Kroger Opening Attracts Over 4000

At a few minutes past 9 a.m. Tuesday morning Kroger opened its spanking new super market in Northville.

By 9 p.m. more than 4,000 customers passed through its check-out counters making Eddie Barnes a happy, but tired manager.

Kroger officials were not alone in their satisfaction. The customers were happy with what they saw — and the bargains offered.

Complete details and pictures of the new Kroger store plus three full pages of grand opening bargains can be found in section three.

Shoppers will also find a host of bargains in some 22 Northville stores paying tribute to Kroger's grand opening with "Northville's Greater Progress Days" — a three-day sale event starting today.

Participating at Kroger's ribbon cutting ceremonies Tuesday morning were Manager Barnes, Mayor A. M. Allen and Mrs. Gordon Forrer and Mrs. Donald Schwendemann. The two women were invited by Kroger officials as a result of their role in obtaining a new supermarket locally. (See page one, section three).

Like all openings, it didn't come off without a hitch. As women crowded around waiting to enter the new store, Manager Barnes explained with some embarrassment that he couldn't open the safe!

A quick trip to the bank for money permitted the ceremonies to continue and the doors to open.

Mayor Allen claimed the distinction of making the first purchase.

"I bought two cans of tobacco," he announced as he slipped through the check-out counter.

On a more serious note, Mayor Allen called the new Kroger store "more than a supermarket. It's a milestone in Northville history and will serve to stabilize our shopping center and insure its orderly growth," he added.

Name Willis In Township

Northville Township Supervisor George Clark announced this week that Ralph B. Willis of Spring drive has been named town building and zoning inspector.

Willis replaces Wilbert Pelz, who resigned to give full attention to his job in real estate sales.

Clark stated that Willis would be available in the township hall offices Monday through Friday between 1 and 2 p.m. This marks the first time the township has attempted to maintain office hours for its building inspector. Clark explained that it was being done for the convenience of persons who may have questions concerning building or zoning matters.

Torch Drive Lags

Contributions to Northville's fifth annual United Foundation Torch Drive are lagging. Chairmen of both the residential and business drives report that they are only half way to their respective quotas — with time running out.

Mrs. Hugh F. Conser, chairman of the community's house-to-house campaign, is definitely concerned over prospects.

"It looks like we'll fall short of our goal," she stated, indicating that the average individual contribution is down.

To date Mrs. Conser's 50 volunteer women collectors have reported contributions of $1253. The goal is $2508.

The volunteers made an all-out effort October 18 to contact every resident. But many must make return calls where no one was home and one area captain has yet to report her results, Mrs. Conser stated.

Although the drive is slated to end Friday, Mrs. Conser indicated that she would continue collections for another two weeks.

"If anyone wishes to make a contribution, they can reach me at FI 9-1081," she added hope fully.

Meanwhile, collections were also slow for Alton Peters and his eight-man business committee.

"Our goal is $1377. So far we've collected $677," Peters reported.

He said that all his committee members had not yet reported, and urged businessmen to be generous in the "give once for all" campaign.

The collection from school teachers and administrators is being handled by E. V. Ellison. He stated that all school personnel are being asked to participate and that the emphasis is placed on full response rather than a particular goal.

Response to the Torch Drive in neighboring Novi has been brighter.

Chairman Mrs. George Merwin reports $1080 collected in the residential campaign. The goal is $1846.

A $381 business goal has already been topped with a reported $413.

Choir Singing Days End For Ray Van Valkenburg

Helping people to worship through music has been a favorite activity of long-time resident Ray Van Valkenburg for the last 66 years. That's how long he has sung in local churches as a part of their Sunday services.

Last week the Presbyterian church honored him at a special potluck-birthday dinner which also marked his retirement after 43 years as a member of their choir. They praised the great service he has done both as a member of the choir and as the teacher of the adult men's class for the past few years, and thanked him with the gift of a portable phonograph.

This active man of 82, who looks 20 years younger, began his singing career at 16 as the tenor in a quartet that sang in the Baptist church.

"In those days," he says, "the church didn't have a choir, so they asked us to sing for them. We were just four fellows who had gotten together during our school days because we liked to sing."

Ray, who remembers when Northville Downs was just a cow pasture and both Main and Center streets were dirt roads with cobblestone gutters, tells of one Sunday morning when the quartet couldn't get going.

"We sang unaccompanied, and we couldn't seem to find the right key for a new song, so we had to sit down. The minister asked us to sing a different

THE TRICKS are being played by the camera in this instance, but come Tuesday night youngsters like John Boland, 4, (above) will be making their annual Halloween "tricks or treats" trek in town. Most will take time out to enjoy the Halloween party at the Community building, however. John's the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Boland of Ely drive.

Halloween Fun Planned for Kids

Games, contests, refreshments and costume judging await Northville youngsters next Tuesday evening at the annual Halloween party organized by the recreation committee and sponsored by the local Optimists and the Retail Merchants' association.

Games will include bobbing for apples and biting apples on strings as well as feats of skill and all sorts of contests.

Among the better than 20 categories of costumes that will be judged are clowns, witches, ghosts, hoboes, T.V. characters, fairy tale characters, historical characters, beatniks and various others.

Children through the sixth grade are invited to attend between 5:30 and 7 p.m. Costume judging for children will begin at 6 p.m., with the games starting afterward.

Youths of junior high school age and over will have their party from 7 until 9:30 p.m. with prizes for costumes awarded during the course of the evening.

Cider, doughnuts, candy and ice cream will be the featured refreshments for the evening.

The party will be held at the Community building under direction of the recreation department.

Schedule Hearing In Community Building

A public hearing that promises to arouse more than casual interest from city of Northville residents is scheduled for Monday evening in the Community building.

The issue is assessments for street improvements. It has had preliminary discussions at the council table for months and has drawn outspoken criticism from many taxpayers.

But Monday night is the main event — the first public hearing of the proposal to impose a 25 per cent assessment for paving portions of five city streets.

Councilmembers are split, 3-2, on the proposal — Mayor A. M. Allen and Councilmen Richard Ambler and John Canterbury in favor, and Councilmembers Beatrice Carlson and Richard Judy opposed.

(See Speaking for The Record, page eight, section three).

Public opinion is divided, too, but reaction to date would indicate that a majority opposes assessments.

The principle argument — aside from natural taxpayer resistance to direct assessment — centers around the matter of equity.

Taxpayers opposing the assessment point out that street improvements in recent years have been paid entirely from general funds. They argue that their taxes have helped pay for these streets and that it would be unfair to change the method in mid-stream.

Advocates of assessments point out that assessments are not new to Northville and that residents paid from 20 to 100 per cent for street improvements as early as the 1920's.

They further believe that it is more equitable to assess the benefiting property owner a percentage rather than take the full amount from city funds at large.

The long-discussed issue of assessments flared anew when city and school officials attempted to reach an agreement on sharing the cost of improving North Center street from Eight Mile road cut-off to South Ely drive.

Residents across from American school complained of the dusty, bumpy condition of the road and carried their appeal for improvement to both city and school officials.

While the school board indicated a willingness to participate in the project, School Atorney James Littell ruled that it must be done by special assessment and that property owners on both sides of the street would have to be assessed.

The council thereby decided that it would assess the school district for its full share of the cost and levy a 25 percent assessment against other individual property owners.

In short, the council took the stand that it would improve North Center street if the school district participated in sharing the cost. The school agreed providing assessments were levied against all property owners.

Finally, the council decided that if it were to impose levies on North Center street it should become policy for all streets in the future.

Average costs to property owners as proposed by the assessment are as follows:

— North Center street, 80-ft. lot, $202.40;
— Walnut street, 50 ft. lot, $44;
— East, High and Elm streets, 50 ft. lots, $38

The Center street project includes curbs and gutters, already installed on the other streets. Total cost has been estimated at $20,000. The school's assessment would be $7,300 with the city paying $11,500 from general funds and Center street residents a total of $1,500.

Assessments may be paid over a 10 year period. Monday night's meeting is scheduled for eight o'clock.

Policy, Pay Are Acted On by Board

Suspension of students from Northville public schools and formulation of a committee to study the extra pay schedule for coaches and teachers who supervise extra-curricular activities were two key matters taken up by the board of education Monday night.

Following the recommendation of Superintendent of Schools Russell Amerman, board members adopted a formal policy authorizing the superintendent to suspend students for any reason he deems sufficient. The policy requires the superintendent to notify the board of any suspension that exceeds 10 days.

Principals may suspend pupils for a limited period — three days — if, in their opinion, "the action is vital to the health, morale and discipline of the school," states the measure. In such cases, the superintendent is to be informed immediately.

Extra pay for coaches and advisers — also general practice in the schools — will come under the scrutiny of a committee organized by the board of education Monday night. Board members, administrators, High School Athletic Director Al Jones and teachers will comprise the group which has been delegated to review the present extra pay schedule. The study was prompted by Jones' recent request that the board grant a pay hike to coaching personnel and other teachers in charge of after-school activities.

The present pay system is based on a study conducted by Jones in 1954.

SELECTING A RECORD to play on his new phonograph is Ray VanValkenburg. The record player was a gift of the Presbyterian church choir for his 43 years of service as a member. The record contains portions of a church service in which he sang in 1957.

them. After we'd sung a tune or two, the marshal came along and made us stop."

The quartet used to rehearse at the Edison company substitution where Ray worked on the night shift. He says there was a motor generator there that had a hum corresponding to middle C, so they could rehearse without getting off key.

After leaving the Baptist church, Ray went to sing in the Methodist church for a while before joining the Presbyterian choir 43 years ago. For the past 25 years he has sung in local presentations of Handel's Messiah, and has been a soloist for the local order of the Eastern Star for 15 years.

Ray, who is president of the Northville Masonic association and an officer in several Masonic orders, has also been guest soloist at Masonic events in Plymouth, Farmington, Wayne and Detroit.

He says he also remembers singing at hundreds of funerals. There were no funeral homes then, he adds, so the funeral director had a portable organ that could be taken to the family homes for the funerals.

Though he retired from the Edison company in 1915, Ray says he has been kept busy managing affairs at the Masonic Temple. He and his wife Edith, who was also a member of the church choir for many years, live at 460 East Main, their home for the past 54 years.

Sharon Budd Is Married In Ceremony at St. Paul's

Sharon Joyce Budd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Budd, 46070 Neeson street, became the bride of Terry D. Goebel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Goebel, of Plymouth, on Saturday, September 9, at St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Mrs. Terry D. Goebel

Officiating at the 7 p.m. candlelight nuptials was the Reverend B. J. Pankow.

Miss Budd approached the altar on the arm of her father. She wore a white gown of silk taffeta, fashioned with a full length, bouffant skirt that swept to a chapel train in the back. The dress had a scoop neckline, accented with nylon lace and seed pearls, and long sleeves. The bride's headpiece was a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones, clasping a fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of white sweetheart roses, carnations and mums.

Attired in an orchid ensemble was Miss Budd's matron of honor, Mrs. Naomi Hart, of Northville. Her street length dress featured a harem skirt, short sleeves and scoop neckline. Her shoes and feathered hat were in shades to match the dress. Pink sweetheart roses, surrounded by orchid and violet carnations, made up her bouquet.

Other bridal attendants were Paulette Goebel, sister of the groom; Dorothy Budd, sister of the bride; and Kaye Houser. They wore violet dresses, styled to match the matron of honor's. Their hats and shoes were violet, and they carried bouquets of orchid and violet carnations and mums.

Mrs. Budd, the bride's mother, was attired in a beige and toast acetate sheath. Her accessories were beige and orange. Mrs. Goebel wore a violet nylon chiffon dress with bougie and black accessories. Both mothers had orchid corsages.

The groom's brother, Robert Goebel, was the best man. Seating guests were ushers Robert Budd, brother of the bride, Douglas Simpson and Larry Fornwald.

A reception for 500 guests at Northville's American Legion hall followed the ceremony. Leaving on a week-long honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, the bride wore a black sheath with matching jacket and white and black accessories.

The new Mrs. Goebel is a 1958 Northville high school graduate. Her husband was graduated from Plymouth high school in 1956. The couple is at home at 8858 Northern, Plymouth.

Costumed, trick-or-treaters, calling at Northville homes Halloween night, will once again be asking for donations of pennies, nickels and dimes for the United Nations International Children's Emergency fund.

Specially marked, "UNICEF" cartons, will be carried by children from the public schools and Our Lady of Victory school, reports Mrs. Wilson Clark, Methodist churchwoman in charge of the fund raising campaign. Last year the youngsters collected $137. They were among children from 11,000 communities whose contributions totaled $1,750,000.

This money, sent to 100 foreign countries, was used to provide milk, eye care, drugs and other services for needy children. Students at the public schools and OLV saw a movie this week that showed how UNICEF dollars helped their young neighbors abroad.

Cartons are being distributed at the schools on Monday.

Series Premier Draws 450

Lecturer, Women Applaud Town Hall

A mood of excitement and expectation — enlivened by the animated chatter of a near capacity audience — accompanied the sparkling premier of the Northville Town Hall series Thursday morning.

Close to 500 women passed beneath the red and white candy striped canopy that fluttered gaily from the P&A theatre marquee.

Featured speaker for the series opener was author-critic John Mason Brown.

Lauded as the finest in all the lecture world, Brown certainly merits the praise showered on him by critics. Charming and eloquent, he was all Town Hall planners promised and more.

By no means a large man, in terms of physical stature, Brown has a speaking talent of titanic dimensions. He is a poised, seasoned performer, and judging from enthusiastic comments voiced by listeners after his performance, Brown would no doubt be a shoo-in if any local balloting were ever held to nominate "The Articulate American".

He is a perambulating anthology of the world's literature. New York Times critic Brooks Atkinson was never more right than the time he described Brown as "a prodigiously learned man who has apparently read everything, seen everything and forgotten nothing."

Silver thatched and wearing dark horn rimmed glasses, Brown talked Thursday about "The Writer and the Reader in the Modern World". His thoughts, in one breath powerful and in the next poignant, were laced with humor.

He delighted his audience from the onset by telling them, "I promise not to talk about politics to any length even though I'm dying to."

In a later reference to space travel and exploration, Brown told his audience, "I wish we would leave the moon alone and uncontaminated, considering the mess we have made of this earth. . . . However, I do have a list of a few I would consider sending there on a one-way trip."

The critic's encyclopaedic knowledge of authors and their writings was apparent throughout his entire talk.

Writers, he explained, are in the final analysis only readers made articulate. They see nature differently and write about it as they perceive it, said Brown. Literature, he continued, is trying to portray the daily testing of men and women, to reflect on paper what he termed "the coloration" of each age.

A writer as well as lecturer and critic, Brown has been working five years on the biography of playwright Robert Emmet Sherwood. While attempting to write the story of someone else's life, Brown said he has ceased living his own. In a sense the biographer becomes the subject, he said.

After his lecture, Brown joined 230 women at a speaker's luncheon at Lofy's Arbor Lili in Plymouth. In this informal atmosphere, he came into his own, inviting and answering questions from the floor. In response to one query he said:

"One of the greatest problems we face as individuals is to learn how to live with our own limitations, to discover our liabilities and turn them into assets."

Brown complimented Town Hall planners and his audience. He expressed satisfaction with the theatre and said it had been a long time since he had spoken before such an attentive group.

Joining in the plaudits for lecturer Brown and the series was Gerald Harrison, former Northville high school principal, who introduced the speaker. Harrison is superintendent of schools in Farmington.

The Town Hall series will next focus the spotlight on Madame Ginette Spanier, scheduled to appear here on November 15.

Pie's Rich, Too Good To Pass Up

Kitchen Diary this week thanks Mrs. Harvey Whipple, of 45280 West Main street, for her recipes for date-nut pie and coconut macaroons.

1 cup sugar
2 egg yolks

COCONUT MACAROONS

3 egg whites
1 cup powdered sugar
4 T sifted flour
2 cups coconut

HALLOWEEN —
"Farm Wagon On Roof of Park House";
"People Busy Uprighting Small Buildings".
These were the headlines of 50 years ago. The "Park House" was a hotel on the vacant corner of Main and Center Sts. The small buildings were the "2 or 3 hole" variety — that incidentally, would cost today about as much as the down payment on some of my homes. Cheap — moderate or extravagant living can be yours in my nice assortment. Glad to show you and talk it over.

Mustangs Spoil Brighton Homecoming

Roll to 26-0 Win; Clarkston Coming Up

Inclement weather and the Northville Mustangs joined forces last Friday evening to throw a wet blanket over the hopes of Brighton high school's homecoming week-end.

The weather poured a cold soupy mist across the field as the Mustangs piled up 26 points while holding the Bulldogs scoreless. The win puts Northville on top of the Wayne-Oakland league with its fifth straight success in league play. Brighton is now on the bottom of the league, with five losses.

Tomorrow the Mustangs will honor their dads and play host to Clarkston in their final home game of the season. Clarkston is presently in fourth place behind league-leading Northville.

Mustang touchdowns last Friday came in the first and fourth quarters. Quarterback Steve Juday started things off with a 56-yard screen pass to halfback Don Biery. Northville was out in front 7-0 with the game only four plays old.

Northville's second score, late in the first quarter, came on a series of Juday passes that carried the Mustangs to the Brighton 24. From there Juday passed to halfback Tom Swiss, who dashed 20 yards for the TD.

The Mustangs nearly scored late in the second quarter after they marched from their own 49 to the Brighton one yard line. But Brighton halfback Randy Marx intercepted a Juday pass on the goal line, and the half ended as the Bulldogs were about to punt from their four yard line.

The third Northville touchdown was made on the first play of the final quarter with a 16 yard dash by fullback Ron Rice. Rice had set up the run by crashing over right tackle three times to carry the ball from the Northville 36 to the Brighton 21. Halfback Dick Bathey went over left tackle, moving the ball to the 16.

Three running plays later, Rice intercepted a Bulldog pass near midfield, returned it to the 25, and lateraled to Juday, who carried over for the final Mustang touchdown.

The balance of the quarter was consumed by a long Brighton march from their own 14 to the Northville 24. This was the only time the Bulldogs were able to advance into Mustang territory.

The Northville eleven picked up only 139 yards on the ground, but Juday completed seven of 18 pass attempts for 121 yards, and quarterback Tom Slattery completed one of two attempts for an additional five yards. The Mustangs made only eight first downs.

The Mustang defense held the Bulldog ball carriers to only 74 yards, and quarterback Dennis Hartman completed the only successful pass for 23 yards. He attempted three, and Marx tried six.

A lack of sharpness, reflected in the 85 yards in penalties assessed against the Mustangs, probably accounts for their low ground yardage.

The Bulldogs, on the other hand, just couldn't move past the Northville defense. Time after time they sent their speedy halfback Randy Marx into the Mustang line, but to no avail. They were able to make six first downs, but several of these were the result of Mustang penalties. Brighton was forced to punt out of their own territory eight times.

Northville's most successful ground gainer was sophomore fullback Roy Rice, who picked up 59 yards in four carries. He also scored one Mustang touchdown and returned the opening kickoff 30 yards.

PILING UP to stop Brighton Bulldog Larry Lawrence (73) are Northville defensive players. Number 80 is Mustang end Jim Juday. Craig Bell (81) is another Northville end who's trying to get past Brighton's Randy Marx. Standing up in the background is Mustang halfback Dick Bathey.

SCRAMBLING AFTER a faulty pass are two Bulldog defenders who were unable to get the ball before Northville's fullback Joe Hay had it securely enfolded in his arms. Brighton's Rick Larabee (54) and Northville's Don Biery (30) rush to join their teammates.

Can't Top Dick Croteau! He Picks All Winners

You'd have to get up pretty early in the morning to out-guess the prognosticator who entered in last week's football contest.

First prize money went to 16-year-old Northville high school junior Dick Croteau, of 211 East Cady, who didn't miss a game. And six entrants were close behind with only one missed pick.

Dick, who has entered every week for the past four years, doesn't play in sports, but he follows them avidly. He especially likes football and basketball, and he attends every Northville high school game. He also follows college and professional teams in the papers.

Dick also won our $10 bonus because he had a record for last week from the Northville Electric shop, where he had an iron repaired.

Second place was taken by 10-year-old Paul Bunker, of 4100: McFarlane drive. He says he's entered every week for the last two years, but has never won before. His father usually helps him, he adds, but last week he did all the picking by himself.

Paul says he likes sports "a lot." He took second place in the Punt, Pass and Kick contest sponsored last week by John Mach Ford sales in Northville, and he was on the little league baseball team that tied for first place in Northville. He goes to Our Lady of a school in Northville.

Paul, along with entrants, is a senior, but he was only 10 last year.

picking the final score of the Lions-Colts game in Detroit Sunday.

The other five entrants with only one incorrect pick are Jim Mazel, Marilyn Bell, Mrs. E. Mer Balko, Chuck Bishop and Jerry Crawford.

We will have only four more contests this season, so let's start picking those winners. And don't forget about the bonus plan — it's worth $10 extra the first place winner.

Hospital Welcomes Volunteer

The volunteer worker is needed and welcomed in the mental hospital.

This opinion was offered by Mrs. Lillian Koki, guest speaker at the October 17 meeting of the Northville State hospital auxiliary. Mrs. Koki is project director in psychiatric nursing at the hospital and is in charge of training 58 student nurses.

Aside from stressing the importance of the volunteer worker, she explained the role of the student nurse in mental hospitals. A question and answer period and general discussion was held after her talk.

Mrs. Louis Pearman, 29809 Hillbrook, president of the auxiliary, described her trip to Hidden Valley for a meeting of hospital volunteer groups in Michigan.

Mrs. Eleanor Hammond, 47100 Timberlane, also attended the meetings at Hidden Valley and acquired some new ideas on fund raising techniques for volunteer groups.

SUCCESSFUL HUNTING, but not on opening day was enjoyed by Jerry Coleman (left), and his brother Don, of 25615 Clark street. The boys say they hunted last Friday and saw plenty of birds, but were unable to hit any of them. They got these three Saturday morning hunting in the Beck road area. Local hunters report varied success, but most say they've seen about as many birds this year as last.

Dr. Mudd Replies

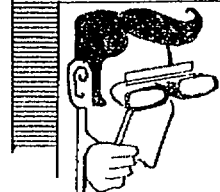

Pattern for Unhappy Home

Dear Dr. Mudd:

Recently my mother moved in with us. By "us" I mean my husband, my three children, and myself.

My husband fixed up a basement room and bath for my mother, but she didn't like it so we moved downstairs and gave her our room. My mother has always been good to us and has tried to cooperate. My husband, however, is the problem. He complains he can't sleep in the basement, and that my mother is always using the bathroom when he needs it in the morning. I have talked to mother about this and she changed her ways, but now my husband says she uses the washing machine too much and finds a lot of things to pick about. The children like their grandmother being here and she pays her way because we don't have to get baby-sitters when we go out. My husband is getting real mean and I don't know what to do. I can't run my mother out of the street. I need help and I thought I might turn to you to tell me what to do.

Dear Confused:

You have a mother and therefore you have a problem. You don't say why she came to live with you in the first place, but I conjecture it is because you and your husband invited her or at least didn't say no when she asked to come.

In any event, I don't think parents should ever live with their married children. It is an imposition on both parties. Your mother should have sought other accommodations, irrespective of the sacrifice this might have entailed.

You and your husband have just so many years together, and it seems a shame to louse them up by having mother live with you. She's had her chance for life and living, and now it's yours.

Your husband, by the way, is either remarkably tolerant or remarkably "chicken" to give up his own bed to your mother! If I were you, I'd fire mother forthwith and move back upstairs and then open a bottle of champagne and celebrate a liberation that should have taken place years ago.

The worst slavery man can impose upon himself is that of an obligation to parents.

Very truly yours

JAYCEE Safety Week Chairman Don Blair points out some of the trouble spots on cars that will be checked free of charge by all Northville service stations during Jaycee-sponsored Safety Week, October 29 through November 4.

Jaycees Plan Safety Week

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has proclaimed October 29 through November 4 "Northville Safety Week" and through its chairman, Don Blair, has announced a program of events to stress safety.

The Jaycees' slogan for the week is "Safety is Security". Blair stated, "He's contacted all local gasoline station owners and asked their cooperation in the observance."

All stations have agreed, Blair stated, to give a free safety check to all cars during safety week.

The check will include examination of tires, brakes, steering apparatus, lights, exhaust system and windshield wipers.

Three local firms — C. R. Ely and Sons, J. Malik and Son and R. H. Juday and Sons — have agreed also to give free furnace checks upon request during safety week, Blair said.

The stations will also offer small fire extinguishers at special purchase prices.

Finally, the Jaycees will distribute three civil defense booklets to residents throughout the week.

Study Offers Tips For Whiter Clothes

Recent study by the Cornell Experiment station in New York suggests the following steps for keeping white clothes white.

Wash them in hot water — up to 127 degrees Fahrenheit. Use softened, filtered water. Low sudsing detergent appears to be the best for an agitator-type washer. When possible, dry clothes outdoors in the sun.

Tiny 26-Ounce Baby Is Bouncing Boy of Two!

Unexpected arrivals seem to keep things lively for Mrs. Walton H. Newton, of 18970 Northville road. Two years ago it was her grandson Billy. Last week it was her son-in-law Robert Delp.

Billy was by far the biggest little surprise of Mrs. Newton's life. He was born to her daughter, Rosemary Newton Delp, on October 20, 1959. Billy was three months premature, and at 26 ounces, was the second smallest child to be born in New Grace Hospital in Detroit.

Last week Billy weighed a healthy, bouncing 23 pounds and was, according to his mother, just a little shorter and a two-year level, Mrs. Delp says.

BILLY AND MOMMY LAUGH it up in Mrs. Delp's mother's home. Billy was so active that he would hardly remain sitting for the photographer, and the moment he was released, he began bounding around the room. Mrs. Delp says Billy, who weighed only 26 ounces at birth, is now just a little shorter and a little lighter than the average two-year-old.

'62 CORVAIR MONZA

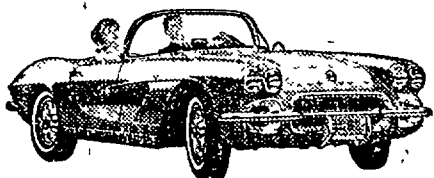

NEW FACE, SAME SPORTING HEART

We might as well tell you straight off: Corvair's the car for the driving enthusiast. Think that lets you out? Maybe. Maybe not.

Until you've driven one, you really can't say for sure, because Corvair's kind of driving is like no other in the land. The air-cooled rear engine sees to that. You swing around curves flat as you please! Pot whip through the sticky spots other cars should keep out of in the first place. (Especially this year, now that you can get Positraction as an extra-cost option.) You stop smoothly, levelly with Corvair's beautifully balanced, bigger brakes.

Corvair's found other new ways to please you this year. A forced-air heater and defroster are standard equipment on all coupes, sedans and both Monza and 700 Station Wagons. So are dual sunshades and front-door armrests and some other goodies. You'll note some new styling, inside and out. Nice. And safety-belt installation is easier, too, and cheaper.

So you can see we haven't really done much to Corvair this year. Why on earth should we? If this car, just as she is, can't make a driving enthusiast out of you, better take a cab.

And here's America's only thoroughbred sports car, the '62 CORVETTE. We warn you: If you drive a Corvette after your first sampling of a Corvair, you may well end up a two-car man. And who could blame you?

JAYCEE Safety Week Chairman Don Blair points out some of the trouble spots on cars that will be checked free of charge by all Northville service stations during Jaycee-sponsored Safety Week, October 29 through November 4.

Jaycees Plan Safety Week

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has acclaimed October 29 through November 4 "Northville Safety Week" and through its chairman, Don Blair, has announced a program of events to stress safety.

The Jaycees' slogan for the week is "Safety is Security". Blair stated. He's contacted all local gasoline station owners and asked their cooperation in the observance.

All stations have agreed, Blair stated, to give a free safety check to all cars during safety week.

The check will include examination of tires, brakes, steering apparatus, lights, exhaust system and windshield wipers.

Three local firms — C. R. Ely and Sons, J. Malik and Son and R. H. Juday and Sons — have agreed also to give free furnace checks upon request during safety week, Blair said.

The stations will also offer small fire extinguishers at special purchase prices.

Finally, the Jaycees will distribute three civil defense booklets to residents throughout the week.

Study Offers Tips For Whiter Clothes

Recent study by the Cornell Experiment station in New York suggests the following steps for keeping white clothes white:

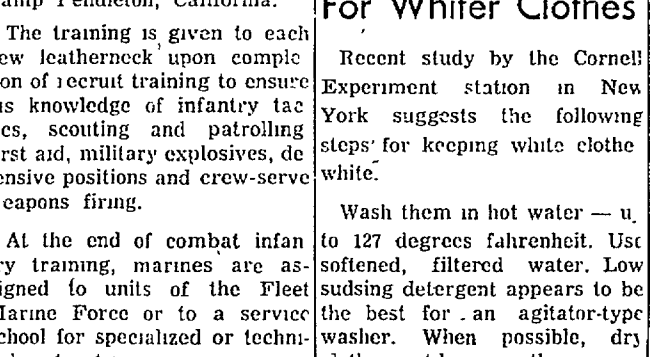

Wash them in hot water — u. to 127 degrees fahrenheit. Use softened, filtered water. Low sudsing detergent appears to be the best for an agitator-type washer. When possible, dry clothes outdoors in the sun.

Tiny 26-Ounce Baby Is Bouncing Boy of Two!

Unexpected arrivals seem to keep things lively for Mrs. Walton H. Newton, of 18970 Northville road. Two years ago it was her grandson Billy. Last week it was her son-in-law Robert Delp.

Billy was by far the biggest little surprise of Mrs. Newton's life. He was born to her daughter, Rosemary Newton Delp, on October 20, 1959. Billy was three months premature, and at 26 ounces, was the second smallest child to be born in New Grace Hospital in Detroit.

Last week Billy weighed a healthy, bouncing 23 pounds and was, according to his mother, just a little shorter and a two-year level, Mrs. Delp says.

'62 CORVAIR MONZA

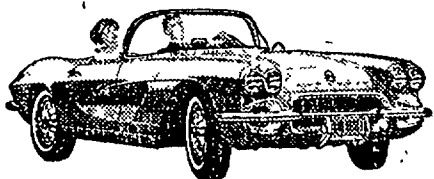

NEW FACE, SAME SPORTING HEART

We might as well tell you straight off: Corvair's the car for the driving enthusiast. Think that lets you out? Maybe. Maybe not.

Until you've driven one, you really can't say for sure, because Corvair's kind of driving is like no other in the land. The air-cooled rear engine sees to that. You swing around curves flat as you please. You whip through the sticky spots other cars should keep out of in the first place. (Especially this year, now that you can get Positraction as an extra-cost option.) You stop smoothly, levelly with Corvair's beautifully balanced, bigger brakes.

Corvair's found other new ways to please you this year. A forced-air heater and defroster are standard equipment on all coupes, sedans and both Monza and 700 Station Wagons. So are dual sunshades and front-door armrests and some other goodies. You'll note some new styling, inside and out. Nice. And safety-belt installation is easier, too, and cheaper.

So you can see we haven't really done much to Corvair this year. Why on earth should we? If this car, just as she is, can't make a driving enthusiast out of you, better take a cab.

And here's America's only thoroughbred sports car, the '62 CORVETTE. We warn you: If you drive a Corvette after your first sampling of a Corvair, you may well end up a two-car man. And who could blame you?

A Supermarket

These Women Know What They Want!

Never underestimate the power of a woman!

And when it comes to shopping — particularly for groceries — where can you find a better authority?

According to 237 of these experts residing in the community, Northville can use improved, or additional, supermarket facilities.

A petition, addressed to the city council, retail merchants association and the A&P and Kroger companies, was presented to the city council Monday night.

It contained the signatures of women

The petition read:

"We the undersigned in the interest and for the betterment of the community, hereby petition the city council, retail merchants association and the A&P and Kroger companies, to build a new supermarket in Northville, Michigan."

"In conclusion, we wish to point out that groceries are a basic commodity purchased every week. If we must journey to another community to find selection and convenient parking, it is probable that purchases in other stores will be made at the same time.

Therefore, we believe that this is a problem worthy of the consideration of every businessman, tax-paying resident and the city government, which must depend on the well being of local business for its taxes."

The idea of gathering petitions for a supermarket was conceived by Mrs. Gordon Forrer of West Main street. But she had plenty of enthusiastic help.

Mrs. Forrer read an article in The Record reporting that long-running efforts to build a new supermarket locally had apparently met with no success.

She engaged the help of several friends and set about knocking on doors, collaring women at bridge club and other meetings to collect signatures.

"Only three women turned us down," reported Mrs. Forrer. "One because she said shopping facilities were adequate and two others because they were afraid their husbands would not approve," she added.

She stated that typewritten petitions ranged from "where can we get groceries?" to "I want a new supermarket."

agreed that they could have obtained many more signatures, but they felt that their list was representative of the general feeling among local women.

The council had for the effort pledged to bring the matter before the city hall.

On another day, the existing city hall might be made available for commercial use.

Copies of the petitions were scheduled to be forwarded to the local retailers association and Kroger and A&P officials in Detroit.

Women had Part In Kroger Store

Women usually get what they want.

And the reprint of a November 3, 1960 article (at left) that appeared in The Northville Record and the resulting letter below are evidence of that fact.

No doubt a new supermarket would have been constructed in Northville, anyway, but Mrs. Gordon Forrer and Mrs. Donald Schwendemann and a host of willing helpers definitely expedited the project.

Their petitions were directed to grocery chain officials and action followed.

Tuesday their efforts were recognized when they participated in the ribbon cutting ceremonies at Kroger's opening of its Dunlap street store.

When shoppers entered the new 16,000 square-foot supermarket their eyes fell upon a decor of soft pastel colors, spacious aisles and features in shopping convenience never before offered local customers.

What's more they were able to park just outside the door in a paved lot with space for 150 cars — another novelty to Northville.

Other features of the new store include some 100-foot refrigerated display cases containing fresh Kroger packaged meats, lunch meats and smoked meats.

Dairy products are displayed in four-decker refrigerated display cases featuring the new open air curtain.

Other departments include bakery, drugs, hardware and notions, household cleaning, low calorie foods, frozen foods and produce.

Besides the latest in modern shopping conveniences, the store itself is a factory of perfection.

In its 110 by 130 foot interior are a large 10 by 16 ft. deep freeze storage room for ice cream and frozen foods, a produce pre-package section complete with "garbuerior" to dispose of all waste material, a 10 by 12 ft. produce refrigeration room, a 12 by 20 ft. refrigerated meat cooler, an immaculate meat-cutting, preparation and packaging room — all "behind the scenes," hidden from customer view.

In a lower level below are rest rooms for male and female employees, an engine room for cooling refrigeration engines and a conference room.

The store will be open 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. during its grand opening event. Normal store hours will be 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The ideas were contributed by homemakers throughout Kroger's 21 state area and carried out through the combined efforts of the Kroger organization.

"Eddie" extends to all of Northville an invitation to visit his new store and assures everyone that they will not only like the store, but also the courteous treatment that they will receive.

Manager "Eddie" Barnes

MRS. GORDON FORRER (right) is a determined woman who knows what she wants. In this case it's a supermarket and she was able to find 237 other women in Northville to agree with her. Mrs. Forrer, with help from several others such as Mrs. Donald Schwendemann (left), circulated petitions appealing for a new supermarket in Northville. The petitions were presented to the council Monday night.

The Kroger Company:

It is with great pleasure that I congratulate The Kroger company on behalf of the city council and the citizens of our community on the opening of its fine, new store in Northville.

It is, indeed, as the local retail merchants have chosen to name the occasion, "progress days" for Northville.

The decision of The Kroger company to build this magnificent new shopping facility within the boundaries of our present business center is certainly a boost to our economy and may well trigger new developments.

I believe, too, I can speak for the citizens of Northville and our shopping area when I say we appreciate the modern facilities provided in your new store.

Yours truly,
A. M. Allen

PARTNERS IN PROGRESS

Some 40 years ago The Kroger Company opened its first store in Northville.

This week it unveiled its modern new facility featuring the latest conveniences in super market shopping.

We are proud that The Kroger Company has been a consistent advertiser in the pages of The Record during its many years in Northville and in this respect feel a sense of having contributed some share to its success in our community.

The new Kroger super market is Progress for Kroger for Northville and for The Record.

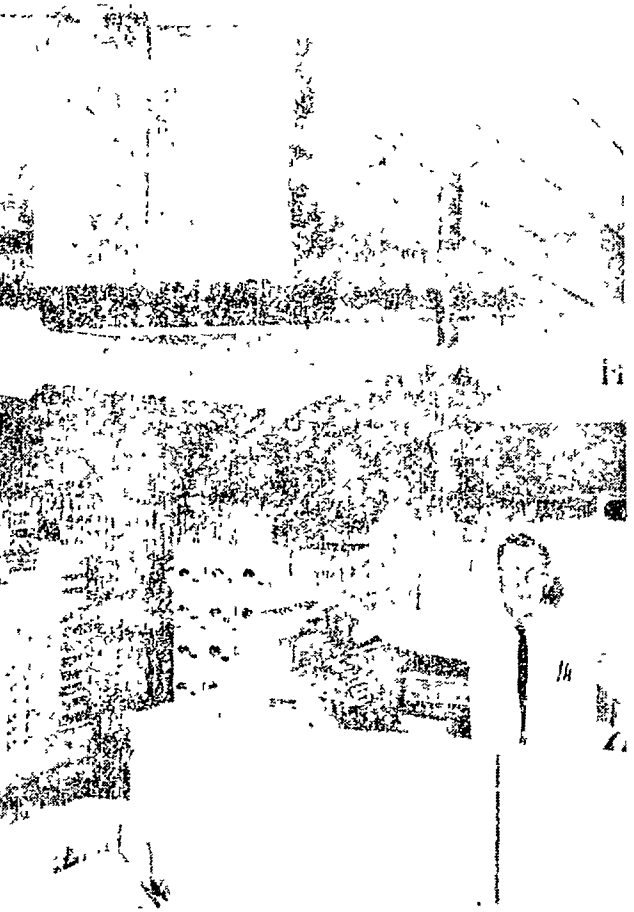

Our congratulations.

WAYNE COUNTY'S OLDEST WEEKLY NEWSPAPER — ESTABLISHED 1869

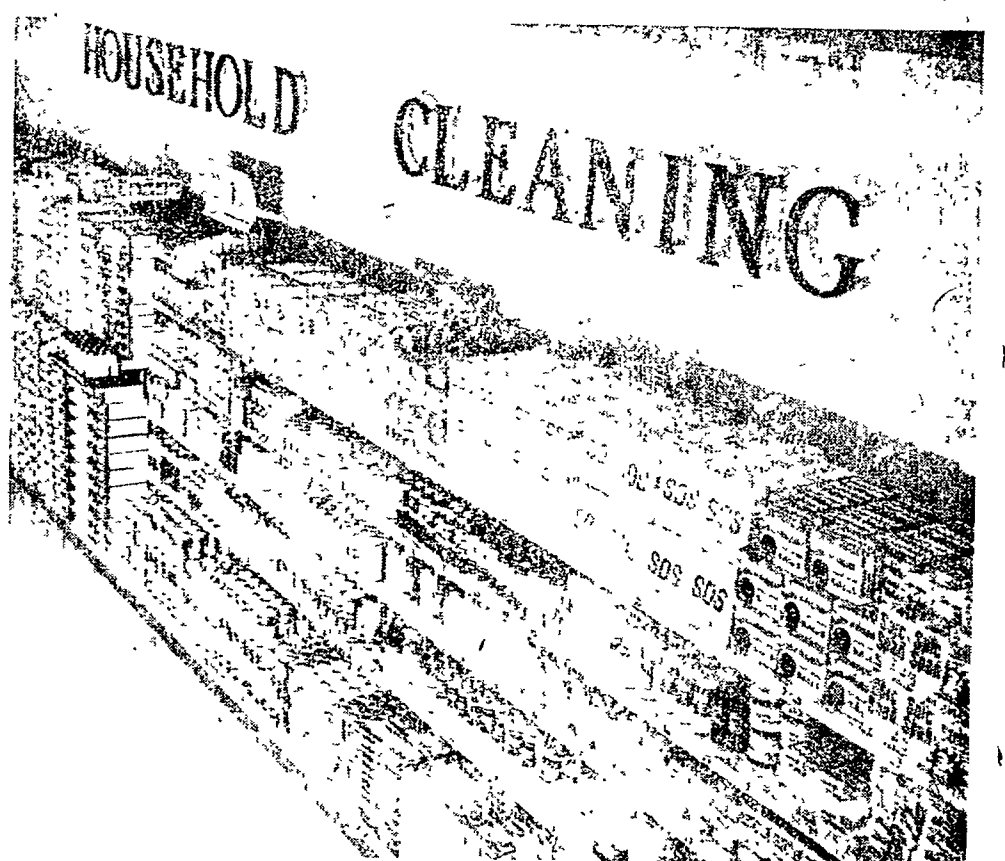

A 12x20 foot refrigerated meat cooler is filled with fresh meats for Kroger's opening.

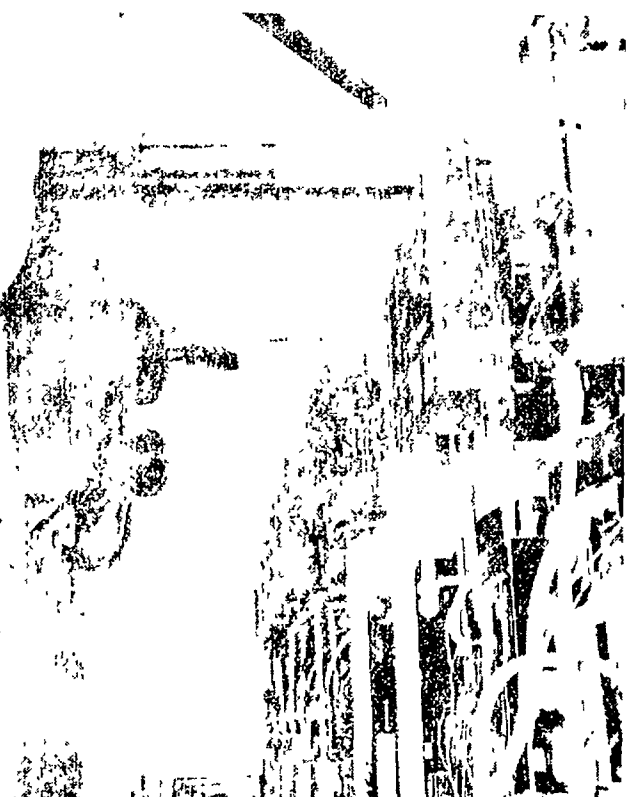

No waiting, says Kroger Manager Eddie Barnes. An "express" counter serves shoppers with small purchases.

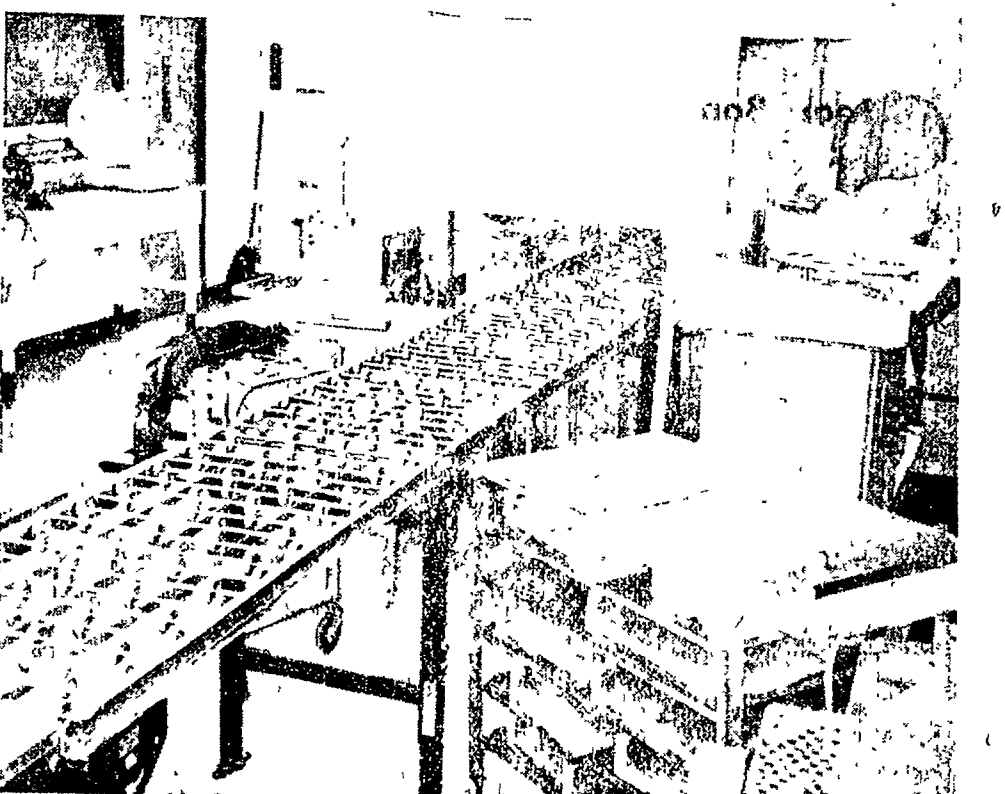

This 24-ft., four-decker refrigerated case contains a wide variety of dairy products.

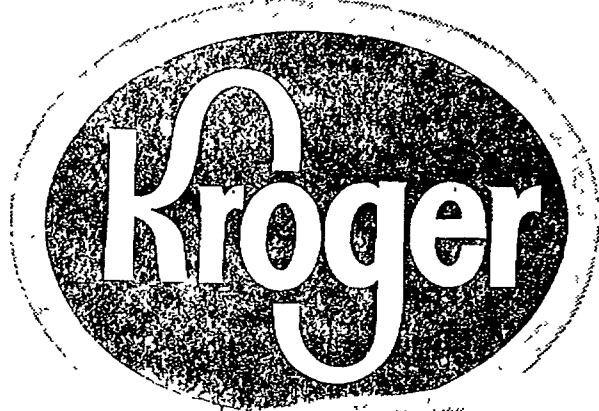

Women should have no trouble finding their favorite cleaning products in this corner of Kroger's.

These huge fans cool the 17 refrigeration motors in an "engine room" in the store's lower level.

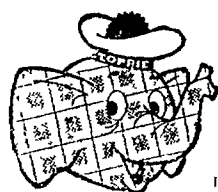

All Kroger meat will be cut and packaged in this room directly behind the display cases.

Scientist Lauds Tenderay Meat

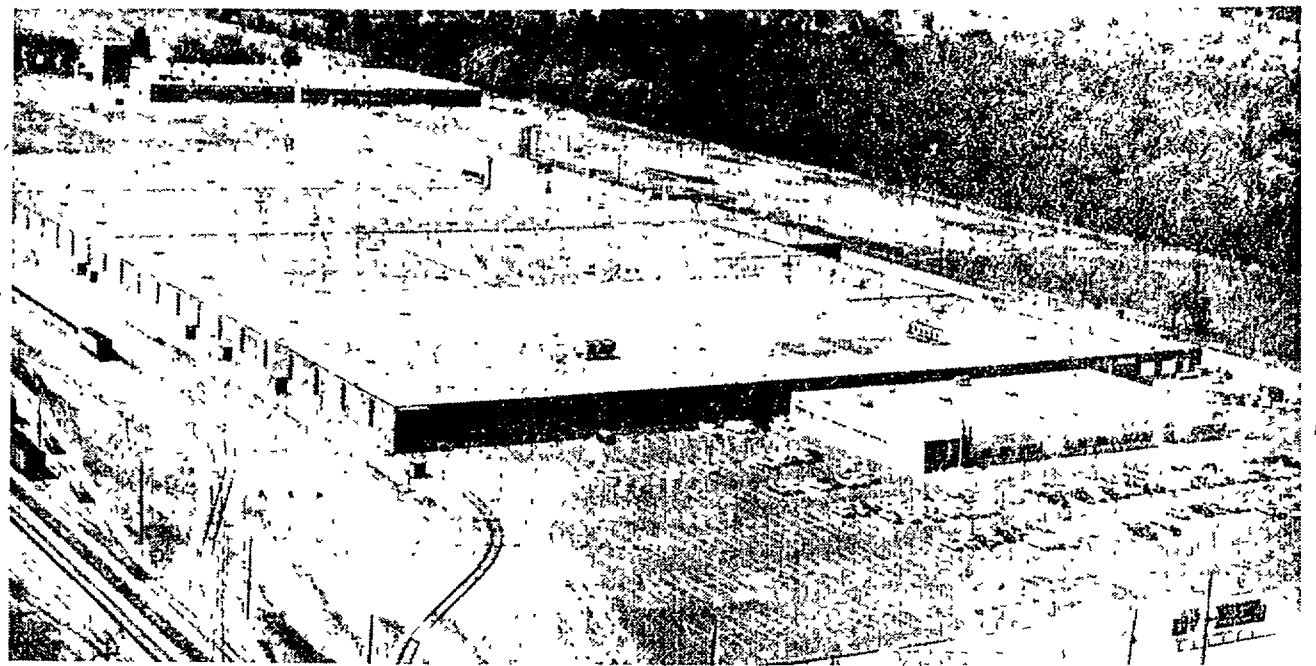

"Kroger's Tenderay is one of the greatest contributions to the meat industry since the invention of mechanical refrigeration," said a noted scientist who studied the process for tenderizing beef. Tenderay was developed by the Kroger Co. in cooperation with an internationally known research laboratory in Pittsburgh and Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

The new tenderization process merely streamlines nature's own slow aging method. High-grade beef is held in sealed rooms in which humidity, temperature, air velocity and air sterilization are carefully controlled. At relatively high temperature and humidity, the natural enzymes in meat act to tenderize the tough connective tissues, while ultra violet ray lamps keep the air pure. The Detroit division of Kroger uses only the top grades of U.S. Government graded "choice" beef for tenderizing.

The temperature and the humidity are automatically controlled to hasten the tenderizing process, while the sterilizing lamps prevent spoilage. Nothing is added to make the meat tender, and the lamps serve only to keep the air sterile. The meat is hung in these processing rooms for two to three days and in this short period attains a degree of tenderness equal to that obtained in 20 to 30 days under the older process of aging in cold storage.

The first Tenderay plant was opened by the Kroger Company in Cleveland in 1939, shortly after the first patent on any tenderizing method was granted.

Here's Kroger Distribution Center

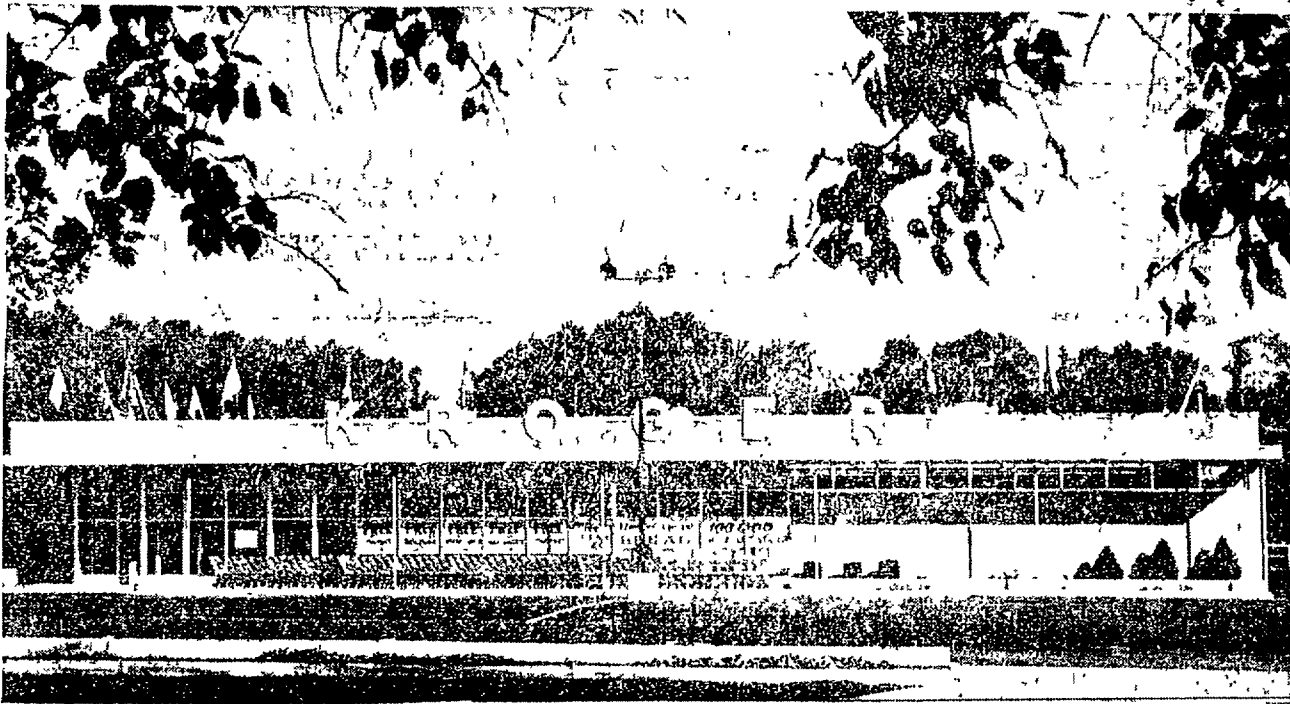

Kroger's huge, new distribution center is conveniently located in Livonia on Middlebelt road.

It is estimated that it will take 175,000 lbs. of groceries, 20,000 lbs. of meat, 15,000 lbs. of frozen food, 35,000 lbs. of Fresh Fruit and Vegetables and 1,000 lbs. of Breads to stock the new Kroger store in Northville. It is also most likely that it will take 15 truck loads of merchandise to replenish stocks the week after Grand Opening. The transportation of merchandise is speedily delivered to Northville because of the short distance between Kroger's recently new large Distribution Center located on Middlebelt road in Livonia. This is an aerial view of the Center looking northwest.

Barney Kroger Started Door-to-Door

Barney Kroger started business peddling fruits and vegetables in Cincinnati.

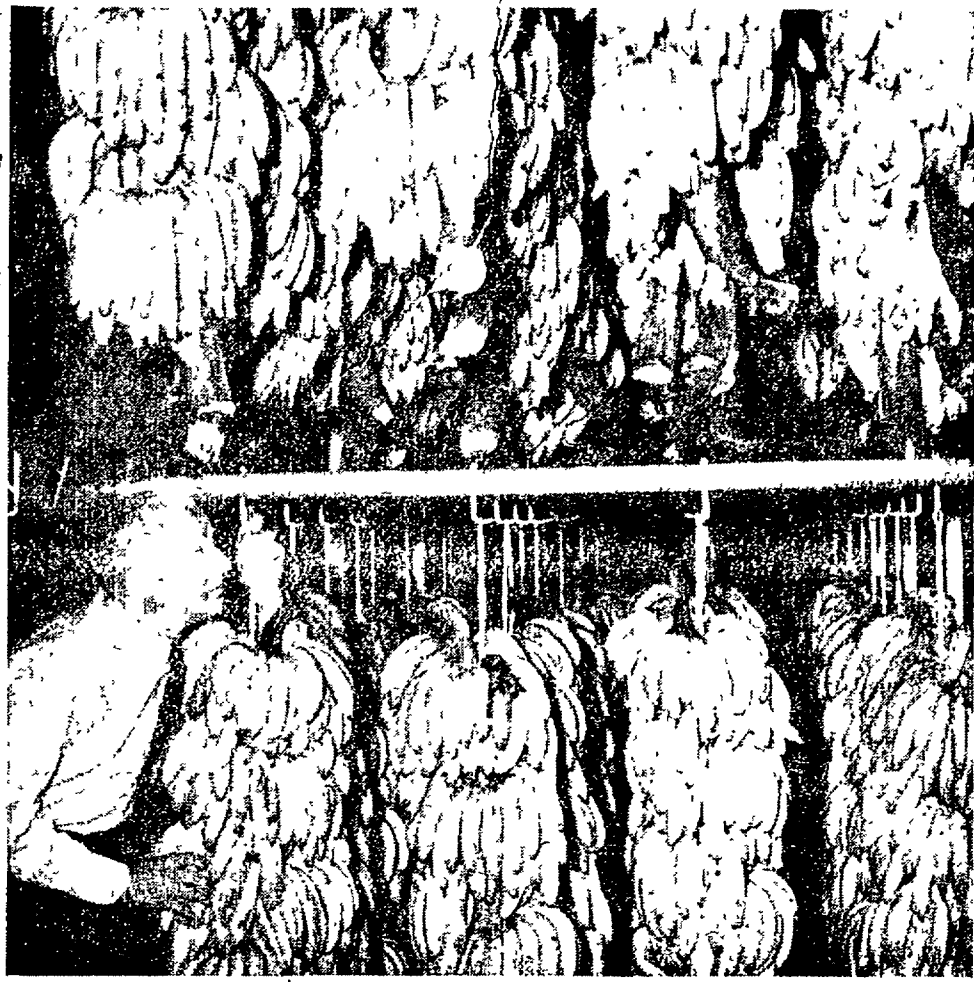

Barney Kroger had a small wagon beginning back in 1883 with nothing more than a horse and wagon. Today Kroger is the third largest retail food chain in the United States, with over 100 stores in the Kroger Detroit Division and 1,400 stores through out the whole Kroger Company. The Kroger Detroit Division supplies the new Northville store and wagon.

An Early Kroger Store Looked Like This

Inside a typical Kroger store more than a half century ago — complete with pot-bellied stove.

Another indication of Kroger's small beginning was this corner grocery store. This scene is typical of a Kroger store in the early 1900's. Everything was bought from one counter; cookies, dried fruits and spices were sold bulk. Today Kroger's in Northville is an example of how the food industry has advanced in bringing the customer her food needs in the easiest and in its most edible form. Some of the new ultra-modern conveniences located at the new Kroger Store are: Special parking, Health and Beauty Aids Department and Record and magazine racks. One of the outstanding features will be a pie oven that will bake pies on the spot for the customer's carry out convenience.

Kroger's John Davis says "keep your bananas in the basement".

Basement's Best Bet For Better Bananas

The best place to keep bananas is in the basement. That's the advice of John Davis, banana tender for Kroger's for 35 years.

When the stalks arrive, by railroad, they're the color of early spring leeks. "We put them in special rooms at 70 degrees with a humidity of 90 percent." After 36 hours the fruit's starch begins turning into sugar. The odor change from that of a cucumber to that of a banana. This is the "breaking point". For the next day and a half the temperature is reduced to 68 degrees, the stalks are taken out of their sealed rooms. Workers cut off and package the bunches.

"If you want to keep bananas at home, the ideal temperature is 55," said Davis. "But home refrigerators operate between 40 and 44 degrees. And the kitchen is the warmest room in the house. So put them in the basement."

Typical of the early Kroger stores is this corner grocery in Cincinnati.

One Store to 1400 in 78 Years

Above is a good example of Kroger's small beginning in 1883 to 1,400 modern retail food stores in 20 midwestern and southern states.

Founded in 1883 by the late B. H. Kroger, the company increased store by store in Cincinnati and surrounding towns. By 1903 there were 53 Kroger stores in Ohio and Kentucky communities. Later the company expanded to other states. Today Kroger stores are accepted members of 1,000 communities throughout the south and midwest.

Under direction of a general office in Cincinnati, the company operates through 25 separate divisions, each with its own group of retail stores. These division offices are located in important trading centers from Houston, Texas to Madison, Wisconsin and from Kansas City, Missouri to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

More than 40,000 men and women work full time for Kroger and nearly one third as many more work part time. Group life, health and accident insurance are supplied at no cost to employees. Low cost surgical and medical insurance also are available.

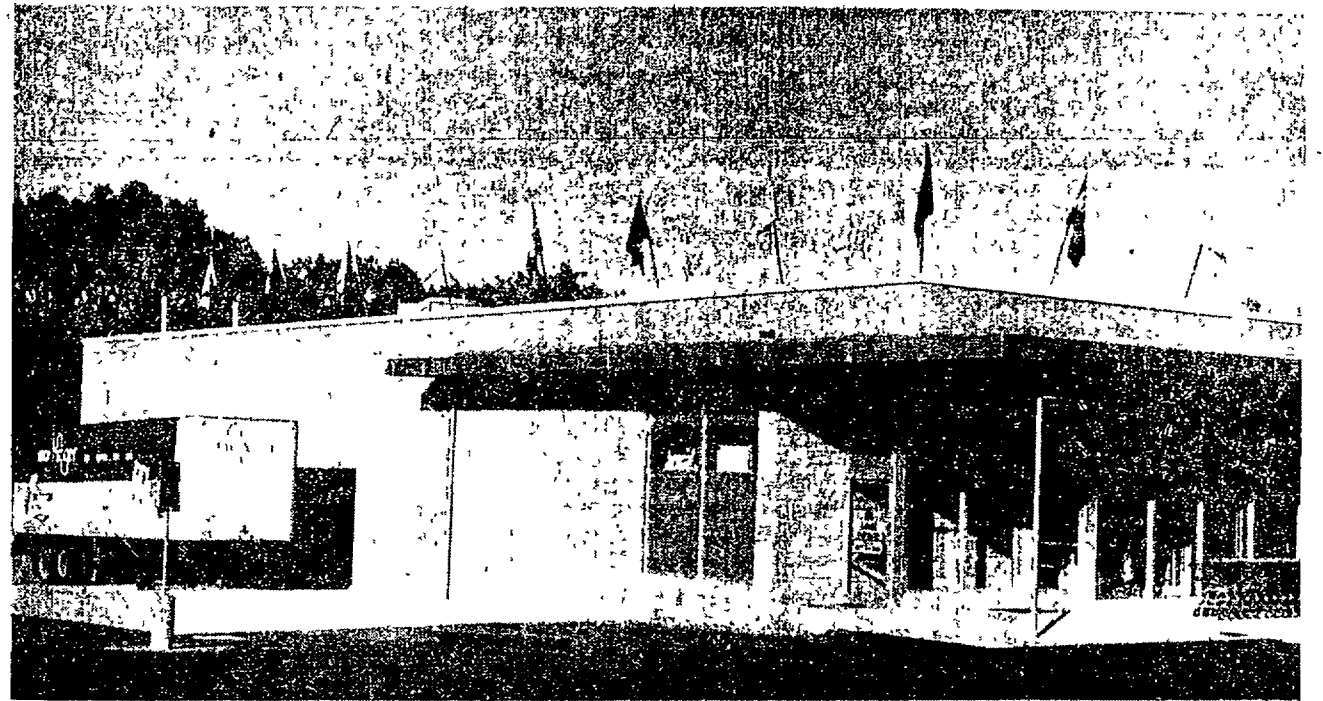

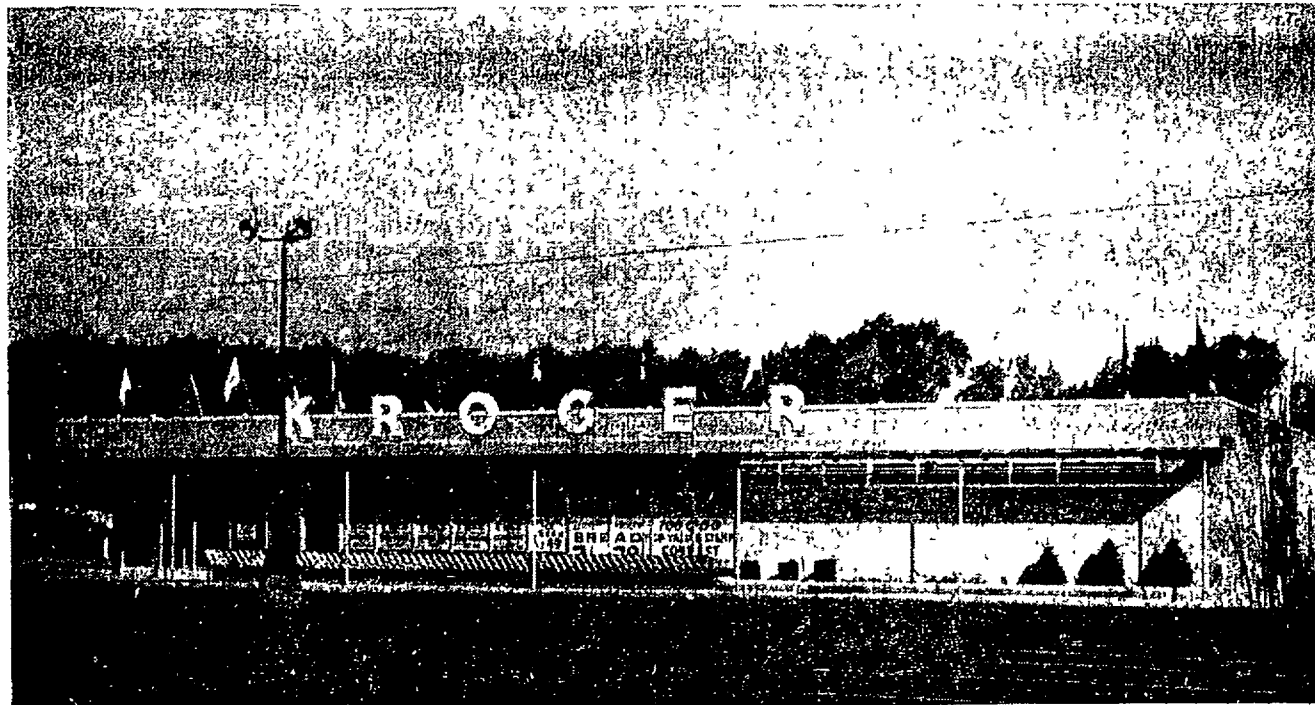

Credit Unions operated by employees provide loans at a low rate of interest. The Kroger employee's Profit Sharing and retirement and income plan provides retirement income at no cost to the employee. In addition, the profit sharing portion of the plan gives employees an opportunity to save and to share in the profits they help to earn. More than 95% of all eligible employees are voluntary members of this program.

GARDEN? — No, this is the view from Kroger's rear service entrance. The landscaped area is in sharp contrast to what one might expect to find behind a grocery store.

SPEAKING for the Record

by Bill Slinger

Next Monday night the Northville city council is making plans for a full house meeting.

They've moved the regular meeting place from the city hall to the community building to accommodate the expected crowd.

The big attraction is a public hearing on a proposal to impose 25 per cent assessments to property owners for street improvements in front of their property.

The remaining 75 per cent, plus costs of intersections, would be paid from general funds. In addition, it is proposed to lower the assessment to 12½ per cent along side-lot yard lines.

Public hearings are rarely pleasant affairs. Often citizens, who singularly would be most polite and considerate, act in strange ways when banded together in a common cause.

Generally they are frustrated by what seems to be the red tape of government; actually, they are more often handicapped by a lack of information.

They are uninformed because:

1. They do not attend council meetings;
2. They do not read their newspaper carefully;
3. They believe what others, also uninformed, tell them.

There is nothing wrong with citizens finding fault with what their elected officials propose; it isn't even ungentlemanly to raise one's voice to shouting level to emphasize a point.

But charges completely unrelated to fact — or made before the facts are explained — are difficult for the most tolerant body of elected officials to swallow.

It is the opinion of this writer that Northville's city council is trying to do something that has been left for many years for the following council to do.

And they have certainly taken a moderate approach when one considers that neighboring communities impose assessments up to 100 per cent.

We do not adhere to the theory that race track revenues should or could be expected to pay for all street improvements. In fact, we believe this is a waste of tax dollars.

In a low tax-rate city (and Northville's city tax is low by comparison) it seems especially important that if such a rate is to be maintained, the property owners benefiting most by improvements should pay a share of the improvement — regardless of past history.

There are at least two other points that should be considered, however.

One is the belief that a 25 per cent assessment will appreciatively speed up our street improvement program. Theoretically, it would advance by 25 per cent. But even this is optimistic when one considers other pressing public improvement projects.

This is the second point. Streets are not the city's only consideration — and perhaps not the most important.

It is my understanding that assessments would be imposed on streets where improvements are deemed necessary as a public need or where residents have requested the improvement. In the latter instance, funds might not permit paving even though a request was registered.

It is significant to note that Northville's council is split 3-2 on the matter of assessments.

So by law, provided by the city's charter, if a majority of the property owners on a street oppose assessments, they could by petition defeat the issue. It is required that any assessment opposed by a majority of the street's property owners must be approved by a four-fifths vote of the council.

This individual rights have been protected. Individuals must now decide what is best for the entire community.

Late Monday evening, after the above column had been written, someone dropped a mimeographed "letter to the editor" through the slot in The Record door.

The letter was unsigned (except for the mimeographed words "Daisy Roads"). As any reader of The Record knows, we do not publish letters unless they have been signed, although we will withhold the writer's name upon request.

Needless to say, the letter opposed assessments. It indicated the "council does not expect a very large crowd" and urged residents to heed the words of the unsigned mimeographed sheet and attend.

We expect the audience to be large and submit that it is because of the coverage given the question by The Record — and not peddlers of unsigned handbills.

If the writer will come to The Record office and sign the letter, it will be published in full in next week's Record — far in advance of the second public hearing required before the council could approve assessments.

Business Bright

Babson Park. There are the outlook. Readers will get my many reasons why we should be greatly interested in Christmas business, — whether we are clerks, storekeepers, manufacturers, or consumers.

The feelings of the nation are usually revealed in the volume and the temper of Christmas buying. A number of years ago I was of the opinion that statistics dictated the nation's business, particularly as regards credit available and workers' wages. But now I have come to realize that business is ruled not only by figures, but also very much by feelings.

It is encouraging to note at this time that an impartial study of the probabilities for 1961 Christmas business indicates that people throughout the country are feeling good.

Even at a time when the world situation is dark, our people seem ready to honor Christmas in traditionally happy style. Let us all do whatever we can to encourage this attitude. Let us make gifts to those in need. Let us keep in mind what joy and happiness we can bring to others, instead of what profits the gifts may bring to us.

To help guide my footsteps in this direction I have erected a sign near the Great Babson Globe (the largest revolving globe in the world) that reads: "For What is a Man Profited If he shall Gain the Whole World and Lose His Own Soul?"

There is, of course, more to Christmas buying than immediately greets the eye. When you select a present for a relative or a friend, you actually begin an individual business cycle. Not only do you give pleasure to the person receiving the gift, but you give material help to the retailer, providing him with the cash that he requires to conduct his important distributing operations.

Remember, too, that your money not only gives him his small profit (a few cents out of your dollar), but it also moves along in part to the producers, the clerks, the landlord, the advertising outlets, and others directly or indirectly involved.

Of special significance is the fact that the storekeeper's payment to the manufacturer permits him to employ more people. The manufacturer's workers tend to spend their wages at the store, thus completing the all-important cycle. When the cycle described works smoothly, the entire nation enjoys prosperous times. If the cycle breaks down at any point business and employment decline (they are two barometers that always move together). Then unless something is done to repair the break, we are likely to slide into a depression.

All signs thus far point to a good Christmas buying season for 1961, even though it is always possible for some last minute occurrence to change.

Michigan Mirror

Form 'Absentee Counters'

Election workers in Michigan have a new tool to prevent woes caused by absentee voter problems.

It's a new law passed by the 1961 Legislature. It permits the naming of "Absentee Counting Boards" by the election commission of any governmental unit other than a county or the state.

Considerable flexibility in the operation of "Absentee Counting Boards" is allowed under the new law.

Secretary of State James M. Hare, the man who must supervise elections, says the statute has been interpreted to mean that the election commission must make decisions on which precincts are to have counting boards and many other details of procedure.

There are, however, some requirements in the law which are aimed at preventing any possible abuse or chicanery.

A recent publication of Hare's office, which goes to election clerks and other workers, outlined provisions of the new law because of possible confusion over some of the rather complicated wording. No regular election at which the counting boards could operate is scheduled until November of 1962.

A special election (or primary) can make use of "Absentee Counting Boards" as well as a regular election.

The value in the new procedure is that it relieves the regular election workers of the chore of compiling absentee voter ballots. At the same time it provides a somewhat closer check than is possible with the old method. An undesirable effect might be that it could make the voting procedure even more complex than it already is.

In precincts where a large absentee vote is expected, especially those where the absentee vote must be transferred onto voting machines for compilation, the time and frustration saved could be considerable.

Water Wonderland as a tag for the state of Michigan has a double meaning for many people who own property on Great Lakes shorelines: they often wonder how much land lapped by the beautiful waters of Huron, Michigan, Erie or Superior is theirs.

The reason is that submerged bottomlands of the Great Lakes belong to the state.

Latest in a long series of court battles over title to bottomlands in dispute presents one of the trickiest questions.

It goes something like this: If the level of one of the Great Lakes goes down, and a property owner brings fill dirt into an area that was formerly covered by water thus making it high and dry when the lake level rises again, does the new shoreline land belong to the property owner or the state?

The Supreme Court has to determine whether the high level mark of the water, the low level mark, or some place in between is proper point to determine what is Great Lakes bottomland and what isn't.

It's well established in law that the state holds title to bottomlands, and can transfer this to private owners under certain conditions and through the proper procedure.

The definition of bottomland for purposes of determining what is lake frontage is only one of the problems concerning the Great Lakes which is a bugaboo to the state.

Another is the Federal Government's claim to lands lying in natural deltas or islands formed at the mouths of rivers.

This one is being fought in the Interior Department at Washington, D.C. A negative decision could result in the loss to Michigan of such vast and important recreation areas as the St. Clair Flats region. More court action could be taken in this case which involves many other states besides Michigan.

Any doubt that Michigan is a major farming state should be laid to rest by the success of youngsters who have chosen agriculture as a career.

Michigan members of Future Farmers of America chapters have always made a good showing in nationwide contests.

And they continue to do so in such diversified fields as beef cattle raising and celery growing. Michigan FFA chapters always rank high among those receiving recognition for the effectiveness of their programs. With talented and interested young people on the way up in farming, Michigan can look forward to continued success in what is one of its three major money producers.
