

David King, 9, is Real Hero of Friday's Jet Crash

Three-year-old Elizabeth King and her brother David, 9, are roommates at Sinai hospital — but for an act of heroism, the room might contain only the burned boy.

Both children, who are reported in fair condition, suffered second and third degree burns Friday afternoon when a jet fighter plummeted to earth behind their home and exploded.

The tale of heroism unfolded this week as Eugene King — Northville's newly appointed police chief — talked with his hospitalized son.

Elizabeth and David were playing with brother Gregory, 6; sister, Patricia, 5, and a neighbor friend, Barbara Taxis, 6, in a hole in the ground near the King's backyard fence.

As the screaming jet nosedived to the ground, all the children but Elizabeth and David ran toward the house.

"Bethie's (Elizabeth) foot was caught under a root in the hole. She was stuck," David told his father.

"I'm a junior policeman, daddy, and your suppose to help others just like the teacher says."

The impact and explosion hurled burning metal and fuel at the two struggling children. Once Elizabeth's foot was freed the two youngsters ran, screaming to the house as their clothing burned. The younger children had already fled, unharmed.

Rev. John O. Taxis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church and father of the child who was playing with the King youngsters, helped Mrs. King strip the burning clothing from her two children.

David suffered second and third degree burns in his back, arms and hands; his sister suffered second and third degree burns on her face, arms and hands.

Dr. E. T. Capuzzi said Tuesday that it was too early to tell how long the children would be hospitalized. He indicated, however, that some skin grafting was necessary. Both children have received blood transfusions.

In discussing the miraculous pinpoint crash into the garden surrounded by large frame homes — just 100 yards from Main street elementary school and two blocks from the center of the business district — Rev. Taxis said he was certain God had a hand in preventing a catastrophe.

"After the pilot bailed out another pilot took over the controls," he said.

Major John L. Moutier, 38, of Belleville, bailed out safely and landed in Cass Benton park near the baseball diamond and the ski area. He suffered only bruises.

Moutier, member of the 107 Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron of the Michigan Air National Guard based at Metropolitan Airport, told reporters that the plane "went completely out of control" over Northville.

He said he was on his approach leg to the airport after returning from a routine photo mission when the aircraft started to climb.

Moutier said he fought desperately with the control stick trying to correct the flight, "but I couldn't move it. I put both hands on it and locked my arms and pushed my back against the seat, but couldn't budge the stick."

The pilot said the jet zoomed upward so fast that he was unable to move because of the force of gravity — estimated at 4Gs.

As Moutier's plane rolled over on its back, he pulled the handle to blast away the plane's canopy, then pulled the trigger which shot him out of the plane.

After his chute opened, he said, he watched the plane level off. Most witnesses agree the jet circled the city and then shot across the center of town before flipping over and diving straight into the ground.

Moutier told King at the hospital Tuesday that no pilot could have done as good a job guiding the plane into such a small crash area.

The ejection seat nearly struck

Ronald W. Bonatz, a salesman calling on Mergraf Oil Products on Railroad street as he was opening his car door. The car's rear window was smashed and the rear deck damaged.

The canopy of the plane — an RF-84F Thunderflame — landed near Eight Mile road, a half mile east of Novi road.

Flaming bits of debris were scattered hundreds of feet from the wreckage of the jet. Some pieces landed on roof tops. One section ripped through a window at 501 West Cady street, another shook the house and cracked a window at 110 South Rogers.

Damage was minor. The vegetable garden owned by Miss Ada Roe was destroyed as the jet plunged 10 feet into the earth in the woman's backyard.

The crash scene is surrounded by houses on Cady, Rogers and Main. Main street school bounds the area to the east.

Moutier said he believed the crash was caused by a "stick-lock" — a sudden "lock" in the aircraft hydraulic system.

Wreckage was removed and taken away for investigation and scrapping.

The Air National Guard has ordered all Thunderflash jets grounded pending completion of investigations. Capt. Harry E. Echart, in command of clean-up crews, said a study would be made to see if the plane needed modifications.

Praying Major Moutier Had Bird's Eye View

The person who had the best view of the jet crash that stunned Northville Friday afternoon has never been to the actual scene of the crash.

But he saw everything that happened—and experienced the strange sensation of a pilot trying to direct a plane while hanging from the cords of a parachute.

Major John L. Moutier prayed as he watched his uncontrollable craft plunge into a tiny backyard area — the only visible opening where the plane might have crashed without demolishing countless homes and buildings.

"I could see the opening and prayed," said the Major Tuesday. "That plane had an awful lot of outside assistance."

The 38-year-old major, who has been flying for 21 years and "never scratched a plane before," said he feared the 10-ton plane would wipe out 10 or 20 homes.

In describing the accident Major Moutier placed his location as east of the city when he finally bailed out. "Actually, I was ejected from the plane directly horizontally," the Major explained. He said that when he left the plane it was three-quarters through a loop. The plane then started a gentle turn westward.

"When I first bailed out I hoped the plane would crash directly below in a relatively unpopulated area" (east of Northville), he said. When he saw the plane turn towards the city, the Major was certain that it would level a city block.

"Miraculously, the plane did a snap-roll to the right at about 200 feet elevation and dove directly downward into the backyard opening," the Major reviewed.

He said the ride down (in the chute) was much more enjoyable after he saw that no homes were destroyed. "I was reasonably sure no one was hurt," he said. When he landed, the Major reported he was "reluctant to come to Northville. A motorist offered to drive him to his base so he left."

Major Moutier has visited the King children several times and has become a favorite friend of David. He presented the boy with a replica of the crashed jet, and remembered Elizabeth with a doll.

The Major is still undergoing daily sessions with military and aircraft experts from all over the country. The RF-84F Thunderflames are still grounded pending completion of the examination into the exact cause of the crash.

FLAMING WRECKAGE — A 10-ton army jet suddenly became a flaming inferno in the backyards of Northville homes Friday afternoon. The pilotless plane plunged to earth near the home of Police Chief Eugene King hospitalizing two of his children with second and third degree burns. (More pictures on pages 14 and 15).

Do Kings Need Help?

Many Northville residents have wondered aloud this week "what can we do for the Kings?"

The newly appointed police chief and his family were directly affected by the jet crash that shocked the entire community.

With two of her five children in the hospital, a husband just assuming the responsibilities of a new job and expecting a sixth child in August Mrs. King is a woman who can use help.

Neighbors and friends have pitched-in to help with preparing food, laundry, house-cleaning, etc. The Kings, of course, go to the hospital to be with their children whenever they can.

Chief King reports that the army has given strong indications that it will handle the financial responsibilities of the hospital and medical expenses.

"I guess what we need most is baby-sitters," Chief King said. Two neighboring school girls have offered to help here. Mary and Patty Rahaley have already done some sitting. They have volunteered to take calls from other sitters who are willing to help. Volunteers are asked to phone FT-9-0342 after 5 p.m.

Hospital Plan up to Public

If public interest is strong enough, Northville will have a community hospital.

This was the conclusion reached by Dr. L. W. Snow and a group of area doctors studying the possible purchase of Sessions hospital.

The group has held three planning sessions and will meet again tonight at the American Legion. Dr. Snow reports that all of the former staff physicians have expressed a strong desire to have the institution in full operation again.

While the doctors are expected to form the sponsoring core of the drive to re-establish the hospital, Dr. Snow has indicated it will take a public stock sale to raise sufficient funds to put the hospital in full operation.

An option to purchase the hospital has been obtained by Dr. Snow from Mrs. Irene Slater, present owner. The option, which runs until May 25, calls for a cash payment of $30,000 with another $53,000 in hospital debts to be assumed.

Dr. Snow has said that the group plans to form a parent corporation which would then lease the hospital to a non-profit operating corporation headed by a professional hospital administrator.

He estimates that $100,000 will be needed to complete the transaction and re-establish a maternity license and make necessary repairs.

Dr. Snow said the hospital would be expanded to provide 44 beds so that it could operate in the black. In 1953 the hospital grossed nearly $139,000, but has since then "gone down hill."

Dr. Snow's plan committees will be formed in Northville, Novi, South Lyon and Plymouth to help create interest and raise funds for the hospital. "I believe the need is critical," said Dr. Snow, who pointed out that the fast-growing area will soon need even more hospital facilities.

In Novi Monday night support for the project received a boost when Leo Harrowood asked the village council to back the project. The village manager agreed to attend the next meeting.

Dr. Snow said the following doctors, all former staff physicians at Sessions, are behind the project: Jan Bosch, George Chabut, L. Dyer, A. A. Holcomb, Irene Sparling, all of Northville; Barry Alford, Raymond Barber, Frederick Bentley, Ensign Clyde, Walter Hammond, Luther Peck and Charles Westover, all of Plymouth; Lorin Hotchkiss, O. P. Rosbalt and Z. Zbikowski of Livonia, and William Padelford of South Lyon and Brice Miller of Whitmore Lake.

Consultants and hospital authorities who have attended meetings include Harold Morris, Anthony Font, Peter Shifrin, Emile Rollman, Frank Lamberson, Howard Howlett, John Hauser and Stephen Gurdjian.

In addition to obtaining support from the public Dr. Snow said the group is hopeful that creditors will accept stock or not press for collection until the hospital can start sound operation again.

"We must know how the public feels by May 25, if they want it we'll try to provide a good community hospital," Dr. Snow concluded.

City Awaits Arrival Of Mayor Janks

Next week Northville will have a new mayor — for Monday only, however.

The annual Michigan Week celebration will get underway Sunday with local churches observing Spiritual Foundations Day, first of the week-long schedule.

General Chairman of Northville's program is Mrs. Roy Soule.

The highlight of the week's activities will take place Monday when Mayor William Janks of Caro takes over as mayor for the day. Meanwhile, Northville's Mayor A. Malcolm Allen will be honored in Caro.

A full day of activity is planned for Mayor and Mrs. Janks. They'll be greeted by the high school band and a police escort at Main and Griswold streets at 10:30 a.m. and paraded through town. A flag raising ceremony will be conducted at the city hall after which committee officials and city councilmen will meet briefly in the city council chambers.

The Methodist church will be the scene of a noon luncheon which will take the place of the evening dinner usually held as the highlight of the days' activities.

In addition to comments from the visiting mayor a talk will be given by a representative of the Michigan Bell Telephone company. The American Legion will also make its annual citizenship award and Mrs. Soule will present a special "new frontiers" plaque awarded by the county for Northville's new high school.

Following the luncheon members of the party will tour the Ford valve plant, the new high school, Northville Laboratories and Allen Monuments.

At the high school Mayor Janks will select the outstanding posters created by art students depicting "products of Northville". Five industries of the community are sponsoring the contest in which awards will be made. The sponsoring firms are Ford Motor company, Northville Laboratories, Foundry Flask and Equipment company, Warren Products company and Haller, Inc.

"The Janks' will be given a brief "break" in the day's activities as guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Amerman. The committee will then entertain Mr. and Mrs. Janks for dinner before they depart for Caro.

Working with Mrs. Soule on the Michigan Week program are Eugene King, David Cameron, Gladys Wallace, Alfred Smith, Harvey Ritchie, Fred Kester, Russell Amerman, T. R. and Charles Carrington.

Tuesday the retail merchants will observe Hospitality Day with free coffee, tea and cookies served to the public in Lila's Flower and Gift shop, 110 North Center.

The schools will observe the event as part of Education Day, while New Frontiers and Our Heritage days will be marked with special articles to appear in next week's Record. Northville's first special 100-year history has been prepared by T. R. and Charles Carrington, while David Cameron is preparing an article on what the future holds for our community.

Tornado Signal Test Set for Wednesday

Oscar Hammond, Northville director of civil defense, announced this week that renewed efforts will be made to expand the local unit.

He called for volunteers for auxiliary police and rescue squads to contact him, or local police.

He also stated that a new tornado warning system will be tested next Wednesday, May 20 at 7 p.m.

The siren will blow as follows: one minute sound of whistle; one minute silence; one minute sound; one minute silence; one minute sound (three blasts of one minute length with one minute break in between).

Except for this one test the signal will only be heard when tornadoes are reported approaching the community. The all-clear will be one steady blast for 2 1/2 minutes.

Hammond suggested that residents save this article for future reference.

It's Official — Four Run for School Board

Four candidates will seek the three seats up for election June 8 on the Northville board of education.

Only non-incumbent is Charles A. Smith, 44101 West Nine Mile road, owner of Smith Products in Novi.

Smith will seek a three-year term on the board.

This leaves board President Nelson Schrader unopposed for the one-year unexpired term. Schrader has indicated he wishes to retire from board service after another year having been a member for the past nine years.

William Crump, vice president of the board, and Robert Shafer, secretary, will compete with Smith for the two three-year seats.

Final day for filing petitions was last Friday.

Second Attempt to Pass $300,000 Program

The proposed $300,000 water bond issue will make a return appearance at the polls Monday after a near-miss February 16.

Only qualified electors of the city who are property owners may vote. To pass the program must win 60 percent of the votes cast.

New Racing Law Should Increase City's Tax Take

Northville should be happy over the new racing law recently enacted by the state legislature and signed by the governor.

Financially speaking, it will boost the city's tax return from racing by 12 1/2 percent.

The law, which became immediately effective, provides that the state's share of the pari-mutuel handle will be increased from 4 to 4 1/2 percent.

Cities in which the tracks are located receive 20 percent of the state's share. Thus the half percent boost to the state will also provide Northville with a larger share.

Racing Commissioner James H. Inglis pointed out that only Northville and Jackson will benefit from the increase because Hazel Park and Livonia already receive the maximum $500,000 annually in state racing tax returns.

Northville's average return has been $90,000. The increase could boost the city's share over $100,000.

Other provisions of the bill include the limiting of three track licenses within the metropolitan area (any county within 30 miles of the city limits of Detroit); the removal of food and drink price control from the commissioner; a boost in the track's share of the handle from nine to 9 1/2 percent, which should result in better purses for horsemen who receive 38 percent of the track share for prize money; and a provision to make special awards to breeders of thoroughbred horses.

Roy Stone Elected Retail President

Roy Stone, owner and operator of Stone's Gamble store, has been elected president of the Northville Retail Merchants association.

Serving with Stone on the board are Monte Ellis, vice president; Mrs. Gladys Wallace, secretary; Fred Kester, Leland Smith, Charles Altman, Carl Johnson, Richard Ritchie and Essie Nirider.

The February election won 59.9 percent support — five "yes" votes short of approval. The council, anxious to get its water improvement plans underway, immediately decided to try again to win support for the program.

Councilmen are hopeful that Monday's vote will bring a larger turnout than the disappointing 589 total in February.

Specifically, voters will be asked to permit the city to sell $300,000 worth of general obligation bonds with revenues of the water system pledged to retire the bonds over a 27-year period.

Water guarantee of the loan increases the amount of money that the council may borrow and also lowers the interest rate. Under a straight revenue bond (with no voter approval) the city could only borrow $190,000 at an interest estimated one percent higher.

Northville's water system has been under study since a 1955 report by a private water consultant firm. Rates, water supply, pressure, taste, odor and discolor as well as the physical condition of the system itself have been matters of chief concern.

The city adopted its present rates in June, 1958. Financial and bonding authorities have declared that the present rate structure can support the $300,000 improvement program. They also insisted that the city adopt a hydrant rental fee, a charge made by the water department against the general fund; of $50 per hydrant for fire protection. This completes the establishment of the water department as a self-supporting utility of the city.

Other recommendations made during an engineering survey of the system include additional shut-off valves to permit isolation of trouble areas without disturbing service to wide areas; additional fire hydrants; new and larger lines and a "looping" of the system to eliminate deadends; chlorinating equipment; and development of a new well site. The latter, along with new water lines for service to the high school, is already underway.

Cost of the new well site, improvements and pumps at the reservoir and the school water lines is estimated at $65,000. These approved projects will be paid from the bond issue if it is successful. Otherwise, payment must be provided in the city's new budget which is now under study.

A 400,000 gallon elevated storage tank is the final and largest item on the improvement program. State health authorities have specifically warned the city that its water supply to the user cannot be entirely dependent upon pumps. Engineering reports also call for additional storage capacity. Elevated storage would solve both these dilemmas.

The polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

Residents of precincts one and two vote at the community building while precinct three residents vote at Amerman elementary school.

HAPPY AND COMFORTABLE in their new Northville home are Mr. and Mrs. Merton Brevik, their two children, John, 8, and Joan, 11, and the family pet, "Lucy".

They're thrilled with their new home and new neighborhood, but Mrs. Merton Brevik still has a few reservations about moving away from the Detroit shopping centers in northwest Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Brevik and their two children, John, 8, and Joan, 11, only recently moved to 920 Ely court in Northville Heights subdivision.

vision.

The decision to move came after the family studied the combination of city conveniences and suburban living offered here. "We liked everything we saw," they explained.

But Mrs. Brevik misses the closeness to large shopping centers. "She'll get used to it," her husband chimed in. "Maybe," she smiled.

The Brevik family is a closely knit unit, each sharing the interests of the other. John and Joan love baseball, Mr. Brevik "owns a set of golf clubs," and Mrs. Brevik is a dedicated Sunday school teacher.

Joan has a collection of fine trophies awarded her for her performance with a Detroit softball team.

"Lucy," a buff cocker spaniel, often is the center of attention in the Brevik household.

Mr. Brevik, a member of the Burroughs corporation for 22 years, is the master scheduler at the Plymouth plant. Mrs. Brevik also is a Burroughs employee.

The Breviks are members of the Northwest Emmanuel Lutheran church.

Local Couple Married In Plymouth

Before an altar decorated with palms, white mums and snapdragons, Norene Ann Denune, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Denune, 633 Novi avenue, and Pvt. Richard Earehart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Earehart, 321 Yerkes, were united in marriage at an informal ceremony performed by the Rev. M. I. Johnson in the Plymouth Methodist church April 25.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a street-length sheath of blue brocade with a blue lace hat and matching accessories. She pinned on a large white orchid.

Maid of honor, Lilly Mardue Hood, was similarly gowned in a white sheath trimmed in pink. She wore a corsage of pink symbidium orchids.

Harry Earehart served as best man.

The bride's mother was dressed in beige with matching accessories and wore a green symbidium orchid and yellow carnation corsage. Mrs. Earehart donned a white dress and accessories with a red rose corsage for her son's wedding.

Immediately following the 7:30 candlelight ceremony a reception was held at the American Legion hall approximately 100 guests from Dundee, Milan, Farmington, Plymouth, Northville and Ohio attended.

The newlyweds left for a short wedding trip into Ontario, Canada.

Norene is a graduate of Northville high school, class of '54 and the groom is presently stationed in Virginia with the United States Army.

APRONS GALORE will be sold at the annual King's Daughters bazaar and luncheon today (Thursday) at the Methodist church. Modeling are (left to right): Mrs. Howard Fuller and Mrs. Marie Congo, co-chairman. Mrs. Hugh Babbitt is chairman of the event.

Three of the teachers, Miss Nancy Dingman, librarian; Mrs. Florence Schermerhorn, elementary, and Mrs. Lucy Miller, elementary, have nearly completed studies toward MA degrees.

Teachers who have taken courses toward PHD degrees are: Jack Van Haren, high school, nine hours, and Alvin Skow, high school, 10 hours.

Teachers who have taken courses toward MA degrees are: Mrs. Betty Sillers, elementary, five hours;

Mrs. Peggy Brown, elementary, six hours; Miss Margaret DeKett, elementary, nine hours; Mrs. Dorothy Smith, elementary, six hours; William Hensch, high school, six hours; LaGene Quay, high school, six hours; Robert Williams, high school, six hours; Neal Anderson, high school, six hours; Mrs. Elsie Freydl, elementary, two hours, and Mrs. Joan Reimer, elementary, three hours.

Local Garden Club Gives Scholarships

The annual meeting of the Northville branch of Woman's National Farm and Garden association was held at the home of Mrs. John Burkman, Baseline road, Monday.

The club voted to grant two college scholarships next year, continuing the one to Murray Lyke, who will be a junior at Eastern Michigan college, Ypsilanti, and giving an additional one to a qualified senior at Northville high school.

Mrs. Myrtle Funk and Mrs. Edna Huff, teachers in Northville, are being sent by the club to the Conservation camp at Higgins lake in July. Stanley Golonka will go as a P-TA representative.

Plans were formulated for the annual flower show, to be known as "Ye Olde Country Flower Fair", next September, with Mrs. N. K. Patison as chairman and Mrs. D. Hurd Clark as co-chairman.

Art Club Hears Lecturer

An enthusiastic crowd of some 100 persons attended the April meeting of the Three Cities Art club at the Dunning-Hough library, Plymouth, to hear an illustrated talk by Detroit Art Institute Extension Director William McGonagle on the development of modern painting.

Cookies and punch were served in the gallery after the meeting and visitors viewed paintings, sculpture and mosaics by members of the club.

New exhibits have recently been set up in the Northville and Plymouth libraries.

WINS HONORS — Beverly Claire Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stone of East Seven Mile road, was one of 64 students in all classes at the University of Michigan to be honored for an all-A record for two consecutive semesters. A sophomore, Beverly was named to the James B. Angell Scholars list at the 36th annual honors convocation last week.

Northville-Plymouth Club To Meet Monday Noon

A talk by the state president of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom will highlight a meeting Monday of the Northville-Plymouth branch of the WILPF.

The meeting will take place at 12:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Paul Kauffman, 720 Parkview, Plymouth. Mrs. Wasja Enoch, state president, and Miss Blanche Rinehart, a Detroit member, will speak.

Northville Clean-Up Plans Move Ahead Fast

The "Beautify Northville" campaign moved into high gear last week with reports of progress by campaign committee members.

David Cameron, rural beautification chairman, reported he had received permission from the county to plant trees and flowering shrubs in the parkway entrance of Northville road. Cameron and John Miller are preparing planting plans.

Meanwhile, the Northville Optimists have appointed a committee to consider the beautification of Joe Denton Park as a continuing project.

Erection of signs at the entrances to the city are being considered. Rustic log signs are favored by the committee.

Charles Altman, representing Northville merchants, reported that existing trash containers will be repainted. Haller, Inc. has donated 10 new containers.

Altman also has placed clean-up, paint-up, fix-up posters in downtown store windows and conducted a survey to determine if merchants are willing to replace worn out sidewalks in front of their business places.

The majority of the merchants, he reported, are willing to cooperate. The city manager and the city engineer have been asked to cooperate. The city will pay one-third of the cost of installing new sidewalk in front of residential property.

Plans for the trash pick-up on Saturday, May 23 are moving along. Mr. and Mrs. John Canterbury, chairman of this project, reported that seven trucks will be used with between six to 10 men to each truck.

Organizations being asked to assist on the trucks include the Rotary, Exchange, Catholic and Methodist clubs, the VFW, American Legion and the Explorer Scouts.

Plans for a special suggestion contest to spur interest in the clean-up campaign were announced this week by Mrs. Arthur Carlson.

The contest, which closes June 1, is open to all Northville residents. Anyone with a constructive suggestion as to what might be done to beautify Northville are invited to enter, Mrs. Carlson said.

The suggestion must be written in 50 words or less and should be mailed to Box 4 in care of The Northville Record. (See picture on page 2).

A first-prize of $10 will be given to the writer of the best suggestion; second prize will be $5, and third prize a flowering crab tree.

Judges for the contest are Mrs. Carlson, Mrs. William Slinger and Mrs. Lydella Ely.

Driver, Train OK - But Pity the Car

A 24-year-old Wixom secretary narrowly escaped serious injury last Thursday afternoon when her car crashed into a moving freight train at 12 Mile and Taft roads.

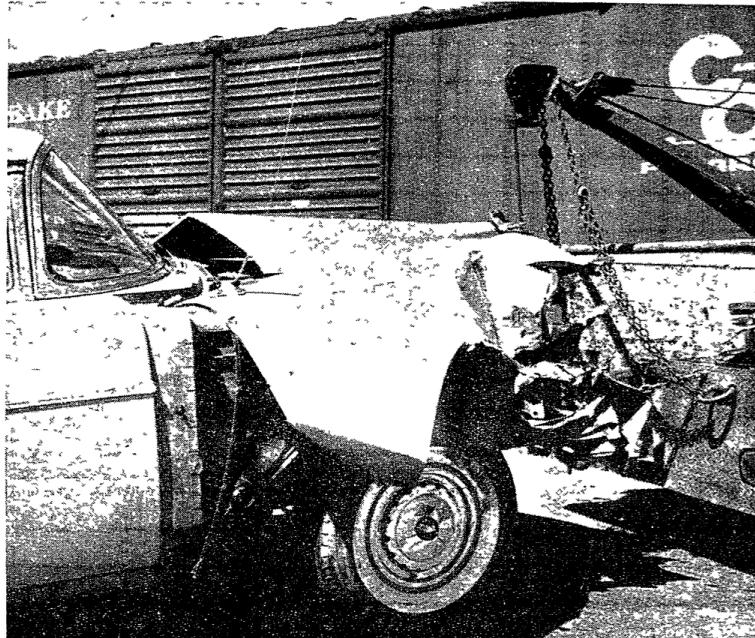

Mrs. Dorothy E. Bahls, Farmington, suffered only minor bruises. She was alone.

Mrs. Bahls' car plowed through a steel guard post, smashed into the 93-car train and then spun around in the middle of the road. She was driving east on 10 Mile road.

Police Chief Lee BeGole estimated damage to the car at $800.

Train Engineer George O'Leary of Bridgeport said the train was just crossing the track when the woman's car struck the second engine.

According to police, the woman could not see the train because of a dirt embankment at the corner. However, the railroad caution signals were working properly. Police said the woman's car skidded 140 feet.

Wixom Files Protest

Wixom filed papers Friday protesting the county-equalized property valuation announced two weeks ago, Mayor Joseph Stadnik revealed this week.

The city's assessed valuation of $9,763,920 was equalized to $18,982,952 (an equalization factor of 1.94).

Stadnik, who had hoped that last winter's reappraisal program would produce a factor closer to 1.6, said he expected a reply from the state tax commission within 10 days of filing the protest.

If the city's protest is not won, county and school millage levied against local property must be increased by multiplying the millage by 1.94. Therefore, 10 mills become 19.4 mills levied against the assessed valuation of the property.

Set New 'City Election' Date

A new election date for the city incorporation vote was set Monday after the council discovered the original election date was prohibitive in view of legal requirements.

The new election date was set for Tuesday, September 15 — approximately three months after the original date of June 16.

In setting June 16 as the original election date, the council overlooked a requirement that notice of registration for the election be published at least 10 days before the registration deadline.

Other matters such as printing of ballots, charter commission petitions, and general election preparation also were considered in setting a new election date.

The resolution setting the election date won the unanimous approval of the councilmen — as it did two weeks earlier. In approving the resolution, the councilmen may be voting themselves right out of office.

However, they had no alternative but to set a date. Village Attorney Howard Bond told them they were required by law to set an election date because the petitions contained more than the necessary signatures of Novi property owners.

Clerk Mrs. Charles Wallace reported petitions calling for an election contained more than 100 certified signatures.

The September 15 ballot also will ask voters to elect a nine-member charter commission to write a new city charter should the change in status win approval.

Candidates for the charter commission have until August 17 to file petitions. August 17 also is the last day for residents to register with the village for the election.

If Novi votes to become a city, another 90 days is allowed to prepare the charter. The charter, along with a slate of new city candidates for council, would then come up for another vote.

The earliest Novi could become a city then would be in early 1960.

Councilmen set the election day for September to assure a maximum village vote. Earlier summer dates were considered but discarded because many Novi residents will be on vacation during the summer.

Councilman Russell Button, who offered the incorporation step as a solution to village-township differences during the annual township meetings in April, has said he will seek election to the charter commission.

Button said he hoped all members of the council would seek election to the commission to "assure adoption of a good charter."

The councilman said he favored adoption of the present village charter with only minor changes.

The only other announced candidate for the charter commission is Herbert Koester, one of the nine persons who circulated incorporation petitions.

As requested by the petitions, the election will call for a city without change of present village boundaries. The city would exclude the Northville Estates and Brookland Farms subdivision.

EVERYONE HAD FUN — One of the largest crowds ever to attend Novi's annual school fair flocked to the school last week. Co-chairman Mrs. James McCormick reported early this week that approximately $2,800 was collected—or about $200 more than was collected from last year's fair. The money, which is still coming in, will be used to purchase school equipment. As usual everyone had fun. The games, prizes, snacks and the supper were enjoyed by children and adults alike. In the picture above, two adults try their luck with 11-year-old Elaine Manzel in a fishing game. The men are Gerald Trotter (center) and Robert Kirkwood. Trotter's daughter, Patti Ann, 8, looks on. At the right, Susanne Merritt, 4, (left) and her sister, Terri Jean, 6, enjoy some sticky cotton candy.

'To Be Or Not To Be'

Why should or shouldn't Novi become a city?

That's the question that will be asked Tuesday at a joint meeting of the West Shore Improvement association with the Willowbrook association.

The meeting will get underway at 8 p.m. in the community building. The public is invited.

Village Manager Fred Olson and Township Supervisor Frazer Staman are expected to attend the meeting, a spokesman for the West Shore association said.

Headlines From THE NOVI NEWS

Council Approves First Fiscal Budget

1959-60 Expenses Set At $181,893, 7 1/2 Mills

Novi's first full fiscal year village budget, calling for a tax levy of 7 1/2 mills, was approved Monday by a 4-1 council vote.

Councilman Philip Anderson, who objected to the absence of budget money for free dust control, cast the only dissenting vote.

Five of the 7 1/2 mills will provide revenues for operating expenses during the 1959-60 fiscal year — estimated in the budget at $156,425.17.

The remaining 2 1/2 mills will be levied to collect money for payment of a $25,000 loan for operation of the village from the time Novi officially became a village on October 9, 1958 and June 30, 1959. The total budget outlay is $181,893.92.

Under the charter, the council had the power to borrow up to $40,000 in anticipation of 1959 tax collections to provide village operating funds.

A special one-time millage is permitted by the charter for raising money to cover the $25,000 loan.

Although both taxes will be levied at the same time, they are earmarked for two different periods.

Based upon a total village valuation of $10,588,625, the total anticipated tax return for both the interim period and the ensuing fiscal year is estimated at $76,193.92.

Revenues from other sources, including such items as liquor and sales taxes, gas and weight refunds, and licenses and permits, is estimated at $105,700.

The largest single outlay — $54,123 — is for roads. It includes $20,000 for salaries and wages, $5,473.17 for sand and gravel, $9,000 for contract work, and $2,000 for snow and ice removal and dust laying materials.

The outlay for dust laying materials prompted Anderson's negative vote.

In voting against the budget which calls for a total outlay of $181,893.92, Anderson indicated that he favored free dust control for village roads and that provisions for this service should be made in the budget.

Money for this service, he contended should come out of the budgeted highway fund of $54,123.17. He agreed with members of the audience that residents living on gravel roads had helped pay for blacktopped roads, and therefore residents on blacktopped roads should help pay for dust control.

Although the other four councilmen explained that some free dust control service would be provided during the summer, they indicated the village was not yet in a financial position to provide an all-free service.

Village residents who contract with the village for laying of calcium chloride on their roads two times during the summer will receive a third application free, the councilmen said.

Village President Walter Tuck told Beck road residents attending the meeting that they could expect special dust control help this summer.

The budget calls for an outlay of $75,335 for administrative purposes, including $25,340 for officials' salaries. Salaries for the clerk and the treasurer-assessor were increased $2,400 and $2,000 to $3,000 and $2,400, respectively.

Village manager and building inspector salaries remained the same at $6,000 and $4,800.

The outlay for the police department calls for the addition of a fifth police officer (counting the director of public safety).

Salaries of present officers were raised. The director of public safety will receive $5,400, and the three patrolmen will receive $4,400. The additional patrolman will receive $2,100 for the first six months and $2,200 for the remaining six months.

Other salaries include: two dispatchers, $1,536 each; the receptionist, $2,600; and the councilmen, $10 per meeting, except for the president who will receive $12.50 per meeting; road equipment operators, $1.85 per hour, and laborers, $1.50 per hour.

Fire department expenses are $5,050, with $3,500 of the total for salaries.

The budget includes provision for purchase of a second new police car, fully equipped, at a cost of $2,550.

Other expenses: village hall maintenance, $5,900; office equipment, $950, and financial expenses (loan and interest), $25,468.75.

A poster contest to stimulate interest in the Walled Lake area clean-up campaign, May 18-23, is planned for boys and girls.

The posters will be submitted and judged at a potluck supper to be held May 23 at the home of Roy Crites, 120 Rexton avenue.

Novi township board members Monday approved a settlement figure of $26,607 for the division of assets with Wixom.

Wixom councilmen are expected to approve the same figure at tonight's council meeting.

Actually, Wixom will receive only $20,607 of the total figure. Half of the remaining $6,000 will go back to the township as fire protection payment.

The other $3,000 will be held in escrow pending the supreme court ruling on whether some 220 acres in the extreme northeast corner of Northville is rightfully in the city or in Novi.

If the court rules the land belongs to Northville, Wixom will forfeit the money as its share of the township loss. However, if the court rules otherwise, Wixom will get back the $3,000.

Board members decided to accept the $26,607 figure upon the recommendation of a joint township-city committee. The committee members, including Mayor Joseph Stadnik, Auditor Robert Clark and Councilman Gerald Abrams of Wixom, and Supervisor Frazer Staman, Auditor N. Elder and Clerk Hadley Bachert of Novi met last Thursday afternoon.

An unofficial settlement figure of $19,754 was proposed by Novi three weeks ago.

At that time Mayor Stadnik expressed satisfaction with the figure. He said the overall figure was "very fair and equitable."

However, he indicated there were a number of minor items which warranted change in favor of the city.

The division of assets with Wixom is based upon the total assessed valuation of Novi township in 1958—before Wixom became a city. The 1958 figure is $19,117,375. Of this total, $8,494,350 or 44.3 percent represented the assessed valuation of Wixom.

Township cash on hand before Wixom incorporated amounted to $13,823. Township liabilities totaled $5,596, leaving a net figure of $8,227.

The councilman said he favored adoption of the present village charter with only minor changes.

The only other announced candidate for the charter commission is Herbert Koester, one of the nine persons who circulated incorporation petitions.

As requested by the petitions, the election will call for a city without change of present village boundaries. The city would exclude the Northville Estates and Brookland Farms subdivision.

Button said he hoped all members of the council would seek election to the commission to "assure adoption of a good charter."

POPPIES ARE COMING—Township Supervisor George Clark (center) received a preview of what to expect next Thursday and Friday, May 21 and 22 when Northville VFW and American Legion members conduct their annual Poppy Sale. Trying the poppies on for size are Walter Sousa (left) of the VFW and Rex Holloman of the American Legion.

Poppy Honors Dead . . . Serves Living

EDITOR'S NOTE: May 21 and 22 local members of the VFW and American Legion and their auxiliaries will again conduct the annual Poppy Sale on the streets of Northville. To explain the background of this sale and better acquaint the public with how the funds are used Rex Holloman of the Northville American Legion post prepared the following article.

The idea of the poppy as a memorial flower for World War dead sprang up as naturally as the little wild flower itself grows in the fields of France and Flanders. The flower was the one touch of beauty which survived amid the hideous destruction of war. Memories of the war dead always bring thoughts of those who did not die but came back doomed to years of hardship and suffering, sometimes worse than death. In the poppy was found a way to link the honoring of the dead with service for the living victims of the war. Soon after the war, patriotic organizations in different countries began to conduct sales of poppies made by disabled veterans, to raise funds for relief work among suffering ex-servicemen and their families.

A double significance became attached to the poppy. Wearing the little flower came to mean honoring the dead and helping the living. The American Legion at its National convention on September 27-29, 1920 made the poppy its memorial flower. Other American veterans' organizations followed the American Legion and auxiliary in adopting it as their official flower of remembrance. Soon many millions of the little red flowers were being worn each year in all parts of the English-speaking world, to honor the World War I dead, and later, the War II and Korean conflict dead, and to aid the wars' living victims.

The work of making the poppies is a true God-send to many hundreds of disabled veterans. They are paid for the flowers they shape, and if not too badly disabled they can earn a fair day's wage without exerting themselves to a harmful extent. The work is adjusted to meet prevailing hospital rules, and is given to disabled and hospitalized veterans, upon the approval of the medical officer, without regard to any government compensation received. For many it is the only possibility of earning money during the year.

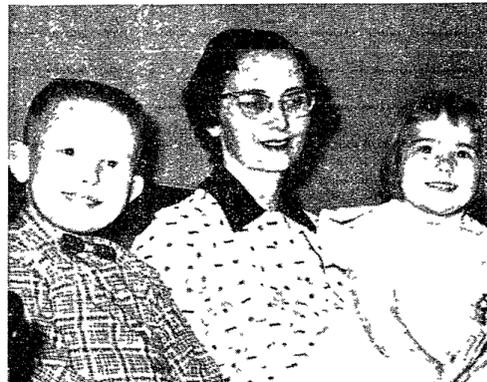

Veterans with any form of communicable disease are not permitted to make poppies. In some cases the work is given to the wives of these men, special workshops being established for them outside the hospitals. The money they earn helps them keep their families together until their husbands can recover health and again become wage earners. Poppies are distributed entirely by volunteer workers, and every penny received goes for aid to the disabled men and to needy children of veterans. The bulk of the poppy funds remains in the communities where they are raised, being expended by the local Legion posts and auxiliary units in relief work in the communities throughout the year. Originally, Poppy Day was the Saturday before Memorial Day. Due to the amount of traffic flowing into Detroit during the working week, some service organizations began to sell poppies on Thursday and Friday. The National Departments of the service organizations have designated Thursday and Friday as selling days, in order that smaller communities have an equal chance to build their welfare fund through poppy sales. The Saturday before Memorial Day is the day of observance. This year the dates are May 21, 22 and 23.

Here in Northville, the American Legion and the American Legion auxiliary carried on the following program from last year's poppy sales: The Legion post purchased one new hospital-type bed and mattress for $122.25. At the time of this writing there are four beds loaned out. In the past we have purchased four wheel-chairs which have been used 16 times this year; $5 to the March of Dimes, $16.02 for Maybury sanatorium, Easter party for children and $129.58 aid to Northville families through the post's service officer.

The auxiliary has spent $57 to the state auxiliary for rehabilitation and child welfare; $34.70 for VA hospital veterans' birthdays for our designated months of November, December and February; $26.35 for Christmas baskets for the Northville community; $49.56 for Ann Arbor VA hospital Christmas Gift Shop; $45.85 to VA hospitals for Christmas; 60c to state auxiliary toward Gold Star Mothers Mother's Day gifts. Jointly, $125 donated to community leukemia victim; $100 to Otter Lake American Legion Children's home refurbishing program; $63.20 to Maybury sanatorium veterans' Armistice Day party, and $46.30 for Maybury veterans' Christmas. The total for these expenditures was $821.41, the poppy sales last year netted $585.55, a deficit of $235.86 resulted from this year's expenditures. You must buy a poppy to carry on this work.

TIRED—Little Elizabeth King doesn't have the strength to sit up as Major Moutier looks on her and her new stuffed kitten. Elizabeth and her brother, David, are in Mt. Sinai hospital suffering from second and third degree burns received when flaming fuel from Friday's jet crash spread over them as they played in the backyard.

HAPPIER DAYS—Mrs. King and Elizabeth and David posed happily two weeks ago when Officer King was named police chief.

Feed your lawn and kill the weeds with one spreading of BONUS

WEEDS AS IT FEEDS

If you're a regular Scotts-man you've likely used BONUS before (it used to be called Weed and Feed). This is its twelfth season and there's nothing on the market to touch it. In 30 minutes anyone can feed a 5,000 sq. ft. lawn (50 x 100) and clean out the dandelions, plantain and other broadleaf weeds in the bargain — with one bag of BONUS (5.95) and a spreader. The weeds shrivel up and die. The grass grows greener, thicker, healthier.

Like all Scotts Products, BONUS is the result of intense and continuing research. Easy and pleasant to use. No sprays, no watering in, no burning. No sneezy dust or fertilizer smell. And economical — no fillers. You'll enjoy using it.

City, Township Study Mutual Dump Problem

Representatives of the city and township sat down Monday night to attempt to solve the long-standing dump problem.

The meeting concluded with an agreement to draft a contract guaranteeing township use of the city-owned facility on terms mutually agreeable to both bodies.

Several areas of marked disagreement, however, made the possibility of adoption of the contract appear slim.

The township was represented by James Littell, township attorney, and R. D. Merriam, trustee.

Mayor A. Malcolm Allen, Councilmen John Canterbury, Richard Juday, Earl Reed, City Attorney Philip Ogilvie and City Manager John Robertson represented the city.

Attorney Littell did all the talking for the township and briefly outlined the history of the dump. He pointed out that the difficulties between the city (then village) and township began in April 1955. As a result of a meeting at that time, Littell reported that he had written a requested outline setting down recommendations for operation of the dump.

To deny reports that the township has not cooperated Littell pointed out that his report of 1955 to the city had gone unanswered.

Basically, Littell (in his letter) had suggested that the city first control the dump area property and then survey the area to be used. Further he suggested fencing and operation of the dump as a "land fill" under health department regulations. The dump would also be under supervision and control so that it would be used only by authorized persons — city or township residents.

Presumably, these suggestions received mutual agreement.

The differences of opinion arise around these areas:

- how much the township should pay the city for the use of the dump;
- whether or not the township has any financial obligation for the past four years;
- just what determines proper operation and management of the dump.

The latter point can apparently be resolved.

Littell was definitely opposed to any compromise on retroactive payments. While Councilmen Reed and Canterbury said they believed that the township board had indicated some responsibility to pay for use of the dump enjoyed since 1955, Littell flatly denied that there was any responsibility "either legally or morally."

Littell further declared that he did not believe the city had spent any money on the dump because it has been so poorly operated. He said that it was the city's own fault that money had not been collected from the township because of the delay in beginning proper sanitary fill operation.

Littell indicated the township could find its own facilities if agreement couldn't be reached.

The township offered to pay the city $2,000 per year on a 15-year basis for use of the dump. In addition the township would pay one-half fencing and survey costs.

The city had indicated that $20,000 had been spent on the dump in the past four years. It also reported estimated costs of $150 weekly to operate the dump properly. The city now has title to the land and has completed surveying. Fencing will be the next item.

At 30 or 40 percent of the cost the city had proposed that the township pay $3,000 per year plus some retroactive payments. Also the city called for an "escalator" stipulation to allow for growth of township population.

Councilman Reed also pointed out that 15 years could not be guaranteed, but rather "the life of the dump" would have to be stipulated.

Councilmen generally seemed to agree in attitude with Mayor Allen's statement that the township "hasn't liked the way we kept our yard but yet they've played in it."

The city also indicated it would annex the city-owned township property which adjoins the city. This brought a "no comment" from Littell when Mayor Allen said he believed the township knew and approved of this.

Both city and township officials are expected to study the terms of the newly drawn contract.

If the city decides to accept the township's financial terms, then presumably the contract will be signed and Northville will have a sanitary fill. If not, the city may decide to operate the dump alone. With prospects of private city collection of trash along with the present garbage contract, the city would not be faced with as severe a need for the dump as in the past.

READERS SPEAK:

PRAISE FOR NEW CHIEF

Seldom can it immediately be decided if the wise or right choice has been taken in many actions done by our city fathers.

But the jet accident of last week brought out the fact that the city fathers had made a wise choice on their Chief of Police. What would you have done under the same conditions? On the spur of the moment, I believe I would have turned tail and stayed with my loved ones and let the job go to pot.

Knowing that his loved ones were being given the very best treatment available, Chief King stuck to his job of handling this hard job in a manner to his credit and also to the credit of the community.

His competitors in the exam may have done the same thing — I believe they would. However, any man who stays in his line of duty in a time like this when terror and possible tragedy are right on his own doorstep proves to me that our new Chief can be depended on to the utmost and we are proud to have him on our payroll.

LIFE'S PURPOSE

Why are we here? What is the purpose of our living? To many people, life is merely existing. They have no purpose, no real goal in life. If we would understand the real purpose of life we must realize the purpose for which God created us. We are informed in Colossians 1:16 "For by him all things were created that are on earth . . . all things were created BY HIM AND FOR HIM." We were created for God's glory, for God's pleasure. If we do not bring glory to God then we have missed the purpose of our living. This spring many of you will plant flower seeds and bulbs. You plant them because you expect that in due season you will be able to enjoy the blossoms. You are disappointed if they fail to bloom. Even the green foliage, beautiful as that may be is disappointing because your purpose in planting was not fulfilled. Do you get the application? God created us that we might bring pleasure to Himself through worship, praise, thanksgiving and a life of devoted service. When we live for our own pleasure then we "Come short of the glory of God." Mercy is now available through Christ for those who would start anew.

State 'Broke' So Northville Bank Helps Out

Payless paydays were not payless for most of the employees at Northville State hospital last week. Thanks to the Northville branch of Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit and the State Employees Credit Union, nearly all of the hospital employees were paid on schedule.

The bank and the credit union stepped into the picture shortly after the state announced its employees would not be paid because the treasury cupboard is bare.

Joseph Gill, business manager for the hospital, contacted the Northville branch bank and suggested that it loan hospital personnel money owed to them by the state.

A. Russell Clarke, vice president of the bank, did some checking with the central office and then agreed the bank prepared assignment forms for the hospital, which in turn certified the amount of money owed to each employee. Employees were then loaned this money by the bank at a "token" service charge.

Loans of $100 or less were made for a $1 service charge; larger loans cost $1.50.

The State Employees Credit Union, which has a limited fund, made several loans against forthcoming wages.

Clarke said his bank made close to 350 loans in two days. Loans averaged $135.

The service charge made by the bank — but not made by the credit union — hardly paid for the additional bank work load. It was not a profit-making move, but a public relations gesture, he said.

Tom Hedger, president of Local 960, AFSC&ME (AFL-CIO), expressed indignation for state failure to meet its payroll.

"We do not have any argument against the hospital or administration," he said, "but with the state of Michigan. It's a shame to have to borrow to get your money."

"However, we are very appreciative that the hospital and the bank were able to come up with this program."

The union president indicated his organization, which includes 411 members, would "most certainly" ask the state to reimburse the loan service costs.

"We'll carry our fight to the governor if necessary," he declared.

Asked if the bank would make more loans should the state fail to meet its next payroll, Clarke said he did not know.

Seniors on Trip

Eighty-four Northville high school seniors boarded three privately chartered buses Sunday at 8 p.m. and headed for Washington, D.C.

Chaperons for the trip are Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mollema, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Skow and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Schipper.

How We Observe Michigan Week in Our Daily Lives

Next week communities in Michigan's 83 counties will pause to point with pride to the merits of our state during the annual celebration of Michigan Week—May 17-23.

Northville residents will be reminded of the event with a special observance each day of the week as planned by the local committee. The program will begin Sunday with recognition being given in the churches on Spiritual Foundations Day.

Monday Northville will exchange mayors with Caro in the traditional highlight of the week's observance. The seven pictures on this page portray each daily observance of Michigan Week and pictorially tell why "We're Proud of Michigan . . . and Northville".

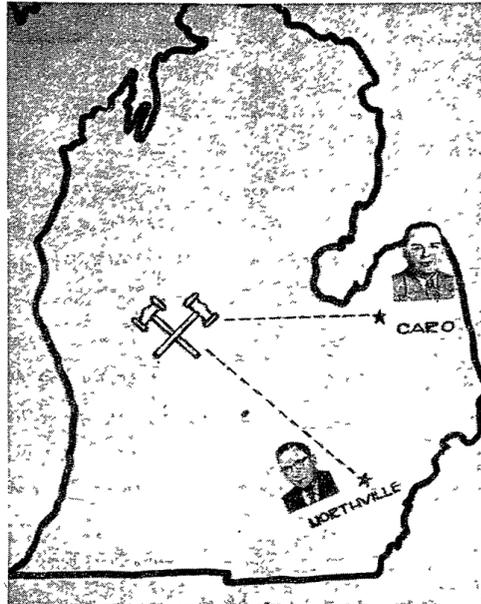

They also point out that most of us automatically recognize our pride in our community and state by the way we live our daily lives.

May 12, 1959

Dear Property Owner:

The City Council of the City of Northville would like to again inform you about a very important election Monday, May 18th, 1959, regarding the $300,000 water bond issue.

As you remember, although 59.9% of the voters voted for this issue last February, it was defeated because a bond issue of this type requires 60% favorable vote in order to be able to sell the bonds.

The Council, after consideration, decided along with the advice of our bond attorneys that the savings to the people of Northville were of enough importance that the program be delayed to allow the people to again vote on the issue.

The improvements to the water system are many, some of which have already been started because of the urgent need to improve the water system, including serving the new high school. The council has warned that a new source of water is imperative this summer. Therefore, because of this urgency, the Council has already ordered construction on this project.

The Council has had many meetings on this subject, hired the best available experts to advise them on legal, financial and engineering problems. All have agreed that the bond issue is the most economical way of financing the improvements designed for the water system. The bonds are to be paid off out of the present rates of the water system, which will include the hydrant rental fee.

We hope you will join the Council in realizing the importance of this matter and remember to go to the polls Monday, May 18th.

Sincerely yours,

Mayor A. Malcolm Allen

Councilmen Give Views on Bond Vote

Mayor A. Malcolm Allen
The City has known for several years about improvements for the water system. Of major importance is the need for additional sources of water. The City has spent considerable time and money exploring for adequate wells. All exploration has been done with the advice and location provided by expert geologists and engineers. Unfortunately, a series of wells were drilled which did not produce the amount of water necessary for development. Finally the City did develop an adequate quantity of water at a well near Novi road.

The Novi road well tests indicate that a supply of over 750 gallons per minute can be developed. This is a very adequate supply and is absolutely essential for the water system this summer. The City engineer has estimated that the cost to develop the well site including pumps, pump house, controls and building will come to $25,000. The City Council has already voted unanimously to proceed on the development of this well.

The City engineer has further proposed that all wells be treated chemically to reduce the tastes and odors which appear periodically in the water system. Further treatment has been started and will be continued to control the depositing of rust in the water system causing stain in the plumbing fixtures and clothes.

All of the improvements which include elevated storage tank, new valves, new hydrants, development of the Novi Road well and construction of new water mains will be paid for out of the $300,000 bond issue. The City Council has agreed that the bonds will be paid off out of revenues from the water system. Since the water rates were raised a year ago the water revenue is sufficient to pay off this bond issue.

I strongly urge you to vote "yes" on Monday, May 18th.

Councilman John Canterbury

It was suggested that I explain to you in a few words the frequently misunderstood term, "Hydrant Rental Fee".

A Hydrant Rental Fee is a charge by a water department against the general fund of a city to pay the water department for the cost of maintaining a constant and adequate standby supply of water to fire hydrants to be used in case of fire. The consumers of city water pay the Water Department for the water they use as recorded on their water meters. The additional expense to a water department of maintaining an adequate reserve supply and pressure of water at fire hydrants is considered more properly a general benefit to all taxpayers and hence the charge against the general funds of the city.

Good accounting practice requires such a fee which amounts to a book-keeping transfer from one account of the city to another account. Most cities have long had such a fee and the City Council agreed some time ago that we also should follow this sound business practice which had long ago been recommended by our auditors. However, in the case of Northville, the "fee" is to be $50 per-year per fire hydrant, which is less than the amount that most cities transfer from the general fund to the water fund for this purpose. Moreover, the present water bond vote, no matter how it is decided, will have no effect on the matter of a Hydrant Rental Fee in Northville.

In closing, I urge you to vote Yes next Monday in order to permit Northville to provide the needed increase to its water supply, to improve its water system in many ways and to provide more adequate fire protection. Present water rates are adequate to pay for these needed improvements and no mill levy is required for this program.

Councilman Richard Juday

In regard to the adequacy of water mains:

In regards to the voting on the water bond issue next Monday, I would like to state that I endorse it, and believe the City needs the improvement it will make.

As some of you know, I used to work for the Public Works Department, and I know there are many mains which are inadequate. There are many places where there are dead ends that should be looped to eliminate stagnant water. There are several mains that were installed years ago that, with increased population do not carry ample water for the people's needs.

By voting "Yes" on the water bond issue, it will give the City the necessary funds to improve the water supply and eliminate some of the problems we now have.

Councilman Earl Reed

The citizens are entitled to as many facts as can possibly be given so they may analyze the floating of any bond issue.

The following are what I consider pertinent facts that may or may not have been covered:

1. A general obligation bond issue of $300,000 with $200,000 interest is a better business deal for the City rather than a $197,000 revenue bond issue with $180,000 interest. This additional money allows us to put in more improvements, thereby giving us a better water system.

2. The Novi well with a capacity of 750 gallons per minute of clear odorless water will be connected to our lines in a month or so whether the bond issue passes or not. This new well will enable us to close down one well that is probably giving us a lot of odor in our mains.

However, if the bond issue fails, we will only be able to do a little, if any at all, of street improvements, this year. We anticipate putting back $40,000 into the General Fund, which has been loaned to the Water Fund, plus approximately $30,000, which sums were needed to complete said well.

3. The erection of a water tower will not give the Oakwood area any more pressure than they can get at the present time. If you are not getting pressure it is probably the fault of your own lines, and the same holds true for the balance of the City.

However, in three (3) to five (5) years we will need this tower to give us 300,000 gallons more storage space, especially so if we decide to use Detroit water, over and above the 500,000 gallon space we now have; or if we install another 1000 meters in this system, we will then have to supply more pressure.

4. Over a twenty-seven (27) year period, the life of the bond issue, we will put into the Water Fund, out of the General Fund $182,000 to be applied to this $500,000 debt; thereby eliminating the necessity of any increased water rates.

However, if the bond issue fails, we are going to put $6,000 per year into the water fund out of the general fund, as a hydrant rental fee, to help build up the water fund.

5. The bond issue will allow us to eliminate the most important dead ends, install about 50 percent of the needed water lines, as recommended by our engineers, install necessary shut-off valves in order to isolate smaller areas in case of emergency, additional installation of fire hydrants, where needed.

These things all have to be done and if the bond issue fails, will have to be done on a year-to-year basis.

Also, the bond issue provides for the use of chemicals to help eliminate the odor and the black grease deposit which appears in our water system. However, it is no guarantee that this will eliminate the black deposit, as we have been trying to solve this problem for the last few years by the use of chemicals.

Hoping to see you at the polls, May 18, 1959.

Councilman Ed Welch

On Monday, May 18th, the people of the City of Northville will again be asked to decide whether or not they will authorize the City to sell bonds worth $300,000 to bring about the following water improvements in the water system:

1. Improve the quality of the water.
2. More adequate fire protection.
3. More adequate pressure in the low pressure areas.
4. Adequate supply of water during high usage periods of the summer.
5. Serve the every growing area of Northville.

Inadequacies and weaknesses in the existing system and supply have developed and have become more pronounced as the system has aged. Bad tastes and odors in the water, low pressures in the high city areas, discoloration of plumbing fixtures from water drip, brown spots on laundry, dirty water, and hardness in the water are the cause of frequent complaints from water users.

It is to improve the quality of water and provide adequate pressures for fire protection and other uses, that a program of improvements has been developed.

The Council cannot help but feel that the reason for the defeat at the last election was because of the small turnout at the polls. Every member of your council is solidly behind this program. Won't you please let your council know that they have your confidence by making a determined effort to vote Monday, May 18th.

Northville City Council Proceedings

A regular meeting of the Northville City Council was held at the City Hall Monday eve., May 4, 1959 at 8 o'clock.

Present: Mayor Allen, Councilmen Juday, Canterbury, Reed and Welch.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

It was moved by Canterbury supported by Allen that these bills be allowed and paid. Carried.

A proposal by Harvey Willard to pick up rubbish and garbage in his new packer trucks for the sum of $11,600 a year was discussed. Mayor Allen requested that Manager Robertson and Attorney Ogilvie draw up a contract for one year to begin July 1st.

Relative to complaints of odors at Bel Nor Drive-in, the Council requested that action be determined within 30 days.

The Public Hearing on rezoning lots 45, 46, 47 and 48 was opened and discussed for two hours. It was moved by Reed, supported by Welch that lots 45, 46, 47 and 48 of Northville Assessor's Plat No. 1 be rezoned from R-3 to C-1 classification, subject to the following use conditions:

1. That all buildings erected upon said lots be set back a minimum distance of fifteen (15) feet from the front lot line.
2. That site and land use plans must be approved by the City Planning Commission and the City Council prior to issuance of a building permit.
3. That all building walls which face on Cady street shall be constructed of face brick or its equivalent.

Carried.

Reverend Nieuwkoop asked that the Civil Defense organization be re-activated in Northville. Manager Robertson stated he would contact Oscar Hammond, civil defense director, and they would work out a co-ordinated program with surrounding communities through the headquarters in Detroit.

City Engineer Penn presented tabulated bids for Water system improvement.

It was moved by Welch supported by Juday that the bids be accepted as recommended by Penn. Carried.

Mayor Allen called a special meeting of the Council for Wednesday, May 6th at 8 o'clock at the City Hall to discuss the budget.

The meeting adjourned at 12:00 o'clock midnight.

Mustangs Win 2 League Tilts

Nip Bulldogs, 3-2 After 2-1 Victory Over Bronco Nine

Clutch hitting enabled Northville to grab two more league victories in diamond tilts with Brighton and Holly last week and Monday.

The Mustangs posted a one run, 3-2 victory over the Bulldogs last Thursday, and a one run, 2-1 win over the Broncos on Monday.

The double victories boosted the Mustangs into first place in their division of the Wayne-Oakland league and into second place in the over-all league standings. Milford holds the league lead.

Coach Al Jones' baseball nine has won six league games and lost one. The only loss was a no-hit, 5-0 contest with Milford.

A couple of important hits by brothers Steve and William Juday accounted for both of Northville's two runs in the contest with Holly. Bill drove in the winning run late in the game with a double. Steve singled home Dave LaFond, who scored both runs, earlier in the game.

LaFond collected the only other Northville hit.

Coggins, Hastluck, Grey and Yeagley shared the four-hit Holly performance at the plate.

Roger Atchinson, Northville regular left fielder, was credited with the win over Holly in his debut mound performance with the Mustangs. Atchinson gave up four hits, while striking out four batters. He also gave up four walks.

Coggins and Wagner made up the losing battery.

Northville Catcher Wade Deal rapped out one single and added a home run to give the Mustangs the edge over the Bulldogs.

Center Fielder Dave Hay also scored one run on two hits for the Mustangs. Steve Juday, short stop, collected the only other Northville hit, while Hurler Jeff Goodrich scored the third run.

Goodrich struck out 10 of the 21 batters he faced. He walked five.

Marx and Nettles each collected two hits in leading the five-hit attack for Brighton.

THAT THE WORLD MAY BELIEVE
Nothing is more essential to the salvation of the world at this hour of crisis than the unification of the Body of Christ in harmony with the prayer of Jesus in the 17th chapter of John where he prayed: "That they all may be one; as thou, Father, art in me and I in thee, that they also may be one in us; that the world may believe that thou hast sent me." In his prayer Christ implies that the world is unable to believe in his Divine Mission so long as his followers are not united or made one.

Since this is true how important it is for all of us to strive to enter into that oneness for which Christ prayed. And what a foolhardy thing it is for anyone to fight against or hinder by a spirit of indifference the achievement of such a reality, the manifestation of which is the only hope for our world trembling on the brink of a destruction that has always surpassed our mental ability to grasp, until now!

The task is not an easy one. It is not easy for a person to be made one with a person of another faith in that same spirit of oneness that existed between Christ and God. In fact it is much easier for a Communist and a Capitalist to get together than it is for persons of different faiths to be made one in the Body of Christ.

The reason for this is the fact that in the one instance you are dealing with earthly things which can in time be proven true or false, whereas in the other you are dealing with spiritual realities not susceptible to physical proof.

The personal teaching of Jesus for three years was not sufficient to make his own disciples one. That is the reason he prayed for help, repeating the same request five times — "That they all may be one," not because he did not realize that he was heard the first time but because the vision of the need was so great.

Three main sources of division among the followers of Christ have been: 1. Efforts to stereotype Christian experiences to a fixed formula. 2. Radical insistence on certain forms and ceremonies as essential to salvation. 3. Fanatical devotion to ideas and theories of men.

How it must grieve the heart of God to see puny men and women rise up in their ignorant self-will and insist that their theory of religion is absolute and that a failure to harmonize with it will bring damnation.

Hear the label — "My church is the only true church." "You must be baptized in water by immersion." "The true immersion method is the only proper mode of baptism." "You must be baptized in Jesus' name to be saved." "Saturday is the only true Sabbath." "If you have never spoken in tongues you have never been baptized with the Holy Ghost." "You are not sound in doctrine if you do not teach sanctification as a second, definite work of grace." "Are you pre-millennial in your prophetic views?" "If you do not believe in methodical observance of the Lord's Supper we cannot fellowship you," and so on into the night of division ad infinitum.

What can be done to stop this babel of confusion? Our only hope is Christ who came to give us life, in the consciousness of which there is that Oneness for which he prayed. This is where all true believers may unite. Those who refuse to do so are fighting against God and doing despite to the spirit of grace.

Are you willing to let God make you one in the Body of Christ? If not, why not? Why do you object to this? Why do you hold back? Ah, I am afraid it is because you are a Pharisee? You cling, as they did, to your forms and ceremonies, your religious practices and beliefs. They are dearer to you than the life of the Son of God who loved you and gave himself for you. Beware, lest you crucify him anew upon a cross of churcharity!

Real Estate Sales Up

Richard Funk, appraisal and statistical chairman of the United Northwestern Realty association and the western Wayne county Board of Realtors reported this week that April sales for the organization were $6,149,055, the highest single month in more than three years.

Funk said the volume of business in the first quarter of this year is 14 percent above 1958. This dramatic rise, he said, reflects the more realistic attitude that has been taken by the sellers since the first of the year. Properties that are priced right have been selling.

READERS SPEAK:

Boys' Prank Almost Fatal

To the Editor: May 4, 1959

Yesterday an incident occurred which nearly resulted in injury or death to me, and I am sending this on to you in the hope that if some mention could be made of it in our paper, perhaps the boys responsible will see it, and they and others like them would realize how easily their thoughtlessness could cause a real tragedy.

While riding my horse along the shoulder of Grand River yesterday, just opposite Al's Market five teenage boys on motor scooters rode past, and when they saw the horse they swerved toward us shouting and making their vehicles sputter and backfire. My horse bolted, and only by sheer luck did I miss being thrown directly into the path of a car. Before I could get my horse under control the boys had turned and were heading back at us again. This time my horse was completely panic stricken, and I couldn't control him at all. Luckily, some of the residents in the neighborhood saw my predicament and came running out to help. They had me bring my horse up into their yard for safety. By this time these boys had turned again, and were coming back at us for the third time, however, one lady ran out and shouted at them that she was calling the police, so they left.

None of us knew the names of these boys, but they were all old enough to know what they were doing. A younger child on a panicky horse could so easily have been killed, and yet these boys thought it was a good joke. I wonder if they would have thought it equally as funny if I had landed in the ditch with a broken neck or back?

In our town there are many folks who enjoy the sport of horseback riding. On behalf of all of them, couldn't this in some way be brought to the attention of the people so that the next time a driver on the highway sees a horse and rider, he will resist the impulse to blast his horn or backfire his motor, and thus insure the safety of some young, or even adult, rider?

Thank you very much for reading this, and for giving me the opportunity of bringing the problem of us "horse lovers" before the public.

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO . . .

Mrs. Arthur Carlson — whose activities span everything from civil defense and the Red Cross to Brownies and the American Legion — was named Northville's "Citizen of the Year".

Northville's Walter L. Couse was elected president of the Greater Detroit board of commerce.

With the deadline for filing petitions three days away, Northville's board of education had but two candidates for a single vacancy to be filled at the June 9 election.

An added attraction was coming up at the annual AMVET beauty contest. The famous Glenn Miller orchestra, under Ray McKinley, was to play for dancing both before and after judging at Walled Lake Casino.

Novi residents got their first look at their proposed village charter in the Novi community building. Comments and criticism of the charter were studied.

The campaign to beautify Northville started right at street level on opening day, May 1.

A hearty crew of merchants and Chief Bill McGee's fire department gave Main and Center streets a scrubbing the likes of which had never been seen before.

The resignation of Wilson Funk, director of recreation for the village of Novi since 1949, was announced by R. D. Merriam, chairman of the Northville Recreation committee.

A Northville resident, Fredrick J. Collins, 164 East Cady, was chosen to head the Turning Wheel Toastmasters club of Detroit.

Nearly 700 residents of Northville and vicinity were visitors to the Northville State hospital, as the institution threw open its doors for the third annual open house.

A proclamation was issued by Village President Claude N. Ely calling for residents to "accept their responsibility for a clean community" and to join in the effort to make Northville more beautiful. Building construction in Northville is on the increase, and already is running far ahead of last year, Building Inspector Stanley Waterloo reported to the village commission Monday night.

All dog owners are warned by Village Health Commissioner V. George Chabut to keep their pets muzzled and on a leash. His warning came after discovery that three persons of Northville and Salem were bitten by a rabid dog.

Out of 22 Northville high school candidates, Coach LeCronier had a regular starting lineup that looked like this: Cole, CF; Croll, 2b; Slesor, P; Light, SS; Crawford, C; Holman, 1; Rutenbar, LF; Bulman, RF; Siclovian, 3b; plus Hardesty and Cox as challengers to any position that needs bolstering.

R. E. Geraghty, carrier for Route 1, Northville, was in charge of a get-together sponsored by the Rural Letter Carriers' association of Oakland and Wayne counties. Del Hahn, village president,

Reveal 2 Highway Projects

Work has started on a temporary connection with US-23 and US-16 in Livingston county, the state highway department announced this week.

The $28,030 project, which calls for 0.4 of a mile of 22-foot-wide bituminous concrete surfacing on Culver road, will carry eastbound traffic from US-23 to the Farmington-Brighton expressway.

The connection is expected to eliminate a bottleneck at the junction of US-23 and US-16 caused by left turns off US-23.

Department officials also announced that the initial contract on the conversion of Southfield road to expressway standards in the Detroit area has been scheduled for the May 20 letting.

Southfield road will be converted into a six-lane expressway from Northwestern highway in Oakland county, south to the Detroit Industrial expressway in Wayne county, about 13 miles, along the existing roadway.

The conversion of Southfield will cost an estimated $31 million and the entire route is expected to be under contract by September, 1960.

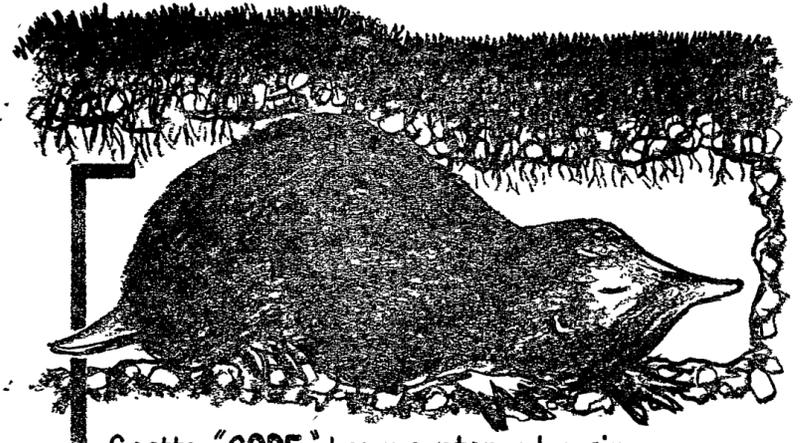

Vehicle bridges are planned at Plymouth, Fullerton, Schoolcraft, Grand River and Eight Mile roads, as well as several other crossings.

"Miraculous" Jet Crash Stuns Entire Community

Reactions were mixed last week as the silver dart plunged to earth and spewed flaming metal and fuel hundreds of feet through a quiet Northville neighborhood.

Neighbors close to the scene "froze" as the earth trembled; others ran shaking, shouting from their homes.

A young girl ran screaming down Cady street — uninjured, just scared. Another little girl pointed at the pilot floating to earth and told her mother, "Here comes Jesus."

Shoppers on downtown streets just two blocks away from the crash watched the bright orange and white parachute against the blue sky.

Merchants came out of their business places to follow the pointing fingers skyward. Few wondered from where or why the figure floated in the sky. They just stood there fascinated by the unfamiliar sight.

Excitement spawned exaggeration. Rumors spread. And even after the excitement died down, many stories were incoherent.

Some of the following statements by persons close to the crash scene or by persons who saw the control-frozen jet are somewhat contradictory. But they tell the same story: "It was a miracle."

Archie Williams, 547 West Main, an ex-air force veteran, said he heard the plane "make one pass around the city. I was standing by the porch when it hit. It blew up right after — or just about after — the impact. There were fires on the roofs and in my yard. There wasn't any damage except by the tourists walking across the lawn."

"It cracked our front windows," said Patti Rahaley, 14, of 110 South Rogers. "I heard the plane coming, then the noise. When I looked out there was a flash of flames all over the neighborhood."

Mrs. Harriet Angel of 504 West said she left her house an hour before the crash. No one else was in her frame house located next door to the crash scene. "When I got back, I saw all those cars. My garage was burned on one side, and there was a lot of damage to my yard and garden."

Mrs. Warren Bogart, 221 Lake street, was in her back yard when she saw the run-away jet. "There was a big puff after he bailed out. It started to circle and I thought sure it was going to hit his chute. Then the plane headed for the area where it crashed."

"I thought it was some school buses backfiring," said Miss Ada Roe, of 508 West Cady, who will be 90 in August. The plane crashed in Miss Roe's vegetable garden in the rear of her home.

"I was just sitting here (in the living room) when I heard that awful crash. Some school buses had just passed and I thought they were backfiring. I ran to the front door. But there wasn't anything there, just little fires starting up in everyone's yard."

"My neighbor from across the way told me a plane had crashed in my backyard. I went to the back, but couldn't see much — just billows of awful black smoke. When it cleared I could see the wing."

"Poor Ray (Ray Coleman, 78-year-old caretaker for Miss Roe), it was his garden. He had it growing so nice — green onions, and the lettuce was almost ready."

"I've lived here ever since my family built the house 64 years ago. It's the worst thing that ever happened. And all this publicity, it's just something."

"The whole house vibrated. My first thought was that an automobile had struck the house because I live on the corner (521 West Cady)," Mrs. Lyla Hunter recalled.

"Two school buses had just gone by and I prayed no one was hurt. There were billows of smoke across the street. I didn't know it was an airplane crash; thought it was some gas equipment blown up."

"Miss Roe saw me and asked what happened. We walked through her house to the back porch and saw it. A neighbor later told us it was a plane."

Mrs. Roland Tabor, 537 West Main, was home alone when she heard the approaching plane. "I thought the house was exploding. I ran to the front door and then heard the explosion in the back of the house. I went to the back and saw all the black smoke in the yard behind us."

"I was talking long distance to my husband in Detroit when I heard it," said Mrs. James Darnell, 514 West Cady. "My golly! There's an awfully low plane, I told him. Then I glanced out the window as it crashed in the back yard next door."

"I left my husband there dangling on the line and ran out the door. The impact just shook the whole house. First the impact, then ugly black smoke, dust and dirt, and then an explosion."

"My two children were playing on the opposite side of the garage. Thank God. The garage saved them — it was on fire, burning on the other side."

"Oh yes, I went back (to the phone) and told him what happened."

Harry Smith, principal of Main street elementary school was inside the school when the plane crashed just 100 yards away.

"The crash shook the building," he said. "I called the fire department — then I went out."

Miss Alice Ansback, school secretary, said it was a "miracle" that the plane didn't destroy the entire neighborhood. "I never saw such a horrible sight," she said.

Muriel LeFevre, 13, of 591 North Cady, said she was home alone with her mother when the plane crashed across the street. "I was sleeping and my mother was resting. She heard the plane coming and ran to get me. We got to the back door just as it hit. Then we saw the parachute."

A section of the plane ripped through the front window of the LeFevre's home and landed beneath a television set. There was no damage except to the window and the curtains. Despite the crash and explosion, it was the only window broken.

Nearly 25 children were seated in a bus parked behind the high school not much more than 300 yards away.

The school bus driver, Darwin Teska, admitted he was "plenty scared." "I saw the plane coming at me. I thought it was going to hit the bus. But it went over the school. I saw a lot of black smoke and knew it had crashed."

Leo Harrowood, Novi service station owner and private pilot, said he and several other men saw the plane "acting up" from his station.

"It flew over the station on a south-easterly course, between 350-400 miles per hour. Near Northville it suddenly darted straight up. I thought he was stunting. He made an inside roll, then a figure-8 loop, and drifted down on a southwesterly course. He went behind the trees over Northville and I thought sure he must have tapered off and headed away out of sight."

Harrowood said he did not see the pilot bail out of the plane.

"My heart stopped when I saw the empty back yard," Rev. John O. Taxis (at right), pastor of the First Presbyterian church said as he described what he saw as he raced to the King home after the crash.

Rev. Taxis' daughter, Barbara, 6, was playing in the King's backyard when the plane roared down out of the sky.

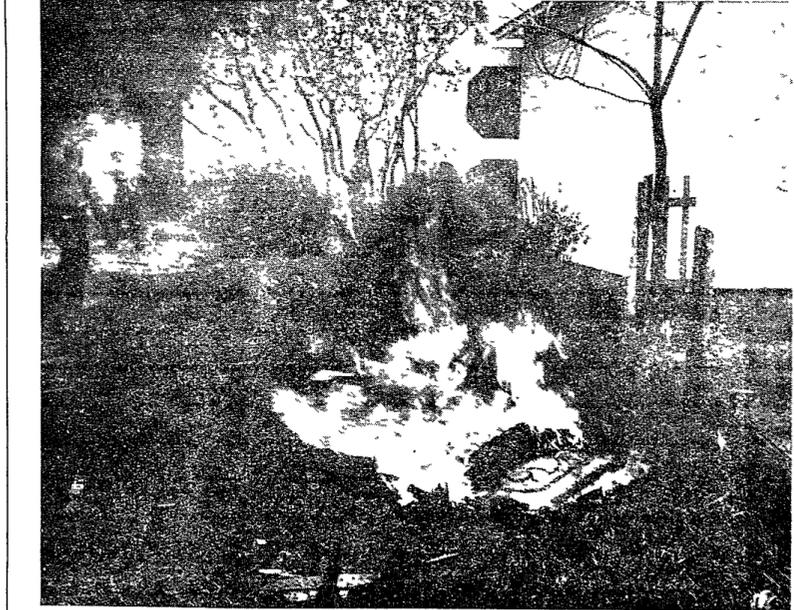

The minister was mowing his lawn on Main street when he saw the jet "dive straight down" into the garden behind the King home.

Without shutting off the power mower — which ended up in a hedge — Rev. Taxis raced down Roger and up the King driveway. The backyard, where the children had been playing was empty.

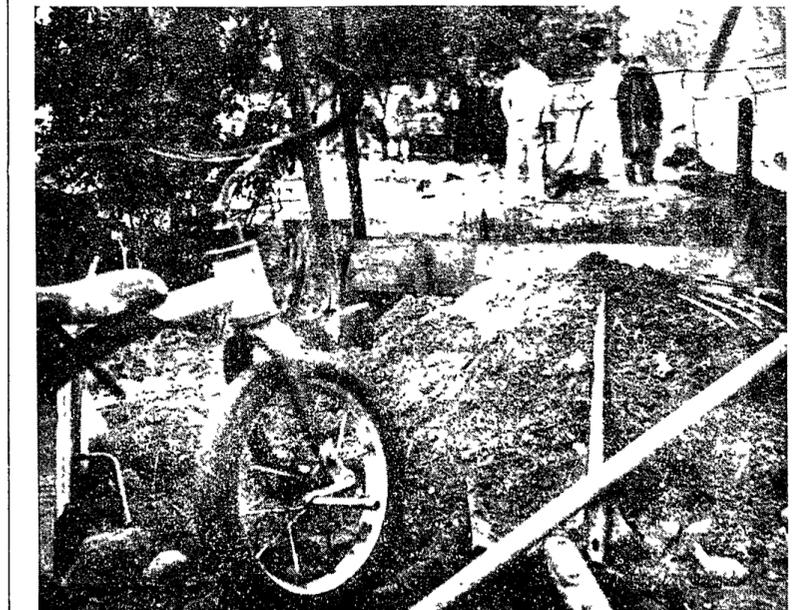

Six-year-old Patricia King was on the back porch. She was screaming with fear and pain as fire ate away at her clothing. "I turned her over my knee and stripped off her dungarees and polo shirt."

Meanwhile, David King, 9, ran screaming about inside the house as his mother telephoned for an ambulance.

Fred Casterline, the ambulance driver, arrived only a few minutes later. He had watched the plane crash and was already on his way when the distress call came in.

Impact and explosion hurled flaming metal in all directions. Above is a section of the plane which is believed to have burned the King children who were playing just behind the fence.

The roaring plane hurtled down out of the sky and plowed into the ground only a few feet from the area in which the King children played.

First Pictures, Reactions of Witnesses Tell the Story

Firemen pour water on the still smouldering jet.

The tangled remains twisted beyond recognition lying almost exactly in the center of neighborhood backyards.

A section of the plane ripped through the front window of the LeFevre home on Cady and landed beneath the television set.

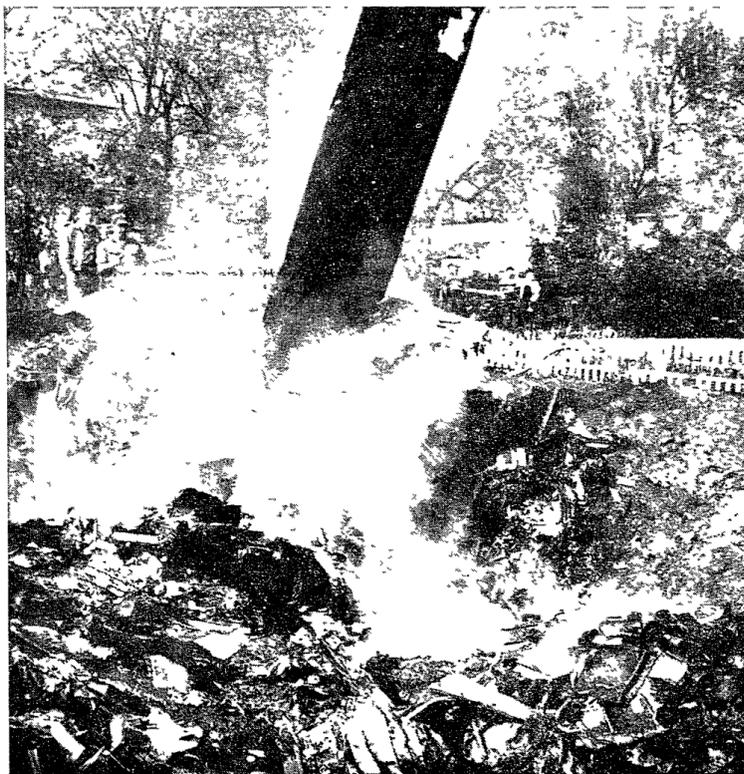

The impact of the crash hurled this seat section high into a tree several hundred feet from the mangled plane.

Firemen cleaned smoking debris from the roof of the house located next door to the crash scene.

Main street elementary school is visible in the background, scarcely 100 yards away.

Spreading fire was quickly brought under control by Northville firemen.

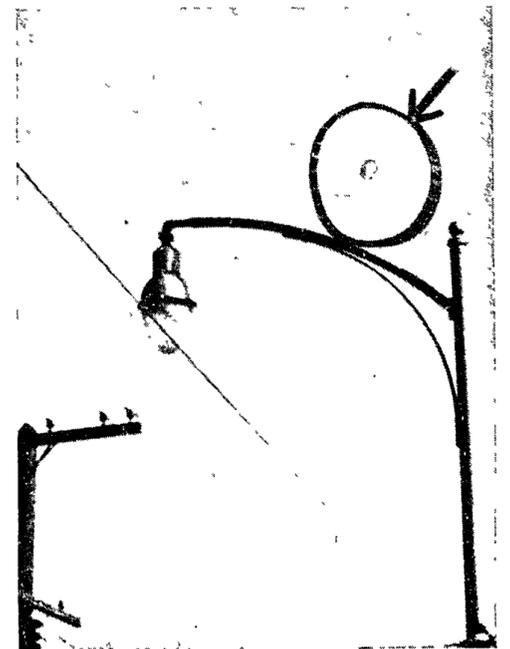

Parts of the fallen jet were strewn throughout area backyards.

Water filled the hole—estimated at 10 feet deep—after the flames were finally extinguished.

Army personnel from Detroit Metropolitan air field examine remains of the jet.

Barely visible is the parachuting Major John Mouttier as he hung above the city.

SPEAKING for the Record

by BILL SLIGER

Next Monday Northville property owners will again be asked to vote approval of a $300,000 water improvement program.

As most readers know, last February the measure was defeated by five "yes" votes. You also know that The Record strongly supported the proposal and, frankly, felt as "let down" as the city council when the necessary 60 percent approval missed narrowly.

Nothing has happened in the meantime to change the attitude of The Record. I believe the council acted in the best interests of the public by calling for another vote.

The position of the council is frustrating. But this is not unique to Northville. Many other public-serving bodies have worked earnestly to develop projects sorely needed only to be set back by the natural voter tendency to vote no on any bonding issue.

I do not believe that it is necessary to again outline the water bond program. The council's information campaign and news stories on the measure have provided all the details for voters who are interested.

Complacency will kill the bond program, if it is to fail again. Those citizens who have been interested enough to elect a city council should also take the time to follow the progress of their elected officials and register an opinion at the polls.

Last February about one-third of the eligible voters went to the polls.

A heavy vote—even one that firmly rejected the measure—would be far more satisfying to the council. Members would then know that the public was at least interested in what the council was doing.

Sooner or later the improvements must come. The larger lines, the elimination of "deadends" to provide better circulation, the additional storage and steady pressure that is not dependent upon mechanical pumps in constant operation, additional fire hydrants and additional cut-off valves to isolate trouble areas—all must be provided. Already the council has approved part of the program—the development of a new well site and water lines for the high school—as immediately necessary.

The only sensible means of financing, unless general funds are to be used, is by general obligation bonds to be retired by revenues of the water department.

With so many projects facing our growing community it would be a heavy load off the shoulders of the council if the water system improvements could be neatly tucked away as a financial responsibility of the water rates.

There were at least two immediate reactions to the spectacular crash of an army jet in the midst of a Northville residential area last Friday.

To the persons interested in the re-instatement of Sessions hospital on a full scale operating basis it was graphic proof of the advantages of having a community hospital. The King children were adequately taken care of at Archison clinic before being transferred to Sinai hospital, but it's only a miracle that the tragedy did not involve more persons and require more medical facilities.

Secondly, it pointed up the need for an active civil defense unit, coincidentally, enough, the Rev. Peter Niewkoop made an appearance before the city council just last week suggesting that Northville should have such a unit. While state police drew high praise from local officials for their work here, a trained group of volunteers to control the crowds would have freed police for more important duties.

My brief stay at the hospital and a recuperative period at home ended this week.

While hospitals are never like home, I found Mt. Sinai most pleasant and restful. I also had a chance to do some reading for enjoyment and can recommend "Anatomy" to anyone as an excellently written and most interesting novel.

At home my attempts to organize my wife's daily work routine met with a complete lack of appreciation, so I went back to more reading and pounding the typewriter.

I deeply appreciate the many cards, calls and letters from friends in Northville, Novi and Wixom.

It was a little difficult to laugh, however, after I received the same comment three-times on different cards: "The paper never looked better".

"It's All the Other Guy's Fault," say Politicos

POLITICAL leaders are watching the 1959 off-year with odd fascination.

It is an unusual year of jockeying for 1960 position, with the public sentiment ebbing, then blaring. Republicans and Democrats alike hope they are getting the message exclusively.

In the heat of the state's financial problems, both Gov. Williams and Republicans in the legislature are vying for the designation of martyr while trying to tag the opponent with the tar of villainy.

Williams made himself unpopular for a time by asking to use the veterans' Trust Fund temporarily to bolster the state's finances during a period of emergency.

Democrats refused to provide enough votes to put a sales tax increase on the April 6 ballot, a move Republicans believed was the desire of the voters, if a tax were needed.

Williams' proposal to take the Veterans' Trust Fund was first defeated, then revived by Republicans, who later insisted a use tax, the equivalent of a sales tax increase, be enacted to pay the money back.

By holding back on Williams' plan to use the Trust Fund, the Republicans aided Williams to assume the martyr's role.

Williams, ordering payless paydays, blasted the legislative Republicans. After days of drumfire on the subject, legislators took on martyrdom.

SENTIMENT is gathering steam for a constitutional convention or, if that fails, reapportionment of the legislature because of the conditions of 1959.

Democrats long have contended that the legislature now represents more "area" than people. Republicans answer that all interests, area as well as people, should have a voice.

The fight goes on, but observers are watching 1959, for tips on what they can expect in 1960.

CITIZENS in more than 500 communities in Michigan will pay tribute to the industries, businesses, farms, services and other activities which provide their livelihood during Michigan Week.

The state was publicized as a poorhouse in the midst of plenty in the nation's leading periodicals so the chore of Michigan Week, May 17-23, will be harder this year. It is the sixth year of the celebration.

Its purpose is to publicize the state as a good place to live and to do business, both on a national scale and among Michigan's own residents. The financial crisis has brought the state much unfavorable publicity and misunderstanding. Residents can minimize this reaction by their display of pride and confidence.

LAWYERS gathered at their new state headquarters in Lansing May 1 to celebrate "Law Day" and inspect the $300,000 building of the State Bar of Michigan.

Chief Justice John R. Dethmers, of the Michigan Supreme Court, reiterated the creed that "ours is a civilization of laws, not of men."

May 1 was selected as the day for the annual observance because of that date's significance to the world.

"The vitality of our legal system, so essential to maintaining our freedoms, depends on broad public understanding and support," said Gov. Williams, himself a lawyer.

YOUTHS get in trouble because of adults.

That was the theme of Dr. Ralph D. Rabinovich, superintendent of Hawthorn Center, a mental hospital for children.

One of the points made by Dr. Rabinovich is that adults fail to give children the responsibilities they are capable of handling.

Too much emphasis, he said, is placed on the money values of learning, and not enough on the value of education for its own sake. "About 75 percent of mentally ill children are basically neglected; brutalized by factors in their family or community," he said.

THOUSANDS of unlicensed drivers are on Michigan's highways, according to the estimate of the licensing section of the Secretary of State. You may be one of these, so check the expiration date on your license right now.

Three years ago as a money saving move it was decided to stop sending individual notices to drivers when their licenses expired. The expiration date was fixed to coincide with his birthday. Since licenses expire every third year, many people seem to be forgetting. Result: many drivers on the road illegally; the state loses revenue when it needs it badly.

How You Can Prepare for Inflation

Babson Park, Mass. — Almost everybody knows the story about the man who long ago told his people that years of draught would sooner or later result in a deluge, and that they should prepare for such a catastrophe. His name was Noah. Few listened to him and even fewer took the trouble to arrange their affairs with the future in mind. Noah insisted life could be met head on by those who prepared for it. You know the rest of the story.

All of us will be confronted, sooner or later, with the need to save for that inevitable "rainy day". It may result from an earthquake, a flood, a world war, or something else. Whether we shall ride out the storm or sink in a leaky boat depends upon how well we plan for tomorrow. Just now this "something else" which confronts all of us is the problem of inflation. I will not describe it or tell you how to avoid it. Advice on this you are continually being given. I dread it and understand its sad possibilities. Yet, every young parent should realize that 10 years from now his savings for educational purposes may buy only half the education he expected to purchase for his children; and 25 years from now he may find that his retirement income or life insurance provides only one-third the standard of living he had anticipated. The way old Noah would prepare now for such a possibility would be by increasing his life and fire insurance.

Look At The Record

Do you realize that since 1947-49 the cost of living has risen 24 percent. This is about two and one-half percent per year. In this same period total personal income for all groups of workers has risen about 25 percent. But some groups—namely unionized manufacturing workers—are now getting 58 percent more pay than they did ten years ago. Surely they are preparing for inflation with a vengeance. However, large numbers of other workers have failed even to keep pace with the 24 percent increase in the cost of living—have not even maintained their 1947-49 standard of living. Are you one of these? If so, read on! Creeping inflation will continue, followed possibly, sooner or later, by another big spurt of inflation, probably caused by another world war. In order to offset both creeping and ultimate spiraling inflation, you should act now! Have in your home this motto: "Remember Noah—Prepare Now for Inflation." Too bad—but it is sure to come.

What To Buy Now

Most common stocks will not help you combat inflation. Please do be careful. On the basis of every possible yardstick of value, good productive land now appears more valuable than anything else. Hence, if you want common stocks, buy common stocks based upon metals, oils, and other assets which should increase your buying power during creeping inflation. At the same time keep a good bank account which will enable you to buy more stocks when the crash comes. Investment advisors will help you with this problem.

Put some of your earnings into a home furnished with real antiques, and into acreage in areas that are bound to appreciate in value—particularly areas of great population growth. It may be wise to buy some good tax-free bonds. These should be ideal for educational funds. Ordinarily bonds are not recommended to combat inflation. But at current low prices and relatively high yields, some of such tax-free bonds should, in the present situation, be good inflation hedges.

Some economists believe that the population increase will make antiques more valuable as time goes on. There are, of course, many other ways to combat inflation. I have purchased young timber lands, orchards, or hillside farms, lakes or rivers. Certainly these things will increase in value through growth as well as inflation. Even these have real risks, such as drought, fire, hurricanes and diseases. Therefore, you could get seriously hurt if all your funds were in such investments. Hedging against inflation requires diversification. Be sure, therefore, that you have enough cash, or the kind of assets that will bring you quick cash in an emergency—so that you can buy common stocks at the bottom when the next major stock market decline comes.

130 Attend Banquet Sponsored by Ladies Aid

Close to 130 persons attended the annual Mother-Daughter banquet last week at the Salem Federated church. The event was sponsored by the Ladies Aid of the church.

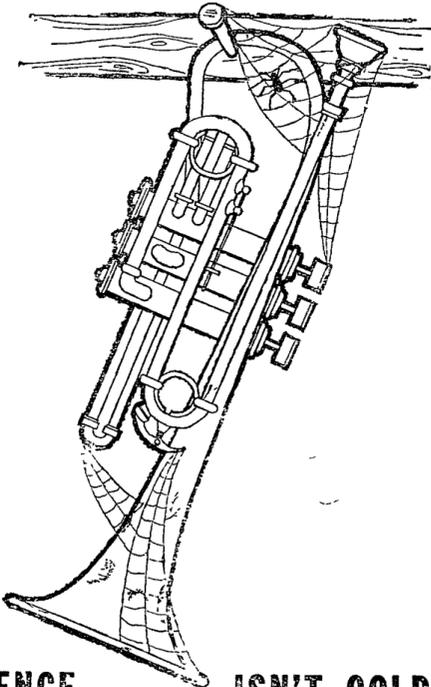

Mrs. Pauline, 79, was honored for being the oldest mother, and Mrs. Lois Forester, 18, was the youngest. The Wilson and Rakestraw families were represented by four generations of mothers and daughters.

Mary Reeves was the featured singer.

Novi Mission Church To Hold Sunday Service

The first service of the new Novi Mission church, United Church of Christ, will take place at 10:30 Sunday at the union hall across from the village and township offices.

Rev. Dr. John B. Forsyth and Rev. Ernest Simon of the Bushnell Congregational church of Detroit will conduct the services on alternate Sundays.

SILENCE ISN'T GOLDEN

It takes a certain amount of horn-blowing to sell a town, and if it seems as though one day long ago somebody put away the horn and it has been forgotten, let's get it out and join the parade. Otherwise we stand aside and watch the parade go by.

If a town wants new industry it must talk up its advantages so industry can hear. Towns too must sell if they are to stay in business, and no town ever sold itself sitting silently by the side of the road.

New industry means more work for people of the community, more dollars in circulation all over the town, more prosperity for you and your neighbors. Your town has a selling message; help make it heard.

If your town is to attract industry, it needs every citizen as a salesman, and in this business there's no such thing as silent selling.
