Mr. and Mrs. Victor A. Miller

Burns-Miller Vows Read at St. Paul's

Sandra Jean Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns of Bradner road, Plymouth, became the bride of Victor A. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Miller of Bloomcrest drive, Northville, in a July 2 candlelight ceremony at St. Paul's Lutheran church.

The Rev. B. J. Pankow officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her father before an altar adorned with white gladioli and mums. She wore a floor length gown of crystal white silk organza. An embroidered floral pattern accented the full skirt which fell into a chapel train. The gently scooped neckline of the dress's fitted bodice was set off by a single strand of pearls which the bride wore. Her headpiece, a silk organza rose set on a slender band, held a silk illusion veil. She carried a modified cascading bouquet of white gladioli and roses.

Matron of honor Mrs. George H. Miller of Northville, wife of the groom's brother, was attired in a white gown accented in the front by a teal blue bow at the waist. She carried a basket of yellow roses and gladioli.

Wearing identical dresses were bridesmaids Lynn Paquette of Wayne and Sally Plamondon of Northville. Their flowers were baskets of blue mums and gladioli. All three attendants wore matching blue accessories.

George H. Miller of Northville served his brother as best man. Seating guests were ushers Gary Burns, the bride's brother, and Louis Paquette of Wayne.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Burns chose aqua blue silk organza with blending accessories. The groom's mother was attired in powder blue with matching accessories.

Following a reception at the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall in Plymouth, the bride and groom left for a northern Michigan honeymoon. They will reside in Northville.

"I look upon every day to be lost, in which I do not make a new acquaintance."

—Samuel Johnson

THE SCENIC LITTLE TOWN they drove through and liked is now the home of newcomers Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wegeng and their sons Wendell, 4, and Philip III, 8. They resided in Redford township before moving to their home at 4447 Chedworth, Brookland Farms, this June.

"We always thought Northville was a very scenic little town. We had driven through it several times and liked it, so when the opportunity arose, we bought a lot and built our house."

Mrs. Philip Wegeng explained how her family now finds itself situated at 4447 Chedworth in Brookland Farms. She assures us that moving from one place to another entails just a little more than the above narrative indicates but essentially that's how the Wegengs transferred their household from Redford township to Northville. The Wegengs — Mr. and Mrs., Philip III, 8, and Wendell, 4, lived in Redford township five years before coming to Northville in the first week of June. Illinois was originally home for Mr. and Mrs. (Carole) Wegeng; they were both born there.

Mr. Wegeng was a student at the University of Illinois in Champaign, his home town. He is currently employed as a securities broker with the Manley Bennett brokerage firm in Bloomfield Hills.

Also generating activity around the Wegeng home are two dogs — "Fritz", a dachshund, and "Gypsy", a German short-haired pointer — and "Caspar" — the cat.

For recreation Mr. and Mrs. Wegeng and Philip (Wendell will probably join them soon) have taken up golf and skiing — the snow variety. Mr. Wegeng is holding his own in the triple competition and his wife says its nip and tuck between she and her son.

Bridge and bowling also fit into Mr. and Mrs. Wegeng's interests. She reads quite extensively, has worked in community campaigns and projects and has been active with the P.T.A.

Content with their new home and surroundings, Mrs. Wegeng concurs with her son's wish not to move back to the city.

KITCHEN DIARY

Serving Luncheon? Try This

Having guests for lunch often presents a hostess with the problem of what to serve. Club girls, bridge girls or special luncheon visitors — Mrs. Dean Lenheiser, 45095 Mayo court, has served and satisfied them with Chicken Rice casserole and Lime and Cottage Cheese salad.

That they fill the bill is attested by Mrs. Lenheiser's observations that this luncheon menu is "yummy and fattening but they (the girls) love it on an afternoon out. If they don't already have these recipes, they quite often don't go home without them. And Dad loves the leftovers for supper."

CHICKEN RICE CASSEROLE

Mrs. Dean Lenheiser
1 cup rice
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups water
¼ teaspoon pepper

2 sliced pimientos
3 cups cooked chicken or turkey (diced)
2 cans cream of chicken soup
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Toasted almonds

Combine rice, salt and water in sauce pan; bring to a boil and simmer 15 minutes. Pour into two-quart casserole. Stir in pepper, pimientos, chicken or turkey. Combine soup, milk and Worcestershire sauce; stir into chicken mix and bake with a cover for 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Top with toasted almonds. Serves eight.

LIME AND COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD

1 9-ounce can crushed pineapple
12 marshmallows finely cut
1 cup salted cottage cheese

1 package lime gelatin
½ cup nutmeats
½ pint whipping cream
Drain pineapple well. To the juice add enough water to make ¾ cup liquid. Bring to a boil and pour over lime gelatin. When gelatin is dissolved, immediately add cup cut marshmallows. Stir until marshmallows are foamy. Cool. Add pineapple, nutmeats, cottage cheese and whipped cream. Cool mixture to desired firmness in a two-quart mold. Serves eight.

Only 36 Report for Drills

1st Grid Practice Disappoints Coach

Less than 40 hopefuls — and only 14 lettermen — were on hand Monday morning when Coach Ron Horwath launched the first Northville football drills of the 1960 season.

Somewhat disappointed over the turnout, the new coach forced a smile and indicated that "maybe" a few more fellows will report within a few days — "I hope". Assistant Coach Dutch Van Ingen's most pungent comment was, "Help!"

Monday's turnout, considerably smaller than the 100 students who reported for the opening practice last season, included several junior varsity players.

Joint practice of varsity and reserve players may continue throughout the season, Horwath indicated, unless more prospects report for upcoming drills. Practice will continue twice daily at least until next week.

Horwath said. Although the dull thuds of crashing helmets and shoulder pads produced a familiar symphony of grunts and groans, there were several unfamiliarities about the initial practice.

First, four new coaches were present, including Horwath, Al Klukach and Dave Longridge.

Second, practice was conducted on the field adjacent to the high school gymnasium. End posts have been erected at the west edge of the field just short of the new water tower.

By practicing on this new field, the grid coaches hope to save valuable time lost in previous seasons when players had to dress at the high school and then drive to Cass Benton park for drills.

Two of the new coaches will devote their time to the varsity eleven, while the remaining two will pilot the junior varsity and junior high school teams.

Horwath, a former Detroit Lions halfback, has assumed the head coaching role formerly held by Ron Schipper. Horwath was head coach at Shrine high school in Royal Oak for the past seven years.

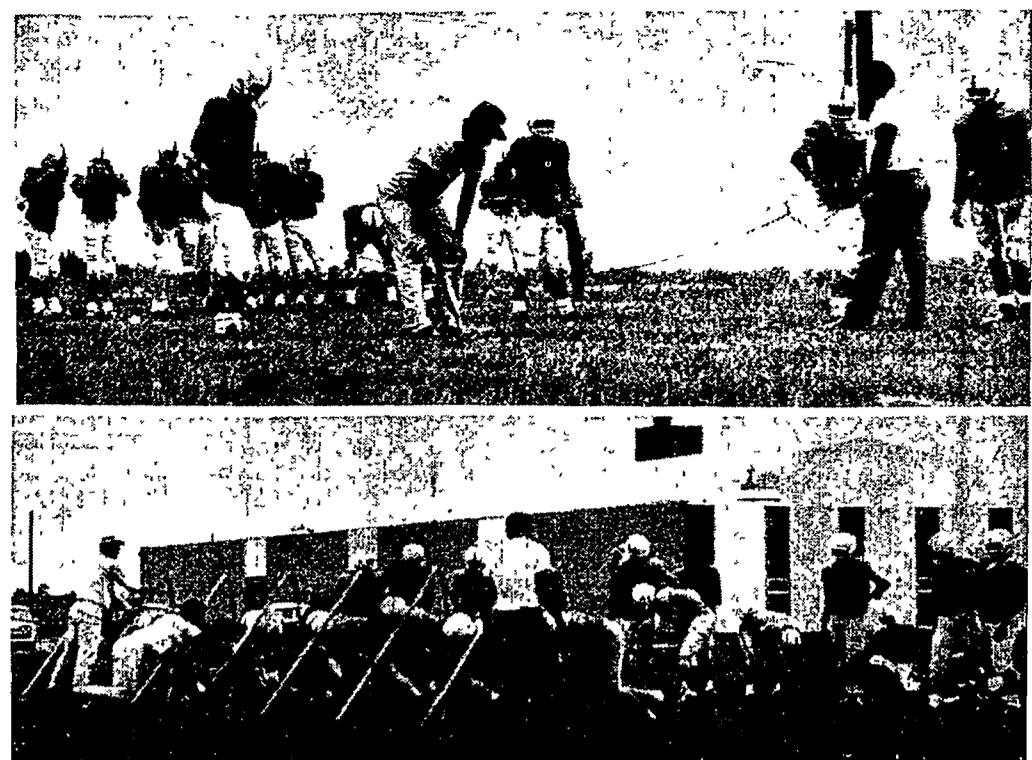

Longridge, a new junior high school teacher from Eastern Michigan university, will assist Horwath and Van Ingen in varsity football. Calaban, a former University of Michigan football captain, will direct the junior varsity squad, and Klukach, also of Eastern Michigan university, will coach the junior high school football team.

The new head coach said the initial practice served the dual purpose of getting the prospects in shape and giving him an opportunity to learn the players' names. Although it's still too early to appraise team capabilities, Horwath and Van Ingen explained that the weakest link is definitely in the line. Last year's squad was light, Van Ingen said, but the team is even lighter this year — particularly in the line.

The Mustangs lost 21 lettermen through graduation in June. And of the 14 lettermen who reported for practice Monday only six played regularly last season. They are: Tom Darling, Dave Hay, Steve Juday, Jim Petrock, Fred Steeper and Bill Trotter.

Other returning lettermen include Dick Bathey, Walt Doan, Kent Frid, Dick Kernozak, Curt Kohs, Bob Nauman, Jim Tuck and Dick Willing. Among the key players lost through graduation were All-Stater Bill Juday, Fred Mitchell, Wade Deal, Roger Atchinson, Gary Morgan and Larry Nitzel.

The Mustangs will open the 1960 season September 16 at Plymouth. Last year in the opener against Plymouth the Mustangs lost 9-0 for their lone defeat of the season.

IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN—Northville's new head football coach, Ron Horwath, held his first practice of the new season Monday afternoon—and the turnout was not very pleasing. Only 36 hopefuls were present at the morning session. Nevertheless, there was plenty of work for the puffing few who answered the call. In the top picture Horwath (wearing cap) gives a pointer to his backfield candidates as Dave Longridge, a new varsity assistant, looks on. In the bottom picture, the Northville fine candidates take turns pushing the blocking sled up and down the field. Shown in the foreground (l. to r.) are Al Calaban, new junior varsity coach; Dutch Van Ingen, varsity assistant, and Alex Klukach, new junior high school coach.

Helps Clean Novi Lake Too!

Anglers Say "Carping" is Fun

Combining pleasure with public service, a group of Novi area fishermen have reduced noticeably the number of noxious fish in Walled Lake.

With the close of the spear and bow season two weeks ago, Novi fishermen reviewed the record: Hundreds of pounds of dead carp, a cleaner lake, and many hours of sporting fun.

Charles Trickey, Sr., who lives on the shore of Walled Lake at 1294 East Walled Lake drive, has tried his hand at many different outdoor sports but none has been more exciting and beneficial than "carping" with spear and bow.

And if you doubt it, take a trip with him on a specially-built flat bottom boat.

"Carping" is best accomplished on dark moonless nights, so you'll leave about 9 or 10 p.m. Bring along a good sharp spear or a strong bow, equipped with a reel and line attached to a plastic arrow. Nights are chilly so a light jacket is advisable.

Step aboard the boat — or perhaps "raft" would be a better term. The raft is about 5'x12'. It has a rubber cushion floor and steel railings for safety and is powered by a 5 1/2 horsepower motor.

Attached to the corners of the bow are two powerful gas lanterns which shine into the black water below. The raft will hold four men. Two men are positioned behind the lanterns, the third stands at the middle side, and the fourth sits in the rear steering the craft.

Take a position and the raft shoves off.

The raft moves very slowly along the shoreline, maneuvered in and out of the docks.

From your position behind the lanterns you're immediately amazed at how easily you can see the lake bottom — not just below the lanterns but out 10 to 15 feet.

Schools of small blue gills dart back and forth across the raft's path.

"There's one," someone shouts. You raise your bow and take aim. "Hold it," someone else shouts, "it's a bass." You relax and watch a tempting 15-inch drift past.

Off in the distance a splash. A fury muskrat speeds up to the raft to look you over for a moment, then dives and heads back to shore.

Up ahead a rock. But it moves. It's a 10, maybe 15-pound carp. He's right below you now, an easy shot. The arrow rips into the water and the rock streaks away. You forgot to allow for refraction so you missed.

Next time better luck. Your arrow hits home and the huge, ugly fish pounds the surface with his tail. He sinks to the bottom then shoots skyward trying to dislodge the arrow. But the arrow bars are locked in place.

On a "good" night you might kill up to six or seven carp and they'll range anywhere from five to 15 pounds. Of course, the really big one's will have gotten away.

Trickey, who owns and operates Trickey's Hunt & Fishing equipment store on Grand River, estimates that he and his friends took well over 100 carp this past season. Other fishermen report similar catches.

The Novi businessman weighs the success of Walled Lake carping this way:

"We've had less success than last year. And I believe it's because we've taken so many out of the lake. Last year we saw four and five carp together. This year we were lucky to see two together."

Conservation department officials have stated that removal of noxious fish from a lake results in increased numbers of "good" fish, since carp are known to destroy beds and eggs of other fish.

Although most people shudder at the thought of eating carp, Europeans actually consider carp meat a delicacy. Trickey said. "Properly prepared, I'm told it's very good," he said. But Trickey, who has never tasted carp, is content to bury them in a garden for fertilizer.

2 Northville Horses Take 10 Prizes

Two Northville horses walked off with a total of 10 prizes Saturday and Sunday at the eighth annual Michigan All-Morgan horse show in South Lyon.

"Billie B Geddes", owned by Ed Earehart, captured first place in the English Performance Championship stake, won second in both the Combination and the English Performance Open, third in the Fine Harness Open and the Fine Harness Championship Stake, and fourth in the four-year-old stallion class.

"Springbrook Quizen", owned by G. F. Taft, won first place in Junior English Performance, second in Junior Fine Harness, third in the English Championship Stake, and fourth in the Fine Horse Championship.

The top three winning horses in the English Championship Stake were all sired by one of Northville's finest Morgan champions — "Quiz Kid", retired two years ago by Owner Taft.

The Morgan horse is known as the "all-American horse", having originated in the country and all of the breed trace their lineage to the great stallion, "Justice Morgan".

VFW Visitors Entertain Here

Seventy-two youngsters between 12 and 15 years old from Pennsylvania created quite a stir in Northville Thursday night.

Crowds gathered and the police were on hand.

But these youngsters weren't trouble makers — they were music makers!

And how they could play! In some cases not standing much taller than their clarinets, these boys and girls of the Sahler Sedan Cadets, VFW Post 287, Coatesville, Pa., marched up Main street, paused near Center to bounce their notes off the four-corners' buildings and then high-stepped to the Community building parking lot for a special demonstration.

In Detroit for the national VFW convention the unit has been staying all week at Our Lady of Providence. The youngsters participated in the competition for junior drum and bugle teams at Briggs stadium and also marched in the parade. The Pennsylvania post accepted an invitation from Northville's VFW post to strut their stuff for local residents.

According to their director, Lou Mangold, the corps was organized 14 months ago. Nine men work with the youngsters, who total 190 in all including recruits.

"Our boys and girls have earned their own money," said Mangold, who reported that their money-raising projects had netted $11,000 and enabled them to buy two large buses.

Crowds lined Main street to watch the parade and then followed to the Community building to applaud the performance.

Joins Marines

Gunnery Sgt. Jay Grimm, local Marine corps recruiter, announced this week that John Baggot of Northville has enlisted under the Marine corps' 120-day delay program.

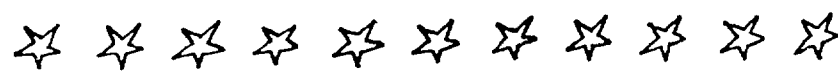

Baggot, 17, is the son of Michael Baggot of 537 Randolph.

Under this program a recruit enlists in the inactive reserves and has up to 120 days before he must report for active duty. During this time he is accumulating credit toward pay increases, advancement in rank and fulfillment of military obligation, Grimm reports. There are no drills or meetings to attend during the reserve period.

When Baggot goes on active duty he will be sent to San Diego, California for three months of boot camp.

Sgt. Grimm is on duty at the American Legion hall every Friday from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

Thataway, Mr. Dillon

STATISTICS on the work of Michigan sheriffs are staggering. And yes, they still do ride horses. Sixteen of Michigan's 83 county sheriff departments have volunteer posses using a total of some 382 horses.

Dickinson county has a 60-horse posse while Haron county has an eight-horse posse which is the oldest in the state.

Forty of the sheriffs have 15 or more years in police work.

The $3 sheriffs on the job in 1960 had 695 years experience as sheriff. The 49 with the most experience had a combined total of 964 years in law enforcement work of one kind or another.

Sheriffs had 283 county-owned cars in operation last year, and 202 privately owned cars.

Using them were more than 3,000 full and part time deputies, undersheriffs, jailers, matrons, cooks and auxiliary officers. Most of the vehicles were radio equipped.

There were 41 boats in 41 counties being used by sheriffs and 212 regular and volunteer skid divers working for them.

In addition to policing water and investigating accidents, sheriffs licensed more than 33,000 boats last year.

Sheriffs made 182,143 primary and 35,437 supplementary investigations last year, putting in more than a half-million hours on this type of job.

Routine identification chores, prisoner transporting, driver licensing and traffic work made up a large part of sheriffs' work.

Some of them supervised dog warden duties, for many acted as licensing centers for canines. More than a million dollars in licensing fees of various sorts, inspection fees and fines and court costs passed through sheriffs' hands last year. They made 9,575 felony arrests and 247,728 misdemeanor arrests.

MICHIGAN HAS BEEN fighting to prevent water from being taken from Lake Michigan, and while the battle isn't over, a partial victory has been won. Hearings on the problems are continuing.

Special Master Albert B. Maris, a Philadelphia federal judge appointed by the Supreme Court of the United States to hear the Great Lakes Water Diversion case involving Michigan and several other states against Chicago and some suburbs, made the preliminary ruling.

He said three Chicago suburbs could not siphon off Lake Michigan water pending outcome of the immensely complicated case.

State Attorney General Paul L. Adams has been directing Michigan's hole in the lawsuit with Nicholas V. Olds, in charge of conservation problems for Adams, handling most of the appearances and legwork.

Chicago is presently allowed to divert 1,800 cubic feet of water per second from the big lake.

Michigan and other states on the Great Lakes want to force the Windy City to return the treated effluent from the water, after it has been used for domestic and industrial water supply, to the lake.

Adams contends any lowering of the level of the Great Lakes will impede navigation and generally hurt Michigan.

The case has been in progress since 1958 with no indication when the final decision will be rendered. Maris planned to hold meetings in each of the six states besides Michigan which are in the suit.

Roger Babson

How Long Can 'Giveaway' Continue

Babson Park, Mass. — From my knowledge of the major candidates for president and vice president, I believe all four are good men. I sincerely hope my opinion may be correct; but I may be wrong. I had many surprises when I ran for president in 1940 on the Prohibition Party ticket.

Is Any Candidate Too Young?
Mr. Kennedy is 43; Mr. Nixon is 47. The average age of Mr. Nixon and Mr. Kennedy is about 45 years, and the average of Mr. Lodge and Mr. Johnson is 55 years. The average age of the four men is 50 years.

Looking back on my life, I was at my prime and did my most important work when I was at an age which compares with the above averages. I not only had good ideas, but I had the energy and ambition to carry them out. I think that every reader of this column who has reached over 70 years of age will agree with my own experience.

I suppose this age objection will be rehearsed in literature put out during the campaign. The answer to this age criticism as issued by Mr. Kennedy was certainly convincing from a historical point of view. Age statistics regarding the previous leaders of our own country are, in themselves, convincing; but, unwilling to stop with this, Kennedy went back to show that if there had been an age limit 468 years ago, Columbus would never have discovered America!

What About the Party Platforms?
It is an old saying, "the platform of a political party is like the platform of a 'street car', of use only to get in on." Originally, the Republican platform was considerably more conservative than the Democratic platform, but at the earnest solicitation of Governor Rockefeller, the Republican platform was made much more liberal. I doubt if this will lose Mr. Nixon any of the old "hard shell" Republicans, and it should secure for him many independent votes. However, we may now forget platforms.

The real difference between the two candidates will be shown by the speeches they make during the coming two months. It now looks as if each will try to outdo the other in the "giveaway" goal.

It seems to me this may be known as the great "giveaway" campaign, where both the liberals and conservatives offer sugar-coated promises to win the great independent voters who may determine the election on November 8th. I doubt if the religious question will be a real factor. The Florida vote will depend upon what the respective candidates promise to do with the Cuban situation.

Savings Versus Comforts
As I talk with many people, the consensus seems to be that those who own their homes and have savings accounts or investments — however small they may be — will vote the Republican ticket to protect the value of the dollar.

On the other hand, those who do not own any home and have no savings — especially those who owe considerable amounts on installment for automobiles, furniture, etc., or even those who have large long-term home mortgages — will vote the Democratic ticket to depreciate the value of the dollar.

The most important question to me is how long this "gimme" political competition can continue. Certainly this trend to the left I found in all countries while traveling in Europe. However, it certainly cannot last indefinitely; although I would not now predict whether World War III would hasten it or delay it.

It may continue during the next two or three presidential campaigns, until all parties see that our country is reaching a dangerous economic precipice.

The result may be the appointment of a dictator, or at least of a coalition government. Otherwise, we could be headed toward some form of Communism. My grandchildren feel that Russia may gradually move further to the right with each generation while the United States may go further to the left with each generation, until the United Nations becomes a forceful organization to remove the economic causes of war.

For a BETTER DEAL on a NEW DART or DODGE . . .

Teacher May Have Answer to Junior's Behavior

If you are often baffled by your child's behavior, there is a practical "psychologist" as close to you as your child's school. It is his teacher.

The average elementary teacher, during a 30-year career, will live with, work with, and love more than 1000 children. How many parents can claim that amount of experience? Even before they start their teaching careers, teachers receive extensive training in child psychology. They learn to recognize the danger signals of potential delinquency. They learn that a reading difficulty may be the result of an emotional problem . . . and how to recognize a gifted child hiding behind a smoke screen of apathy. They learn what characteristics a child reveals at different age levels.

From their extensive knowledge of children — a combination of their practical experience and broad training — America's teachers, through the National Education association, offer the following practical pointers to parents:

If you have a 2 to 5 year old:

Teachers can usually "spot" those youngsters who have had few opportunities to play with children their own age. Pre-schoolers who play with other children before school starts adjust more quickly to school life. If your child has had few chances to play with others, invite children to your home or take him to parks and playgrounds.

If your child is accustomed to being away from home and mother, he will find it much easier to adjust to school. Kindergarten and first-grade teachers suggest that you leave him with friends or relatives occasionally, before school starts — for several hours, a whole day, or overnight. Leaving home to go to school will come as a pleasant experience rather than a psychological shock.

If you have a 6 to 10 year old:

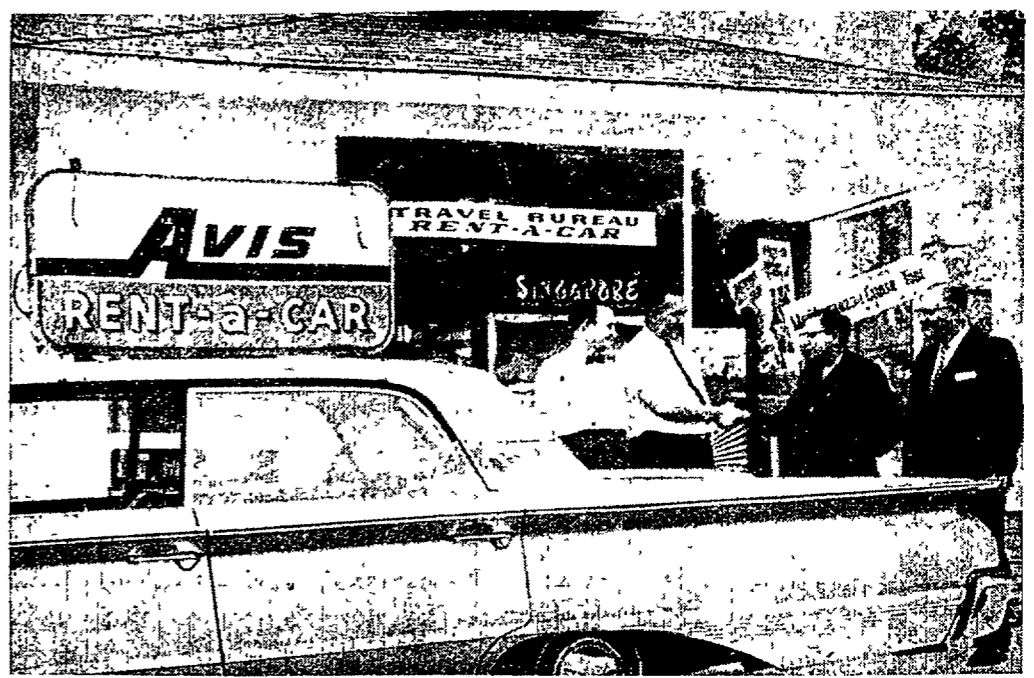

Teachers know that parents can increase their child's mental alertness, during the early elementary school years. You can do this by exposing your child to a rich variety of family activities. Take him on trips, to children's plays and concerts. Expose him to good art, surround him with many books and magazines.

encourage him.

If you have an 11 to 17 year old:

Students in junior high school want to know the "why" of what they are learning. Teachers advise parents to encourage family discussions on a variety of topics, and to make a point of tracking down the facts behind general statements. Your youngster will enjoy airing his opinions, and he will be learning to think critically, and to check facts.

Teenagers often discuss life plans with teachers and friends, rather than with parents. Don't feel left out and resentful if this happens to you. Visit your youngster's teachers and counselors, and find out how you can help him make these important decisions. Turning to outsiders for advice is normal at these ages.
