Problems? Write Dr. Mudd

Do you have a personal or family problem?

Everyone does. And, for many, a visit with your family physician, a psychiatrist or your minister — depending upon the nature of the problem — can relieve tension or help provide an answer that may lead to a solution.

This week a new series "Dr. Mudd Replies" is presented on page nine. It is written by an area psychiatrist who prefers to remain anonymous.

He has selected a number of questions typical of those received by the average family doctor or psychiatrist. Where possible, he attempts to answer the question as he believes it should be solved. "Dr. Mudd Replies" begins with a question from a working mother who is distraught because her 13-year-old son was caught stealing in a dime store.

While this case came from "Dr. Mudd's" files, he welcomes questions or comments from readers. It is not necessary to sign your letter. Just address your letter to "Dr. Mudd Replies" in care of this newspaper. Your letter will be forwarded to "Dr. Mudd" unopened.

The Kroger company announced this week that it would open its new East Dunlap street store next Tuesday in a special ribbon-cutting ceremony featuring company officials, the mayor and two Northville women credited with spurring the project into realization.

Meanwhile, local retailers readied plans to join the celebration. They'll welcome Kroger into its new building with a host of week-end bargains in a special city-wide promotion hailed as "Northville's Greater Progress Days."

News and advertisements of the joint Kroger opening and "Progress Days" sale will be published in next week's edition of The Record. While Kroger opens officially Tuesday, the merchants' "welcome" promotion begins Thursday and continues through Saturday.

The new Kroger store will serve its first customers Tuesday at 9 a.m. Zone Manager William Gibson and Manager Eddie Barnes will participate in a brief ceremony with Mayor A. M. Allen and Mrs. Gordon Forrer and Mrs. Donald Schwenemann.

Mrs. Forrer and Mrs. Schwenemann are Northville housewives who headed a door-to-door petition campaign last October pleading for additional or improved supermarket facilities in Northville.

Kroger officials invited the women to have the honor of opening the new store.

The 16,000 square-foot building will contain the latest accommodations in supermarkets. It provides parking for 160 cars.

Four houses were removed to provide room for the building, which is located between Center and Hutton streets on the north side of Dunlap. It has entrances from all three streets.

The building, under construction for four months, features an exterior of stone, brick and glass. It is a company-owned store, financed from funds of the company's employee profit-sharing plan.

Northville merchants have heralded the project, along with announced plans of A & P to also re-locate in the downtown area, as a boon to local business and predict it will be a forerunner to further development and commercial renovation.

Ford Plant Strikes End

More than 400 area Ford workers were back on their jobs this week, after settlement of national and local contract differences ended a two-week Ford Motor company strike.

About 4,000 workers in the Wixom Lincoln plant returned to the job Tuesday, after 500 men had spent Monday readying the plant for production.

The 280 hourly laborers of the Northville valve plant were being called back on Tuesday, with full production expected yesterday.

HERE'S HELP — Walter Ribant (right), president of the Northville Junior Chamber of Commerce, turned over a check for $760 toward construction of a new scout-recreation building. The Jaycees collected the funds from proceeds of a horse show sponsored by the Shiawassee Saddle club. Smiling recipients of the check are Recreation Director Ken Conley and Mayor A. M. Allen (left).

JC's Provide Proof: Projects Pay Off!

Northville's Junior Chamber of Commerce is a busy organization these days.

Monday night the Jaycees proved to city officials that they meant business when they promised to donate proceeds from last summer's horse show toward construction of a new scout-recreation center.

Walter Ribant, president of the young men's group, handed over a check for $760 to Recreation Director Ken Conley. Ribant made no presentation at the city council meeting.

City officials have been notified.

Bank Reveals Schedule For Drive-In

Right on the heels of the Kroger company announcement that it would open its new Dunlap street store next week, Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit revealed that it is moving ahead on its plan to construct a drive-in bank at the corner of Dunlap and Hutton streets.

The bank will be located on the site of the present scout building. Bank officials have notified the city that the building must be vacated by December.

Originally, the scout building corner was part of the Kroger company's previous purchase. It was sold by the city of Northville to Kroger for $10,000. Manufacturers National Bank purchased the site for its proposed drive-in bank.

A Russell Clarke, vice president in charge of the Northville office of Manufacturers National Bank, stated this week that the schedule of construction of the new facility depends upon the weather. It is anticipated that the scout building will be torn down in December.

Because the new bank will not require a basement, construction may begin in January. An early spring opening is planned.

The new office will face Dunlap and will have two drive-in windows for motorists, Clarke said. Entrance will be from Hutton with an exit on Dunlap. Parking for 12 cars will be provided and an enclosed walk-in entrance. It is expected that four tellers will service customers in the new drive-in. If volume demands, provisions for a third drive-in window have been made.

Halloween Party Set

"Boo!" (Shriek)

This will probably be "common conversation" a week from Tuesday when ghouls, goblins, witches and all sort of apparitions will soar from their year-long hiding places to haunt the earth for the night.

And, if they're in Northville, they'll undoubtedly join all the "normal" ghouls who attend the Halloween party at the community building that's sponsored by the Optimist club and the Retail Merchant's association.

Youngsters up to junior high school age are invited to come for games, contests, prizes and loads of fun between the hours of 5:30 and 7:30 p.m., says Kenneth Conley, director of the recreation committee. There will be cider, doughnuts, ice cream and candy, he adds.

From 7:45 until 10:30, the building will be turned over to the junior and senior high school students, who will enjoy the same refreshments and have a dance party. Music will be supplied by records, Conley adds.

Cash prizes will be the proper dress for the annual event, he says, and will be judged during the earlier hours.

"The area is being designed as a spot of beauty to be enjoyed by everyone, but not as a picnic area or park for play," Karl Knott, Jaycee chairman of the project emphasized.

The Jaycees are undertaking the project completely on their own with permission of the city council but at no public expense.

No School

No classes will be held at any of Northville's public schools today and tomorrow to permit educators to attend the 1961 State Teachers Institute at Cobo hall in Detroit.

8-Mile Road Work Started

Preparatory work to ready the section of Eight Mile road between the Eight Mile cutoff and Haggerty road for widening and paving next spring was begun last week by Taylor Brothers road contracting firm, of Birmingham.

Work this fall will include tree removal and installation of storm sewers, according to Oscar Guadagnoli of the firm, county road commission.

He said concrete could not be started until next spring because there is not enough time left this fall before the weather closes down, when road paving ceases because of cold weather. He added that removal of existing pavement, grading and laying the concrete on a 18-mile section will take about two months next spring.

The $50,000 project, exclusive of right-of-way costs, will include laying complete new concrete to widen Eight Mile to a 14-foot wide A major part of the work will be widening the present 66-foot right of way to 120 feet.

Of this, 120 feet, 60 will come from each side of the county line, the center of Eight Mile, road commission officials said.

They added that although the new pavement will be only four feet wider the shoulders will be extended from their present two-to-four feet width to the

The doors of Community General hospital, closed right six months ago in the face of bankruptcy, now appear closed forever — either as a hospital or a convalescent home.

Owner Abraham Farris admitted this week that there was no possibility that the building would be reopened as a hospital. But more disturbing to Farris are the obstacles facing conversion of the building into a convalescent home.

Farris, who purchased the hospital two years ago with Dr. L. Borys, was denied a request for a rezoning hearing by the planning commission because it had existed in that capacity before zoning was enforced.

Presently located in an R-2 zone, the facility is "non-conforming" as a hospital but could be reopened for that use because it had existed in that capacity before zoning was enforced.

But a change to R-3 would require a waiver of parking requirements as well as certain set-back regulations. The planners also frowned on the idea of "spot zoning."

Farris revealed that he has an opportunity to lease the building to an operator of two other convalescent homes. He frankly admitted that the hospital venture had been a heavy financial loss and that the rest home proposal offered an opportunity to recoup some of these losses.

He estimated that all expenses connected with purchase and renovation and subsequent operation of the building would be about $100,000.

There appeared, however, that lack of off-street parking and a complete presentation of plans may have prompted the planners' action so Mayor A. M. Allen proposed that Farris and the planning commission be informed that a second consideration of the issue should be considered.

Mayor Allen indicated that Farris had plans to provide additional parking if necessary. Farris admitted Tuesday that a purchase of additional land for parking was possible, but he balked at this proposal. He noted that less parking would be necessary for a rest home than was needed for the hospital.

While he said that parking would be purchased if absolutely necessary, Farris indicated that he would take the issue to the courts before he would accept complete denial for rezoning.

Farris has indicated he will now take his request back to the planning commission as proposed by the council. The planners may then recommend to grant or deny his request. Final decision, in either case, is made by the city council.

Complaints Top Council Agenda

Business was routine for the city council Monday night but it contained its share of problems ranging from sewers to sidewalks to taxi cabs.

There was also a matter of re-zoning the hospital for conversion to a rest home (see story on this page), but still the council managed to whiz through its agenda in less than three hours.

After a letter, from Miss Elsie Larson of Manistee, owner of property at 340 11th street, was read objecting to the possible 25 per cent assessment for paving the street, another resident rose to present another grievance.

Sid Frid, 865 "Grace," told council members that the odor from the storm sewer in Oakwood subdivision "was still there and a detriment to health."

Frid pointed out that the problem had existed for two years and told the council it should do something "or end up in court."

He proposed use of Oakland county's new television inspection equipment which spots trouble areas in sewers, Frid said.

Ivan Ely, owner of property on East street then asked the city when tenants of the house would be able to use the driveway. The city recently installed new sidewalks and a retaining wall along the property and grading is necessary to permit use of the drive. The city manager reported that sidewalk installation had just been completed last week and that grading for the drive would follow immediately.

Councilman John Canterbury then brought up the problem of a license to the Northville Cab company. The owner of the license, John Tackett, is no longer a resident of the community. The service is being operated, Canterbury reported, by a former employee. The city manager stated that one of the company's two cabs was uninsured and was therefore not permitted to operate.

Canterbury asked that the "air be cleared" on the issue. A hearing was set October 31. Tackett will be informed at his last known address by registered letter. Other local interested parties will also be invited to the hearing.

In other business:

The council directed to purchase a Ford Model F-700 truck from John Mach Sales, if specifications were proper; two other bids were received by the council — from G. E. Miller for a Dodge D-700 at $3,540 including trade-in and for $3,815 from Rathburn Chevrolet Sales, including trade. Mach's bid was $3,200. The city must now purchase the dump body for the truck.

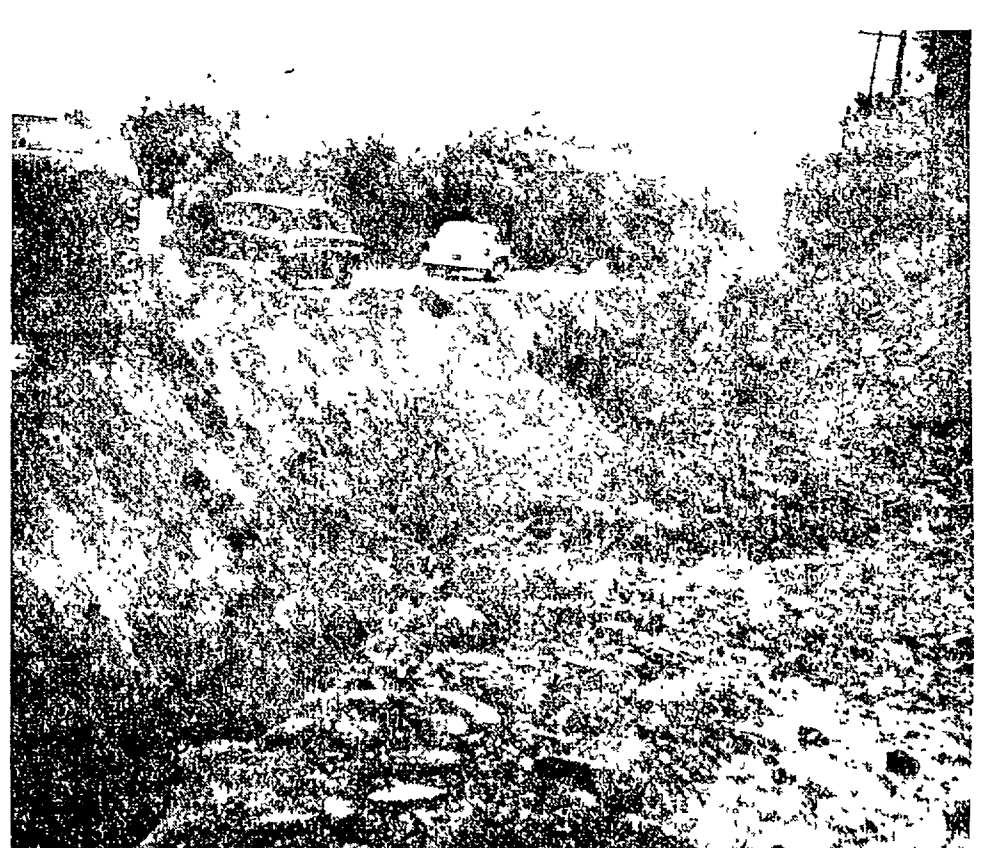

— voted to remove all parking on the north side of Dunlap between Center and Hutton and to post no parking signs on the west side of Hutton between the hours of 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. in the area of Rayson street south.

— approved a November 6 public hearing on R-1-11 zoning for newly annexed area of the city which includes Northville Estates.

— heard a complaint from residents of Ely drive that an abandoned house, owned by F.H.A., that is "smoking" into the ground is still dangerous as a favorite play spot for youngsters. The council told the city attorney to renew efforts to have the government tear down the house. It has been boarded and will be posted by the city.

This picture, taken from a point near Northville's Old Spring, shows the area near the Ford valve plant that the Junior Chamber of Commerce has started clearing. It will be landscaped and converted into a park for relaxation. A bridge will be constructed from the Old Spring across the stream at a point shown in the lower right hand corner of the picture. A foot-path will wind through the two-level area. The property is owned by the city.

A BIG DITCH is being dug along the south side of Eight Mile road between the Eight Mile cutoff and Haggerty road as part of county preparation for installing a wider paved road next spring. The preparatory work includes drainage facilities and tree removal. Contractor for this job is Taylor Brothers of Birmingham.

Smiles Voted Sweetest

Two area 16-year-old girls were named this week as owners of the "sweetest smiles" in the Northville area's owner of the Sweetest Smile.

And Brenda Kay Coburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Coburn, 28075 Dixon road, is the Novi area's owner of the Sweetest Smile. Brenda Kay and Karen were chosen from entries submitted in the Sweetest Sixteen Smile Contest conducted by the Southeastern Michigan Sweetest Day Committee.

And now they're ready to vie with 10 other area winners for the title of Metropolitan Detroit Sweetest Sixteen Smile Queen. They will be honored with the other winners at 4 p.m. Thursday (today) at a Coke party at the Detroit Press Club in the Detroit Leland Hotel. That's when the Queen will be chosen and prizes awarded.

The party is being given by the Southeastern Michigan Sweetest Day Committee.

Special guest and master-of-ceremonies will be WXYZ's popular disc jockey, Fred Weiss, and judges will be Jean Sharley of the Detroit Free Press, Jack LeGoff of CKLW and Beverly Kellier of the Detroit News.

If either Brenda Kay or Karen is selected for the Queen role, she'll receive a party dress designed especially for her by the Camco Bridal Shop; a $200 scholarship to the Patricia Stevens Finishing School; a radio, courtesy of the Central Business District Assn.; a plastic cooler filled with a soft drink, and a large bouquet of American Beauty roses from the Allied Florists Assn.

As area winners, the girls will receive candy, flowers and gift certificates, donated by merchants.

Add Inch to Food Dollar

Another way to stretch the family food dollar is suggested this week by Mrs. Mervin J. Greenier, of 350 South Wing.

Economically priced hamburger is the main meat ingredient in an easy to prepare casserole that is a favorite at the Greenier household.

Ideal for the apple cider season is Mrs. Greenier's recipe for potato fried cakes. The homemaker has also included her formula for salad dressing cake.

Methodist Rite Unites Couple Here

Mary Schenimann and James Patterson exchanged marriage vows before the Reverend George T. Nevin, of Brighton, Saturday, September 30, at Northville's First Methodist church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Schenimann, 26029 Whipple, Novi; and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Patterson, of Plymouth.

The former Miss Schenimann chose a princess style gown of floor length white chantilly lace over satin for her wedding. Fugis mums, roses and snow drop mums formed her bouquet.

Attendants Elyne Nelson, maid of honor from Wayne, and bridesmaids Bonnie Ledford, Novi, and Donna Patterson, Northville, were attired in hunter green dresses of silk organza over taffeta.

Bertie Patterson, of Plymouth, was the flower girl. She wore a white silk organza floor length dress.

Johnny Wilson, Wayne, was the ring bearer.

The groom's brother, Clarence Patterson, of Northville, acted as his best man. Boyd Wilson, Wayne, and Larry Clark Northville, were ushers.

Mrs. Schenimann selected a silk beige sheath for her daughter's wedding and wore a corsage of bronze mums and wheat sprays. A corsage of broadhead sheath and wheat spray were worn by Mrs. Patterson.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Northville American Legion post home.

When the couple left on a wedding trip through Northern Michigan, the bride was wearing a royal blue sheath and complementing accessories.

The newlywed Pattersons were both graduated from Northville high school in 1960. Mrs. Patterson attended Pontiac Business Institute and is a secretary to the principal of Novi school. Her husband is employed by Allen Monument Works.

The couple is residing at 45680 West 11 Mile road, Novi.

Newcomers' Carol Wegeng

It's a Woman's World Started So New May Know New

Like its members, Northville Newcomer's club is a recent addition to the community. An offspring of the nationwide trend toward suburban living, the infant organization was born two winters ago at a meeting of newcomers in the Brookland Farms home of Mrs. E. E. Adams.

The women at that first tea were looking for answers. What could they do, they asked, to help new residents feel at home in a strange town? What part could they play in acquainting new with new and new with old?

Their ultimate answer, they agreed, was a club to plan and promote activities for new residents.

Their idea won overwhelming acceptance when over 200 newcomers attended a potluck supper in the community center. The organization was on its way.

Besides arranging more social get-togethers, the club took stock of other interests its members shared. The result was a campaign which led to the introduction of adult education classes.

At the same time, the continual influx of new residents was not overlooked.

Newcomer's club representatives put out the welcoming mat to all new families, telling them about the club and asking them to join. Membership is open to residents of five years or less and may be continued up to three years.

Ironically, the woman perhaps most responsible for sparking the formation of the club — Mrs. E. E. Adams — is leaving Northville to become a newcomer in another town.

However, leadership remains in capable hands. Carol (Mrs. Philip) Wegeng, a Brookland Farms newcomer, is piloting the group this year.

She and her executive board have scheduled 9 luncheons for the ladies in the 1961-62 season. A hard times party-hayride and spring dance are being planned for couples.

"We emphasize informality at our meetings and are principally interested in social activities," explains Mrs. Wegeng.

A future goal now under club study, reports Mrs. Wegeng, is adoption of some philanthropic project.

Hard Times Party Luncheon Slated

Two activities have been scheduled by the Newcomers club for the coming week.

Saturday night newcomers and their spouses are invited to attend a hard times party and hayride at Friendly Acres ranch, 35601 Schoolcraft, Livonia.

The get-together is scheduled to start at 8:30 and last till midnight. Dancing and refreshments are planned along with the hayride.

Mrs. G. R. Wilkie, FI 9-3356, and Mrs. Don Funk, FI 9-1018, are in charge of reservations.

October's luncheon for women will be held Wednesday at Pen-Mar, lounge, 31735 Plymouth road, four blocks west of Meriman. The luncheon, set for 1 p.m., will be followed at 2 p.m. by a program on "Gourmet Cooking" in the auditorium of the Consumer's Power kitchen.

Coffee and dessert will be served after the program. Reservations should be made by Monday with either Mrs. Wilkie or Mrs. Funk.

EASTERNERS — Newcomers Luke and Anne Wells called Vermont home before moving to Northville this fall. The couple's children are Shari, Ricky and Billy.

The flavor of the early American East is sprinkled generously throughout the Echo Valley home of newcomers Lucian (Luke) and Anne Wells.

Parents of three children — Ricky, 5; Billy, 4; and Shari, 8 months — the couple lived in Vermont before moving to Northville in early September.

Their home, a spacious two-story colonial, is located at 24151 Lynwood.

Both are antique collectors whose "finds" are skillfully blended into the decor of their home.

Children are human beings already launched on a lifetime search for a sense of self, says Marie Hartwig, University of Michigan supervisor in physical education for women, in "Children Are Human — Even at Camp," a new book co-authored with Betty Myers.

The normal child needs opportunity to express hatred, fear, and anger, resentment, and disgust, or be hilarious, joyous, and silly, both at home and school, without threat of punishment, the authors say.

In a search for a sense of self, they define three kinds of children: the overt (or outgoing), the shy, and the aggressive.

The out-going child makes the usual mistakes, but can resolve problems. He has the capacity to try new situations with success. He feels that his parents and others love him.

Following an argument with another, this child will say, "That person doesn't seem to like me. I wonder what's the matter with HIM."

The shy child fears failure and will avoid any situation carrying possibility of failure. He prefers the security of fantasy. He needs constant support and reassurance.

The shy child, following an argument with a classmate, will say, "That person doesn't like me. I wonder what's the matter with ME."

"This kind of child needs activity allowing him to lose his identity as an individual," the authors say. "Group singing is a good example where the threat of personal failure is removed."

The aggressive child is often viewed as a noisy, stubborn, rebellious person who should be

Club Favorite Makes Sixth Curtain Call

Did someone say directors never take curtain calls?

Not so with Mrs. L. Hart Wright, popular director of several Ann Arbor theatre productions, who returns for her sixth appearance in seven seasons before the Northville Woman's club.

Her encore is slated for the club's meeting tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at 2 p.m. in the public library. Members are invited to bring guests.

Mrs. Hart plans to preview the theater season on Broadway and in Detroit for her listeners. She will talk about plays and players and the dramatic arts in general.

A housewife and mother, Mrs. Hart has directed the Children's Creative Activities program co-sponsored by the Ann Arbor Recreation department and the Dramatic Arts center. She has also directed productions by the Ann Arbor Junior theater and the Ann Arbor Civic theater.

She majored in speech at Gulf Park college in Mississippi, and holds an AB degree and Master of Fine Arts degree in drama from the University of Oklahoma.

Also an accomplished actress, Mrs. Wright received the best supporting actress award for her role in the Ann Arbor Civic theater production of "Major Barbara."

This is the third in our series of "A Report To The People". All the cement work in our new building has been completed. The partitions have been erected and our new 8-foot by 20-foot walk-in refrigeration unit has been installed.

THIS WEEK WE HOPE TO:

After a slight delay, we hope the plate glass windows will be installed this week. It is our hope that all the carpenter work will be completed this week.

IF ALL GOES WELL:

Next week the workmen will install the tile floor. Also during next week, the crew will blackout our new spacious parking lot. This parking lot has been designed for our customers' convenience.

Let Your Child Blow Off Steam

Children are human beings already launched on a lifetime search for a sense of self, says Marie Hartwig, University of Michigan supervisor in physical education for women, in "Children Are Human — Even at Camp," a new book co-authored with Betty Myers.

The normal child needs opportunity to express hatred, fear, and anger, resentment, and disgust, or be hilarious, joyous, and silly, both at home and school, without threat of punishment, the authors say.

In a search for a sense of self, they define three kinds of children: the overt (or outgoing), the shy, and the aggressive.

The out-going child makes the usual mistakes, but can resolve problems. He has the capacity to try new situations with success. He feels that his parents and others love him.

The shy child fears failure and will avoid any situation carrying possibility of failure. He prefers the security of fantasy. He needs constant support and reassurance.

The shy child, following an argument with a classmate, will say, "That person doesn't like me. I wonder what's the matter with ME."

"This kind of child needs activity allowing him to lose his identity as an individual," the authors say. "Group singing is a good example where the threat of personal failure is removed."

The aggressive child is often viewed as a noisy, stubborn, rebellious person who should be

Confab Set For Leaders In Scouting

Northville Girl Scout leaders and organizers as well as any prospective leaders are invited to attend a Leaders' conference to be held today (Thursday) from 9:15 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Congregational church in Wayne.

Sponsored by District I of the Huron Valley Girl Scout council, the conference will offer workshops in international friendship, nature, crafts, cooking, and songs and games. A craft display is also being planned.

Charge for the meeting is 25 cents per person. Those attending should bring a brown bag lunch; coffee and tea will be served.

Announce Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Remenap, of Reed City, announce the engagement of their daughter, Kay Frances, to William B. Cansfield, son of Mrs. William H. Cansfield, 404 West Dunlap, and the late Mr. Cansfield.

Miss Remenap is a graduate of Central Michigan university.

Mr. Cansfield was graduated from Albion college and the University of Michigan.

The engagement of her daughter, Frances Beulah, to Curtis James Cook, son of Mrs. Ruth May, of 20236 Berg road, Detroit, is announced by Mrs. Robert Story, of 714 East Washington, Howell. Miss Story is an elementary teacher at Orchard Hills school in Novi. The prospective groom attended the University of Detroit and Wayne State university and is presently employed as an accountant at Fulkerson Landscaping in Detroit. A November wedding is being planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent G. Stuckey, 19275 Meadowbrook road, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carole Louise, to Kenneth C. Oesterle, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Oesterle, Sr., of Detroit. Miss Stuckey is a graduate of Cleary college, and is a secretary for the University of Michigan Alumni association. Mr. Oesterle is now serving two years in the U.S. Navy before resuming studies for the Lutheran ministry.

PARENT-TEACHER conferences at Main street and Amerman elementary schools were the reason for the two-day vacation grade school children enjoyed the end of last week. Mrs. Wayne McBride (right) chats here with her son Buzz's second-grade teacher, Mrs. Isabelle Spooner. The conferences, held twice annually, are valuable in Mrs. Spooner's opinion because "they help the teacher understand the child through the parent and help the parent understand the child through the teacher."

Host Card Party

Our Lady of Victory Mother's club will sponsor a card party in the church social hall at 8 p.m., Wednesday, October 25. Refreshments and door prizes are being planned. Mrs. Neil Suddendorf, FI 9 3096, has tickets.

"PRESTIGE"
Probably a naughty word since election. But YOU would be tops in "prestige" if you lived in this beautiful reh. home nestling under huge beech and maple trees on large roomy lot. $21,500 is the low price with easy terms. THEY'RE MERRY about this marigold at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Brasure. Diane Brasure holds the 30-inch stem of the plant she grew by planting some seeds that came with a sack of flower. She says all she did to it was put the young plant in a pot "so we'd have flowers in the fall." She adds that they did not begin taking the potted plant indoors until the last week of so. Diane is a 16-year-old senior at Northville high school. She and her parents moved here from Petoskey, where the flower and seeds were purchased, just six months ago.

Village of Retired Teachers Proposed Near Ann Arbor

Providing housing for retired teachers is the aim of a proposed retirement village to be built near Ann Arbor, Dr. E. Dale Kennedy, MEA executive secretary, announced.

Organized by the Michigan Education Home Association (a corporation chartered by the MEA), "Meha Village" is designed to establish housing facilities for retired personnel of Michigan public schools and colleges.

Initially, about 500 persons will be accommodated by the village which is scheduled to be completed in the fall of 1965. "Meha Village" will provide the residents with recreational, civic, cultural, and educational opportunities, along with such physical benefits as complete medical care which will be available through the University of Michigan hospital and Medical School.

It is expected that eventually "Meha Village" will be able to accommodate about 1500 residents on its 400-acre site about 10 miles from Ann Arbor.

The retirement village is a fairly new concept in providing housing for older people in that it provides more independence for the resident than does the institutional type of retirement facility. "Meha Village" is the outgrowth of the "Bay City Dream," a proposed home for retired teachers. The overwhelming approval of this Michigan Education Association is urging each of its 58,000 members to participate in launching "Meha Village."

Mustangs Drown Lakers

Men Finally Capture Contest Lead from Gals

It finally happened. The guys finally captured both prizes in our weekly football contest. This was the first time since the contest started four weeks ago that there hasn't been a gal among our winners.

First prize this week went to Earl Ryder, of 412 Randolph. Since he had a receipt from Brader's for a jacket he bought last week, he received our $10 bonus, bringing his winnings up to $25.

Ryder tells us he follows all sports at all levels, high school, college and professional. He says he especially concentrates on football, even though he used to play baseball in high school. He is a retired Daisy Rifle company employee, and won second prize a year ago.

This week's second prize money goes to High School Athletic Director Al Jones. He says he's won several times in past years. Jones, who played baseball for Michigan State University, adds that he follows most sports, including college and professional basketball, football and hockey and all basketball on the high school level.

Both Ryder and Jones missed obly the Army-Penn State game, but Ryder was closer on picking the final score of the Lions game. Other entrants, who missed only two, include Thomas Heatley, last week's winner, Mrs. Otto Regentik, Roy A. Bezaire, Vera P. Holman, and Toby Butt.

There are only five weeks left in the contest, so get out your pencils and go to work. And don't forget our bonus plan.

Northville's Defensive Play Insures 6-0 Win

A sharp breeze blew cold damp air through the clothing of Northville fans as they watched their Mustangs cool-off the West Bloomfield Lakers in a not-so decisive 6-0 victory last Friday.

Everything grew pretty cold, including team spirits as the two big guns of the Wayne-Oakland league battled through nearly two quarters before a touchdown was scored.

Next week the Mustangs travel to Brighton as the leaders of the Wayne-Oakland league, to take on the Bulldogs, who have yet to win a league game this season.

The fact that Friday's game ended without further scoring is a tribute to defensive play, especially Northville's. The Mustangs mustered their defense to stop strong Laker marches in to Northville territory on a half-dozen different occasions, and twice forced their neighbors to the north to punt out of their own territory.

Although the figures may not show it, the Northville defense also did a good job of containing West Bloomfield's highly touted backfield. The Mustang quickly diagnosed fakes and handoffs, preventing many possible large gains by the Lakers' fast backs.

Much of West Bloomfield's 244 yards gained on the ground came from a relatively small number of plays. Most of these were quick openers, on which the Lakers' small halfback Mike Paddy, or their larger fullback Jim Watkins dashed through the middle of the Mustang line. Paddy gained 65 yards in eight carries with this play, while Watkins rolled up 67 yards in seven carries.

These two also made shorter gains running off the guard positions. Quarterback Dan Greig added another 30 yards to the Lakers' total by completing three of nine pass attempts.

Defense also hurt the Mustangs — West Bloomfield's, that is. The Lakers held Northville's previously high-scoring ball carriers to 149 yards gained rushing, their smallest total for the season. Had Mustang quarterback Steve Juday not broken loose on a 50-yard punt return to carry the ball across for the only touchdown, the game might have ended in a scoreless tie.

Northville was able to make only four first downs, while West Bloomfield racked up 16. Little solace can be derived from the fact that five of the Lakers first downs followed Northville penalties for rule infractions.

Most of the game was taken up with back-and forth play dominated mainly by the Lakers. The ball changed hands 16 times, while Northville crossed into West Bloomfield territory only twice, once for the score.

The only times the Lakers allowed the Northville offense to shine were when Juday went back to kick punts. He punted five times, for a total of 222 yards. This total was more than the number of punts he had kicked in the Mustang's previous four games.

FUTURE BOBBY LAYNES displayed their talents Saturday morning at Ford Field in the "Punt, Pass and Kick" contest sponsored locally by John Mach Ford agency for youngsters six to 10 years old. Tossing a southpaw pass above is Curt Saurer, eight, while Instructor Bob Prom (right) looks on. Curt's dad (at left) keeps a critical eye on Curt's style. Competing on a point system total for all three events the winners in each of the age groups were: (six years old) Tim Butt, first; Steven Scott, second; and Gary Allen, third; (seven years old) Bradley Cole, first; Joe Boland, second; and Stephen Bosak, third; (eight years old) Steve Utley defeated Eric Stein in a play-off after a tie for first; Kenneth Laeh, third; (nine years old), Marin McNeiece, first; Todd Butt, second; and Robert Reimer, third; (10 years old) Tom Lepper, first; Paul Bunker, second; and Lee Snow, third. First place winners received football uniforms, second place warm-up jackets and footballs were awarded third place winners. Regional winners (local points will be compared to winners in other area communities) compete at a halftime contest at Tiger Stadium on November 23. National al Professional League's championship game and a visit to the White House.

UF Agencies Helped 709 Here Last Year

In the every day lives of most people the sum of $18,550,000 is a figure to whistle at, but hardly to contemplate. Yet to 3 1/2 million residents of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, that 18 million dollar figure is their "savings account" for their personal health, welfare and community needs during 1962.

It is not just a lot of dollars to be given by someone else, to be spent by someone else on someone else. It is theirs — every man, woman and child in the tri-county area — to raise and to receive. It is the goal of the 1961 Torch Drive. Generally speaking, how it is raised and why it is raised is a news item which has been in almost every paper in the United States at one time or another since Detroit's United Foundation was formed in 1949. But specifically, few people stop to think how they and their families are receiving direct personal dividends every day.

For example, most residents of Northville would be amazed at a survey report just released by United Community Services.

Among the enlightening statistics on Wayne County contained in this report is that Torch Drive services rendered to residents of Western Wayne County have increased 40 1/2% from 1956 to 1960 as compared to a 20.4% population increase during the same four years. (These figures do not reflect services rendered by approximately one third of the 195 Torch Drive agencies which are state and national agencies, such as Michigan Chapter, Arthritis Rheumatism Foundation; Michigan Heart Association, etc. Also excluded are the service figures of the Michigan Cancer Foundation, one of the largest Torch Drive agencies.)

During 1960 a total of 709 residents of Northville and Northville Township received a direct service from one or more of the 123 local Torch Drive agencies on which the UCS report was based.

"I suppose there are many people who feel the Torch Drive is a 'charity' to which they give but never receive," said Mrs. Hugh Conser, 16240 Northville road, the United Foundation Northville chairman, "but this is just not so." Mrs. Conser went on to say that whether you were looking at a tabulation of Torch Drive services rendered to her own community or to the tri-county area as a whole, few people give who do not receive. (One out of every three tri-county residents receives a direct service, and no estimate can be made of how many have or will directly benefit from the many local, state and national research projects sponsored by Torch Drive funds.)

"It is also important to understand that these Torch Drive funds do not cover the entire budgets of all of these agencies," said Mrs. Conser. "A great many of our agencies attempt to be as self-supporting as possible by charging modest fees based upon ability to pay; but these fees can never meet the actual cost involved, so Torch Drive funds are used to pay the deficits incurred."

Mrs. Conser explained that this system provides for maximum service to everyone while denying no one because of financial difficulties.

The 1961 "give-once-for-all" drive officially gets under way October 17th. Funds raised during the drive will be allocated to 123 local agencies, 35 state and national agencies and 37 independent agencies serving the greater Detroit area.

EARLY OR LATE? These flowers certainly don't know, for they're blooming right now in the yard of Mrs. George B. Mellen, 265 East Baseline road, and they're spring-time flowers. Dump Truck, Car Collide; Girl Injured

Miss Arlene Toussaint, 528 Horton, was taken to St. Mary's hospital in Livonia Friday morning for observation and X-rays following an accident involving her car and a dump truck.

She was released the same day.

The accident occurred at the corner of Seven Mile and East Main. Miss Toussaint's car was struck in the rear by a truck driven by Harry C. Tanner, 47000 West Seven Mile road.

Tanner, who suffered minor injuries, told police his brakes failed as he attempted to come to a halt at the stop sign. The truck flipped over after striking Miss Toussaint's 1961 automobile. Miss Toussaint was traveling south on Main.

No date has been set for court action.

LET'S TALK CARS...

Notes and Comments

Strictly miscellaneous are these notes and comments about automobiles:

Don't be too positive when you guess at a passing car's speed. In an Air Force test, even though the participants knew in advance what they were to observe, they judged a car actually going 12 miles per hour at various speeds ranging from 10 to 50 mph. And the American Judicature Society says witnesses to auto accidents are even less likely to guess accurately. "Body style, noise and color all influence estimates of a car's speed."

Who says we aren't making progress? Half a century ago, horse drawn vehicles in New York City's midtown traffic averaged 11.5 mph. Today, automobiles on those same streets, average six mph.

For one whole day during the Easter holiday, all the streets in Little Rock, Arkansas, were temporarily named "Easter." Before long, a car owner unable to locate his car, approached a policeman for help.

"What street did you leave it on," asked the policeman? "Answered the motorist: 'Easter.'"

Proof that the modern automobile is driven more than its predecessors of the past three decades is revealed in the fact that while average car life has doubled from seven to fourteen years during this time, average car lifetime mileage has quadrupled to 120,000.

A survey reveals that, while only 49 percent of male motorists buy premium gasoline, 57 percent of female motorists do. One quarter of all marriage proposals in this country are made in automobiles. And drivers who use credit cards spend 39 percent more than those who pay cash.

City Incorporation Steps Explained

EDITOR'S NOTE: On March 12 the residents of Novi will again vote on whether or not they wish to become a city. As a public service, The News is presenting a series of background articles on the issues and alternatives. The information for these articles has been compiled from materials furnished by the Michigan Municipal League. Each article is presented as a factual report, and is not intended to reflect an opinion of the newspaper.

The incorporation of new municipalities is authorized by the Michigan constitution and is governed by the Home Rule City Act, passed by the legislature in 1909. All city incorporations must be carried out under the provisions of this act. The act specifies that any territory having a population of at least 2,000 and an average of at least 500 persons per square mile may incorporate as a home rule city. It also provides for the city incorporation of villages which are county seats or which have populations between 750 and 2,000; with a population density of 500 persons per square mile.

Novi does not meet these population specifications, and must therefore incorporate as a fifth-class city.

Officials at Ann Arbor chapter of the Michigan Municipal League explain that fifth-class cities are the same as home rule cities except that the mayor of the fifth-class city must serve as representative to the county board of supervisors, and elections for local officials must be conducted on the at-large basis, with the community included in one ward.

With exception of these differences, all provisions of the Home Rule City Act apply equally to home rule cities and fifth-class cities, the officials say.

Incorporation is initiated with a petition containing signatures from at least one per cent of the population of the area to be incorporated. The petition's signers must be qualified voters, property owners and residents of the affected area.

The completed petition is filed with the county board of supervisors if the area is unincorporated, or with the village council. If the petition meets all the legal requirements, the county board of supervisors or the village council must, by resolution, submit the question of incorporation to the qualified voters in the area involved.

Only residents of the territory to be included in the proposed home rule city may vote on the question. A simple favorable majority of those voting on the issue carries the proposal.

At the same time that the incorporation issue is voted upon, a non-partisan nine-member charter commission is to be selected. If the proposal is approved by the voters, this commission meets within 10 days of the election, chooses its own officers and determines the rules of procedure it is to follow.

When the special commission has finished drawing up the proposed new charter, it determines a method for nominating the candidates for city offices at the first election, and sets a date for this charter election.

Before the proposed charter is voted upon, it must be submitted to the governor for his approval. In the case that he disapproves the proposed document, he notifies the charter commission of his specific objections.

The law concerning the process at this point is vague. It does not specifically state that a charter cannot go into effect without the governor's approval, and this point has never been decided by the courts. It has, however, been the usual practice for the charter commission to revise the proposed document so that it meets the governor's objections.

At the charter election, the voters are given a chance to either accept or reject the commission's proposals. If the charter is ratified by a majority of those voting, the successful candidates become the new city's first officers. If the charter is rejected, the process is stopped, and the territory continues under the same governmental status as before the first incorporation election.

The charter powers of home rule cities are divided into two main classes by the Home Rule City Act. There are mandatory provisions, which must be included in every city charter, and permissive powers which may or may not be included, depending upon the will of the charter commission and the voters.

All charters must provide for the creation of a governing council or commission with ordinance-making powers; the power to levy and collect taxes; a mayor who is chosen either directly by the voters or indirectly by the governing body; and the selection, either by election or appointment, of such city officers and personnel as a clerk, treasurer, assessor, board of review and such other officers as may be deemed necessary.

In addition, the city charter may be set up to provide for the borrowing of money; the use of special assessments; the construction and financing of such public improvements as sewers, waterworks, and streets; ownership and operation of such public utilities as a transportation system; condemnation of private property for public use; regulation of businesses; zoning; and establishment of a civil service system.

The Home Rule City Act also places limitations upon the city's activities. No city, for example, may levy a property tax of more than two percent of the assessed value of real and personal property in the city. In addition, the act regulates such things as the number of elections a city may hold, the manner in which bonds may be issued and the actions which cannot be taken by officials without voter approval.

City representation on the county board of supervisors is another provision of the Home Rule City Act. It states that representatives from the city shall be either elected, appointed, or a combination of both. The number of representatives depends upon the population size of the city.

Thus, while the Home Rule City Act sets up certain provisions which every charter must include, it allows a wide flexibility in that the exact details of governmental structure are not prescribed. This allows for considerable variation in the form of city government that is established.

Of the 156 home rule cities that existed in Michigan in 1955, for example, more than half had a council-manager form of governmental structure, about a third had a form of mayor-council government and the rest were governed by a commission.

Among the possible advantages of city incorporation are the following:

LOCAL INDEPENDENCE: The act grants cities considerable freedom from state interference in local matters. Home rule means just that, and cities are permitted to solve their problems in ways that are best suited to their own social, economic and political characteristics.

FINANCIAL FREEDOM: Home rule cities have certain financial freedoms not enjoyed by unincorporated areas. They can therefore usually provide more services. They are, for example, permitted a maximum tax rate of 20 mills, while non-city areas are normally limited to a share of the 15-mill county limitation.

City property taxes are not included in the 15-mill property tax limitation, and a city receives weight and gasoline tax rebates from the state. And the city's financial powers are within the control of the city, because they are provided by the locally-approved charter.

GOVERNMENT FLEXIBILITY: Home rule cities are allowed to choose a form of government which is flexible enough for their individual needs. Counties, townships and villages, on the other hand, have their form of government set by strict state laws.

Home rule also allows easy revision or amendment of the city's charter, making it possible to alter administrative organization and expand city functions to cope with local changes in conditions and needs.

POLITICAL EFFECTIVENESS: A city government may be more responsive to the variety of local needs than can the governments of unincorporated areas, because the latter are often dominated by rural elements who are unconcerned with the problems created by population growth.

Furthermore, a city's strength may increase as population growth gives it greater representation on the county board of supervisors, while townships are limited to one representative, regardless of their population sizes.

LOCAL UNITY: Separation by incorporation may increase the residents' community pride and bring about unity, making it easier to obtain co-operation among citizens for solving local problems.

Among the possible disadvantages of city incorporation are the following:

FINANCIAL DIFFICULTIES: If the new city is primarily residential, serious financial problems may arise in providing an adequate level of municipal services. A lack of industrial and commercial property tax revenues may raise residential property taxes if municipal service improvements, previously unobtainable, are carried out.

And township areas may suffer from the loss of both a substantial portion of its previous property tax base and certain state aids that would be given to the new city.

DEVELOPMENT BLOCKED: The incorporation of areas surrounding a large metropolitan city into separate satellite cities may compound the metropolitan city's problems and make the future development of an integrated metropolitan area more difficult. An increase in separate governmental units may thus result in unneeded duplication of effort, resources and services.

Dr. Mudd Replies

Who's Thief, Boy or Mom?

Written by a psychiatrist of this area, "Dr. Mudd Replies" deals with family problems typical of those confronted daily. He attempts to answer them as he would in his office. When special treatment appears necessary, he so advises. You are invited to send your questions to "Dr. Mudd Replies" in care of this newspaper. It is not necessary to sign your letter. It will be forwarded unopened to "Dr. Mudd."

Dear Dr. Mudd:

My 12 year old son was caught stealing toys from a 10 cent store, by the store manager who was kind enough to call my husband on the phone instead of having him arrested. It wasn't much, just some little cars and trucks but just the same it was wrong and we are very concerned about it. We own our own home, both my husband and I work. Because of this I haven't been around much since he was a year old but we have made it up to him by taking him on our vacation and my husband takes him to ball games when he can get away from his job.

We used to have a baby sitter, but now that he is older we have been able to get by without one. We've done our best. We go to church every Sunday and we both try as hard as we can to give our boy everything we didn't get as children. Now all we can think about is the possibility of his doing it again and maybe holding up someone and are worried sick.

(Signed) A Heartick Mom

Dear Heartick Mom:

I don't like to find fault when it lies in the past and when nothing can be done about it, but I also believe in calling the shots as I see them. Why, you might ask yourself, have you worked all these years instead of staying home being a mother? Is it really true you needed the money, or was there a secret greed — a desire to fill what to you is a more important place in the world than being a mother?

Maybe if you look closely enough at yourself, you will find larceny in your heart! After all you stole from your son the precious years of knowing you, not as a distraught working wife trying to do too much, but as a warm, loving, understanding mother bent on promoting her son's happiness.

That you were misguided, for reasons of your own, is not very important any more except as this has a bearing on your son's behavior. It often happens that the delinquent behavior of youth only reflects the unconscious and hence unrecognized wishes of a parent. The child is driven by his need for parental affection to perform the very acts which serve to satisfy the parent. And this under the surface of what appears to be a simple larcenous act!

I think both you and your husband had better decide right now between you what is most important in your family. Is it better to load your boy with material things while his emotional life goes unattended?

The hour is late but maybe you can still get close enough to the boy so that he won't have to search for substitutes for love from the 10 cent store.

Very truly yours,
Sandor Mudd, M.D.

Salvation is attained through spiritual awakening, growth, and progress. This is a theme of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Prohibition After Death" which will be presented at Christian Science churches Sunday.

From John (5) will be read these words of Christ Jesus:
"Verily, verily, I say unto you,
He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation, but is passed from death unto life."

One of the citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "Universal salvation rests on progression and probation, and is unattainable without them" (p. 291).

The Golden Text is from I Corinthians (6): "God hath both raised up the Lord, and will also raise up us by his own power."

PROVE THE PERFECT WILL OF GOD

Rom. 12-12: "I beseech therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service."

"And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God."

Man will never know what the perfect will of God is until he makes a full and complete surrender, without mental reservation, of his body to the control of the mind of God.

To be conformed to this world means to control your body by the decisions of your own mind, for that is the way that everyone lives in this world. They decide in their own mind what to do and do it. Hence their righteousness or sin is their own.

But when Jesus came into this world, He demonstrated the reality of being in this world but not of it. He had a body and it could be controlled by the decisions of His mind but He presented that body to God to be controlled by the mind of God.

He said, "I do nothing of myself." He was here in the world in a body, but that body was controlled not by His mind but by the mind of God from heaven.

Jesus Christ lived this way
in such a perfect manner that he could truthfully say,
"He that has seen me has seen the father also." His body was, "God manifest in the flesh," for that body was controlled by the mind of God. Therefore it was God being made manifest.

To live that way is not the same as getting an understanding in our mind as to what constitutes the will of God and then making an effort to do it. Yet it seems almost universally true that that is the way man has tried to please God. Such effort has not produced the kingdom of God. It has only built religious Babylon wherein every man's way seems right in his own eyes.

Your Home Improvement Need Plans

Improving your home can mean better living for you now, and a better price if you decide to sell. Home improvements are almost certain to increase the value of your home $2.00 for every dollar you spend.

However, you should not over-improve your home. It is almost impossible to sell a $30,000 house in a $15,000 neighborhood.

In planning the home improvements you wish to make, you will want to consider both the present and future needs of your family. Interests, hobbies and habits change as your family matures, so you will want to anticipate future requirements.

The most common problems facing homeowners are; not enough living space, shortage of storage, no space for needed appliances, cross-traffic in the living room, small and inefficient kitchens, no entry halls, no provisions for outdoor living, look-alike or out-of-date exteriors, outmoded interiors, too few bathrooms.

Succeeding articles will discuss all of these problems detailing guideposts to good planning, and outlining a variety of solutions.

The first step is to list and plan your improvements, and then give priority to those which are urgent or which can be taken care of in a hurry. With an overall plan, you can schedule and budget the work efficiently.

Many projects can be done in stages, and the priorities in these cases can be adapted to the family's needs. For example let's assume you want to build an outdoor living area, with a fence, barbecue, porch and terrace. If it will be used as an outdoor play area for your small children, you will undoubtedly want to build the fence first. If it will be used primarily for entertaining, you will probably decide to build the barbecue and porch first; the fence later.

If your home improvement plan is complicated, be sure to get competent planning help in the early stages. A hastily-conceived improvement can ruin your home; a well-planned improvement increases its value.

SPEAKING for the Record

by Bill Sliger

It was purely coincidence, but yesterday two groups of third graders filed through our newspaper offices and plant; and this happens to be National Newspaper Week, an annual time set aside to better acquaint the public with the procedure and people behind the publication of their community newspaper.

Even in this brief visit, the youngsters have a more accurate idea of how the newspaper arrives in their home. They saw the make-up of the pages, the press run and the actual mailing process.

It's frequently true that a business does the poorest job of what it tells its customers to do: the baker finds his home pastry cupboard is bare; the druggist is without aspirins in his own medicine cabinet; and the doctor doesn't rest and drink lots of water when he has a cold.

Likewise, while the newspaper is publicizing other community operations and functions, it leaves much about itself untold.

To fully explain our operation would take far more space than I've been allotted, but the most important ingredient of any newspaper (or other business, for that matter) is its staff.

While many are well-known in the community, it's possible that their duties are not.

So in the interest of better public information, here's who does what to bring you your community newspaper:

Mrs. Mary Donovan — bookkeeper and office manager, performs a variety of duties from picture engraving to taking want ads, news items and commercial printing;

Nancy Schwartz — classified advertising manager, who also performs a variety of other office duties, but is chiefly responsible for our want ad pages;

Peggy Jones — she flips at my punctuation and spelling; she's our able proof-reader and is responsible for any error you might detect;

Sharon Mazanec — our peppy little women's editor (she sings while she writes) who, in addition to planning and writing the women's pages, covers school board meetings and writes general feature stories;

Kneale Brownson — news editor and newest addition to our staff; covers Novi and Wixom meetings, also writes sports and general news and features and is responsible for Novi page one make-up;

Rod Dahlager — advertising manager who calls on local merchants and helps plan advertising programs; he must get ideas, lay them out on paper and then sell them to our customers; if business is down, I blame him — so do the merchants if his ads don't get results;

Bob Blough — shop superintendent whose job it is to see that the newspaper gets out each week; to do this on time he's usually politely suggesting to me that news and ad copy get into the shop; he handles all commercial printing as well as newspaper publication;

Florence DeVriendt — linotype operator and general all-around make-up; a young, but long-time employee who works circles around men in a man's job;

Donna Richards — our TTS operator, which means that she sets all news copy on a paper tape which is then run through a linotype machine setting the type automatically; Donna is from South Lyon and worked for The Herald when we purchased that paper;

Wilson O'Brien — compositor responsible for page make-up and also offset pressman;

Al Cote — ad make-up and Ludlow operator — sets most of the headlines and display type seen throughout the pages;

Jerry Sniegur — stereotyper, the youngest on our staff, he "casts" into metal the variety of illustrations seen in advertisements;

Carl Erdelyi — newest employee in our shop, a pressman who has had long experience in newspaper and job press operation.

Charles Gross and Harold Hartley are part time employees who are experts with a camera and also perform our darkroom work. Janice Boyd and Josephine Spagnuolo are other part time helpers whom we could not do without. In addition we have our correspondents: Mrs. Luther Rix in Novi; Mrs. George Ames in Willowbrook; and Mrs. Charles Ware in Wixom.

These, then, are the people who produce The Northville Record and Novi News.

And despite the comments of a popular night-time television personality, we believe that their duties, as well as others of our profession, are performed in a manner proclaimed by the national slogan for newspaper week:

"Your Newspaper—Heritage of Truth—Frontier of Freedom."

Teachers Told To Keep Pace

Michigan's public and private school teachers, roughly 90,000 in number, recently got a warning from Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett.

His message was: "Keep abreast of the times in which you live."

There are three duties for teachers in order that they may fulfill their role as instructors for children and leaders of the community, Bartlett said.

Teachers must keep themselves informed in areas of rapid change, he said. This applies to current political and economic events, technological and scientific advances and social change.

Another goal for the teacher is to keep his teaching methods and subject matter abreast of the changes that are taking place. Not only must students be told of the changes, but they must also be made aware of the implications for them, Bartlett said.

The third responsibility of teachers is to help bring information about the developments, problems and needs in education to members of the community whose only contact with schools may be casual ones through their children.

Bartlett even hinted that he believes education and educators have fallen somewhat, at least in some areas.

He cited particularly instruction in foreign languages, which are still handled with the same emphasis as years ago; and history, where teaching has in some cases failed to stay abreast of developments of various national and international feelings, and the emergence of entirely new countries.

The Public Instruction chief emphasized that teachers have a special role in Michigan society, and it is up to them to maintain it.

The agricultural picture in Michigan has a dark spot on it this year.

Grape production is expected to fall to about one-half the size of last year's crop. The problem involves a freeze that came along late in May, while grapes were in the critical formative stages.

While last year was a bumper crop compared to the 10-year average, the drop in production this year still means a blow to grape growers.

All the other eastern grape states in the country are expected to have grape yields as large or slightly larger than last year, except for Arkansas. Michigan's commercial grape production is centered in Van Buren, Berrien and Kalamazoo counties with Allegan and Cass counties also contributing to the market yield.

The late and relatively light grape harvest will mean a handicap for jam and jelly makers, and wine producers; and probably a price increase for the consumer.

Medical men in Michigan face a new call to the service of their country.

The call for more doctors, dentists and veterinarians to handle the needs of the armed forces went out nationwide.

The Michigan headquarters of the Selective Service system says local draft boards will be asked to re-check the classifications and deferments of those with badly needed skills in the healing arts.

None of those called to fill the needs will be less than 28 years old, the Selective Service said.

A hitch in the service can put a hitch in the plans of someone who intends to become a doctor, dentist or veterinarian, and the resultant delay in training can be especially bothersome for physicians.

Interns are permitted to finish their training before they are called up, but specialists who are taking resident training have trouble getting deferments unless they are in public health residency programs.

The Selective Service system expects many persons who were eligible for deferments before the need became critical to be subject to a call-up under new rules.

Reasons for Unemployment

Babson Park, Mass., Many people are puzzled when they see unemployment rising along at a high 7% of the labor force while employment keeps reaching one new peak after another. They see in this situation an indication that there is really the germ of a depression underlying the present recovery boom in business.

The reasons for high unemployment in a time of top employment are, however, not that menacing. They are due to the natural population expansion and other related factors. For one thing, some producers and retailers are pricing themselves out of business. Many investors are of the opinion that labor is chiefly to blame here. But actually, each group in the economy wants more and tries to take in additional money by raising prices or wages. The result: Consumers buy fewer goods; merchants lay off clerks; manufacturers fire production workers.

It is a vicious circle, with all groups helping to keep the spiral going. Taxes, too, can cause unemployment in a roundabout way. The levies for defense, social security, old-age pensions, foreign aid, farm subsidies, and roadbuilding are never-endingly heavy. Such taxes make many employers so angry they take it out on labor by reducing staffs.

Foreign imports are another issue. Lower pay in Japan, Italy, Germany, and other nations permits those countries to export to us all types of products at prices that our manufacturers cannot meet, even after import duties.

But if we were to raise such duties, the nations would be alienated and would turn to Russia. Hence, almost every store is carrying some imported goods. When you purchase them, you are actually putting some American wage workers out of a job.

Finally, many of our manufacturers are either building plants abroad in low-wage countries, or are adopting automation. Retailers construct huge supermarkets, install self-service. These changes, of course, throw more wage workers out of employment.

Labor costs are one of the biggest headaches for management. When they go soaring year after year, it becomes necessary for employers to cut back personnel totals in order to keep a safe margin of profit.

Chiefly responsible for the exorbitant advances in wage rates are union leaders, who have to win big raises for their members in order to keep their own jobs (many union leaders make $20,000 or more). Such leaders can't force the workers they represent to agree to unwanted strikes and unreasonable pay demands by a standing vote. Hence, Congress could help workers and consumers — and basic employment — by passing a law making all strike votes subject to secret ballot.

The U.S. Department of Justice should be urged to prevent monopolies in advance by discouraging unnecessary consolidations. Such combines, usually to raise prices or cut production costs, nearly always mean layoffs for some. Would it not be fair for stockholders to allow a period of time — agreed on in advance — after a consolidation before raising prices or discharging any employees?

It would seem simple to cut back unemployment by reducing the workweek to 35 hours, but here we have the danger of encouraging more foreign imports. It would help the employment situation greatly if more workers took advantage of social security and retired at

LIKE THE housewife who shops for all sorts of things to keep her home running smoothly, your phone company buys many "housekeeping" items of its own. Last year, for example, Michigan Bell and Western Electric Company, the Bell System's manufacturing and supply division, bought about $62 million worth of supplies—ranging from trucks to work gloves—from about 1,400 Michigan suppliers. Add to that the wages and salaries of our employees, our construction expenditures and state and local taxes, and the total benefit to Michigan's economy was one-quarter billion dollars.

YOU'RE GOING to be hearing more and more about Bell Telephone scientists' work with a revolutionary device called the Optical Maser. It transmits the narrowest light beam ever achieved, along which can be sent enormous numbers of messages—many, many times more than by wire, cable, or radio. Light may become a whole new medium for telephone talk, TV images and data communication. It's constant research like this that makes possible the latest telephone service improvements for our customers at the earliest possible time and at the lowest possible cost.

GOOD IDEAS are valuable and at Michigan Bell our Employee Suggestion Plan is providing lots of good ideas on how we can serve you better, faster and even more economically. Last year, for instance, Michigan Bell employees came up with over 2,500 suggestions on how to do things better. For each one accepted the employee gets a cash award. So good ideas pay off in three ways: to the employee, to Michigan Bell which gains better methods of operation, and to you who enjoy the benefit of even more efficient service.
