

Trees Start Falling Along Novi Road

Removal of trees along Novi road in preparation for new road construction was started Tuesday afternoon near the Northville boundary.

Township to Buy New Fire Engine

The Northville township board decided Tuesday evening to purchase a new piece of fire equipment. For several months the board has given consideration to replacement of the converted oil tanker that now serves as the only township-owned fire fighting equipment.

All township fires are handled by contract arrangement by the city fire department with the township's tanker serving to assist in extinguishing grass fires.

Tuesday evening, upon the recommendation of Trustee A. M. Lawrence, the board decided to purchase a $16,000 John Bean combination tanker-pumper.

Lawrence was appointed by the board to study the township's fire equipment need and report his findings to the board. Next week the board will meet with a representative of the company and officially order the equipment. Delivery takes 60 days.

The new equipment has a 1,000 gallon tank capacity. The engine can pump water from its own tank or from hydrants. Its tank may also be filled from a lake supply.

The township already has some $14,000 in its fire equipment fund.

City Considers Paving Parking Lot

The city council authorized advertisements Tuesday night for bids to pave the parking lot and alley area in the block bounded by Wing, Dunlap, Center and Main streets.

The lot was opened last year after the city purchased the former Hills' building. The parking and alley area is owned by the city, abutting merchants and the First Methodist church.

City Engineer Harold Penn estimated cost of paving at $7,613. Drainage installations may run another $2,000.

The council instructed the city manager to remind the Retail Merchants association of its agreement to pay $10,000 toward the purchase and improvement of the lot. To date the merchants have paid the city $5,500, the manager reported.

According to a spokesman for the tree removal firm, this preliminary work probably will be concluded this week barring inclement weather. In all, approximately 170 trees ranging in size from 8 to 37 inches in diameter, will be removed.

Although barricades have been erected to detour through traffic, workmen were hampered by a steady stream of cars during the first few hours of work. One motorist attempting to circle a fallen tree plunged his car into a deep hole. No one was injured.

Only residents and business personnel should use the route during tree removal and construction, a county official said. Residents of Novi road will be able to gain entrance, but may find it necessary to "walk a block or so" to their homes.

Although the county has agreed to maintain the two north-south detour routes along Meadowbrook and Taft roads, some residents along these routes have already complained of dust. However, the county has assured village officials that the road will be salted.

The confusion of having Novi road closed also has added to the Center street traffic in Northville. And although the cut-off is nearly completed, traffic still will be barred from Novi road, making use of the alternate north and south routes necessary.

Actual construction of the pavement reportedly will begin immediately after trees are removed. Contract work has been awarded to the O. E. Gooding Contracting company of Saginaw for its bid of $288,452. Robert O. Felt, chairman of the Oakland county road commission, has explained that the federal government will pay approximately half of this total cost.

The road will be completed 1/2 mile up from Grand River to the Eight Mile cut-off in Northville, Felt said, and its road bed will be widened. Hills will be cut down, to improve sight distances and drainage will be improved.

Plans call for two, 12-foot lanes of concrete roadway — not asphalt — with approximately 40 feet of road right-of-way which includes the road itself.

The road, which will be widened to four lanes at the Ten Mile, Flint and Grand River intersections, is expected to be opened to through traffic by the end of the summer. However, completion of the entire project is scheduled for November.

CHEERLEADING CHAMPS — These five Northville high school girls brought home the top prize in the Camp All-American conducted at Hartland, Michigan last week for students from Michigan and several adjoining states. They are: (left to right) Susan Pharo, Linda Deal, Vicki Stroh, Corrine Bertoni and Racena Bailey. Racena also won an award for being the outstanding cheerleader of her camp section.

Northville Cheerleaders Win Top District Honors

First time competing and winners of a grand championship — that's the story of Northville high school's five-girl cheerleading team which attended Camp All-American at Hartland, Michigan last week.

The winners, coached by Miss Pat Dorian, ninth grade English teacher, are: seniors Racena Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bailey, 118 East Cady; Corrine Bertoni, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bertoni, 40640 8 Mile road; juniors Linda Deal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Deal, 20116 Spring Wood; Susan Pharo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis, 24062 Willowbrook drive, Novi; and sophomore Vicki Stroh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Stroh, 8779 Napier.

Competing with more than 400 girls and 70 squads from Michigan and nearby states, the cheerleaders spent a five-day workshop session at camp conducted by Michigan State university cheerleading coach Miss Pauline Hess.

Judged on spirit, leadership, fitness and cooperation, the Northville team captured first place honors last Wednesday in the semi-finals and returned Saturday to bring home the title of grand champion, awarded by the United States Cheerleading association.

Big Night At Downs

Business is booming at Northville Downs as the track nears the end of the third week of its 39-night meeting.

Last Saturday the Downs enjoyed its biggest night of the season with a total mutuel handle of $316,027 despite the rain that started sending fans home in the sixth race. Total attendance for the evening was 8,405.

To date the betting has averaged $236,795, a gain of 1.53 percent over last year. Attendance is up 2.6 percent.

The third in a series of six $5,000 invitations will be staged tomorrow night with the top trotters from Cleveland, Chicago and Columbus facing the Downs' fastest.

a suspense-filled hour-and-a-half before making the awards. Besides the grand champion title, the team garnered a first place honor for the most original pep rally skit and third place in the most original cheer category.

Racena Bailey was chosen outstanding cheerleader of her camp section.

Camp All-American is one of several conducted annually throughout the country where high school cheerleaders meet to learn and master various cheerleading techniques and skills.

School District Buys Three New Buses

The purchase of three new buses to replace numbers one, two and three of the Northville school district's fleet of 11 buses has been approved by the board of education.

High School Principal E. V. Ellison, who is also director of transportation for the school system, was given permission to purchase two 73-passenger GMC models on bids of $9841 each and one 60-passenger Ford model at $6469.

City Pushes Plan To Special Assess Center St. Paving

No Objections From Township To City Dump Annex

Annexation of the city dump, which comprises some 10 acres of Green Valley Acres in the Gerald avenue area, to the city of Northville will be undertaken by the city council next week.

Although owned by the city, the fenced-in area is actually in the township of Northville.

A letter from the city advising the township board of the council's intention of annexing the area was read at Tuesday's meeting of the township board. Township Attorney James Littell informed the board that the city was proceeding legally under a statute that permits cities to annex property adjacent to its borders that is owned by the city merely by resolution of the council alone.

The township decided to acknowledge the city letter without opposition.

The city plans to construct a public works garage on a portion of the property.

Zoning Issue Comes Up Again

The city council will attempt to conclude its zoning designations for property owned by the developers of the Yerkes subdivision (Village Green) Monday night.

A public hearing will be held at 8 p.m. at the city hall to consider R-3 (multiple dwelling) zoning for a 3 1/2 acre parcel north of Allen drive along Novi road. Originally, the developers had requested commercial zoning for the site. Planning commissioners opposed this idea because they stated it would hurt business growth in the present retail center.

Commercial zoning was approved for two other smaller parcels owned by the subdividers in the same area, but R-3 was finally suggested for the third site in a compromise action.

The developers (the D&R Building company) have maintained that financing is not available for residential construction on the parcels because of their proximity to the railroad.

The efforts of two women bent upon having the street in front of their homes paved may not have been in vain.

Last week Mrs. Earl Chappell and Mrs. Fred Gotts appeared at separate meetings before the city council and school board to ask why plans to pave North Center street had been dropped.

Essentially, they received the same story from both groups—that the other body was at fault.

But Tuesday night the city council did an about face. It adopted the attitude that if the school board was sincere in its willingness to cooperate in the cost of the project, then it was up to the city to set the proper machinery in motion.

Before discussion of the matter had ended the city manager was instructed to prepare a special assessment plan for financing the improvement.

It's at this point, however, that the project becomes complicated.

Specifically, the portion of Center street proposed to be paved extends from the new Eight Mile road cut-off (formerly Carlyle street) to the northern lot line of the Northville Heights residences located on the northwest corner of Ely drive and North Center street.

Residences in the original city limits line the east side of the portion to be paved, while the American elementary school and two lots in the newly annexed section of the city are on the west side of the street.

School Board Attorney James Littell has informed the board of education that the only way it can participate financially in the improvement is by paying its pro rata share as part of a special assessment district.

The council has adopted a policy wherein residents of newly annexed areas must pay for their own improvements (paving, sewers, etc.) by special assessment. In the areas within the original city limits, however, paving costs are taken from the general fund, rather than by special assessment.

Both Attorney Littell and City Attorney Philip Ogilvie have expressed some legal doubts as to the workability of such a plan.

Nevertheless, Tuesday night the council, prodded chiefly by Mayor A. M. Allen and Councilman John Canterbury, decided to embark upon the special assessment plan.

"I believe the school board is honest and sincere in their position that they are willing to cooperate if we provide a plan and price," Canterbury stated. "They may have some trouble in finding the money," he added noting that the school board had indicated it might need a time payment plan.

Canterbury told fellow councilmen that he had attended the last school board meeting and discussed the paving matter with school board members.

Mayor Allen urged the council to stand firm on its policy of assessing new areas and not old.

Finally the council recommended assessing the school and all the residents of Northville Heights for half the cost of the paving on a front footage basis.

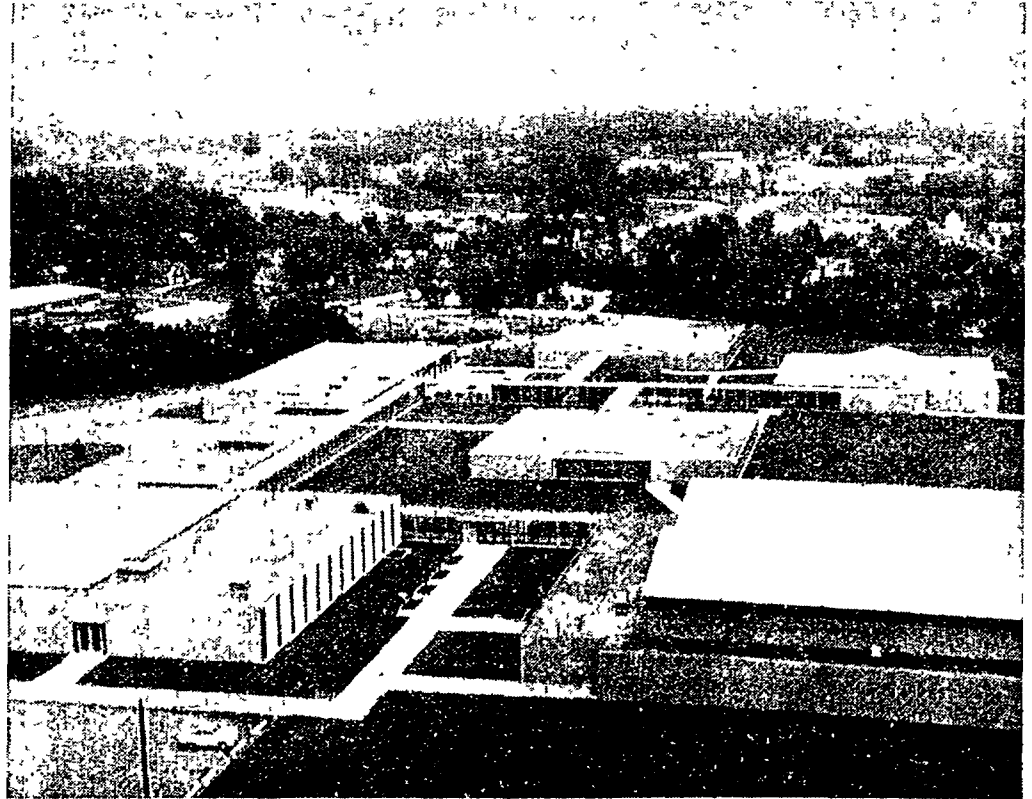

The council contended that all residents of Northville Heights will benefit from the paving. A quick estimate by the city manager indicated that the 80 platted lots would be assessed about $25 each for the paving in front of the subdivision on North Center. About eight of these lots are still owned by the developer.

The city will pay for all the cost of the entire length of the east side of the street from the general fund. City Manager John Robertson said he would try to have a tentative plan ready for the council next Monday. Presumably, if all goes well, North Center street will be paved this fall.

Summer Band Concerts

A summer schedule of five band concerts will begin next Wednesday (July 13) evening at the city hall park.

The Northville high school band, directed by Robert Williams, will perform each Wednesday at 7 p.m.

TOWERING HEIGHTS — The above picture was taken eastward from atop the city of Northville's new 135-foot-high water tower. In the foreground is the new Northville high school. Not yet fully completed for operation, work is being rushed by the contractor already behind schedule some 30 days at a penalty of $50 per day. To find out why Editor Jack Hoffman (at right) is wiping his brow as he leaves the water tower entrance, see "Speaking for the Record", page 10.

Seek Homes for Young Visitors

An appeal to Northville area homes to open their doors for one evening to provide accommodations for visiting foreign exchange students was issued this week by the chairman of the annual foreign exchange student dinner.

More than 120 students from throughout the state are expected to gather in Northville next Wednesday evening to attend the Rotary club-sponsored farewell event. The students will leave Northville the next afternoon by bus enroute to Montreal, Canada, their port of embarkation.

The dinner will be held at the Wayne County Training school at 6:30 p.m. with some 500 Rotarians, foster parents, guests and exchange students expected to be on hand.

General Chairman Richard Kay and Charles Carrington, who is in charge of providing overnight accommodations for the students report that there is a definite need for more volunteers to provide one night lodging for the students.

Anyone who would be willing to take one or more students is asked to contact Carrington, FI-9-2000.

Wednesday evening's program marks the conclusion to a year of study and living in American homes for the youngsters. The exchange student program is sponsored by the Michigan and Ann Arbor-Washinaw councils of churches and is called the Teenage Exchange Program.

The event will conclude a year in Northville for Rosemary McNelly of Ireland, who has been living with the Ed Welches of Wing street, and Antoinette Michelsen of The Netherlands, whose foster parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tremor of Napier road.

As part of the planned program for Wednesday evening, a student representative of each country will give a brief talk concerning their experiences and impressions of their year's stay in the United States.

Consuls representing several foreign countries will also attend the dinner as well as Rotary District

Governor Charles A. Bell of Canada.

Dr. Pasquel Buoniconti, superintendent of the Wayne County Training school and a Northville Rotarian, is official host and in charge of dinner arrangements. Philip Ogilvie is co-chairman of the event, while program arrangements and tickets are being handled by Dayton Deal and William Sliger, respectively.

RECENTLY MOVED to the Northville area from Oklahoma are these five members of the W. E. Handley family: Mr. and Mrs. Handley and their three daughters, (l-r): Judy, 15; Cheryl, 16, and Michelle, 18.

It was difficult leaving behind so many good friends and neighbors, but the W. E. Handley family feels sure they will find a good home in Northville.

The Handleys moved from their home in Ada, Oklahoma to their large but temporary home in Brookland Farms subdivision at the corner of Cottisford and Novi road early in June.

They are renting now but hope soon to buy or build a new home inside the city of Northville.

An independent oil operator and a lease broker, Mr. Handley moved to this area to take a job with the Humble Oil & Refining company, a subsidiary of Standard Oil, as a lease broker.

Nine years ago he was a partner in the Handley Brown Heating company at Jackson — the family's original home. His switch to the oil business was quite accidental, Mr. Handley admits, but he soon found it to be as exciting as it is rewarding.

The Handleys have three pretty daughters, Michelle, 18, who graduated from high school last spring; Cheryl, 16, and Judy, 15. Cheryl and Judy are anxiously awaiting their first year at Northville's new high school. Cheryl will be a junior, Judy a sophomore. Michelle plans to attend Jackson junior college in the fall.

The girls were all very active in high school activities at Ada — located about 85 miles from Oklahoma City. Cheryl, president of her sophomore class, was the first girl ever elected to that position.

Judy, who owns two horses, is an excellent rider and spends much of her time perfecting this skill. Michelle, who like her mother, finds one of her greatest pleasures in acting, is an avid bowler. She recently was the runner-up in an Oklahoma state singles tournament.

But the girls are not the only sports enthusiasts in the family. Mrs. Handley has been the city golf champion of both Ada and Jackson. Mr. Handley was a staunch fan of the Ada high school football team, which won four straight state football championships. He hopes he can cheer for another championship team here. "I'm sorry to hear your coach left, but Jackson can sure use him."

While in Ada Mrs. Handley was active in the Ada Community theater where she had starring roles in the "Glass Menagerie" and "Our Town".

Barbara Lee Krist Weds Robert D. Ramp at St. Paul's

A double ring ceremony at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church Saturday, June 18 joined in marriage Barbara Lee Krist, daughter of the Wesley L. Krist of Novi, and Robert Douglas Ramp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollice W. Reed of Plymouth. The Rev. B. J. Pankow officiated.

Lace and silk organza over taffeta fashioned the fitted bodice of the bride's gown. Her sheared sleeves and scalloped neckline were delicately accented with scattered sequins and seed pearls. Deep lace points extended from the waist into the full skirt with a chapel length train. She carried a bouquet of gladioli buds and split carnations.

Maid of honor Gloria Sauer of Southfield and Bridesmaids Stephanie Reed of Northville, Annette Hofseff and Donna Jones of Detroit wore white nylon organza over taffeta.

Attending the groom were Allan Lashbrook of Detroit, best man; along with Ushers Frank Leurck of Livonia, William Krist of Novi and Robert Krist of Southfield.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the American Legion hall in Farmington.

Returning from their northern Michigan honeymoon, the couple will reside in Plymouth.

Seek Exhibits For Area Art Show

An area-wide invitation is being extended to all artists and "would-be" artists to participate in the 3rd annual Community Arts and Crafts exhibit in Farmington.

Plans for the exhibit were recently outlined by the committee at the home of Mrs. Wanda Pusey of Farmington.

Committee chairman, Stanley Hench of Walled Lake, stated that he hopes to have representation from all communities in the area; and that he already has commitments from artists in Livonia, Plymouth, Redford, Birmingham, Walled Lake, Farmington and Northville.

The committee announced that entries will be limited to original works, suitably framed or mounted, and will include oils, water colors, graphics, sculpture, jewelry and ceramics.

The exhibit will be held at the Farmington Universalist church from July 31 through August 7.

'60 Living in Century Old Home

Ever wonder if that old house you've had your eye on could be transformed into a modern, beautiful home?

Ten years ago the Clarence F. Walter family not only came across this question but set out to prove that it can be done.

Today their handsome house at 9184 Currie road is a showroom of beauty, nestled on 30 acres of land.

From the outside, the 100-year-old house — one of the oldest monuments of pioneering days in the vicinity — is an unpretentious white frame and green trim dwelling that looks out from beneath huge green trees some 100 yards from the road.

The green lawn around the home is moderately sprinkled with Early American relics — a hint of the warm welcome within.

Walk in the new side entrance and you are immediately faced with the family's prize — a large but cozy country kitchen. Once a dining room and a kitchen, the Walters have had the partition between the two rooms cut away. Now it is two rooms in one.

The center of attraction is the old brick fireplace, built at an angle across one wall. On one end of the room is the kitchen proper, the other the dining area. Richly decorated with Early American furniture, the room is partially paneled and wallpapered to match.

Here is where Mr. and Mrs. Walter and their daughter, Frances spend most of their time. In the winter, the warm glow of the fireplace offers an ideal place for relaxation; in the summer its cool and charming atmosphere is hard to resist. Here in the winter is where the family Christmas tree sets, and in the summer here is where the family visit with their friends.

Off the kitchen, yet apart from it, is the living room. It too — like the remainder of the home — is attractively decorated with Early American furniture. On one end of the room is a large unused fireplace, the other a wide colonial window.

A hall off the living room leads to two large bedrooms and a bath down. Upstairs is a large bedroom, which covers the entire floor. A glassed-in porch has been built on the rear of the house.

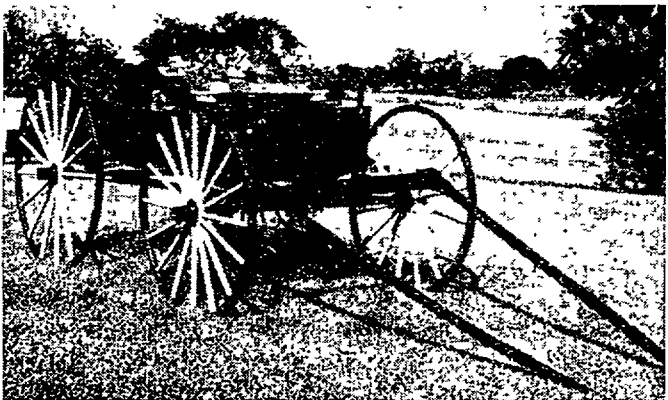

A "Michigan" cellar has been converted to a conventional-style basement.

100 YEARS OLD? Most people who visit this Currie road home can't believe that it is more than 100 years old. Originally built by Sterry Lyon in 1839, it has been remodeled extensively.

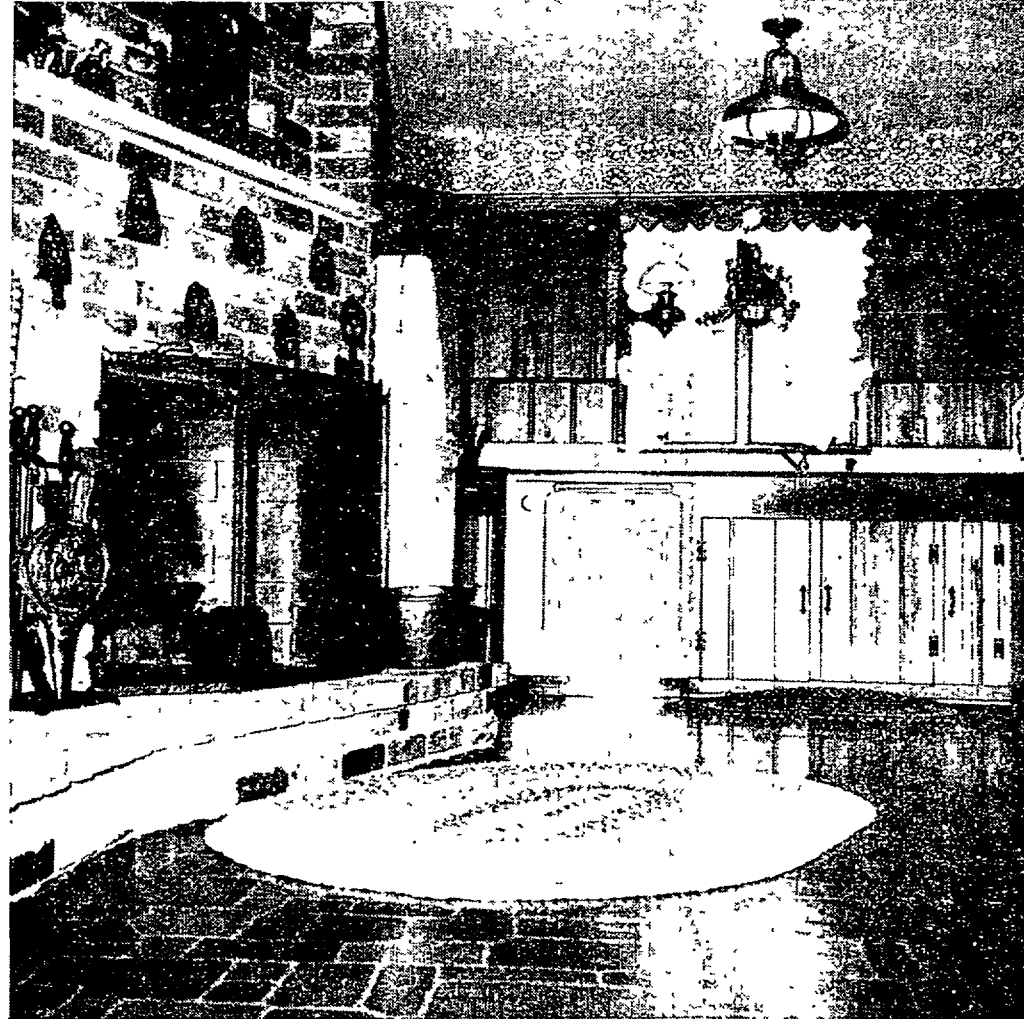

LIVING ROOM — The center of attraction in the spacious living room is the wide colonial window, decorated with white lace curtains. The piano, like all furniture in the home, complements the decorative scheme.

FLOWER WAGON — This unique flower wagon, which catches the eye of every visitor, is an attractive piece of lawn furniture at the Walter home.

OUTDOOR GRILL — Even the outdoor grill fits into the scheme of Early Americana with this antique but convenient iron stove.

COUNTRY KITCHEN — The best-liked room in the Walter home is this country kitchen, which features the old brick fireplace at the left.

Self-examination and purification of thought are essential to spiritual progress. This is a theme to be dealt with at Christian Science services Sunday.
Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Sacrament" is the Golden Text from Psalms (139:23, 24): "Search me, O God, and know my heart: try me, and know my thoughts: and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting."
Citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include (8:28-30): "We should examine ourselves and learn what is the affection and purpose of the heart, for in this way only can we learn what we honestly are."
Scriptural selections will include the following verse: "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me" (Psalms 51:10).

"FOR BETTER OR FOR WORSE"

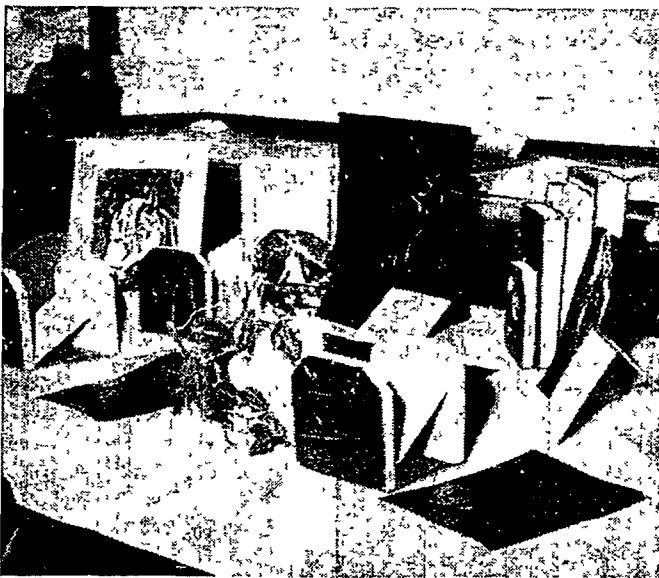

Not a few marriages are on the brink of destruction because of incompatibility, alcoholism, infidelity and diverse causes. Some of these are able to be saved because at first one partner trusted God, and then in time both did, and the partner who had for so long prayed and toiled alone now joined in united prayer and united effort which restored the happiness of marriage and the joy of living to both.

The woman whose love led to the saving of an "impossible situation" had many sacrifices to make and God alone knew what they cost her. Yet her husband must inevitably have known something of these sacrifices, and have felt that his own life, soul and body, was of unspeakable value to the partner of whom he felt he deserved so little. He was degraded in his own eyes, and possibly he was shunned by friends and neighbors; but to her he was still her companion in a great unity made and blessed by God. If she was for a time unable to respect the man because of his serious failings, she never ceased to respect his rightful position in their unity and to do all she could to restore him to that position, and while she so esteemed him he was not a hopeless case. In the same way a husband may forgive his erring wife and honor her as his wife until she becomes worthy of honor and unites with him in the renewal of life together.

The temptation "that I failed as a wife because my husband is a delinquent" should be overcome by the thought that where there is life there is hope. They were both Christians perhaps and as he turned from God she turned to God increasingly and refused to look away from Him. In other words she refused to give up hope. She had consecrated her married life and love to God when she was a bride and it was still so consecrated and therefore she never failed to love her husband according to her sacred vows. Perhaps in this she rose to heights which she would never have glimpsed in a care-free married life, atoning for the partner who had sunk so low, always mindful of their unity, never separating her life from his. People thought that there was "nothing to be said for him" but she spoke for him incessantly to Almighty God; and she made sacrifices for the man who would give up nothing in his own account.

When she started married life she never thought it would bring her so near as this to Christ on Calvary and to His Mother at the foot of the cross. Through years which would have killed purely natural hope she never failed in confidence, always mindful that God had joined her husband's life with hers so that He would surely help her to save the partner of her unity.

I believe that there is always an immense hope for the saving of the "hopeless" partner in any marriage where the loyal partner has sacrificed the whole of living to this end. Husband and wife are joined together to honor God in their unity and to come closer to Him through their love for one another. And if one partner takes the lion's share, which is also the saint's share, in the making of that unity, can it fail to be fruitful.

While Eric Peterson was hurling a one-hitter last week Wednesday, his Recreation class E teammates turned 13 hits into a one-sided, 19-2 victory over Plymouth Fisher's Shoes.

Terry LaRue, who relieved Peterson in the fourth, refused to give up a hit.

The leading Northville hitter was Gordie Hammond, who collected two hits in four trips to the plate. He was credited with six runs batted in, including a three-run homer.

Joe Hay also came up with two hits, including a triple.

Wixom Orioles Win Extra Inning Game

The Wixom Orioles copped its eighth win of the season last week with an extra-inning victory over the Walled Lake Tigers, 5-4.

Gary Connelly pitched the regulation six innings, but under Little League rules was not permitted to hurl longer. In the seventh Mike Latham and Pat Pilo held Walled Lake with Pilo fanning the final batter with the bases loaded.

John Combs with three hits and Terry Blake with two led Wixom's eight-hit attack. The Orioles now have a record of eight wins and one defeat and stand at first place in the league.

Homer in Seventh Stops Braves, 5-4

A home run in the last half of the seventh scuttled the Northville Braves' attempt to whip the Clarenceville Colonials last week.

Northville's hurler, Glenn Delbert, who went the distance for the local National League nine, had two down in the seventh and was working on the third when the Colonials' batter smashed the four-bagger to hand his squad the 5-4 victory.

An earlier contest with the Fireman Cardinals was postponed because of inclement weather.

Class D Nine Nips Badgers, 3-1

Northville's class D nine, fresh from a 3-1 victory over Livonia Badgers last week, will clash today with Thurston at Cass Benton park. Last week's win was the second for the Northville squad which split its openers with Livonia Recreation and the Plymouth Elks two weeks ago.

Bob Stuber held the Badgers to two hits, allowing only two balls to be hit to the outfield. He gave up five walks. Bob Slusser was tagged with the loss.

Northville grabbed its first two runs in the first half of the fourth as Fred Steeper led off with a walk and stole second. Roy Rice beat out a bunt after Stuber fled to right. Steeper scored and Rice moved up on an infield out by Butch Willing.

Don Coleman followed with a walk. Then Tom Daniels caught everyone sleeping on a good bunt to drive in Rice with the second run.

In the fifth, Jerry Sniegur opened with a walk, moved to second on a sacrifice by Mike Myers, scampereed to third on a wild pitch, and scored on Steeper's line single to left center. Stuber struck out and Rice fled to center to end the inning.

Livonia struck back with its lone run in the fifth. A walk combined with two fielder's choice plays and a dribble single to right by Steve Mason produced the only badger score.

The game, played in an off-and-on drizzle, was called at the end of the fifth because of darkness.

Easy on the Pocketbook

Few Sports Offer More than Fishing

If you've been searching for a sport that is easy to master, easy to reach and easy on the pocketbook, look no farther than the nearest lake.

It's almost certain to offer warm-water fishing — an easy sport from pole to pan. Bluegills, sunfish, crappies, rock bass and perch are Michigan's warm-water species. They are also commonly called panfish. A few general pointers on where, when and how to catch 'em, the essentials in fishing gear, and a license will put the beginning angler in business. A boat is also standard equipment, of course, but livers are frequently available, particularly on the better fishing lakes, to save you the expense of buying one.

The newcomer to panfishing will find his bill of fare to be a bargain. With his $2.00 license the resident may fish for these warm-water species year round in practically all Michigan waters, except trout lakes and streams. Non-residents may either buy an annual $5.00 license or a 15-day license for $4.00.

You don't have to shell out a lot of money for fancy equipment to enjoy this sport. A cane pole or bass-type rod with a simple reel will do and practically any type of line can be used with either of these. Although a leader is not absolutely necessary, it will help your chances of catching fish. If you plan to fish with live bait, a three-foot nylon leader of two-to-four pound test will fill the bill.

Hook sizes vary with the fish you're going after and the type of bait to be used and a sporting goods dealer can guide you in your selection. Long-shanked hooks are the best bet when you're using worms.

A couple of BB-sized lead sinkers should be placed about six inches above the hook. A common cork may be used as the bobber. It should be placed on the line so that your baited hook will be at the proper depth — where the fish are. A holding net or stringer is a sound investment for keeping fish fresh. Your choice of bait will depend upon what you want to catch, where you're fishing, and the time of day or year. Worms are most consistent fish-getters; however, grubs, crickets, grasshoppers and a host of other baits often prove reliable. Fish have a fickle appetite and are known to "turn on the worm". Live minnows work best for perch and crappies.

Panfish live in shallow waters during the early part of the year but later, after spawning or when hot weather arrives, they move to deeper waters. They favor deep holes in mid-summer, especially around the middle of the day. Weeded areas are among their favorite haunts.

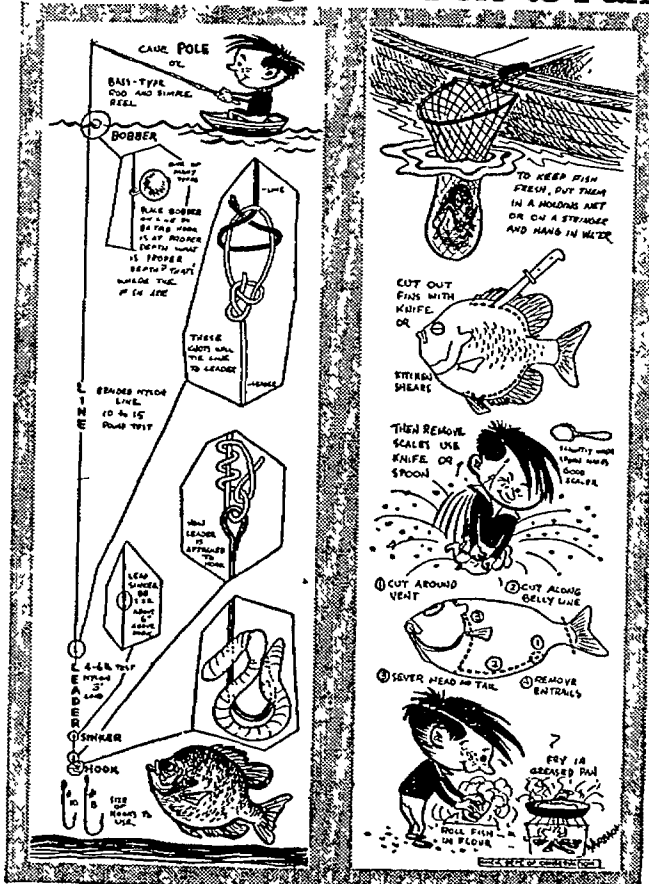

Bluegills, the most commonly-caught fish from Michigan's inland waters, are abundant throughout the lower peninsula and in some lakes above the Straits. They are found in shallow waters or at moderate depths of weedy lakes. You may enjoy some good results if you try fishing for bluegills in shallow water just before sunset when they are feeding at the surface. A fly rod and artificial dry fly are customarily used for this but a simple cane pole and weighted fly can also be effective.

The sunfish prefers the same waters and baits as his funny relative, the bluegill.

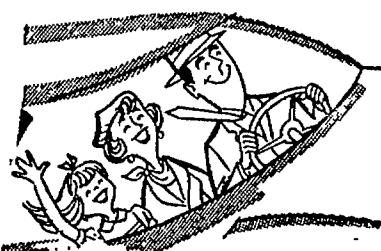

Rock bass are plentiful in the lower peninsula, especially in the larger and deeper lakes and southern non-trout rivers. They are also present in some parts of the upper peninsula. This fish prefers the cover of underwater boulders, brush heaps, overhanging banks, log jams and docks. Rock bass are often caught in 20 to 40 feet of water in deeper lakes.

Black crappies are common in lakes, impoundments and quiet backwaters. They are most abundant in the southern half of the lower peninsula but are also found in some northern lakes and streams. They are a fish of quiet and somewhat cloudy waters, often abundant in weedy areas and artificial reservoirs. Night fishing for crappies frequently yields good returns.

New Under the Sun

Babson Park, Mass. — While the papers are adequately covering space developments such as circling the moon, etc., I would like to come down to earth and tell you some very wonderful things which are now under development. From my point of view, any one of these may be more important than sailing around the solar system.

Control of Fusion
Readers are acquainted with references to the atomic bomb and the hydrogen bomb. The atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima had the explosive force of over 20,000 tons of TNT, whereas the old "blockbusters" had the force of only one ton. Yet the newer hydrogen bombs may have a thousand times the power of the atomic bomb. These are important things to consider in connection with the possibility of World War III. But in looking to the future, there is this difference: Atomic energy has already been harnessed for the development of electricity; but no practical method has been found for harnessing hydrogen energy for peace purposes. Considering that hydrogen energy may be found in every pond of water, while atomic energy can be secured only from uranium and similar substances, the industrial future is locked up in the discovery of means of safely harnessing hydrogen energy, commonly produced by fusion. There also may theoretically be a third bomb which emits radiation that kills people but does not destroy property.

One of the world's greatest miracles is how sunshine, air, water and the minerals of the earth can directly develop corn, wheat, potatoes, spinach, and every other kind of vegetable. Today, we raise foods only by planting seeds, cultivating the sprouts, and waiting several weeks for maturity. Even then we eat only a small portion of the properties which have been used to develop a kernel of corn. Surely some day the secret will be solved whereby this sunshine, air, water, and minerals will make food directly without the waste of farm land, human energy, and vegetable residue. This process is technically known as synthesis.

Methods of Communication
The time is coming when there will be no telephone wires on our streets. Communications will be by microwaves. The Bell Laboratories are already applying these waves to long-distance communications. Whether or not the new methods of transporting electric power without wires will be developed, I do not know. I am, however, certain that there will be a most radical change in all means of communications, including radio, television, and other discoveries yet to come. Even now, antennae and vacuum tubes are no longer necessary to transmit unseen electric waves through the walls of any home or factory.

Rearranging the Molecules
I am tremendously interested in the work of Dr. S. W. Herwald of the Research Department of Westinghouse Electric Corp. By the rearrangement of molecules, certain minerals may do the work of other minerals and combine into almost new minerals. Gallium, boron, phosphorus, arsenic, and other elements are used in these experiments. By rearrangements of molecules, strips of metal an eighth of an inch wide and a few thousandths of an inch thick present great industrial potential.

Since the days of Sir Isaac Newton, physicists have been seeking a partial insulator of gravity. Our metallurgists have been watching for some alloy (millions of untried possible alloy exist) to act as such an insulator. It is now hoped that this will be accomplished by a rearrangement of the molecules of some existing mineral. Such a discovery could well result in "perpetual motion" for small irrigation pumps and other industrial uses without consumption of oil or electricity. I am confident that such a discovery will some day be announced by the Gravity Research Foundation of New Boston, N.H.

Machines Which Think
If space permitted, I would like to discuss the new developments in analytical and computing machines. These are now manufactured at great cost; but some day they will be as common as adding machines. None of these are as yet able to think, but can only rearrange and report on information previously fed into them. With the rearrangement of molecules, some day we may have a machine which "thinks".

The atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima had the explosive force of over 20,000 tons of TNT, whereas the old "blockbusters" had the force of only one ton. Yet the newer hydrogen bombs may have a thousand times the power of the atomic bomb. These are important things to consider in connection with the possibility of World War III. But in looking to the future, there is this difference: Atomic energy has already been harnessed for the development of electricity; but no practical method has been found for harnessing hydrogen energy for peace purposes. Considering that hydrogen energy may be found in every pond of water, while atomic energy can be secured only from uranium and similar substances, the industrial future is locked up in the discovery of means of safely harnessing hydrogen energy, commonly produced by fusion. There also may theoretically be a third bomb which emits radiation that kills people but does not destroy property.

Methods of Communication
The time is coming when there will be no telephone wires on our streets. Communications will be by microwaves. The Bell Laboratories are already applying these waves to long-distance communications. Whether or not the new methods of transporting electric power without wires will be developed, I do not know. I am, however, certain that there will be a most radical change in all means of communications, including radio, television, and other discoveries yet to come. Even now, antennae and vacuum tubes are no longer necessary to transmit unseen electric waves through the walls of any home or factory.

Rearranging the Molecules
I am tremendously interested in the work of Dr. S. W. Herwald of the Research Department of Westinghouse Electric Corp. By the rearrangement of molecules, certain minerals may do the work of other minerals and combine into almost new minerals. Gallium, boron, phosphorus, arsenic, and other elements are used in these experiments. By rearrangements of molecules, strips of metal an eighth of an inch wide and a few thousandths of an inch thick present great industrial potential.

Since the days of Sir Isaac Newton, physicists have been seeking a partial insulator of gravity. Our metallurgists have been watching for some alloy (millions of untried possible alloy exist) to act as such an insulator. It is now hoped that this will be accomplished by a rearrangement of the molecules of some existing mineral. Such a discovery could well result in "perpetual motion" for small irrigation pumps and other industrial uses without consumption of oil or electricity. I am confident that such a discovery will some day be announced by the Gravity Research Foundation of New Boston, N.H.

Machines Which Think
If space permitted, I would like to discuss the new developments in analytical and computing machines. These are now manufactured at great cost; but some day they will be as common as adding machines. None of these are as yet able to think, but can only rearrange and report on information previously fed into them. With the rearrangement of molecules, some day we may have a machine which "thinks".

Attend State VFW Convention

The 33rd annual state convention for the Veterans of Foreign Wars was held in Saginaw June 16 and 17. Those attending the convales for Northville Post 4012 were: Delegates Clayton Myers, L. McArthur, Fred Robinson, Commander Walter Sousa, Belle Myers and Marg Rager.

Alternates were Tom Moxie, Pete Goudeseune, Ernie Ash, Lee McArthur and Eileen Sousa. Also attending were Mrs. Goudeseune and Mrs. Moxie.

Mrs. Joseph (Bessie) Hanken of Revere, Mass., national convention director and past national president of the ladies auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, represented the national organization at the Michigan Department convention.

Department conventions are held in the late spring for the purpose of electing officers for each state auxiliary unit. National officers for the 1960-61 year will be chosen during the 47th annual national convention to be held in Detroit August 21-26.

Auxiliary members annually give more than three million dollars and six million volunteer hours, to hospitalized veterans and their families, in community service, Americanism programs, assistance to youth groups, cancer research, civil defense and legislation benefiting veterans. The organization also contributes heavily to the support of the VFW National Home at Eaton Rapids, which provides for the children of veterans.

Members of the organization are the wives, mothers, sisters, daughters, and widows of veterans who have served overseas in the U.S. armed forces, or women who have themselves had overseas service. There are 325,000 members in all 50 states, the Canal Zone, Samoa, Okinawa and Japan.

SPEAKING

for the Record

By Bill Sliger

Friday morning I asked City Manager John Robertson if News Editor Jack Hoffman and myself could visit the new water tower and maybe take some pictures before they pour water inside.

Never having been inside one of these new spheroid towers, I guess I imagined that the entire inside was filled with water.

It's not that way at all, of course. All the water will be in the cone at the top.

Anyway, Robertson said O.K. and Ad Manager Rod Dahlager decided he'd like to go along and take some pictures from the top with his own camera.

Armed with three cameras, we went inside the giant structure. There's an iron ladder from the ground level to the first platform about 50 feet high. The city manager, feigning some excuse, stayed on the ground. Hoffman, Dahlager and I climbed bravely to the first platform.

You crawl through a hole in the platform to reach this first level — then there's another ladder to the second level and a smaller platform.

I thought of an excuse at this level. (Somebody had to go back on the ground with a camera to take a picture of the others on top of the tower!)

Hoffman and Dahlager continued to the second level, which looked to me to be about another 50 feet up.

They looked out a small trap door opening at this level, which is just below the cone of the tower.

The third level is the top. It's another 40 feet up a ladder which is inside a tunnel going directly through the area in which the water will be held.

Dahlager thought of an excuse at this level (something about wanting to get back down).

By this time I was safely down on the ground at the base of the tower. The manager suggested that we would have to drive over by the high school, some 300 yards away, if we expected to see anyone on top of the tower.

Well, we got to the school and when I looked back at the tower, my knees turned weak.

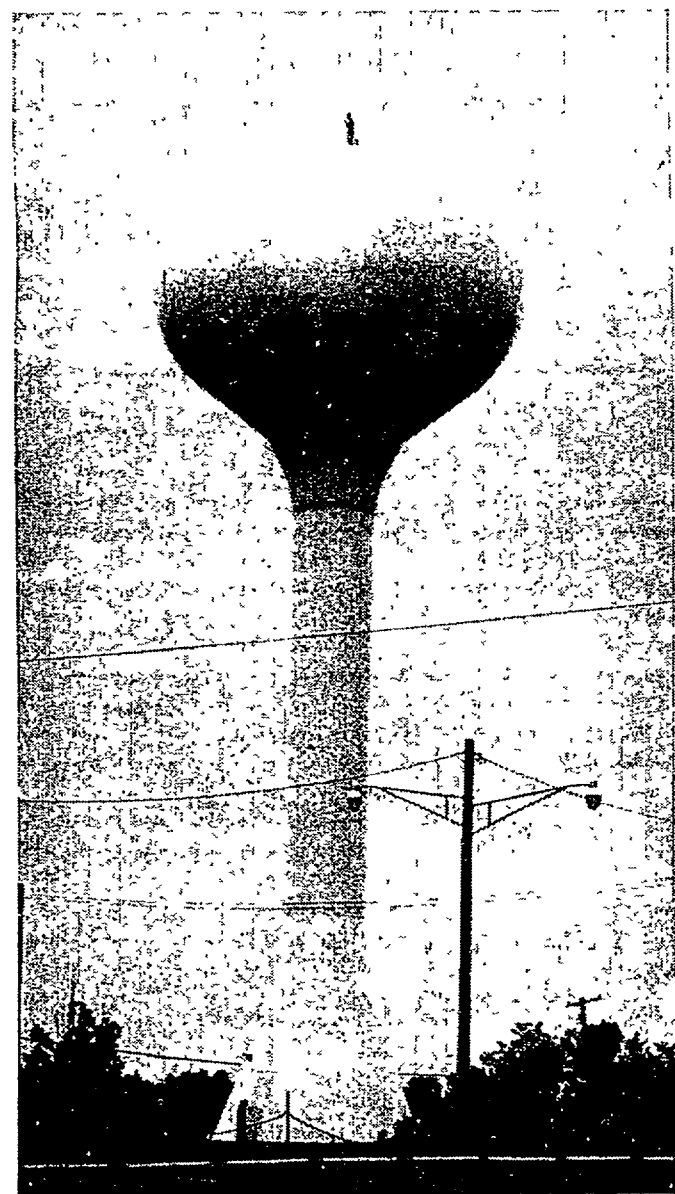

There was Hoffman, so high you couldn't recognize him, and waving like an excited kid watching a train go by.

He had his camera, too, and was busily taking pictures (see page one).

I yelled at him to get down, but he just kept on waving and snapping pictures.

The manager sat down. I think he was wondering about city liability in case — (I hate to even mention it).

Finally I remembered that I had a camera — so to prove this story is not just a figment of my imagination, see for yourself (below). That's Hoffman, King of the Tower!

It's just a coincidence, but Superintendent of Schools Russell Amerman and Attorney Clifton Hill will both be at Mayo Clinic in Rochester this Saturday for check-ups.

Amerman and his wife will continue on to Polson, Montana for their annual July vacation at the home of his brother and her sister. It's a twister to explain — but Amerman's twin brother is married to Amerman's wife's sister.

Anyway, you get the idea — the Amerman brothers married sisters.

Government Immunity

AS EVERY HOMEOWNER or car owner knows, insurance problems — obtaining it or the lack of it — can be a headache.

The state, with its vast complex of property, institutions, vehicles, operations and services, might have a king-sized insurance headache. Right now, the only liability insurance the state buys is for its motor vehicles and airplanes.

Acts of the Legislature waived immunity from liability for claims arising out of accidents involving cars, trucks or planes.

The doctrine of "governmental immunity" is well established by custom and the courts. Under it, the state — and probably in most cases local units of government — is immune to liability arising out of purely governmental activity.

The courts have found local units liable for accidents involving a proprietary function — that is, an activity which brings in money.

Indications are the state would be liable if an accident occurred in one of its money-making enterprises, such as the athletic events at state institutions, state fairs or even state parks under the park fee provisions in a bill which becomes effective this year.

The Attorney General and the Legislature are both concerned about just how much liability the state should face.

One chief cause for the concern is a tendency of judges to speak out against the doctrine of "governmental immunity" while at the same time upholding precedent by ruling against claimants who say the state owes them money for injuries.

Six cases brought against the state — and dismissed — in the Court of Claims this year are expected to go to the Supreme Court.

In these six and one other, the presiding Circuit Judge granted the state's motion for dismissal but said the "governmental immunity" doctrine was obsolete.

Attorney General Paul L. Adams has notified Rep. Thomas J. Whitnery (R-Grand Rapids), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, that legislation is in order to:

(1) Establish the exact limits and boundaries of the state's liability; and (2) provide for obtaining insurance on facilities and activities where it is needed.

As Adams said: "This matter deserves serious consideration at an early date by the Legislature."

MICHIGAN STATE university has put out a handbook for pros and amateurs in the grand American game of politics.

Written by political scientist Joseph LaPalombara, and published by the Bureau of Social and Political Research, the "Guide to Michigan Politics" is a revised edition of a pamphlet first published in 1955.

The easy-to-read book tells all from how to register to vote to how to get elected to office. It sells for $1 from the Bureau.

GOV. G. MENNEN WILLIAMS has asked state departments to estimate how much money they will need to operate during the next five years.

And he also asked them to tell how they plan to spend it.

The influence of population growth, demand for increased services and refinements of long-standing operations were among the things the governor asked departments to consider in making an estimate of what they think operations will amount to in 1965.

It was a broad, general picture that the governor was after.

He said growth of state programs over the past 10 years and continued population expansion and demand for services seem certain to produce new demands on state government.

Apparently he wants to provide some sort of blueprint for his successor in office.

LOSS OF LIFE and property from fire jumped considerably during 1959 over the previous year.

Some 252 lives were lost and $44,222,790 worth of property damage was done although there were 4,580 fewer actual fires. The dead included 160 adults and 92 minor children.

The State Police fire marshal division said in its annual report that carelessness caused one quarter of the fires.

Figures for 1958 showed 198 deaths and almost $4 million less property damage.

Lightning — which no human controls — caused just 813 of the blazes.

The rest, including 2,887 fires caused by spontaneous ignition, had a human element involved. Inadequate safeguards, improper use of inflammable material, incendiarism and children playing with fire caused most of the blazes which could not be traced directly to carelessness.

Cadillac

Secret Love of Motorists Everywhere!

It probably won't surprise you to learn that most people—given a choice of any motor car in the land—would choose Cadillac.

For Cadillac is so widely acknowledged the master of motor cars that it has become a vital part of the aspirations of people everywhere.

It is a possession deliberately created to represent design and craftsmanship at their highest levels—and to render the fullest possible measure of personal enjoyment and satisfaction.

Happily, more and more of Cadillac's "secret admirers" have this year decided to declare their intentions—and start driving one!

And with good reason.

First of all, the car itself provides a greater temptation to action than ever before. In the way it looks and rides and handles—it has widened even further the gulf that exists between Cadillac and other motor cars.

Secondly, the "car of cars" is now within the means of an even larger number of motorists.

Its original cost is surprisingly close to cars of far less stature and acceptance. Its dependability and reliability are unparalleled. And, as always, it is the "resale champion" of all motordom.

We suggest you pay your Cadillac dealer a visit—and let him arrange a date with your secret love.

State Fair Entries Deadline August 12

The deadline for agriculture and livestock entries for the Michigan State Fair is Friday, August 12, this year.

The announcement was made by Donald L. Swanson, general manager, who reported that thousands of 1960 Premium Books have been mailed to Michigan exhibitors announcing a record $140,000 in prizes for this year's 111th annual Michigan State Fair to be held September 2 through 11 in Detroit.

Eldon McLachlan, state fair agriculture director, said that changes listed in this year's Premium Book include:

1. Dairy cattle premiums have been increased by $1,000.
2. A special banner will be awarded the Junior Champion Sow and Boar.
3. The tenure of steer ownership must be at least 90 days.
4. The addition of two Performance Classes for both Arabian and Appaloosa Horses.

Swanson suggested that farmers make every effort to get their entries in as early as possible.

FASCINATING FACTS ABOUT NATURAL GAS

MOTHER NATURE'S STORED SUNSHINE

Artfully and deceptively, billions of years ago, Mother Nature concealed her treasury of "stored sunshine". She carefully guarded it in deep, underground storehouses — vaults of sand and stone. How successful she was! Man existed a half-million years before he discovered this miracle fuel, Natural Gas. Then it was nearly always in hard-to-reach spots — mountains, deserts, swamps and at sea. Today the tables are turned. "It is treasured "stored sunshine" is used today as a wonderful substitute for Mother Nature. No longer is man at the mercy of the weather. Natural Gas provides comfortable heat in the winter and cooling in the summer. Rain or shine, the automatic Gas clothes dryer "sunshine dries" your laundry. You can count on this "silent servant" always being on the job!

Careful Kids, He May Bite

With three children bitten and close to a dozen dog complaints received in recent weeks, Novi police this week issued a warning to parents to keep their children away from stray dogs.

According to police, children finding a stray dog have been carrying the animal home where they are bitten.

In every bite case, Novi residents are asked to call the police department immediately. If the resident has a complaint about running dogs he should call the county animal shelter, FE-8-9621.

System Provides Faster Mail Service

Sweeping service improvements aimed at providing next day first class letter service for the 6,500,000 people in the entire lower Michigan Peninsula embracing over 40,300 square miles has been announced by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield. The new postal delivery system was explained Wednesday morning at the Lansing post office by field service officer Bruce Baughman, Detroit, in behalf of the postmaster general.

"A month's shake-down period has proven," Summerfield's statement said, "that, barring occasional human errors, all first class letters deposited before 5 p.m. on a business day will be delivered to any destination within the 64 county area on the first delivery trip of the following business day."

Postmaster General Summerfield's release explained that next day delivery of first class mail in the Lansing-Detroit Metro is now possible because of closely integrated timetable which governs the work of the area's postal units and the transportation linking them together. Lansing is the hub of a gigantic postal transport wheel. Leading out from this center are transport lines running to "sectional centers" at Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Saginaw, Kalamazoo, Battle Creek, Jackson, Flint, Port Huron, Cadillac, Grayling and Detroit. Post offices in the area surrounding the sectional centers feed in to the latter.

Busy Schedule In Justice Court

Justice E. M. Bogart recorded a number of convictions during court proceedings over the past two weeks. Guilty of driving under the influence of liquor and striking the parked car of Charles Rogers, 235 Church street, Orpha Turner, 20 Meadowbrook lane, was issued a penalty of $75 or 40 days in the woman's division of the Detroit House of Correction and suspension of her operator's license.

Two Novi residents, Allen Geer, 19, 26120 Novi road, and Gary Ledford, 20, 27790 Novi road, pleaded guilty and were fined $50 each for drunk and disorderly conduct.

Convicted of a drunk and disorderly charge, Ward Drouillard, 43771 West Grand River, Novi, was fined $50.

Reckless driving involving the loss of control of his car and striking a guard rail at the Novi-8 Mile road intersection, brought conviction and a $50 fine to Edwin Evans of Detroit.

Another Detroit, Phillip Powell, was ordered to pay $25 after being found guilty of tampering with a motor vehicle belonging to someone else.

George Chasse, a Bay City man, was issued two $25 fines, for leaving the scene of an accident and driving without a valid operator's license and ordered to pay damages resulting from the mishap.

Novi Council to Join Planners in Hearing

In a session that lasted until after midnight, the council Tuesday decided to leave on the table a request for rezoning of the Taylor property, approved a resolution for closing of the eastern entrance to 11 Mile road, and voted to meet in a public hearing with the planning board on rezoning of the Prichard property.

The council decided to leave on the table the James W. Taylor request pending a definite statement from him as to the contemplated construction on the 3 1/2 acres of property at the southwest corner of Novi and Ten Mile roads.

Both the planning board and the council had tabled the request to change the zoning from a C-1 classification to C-2 following a public hearing several months ago. Recently, the planning board voted to recommend approval by the council.

In approving the resolution to close a section of 11 Mile road, the council stipulated subject to the condition that the house located at the intersection must have been either purchased by the state or a sufficient road to a public right-of-way must be provided by the state at its expense.

The state had requested approval of the resolution so that it might move ahead with its plans for construction of the east-west highway, "Interstate Route 696".

The property under question is located near the corner of 11 Mile and Haggerty roads.

Council members also voted to hold a joint public meeting on July 18 with the planning board to consider the request of Al Pritchard to have a portion of his Novi road property changed from an R-2 (two family residential) to an M-1 (light manufacturing) classification.

If rezoned, the property — which is located at 24666 Novi road near the northern crossing of the C&O railroad, reportedly will be used by the Michigan Tractor and Supply company as the site for a district sales office, Board Chairman Vincent Miklas said.

In other business, the council decided to table a request by the fire chief for additional full-time firemen to bring the force up to state specifications and a request for purchase of mouth to mask resuscitators. Chief Fred Loynes is to appear before the council at its next meeting to explain his requests.

Standardless Interpretation

One of the trends that is taking place in many of our Christian Institutions and Churches today should well arouse every Bible-believing Christian no matter what denomination he may belong to. This trend is referred to by President Colwell of University of Chicago as "the vogue of standardless interpretation." By this he means the practice of using orthodox terminology and placing his own private interpretation upon it. In this way he appears to give consent to the truth while at the same time hold a belief which may be in direct opposition to the truth. This is not only practiced in relation to doctrinal beliefs of their respective churches, but also to interpretation of the scriptures themselves. Now due to our finite understanding that we as humans have, there will always be some minor differences in the interpretation of some of the scriptures. However, the practice of unlimited liberty of interpretation whereby the plain meaning of the passage is changed into something else is certainly a form of intellectual dishonesty. The Book of Jude warns us concerning those who have "crept in unaware," who turn the grace of God into excesses and even deny the deity of the Lord Jesus. Christians — it is your job to see that your preacher sticks by the Book.
