he doesn't know who he is.

One distinction has already come Jim's way as a page. He's the only boy ever to take a turkey to the floor of the house. He had to deliver it to a representative as a birthday present!

Jim will return after the current session adjourns in late summer. He'll return to Northville high school for his senior year in September and then in January, 1960, it will be back to Washington for his final year and graduation. He hasn't decided upon a career yet, but politics is a possibility.

VFW to Tell Vet Benefits

Veterans of World War I and II and the Korean war are urged to attend an "open house" Wednesday, January 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the VFW hall for the purpose of obtaining latest information on veterans' benefits.

Commander Al Smith, Jr. reports that specialists will explain insurance, pension, tax, death, eligibility for children to VFW Children's home and many other benefits available to veterans.

As an example, he points out that for $5.00 a year veterans can receive an exceptional insurance policy for children in the event of the death of the veteran-parent.

A regional service officer and two assistants along with the post department commander will answer questions.

A lunch will be served following the program.

Mrs. Lottie Stockman of South Main street returned home recently after visiting in Pontiac, Byron, Detroit and Lake Orion during the holidays. In Pontiac Mrs. Stockman stayed with her brother, Harvey White.
