

Streets Come First in 'Clean-Up' Drive

If you're driving down Main or Center streets early Saturday morning, watch out!

You may be swept "down stream" by the flood of water annually poured over the business district streets in the traditional "kick-off" ceremony of the month long "Beautify Northville" campaign.

"Businessmen and firemen who man the brushes, brooms and hoses will have musical accompaniment from a group of junior high school musicians.

The new touch was added by Chairman John Swain, who perhaps believes that the cleaning crews will "swing and sway" their mops more effectively if a little entertainment is provided.

While the street scrub-down is often marked by pranks and fun-making, it serves as more than a stunt to "ballyhoo" the clean-up campaign.

The merchants, bankers, professional men get downright serious about what they're doing and make the streets "shine" before they are finished.

This year's scrub-down will begin at 7:30 a.m. with Bruce Turnbull and Harry Sedan in charge.

Chairman Swain has outlined a full month of activity.

Saturday, May 7, 40 boys scouts under the direction of Arthur Prodder will plant 100 Austrian pines and 45 flowering crabs along the entranceway to the city on South Main street.

The next Saturday, May 14, $200 in prizes will be offered young artists for the best illustrated plans for redevelopment of the shopping district. William Becker will head this project with assistance from George Beard, professor at University of Detroit.

In addition to high school students, who will compete for $50, college architectural students will be enticed to participate for $150.

The traditional city-wide trash collection will take place Saturday, May 21 with a battery of trucks picking up discards from every residence in the city. Paul Palmer will head this project. A musical touch will be added here, too. Bob Williams of the high school music department will provide the "Hungry Five" combo to lift the job of trash collecting to new "musical" heights.

Members of local service clubs traditionally man the trash trucks, along with scouts and other groups, to carry the debris to the city dump.

More details concerning this year's "Beautify Northville" campaign appear on page 14. Several merchants are offering "clean-up" specials throughout the pages of the paper and on page four a special directory of clean-up, fix-up services is listed. The latter will be a regular feature throughout the month to assist residents in finding desired services.

Call More Hearings On Zoning Issues

The "controversial" measures involved in the zoning of newly annexed areas of Novi to the city of Northville failed to pass the city council Monday night at a meeting attended by approximately 30 interested citizens.

But zoning of the residential areas and the complete text of the revised general zoning regulations were approved without a hitch.

The council heard, and participated in, discussion for more than three hours before calling for a vote on the following issues:

— a corner section, 450 feet along Eight Mile and 600 feet along Taft road, proposed to be "non-conforming" R-1-S (large lot residential) and sought by Owner Gerald Taft to be made M-1 so as not to place any expansion restriction on his existing construction business located at the corner;

— proposed M-1 zoning for two parcels and C-1 zoning for a third owned by the D&R Building company and located generally between Novi road and the company's Yerkes Estates subdivision (the Village Green).

In the first motion of the evening Councilman John Canterbury called for adoption of the zoning document as proposed by the planning commission. His motion died for lack of a second.

Councilman Ed Welch then moved to adopt the entire ordinance with the exception of the three parcels in question.

This carried unanimously and led to a motion by Councilman Richard Juday that all the Taft property with the exception of the corner to be zoned R-1-S. Juday followed with a unanimously carried motion to hold a public hearing June 6 to rezone the Taft corner M-1.

Canterbury then moved that the proposed zoning for the Yerkes Estates area be accepted. Juday seconded the motion, but the measure died, 3 to 2, as Mayor A. M. Allen and Councilmen Earl Reed and Welch voted against the Canterbury-Juday bid.

Councilman Reed then proposed C-2 zoning (commercial) for all three of the Yerkes Estates parcels and called for a public hearing on the proposal for June 6. His motion

New City Hall Suggested

But Study Group Places Conditions on Proposals

Despite lively disagreements that marked the 11 sessions of Northville's City Hall Advisory Committee, the body completed its assignment on schedule this week and submitted its report to the city council.

These conclusions highlighted the study to determine the need for a city hall:

— the community definitely needs a new city hall building;

— the recommended location, in order of preference —

1. Present city hall location
2. Department of public works lot on Cady street
3. Wayne county park property located north of Edward Hines drive and east of the intersection of Hines drive and Fairbrook street

— if the present city hall site is chosen, the committee would recommend a two-level building with approximately 5,000 square feet per level; one level would provide outside access from Main street and the lower level from the rear.

The 20-member committee, which had about a dozen active workers at all meetings, was split on many issues. But the majority was ready to approve the final four-page resume of recommendations Tuesday night.

Named by the city council last February to review the needs for a new city hall, express preference as to location and design, determine facilities to be included in the building and estimate the cost, the committee delved thoroughly into each of its assignments.

Sid Frid was named committee chairman at the initial session.

Formation of the committee came about as a result of the impending school district election (in June) to determine whether or not the school should purchase the community building from the city for an estimated $147,000.

If the sale is transacted, the council has announced its intention of using the funds for new city hall facilities.

In submitting its findings the advisory committee emphasized that its conclusions were "based on the assumption that the community building will be sold and funds used to build and provide necessary furnishings for a new city hall."

There was some suspicion in the minds of a few committee members that their study might be interpreted as an "endorsement" approving the sale of the community building. The committee took the position that this was not the case, and that in following the request of the city council the committee was merely investigating the need for a new facility, providing funds do become available.

In determining the facilities that should be included in the city hall, the committee could not reach final agreement on the matter of library facilities.

Divided in opinion on this, the report concluded that the city council should "give serious consideration to the possibility of incorporating a library in the new city hall building."

Further details of the committee report included:

— the existing building is inadequate to meet the space needs of the various city departments;

— consideration was given to (1) a new building, (2) an existing building (including the present community building, and Detroit Edison building), and (3) remodeling present city hall (called "top costly");

— the committee considered 18 different locations before arriving at the three preferences;

— the committee declined to recommend architectural design without the service of a qualified architect;

— assuming present site is used for new building, suggested lower level with outside entrance from rear (southern side) to house fire department, police cars, heating and cooling equipment, police property room and storage facilities;

— recommended second level (on Main street) with 900 square feet for city clerk and related functions, 450 square feet for city manager and engineering work, 1650 square feet for police department and jail, 1500 square feet for combination court room and council chamber with temporary folding walls to accommodate more than one meeting at a time, and 500 square feet for lavatories and hallways;

— refused to estimate cost without services of architect or builder but strongly suggested that cost should remain within the $147,000 sale price of community building.

Typical of the differences in opinion among the committee were these:

— Chairman Frid believes suggested size is too large ("It's ridiculous for a city this size");

— Clayton Myers opposed large amount of space devoted to police department;

— William Davis believes intelligent report from committee requires services of an architect;

— Mrs. James Green believes that the community building should be kept by the city and renovated for combination city hall and community building use;

— Mrs. Harry Wagenschutz led effort to incorporate library in city hall

Despite the differences, the committee was ready to accept the final report.

Committee Member Charles McDonald summed it up neatly: "It's like the guys that got together to draft the Constitution of the United States. Not all agreed, but basically they felt they had produced a pretty good document."

Members originally invited to serve on the committee were: Charles McDonald, E. H. Smith, Robert Miller, John Kellogg, Clayton Myers, Mrs. Stuart Campbell, Alton Peters, Del Hahn, Sidney Friedman, Charles Altman, Mrs. James Green, Mrs. William Milne, Paul Palmer, Al Smith, Mrs. Arthur Carlson, Wilson Funk, William Davis, George Kohs, Mrs. Harry Wagenschutz and Paul Folino.

Resignations were submitted at the outset by Mrs. Carlson, Kohs, Hahn and Mrs. Milne.

Mrs. Cora McDonald hasn't missed a Tiger opener in Detroit in 25 years. She was there Friday even though it took a wheelchair to get her to her seat.

Cora Made the Opener For 25th Time

Friday, April 22 was a beautiful day for 84-year-old Cora McDonald of Novi.

The sun was shining, the temperature in the high 70's and she was right there — with 53,652 other fans — when the umpire yelled "play ball" to open another Tiger baseball season.

"Best game I've seen since Mickey Cochrane," declared the spry octogenarian.

Mrs. McDonald, who shares her Eleven Mile road home with her nephew and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Monger, hasn't missed a Tiger opening game since the mid-thirties.

"I guess it's been about 25 years," she recalled.

She attended Friday's game with her friend, Mrs. Alma Klammer of Novi.

For a "little here were some doubts about making it to the stadium this year. Mrs. McDonald had been ill — confined to bed — for nearly two months. Then there was the matter of transportation to Detroit.

A niece furnished a ride to the city limits. Then the bus ride downtown followed by lunch and a cab trip to the park.

A short ways up the ramp enroute to their seats Mrs. McDonald realized that her illness had left her weak.

"I couldn't have taken another step, badly as I wanted to see that first pitch," she related. A thoughtful park attendant recognized her difficulty and before she knew it Cora was on her way to her seat via a wheelchair, courtesy of the management.

"By golly, what a crowd. Never saw so many men. You know, there's usually more women at the opening games," she revealed.

Mrs. McDonald reminisced for a moment.

"Whenever we've had good seats, like this year, it usually rained or snowed. I remember one year seeing Tommy Bridges. Then there was Schoolboy Rowe (boy, how he could pitch), Eldon Auker and Goose Goslin. Before my husband died, and we lived in Detroit, we'd go to the games regularly.

"I liked to see the Tigers beat the Yankees — Lou Gehrig, Babe Ruth, Crosetti and Lazzari."

What about the Kuenn-Colavito trade?

"I'm sorry to see Kuenn go — he was one of my favorites. Kaline would have made that catch of a fly ball if Colavito had minded his own business, but I guess he made up for it with that home run with two on."

Who will win the pennant?

"I wouldn't be terribly surprised if the Tigers did. They look like a 'ball team' — full of pep and vinegar."

There was one disappointment, however.

"I didn't see Dykes come out and argue with the umpire. Oh, how that use to amuse me!"

Another problem are those "dumb clucks" who ring bells and the men who get up and come back every inning. "It makes me mad and I tell them off."

Ah, but it was a beautiful day — best since Mickey Cochrane.

Cora won't forget it. And even her final words didn't dim her enthusiasm.

"It was probably my last game," she concluded.

Pick Nineteen Youths For Legion Boys' State

An army of 19 Northville-Nowi area boys will invade Lansing on June 16 for a week-long governmental pow-wow sponsored by the American Legion.

The Northville delegation attending this year's Boys' State program, June 16 to 23, is the largest in the history of the event. All of the boys, except Mike Heslip of the University of Detroit high school, are students at Northville high.

The boys and their individual sponsors are: Jim Petrock, VFW; Fred Steeper, Meadowbrook Country club; Dick Willing, Masonic Lodge; Jerry Forbes, C. R. Ely & Sons; Mike Adas, Exchange club; Jim Tuck, American Legion; Gary Kohs, Optimist club; Dick Bathey, Catholic Men's club; Bob Nauman, P-TA; Doug Tyler, Optimist club; Bill Gallagher, Methodist Men's club; Don Lawrence, Junior chamber of commerce; Dennis Gilbert, Novi township; Steve Juday, Optimist club; Mike Myers, Eagles; Eddie Beard, Ford Local; Kent Frid, Rotary club; Philip Simenton, Novi chamber of commerce, and Mike Heslip, Novi Farm Bureau.

Officials of the local unit of the American Legion have stated that other area groups and organizations may still sponsor a local boy for Boys' State. Interested groups are asked to contact the American Legion.

Cost of individual sponsorship, which does not include transportation expenses, is $46.

Boys' State was originally and primarily remains an American Legion sponsored program — but all patriotic and civic organizations interested in a better citizenry are invited to cooperate.

Only sophomore or junior high school students are chosen to attend

Boys' State so that they can return the following year and report what they have learned about the operation of their government to fellow students.

Preliminary tabulations of Northville's city population left officials here "stunned" this week.

According to figures released by Jack H. McDonald, district census supervisor, the city count is 3,865 — a gain of 17 percent over the 1950 census count of 3,297.

More alarming to Mayor A. M. Allen and City Manager John Robertson is the fact that Northville actually recorded a loss of six people in the Wayne county section of the city since 1950.

A breakdown of the unofficial figures shows that there are 2,975 residents in the Wayne county area of the compared to 2,981 in 1950.

In the rapidly growing northern Oakland county section there are 890 residents now, compared to 316 in 1950.

While the tabulations are not final, McDonald stated that they are "very close" and indicated that only minor changes would take place.

Because of the concern over the population drop in the city's Wayne county section, McDonald "double checked". He stated his census supervisor for the area reported "numerous vacant apartments and houses".

City Manager Robertson said that something like 60 new homes had been built in the Wayne county (or older) area of the city in the past 10 years. "Only about 10 have been torn down. I figured the population would be about 3,300 in this section," he added.

Mayor Allen's predictions for the entire city population ran over 4,500.

The 17 percent increase can cost the city money. State returns for intangible, sales, motor vehicle and highway taxes are paid on the basis of population. It is estimated that the average increase throughout the state may reach 25 percent. Using this figure, the city would receive an eight percent cut in revenue returns.

Township figures, also expected this week, have not yet been tabulated. Because institution population is counted (Maybury, Wayne County Training School, Northville State Hospital), the township is certain to record a strong gain.

Township population figures in 1950 (without Northville State Hospital) were 4,184. Estimates in 1959 by the Detroit Metropolitan Regional Planning Commission placed the township population at 7,700.

In neighboring communities Plymouth showed a 31 percent gain from 6,637 in 1950 to 8,715. Livonia has had a whopping 276 percent increase growing in 10 years from 17,534 to 66,080.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schulz are happy newcomers to Northville. They moved from an apartment in Detroit to a spacious tri-level home in wooded Whipple Estates.

The William Schulz's are newcomers but not strangers to Northville. Mr. Schulz is a brother to Mrs. John Northup of Clement road. Furthermore, in one of his several business interests, Mr. Schulz is associated with his brother-in-law in the home construction field.

So, naturally, the Schulz's new tri-level home at 47010 West Main street was constructed by the John Northup firm.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Schulz are career people.

While her husband is busy being an executive engineer for Continental Motors, an associate in the building business, and a registered stock broker, Mrs. Schulz could be traveling throughout the country performing her duty as buyer of junior dresses for the J. L. Hudson company.

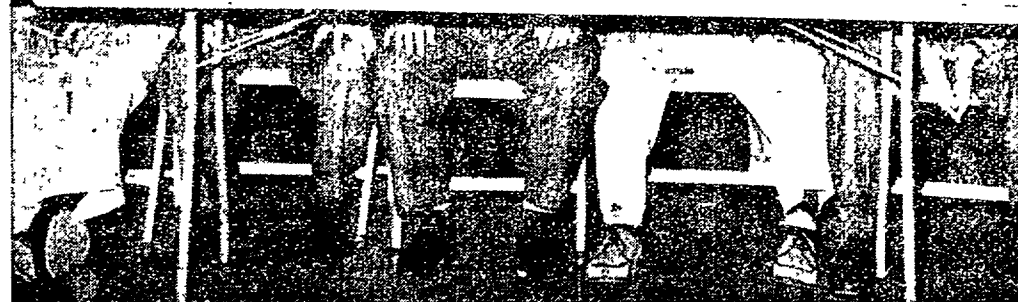

Mrs. Schulz (Betty) has been with Hudson's for six years. She is a commercial art graduate of Michigan State university and enjoys copper enameling and making the family Christmas cards as hobbies.

Mr. Schulz holds three degrees in mechanical engineering, automotive engineering and business administration. He was graduated from the University of Michigan and received degrees from the Chrysler Institute and the University of Detroit.

The Schulz's moved to Northville from Detroit in December. After apartment living, they are enjoying the spaciousness of their home and lot — which will keep them busy this summer in their spare, after-work hours.

Next Sunday the Schulz's home will be featured on television's Builders' Showcase.

MSU Professor to Discuss Teaching Gifted Children

The Citizens' Curriculum Study Group will open the next meeting to the public.

A special speaker, Dr. William K. Durr from Michigan State university will discuss "Trends in Education of the Academically Superior Child". Dr. Durr teaches a methods course to teachers on how to teach the gifted child. Questions from the committee have been provided Dr. Durr as a basis for his talk.

Because of the widespread interest in the problems of education of the academically superior child, the committee decided that the opportunity to hear Dr. Durr should be extended to all interested persons. The meeting will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the junior high school library.

Home Economics Group Plan Dinner Meet

Are our expectations too great for our children's age level and physical capabilities?

The Robinson group of the Michigan Home Economics Cooperative Extension were asked this question and given suggestions for better understanding their children by Mrs. Roy Birmingham and Mrs. Norman Frid at their meeting last Thursday.

Mrs. John Ort, co-hostess, served cheese cake and coffee following the meeting at the home of Mrs. Alfred Brewer, both of Plymouth.

Plans were discussed for the county-wide craft school April 26 and 27 and the Achievement Night dinner May 10, at which Mrs. G. Mennen Williams will be the guest speaker.

At Northville State Hospital

Open House this Sunday For Mental Health Week

A variety of programs with a singleness of purpose marks 1960 Mental Health Week activities planned at Ypsilanti, Pontiac and Northville State hospitals during the first week in May. Each of the three hospitals, because of the number of visitors expected, will be planning to use staff members, volunteers, and patients as tour guides.

In line with general hospital policy relating to the visiting of children, Northville State hospital is providing supervised play programs during the Open House periods for children 14 and under.

Superintendent Philip N. Brown, M.D., announced that the theme, "Operation Friendship", which is this year being repeated as a national slogan for the second time due to the public's response, will be translated into a "Progress Report to the Community".

Tours for the general public will be conducted on Sunday from 1 to 3:30 p.m. with Open House continuing until 5 p.m.

During the same afternoon a program of medical interest is planned for the doctors in this area by Jacob Miller, M.D., co-clinical director. Tours will be conducted by the medical staff by doctors and their wives. If possible, doctors in the area are encouraged to call the hospital to indicate their interest in attending this special program.

Public officials will be guests at Northville State hospital on Tuesday afternoon. That evening at 7:45 p.m. a mental health education film, "Shyness", and discussion in the hospital auditorium, to which the general public is invited, will be given by Wallace Watt, educational consultant of the Michigan State Department of Mental Health. Representatives of P-TA councils throughout the area have assisted the hospital staff in planning the Parents' Day program on Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. of tours, a discussion period, and a luncheon. Reservations should be made through individual parochial and public school Parent-Teacher association and councils. In addition to Mr. Watt, Dr. Robert Yoder, assistant superintendent of the hospital and Charles Green, hospital director of special education, serving on the panel, Paul Harris of Royal Oak, mental health chairman of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, will serve to answer questions raised by the parents after their tours of the hospital.

As a part of the emphasis upon community interpretation, but falling outside the dates of Mental Health Week itself, is a program for the Northwest Ministerial association Thursday, April 21, and a reception and opening of the Hospital Lobby Gift Shop, sponsored by the Northville State Hospital auxiliary at 2 p.m. Tuesday, May 10. To the latter program, all women in the area interested in auxiliary work are invited to attend.

Northville City Council Proceedings

Regular meeting of Northville City Council was held Monday Eve., Apr. 18th, 1960, at 8 p.m.

Present: Mayor Allen, Councilmen Canterbury, Juday, Reed and Welch. Minutes of last regular meeting read and approved.

Bills amounting to $18,153.00 from the General Fund, $66,763.56 from the Other Government Fund, $1,092.74 from the Water Fund and $29,740.05 from the Water Construction Fund were presented, and it was moved by Juday, supported by Reed, and these bills be allowed and paid. Carried.

Communication was read from the Oakwood Assn., Inc., requesting a moratorium on sidewalk ordinance until such time as conditions pertaining to roads become more stable. The City Council wants it made clear that it is not the intention to force building of sidewalks unless property owners want them; but so far as the participation of the City in the cost of new sidewalks is concerned the provisions of the ordinance will be adhered to.

Letter was read from Rev. Pankow, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, requesting that the City provide curbs, gutters and pavement for three blocks in the vicinity of their church. Clerk was instructed to write Mr. Pankow that this matter would be considered when discussions are held regarding the 1960-61 budget.

Elmer Balko, President of the Oakwood Assn. was present to discuss with the Council such matters as sidewalks, storm sewers and the cutting off of roads on Base Line Rd. in Oakwood Subdivision. Mgr. Robertson, Mr. Balko, and Engineer Harold Penn will meet to go over this problem.

Recreation Director Kenneth Conley presented his budget for the coming year and explained his program to the Council.

Regarding the request of Northville Twp. Supervisor George Clark

1—CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank my many friends who sent cards and phoned while I was confined in the hospital in Florida. They brought Northville a great deal closer to me and were very much appreciated.

D. J. Stark

I want to thank all my friends and relatives for their kindness during my recent illness. I also want to thank Dr. Dyer and Fred Casterline, the staff of Northville Community General Hospital and the staff at St. Mary Hospital and Dr. Castle.

Frank Heintz, Jr.

I wish to thank the doctors, nurses and nurses aids for the splendid care received at Mt. Carmel hospital. Also Dr. Joseph Woods, relatives, friends, neighbors, Local 960 and Local 749 for the flowers, prayers, gifts and cards. They were all deeply appreciated.

Florence Waterman

The family of Grant H. Power wishes to express its sincere gratitude and appreciation to the following for their kind expressions of sympathy during their bereavement and for the friendship extended during his illness. Friends and neighbors, Casterline Funeral Home, Ladies Aid of the Salem Federated Church, Rev. Richard Burgess, Masonic Lodge 186, for cards and special services, and Drs. Wetterstrom and Atchison.

We would sincerely like to thank our friends for flowers, cards and kind words of sympathy and their kind deeds.

From the family of Floyd Shafer

Novi Highlights . . .

By Mrs. Luther Rix — Fieldbrook 9-2428

A group of friends gave Mr. and Mrs. John Cockrum a surprise housewarming Saturday evening. The home of the Cockrums was ruined by fire in January and they had just moved into their newly finished home on East Grand River. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Anglin, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles VanEvery, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Caliguri, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Grimes and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ward.

passed and the long session ended, at least until June 6.

The evening's discussion was sprinkled with opinions from a variety of quarters — the owners of the land (officials of the D&R Building company), residents in the abutting subdivision, retail merchants interested in keeping the commercial district centralized, and residents of the city at large.

A petition signed by a number of business and professional people asked that the proposed zoning (M-1 and C-1) be accepted. The businessmen fear that the larger parcel at the north end of the property on Novi road (three acres) might become a supermarket site. Developers have denied this possibility, but claim it is more saleable for smaller commercial businesses than for industry.

The D&R officials also have insisted that M-1 would be less desirable than commercial for the residents of the area.

The four home owners represented at the meeting didn't seem sure of this. At least two of them charged the development company with misleading them during negotiations for purchase of their homes by saying the land in question would be given to the city for a park.

It was explained that a portion of the land has been offered the city, but with the stipulation that cost of running services (sewers, power, etc.) through the land to serve other parcels owned by the developers must be paid by the city. So far, the council has been cool to the suggestion.

When pinned down, two of the residents said they would prefer commercial over industrial zoning. Others weren't sure. All of them preferred "no zoning, or residential." The land is not suitable for residential and could not receive financing, it was pointed out.

While Councilman Canterbury upheld M-1 zoning as affording more protection than commercial, he received no support for this view from the council.

Allen, Reed and Welch were firm in their support of the D&R company's request for commercial. Reed's motion to change the zoning to C-2 was a victory for residents of the area who opposed the proposed C-1 classification on one parcel. C-1 permits a gasoline station, C-2 does not.

Only Councilman Canterbury argued that the council should uphold the residential zoning for the Taft corner. Others sided with the company. "Basic type, basement, family room, 2 1/2 car garage, large lot under the 'non-conforming' classification he could not expand, or rebuild in the event of a fire. He called the corner a 'bad one' for residences anyway. Taft owns the land surrounding the corner.

Easter Seal Collections Lag as Drive Nears End

The crippled children and adults of western Wayne county are counting on late returns to bring the 1960 Easter Seal campaign goal closer. Just four days before Easter, contributions were running somewhat behind those of last year, when less than $30,000 of a $50,000 goal came in.

The local program of the Easter Seal Society of western Wayne county is based on this once-a-year campaign for funds. Although special events and contributions for specific purposes come in throughout the year, the Easter Seal campaign, always geared to the Easter season, measures the interest of the general community in maintaining services in western Wayne county for our physically handicapped neighbors. The placement of canisters in business locations, and in some communities school campaigns, or Lily Parades, the person to person appeal supplements the mail distribution of seals.

According to Gill Glasson, local chairman for the sponsoring Northville Rotary club, $868.49 has been collected to date from mail and lily parade solicitation. In 1959 Northville area residents contributed $1,078.49.

The program in western Wayne county includes the maintenance of the Easter Seal Center, headquarters for individual and group services: classes and clubs for physically handicapped young people and adults; a Day Camp for crippled children; a loan closet containing wheelchairs and crutches; information and consultation concerning resources for special help; assistance in arranging transportation to hospitals and clinics; payment for diagnostic examinations, braces or other special equipment when no other resource is available.

Those who did not receive Easter Seals in the mail may send their contributions directly to the Easter Seal Society, Box 101, Inkster, Michigan. Seals are available for use on packages and letters, on requests to the Easter Seal Society.

Parents, Students Forming Proper Conduct Committee

More than 50 junior high school students and parents interested in developing certain standards of conduct for youngsters of this age level met Monday night in the Community Building and decided to organize and expand their program.

The idea came about as the result of a questionnaire dealing with various aspects of student conduct submitted by the school to parents of junior high students earlier this year.

Principal Harry B. Smith and David Jerome, president of the Junior High School Student Council, presided over initial discussion.

David indicated the students had expressed a desire for some pattern to which all parents and students could refer to as a guide to proper conduct in various home, school and social relationships.

Principal Smith stated this was to be a student-parent effort, and the school was only providing an opportunity for the group to meet, organize and develop mutually agreeable tenets in the subject. The success and enforcement of any program devised will be directly related to acceptances and practices of the program in each participating home.

1800 See Young Artists' Exhibit

The Northville Record

THE OLDEST WEEKLY NEWSPAPER IN WAYNE COUNTY — EST. 1868

Thursday, April 28, 1960—9

The paintings exhibited by the young artists included modern, abstract, realistic and portrait studies and lined the walls in the lobby and cafeteria section of the Community Building—as shown above and below.

Woodcraft, ceramics and jewelry items were also featured. The large wood-carving (at left) may not have a practical use, but it could certainly be classified a "conversational" piece.

This portrait in pastel colors drew studied response from visitors.

Commercial illustrations were popular exhibits, like this ski scene.

A group of 45 young artists proved last week end that people will turn out to see exhibits of good art.

And because one of these students of the Detroit Society of Arts and Crafts happened to be a local girl, Delores Teshka, Northville was chosen as the "proving ground".

The two-day showing at the Community Building attracted 1,800 registered visitors. Perfect weather helped make the experiment an overwhelming success.

For Delores it marked her debut as a "promoter". The entire show was her idea. She will graduate this spring, having concluded her fourth year at the Detroit art school.

The exhibit included more than 200 pieces including works in oils, water colors, sculpture, commercial illustrations, lettering, metal craft, jewelry and ceramics.

Delores reported that 10 of the items on display were sold. Incidentally, two of Delores' own exhibits were among those purchased.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Teshka of 215 West Main street.

Her "all student suburban art show" is believed to be the first of its kind. From its success here, undoubtedly it will not be the last.

This group is typical of the young art students who exhibited at the two-day art show in Northville last week end. Each had exhibits on display — and each "pitched-in" to help arrange the displays. Shown (l. to r.) are: Ruby Curry, Beth Farley, Dennis Schommer, Theo Wujcik (kneeling), Walter Chmura, Show Promoter Delores Teshka, Cornelius Shaw (kneeling), Carolyn Morrison, Annette Duquette, Sally Treppa, Gloria Farley and Dennis Plansker (kneeling).

GROUPING THE EARLY GRADES

This is another in the series of articles on education prepared by W. C. Becker and John W. Swain, Jr., both members of Northville's Citizens Curriculum Study Group. This week's article concerns "Ungraded Early Elementary." At the conclusion of the series school administrators will present their comments and explain current practices in the local school system.

One of the more interesting administrative devices in current educational practice is the Ungraded Early Elementary School, also called the Primary Division. These terms mean that grades one, two and three are considered one section of three years but the usual grade designations are removed.

At first glance this seems rather startling to those of us who progressed through grades one, two and three.

In practice, the Ungraded Early "El" consists of a certain number of units such as nine, which cover the usual work of the first three grades. A child may cover four units in the first year and four in the second. This would permit the child, obviously superior, to enter the fourth grade. He would have skipped his third year but would have covered most, if not all, of the work of the first three grades.

This is an improvement over the practice of skipping a whole grade. Meanwhile the average child will complete nine units in three years as he does under the traditional system. The slow learner may do only two units of work per year and take four years to complete the early elementary grades. Proponents of this method claim that the education of these children is improved since they move at their own learning pace and so learn better with fewer emotional problems.

The people in favor of the Ungraded Early "El" say that it helps both the student and the teacher. The teacher of a given unit of work would have a group of children of the same mental age whether lower or higher than their chronological age. In the case of the more able children they could progress more rapidly and study a subject more deeply and broadly. The slow learners could be given the special attention they need.

The superior child in an ungraded class, where acceleration is practiced, would have a sense of accomplishment at his own level and be mentally challenged. It has been said that this grouping of the superior children forms an elite with consequent snobbishness. James J. Gallagher, of the University of Illinois, in a publication of the National Education Association, states, "Another important contribution of these studies has been to indicate that the gifted children do not become snobbish or develop attitudes of superiority from special classes."

true the opposite would seem to be true. That is, in the slow learner group, a child would not have to struggle as hard or have a feeling of failure and so would have a well balanced feeling of educational security. This claim is often made by the advocates of the ungraded class.

Several years ago the Windsor, Ontario Public School system inaugurated a Primary Division. One hundred and thirty other communities are also using this system since as long ago as 1942. In Windsor this is composed of former Grades 1, 2 and 3 and has nine units of reading, arithmetic and spelling.

The Windsor board of education in "A Message to Parents and Guardians," states:

"Children starting school in grade 1 differ greatly from one another. Some are almost a year older than others; some have more ability, richer experience and are better adjusted than others. It is neither desirable nor possible to have all children accomplish the same amount of work. A few are not challenged by the average grade programme and can easily do an additional amount. A few must travel more slowly so as not to become confused. . . . The Unit Plan is a method of organization that permits the pupils to proceed through the primary division at the pace best suited for them."

The Northville Citizens Curriculum Study Group after a subcommittee investigation of the Ungraded Early "El" recommended the following:

— Reorganize the first three grades by elimination of grade distinction.

— Determine groupings on the basis of reading readiness test and teacher observation of physical and social maturity.

— Initiate this program with children leaving kindergarten.

— Advance the child according to his level of achievement, promoting to the fourth grade upon completion of the required work.

The Ungraded Early "El" system seems to have many advantages but what are its disadvantages? The greatest problem is with the parents. Those of us who progressed through grades 1, 2 and 3 find it a little difficult to understand that our child, for three years, is lost somewhere in a three year spread. Many teachers and administrators are also unfamiliar with such a system in their own experience. The old problem of determining a child's physical, social and emotional level of ability rears its head again. With the population movement we have today the flow of students in and out of the various grades presents a problem. Finally, this is only a method and requires parents, teachers and administrators to make it work. So again we come back to the teachers and the system where he or she can help each child to realize his greatest potential.

Indeed, the realization that there are many other children of equal or superior ability to his own often has a humbling effect on the gifted child. If this is

Farmington Players In 'The Hasty Heart'

The Farmington Players, whose "Players Barn" is located on 12 Mile road in Farmington township, have chosen John Patrick's comedy-drama "The Hasty Heart", as its next production. It will open Friday, May 6 and will be given again Saturday, May 7 and the following week end on May 13 and 14. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Described as "a comedy about a tragedy", "a war play which is not about the war", the play is set in a British hospital in Burma and depicts the conflict between a bitter, lonely young Scottish sergeant and his fellow-patients along with the hospital nurse who tries to give him the friendship which he wants but which he does not know how to accept.

As the soldier learns how to take and to give friendship for the first time in his isolated life, he discovers that he is afflicted with a disease from which he must inevitably die in a few weeks.

According to all advance reports the atmosphere of the play is not sombre, but is that of a heartwarming comedy.

THE NORTHVILLE RECORD—Thursday, April 28, 1960—11

MAP EXPERTS — Eighth grade students at Novi school grasped the "feeling of land surface" last week as a result of a project started by their teacher, Mrs. Rella Bowers. The students selected maps of various countries, drew them on a board, and then proceeded to build land contours with the use of a salt, flour and water mixture. The maps were then colored. Two of the students, Jim Mazel and Dawn McCollum, are shown above working on one of the maps.

A SENSE OF VALUES

At a very recent meeting of laymen who gathered on the sabbath to study and to share their experiences of life, there was introduced into the discussion a very worthy thought that helps us to understand the teaching of the Master, "What shall it profit a man, if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

Here is the thought: "A man is poor when he has lost the confidence of his friends; when people who are nearest to him do not believe in him; when his character is handicapped by deceit and punctured by dishonesty. He is poor when he makes money at the expense of his character, when principle does not stand out supreme in his ideals. When ideals are clouded he is in danger of the worst kind of poverty. To be in the poorhouse is not necessarily to be poor if one has maintained his integrity of character and stands four-square to the world. If one has not bent the knee of principle to avarice he is not poor though he may be compelled to beg."

Now this bit of observation comes, not from the Bible, but from the world of industry and commerce. The world that is often the "proving grounds" of one's ideals and character; the world of business that challenges the very best of the Christian way of life and makes choices and decisions harder and harder. Nevertheless, the truth is still very right and clear and is but the reflection of the Master's words which should cause each of us to re-evaluate our own sense of values.

"A good name is to be chosen, rather than great riches", cannot be called the motto of today, but its truth is still unchanging. How about us? What "Thinkest thou, on these things?"

Everyone Loves Flowers On Property in Springtime

Flowers on the property during the springtime are demanded by practically every home owner, says the American Association of Nurserymen. The problem is not one of having flowers, as almost every property owner has some spring flowers, but rather: "What flowers will best serve the needs of the home owner?" Some flowering shrubs almost could be called "prestige plants". Into this category fall azaleas, rhododendrons, camellias, roses, as well as a number of others. The star magnolia, or magnolia stellata, might be included, as well as some of the viburnums, for example, as well as many others.

Then there are the shrubs which are more common, yet have considerable color and beauty like forsythia, abelia, philadelphus, weigela and similar plants. These all will be desirable.

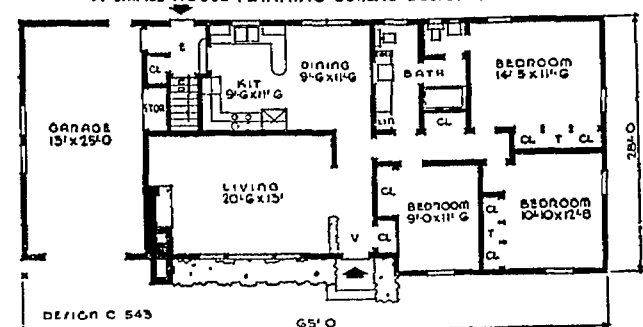

Or perhaps what you really need is a flowering tree to add height to the property, or to help frame the house with bloom. Spring flowering plants will look well anywhere after a drab winter season but they will be even more striking if properly placed on the property. Here your nurseryman will come in handy. Discuss with him the idea of having lovely spring flowers and ask for his suggestions. One thing you will want is a succession of bloom so you will have something in flower at all times. Your nurseryman can advise on this, too.

Nothing is quite so lovely in the springtime as a home property or a neighborhood blooming with colorful shrubs and trees. It adds "joy of living", seems to shout out the bursting of nature into a new life bountiful with all that is beautiful. Whole neighborhoods have planted spring flowering trees and shrubs to make the various individual properties especially resplendent.

This is a happy time of the year. The flowering shrubs and trees seem to join in the spirit of spring, bursting out all over with leaf and flower buds of various shades, largely of tender green, vibrant pink, vigorous red and pure white.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-543

DESIGN No. C-543 — The main entrance of this traditional home leads directly into the kitchen, giving privacy to the living room and leading directly to the bedroom wing. Bedrooms have built-in dresser trays and wardrobe-type closets. The master bedroom lavatory and another adjoin a common room for the bath. A well arranged kitchen with waist high oven, counter top range adjoin the large dining area. The stairway leads to a full basement from the rear entry which also has a door to the attached garage. Well proportioned, the living room is graced with a fireplace and broad picture window. Excluding 351 square feet for the garage the plan covers 1385 square feet and contains 26,772 cubic feet.

Screening Makes Terrace Or 'Outdoor Living Room'

Patios and breezeways are ideal extra rooms for summer entertaining and outdoor dining when they are enclosed and protected with screening. Unlike most home improvement projects, here is one that any week-end Mr. Fixit can do and do well. It doesn't require professional skill.

A special fiber glass screening, now available, will help simplify the job for the home handyman. The fiber glass material is easy to work with, cuts with ordinary household scissors, and can be either tacked or stapled to framing. If aluminum framing is used, the fiber glass screen is simply inserted into the grooves.

The work involved could probably be accomplished in a leisurely spring week end, and once the screening is installed, there is no further maintenance. Fiber glass screens will not corrode, rust, sag, stretch or ever need painting.

This durable material which has long been used for insulation and as a reinforcement will last a lifetime with proper application. Probably the most outstanding feature of fiber glass screening is that it is weather-resistant. Once the screens are installed, there is no need to take them down for storing in the winter months.

Outdoor Screen

This angled screening fence adds charm to the patio, acts as wind-break, creates privacy. Fitted bench makes ideal lounging spot when tree leaves out.

CEDAR SCENT

When the odor of a cedar closet or chest has gone, you can restore it by lightly sanding the inside cedar surfaces. This will actually create new surfaces and thus permit the wood to breathe once more.

Use Tile On Terrace

Of all the materials for surfacing terraces and patios, few meet so many of the fundamental requirements as well as quarry tile does.

To begin with, it is kind to the pocketbook. Only a few years ago the addition of a terrace or patio was considered impractical by all except families with large budgets and baronial estates. These days, though, improvements in methods of installation are making the pleasures of terraces and patios available to more families.

Second, quarry tile is readily available from domestic manufacturers who maintain ample productive capacity to meet any demand in the foreseeable future. In the United States, quarry tile manufacturers produce a variety of specially shaped units called trim pieces. These facilitate the smooth finishing of almost any conceivable terrace detail. Uniformity of size and shape is another advantage of domestic quarry tile.

This rugged fired clay surfacing material is weatherproof and when properly installed is suitable for terraces in any climate. Its colors will not fade under the ice of winter or the heat of summer.

Wasted corner of family room will really see use if it's outfitted with a refreshment bar. Charming corner-built bar was executed in hemlock to match hemlock ceiling. Clear plastic lacquer was used on bar to protect the wood while displaying its luscious champagne coloring. Under-counter shelving offers lots of storage space; handsome glassware is displayed on backbar.

Here's Suggestion For Reducing Noise From Highways

The average property owner located near highway traffic lanes can both greatly increase his living comforts and reduce traffic roar by planting trees and shrubs that serve as a protective and yet attractive barrier, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

The sight of numerous cars passing along the borders of a home property gives a family the feeling that they are living in full view of every motorist who passes on the highway. Privacy can be achieved by planting rows of trees or high-growing shrubs at the edge of the property facing the traffic. For screening out traffic both summer and winter, evergreen plants are preferred since they keep their leaves in the colder months.

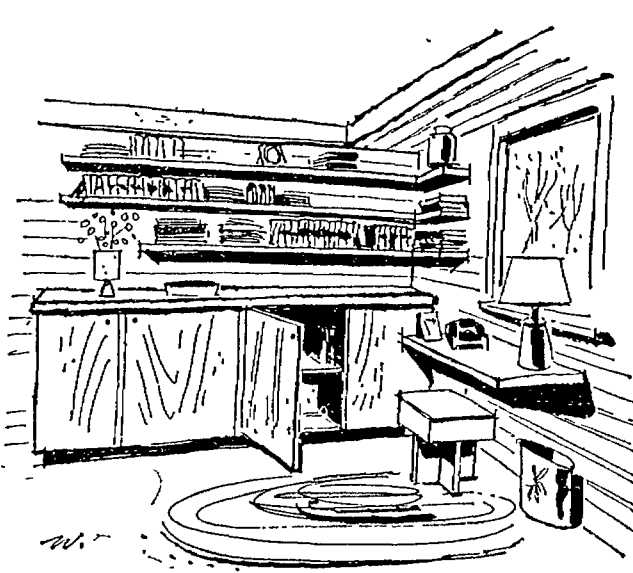

Proper screening with trees and shrubs also can reduce traffic roar. Where traffic noises are a particular nuisance, several rows of dense foliage plants will be found more effective. Proper plantings in depth for sound control can cut down traffic noise up to 60 percent. With flowering shrubs planted inside the rows of the higher-growing trees and shrubs a more pleasing landscape effect can be achieved on the property side of the planted sound barrier.

Leading nurserymen are fully informed on plantings to reduce traffic noise, while assuring privacy, and it is recommended that the home owner contact them in their locality.

Mayor, Supervisor Urge Residents To Join in Campaign

Northville Mayor A. Malcolm Allen and Township Supervisor George L. Clark this week proclaimed April 30 to May 30, beginning Saturday with the traditional "scrub-down" of the business district streets, as Beautify Northville Month in the third annual official event in a community wide beautification and betterment program.

"During the next month every citizen should devote himself fully to the Clean Up Program at home, at work, in his neighborhood and wherever needy projects need manpower. By concentrating on beauty and betterment exclusively during this period we can make this community the best in Michigan."

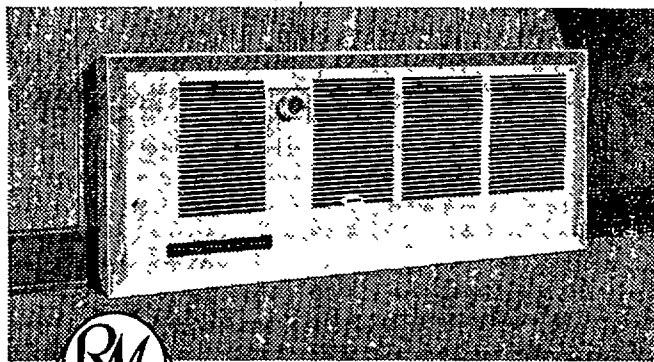

"For yourself, your family, and your friends and your community we urge that you Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up, Plant-Up, Light-Up and Keep-It-Up", the Mayor and Supervisor requested.

PAINT STRAINER

To improvise a paint strainer tie a piece of a discarded nylon stocking in a double thickness over the top of a clean paint can. Be sure to permit the material to sag slightly in the center in order to form a small well.

YOU CAN HELP...

Saturday our community will begin its third annual Beautify Northville campaign.

As most residents know, our two previous "clean-up drives" have been tremendously successful. In both instances Northville was awarded first place in the National "Cleanest Town" contest for the evidence of effort made to improve the community.

The "Beautify Northville" campaign, as emphasized in the proclamation by Mayor Allen and Supervisor Clerk elsewhere on this page, represents more than a "committee" effort. Actually, it is a project for the improvement of our community that every resident and businessman can contribute toward.

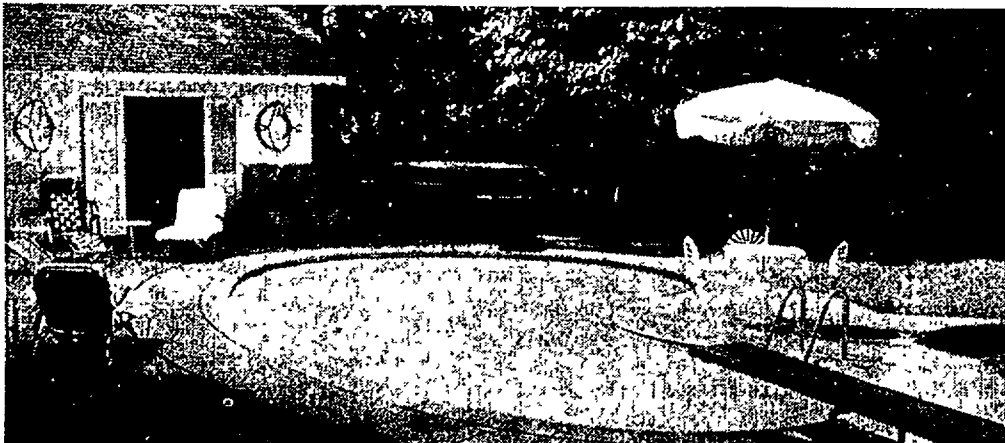

The collective result of our individual efforts — small as they may seem — can be momentous. Coupled with the organized committee projects, they add up to a finer, cleaner, more wholesome community in which to live.

So we urge you, as individual citizens of our community, to take part in this campaign. Whatever your contribution — a neatly trimmed yard, trash removal, re-painting or tree planting — it all helps to "Beautify Northville".

Errors Plague Mustangs

Lose 2nd I-Run Game In 7th Inning Mistake

There's no real joy in Northville today as Coach Al Jones prepares to send his baseball team onto Milford's diamond this afternoon.

The coach isn't trying to hide his disappointment over the 2-2 record compiled by the Mustangs to date. Both losses, Jones insists, were sure winners but for a number of fielding "blunders".

Lanky Dan Brown, who is credited with one win and one loss, probably will be Jones' choice for mound duty this afternoon. Wade Deal will be behind the plate.

Jones' latest disappointment came Monday afternoon at Bloomfield Hills where the Barons broke up a tie in the seventh inning with an unearned run to grab the victory, 2-1. Craig Bell, who was relieved in the seventh by Brown, was tagged with the loss. But it was a throwing error by Brown which resulted in the Barons' winning run.

Fred Jeaynes led off in the last half of the seventh with a single. Tom Maron gained first on an error by the first baseman in handling a bunt to set up the game winning situation. Jim Gerhard then laid down a bunt to Brown, who scooped up the ball and fired late to third to force Jeaynes.

The ball bounced off the head of Jeaynes who tripped on the base. Knocked dizzy by the throw, Jeaynes recovered in time to cross the plate with the winning run.

Starting pitcher Bell gave up six hits, one walk and struck out two, while the winning hurler, Gerhard allowed only three hits, walked five, and struck out seven.

Last Friday, the Mustangs finished on top of a 16-11 slugfest — clouded with errors — here against West Bloomfield.

Northville collected 12 hits with 31 batters going to the plate before the seven-inning contest ended. Tom Swiss, who relieved Brown in the fifth, was credited with the victory.

Left fielder Roger Alchinson collected five hits and scored three runs to lead the Mustangs attack at the plate.

The Lakers sent 36 batters to the plate in collecting nine hits. They committed five errors to Northville's eight.

Shonta to Trade Books For Pro Football Uniform

A 22-year-old teacher will trade his books for a football this summer in an attempt to join the ranks of the professional gridirers.

Charles "Chuck" Shonta, the young junior high school social studies teacher who coached Northville's first wrestling team this past season, has signed a "pending" contract to play with the Boston Patriots in the newly organized American Football league next fall.

Shonta received his invitation to join the Patriots from Lou Saban, the Boston mentor who coached at Western Illinois a year ago when Shonta was playing with rival Eastern Michigan university.

The new Boston coach was impressed with Shonta's stellar performance with Eastern as an all-conference end. So when he was handed his "pro" job he gave Shonta the nod.

However, the Northville teacher has not clinched a position — or the job as yet. His contract stipulates that he will receive no pay until he can show Saban that he's ready for professional football.

Training starts in July so Shonta should know by fall whether or not he will return to his books.

Northville has granted Shonta a year's leave of absence. Should Shonta fail to make the professional ranks, he plans to enter the army for six months before returning to his teaching-coaching job here.

Although he regrets leaving Northville, particularly after putting together the frame-work of a good wrestling squad, Shonta feels he must give professional football a try. "I've always liked football, wanted to play pro ball," he said.

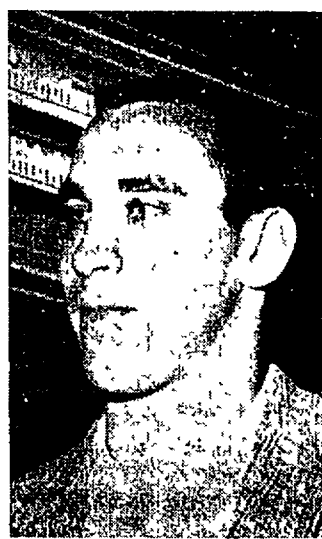

Shonta was graduated from Detroit Pershing high school in 1955 where he was an all-city football and baseball player.

At Eastern Michigan, where he was graduated in 1959, he played four years of football. Captain of his squad in his senior year, he was named an all-conference end in 1958.

Although Shonta prefers the end position, he will be attempting to clinch a defensive or "outside" half-back position with the Patriots. His 6-foot, 190-pound frame just isn't considered big enough for an end position among the pro line giants.

The American League was only recently organized. It is made up of eight teams, including two from Texas, two from California, and one each from Boston, New York, Buffalo and Denver. No games are planned between the newly organized league teams and squads from the established professional leagues for at least two or three years.

THE NORTHVILLE RECORD—Thursday, April 28, 1960—15

Tennis Team Drops Openers As Young Star Makes Debut

Freshman Dikran Ornekian smashed out two victories in his debut with the varsity tennis team, but his efforts went awry as the Mustangs dropped their openers with Berkley and Southfield.

Northville, which was scheduled to clash with Clarenceville Tuesday, will invade Bloomfield Hills this afternoon.

Despite the opening losses, Coach Ron Schipper can look with renewed optimism to the remainder of the season in light of showings by the young Turkish lad who broke into the starting line-up with his two victories. The 16-year-old boy, who is living with a Novi family, flashed a promise of a brilliant career in clinching the only Northville victory against highly rated Berkley on April 19. He felled Chuck Michaels 5-7, 6-4 and 6-0.

In the meet here with Southfield last Thursday, Ornekian pounded out a 6-3, 6-4 victory over Bob Fenton. His quick, agile moves left his more experienced opponent puffing on rubbery legs.

Ornekian's win, plus the doubles victory by Jim Jiggins and Jim McCarthy, gave Northville a 2-2 tie as young Tom Long took the court to decide the game. But Southfield powerful football player-turned tennis player, Svalya, clipped Long's ambition, 6-2, 8-6, to hand Southfield a 3-2 win.

In the other matches with Southfield, Don Symons outlasted Northville's Jon Rodgers, 2-6, 6-2 and 6-3, while Don Lawrence and Mike Janichick scored a 6-1, 6-2 doubles victory for the Mustangs.

Scores against Berkley two weeks ago included these Northville losses: Rodgers vs. Bob Dargy, 6-2, 6-4; Long vs. John Simon, 2-6, 6-4, 7-5; McCarthy and Jiggins vs. Tom Ossman and Dick Baumgartner, 6-2, 6-3; and Lawrence and Janichick vs. Pete Singer and Jerry Donahue, 4-6, 7-5 and 7-5.

Anglers Eye Trout Opener Saturday

"Gone Fishing" signs should be as commonplace as flags on Memorial Day come Saturday when Michigan's trout opener will lure thousands of fishermen back into the fold.

Here in the Northville area, the lanterns of the most ambitious anglers will flicker and light up the waters of the Rouge river about midnight as they have for many seasons past.

Beckoning these anglers eager for action will be crafty and scrappy browns, rainbows, brooks and lake trout, many of which are being planted in lakes and streams throughout the state by the Conservation Department.

Department fisheries workers have released approximately 245,700 trout in streams and another 105,500 in lakes. The Department's stream trout plantings will total around 1,000,000 for the year while an additional 600,000 hatchery trout will be stocked in about 350 lakes.

Roughly one of every three trout caught from the state's 36,350 miles of streams this season will be a Department hatchery product, judging from the take trend of previous creel census. Lake plantings composed mostly of rainbows and brooks, provide "bonus" fishing since many of these waters lack conditions for natural production.

For those who can't make the trip north, there are approximately 20 special trout ponds stocked with hatchery fish. Most of these are located in southern Michigan.

Fishermen will find some 500 public fishing sites affording them access to many of Michigan's popular lakes and streams. A listing of these sites is free for the asking from the Department's Fish Division, Lansing 26.

There have been no changes in fishing license fees. Michigan trout fishermen may purchase their $2 trout stamps along with $2 resident licenses from some 4,200 dealers throughout the state. Copies of the 1960 Michigan Fish Law Digest are available free from these dealers and Department district field headquarters.

Golfers Crush Oak Park, 187-215

Northville's golf team bounced back from an opening season loss to crush Class A Oak Park, 187 to 215 at Meadowbrook Country club Monday afternoon.

The Mustangs had little trouble overpowering a weak Oak Park squad on the par 35 back nine at Meadowbrook as Bill Reuter of Northville fired a 41 to grab individual honors.

Mike Eastland shaved three strokes from his opening round of 47 against Bloomfield Hills to take the runner-up position Monday. Other Northville scores were: Dean Herman, 50, and Tom Slattery, 52.

The total Northville score was five strokes greater than the total score against Bloomfield Hills in the opener a week earlier, but the golfers were playing on a more difficult course Monday. The greens were particularly slow at Meadowbrook.

Coach M. F. Meaker was to conduct his first elimination round yesterday (Wednesday) at Braeburn. The four winning golfers from a slate of nearly 20 candidates will represent the Mustangs against Brighton tomorrow on the opponent's course.

TOPS LOCAL NETTERS — Dikran Ornekian smashes a difficult return to his Southfield opponent. The 16-year-old freshman scored victories in Northville's two opening tennis matches.

Injuries Hit Track Team As Mustangs Lose Twice

"We're having terrific weather," Coach Ralph Redmond replies when asked how his track squad has looked in its opening two meets.

The Mustangs dropped both matches; they lost a triangular meet Wednesday with Brighton and Clarenceville, 36, 53 and 47, respectively, then lost to Garden City Friday, 82-27.

Despite the opening losses, the track coach looks with optimism to the remainder of the season. "If we can get to full strength once we'll really give our opponents some stiff competition," he declared.

Injuries to key Northville players has been the principle factor behind the losses, the coach explained. Tom Darling, Jim Petrock and Tom Ritter, all top runners, were unable to play against Garden City because of injuries. Darling, after grabbing second place in the 100-yard dash in the triangular meet, was unable to compete in succeeding events because of a bruised foot.

The seriousness of these losses, Redmond explained, are evident in the wins they took in the opener. Petrock topped the Northville field by sweeping three first places in broad jump (19.3 feet), 100-yard dash (10.4), and 220 (23.6).

Second-place winners in the triangular were: Jerry Biddle, 42-1 in the shot; Dave Filken, 5' in the high jump; and Tom Ritter, 59.4 in the 440.

Winners against Garden City were: Filken, 5.4 high jump, first; Filken, 17.6 high hurdles, first; Biddle, 40.10 shot, second; Dick Kernozek, 19.4 broad jump, second; and Art Fisher, 7.6 pole vault, second.

Coach Redmond planned to bench Petrock, Ritter and Darling for Tuesday's contest with Redford to ensure their services for the more important meet with West Bloomfield and Bloomfield Hills tomorrow.

SPEAKING for the Record

By Bill Sliger

Saturday a crew of Northville businessmen will scrub-down Main and Center streets in the shopping district as the traditional kick-off to the month-long Beautify Northville campaign.

Something more permanent than a mere "face-washing" will be subtly suggested by this year's committee when a group of young prospective architects and commercial artists (at both high school and college level) visit town and draw their impressions of what should be done to redesign (and modernize) the shopping area.

Some definite thought has been given to this subject by the city planning commission and its consultant, as well as a number of businessmen.

Ideas have been tossed around for years and undoubtedly several of these suggestions will arise again in the drawings submitted by the young artists.

One of the most frequently discussed plans for Northville's shopping district parallels very closely the rejuvenation of a two-block area in Kalamazoo (see picture).

The last edition of The Michigan Journalist, official publication of the department of journalism of the University of Michigan, carried this picture along with an interesting article concerning the redevelopment of downtown areas.

As can be noted by the photo, Kalamazoo eliminated all vehicular traffic in the heart of its downtown shopping district creating a "mall". The experiment was introduced last August 19 and has met with great success. Actually, it is merely the first step in a long-range plan.

How would this work in Northville?

Let's toss out some of the ideas already advanced, add a few, and for the moment dream along with young planners who will take drawing board in hand later next month.

First, let's imagine a mall, similar to Kalamazoo's, starting at the intersection of Main and Center streets and continuing eastward on Main street to Hutton.

A traffic circle would be formed around the mall with Center, Cady, Church, Hutton and Dunlap streets forming the circle.

It's obvious that some problems would be posed by this plan, but assuming that Dunlap and Cady streets would eventually develop commercially, these streets could be widened.

So far the plan is relatively simple and could be tried on an "experimental" basis.

Creating a mall opens many more avenues for development. Assuming again, for the moment, that the proposed re-location of the A&P supermarket should take place, an entire new site for commercial buildings would be opened up to further enhance the "shopping circle".

With the modern supermarket on Cady facing the mall the area between Mainville's drug store and the Presbyterian church along the Main street mall would become off-street parking.

The business buildings now standing in this area could become a part of a new row of structures facing the mall and parking area and in line with the supermarket, extending eastward toward the church.

To bring the Dunlap area into the circle more tightly, approximately 10 feet of the present A&P building could become an "arcade" leading from parking areas behind the Main street stores to the mall.

The present A&P building could become one large store with entrances on Main street, in the rear, and in the arcade, or could become a series of smaller stores with their show windows and entrances lining the arcade, similar to those found in metropolitan office buildings or hotels.

Meanwhile, plans could be continued to develop parking and alley facilities behind the retail stores on the west side of Center between Main and Dunlap. Access to the lot is now gained from Dunlap and Main street, however city councilmen have indicated an interest in acquiring Wing street property for another entrance and exit.

This face-lifting would provide adequate parking facilities, attract new businesses, encourage proper and full use of available land in the present commercial district, save the business district from possible deterioration and give the growing population a complete and convenient center in which to transact business.

A word of caution to all such plans is extended by John W. Hyde, professor of planning at U of M, in the Michigan Journalist article referred to earlier. In commenting on redevelopment plans in smaller cities he points out there is a "real danger that lack of planning may permit some cities to be 'mailed to death'."

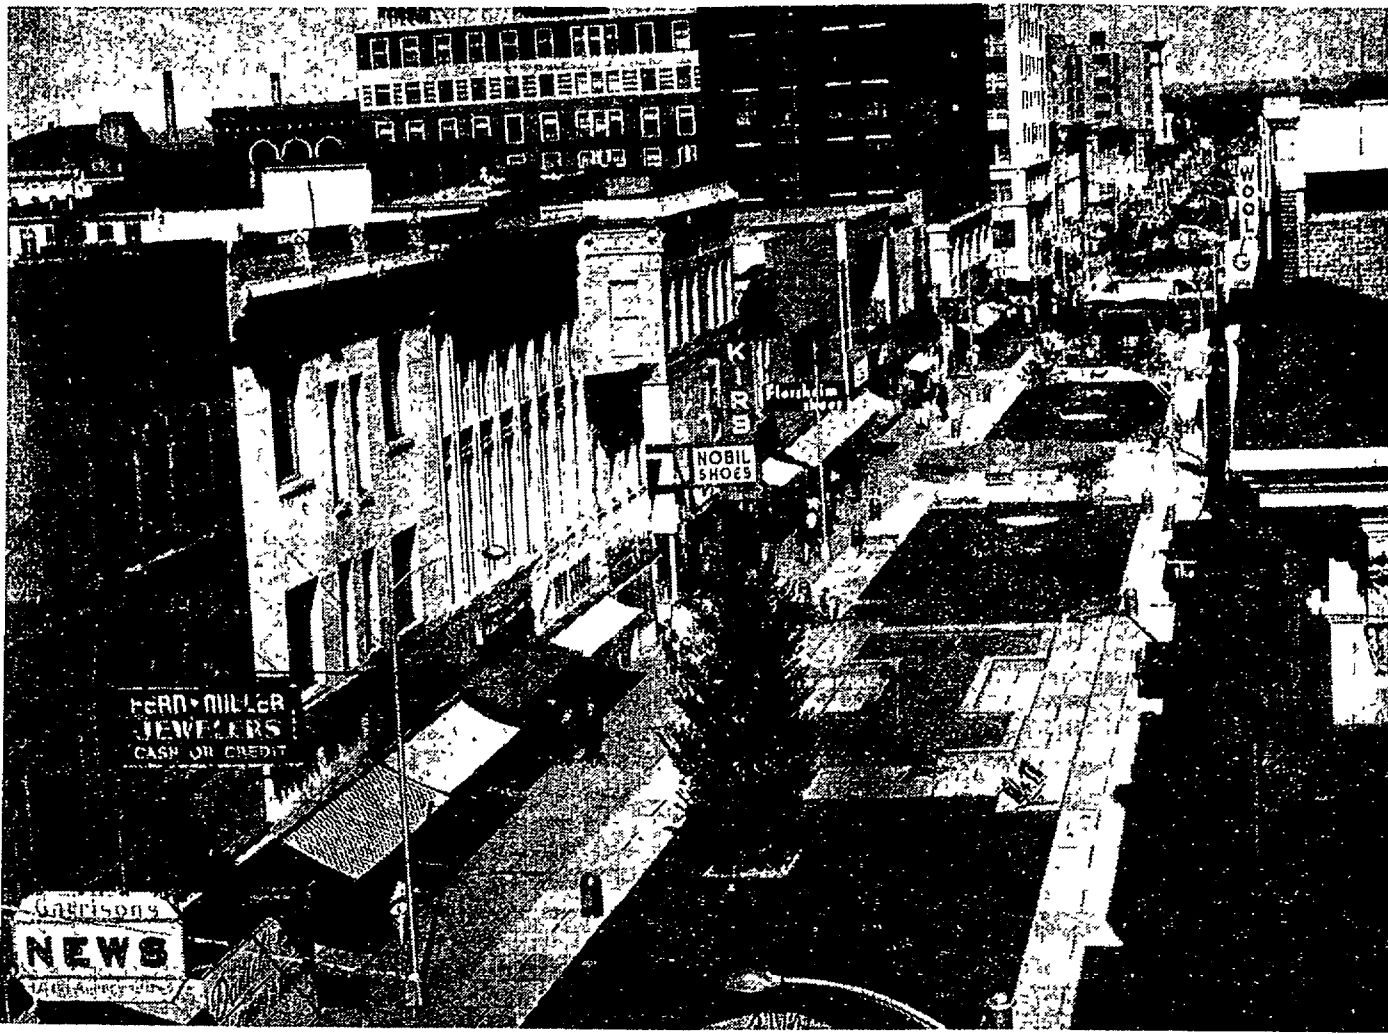

But he emphasizes that the business center of a community is really a "cultural center, a place where people like to meet, where they like to shop". He adds that "downtown businessmen, as well as public bodies, haven't used enough of their capital for redevelopment".

In short, he places heavy emphasis on planning with a common approach to the problem of the entire business district.

While nearly every merchant and city official will tell you that "something must be done" to rejuvenate the business district, nothing specific is being done.

A major accomplishment of "Beautify Northville" month could be the formation of a study committee by the Retail Merchants Association to tackle the problem.

With city assistance this committee could examine the conglomeration of ideas that represent the thinking of experts and laymen and come up with a program tailored for Northville.

A 'mall' for Northville's Main street? Kalamazoo created a two-block mall, as shown above, in the heart of the downtown district.

You, Too, Can be Candidate for Governor

IF YOUR political tensions are soaring during this election year, take heart. Michigan law makes it possible for the average voter to take an active part in many areas of politics.

First, state law opens the nominating process to all voters through the direct primary. Secondly, state law makes every effort to see that the average citizen can vote and even take part in running the election machinery.

Under Michigan's primary election law voters nominate the governor, lieutenant governor, members of the legislature, United States senators and representatives in Congress, and all county officials.

No one needs party sanction — nor the approval of any group — to run for office. Any qualified voter may become a candidate and circulate nominating petitions.

All you need is a few signatures and your name will appear on the primary ballot. The number needed is small. For governor, for instance, a candidate needs signatures equal in number to only one percent of the vote cast in the last general election for his party's candidate for secretary of state.

If you run for a state office the secretary of state will tell you how many signatures you need. If you run for a local office, the county clerk can give you the information.

If you cannot get the required number of signatures you may, in some instances, pay a filing fee and get your name on the ballot anyway. This right is limited to candidates for county offices and for the state legislature where the county along sends one or more representatives to the legislature.

The fee is $100 and if the candidate is nominated, or is a runnerup, the fee is returned. Otherwise it goes into the general fund. The filing fee method of securing a place on the primary ballot is not widely used. However, it is a means of opening the primary election to more candidates.

Michigan law protects not only individuals, but it protects groups. The major parties are protected not only by statute, but by the fact that they have a large, active following.

Minority parties may not have much of a following, but in Michigan the law safeguards their right to express their opinions and compete for support through the election process.

Any minority party can get a place on the ballot by filing with the secretary of state petitions bearing names equal to one percent of the vote for the successful candidate for secretary of state in the last general election. In this year's election, according to the secretary of state's office, this would mean that a new party would have to file petitions bearing 12,708 names.

A party which was in the ballot in the general election might receive so few votes that it would be dropped from the ballot in the next election. This happened to all the minority parties in 1958, but they can get back on the ballot just as if they were a new party.

However, since none of the minority parties polled as much as five percent of the total vote cast for all candidates for secretary of state in the 1958 general election, they can't take part in the August primary this year.

Instead, they must nominate all their candidates at conventions or caucuses and certify the names to the secretary of state. Then if they petition to get their party back on the ballot their candidates can run in the November election.

This may seem like a tedious process, but it guarantees that minorities, no matter how small or unsuccessful, can always appeal directly to the voters in a general election.

It has kept minority parties such as the Prohibition party, Socialist Labor and Socialist Worker parties on the ballot in election after election.

So much for candidates and parties. If you as an individual want to help out with the election process you can.

You might ask your township or city election board to appoint you to the board of election inspectors. These inspectors are the workers who actually conduct the election and count the votes in each precinct. By law no more than half of the precinct inspectors may belong to one party so even in precincts dominated by a particular party members of another party must assist in the election.

You might also serve as a challenger for your party. Challengers keep an eye on the voting on election day and may challenge the right of persons to vote if they think they are not qualified.

And of course any voter may watch the election inspectors count the ballots after the polls are closed.

Look at the Bright Side

Babson Park, Mass. — I am a statistician — not a politician. Most statisticians promise the impartial truth; while most politicians appear to promise what will get them the most votes. As a result of the latter, the following facts are entirely forgotten. People allow themselves to get scared and vote foolish sums of money, thinking that they will thereby have security, freedom from accident and employment.

Note These Figures

Although the daily newspapers feature crime, yet only one in 10,000,000 will tomorrow suffer or witness any crime. When a man is killed by lightning it is reported all over the country, yet only one man out of every 5,000,000 will be killed by lightning in the next very bad storm. Business failures are increasing; but they are decreasing on a percentage basis. The stock market has to go down before it can turn up. If trees grew any higher they would blow down. Everything which happens is for the best.

During the past ten years the population of the U.S. has increased 18 percent; the gross national product has increased almost 70 percent; consumer income, even after taxes, has increased 60 percent. No figures on crime, accidents, or juvenile delinquency can equal these increases.

Cost of Living Downward
The politicians and labor leaders present figures to show that the "cost of living" is constantly going up. This is because new products, greater conveniences, and other items have been added to the list which makes up the index. If it covered just the things I had when I was a boy in Gloucester — and my father was a well-to-do merchant — the U.S. "cost of living" index would be only one half the figure now published.

From every point of view I am an optimist. Even the accidents and deaths by automobiles are much less than those from the "horse and buggy", when figured on a mile basis. The cost of light, heat and power has continually decreased. Even food has dropped in price — for the same menu which we had in my boyhood days — and we were then as healthy and strong as are the young people today. We made our own candy, picked our own apples, and made our own cider; soft drinks were not then for sale.

Unemployment Is Optimistic
When unemployment statistics increase they are featured as dangerous and the stock market goes down! Yet the social workers tell us that the chief cause of juvenile delinquency is the fact that mothers are engaged in industry and away from home all day. When I was a boy, no mothers worked in factories. We kids were trained to help about the house and to help take care of the large families which most of our mothers had. I grew up as a "baby sitter", but never received or expected any pay therefor!

In those days the newspapers carried only news, with no entertaining features. We used to subscribe to the "Youth's Companion", or the "St. Nicholas Magazine"; while our mothers had fashion magazines and cut patterns from tissue paper for the clothes which they made. Now all these and many other features come freely from the excellent newspapers. All that glitters is not gold, but much is gold that does not glitter.

What 60 Years Have Taught Me
Every Sunday I read a chapter from Bertha Conde's "A WAY TO PEACE, HEALTH AND POWER" (published by Score & Script, 76 Chestnut St., Boston, for $3). At the end of the book are several blank pages on which I write a line each month about something I had worried about that never happened. Then, when some new problem comes, I read those notes. They are better than any tranquilizer pills! The same optimism is needed in business. Things run on about the same from generation to generation. Human nature is not changed. We continue to spend one third of our life in sleep; and the less we eat, the better we feel; the more we exercise, the longer we live.

FASCINATING FACTS ABOUT NATURAL GAS

Invisible Calculation

How to measure something shapeless, weightless and invisible — that was the problem of the GAS industry years ago! At that time customers were billed by the number of burners or "lights" on their premises. To limit hours of use, GAS company inspectors made rounds at a specified time each evening, loudly striking an iron bar to warn night owls to shut off their GAS.

Visible Accuracy

Measuring GAS consumption is no longer a haphazard affair. The lightweight, durable, dependable and accurate GAS meter in use today is constructed on the principle of "breathing". The flow of GAS is regulated and measured by a mechanical pair of "lungs" which inhales GAS from the mains and exhales GAS to the customer's burners. GAS meters, one of man's most accurate measuring devices, are tested constantly.*

*To maintain this high degree of accuracy, all Gas meters on Consumers Power Company lines are placed on a regular, systematic testing and replacement schedule.

Chevy middleweight

how it's done!

That's a 6303 medium-duty Chevrolet powered by a 283-cu.-in. V8. But there's sure nothing medium-duty about the load. Mr. J. E. Blankinship, Arkansas logging contractor, says both of his torsion-spring 6303's "move along at 40 to 50 miles per hour with 55,000 pounds gross weight and maintain a 5-trip-a-day schedule with no trouble at all." Figure the money you save when you've got a medium-duty truck that can cover 30,000 back-country miles a year with a high-tonnage load!

We've never seen anything like the amount of praise truck owners are heaping on Chevy's new torsion spring suspension. Owners like the fact the truck handles a whole lot easier, can move faster off the road without beating the driver to death and shaking loose all the sheet metal. They like the idea of extra thousands of miles before trade-in! . . . Drive a '60 Chevy just once. It's a whole new experience.

Chevy middleweight averages 200 miles of back roads a day dogging timber out of the woods and delivering it to the mill at Crossett, Arkansas.
