

Extension of S. Main to Novi Road Proposed

South Main street would be joined to Novi road by the dark-line route.

Northville city planners and council members this week submitted a bold new idea to the Wayne county road commission in an effort to help solve the city's growing traffic problem.

Specifically, the plan calls for extending South Main street northward from a point at Park Place (near the Old Spring) to Novi road north of the Eight Mile road cut-off.

The proposed extension would parallel the C & O railroad.

Admittedly, the idea presents many problems. The request from the city asks only that the county "study the feasibility" of such a proposal.

The idea was conceived by the planning commission and its planning consultant, W. C. Johnson of Waring and Johnson.

It is being considered as a part of the city's master thoroughfare plan.

Prompt support of the proposal was given by the council Monday night when it was pointed out that the county survey would greatly assist the planning commission in its future street studies. It was also noted that such a study by the county would be undertaken at no cost to the city.

Informal agreement from the county has already been indicated.

Connection of Novi road and South Main street could solve many existing traffic problems in Northville and alleviate traffic flow through the city's residential districts.

It would eliminate the present congestion created by the double turn now made by motorists where Novi road joins the Eight Mile road cut-off.

It would also permit north and south bound traffic to avoid the northern residential sections of the city. This traffic has brought frequent complaints from residents of the area and prompted appointment of a committee to study to determine what might be done to correct it. John Stubenvoll is chairman of the current study.

Advocates of the plan point out it would also provide better traffic flow for internal city travel.

No one could hazard an estimate of the cost of such a plan. Nor is it known which units of government — city, county or federal — would bear what proportions of the cost.

The council — beset by complaints of late — was happy to endorse the idea on a "look-see" basis however.

Whoops! Building Boom Uncovered

A slight error was made last week in reporting the 1961 building activity in the city of Northville.

The error amounted to $468,109.00!

Actually, the city of Northville enjoyed a prosperous $1,091,009.00 business in the field of construction. But somehow, last week's published report showed only $622,900.

The biggest mistake was made in the report that only 14 permits were issued for new houses. Actually, there were 47 new house permits issued in 1961 for a total estimated value of $586,400. A total of 150 various permits were issued.

In reporting the building figures to the council Monday night City Manager Bruce Potthoff called the totals "excellent" for a community of this size.

The number and kinds of permits issued in 1961 by the city clerk's office were:

33 House Alterations — $54,412	47 New Homes — $586,400
---------------------------------	--------------------------

- 9 Commercial Alterations — $108,100
- 1 Tank — $300
 - 1 Garage Alteration — $500
 - 3 Demolitions — $15
 - 18 Sign Permits — $54
 - 1 Catholic School Addition — $704
 - 1 Catholic Convent Addition — $37,000
 - 3 New Commercial — $203,000
 - 1 House Moving — $50
 - 1 Building Moving — $5.00
 - 2 Demolitions — $10.00
 - 29 Garages and Car Ports — $31,430.

No School

Junior high school Principal Donald Van Ingen announced this week that there would be no school at the junior high on Friday, February 9 because of Parent-Teacher conferences which are slated that day.

Conferences will last from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Clogged Sewers On Way Out

The city council made a determined move to get at the "root" of its sewer troubles Monday night by approving purchase of a mechanical sewer rodder.

The apparatus, providing some 1200 feet of continuous cleaning rod driven by a 12 horse-power motor, cost $4,900. Although two other firms bid $400 to $800 less for similar equipment, neither could provide immediate delivery or demonstration.

The O'Brien model purchased by the city will be delivered this week.

City Manager Bruce Potthoff reported to council members that he would like to embark upon an immediate sewer cleaning project while public works crews are available and before heavy spring rains.

Recent television inspection of city sewers revealed heavy restrictions in the lines that can be eliminated with the new rodding equipment. He predicted that it would eliminate many of the flooding problems experienced in the past.

The council also approved purchase of an $1150 radar unit that will be installed on a police car to provide police definite proof in apprehending speeders.

Mayor A. M. Allen also suggested that signs be erected at entrances to the city warning motorists that city streets are radar patrolled.

The council made two appointments Monday night. The resignation of Lynn Sullivan was regrettably accepted from the planning commission. Warren Stoddard was named to replace Sullivan. A letter of appreciation was sent to Sullivan for his long service on the planning board.

Charles Carrington was named to the civil defense advisory committee.

In other business the council upheld the action of the planning commission in denying the rezoning from residential to commercial the northwest corner of Novi avenue and the Eight Mile road cut-off. The request had been made by R. T. Martin. David Colman, representing Consumers Petroleum company, appeared before the council to protest the denial. The company had hoped to purchase the parcel to erect a gasoline station.

Finally, the council instructed the city manager to send letters to property owners where it has been determined that intersection obstructions present a traffic hazard. The obstructions include signs, high weeds and bushes. Four intersections were cited by the manager — Lake and Horton, Walnut and North Center, Wing and Main street and Carpenter and Baseline.

Mothers Collect $1,376.17

Despite temperatures that hovered around zero, Northville's "Marching Mothers" set a new record for collections topping last year's total by $200.

Mothers March Chairman Mrs. H. Lorne Dyer reported that the 120 city and township solicitors collected $1,376.17.

The door-to-door campaign for the new March of Dimes began Sunday afternoon in the township and was climaxed with a torchlight drive by city marchers Tuesday evening.

While complete totals are not yet known, it would appear that the 1962 March of Dimes campaign in Northville has been one of the most successful.

The high school peanut sale netted $120, while the faculty-Jaycee basketball game brought $67.

The month-long campaign was headed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce with William Bingley acting as general chairman.

The Jaycees added frosting to the cake Tuesday night by giving special gifts — tarnished silver vases — to two of the Marching Mothers.

The gift came as a surprise to Mrs. Clarence Sissom, who was greeted by Mayor A. M. Allen as she called upon the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDonald of Deborah Lane Tuesday night. He presented Mrs. Sissom with the gift on behalf of the Jaycees.

Mrs. Billie Thomas, Jr., was the lucky township Marching Mother. She received her gift at the American Legion Tuesday night when all contributions were tabulated.

Coffee and refreshments were served to the Mothers March volunteers at the Legion following the city solicitation. It was sponsored by the Legion, Del Black and Son, EMB Market, Spagy's Grocery, Kioger's, Northside Grocery and Lila's Flowers & Gifts.

LUCKY MOTHER — Mrs. Clarence Sissom of 319 South Ely drive was surprised Tuesday night when she called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDonald, 314 Deborah Lane, to collect a donation for the Mothers March. There was a gift waiting for her. Mayor A. M. Allen (right) presented the gift to Mrs. Sissom on behalf of the Junior Chamber of Commerce while Mr. and Mrs. McDonald looked on. The special recognition for a "Marching Mother" was the idea of the Jaycees, sponsoring organization of this year's Match of Dimes.

Russia is Next On Travelogue

The fourth in a series of six travel talks sponsored by the Northville Rotary club will be held next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock at the high school auditorium.

"Face of the Soviet", a color film produced and narrated by Ray Dinsmore will be the time of the world's tension ridden hot spots — the two Berlins — both East and West.

Dinsmore has always been interested in going places. His father was operating manager in New York for the Booth Line, a British steamship company, and young Ray was frequently to be found on his father's ships. He never lost that first love of travel. He has been to 104 countries and island groups in his wanderings that have taken him around the world.

He has been the president of the colorful organization of prominent world travellers — the Circumnavigators Club.

He is also an honorary member of the ship's company of the first atomic powered submarine — the USS Nautilus.

"Face of the Soviet" was produced by Dinsmore after entering Russia through the "Back Door" from Afghanistan and flying over the snow-capped Hindu Kush Mountains. He travelled over 5,000 miles within the Soviet Union visiting five separate so-called Autonomous Soviet Republics.

Before entering Russia, he will take the audience to two of the world's tension ridden hot spots — the two Berlins — both East and West.

He not only made color movies of the things and people he saw, but with his eyes and ears he captured important details the camera could not get. These experiences he shares with his audience through his commentary which accompanies the film report.

Tickets were sold to the series on a season ticket basis only at $5.00 each. Some are still available for those who wish to see Dinsmore and the remaining two travelogues — Stan Midgley on "Colorado" on March 6 and Robert Davis on "Sicily" on April 3. Season tickets may be obtained at the Northville Manufacturers National Bank office.

Conservation Club Faces Salem Suit

A suit aimed at nullifying a zoning permit issued in Salem township was still pending in Washtenaw Circuit Court Monday, the county clerk's office stated.

The suit was filed last week Tuesday on behalf of 16 residents of the township who object to the location in their area of the Western Wayne Conservation club.

Named as defendants were Salem Building Inspector Francis Hugg and Salem township. The plaintiffs contend that actions on the part of the Salem township appeals board were irregular in granting the permit.

Specifically, the suit says that James Brummel, chairman of the board, sealed Leo Van Bonn at a hearing on the permit on October 16 to substitute for Clayton Clair, who was absent due to health.

The suit alleges that Van Bonn was not sworn in and did not take any oath of office. Furthermore, it contends that Brummel had no authority to name Van Bonn as a substitute.

After the hearing, according to the suit, the board met at Brummel's home and he and Van Bonn voted for the petition, while board member Glenn Renwick voted against it.

Filed by Attorney Ralph W. Cole of 8840 Chubb road, the suit asks the court to restrain the defendants from issuing building or use permits, while seeking to declare as null and void all actions, proceedings of the zoning board.

Plaintiffs in the suit are: Clara Baumgartner, Jean and Boyd Clark, Louise and Iva R. Evans, Marg and Henry John, Malcolm and Dorothy Laughbaum, Dorothy McClelland, Alex McClelland, C. J. Merritt, Omar and Selma Rockwood, Clarence B. Stanbury, and Edwin F. Trombley.

The suit claims that the conservation club's shooting range, to be located north of the Brac Burn Golf Course and east of Napier road, constitutes a nuisance and that the proposed use does not conform to the agricultural zoning in the area.

Council OK's Lower Charges For Sidewalks

Thirty-eight city property owners will be receiving notices of sidewalk installation assessments soon — and the bills should make them smile.

At least they'll be happier over the totals than they were last December.

Monday night the city council approved a revised method for billing the installation.

It reduces the total assessment against property owners from $7,943.45 to $5,837.89.

In most cases the reduction amounts to about 40 per cent.

The big switch came about when city hall and council members were swamped by telephone calls following bills that were sent out in mid-December.

A quick check by the council revealed that some errors had been made, but in many other instances the fault could be blamed to misunderstanding.

Installation and billing of the sidewalks took place when the city was "between managers" and presumably some details were confused, the council admitted.

Residences where the new walks were installed include East, High, Walnut, Grandview, Orchard, Ridge, Scott, Lake, Grace, Hill, Hutton and Randolph.

After the complaints poured in the council cancelled all bills until a review could be made.

Monday night City Manager Bruce Potthoff presented the newest formula and figures to the council. The formula was approved and the manager is now in the process of preparing itemized statements.

In three specific cases cited by the manager the bills were reduced from $185.95 to $119.61 and $175.28 to $104.30 and $197.60 to $127.36.

Major reductions were made by deleting all survey, engineering and inspection costs performed by the city engineer.

The council also decided to include the final one-foot of grading within the unit cost of installing the sidewalk.

Unit prices were 40 cents per square foot for four-inch concrete and 60 cents for six-inch concrete.

The new unit will have an effective radius of one mile — compared to the one-quarter mile radius of the present siren.

Friday's Forecast Day Is Winter Waning?

M-m-maybe tomorrow we can stop sh-sh-shivering.

But don't count on it.

No matter what happens February 2, Ground Hog Day, all weather experts point to many more cold days ahead.

For the believers there is the legend, however.

It started with the Pennsylvania Germans and declares that on the second of February the ground hog awakens from his long winter sleep.

He sticks his head out of his home in the ground and looks around.

If the sun is shining and the ground hog can see his shadow, he is frightened and crawls back into his hole.

Then winter lasts another six weeks.

If the day is cloudy and the ground hog cannot see his shadow, he stays out of all sorts of things

By SHARON MAZANEC

WHAT'S THAT old saying? What goes up must come down? Something like that. However it's phrased, there's a lot of "gravity" to it in the final analysis, particularly in terms of the latest bulletins from the fashion world.

If some of the more highly touted couturiers get their way, all those hemlines you went to the trouble of putting up will be coming down — to stay in step with style.

Granted, we women have our ups and downs, but few are more frustrating than those imposed on us by the fluctuating hemline.

And it wouldn't be quite so disheartening if we hadn't trimmed all that excess material from the hem before tacking it up. Not much left to take down is there? Oh, well, it was an old dress, though a good dress, one that went anywhere and seemed to be just the right thing for almost every occasion.

SO NOW WHAT do we do? Wear it anyway and be classed among the least stylish? Maybe a seamstress, a better seamstress than I, could alter it here and there and come up with a coquely posh pair of Bermudas with matching top. Not that the outfit would necessarily go just anywhere or be just right for every occasion, but there would still be some wear in that old dress.

Actually, your columnist shouldn't kick up too much fuss over dipping hemlines. After all, these knees — like many knees we've known — cannot honestly be described as glamorous a la Marlene Dietrich. At least Lloyds of London hasn't gone out of its way offering to insure them.

Perhaps there are some advantages to this planned obsolescence in fashions. Nevertheless, let's hope the designers keep moderation in mind. Boney knees or not, I will fight to the bitter end any move to drop hemlines to the ankles. Heaven forbid! Even a revival of the chemise would be more tolerable.

BREAKFAST AND BETTER GRADES

There's a direct relationship between the two, as doctors and educators have been telling us for years.

Dr. Joseph G. Molner, city-county health commissioner, recently re-emphasized the better marks through better breakfast theory in a bulletin from his office.

A number of reliable studies show that students who start off the day with a good meal turn out more work, are quicker in their reactions and do not tire as easily as children who go without breakfast, asserts Dr. Molner.

What makes a good breakfast? Milk, cereal, fruit, juice or some other source of vitamin C such as tomato or tomato juice, bread, whole wheat or enriched, and butter or margarine should be included. An egg three to five times a week and either a hot drink or hot dish are needed.

May sound like a lot; on the other hand, it must be remembered, points out Dr. Molner, that breakfast should fulfill one-fourth to one-third of the entire food requirements for the day. This applies to adults as well as children.

And make sure your teenagers eat a healthful breakfast, says the doctor. Because their rate of growth is faster, they need more food than children or adults.

Working mothers should also see that their children take time out for breakfast. This can be done by advance planning. The youngsters can make the morning meal themselves from fresh fruit or fruit juice in a covered container in the refrigerator with milk, bread, softened butter and choice of cereal.

The secret, says Dr. Molner, is to have the food in the right place and properly instruct the child.

"A hungry child cannot learn as well as he should and like a hungry adult he is at a disadvantage in his relationships with others, so send him to school with a good breakfast," concludes Dr. Molner.

SHARING a piece of birthday cake are Jim Spagnuolo and his wife, Josephine. Mr. Spagnuolo celebrated his 75th birthday Sunday at a surprise open house.

Surprise, Jim!

Jim Spagnuolo, long-time Northville resident, was feasted by nearly 60 friends and relatives Sunday afternoon at a surprise open house held to celebrate his seventy-fifth birthday.

Mr. Spagnuolo, who came here from Italy in 1915, formerly owned and operated an ice cream parlor on East Main street. He is now retired. His four children, Mrs. Monroe Weston and Joe Spagnuolo, both of Northville, and Mrs. Mary

Essays, Proclamation Put Accent on Nation's History

Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, in keeping with the national organization's seventh annual observance of "American History Month", is sponsoring an essay contest for public and parochial school students in grades five through eight, reports Mrs. Jack Kadey, chapter historian.

Student contestants are being asked to write about "An Historic Figure in My State". Deadline for all entries is February 9. The winner will be given a cash prize by the Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter.

All essays will be subsequently sent to Washington, D.C. where a DAR committee will select national winners in each grade who will receive $25 savings bonds. Twenty-eight other awards will be made.

Below is the proclamation enacted by Governor Swainson of Michigan, dated February 1, 1962, in celebration of American History Month in our State:

WHEREAS, All organizations of whatever kind, and public, parochial and private schools, have been asked to emphasize the study of American History during this celebration month which contains the birth dates of the First and the Sixteenth Presidents of the United States —

GEORGE WASHINGTON and ABRAHAM LINCOLN

WHEREAS, The National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, has sponsored American History Month in February since 1955 —

NOW, THEREFORE, I, A. M. Allen do request by cooperating proclamation, that every effort be made within our city of Northville in the State of Michigan to stress the vitality and freedom we enjoy as citizens of the United States of America.

The facts of written history refute the theory that indifference and ignorance can replace patriotism. Let us all contribute to the growth of our American heritage and develop finer citizens for future generations.

The Walter Murphys renewed an old and cherished friendship a little over a month ago when they left Lincoln Park, their home the past 7 years, to reside in Northville.

"We actually came home," said Bonnie Murphy, recalling the events of 12 years ago that introduced first her husband and later she and their children to the town.

You might say it was an electronic robot — or the idea for the robot — that brought them here.

At the time, Murphy, a product of Dallas, Texas, and his wife, who hails from Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, were recent arrivals to the Midwest. They came to the Detroit area, explains Mrs. Murphy, because the electronics and radio field was enjoying robust growth here.

Murphy, a radio man, was invited to join a hand-picked

Andrea Bissa, Northville high school junior who has been active in scouting since she was six years old, has been selected to represent Northville at the third International Girl Scout Senior Roundup to be held at Button Bay State park, Vermont July 18 through 31.

Andrea, like other girls who will attend the roundup, was elected on her ability to demonstrate a knowledge of basic camping skills. Also considered were each girl's complete scouting and camping history and her own statement expressing why she wished to attend the roundup.

Those chosen stand out as girls who "best practice the ideals of Girl Scouting," said the selection committee.

Thirty scouts are traveling to Vermont from the Huron Valley council, which includes troops from Northville and other Wayne, Washtenaw and Livingston county communities. Two girls from Belgium will also be at the roundup.

Andrea lives at 7400 Napier road. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bissa.

The newlyweds, who will make their home in Monroe, were feted at two receptions held after the ceremony. Guests from Detroit, Ypsilanti and Battle Creek attended a reception at Suburban house in Monroe immediately following the nuptials. In the evening the bride's parents entertained some 100 guests at a reception in their Northville home.

The new Mrs. Nagel is a graduate of Flat Rock high school and Eastern Michigan university. Her husband was graduated from Monroe high school and recently completed service in the U.S. Marine Corps.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin North, of 320 Debra lane, and Mr. and Mrs. Nester Nagel, of Monroe.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the former Miss North was attired in a gown of white nylon chiffon over taffeta. She carried a heart-shaped bouquet of white gladioli and mums.

Attending the bride was the groom's sister, Diane Nagel, who wore a spring green taffeta dress and carried a bouquet of yellow gladioli and mums.

Mrs. North wore a toast color lace dress for her daughter's wedding, while Mrs. Nagel

Colts Play Well With Handicap

Ever hear of six-man football? Well, last week Northville's Junior Varsity Colts tried something new in basketball — a four-man cage squad.

It wasn't exactly by design, but the Colts had to play the last two minutes of their game with the Brighton JayVees with only four men.

Coach Ron Horwath explained that three of his nine-man squad were ill and couldn't play Friday. So, when both Don Biery and Jim Driscoll fouled out of the game, the Colts were left with only four players.

Even more amazing to fans and coaches alike is the fact that the four did better than they had done earlier with five players on the floor.

The Colts led through the first half and most of the third quarter. They ended the first quarter out front 8-6. At half time, they were on top 18-10.

But a third period slump allowed the Brighton squad to catch the Colts, and the quarter ended 22-22.

During the fourth quarter Brighton built and maintained a four and five-point lead until near the end of the game.

When the Mustang squad was reduced to four, with only two minutes left, Brighton led 31-26. Two minutes later, as the final buzzer sounded, the Junior Bulldogs were on top of a very tight 33-32 score.

City Boy Joins Wrestling Club
Glenn Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Martin of 45332 Byrne, is a member of the high school wrestling team at Kemper Military School. Wrestling coach Bob Felling has credited Martin as a "valuable addition to our squad."

The wrestlers are 1-1 in competition thus far this year.

Mustangs Nip Bulldogs

Play Switch Wins for Cagers

A complete change of both offensive and defensive play characterized Northville's 64-47 win in Brighton last Friday night when the fourth place Bulldogs threw up an all-court zone defense in an unsuccessful attempt to knock-off the league-leading Mustangs.

For the first time in the season, Northville employed a zone defense, keeping Brighton on the outside during most of the game.

A quick Brighton change in the early moments of the game to an all-court zone sent the Mustangs into a wide open long-pass offense that allowed them to take the lead and hold it throughout the game.

Brighton scored first, on a free throw. But Guard Craig Bell soon tied the score, and Center Dan Brown dunked in a field goal to put Northville ahead, where they stayed until the final buzzer.

As the Northville lead grew until, with three minutes left in the first quarter, the Mustangs led 11-2. Brighton started converging two and three defenders on the ball handler.

With one and sometimes two players open, the Mustangs switched to a long pass offense, and continued a strong zone to hold down Brighton scoring.

Though the Bulldogs capitalized on the inherent weakness of the long pass — its susceptibility to interceptions — they repeatedly missed their resulting shots, and Northville's backboard control prevented further scoring opportunities.

Starting the second quarter with a 15-8 lead, the Mustangs used their height to keep the long passes away from Brighton players, while continuing to contain Bulldog scoring. The Northville squad led 35-21 as the first half ended.

During the third quarter, Brighton's fast break from interceptions resulted in a flurry of Northville fouls when the Mustangs tried to prevent Bulldog scoring attempts.

Forward Jim Juday picked up three fouls during the second half, and Brown added two to the one he earned in the first half. Also playing with three fouls against them were Tom Swiss and Steve Juday.

Northville suffered its worst quarter of the game following the half-time layoff, tying 10-10 with Brighton for scoring. No Northville players netted more than two points during the third stanza.

OLV Wins Two Tilts

Our Lady of Victory cagers, steam-rolling toward their second CYO grade school championship, continued on the victory trail with two wins last weekend.

First victim of the local club was Wayne St. Mary. OLV squeaked by their last year's co-champions with a 15-13 score on St. Mary's home court last Saturday.

On Sunday, the Northville squad played host to Inkster St. Norbert, winning 20-16.

Mike Turnbull led his OLV team mates by netting a total of 12 points in the two games. Close behind was Norbert Parent, with eight points.

The Mustangs bounced back in the fourth quarter, netting 19 points, while holding Brighton to 16.

Dan Brown, picked up seven points during the final period, bringing his total to a season game high of 21 points. Scoring second high was Steve Juday, who netted 13, and close behind was Craig Bell, with 12.

"Brown worked real well," said Coach Dave Longridge. "He played his best game of the past two years."

Longridge had special praise for Brown's rebounding abilities against Brighton, as well as his general floor game.

W-O Standings

In other league play, Bloomfield Hills downed Holly 62-51, Clarkston trounced Clarenceville 74-32 and West Bloomfield edged out Milford 50-48.

Matmen Beat Farmington 46-6; Lose to Flat Rock

Northville Mustang wrestlers last week gouged a most-decisive 46-6 win over North Farmington and then fell to a tough 24-20 defeat at the hands of Flat Rock.

Six pins and two forfeitures added to the local grapplers' largest scoring margin last Tuesday when they played hosts to the North Farmington squad. The Mustangs gave up only two decision wins.

The Flat Rock loss, the Mustangs' fourth of eleven meets this season, can be laid partly to illness and mainly to over caution, says Coach Jack Kreiner.

"They had a strong reputation," he pointed out, "so several of our boys were too cautious, and lost by decisions. If they had been a bit more aggressive, we could have won at least a couple of those decisions and the meet would have been ours."

He's forecasting that when the Mustangs travel to Flat Rock in two weeks they will do better "if we shape up like we should."

Mustangs who pinned Flat Rock wrestlers include Bradenburg and heavyweight Jerry Biddle. Those who took decisions were Doug Nichols, 138-pound Dick Price, Gary Nichols and 180-pound Dave Clark.

Tonight (Thursday), the local wrestlers travel to take on North Farmington again. Kreiner said he's planning to enter as many reserve wrestlers as possible to give them some of the experience they need to become starters.

Friday night several of the wrestlers will give a demonstration during half-time of the Northville-Clarkston basketball game.

Though pleased with the game, the Mustang mentor wasn't as happy as he could have been.

"We could have scored another 30 points," he declared. "With Brighton leaving one and two men unguarded, we could have made many more baskets than we did."

Longridge said the main problem was hesitancy. The Mustangs would bring the ball in after a Bulldog basket and then dribble a few steps before attempting the long pass, he pointed out.

"If we'd thrown the long pass as soon as we had the ball in bounds, we could have scored 90 points, and we wouldn't have lost the ball so often on interceptions," he said.

He explained that the short dribbling gave Brighton enough time to either tie the ball handler up with two or three defenders, or get a man into position to stop a long pass.

Longridge is planning to switch back to a more normal offense this week when the Mustangs play host to Clarkston.

He said the Wolves will probably be running the fast break again, so Northville will be changing back to slow, methodical play to hold Clarkston's pace down.

Defensively, he said, the Mustangs will probably throw up a switching man-to-man press to hold off Clarkston's weave plays.

"We kept them to the outside in the last game," he pointed out, "and that kept their score down. This game we'll have the home court advantage, and if we can keep them out they'll have a lot more trouble."

He explained that Clarkston will have to accustom itself to Northville's shorter floor — the Wolves play on a 10-foot-longer college-sized floor — as well as to the different backgrounds behind the boards. On lay-ups, he said, these things don't matter so much, but they make a big difference with long shots.

Two More Township Books Found

Two more pages from Northville's past were uncovered recently when Ed Welch found old record books of Northville township near the scout building.

Welch, a former city councilman, said he discovered the books among the rubble of the scout building, which was demolished to make way for a drive-in banking facility of Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit.

The books are the township tax roll for 1921 and the assessment roll for 1922. They have been turned over to township Supervisor George Clark, to be put with seven other books discovered in the scout building last December.

The other books were found by Dick Stamann and Ray Docksen while they were helping the recreation department clean its belongings out of the building's attic.

Among the seven books were original records of the formation of the township, in April of 1898, assessment rolls for 1919, 1920 and 1923-25, and a clerk's account book.

READERS SPEAK:

Hits Mudd On Alcohol

To the Editor: I was horrified at Dr. Mudd's advice to young folks about alcohol.

Not so long ago one of the outstanding racers in the Indianapolis speed races had himself tested as to the effect of alcohol on him. He was confident that the very small drink he took before a race couldn't possibly affect his driving. But just for the fun of it he took a test.

The result appalled him. It showed that even this very small amount of alcohol would slow his mental reactions enough so that in an emergency it could make the difference between life and death.

His comment: "No more alcohol for me!"

LET'S TALK CARS...

A MID-WINTER CHECK-UP

If your car is going to give you trouble this is usually the time of year it picks to do it — when driving conditions are at their winter worst.

A weak battery and an untuned engine usually show up with the first really cold spell. Plugged by carbon and weakened by a run-down battery, an engine is unable to spark itself to life.

Any automobile will start reliably all through the lowest temperatures. Winter can throw at you if you keep the ignition mechanism in top condition.

An exhaust system that is about to go usually picks this time of year. A faulty exhaust system is hard on gas, cuts performance and can endanger your life. Have it checked if it is beginning to sound louder than usual.

Proper headlight aiming is doubly important now when reaction times to avoid accidents are more than cut in half due to poor driving conditions.

Analysis of stopping distances on snow and ice show that it takes better than from two to three times the distance to stop on snow and ice than on dry pavement. Snow tires reduce the difference 28 percent, tire chains 60 percent and reinforced chains are almost on par with dry pavement in effectiveness.

There was never a better time than now, with the new year just getting underway, to get service work done. Our service shop is in a traditionally slack period and unrushed mechanics will give your car prompt attention.

Northville faculty members proved that they were better basketball players than the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the March of Dimes benefit game last week, but the Jaycees took all honors for half-time entertainment.

In rather easy fashion the teachers downed the Jaycees, 58-33, on the court. And while play may have been a little ragged at times, some 200 fans seemed to enjoy the evening — especially the show between halves.

This is when the "ladies" took over. Actually, it was the branch of the Jaycee wives (auxiliary). But they stayed behind the scenes creating the "latest fashions" that were modeled by their husbands.

It isn't likely that the show will ever be repeated. As one Jaycee flatly put it: "only my wife could have talked me into that, but she couldn't do it again!"

Chairman William Bungley reported that the event netted $67.00 for the March of Dimes campaign.

Dr. Mudd Replies

Twins Only Look Alike

Dear Dr. Mudd:

My twin boys have been brought up exactly alike. They are so much alike their teachers can't tell them apart except that the older one (12 minutes) sucks his thumb.

They are now in the first grade and I get so embarrassed. I have tried everything.

I put some medicine my doctor gave me on his thumb. I've tied his hands to the side of his crib. I've put adhesive tape around it. His father and I have made fun of him, punished him, done everything, but he still sucks his thumb.

As you can see, I'm "Desperate"

Dear "Desperate"

Your identical twins are identical in appearance and biological constitution only.

In every other way each is an individual who became the kind of person he is because his life experiences have been unique. It only appears, and then only if one does not inquire into it, that the boys have been "brought up exactly alike."

If in the physical world no two objects (even relatively uncomplicated ones like snowflakes) are ever exactly alike, how could two human beings ever be considered so?

The manner in which you make your inquiry implies that there is something different and unusual about one of the twins and that you and your husband are blameless and have had no part to play in the development of this particular symptom which one of your sons displays.

Your efforts, meant to be curative, have been applied with exceeding vigor, but limited wisdom, in my view. One can hardly force a child to give up an activity which provides him with the degree of satisfaction that thumb sucking obviously does. You mean to be hostile toward the act which offends you; unfortunately, the child takes it that you are being aggressive towards him.

You provide too little information for me to be able to more than hazard a guess why one of your children sucks his thumb. There is no doubt but that he will give up this behavior in time, especially when he becomes aware of the impact his actions have on the esteem others have for him.

It might be very helpful to him if you wouldn't emphasize his difficulty by calling so much attention to it. The child has "learned" that one way he can be certain of getting his "fair share" of parental attention and affection is to suck his thumb. He may get spanked and punished, but at least he knows someone is paying attention to him!

This, of course, is not necessarily true and the most obvious thing about thumb sucking is that it provides a degree of infantile gratification which the child has not yet decided to relinquish.

I sympathize with the anguished feelings of embarrassment you experience, but nonetheless the tenor of your letter suggests to me an undue degree of concern on your part.

Juvenile delinquency, a matter of national concern, is a by-product. Too often the young people are scandalized by the mistakes of their elders. Adults must assume full responsibility for what has and is occurring, for they establish the policies, set the example, and make the laws; therefore, delinquency in youth is just a reflection of degeneracy in adults. There is no easy and diplomatic way of saying this and perhaps few friends to be gained for making such a bold charge, but there are times when truth needs to be shocking.

We are appalled by the increasing efforts being put forth to eliminate and eradicate the knowledge of God from the minds of men. Roger Arnebergh, the honorable city attorney of Los Angeles, recently made the following statement: "The greatest single cause of juvenile delinquency is a lack of spiritual training. Before we can make substantial progress in our efforts to curb juvenile delinquency, we must inculcate in our children a belief in God. It is interesting to note that one juvenile court judge studied cases of 8,000 boys and girls under 17 years of age who were involved in law violations. Of these 8,000 children, only 42 regularly attended Sunday school. And here is something further.

Not one of the 8,000 had a mother and father who regularly attended church."

A cartoon recently appeared in one of our publications, showing a little boy dressed in his Sunday best,
with a Bible under his arm, standing in the door of his parents' bedroom asking,
"Who's going to drive me to Sunday school?" Needless to say the parents were still sleeping. Does not this illustrate the fact that the majority of parents in our country have fallen into a spiritual slumber?

J. Edgar Hoover says, "I strongly believe the molding of character begins at home.
There's the best place to reverse the trend in juvenile delinquency. In my own home, I never remember having a meal that wasn't opened by someone saying grace. I just grew up that way. We didn't have much — but we had everything we needed. I always had to go to Sunday school. I was given a little Testament for attendance on 52 consecutive Sundays — and it was one of my treasures. I still have it.

In those days we always read from the Bible so that our home environment developed a deep religious belief and faith."

Wake up parents, or else while you are sleeping, the atheist will destroy the faith of your child; the communist will supplant our democratic concepts with his own Godless philosophy; the dope peddler will make an idiotic criminal of an otherwise promising youth and you will be the cause of such a spiritual, moral and physical catastrophe.

Mind your manners, for your children emulate what they see in you.

Bank Report Includes City Seal Display

In a rather unique annual report, Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit salutes the 15 communities in which its branch offices are located by displaying their official seals.

The seals of these Wayne, Oakland and Macomb county communities are reproduced on the bank report's cover. Inside, the seals are reproduced again, and are accompanied by a brief description of each community.

The use of the seals and descriptions provides shareholders with information of the markets being served, and it points out the strength of the bank's representation in the suburban areas, where there is an expanding demand for banking services.

The seal for the city of Northville is reproduced below. Accompanying the seal in the report is a description which reads:

This is a city where the old and new meet in both residential and business housing. A community of homes and small industrial plants, Northville is located in the heart of a fine fruit-growing and general farming region. The semi-rural setting and suburban way of life attracts many residents."

SPEAKING for the Record

by Bill Sliger

Recently I had the opportunity to read an address given by George Champion, chairman of the board of directors of Chase Manhattan Bank entitled "Taxes and the Government Debt: A Plan for the Sixties". He was talking before a convention of bankers.

Frankly, I was surprised — and pleased — by his straightforward remarks. I don't know what I imagined a New York banker would say to a convention of bankers — but Mr. Champion left little doubt about his position:

The Federal Government could be of greater help to state and local units (and individuals) by reducing its own debt and by cutting taxes.

This opinion is shared by many able students of finance, government and just plain businessmen. And right now it seems to be gaining momentum steadily.

In this regard R. T. Martin, co-owner of Northville's Warren Products plant, supplied us with a copy of the Herlong-Baker Federal tax rate reform bills — sponsored by Rep. A. S. Herlong (D., Fla.) and Rep. Howard H. Baker (R., Tenn.), both members of the House Ways and Means committee.

It's objective: release of capital to permit greater growth in private economy. This would be accomplished by use of the gain in revenue derived from economic growth. The bill proposes reducing the income tax rate, plus depreciation changes, over a five-year schedule with a safety-valve feature which would permit postponement of rate reductions to protect military spending needs.

Specifically, every personal taxpayer would get a minimum reduction of 25 per cent. Corporations would come down from a top rate of 52 per cent to 47 per cent at a rate of one per cent reduction per year.

The bill has the backing of some 30 to 35 state chambers of commerce — including Michigan. Martin is so enthusiastic about the plan that he has ordered numerous copies containing full details that are available to any interested persons.

The logic of Banker Champion's remarks provide strong evidence that our nation needs such legislation now. Consider these points:

— our tax system invites increased government spending by providing automatic increases as national income grows (but the greater the growth, the larger the proportional share diverted to the government); for example, a decade ago individuals turned over about 7½ per cent of their total personal income for federal income tax — today the proportion has risen to 10½ per cent with no increase in rates (here Parkinson's law is noted: "expenditures rise to meet income");

— the bulk of increased government spending has not come from foreign aid (which has decreased during the past decade) or from defense, but from domestic subsidies (agriculture, housing, veterans, urban renewal, etc.), a whopping jump of $13 billion since the mid-fifties.

It behooves each of us to seriously consider our present status. Truly, one of the great challenges of democracy is individual responsibility. When benefits have no relation to responsibility, personal self discipline is weakened.

As Banker Champion so ably states: "If Americans are to have a sense of pride, of strength, of well-being that comes with accomplishment, the individual, the family, the local government must bear ultimate responsibility for their own welfare — down the opposite path lies eventual moral decay an attitude of 'let Uncle Sam do it' a final paralysis of national will."

Champion concludes by urging America's bankers to acquaint fellow citizens with the urgent need for fiscal reform — he says tomorrow may be too late.

There is a great deal at stake — our entire future way of life. I applaud his frankness and heartily agree.

This spirit of democracy needs a rebirth and it needs telling by each of us to our representatives in Washington.

Two Roads to $$$

Economic development, mental health, education, and revenues line up as the spotlight-holding issues in both the 1962 political football game and the action agenda for the current legislative session.

Each was the subject of a major message to the Legislature by Gov. John B. Swainson and each was emphasized in programs he sponsored since the 1961 session.

The answers to problems in the first three areas are, of course, heavily dependent on the fourth.

Members of both parties agree on the problems in each area, but their solutions are far apart.

Improvement of the business climate through revision of statutes for economic development is a problem which separates the parties at a level considered the basis of their respective principles.

Republicans are convinced that workmen's compensation laws and court decisions on this subject as well as the tax structure are the foundation of problems in Michigan's business climate. Democrats contend out-of-state businessmen have not been told enough about the opportunities here and are therefore wary of certain tax laws.

Swainson has recommended expansion of the budget for promotion by the economic development department, a state magazine similar to "Arizona Highways," a council of economic advisers and a Washington office for the department.

Republicans say he missed the point. He should approve their recommendations for changes in the unemployment compensation law, which he vetoed last year. They also would like him to okay extensive revisions in the workmen's compensation law.

There is little likelihood either side will veer from its strongly established position on economic development.

The Governor's conference on mental health last year gave GOP legislators warning of his increased emphasis on this area of government so they were ready for a substantially increased budget request.

Before Swainson had a chance to recommend his multi-million dollar capital outlay program for mental health, and a $601,000 deficit appropriation for the current fiscal year, GOP leaders blasted the department for not spending money they were given previously.

Charles Waggs, mental health director, said much of the $1.4 million in appropriations allowed to lapse was earmarked for specific purposes. This far from satisfied his critics.

The lapsed funds and Swainson's charge that it was time Republican legislators boosted Michigan's mental health facilities "up to the 20th Century" brought new retorts.

"What the Legislature needs is not criticism by the executive office in its attempt to improve the situation, but sympathetic and cooperative support for the programs which will strengthen our mental health program and better the administration thereof," said Rep. Arnell Engstrom, Traverse City Republican who heads the House Ways and Means Committee.

On education, the sides appear close toward agreement that additional funds may be necessary to do the job that needs to be done.

A bi-partisan committee of the Senate, headed by Carlton H. Morris, R-Kalamazoo, has recommended a $150 million (m) capital outlay program during the next six years for higher education construction.

Members of both parties also basically support the need for expansion of the community college system and an increase in the state aid formula.

Agreement on this area of concern was gleaned from numerous studies which indicated the enormous need for new educational facilities.

Facts supporting the needs included the entry each year of some 50,000 children in public schools, a live birth rate of about 200,000 each year, and sharp annual increases each year in the number of applicants for post-high school work.

Revenues and the budgeting hold the key to what can or will be done in nearly every area of government.

Swainson's messages to the Legislature called for a record budget.

Republicans appeared more willing to add revenue sources this year than in the several preceding years, but they will still justifiably demand new economics and tight control over expenditures.

Roger Babson Newspaper for Dinner?

Babson Park, Mass., I have always loved trees, and have invested in forests. Natural reserves such as oil, iron, copper, etc., do not reproduce themselves; forests are the only natural resource which does. Moreover, most forest land is now protected against fire by watch-towers and other means.

Of course, you must pay taxes on individually owned forest land; hence you may prefer to hold stock in companies which own large forests. Among such companies I would mention Crown Zellerbach, Rayonier, Georgia-Pacific, and Weyerhaeuser.

Personal Holdings I once had a large interest in the APW Paper Company of Albany, New York. This company had considerable forest acreage and a pulp mill in Sheet Harbour, Nova Scotia. Against the advice of the managers, Mr. Francis Dougherty and his brother of Old Town, Maine, I sold this Canadian acreage to William Randolph Hearst. I shall always regret this sale, especially as it resulted in my selling the paper mill at Albany.

I later invested the money in seven thousand acres of woodland in New Hampshire. This consists of various kinds: Not much spruce, but some very valuable pine and much second-growth hardwood. I am obliged to pay taxes on this acreage and do not expect to get much profit, but it should be a good inflation hedge and I love to see the trees grow summer and winter, holidays and Sundays, whatever the weather, and without any labor unions to supervise.

Studying the State of Maine Two years ago I was invited by Mr. W. G. Robertson, president of the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad and his Board of Directors, to see the state's natural resources. (Let me insert that I consider this railroad the best operated east of the Ohio River, due to Mr. Robertson.) Maine's natural resources contain the woodlands of the Great Northern Paper Company and the profitable potato fields which supply much of the railroad's freight. These woodlands and potato fields have the same kind of soil, same rainfall, same sunshine, same temperature, — yet yield distinct products (newsprint and potatoes).

For my column this week let me ask why humans cannot eat wood as well as potatoes?

Termites and other animals are able to do this. I believe the time will come when we humans will eat wood, though not in the form of sawdust. We cannot dissolve the cellulose in our stomachs, as certain animals are able to do. We humans must dissolve the cellulose before we put it into our stomachs.

What DuPont has Done The DuPont Company of Wilmington, Delaware is, making nylon from air, water, and coal. DuPont is making rayon and other products from cellulose by passing a solution of it through spinnerets to form threads ready for weaving. Its latest development is the making of synthetic leather for the uppers of shoes. Artificial leather for soles is still made by the rubber interests and is very satisfactory.

I understand that the American Viscose Corporation is now using the cellulose of trees and dissolving same into a chemical and selling the product to manufacturers of "non-fattening" foods.

Later, newspapers may be used; but I believe this will be sometime in the future as newspapers are now used for making corrugated paper cartons and need not be de-inked before being made into these paste-board cartons.

I, however, do believe that sometime we will cook our Sunday newspaper after it has been de-inked and dissolved! This seems ridiculous at the present time, but it is less wonderful than what the DuPonts have already done; and others have accomplished in radio and television.

De-Inking and Other Details Instead of burning old newspapers, Boy Scouts and others collect them for purposes above described. After the papers are chopped up and treated with chemicals, they are used for attractive packaging of all kinds of foods. This is becoming so important that the best commercial artists are being employed to design these packages.

This will increase the demand for paper even before we use Sunday newspapers for our dinners! It is even possible that newspapers will use a new quality of ink that will not require de-inking when the newspaper is used for food.
