

NEWCOMER'S CORNER

"I look upon every day to be lost, in which I do not make a new acquaintance."

— Samuel Johnson

HI NEIGHBOR — Mr. and Mrs. Paul Watts and Chuck are newcomers living at 520 Novi street. Farmington was home for the family before they moved to Northville.

The chill bite of winter had already settled in for an extended stay when Paul and Shirley Watts and their young son, Charles Raymond (Chuck), moved to Northville.

By Christmastime the former Farmington residents were settled into their home at 520 Novi street.

Cold weather is old hat to Paul Watts, an Upper Peninsula native, whose hometown is Rock, Michigan, near Marquette.

A Korean War veteran who served with the Air Force, Watts is presently employed at Burroughs in Plymouth. Hunting and fishing are the newcomer's leisure-time activities.

Mrs. Watts hails from Farmington.

The couple's only child, Chuck, was two-years-old in July.

Naumans Surprised

Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Nauman were a surprised and happy couple Sunday afternoon when their three children hosted a Silver Anniversary party for them at the family home, 21831 Connemara.

The Naumans, married September 29, 1936 in Highland Park, were greeted by some 125 friends and relatives when they returned home from a dinner with friends.

The couple's children, Judy, Bob and Barbara (Mrs. Harry Christman), had planned the celebration unknown to their parents.

Patients' Fair at State Hospital Marks Its Ninth Successful Year

Four months of planning by Northville State hospital staff members and volunteers bore fruit Tuesday and Wednesday when the Ninth Annual Patients' Fair was unveiled on the hospital grounds.

"This annual cooperative effort," commented Philip N. Brown, M.D., hospital superintendent, "is eagerly anticipated by the patients. The carnival spirit, the games of chance in 16 different booths, and the tasty homemade food brought by hospital volunteers — all of these help to make the two days of the fair different and most enjoyable."

Although the hospital bus is busy throughout the year transporting patients to the Michigan State Fair, Detroit Tiger ballgames, Shrine Circus, Greenfield Village and other events or points of interest, many patients not able to be included in these activities can come to the hospital fair area and enjoy the excitement there.

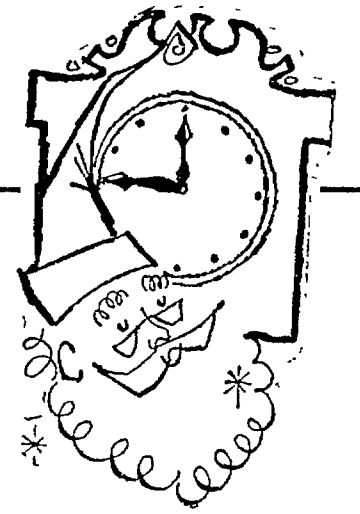

Members of the Senior Citizens of Livonia assisted wheelchair patients to move from booth to booth, while the Red Cross Gray Ladies' Shut-In committee, coordinated by Mrs. Wanna Thomas, Red Cross Gray

Lady chairman, brought refreshments of the fair to those unable to attend.

The Detroit Federation of Musicians provided its Clown Band and a Strolling Trio, which divided their time between playing on the fair grounds and serenading the patients who remained in hospital wards.

Altogether, 25 different volunteer groups, service clubs and business firms contributed to the success of this year's fair. Northville volunteers included the Northville Optimist club

Enemy Attack! What is the Warning? Are You Prepared for This Possibility?

It might have been a night like any night. Supper over, the dishes cleared, washed and put away, the lady of the house joins her family in the livingroom. There her husband, preferring to bypass the kids' choice of television programs, is reclining in his favorite easy chair, partially hidden by the sports section of the evening newspaper.

Outside a siren pierces the still darkness of the crisp, fall night. Its sharp blast is not unfamiliar, at first. All ears perk up expecting the customary one, two, perhaps three or four blasts calling volunteer fire fighters to action.

On this night, however, the whistle's summons is not punctuated by silent intervals. Instead, it screams on with a shrill, steady, frightening urgency that the family has not heard before.

For more than a minute, more than two, it droned unceasingly.

What does it mean? Do you know? Does your family know? The steady siren blast — which could last somewhere between three and five minutes — is an alert. It is a civil defense alert.

Its message: An attack by some enemy — probably armed with a destructive weapon equal to 20 million tons of TNT, — is probable.

For every Northville resident the siren's steady blast is a signal to LISTEN; then take action as directed by the city government.

The Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization's directive to listen first and then act is of great importance.

What happens, for instance, if rather than a steady blast the siren bellows a warbling tone or a series of short blasts for three minutes?

This is the civil defense take cover signal. It means: Attack is imminent; take cover immediately in the best shelter available.

When and if such a crisis should ever occur — no matter how remote or unimaginable it may seem — individual and community preparedness will spell the difference between life and death.

Modern methods of delivering weapons have reduced the amount of probable warning time, say civil defense authorities. Therefore, when the warning sounds, prompt action is essential to escape the immediate effects of the attack and also to prepare for radioactive fallout.

Authorities point out that in a nuclear attack fallout would threaten more persons than the blast and heat from the weapons. Nevertheless, the time to prepare for the searing roar of a nuclear blast and the thousands of tons of radioactive dust and debris that shower down in its wake is before the sirens sound.

Are you prepared? Moreso, is your community prepared? Locally here is how the picture looks.

Coordinating defensive strategy on the city-wide level is a group of local citizens known as the Civil Defense Advisory Committee. Its members meet monthly to plan and prepare.

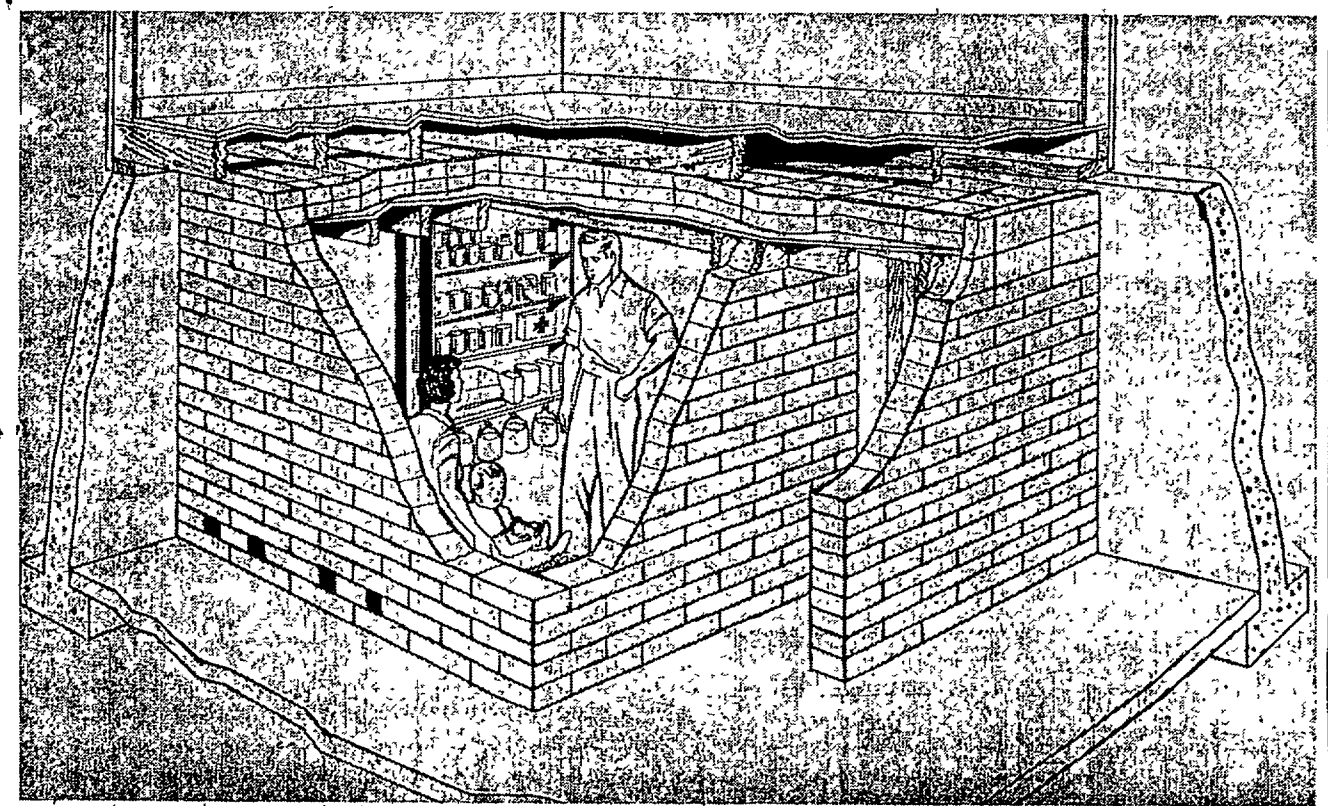

To date local readiness includes:

- Plans to purchase a new warning alert siren. This device, to be paid for by national and matching local funds, has been requested, explains Police Chief Eugene King, because the present siren cannot be heard adequately throughout the community.

Warning signals and what they mean.

- Your community plan for emergency action.
- Use of CONELRAD — 640 or 1240 — for official directions.
- Protection from radioactive fallout.
- First aid and home emergency preparedness.

To help you learn the last two steps, the OCDM has two publications, "The Family Fallout Shelter" and "Individual and Family Preparedness", which can be obtained along with others from nearby civil defense organizations or purchased at nominal cost from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C.

HOME PROTECTION from radioactive fallout can be accomplished by means of concrete block shelters in the basement. This type of shelter — constructed with eight-inches of concrete shielding — is the least-expensive to build. Cost estimate in the spring of 1959 ranged between $150 and $200. Large scale shelter drawings may be obtained from Office of Civil Defense and Mobilization in Battle Creek. Smaller scale drawings are included in the OCDM booklet, "The Family Fallout Shelter".

The immediate call to duty of all firemen, regular and auxiliary policemen, department of public works employees and city officials.

Chief King, civil defense deputy director under the city manager, said the precise plan of action would naturally depend on the exact location of the target area.

Routes leading in and out of the city would have to be opened to facilitate possible evacuation. Should Detroit be the target center, there could be the additional problem of handling thousands of refugees streaming west into Northville.

Help coming in from outside would need clear access into this area.

Debris removal would be the job of public works department men. Firefighters would have their work cut out, extinguishing the rash of blazes that could result. Police would direct the flow of traffic and no doubt be called upon to enforce martial law. City officials would have to implement some type of governmental framework to carry out instructions from state and national civil defense installations.

Medical facilities would be based at the Plymouth State Home and Training School. A makeshift hospital could be set up in the basement of the high school.

A water supply could possibly be maintained by switching on auxiliary pumps powered by gasoline engines.

Electrical power might be totally inoperable. The city has not yet been able to get auxiliary transformers.

Radio communication would continue between police cars. Official directions would be broadcast over CONELRAD frequencies 640 and 1240 on AM radios.

Word has been received of a coming survey of all public, private, industrial and commercial buildings in the city to determine their potential shelter capability. Private architect-engineering firms under contract to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will visit the city to determine the number of shelter spaces required based on population density. They will designate potential shelter areas and provide cost estimates for modification of the structures. This survey is predicted within months.

In the event of nuclear attack, survival begins with you in the home. You can protect yourself and your family, but first you must know what to do and how to do it.

The Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization recommends five steps to Safety. Learn:

ON THE PROGRESS OF THE GOOD TIME PARTY STORE

WHAT'S HAPPENED SO FAR:

This is the second in our series of "A Report To The People". Our new building is basically constructed. With the floor completed and the walls up, we have completed the necessary rough plumbing and wiring that are underneath the concrete floor.

THIS WEEK WE HOPE TO:

In our first Report, we told you the steel rafters and decking would be installed two weeks ago. Because of a delay, the steel rafters and decking were laid this week.

IF ALL GOES WELL:

It is our hope that the Glass company will install the plate glass windows yet this week.

Riverside Coin Club Planning First Show

The Riverside Coin Club is now laying plans for its first coin show. Since its organization there has been a great deal of interest shown in the club. The hobby of coin collecting has gained in popularity in recent years and it is estimated there are over 5 million numismatists in the United States at present.

The Riverside Coin Club now has forty members, and the membership is expected to double in the next few months.

Coin collecting is both interesting and profitable. Some of the rarer coins are now worth many times their original value. As an example: the 1916-D Mercury head dime, in fine condition, is worth about $200. A regular part of each meeting of the club there is an auction held to allow members the opportunity of filling their collections. The official auctioneer is Jim Perna. He has the responsibility of grading all coins as well as running the official auction.

According to President Ernest Koi there are many who still are not aware that a coin club has been organized to serve the needs of this area. Any interested person is invited to attend the next regular meeting of the Riverside Coin Club. Meetings are held the 1st Thursday at 8:00 p.m. and the 3rd Sunday at 3:00 p.m. of each month at the American Legion Hall on Sheldon Road in Plymouth.

The guest speaker at the October 5th meeting will be Mr. William Schill, a well-known coin collector from Detroit. Mr. Schill will explain a little of the history of coins and how they are graded. He will be available for questions and discussion after the meeting.

GAS the gentle GIANT

Most of Nature's energies, like the rain and the wind, are unreliable giants, heedless of man-made rules. One outstanding exception is Natural Gas!

Man surmounts many hazards and spends an untold amount of wealth searching for this "wonder fuel." Once he discovers it he treats it with great care—he guides and controls it from the well to the pipeline to the point of use. As a result, this invisible giant (Natural Gas) has become a gentle and willing servant.

To make sure you get the cleanest fuel possible, man forces all Gas through huge cleansers called "scrubbers" to remove all impurities and liquids. When it enters the home this pure source of Natural energy swings into action at the turn of a switch or press of a button to heat your water, cook and refrigerate your food, dry your clothes. In 8 out of 10 new homes where Natural Gas is available, modern folk wouldn't think of using any other type of fuel to heat their home. More and more, Gas is earning a reputation not only as Nature's perfect fuel, but as one of America's most economical and dependable servants.

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO
— Thieves broke into the high school over the week-end, getting away with over $250 in cash and small items. They also caused about $1,000 in damage, principally to the school safe.
— The school board decided Tuesday evening to ask the citizens' curriculum study group to investigate the possible needs and costs of a community college. The board also approved a program of night classes in adult education.
— Dennis Anchors, of 44350 Chedworth drive and Dan Bishop of 46111 Neeson, both 13, divided the first prize money of the season's first football contest this week. They tied, so they divided first and second place winnings.
— The Northville P-TA's first meeting of the year was terminated an over-whelming success by co-president Mrs. Robert Beebower, as 250 attended.

FIVE YEARS AGO
— Ground was broken Tuesday for a new school for retarded girls, to be located near Northville, on Beck road between Phoenix and Six Mile roads. The school will be called St. Mary of Providence, and is sponsored by Detroit Archdiocesan Fund.
— The newly-formed Northville Junior Chamber of Commerce meets tonight to continue organization and elect temporary officers. The group had its first organizational meeting last week.
— Wes Coon was elected the 1956 chairman for the Novi United Fund drive at a meeting held Tuesday in the township hall.
FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
— Novi AMVETS auxiliary elected Mrs. William McDermid as president for the coming year Monday evening. The auxiliary was organized only a month ago, and its membership roll now lists 20.
— Thirty-one members of the Lawrence family gathered at the home of the Leo Lawrences on Fairbrook road last Monday. Guests attending were from as far away as Florida.
— The Northville Boy Scouts will pick up waste papers throughout the village tomorrow in their annual paper drive. Five tons of paper were picked up by the Scouts on their last drive.
— Clark's Hardware has announced that they must again ration the sale of shotgun shells because of the shortage of ammunition.
— A 50th anniversary celebration will be held next week to mark the birthday of rural delivery mailing, which began in 1896. The service began in Northville's area in 1900.
TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
— Dr. Linwood W. Snow and W. A. Ely were elected members of the Wayne county Republican committee Wednesday night at a meeting held in Detroit.
— The Walled Lake Consolidated school, in cooperation with Michigan State college, plans to install a spray residue laboratory to clean spray residues from apples. The lab will service Oakland county growers.
— The P-TA's first meeting next week will feature a discussion of the child's character, his place in the community and the influence of the community on his development.

WIN CASH PRIZES EACH WEEK

$15. FIRST PRIZE $10. SECOND PRIZE

$10. BONUS TO THE "FIRST PRIZE WINNER"

If the "First Prize Winner" presents the Northville Record with a receipt for merchandise purchased during the week of the entry from any one of the sponsoring merchants listed below, he will be awarded a $10 bonus. The receipt, to be presented when the winner picks up his prize, must be dated Monday through Saturday, the week of his entry. In case of a "first prize" tie, the bonus will be split. Be sure to ask for a receipt from any one of the merchants listed below.

HERE'S ALL YOU DO . . .

In each of the 20 spaces provided below place a circle around the team you believe will win. Be sure to pick a winner in all 20 games. Note that in one game it is necessary to pick the probable score. This will be used only in case a tie occurs and then the contestant whose score is closest to the actual score will be declared the winner.

Enter just once a week, but you may enter as many weeks as you desire. In case of ties, prize money will be split.

Be sure to write your name, address and phone number plainly in the space provided. Free entries are available at The Northville Record office.

Entries must be postmarked or brought into The Record office no later than 5 p.m. each Friday.

SPEAKING for the Record

by Bill Sliger

Next March Novi citizens will go to the polls to vote for the second time on whether or not to incorporate the village as a fifth class city. The proposal was soundly defeated two years ago.

Last Thursday the Novi board of commerce called together a group of citizens and proposed that a study committee be formed to dig out the pros and cons of city incorporation for Novi and present the information to the public in a series of meetings.

The idea was generally considered a good one by the less than two dozen residents present and October 19 has been set as the first meeting.

According to Russell Button, president of the Novi Board of Commerce which is sponsoring the city study idea, an authority on city incorporation will be on hand to address the October 19 gathering at the community building.

It was quickly apparent after last week's introductory meeting that an incorporation study is badly needed. Many questions were raised that indicated opinions are widely divided.

And it would appear that at least four different attitudes exist among Novi voters:

1. Those steadfastly opposed to further loss of village property through disconnection and annexation and therefore in favor of city incorporation;
2. Those who would like to go back to township status, eliminating the village and perhaps forming a charter township;
3. Those who would stay as they are because they fear that city incorporation would bring higher taxes, bigger government;
4. Those who prefer the status quo for a mixture of reasons — but mainly because their community interests are outside Novi (in Northville, for example) and although their homes are within the corporate boundaries of Novi they refer to "Northville" as their residence; these people may someday expect to become a corporate part of Northville, but are not ready to assume such a tax boost when, located as they are, they would receive few city advantages; still, they do not wish to be locked out of Northville forever through city incorporation of Novi.

There may be other reasons, but these should be enough to give a study committee ample material for discussion.

It was apparent at last week's introductory meeting that many of Novi's "old guard" — the Phil Andersons, Jim Mitchells, Russ Buttons — are truly concerned that Novi is being "eaten up". They have been heartened by news of a state supreme court ruling that city incorporation does protect borders from annexation.

Their interests do not lie elsewhere; they fear for Novi's future; they do not want it divided into village and township parts — or lost forever to neighboring cities.

They have a tough fight on their hands. But certainly their approach is proper.

They are asking the people to look at the facts — even argue them out — together. Then let the final decision be based on an opinion that has been reached through exposure to all information available.

Recently we mentioned in this column the approaching Town Hall series of lectures for area women featuring five nationally known speakers.

Now Northville has another educational program that comes under the classification of excellent family entertainment.

It's the Rotary club sponsored World Travel Series which begins Tuesday, October 17 at the Northville High school auditorium.

The color travel series will be narrated by the artist himself and will feature journeys to Africa, Brazil, New Zealand, Russia, Colorado and Sicily.

The six travelogues are being sold on a season ticket basis only. They promise to be highly entertaining and certainly must rate as one of the most worthwhile projects ever undertaken by a local service club.

Fallout Protection

Babson Park, Mass., A featured article in Life Magazine for September 15, 1961 makes some statements regarding "fallout" which need careful checking and analysis.

In the President's letter which preceded the article, the President said:

"The government is moving to improve the protection afforded you in your communities through civil defense. We have begun, and will be continuing throughout the next year and a half, a survey of all public buildings with fallout shelter potential, and the marking of those with adequate shelter for 50 persons or more. We are providing fallout shelter in new and in some existing federal buildings. We are stocking these shelters with one week's food and medical supplies and two weeks' water supply for the shelter occupants..."

Neither the President nor Life Magazine made clear the difference between the effect of the explosion of an H-Bomb and the resultant fallout. If an H-Bomb should strike a city, the blast would probably kill 97% of the people. No ordinary "fallout shelter" would be of any use. But the fallout which would drift from this explosion would also be deadly.

However, if all the nation's people had proper shelters, 97% of the people not killed by the blast might survive the fallout drifts.

Even 3% of those in shelters who might die from fright or from other causes in the course of two weeks amount to about 5,000,000 people. Hence, the scope of the entire project of shelters is stupendous.

I have had a survey made of an average home shelter; the minimum cost quoted is $1850. This is for a shelter in a basement 100 miles from the center of a large city which might be bombed. As the distance becomes less than 150 miles, the price of the shelter increases. No shelter within five miles of where the bomb hits would be of any use. At least 90% of those within this radius of five miles would be killed under any conditions — shelters or no shelters.

Cities Lose Suit Immunity

Michigan's highest court of ten walks the fine line between usurpation of legislative power and judicial interpretation of Constitutional or statutory law.

A recent Supreme Court decision which seems to nullify an age old doctrine of governmental immunity is a case in point. The idea that governments should not be sued by individuals is said to date back to days when "the king could do no wrong." Others say that the concept developed from the way things used to be when the local government units performed only a few, necessary services and had no sizable resources.

In its decision, which upsets these ideas, the Court pointed out that the legislature could restore governmental immunity any time it chose to do so.

As it stands now anyone who feels he was wronged or damaged by a government in Michigan is free to start suit. Previously it was necessary to seek and obtain permission from the government about to be sued before action could take place.

There are few who would argue today that an individual should not have the right to seek just restitution for damages suffered because of failings of a government unit to properly discharge its responsibilities. There are also those who are concerned that juries in such cases may follow the path of those which set damages for accidents involving insurance companies.

There has been a detectable attitude in some cases: "soak the insurance company, it has lots of money." This has resulted in increased insurance premiums.

A "soak the city" attitude on the part of juries could easily result in the same thing: an increase of cost to the public.

Government immunity was a doctrine of Michigan since the state came into being until the recent Supreme Court decision overthrew it. Alarmists among those with an interest in the subject would do well to allow at least some brief period to see the effect of the new concept and how it will work. It is always possible, according to the Court, for the legislature to bring the former doctrine back into existence.

Michigan's population now is 7,795,781 as compared with 6,371,766 in 1950. In 1950 Michigan's population represented 3.2% of the population of the United States. In 1960 it constituted an even greater part: 4.3%.

The state Highway Department hopes it has this vision in attempting to work out routes and access points for expressways of the future which will be situated in Michigan cities.

One problem, becoming more acute as the federal and state governments move more and more into the urban renewal field, is whether these planned roads will conflict with slum clearance and other civic betterment projects also in the drawing boards.

Michigan's highway chief, John C. Mackie, says his department already does more urban planning work than any other agency of state government.

Highway planners are now branching out more into the field of federal programs of urban renewal and planning. In fact, a top-level meeting recently was held between Mackie, other high state officials and William L. Slayton, the Federal Urban Renewal Commissioner.

Aim of this meeting, and in fact, the aim of all the cooperative efforts of planners from both fields, is to promote comprehensive transportation and construction blueprints for the future.

Michigan grew faster in population during the last decade than it did between 1940 and 1950 and it has continued to grow at a higher rate than the country as a whole, according to figures recently released by the U.S. Census Bureau.

Between 1950 and 1960 Michigan added 1,424,015 to its population as compared to a growth
