People Back Brummel At Salem Ouster Hearing

Shall the chairman of the Salem zoning board of appeals be dismissed or shall he be permitted to continue in office? This is the question facing the Salem township board following last Wednesday's stormy public hearing in which the overwhelming verbal sentiment of the near capacity audience favored retention of James Brummel, Sr. as chairman of the zoning board.

Upon the advice of its attorney, Douglas K. Reading of Ann Arbor, the board decided to postpone making a decision on the matter until a later date.

Earl J. Demel of Plymouth, attorney for the defendant, asked for and received assurances that his client would be notified of any subsequent meetings regarding the matter.

The township board had called Wednesday's hearing to air charges that it brought against Brummel and to give him and other township citizens an opportunity to discuss them.

In spelling out the charges in a paid legal notice the board stated that Brummel was "guilty of non-performance of duty in office and should be removed from the offices of chairman and member of said zoning board."

All township board members, including Supervisor Harlow Ingall, Clerk Edward Fitzgerald, Treasurer Glenn Renwick and Trustees Ferman Rohrhaft and Edwin Hamilton, and the defendant Brummel, were present.

Included in the audience were Edward Devine, Walter Newton and Albert Shear, all zoning board members.

The basic arguments used by the two attorneys were these: The plaintiff charged — — That Brummel failed to report to the township board the operation of the zoning ordinance, including recommendations for enactment of amendments or supplements during 1961;

— That Brummel failed to convene in 1961 at least one public meeting for consideration of a recommended proposal of the township board relative to roadside stands and sale of farm produce in zoned agricultural districts; — Failure to submit recommendations of the zoning board to the township that either stated (1) the proposed township board amendment be rejected or denied or that (2) the amendment be adopted in accordance with a tentative text of the amendment.

The defense argued — — That the board was acting as both prosecutor and judge and could not be impartial in any decision it might make, hence the board should disqualify itself.

— That in replying to a letter from Supervisor Ingall that asked for his resignation, Brummel had asked for and never received specific reasons for the request that he resign;

— That the board had not officially notified Brummel, previous to the letter asking for his resignation, of purported illegal procedures, nor had it officially suggested that Brummel adhere to the letter of the law;

— That Brummel's active participation and interest in zoning matters, plus his regular attendance at zoning meetings and his unselfish suggestion that zoning board members not be paid for their work, were proof of his devotion to duty.

Among the charges aimed at Ingall and the board in defense of Brummel were these: — The township board took no formal vote in deciding to hold the public hearing;

— No formal action was taken to inform Brummel of specific areas in which he was neglected so that he might correct them;

— The board made no effort to inform Brummel of the statute pertaining to conduct of meetings, and did not make the statute available to him or the board;

In his own defense and in defense of the board, Ingall made these observations:

— That neither he nor other township board members had laid a "trap," but that he (Ingall) had several times personally talked with Brummel and conveyed to him the board's feeling;

— That he (Ingall) had suggested to Brummel that an attorney be present at zoning board meetings.

— That the township board had not and did not insist that the zoning board rewrite the zoning ordinance, but that the township board would have been satisfied with only some "yes or no" answers;

— That the charges brought against Brummel were not something personal and the township board had waited "almost a whole year" before bringing charges against Brummel.

— That the township board was not considering the removal of any other zoning board member;

— That he (Ingall) and the township board are morally bound by oath of office to uphold the laws — "I did not want to get rid of Brummel and I don't particularly now."

In concluding his remarks, Attorney Demel advised the board that Brummel was willing to continue in office and would cooperate with the township board in upholding the laws, etc.

DEATH CAR — Daniel Hoban and Salvatore Quinci were the lone passengers in the car pictured above when it crashed into a Northville road bridge near Six Mile last Thursday evening. Both were pronounced dead upon arrival at Wayne County General hospital. Hoban was a Northville resident. Both were employees of the Northville A&P supermarket.

Two Killed as Car Hits Northville Road Bridge

Two men suffered fatal injuries last Thursday night when the car in which they were riding crashed through a cement abutment and steel guard rail on Northville road south of Six Mile. Pronounced dead on arrival at Wayne County General hospital were Daniel Joseph Hoban, 22, of 330 Eaton drive, Northville, and Salvatore (Sam) Quinci, 29, of 11820 Braile, Detroit.

Local Man Sentenced For Larceny

One Northville man has been sentenced and another is awaiting trial for their roles in the theft of parts from a Ford Motor company plant in Ypsilanti.

George R. Morrison, 31, of 510 Butler, was sentenced in Washtenaw Circuit court to five years' probation, fined a total of $450 and ordered to make $1,739 restitution after he pleaded guilty to charges of larceny in a building and conspiracy.

Still awaiting trial on a conspiracy to commit larceny over $100 charge is Edward Sackett, of 464 Butler.

Morrison, an employee of the Ford generator plant, was apprehended in early October as he left his afternoon shift job. Detective Lieutenant Ray Walton of the Ypsilanti police department said 1,300 ball bearings — valued at 47 cents each — were recovered from his home, car and person shortly after the arrest.

Northville police arrested Sackett in his home shortly after Morrison had been arrested.

The investigation was prompted by Ford officials, who told police 50,000 ball bearings had been stolen from the plant over the previous few months.

Morrison admitted his part in the theft, but insisted he took no more than 5,000 of the missing parts.

Sackett, thought to be the messenger in the resale of the ball bearings to a Detroit dealer, told police he had sold between two and three thousand, at 22 cents apiece. He said he made eight cents and Morrison 14 on each sale.

Hoban is survived by his mother, Mrs. Catherine A. Hoban, of the Eaton drive address, and a sister, Mrs. Catherine Van Cise, of 881 Allen drive.

Quinci was married and the father of four children.

Wayne County Sheriff's patrol was called to the scene of the accident, in front of Haller Incorporated, about 10:15 p.m.

A witness, Plymouth Patrolman Daniel Carpenter, of 19801 Fry road, told police he was traveling south on Northville road when a 1958 convertible — driven by Hoban — passed him at an estimated speed of 85 miles an hour.

While still in the northbound lane, the car, he said, began swerving from side to side finally smashing into the north end of the abutment off the east shoulder of the road.

The car also pushed back a steel guard rail adjoining the abutment.

The impact of the crash catapulted the motor 50 feet from the car, police said.

Hoban was buried in St. Patrick's cemetery, Northfield township, following services conducted by the Rev. John Wittstock. Rosary was recited Sunday evening at Casterline Funeral home.

A member of Our Lady of Victory church, Hoban was born December 23, 1939 in Ann Arbor. His father, John D., and a brother, John C., died in 1956.

Taxpayers Face 4% Penalty Soon

City residents have just one week to pay school and county tax bills before a four per cent penalty is imposed.

The deadline date in the city is February 15.

City Clerk Martha Milne reported Tuesday that some $343,008 11 of the total roll of $406,007 03 has been paid.

Although starting February 16 the four per cent penalty takes effect, city residents may still pay their bills at the city hall.

Township residents have until February 28 to pay without penalty. Treasurer Roy Terrill accepts payments Tuesdays and Fridays at Manufacturers National Bank office in Northville.

He reports that a total of $310,457 of the township's $404,694.66 roll has been paid to date.

Starting March 1st all township, county and school taxes for both city and township residents must be paid directly to the county under penalty.

City, Township Announce Board of Review Dates

Schedules for the annual board of review hearings were announced this week in both the city and township.

The hearings are conducted to permit property owners to appeal assessments levied against their respective properties.

Township hearings will be held at the township hall on March 6 and 7 from 9 a.m. until noon and 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. On March 12 afternoon and evening hearings will be held. The hours will be from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. and from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m. The final township hearings will be conducted on March 18 from 9 a.m. until noon and from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m.

City hearings are scheduled at the city hall on March 13 from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. and from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. Another hearing is scheduled for March 27 from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Protests are considered at initial hearings. Assessments are finalized at the latter hearing and no appeals heard.

Recreation Building Gets Top Priority

The city council signaled "full speed ahead" on the proposed construction of a new recreation-scout building Monday night as further plans and pledges of assistance were presented by the Northville Recreation committee.

It was predicted that preliminary planning could be completed soon enough to permit spring construction of the new facility.

City-owned property on Cady street adjacent to the cemetery and formerly used by the public works department is the proposed site.

Recreation Director Kenneth Conley and Ed Welch, member of the recreation committee, presented a new set of recommended specifications to the council.

In addition Conley announced that the John N. Northup Company, builders, had made two separate pledges of assistance to the project.

He submitted letters from Northup offering services of his firm to:

1. "supervise construction and coordinate all trades in regards to this project at no cost to the city or other participating parties";
2. "that the John N. Northup Co. hereby pledges up to $500 for the construction of a new Scout and Recreation Hall in Northville."

Northup's offer to construct the building was explained by Conley to mean that the builder would take full responsibility for construction and supervision of the facility at no profit to his firm, charging the city for materials and labor at cost.

Conley further said that Northup's $500 contribution was not offered on the condition that his firm won the bid to construct the building, but was an outright contribution to help in the construction if enough funds are not now available.

In its recommended uses of the building the committee listed:

1. For Girl Scout and Boy Scout meetings and the crafts and recreational activities usually held in conjunction with these meetings;
2. As a storage center for materials and supplies used by all scout troops;
3. As a center for recreation activities now sponsored by the Recreation Committee;
4. As a storage center for materials and equipment used by employees of the Recreation committee;
5. As an outdoor activities center for summer day camp and playground for which storage, material dispensing facilities, shelter, water and lavatories are essential;
6. As an ice skating area in the winter so that lighting and warming facilities can be provided;
7. As a center for a program for senior citizens;
8. As a business office for all activities conducted by the Recreation Committee;
9. It is possible that the building could be rented to the Northville Cooperative Pre-School Play Group for morning use during the months that school is in session. Such rental could help offset the cost of maintaining and equipping the building;
10. As a central meeting place for youth group leaders.

The report was specific in enumerating types of rooms, sizes and facilities (such as kitchenette, offices, etc.), exact location of building and type of construction.

It also suggested that two large areas on the recreation grounds should be curbed and black-topped for use for games in the summer and ice skating in the winter. The remaining outside area was suggested as playground for younger children plus parking space.

To date the city has approximately $14,000 earmarked for construction of the building. This money was received from the sale of the old scout building to the Kroger company. Another $760 was donated to the fund by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Welch told councilmen Monday night that the Northville Rotary club had voted to donate proceeds from its travelogue series to the fund. He said this would amount to approximately $1,000.

Mayor A. M. Allen called a meeting for next Tuesday evening between the council and recreation committee to proceed with details.

Councilman John Canterbury proposed that the project could move faster if a building committee composed of representatives from the council, recreation committee and interested citizens could be named rather than leaving the full responsibility to the council.

"We ought to get this thing built as soon as the spring building season starts," Canterbury stated.

Preliminary proposals call for a bi-level building 45 by 32 feet in size.

Economic Group Sets Committees

Northville's newly organized economic development committee held its second meeting last week devoting most of its time to the establishment of work committees.

The organization is composed of appointees from the city, township and school district.

Robert Shafer reported to the group on findings of a previous study projecting population and school enrollment growth in the area pointing out the need for industrial tax base to ease the burden on residences.

A report was also made by Donald Lawrence and Eugene Cook who attended a Governor's panel conference on economic development plans for '62.

Committee appointments included: Bruce Potthoff and John Canterbury, bylaws; Alex Lawrence, Donald Robinson, Charles Smith, John Miller, Gunnar Stromberg and Cook, industrial survey; treasurer and financial; Fred Kester; preparation of data on zoning and maps; Shafer; study on creation of industrial development corporation, A. R. Clarke, Donald Lawrence and Nelson Schrader; and publicity and brochure preparation, Harold Putnam.

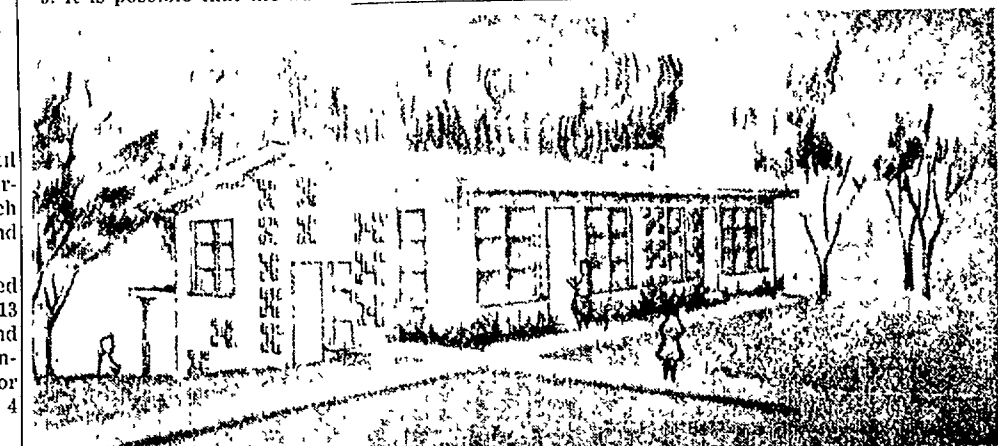

The committee's next meeting is scheduled for February 21.

City - Township Hall NEWS BRIEFS

— City and township officials have agreed to change the annual date for licensing dogs from March 1 to June 1 and schedule the vaccination clinic in May; the change was proposed to avoid the unpleasantness experienced by dog owners as they stood in line, leash and dog in hand, in zero February weather.

— The township board has changed engineering firms. Appointment of Mosher Associates as township consulting engineers was approved Tuesday night. The firm will be paid on a basis of work performed.

— The Northville board of appeals was scheduled to consider a new request from owners of Community General hospital last night (Wednesday); owners of the closed facility are asking for a permit for alterations so that it may be used as a convalescent home.

This preliminary drawing of the proposed recreation and scout building was prepared for the recreation committee by City Engineer Harold Penn. Spring construction of the building is now anticipated.

Talk to Focus on Africa

Ian Ross MacFarlane, world traveler, news commentator and recognized authority on Africa, comes to Northville next Thursday morning as featured speaker in the Town Hall lecture series at the P&A theatre.

MacFarlane's talk, "Down of Self Rule", is slated to begin at 11 a.m. and will be followed by a speaker's luncheon at Lofy's Arbor-Lill.

Introducing the speaker will be former Wayne County Probate Judge J. A. Sexton, of Plymouth.

Having spent more time in Africa than any of his contemporaries, MacFarlane's familiarity with the political and economic past and present of the continent has paid off in an ability to accurately predict and interpret the chaotic changes there.

In the spring of 1957, MacFarlane was on hand for events surrounding the establishment of the autonomous nation of Nkrumah and met him again when Nkrumah visited Washington and New York. At that time Nkrumah invited MacFarlane to return to Ghana, which he did in the spring and summer of 1959.

MacFarlane toured Africa again last summer.

He has been a commentator for the Mutual Broadcasting system and has traversed the globe numerous times interviewing political and military leaders.

Covering the El Alemem campaign in Africa during World War II he lost an eye as a result of an injury.

Three Northville Players Are Cast in Guild Satire

Casting for the Plymouth Theatre Guild's next production, "The Biggest Thief in Town", has been completed, it was announced last week by Director Bob Lucchetti.

The guild will present the satirical comedy March 1, 2 and 3 in the Plymouth high school auditorium.

Co-starring in the production will be Joe Daiesandry, Ivan Griswold and Dave Dahline.

Daiesandry, making his initial appearance in Plymouth theatre, will portray Bert Hutchins, man of integrity who owns and operates the local undertaking parlor. Griswold, last seen in the guild's production of "Inherit the Wind", creates the role of the headline-seeking editor of the town's newspaper.

Dahline, a talented Detroit actor who has toured with the Barter Players, portrays the astute, small town doctor.

Three Northville persons have been cast in supporting roles.

Patricia Dorrian, Northville high school freshman English teacher and co-sponsor of the Forensic club, will be seen as the timid nurse, Racena Bailey, of Bailey's Dance studio, and Bill Mandt, Northville junior high school art teacher, provide the romantic interest.

Sam Wilkins, seasoned guild performer, will portray the jovial druggist. Matt Forney and Merlin Heft also appear in minor parts.

"The Biggest Thief in Town" a blend of gentle spoofing, wit, satire and rib-ticking humor, represents Bob Lucchetti's first effort as a guild director.

A chemistry teacher and drama coach at Bentley high school, Lucchetti has acted numerous times in guild productions.

Most of the play's action takes place in Bert Hutchins' undertaking parlor. Plot and dialogue direct humorous, tongue-in cheek satire at the mortician's respected profession.

The spoof, nevertheless, does dramatize some of life's more serious moments.

REDFORD TOWNSHIP was home for the Dell J. Brambles before their April move to 846 Grace. Bramble, who leaves this week for Alaska, where he will test Continental Motors engines under severe weather conditions, holds the couple's son, Peter. Next are Elizabeth, Mrs. Bramble and Rachel.

The Dell Brambles were looking for more space — living space, not outer space — when they discovered their present home at 846 Grace.

It was a case of needing more room that prompted the newcomers to leave Redford township and come to a bigger house on a bigger lot in Northville, explained Ruth Bramble.

It was an inviting package. The newcomers have three children, Rachel, 7, who is in the first grade at Amerman school, Elizabeth, 4, and Peter, 2.

Detroit area residents 7 years, they came to Northville last April.

Dell Bramble, a mechanical engineer at the Research division of Continental Motors in Detroit, is a graduate of Tufts State college in Angola, Indiana. Eaton Rapids is his hometown. Mrs. Bramble hails from Lansing.

Members of St. Martin's Episcopal church at Seven Mile and Grand River, the Brambles have taken active roles in various church activities. Mr. Bramble was recently elected to the church office of senior warden. His wife belongs to a woman's guild.

The couple also enjoys spending an evening square dancing. They belong to the "Buttons and Bows" square dance club in Redford.

During hunting season, Dell Bramble, armed with bow and arrows, heads to the woods near Kalkaska to stalk deer.

Mustangs Score 70 — Season High

Northville's high-flying Mustangs were Center Dan Brown, who netted 21 points for the second time in as many games. Scoring second was Guard Craig Bell, who dunked in 14 points and their ninth straight Wayne-Oakland league win this season. The 70-point total marked Northville's highest scoring spree this year.

Cager of the Week

UP AND COMING starter for the Northville varsity cage squad is 17-year-old junior Bill Challas. Bill experienced his best game and his first opportunity at a starting position last week against Clarkston, when he added 10 points to aid his teammates in their 70-57 defeat of the Wolves. Bill, a member of the "N" club, and a C student, has played on both the reserve and freshmen teams. He has also been a member of the football squad, and is looking forward to earning his second varsity letter on the golf links this spring. The 5' 9" son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hovey of 41911 Tamara, says his favorite activity is water skiing.

free throw, but Clarkston had tied the game by the end of the first minute of play. More success at the free throw line put the Mustangs back in the lead 4-1.

But Clarkston, swinging into a full-court zone press, quickened the pace, causing Northville to foul several times. The Wolves were able to once more tie the score at 4-4 with just three minutes of game time gone.

Clarkston sunk two free throws to move ahead 6-4 during the next minute of play, but Mustang forward Tom Swiss was fouled while sinking a lay-up shot, and the bonus foul shot put Northville ahead 7-6. The Mustangs opened and maintained the lead till game's end.

Northville started the second quarter with an 18-11 lead, and went on to score 21 points while holding the Wolves to 10. The fast pace begun in the first quarter continued through to half time, with the Mustangs employing a man-to-man defense and Clarkston alternating between a normal zone and the full-court zone press.

The local cagers opened the second half with two quick baskets to make the score 43-21. The Wolves attempted to counter Northville's strong defense with a fast break, but to little avail.

The Mustangs continued to control rebounding during the third stanza with the rangy Brown turning in one of his best performances around the boards. He was pulled near the end of the period after four fouls. The loss cut the Mustangs' rebounding capacity considerably, but a tightened defense kept Clarkston from under the basket for the most part.

Brown re-entered the game with about six minutes left in the final period but fouled out mid-way through the quarter.

Northville broke Clarkston's use of the zone press by clicking in a series of baskets made possible by a semi-stall that drew the Wolves' defenders to one side of the court and shook a Mustang loose, leaving him open under the basket.

With Clarkston forced into a less aggressive defense, Northville was able to slow the pace a little and keep its lead safe.

Coach Dave Longridge said he thought Friday's contest "was one of our best games this season."

He praised Northville's adaptability to Clarkston's offensive and defensive changes, as well as the individual efforts of Brown and Challas.

Longridge noted that the Mustangs had a few more fouls than usual, and said he would be working on a slightly more careful defense this week in preparation for Friday night's game at Bloomfield Hills.

"Most of Clarkston's first 14 or so points came on free throws," the Mustang mentor and noted that 25 Clarkston points were made at the free throw line. The Mustangs netted 20 points on free throws.

"Bloomfield Hills, riding out second place in the Wayne-Oakland league with a 7-2 record, would like nothing better than to knock us off our perfect record", Longridge said.

The junior varsity Colts staggered under a scoring barrage from Clarkston, and then fell to a 54-35 defeat. The Colts scored eight points in both first and second quarters, while their Clarkston counterparts netted eleven and nine.

During the third stanza, Clarkston pounded in 18 points, while holding the Colts to seven. Northville's final period rally of 12 points was a futile effort against their opponents' 16. Don Biery led the Colts with 13 points, while Rice was second with a total of 10.

Matmen Drop Fifth Meet To Weaker Farmington

Northville's Mustang wrestling men dropped their fifth of eleven matches so far this season last Thursday when they traveled to North Farmington.

Matman Jack Kremer said the 26-24 loss is not indicative of the local squad's ability. He pointed out that the Mustangs won a previous match with North Farmington 46-6, and explained that he sent mostly reserve wrestlers to the meet.

"We'd have won even with the reserves," he stated, "but one boy was ill and another was caught in a surprise pin hold."

Kremer said he wrestled mainly reserves because Farmington was the weakest team left on Northville's schedule.

and he wanted to give his first-year men as much experience as possible.

Tonight (Thursday), the Mustangs face Walled Lake in what Kremer says should be a good, tight match. The rest of the local matmen's schedule includes return engagements with Flat Rock, Redford Union and

If Win District Cagers to Visit Pontiac

Should Northville's Mustangs win their district basketball tournament in Milford next month, they will go to the regional at Pontiac instead of the tougher tournament at Willow Run, Athletic Director Al Jones announced recently.

The switch means the Mustangs, who have lost previously to strong River Rouge in the Willow Run area regional, may have a better chance at winning their regional tournament.

This year's district tilts will begin the first week in March at Milford, Jones said. Other teams in the district will be Brighton, Milford and South Lyon.

The regional competition will be held at Pontiac Northern

LET'S TALK CARS . . .

"TIS OUR THINKING MAKES IT SO"

The most frustrating of the many problems faced by conscientious automobile salesmen is trying to answer a customer's objection that he knows is really an illusion.

This is the illusion of "the better offer." It may not be a better offer at all, but if the salesman's prospects THINKS it is, that is what really matters.

If a "better offer" is for a similar make and year of a used car, for instance, there might be a difference of 30,000 miles in mileage, or $200 difference in extras and features and an even greater difference in the model referred to.

Many a reputable quality dealer, delivering what he knows to be the most automobile value possible for the price, has lost a sale — and the customer has lost money — because of this mistaken identity.

Fleet cars and wrecked cars and taxis and police cruisers are worth less — often substantially less — model for model and year for year, than a car whose reserve of life remains intact UNUSED mileage and wear is what you have to measure.

Here's your check list of protection: we never knowingly misrepresent a car to be something it is not; we never sell retail former taxicabs or police cruisers unless they are specified as such and priced accordingly; we never sell cars which have been in a major collision; the name and address of the former owner is available on request.

Training School Plans Home Care Program

Utilizing the findings of the President's Joint Commission on Mental Health, Dr. Pasquale Buoniconti, Medical Superintendent of the Wayne County Training School, has announced a new program for the rehabilitation of the mentally retarded children at the school.

Under this program, to be known as the Family Care Program, a select group of mentally retarded patients will be placed in private homes. A subsistence allowance will be given to each household semi-monthly and medical care, clothing and other necessities will be considered as the need arises.

Dr. Buoniconti explained that this older group of mentally retarded individuals can often respond favorably to the close attention which is inevitable in a Family Care Program. Many of the patients eligible for this program can share in simple family responsibilities and can perform limited and routine household duties. The individual home setting can provide the balanced security and protective environment needed by these young men and women.

Training School Social Workers will be available to assist in the planning and supervision of the program in the individual homes. Those participating in the Family Care Program will have an opportunity to meet possible candidates prior to their placement.

Patience and a willingness to help a mentally retarded individual are the prime requisites in this program, Dr. Buoniconti said. He asked that individuals willing to participate in this program contact Miss Dorothy Pearson, Director of Social Service at the Training School, by letter or by calling GLenview 3-6500.

Beadle Bill Proposes New State Home Unit

Representative Harvey J. Beadle, Democratic representative for the Northville area, introduced a bill recently which would authorize the state to build a laboratory building at the Sheldon road Plymouth State Home and Training School at a cost of $250,000.

Rep. Beadle said, "This is one unit in a complex of units being planned for the Plymouth State Home and Training School. While Governor Swainson is

Slow License Sales Forecast Deadline Rush

The Northville Secretary of State's branch office has been selling automobile license plates at the rate of about 22 a day, reports Harold Hartley, manager of the office.

"This rate is alarmingly low," Hartley stated, "because it means there are a great many persons in this area who have not yet obtained their license plates, and if sales continue at the same rate, there will be very large crowds in the office during the last few days before the February 28 deadline."

He added that the office distributed only 403 sets of plates between its opening on January 11 and the end of the month.

Hartley said any area firm that would like to furnish license plate forms to their employees so they can fill them out before coming to the office may obtain as many as it needs. The office is located in the Hartley-Powers Art Gallery at 116 East Main street.

Hartley added that time is running out for motorists who want the 35-cent refund credit for reflectorized plates they never received. He said they may obtain refund forms at the office.

The legislative act which authorizes these credits sets a deadline which makes these refund cards apply only on purchases of 1962 plates and then only if they are used before the February 28 deadline.

Persons eligible for refunds are urged to mail their credit application cards to the Department of State in Lansing not later than February 15, 1962. When these cards are received in Lansing, they are checked with the master record and refunds of 35 cents or more are authorized.

Credit refund cards are available in all branch offices of the Department of State. Motorists can mail in their own cards or give them to their local branch manager who will send them to Lansing for validation. This process takes from two to four days, depending on the workload at the time, plus the days the card is in the mail.

Local Officer Completes MSU Course

Officer Peter R. Plotsch of the Northville police department was awarded a certificate of achievement at the final session of a Basic Police Training Course conducted January 8-February 2 at Michigan State University.

The 39-member class, largest in the 11-year history of the program, attracted officers from cities throughout Michigan. Included were a Brazilian and three Indonesian police officers, all sponsored by the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

During their four weeks at MSU's Kellogg Center the men studied such subjects as criminal and traffic law, police ethics, first aid, delinquency, defensive tactics and human relations.

The lessons were put into practice at a mock crime and court trial, enacted by the students and presided over by special agents of the FBI, Michigan State Police, municipal and state officials and faculty members of the MSU School of Police Administration and public safety.

Group Plans Ladies Night

Dryer said any Novi persons who would like to audition for the talent show could contact him. He added that tickets for the event are available from board of commerce members. About 175 persons attended the affair last year, he said. Dinner is scheduled for 7 p.m., with dancing beginning about 8:30.

New Facilities Reflect Growth at OLV

SISTERS' CHAPEL — Vast remodeling work at the convent next door to the school was completed in early November. The Reverend John Wittstock, pastor at Our Lady of Victory, made this wooden altar for the enlarged chapel. The sisters attend Mass here each morning.

DOUBLED CAPACITY — With the completed addition to the school (far right), OLV's student capacity is nearly doubled, estimates Sister Mary Bernarda, principal. Last year classes were doubled up and rooms were overcrowded at the 50-student limit.

CANOPIED WALK — Eighth grade boys on the way to choir practice use the new and convenient canopied walk that connects the recently completed addition to the school (left) and the church.

NEW ENTRANCE at the front of the convent permits entry to the sacristy and adjoining chapel without passage through the sisters' home.

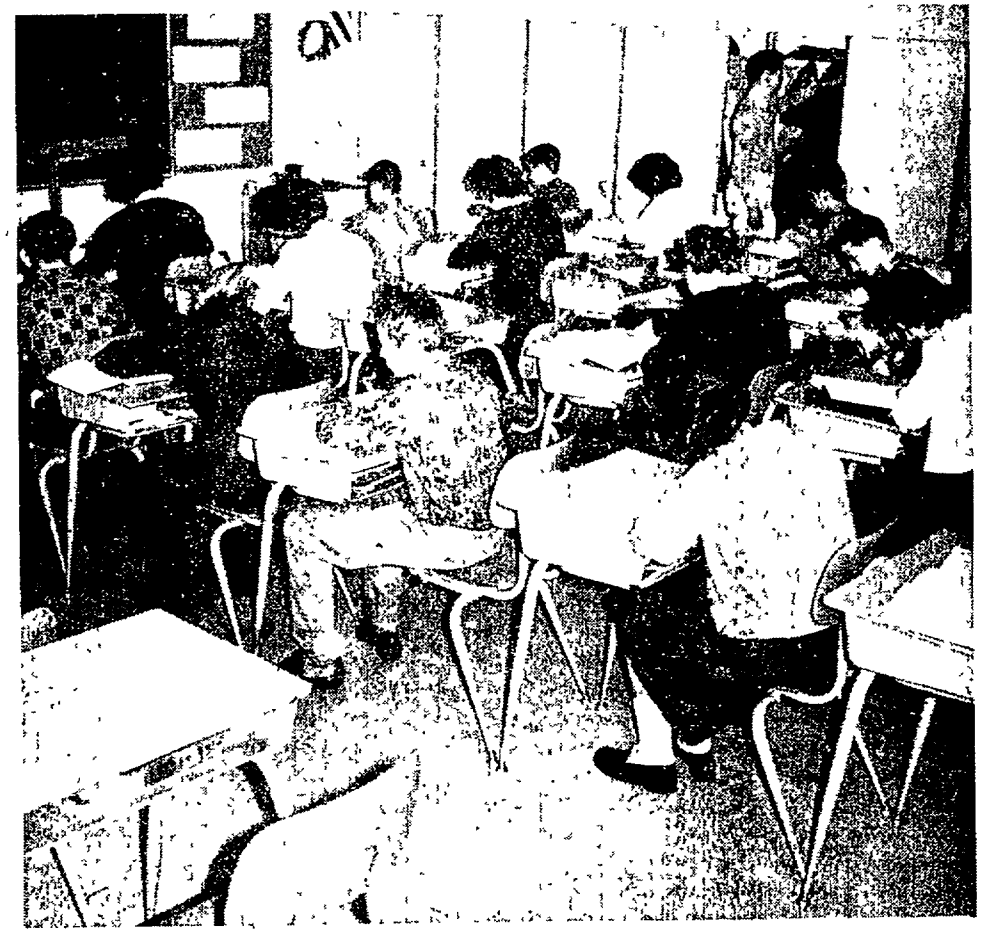

Reflecting a pattern of continual growth to meet the needs of an expanding church and school population, Our Lady of Victory parishioners recently saw the completion of a sorely-needed addition to the Catholic school and extensive remodeling of the sisters' home.

Both projects, estimated by the Rev. John Wittstock at a cost of about $125,000, were started last June.

Four new classrooms, a lounge for lay teachers, janitor's closet, two lavatories and a canopied walk connecting the church and school were added to the school which houses 266 students in grades one through eight. The addition was ready in December.

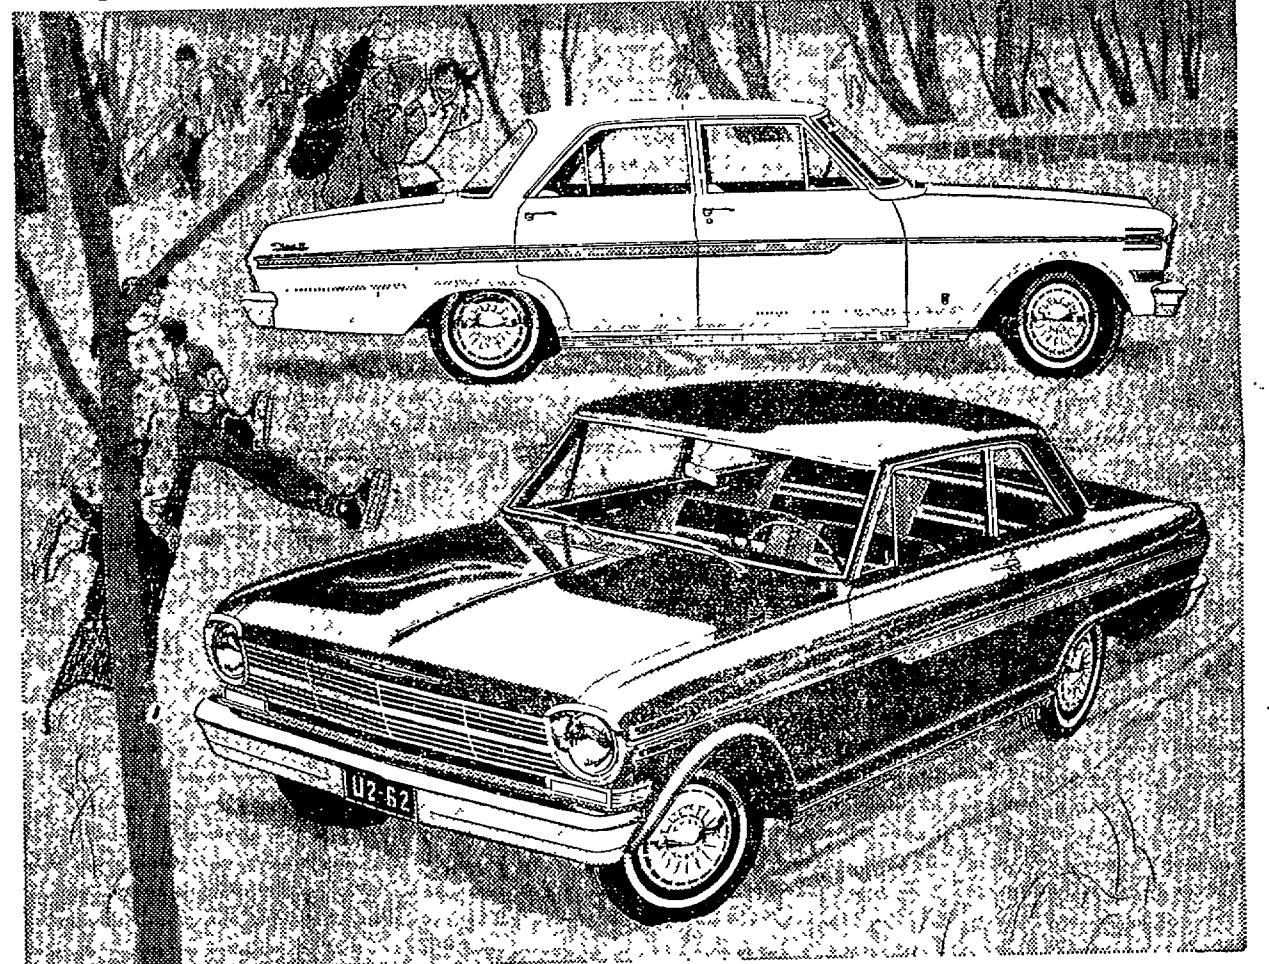

Until December, OLV students attended classes in four-hour sessions. Sister Mary Bernarda, principal, said the new facility eliminated combination classrooms and relieved congestion throughout the entire building.

Work on the sisters' home, including three new bedrooms, community and recreation rooms, an enlarged chapel and sacristy and two reception parlors, was completed in Nov.

FOUR NEW CLASSROOMS now make it possible for each of OLV's eight grades to occupy a separate room. Mike Turnbull, president of the eighth grade, demonstrates new locker facilities with which each room is equipped.

All these are used in your telephone to make sure you can count on round-the-clock convenience, protection, and security from your telephone service.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Northville

Paul's Thorn in the Flesh

There has been much speculation as to the exact nature of Paul's thorn in the flesh. All that we know is that it was some affliction that caused him intense suffering.

Three times the apostle by fervent prayer sought to be relieved of it. We might think that God should have freed him from this afflic-tion immediately. He did not.
Rather the answer from heaven was: "My grace is sufficient for thee; for My strength is made perfect in weakness." (2 Corinthians 12:9).

God knew that this thorn, instead of being detrimental to Paul, would turn out to be a blessing for him. By it, he, who had been so highly privileged by God, was kept humble.

Furthermore, God gave him sufficient grace to bear his suffering. The result was that Paul was content with his condition, saying: "Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me. Therefore, I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christ's sake; for when I am weak, then am I strong."

Paul was convinced that the same grace and mercy of God which had pardoned his terrible past would also be able to support him through every earthly trial.

Our Afflictions Today

Many a Christian is likewise praying that God would remove his particular thorn in the flesh. And the answer he receives today is also:
"My grace is sufficient for thee; for My strength is made perfect in weakness."

Some object: "Why?" —
"Why must we suffer so, if God loves us?" God has His purpose.

In another Epistle Paul reminded his fellow sufferers:
"For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on Him, but also to suffer for His sake!"
(Philippians 1:29). Peter from experience could encourage the faithful; "Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you." (1 Peter 4:12).

These passages should help us understand that if the Lord decides to keep us in our tribulation, this is no sign that He is leaving us. Be assured, if the trial must endure, then the grace of God will also endure and never fail us.

"For when I am weak, then, am I strong." These words are a seeming paradox. They mean that when and in our infirmities and lean not on our own power or knowledge but rather lean on God and trust in Him, then we are strong, strong in His grace.

So, if God does not remove our trials, let us learn to acquiesce and even rejoice in their continuance. Let us recognize that God knows that these are best for us and are instrumental in promoting His glory and the good of His Kingdom.

Yes, God's grace is sufficient also for us. His wonderful grace, which in the sacrifice of His Son was more than enough to save us from all of our sins, is also more than enough to see us through all of our temporal afflictions.
But, as Paul, we must believe this, in order to benefit.

It's Dad's Night For Presbyterians

Presbyterian Dads, their sons and daughters will be the guests of honor tonight (Thursday) when the church's Men's club hosts its annual Dad's night dinner in the fellowship hall at 6:30 p.m.

Featured speaker at the dinner will be Curt Nixon, who will show and discuss a color film illustrating the 6,000 mile cruise he and his family took aboard their sailing vessel, "The Trade Wind".

As a Dad's night special, all guest tickets will be 75 cents.
Reservations should be called into the church office, FI 9-0911.

Dr. Mudd Replies

What Hope for Unfortunates?

Dear Dr. Mudd:

Recently, I read for the first time your column, "Dr. Mudd Replies." I was struck by the fact that as professional social workers, my colleagues and I seldom think to call upon psychiatrists except for assistance in the solution of problems pertaining to individual clients.

One of the greatest social problems of today in terms of human grief and dollar cost is that of the various public welfare and assistance programs. Last year four billion dollars was spent for indigent persons in the United States. Maybe you will have some useful views on the subject.

Would you care to comment?

Social Worker

Dear Social Worker:

Granted, a great effort has never been made in this direction. Even cursory contacts with many welfare recipients suggests that virtually all are unfortunate humans who in a less enlightened society than our own would have succumbed to the rigors of a harsh world long before attaining inactivity.

Yet despite this, there are undoubtedly a reclaimable few among those poor inadequates and attention needs to be directed to them. But in only one way, I think, can this limited goal be achieved.

Opportunity may be coupled with encouragement, but unless an individual be innately endowed with motivation to make use of the opportunity toward which he is encouraged, no beneficial result is to be anticipated.

A crusading fervor to accomplish what amounts to a profound change in human nature is undoubtedly a sincere, if emotionally determined ambition, but it is doomed to falter and fail if unwillingness to accept the limitations which dictate each person's life is neglected.

All of the schemes I have read of proposing various solutions "to the welfare burden" are either the product of gross misrepresentation of the many problems, or ignore all of the facets of the psychology of the indigent except what is alleged to be the most significant; the wish to be supported without effort by someone else.

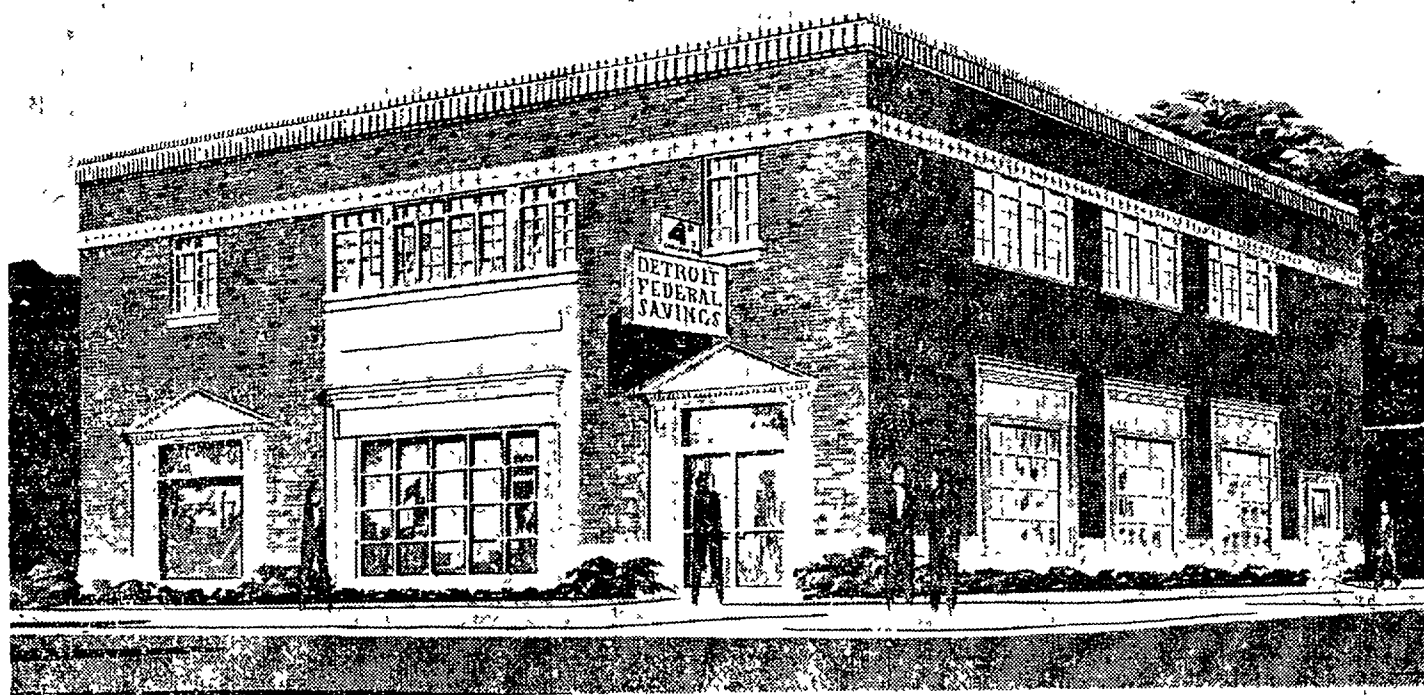

Most people, by the way, have no idea how close to a bare existence these poor people live and how vacant, empty, and dismal their lives are. Out of our anxiety that we will swell their numbers by making their lives appear attractive, we necessarily contribute to the slavery that poverty imposes.

As you can see, these views of mine do not support those held by a number of professional social work organizations. I appreciate your question and I think it is a good one.

SPEAKING for the Record

by Bill Sliger

It's a year of elections in the Northville-Novi-Wixom area with the latter two communities going to the polls first this spring.

Novi village residents start off with two matters to consider on March 12.

They'll elect three village councilmen. And on the same ballot they'll be asked to vote "yes" or "no" on city incorporation of the area within the village borders.

There are also nine charter commissioners to select from 13 candidates. If city incorporation is approved, it will be their job to draft a charter. When this is completed, the village would then vote again for charter approval and city incorporation would then become a reality — or set aside — depending upon the outcome of the charter vote.

April 2 Wixom voters go to the polls. In addition to electing three council members and a mayor, they'll find a rather unusual measure on the ballot.

It calls for reduction of the charter's tax rate limitation. As the charter now stands, the top tax rate that can be levied in Wixom is eight mills. This ballot proposal will give voters an opportunity to cut this in half — to four mills.

The proposition came about when Wixom started using state equalized (rather than local) valuations for levying taxes. The question was raised as to whether the original intent of the charter had been to use these higher valuations or not.

Finally, the Wixom Civic Association launched a drive to place the issue on the ballot. Now it's up to the taxpayer. The outcome should be interesting as there are strong opinions on both sides of the issue.

First Northville area election will be the school board ballot in June. Later all state voters go to the polls for the August 7 primaries, followed by the gubernatorial vote in November.

Congratulations are due the many citizens who helped make the annual March of Dimes another success.

In Northville the Jaycees and their chairman, Bill Bingley, undertook the campaign with their usual zest and the results reflected this. Mrs. H. Lorne Dyer and her band of "marching mothers" turned in the best performance ever.

In Novi Mrs. Bernard Marchetti has charmaned the drive for five years — an outstanding community contribution.

If I were a politician, I would turn an ear to the rumble of drums calling for reduced domestic spending and try to win my votes by tax reductions rather than give-aways.

The reaction to statements in this column last week reflect genuine grass-roots concern in the ever increasing role government is assuming in local and individual problems.

Con-Con Deadline

The Constitutional Convention gave itself a challenging March 31 adjournment date some time ago, but now faces the question of whether it can meet its self-imposed cutoff date.

A legislative appropriation last year provided enough funds to pay delegates their $500 semi-monthly salary through May, but the elected members of the convention decided they should attempt to finish their work earlier.

The decision was sharply influenced by an attorney general's opinion which stated March 31 would be the last day the convention could work if it wanted to get its proposed constitution on the November ballot, when state officers will be elected.

Now, with some months of committee work and several hours of heated debate behind them, the delegates are beginning to realize the slipshod limitations of the March 31 deadline.

The validity of the Attorney General's opinion is also being challenged as it becomes apparent the cutoff date might mean a less than fully considered document could result from the short session.

Michigan's present constitution gives the 1961-62 convention the power to put its proposal before the people any time 90 days or longer after the time it adjourns. For the November ballot, this would put the cutoff date at August.

Attendance record of the delegates is excellent. According to Lloyd Ashe, a Lansing man who has kept track of legislators for years, says Con-Con delegates have been present for a remarkable 92% of the time in the first 48 days during 1961. Thus far in 1962, their record is better still: 97%.

Delegates who had no previous political experience in deliberative bodies are just now beginning to see the full process unfold. The convention sessions have been long and tedious for committee members who have gone over and over the material in their report and must review the entire committee considerations for the rest of the delegates.

Some of the less experienced have expressed concern over the fact that committee reports are not summarily accepted as the best possible proposals.

Partisan squabbles, not always fully brought out during the committee hearings, have tied up and delayed several of the meaty proposals which have reached the floor.

Limitation of debate has been viewed to this point with great disdain but would appear to be one of the few ways to meet the March 31 deadline, if delegates want to meet it.

Honest appraisal of many of the speeches given by delegates on the floor leaves no doubt that better organized thoughts and a willingness to be concise instead of verbose would be a great improvement. Time could be saved and process could be realized.

There is much to be said for and against setting limits on floor debate. Most deliberative bodies, however, find it imperative to take this action when faced with considerations of time.

The delegates, through their hard work to date and their apparently sincere interest in presenting a thoughtfully considered document to the people, have a very good public image.

If it is to remain a good image, it would appear they must make some quick decisions on whether they want to meet this deadline and the best way to do it.

Putting off until tomorrow is a habit which quickly lowers a person or group in its effectiveness. This tactic could easily present more problems to the delegates than they already face.

Drilling holes in new highways would appear to be an inconsistency of government, but state highway officials report this activity is a method of insuring safe roadways.

Department workers last year drilled about 3,000 holes in brand new highways.

Six-inch cores are cut from new sections of highway to determine whether contractors have met the construction specifications.

Freeway construction specifications, for example, generally call for the thickness of concrete, to be nine inches. Reinforcing steel must be placed in the concrete three inches below the pavement surface.

The cores drilled are measured for thickness and subjected to a weight test at the department's laboratory at Ann Arbor. Each sample core must hold up under 100,000 pounds of pressure — equivalent to more than 25 regular sized cars.

Any variations from the specifications can mean the department does not pay a contractor the full paving cost. Department officials report few shortages are found.

Skilled Labor Shortage

Babson Park, Mass., One of the paradoxes of recent years, and particularly during the last recession, has been the growing unfilled demand for specialists and highly skilled workers during a time of heavy unemployment.

We don't have to look very far for the answer: There is a large segment of the labor force having little or no basic economic education, and even more who have developed no special skills. Even in the deepest part of the recession, there were over 8,000 unfilled openings in the heavy-hit Los Angeles area with employers unable to find enough skilled or technically trained workers.

I advise my readers to make their children and their grandchildren start training for special occupations early in the education game. This has been one of my theme songs, and it becomes clearer every day that the time of the specialist is upon us.

Industry is still hard put — even during a period of high unemployment — to find enough trained craftsmen. For every 100 skilled men and women employed in industry today, there will be 125 needed by 1965, and 150 by 1975 — partly in spite of and partly because of the spread of automation.

The Labor Department believes that this "age of the computer" will create a tremendous increase in job openings for professional, office, and sales workers. In fact, it expects that industry will need some 8,400,000 more workers in such branches between now and 1970. Many of these will be sought by skilled mechanical and construction crafts, and many will be needed in the rapidly expanding office field.

Let me now bring up a problem that already faces the employer and will become steadily more difficult over the years ahead. This involves the dizzying pace at which changes in specialization become necessary in the mad race of research and development that leads automation ever onward. Some intelligent observers of the machine-to-run-machines revolution think that intensive specialization is basically unsound.

What will happen, they ask, to a student trained to run a complex machine when that machine and his job suddenly becomes obsolete? This is something that is going to happen numberless times in the years ahead. How am I to tell my readers the best way to face it?

Frankly, I think it is as simple as this: Insist upon broad education all along the way for your dependents. In this way their discipline will be improved and their minds will be made more responsive to wider variety of good influences. Once an aspiring young man or woman learns how to think, it will be an easy thing to adapt as demand requires. Changes will not then loom as insurmountable barriers, but will be new and stimulating challenges.

There will be a million-and-one such challenges in the coming years and you will want your children educated in the way that will help them to meet these changes.

While getting a broad education the arts should not be neglected. In fact, they should be encouraged with an eye to influencing a worker to think when he is not busy at his job.

Creative thinking is the great need. This is the only way we will lick Communism.

Those who pooh-pooh time given to the study of literature, painting, theater, and music simply do not understand the richness and imagination which can be thus instilled into a young person growing up in a highly materialistic world. Needless to say, sane religious education is of the utmost importance from the very earliest "learning" days of every child.

In closing, may I say that I have not abandoned my attitude toward the real need for specialization. But I think it is essential to base this upon a sound, broad education that will lay the groundwork for the development of special talents. A poor student is usually a poor craftsman.

Shame on school committee members who are always calling for "practical" education.
