Lights Guide Mothers' March Tonight

An army of dedicated volunteers will take to the streets in Northville neighborhoods tonight from 7:00 to 8:00.

The Mothers' March, biggest fund-raising event of the March of Dimes campaign, will climax the 1959 drive.

Householders are urged to flood the wintry streets with light to encourage and welcome their neighbors and to give generously to the exciting new program of the March of Dimes.

The women, headed by Mrs. Albert Leedham, will seek money for these reasons:

To continue the fight on polio with aid to all polio patients and research for new ways to fight the disease; the rheumatic diseases, including arthritis, the principal causes of disability in the U.S., affecting more than 11 million persons; Children up to 18 years suffering because of crippling birth defects will be given the same fine care polio victims have received.

The Mothers' March was largely responsible for the development of the miracle of the Salk vaccine.

"Toward Greater Victories" is the slogan for the Mothers' March this year.

Last year the Mothers' March netted $1000 and the year before some $1500 was collected.

Assisting Mrs. Leedham will be these 10 district captains: Mrs. Edward Angove, Mrs. Paul Beard, Mrs. Brian Conklin, Mrs. E. G. Elliott, Mrs. Marshall Huff, Mrs. Sidney Junod, Mrs. Gordon McKinney, Mrs. Frank Paul, Mrs. Donald Robinson and Mrs. William St. Lawrence.

You can join in the effort by the flick of a switch — your porchlight tonight!

THAT'S YOUR ROUTE — Mrs. Albert Leedham (left), chairman of tonight's (Thursday) Mothers' March, shows Mrs. Gordon McKinney and Mrs. Sidney Junod, area captains, where they will be collecting funds for the March of Dimes campaign. The band of women will begin their march at 7 p.m.

JUST A REMINDER — Officer Eugene King posted the first signs last week to remind motorists that it's illegal to park their cars all night long on business district streets. The newly adopted ordinance prohibits parking between 3 a.m. and 5:30 a.m. to allow public works crews to clean the streets. And heavy snows have given the crews plenty of practice, lately.

Municipal League Elects Mayor Allen Secretary

Mayor A. Malcolm Allen was elected a regional officer of the Michigan Municipal League's Region III at the annual meeting of the group in Highland Park last Thursday.

Northville's mayor was named secretary for the 1959-60 term of the statewide organization of cities and villages.

Other regional officers elected were Grosse Pointe Park Councilman Charles Ives, chairman, and Trenton Mayor Robert Teifer, vice chairman.

Mayor Allen also participated in a panel discussion entitled "Stretching Your Tax Dollar". He described Northville's Gerald Avenue sanitary fill plan as three-fold to provide a genuine saving and investment in the future for local taxpayers.

Ice-Wire Combination Lights Up the Sky

Last week's ice storm brought "July in January" to Northville residents around Eight Mile road.

Electric wires, weighed down by their burden of ice, snapped and dangled like dollar-size 4th of July sparklers, in blue-green and orange brilliance until the current could be shut off.

The Northville fire department guarded traffic from the wire. No one was injured.

In the panel moderated by Wyandotte Councilman Richard Kelly, Mayor Allen revealed the city's long range plan of ridding the community of an undesirable area, and at the same time acquiring a much-needed dumping facility.

He also pointed out that the land would—in approximately 15 years—become adequately filled to provide a possible site for industry. The area will also be used to house and maintain public works equipment.

Participating on the panel besides Mayor Allen were: Lawrence Bailey, city controller for Lincoln Park; Mrs. Elsie Friedrich, Councilwoman for Grosse Pointe Woods; Albert Glassford, city manager for Plymouth, and Charles Meyer, assistant secretary and chief examiner, Detroit Civil Service Commission.

In other business League opposition to the Citizens' Advisory commission tax revision plan was discussed by John H. Huss, League director, before the 80 municipal officials from throughout Wayne county.

The League board of trustees opposes reduction in the local property tax base and loss of intangibles tax revenues, and believes that consideration should have been given to the need for additional tax sources by cities and villages.

Attending the session with Mayor Allen were Councilman Ed Welch and City Manager John Robertson.

City, Downs Finally Closing Land Sale

The complex sale of 2.1 acres of River street property by the city to Northville Downs is finally nearing completion.

Purchase of the land, which is owned by the county, was proposed nearly two years ago. In a drive sparked by the late Mayor Claude Ely the city blocked efforts of the Downs to buy the land directly from the county.

Instead, negotiations were entered into by the city and Downs setting up restrictions in the deed to protect the interests of residents of the area.

Under the deed provisions the land may be used for parking and ingress and egress from the track. It must be fenced and protected by a greenbelt.

The city completed negotiations with the county to purchase the land for $15,000 last week after the proposal was passed by the Wayne county board of supervisors.

When the deed is obtained by the city, the land will be sold to the Downs for $15,000. The land figures in the Downs' plans for improvement of track facilities.

High School Work Hums With Completion Near

The orchestra of "last-minute" tradesmen — carpenters, painters, electricians, and moving men — have begun tuning up for a fast-paced finale at the new Northville high school.

Working together hand-in-glove for the next month or so, to hang doors, install glass, lay tile, and install furniture and classroom equipment, they will round up the major jobs remaining before opening day.

Although avoiding definite commitment, representatives of Walter Couser contractors estimated completion around March 1, in a recent progress report to the school board.

The building contract also set the March 1 deadline but builders had aimed for an earlier date, hoping to coincide with the beginning of the spring semester.

Due to slowdowns of materials and an unexpected delay in water supply late last year, however, their previous gains were checked.

Superintendent Russell Amerman reported this week that he expects the move to new quarters to take place sometime early in March.

Work will then begin on rehabilitation of the old high school into a junior high.

Seventh graders will remain on the Main street campus. Eighth grade students — next September's ninth graders — will go along with grades 9-12 when the old building is vacated.

The high school will in the future accommodate only grades 9-12. Biggest job remaining on the new building is the laying of the gymnasium floor and installation of athletic equipment.

Some of the new furniture and equipment has begun arriving, Amerman said, and is being stored at the new building.

As each building unit is completed, furniture and equipment will be moved into it.

Daisy President Edward C. Hough Dies in Plymouth

Edward C. Hough

One of the area's best known industrialists and benefactors died last Saturday afternoon at his 1411 West Ann Arbor trail residence in Plymouth.

Private funeral services for Edward C. Hough, 86, president of Daisy Manufacturing company, were conducted at his home at 2 p.m. Tuesday with the Reverend M. I. Johnson of Plymouth's First Methodist church officiating.

Entombment was in a family crypt at Riverside cemetery.

Hough began his career with Daisy as treasurer in 1901. He became vice president in 1915 and was named president in 1956 following the death of Charles Bennett.

Since Daisy's move to Rogers, Arkansas last year, Hough maintained his office at the old Plymouth plant. He cast the lone dissenting vote when the firm's board of directors decided to move its operation to Arkansas.

Through the Mary Hough Kimball and Edward C. Hough Foundation, named for his sister and himself, Hough contributed $127,000 to the new Dunning-Hough library in Plymouth. Many other charitable contributions by Hough were well-known, especially through the Plymouth Rotary club of which he was a charter member.

Hough was born March 17, 1872 in Canton township. He is survived by his son, Cass Hough, executive vice president and general manager of Daisy Manufacturing company; two daughters, Mrs. Athalie Archibald of Byron, Connecticut, and Mrs. Cora Jennings of Savannah, Georgia; one sister, Mrs. Margaret Olmstead of Plymouth; and seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Public Meeting Next in 'Bond Sell' Drive

The city council's campaign to "sell" its proposed $300,000 water improvement program rolled merrily on its way this week with the climax just days away.

With more than a dozen presentations made already and four more scheduled a "dress rehearsal" before the February 16 vote is next in line.

Mayor A. Malcolm Allen said that a panel-type discussion would be held in the community building on a yet undetermined evening between February 5 and 12.

"I expect the entire council as well as all the candidates for mayor and council along with the city manager, attorney and engineer to participate in the panel," the mayor said. He suggested that the entire water improvement program would be explained and the general public could then ask questions of anyone on the panel. Newly developed maps of the city's system showing the present set-up and suggested changes will be available for the public to study.

Yesterday members of the "sales committee" explained the program to the Exchange and Optimist clubs. More programs are scheduled before the VFW, Garden club, Presbyterian Men's club and OLV Mothers' club.

Under the proposed bond issue the city plans to make the following improvements to the water system: 1. Completion of Novi road well site including pump house and pump; 2. Install chlorinating equipment to improve taste and odor of water; 3. Install additional valves to allow better service of system in case of water main breaks; 4. Install 15 new fire hydrants for proper fire protection; 5. Erect a 400,000 gallon storage tank to provide adequate storage facilities and proper pressure; 6. Install additional water lines.

The program will include "looping" of the city's water lines to avoid "deadends" and provide proper circulation. This is expected to improve the color, taste and odor of the water by allowing iron-detritant additives as well as the chlorine to better perform.

Many undersized lines will also be replaced by new and larger sizes. Estimated cost of the entire program is $298,483.

The council decided to seek voter support of the improvement program after it was learned that a straight revenue bond would provide only $190,000 and would carry an estimated five percent interest rate.

Under the voter-approved revenue bond the city can borrow $300,000 at an estimated four percent rate of interest.

In both the straight revenue and revenue-general obligation (voter approved) type bond the program will be supported by revenues paid by water users over a 27-year period. No additional taxes will be levied to support the improvement program.

Passage of the bond issue requires 60 percent approval by property owners.

Valves Helped Here

Take it from Plymouth City Manager Al Glassford — "you can't speak too highly for a good water system."

Glassford pointed this out this week after water poured through a break in a major 12-inch water main at the rate of about 2,000 gallons a minute.

The break set off an automatic alarm at 3:20 a.m. Monday morning. Before the break was discovered and brought under control by means of shut-off valves the city's two storage tanks — totaling 404,000 gallons had been drained. A two-million gallon reservoir supply was not brought into use because pumps turned off when the huge break dropped the water pressure.

The break took place in a new main where proper valve arrangement allowed the public works crews to quickly isolate the break and by 6:30 a.m. have pressure back up to normal operating in the entire city except one-half block between the two shut-off valves.

Our crews worked until 10 p.m. Monday night repairing the break," said Glassford. "Very few residents realized that water was shut off at all, but if the break had occurred in an old part of our system where valves aren't available, it could have been serious," he added.

City Considers Penalty Refund To Taxpayers

There's better than an even chance that the city council will return some money to several taxpayers this Monday night.

And oddly enough, the peculiar situation revolves around tax collections that aren't even the city's — but are being paid to the city treasurer for the school and county.

1958 Fire Losses Total $85,000 In Northville Area

Although factory fires resulting in thousands of dollars' damage hiked fire losses for both of the past two years, annual figures on damages dropped in 1958.

The Haller company fire, largest in 1958, with some $50,000 losses, was still peanuts compared with the million-dollar Allied Products blaze the previous year.

Last year the Northville fire department answered 101 fire calls and handled two drowning cases.

Total losses amounted to $85,260, secretary for the department, Arthur Mitchell reported.

Northville also participated in three mutual aid calls with Novi and Plymouth townships, all involving barn fires.

Serious fires in homes were caused most frequently by faulty wiring and furnace troubles, Mitchell said. Only two bad fires occurred in homes during 1958, he added.

Nearly half the calls—about 49—were for small grass fires.

The four percent penalty on school and county taxes which took effect January 20 is the cause of the confusion. In past years — although the penalty warning is imprinted upon the tax notices — local tax collecting bodies have frequently waived the penalty.

This year the city received a legal opinion that, although the penalty money stays with the local tax collecting agency and is not passed on to the school or county, it must be collected.

Numerous taxpayers, presumably caught unaware at the new turn of events, were irate and have balked at paying the extra four percent.

Indications are that the council will act Monday night to return penalties collected thus far and waive the four percent. It's generally conceded, however, that next year the taxpayers will be given adequate warning that the letter of the law will be followed.

After February 28 the county takes over collections and the four percent penalty is boosted by an additional 1½ percent monthly.

Locally, the problem became glaring when the township decided not to impose the penalty.

In surrounding areas Plymouth township also waives the penalty, but the city of Plymouth is now collecting the penalty after giving taxpayers an additional week — until January 26. Farmington accepted payments without penalty for one day beyond the deadline.

Edward M. Cassel, a Northville township resident who is also legal advisor to the county treasurer, said that while the county has no interest in the penalty collected by the local treasurers, it is the duty of the treasurer to collect the penalty. He pointed out that their duties are defined by state law and that as bonded officials they are responsible. He admitted, however, that governing boards and councils "are known" to take official action to waive the penalty rule.

To date the city has collected $290,000 of its total $326,000 roll. Checks totaling $220,000 have been passed on to the financially-pressed school district.

HOW'S THIS? — Dr. Walter Belasco, chairman of the Northville Rotary club's February 14 Valentine Dance, finds a spot for his poster that blends with the decor in Johnson's Jewelry and Gift Shop. Mrs. Carl Johnson, a Rotary Ann, looks on approvingly. The dance will feature the music of Jimmie Clark's orchestra with vocals by Jan Wynn.

about WOMEN

2—Thursday, January 29, 1959—THE NORTHVILLE RECORD

NOTED ANTHROPOLOGIST Dr. Leslie White spoke before an interested audience of women Monday night at a meeting of the Northville Mothers' club, held in the home of Mrs. Wayne Wilcox. Dr. White, professor at the University of Michigan discussed several periods in the development of human civilization, pointing out the important sparks to social advancement provided by language and the harnessing of resources for energy. Bringing his outline up to the present, Dr. White added that man has now arrived at a point in technological knowledge where he has become capable of destroying himself. Club women pictured in the background are (left to right): Mrs. Robert Yoder, who introduced the speaker; Mrs. Roger Harrison and Mrs. Paul Terry.

Local Red Cross Needs Volunteers

Local Red Cross workers Mrs. Clifford Winter, blood bank chairman, Mrs. A. C. Carlson, branch chairman, and Mrs. Claude Ely, attended an emergency meeting of the Northwest Red Cross office in Livonia Monday, where they were instructed in a preparation of blood bottles.

A three months emergency program is necessary, they were told. Help will be needed from present members and new volunteers, they reported.

Each branch in the northwest area has been asked to have four volunteers working three hours one day each week in preparation of blood bottles.

Volunteers are also needed in all phases of the Red Cross program. Those interested can call FI-9-2361 or FI-9-1330.

OES "Friends' Night" Scheduled for Tomorrow

Orient Chapter No. 77 will have a special meeting tomorrow (Friday) at 7:45 p.m.

This being "Friends Night" guests from several surrounding chapters are expected to attend.

An officers' practice will also be held tonight at 7:30.

Mrs. John Burkman of East Eight Mile road invited Mrs. Harold Bloom, Mrs. J. W. Cheatham and Mrs. Nelson Schrader, Jr. to the DAR bridge benefit Tuesday, held at the home of Mrs. Walter Hammond in Plymouth.

United at Our Lady of Victory

At a nuptial high mass in Our Lady of Victory church January 24, Judith Lynn Junod was united in marriage to Walter Eugene Palmer. The Rev. John Wittstock officiated.

Wedding music was provided by Our Lady of Victory Sisters. Judith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Willis of Dunlap street.

Walter made his home with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Palmer of Thayer boulevard since the death of his parents.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Skinner peau, with princess line skirt and empire waist. Its bodice of chantilly lace featured a portrait neckline and extended into short lace sleeves.

Her fingertip illusion veil was caught by a pearl tiara crown. She carried a bouquet of white calla lilies.

Maid of honor Giannine Bertoni of Northville wore a green velvet princess style dress and matching accessories. She carried a bouquet of green fuji mums and yellow roses.

The bridesmaids, in red velvet princess line dresses and matching accessories, were Vicki Junod, sister of the bride; Suzanne Dewsbury of Northville, Carole Meriam of Elsie, Michigan and Sherrill Louton, a cousin of the bride, of Northville. They all carried bouquets of pink fuji chrysanthemums.

Lisa Willis, another sister of the bride was flower girl. She wore a white organdy frock and carried a nosegay of red rosebuds.

Ronald Palmer, nephew of the groom, served as ring bearer. Walter chose James Weston of Northville for his best man.

Ushers were Terry Junod and John Willis, brothers of the bride; Paul Palmer, brother of the groom; David Waterloo of Rayson street and David Biery of Holland, Michigan.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Willis wore a bronze lace dress with a satin underskirt, and luggage tan accessories. She pinned on a corsage of yellow roses.

Mrs. Palmer, the groom's sister-in-law, selected a dress of beige chiffon, complemented with orange accessories. She also wore a corsage of yellow roses.

A wedding breakfast was served shortly after the ceremony for 25 guests at Hillside Inn in Plymouth.

An evening reception was held at Hawthorne Valley Country club, attended by guests from Northville, Lansing, Rochester, Grayling, Plymouth, Farmington and Royal Oak. White carnations and candles graced the bridal table. Miss Sandra

Receives UN Thanks For Halloween Gift

Chairman of the UNICEF (United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund), Mrs. Warren Sterling has received a letter of thanks for the contributions collected by Northville children in their Halloween trick or treat campaign. The fund, administered through the United Nations, helps children of European, Asian and African countries with aids of food and medicine and medical personnel. Over $200 was collected this year from Northville families.

Mr. and Mrs. Clair Brown of Garden City announce the birth of a son, Duane Casey, born January 23 at St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor. Little Duane weighed seven pounds, four ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Litsenberger and Mr. and Mrs. Walford Brown, both of Northville. The Browns have another son, Scott, four years old.

NORTHVILLE NEWS AROUND

Mrs. Nelson Schrader was hostess to members of her bridge club last Tuesday when they attended a luncheon-style show at the Woman's City club, Detroit. Attending were Mrs. John Burkman, Mrs. George Clark, Mrs. Orson Atchinson, Mrs. Russell Clarke, Mrs. Alfred Strasen, Mrs. Jack Reynolds and Mrs. Beth Lapham.

Mrs. W. Chizmar's second grade class enjoyed a snow party Friday afternoon. The youngsters brought toboggans, sleds and "flying saucers" for sliding on the hill behind the Amerman school. Mothers of the children joined the party to help serve hot chocolate.

Mrs. William Richards of Maxwell street has been visiting her sister, Mrs. John Blight of Detroit, this week.

NEWS AROUND NORTHVILLE

Pat Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Meyer of Eight Mile road, returned to school this week after being confined at home with pneumonia recently. He will also resume playing tuba for the WJR Junior Symphonic band.

Janice Campbell, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Stuart Campbell of Horton street, entertained three of her school friends at luncheon Thursday. The guests were Leslie Sheehan, Susan Whittlesey and Sarah Mellen.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Meyer were week end guests of the Howard Meyers of Eight Mile road, coming from East Lansing where Larry is a student at Michigan State university.

Saturday dinner guests of Dr. and Mrs. Stuart Campbell of Horton street were Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Johnson of Birmingham.

William Milne of West Dunlap street returned home this week from Mt. Carmel Mercy hospital where he was confined for the past two weeks after suffering a fractured hip and compound fracture of the right arm after a fall outdoors.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Church of Valencia street will be spending the next few months traveling through Florida, to New Orleans, Louisiana and Phoenix, Arizona where they will visit friends and relatives. They will also visit their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson, former Northville residents.

Guests at a luncheon given by Mrs. Raymond Stillson of Ely drive Friday in honor of Mrs. Albert Leedham, were Mrs. Russell Clarke, Mrs. Charles Ely, Mrs. R. M. Atchison, Mrs. Francis Jennings, Mrs. Orson Atchison and Mrs. C. M. Goodrich.

Plan Dramatic Reading Program For Woman's Club 'Guest Day'

Northville Woman's club will welcome again this year a favorite guest speaker, Mrs. L. Hart Wright, at its next "guest day" meeting February 6.

Mrs. Wright will present dramatic readings from current popular plays. Her choices, however, will remain a surprise.

Last year she read — assuming all character roles — from the script of "Teahouse of the August Moon". Her skilled performances before the Northville club have made her a perennial must on the speaker list.

Mrs. Wright presently resides in Ann Arbor where she has directed theatre groups. She has also worked with dramatic groups in Oklahoma City.

Mrs. H. Handorf will introduce the speaker.

The meeting, beginning at 2 p.m., will be held in the Northville library.

from the PASTORS STUDY

By The Rev. Byron E. Chapman
Willowbrook Community Church

All of us could bring to mind some real "whoppers" when it comes to the telling of lies, but no bigger lie was ever uttered than the one found in the Bible, Genesis 3 verse 4. God had just told Adam and Eve they would die if they disobeyed and committed sin. Satan in the guise of a serpent said "Ye will not surely die". In other words, don't believe what God says about sin, it's just a lot of hogwash and nonsense.

Many folks still don't know whether to believe God or Satan. What the serpent said is either the truth or its the biggest lie ever told. God said "Ye shall surely DIE if ye sin." Satan said "Ye shall NOT surely die!"

Now let's try to see this matter clearly. Why do so many people play fast and loose with death by flirting with sin and disobedience?

Experience has taught us many hard lessons about the effects and power of sin. First and foremost we have learned that man without God's help is always destroyed by sin. The curse of sin is found in its first bite. A man already bitten and dying of sin has been numbered into senselessness. It would be as though a beast came upon a man in the forest and said, "Let me eat you, you will enjoy the experience!" The fangs of the beast inject a paralyzing drug into the bloodstream when the first bite is taken. With each succeeding bite the beast looks into the man's face and says, "Isn't this great fun?" The man answers, "Yes indeed! it certainly is!" Then the man keeps right on saying "Fun! it's great!" Right up until the beast takes the mortal bite that means oblivion.

No man dare play fast and loose with sin, for when he most thinks he's winning that is when he is most losing. In fact when the sinner is in deep trouble because of his sin he will do anything in the world to heal his trouble but to quit the thing that's destroying him.

The truth is, the man who sins against God is already dead in trespasses and sin. We must accept the truth and call upon God in humility and prayer. With the help of Christ we can clearly see Satan's lie for what it is. Christ is the only cure for sin. We dare not fight THIS battle alone!

Chats with Parents

Don't Expect Too Much

The decisions all must make as parents of how much or how little to expect of a child are difficult. The problem is made more so by the fact that no two children are alike and, consequently, what can be expected of one cannot be of another. In the case of every child there should be found a middle of the road expectation which for that child will be neither too little or too much.

Children are not the only ones who have individual differences; so do parents. Some parents expect that their small child will from the day of birth be polite, unselfish, truthful, and with a great love for cleanliness and order. Most parents who expect this are destined for a life of disappointment and humiliation. Small children are, after all, little animals as measured by the standards of adults. When Juniors exasperates his mother with failure to keep himself and his room clean, when he defies her every effort to change him into a nice little boy, he is promptly likened to his uncle George on his father's side of the family. Actually the child may be far from any relative in temperament and behavior; he may be right in the middle of the age period when he has a negative attitude toward everything which adults think he should accept without question.

It is bad enough to expect that the child will always come up to adult standards of behavior, that he will never lie, cheat, or steal, but to attempt to cure him of the supposed "habit" or correct him so severely that he will never forget is to add to the parental fault of trying to make him fit into an adult pattern while still a small child.

The opposite of parents who press the child to force him to conform to their notions of what he should be like is the parent who expects too little. This parent carries around for quick reference some psychology book on how to encourage the child to be independent and how to develop a personality which is not squelched by some adult's attempts to make him behave in ways other than those which happen to please him. Parents in this category live in dreadful fear that they, the teacher, or some other adult will interfere with the child's normal personality development.

The belief that the child should be left completely alone to develop his own habits and personality can lead to disaster. Long, late hours of TV watching, shrieking through the house in the early morning hours when others need rest, disrupting visits with guests by demanding the center of attention, and other self-willed behavior are not designed to get the child's personality development off to a good start. Children want enough restrictions to teach them what the difference between good and bad behavior is in the eyes of adults.

The extremes in expecting too little or too much of the child is almost certain to lead to family difficulties. Small children should be expected to assume the family responsibilities which small children can accept rather than being allowed to grow up as irresponsible, self-centered show-offs. A middle of the road control by parents will be everlastingly appreciated by the children when they get older. Parents who fail to exercise it will never be thanked by their children.

MUSTANGS HIT WEEK-END STRIDE

Scalp Redskins, 66-44 For Second League Win

Like a boxer who through swollen eyes has watched an opponent sink to the canvas, Northville's aching but happy cagers headed for home Friday night after winning a 66-46 slugfest at Milford.

The victory was the first for the Mustangs since the win over West Bloomfield more than a month ago. Between December 12 and Friday, the local cagers dropped four straight games.

So Friday's victory was sweet medicine.

Although pleased with the victory, Coach Stan Johnston was concerned for his players' conditions. "We took a real beating — physically," he commented.

But while the coach worried, Bob Starnes, star forward, who took more than his share of elbows beneath the nets, smiled and added: "But it was fun."

Northville's win leaves the Mustangs in a three-way tie for fourth place with Clarkson and West Bloomfield.

Milford was pushed into a basement tie with Bloomfield Hills which turned in its first victory of the season by edging the once powerful Clarkson Wolves, 56-50.

Brighton refused to share its perch on top of the Wayne-Oakland league, ripping through Clarenceville, 66-46, for the Bulldogs' fifth straight win, while Holly took over second place by trouncing West Bloomfield 67-57. The Broncos had shared the second spot with Clarenceville which dropped to third place.

The Mustangs must win their remaining five league contests if Northville is to finish near the top of the league. The local cagers travel to Bloomfield Hills Friday night where the Barons hope to demonstrate their win over Clarkson.

Jeff Goodrich, star center for the Mustangs who was sidelined a few weeks ago because of a severe ankle injury, may be ready to rejoin his team for tomorrow's game. According to Johnston, the center has responded marvelously to special treatments administered at Eastern Michigan college. "He walked in on crutches last week end and walked out without them," the coach explained.

Both teams battled hard beneath the nets Friday night, although the referees ruled that Milford scored more blows than Northville. The Redskins took 28 fouls while the Mustangs committed 22. Four Milford players were removed after putting together 20 fouls; one Northville cager was forced to leave the court.

Forward Wade Deal led the Mustangs attack, scoring six floor shots and four free shots. Captain Nelson Schrader turned in 14 points, followed by Starnes with 12 points.

Northville got off to a 15-7 first quarter lead and then showered the net with 24 points to take a 39-24 half-time lead.

The Redskins scored 15 points to Northville's 13 points in the third stanza, but managed to hit only three floor shots and a single charity toss in the final quarter while Northville scored 14 points.

The teams were equally effective at the free throw line, with Northville hitting 20 out of 45 attempts and Milford 14 of 32.

But Lose Squeaker to Willow Run

"It was the finest game of the season."

The words seem to hang over the crowd pouring from the community building, where Saturday night the Mustangs dropped a 65-63 thriller to Willow Run.

And they were echoed in only slightly different tones by coaches and friends in the locker rooms where dejected players tossed 'sweaty jerseys onto the concrete floor.

"They made at least one-third fewer mistakes in this game than any of the others," Coach Stan Johnston said after congratulating his players.

"I thought we had it . . . did you see their eyes . . . they had defeat in 'em," Johnston said as he recalled the Flyers reaction when the Mustangs chipped away at the opponent's 14-point lead until only two points separated the teams.

"Just two points . . . just two points," he repeated.

But two points were enough for Willow Run, which turned its second victory over Northville this season. The Mustangs lost their opener to the Flyers 71-49 on the opponent's court.

For a time Saturday night, it looked like Willow Run would win as easily as they did in the first contest. But the determined Mustangs were not as cooperative.

They took an early first quarter lead and then lost it as the Flyers pulled ahead as the quarter ended, 16-14. Willow Run increased its lead to six points at the half. The score was 33-27 as the buzzer sounded.

With a six-point lead under their belts, Willow Run's cagers grew more bolder and accurate. Instead of driving in under the basket, they popped away successfully from well out on the court. Before the barrage subsided, the Flyers held a 14-point lead.

Then as the game neared the end, Northville's offense gathered steam and the gap was narrowed to two points. With less than 10 seconds to play, Northville took command of the ball after a center court jump only to be tied up under the basket as the game ended.

Forward Wade Deal led the Mustangs' attack for the second time in two nights. He poured in eight field goals and two free shots. Other high scorers for Northville were Bob Starnes, 15; Roger Atchinson, 12, and Fred Schwarze, 11.

Schwarze continued his tremendous output at the free throw line. He scored 9 of 10 charity shots to give him a season record of 44 out of 50 attempts.

Willow Run scored 27 field goals to Northville's 23, while the Mustangs took the edge in free throws, 17 to 11.

Freshman Hit Rut In Cage Circuit

His team is beginning to wear a path in the cage circuit, but Coach Joe Wilkinson doesn't mind at all.

The Northville freshmen have been blistering court varnish since the opening game. Going into Tuesday's game with Ypsilanti St. Johns, the local cagers had piled up eight straight victories without a single loss.

Last week Tuesday the Northville quintet coasted to an easy 61-27 win over Whitmore Lake. Ten of Wilkinson's cagers hit the scoring column, with Jim Anderson, Dick Bathey and Tom Long sharing honors with 9 points each.

Whitmore Lake was no match for Northville, as the freshmen pumped in 23 points in the first quarter, 10 in the second, 20 in the third and 8 in the fourth. Whitmore Lake dumped in 4, 5, 12 and 6.

The eighth win came Friday. Northville wallowed Dearborn Roosevelt 50-30. Steve Juday led the scoring attack for the freshmen with 12 points. The quarter scores were 13-5, 7-1, 20-11 and 10-13.

Undefeated Brighton will meet the freshmen at 7 p.m. tonight at the community game.

Pins Blistered In Ladies League

Bowling on a red hot alley at Northville Lanes last week, Harold's Gulf women's team socked the pins for a record 932 actual pin fall.

According to Angelo Gadioli, manager, the team total was the best score ever racked up by a women's team in his bowling alley.

Leading the way for her team was Mrs. Doris Maltby who turned in a whopping 204 total. Teammate scores were: Lillian Bering, 199; Betty Hays, 189; Dorothy Busch, 170, and Margaret Steiner, 170.

Mrs. Maltby also took over first place in the women's polo drive tournament with a 670 total. Dorothy Darnell, bowling for the opposing team the same night, shot a 663 for second place in the polo drive.

Northville Colts Throttle Milford, 52-40 But Drop Seventh Game to Willow Run

Playing without the team's star forward, Northville's junior varsity quintet throttled Milford 52-40 Friday and then stumbled beneath the rampaging Willow Run cagers Saturday, 68-44.

The Colts had little difficulty posting a win over Milford despite the fact that Jim Patterson was left the squad to join the Mustangs.

Coach Stan Johnston moved the '22' forward up to the varsity team to make up some of the height missed since Center Jeff Goodrich was put on the inactive list by a severe ankle sprain.

Patterson started with the Mustangs this season but was dropped to the junior varsity squad where he could see more action and help the struggling Colts. In the five games he played with the Colts, Patterson scored 66 points and led the attack in three games.

Northville 8th Graders Thrash Haston, 39-12

Craig Bell scored more than half of Northville's points as the local eighth graders turned back Haston Friday, 39-12.

Coach Roy Pedersen's cagers now boast a 5-1 record. The eighth graders will risk their record this afternoon when they clash with Wallaceville in the community building.

The win over Milford was only the second victory for the Colts this season. They beat Holly earlier this month, 44-41. Their record stands at 2-7.

Guard Jerry Forbes took scoring laurels for the Colts against Milford with 14 points. Teammate Dave Filkin was runnerup with 11 points followed by Tom Darling and Tom Schwarze with 10 points each.

The Colts led the scoring attack in every quarter but the last and then fell short by only a single point. Off to an early 12-3 first quarter lead, the Northville cagers peppered the net for 16 more points before the half. The score was 28-18 as the buzzer sounded.

Northville added 14 points in the third stanza to Milford's 11, and then fell to 10 points in the final quarter while Milford scored 11 points.

In the game against Willow Run, the Colts battled their visitors to a 23-24 half-time score and then fell apart as Willow Run's second half attack began.

The visiting cagers dumped in 17 points in the third quarter and then ended the game with a 27-point, fourth quarter barrage. The Colts scored 10 points in the third stanza and 11 in the last.

Teammates Tom Schwarze and Tom Darling tossed in 10 points each in Northville's futile effort to win.

Northville Area Figures In Consumers Expansion

Consumers Power company will invest more than $16,000,000 in its Southeast Division in 1959 on projects to expand and improve its natural gas service to the division's more than 200,000 gas customers.

Division Manager David H. Gerhard said division projects include the installation of important new gas transmission facilities for moving bulk gas supplies, and extensive additions to the gas distribution system in the many communities served by the division. The division is headquartered in Royal Oak, with district offices there and in Pontiac, Plymouth and East Detroit.

Area Cage Teams Lose in City League

Two Plymouth cage teams turned in thumping victories last week to share first place in the senior city league.

Plymouth VFW swamped the Novi Specials, 27-16, while Heide's throttled the training school's Red Birds, 37-21. Both teams hold the lead with 3-0 records.

In other games played Thursday, the Northville Royals (1-2) took a 41-18 drubbing at the hands of the Plymouth Begliners. Plymouth Optimists (2-1) won a 29-28 squeaker over Northville Optimist seniors (1-2).

Senior league players will see action tonight as Plymouth VFW takes on the Northville Royals, Plymouth Optimists clash with the Novi Specials and Begliners meets Heide's at Plymouth. The Red Birds will host the Northville Optimists at the training school.

Plymouth Lutheran continued to dominate junior league play, thrashing Our Lady of Victory Saturday, 18-8. Pat Modess led the attack for OLV.

The Plymouth squad now holds a 4-0 record, while OLV is in second place with 2-2.

City Recreation No. 2 (0-4) will clash with OLV and Plymouth Lutheran in games set for Saturday morning at the community building.

Northville Veterinarian Attends MSU Conference

Dr. Thomas N. Heslip, 51305 West Seven Mile road, has returned from the 36th annual post-graduate conference for veterinarians at Michigan State university January 21-22.

About 350 practicing veterinarians from Michigan and several other midwest states heard about advances in the treatment and care of farm and home animals. The clinical sessions were held at Giltner hall with the workshops and other programs at the Kellogg Center for Continuing Education.

The annual conference also served as the college of veterinary medicine alumni program. Each of the colleges sponsors such a project in conjunction with the office of alumni relations during the school year.

Parties Highlight Week

By Mrs. George Ames — Greenleaf 4-0830

Gayle Smelt was the hostess at a baby shower for Mary Ann Farrington last Friday evening. The guests included Maribah Garbin, Mary Frutcher, Nestorine Kucinskis, Dee McKeon, Sophie Martin, Betty Johns, Aldean Carter, Marlene MacDougall, Joan Gould and Sue Dean.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Byrd had a party Saturday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Duprey, who left Wednesday evening for their new home in Florida. The Byrds' guests included Mr. and Mrs. John Lees, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Pinner, Mr. and Mrs. George Ames and Shirley Bernard.

Janet Driscoll had a party for her ninth birthday Saturday afternoon. Susie Morse, Dottie Brazelton and Donna Burgess helped her to celebrate.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pohlman had their baby daughter, Patricia Louise, baptized at Our Lady of Victory church in Northville on December 28. The baby's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs.

Frank Puchert of Detroit, were her sponsors. The Pohlmans have four other children, Carol Jo, 10; Randy Charles, 8; Dale Robert, 6, and Cheryl Ann, 22 months.

David and Rolf Ames celebrated their 11th and 10th birthdays, respectively, with a model building party Sunday afternoon. Their guests were Lyle Barton, Fred Kier, Cliff Hawley and Randy Caliguri.

The Monday evening pinocle club met at the home of Agnes Morrison last week. Sophie Martin won first prize, Helen Beadle second, Joyce Benjamin third and Betty Johns fourth.

Claire Miller was hostess to the Tuesday pinocle group. Jean Cromer won first prize, Jean Houston second, Jean DeWaard third and Connie Atkin fourth.

The Wednesday bridge club met at Marguerite Parent's home last week. Dottie Flattery won first prize, Margaret Bunker second and Dorothy Richmond third.

The other Wednesday bridge club met at the home of Ann Diebel. June Anderson won first prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garbin entertained Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Farrington last Saturday evening.

His parents gave a surprise party in honor of his 14th birthday for Pete Carter last week. The guests included Claude Earl, Christine Martin, Lynda Johns, Kenny DeHayes, Jimmie Jones, Ginger Cheeseman, Holly Fox, Barbara Wallace, Diane and Dawn McCullen, Ralph and Carol Conrad, Jimmy Driscoll, Ronnie Rice, Dichron Orchenicki, Dub Hill and Nancy Christenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Holmes are happy to announce the birth of a daughter, Patricia Scott, at New Grace hospital on December 21. The new baby's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Evans of Pittsfield, Massachusetts and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holmes of Marblehead, Massachusetts. The Holmes' have two other children, Pamela, four, and Paula, one. Patricia was baptized Sunday, January 18 at the Willowbrook Community church. The Holmes' served dinner after the baptism to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henry and Dr. and Mrs. Donald Wingard.

Pamela Holmes had a party to celebrate her fourth birthday Saturday afternoon. Skippy and Robin Diebel, Danny and Kenny Closs, Stevie and Denise Jacques, Bobbie McClelland, Karen Frutcher, Jimmie Bruce, Mike McCaffrey and April Garbin were her guests.

Tops Growing And Losing, Too!

Northville's newly organized TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) club was going great guns last Monday night.

It's gotten so big (membership-wise, not individually) that the meeting place has been changed to the Amerman school.

Thirty-five ladies are now taking part in the self-disciplinary reducing group and last Monday they already lost a collective total of 104 pounds.

Any interested ladies, who find it isn't easy to lose pounds, are invited to join the joint effort and have fun while shedding pounds. Meetings are held at 7:30 p.m. You can call Mrs. Donald Offord, 309 Debra Lane, for more details.

Unbeaten Frosh 5's Clash Here Tonight

Coach Joe Wilkinson's Northville high school freshman cagers ran their string of victories to nine Tuesday night with a one-sided, 66-26 victory over St. John's at Ypsilanti.

Eleven of Wilkinson's boys managed to split the net with Don Busch leading all scorers with 18 points. Steve Juday and Dick Bathery picked up 10 and nine points, respectively.

Tonight (Thursday) the frosh cagers meet Brighton in a contest of unbeaten teams. The game will be played at the community building starting at 7 p.m.

Scoring by quarters:
Northville Frosh 14 12 24 16—66
Ypsi St. John's 12 4 2 8—26

Local Engineer Gains State Registration

Wynn W. Wakenhut, 22351 Connamara drive, was granted registration this month to the Michigan State Board of Registration for Architects, Professional Engineers and Land Surveyors.

Wakenhut, who moved to Northville two and one-half years ago and has offices at 111 Griswold, was granted registration as civil engineer and surveyor.

Registration was granted to 110 architects, 599 professional engineers and 45 land surveyors. Wakenhut attended a chapter meeting of the MSPE last week in Ann Arbor.

Boat Show Naval Exhibit Features Nautilus Model

A naval exhibit, sponsored in part by the U.S. Navy Recruiting station here, is on display in the Detroit Boat Show at the Light Guard Armory this week.

The exhibit consists of a 35-foot crash boat and other air-sea rescue equipment, manikins fitted with deep sea and shallow water diving equipment, an operational packaged-type 12-man rubber life raft and a nine-foot model of the USS Nautilus SSN571.

Walled Lake Sailor Gets Promotion, Transfer

Gary S. Lee

Gary S. Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Lee, 329 Elm court, Walled Lake, recently was promoted to petty officer, third class, and transferred to the USS John R. Perry, destroyer escort based at Charleston, South Carolina.

Lee completed 16 months aboard the USS O'Hare, destroyer radar, Norfolk, Virginia. He entered service at Great Lakes, Illinois in May, 1956. He attended Walled Lake high.

NEWS FROM THE
LEGION

REX HOLLOMAN — REPORTER

The four major radio networks will join with the National Broadcasting company's TV network in carrying to a nation-wide viewing and listening audience the American Legion's annual "For God and Country" production Sunday, February 1.

The simulcast will launch the Legion's annual observance of "Religious Emphasis Week", February 1-8. This observance is in honor of the four army chaplains who sacrificed their lives in the sinking of the world War II troopship Dorchester on February 3, 1943.

The simulcast will emanate from NBC-TV in New York City, 2 to 2:30 p.m., EST, on February 1. At the same time, the production will be either carried or taped for later use. Legionnaires are urged to check program listings for the time the program is to be carried here.

Northville Council Proceedings

A regular meeting of the Northville City Council was held at the City Hall Monday Eve., Jan. 19th, 1959 at 8:00 P.M.

Present: Mayor Allen, Councilmen Canterbury, Stuebenvoll and Welch. Absent: Councilman Reed.

Minutes of last regular meeting were read and approved.

Bills amounting to $22,464.02 from the General Fund and $1,737.74 from the Water Fund were presented for payment. Moved by Stuebenvoll, supported by Canterbury that same be paid. Carried.

The All Night parking ordinance was presented to be acted upon. There being no one present to object to its passage, it was moved by Allen, supported by Stuebenvoll, that this ordinance be adopted, same to become immediately effective. Carried.

Gerald Taft was present to further discuss with the Council the development of the subdivision he is proposing, and presented a revised plat of same to conform with the Planning Commission's suggestions. Mgr. Robertson reported on his contacts with both Oakland and Wayne Co. Road Commissions regarding the probability of getting this property into the Wayne Co. Sewage Disposal System and negotiations will continue regarding this matter.

A land contract was presented between the D&R Bldg. Co. and the City of Northville relating to the land comprising the well site and the 20' strip running along the east edge of Yerkes Estates Sub. No. 2, calling for the payment of $5,772.00 upon the signing of the contract and an additional $5,772.00 payable on or before Aug. 1st, 1959, with interest at the rate of 6 percent per annum on unpaid balance. Moved by Canterbury, supported by Welch, that this contract be executed. Carried.

Action on a resolution presented by Councilman Canterbury regarding improvements to the City's water supply was held over until the regular meeting to be held on Feb. 2nd, 1959.

A group of merchants was present to discuss with the City Council the parking and zoning problem pertaining to the proposed building project of the A&P Tea Co. The merchants committee will see what they can get in a financial way from the merchants towards this project, as well as the development of the Hills property.

Engineer Harold Penn recommended that the installation of control valves to control pressures in the water line in the low areas of the northeast part of town, stating that the installation of such valves would be necessary to prevent the pressure from being too great in these areas when the required pressure is furnished to the new High School. Only one firm manufactures the type of reducing valves best suited for the City's particular need, therefore it was moved by Welch, supported by Stuebenvoll, that a resolution be passed waiving the requirement of the City Purchasing ordinance that this purchase be made via advertisement and sealed bids, as no benefit would accrue to the City by such advertising and bids. Motion was carried.

James Pollock, financial consultant in connection with the Water bond issue, submitted a typewritten bond issue, submitted a typewritten this connection and verbally pointed out the highlights covered in his report. The City Council expressed to him their appreciation of the fine work done by him.

No further business appearing, meeting was adjourned.

Obituary

MRS. MARY McCULLOUGH

Mrs. Mary (May) T. McCullough, 157 East Cady, passed away January 20 at Eastlawn Resthaven after an illness of two and one-half years. Mrs. McCullough was born October 22, 1876 in Jackson, Michigan, the daughter of John and Kate (Crowley) Sutton. Her husband, Cleon, preceded her in death. Mrs. McCullough is survived by nephews, David Sutton of Lake Orion and Paul Sutton of Emmetsburg, Maryland, and by nieces, Mrs. Ellen Brolin of Euclid, Ohio, Mrs. Florence Sutton of Emmetsburg and Mrs. Amelia Johnson of Northville. Mrs. McCullough lived in Northville for some 80 years. She and her husband had celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary before his passing. Funeral services were held from Our Lady of Victory church January 22, the Rev. John Wittstock officiating. Prayers were recited Thursday at the Casterline Funeral home. Burial was in Rural Hill cemetery.

FRED R. EHRENBURG

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. today (Thursday) for Fred R. Ehrenberg, 13810 West Nine Mile road, who passed away January 27, at Beyer hospital, Ypsilanti. He had been ill for some time. Mr. Ehrenberg was born May 10, 1904 in Worden, Michigan, the son of William and Emma (Wisthoff) Ehrenberg. His wife, the former Bertha Schoenberg, whom he married January 29, 1941, survives him. He also leaves two brothers, Rue Ehrenberg of Northville and Harry Ehrenberg of Howell, and six sisters, including Miss Helen L. Ehrenberg of Northville. Mr. Ehrenberg had been a lifelong resident of this area. He was employed in maintenance work for the public schools here. Services will be held from the Mueg Chapel in Ann Arbor, the Rev. Ernest Klandt of the Bethlehem Evangelical and Reformed church of Ann Arbor officiating. Interment will be in Bethelhem cemetery, Ann Arbor.

JOHN M. JOSLIN, SR.

Former Northville resident, John M. Joslin, Sr., of Atascadero, California, passed away at his home January 15 after suffering a stroke. He had been in weakening health for the past several years. Mr. Joslin was born October 23, 1882 in East Tawas, Michigan, the son of long-time Northville residents, C.M. and Ida E. Joslin. He was graduated from Northville high school and married Northville school art and music teacher, the former Frances Cole, who survives him. Mr. Joslin is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. Clarence (Betty) Waite, and a son, John M. Joslin, Jr., both of California. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Nellie Freydl of Northville and Mrs. Louise Ball of California, and nephews, Charles Freydl, Sr., Edgar J. Freydl and Frank Freydl of Northville, and a niece, Mrs. Garrett Barry of Northville. Masonic graveside rites were conducted January 17 by the Atascadero Masonic lodge, of which Mr. Joslin was a member.

BURR DECKER

A Wixom resident of many years, Mr. Burr Decker, 205 Wixom road, passed away January 22 at the Novi Convalescent home after several months' illness. Mr. Decker was born 82 years ago in Commerce township. He is survived by his wife, May; by two daughters, Mrs. George Morris and Mrs. Lucetta Ruggles of Wixom; by two brothers, Richard of Belleville and Will Decker of Orchard Lake, and five sisters, Mrs. Lulu Decker of Detroit, Mrs. Ella Clarke of Rochester, Mrs. Mildred Kiddle of Royal Oak, Mrs. Grace Beers of Pontiac, and Mrs. Alyce Carpenter of Corunna. He also leaves four grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. Mr. Decker had been employed as a telegraph operator for Pere Marquette railroad, and until his retirement worked as a clerk for the Wixom Cooperative. Some 40 years ago Mr. Decker became known for saving a passenger train passing through Wixom from a serious accident when a night flood of Holden lake washed away part of the tracks. He signalled the train to a halt and was credited with saving many lives by his quick thinking and courage. Funeral services were held Monday from the Richardson-Bird Funeral home. The Rev. Edmund Caes of the Wixom First Baptist church officiated. Burial was in Wixom cemetery.

Area School Districts Ponder Junior College

Will Northville high school graduates and adults be attending a junior college in this area some day?

The proposal to establish a community college serving the school districts of Plymouth, Redford, Redford Union, Livonia, Clarenceville, and as of last week, Garden City, has been on the fire for the past two years.

Latest development in the two years of study and consultation with college planning experts is a survey now being conducted by the University of Michigan Departments of Social Research and School Services. The survey aims to determine:

— if there is a need in this area for such an institution;

— if the people of these communities really want a junior college;

— if they are willing to support it financially.

Northville has repeatedly been invited to join the group, but has continued to hold back.

Begging financial burdens connected with its present building program and building needs for the near future, Northville's position has been one of wait and see — maybe jump on the bandwagon when the financial rein is firm.

Mrs. Esther Hulsing, Plymouth school board member, who has been with the project from the start, pointed out that the proposal — despite intensive research by the interested school districts — still awaits the outcome of the surveys before becoming something definite.

"When the idea was first suggested we thought it was worth looking into, even if we found a college not practical for this area."

Mrs. Hulsing pointed out the common arguments for community colleges in general:

— they are close to home and thus cut down room and board expenses required by attending a college away from home;

— providing college-parallel courses in freshmen and sophomore liberal arts subjects, they alleviate some of the growing enrollment now worrying the four-year institutions;

— they can help satisfy the increased adult interest in education courses, both those which supplement their jobs, or courses which enrich their general education;

— they can — "better than universities," says Mrs. Hulsing — offer training in trades and semi-technical skills, more in demand as industrialization expands.

— through counseling services, they benefit undecided or unsettled high school graduates. "Boys are notorious late bloomers," Mrs. Hulsing explained. A junior college would provide interim education while they make up their minds about launching a career full force, she said; — although there is no strict comparison, she continued, the cost to taxpayers of sending a student to junior college compared with that of seeing him through one of the major universities is lower. Estimates put the ratio at about $500: $1,000 (the latter based on Michigan State university figures).

Chief objections to community colleges, she added, are usually these:

— since they serve a broader population — both in terms of interest and ability — they would seem to tempt a lowering of academic standards in college-parallel courses;

— taxes connected with building and maintenance of the school would mean another pinch on the public pocketbook.

Locally, combined equalized valuation of the participating communities is $500,000,000, Mrs. Hulsing said. But except for building expenses, she added, the cost of operating the school has been estimated at only ½ mill school tax increase.

Besides such objections, she pointed out, several obstacles exist in this particular project that would have to be overcome or skirted before a go-ahead.

One is the problem of electing an administrative body.

But even that probably depends on the outcome of the group's efforts against the obstacle in existing state school legislation.

Under the law, Mrs. Hulsing said, school districts are not permitted to combine — as may counties — for the building and administration of a junior college.

"But there's probably more money in one of the wealthier school districts here," Mrs. Hulsing added, "than in maybe three of the less economically developed northern counties."

Attorney for the group has drafted the needed amendment which is now awaiting approval by the office of public instruction by the legislature.

A stipulation has been included to allow non-charter communities to join up later.

If the amendment should fail to go through, she continued, the alternative will be considered — to build and administer the school in one district — with others participating on a tuition basis.

Livonia — being the wealthiest and having potentially the most students — would probably be the best candidate for taking on the task of administering a junior college.

South Redford residents — "the most enthusiastic" — might be another prospect, she said.

But Plymouth and Clarenceville, lacking student numbers, and Clarenceville and Redford Union, short on funds, seem unlikely for the job.

The present survey is being financed by the six school districts and will cover only their areas.

Similar studies are now being conducted by Wayne State university, Mrs. Hulsing added, to investigate the possibility of setting up a network of junior colleges throughout southwestern Michigan.

Two Fires in One Week Hit Langtry Home Here

The Edwin R. Langtrys of Thayer boulevard have had their share of fires for a while.

Last Thursday their oil furnace exploded but caused little more than soot damage.

Tuesday, another small fire resulted from a broken gas stove in their basement. Luckily damages again were not great.

Broomfield Drafts Bill

Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland county) has introduced a bill calling for lower costs for municipal county and state bond issues for water supply, sewer and refuse disposal systems.

According to Broomfield, the bill, which was referred to the House Banking and Currency committee, would pledge the faith and credit of the Federal government behind local bond issues.

MY RECORD

In the recent election campaign one of the politicians appeared on TV in a political advertisement and said "I stand on my RECORD!" I suppose everyone of us like to think that our record in this life is such that we do not have to worry about standing in judgment on the final day. An honest review of our record ought to convince us that we stand in need of a Saviour. Suppose you committed but one sin a day. (Surely when we consider that we can sin in thought, word and deed, this is indeed a small minimum.) One would commit 365 sins a year, in 10 years he would commit 3,650 sins. If one began to count his sins at age 12 and died at age 65 he would have committed nearly 20,000 sins. Tell me, what chance of acquittal would anyone have in the courts of our land with 20,000 charges against him? God has plainly said that, "Sinners shall not stand in the Judgment". And "He will not acquit the wicked". Forgiveness of all sins are offered through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. Your record will be wiped clean and there will be nothing to condemn. What a blessed relief from our sins is promised through the Gospel of Christ.

He Says It's Going to be Colder

When Mr. Groundhog comes out of his hole Monday, he won't even rate a glance from Charles Ely of C. R. Ely & Sons fuel company.

The oil dealer already has announced weather conditions for the next six weeks.

And if his predictions are accurate, Mr. Groundhog will not only see his shadow Monday, but will stumble over it as he hurries back into his burrow.

Using his own forecaster, Ely was able to tell last week that February will be as cold — possibly colder — than December and January.

Although it is a mystery to most people, similar methods of forecasting have been used for years by oil dealers throughout the country.

The accuracy of the "weather gauge" used by Ely is borne out by the volume of weather records he has collected during the past 12 years.

His records show that the month of October and November were about 14 percent warmer than usual and that the 1958-59 winter has been the coldest in the Northville area in 12 years. His forecaster, based upon three records, shows that there will be a lot of shivering before the cold heads for its North Pole home.

Simply speaking, Ely's forecaster is this: He subtracts the daily average temperatures from a mean figure of 70 to get what oil dealers call "accumulated degree days". Thus, as the mercury falls, a greater number of degree days is logged.

For example, if the average temperature today is 10 degrees, Ely subtracts 10 degrees from 70 for a difference of 60 accumulated degrees. Tomorrow he will add 60 to that day's accumulated degrees to come up with a total for two days. He continues to add the next day's accumulation each day of the year.

If the temperature falls below 0 degrees, he adds the figures to 70; if it rises above 70, he does not include the increase in his running figure.

Ely has found that on January 22 of each of the past 12 years as many degree days were accumulated from September 1 to January 22 as were accumulated from January 22 to September 1. Last week on January 22 a total of 4,017 degree days had been accumulated from September. The greatest accumulation at this halfway point in past years was 3,900 in 1956 — the last coldest year.

With these figures as his guide, Ely maintains another 4,017 degree days will be logged before next September. He adds that since about 60 percent of the accumulated degrees are logged in the months of December, January and February, next month probably will be as cold or colder than either of the previous two months.

For the skeptics with frozen toes, Ely offers this toaster: Never in the past 12 years has the total number of degree days for a 12-month period exceeded 7,600. Since 4,017 degrees were logged through last week, it would seem that only 3,583 degree days remain.

But Ely won't accept the conclusion that it might warm up. He insists that the January 22 figure is all-important, and this year we're doomed to break the 7,600 degree day record.

Come September, he says, everyone will be thawed out — so why worry.

RECORDS PAY OFF — Charles Ely (left) and his son, Charles, go over the records and their unusual "weather forecaster", which not only lead Ely to predict more cold weather for Northville but which have been a tremendous aid in making their fuel oil business a smooth running organization.

ONE YEAR AGO

Series B bonds totaling $1,850,000 for construction of the new high school were sold by the Northville board of education to Halsey, Stuart and company.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie announced that Eight Mile road is definitely on the books to be converted into an expressway from Grand River to Northwestern highway.

Fast work by Northville police resulted in the arrest of a Dearborn man Sunday less than 24 hours after an attempted break-in at Harold Corbin's jewelry shop.

The Northville Record was awarded second place in its circulation class in the annual state-wide Michigan Press Association General Excellence competition among weekly newspapers.

Nine Northville gasoline stations agreed to take turns staying open on Sundays.

Measles replaced the "flu bug" this week as known cases of the childhood disease jumped to 27 in the Main street elementary school.

FIVE YEARS AGO . . .

Racing Commissioner James

Inglis turned down a bid by Detroit auto dealer Mark Leach to bring back flat racing at Northville Downs.

Drillers this week began a search for oil at a second site west of Northville, less than a mile from the scene of a rich strike last week. The newest well is being drilled on the Glenn Angell farm on Seven Mile road near Napier.

The Northville Mustangs grabbed a share of first place in the Wayne-Oakland league basketball race by trouncing Keego Harbor, 74-49.

Dr. John T. Rogers joined Doctors Russell M. Atchinson, Robert G. Wetterstroem and Orlo J. Robinson in practice at 501 West Dunlap street.

Eberle Smith and Associates, Detroit architects, were hired to plan the new Northville elementary school.

Township tax collections climbed to $111,000 out of a total tax roll of more than $165,000, Treasurer Roy Terrill reported.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO . . .

Local ministers were set to begin teaching Bible classes in Northville schools.

James Erwin, E. J. Ver Duyne and George Simmons headed the Fourth War Loan Bond drive for Novi township.

A member of the national field staff of the girl scouts was to visit Northville to organize the local troops into a girl scout unit. Leaders of Northville scouts were Mrs. George Chabut, Mrs. Gerald Wines and Mrs. Harold Wagenschutz.

The annual choir concert given in the high school gym drew a large crowd of parents and friends of the school. The choir was directed by Leslie G. Lee, Northville music teacher.

Northville's response to Uncle Sam's request for waste paper jumped over the fence for a grand finale and mopping up operation when the children brought about four tons to the school.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO . . .

Nelson C. Schrader was re-elected president of the Northville Wayne county fair for the 10th consecutive year. Other officers were Elmer L. Smith, Floyd A. Northrop and Scott W. Lovewell.

Frazer Staman, former local grocery store manager, and his wife attended a special dance at Ypsilanti which climaxed an Atlantic and Pacific Tea company sales contest.

Northville high school cagers were scheduled to take on Berkley in a bid to move into second place in the Suburban league. Trenton was holding down first place, Farmington second, Northville third, Berkley fourth, Melvindale fifth and Van Dyke last.

An army of nearly 500 CWA men were hard at work at the William H. Maybury sanatorium where they were engaged in road-making, reforestation, digging, surveying and constructing new buildings.

The Northville Record reported William Matheson had brought in a copy of the Record published by Samuel H. Little, July 13, 1878 — 66 years earlier. Included in the old paper's columns: Dr. A. M. Randolph was offering a special on rubber plates; Miss Bell Macomber entertained a party of 50 "ladies and gents" who stayed til the unbelievable hour of midnight; and Northville's band of 15 pieces went to Saginaw to play, headed by Drum Major Genio D. Clark and led by C. S. Elmer.

New Easter Seal Stickers Say "He's Yours Too!"

Northville residents will be reminded that crippled children are "yours too" when they receive their 1959 Easter Seals next month.

Northville Rotary club member, L. C. Sullivan, chairman of the local appeal, announced that two colorful designs in two sizes will appear on the year's Easter Seal sheet, separated by a window sticker saying "He's Yours Too! Help Him Walk. Easter Seals".

The appealing new pair of seals are in subdued tones of red and blue.

One Easter Seal features the stylized lily insignia of the National Society imposed upon a church window to emphasize the religious aspects of the Easter Season and to signify renewed hope for the nation's crippled. Designer was George Eads, illustrator for the J. Walter Thompson company, nationally known advertising agency.

Two other Seal pictures head and shoulders of a boy on crutches, symbolizing all crippled youngsters who need help to acquire physical skills comparable to those of able bodied active children outlined in the Seal's background. The sticker appearing in the center of the sheet bears an enlargement of the boy and includes a reproduction of the smaller-size Seal. It was designed by Gerald Carveth, also an illustrator for the agency.

Sullivan said that contributors to the Easter Seal campaign are urged to help promote the appeal by using the 32 smaller Seals on letters mailed during the Easter season, and the larger-size Seals on packages and gifts. The sticker is for display on windows or doors when contributions have been made.

This year's nationwide appeal, scheduled February 27 - March 29, marks 38 years of service to the crippled by the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults and its 1,700 Easter Seal affiliates in 49 states, District of Columbia and the territories of Hawaii and Puerto Rico. The local affiliate, the Easter Seal Society of western Wayne county has been active since 1934 in offering a program of planning and guidance for the crippled children and adults of this area.

GRADE LANGUAGE SHOWS RESULTS

To the Editor:

Congratulations on your fine article and pictures concerning the foreign language experiment launched this year in the Northville Elementary schools. As the parents of a first grader who has had the privilege of participating in this program, my husband and I were initially fascinated and then amazed by the ease with which a small child is able to grasp another language. When the PTA formed a committee to study the possibility of maintaining and expanding the teaching of languages in the grades, I volunteered to serve on it.

This committee has met with representatives of surrounding communities who are dealing with this subject and several members attended an all day conference conducted by educators from all over Wayne County. Many interesting facts have evolved from the meetings.

With the breakdown of the barriers of time and distance, the jet age compactness of the world community has created a greater need to overcome the language barriers. The appalling lack of development toward this goal in the United States has been of great concern to such agencies as the State Department and the Armed Forces among others. FLSS (Foreign Languages in Elementary Schools), a national organization, advocates a program which promises to be successful in producing adults who will be proficient in communicating with the peoples of the world. This can only result in greater compatibility and understanding.

Educators agree that the mastery of one foreign language makes it comparatively easy for a student to grasp the mechanics of a second or third. In addition, it has been shown that many children who are experiencing difficulties in the lower grades prove to be adept at languages and this success has spurred them to greater efforts in other subjects.

Perhaps the prime reason for proposing a program such as this at the elementary school level, stems from the fact that medical experts point out that the throat and facial muscles of a young child possess the pliable qualities which make the pronunciation of foreign sounds relatively easy for him. His age allows the child to hear and use the sounds without embarrassment and obtain a fluency and purity of accent which is extremely difficult for a self-conscious teen-ager to equal.

The committee has at times been carried away by enthusiasm only to be cautioned by the elementary school administrators that it will take time, patience and money to add foreign language study to the curriculum and not detract in any way from the basic fundamentals which they deem to be foremost in importance.

It is hoped that an interested and forward-looking community will encourage the addition of this further enrichment to the fine program now being presented in the grade schools.

Yours most sincerely
Mrs. Edward F. Angove

SPEAKING for the Record

by BILL SLIGER

Monday night city councilmen wrestled with a problem that is common to all employers: that of retirement of aging employees.

In less than five years the city's year-old retirement benefit program will automatically take care of this matter. Under the plan (after it has been in operation five years) all city employees must retire at age 65. They may, by choice, retire at 60 and receive a pension if they have 10 years seniority.

In the city's particular case Monday evening two over-65 public works employees had appealed their retirement as recommended by the city manager.

One has enough seniority to be eligible for a pension, but neither wished to retire at this time.

Under the charter the city manager has authority to hire and dismiss — or retire — employees. He forewarned the council of this case, however, because the city has no previous record of forced-retirements.

It was on the latter point that the retired employees based their complaint. They are not the only city employees over 65 years of age.

The city manager has chosen to start at the point of greatest need in his program of retirement — the heavily burdened public works department.

After hearing an appeal by the workers last week (a hearing to which they are entitled if they feel an injustice has been done) the council was faced with a dual decision:

1. Setting a policy for retirement of all over-65 employees until the regulations of the retirement program take over;
2. Expression of confidence in the judgment and management policies of the city manager.

None of the council members relished the idea of retiring an employee against his will. It isn't a pleasant business.

Yet, in the main, the council adopted the attitude that, whatever their action, it must be in the best interests of the public.

The council finally decided to uphold the manager's recommendation. Both the manager and public works supervisor had reported that the change was suggested to obtain a younger, more capable crew. These reasons were sound enough in the light of frequent criticism that the department was not getting its work done fast enough.

It's probable that the retired workers will still be offered part time employment with the city during the summer months on jobs more suitable to their capabilities.

The point is, however, that in reaching this conclusion the council also made several other important decisions.

Namely, that it must lend support — both morally and verbally — to the city manager when the unpleasant but necessary duties of his job call for "changes" to be made. The change may be one of personnel, or system, or assessing, or taxing and so forth. Whatever the recommendation, it is his job to act in the best interest of the entire community.

If the council believes he has done so, it is their job to back him up — just as they would a manager of their own business. If he lacks this support, an already difficult job becomes impossible.

Naturally, it follows that mistakes or poor procedure by the manager deserves reprimanding.

Secondly, the council looked squarely at its personnel picture and decided to study each case where retirement might be expected before the pension program takes effect. Councilmen agreed that some cases were more serious than others and that in some instances, replacement would actually be a detriment to the community at this time.

While on the subject of public works, the job that crews have been doing on snow removal deserves high praise. The unusual amount of snow has kept workers busy throughout many nights so that streets can be clear for traffic in the morning. The 3 a.m. to 5:30 a.m. parking ban in the business district has made the job faster and easier.

Gravity: Power of Future

Babson Park, Mass. — Everyone knows the force of gravity. The baby learns it when he first falls to the floor; the child learns it when he slides down the stairs banister; and so it goes. I got one of my main lessons when I worked for the Adirondack Power company at Niagara Falls, New York. The greatest illustration in the world is at Kariba Gorge, on the Zambezi River in Africa, where I have been in the past few months.

Harnessing Gravity
Gravity, like electricity, will some day be harnessed as a source of cheap power. It is true that we now do not know what gravity is or where it comes from. Gravity waves go through buildings just as do radio waves, which we also know little about. We do not know where electricity comes from or how it travels. With all the power it possesses, we cannot see electricity or magnetism.

Gravity is the only known physical force that cannot yet be retarded. We can insulate against heat or cold; we can shut off light by pulling a window shade or closing a blind; but retarding gravity even 10 percent has thus far been impossible. Of course, no one wants to eliminate it 100 percent, as we would rise to the moon without it, whether we wanted to or not!

Anti-Gravity Studies
It is, however, very important that the downpull of gravity be regulated or partially insulated. Certain airplane companies are now feverishly working on this problem. The U.S. Defense Department is hoping that Russia will not discover the solution before we do. A partial insulation of gravity would revolutionize the making of rockets, missiles and all "sputniks" or "luniks". Its regulation could also render partial relief to the 10,000,000 U.S. citizens who suffer from arthritis, bursitis, or other rheumatic troubles.

Therefore I am especially interested in the educational work which the Gravity Research Foundation of New Boston, New Hampshire is doing. Here is a humble organization which is trying to discover a means of preventing people from "getting tired" when working in factories, homes or stores. As air conditioning adds so much to the well-being of people during the hot weather, a slight retarding of the force of gravity in the factory and home would do much to keep manual workers and mothers from "getting tired" at their jobs.

Getting Overtired Is Dangerous
Most colds and many illnesses are now caused by getting overtired. Every physician will tell you this. We never "catch cold" when we are rested and healthy and have proper sleep and diet. Even shopping is a tiresome chore. Think how the stores where gravity could be retarded would get the patronage! Moreover, the stores would be able to regulate this gravity pull by a thermostat, letting it be "natural" in the morning and decreasing its pull toward the end of the day when everyone feels tired.

I believe that investors should be interested in the studies of the Gravity Research Foundation. The total efficiency of every plant would naturally speed up if the workers did not "get tired" during the latter part of the day. Time studies will prove this. I further believe that "getting tired" is a basic cause of many strikes which are so destructive both to good will and profits. Regulation of the gravity pull would do much for industrial peace. Fatigue is the great enemy of man.

Increasing Sales
Let me conclude by referring to my own experience. It is very hard for any one to sell me anything — land, stocks, merchandise or even an idea, when I am tired. If this is true of me, it should be true of 75,000,000 other adults in the U.S. Think how sales of all kinds would increase if, upon going into a store, we would feel refreshed and anxious to buy. Of course, the ability to regulate gravity pull by a thermostat and thus prevent people from getting tired has not yet been achieved. Neither has a cure for cancer and other scourges; but I can assure readers all these are on the way.

Bridge Proves Real Tourist Attraction

TOURISTS and travelers crossing the Mackinac Bridge are creating a boom for Michigan's northern resort areas.

To determine if predictions were accurate, the state highway department conducted an interview-survey among 9,439 motorists who made the crossing last July and August.

The bridge was opened November 1, 1957 and was dedicated in ceremonies last June.

"The tremendous drawing power of the bridge is probably best illustrated by the fact that cars from 40 of the 49 states crossed the bridge during a 24-hour period," said Highway Commissioner John Mackie.

Four came from Alaska, which had not yet become a state, and one from the Canal Zone.

"Twenty-five percent came from outside Michigan, 60 percent of that figure from Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. About 15 percent came from Eastern Canada."

Survey results showed that one out of every three vehicles came from other states through the lower peninsula of Michigan.

Every Michigan county was represented, with Wayne county (Detroit) having the largest number of trips, 1,011; Kent, 227, and Genesee county 148.

The survey showed that 1,825 trips were northbound for Sault Ste. Marie, but only 157 headed into Canada, while 687 were scheduled to run the east-west length of the Upper Peninsula to Wisconsin.

Mackie said the state's $1,250,000 highway construction program will have completed an expressway from the southern border of Michigan to the bridge by 1962.

"I fully expect the ease and speed of travel will increase traffic in the straits area by as much as 50 percent over this year," he said.

REPUBLICANS now control the legislature, for whatever advantage or disadvantage they can enjoy or suffer during 1959.

Even impartial observers were surprised at the developments in the first week of the session.

The 55-55 split in the House was upset when one Democratic member underwent surgery. So, Republicans organized with a one-vote edge, 55 to 54.

Democrats, on the surface striving for control of the House for the first time since 1937, immediately made certain Republicans would have to assume responsibility for its record.

The development came as the state faces a desperate cash shortage and the need to pass a new tax program.

Dissension and strife in the House carried over to the Senate where Republicans, with a 22 to 12 majority, nailed down almost unprecedented powers in one of the hottest debates ever heard.

They eliminated 15 Democratic committee assignments. Then they changed Senate rules to allow them to impose their views on the Senate regardless of how Democrats voted on any issue.

Republican philosophy was ably summed up by Senator Frank D. Beadle (R-St. Clair) who said, "If we're going to be blamed for everything anyway, we want the control."

Observers said the House and Senate controversies in the first week of the session crystallized Republican and Democratic delegations into strict party camps to a greater degree than ever before.

However, the House cannot pass a bill without at least one vote from the opposing party camp. In the Senate, the job is easier for Republicans if the House kills it.

Unless legislators work along lines of principal rather than party it could develop that nothing of consequence would become law.

School aid is expected to be a major issue.

Senate leaders already have proposed guaranteeing public schools state assistance computed at $190 per student, the same guarantee made last winter.

The promise fell $30,000,000 short last year and the schools have borrowed more than $50,000,000 against next year's aid to keep their doors open this year.

Schools and their administrators believe that the $190 still isn't enough, even if the state could make good on its promises. Democrats figure that $220 comes closer to reality if the state wishes to assume responsibility that previously has been considered to that of the local government.

During 1959 safety leaders in Michigan will embark on a series of campaigns to improve the already-invariable record of the state on the highways.

There will be a sterner crack-down on drinking drivers, a greater emphasis on enforcement on rural county roads and another push to take incompetent drivers off the road.

These programs have been in effect for years in Michigan and have been credited with much of the improvement.
