

How Long can City Continue Paving Policy?

It happens every spring, sure as the return of the Robin. When budget time approaches for the city council the matter of improving roads comes up for discussion.

And Monday night councilmen again considered the city's plight, re-hashed possible solutions, and found themselves with less than a perfect answer but a number of alternatives.

It has been estimated that total improvement of all city streets (paving, sewers, curbs, gutters) would cost in excess of $400,000. This does not include repairs needed on many existing improved streets.

Presently, the city is operating under a policy of paying for street improvements from the general fund — except in the case of newly annexed areas, where special assessments are invoked.

But slowly — and apparently surely — this policy is forcing the city into an impossible situation, much like the grocery —a general tax increase, perhaps two or three mills, for a period of five years or more until all streets are improved; —a general improvement bond issue.

The subject came up Monday night as councilmen studied the North Center street paving problem.

An assessment plan that would require property owners across from Amerman school to pay a portion of the paving cost (perhaps 10 to 20 percent of one-half) has been introduced and will be discussed with the affected residents in the near future.

But City Manager John Robertson told councilmen that first reaction to the plan from residents was not good.

"It's a matter of equity," said Councilman Earl Reed. "Many other city residents have had their streets paved without special assessment; still others living on unpaved streets await their turn."

Councilman Reed cannot see how the city can change this policy in mid-stream.

"We won't live long enough to see our streets paved from general funds," Mayor A. M. Allen replied. No one refuted this.

Mayor Allen favors a general millage increase and a definite program of street improvement over a given number of years.

Councilman John Canterbury admitted that no one else would favor his proposal — "but I believe the most equitable solution is by special assessment", he stated. Canterbury argued that those benefiting directly should be willing to pay some portion of the improvement.

He suggested creating a "sinking fund" for street improvements and using those funds along with assessments to complete the job. Canterbury proposed a percentage assessment — perhaps 20 percent — with the city paying the balance from general funds.

Councilmen generally agreed that a bond issue for street improvements could not pass.

The city manager gave them further reason to recognize that old policy days are numbered. He pointed out that about 20 percent of the city's assessed valuation is in newly annexed areas. And these sections of the city hold the most possibility for future growth.

His point: the city can hardly afford to maintain two sets of standards for "old" and "new" residents. To assess one and not the other for improvements will "create a split of old against new", he warned. And someday, the "new" may represent a majority of the tax base. What's more, they are certain to gain representation on the council, he added.

Thus the council again faces its annual problem, where every possible solution holds repercussions and even status quo is unsatisfactory.

Fight Zoning Denial Of Rest Home Here

A denial by the Northville township zoning board to call a public hearing for the purpose of considering re-zoning to permit construction of a proposed $300,000 rest home was challenged this week by the petitioners.

Attorney John L. Crandell stated that his request to reconsider was mailed Tuesday. Crandell represents C. J. Mulligan, owner of a construction company, Mulligan proposes to build the 50-apartment rest home on a 4.2 acre site at his residence, 42565 Baseline road.

The original request was made by Mulligan last December. It asked that his parcel be changed from R-1-E (residential estates) to R-4 (multiple family residential).

On February 14 the board denied the request for the following reasons:

- that in relation to the zone (R-1-E) within which the property is located it is a small parcel of land;
- that the re-zoning would result in a use classification totally different from that of the surrounding area;
- that the requested rezoning is for the sole benefit of the petitioner;
- to grant the rezoning would result in a detriment to owners of other lands within the present zoning district;
- that to grant the rezoning would adversely affect the comprehensive zoning plan of the township and community as a whole.

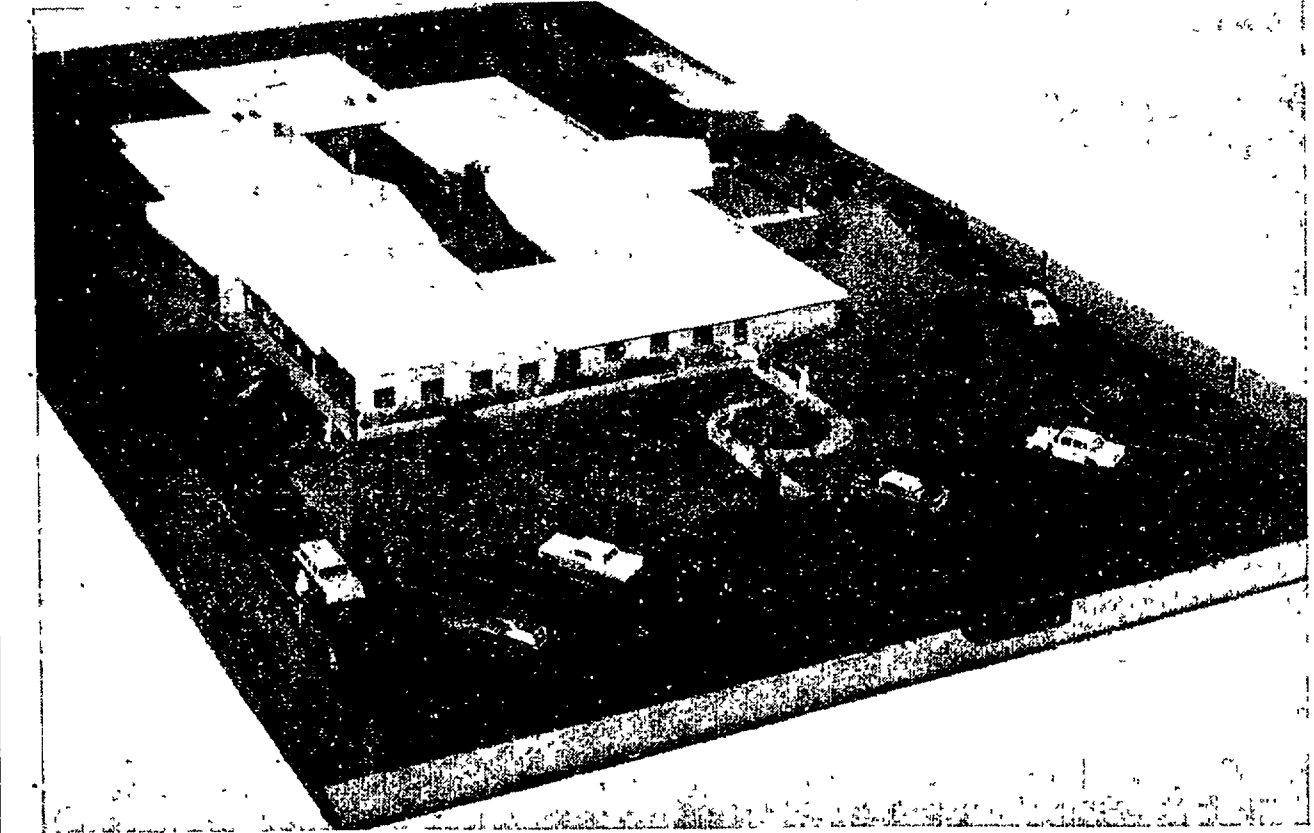

In his request for reconsideration Crandell made the following charges:

- denial reasons are untenable and contrary to the just rights of the petitioner and the public interest;
- that the proposed improvement of the property would result in adding upwards of $250,000 of taxable property to the tax rolls without injuring or decreasing the value of any other township property;
- that the operation of the proposed improvement would bring additional pay-roll to the township as well as purchasing of materials, supplies, etc., to the area;
- the property involved is too small to be developed as a country estate, but is of ample size and location for the proposed improvement — that improvements of the nature contemplated are urgently needed.

Mulligan stated this week that he estimated the total cost of the project at $300,000. He proposes to construct and retain ownership of the facility himself.

The building (see photograph of model) would be of cement block and brick construction and would contain 26,000 square feet, Mulligan said.

Gunnar D. Stromberg, chairman of the township zoning board, stated Tuesday that Mulligan's request for reconsideration had not yet been received by the township.

A model of the 50-apartment rest home proposed by C. J. Mulligan for construction on Northville township property at 42565 Baseline is shown above. Mulligan has asked the zoning board to reconsider its denial of his request.

25,000th TB Patient At Maybury

Maybury Sanitarium on Westbury, about 135 — capacity — Seven Mile road reached a milestone last Thursday, but they wish they hadn't.

At about noon, a 10-month-old child was admitted as the 25,000th patient since the sanitarium's opening in December, 1921. Her name is Georgiana and she's cute as a button.

But Georgiana wasn't alone in her affliction. She was admitted along with six sisters and a brother — all down with tuberculosis. One sister was a bit luckier than the others. She will be treated in the out-patient clinic and will be under the care of her mother.

She'd have the comfort of her father, too, except for one thing — he has TB and is presently in Herman Kiefer hospital in Detroit. Having undergone tests since November, the 32-year-old, husband and father — was admitted on February 7.

A tragic case? Certainly, but one that is not uncommon to Dr. W. Leonard Howard, medical superintendent, and his hard-working, dedicated staff.

In 1960, four families with four children were admitted, two families with six, ten families with three, and 20 families with two. Of the nearly 700 patients cared for at Maybury, about 135 — capacity — are children. And this is what grips Dr. Howard more than anything else.

"The reason there is TB in a child is because someone is infecting them," he pointed out. "And they are infected at home and not in the community."

"The average age of the child admitted last year was four years. Nearly 85 percent of the time, we found the source and 70 percent of these sources are in the home."

"If we can control TB in the child, we will be able to wipe it out," Dr. Howard said.

To this end, the wiping out of TB in children, the Michigan Tuberculosis Council has promised itself to cut down the number of positive skin tests on 14-year-olds and younger to one percent. The average now is around three percent.

The point of the whole program is to exercise a better control of the infectors. By 1970, the program's target date, the Council hopes to have 90 percent of all suspects checked and examined and 85 percent of the known cases be brought under treatment within 90 days.

"We need a better planned program," Dr. Howard said. "It has to be more extensive. It's a fact that for every new case found, there are three more cases."

With modern drugs, the average length of stay in the sanitarium has been slowly shortened year after year. In 1958, the average stay of a child was 254 days. Now it is 178 days. For adults, the average stay in 1958 was 325 days, now it is 255 days.

The last death of a child from TB in the sanitarium was in April, 1952. Since, 1,673 children have been admitted, treated and sent home. This record is fabulous compared to the six dead of the first 53 children admitted after the hospital's opening.

Dr. Howard said successful surgery is possible now with the advent of modern drugs in 1948. In the pre-drug days, there was no specific treatment, he said, but only rest.

The modern advances in drugs and treatment combined with better facilities and an ever-growing knowledge of the disease has given Maybury a "good record in treating children and adults," Dr. Howard said.

What are the symptoms of TB? Dr. Howard is hesitant to say. One symptom can point to a half-dozen diseases or ailments, he says.

"People shouldn't depend on how they feel. They should have an X-ray examination every year. The best sign is the skin test. Every child should have the skin test as part of a regular examination no matter if the child is sick or not," the doctor recommends.

But whether they were "sick or not," the eight children admitted last week will be undergoing treatment. The cases of TB was light in all except the 10-month old girl.

But as the mother said in releasing details of the story, "I just hope some other families will learn from us what a terrible thing TB is and how it can strike a whole family."

Dr. Howard hopes so, too.

Township Zoners Hold Hearing Tonight

The Northville township zoning board will hold a public hearing tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock in the township hall to consider the following proposals:

1. an amendment regarding conditions relating to gasoline stations, public garages and cleaning establishments;
2. an amendment to provide for general standards to guide the zoners and board of appeals where they are authorized to permit a variance or exception;
3. reclassification of 30 acres at the southwest corner of Beck and Six Mile roads from Agricultural to R-1-H, country homes district.

Schools Adopt New Organizational Set-Up

Win with Words

SEMI-FINALS NEXT — Mike Adas, left, and Dennis Gilbert, right, debated their way into the state Class A semi-finals Tuesday afternoon. The Northville high school debaters' win over Battle Creek Central moved Northville the closest ever to the state crown. Although no official word has come yet, Coach Florence Panatoni thought next week's contest — on home ground — would be against a Jackson high team.

Name E. V. Ellison Business Manager

Appointment of a director of administrative services high-lighted organizational changes in the Northville school system approved by the board of education Monday night.

E. V. Ellison, high school principal, was named to the new post.

Other personnel changes announced by the board include:

- naming of Frederick Stefanski, now assistant principal, to principalship of the high school;
- appointment of LaGene Quay, science teacher, as assistant to Stefanski;
- Donald Van Ingen to become principal of the junior high school and Harry Smith, presently acting as principal of both the junior high school and Main street elementary, to retain principalship of the elementary school.

The recommendations were adopted following reports by a three-member board of education committee. The group, composed of Board Members Edward Angove, Wilfred Becker and James Kiefer, has studied the school system's administrative set-up for the past three months.

All appointments take effect in July.

Ellison's job is the only new position created by the plan and can accurately be described as a business manager.

The committee emphasized that the plan was proposed to create greater efficiency in keeping pace with the growth of the system.

The board praised the plan for its low cost to the school district and exclusive use of personnel within the system.

Initiation of the program is expected to cost an additional $3,000 to $4,000 annually.

Key to the savings will be the use of Quay and Van Ingen as "teaching" administrators.

Van Ingen's appointment means he must give up all coaching duties. He has served as an assistant football coach and last week topped his coaching career by winning the district tournament in Milford.

Ellison is expected to take a mounting load of administrative business details from the shoulders of both Superintendent Amernman and Dr. Kenneth MacLeod, assistant superintendent.

Under the proposed new organization MacLeod will be directly responsible for matters more concerned with education; Ellison will handle such items as building and grounds, budget control, purchasing, inventory, transportation, equipment, etc.

Both will be directly responsible to Superintendent Amernman, who in turn is responsible to the board of education.

Seek Cause Of Death In Car Crash

A 42-year-old Northville man, Andrew J. La Prise of 43767 Park Grove, died last Wednesday in an auto crash on Northville road near Meads Mill drive in the township.

Wayne county sheriff's department said La Prise's car, traveling south, swerved from the pavement and went some 138 feet along the shoulder before striking a tree 57 feet from the Meads Mill-Northville road intersection.

Police said the car's steering wheel collapsed in the impact; the steering post pierced the victim's chest. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Wayne county general hospital.

Mrs. La Prise, wife of the deceased, said cause of death had not yet been determined. An autopsy was performed, she explained, to discover whether death was caused by the crash or the result of a previous illness her husband had suffered.

And waiting right there were the Rouge boys, tall and swift and cagey. In no time, they had a six point lead, then ten, then eleven. At the intermission, it was 38-27, Northville behind.

It was more of the same in the second half. Rebounding prowess on the part of River Rouge began to tell on the weary local lads. The press and man-for-man zone took its toll on Northville, too, and by the time the final horn sounded, River Rouge advanced a notch up the ladder towards the state crown and the Mustangs advanced to the lockerroom for a nice cool, relaxing shower.

Northville's big three led the scoring. Danny Brown hit for 18, Steve Juday got 16 and Craig Bell had 13.

Park Richardson led Rouge with 22 and Willie Betts, a 6 foot-6 jumping-jack and just a freshman, scored 16.

KITCHEN DIARY Cookies Are Fruit of Her Family Tree

Great news for the cookie munching corps! There is nothing more scrumptious than oatmeal cookies like grandmother used to make, and Mrs. Herbert Ostlund, this week's Kitchen Diary homemaker, has just the recipe to whip up these treats.

She has another dessert idea that scores a big hit with her family — brownie pudding. The pudding, says Mrs. Ostlund, "is like a warm brownie sundae with the sauce baked in. It's wonderfully rich and wonderfully fattening."

The housewife's third cooking suggestion is for ham in blanket. "Ham baked this way," she reports, "is always very tender and never dry."

OATMEAL COOKIES
Mrs. Herbert O. Ostlund
1 cup shortening (½ shortening and ½ margarine)
1 cup white sugar
2 cups raisins (cooked until tender)
1 t soda dissolved in 5 tablespoons hot water from raisins
2 eggs
2 cups flour
2 cups oatmeal (uncooked; do not use quick oats)
1 heaping cup of walnut meats coarsely broken
Combine shortening, sugar and eggs; beat until very light and fluffy. Add soda dissolved in hot water from raisins. Add drained raisins. Blend in flour, one-half cup at a time, mixing after each addition. Add rolled oats. Mix well and add broken walnut meats. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Do not overbake. Yields four dozen

BROWNIE PUDDING
½ cup flour
1 t double acting baking powder ½ t salt
one-third cup sugar
1 T cocoa
¼ cup milk
1 T melted shortening
½ t vanilla
¼ cup chopped nuts
SAUCE
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 T cocoa
2/3 cup boiling water
Sift flour once, measure, and add baking powder, salt, sugar and cocoa; sift again. Add milk, shortening and vanilla. Mix until barely smooth. Add nuts and turn into greased casserole.
For sauce, mix together brown sugar and cocoa and sprinkle over the batter. Pour boiling water over the top. This makes the chocolate sauce go to bottom of casserole.
Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 to 40 minutes. Serve warm (not hot) or cold. Serves four.

Violinist to Solo At Fifth Concert

Emily Mutter Adams will be featured soloist with the Plymouth symphony orchestra Sunday at 4 p.m. when she presents Max Bruch's Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in G Minor, Opus 26.

Widely known in the Detroit area for her performances as violin soloist, Mrs. Adams is also remembered for her contributions to the Plymouth symphony orchestra and Detroit Women's symphony orchestra as concert master. She is also a member of the Detroit symphony orchestra.

At the age of four she studied under her father's tutelage. She was a protegee of Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago symphony, and later studied with Jacques Gordon of Chicago and Ilya Schkolnik, former concert master of the Detroit symphony.

Conductor Wayne Dunlap has planned a diversified program for this fifth concert of the 1960-61 season. Besides the featured Concerto in G Minor, The Overture, Marriage of Figaro by Mozart, Street Corner Music by Rawsthorne, Bachianas Brazilienses by Villa Lobos and Suite from Der Rosenkavalier by Richard Strauss will be played.

The admission-free concert will be held in the Plymouth high school gymnasium.

Something about Sunday's concert selections and their composers.

The Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in G Minor, Opus 26 was first conceived by Max Bruch in 1857 when he was only 19 years old, but not until 1866 was this work actually completed. The composer apparently not satisfied sent the score to the great violinist Joseph Joachim who submitted a lengthy list of recommended changes which Bruch accepted. The revised G Minor Concerto was dedicated to Joachim and remains one of the standard works in almost every violinist's repertoire.

The Marriage of Figaro, a comic opera, was written in 1786 by Wolfgang Mozart with libretto by the poet Lorenzo da Ponte. The opera was based on Beaumarchais comedy "Le Mariage de Figaro" and produced for the first time in Vienna in the same year. The Overture of this comedy will be the first selection of the afternoon.

The story concerns the amorous adventures of Count Almaviva — the plot to entrap him by the Countess ... Susanna, her maid ... Figaro, the barber and Cherubino, the page, the final reconciliation and subsequent union of Figaro and Susanna.

Street Corner Music by contemporary composer Alan Rawsthorne is an oboe concerto. While Rawsthorne is essentially a Baroque composer whose stylistic roots are found in the soil of Bach and Corelli, he is, nevertheless, recognized for his work as a modernist, creating music marked by an astringent lyricism and freedom of tonality. A student of the Royal Manchester College of Music, he studied piano privately with Egan Petri.

Mr. Dunlap has included once again a composition by Brazil's Heitor Villa Lobos, Villa Lobos' ability to portray Brazilian folk music will make Bachianas Brazilienses a popular addition to the program. It is composed in the "spirit of Bach" because Villa Lobos considers Bach a "universal and rich folkloristic source deeply rooted in the folk music of every country in the world". Bachianas Brazilienses is considered a masterpiece due to its largeness of scope, persistence of movement and baroque richness of ornament.

The final presentation will be the Suite from Der Rosenkavalier by Richard Strauss.

Berlioz's Romeo and Juliet Dramatic Symphony, Opus 17 will close the Plymouth symphony orchestra's season on Sunday, April 16.

Mother's Club Dance?
It's for the Children

Ever wonder what the Northville Mothers' club does with the money it earns from special projects?

Having just completed a "nearly new" sale and getting set to launch an all-out effort to sell tickets to the annual Mothers' club dance, the club decided it might be appropriate to emphasize how the proceeds are used.

The Mothers' club, headed this year by Mrs. Ed Langtry, was organized nearly 25 years ago. It was started as a small study group dedicated to buying books, and later milk, for needy children in the public schools.

Now the club gets its ideas for projects from the school principals.

This year, for example, a tape recorder and podium has been purchased for the high school. Steel backboards for playground equipment and funds to repair musical instruments in the junior high school are among the other projects now scheduled.

Through the years the Mothers' club has furnished the teachers' rooms in all the schools — a contribution costing more than $1,000.

Specifically, the club is a service group devoted to providing school needs that are not included in the regular school budget.

Mothers' club promotions to earn funds include book sales, white elephant sales — and, of course, the approaching Mothers' club dance.

The dance will be held April 22 at Meadowbrook Country club to the music of Richard Herrman's orchestra. Each of the 35 mothers received their tickets Monday night at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. John Canterbury.

So when you're approached by a young mother with tickets in hand — remember, it's for a good cause.

P-TA Movie Ratings

The Northville P-TA program of grading motion pictures on the basis of their suitability for various age groups has been inactive since its initiation last month because ratings on the pictures shown locally have not been included in the ports Mrs. Leland Mills.

As chairman of the project for the local P-TA, Mrs. Mills stated that the ratings would be continued. She pointed out that "The Misfits", coming this week to the Northville P & A Theater, is advertised by the theater management as not permitting children under 16 to attend unless accompanied by an adult.

Burglars
Enter Five Homes Here

Burglars entered five Northville homes last weekend, sacking drawers and carrying off $130 in cash, reported Police Chief Eugene King.

In all instances investigating officers discovered no signs of forcible entry, the chief remarked.

Friday night police answered
a call from Robert Pankow, 514 Langfield drive, who said he returned home about 11:05
p.m. to find his front door open, $50 missing and drawers in a bedroom bureau sacked. Pan-kow told officers he suspected the intruder had gained entry by using a key.

Police checked into three other break-ins Saturday night.
All were discovered by homeowners between 11 p.m. and midnight.

Albert Vradenburg, 907 Carrington drive, reported $80 in cash and a metal strongbox containing personal papers had been looted by an intruder who apparently entered through an unlocked side door. Michigan State police recovered the strongbox Sunday near the Nine Mile-Taft road intersection.

Chief King said fingerprints were taken from the box.
Ransacked drawers and muddy footprints were the only evidence left by a thief who got into the John Coleman residence at 972 Allen drive. Coleman told police he could discover nothing missing.

Theodore Smith, 984 Allen drive, said he returned home Saturday night to find a screen on the basement door had been jimmied open. Everything else was in order, he said.

Sunday night's break-in was at the Eugene Maloney home, 43750 Doris court. Drawers were sacked, though nothing was missing, reported Maloney.
Entry was made through a side door, stated police.

The rash of home break-ins prompted Chief King to warn home owners to secure all doors and windows before leaving a house at night.

"Neighbors," King continued,
"could help police by keeping an eye on nearby homes left unoccupied for the evening, and reporting any suspicious happenings to the department."

End 8 Year Title Drought

Amazing Mustangs Win District!

It's said by those who are supposed to know that tournament time is the craziest time in any sport. It's the time for the unexpected to happen and it usually does.

Non-believers in our midst, mainly in the South Lyon and Milford areas, think they have a strong case in this year's edition of the Northville Mustangs.

Last Tuesday — and fans are still buzzing about this one — Northville literally bombed South Lyon out of their minds, 93-82, and then followed up with an impressive 60-48 win over Milford last Friday to win the Class B District title, ending a drought that goes back to 1933.

What happened? That's the question and with the answer, almost so simple it sounds immodest, is Coach Dutch Van Ingen who could win Northville Coach of the Year award hands down.

"The team just finally jelled," he explains matter-of-factly. The victories are the result of a season of playing and practicing and correcting weak points and improving strong ones.

Cold statistics point up some inconsistencies that make the coach's statement look pretty weak.

Against South Lyon, the Mustangs ripped the cords at a fantastic 53 per cent from the floor and a sizzling 73 per cent from the foul line to chalk up 93 points. That was one point more than Northville scored in its first two games and 40 points over their average in 15 games.

The locals so outplayed the highly-touted Lions that they held a 22 point advantage with about two minutes left. Coach VanIngen, enjoying this rare luxury, tossed in his subs who let the margin slide down to the final 11 points in the face of a frantic rush by the Lions.

How about this Danny Brown boy? Here comes South Lyon and there goes Brown, hitting on 13 baskets from every position except lying flat on his back and scorching the cords 16 times in 18 free throw attempts.

Four nights previous, against Holly, Brown managed just a field goal and four-of-four free throws for six points. His 15 game average was 13.6 with the season high of 29 points set against weak sister, West Bloomfield.

How to explain it? Look at the Milford win and you'll see

Like Mustangs, OLV Loses Out

Like the Northville Mustangs, the Our Lady of Victory cagers ended their season Tuesday in the opening round of the Detroit CYO championships.

Christ the King beat OLV, 31-20. Jim Lulls scored 10 points. Last Sunday, OLV wound up the league play with a 28-13 win over St. Linus. Tom Wicke had 14 points.

OLV's record was 9-1, tying them with Wayne St. Mary for the leadership.

the answer clear as a springbroke on Northville's title day. It's teamwork and hustle and desire.

Brown missed the only three shots he had in the first quarter, but captain Steve Juday connected on two of five and Craig Bell, one of three, to pace the Mustangs' 12-6 edge.

In the second quarter, Brown took just two shots and made them both. But, here comes Bell hitting a 1,000 percent on four tries. Northville walks off the floor smiling at the half, leading 31-21.

Watching the sophomore Bell play, it's hard to imagine him making only two points in his first three games this year.

The Redskins get wise to Bell and watch him closely. He makes one of two attempts at the bucket, but that leaves Brown and Dick Bathey wide open. They both score two baskets in five tries and the Mustangs' margin remains at 10 points, 48-36, at the three-quarter mark.

Milford is trying to put the Schwarze gets the plaudits for the final eight minutes of play. He scored four points, but more important, he covered the floor better than wall-to-wall carpeting. (Paradise pun.) The silent man of the Mustangs wound up with seven points, which for him is like about 20 for Brown. The Milford game was Schwarze's best of the year. And it would be gross injustice not to mention Bathey, whose regular role on the varsity was more of an irregular one. He scored 10 points, his season high. Defensively, he was a bulwark.

The only word to describe the Mustang scoring is — balanced. The facts — Bell, 19; Juday, 14; Brown, 11; Bathey, 10; and Schwarze, 7.

Northville shot 37 percent from the floor and 69 percent from the free throw stripe. So you see, it is a matter of "jelling." Coach VanIngen's problem now in the tough Regionals becomes to "preserve" the jelly.

MURDERING TIME
A backsliding missionary wrote to a friend, "I do not have too many friends. Somebody induced me to buy a TV set. Of course, it helps me to kill time and occupy my mind. It may sound funny to you. Anyhow, this is my life which has no taste. I need your prayers..." How wasted is such a life that must "kill time".
In Ephesians 5:16 we are urged to "Redeem the time, because the days are evil". By this we understand that we are to use the time we have here on earth to a good advantage. Though the average age for man has been raised from 63-67 and for women 65-70 years, we have but a short time on this earth. Why should we waste it by "killing time"? Granted there is need for recreation and relaxation, but there is a limit to it. There are other ways to murder time, too, and that is being so occupied with the events of earth that we live not for eternity. For the person who has accepted Christ as his Saviour, this life should no longer be lived for what we see here. Eternity lies beyond. We can earn the rewards, promised by God to those who engage in special services and kindnesses. BUY UP TIME!

Visits Historic Girl Scout City

Former neighborhood chairman of Novi Girl Scouts, Mrs. Vincent Hayes, 44009 Twelve Mile road, has just returned from a visit to historic Girl Scout sites in Savannah, Georgia. Mrs. Hayes, accompanied by her husband, toured the birthplace of scouting founder Juliette Gordon Low and viewed other markers related to the origin of Girl Scouts in that city. She praised monuments which have been preserved there with the aid of Girl Scout donations and recommended the visit as an impressive and worthwhile one, particularly for scout troops.

Why there's no heat like flameless
ELECTRIC HEAT
WHEN YOU'RE ADDING ROOM

ADD MORE ROOM WITHOUT STRAINING YOUR PRESENT HEATING SYSTEM. Planning to enclose a porch or breezeway? Adding a bedroom or family room? Then be sure of cold-weather comfort by installing electric heat! It's easy and practical to do because electric heat is installed and operates independently of the existing heating system, no matter what type you now have.

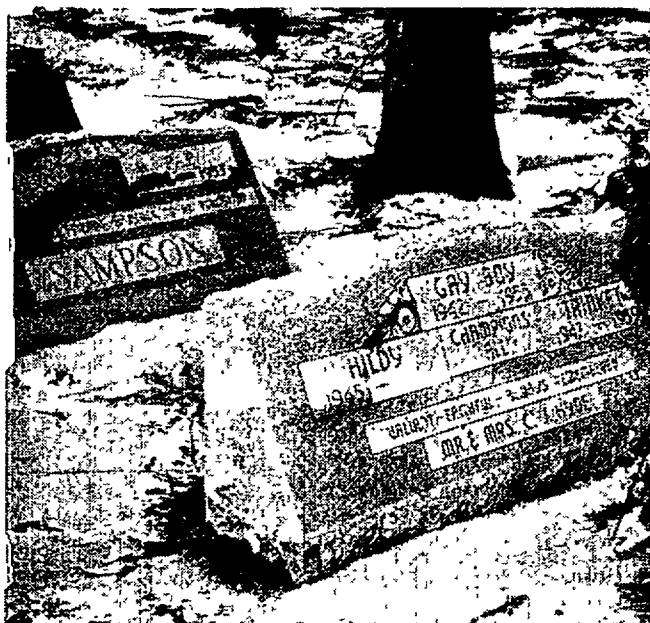

INSTANT HEAT. Electric home heating is fast because the heat source is right there, in the room. And independent operation makes it ideal in spring and fall when one or two rooms need heating while others are warmed by the sun. Individual thermostats in each room make it possible to keep rooms at different temperatures automatically.

MATCH THE HEATING UNITS TO MEET YOUR NEEDS

CLEAN HEAT. Electric heat is heat by wire instead of fire—it never creates smoke or soot. Walls and furniture, draperies and carpets will require less frequent cleaning.

In Happy Hunting Grounds

Guadalcanal Hero Buried

He was a soldier — a Marine scout and messenger that survived the perils of warfare on Guadalcanal and Okinawa.

He distinguished himself under combat, becoming a war hero decorated with seven citations.

He was Platoon Sergeant Sparks, a Doberman-Pinscher, who for 28 months served gallantly beside the dedicated men of the crack World War II outfit, — Carlson's Raiders.

Thousands of stories of devotion and service, perhaps not as dramatic as that of Sergeant Sparks, could be told of the pets buried in the Happy Hunting Grounds cemetery located at the corner of Milford and 11 Mile roads.

Like Sparks, all of the nearly 5,000 pets buried here brought joy, laughter, comfort and even safety into the lives of their masters. Only time heals the sadness of the boy who loses his friend under the wheels of a speeding car, or of the blind man who suddenly loses his sight for the second time.

With so much love lost, it's little wonder that adults and children insist that their pets be buried in the Happy Hunting Grounds. "There's a real sadness when people come to me for my services," said Cornell M. Elkow, 57777 11 Mile road.

Elkow is the owner and operator of this unusual cemetery, which to the passerby is as beautiful and elaborate as many regular cemeteries. Some of the graves are marked with expensive monuments. Many are marked with simple concrete headstones and many others are unmarked.

But all of the graves are located in a wooded area that becomes a garden of flowers, grass and shrubbery in the spring and summer. Even now, with patches of snow here and there about the neat rows of markers, there is the same hushed quiet that one experiences walking through other cemeteries.

"It's the natural setting, the trees and the countryside that compels people to bring their pets to us," Elkow explained. There are other similar pet cemeteries in the Detroit area, he added, but not all of them can offer this atmosphere.

Elkow started his cemetery located on his farm back in the fall of 1938. Some 27 acres of land have been reserved for this purpose.

The Lyon township farmer said he was urged to start the cemetery by his brother, Dr. S. R. Elkow, a Highland Park veterinarian whose business demanded a service of this kind. When he started the cemetery, he said, there were only 38 pet cemeteries in the entire United States. Today the number probably has more than tripled, he added.

Many of the pets buried in Elkow's cemetery are brought to him by people who have had business with his brother, some by passersby and some by local residents.

The pets, which include dogs, cats, canaries, parakeets and even ponies, come from cities and communities throughout Michigan and from states as far away as New York and Alabama.

And the people who request his service come from all walks of life. Most of them are elderly folks who have lost a pet that was their last love. Some come because of their own love for the pet, others because of a love that a child or relative had for the pet.

Many of them return each year to place flowers on the grave and to pause a moment in the country quiet to recall some pleasant memory of the past.

Some of the pets are simply buried in the earth. Others are placed in caskets, and some even in vaults. The monuments are usually made by the Allen Monument Works of Northville and the concrete headstones by Elkow and his son.

The monuments and the headstones carry the name of the pet, the date of its birth and death, and some include a personal word about the pet. Most impressive of the monuments is a statue of a dog that was dedicated back in 1946 to the memory of all war dogs. It was erected by veterinarians, humane organizations and the dog-loving public in honor of "man's most faithful friend, for his heroic services in World War I and II."

According to Elkow, the average age of the pets in the Happy Hunting Grounds is 12 years. The oldest dog buried here was a 22½ year-old Boston Terrier. Several of the pets reached an age of 20.

Among the pets buried in the cemetery are: Blizard, a lead dog that participated in Admiral Byrd's Antarctica Expedition in 1938; an 86-year-old parrot, which was a mascot aboard Admiral Dewey's flagship; and a 14-year-old turtle that was a family pet.

Man is sustained under all circumstances through an understanding of God's omnipotence. This theme will be emphasized Sunday at Christian Science church services.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Matter" is the Golden Text from Psalms (73:26): "My flesh and my heart faileth: but God is the strength of my heart, and my portion for ever."
From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this passage will be read: "Consciousness constructs a better body when faith in matter has been conquered. Correct material belief by spiritual understanding, and Spirit will form you anew" (425:23-26).

To Lecture On Christian Science

Mrs. Gertrude Velguth
How spiritual understanding of God restores health and harmony will be the topic of a lecture on Christian Science to be given in Plymouth on Sunday, March 19, by Gertrude E. Velguth of Flint, Michigan.

Open to the public without charge, the lecture will be sponsored by the members of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Plymouth. Mrs. Velguth will speak in the church at 1100 Ann Arbor trail at 4 p.m. Her subject will be Love, the Vital Part of Christian Science.
Mrs. Velguth is on extensive tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lecture-ship. A native of Gary, Indiana, she graduated from the Conservatory of Music at Eastern Michigan college and later studied at Michigan State university and at the Flint Institute of Arts. In 1945 she resigned her position as chairman of the Arts Department of Northern high school in Flint to devote her full time to the public practice of Christian Science healing.

CLOCK WATCHERS
Are men becoming smaller than the clocks they watch? As we rush from plane to plane, city to city, appointment to appointment, are we shrinking rather than growing?
For centuries men have gone forth from their homes to work, either by foot, ship, horseback or in a jet that can cross a continent between lunch and dinner. Whether in the end it was "worth it" has always depended on whether a man found time as the years went by for those things even more important than success—his family, his home, and his church.
If the demands of your job—the pace of your life—have chained you to a clock that is getting bigger than you are, pause to remember: in any human life there are only so many hours, none of which may be reclaimed once they've ticked by. Pause to realize, too, that it takes only a minute to pray, only an hour to go to church on Sunday—yet the benefits reaped from even such brief dedication to God can be eternal.

The Rev. Peter Nieuwkoop, Pastor
First Baptist Church, Northville

What place does the cross have in your religious belief? Is it primary, secondary, or is it wholly unnecessary? Strange as it may seem to some, many who are parading under the banner of Christianity have no place whatever for the cross. There is a brand of religious intellectualism which rules out the cross of Christ altogether. They abhor the doctrine of the blood. They utterly reject the substitutionary death. They deny that God the Father would demand the death of anyone, especially His Son, as a satisfaction for sin. Their preaching consists of high sounding double talk which is supposed to be religion on a higher plane. They believe it to be an intellectual concept. This view was accepted by philosophy-steeped Greeks of Paul's day who looked upon preaching of the cross as foolishness. Such religious intellectualism has no place for the theology of the cross, yet it calls itself Christian. There are others who recognize a cross, but it is not the cross of Christ. Their cross is the artistic, the symbol of everything beautiful. It's like a trade mark for their religion. It is used much in ritualistic ceremony and their services would be empty without it. But this cross of respectability is not the cross of the Christian faith. The cross of Christ was a crude, blood-stained cross. It was reserved for the worst of sinners. A man despised and rejected of men hung on that cross. There were but few who carried when He died. They were but a mere handful. They were too frightened to come to His defense. No! it is not the gold cross being on chains about the neck and revered by so many. Among so many of these worshippers the real cross is absent as well. Then there are those religious people who believe that they can be made right with God through their good works. If they pray, if they attend Church, if they are liberal givers and half way respectful, then God shall not condemn them in the final judgement. Let me ask you a simple question if you are in this religious group. "If you could be served in this way, why must Christ have died on the cross at all?" There is no need of a cross in your theology either. Real, true historic Christianity says with the Apostle Paul, "God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world." What happened at Calvary is the heart and core of the Christian faith. Jesus Christ, God's Son, dying for the sinner, making full and complete satisfaction for his sin. On the basis of what was accomplished there, God offers complete forgiveness and pardon to all who will, by faith, accept Jesus Christ as Lord and Saviour. Only those who accept this way really have need for the cross in their theology. What place does it have in your life?

Teacher Profile

Mrs. Lenore Upthegrove

"My name is very easy to remember. It's just like the song, it has three little words — Up-the-grove. Unusual isn't it? My husband is of Spanish descent, while I am a full-blooded Irishman."

The teacher is Mrs. Lenore Upthegrove, who has been in the Northville school system for 15 years. She has always taught in the Main street building and this year is teaching third grade.

What do they teach in the first grade? ... Some reading, a little writing as well as arithmetic?

Yes, and even more things are taught in Mrs. Upthegrove's classes.

"I feel that children, even this young should start to do creative writing. By writing stories and poems they become accustomed to expressing their thoughts." Mrs. Upthegrove was very emphatic in stating that teachers should find and develop any creative talent their students possess.

"I also see that in reading we try to read more than just our text. My third graders take out library books and do extra reading for pleasure and purpose."

Presently, her third graders are studying Michigan Indians. They have made a huge totem pole that reaches to the ceiling of their classroom. The children made the various faces on the pole out of construction paper to help demonstrate part of what they have learned about the Indians and their culture.

Mr. and Mrs. Upthegrove reside on a 15-acre farm on Eight Mile road where they raise hybrid chickens. Mr. Upthegrove, who is a retired printer, also raises thoroughbred Dachunds, while his wife is a rose fancier. She is particularly fond of a variety known as The New Yorker, a large, deep red rose.

Lenore Upthegrove was born in Baraga county in the Upper Peninsula and attended college at Michigan State Normal. After graduation Mrs. Upthegrove taught at Central Lake, Muskegon, and Traverse City. It was at Central Lake that she met her future husband.

Mrs. Upthegrove has two children and 11 grandchildren.

Active in her church, Our Lady of Victory, Mrs. Upthegrove belongs to the Ladies Altar society and the League of Catholic Women. She's also a charter member of Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary teaching sorority.

Her personal thoughts about Northville and its many wonderful people —

"My fifteen years in our local system have been the happiest years of my teaching experience. I didn't realize how many friends I had until I became ill this past year. Never will I forget the numerous gifts, cards, flowers, and letters that I received. This is a very grateful thank-you to all of you."

Mrs. Upthegrove's teaching ability has promoted and encouraged many children. The best way to sum it all up is expressed in the words of a boy who had Mrs. Upthegrove as his teacher last year.

"Mrs. Upthegrove is a good teacher because I really learned a lot last year."

Contemporary Summer Home Wins Award

This striking contemporary design of a summer home on 8 Mile road for Mr. and Mrs. Alan Schwartz of Detroit won one of seven 1961 honor awards made by the American Institute of Architects. The home has rectangular lines, built close to the ground with a porch on all sides. Its strong form was designed to give it a kind of identity with the trees of the orchard in which it is located.

The pyramid steps identify the main entrance although the home can be entered from any side through sliding glass. The home is of a standard wood frame with the roof of hollow plywood beams. While the exterior is formal and sophisticated, the interior (right) is informal. Bickerts and Straub, of Birmingham, were the architects. Among the other honor award winners was the Reynolds Metals company building on Northwestern highway near 8 Mile in Detroit. There were 270 nominations for the awards from every region in the country and abroad as well.

SPEAKING for the Record

By Bill Siger

If anyone's ever written a book entitled "How to Select an Architect to Build a City Hall", the Northville council would undoubtedly buy a copy.

From a list of approximately 15 possibilities the council has narrowed down the architectural firms under consideration to four.

But now the process of elimination is becoming more difficult. What's more the council isn't entirely satisfied that it has acted properly in not considering a larger field of architectural firms.

Still, there's some inclination to complete this important first step so that progress may be made toward actual construction of the building.

Will it get underway this year? That's anyone's guess.

A likely question for State Senator Ray Dziedzic when he appears at the community building tomorrow night for his second informal discussion with interested residents will be the new "loan to business" measure.

It passed the senate this week and will be a last-minute addition to the April 3 ballot. The bill would make state money available to community economic development groups, which would use the money to help finance industrial facilities for private firms.

The measure, proposed by Governor Swainson, will ask voters to repeal the present constitutional provision forbidding the state to invest tax money in private industry.

Speaking of industrial development, two young men moved their aluminum storm window manufacturing business into Novi last week with a burst of enthusiasm and determination.

Robert E. Metz and James Smallegan, owners of Inter-Lake Window Industries, Inc., took over nearly 6,000 square feet of the old Young Door plant on Grand River (now partly occupied by Smith Products) and predicted their business would double this year.

They employ about 25 and build custom storm windows for some 140 dealers throughout the state.

Both Metz and Smallegan are highly enthusiastic about Novi's location and access to major highways.

Let's Advertise Recession Away

Babson Park, Mass., Each week some new proposition comes from the White House promising to reduce unemployment. These vary all the way from paying veterans' insurance money in advance of dates due to increasing the minimum wage. To my mind none of them are of any real value.

The first suggestion would put more money into circulation immediately, but would reduce the amount available later. As to increasing the minimum wage, this will cause merchants and others to reduce the number of their employees so that the higher wage will not cost them more in total. This will result in increasing unemployment without increasing total purchasing power.

When discussing these two factors, it is much like asking which came first, — the hen or the egg? Each is dependent on the other; but in most cases increased purchasing must come before increased employment, and I think President Kennedy believes this in his heart. Hence, the soundest, cheapest, and quickest method of increasing purchasing is to increase advertising.

Advertising appropriations are now "upside down." Merchants advertise most when they have plenty of money, which usually means when business is good and there is full employment. Then, when business slows up and unemployment develops, these merchants reduce their advertising.

This is why I say that the present advertising policy is "cockeyed." It may help the temporary profits of the merchant, but it is not for the nation's best interests; it is not economically sound.

This especially applies to newspaper advertising, although it also may include radio, TV, and mail-order advertising. Furthermore, Congress would surely be increasing unemployment by increasing postal rates.

Think what would happen to with.

Presto! Chevrolet changes old roads to new! Does it with a ride so smooth, handling so sure and going so sweet that it's almost magic.

Chevy owes its Jet-smooth ride to some mighty ingenious engineering . . . things like Full Coil suspension, precision balanced wheels, unique chassis cushioning and a superlatively insulated Body by Fisher. Nor does Chevy's ingenuity stop with ride. Take performance, for instance. You've a choice of 24 power teams ranging all the way up to the mighty 348-cubic-inch Turbo-Thrust V8's* with shift-free Turboglide transmission.*

More ingenuity: When you check Jet-smooth Chevy prices with your dealer you'll discover that nothing so easy riding was ever so easy to own.

State Needs More Jobs

"The only answer to unemployment is more jobs," a legislative leader said not too long ago.

This observation, which may seem perfectly obvious to some and downright superfluous to others, may in reality contain more truth than fiction.

The Michigan economy has been studied, prodded, poked, diagnosed, examined and analyzed by almost anyone who could find an excuse to do so.

The results of these investigations, in a nutshell, are that Michigan needs more jobs.

Recommendations, most of them intricate and detailed and having to do with industry incentive taxes, needs, advantages and sites, have been made.

Now comes a legislative committee to study the studies. It hopes to analyze the analyses and come up with the best of the lot, then translate it into specific legislative action to improve the state's much-maligned economic climate.

This, perhaps, is what Michigan needs most. That is, less talk and a program of action.

The latest study, proposed by freshman Rep. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, if it comes up with the needed action, could put the state on the road it seeks.

Other studies have laid out for all to see what is wrong and what is right in Michigan. It is in the hands of lawmakers to lay out a program of action to correct the wrongs and take advantage of the rights in the complicated economic situation.

Just how much does the weather influence driving?

More specifically, does good weather cause bad driving, and vice versa?

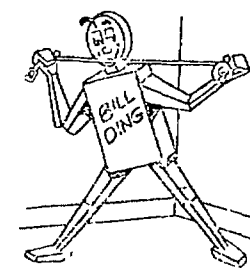

Obviously, more cars are on the road when the sun is shining and many of them are going faster because of dry pavement. Is it possible, however, that good weather can cause a frame of mind that will lead to violations of the reckless driving variety?

Secretary of State James M. Hare thinks people's driving often gets worse as the weather gets better.

He says conviction abstracts, which are sent to his office for each offense chargeable under the state's point-system law of determining when to take away a driver's license, showed a decline early this year that would reflect periods of bad weather during the winter.

If this indicated "better driving" in bad weather, it contradicts the statistics on traffic deaths. These usually follow a different pattern: Deaths are high during the winter months when there are more hours of darkness.

Hare says that as the snow and ice disappear, spring time friskiness infects too many drivers, causing them to take chances they normally wouldn't and consequently receiving a violation.
