It's A Coypu

Farmer Captures Critter That Sports Red Teeth

Last Friday Mrs. Fred Balko, Jr., saw something dart underneath the grain building on the Balko farm at Napier near Nine Mile road.

By Sunday morning her husband had trapped the intruder "by the toe".

Its presence at the Balko farm caused quite a stir for it turned out to be a coypu (or nutria) — a native of South America.

How did the beaver-like animal with red teeth manage to find his way to the Balko farm?

They're most frequently found in Louisiana, Trapper Tom Brook of the state conservation department stated. But a colony of the animals was raised on the western side of the state when there was a market for nutria coats.

"Now their pelts are only worth about 75 cents, so they're no longer raised commercially. Many probably escaped and wandered to different parts of the state", Brook stated.

The Balko coypu attracted a crowd of curious neighbors and friends Sunday morning. A half dozen state conservation officers were on hand, too.

The animal itself was quite calm, baring its red teeth only occasionally to gnaw away at cucumbers supplied by the Balko children, Sandra and Rex.

Its life as the center of attraction will soon end, however Balko thought he would have it mounted.

The Balko coypu weighs 15 to 20 pounds, is dark brown in color and has a tail nearly 12 inches long.

To Open 220-Bed Unit At Plymouth State Home

When the Plymouth State Home and Training school opens the doors of its new 220-bed housing unit, located west of Sheldon road at Five Mile road, this week-end, it will be immediately filled to above capacity, says George Ebling, administrative assistant to Superintendent Robert Jaslow.

He explained that first occupants of the building will be the entire 320 patient population of the Farmington unit of the school, which is being closed because of a lack of operating funds. The entire transfer of patients and staff will take place over the week-end, he added.

Over 100 volunteers from the Oakland county and Detroit chapters of the Red Cross, the school's auxiliary, the parent association and the Fort Custer retarded children's facility will take part in the move, Ebling said. All beds, equipment and other furnishings are to be moved at the same time as the patients.

While the building was closed, signed to house 220 children, he added, room can be made for the additional 100 patients by placing beds in two large lounges. He said officials of the school hope the crowded situation can be relieved next March when the new 220 bed infirmary building is scheduled to be opened.

The new building has three main sections. The north and south ends are separated into four dormitories, a nursing station, play lounges and classrooms. Each end section is designed to house 110 children. Between these two sections are located a serving kitchen, large living area, bathing facility and rooms for staff use.

Food for the new building will be prepared in the school main building on the east side of Sheldon road, and transferred in special vehicles, Ebling said.

The main building, which was originally planned as a 150 bed hospital, is now being used as a 170-bed nursery for retarded children, Ebling said. He added that as the building program on the west side of Sheldon road continues, the main building will be used for a hospital as originally planned.

Other buildings being planned for the 250-acre site that was donated to the state by Wayne County, include a laundry, a storage and food service building, four additional 110-bed housing units, a 300-bed nursing unit and a 220-bed unit for housing the physically handicapped mentally retarded patients. These facilities are expected to provide a total housing and treatment capacity for 2,500 patients.

The Plymouth State Home and Training school is the newest state-run facility for the mentally retarded. Its present patient population consists of the younger, severely mentally retarded child.

Officials have said that when the Northville facility is completed, it will equal other state operated homes for the mentally retarded located at Lapeer and Coldwater.

It was a night for the people to be heard. And nearly 200 residents of the city of Northville took advantage of the opportunity at the city council's public hearing on a proposal to levy a 25 percent assessment off the improvement of portions of five streets.

No decisions were reached, but a lot of people expressed a variety of opinions. A secretary recorded the words. Now the council will study the transcript and re-open the hearing November 27.

Mayor A. M. Allen declined to call for a vote from the council because Councilman Richard Ambler was unable to attend.

But if a hand vote had been taken, there's little doubt that the opponents of assessments would have been in the majority.

Yet the crowd, which filled the cafeteria of the Community Building, contained a goodly number favoring assessments — and they spoke up, too.

This division undoubtedly produced the most tragic consequence of the hearing — a wedge between "old" and "new" residents that prompted one city newcomer to ask: "how long does it take to become a first class citizen in Northville?"

Although the meeting generally remained orderly, frequent jibes were aimed at the council. And both "pro" and "con" citizens let their sympathies be known with loud applause following statements with which they agreed.

Specifically, the hearing was called for citizens' reaction to a proposal to levy a 25 per cent assessment for paving and installation of curbs and gutters on North Center street from the Eight Mile road cut-off to South Ely drive; and to pave portions of East, High, Elm and Walnut streets where curbs and gutters have already been installed.

Mayor Allen opened the meeting by asking for citizens to speak who objected to assessments on North Center street. He then asked for those who favored the project and followed the same procedure for the other streets involved.

The discussion soon spread into a debate centering around the principle of assessments and specifically the matter of equity.

And several of the objectors chose the occasion to remind the council of many other complaints.

Opponents of special assessments had several suggestions for the council. They included completion of paving of all streets within the original city limits from the original fund monies and then adoption of a 100 per cent assessment, a policy now in force in newly annexed areas of the city.

Another citizen noted that the streets now being considered require paving because they serve a public need (lead to schools). Streets in this category, it was proposed, should be paved from general funds. A study of the remaining unpaved streets, along with need for paving and costs should then be conducted and a plan for procedure adopted.

Still another proposal urged the council to use all race track tax revenues (approximately $90,000 annually) for street improvements until they were completed even if the general tax levy had to be raised to pay the cost of operating the city government.

And finally, it was suggested that the city could use the $145,000 it received for the sale of the community building to the school district for street improvements.

The money, now invested, has been considered as a source of funds to build a new city hall, although it has not been definitely earmarked.

Former Councilman Earl Reed passed out a prepared statement opposing assessments and read it to the audience (see letter on page eight).

Mayor Allen pointed out that Reed had voted for a special assessment on a street improvement in the old part of the city when he was on the council. The assessment was made against property owned by Donald Yerkes opposite the new Village Green subdivision and is now in litigation. Reed said this was a subdivision, but the Mayor did not agree.

George Lockhart of Orchard Drive was another outspoken critic of special assessment. He accused the council of trying to "divide the city". He said the assessments on East, Walnut and High were made small to gain their support and that it was the first step towards "forcing assessments" upon the public.

Sid and Cy Frid both pointed out that the school board had installed a sewer line to the new high school under a contract arrangement with the city. They challenged the school board attorney's opinion that North Center street had to be paved by special assessment if the school were to contribute to the cost.

Because the city attorney had once suggested that the school could participate in the project by contract under the city's special assessment ordinance, it was proposed that an attempt be made "to find out what opinion is correct".

City Attorney Philip Ogilvie pointed out that the school district does not have to participate in the project at all, but had agreed and was following the legal advice of its attorney.

School Board Member Donald Lawrence stated that the school board had agreed to pay 100 per cent of its cost of paving the street in front of school property. He pointed out that the attorney's opinion was based on state law which the school district must follow.

Only Mayor Allen and Councilman John Canterbury replied to questions from the floor. Both favor assessments. Councilmembers Beatrice Carlson and Richard Juday, who oppose assessments, remained silent during the hearing but thanked the audience for its interest at the conclusion.

Canterbury explained that streets would be improved only because of public need or request. He admitted that "unfairness" would exist regardless of what course the council followed. "It's a two-sided problem and we could be sued for levying assessments — or for not assessing 100 per cent", he said.

A. K. Cook of Ely drive read a statement presenting the viewpoint of many new residents. He pointed to past history of assessments here and said that "assessment is the only just means of paying for improvements".

William Slattery of Northville Estates appealed to the audience not to "split the community".

"We never get anything for nothing", he stated, pointing out that even the school's share comes from taxpayers' pockets. He called the assessment a "real bargain" and commended the council on its hearing noting that the issue was open for the public to consider and not "forced".

At the November 27 hearing the council will presumably vote on the proposal. If it should win approval, another hearing will be called to confirm the assessment roll.

MORE THAN 200 city residents turned out Monday night to let their opinions be known at the public hearing on street improvement assessments. The meeting was held in the Community Building. The city council listened while a stenographer recorded the comments. The hearing was adjourned until November 27.

Tiger Hunter Next In Travel Series

The "Tiger Man" is coming to Northville next week. Sasha Siemel was accorded this title by the natives of Brazil in respect for his courage and daring.

Tuesday evening he'll narrate the second of the Northville Rotary club's World Travel Series.

Entitled "White Hunter of Brazil", it is the story of Siemel's adventures as a professional hunter of big game in South America.

Siemel became world-famous as the central figure in Julian Dugid's books, "Green Hell" and "Tiger Man". He has thrilled thousands of travelogue-goers with his almost incredible stories and films.

Hunting jaguars, or tigers as they are generally known in South America, is his business. Each tiger destroys some 50 head of cattle a year. Ranchers pay Siemel to eliminate the tiger — and he has killed more than 270 of them since he settled in Matto Grosso after leaving his native Latvia at the age of 16 to tour the world and become a soldier of fortune.

The first of the six-travelogue series featured Robert Auburn in October. A limited number of season tickets still remain for those wishing to see the final five presentations.

Only season tickets will be sold. They are $5.00 each and may be obtained at Manufacturers National Bank office in Northville.

Schools to Host Parents During Education Week

Special P-TA programs will be held at Northville's four public schools next Wednesday and Thursday evenings in connection with the nationwide observance of American Education Week.

Both Main Street and Amerman Elementary schools will open their doors to parents on Wednesday at 8 p.m. Junior and senior high school programs will get underway at 8 p.m. on Thursday.

Themed "Your Schools: Time for a Progress Report", this year's November 5-12 observance marks the 41st annual celebration of American Education Week.

Increased emphasis has been placed this year on helping parents to understand the classroom techniques and concepts of the 1950's. Local education week programs, as well as those scheduled throughout the country, will focus on the modern school, the progress it has made, the shortcomings it is working to correct and the job it does in preparing the nation's youth for life in a democracy.

No single pattern is being followed in the special programs here.

A unique evening is planned at the high school. Parents are being invited to whiz through a capsule-size version of their child's regular, school-day schedule. Parents will attend a 15 minute homeroom session in the auditorium to hear Principal Fred Stefanski make a few brief announcements and introduce new teachers. Following remarks by the Reverend and Mrs. George Jerome, P-TA chairman at the high school the parents will be on their way to classes.

They will attend six 10 minute classroom sessions with four minutes between class bells. After the mock school day, refreshments will be served.

Wakenhut Moving
The engineering and surveying offices of Wynn W. Wakenhut will soon move from 202 West Main street to 124 North Center street.

Wakenhut is moving into the former Corbin Jewelry store. He expects to be open for business in his new location Monday.

Hospitalized
Dr. K. M. MacLeod, assistant superintendent of schools in Northville, is a patient at St. Mary's hospital in Livonia where he is to undergo surgery this week.

The same evening, junior high school parents will be able to visit their child's homeroom where teachers will discuss school plans and objectives for the coming year. Later, Principal Donald Van Ingen will introduce new teachers and review school policies. Refreshments will be served in the library.

Amerman Elementary school is planning an open house. Teachers will be stationed in each classroom to meet their students' parents and discuss procedures used in their classes. New teachers will be introduced by Principal Richard Kay who will also outline the educational structure for the coming months. Kay's talk will be followed by a social hour.

An informal talk by Principal Harry Smith is slated at Main Street Elementary. Smith will introduce new teachers and give a brief summary of school functions and teaching processes. A coffee hour will follow.

These special meetings have been planned in conjunction with the Parent-Teacher association and will replace the P-TA's regular November meeting.

Included in next week's Record will be the Northville school system's annual report, which this year bears the title of the American Education Week theme — "Your Schools: Time for a Progress Report". The section will tell the schools' story in terms of pictures, words and statistics.

Moms Begin Where Budget Ends

Northville's public schools have the next best thing to Cinderella's fairy godmother in the form of a 35-member service organization known as the Mother's Club.

While the club has never turned a pumpkin into a coach, at least not on record, it has throughout the years demonstrated adeptness for transforming wishes into realities.

The club's work begins where the school budget leaves off. For the most part, projects are selected from a list of suggestions submitted by each principal of the system's four schools.

Latest feats include the presentation of a check for $300 to the Northville high school choir for new robes and more than 100 hours of volunteer work preparing between 800 and 1,000 new library books for use in the resource center of the Amerman Elementary school.

Amerman Principal Richard Kay regards the latter accomplishment as "the most wonderful kind of thing the mothers could do."

"They have put us months ahead of the date on which all of these books would have finally reached the shelves," remarked Kay. "Without their help the books would have slowly trickled onto the shelves."

Kay pointed to the remarkable sacrifice the women had made in terms of time. The hours they volunteered to the task represent hundreds of dollars to the schools, Kay estimated. Equally important, he said, was the fact that each hour the mothers spent stenciling, stamping, typing, pasting and cataloging resulted in another hour in which the librarian, freed from these menial but time consuming jobs, could devote to helping students and teachers.

Making three and more trips to the center to help librarian Margaret Gyde and her assistant, Peg Smith, were Mrs. Robert Yoder, Mrs. Robert Beer-

NEWCOMER'S CORNER

"I look upon every day to be lost, in which I do not make a new acquaintance."

MARCH ADDITIONS — Spring newcomers to the Village Green were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne LeNeave. The couple and their two children, Randy, 2, and Courtney, five months, live at 552 Reed avenue. "Rookie" is their pet boxer.

"Rookie" may not be the most common name in the world for a dog, but that's the cute and clever monicker former American League baseball player Wayne LeNeave and his wife, Anita, have bestowed on their pet boxer.

LeNeave, now an insurance broker, was once a rookie himself in baseball's junior circuit. He was a catcher for the New York Yankees and former Washington Senators from 1955-59, and before that played ball in the farm systems of the Yankees, Senators and Giants.

It was baseball that took him to St. Cloud, Minnesota, where he met his wife, who at the time was studying elementary education at St. Cloud's Teacher's college.

The LeNeaves, now parents of two sons, Randy, 2, and Courtney, five months, are newcomers living at 552 Reed avenue in the Village Green. They moved here in March from Detroit, said Anita LeNeave, because they liked the beautiful scenery and country-like atmosphere of the locale.

Before retiring from her career in the classroom to become a fulltime housewife and mother, Mrs. LeNeave taught in Minnesota, Kalamazoo and Detroit. "I like to paint and sew," commented the homemaker, "but my family keeps me pretty busy now."

Her husband, now swinging a briefcase instead of a baseball bat, still keeps up with sports as a spectator and as a player. A native of Marion, Kentucky, he was brought up in Detroit. His wife's hometown is Clarissa, Minnesota.

Plymouth Home Expands; Auxiliary Asks for Help

Plymouth State Home and Training School auxiliary invites women interested in volunteer work to attend a "Coffee Open House" next Wednesday, November 8, from 10 a.m. to noon in the hospital lobby.

The get together is being held to acquaint interested persons with the various phases of volunteer service. An increasing number of volunteers is needed, reports the auxiliary, due to transfer of children from the Farmington Home.

Mrs. Arthur Hempe, director of "Lend Aid", Mrs. J. Bradley MacKimm and Mrs. Albert Spaeth, board members from Northville, will be present to answer questions.

A week from Monday — November 13 — the auxiliary will hold a general meeting at 8 p.m.

Civic Association Meets Tomorrow

Members of the Northville Estates Civic association will gather at the Hillside Inn, Plymouth, tomorrow evening, November 3, at 7:30 p.m. for their quarterly dinner and business meeting.

Duane Butler, association president, will welcome these new residents of the subdivision: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hineck, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Marzoni, and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Whitmyer.

Camping Specialist Named by Scouts

Mrs. Casper Enkemann, president of the Huron Valley Girl Scout council, which includes Northville, announces the appointment of Louise Taylor as the staff specialist in camping and camp development.

Miss Taylor comes from Lafayette, Indiana, where she has been the executive director of a nine-county Girl Scout council. Her new position has been created because of the Huron council's recent acquisition of several hundred acres of land in Livingston county for a future campsite and due to overall expansion of the camping program.

In her new job, Miss Taylor will advise the camping committee headed by Mrs. Charles Howe, of Ann Arbor.

Attends Convention

Ray D. Peltier, 38259 Tralee Trail, attended a convention of the National Association of Security Dealers and Investment Companies in New York City this week.

Peltier is vice president and treasurer of the R. F. Campeau Company, Inc., in Detroit.

Mustangs Trample Clarkston 52-0

JUST INTERESTED SPECTATORS? No, these are some of the parents of Northville Mustang football players as they watched their sons trample over the Clarkston Wolves 52-0 last Friday night. The parents were honored as traditional dad's night activities were enlarged to include player's mothers. Each mother received a long stemmed rose from her son, and each father wore his son's number on his back.

Jr. High Footballers Win, Lose Games

The Northville junior high football team closed out its season last Wednesday afternoon by losing 28-0 to Plymouth's junior high team.

Northville coach Bob Prom said the defeat was not surprising when the size of Plymouth's team is considered. Their players were all eighth graders, he added.

The week before, the Northville team beat Novi's junior high 7-0. Mark Cushing scored the Northville touchdown on a pass play, and Tom Baughman picked up the extra point with a quarterback sneak. Northville played a scoreless tie with Dublin in its only other game.

RUNNING HARD near the end of one his two electrifying 85 plus-yard runs last Friday against the Clarkston Wolves is Mustang halfback Dick Bathey. He sprinted once from his own 14 and once from the 13, reaching the one yard line on the first run and scoring a touchdown on the second.

Big Upsets Upset Mustang JV's Tie Clarkston

This was the week of upsets. Our previous football contest winner was Dick Croteau, who had a perfect score. But the big upsets last weekend, were such a surprise to everyone that our winner this week had four mistakes, and second place goes to an entrant who had five mistakes.

Most commonly-missed games were the service academies, the Iowa loss and the Kentucky loss. These were all teams the "experts" as well as our own bevy of prognosticators had picked to win.

Our winner this week was Chuck Turner, of 50,000 Nine Mile road, who took the $15 first prize but missed out on our $10 bonus because he didn't have a receipt dated last week from one of the sponsoring merchants listed in the contest.

Chuck is a 15-year-old ninth grader who loves all sports, but likes baseball best. He played football and baseball last year on the junior high school teams. He says he follows the professional teams in the papers. He has entered nearly every contest since we began, but has never won before.

Second prize went to Mrs. Fran Phillips, of 461 River street. She says her sporting interests are mainly basketball and baseball, which she has played in previous years. She adds that she usually guesses on the football contest. This is the first year she has entered the contest.

There are only three weeks left in the contest, so hurry and get your winners chosen. And don't forget about the bonus plan... it's worth $10 to the first place winner.

NORTHVILLE

With only one league game left in the season, Northville's Mustangs became indisputable leaders of the Wayne-Oakland league last Friday night as they honored their parents and wowed local fans by a 52-0 humiliation of the Clarkston Wolves.

The win puts the Mustangs on top with a 6-0 league standing. Tied thus far for second place are Bloomfield Hills and Holly, each with 4-2 records in league play.

Tomorrow night the Mustangs travel to Clarenceville to meet the fifth-placed Trojans. Last year Northville downed Clarenceville 27-7 to tie with Holly for second place in the league.

Friday's game started off pretty cool for Northville. Twice Clarkston recovered Mustang fumbles during the opening quarter to make one of their two marches into Northville territory.

The first fumble came on the second play of the game, when Mustang halfback Dennis Gilbert lost the ball while running off left tackle. The Wolves recovered on Northville's 41, and marched to the 23 before they were stopped.

Halfback Don Biery fumbled as he tried to go over right tackle on the first play after the Mustangs had taken over the ball. The Wolves recovered on the 43 and sent their powerful fullback Ron Bray against the Mustangs three times to march to the 29, where the Northville defense again contained Clarkston.

Carries by quarterback Steve Juday and halfback Tom Swiss brought the Mustangs to the Clarkston 17, where halfback Dick Bathey took the ball on a 17-yard run for Northville's first touchdown.

At the end of the first quarter Juday returned a Clarkston punt to their 41, and fullback Joe Hay carried twice to bring the Mustangs to the 24.

Juday then hit end Craig Bell with a pass that put the Mustangs on Clarkston's five yard line, and Hay went through the middle of the line for Northville's second score. The second quarter was not quite two minutes old at this point.

A 50-yard kick-off return by halfback Ron Applegate and a 19 yard pass play from Applegate's brother Mike to end Jerry

LET'S TALK CARS...

STORY OF BLOTZ'S TEETH

If we had to pick the most overworked word in the language of modern selling it would undoubtedly be that old reliable — "BARGAIN!" The dictionary defines it as more VALUE for your money. Unfortunately, it doesn't always work out that way.

Many people still confuse bargain with price and forget all about value. Obviously, the highest priced car on a dealer's lot might be the greatest bargain because it is worth more in relation to its price. The opposite could hold true of the lowest priced vehicle.

Truly, if a car was being offered at "below dealer cost" other dealers would buy it and sell it at a profit. A wise buyer checks quality and value with price — and the dealer's reputation for integrity.

I'm reminded of a story of a character called Blotz who refused to pay the $300 his dentist said a good set of false teeth would cost. He kept shopping until he finally found a set for $50.

Six months later, when a friend asked Blotz how his "bargain" teeth were working out, he related his experience:

"Just last week I was skin diving down in Florida when I saw a vicious shark coming at me. I turned to get out of the way and a giant barracuda approached from the other direction baring his teeth.

"There was the shark from one side and the barracuda from the other, both looking hungry. Well, that was the FIRST time in the last six months that I haven't had those $50 teeth on my mind."

ry Powell put Clarkston on the Northville 16 yard line. A pass interference penalty against Northville brought the Wolves to the six, but an interception by Hay prevented a Clarkston score and gave the ball to Northville on its own 14.

Bathey then electrified the fans with the first of two long runs by going over right tackle and dashing 85 yards to the Clarkston one yard line. Juday went over for the TD with a quarterback sneak.

The Wolves were unable to make a first down after receiving Northville's kick-off, and they punted to the Northville 19. Here Bathey took the ball on the same play as before and dashed 87 yards for the Mustangs' fourth touchdown. There were then four and one half minutes left in the first half.

A little over a minute later, Mustang co captain Jerry Bidle stole the ball from Clarkston on their 43 to set up Northville's next TD. Several plays later, Juday took the ball on a fourth down and dashed 34 yards for the fifth Mustang score. The first half ended a few plays later with Northville ahead 32-0.

Clarkston held the ball for two first downs during the start of the third quarter, but then had to punt to the Northville 24. Three pass plays of nine, 23 and 42 yards from Juday to Bell and end Dan Brown gave the Mustangs touchdown number six.

The Wolves were again forced to punt after receiving the Mustang kickoff, and the rest of the quarter was consumed by a long Northville march from their own 43 to the Clarkston nine.

Gilbert carried for the next Mustang TD, covering the nine yards on the first play of the final quarter. A successful extra point kick by Hay gave Northville a total of 46 points.

The last Northville score was set up midway through the fourth quarter when Juday received a Clarkston punt on the 50 and ran it back to the 36. A 24-yard run by quarterback Tom Slattery and a six-yard run by fullback Ron Rice took the Mustangs to the six, where halfback Bill Elwell went up the middle for the TD.

The rest of the fourth quarter was consumed by a Clarkston march to the Mustang 47, with Northville returning the ball to the Wolves' 25 before the gun sounded.

Northville's strong win is reflected in the statistics. The Mustangs gained 410 yards on the ground and 117 through the air. They lost only 18 yards on running plays and 26 through penalties.

The Wolves were held to 114 yards on the ground and 81 in the air. They lost 25 yards rushing and had penalties totaling 35 yards.

Juday completed four of 10 passes for 98 yards, and Slattery picked up an additional 18 with a one for eight record.

People Don't Want Assessments

I am basing the following statement of facts to you on just three words i.e.: WHY, WANTED and FORCED.

In politics, one usually can say anything they want to say and get away with it, but not in this case. I know, the citizens of our City are not so glib as to be swayed by the way certain members of our council are trying to sway us.

In order to establish facts in this proposed Special Assessment, let us analyze the word "WHY". Then you can readily see why none of our former Village or City Fathers up to the present administration did not saddle a Special Assessment on us since 1928, and rightly so.

Back in the twenties, a petition was circulated to have the majority of the citizens, living on unpaved streets, sign up to have those streets paved at a cost of 100% to those who wanted it. (Notice the word "WANTED".) A majority on Main from Center to Rogers; Thayer from Rogers to Orchard Drive; Eaton Drive from Thayer to Fairbrook, Cady from Main to Rogers; Dunlap from Rogers to Hutton; West from Dunlap to Main; High from Dunlap to Main; Wing from Cady to Randolph; Linden from Main to Dunlap; Church from Cady to Main; WANTED and signed those petitions and in turn got their streets paved.

However, owing to a flaw in the Special Assessment Procedure, those citizens only had to pay 25% of the 100% they were willing to pay. The Village had to pick up the tab on the 75% which involved One Hundred and Forty Thousand ($140,000) to one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) and all of which was paid out of the General Fund by the year of 1954. Some 228 Plaintiffs in 13 Chancery Actions brought suits against the village and by Court Decree over 90% of the families on these, then paved, streets took advantage of said flaw in the assessment. As a matter of fact no one had to pay any more than 25% of the cost.

The actual net result of the illegality in this flaw, was not that the great majority only paid 25% of the cost, but, the people had to float that tremendous bond issue and pay for it out of the general funds. This resulted in a very low Village budget during the payoff years and little money was left for street improvement. Therefore all the people, living on unpaved streets, had to suffer all the consequences that go therewith, and the people that had their streets paved had all the advantages thereof for all these years. If there ever was a case of equity it could and should be shown here for the unselfish citizens who paid that bond issue off at a tremendous inequity to themselves.

Further, some of the City Fathers have said that some of our citizens paid 100% for their pavings. How utterly untrue a statement like this is. Are they trying to play politics or are they trying to create trouble within our own Community? It certainly has to be one or the other. Or do they want us to be glib to their line of reasoning?

Those citizens could not possibly have paid 100% for their paving because they had also bought into a system that certainly cost someone some money. This system includes sewers, water, fire and police protection, the paying off of the aforesaid bond issue, also many other expenses such as the City's portion of Illinois Drive Cut-off, in the amount of thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000), twelve thousand dollars ($12,000) being the City's share for paving of a portion of Center street (which is a County road), and many others I could mention.

Again, they say some people have paid nothing to have their streets paved. This statement is just as ridiculous as stating some paid 100% for their paving.

Most of the people, now living on unpaved streets or who have had their streets paved out of the General Funds, are citizens who have lived here for ten (10), twenty (20), thirty (30) years or a lifetime. As a result before their street was paved or will be paved, they either put into or will have put into the General Fund a substantial amount of money. Plus the fact, they have lived on unpaved streets a good many years. That in itself, with all of its inconvenience, would certainly make some kind of monetary consideration toward the paving of a street.

I might add that we, the people living on unpaved streets, did not object to the paving of streets out of the General Fund as set down by our wise and efficient former Village and City Fathers, and we do not object to the paving of the balance of unpaved streets under this method, in the future.

BUT, what we do object to is the way some of the council, are trying to force this assessment upon us, ignoring the fact that we have helped others all these years.

Yes, there is a difference between the words "WHY", "WANTED" and "FORCED". Fighting for you as ever,

Earl L. Reed

Kids Need Trades

To the Editor:

The School Board talks about remedial reading, culture, art, etc., but the most neglected subjects are law and trades. Juvenile delinquency could be curbed if the basic laws as to individual rights were taught in grade schools.

Trades are a must for the school curriculum, because all children are not suited for college, but are suited for trades that are much needed in our way of life in this country.

If children were taught their constitutional rights, Mr. Ambinder, President of the Novi School Board statement of October 19, that appeared in this paper as to religious observances for the coming holidays would not go unchallenged.

You will hear from me on this subject later. Mr. Ambinder be ready because you might have to take back your state ment.

Company Reports

Rate Reduction

Many Northville area residents, who have full coverage protection on their cars with State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company, will be getting a decrease in their insurance bills, according to Paul F. Polino, State Farm agent here.

Polino said that new rates put into effect by his company November 6 would cut $371,000 from the cost of insurance for State Farm policyholders in Michigan.

"Policyholders who have liability, comprehensive, collision and medical payment coverages will notice the biggest reductions," Polino said. He reported most people carrying only liability coverage would notice no change or a slight increase.

LLOYD H. GREEN POST 147
By Kenneth Tregear

The Lloyd H. Green Post 147 of the American Legion will have its Annual Pancake Breakfast on Veterans Day, November 11, from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. Also, in conjunction with Veterans Day, the annual Flag Burning ceremony will be held at 7 p.m. Anyone having an unserviceable flag should drop it off at the Post Home so that it may be disposed of in a proper and fitting manner. Following the Flag Burning ceremony, new members will be initiated by the 17th District Ritual team.

The Post also wishes to announce that a Feather Party will be held at the Post Home on Wednesday evening, November 15, at 8 p.m.

This Post would also like to bring to the attention of the general public a letter which was printed in the October, 1961 issue of the American Legion Magazine, as follows: "An Answer To The Propagandists Promoting Disarmament".

On August 5 a group of students at the University of Wisconsin staged a demonstration to "call attention to the bombing of Hiroshima," and to "the wrong our country committed 16 years ago." In response to this, Gordon Roseleip, Past Department Commander of The American Legion, wrote an open letter as an eloquent reply to the propagandists who use the Hiroshima bombing as an argument in their demands that we give up our nuclear weapons. We urge Post members to read this and show copies to friends and neighbors.

'Bobby' Was Big Hit

ELEMENTARY school youngsters crowded around the stage to meet the cast at the close of the first performance of "Bobby and the Space Trip" Saturday afternoon at the Northville high school auditorium. Nearly 700 children enjoyed the play performance by the Millan Children's Theatre group sponsored by the Northville Parent-Teachers association. Featuring adult actors, the two-act play portrayed a "trip through space" to the planets of "Be-do", "Go-do" and "I-do" for Bobby and his two friends.

Here's Outline of Effects, Costs in City Incorporation

EDITOR'S NOTE: On March 12 the residents of Novi will again vote on whether or not they wish to become a city. As a public service, this paper is presenting a series of background articles on the issues and alternatives. The information for these articles has been compiled from materials furnished by the Michigan Municipal League. Each article is presented as a factual report, and is not intended to reflect an opinion of the newspaper.

Local governmental activities in Michigan are divided into two broad classes based upon the type of activity performed. These two activity types include certain duties required of local governmental units by the State, and local services the individual communities provide for themselves.

The state-imposed duties include assessing property as a basis of county and school taxes; collecting these taxes conducting county, state and national elections, serving as a district for representation on the county board of supervisors and providing a local court system.

The local services which each community may provide include such ones as fire and police protection, water and sewerage disposal facilities, zoning and public health.

Cities and townships are the primary local units of government. These two furnish both the state-required duties and, in varying degrees, the local services.

A village is not a primary local unit, but is an incomplete government furnishing only local services. A village's area is part of the township, its residents are also township residents and the township government provides the state-imposed duties for itself and the village.

Whenever a village or other township area incorporates into a city, its area is withdrawn from the township for all governmental purposes.

Thus the change from village to city, as would be the case in Novi, merely means withdrawal from the township and provision, through the new city government, of the local services formerly provided by the village, as well as the required duties of the township.

The effects and costs of a village's separation from a township directly involve these services and duties, which must be assumed by the new city. The remainder of this article will deal with the effect and cost of assuming these functions.

PROPERTY ASSESSMENTS in a village are made by both the village and the township. This unnecessary duplication of governmental activity exists because the township collects county and school taxes, while the village collects tax revenues for its local service operations. Upon incorporation, all property is assessed only once for collection of all taxes of the city, county and school district.

There are several important advantages in having only one city assessment. First is the convenience and saving in cost of eliminating the duplication of separate township and village assessments. Second, the assessor or board of review would be responsible only to the citizens of the city.

Another advantage is the escape from the possibility of township assessing village property at a higher figure than rural property, thereby forcing village residents to pay a disproportionately high share of school, county and township taxes.

The cost of property assessments by the city would involve no increase over the village's cost because the complete assessment is already being made for village purposes. It might even create a saving because taxes would not have to include the cost of a separate assessment made by the township.

TAX COLLECTION on village property for county and school taxes is performed by the township, and would have to be taken over by the new city. The city would continue to collect the taxes already levied by the village.

Assuming the collection of county and school taxes would probably involve an increase in cost for the new city, because the village does not make these collections. The cost, however, would be no more than the cost of having the township make these collections, and would probably be a little less, since it would not mean the maintenance of separate offices and staffs.

CONDUCTING ELECTIONS for county, state and national officers is done by the township and would be an added duty the new city would have to assume. The main effect would be convenience for the voter, since he would have to register only once and would vote in only one place for all elections. The village already keeps registration records for local elections, and the change to city would eliminate the inconvenience to the voter of having to make a separate registration with the township.

The elimination of the township registration records would constitute a saving, since the village already maintains the complete registration. The new city's cost of conducting the elections would be additional to the village's cost, but would be small.

CITY REPRESENTATION on the county board of supervisors would be greater and more direct than that of the village. As a village, the only representative is the township supervisor. The city, however, has its own representative, and is entitled to more representatives as it grows in population.

The advantage here is that the city's representative is more directly interested in the city area than is the township supervisor in the village area. A separate representative insures both the presentation of the city's viewpoint on matters of concern to city residents and equalization of city and township property assessments.

Since city supervisors, like township supervisors, are paid by the county, there would be no cost to the city.

A LOCAL COURT system, to replace the township justice of the peace, is another service the new city would have to take over. The form of the city court would be determined by the charter commission, and could be either a fee-paid justice or a salary-paid justice.

The latter is thought more advantageous because it removes much of the incentive for abuse often found under the fee system, the court becomes a definite part of the city government, the justice could be required to be an attorney and civil jurisdiction may be increased to provide greater convenience for local citizens.

The fee-paid justice in either city or township is no expense to the government. The salary-paid justice could be paid a salary based on the average of returns from fees, making his services of no expense to the city.

'Let Child Overcome Fear' — Dr. Mudd

Dear Dr. Mudd:

My husband and I have never had any trouble with our three children until recently. Our youngest, a boy who is four, has suddenly become very frightened about thunder and lightning.

I tried to reassure him, but it doesn't do any good.

Every time there is thunder and lightning at night, he runs into our bedroom just terrified and about the only thing that will calm him down is for me to hold him. I am six months pregnant now and my husband read somewhere that this is why he gets so scared.

Signed Mrs. R.

Dear Mrs. R.:

What you describe as the fear of thunder and lightning is a rather common neurotic symptom. As the child struggles to mature, the job is sometimes temporarily too difficult for him and he may develop as a protection against an unknown anxiety within himself, such a defensive symptom.

In the large number of instances, this will be temporary and as the child masters his unconscious conflict, the protecting symptom will likewise disappear. I'm afraid your husband either misread, or the author of the information that your son is experiencing this phobia because you are now pregnant, is overgenerous in his interpretation. It may be true, but at best it would be a partial truth for all symptoms have multiple reasons for their existence, and all these reasons are exquisitely personal and individual.

No two persons are alike except in the most superficial and unimportant way, and hence what would be true for one person would not necessarily be true for another.

Do not be too anxious to get your child into psychiatric treatment, but give him a chance to work this through on his own. He'll be the better for it.

Sincerely yours,
Sandor Mudd, M.D.

Written by a psychiatrist of this area, "Dr. Mudd Replies" deals with family problems typical of those confronted daily. He attempts to answer them as he would in his office. When special treatment appears necessary, he so advises. You are invited to send stating she felt the paving in front of her property should be paid for out of the general fund.

Sydney Frid stated he felt the sewer situation in Oakwood Subdivision should take priority over any other work to be done in the city, as the condition which now exists is a health hazard which should be corrected. He informed the council that Oakland County had equipment, that could locate the source of the trouble and could take pictures of same. Mayor Allen instructed the City Manager to check with Oakland County about this equipment.

Mgr. Potthoff asked for approval of the city council to reinvest the $147,169.04, principal and interest received from sale of Community Bldg. Moved by Carlson, supported by Ambler, that he be given authority to make such investment. Carried.

Regarding the taxicab situation, the licenses for operating the cabs were issued to Johnnie Tackett and cannot be transferred to another operator. It has been found that only one of the two cabs being used is covered with insurance, and the cabs were issued to Johnnie Tackett, who has left the city. Meeting will be held on October 31 with the present operators to get this situation straightened out.

The first item of new business was the rezoning of the hospital property at 520 W. Main St. from R-2 to R-3. The original request to have this property rezoned was turned down by the Planning Commission, and an appeal has been filed to have another ruling on this matter. A letter will be written to Mr. Burdick to contact the Planning Commission with specific plans and specifications with regard to parking provisions, etc., and a copy of the letter will be sent to the Planning Commission. Moved by Juday, supported by Carlson, that the city council follow the recommendations of the Planning Commission in denying the original request, and that be again taken up as above outlined. Carried.

Moved by Allen, supported by Juday, to advertise for a public hearing on the rezoning of property between 8-Mile Rd. and a parallel line approximately 1/2 mile north from Beck road to the old city limits, to R-1 designation, same to be held Nov. 6, 1961, at 8:00 p.m. Carried.

Moved by Juday, supported by Ambler, that the City Manager be authorized to advertise for bids on a new police car, with the 1960 police car as a trade-in. Carried.

Moved by Carlson, supported by Juday, that a resolution be adopted granting Bruce K. Potthoff access to the city's safety deposit box. Carried.

Moved by Ambler, supported by Carlson, that the following resolution be adopted: "IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED that there be no parking allowed on the north side of E. Dunlap street from No. Center street to the east side of the driveway immediately to the east of the Edison Building." Carried.

Moved by Carlson, supported by Ambler, that the recommendation by the City Manager and Chief of Police that the parking on Hutton street from the corner of Rayson south to the first driveway be removed to accommodate safer turning movements, and that the remainder of the existing parking be restricted by the placement of signs stating "No parking 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. except Sundays and holidays" be adopted. Carried.

Bids on Dump Truck Chassis were received from:
G. E. Miller Sales & Service Net Cost $3,540; Rathbun-Chevrolet Sales, Net Cost $3,815; John Mach Ford Sales, Net Cost $3,200.

Moved by Ambler, supported by Canterbury, that if the John Mach Ford Sales meets the specifications of the bid and the requirements of the Public Works Dept., that the City Manager be authorized to make the purchase. Carried.

Moved by Juday, supported by Canterbury, that if the John Mach Ford Sales bid is accepted, that the City Manager be authorized to advertise for Dump Truck Body, requesting a specific date of delivery. Carried.

Councilman Ambler reported on the problem of traffic at Allen drive and Novi road, and the Police Dept. will be instructed to make a survey at this intersection.

There being no further business, meeting was adjourned. Signed Mary Alexander, Clerk

SPEAKING for the Record

by Bill Slinger

For a change of pace — no opinions, needles or crusades this week.

Instead, a few brighter and lighter items observed during the course of the week.

D. J. Stark, former township clerk who now keeps busy by selling real estate hereabouts, tells me that our long fall season has given business a boost.

House sales in Northville are definitely up, Stark says, pointing out that usually slow-moving older homes are selling better. Local real estate agents have had more inquiries from people wishing to move into the community as well as an upswing in residents moving from one house to another within the community.

This story came to me second-hand from Amërman school. We like it because it just proves that the family of the youngster involved had been reading this newspaper.

It happened in Miss Margaret Sours' fifth grade class. On October 24, United Nations Day, she asked if any youngster knew what important event was being observed that day.

A hand shot up immediately with the reply: "the new Kroger store is opening!"

Speaking of youngsters' remarks, the other night I heard a series of chuckles and finally outright laughter coming from our living room.

Curious, I looked in to see my wife — usually quite normal — breaking up over an article she was reading in McCall's. It turned out to be a preview of Art Linkletter's new book, "Kids Still Say the Darndest Things". It's a copyright story in the October issue. We'll risk a suit to pass along a few of the remarks that soon had me joining in the laughter.

How would you describe a kangaroo?

"Like a great big mouse with a pocket in its stomach."

A seven-year-old boy said he'd like to be a bird more than anything in the world "because you could fly anywhere you want to, and you never have to stop, not even to go to the bathroom."

Why do you suppose seals have whiskers?

"Because they don't shave."

What's the bravest thing you ever did?

"I saved my cat from strangling to death."

How did you do that?

"I didn't give him some chicken bones."

What's the most important thing to remember on a farm?

"Don't milk a bull."

(To a little boy who wanted to become a doctor) What would you do if somebody broke his neck?

"The main thing when you get the head back on is to make sure you get the nose pointed in the right direction."

A little boy told his mother he had won a prize in school.

"Teacher asked me how many legs a hippopotamus has, and I said three."

"Three?" said his mother. "How on earth could you have won the prize?"

"I came the closest."

And an assortment of answers that teachers get:

Who was Joan of Arc? — "Noah's wife."

What was George Washington known as? — "George."

Who defeated the Philistines? — "I don't know, if they don't play the Dodgers, I don't keep track of them."

Who led the Children of Israel out of Egypt? — after long silence the teacher finally pointed to a boy in the back of the room who answered — "It wasn't me, ma'am, we just moved here from Tulsa."

And finally, "what vision did Saul have on the road to Damascus?"

After a long silence, a boy spoke up timidly:

"Twenty-twenty."

Get Bank Habit

Babson Park, Mass., My colony today is addressed to young people getting married, or to those in a position to advise couples starting out in life. Newlyweds should place at least a part of their joint savings, after buying essential furniture, in straight life insurance. When they are young, they can get such insurance without difficulty and at a moderate rate.

Next, I recommend building up credit and establishing good will at a local bank. It is a wise move to rent a small safe-deposit box for jewelry and important papers, including wills. Don't forget to make wills, even if you haven't much capital.

It is important to keep a reasonable deposit in your local bank for emergencies, — and a portion for possible later investment when conditions are less clouded and you have more funds. After you put money in the bank, don't withdraw it until the proper time comes, and then only after careful consideration. Think of your bank account as sacred, not to be disturbed except for these pre-considered contingencies.

The young may think the idea unimportant, but there is no better way of building up a reputation for thrift, honesty, and hard work than by starting a bank account and making regular deposits. Become acquainted with an officer of the bank and speak to him every time you go in, so that he will come to know you and will be able to give you a good reference if you need one.

Getting to know bank officials can be as valuable to you as your bank-account interest payments. During the bank-closing emergency in the 1930's practically all the weaker banks were done away with, so that financial institutions today are in a safe and profitable position. This brings me to the question of bank stocks, which I recommend as an investment — particularly the stock of your local bank with which you do business. Practically any local bank could be liquidated for more than its published assets, so that you as a stockholder would probably get more than you paid for your shares. Five or ten shares of such stock would probably be one of the very best investments for a young married couple.

If you are going to put more than a moderate sum into bank stocks, it would be wise to get the Annual Reports from at least two or three banks and go over them carefully. Any bank will give you an Annual Report, whether you are a customer or not, and in most states these reports must be published in the papers every year.

After my father's death, I recall finding a scrapbook in which were pasted all the Annual Reports of our hometown Gloucester banks, clipped from the Gloucester Daily Times.

Most people look for the bank with the largest deposits, but let me give you a hint about this. When bankers talk to me about their "large deposits," I always say, "Well, you certainly owe a good deal of money!"

Because it should be realized that a bank's deposits represent money that must be paid back to the depositors sooner or later. Therefore, when appraising bank statements, be sure to subtract the deposits from the total assets to find out what would be left for the stockholders.

No Veterans in Con-Con

The state constitutional convention adopted a great many of its rules for procedure from practices followed in the Michigan Legislature, but one deviation, due to the nature of the Con-Con, was both a blessing and a burden.

This is the problem of committee chairmanships. In the Legislature a complicated seniority system, built up through long practice and more or less strictly observed, determines who shall preside over various committees.

But, as Con-Con president Stephen S. Nisbet often said, all the convention delegates are freshmen.

Committee chairmen, therefore, were rather arbitrary selections made by Nisbet and his three vice-presidents, George Romney, Edward Hutchinson and Tom Downs.

Since no delegate felt he could claim a chairmanship as a matter of right, there were few complaints about the men chosen to lead the committees, although there was some grumbling about committee assignments in general.

The potential danger in the Con-Con method of selecting chairmen will come when action of the convention is readied for voters. Almost sure to be raised by somebody is the question of whether different chairmen would have produced different decisions on the basic law subject matter.

Generally speaking, the State of Michigan has plenty of everything. Except, of course, money to run its government.

Few would find fault with the "land of plenty" concept as applied to Michigan because an abundance of manufactured goods, agricultural products, scenic and recreational areas, water, skilled workers and investment capital is all around. But once, some 90 years ago,

Michigan was in trouble because of a shortage of one of the most common items known to man: stone.

Nowadays, the only major lack that makes a splash in the Water Wonderland is lack of jobs. Or, as during the infamous "cash crisis" of 1959, lack of money for government.

But in order to get a state Capitol, Michigan had to go to Ohio. When plans for a structure of stone to replace the old frame building which had existed prior to 1871 were complete, a search was undertaken for materials.

Michigan had fine stone, but not enough of any one color to build its seat of government building.

So the three-man Board of Building Commissioners, headed by Gov. Henry Baldwin, sent to Ohio in 1871 and selected an Ohio sandstone for construction of the Capitol.

Many Michigan products went into the Capitol, even if the main outside material was from a southern neighbor. Perhaps even the iron which went into some of the girders and furnishings of the Capitol and dome was produced from ore mined in the Upper Peninsula.

It's not often that any phase of government gets a chance to go back to the beginning and start over.

But this happened recently in connection with voter registration.

tions in two Upper Peninsula communities. Over a period of many years, and through long standing, although improper practices, the situation became thoroughly fouled up.

It might be technically illegal, but state and local officials working together have started a salvage job without any ill feeling or thought of criminal action. Obviously there was never any real intent to break the law.

There is a multitude of lessons for officials charged with supervising voting procedures and for "just plain" citizens.

The problems in the two Houghton county villages were mostly improper signatures on voter registration cards. Apparently nobody ever bothered to find out the proper way to handle the signature cards, so things just went along for years with no change.

All the requirements and procedures are spelled out in the state election law, which is admittedly somewhat vague, complicated, ambiguous and generally difficult.

The violations discovered in the Upper Peninsula, however, were not caused by problems of understanding election law.

They were simply improper procedures perpetuated through the years, probably because the system seemed to be working all right.
