What Can We Do in '62?

Community Leaders Outline Ideas for Future Progress

With the new year barely opening its eyes The Record attempts this week to look ahead to see what 1962 might hold for the community of Northville.

Ten residents, all active in community affairs, were asked the same question: "What would you like to see undertaken or accomplished in Northville during 1962?"

Their answers all hold out hope for better things for the community, but strangely, only two hit exactly upon the same project.

Just to keep tabs, we'll make a "progress report" on their suggestions in six months and at the end of the year!

A. M. ALLEN, mayor of the city of Northville — "I would hope that during the year 1962 the council could come up with a definite street improvement program.

"We are often asked by residents, 'when is our street to be paved?'"

"It's been difficult to give any kind of an answer — for several reasons. Mainly, an emergency improvement comes along and takes precedence over an older street that should be higher on the schedule. But now I believe most of these have been completed.

"There are many other important projects for the community — including a new post office. But if we could establish a schedule of street improvements, I would feel that we had accomplished an important project.

RUSSELL AMERMAN, superintendent of public schools — "I have two matters in mind. The most important, I believe, is the formation of our proposed economic development committee. Such a group working for the rest of

of the community offers our best hope for the future.

"Secondly, although I have not been personally involved in the problem, is the matter of a hospital authority. I do not know whether or not it is possible — or best — to join an existing authority or to form a new one. But it seems unfortunate to me that better hospital facilities are not immediately available to us. I think it would be worthwhile if someone would provide a total exposure of our area hospital needs."

JOHN CANTERBURY, senior city councilman and mayor pro tem — "I considered the importance of expediting the urban renewal study, the off-street parking program and other areas of capital planning, but have concluded that the permanent economic development committee becoming an active and effective organization is the most important, single thing to be done.

"It can encourage and help motivate all constructive improvement programs and importantly will be aimed at providing a means to pay for necessary public expenditures of all types."

REVEREND PAUL CARGO, pastor of the First Methodist church — "Because the present public library is inadequate in its building and facilities, and because a good library is an asset to the people of the community, I think something should be done to make an improvement.

"Northville needs a library worthy of the name and worthy of Northville.

"Why shouldn't it be a part of a proposed civic center or city hall project? I picture good facilities at the ground level facing Cady street in a new city hall building at its present site."

GEORGE L. CLARK, Northville Township Supervisor — "It is my opinion that Northville Township should continue to make progress toward its goal of maintaining our community as a desirable place in which to live.

"In 1961 we worked toward this objective by (1) establishing a Township Planning Commission, (2) revised our Swimming Pool Ordinance, (3) started work on a Sewer and Water Ordinance, (4) began revision of our Building Code, and (5) started revision of our Sign Ordinance.

"In 1962 we expect to complete the ordinances which were started last year. We also expect our new planning commission to make recommendations to the township board for the improvement of our community, including the revision of our Zoning Ordinance.

"We are fortunate to have developed a fine governmental team of officers, township board members, township planning commission members, and others associated with our township government, all of whom are hard at work in helping to develop plans which will better protect our community.

"We are in agreement that we should tighten our zoning ordinance, and to require more rigid building restrictions, so when sub-dividers come into our area, we will be ready to tell them what our restrictions are in regard to land use, and building requirements. They will then build homes which are acceptable to our way of living.

A. R. CLARKE, vice president, Manufacturers National Bank — "In 1962 I would like to see a real start made towards the development of facilities for an expanded recreational program in Northville.

"These facilities might eventually include a swimming pool, skating rink, tennis and badminton courts in addition to new quarters for scout activities.

"The first step would be a master plan so that development would be in an orderly manner with part of this program undertaken as separate projects."

SIDNEY FRID, city representative on the Oakland county board of supervisors and former council member — "If I had anything to do with the management of our city, I would reorganize our public works department.

"We have eight public works employees and a supervisor. I would divide the department into four divisions, making two men specialists on sewer care, two for water mains, two for odds and ends and repairs, and two for parks and grounds.

"Naturally, in the case of an emergency all eight could be switched to one job. But with better organization I believe we could do more things. For one, I would have more flowers and trees planted to liven things up. Also, I'd like to see some benches for older people to sit on and relax in the summer time.

"I'm not trying to be critical of anyone, but I think we could get more done without having to hire specialists all the time."

BRUCE POTTHOFF, Northville city manager — "From a fundamental standpoint, my biggest concern is that we establish definite goals.

"What do we want our community to be? This is a question we must answer. After we have determined the course we are to follow, we can institute a program of procedure.

"In comparing Northville to other communities, we haven't lagged behind. But to keep our comparative position, we will have to be energetic — the competition will be stiff. When we know what we want for the community, it will then be a matter of forgetting individual desires and working together to reach our goal."

NELSON C. SCHRADER, owner of Schrader's Home Furnishings — "I believe that we, as merchants, must develop our shopping center. We have a well-rounded community with good schools, churches and adequate planning for the future within the committees of city and township governments.

"Now it seems proper to offer a more diversified shopping center. We have a good bank and two fine supermarkets, but there are facilities that we lack to provide a complete shopping center for the growing population in the area.

"This, I believe, is the responsibility of the businessmen in town. We cannot expect shoppers to ask for services we do not have. We must provide the missing links and then they'll do a greater share of their shopping locally."

ROBERT SHAFER, school board president — "My foremost community activity at present is with our school system, and because of this the new year's accomplishments within our school system are likewise of most immediate interest to me.

"This is not to infer, however, that I believe the concerns of the school system are paramount or necessarily in any of greater import than those matters directly served by either city or township officials.

"We are cognizant, of course, of the ever present requirement for fulfillment of a good education for all children in our school system, and must continue the pursuit of that end. Recognizing this, there are certain segments of this school activity we hope to see as true accomplishments this coming year.

"One item of hoped for satisfactory accomplishment for this new year is the initial year's teacher's salary plan in which we hope for considerable improvement in remuneration of teachers, consistent with their capabilities and demonstrated efforts.

"Another item, although being a desire for extra curricular student program but very essential to that program, is the lighting and equipping of seating for our athletic field. It is the revenue produced from spectator sports that allows the financing of these sports programs. The provision of lights and seating is not an easy program, considering no tax monies are anticipated to be made available for this project. Yet realizing the necessity of spectator revenue for the support of extra curricular sports, we must proceed and accomplish."

RECORD-NEWS WANT AD 15 Words — Only 80c Call FI 9-1700 Deadline — Tuesday Noon

Adult Education At Mid-Semester

Northville public schools' adult education department issued its second semester call this week with the announcement that registration opens next Tuesday.

Teacher William Hensch, who directs the adult program, said that registrations for the 12-week courses may be made at the city hall, in the township the deadline without penalty is February 28. Treasurer Terrill is in the office of Manufacturers National Bank each Tuesday and Friday to accept payments.

If enough interest is shown, sewing and typing classes will also be held.

"We can provide any adult education class desired, but we must average at least 12 to the class," Hensch explained.

Classes meet each Tuesday for two hours and continue from January 16 through mid-April. Hensch said that interested adults can come to the high school office, call him at FI 9-3400 or simply come to the first class night of the second semester and register then.

SMILING THROUGH the window of the Old Mill restaurant where the first March of Dimes poster was displayed last Saturday are: (l. to r.) Stanley Gurney, publicity chairman for the Jaycees; Mrs. Howard Mitchell, Old Mill owner; and William Bingley, chairman of the annual campaign for the Jaycees.

No news is good news — for any prospective parent hoping to win the 1962 "First Baby" contest.

So far there has been no report of a baby being born to parents residing in Northville or Novi in the new year.

A host of prizes await the winner. Deadline for reporting the birth is Friday (January 5) at 5 p.m.

But if there is no reported new arrival by that time, judges will extend the time limit.

Novi Northville - Novi area merchants offer the new arrival a variety of gifts in the sixth annual contest.

All births should be reported to The Northville Record office.

The March of Dimes campaign machinery shifted into high gear this week as William Bingley, general chairman for the sponsoring Junior Chamber of Commerce organization, outlined the month-long program.

Mayor A. M. Allen made the annual drive official by proclaiming January "March of Dimes Month" in Northville.

Mrs. H. Lorne Dyer was named to head up the January 30 "Mothers March" and was busy organizing her area captains.

In other appointments announced by Bingley, LaGene Quay was named school events chairman; Stanley Gurney, publicity chairman, and Robert Norton, coin collectors and dime board chairman.

Saturday members of the Jaycees distributed posters and collection canisters to business places throughout the community.

In addition to the Mothers March and annual "Peanut Sale" by the high school student council members, Bingley stated that there would be two other special events this year.

On January 10 a skating party will be staged at Riverside Arena in Livonia. Proceeds of the "Skate so that others May Walk" party will go to assist in the battle against crippling diseases. Time of the party is from 8 p.m. until 11 p.m. and Bingley said that tickets may be obtained from any member of the high school student council.

Finally, on January 24 the Jaycees will face the faculty of Northville schools in a benefit basketball game. Exact time and place of the game will be announced later.

In Novi 88 Years

Oldster Recalls Events of Past

William D. Flint, who says he's sorry to report he's the oldest man in Novi, sat down last week in the front room of his large home at 27757 Novi road to talk about the community that has been his home during his entire 88 years.

The cold snap that sent thermometer indicators plummeting to near 12 degrees that evening reminded him of the winter of 1904-05, which he says was the worst Novi has had in his memory.

"I was hauling apples to the Detroit market," he said, "having stored them in the cellar since summer. On the first of December, I had my horses shod with cork shoes so they could keep their footing in the snow and ice. It started snowing that day and kept right on snowing all winter. Those horses never wore out their corks that winter, and that was the only time I didn't need to have them reshod before spring."

Talk of wintertime reminded Mr. Flint of travel conditions at the turn of the century. Springtime was worst, he said, because sleigh runners often became stuck in the mixture of soft, wet snow and mud.

He remembered one spring when he was leading a string of sleighs loaded with goods for the Detroit market. He said there was a bad dip in Grand River between Novi and Redford, which was an easy place to become stuck.

"As I started down the dip," he said, "I urged my horses to hurry so I wouldn't have to stop before I reached the top on the other side. I whistled at my team and turned to warn Bud Jones, an uncle of Township Supervisor Frazer Staman, but he wasn't quick enough, and his team stalled near the bottom of the dip.

"The evener on the hitch broke when his horses tried to pull the sleigh loose, and all the men behind Bud had to wait until he could go to the next farm to borrow a new one."

But winters weren't all bad, he added. There used to be races up and down Grand River on Saturday afternoons, he said, and farm people from all over the township would gather with their horse-and-cutters for several hours of fun.

"I GUESS travel was pretty rugged any time of the year," Mr. Flint mused. He explained that Grand River was the only graveled road in the township. All the rest of Novi's roads were two-rut dirt tracks with a horse path down the middle, he said.

From Redford east, the road was made of planks, he added, that continued to the pavement on Grand Boulevard. And it was then a toll-road, he said.

"It used to cost one cent a mile for each horse I paid 84 cents every time I took a team to Detroit and back."

But the automobile changed many things, Mr. Flint said. The first car to come to Novi was an old steamer that stopped in front of Charley Wight's post office and general store on the southwest corner of Novi road and Grand River in 1900.

"By 1906, you'd see one every once in a while," he said. "It used to be a short novelty to watch them come up the road at night time with their acetylene lights bouncing along in the dark. But now it's a novelty to see a horse and sleigh or a horse and wagon."

The first pavement outside of Detroit was installed in 1912, he remembered. It was nine feet wide and ran eastward from Redford.

There were many other changes, he said. For many years there was a hotel on the northeast corner of Novi road and Grand River, but that was torn down so that a gas station could be built.

And kitty-corner from the hotel was the old town pump, he said. It had a large wooden head and pump handle, and water spilled down into a trough for watering horses. But it was all covered over, he said, and now another gas station stands where it used to be.

The automobile has also brought other conveniences, Mr. Flint pointed out. In the horse-and-buggy days, he said, someone had to be sent in to fetch the doctor if a member of the family became ill. Many doctors didn't drive horses, and most of those who did wouldn't drive them at night. But now you just have to step to the phone, he said, and the doctor will drive into your yard in just a few minutes.

ANOTHER result of the automobile age was the passing of the blacksmith, he said. Novi's first settler was a blacksmith, who had a shop on what would now be the corner of Taft road and Grand River, he said.

"He came from New York in 1830, just a little while before my grandfather came west," he said. "I used to go to his shop when I was just a lad to watch him pound things out of metal with his great strength. I also used to go up to his house and watch his wife make rugs and other kinds of cloth on a big weaving machine."

The automobile had its lighter sides, too, Mr. Flint remembered. Fred Simmons, whose son George now lives at 46320 West 10 Mile road, had a new roadster he used to drive to the Detroit market, he said.

"One afternoon he stopped in Redford for dinner on his way home, and when he came out he cranked and cranked but couldn't get his car started. So he called a mechanic — we called them 'experts' in those days — and the man came all the way from Detroit on the inter-urban. As soon as he arrived, he looked in the car and asked 'where's the key?' It turned out that Fred had the key in his pocket."

Mr. Flint pointed out that the automobile has made it easier for the kids to get to school. When he went to high school in Northville in the late 1880's, he said, he used to go to the train depot and hitch a ride on the hand car by helping the section hands pump down to Northville. It was fun going, he said, because it was mostly downhill, but coming back was hard work. Now, he noted, school children can ride buses.

The first automotive power he used in his apple business was a two-cylinder Buick truck he bought in 1912. Before that, he said, he had driven his produce to market in horse-drawn wagons and sleighs for nine years. He used trucks for the rest of his 40 years as an apple grower, he said.

Another effect of the automobile was higher wages, he said. When Henry Ford started paying his employees $5 a day, after World War I, he explained, labor prices everywhere were doubled and tripled. "That made a lot of difference in the profits from all products, including apples," he said.

PRECEDING the automobile by a few years was the bicycle, he said. This invention marked the beginning of what Mr. Flint termed the "fast ages." He explained that it made travel over short distances fast, easy and cheap.

"People began buying them in the late 1890's," he said, "and they remained the popular mode of transportation until the automobile edged them out 10 to 15 years later."

One of the favorite evening activities of that period was riding down to the train depot to wait for the mail, he said. All the youngsters would gather there shortly before 7 p.m., and then go for a ride after they received the mail.

Other businesses that Mr. Flint remembers in Novi include Sackner's tile factory and Vogt's saw mill. The tile factory was located west of the railroad viaduct, he said, but now the ground is all leveled off so that you'd never know anything was ever there.

The saw mill was on Novi road south of the railroad tracks, he added. John Vogt ran it for many years, he said. But his son Frank didn't continue the business. Frank, he said, liked to fish, and he started a business of supplying Detroit hotels with frogs' legs.

"He became so busy that he cleaned all the frogs out of Mud Pond. Before he started, that pond was so filled with big bullfrogs that you could hear them croaking every summer evening from a mile away."

Woman's Club Speaker Is Wife, Mother, Writer

Miry Church, guest lecturer at Woman's club tomorrow afternoon, practices what she preaches

Embracing the belief that most housewives and mothers are happier when they extend their interests beyond domestic circles, Miry Church, herself, a housewife and mother, is a prolific writer of short stories as well. Her stories have appeared in several American magazines, including McCall's, Ladies' Home Journal and Redbook, and in magazines published in England, France, Italy, Canada, Norway, Denmark, Australia and South Africa.

She has also been a panelist at several University of Michigan writer's conferences

Before breaking into the field of free lance writing, Mrs. Church was a newspaper reporter and radio script writer. She and her husband, Michael Church, who works with the University of Michigan Extension Service, live in Ann Arbor. They have a daughter, Holly.

In her Woman's Club talk, titled "Adventuring with Ideas", Mrs. Church plans to share her thoughts on the craft of writing and encourage women to explore new avenues and activities such as the creative arts, organizational work and business.

The guest day meeting begins at 2 p.m. in Northville public library.

Moms to Meet

Northville Mothers club will meet at 8-15 p.m. Monday, January 8 for a business meeting in the library of Amerman elementary school.

DADS ARE GREAT — There were shades of Detroit Red Wings' goalie Terry Sawchuk at the Mill pond New Year's morning when a dad — didn't get his name — laced up his skates to take on his young son in a spirited hockey game.

As the two eased onto the ice, the outcome seemed evident.

Towering over his son, the father elected to guard the net, inviting his son to "see if you can slip one by me".

The boy, getting little cooperation from his wobbly ankles, moved jerkily across the rink, doing his best to manage the lively puck sliding along at the end of his stick.

Confidently the father waited as his son edged unsteadily towards him.

The boy, not more than five feet from the net, nudged the skittering black puck with his stick. How would he "slip it by" the big man crouched at the net opening? He lightened his grip, lurched forward and the puck hopped, skipped and ...

Thud! The ice crunched under the goal keeper. The puck? Wonder exactly how many times good old dad had to retrieve it from that little enclosure he was protecting?

NO FANFARE accompanied the generosity shown again this holiday season by Northville King's Daughters who lifted the spirits of needy area families with food baskets and other gifts.

HOMEMAKING FLASHES — New soil resistant finishes have been developed for natural fiber fabrics (cotton, linen and wool) used in the manufacture of home furnishings. Soil resistance, already a popular feature in the clothing industry, is gradually becoming an important selling point for draperies, upholstery fabrics and table linens, writes Patricia Klobe, home furnishings specialist at Michigan State university.

THE PUBLIC is invited to a consumer education series scheduled January 16, 23 and 30 at Smith junior high school on Yale street, Dearborn. Meetings will last from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The series is being sponsored and planned by Wayne County Extension service in cooperation with several other organizations. Panels of experts in consumer education will discuss "Why Did I Buy This?", "Who Protects Me as a Consumer?" and "What is My Responsibility as a Consumer?"

If you would like to go, drop a card to: Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service, 3930 Newberry street, P.O. Box 552, Wayne, Mich.

TROUBLED by rust spots and streaks on your clean laundry? Culprit could be "iron water". Iron in the water combines with soap to form a scum which settles on fabrics. This "iron soap scum" can often be removed by immediately re-washing clothes with only a non-precipitating water conditioner such as Calgon, Tex or Noctil. Do not add soap or detergent. Use about one cup of the conditioner to a full tub of water in a toploading washer, less in a front-loading machine.

Chlorine bleaches may also precipitate rust and intensify stains. To remove them try a dilute solution of oxalic acid. Make the solution with one cup of oxalic acid crystals to one gallon of warm water. Soak the stained fabric for a few minutes, then rinse thoroughly in water to which a few drops of ammonia have been added. Use the solution in a glass or plastic bowl, not in the sink.

A dilute solution of oxalic acid used according to directions or a commercial rust remover will wipe out other smaller, unsightly rust spots.

BUMPER LETTUCE crop is predicted by Michigan greenhouse growers. A good supply of both Bibb and leaf lettuce is available.

Note to weight watchers: Lettuce, high in iron content, adds only seven calories of food energy per serving.

CLOSING TRIVIA — Trouble that looks like a mountain from a distance is usually only a hill when you get to it. Temptation may be strong, but it seldom overtakes the person who runs from it. Happy New Year.

Flaming Cherries and Ice Cream

- 1 No. 2 can black sweet cherries, pitted
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- ½ cup brandy

Drain cherries. Marinate in one-quarter or one-half cup brandy for several hours, stirring occasionally. Just before serving, drain thoroughly. Place cherries in skillet with lemon juice and sugar. Set heat selector at 350 and heat to simmering, stirring occasionally. Turn heat selector to off. Heat the brandy and pour over cherries. Set ablaze (flames up rather high). When flame goes out, serve over vanilla ice cream. Add toasted almonds.

Raspberry Snowcap

- 1 cup miniature marshmallows
- 1 cup commercial sour cream
- 2 pkgs. raspberry flavored gelatin
- 1½ cups hot water
- 3 10-oz. pkgs. frozen raspberries, thawed

Combine marshmallows and sour cream and heat on controlled surface burner set at 150 degrees until marshmallows melt. Pour into oiled two-quart mold and chill in refrigerator until firm. Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add juice drained from thawed berries and chill over ice water until it begins to thicken. Whip until fluffy. Fold in raspberries. Pour gelatin mixture into mold. Chill in refrigerator until firm. Unmold and garnish with raspberries and holly.

Stuffed Beef Birds in Wine Sauce

- (May be prepared in advance)
- 2 pounds round steak, ½-inch thick
- ¼ cup flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- Sausage Stuffing
- ¼ cup shortening
- Red Wine Sauce

Cut steak into six pieces. Combine flour, salt and pepper. Pound into both side of meat. Place stuffing on each piece. Roll up tightly; secure with wooden picks or string.

Brown meat rolls in shortening in Dutch oven. Add red wine sauce. Cover. Bake at 350 degrees for one and one-half to two hours. Yield: six portions. Note: Beef birds may be baked at 250 degrees for three hours.

- ½ pound pork sausage, meat
- ¼ cup finely chopped, pared apple
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- ¼ cup finely chopped celery
- 3 cups toasted small bread crumbs
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- ¼ cup water

Cook sausage six to eight minutes, or until pink color disappears. Pour off fat. Add apple, onion and celery to sausage. Cook until onion is soft. Add hot mixture to bread cubes; sprinkle with seasonings and water. Toss lightly.

RED WINE SAUCE

- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1½ cups red wine
- ¾ cup catsup
- ¾ cup water
- 3 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- ¼ teaspoon oregano
- ¼ teaspoon marjoram
- 1/8 teaspoon thyme
- Dash of garlic salt

Make smooth paste with flour and a small amount of the wine; stir into remaining wine. Add remaining eight ingredients and blend well. Pour sauce evenly over beef birds.

Don't Discard Trimmings

There's still some mileage in those tired Christmas decorations you may be thinking of tossing out this week.

Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association will gladly accept your used Yule trimmings. Clubwomen need them for the three philanthropic projects they are carrying on at Northville State hospital, Wayne County Training school and Eastlawn Resthaven. Trimmings can be left in Northville Real Estate office, 160 East Main.

Jaycee Auxiliary, Schoolchildren

Adopt Korean, Thai Boys

Embarking on their own foreign aid program, members of Northville Junior Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary and 1,000 children in the city's two grade schools have adopted two needy boys in distant lands.

Auxiliary women will furnish food, clothing, medical care and money to Bae Jae Yong, a 7-year-old Korean youth, through the Foster Parents' Plan, Incorporated.

Jae Yong lives in Pusan with his mother, a half-brother and two sisters. His father cared for the family's needs until his death in 1950. The boy's mother peddles vegetables and vegetables from morning until night to pay for food and shelter for her family. She earns 20 cents a day, enough for only meager necessities.

Home for Jae Yong is one crowded room. He attends primary school, said a letter received by Mrs. Robert Prom, auxiliary president, and reportedly is doing well.

Grade school children are each contributing a penny a month to provide care and training for Keo Promsain, 13-year-old Thai boy. The program is administered by Christian Children's Fund.

KEO PROMSAIN, 13-year-old Thai youth (left) has been adopted by Northville grade school children. Bae Jae Yong, 7-year-old Korean (above) is the foster son of Northville Junior Chamber of Commerce auxiliary.

"By helping Keo, Thailand has become for many of the children not a spot on the map, but Keo's homeland," said Mrs. Helen McCarthy, third grade teacher at Main Street elementary, who arranged the "adoption."

"Our children's interest in a child in a different world who needs our help has been heightened," she added.

Keo lives in a very unusual and remarkable place, the Chingmai Leprosy colony. His parents have leprosy and live in an area of the island colony with other lepers. Keo and other children not afflicted with the disease are cared for in a small compound of dormitories and schools across the bridge from the colony.

Keo's education has been delayed. He is in the second grade. His favorite subject is reading; farming is his vocational training.

Total cost of Keo's "adoption" is $120 a year.

New Skating Rink Opening Delayed

Because of the difficulties in flooding the new Cady street skating rink, Northville Recreation Director Ken Conley reports that skating will continue at the West Seven Mile road fish hatchery until further notice.

The schedule for skating is as follows: Monday through Friday, 4 p.m. until 6 p.m.; Saturdays, 10 a.m. until 6 p.m.; Sundays and holidays, 1 p.m. until 6 p.m.

Engaged

The engagement of their daughter, Mary, to Thomas P. Hill, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Hill, of Lincoln Park, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hill, of 46871 West Seven Mile road.

A June 23 wedding is being planned.

Both Miss Hill, a 1958 Northville high school graduate, and her fiance are education students at Central Michigan university. Mr. Hill will graduate this month. Miss Hill completes her studies in June.

The hatchery pond is to be used only during the above hours, Conley stated.

He also pointed out that skaters are not to enter or request to enter the hatchery building.

"There are no warming facilities on the hatchery property, so parents are asked to consider this when setting the length of time allowed for their children to skate," Conley noted.

He suggested that if warming and lighting facilities are considered essential by skaters that the Wayne county road commission facilities at the Wilcox lake rink on Edward Hines drive can be used.

HARRISONS FROM HOWELL — Summer newcomers who lived in Howell nearly 15 years before coming to Northville are John and Lucille Harrison, seated, and their children, John, 15, and Susan Kay, 20.

Northville's Village Green subdivision welcomed a new family to its environs early last July when John and Lucille Harrison, their 20-year-old daughter, Susan Kay, and son, John, 15, moved here from Howell.

The move marked a return to the Detroit area for the Harrisons. They left the Motor City about 15 years ago to live in Howell.

Harrison, who attended Detroit Business institute, is a salesman for Photo Reproductions Materials, Inc. His wife, a Michigan State university junior studying liberal arts, came home from college. Her brother-in-law, teaches language arts in Detroit public schools.

The family was united during the holidays when Susan, a 1041 Canterbury.

HERE ARE 2 OF THE NEW JET-SMOOTH CHEVROLETS

WHICH ONE IS THE CONVERTIBLE AND WHICH THE HARDTOP?

Did your keen old eyes tell you the top one's the convertible? Well, sir, that turns out to be our new Impala Sport Coupe whose solid steel roof line is a dead ringer for the Impala Convertible's below. But after rich new styling, then what? Look at the power department, where there's a new choice of V8 vigor. In the ride department, things are Jet-smooth. In glamor and go, comfort and craftsmanship, this one's got everything you'd reasonably expect of an expensive car. Except the expense.

Slip inside a Jet-smooth Chevrolet, relax in one of the comfort-high seats and notice how good you feel. Ready for action? Just flick the key and let'er purr (you have your choice of two standard engines—a 135-hp 6 or 170-hp V8—or optional-at-extra-cost V8's way up to a 409-hp mile-shrinker). That gentle cradling motion you enjoy is Jet-smooth ride at work. And the richness and spaciousness of the interior are Body by Fisher at work.

Now, we ask you, is there any more you could reasonably expect of a car? If there is, your dealer will be very happy to show you (1) just where you can find it in the handsome new Jet-smooth '62 Chevrolet and (2) what it feels like to own a costly car—without the cost.

See the new Chevrolet, new Chevy II and new Corvair at your Chevrolet dealer's One-Stop Shopping Center

Good Will?

Here's a new candidate for the "meanest trick" title.
 At least two residents of Thayer boulevard in Northville had parts of their outdoor Christmas decorations either broken or stolen by vandals.
 The Edwin Langtrys returned from a new year's trip to find bulbs removed from the lights lining their doors and windows. A door wreath had been stolen and the ornaments pulled off and smashed on the sidewalk.
 The Alfred Parmenters didn't even have to leave town to lose part of their decorations. All the bulbs from the street side of a lawn Christmas tree were removed.

Rope Breaks, Man Lives

A Northville man who attempted to take his own life Tuesday night by banging from a plastic clothesline attached to a basement rafter in Wayne County General hospital.
 No report was available on the condition of Arnold Mildemberger who was found lying unconscious in the bathroom of his home at 342 East Main by Northville police officers.
 Police Chief Eugene King said Sergeant Leonard Mazuchowski and Patrolman Andrew Cain went to the Mildemberger home shortly after midnight following a call from Mrs. Mildemberger who had gone to Plymouth with the couple's two children after a family quarrel. Mrs. Mildemberger said her husband had telephoned her earlier to say he was going to commit suicide. When she tried calling the home later, she told the phone was out of order. She then called police.

 Tuesday morning Mrs. Mildemberger had filed a complaint against her husband on the grounds that he had threatened her life. Chief King said Mildemberger was taken into custody and released shortly after he was to have appeared in court this morning.
 When Mildemberger returned home the couple argued and she left with the children.
 Mildemberger's attempt on his life failed when the plastic rope he used snapped, King said. A gasoline can Mildemberger used to raise himself to the rafters was found on the basement floor. Police said clothes and newspapers were scattered throughout the house.

 How children can be early taught to understand and love God will be brought out in Christian Science services Sunday.

The welcome given children by Christ Jesus, described in the Gospel of Luke (18), is among the Scriptural selections to be read in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God".
 "And they brought unto him also infants, that he would touch them: but when his disciples saw it, they rebuked them. But Jesus called them unto him, and said, Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God."
 One of the correlative citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Edy states: "Jesus loved little children because of their freedom from wrong and their re-ceptiveness of right. While age is halting between two opinions or battling with false beliefs, youth makes easy and rapid strides towards Truth" (p.236).

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

By The Reverend Paul M. Cargo,
 First Methodist Church of Northville

The new year was greeted with much frivolity, but in thoughtful people there is a note of seriousness as another year in the decade of the '60's is ushered in. Happy New Year! is the greeting, and we wish for our friends joy and happiness in the coming year.
 When the earnest follower of Christ confronts the new year, he is much in reflection about the world we live in and about the duties of man toward God and man.
 These are times that try men's souls. In fact, the strains and stresses on the world are near the breaking point. The world does not need less genuine religion but more, not less devotion to the love of God and man but more. Wherever the battle for the best is lost in any individual, by that much is the crucial battle lost everywhere.

A theesome to which to cleave in the new year is the one commended by the Apostle Paul—"faith, hope, and love abide."
 Faith in Northville and surrounding communities enlightened national purpose to be a nation under God can be strongly buttressed by people's faith—faith in a working democracy, faith in the churches, faith in God.
 While America nourishes a higher standard of living, let faith increase Edwin Markham asks the penetrating question in his poetry, Why build these cities glorious

 If man unbuilded goes?
 In vain we build the world, unless
 The builder also grows.
 Hope. Hope takes its place too, at the start of the new year. The situation isn't hopeless unless we make it so.
 Man's extremity is often God's opportunity. There need to be apostles of hope in every family and village in the land. As men of old saw frontiers of untamed forest, and with courage and hope carved a nation from the wilderness, so today, God's men, seeing the wastes of sin and tangled forest of low and selfish aim, need to grasp the swords of courage and hope in order to cut a clean swath.

Love. "The greatest of these," said Paul, "is love."
 I wish every reader of this column could beg, borrow, or (sh!) a copy of the December issue of McCall's. In it is a powerful story, "The Midnight Clear" by Walter Weir. The scene is the 1970's. Global death from nuclear explosion is at hand.
 In the crisis, leaders of nations try desperately to ward off extinction. Under the plan of the American President the world's political, cultural, and social heritage is fed into a giant data-processing machine. For two years the machine worked on its great storehouse of information to bring an answer to the problems that beset the world. Heads of state about a conference table await the result. This was the voice of all the past speaking.

 "The American President
 unfolded the paper and read.
 As the others, now free to inspect their own copies, did so, the American President pitched forward, buried his head in his arms, and sobbed. For on the paper he had read, the counsel garnered from strivings and the disputes and the lessons of all ages past appeared in just three words: 'Love one another.'"
 Yes, we know better than we do. The resolution needed is to do up to the point of our best knowing.

This is the trio every thoughtful soul should carry into the New Year—faith, hope, and love. From A.S.C.
 Clarke:
 Bless Thou this year, O
 Lord!
 Make rich its days
 With health, and work, and prayer, and praise,
 May faith, and hope, and love, Increase.
 Bless Thou this year, O
 Lord!

MICHIGAN IS THE FUTURE

Michigan is synonymous with progress. It has a brilliant record of accomplishments.
 With skilled labor, management know-how, natural resources, brainpower and transportation, Michigan has established itself as a world leader in industry. Its achievements have brought to the entire world a better standard of living.
 But the past serves only as a prelude to the future.
 Through research and ability to produce will come new Michigan-made products almost beyond our present understanding. Michigan will lead the way in progress of the future, as it has done in the past.

With great research centers at our universities and in our industries, together with our other advantages, Michigan is a good place for industry.
 It is a good place to locate an industry and it is a good place for our present industry to expand.
 Michigan is the future.
 Help carry Michigan's message to the nation.
 Clip this ad and mail it to someone in another state with your comment. Let's talk up Michigan and its advantages for industry. Together we can assure a greater future for all of us.

Mustangs Host Laker Court Quintet Friday

Cager of the Week

CRAIG BELL, five feet 10 inch Mustang guard takes aim for a set shot, one of the favorites in his bag of basketball tricks he springs on Northville opponents every week. Craig, who led the Mustangs in scoring during their last game — a win over Clarenceville — has consistently scored near the top of his team this season. Bell won quick acclaim last year when he joined the Mustang eagles as a sophomore after having played on Northville's championship freshman team. He's 16 and says his favorite hobbies are water skiing and fishing. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bell of 350 East Baseline.

Tomorrow night (Friday) Northville Mustangs open their post Christmas schedule by playing hosts to rival West Bloomfield's Lakers, the only other undefeated team in the Wayne-Oakland league. Last year the Mustangs ended their Christmas vacation with a thrilling 44-43 defeat of the Lakers, and Coach Dave Longridge thinks there's a good chance for another win.

He points out that while West Bloomfield has, like Northville, a 4-0 league record, they lost their non-league game to Pontiac Northern, and have had closer scores in their defeats of three of the W-O teams Northville has beaten.

"Pontiac Northern's just an average Class A team," Longridge said, "and they've had a tougher time with the same teams we've defeated. If we play the same as we've played so far this season, we should come out on top."

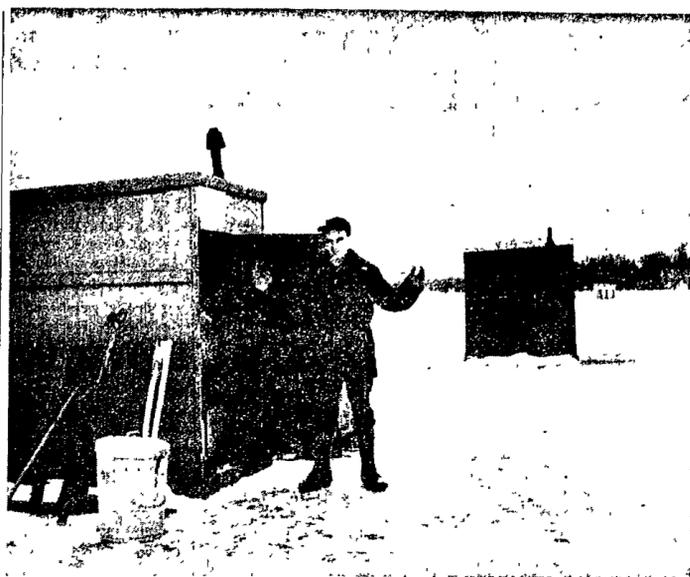

Longridge said that there is a possibility his players may have had "a little too much rest" during the Christmas lay-off. He was quick to point out, however, that there is just as good a possibility that the vacation has had adverse effects on West Bloomfield.

He added that Northville's had several good practice sessions both last week and this week, and said that scrimmages with Dearborn Fordson and Redford St. Mary's were helpful.

"Although scrimmages are not like games because the tension isn't the same," he noted, "they're better than regular practice sessions."

He said the scrimmage last Thursday at Dearborn was very beneficial. "Fordson's an excellent club and they taught us several good tricks that should help both offense and defense." West Bloomfield plays control ball, Longridge said, and uses a man-to-man defense. He said they aren't as tall as Northville, but they play a scrappy defense and are good at ball stealing.

He added that the Lakers are also similar to the Mustangs in their scoring balance. Most of their players shoot well, he said. Calling the Lakers a "percentage team" because they tend more to shoot quickly from the outside rather than spend time working the ball in for more accurate layup shots, Longridge said the Mustangs would aim to cut down the percentages while keeping the Mustang scoring about the same as in previous games by employing a "control type" offense and pressing defense.

FISHIN'S POOR, says Frank Krumm of 211 Endwell as he demonstrates the size of the one he wishes had had a chance to get away. Frank said Tuesday afternoon that he saw only three fish all day long through the ice on Walled Lake. One was a bass, he said, so he couldn't spear him, and the other two never came directly under his hole. He added that he only knew of one fisherman who'd had any luck since spear fishing season opened Monday.

Pucksters Drop Openers, But They're Still Hopeful

The Ely Oil Kings, Northville's bid in the Garden City Senior Men's hockey league, dropped their first two games, but are looking for a win in their next match or two, according to assistant player-coach Pete Gross.

Gross explained that while they lost their first battle to Garden City's Bel-Temps 5-1, and their second to the Garden City "A" team 4-0, they have been gaining experience and are now receiving the benefits of a full-time coach.

"We'd never played together before," he said, pointing out that the other league teams had had some previous experience together. He added that he and William St. Lawrence, the team's other player-coach have been handicapped in their coaching because both were on the ice.

"But now we have Joe Girardin of Plymouth serving as coach," he said, "and this should make a big difference in our playing." He explained that Girardin will have a better opportunity to observe mistakes and suggest corrections than he and St. Lawrence have had so far. "So we're looking for a win in the next two games," Gross concluded.

The Oil Kings will meet Plymouth at 9:30 p.m. today (Thursday) on the artificial ice at the league's outdoor rink at the corner of Middlebelt and Cherry Hill roads. Sunday they will take on the Garden City Bel-Temps in a return bout that should spell plenty of excitement.

Romulus Hands Mustang Wrestlers Their 3rd Fall

Northville's wrestlers dropped their third match in five when powerful Romulus handed them a 36-17 defeat. Coach Jack Kreiner said the loss wasn't surprising because Romulus was the best team his grapplers have met this season.

"They're well balanced and powerful in all weight classes," Kreiner noted, "which made it possible for them to defeat us so badly."

The final score spread was the greatest difference Northville has experienced this year, he noted. He said the difference came in their ability to pin several Mustangs.

"If they'd been weak in just one or two weight classes," he said, "the score would have ended up much more like our previous matches."

Kreiner's matmen also saw tournament activity over the Christmas holiday. Seven of the experienced second-year men were entered in the southeastern open tournament in Livonia, he said, but none were able to place. He added that they were 2-2 up against the state's toughest competition, with as many as 40 entrants in some weight classes.

The first-year grapplers fared better at the novice tournament in Flat Rock, he said. Dave Clark and Jim Jiggins both placed, winning three matches and losing one. John Pemberton and Bill Adams placed fourth.

The Mustangs travel to Willow Run tonight (Thursday) to meet the "Bombers" for the second time. In their last match the Northville squad picked up their first win. Kreiner's optimistic about the outcome of tonight's match also.

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO
January 5, 1961
— Four fire departments sent a total of nine pieces of equipment to the Country Estate trailer court on Eight Mile road Wednesday morning to battle a fire that burned its way through an estimated $50,000 worth of equipment and building in a converted barn that served as the court's pumping station, laundry and recreation facility. Northville township's new $16,000 fire engine was damaged when it skidded on slippery roads and overturned while answering the call for assistance.
— The State Supreme court will start hearing arguments next week in preparation for its determination of whether or not 135 acres of former Novi village and township property may be permanently annexed to the city of Northville.
— In a move toward bringing about uniformity in assessment of real and personal property, Wayne county tax officials prepared this week to announce an accelerated program for reducing personal property assessment inventories. City Manager John Robertson said the plan would reduce personal property assessments in Northville by about $300,000.
— Gus McCree, operator of the 10-mile road dump, was handed another deadline Monday by the Novi village council. He was given 10 days in which to fulfill the obligations he assumed when he was granted a temporary dumping license last December 5.
— Wixom police have launched what they term a "crack-down" on traffic violators in the Lincoln plant area. Police Chief Frank Jazdzinski explained that the action was a result of a record increase in property damage accidents in the area caused by disregard of traffic control signs during shift changes.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
January 3, 1947
— Two Northville business places were broken into and robbed over the weekend, reports Police Chief Joseph Denton. He said Michigan Powdered Metal products company and the Northville Waste Materials company were entered, but only the former was robbed — of $38.
— The Old Mill Sandwich bar, formerly the Masters Feed Store will open Saturday, announce owners H. F. Mitchell and J. McDonald. They say the store will feature meals, fountain service and short orders in its newly-remodeled building.
— The first youth canteen sponsored by the Recreation committee and a delegation of high school students will be held at the Scout building this Saturday evening. Some 20 students have spent a good portion of their Christmas vacation cleaning and scrubbing the building in preparation for the activity this weekend.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
January 1, 1937
— Northville's traffic death trap at the corner of Novi and Eight Mile roads was investigated Monday morning by an engineer from the Wayne county road department. The highway commissioners have not yet disclosed what efforts they plan to eliminate the traffic hazard that has already claimed one life, caused injuries to several motorists, and damaged a number of cars.
— "The dance was a huge success," said General Chairman Scott Cole as he reported on the senior class's semi-formal event last Monday evening. The social affair, which was one of the highlights of the village holiday festivities, was held in the Wayne County Training school auditorium.
— A delay in obtaining wood for shoving and doors means grade school teachers' plans for moving into the new $85,000 grade school building during the Christmas recess will have to be postponed, they learned this week. The building, which is nearly ready for occupancy, will replace the old one that was destroyed by fire a year ago.

FIVE YEARS AGO
January 3, 1957
— While five candidates compete for two seats on the Northville city council in the April 1 election, Mayor Claude Ely will run unopposed for third term. This was made certain at 4 p.m. Monday when City Clerk Mary Alexander announced that only five nomination petitions had been entered before the deadline for council positions and that Mayor Ely was the sole candidate for his expiring two-year term.
— If current estimates are correct, Northville will more than double in population size by 1980, and the township will have more than five times its present population. The growth statistics were announced this week by the Detroit Metropolitan Area Planning commission.
— The racing scandal case that rocked Northville Downs last September has been officially stamped "closed" by State Racing Commissioner James H. Inglis. Inglis ended his investigation last week by revoking the licenses of driver Duane Hoel and horse owner Samuel Reeves, both of whom were involved in an effort to block the track to insure victory by a chosen trotter.

ONE YEAR AGO
January 5, 1961
— Confirmation of February 18 as the date of Novi township's "race track rezoning" referendum is expected to be given at the township board meeting next Monday. The referendum was tentatively scheduled for that date last week when petitions were submitted calling for the election.
— The new year started off tragically for the Gratis Payton family Wednesday morning when their home and possessions were reduced to ashes by a raging fire that apparently began in the attic area.
— Residents of the Wixom portion of Novi township have until next Monday to register for the February 5 election in which they will decide whether their community will become an incorporated village.
— Two Northville business places were broken into and robbed over the weekend, reports Police Chief Joseph Denton. He said Michigan Powdered Metal products company and the Northville Waste Materials company were entered, but only the former was robbed — of $38.
— The Old Mill Sandwich bar, formerly the Masters Feed Store will open Saturday, announce owners H. F. Mitchell and J. McDonald. They say the store will feature meals, fountain service and short orders in its newly-remodeled building.
— The first youth canteen sponsored by the Recreation committee and a delegation of high school students will be held at the Scout building this Saturday evening. Conservation Club Officials Tell History, Reveal Plans

"Make sure you point out that we're not a gun club — but a conservation club. We've had enough bad publicity already." So spoke the husky president of the Western Wayne Conservation club, Joe Fortier, as he and other club officials inspected the site of the proposed club house to be located near the Plymouth - Salem township line south of Brae Burn Golf club.

"How do the people feel about us now?" Fortier asked hopefully, knowing full-well that the proposed clubhouse and club facilities have stirred up a "hornets nest" among residents in the area.

He didn't really expect an answer. He already knew about the existing feeling — but he, like the other 700 members of the club, is hopeful that this adverse climate will disappear "once the people see who we are and what we do. They'll find out that we're not a bunch of drunken gunners."

Fortier teamed up with Northville Attorney John L. Crandall in telling Western Wayne's story.

Crandall started: It was back in 1938 when Crandall proposed the establishment of a club for men and women. "We wanted something for relaxation and entertainment. But we wanted to be a public service club too."

Because all were outdoor enthusiasts, it was natural that the men decided upon a conservation club. Since its start, the club's purpose has remained the same: "To encourage and foster education and general information relative to wildlife and natural resources, and to further the proper conservation of the same, and to encourage and foster Boy Scout and Girl Scout activities as well as other organized and charitable organizations."

During those formative years, explained Crandall, "we rented halls from the VFW, Masons and others until we finally found a 'wild 40' on Joy road in 1945 and we bought it." The property is located near Wayne road in Nankin township.

Because the club members could not legally own property, he said, the Western Wayne Conservation Land company was formed. Later, "we bought a building from Willow Run for $1,200 — it was about 60 x 90 — and we put it on skids and moved it over here. A few years later, about 1952, we borrowed some money and fixed the clubhouse up. We had about 300 stockholders. They were from Northville, Plymouth, South Lyon, — all around here. "Most of the stockholders are members of the club."

The land company officers and directors are: Dr. B. Champ, president; Clifford Smith, vice-president; William Morgan, treasurer; Crandall, secretary; and Gayle Brewer, John Reiser and LeRoy Crites, directors.

Last year, Western Wayne was notified that it was to be evicted from its Joy road property to make way for a parkway. The club was awarded more than $100,000 for its property, and immediately it launched a search for a new site.

The club finally purchased 22 acres of Salem township property and 40 acres of Plymouth township property. The site is located off Napier road, between Five Mile and North Territorial roads, and adjacent to the Detroit House of Correction.

The club's request for permission to erect the club facilities drew a storm of protests at a public meeting in Salem. But after a decision was postponed until October 31, the board of appeals voted 2-1 in approving the request.

Although the clubhouse was first slated for erection on the Salem property, the club has since changed its plans calling for the clubhouse to be built on Plymouth property. Health restrictions in Washtenaw county, Crandall explained, were too stiff to get a permit.

Construction of more than 16,000 yards of earth mounds for use as "backstops" for the proposed ranges already have been started. An entrance road off Napier (Salem property) also is underway.

According to Crandall, the $60,000 clubhouse, which will measure about 80 x 110 feet, will be of concrete block construction. Construction of this building is expected to begin within a month, he said. It will contain offices, a ballroom, a bar, a dining room, kitchen and an indoor pistol range.

The remainder of the Plymouth township property will contain several pistol, rifle and shotgun, and archery ranges, while the property across the line in Salem township will be used primarily as parking and picnic sites.

The entire project, which will cost more than $100,000, is expected to be completed by spring.

Of the club's activities, Fortier had this to say: "We have a closed membership of about 700. Eventually we hope to increase the membership. Families of our members may use our facilities whenever they wish.

"Our activities include rifle, pistol, trap shooting, fishing, archery and sling-shot. We were the first club in the state to take up sling-shot as an activity."

Public service activities, Fortier said, include: Financial support of the Pennrick School for the Blind ("by the way we're sponsoring a movie at Plymouth high school on January 9 with all proceeds going to Pennrick"), sponsored talks and demonstrations by conservation experts, gun safety programs for youngsters, nature trips, feeding deer during winter months, tree planting, competitive matches, and of course, scouting programs.

"Any Scout group," he said, "can use our facilities provided they request in advance."

LET'S TALK CARS . . .

SPECIALLY FOR THE LADIES

Most everyone has heard about the mythical "little old lady" who lived mostly in the imagination of used car salesmen.

According to legend, she never drove her car (the one they were selling) more than 30 miles per hour. And only on short trips, attending church functions and the like.

This sales approach is guaranteed not to work on mechanics, who know from experience this kind of driving is hardest of all on a car. It is unfortunate, but most cars get more short-trip, cold engine driving than distance highway trips — especially in winter when it is hardest on them.

In two car families, the wife's car is the short-trip one.

A cold engine develops tremendous moisture (five quarts of WATER to every gallon of gas) from condensing air sucked in through the carburetor. This is the cause of muffler rusting.

Unburned fuel from rich starting mixtures forms crankcase acid. The acid corrodes pistons, rings and bearings, causing an engine to burn oil years before its time. The remedy is frequent oil changes — in winter regardless of mileage.

It takes ten miles of driving to replace the energy used in one starting. If your car's not getting that driving, give the battery a slow charge once during the winter to make sure you start when you turn the key.

Occasionally give your car a 30-minute drive at high speeds to help the engine clean itself. That, plus regular simple maintenance, will make your car last longer.

Teenage Behavior Began at Infancy-'Dr. Mudd'

Dear Dr. Mudd:
I'd like it if you would say something about teen-agers. I haven't any of my own but I have some neighbors who have some and the goings-on there upset me, especially the girl. She goes on dates during the week and then she and her boy friend sit smooching right in plain sight in his car until all hours.

Dear D.M.
The problems of the adolescent are indeed big enough to write about; not just a few paragraphs either, but pages and pages. It is well enough to offer advice and counsel, but there are some fundamental facts which obvious as they appear, are too easily neglected when it comes to specific situations.

is big enough to write about. ways teen-agers and before being children they were infants. And at each phase of their growth and maturation, certain things happened to, and within them, which had decisive and relative permanent influences on their characters. So often problems are brought to me with the assumption that they began six days or six weeks or six months ago, while in actuality every difficulty that people experience in their emotional lives have roots that extend deep into the forgotten layers of their earliest experiences. I think the whole area of dating among juveniles calls for careful appraisal and consideration. I don't believe any blanket conclusions in regard to it can be reached despite the fact that some people are inclined to take totally permissiveness or total repressiveness as their guide. I think that what is permitted should depend upon the degree and extent of maturity of the teen-ager in question.

How is one to judge on "maturity"? Well, this subject is an extensive one, but briefly I should say a person who lives up to his responsibilities especially in the home by assuming appropriate chores and duties which he performs with pride and satisfaction without constant reminders from his parents is relatively "mature". It isn't much of a measure, I admit, but at least it is a guideline. There appears to be a trend toward early dating; especially steady dating among the very young of certain segments of society. There are good reasons why this is unwise, despite the fact that it is natural to seek out familiar companions and to forego enlarging one's acquaintance.

The key to adolescent behavior is in the hands of the parents. But the time for exercising judicious control of their half-grown children begins years before the necessity for its exercise arises. Now most people know this, and most people who have teen-agers are reaping the benefits of their earlier relationships with their children. It would be impossible to know for certain, but perhaps your young neighbor's flaunting behavior is designed in some way to fortify a rather shaky feeling and an uncertainty about approaching adulthood.

Take Florida Trip On 'bama Highway

A variation on a popular non-touring manager. The newly recommended route, 1590 miles in length, follows US-31 south of Nashville, Tenn. It travels through Birmingham and Montgomery, Alabama, before joining US-231 into Dothan, Alabama, and US-90 into Tallahassee in Western Florida. More than 800 miles of the route is four-lane highway or better with $3 toll fees being required.

Estimated travel time on this route is now 40 hours behind the wheel, making it about the same as other routes.

Comparative distances of other routes from Michigan to Florida include: West Virginia Turnpike, 1439 miles with 640 miles of turnpike at $4.35 toll; Knoxville, 1472 miles with 598 miles of turnpike at 2.40 toll; Columbus-Tallahassee, 1607 miles with 488 miles of turnpike at $3 toll; Ohio-Pennsylvania Turnpikes, 1629 miles with 959 miles of turnpike at $7.30 toll.

In all, some 357,000 Michigan residents are expected to visit Florida in 1962. They will find little difference in rates for accommodations on the way to Florida, while rates in the sunshine state have fallen slightly.

According to an Auto Club survey, a typical comparison taken in Knoxville, Tennessee, shows good motel rooms were renting from $7.83 to $10.03 in 1960. This year comparable rates will be from $8.04 to $10.26.

Speed traps and overzealous enforcement areas are being eliminated in Kentucky, Georgia and Florida, formerly noted for preying on out of state drivers.

However, speed laws are still strictly enforced, particularly in Virginia, North Carolina, Florida and Georgia. Florida is strict in school zones and, in some communities, motorists traveling only a mile or two over the 15-mile-per-hour limit are likely to be ticketed.

Inside Florida, travelers will find a noticeable increase in the number of family-type accommodations. Entire communities of homes which may be purchased for eventual retirement or rented for short stays are becoming more prevalent. In the Miami area, apartments are going up at a fast rate while the number of luxury hotels and motels have not grown from over last year's total.

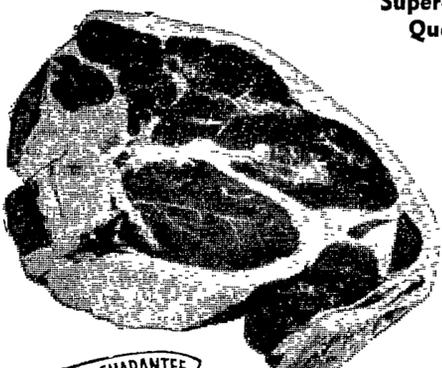

A NEW VARIATION of the non-mountainous route to Florida has been recommended by Automobile Club of Michigan. Utilizing recently completed four-lane highways in Alabama, the route cuts several hours travel time from the previously recommended western route. In all, some 375,000 Michigan residents are expected to motor to Florida next year, the Auto Club estimates.

Northville City Council Proceedings

A regular meeting of the Northville City Council was held at the City hall, Monday evening, December 18, 1961 at 8:00 p.m.

Present Mayor Allen, Councilmen Ambler, Canterbury and Carlson. Absent: Councilman Juday.

Minutes of the last regular meeting were read and, after one correction, were approved. Bills totaling $9,191.80 from the General Fund, $15,000 from other government and $1,201.15 from the Water fund were presented for payment. Moved by Carlson and supported by Ambler that these bills be allowed and paid. Carried.

Discussion concerning Civil Defense siren was followed by a motion from Carlson and supported by Canterbury that the city manager be authorized to proceed with the installation of the siren as soon as confirmation from Civil Defense Authorities has been received. Carried.

Four bids on power rodding equipment were received. City Manager Potthoff recommended that these bids be referred for study, tabulation and recommendation.

Moved by Allen, supported by Carlson, that recent bills sent out for sidewalk construction be cancelled at this time, and after careful study and consideration by the Council, revised bills be submitted to the affected property owners and that the property owners be notified by mail as to the action of the council. Carried.

After considerable discussion, it was recommended that two (2) meters be removed from the east side of So. Center St. and that the recommendation for the balance of parking be reconsidered. Moved by Carlson, supported by Ambler, that such a resolution be adopted.

Obstructions at street intersections were discussed and the city manager was instructed to deal with said obstructions.

Recommendation regarding parking removal on east Main street was postponed until the next regular meeting.

Action on the report and recommendation from the Planning Commission regarding the addition of an RE Research District was postponed until the next regular meeting.

Moved by Carlson, supported by Canterbury that two resolutions be adopted to allow Martha Mine to sign checks and have access to the safety deposit box. Carried.

The financial report for the month of November was presented to the Council.

The next regular meeting of the Council will be set over to Jan. 8, 1962 as the first Monday of the month falls on New Year's Day.

There being no further business, meeting was adjourned at 10 p.m.

Signed: Mary Alexander,
City Clerk

Con-Con Delegates Winning Accolades

SPEAKING for the Record

by Bill Silger

An army, they say, travels on its stomach. And even the age of missiles won't change this.

The same is true of the average teenager. For this reason I was not too surprised to receive a "letter to the editor" recently complaining about the quality of chow dished out at the high school cafeteria. It was signed only "The Fearsome Foursome".

Gripping about food is an irrevocable privilege of every red-blooded American soldier, and I presume, too, high schoolers who must eat daily in the same cafeteria.

Sometimes, as any veteran mess hall customer can recall, the griping is justified; frequently, it's the handiest target and the "catch-all" for a multiplicity of discomforts.

But not wanting to overlook our teenager readers (who should know that to get a letter published, it must be signed), I did a little investigating.

First, I talked the matter over with E. V. Ellison. And the same day (Tuesday), I wrangled a free lunch out of High School Principal Fred Stefanski. I only gave him about two hours notice that I was coming, so don't think any special arrangements were made.

(Come to think about it, I felt something like an army general must feel when making a surprise inspection. I didn't wear white gloves to test the cleanliness of each dish, but I was extremely scrupulous and tested each mouthful with the care of a connoisseur of fine foods.)

To be perfectly honest, I'd have to rank the cafeteria lunch on a par—or perhaps a morsel higher—than a typical noon meal at the Silger household. (And this may cost me my self-awarded general's ranking.)

For thirty-five cents (of Stefanski's money) we had sloppy joes on a bun, salad, cheese wedge, pineapple upside-down cake and milk.

Examples of other daily menus are: hot dog on a bun, cheese wedge, baked beans, tossed salad with choice of dressing, hot gingerbread with whipped cream and milk, sloppy joes on bun, American fries, cheese wedge, relishes, pumpkin pie and milk; spaghetti with or without meat, rolls and butter, salad, canned peaches and milk. For 30 cents a student can have soup and a sandwich with the salad, dessert and milk.

"The Fearsome Foursome" suggested the government surplus food served at the cafeteria was not suitable for the foreign aid program and therefore shipped out to Northville high school. They also hinted that the quality of food had been cut to enable the cafeteria to operate at a profit.

Actually, all the food must meet state health standards and butter, etc., be "grade A" quality. According to Ellison, the cafeteria is not self-supporting and never will be. It pays for a portion of the custodial help, and repair and replacement cost of equipment, but not the original investment for equipment.

Still, I respect everyone's right to gripe about the food. And I appreciate the fact that the "Fearsome Foursome" turned to the editor for help.

I fear that they will believe that I have failed them.

But I have another suggestion. I have turned the letter over to the student council — a body that I trust will give the matter fair consideration.

Further, I leave the "Fearsome Foursome" with this bit of advice. You will find that no matter where you eat — in school, in the service, at a restaurant — no one can cook like mother; and no one heaps the helpings so high.

Voters in the state are sometimes criticized for their lack of interest in local and state elections, and frequently their decisions on public officials are viewed as less than educated, at least by some.

In Michigan's most recent state election, however, voters who turned out have much for which to be proud. The delegates elected by the people last September to the Constitutional Convention are gaining high praise in all quarters.

The Citizens Research Council, a non-partisan organization, has lauded the convention as having several evident indications that it is "something special."

"There is, first, the indefinable sense of awareness on the part of the delegate that his are special powers; his, a special mission," a council report said. "One cannot help but be struck with the zeal of these delegates."

State legislators often are criticized for their inactivity. The council says this criticism cannot be imposed on convention delegates. "Frequently a delegate on more than one substantive committee finds himself attending meetings from 8:30 a.m. until early afternoon before the mid-week general sessions."

Some would contend the $1,000-a-month salary induced the high degree of interest in the work the delegates are doing. This, according to many, does not follow.

The major occupational group in the convention membership is the law profession. According to some sources, a good attorney with his own practice or in a partnership loses $100 in wages and overhead costs every day he is away from his office. This would put the lawyer delegate at quite a loss financially.

From all appearances the voters, and not the high salary, can be credited for sending to Lansing highly-qualified and interested delegates to Michigan's Constitutional Convention.

Michigan's weather variations are often the subject of complaint-filled conversations, but the State Highway Department says the element changes here are something to boast about.

Department officials have high hopes the great variety of weather in the state will have a favorable effect on federal consideration of Michigan as a place to build an electronic highway.

Michigan is one of several states being considered in Washington for the placement of a pilot project on electronic roadways.

"An electronic highway in Michigan would be tested in many different kinds of weather," said Commissioner John C. Mackie. "The results of this testing then would be applicable to far more states than if the test were undertaken in a state where the seasonal weather changes are slight."

The department also views the project, where cars would travel at great speed under automatic controls, as an immense tourist attraction.

"If we get it, it could be expected to bring observers from all over the world here," Mackie said.

Money or the lack of it has plagued Michigan's lawmakers for three years running. There is little sign of relief from this problem.

Since 1959 the general lack of money, which built up a $71.5 million deficit to the end of the last fiscal year, has been noted so often it has overshadowed the voices which so frequently said, "We need it most."

Among the loudest in the chorus of money seekers have been the spokesmen for higher education, and perhaps justifiably so.

The Michigan Council of State College Presidents has in recent years become the spokesman for the nine state-supported institutions of higher learning.

One of their arguments that colleges and universities have priority rights to Michigan tax revenues is based on a survey that shows 80 per cent of all Michigan college students are in public institutions.

ever had before, he was tempted out over his depth. In 1946, families were spending only 45% of their incomes for the essentials of living, with some 55% left over for luxuries. By 1954, fixed charges were taking 53% of income, with only 47% left for discretionary buying. Since then the trend has continued in the same direction, until a substantial majority of a family's income is now eaten up by fixed charges such as food, rent, and installment debt.

This may be all right as long as a boom is in progress. But let a recession hit, or let strikes or automation layoffs become serious, and the heavy burden of installment commitments which many people are carrying could mean economic catastrophe.

Thrift Still a Wise Policy
This troubles me, especially because I know that major cycles of business overexpansion and depression will always be with us. The inevitable quirks of human judgment will see to that! Hence, the present all-out acceptance of installment buying as a perfectly natural way of life causes me much concern.

Carless spending is encouraged by any system that postpones payment for something you can get now without waiting.

As I warn my grandchildren, so would warn young people everywhere that prosperity is a time for increasing financial reserves... a time to put money aside in savings accounts, some of it for careful investment later on.

Money in the bank is one of the best types of insurance, — against unemployment emergencies particularly. It is fine to have a comfortable home, a new car, air conditioning, and many desirable luxuries. They induce happiness and satisfaction.

But what good is all this if your financial sense has been poor and the bill collectors give way to trucks coming to cart away the goods?

I often think it takes even more intelligence, will power, and courage to plan for tomorrow than it does to handle today's obligations. Everybody, — whether employer, worker, or landlord — should keep one eye on tomorrow (and the day after) in financial planning. Otherwise, he may end up in the same plight as my sadder but wiser unemployed young friend.

SAY YES TO THE NEW MARCH OF DIMES

Roger Babson Could You Stand Loss of Job?

Babson Park, Mass., Few people seem to realize that it is during a time of prosperity that plans should be made for possible reversals later on. Even though recovery is rolling along, stop and ask yourself a few questions. If you lost your job tomorrow, how much would you and your family suffer financially? Are you snowed under by installment payments? Would a serious illness leave you strapped? Have you borrowed on your life insurance?

Are You Overextended?
A young acquaintance of mine, a man about thirty years old, was recently laid off by a small company for which he had worked faithfully for eight years. He had been making $100 a week before taxes, but his take-home pay after federal levies was only $83.20, not including state taxes. And his monthly commitments are: $70 for mortgage, interest, and real estate tax; $63 on a 1960 car; $21 on a food-freezer; $12.50 on wall-to-wall carpeting; $30 on a go-now pay-later trip to the West Indies with his wife; and $16.50 on a new color TV.

Right now — and he has no salary coming in — he has department-store bills amounting to several hundred dollars, $160 owing on his last winter's fuel bill, and past-due light and phone bills. Merchants and service firms have already put him on a strictly cash basis.

It is possible that this man is not typical of most young workers, but I am afraid there are altogether too many who would fit into this category.

With full employment and occasional raises, he might have pulled himself out of his financial jam. But my point is that he, like so many others, has greatly overextended himself.

Victim of the Times
I can't say that I wholly blame the young man for letting himself get trapped. He is a product of the "unending" prosperity that has followed World War II. Like many others, he has been bludgeoned by magazine, TV, and radio ads into overloading. With more money to spend than he had
