

SPRING VACATION? — For Lauri and Joan Batzer and their dog, Teddy, Sunday's freak snow storm came as something of a disappointment. But they didn't let it spoil their fun. Instead they switched from spring to winter play and proceeded to build a snow fort. They're the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Batzer, 711 North Center street.

It's Official: School Budget $903,620

Although final okay still rests with the county tax allocation board's ruling, Northville public schools can theoretically count on a $903,620 budget for the 1961-62 school year.

Next Election On June 12

With the spring election still fresh in their minds, Northville voters were reminded this week of the June 12 school board election.

Only one post will be up for grabs, that now occupied by Board Secretary Donald Lawrence. Lawrence has not indicated, as yet, whether he will seek re-election.

Nominating petitions must be filed with the school board secretary not later than 4 p.m., May 13. Each petition must bear not less than 50 names of registered school electors.

Friday, June 2 is the last day for voters to register for this election.

School Sees No Problem On West St.

There's a very simple way for the city to settle its problem of vacating West street (between Main and Cady).

The Northville school board outlined the procedure in the adoption of an official resolution Monday night.

In plain terms the resolution says "turn the street over to us (the school district) as you promised with no strings attached".

Originally, the vacation of the street (now used only as a pedestrian walk between Main and Cady) was a minor consideration in the city's sale of the community building to the school district.

It was generally understood that the West street right-of-way would go along with the transaction. To accomplish this calls for official action by the council, however.

And just when the city council was ready to act on the matter a petition from Cady and First street residents was presented. It opposed vacation of the street by the city and asked that the street be kept open for pedestrians.

So the council tried to satisfy the residents — and the school board, too — by attaching a condition to its vacation action: namely, that the school retain it as a walk-way, or provide a new walk in case a future building might block the present walk.

While the school board has no plans to discontinue the use of the walk, it has taken the position that it does not want to be obligated in the future to providing a pedestrian sidewalk.

So, it's back to the council — and more discussion!

New Board For Retailers

The Northville Retail Merchants association elected a new board of directors and officers this week as it prepared to plan a new year of activities.

Named to the board of directors were Roy Stone, Harry Sedan, Howard Mitchell, Mary Ware, Bruce Turnbull and Doug Lorenz.

Officers of the board are: William Slinger, president; Esie Nirider, vice president; and Gladys Wallace, secretary. Monte Ellis is out-going president of the organization.

Kroger Announces Supermarket Development in Business District

Project to Include Drive-In Bank Office

Northville's downtown business district received a long-awaited boost this week with the news that the Kroger company will build a modern supermarket facility on Dunlap street this spring.

Announcement of the project came from the office of H. A. Gifford, vice president of Construction of the new store will begin within five weeks. Opening date has been set for late August.

Specifically, the store will be located on the north side of Dunlap between Center and Hutton streets. It will face south with a 150-car parking lot and provide dual entrances from Center and Dunlap streets and a single entrance from Hutton.

The store itself includes 16,000 square feet and has been described by Kroger officials as something of a "pilot" store offering several new features introduced by the company for the first time.

The project is a company undertaking and will be financed by the Kroger company's employee profit-sharing plan. Technically speaking, therefore, the store will be owned by Kroger employees. In most instances, supermarket facilities are financed by private investors and leased to the chain grocery operators.

Local merchants have heralded the new development as a stimulus to business and predict that it will solidify the shopping district and trigger greater development and improvement.

Actually, it opens a whole new shopping section in the downtown area.

While no official announcement has been made, the development will almost certainly include another new building.

Construction of a drive-in bank facility by Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit at the corner of Dunlap and Hutton awaits approval of the Comptroller of the Currency, a federal agency that must approve all federal bank projects.

The new banking service will be located at the site of the present scout building. It has been learned that the building will provide two drive-up and one walk-up type windows as an additional service to the bank's Main street office and to accommodate customers wishing to transact business quickly.

Four houses and the city-owned scout building will be moved or torn down to make way for the new shopping section.

Kroger purchased the Lucille Lanning residence, 216 North Center (next to Detroit Edison), the Harvey Hodge home, 127 East Dunlap, two houses at 133 and 135 East Dunlap belonging to the Donald Wares, and the city's scout building.

The company paid the city slightly over $13,000 for the scout building — a price set by the council after receiving three independent appraisals.

City councilmen have already initiated a program to provide new scout building facilities. The building has been used principally by the girl scouts and Northville recreation department.

In footage the entire development extends 247 feet along Dunlap from Hutton; 181 feet northward on Hutton from Dunlap; 125 feet northward from the Edison property along North Center street; and nearly 300 feet at the deepest point to the rear of the store from Dunlap street.

The Northville Kroger store will set something of a new architectural approach for the company that will be copied by future stores. Its exterior will be composed of brick, stone and glass, while the interior will introduce new pastel color patterns keyed to recent surveys conducted to determine women's preferences.

Among other features that are either new to Kroger stores or being introduced for the first time are: open standing 3-deck meat case with airflow cooling; specially non-packaged meats counter; 3-deck dairy cooler open for customer selection and refrigerated by a cold-air "curtain"; and a brand new frozen foods counter — 36 feet long and triple deck introducing stand-up display of frozen foods in the manner of other canned goods.

The dimensions of the building are 110 by 130 feet with a partial basement level — 25 by 60 feet — in the northwest corner of the building.

Mrs. Lucille Garrett, a Livonia broker, obtained original options to the property and organized the development project.

Ex-Northville Officer Is South Lyon Chief

A former Northville police officer became chief of the South Lyon department this week.

Grant Dale, who was a local policeman for three years, was appointed South Lyon chief by Mayor-Elect John Noel Monday night.

Dale replaces Chief Lyle Gillespie, whose resignation was requested by Mayor Noel. Coincidentally, Noel is a former South Lyon police chief and was succeeded by Gillespie.

Dale has been a fulltime patrolman in South Lyon for the past year. He has resided there since 1946.

NEW IN NORTHVILLE — The Kroger company announced this week it will begin construction of a 16,000 square foot supermarket on Dunlap street within five weeks. The project, hailed as a boom to the city's business district, also includes a drive-in bank at Dunlap and Hutton. Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit is awaiting federal approval for the new facility.

Township Vetos Zoning Appeal Bid

The Northville township zoning board, by a 2-1 vote, denied a request Tuesday night to reconsider the rezoning of a 4.2 acre site on Baseline road to permit construction of a restaurant.

In February the board turned down an application by C. J. Mulligan to call a public hearing for the purpose of changing the zoning of his 42565 Baseline road property from R-1-E (residential estates) to R-4 (multiple family residential).

Through his attorney, John L. Crandell, Mulligan appealed the decision to the board.

The zoners heard Crandell's arguments and those of some 12 residents of the area.

Crandell pointed out that the proposed 50-apartment facility would enhance the area and bring employment and additional tax base to the area. The project is estimated at between $250,000 and $300,000.

The residents present objected to the proposed structure. In general the dissenting zoners took the position that the rest home would prove harmful to the residential values and constitute spot zoning in the R-1-E area.

Chairman Gunnar Stromberg and H. B. Putnam voted against while J. R. Gibson favored granting the public hearing. Ed Sprunk, fourth member of the board, did not vote because he arrived late and did not hear all arguments.

169 Ballots to Win

It took an unbelievable 169 ballots Monday night, but Marshall Taylor was finally elected mayor of Walled Lake city. He has been on the council since 1956. The voting was done by the council at a special meeting.

Appeal Board Life Is One of Decisions

One of the most difficult bodies on which a citizen can serve in behalf of his municipal government is the board of appeals.

In Northville this group of nine men must consider requests to permit exceptions to the ordinances governing the city's zoning and building regulations.

They must reach their decisions without prejudice and based upon hardship or where there are practical difficulties involved that make it appear reasonable to grant an exception to the ordinance in question.

Last week the appeals' board was confronted with "sign" troubles. Milford Finance, 135 North Center street, asked permission to erect an overhanging sign. The ordinance prohibits such signs — although there are many in the business district that were erected prior to the new ordinance.

A representative of the firm presented a petition bearing the signatures of 41 merchants requesting that the sign be allowed and protesting that the ordinance is unfair to new businesses.

The firm also argued that its business suffered without the sign advertising. Despite these appeals, the board voted unanimously against permitting the sign.

Monday night the petitions were presented to the city council and planning commission. The next step appears to be a joint meeting with city planners and interested merchants to discuss the pros and cons of overhanging signs.

In a different set of circumstances, but coincidentally involving a sign, the Kroger company asked the appeals board to permit construction of a vertical sign on its new Dunlap street site (see announcement story elsewhere on this page) that exceeds the ordinance limitations for signs by 25 square feet.

The night before the appeals' board meeting Kroger company representatives received site plan approval for their new store from the planning commission. But the plan did involve two variances — one the sign and the other the distance of the store from the back lot line — that required passage by the board of appeals.

In what appeared to be a desire to indicate as much influence as one board might dare in the sphere of authority of another the planners expressed majority agreement with the plan as presented by the supermarket representatives.

Several residents of the proposed new shopping area appeared at the appeal meeting. None offered protests and several lauded the project as a badly needed addition to the community.

While the appeal board members had no trouble deciding to grant the lot-line variance, they found themselves locked in a disagreement over a matter of principle on the sign question.

While each board member expressed the opinion that the sign should be permitted, their method of granting approval differed.

William Davis and Harvey Ritchie argued that the ordinance was obviously too restrictive and should be changed. They won support from George Kohls and Lawrence LeFevre. The majority of the board members — Chairman Elmer DeKay, Fred Gotts, Charles McDonald, Arthur Schnute and William Stine — took the position that hardship was proven and therefore variance should be granted without ordinance change.

The vote was 5-4, but six votes are needed to win approval. Ritchie is the planning commission's representative on the board of appeals.

Monday night city councilmen met jointly with the planners to study the board of appeals' request that the ordinance should be changed. Councilmen and planners agreed that the ordinance bears reviewing in general the council members expressed disappointment in the appeal board action. They also noted that swift changing of an ordinance is unwise and that time did not permit an ordinance change before a building permit would be required for the new supermarket project.

Therefore, the council and planners have proposed by letter to the board of appeals that the sign variance be considered again strictly on the basis of the difficulties or hardship involved — with the assurance that the council and planning commission will propose revision of the sign ordinance as soon as is practicable.

Thus on April 19 the appeal-boarders will take a fresh look at the proposed sign.

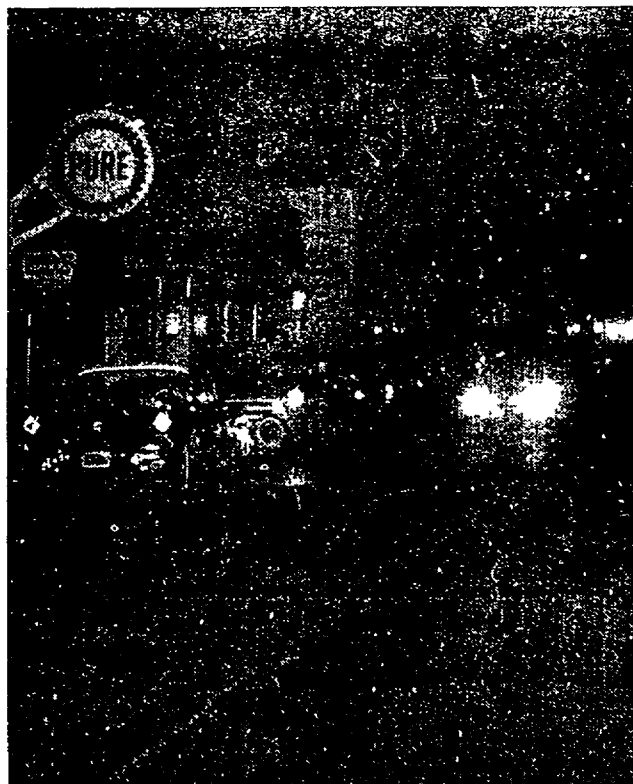

Its location, as explained by company representatives, would be on the Center street project property. A vertical sign is proposed because the corner Detroit Edison building would block a horizontal sign from view.

The sign is a standard type used by several other area stores, company officials pointed out. To construct a smaller, special design would cost several thousand dollars more, they indicated.

(P.S. With the election of Charles McDonald as justice of the peace a vacancy will soon arise on the board of appeals. Members serve without pay. Any volunteers?)

This sketch shows site plan of new Kroger store, drive-in bank.

BLACKOUT — For two minutes at precisely 8:41 p.m. Monday most of Northville and Livonia was without electrical power. Detroit Edison reported that the interruption was voluntary to permit replacement of a transformer part in the Northville sub station. The city's business district (above) was reminiscent of a World War II "blackout" with only car lights looming in the darkness.

TRI-CLUB LUNCHEON — Northville's branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association hosted Plymouth and Rosedale Garden clubs Monday afternoon at a luncheon in the Thunderbird Inn. Northville President Mrs. D. H. Clark (third from right) and Mrs. Frank Hokenson, Rosedale branch president, (second from right) are having a good laugh in pre-dinner conversation. Mrs. Donald Ward, Plymouth president, is at the far right, while guest speaker, Jim Vinal, radio newscaster, is seated fourth from the left next to Mrs. George Kehs, Northville vice president.

Marks—Chappell Nuptials Spoken

St. Pauls American Lutheran church of Dearborn provided the setting Saturday for double ring nuptials uniting Barbara Jean Marks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Marks of Dearborn, and Terry Carter Chappell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Chappell, 816 North Center street.

Officiating at the candlelight ceremony was Pastor Donald H. Grandahl.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a white, floor length gown fashioned with delicately detailed chantilly lace. The lace extended over a tiered skirt of nylon net ruffles which fell into a full chapel train. A chantilly lace headpiece held her fingertip silk illusion veil. She carried a white Bible, a gift from her mother, overlaid with a white orchid surrounded by Stephanotis.

Mrs. Joseph Passino, Jr. attended her sister as matron of honor. Another sister, Elaine, and the groom's niece, Suzanne Croll, were junior bridesmaids. Also attending the bride were Mary Ann York and Mrs. James Ward.

The junior bridesmaids carried miniature nosegays of pink carnations with white centers to complement their full-skirted frocks of pink nylon.

Mrs. Passino and the senior bridesmaids were attired in pink nylon chiffon over taffeta. Nosegays of carnations formed their bouquets, white with a pink center for the matron of honor and all pink for the bridesmaids.

Mrs. Marks wore a crystal blue chiffon gown with matching accessories for her daughter's wedding, while the groom's mother was attired in a green print silk sheath and bone accessories. Both wore cymbidium orchids.

The groom's best man was his brother, Kenneth. William Bengley, Earl Croll, Paul Terry and Joseph Passino, Jr. ushered guests.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. Mrs. Vincent Zattel of Lathrup Village and Mrs. Paul Terry of Northville poured.

Following a wedding trip through the Smokies and then south to Miami, the couple will reside in Nankin.

KITCHEN DIARY

Saves Time 'n' Budget

Mrs. Harold Price, this week's Kitchen Diary cook, reminded us of a plight known all too well by just about every housewife-hostess.

Guests are coming over for dinner. Simple enough, thinks the lady of the house, rummaging through her recipe file and cookbooks for "special" menu ideas. Ah, here it is, just the right one. And then comes the startling revelation ... this "ideal" meal calls for enough offbeat ingredients to make a hotel chef's head whirl! So it's off to the market to buy those little extras and watch the cashier run up a bill bound to throw any price-conscious housewife's budget right out the window. Sound familiar? Mrs. Price tackled this dinner-for-guests dilemma, or "how to go from the mundane to the magnificent", as she refers to it, and came up with this menu.

OLV Group Plans Town Hall Lecture Series Here

Starting next fall Northville will have its own Town Hall lecture series.

Plans for the proposed series have been simmering on the back burner now for several weeks while a committee of women from Our Lady of Victory church, series sponsor, awaited confirmation from the five lecturers who will appear at the Northville P & A theatre.

At a meeting hosted by Mrs. Claude A. Crusee Monday afternoon, the committee, headed by Mrs. Robert M. Rahaley, reported that the following list of speakers had been contracted:

John Mason Brown, October 19; Madam Ginette Spanier, November 15, Anthony Wedgewood Benn, January 18, Ian Ross Mac Farlane, February 15, and Bennett Cerf, April 3.

Mrs. Frank W. Angle, vice-chairman, said Mrs. Donald P. Boor is setting up speaker's luncheons to follow each of the lectures.

Two-thirds of the proceeds from the series will go to local charities, said Mrs. Lewis W. Alexander, treasurer. Charities in other nearby communities will cash in on the other third, she explained, as Plymouth, South Lyon, Farmington, Novi and Livonia are represented on the committee and a large audience response is expected from these areas.

Mrs. Claude A. Crusee, chairman of the patrons committee, said her committee had already noted widespread enthusiasm.

Season tickets for the series will be sold. Mrs. J. William Cheetham, in charge of member contacts, said some 3,000 letters would go out to clubs and individuals in the area.

Other women working on the Town Hall series are: Mrs. Roy Mattison, secretary; Mrs. George W. Kohs, tickets; Mrs. John W. Swain, Jr., publicity; Mrs. George Hanley, programs; Mrs. R. D. Willoughby, Mrs. Harry N. Deyo, Mrs. Gerald Harrison, Mrs. George F. Merwin, Mrs. Louis Pearlman, Miss Ruth Knapp, Mrs. C. Harold Bloom, Mrs. Essie Nirider, Mrs. Frank H. Bosak, Mrs. Beatrice Plamondon, Mrs. Carol J. Mulligan and Mrs. R. G. Wetterstroem.

Friday night is bowling night for newcomers Judy and Gerald Pointer. Though their averages wouldn't quite stack up to anything Don Carter or Marlon Ladewig might roll, the Pointers have chalked up enough strikes and spares, along with three teammates, to keep their team near the top of the church league in which they bowl.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Pointer are from Illinois. They lived in Galesburg — about 50 miles from Peoria — until their move to Northville on St. Patrick's day a year ago. They live in an apartment at 521 West Main.

A World War II veteran who saw action in the South Pacific, Gerald Pointer is a stone cutter for Allen Monument Works. His job played a part in the Pointers' move here.

The newcomers belong to Novi Baptist church, and Mrs. Pointer, a housewife first, occasionally helps out at the church office.

The Pointers have no children.

HAPPY ST. PAT'S DAY — It was a year ago St. Patrick's Day that newcomers Gerald and Judy Pointer first set up house-keeping here in Northville. They moved from Galesburg, Illinois.

Requiem was immediately recognized as a great work and was by popular demand, taken on a triumphant tour of the other major cities of Italy with Verdi conducting.

The concert will be held at 4 p.m. in the high school auditorium in Plymouth. The orchestra will be joined by the Plymouth Civic chorus and a portion of the Saginaw Choral society for this presentation.

Moose Open Drive For Membership

Tonight (Thursday) at 8:30, an organizational meeting of the Loyal Order of the Moose will be held at Marco's restaurant at 38410 Grand River.

Richard Masters, membership director, said that the order has a deadline by the first weekend in May to install a lodge in the Northville-Nowi-Walled Lake-Farmington area. He said that all interested parties, men and women, are welcome to tonight's meeting. The Moose is known as a family fraternity.

If anyone is interested in the order but cannot make the meeting, Masters asked that they contact him by phoning GR 4 6087.

JCs Obtain Contract To Old Fire Engine

The original job folder for the old fire truck donated to the Northville Junior Chamber of Commerce was obtained recently by the Jaycee treasurer, Paul Stueckle, while on a business trip in Cincinnati, Ohio.

The fire engine was built by a company in Cincinnati. In the folder was the purchase date — August 4, 1926 — of the fire engine and the signatures of the village officials, President Elmer L. Smith and clerk Thomas Murdock, and a representative of the company.

The records are slightly water marked from a 1937 flood which struck the company. The Jaycees plan to frame the records.

To Represent Wurlitzer Locally

Selma Schnute, piano and organ teacher at 505 North Center street, announced this week that she has become the Northville representative for the Wurlitzer company.

Obituary

DANIEL C. MERRITT

Services will be held at 2 p.m. this afternoon (April 13) from Casterline Funeral home for Daniel C. Merritt, one-time owner of the old Merritt House here, who died suddenly Monday at Community General hospital. He was 71 years old.
Burial at Rural Hill cemetery will follow services officiated by the Reverend Lloyd Brasure, First Presbyterian church.
A former Northville resident,
Mr. Merritt lived at 1260 Junction avenue, Plymouth, with his wife, Oral, who survives. His sister, Mrs. Margaret Boying-ton, also survives. Mr. Merritt was born in Union City, Michigan on April 13, 1889 to Robert and Maryette (Tarlinger) Merritt. He was a retired painter and World War I veteran.

MARY A. UNGER

Mrs. Mary A. Unger, 64, of 53666 West Eight Mile road, died April 6 at Wayne County General hospital. Her health had been failing the past 10 years. She leaves her husband, Stewart; three sons, Stewart, Jr., Concord, California, Robert, Holland, Michigan, Jack, Plymouth; a brother, Lawrence McIntyre, of Detroit, and 9 grandchildren. The Ungers had lived here a year. Mrs. Unger, the daughter of Anthony and Anna (McCloskey) McIntyre, was born in Catawissa, Pennsylvania on July 21, 1896. She was a member of the Methodist church in Plymouth. Services were held Monday afternoon from the Casterline Funeral home with the Reverend Paul Cargo officiating. Interment was at Michigan Memorial park in Flat Rock.

'Juice' — Not Fruit —
Smokes Up Market

Fruit juice wasn't the only kind of "juice" at the Lakeview Market, at 2215 Novi road, last Tuesday.

A truck backed into a Detroit Edison pole behind the store, knocking down a 220 line and causing a short circuit in the store. Smoke rapidly filled the market.

Owner Morey Lipke called the Novi fire department which responded and watched the scene until the Edison repair crew arrived.

To Take Accident Study Course

It's back to school again for Northville Police Chief Eugene
King. The chief plans to attend a five-day accident investigation course for law enforcement officers at Michigan State university's Oakland branch.

Scheduled April 11, 12, 13, 19 and 25, the course is being conducted by the School of Police Administration and Public Safety of the College of Business and Public Service in cooperation with the Highway Traffic center and Continuing Education service of the university.

SUPERSTITION OR FAITH?

Do you pride yourself on being a believer? That may be very good and it may be very bad! It is just as possible to believe error as it is to believe the truth. For example, the use of candles in Church services have become quite popular in Churches of all denominations. They are often used in Dedication services or in parts of the Worship service.
Some believe that you may light a candle and say a prayer and that prayer will continue as long as the candle burns.
How can we find out whether this is true or not, and whether God is pleased with such actions? Well God has given us a hand book for faith and practice. What does this say? I believe if you will carefully search the N.T. you will not find one single reference to use of candles in worship services or their being continuous prayer. In fact in John 4:24 we read "God is a Spirit, and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth". The true worship of Christianity is via spiritual worship in opposition to ritualistic worship, even that of the O.T. Since faith is always based on facts, we must be careful to always be able to say, "I believe because God's Word says so!"

The oneness and supremacy of God will be emphasized at Christian Science services this Sunday "Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon. The Golden Text is from the first chapter of II John: "He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son."
The opening selection to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "Jesus taught but one God, one Spirit, who makes man in the image and likeness of Himself, — of Spirit, not of matter" (p. 94).

From the Bible will be read this verse from Psalm 143: "Teach me to do thy will; for thou art my God: thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness."

An Easter Bunny? Yes! 13 — in All!
Forty-three emotionally disturbed children at Hawthorne center had a brighter Easter holiday this year thanks to 13 self-appointed "Easter Bunnies" from Bloomfield Country Day school in Birmingham.
The "bunnies", all freshman girls at the day school, made and delivered Easter baskets for children at the center. Their idea for the project grew out of a conversation one girl, Donna Richardson, had with her mother about Hawthorne's emotionally disturbed youngsters. Donna in turn recruited 12 of her classmates to help her with the baskets.

First Baptist Church of Novi
Arnold B. Cook, Pastor

Children are not atheists. People are not born in this condition, but through egoism, unbelief, and sin, they grow into this anti-Christian philosophy. How often do children demonstrate the reality and simplicity of faith. The following illustration serves well to show the child-like belief, without which, "ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven." (Matthew 18:3)

A man once noticed a boy eagerly examining a picture of the crucifixion in a shop window. Wishing to see how much the boy knew about it, the man asked him what it meant. The boy explained as best he could about the death of Christ, and after a few more words, he started down the street. The man, left standing alone, was suddenly startled by someone tugging at his coat tails. Turning around he saw the boy, who looked eagerly into his face, saying, "Mister, I forgot to tell you the best part about it. He didn't stay dead. He got alive again."

The Christian world has been giving much thought to the passion of our Lord, but we question, to what degree of genuine sincerity? How long will it be until the death and resurrection themes will be brought about by the Christmas excitement? I remember as a small boy, hearing my pastor say to his Easter congregation, "In the event I don't see some of you until next Easter, I wish to take this opportunity to wish you a Merry Christmas." This seemed strange indeed to me, that Christmas greetings were being passed out at Easter time, but I soon learned as a minister of the Gospel of Christ what every minister discovers — the Easter parade is not an accurate means of determining the spiritual temperature of the church. My Bible tells me that the resurrected Christ imparts eternal life to as many as receive Him. By eternal, I understand the life to be constant and not like an Easter lily that blooms just for the holiday to remain dormant the rest of the year. "If any man be in Christ he is a new creation..." and "he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water... his leaf also shall not wither..."

The basis for spiritual solidity is the New Birth, which essentially is the impartation of God's nature. People who are not "Born Again", lack the staying power; therefore, once or twice a year is just about the limit of their church attendance. The church member who means most to the minister, the church, the community and above all to our Lord is not a "once or twice" but one who knows "the best part," "He got alive again," and one who can joyfully sing, "You ask me how I know He lives; He lives within my heart."

What is home? A blend of memories and mortar... walls and roof and smells of breakfast cooking... a place of rest at the end of the day... a feeling of possession, of belonging... a place of hates, loves, anger... center of things living.

Home may be a mansion on a hill, a cramped apartment, a farmhouse, a hovel, a new suburban split-level, the house Father built... but only to you and your family is it home. No one else may call it that. For home is a part of you!

Centuries ago a shepherd-poet felt this. Weary, lonely seasons on the grazing slopes had taught him to love... to long for... HOME.

But he realized that, through this life and beyond, the nearness of God is part of the sense of home. Goodness and mercy would follow him all the days of his life. And he would dwell in the house of the Lord forever!

Give the Church and its Truth a place in your home. And God's presence will give eternal meaning to that home.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

He Likes New Job

Of the several ew faces that appeared on Northville's teaching staff last fall, the most familiar was that of Joel Soule who Northville teachers bid goodbye to five years ago as a graduate student, and then welcomed back as a colleague. He has nothing but praise for teachers he had and the system: "What can you say about high school when you thoroughly enjoyed it? I've always been proud to be from Northville high school. I never had trouble competing in college, although I was afraid I might, coming from a small school." He also points out that a large percentage of his class became teachers — which probably indicates the influence of many fine teachers.

Nearing the end of his first year in the profession, the 23-year-old teacher has found it very much to his liking. "Teaching isn't what I expected," Soule says. "It's much more enjoyable and fascinating." His present responsibility is teaching math and science to junior high schoolers. Of them he says,

"I like junior high children. They are still full of enthusiasm and without much cynicism." Furthermore, his interest in teaching can be seen in his philosophy of education. Of prime importance in teaching, Soule feels, is to "stress to the student the understanding of the what and why of education." He adds, "Even if they are getting good grades, what is the value of it if they don't understand the reason for it?" In this connection Soule remembers a story he once read that shows part of the problem of education. It seems that a duck, a squirrel and a rabbit were required to attend school where swimming, tree climbing and hole digging were taught. Well, the duck forgot how to swim in her effort to become proficient in tree climbing, and the squirrel forgot how to climb trees in order to learn to dig holes, and the rabbit became frustrated in hole digging trying to learn to swim. The differences in people pose a somewhat similar problem to educators, Soule feels. "Part of the junior high school's function," he says, "is to introduce students to the various fields of studies so that they may make intelligent course choices throughout their educational career. It's part of self identification — the squirrel should know that he is a squirrel suited to certain things and to others, just as the student should know where his interests and capabilities are."

Soule takes an inductive approach to his teaching, as opposed to a deductive approach. For instance, he would help children understand housebuilding by starting from the foundation and building upward, rather than taking an existing house apart to see how it was made. An example of this is seen in a unit on measurement. Rather than have students first analyze existing measurement systems, Soule encouraged them to make one of their own, using their own unit of measurement. What came out were such unlikely sounding measurements as: 6 grunts equals 1 groan; 3 groans equal 1 growl, etc. By analyzing their system and comparing it to other systems, they came to an understanding of the problem.

Other classroom activities have included making the whole room into a solar system, studies of motors and machines, and projects on conservation. All of this led one youngster to say, "Mr. Soule has as much fun as we do."

Spare time activities for Mr. Soule include several interests. High-domed reading is probably the most important — philosophy, history, politics, religion mainly. He keeps current by reading four newspapers, including the renowned "Christian Science Monitor". Tinkering with his 8-year-old car comes second in importance. Camping, however, is strictly taboo to city-loving Joel Soule. Why people voluntarily leave the comforts of home living to invite the mosquitoes, elements and other irritations of outdoor living is beyond his comprehension. On the other hand, he loves to play and watch rough-and-tumble hockey.

A graduate of Wayne State university, he has spent his summers, as he puts it, "as a summer shovel jockey." He worked for the City of Northville, digging graves, sewer lines, mowing cemetery lawns, picking up trash, etc. Later he worked for a construction company — digging trenches for the plumbing. Not all his summer jobs were so rooted to the soil — he spent one summer cleaning the Northville Record office.

SPEAKING for the Record

By Bill Siler

Monday noon, together with Northville Township Supervisor George Clark and City Manager John Robertson, I listened to Frederick G. Gardiner address the Economic Club of Detroit.

Gardiner is the chairman of the metropolitan council of the municipality of Toronto.

Quite naturally, his subject was the metropolitan government and what it has accomplished for Toronto.

Fully realizing the controversy and political complications that surround such a program, I still came away from the meeting feeling convinced that eventually some form of this plan is inevitable for metropolitan areas such as ours.

(I can't, of course, speak for the city manager or township supervisor, who were non-committal.)

The key to the Toronto plan, it seems to me, rests with the fact that it does not remove the individual identity of the suburban community.

Instead, it is somewhat like a group of neighbors pooling their resources to solve a common problem with a minimum of needless duplication and expense.

At any rate, this is how Gardiner, who has directed the program since its beginning in 1955, described Toronto's metropolitan council.

The city of Toronto found itself in the center of 13 municipalities. And while the city population was remaining static at 700,000, the suburban communities were growing at a fabulous rate (from 100,000 seven years ago to 800,000).

Millions of acres of farm and orchard land were being buried under an asphalt of shopping centers and housing projects — swamped by a tidal wave of demands for services that the individual communities could not provide, Gardiner explained.

The industrial tax base and borrowing power remained in the city. He pointed out, for example, that Toronto could borrow money at three per cent while one of the suburban communities had trouble getting money at five per cent.

Thus a voluntary collaboration of the 13 communities was formed.

Gardiner called the "genius" of the Toronto plan the fact that the metropolitan council is composed of council members from the individual municipalities.

The individual communities are still responsible to provide their own services. But those services that are common to the entire metropolitan area become the consideration of the metropolitan council.

Included in these services in the Toronto plan are water, sewers, police, parks, planning, transportation and school financing.

In Toronto a billion dollar 10-year capital improvement program was outlined — falling well within its tax capacity. Besides water, sewers, etc., the plan has produced 144 new schools, 195 additions to schools, roads, parks, homes for the aged and subways.

Gardiner said that Torontonians had definitely decided that super-highways and expressways cannot solve the transportation problem alone. Therefore, he said, enlarged subway facilities are being provided for transportation to and from the suburbs.

Without the metropolitan plan, these necessary services would not have been possible, Gardiner declares. Furthermore, he's confident that the people know this and would vote "90 to 10 in favor of the metropolitan plan."

He doubted strongly, however, that the 13 communities would vote to become amalgamated.

Gardiner likes to call Toronto's metropolitan plan the result of an "enlightened self interest" and said that metropolitan areas must realize that the city and the suburbs need each other to provide for their common welfare.

Chemistry Holds Key to Health

Babson Park, Mass., My appeal to every woman is to have her children study chemistry in high school. When they get married they should make their kitchen a laboratory.

If I were a young man I would train as a chemical engineer in connection with business administration. A woman could also do this, but there are not many jobs to get as chemical engineers. The knowledge of chemistry for the woman is primarily for her to do research in her own kitchen. The opportunities along this line are very great and can be very profitable.

Less than 1% of the graduates from our schools go into creative work. Most of them manufacture or sell or advertise what has already been created. Manufacturers are primarily interested in making dividends, — not food, clothing, or shelter. Merchants are interested in selling, at a profit, what has already been produced. Bankers are reluctant to loan money for research.

Yet research has given us all that we have today and it is the only cure for, or prevention of, more inflation and a higher cost of living. Our whole economic life is topsy-turvy.

All life starts with a baby who is 100% chemistry. Its inception and its growth within the mother, for the first nine months, are wholly a chemical matter. Yet when the baby becomes a little child the mother teaches it to eat things that it should not eat.

If mothers knew more about the chemistry of food, there need be very little sickness in the family. Fish live wholly in water and consume the minute plankton therein. Water, sugar, salt, and the grains are only chemicals. Sunday Schools should teach chemistry as a powerful manifestation of God and the Holy Spirit.

Every housewife can learn something from a canary in a bird cage or a cow in the barn. A most wonderful animal is the lobster. A lobster can digest anything from a tack to sewage and produce an absolutely pure food therefrom. The lobster's shedding of its shell is a marvelous work and suggests how furniture, and perhaps houses, will someday be built by chemistry. When the lobster sheds his hard shell which opens like a double door, a new body comes out with its soft shell and the lobster then throws the old shell away.

This is something which we may someday copy. During the first two or three years the lobster "builds a new house" several times a year. A one-and-a-half-pound lobster, such as you eat in a restaurant, is four or five years old and sheds once a year.

The cloth in the dress or coat which you wear starts with the wool on a sheep or the cotton on a stem. This is twisted into threads and thence woven into cloth. The textile industry, however, is rapidly turning into a plastics industry. The "cloth" of the future will be made like cellophane or newspaper. The manufacture of synthetic furs, leather, etc., is now well under way.

Although the stock market seems to me too high for most issues, yet the chemical companies are still among the best. Dow Chemical is my favorite; and I must add duPont, Eastman Kodak, and Union Carbide. Fertilizer stocks like American Agricultural Chemical also look attractive.

Because chemical stocks have doubled and tripled in price during the past two decades is no reason to assume that they have reached their high for all time. The chemical stocks will decline with the rest of the market; but some of them will ultimately sell for many times their present price, counting new "splits." The big decline will be in the stocks of manufacturing and merchandising companies which are spending little money on research. The pharmaceutical companies also should do well, but many of their products are already being carried in the supermarkets and they will be subject to even greater competition.

O'Brien Named Special Delegate

William O'Brien, Novi, has been named special delegate to the fortieth annual Representative Assembly of the Michigan Education Association (MEA) to be held in Lansing, April 14-15.

State Can't Buy Hastily

The state of Michigan as an employer often seems to drag its feet when it is merely choosing its path carefully.

A case in point is provided by group insurance programs, both life and health protection, which Michigan recently decided to adopt. Barring hitches the plans will go into effect with the start of the 1961-62 fiscal year July 1.

The problems and pitfalls have been enormous, however, and they may not be over yet.

A mistake by Civil Service would be even worse than one in private business. Industry cannot afford too many mistakes, of course, but there are too many enemies of government employment policies to permit a single serious blunder without drastic reaction.

The Civil Service Commission looked long and hard at programs in private industry before it authorized an insurance plan for the roughly 31,000 state workers with Michigan paying part of the cost.

Authorization came last November. In March, insurance companies were selected and program terms defined.

Characteristic caution marked the step from start to finish. More than two years ago, cost estimates were solicited from various insurance companies. After the Civil Service Commission waited until a survey was taken of some 385 public and private employers where group insurance programs with employers paying half the cost were in effect, it went ahead with a program for state workers.

Authorization to negotiate the insurance programs was given after bids were taken.

Since state law sets group life insurance premium rates, the deciding factors on the firm which would handle the policies dealt mostly with how much of the money taken in would be kept by the company, how much would be returned to the state in claims and dividends and other complicated factors.

Apparently there was no problem on the health insurance program. This went to Aetna Life Insurance Co., Hartford, Conn. But the life insurance portion caused considerable up-roar.

United Benefit Life Insurance Co., Omaha, Neb., a companion firm of Mutual of Omaha, was given the nod, chiefly because it would return a large portion of the premiums collected to the state in taxes and dividends.

In giving the business to United Benefit Life, a pair of state firms, whose bids could not match the Nebraska company's, were passed by.

The commission, faced with the problem of paying a higher rate to Michigan companies for an identical service available from an outstate source, decided to expend the fewer dollars with the outstate firm.

The two companies, whose higher bids were identical, protested.

Gov. John B. Swainson said he would look into the situation. The Civil Service Commission said the complaint of the Michigan companies was groundless.

Meanwhile, state classified employees quietly hoped they would get the opportunity, now enjoyed by many in private industry, to take advantage of group insurance rates.

If ladies tipped their hats, the entire female population of the United States would owe a doff or two to one of Michigan's esteemed Supreme Court Justices.

Justice Talbot Smith, in a new book called "Lawyer" says women are "really good at" the practice of law.

Smith, a member of the high court since 1955, says that women face an uphill battle for recognition as attorneys, but that he has personally never seen an incompetent or overly emotional lady lawyer.

He also says that state service is one of the best positions for women making a career of the legal profession.

Smith's book, which recently went on sale, ranges over the whole field of law, taking a probing finger there. Anyone contemplating law as a career can get a panorama of the profession from the book.

Smith, incidentally, is the second member of Michigan's high court to take to writing. Former Justice John D. Voelker, who sometimes writes under the pen name Robert Traver, wrote the best-seller "Anatomy of a Murder" and then retired from the bench to devote full time to literary pursuits.
