

Policy on Religion Stirs Novi Schools

Although marked by audience participation reaching such stormy proportions that a "cooling off" recess was called, the Novi board of education meeting last week saw three definite proposals submitted, and two acted upon.

The board unanimously approved a proposal calling for an April 16 election asking for a five-year tax increase of six mills.

A policy on religion drafted by a 30-member citizens committee and endorsed by nearly 300 residents was approved by a 4-1 vote.

Petitions bearing 430 signatures and calling for President Walter Ambinder's resignation were submitted to the superintendent but not discussed.

Board members backed the millage proposal after studying a citizens committee report that indicates Novi schools need a $73,000 increase in revenues next year to offset several years of deficit financing and provide for unavoidable cost increases.

The new policy on religion underwent two amendments requested by Board Member John MacBride. President Ambinder voted against the policy, while Arthur Heslip, David Fried, Russell Taylor and MacBride approved.

The policy points out the nation's religious heritage and says that despite the variety of religious beliefs in the community, all members "acknowledge and worship one God." As amended, it provides that:

"Such holidays as Christmas and Easter may be observed in the schools, and music, decorations, and symbols commonly associated with these holidays may be used;

"Students of the school district who desire to observe recognized religious holidays, or church specified religious exercises, other than those mentioned above, may be excused for the purpose on request, without penalty;

"Teachers may offer non-sectarian prayers in the classroom or at meals;

"Teachers may explain the significance of the holidays of various religions to their students in order to expand their knowledge and understanding of the student body, but any such discussions shall be purely explanatory and in no way praise or condemn the religious principles involved;

"Participation in any religious observance, such as singing Christmas carols, will not be compulsory for any student."

Petitions requesting board acceptance of the policy were presented by Lloyd George. He explained that a committee drafted the proposals and obtained signatures of members of the community in order to show the board what he termed "the feelings of the entire community."

He said the committee feels that prayer in the classroom is an aspect of the religious heritage, and that the schools should assist the home and church in "furthering the values that spring from religion."

GEORGE added that his group believes most of the confusion about the policy proposals stems from "lack of knowledge about the intentions of our founding fathers when they drafted the constitution."

Reverend Arnold Cook, pastor of the First Baptist church of Novi, spoke in anticipation of possible objections to the policy proposals.

He said he supposed the argument of protection for minority groups would be the most basic objection to school prayer. Those using such an argument, he said, would be concerned with the possibility of the majority coercing the minority.

"But it is no more right for the minority to coerce the majority by using 'tolerance' as their weapon," he declared.

Pointing out the necessity of religious persons to take their religion into everything they do, Cook said that religious doctrines should be taught in the home and church, "but so should tolerance."

As for ruling out religion on the grounds of eliminating controversy, he said, "how can there be education without controversy?" There are, he pointed out, controversies in such other matters as biology, philosophy, ethics, political science and morals.

JUDICIAL precedents for approving prayer in the schools may be found in Michigan and other states' supreme court decisions, said Emery Jacques, speaking on the legal basis for the policy.

Jacques cited cases from a number of states, including Michigan, New York, Texas, Tennessee and several others in which, he said, the courts ruled as constitutional such classroom proceedings as Bible reading and prayer recitation.

There is a possibility, he stated, that such a policy could lead to sectarian religion in the schools. He concluded, however, that it is not up to the board at this time to base its decision on anticipation of such a possibility.

Reverend Marvin Rickert, of Willowbrook Community church, said he thinks the policy was being proposed for reasons other than honest concern for a need for prayer in the schools.

"It's obvious that the problem underneath all this is a clash of personalities," he declared. Saying Wednesday night's action was "motivated by fear," he added:

"Prayer for us comes from within, not from without. I'd like to pray that we'll come to the time when we can tell our teachers to create prayer in our children. When we reach that point, it'll be demonstrative."

After Ambinder pointed out that there already existed an administration policy on religion that had been drafted by the teachers and endorsed by the board, Roland Heaton said the persons presenting the petitions wanted a formal board policy.

"We don't want to wake up some morning to find that our school board has ruled out prayer and observation of all religious holidays like the people in Bloomfield Hills did," Heaton declared.

Ambinder said he feels the policy the schools have been using has worked well. He pointed out that there have been no complaints from any side, and said he questioned whether a change is warranted.

He added that he feels there is substantial reason to doubt the legality of the proposed policy. He pointed to the State Attorney General's 1961 opinion that religious instruction in the public schools is unconstitutional, and said, "If prayers don't constitute religious training, then I don't know what prayer is."

As Ambinder was suggesting the policy be held off or conditionally accepted, pending approval of the State Attorney General, Charles Comito jumped to his feet and shouted to the audience that Ambinder was trying to hold things up on the basis of an Attorney General's opinion when they had already heard that there have been supreme court decisions rendering classroom prayer and Bible reading constitutional.

Amid an outburst of name calling, Ambinder ordered a recess of the meeting until the audience could be quieted, and walked from the room.

Board member Arthur Heslip said he thought the board should call for reconvening the meeting. The rest of the board agreed, if the audience would remain quiet.

Following Ambinder's return, the board voted to accept the policy, with only Ambinder dissenting.

Jack Anglin then submitted petitions bearing some 430 signatures requesting Ambinder's resignation. The petitions charge that Ambinder's conduct has been "argumentative and inflammatory," that he has chosen to represent his own interests and those of a community minority, and that he is "primarily responsible for the current unrest that prevails among the teachers, the parents and the children."

Set Showdown Public Hearing On Assessments

The highly controversial proposal to levy a 25 per cent assessment for street improvements inched forward again Monday night via the usual city council vote — 3 to 2.

With Mayor A. M. Allen, Councilmen Richard Ambler and John Canterbury voting "yes" and Councilmembers Beatrice Carlson and Richard Judy voting "no" the council set Monday, March 12 as the night for a public hearing on the confirmation of the roll.

Specifically, two special assessment districts are involved: North Center street from the Eight Mile road cut-off to South Ely drive; and portions of East, High, Elm and Walnut.

If the assessment plan — which has met strong opposition to date — is approved at Monday night's hearing, it is likely that the council will move swiftly to permit early advertising for contract bids.

Monday night the council accepted the roll of assessments as presented by Assessor Harold Penn.

Notices of these assessments and the date of the public hearing will be mailed to each of the property owners involved this week.

Throughout the discussions of special assessments, the Allen-Ambler-Canterbury trio has maintained that the proposal is the most economically feasible and fair plan for improving city streets.

Carlson and Judy have maintained it is not fair because many residents have had their streets paved from general funds while others have had to wait. Those living on unpaved streets would be penalized, they contend.

Another strong argument for the council majority is the Center street problem. Half of the cost of the paving will be paid by the school district providing an assessment of some degree is levied against property owners on the other side of the street.

Penn's report Monday night revealed the following assessment totals:

Center Street — concrete paving, curbs and gutters; total estimated cost — $20,305; city's share — $11,552.68; school's share — $7,270.04, total assessment against eight property owners — $1,482.28 (ranging from $98.53 to a high of $303.60).

East, High, Elm and Walnut — asphalt paving; total estimated cost $13,374.00; city's share — $10,498.70; total assessment against 49 lots involved — $2,875.30.

Twelve of the 49 lots involved in the East, High, Elm and Walnut district are owned by the East Lawn Rest Home. Cost in this district, where curbs and gutters have already been installed, amounts to $3.00 per front foot (except on Walnut where thicker application is required thereby increasing the cost to $3.52 per front foot).

The property owner pays 25 per cent of this cost, or for example, $49 for a 66-foot lot.

Assessments may be paid over a period of five years at six per cent interest, but annual payments cannot be less than $10.

It is also necessary that estimates be within five per cent (above or below) of final costs. If higher, they must be re-advised. If lower, the property owner receives a refund.

The assessment plan calls for a 25 per cent levy per front foot and 12 1/2 per cent per side-yard foot. In the case of the school-owned property, an assessment of 100 per cent of the cost of half the street bordering on school property would be levied. The city at large pays for intersections.

Property owners opposed to the assessment plan have an opportunity to bring about its defeat at the March 12 hearing. If owners representing more than 50 per cent of the total assessment to be levied in a particular district present petitions against adoption, a four-fifths vote of the council is needed for passage.

With the Carlson-Judy stand, it would be virtually impossible to win such a vote. In the Center street district it would appear that any such petition would be impossible. The school district has voiced approval and would bear seven-eighths of the assessment.

The March 12 hearing will be held at the city hall at 8 p.m.

Mary Ellen Hollis provides a reminder — February 28 is the deadline for 1962 plates.

See Plate Pile Up As Deadline Nears

The Hartley-Powers Gallery, 116 East Main street, is scheduled to become one of the busiest shops in town during the next six days.

Harold Hartley fears it may be filled to overflowing unless residents act quickly.

The art gallery is also the office of the secretary of state license bureau.

According to Hartley, there could be more than 1,000 area motorists who have not yet obtained their 1962 plates but plan to do so locally before the February 28 deadline.

It's his first year as manager, so comparison figures are not available. But state records would indicate at least that many plates yet to be purchased.

Hartley plans to keep the local office open every evening until 9 p.m. through the deadline date.

He also suggests that motorists come in and pick up registrations forms and fill them out ahead of time to avoid waiting. It is necessary that applicants have their present registration and title with them.

Police Chief Eugene King warned motorists that Wednesday is the last day that cars bearing 1961 plates may be driven.

Little Interruption Meter Revenues Take Nosedive

Northville's parking meters became a subject of consideration of the city council Monday night after a report by City Manager Bruce Potthoff revealed that meter revenues in 1961 were down one-third.

Potthoff's report indicated the cause of the decreasing revenues was directly attributed to the large percentage of meters found to be inoperative.

In 1960 parking meters brought $6,111.01 into city coffers, while 1961 collections totaled $4,252.50.

"Regular checks are made of the meters with the inoperative meters being replaced or repaired, but available personnel are only able to provide corrective measures and preventative maintenance is virtually impossible," the manager stated.

Currently the city has 159 meters — 111 on the streets and 48 in lots. All but four are automatic meters.

Manager Potthoff said that experience in Northville and other cities has proven the automatic meter to be difficult to maintain. He said the four manual meters now in use in Northville have required very little maintenance in several years operation here.

His report proposed that the council replace all automatic meters with the manual type. Optional proposals were abolishment of all meters or wholesale repair of existing meters.

Potthoff indicated that the city's long range goal should be the withdrawal of all meters, but was not in the best interests of the city's immediate needs.

From an economic standpoint the manager predicted that the new manual meters would increase revenues 60 per cent.

Cost of 159 new manually operated meters would be $7,932.50 less proceeds from sale of parts from existing meters. This was estimated at $1,700.

Potthoff said that the new meters could be purchased without down payment and with 50 per cent of meter revenues as payment until complete without interest charges.

County Returns Streets to City

The news that Wayne county plans to relinquish its jurisdiction to Randolph and Baseline roads in Northville was greeted with less than enthusiastic acceptance by city councilmen Monday night.

The county board of supervisors informed the city by letter that action had already been taken removing the streets from county responsibility effective March 1.

Councilman John Canterbury, sitting in for Mayor A. M. Allen who arrived at the meeting after the discussion, pointed out that the county was "turning over a run-down liability." He also objected to the fact that the city had been given no advance notice or consulted on the change.

Randolph from North Center street to the city limits, and Baseline from North Center to the city limits have been maintained by the county. It will become a city responsibility on March 1, but the change will also give the city the state gas and weight tax rebates that have been going to the county. What this amounts to depends upon the road classification.

The council voted to send a letter to the board of supervisors suggesting that the county make needed road repairs as well as repairs to the Randolph road bridge.

In other business Monday night the council heard an objection from H. Thomas Quinn, owner of Northville Refrigeration Service, regarding the parking in the city lot behind the First Methodist church. He pointed out that the two hour limit prevented use of his trucks and therefore made a hardship on his business. Tentative of his building were also inconvenienced, he said. He noted that it was the only two-hour city lot and that a violation cost $2.00, while overtime parking elsewhere resulted in a 50 cent ticket.

The council turned the problem over to the city-merchant parking committee for consideration.

In final business the council approved an amendment to the street to the city limits, and city ordinance governing issuance of dog licenses and immunization shots. Under the amendment the date for licensing has been changed from March 1 to June 1. The council also changed its new amendment to coincide with the township, which has also changed to the June 1 date, to stipulate that proof of vaccination within six months of the application for license (or two years where vaccine used has modified live rabies virus of chick embryo origin) must be submitted when purchasing a license.

Detection Unit Offers Check-Up

Final preparations were being made this week to ready a team of volunteers to man a mobile detection unit that will offer free-of-charge health screening to Northville residents next week.

Designed to detect tuberculosis, diabetes and syphilis, the screening program is being sponsored by the Coordinating Council Mrs. Mabel Cooley is general chairman of volunteer services for the project.

The mobile unit will be stationed at the First Presbyterian church.

Wednesday, Feb. 28 from 1 to 7 p.m.;

Thursday, March 1 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. and from 6 until 8 p.m.;

Friday, March 2 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 1 p.m. until 6 p.m.

Mrs. Cooley has selected three women, Mrs. Louise Casfield, Miss Ruth Knapp and Mrs. William Light, to take charge of daily operations. All volunteers met last night at the city hall with a representative from the Wayne County Health department for a briefing on procedures to be followed in running the unit.

County Health Commissioner Dr. Joseph G. Molner advises all persons 21 years of age and over to take advantage of the unit's services as a convenient way of having a check-up which can be of value in the prevention or early detection of possible disease.

He points out that chest X-rays, for instance, in addition to discovering tuberculosis frequently detect signs of other chest abnormalities. Early detection of these abnormalities, which may include lung cancer or heart disease, give the patient the best possible chance for recovery, Dr. Molner concluded.

Besides its visit here, the mobile unit is also making stops in Livonia (February 22, 23 and 26) and in Plymouth (March 7, 8, 9 and 12).

Before the program ends on April 20, mobile units will have visited locations in or near most of the communities in out-Wayne county.

This Salt Runs Into Money

The icy winter may leave pedestrians stiff-legged and motorists tense, but it has brought smiles to the faces of salt and sand salesmen.

So far during the winter of 1961-62 Northville Superintendent of Public Works Bud Hartner reports that his crews have spread more salt and sand than was used in the last two years put together.

And Monday night city councilmen learned that the January bill for salt and sand was $1,500 — another record.

"So far this year we've used 250 tons of salt and an equal amount of sand," he said. He added that this is more than has been used in any one year during the 15 years he's been with the Northville DPW.

And worst of all, he said, the winter's not over yet. There's always a good chance, he added, that the first weeks of March can be as bad as any other period during the winter.

Hartner attributed the large increase in consumption of materials to the abnormal number of ice storms this area has suffered.

Because of the ice, he explained, the DPW crews have been sanding and salting the full length of city streets instead of just the intersections, as has been done in past years.

"This has put us about 50 percent over our budget for sand and salt," Hartner commented, but he added that the personnel budget is about the same as usual.

The addition of a new truck that overtime hasn't been above normal, he said. He explained that the new truck equipment accounts for the fact that the new truck brought the city's total to three, greatly reducing the time needed to cover the city's streets.

PASS THE SALT — Snow and ice have made this winter one of the busiest for Northville's road crews. Public Works Superintendent Bud Hartner says crews have already spread more sand and salt on city streets this winter than during the past two years. The diminishing salt supply had to be replenished again this week.

MEET THE KAAKES — November newcomers living at 46234 Fonner Ct., W., are (l-r) Jane Kaake — holding Rebecca — Janelyn, Jon, Steven and Elwyn Kaake. The family formerly resided in Detroit.

From the oldest down through the youngest, the members of the Elwyn Kaake (pronounced "cake") family are a going-to-school clan. The four younger Kaakes spend five days a week in public school classes. Janelyn, 15, is a sophomore at the high school; Jon, 13, is in the eighth grade at the junior high; Steven, 10, is in the fourth grade and Rebecca, 6, is a first grader at Amerman school. Mom and Dad "keep their minds perking" by attending night classes in Northville's adult education program. Elwyn Kaake studies woodshop while his wife, Jane, is enrolled in the pottery class. Mrs. Kaake spent one year at Henry Ford Community college. Her husband, who is employed as shop superintendent at Special Machine and Engineering, Inc., in Southfield, studied at Henry Ford Trade school and Wayne State university. Former Detroiters, the newcomers arrived in Northville to stay on November 7. Their quad-level home at 46234 Fonner Ct., W., concludes over five years of serious house hunting and several trips to Northville. It was the Kaakes' enthusiasm for outdoor sports — winter and summer — that first brought them here. Hiking, tobogganing, swimming and the like are family activities as is travel, which has taken the newcomers through most of the states.

Slate 'Mardi Gras' Dance

The Catholic Youth organization (CYO) of Our Lady of Victory church is planning another swinging hop for teenagers Saturday, March 3 in the parish hall at Thayer and Orchard. Dubbed "Mardis Gras: Jam-boree", the dance is to last from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. and will be the last one until after Easter.

Music will be furnished by a local dance band. A donation of 50 cents will buy a ticket from any CYO member. Further information is available by phoning either Jackie Phillips, FI 9-3252, after 4:30 p.m., or Kitty Collins, FI 9-3558, during the day.

Northville, Novi Patients Get Visiting Nurse Aid

Three Northville and nine Novi residents received care from the Visiting Nurse Association (VNA), a Torch Drive agency, during the past year, it was revealed at the association's annual meeting in Detroit this month.

Nursing, physical, occupational, diet therapy and home aide are provided by the Visiting Nurse association throughout Detroit and the populous sections of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. It serves an area having a population of 3,500,000.

The association's Western Wayne branch, located in Oakwood hospital, Dearborn, responds to calls from this area.

Any patient in need of Visiting Nurse service is eligible if he is under medical direction and lives within the tri-county area. Fees are charged for these services in full or part, based on $6 per hour for professional services and $1.50 per hour for home aides.

Torch Drive funds make it possible, however, for this service to reach all who need it, regardless of ability to pay.

Altogether, 15,438 patients received nursing service from the VNA during 1961. Another 2,000 patients received nutrition aid; 3,000 physical therapy; 170 occupational therapy; 285 home aide service. The VNA's sick room equipment was utilized by 850 patients.

Since many of the patients were unable to pay the fees, the VNA was subsidized to the extent of $573,534 from the United Foundation. Of its total budget of $865,843, only $113,682 came from patients' fees. Additional Torch Drive money was paid to the VNA by the Metropolitan Detroit Polo Fund, $6,440, the Michigan Arthritis Foundation, $8,280 and the Michigan Cancer Foundation, $13,000. The balance came from public funds, Blue Cross, Industrial contracts, Muscular Dystrophy, National Foundation, Tuberculosis and Health Society, Plymouth Community Fund and Farmington Community Fund.

The Visiting Nurse Association, headed by Miss Emille G. Sargent, executive director, has a staff of 161, including 84 professional nurses, 20 practical nurses and 29 home aides. In addition, during 1961, 82 students engaged in field work with the VNA and 253 observers took part in its program.

ACCOLADES — In a change of pace program last Friday afternoon, members of the Northville Women's club played host to a pert and promising pianist, Christine Paraschos. Following her "Afternoon with Music" program, which consisted of selections by Bach, Brahms and Chopin, Miss Paraschos was feted at a reception in the library.

Readers Speak on Novi School Issues

It was lunch time and the children had lined up in their room in readiness to go to the cafeteria. It was the usual thing for the first graders to pause and, before opening the door and going down the hall, to pray their "Grace." On this particular day, with the genuineness and freedom so characteristic of children, a little boy in the class said, "Mis. —, don't forget our prayer!"

One evening along about this same time, this same little boy, as he readied himself for bed said to his mother, "Do I have to pray out loud?" To this interesting question, the loving and understanding mother replied, "No, you may pray silently, if you wish." His prayer concluded, the little boy turned to his mother and said, "Do you know what I prayed for, mommy?" "No," said his mother, "I don't know what you prayed for." Probably encouraged by the sheer fact that his mother didn't attempt to barge in on the privacy of his prayer life, the little boy continued, "There really aren't too many things I want to pray for."

that we need and so I prayed that God would make people good."

I'm glad to know, —, that your parents are interested in your prayer life and that at your young age of six you can and do make your own prayers! Even though you and your parents express your religion in different words and forms than I do and different also than my fellow Catholics of the Roman Catholic faith do, we all believe in and worship God. I'm so proud of you, —, as I am of all the other Jewish, Roman Catholic and Protestant boys and girls who pray.

The other night I attended a meeting of the Board of Education (that's a group of people who have the job of seeing to it that there is a school to go to and that there are teachers). Well at this meeting they adopted what we adults call "a religious policy." If your little mind, —, finds it difficult to understand why such a "policy" had to be adopted when you and your class mates were all this time free to pray together in our public school don't you, too, stay awake nights trying to figure it out. Some of us who are older have a difficult time figuring it out.

Oh, some of us know some of the things that caused some people to insist that this "religious policy" should be adopted. By the way some people talked and acted they feel "bad" and not "good" toward your daddy, —, who is a member of that Board.

But apart from this, —, there was something else that was strange about that meeting the other night. While some adults appeared to be so interested in protecting your right and privilege of all the other boys and girls in our public school to pray, none of them seemed to want to personally or collectively use that right and privilege right there in that same school at that very time. In fact, some things happened which would have made it a sacrilege to pray. (Forgive me for using the word, "sacrilege," it's such a big word for a little boy. But I'd like to get in one big word, maybe the adults who read this might understand.)

While all this was going on, —, you were home in bed and sound asleep. I'm glad I would have been the last to have awakened you and brought you to the meeting. But we needed your prayer, O, so much. If you could have only been there and reminded the adults, as you reminded your teacher, "Don't forget our prayer." And if, too, you could have only been there and led all the adults in praying your prayer that God would make people good!

In the one part of the Bible which both you and I read, I remember these words, "And a little child will lead them." You could have led us, —, if only we adults would have followed you.

I am writing this, —, with the sincere prayer that other people who seem to think and feel differently toward your daddy, since he is a very important member of our Board of Education, will know that your parents have taught you and are encouraging you to pray!

I'm proud to count you a prayer-partner. May we always pray that God will make people good — beginning, I am sure you would agree —, with the one who prays.

dred people signed a petition requesting this resignation. I believe there are many more than this who heartily support this man and the improvement he has brought to our school system.

The great fault of a petition like this is that it only shows one side of the issue. It doesn't tell how many refused to sign or would have if they had been approached.

Dr. Ambinder has said he will not resign and for this we who esteem him are thankful and want him to know it. How about you? Have you attended a school board meeting? Do you have the facts?

I assume that the great majority of the debaters considered themselves to be Christians. Wouldn't it be wonderful if we that profess to be Christians would live up to the great principles of the Bible. In 1 Cor. chapter 13, (New Eng. Tra.) we read: "Love is patient; love is kind and envies no one. Love is never boastful, nor conceited, nor rude; never selfish, not quick to take offense. Love keeps no score of wrongs; does not gloat over other men's sins, but delights in the truth. There is nothing love cannot face; there is no limit to its faith, its hope, and its endurance." In a word, three things that last forever: faith, hope, and love; but the greatest of them all is love."

And Jesus said: (John 13:35) "By this shall all men know if ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another." This "all men" no doubt would include all the people present at the board meeting.

We still have religious liberty in this country, guaranteed by our constitution, and anyone can attend, or not attend, religious services in the church or synagogue of their choice. But when it comes to public schools, supported by public money, I think that Christian principles should forbid us to force our religion on anyone against their wishes.

Sincerely,
Mr. & Mrs. Edw. Blackwell

Green Ridge Enters Show
The Green Ridge Nursery will be among displayers at the builders home and flower show which begins Saturday and continues through March 4 in Cobb Hall.
Calling the display a western oriental garden, owner John Miller said Green Ridge's entry includes a large circular pool with flowing water and stepping stones leading to a sun deck.
Azaleas and other bulb plants, as well as dogwoods, weeping willows and flowering peaches add to the decor. Focal point of the display, says Miller, is an authentic stone Japanese lantern.
The display, which was entirely designed and built by Green Ridge, is outlined by bamboo fences.

Readers Speak: Opposes Novi Incorporation

To the Editor:
After the Village Council election two years ago, we all hoped to enjoy a future of political peace and community progress in Novi. This hope faded slowly and disappeared completely when in May of last year the first aggression was committed in a new cold war. The central committee decided that it was time to erect a Berlin Wall around Novi to stop the escape of dissatisfied village residents. To build that wall, another city incorporation petition was filed despite the overwhelming defeat of the same proposal two years ago by a vote of 766 to 175.

The city incorporation proposal is being promoted in the guise of "protecting" the boundaries of Novi from annexations by other communities. This device of pointing a finger at someone else and shouting "aggressor" is used regularly by certain countries of the world. If we believe the words of the pro-city group, we would be led to think that we are in danger of being gobbled up by the surrounding communities; however, the facts indicate otherwise. The present series of annexations and disconnection suits are not being promoted by surrounding communities, but rather they represent the efforts of the residents who no longer wish to be a part of the Village of Novi.

Legion Elects New Building Board Men

Three vacancies on the building association board were filled last week in an election held at the Lloyd H. Green Post 234 of the American Legion.
Newly elected members are Oscar Hammond and S. D. Stevens, to three-year terms, and Ray Altenburg to a one-year term.
These men replaced retiring board members John Stempel, Dave Macalavy and Al Marzanic.
Following the Post meeting, board President L. W. Snow, Jr. called a meeting for election of new officers. These include President Oscar Hammond, Vice-President Karl Stephens, Treasurer S. D. Stevens and Secretary Robert Blough.

These facts would indicate that the incorporation attempt, like the Berlin Wall, is an admission of failure; failure by the Village of Novi to plan and administer in a manner that will attract and hold residents.
I am sure that the administration of the village will receive much attention during the next few weeks. I believe that community planning is equally as important and is obviously not satisfactory to a very substantial number of Novi residents. It would appear that they do not approve of the community picture hanging on the wall of the Planning Board meeting room, and that the picture does not show the kind of community that they want to live in. The real problem then is not danger from outside communities, but discontent and dissatisfaction within Novi.

The Novi Citizen's Development Committee made a survey two years ago to determine what attracted people to Novi and what kind of a community they wanted. That expression of citizen opinion has been ignored. Present planning appears to be based on the theory and preconceived notions of the few individuals who are doing the planning. I believe that the opinions of all of the residents of Novi as indicated in the Citizen's committee survey must dictate planning for the needs of each area of the village. It is this kind of planning that is necessary if Novi is to develop into the kind of a community in which we will all be proud to live.

I would like to urge your support in defeating the city incorporation question as I believe it will be detrimental to the growth and development of Novi. It cannot change the present dissatisfaction within Novi because it is not a substitute for good planning. A community of which we can all be proud is the answer, and will attract and hold residents much more effectively than the force of a Berlin Wall.

With Double Week-end Victories

Cagers' Cinch W-O Championship

The Northville Mustangs defeated a pair of Wayne-Oakland rivals last week end, to clinch their first league championship since a tie with Clarkston as league leaders of the 1956-57 season.

The wins, against West Bloomfield 48-41 Friday night, and Clarenceville 84-46 Saturday, put the local cagers' perfect season record out of the reach of Bloomfield Hills, the only other league team that was in position to win or tie for the championship.

Before the double-header week-end, Northville had won all of its league contests, while Bloomfield Hills stood 7-3, with both teams having four games left to play. Had the Mustangs lost three of their games and Bloomfield won all four, the team's could have tied.

Any doubts that the Mustangs would have a completely successful weekend, after the relatively close win over West Bloomfield were quickly dispelled Saturday night as the Northville squad slowly pulled away from Clarenceville during the opening minutes of the contest and then leaped ahead to their highest scoring win of the season.

As the game continued, with the Mustangs racking up season-high quarter scores of 23 in the second period and then 28 in the third, the Northville club made amends for any shakiness they had shown the night before.

Unlike the early close scoring against Clarenceville, Northville grabbed a quick lead Friday night, building it up to top West Bloomfield 12-6 by the end of the first quarter.

Despite ragged play during the second and third stanzas, the Mustangs were able to maintain their lead over West Bloomfield.

field. They even managed during the opening play of the second half to increase their advantage until they led 34-21 mid-way through the third period.

But West Bloomfield's aggressive man-to-man defense, teamed with a switch to fast-break offensive play, allowed the Lakers to creep to within five points of Northville by the end of the third quarter.

Capitalizing on mistakes made by Northville under the pressure of the quickened pace, West Bloomfield drew to within one point of the Mustangs during the final period.

Grim determination and a tightened defense helped Northville pull through the final minutes of play, leading 48-41 when the final buzzer sounded.

Playing hosts to Clarenceville Saturday night, the Mustangs hesitated during the start of the first quarter, and then went on to completely dominate the game.

Taking a 19-11 lead during the first period, the local cagers held their opponents to 10 points in both the second and third quarters, while pumping in baskets after basket until they had scored 68 points by the end of the third quarter. Only during the final period, which the entire starting five spent on the bench, did Clarenceville out-score the Mustangs. The second stringers held their own, adding 16 points to Northville's score, while allowing their opponents only 17 points.

Aiding most in Northville's high scoring Saturday were the tremendous rebounding efforts of Mustang center Dan Brown and the forwards. Northville's backboard control prevented Clarenceville from getting possession of the ball at both ends of the court.

High jumping forwards Dick Bätthey and Jim Juday both picked up points on tip-ins made while rebounding.

Leading the local quintet in scoring, was guard Craig Bell, who dunked in 21 points for his season high. Running close second was Brown with 18 points, while Dick Bätthey netted 13. The only real sore spot of the weekend for Mustang Coach Dave Longridge was the loss of scrappy Bill Challas, who usually backs up the starting forwards. Challas suffered pulled ligaments in his right leg during the third quarter of the West Bloomfield game and will be out for the rest of the regular season, Longridge said.

The Mustangs will play their final home game Friday night against Holly. Longridge said he's expecting Holly to use the slow, methodical style that has helped them hold down fourth place in the league during most of the season.

He's hoping, however, to find some offensive moves that will quicken the pace. During their last contest, Holly held the ball as long as possible, hoping to create Northville fouls. The result was a 38-30 victory for the Mustangs, their lowest scoring of the season.

Playing their final basketball game before home fans Friday night will be seniors Dick Bätthey, Dan Brown, Don Busch, Steve Juday and Jay Sugrue.

TITLE CINCHERS are these Northville Mustangs, as they hoist Coach Dave Longridge to their shoulders so he can cut down the net in ceremony symbolic of the local squad's winning the Wayne-Oakland league championship by defeating Clarenceville 84-48 last Saturday night. They have two games left, but are now out of reach of other league teams.

NHS Matmen Fall To .500 Standing

Northville's wrestling Mustangs dropped a close meet to Fiat Rock last Thursday, but are hoping for a second win over Redford Union tonight (Thursday) when they play hosts for their last home contest.

Coach Jack Kreiner attributed the loss to the inability of one wrestler to get down to the proper weight, forcing the Mustangs to forfeit his match.

"If he'd made his weight," Kreiner stated, "he would probably have beaten his opponent and given us our eighth dual meet win."

So far the Mustangs have lost seven and won seven, with two more opportunities left to better the .500 mark. Kreiner said he's optimistic about tonight's battles against Redford, which start at 7 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

The Mustangs beat Redford at their last meeting, Kreiner pointed out, and if everyone is in good shape, they should repeat the victory.

The local matmen's final meet of the season has been rescheduled from next Thursday to Tuesday night, at Romulus Kreiner said the date was changed because of the nearness of the regional tournament, which begins a week from tomorrow. Coming out with decision wins last week were 133-pound John Pemberton, 138-pound Jim Jiggins, 154-pound Gary Nichols, 180-pound Dave Clark and heavyweight Jerry Biddle.

MARY PALMER

Services were held from the Casterline Funeral home Saturday with the Reverend Paul Cargo, First Methodist church, officiating for Mary Palmer, 86, formerly of Randolph street. Burial was at Rural Hill cemetery. Mrs. Palmer died February 15 at Forbes rest home in Plymouth. She had been in failing health the past year. Preceded in death by her husband, Gilbert, Mrs. Palmer is survived by a son, Vern, Trenton; brother, Peter Keller, Northville; sister, Mrs. Eva Colville, Britton; grand-daughter, Mrs. Barbara Szelesi, Lincoln Park; great grand-daughter, Vickie Sue. The daughter of William and Mary Forunaie Keller. Mrs. Palmer was born in Ida November 17, 1875.

BYRON J. McKELVEY

Byron J. McKelvey died suddenly February 16 at his home at 701 North Wixom road. Born in Sarnac May 15, 1900 to Byron and Louis Houghton McKelvey, he had moved to Wixom 15 years ago from Detroit. His wife, Ester, survives along with a son, Donald, of Union Lake. Mr. McKelvey was a parcel post driver for the Detroit post office. He was a member of St. Matthews Lutheran church, Walled Lake; YMCA Leader club, of Detroit, and a World War I veteran. Services were held Monday at 1 p.m. from St. Matthews church with the Rev. Lawrence Kinne officiating. Interment was at Glen Eden cemetery, Livonia.

Assault Puts Man in Jail

Jack Warkup, who lives on Five Mile road near Northville, was sentenced to 10 days in the Detroit House of Corrections this week by Northville Justice of the Peace Charles McDonald.

Warkup was arraigned on an assault and battery charge Monday for his slugging of Donald Sell, owner of Don's Market at 17071 Northville road.

State police from the Redford Post captured Warkup as he fled along the C & O railroad tracks south of the store after the assault.

Barber Here Since 1919 Dies at U-M

Alfred S. Heatley, 81, barber here since 1919, died Friday at University of Michigan hospital in Ann Arbor. He had been ill the past two months.

Funeral services were held Monday from Our Lady of Victory church with the Reverend John Wittstock officiating. Interment followed at Mt. Olivet cemetery, Chelsea. Rosary was recited at Casterline Funeral home Sunday at 2 and 9 p.m. The earlier service was under the auspices of Our Lady of Victory's Holy Name society.

Mr. Heatley was a member of both the church and its Holy Name society.

He is survived by his wife, Catherine, of 304 West Dunlap; sons, Alfred, Birmingham, Thomas V., Northville; daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Moss, Detroit, Mrs. Rita Turnbull, Northville, Mrs. Marion Sonderman, Detroit, Mrs. Kathleen Brune, Utica; brothers, Dr. Thomas Heatley, Toledo, Ohio, Leo J. Heatley, Dexter; sisters, Miss Mary Heatley, Chicago, Illinois, Mrs. Esther Powell, Detroit, and 14 grandchildren.

Mr. Heatley was born in Chelsea August 12, 1880, the son of Henry and Mary Farrell Heatley. He helped pay his way through Ferris institute by cutting hair and for a time played professional baseball in Chelsea.

After managing barber shops in Detroit, he came to Northville in 1919 and opened a three-chair shop at 112 West Main. In recent years he had been barbering at his home.

ARE CARS GETTING MORE EXPENSIVE?

A disgruntled motorist complained to me recently that "cars are getting so expensive these days that people soon won't be able to afford them." It just shows that as we get used to something our expectations always keep ahead of us.

It is true, of course, that over the last twenty years the price of the average automobile has increased. In actual fact, about 150%. This has led to one of the most tenaciously held of modern myths — that cars are getting costlier year after year in relation to our income.

In reality, the opposite is true. Income averages over the last twenty years compared with the cost of the average car show a steady and significant decline in the REAL cost of cars.

In 1940, when the average annual wage was $1,050, compared with a standard 2-door sedan at $1,002, it took 95.7 percent of average annual earnings to buy a car. This percentage dropped to 79.6 in 1950 and to 74.52 in 1960. And most present Federal and local taxes were unknown in 1940!

Coupled with this, today's cars are at least twice as good as one twenty years ago; twice as durable; twice as powerful; twice as comfortable; and with dozens of accessories unknown then.

Now as then, however, automobiles are still just machines that are bound to have faults. They need the care and service with which a reputable dealer backs up his product, if the motorist who buys it is going to get the satisfaction he has a right to expect.

Rotary Plans Special Birthday Program

Northville Rotary club members will be among the approximately half million Rotarians the world over who next week will celebrate the 57th anniversary of the world-wide organization.

But the Northville Rotarians will have an added flavor to their festivities, for they will also be celebrating the 30th anniversary of the founding of the local club.

Local plans for commemorating the events include a guest night dinner Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. in the Presbyterian church. Speaker for the occasion will be Miss Mary Roberts, of Monroe, who was a Rotary foundation student for one year in Italy.

"When Rotary began in Chicago during February of 1905," said Northville President Dr. Pasquale Buoniconto, "its appeal to businessmen was largely social."

In elaborating on the early days of the first Rotary club, Dr. Buoniconto pointed out that founder Paul P. Harris, a lawyer, based his idea for the organization "on the conviction that friendship and business could go hand in hand to the benefit of both."

Today, he continued, friendship is still basic in Rotary, "but only for its ability to provide service-minded men with increased opportunities to serve."

The local club was organized in February of 1926, with R. A. Brooks as the first of its 41 presidents to date.

The Northville club now has 57 members. Each is selected partly on the basis of his vocation, but also for his interest in serving the community.

Rotary's goals are to raise the standards of business and professional practices, as well as working toward the betterment of human understanding as a means of insuring world peace.

More than 11,000 Rotary clubs will be joining in the anniversary celebration. These include clubs in 124 countries and geographical regions.

Novi, Wixom and Walled Lake firemen had an opportunity to get in some practice "under fire" last Thursday evening when a four-room cottage on Penhill road in Novi was purposely burned down. It was set ablaze and extinguished four times before it was allowed to burn to the ground. An adjoining house just 12 feet away was protected by a "water curtain" produced by a special nozzle. The vacated cottage on Walled Lake hadn't been used in a number of years. Novi Chief Fred Loyne called the drill a success. Three Franklin firemen and a truck were on call at the Novi station in case of a genuine fire emergency.

An important announcement from BUSTER BROWN:

A remarkable new shoe for children 3 and under

It is designed to avoid a lifetime of foot troubles

Simon J. Wikler, Doctor of Surgical Chiropody, and one of the youngsters he has helped.

The look and structure of infants' and children's shoes has been revolutionized by Simon J. Wikler, a Florida podiatrist.

He has designed a new shoe according to the structure and needs of the growing human foot, consulting many physicians, pediatricians, orthopedic surgeons and podiatrists over the years. Their interest and approval encouraged him to patent his unusual shoe and bring it to the attention of Brown Shoe Company, makers of Buster Brown shoes for children.

Dr. Wikler's method of explaining the principles of his patented new shoe is as unorthodox as the shoe itself.

He'll ask you to take off your shoes and wiggle and spread your toes, as you would your fingers when playing the piano. Then, the condition of your foot indicates how often you went barefoot as a child. His trained eye can tell what kind of foot distress (if any) you may be prone to.

"The captive toes"

Fingers and toes behave alike, says Dr. Wikler. Watch a baby in his crib—always stretching and flexing his fingers and toes. But, he asks, suppose you encased the baby's hands and

"Bare feet are healthy"

Dr. Wikler cites statistics on foot distress: by the age of one year, 8% have foot trouble; at age five, 41%; at age 20, 80%.

He observes that results of foot trouble may be worse than the foot distress itself. For instance, a slouching posture, common when defective feet cannot support the body, causes improper weight distribution that may result in chronic fatigue or even more serious disorders.

Yet, in countries where most of the population goes barefoot, Dr. Wikler has never heard of a native with fallen arches. It would seem, he decided, that the trouble with feet is ill-fitting shoes.

"Are shoes necessary?"

Cold floors, city pavements and gravel roads make going barefoot impractical. So, Dr. Wikler worked on a new idea that would make wearing shoes "like walking barefoot with shoes on."

After consulting eminent foot doctors, physicians and pediatricians and applying his prin-

"Vital for early years"

Foot experts say that in early years permanent damage can be done to a child's foot in a few days' time, without any word or sign of distress. To insure proper foot growth in these vital years, The Wikler Shoe is made by Buster Brown only in infants' and small children's sizes.

If you have children under four years old or an infant who is ready for his first shoes, visit the Authorized Buster Brown Retailer near you. He'll be glad to give you a folder telling all about the new Wikler Shoe, available in sizes 0 to 8, high white or oxford styles. Let him start your child off on the right footing with a pair of these remarkable new shoes, made only by Buster Brown.

His dream came true when the Brown Shoe Company recognized the soundness of his principles and incorporated the shoe in the famous Buster Brown brand, to be known as The Wikler Shoe, available only at Authorized Buster Brown Retailers.

The shoe has soft leather uppers, with no overlapping inside seams to irritate sensitive feet, or metal shanks to interfere with the flexibility of the sole. The unusual fan-shaped toe design allows toes to spread within the shoe, combined with a heel that positions the foot firmly, without cramping it. It lets a baby "go barefoot with shoes on," allowing his feet to grow and exercise normally.

Hospital Honors 'Aides of 1961'

Northville State hospital honored its two outstanding Psychiatric Aides of 1961 last week at a special program attended by members of the Patient Council and hospital staff. Mrs. Elaine Rabidoux and Walter Williams, Sr. were accorded the honor, an annual presentation since 1954. Williams won the award for the first time in 1957 and his wife was similarly honored in 1959. Coincidentally, Mrs. Rabidoux's son, Clayton, is also a psychiatric aide and was honored as aide of the month earlier this year. In the photo (l-r) the patient council president looks on while Medical Superintendent Philip N. Brown, M.D., presents $25 bonds to Mrs. Rabidoux and Williams.

Urban Renewal: To Rebuild or Conserve

Urban renewal is a subject that has come up for discussion before the governing bodies of Northville, Novi and Wixom in recent months. What is this program that can attract the interest of three communities with widely divergent needs and in different stages of development? The following description of the program was supplied by Vilican-Leman and Associates, Inc., planning consultants of Southfield who have had considerable experience in assisting communities in urban renewal planning. It is intended solely as an explanation — not a depth study in the pros and cons of this federal program.

Vilican-Leman, coincidentally serves the city of Wixom as planning consultants and was contacted by Northville City Manager Bruce Potthoff to gain information on urban renewal for the city council. Urban renewal is a Federally instituted program, the fundamental philosophy of which is to help urban communities help themselves in the prevention and elimination of slums and blight. It involves the cooperation of the federal and local governments, and private enterprise in carrying out its program. Urban renewal's attack on slums and blight consists of two basic operations: Redevelopment and Conservation. Redevelopment is used when areas become so badly deteriorated that only clearance of all, or nearly all, of the area would remedy the situation. Conservation is applied to areas that are substantially sound in structure, condition, and environment, but which are slowly reaching a deteriorated state. Redevelopment, then, eliminates blight, conservation prevents it. A secondary but very important aspect of redevelopment is that it may provide cleared land for all types of community development — residential, commercial or whatever the Master Plan indicates. It thus becomes a very important planning tool by which a community can work towards a proper balance of land uses, which in turn makes for a stabilized and prosperous community. Before the federal government will participate with a community it asks assurance that the locality is actively attempting to solve its problems. This assurance takes the form of a program for community improvement. The program consists of the following essential elements:

1. Adequate Codes and Ordinances — Building, plumbing, health and similar codes. Antiquated and obsolete codes must be revised to modern standards. 2. Comprehensive Community Plan — An over-all Master Plan guide to the community's growth; with full consideration of residential, commercial, industrial, recreational and traffic aspects. 3. Neighborhood Analysis —

An analysis, on a city wide basis, which determines the extent, intensity and location of blight; and identifies the causes of neighborhood deterioration in order to indicate appropriate remedial action. 4. Adequate Administrative Organization — A description of the administrative responsibility and capacity for enforcement of codes and ordinances and for carrying out renewal programs and projects. 5. Sufficient Financing — A program for meeting the financial obligation involved in carrying out urban renewal activities. 6. Housing Displaced Families — A program for the rehousing of families displaced by government action. 7. Full-Fledged Citizen Participation — A description of how community-wide understanding of the renewal program on the part of individuals and representative citizen's organizations will be undertaken. The federal government does not expect that a community shall have all of the elements completed before it can ask for federal assistance. What it does ask is that a locality make a sincere analysis of its problems, of what it has accomplished, and then propose a program of action to achieve what it is lacking in the fight against blight. This projected program is enough to qualify a community for Urban Renewal participation. However, before a project is completed the community is expected to have its Program for Community Improvement in operation. Once a community has received approval of its Community Improvement Program activities, it may apply for Federal assistance to attack a particular urban renewal project. There are three basic phases to each project: survey and planning application, final planning, and project development. The application is the only phase prepared entirely at the locality's expense and contains enough information to allow the federal government to judge whether the proposed project justifies detailed planning analysis. The planning stage consists of very detailed analyses of all phases of the project and, if planning is approved, the project goes into execution. Properties are acquired, necessary buildings demolished, streets and utilities eliminated or improved as needed, and the land is then sold to private enterprise for development or retained for public use as determined by the redevelopment plan. The degree of development activity is, of course, greater in redevelopment than in conservation where most of the existing uses will remain. The costs of planning, acquisition of property, and preparation of land for sale are totaled and comprise the Gross Project Cost. From this figure the amount received for the sale of the land is subtracted and the result is termed the Net Project Cost. The federal government then assumes three-fourths of this cost and the community one-fourth for cities under 50,000 population. The Federal Government's share is called a Capital Grant; the locality's share a Grant-in-Aid. Thus for each one dollar the community spends, the federal government

COCKTAIL LOUNGE

spends either two or three depending on size. It is possible to further reduce the amount of cash the local community must pay into the project by use of non-cash grants-in-aid. For example, a community may have been prepared to build a new school whether the project were carried through or not. If the new school will serve the new project only, then the cost of the school may be considered a project expense and that cost a part of the locality's one-third share. If 60% of the school's facilities are to be used by the project, then 60% of its cost may be included. This applies to new streets, utilities, parks and other items. In general by astute coordination of a community's public works program with its urban renewal program it is possible to make some of the necessary expenditures of a community qualify for matching Federal monies.

What size Chevrolet do you want to save money on?

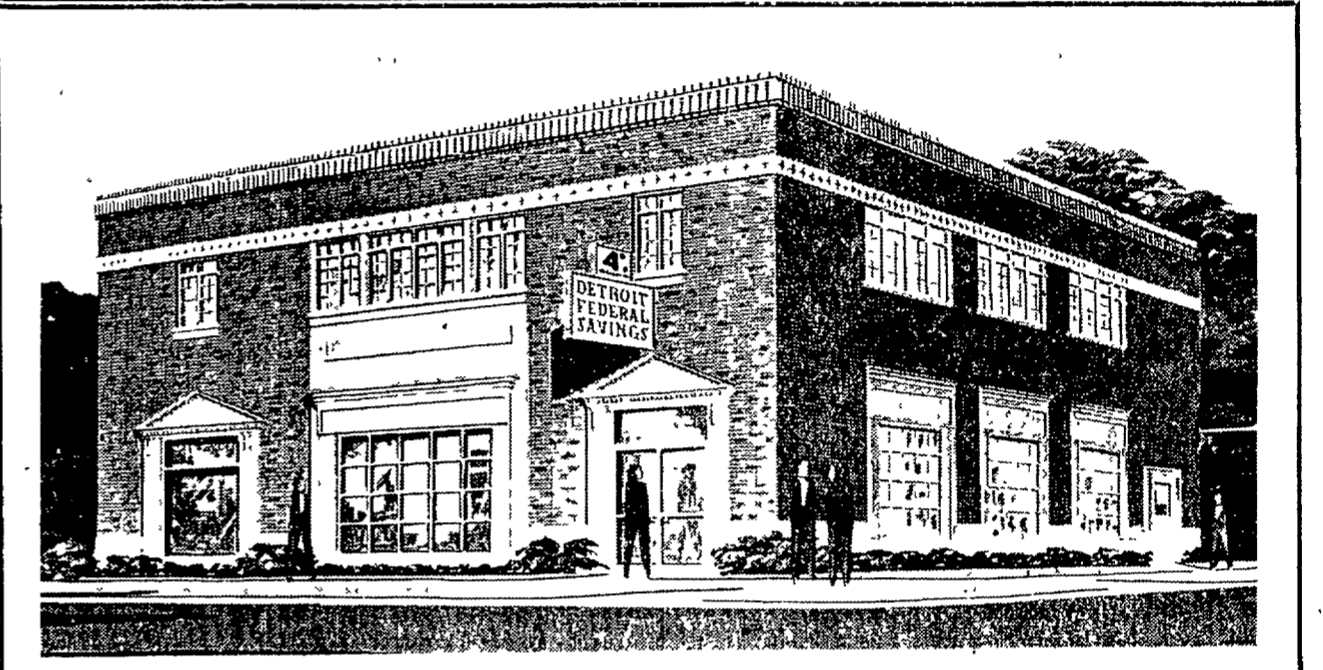

JET-SMOOTH CHEVROLET IMPALA Here's all the room, refinement and riding comfort you could reasonably want in a car. Foreground, the Impala Sport Sedan. CORVAIR MONZA This is the way to get sports car spice without a sports car price. A nimble, easy-to-handle car that's a delight to drive. At rear is the Monza Club Coupe. CHEVY II NOVA This is the frisky family-sized Chevrolet that carries a low, low price tag. Eleven sprightly, spunky models to choose from. Above right, Nova Sport Coupe.

Like your driving on the sporty side with quicksilver steering, flat-as-a-pancake cornering and sure-footed traction? Then a Corvaire Monza is for you. Lots of sports car seat here at an easy-to-come-by price. Or maybe the new-size Chevy II is more to your liking. Built for big families and still slips neatly into small parking places. And, with this, the kind of ingenious engineering that won this year's coveted Car Life Magazine Award for Engineering Excellence.

But say you want to go all out—to get the full treatment in space, spirit and splendor. In that case you'll prefer to do your saving in a big way—on a luxurious Jet-smooth Chevrolet. Sofa-sized seats. An easy-loading cavern-size trunk. Your choice of six-cylinder or V8 sizzle. In fact, just about all the things you'd expect to find in an expensive car—except the expense! So size 'em up—then save it up. You've got three complete lines to choose from—at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment" (I Cor. 1).
One of the correlative citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (pp. 469-470). "With one Father, even God, the whole family of man would be brethren; and with one Mind and that God, or good, the brotherhood of man would consist of Love and Truth, and have unity of Principle and spiritual power which constitute divine Science"

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Rev. Lloyd Brasure
First Presbyterian Church

Thoughts and ideas come somewhat like the morning mail, from everywhere; like the weather, they change most unpredictably and seemingly without purpose. Like the people who have them, they aren't always easily controlled, reasonable or purposeful.

As I sit here in the study typing this brief reflection on happenings in the world and your mind and mine, my eyes follow the rows of books on the shelves. Here I see something of a printed record of the thoughts and ideas of many people across the centuries. There is a great variety of titles, with a heavy concentration, as you would suspect, on religious subjects.

On another wall there is a cross that happens to be the one used for divine services during World War II with the troops in the ETO. There is a clock on the wall, a gift from friends of another parish; a picture of people very close to my heart; a scene from God's own beautiful world; and a picture of a church in simple but stately splendor on a Michigan hillside overlooking the waters

Why do I find value in these reminders of the thoughts and ideas of authors whom, in most cases, I didn't know; as well as the signs and representations of strong earthly affections? We can learn more of control of our thoughts and ideas. There are many ways by which we can make use of the knowledge and wisdom that God has revealed to His people. The books that give help and guidance toward His Divine purpose are available to us. The scriptures of the Hebrew and Christian tradition lead us "in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake".

We do need help in adding direction to the faith that was given to the world in super completeness through the One called, The Son of God. This help comes through the printed word. It comes through the glories of His majestic greatness reflected in His creation; and finds its way into our lives through the affections we hold for our families and friends. As we grow older we attach wholesome meaning to the signs and symbols of the faith. A Cross directs us to thoughts of the life of Jesus Christ, where suffering and victory led His followers into a new dimension of belief.

A church will lead us into the place of prayer and communion with God the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit. May God add His blessing to all of us as we sincerely try to control in a purposeful and reasonable manner, the thoughts and ideas of this day, through associations of religious value and meaning. May we learn to work together as children of the Heavenly Father, our Lord and our Redeemer.

Unusual Jamaica Vacation Offered; Preview Feb. 26

Plymouth, Mich. -- One of the most unusual vacations ever offered -- a two week stay in exciting Jamaica for only $399 -- will be previewed Monday evening, Feb. 26, at the Hotel Mayflower.

Hosting the preview, which begins at 8 p.m., will be Kurt Thron of the Travel Centre.

Thron will narrate a series of color slides of Jamaica that he took earlier this year. In addition, he'll explain all of the details of the trip, describe the luxurious accommodations and give you an insight into vacationing in Jamaica.

Door prizes will be given away. The two week vacation to Jamaica will include 13 nights at a beach house, plus your own personal private cook and your own maid and laundry service.

Other amenities are a swimming pool just outside your beach house and a white sand beach only 50 yards away. An automobile will be available for your use all during your stay.

Four cakypso rum swizzle dance parties are also on the itinerary along with a picnic beach party complete with fireworks. A cakypso band will visit you on your beach house patio. A two hour tour in a glass-bottom boat over the world's most colorful coral reefs is also featured.

The $399 is the total price per person including round trip air fare from Detroit to Jamaica and all tips and tax. It includes a stay overnight at the Miami Airport Hotel and, later a transfer from Montego Bay to Ocho Rios and from Ocho Rios to Kingston.

The fare may be financed with a modest 10 percent down payment and the balance in 24 months.

There are six departure dates, arranged to suit everyone's vacation schedule. They are: May 19, June 16, July 14, August 18, October 13 and October 17. Vacation groups, on any of those dates, are limited to 24 persons.

The Jamaica Preview at the Hotel Mayflower on Feb. 26 is free to anyone wishing to attend. You may obtain as many tickers as you wish from the Travel Centre. Just phone GL-3-0220, or write to the Travel Centre, 1049 South Main St., Plymouth.

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO
February 23, 1961

It seems unbelievable, but Northville did it again -- or the third year in a row, the city has been named first place winner for its population size category of the national "clean town contest" by officials in Washington.

The Emil Nuottila family was suddenly and sensationally awakened Monday at 2 a.m. when a car crashed into their 594 south Main street house. The driver, Terrance P. McGovern, 39, of Highland Park, and members of the family escaped serious injury.

A suit brought against the city by three property owners protesting assessments for sidewalks along the new Eight Mile road cutoff was postponed for three weeks Monday.

Two Northville high school varsity debaters will square off against a team from Royal Oak Kimball high here Tuesday evening. The winners will compete in state Class A quarterfinals. Mike Adas and Dennis Gilbert will uphold the affirmative side of the proposition: "Resolved that the United Nations should be strengthened."

Paving North Center street -- a project that has bounced back and forth between the city council and school board for the past year -- may be decided by the persons most interested in its completion, the residents on the east side of the street. The council decided to investigate costs of a new assessment plan to property owners and wait for their reaction.

Truckers, their rigs gathering rust in their front yards, are demonstrating in front of the Wilson Lincoln plant this week, in protest of Ford Motor company's decision to ship cars by rail instead of trucks.

FIVE YEARS AGO
February 21, 1957

Less than 10 per cent of the registered voters in the city and township of Northville bothered to record their preferences in a colorless primary election Monday. The race for county auditor and eight circuit court judge nominations attracted only 137 city electors and 109 township voters.

County probation officials are still investigating the case of Mrs. Yvonne Chauvin, the elderly woman accused of swindling Northville residents of thousands of dollars.

A request by the city of Northville to appeal a decision by Judge Clark J. Adams in the Novi township annexation issue was denied last week by the state supreme court. The court made the denial "without prejudice," thereby leaving the door open to another appeal request should the city wish one if it loses its case in the annexation of 82 acres surrounding Amerman school.

Novi township Republicans gave Supervisor Frazer Staman a strong vote of confidence Monday, but tempered it by naming four political opponents as his major running mates in the April election.

Quick work by Novi township firemen saved the West Lake drive home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beebe and their three children Friday. Only the second story of the home was burned out, although the fire at one point was considered uncontrollable.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
February 24, 1947

A sudden explosion greeted early morning risers in Northville about 7 a.m. Wednesday as manhole covers at the corner of Church and East Main streets were blown into the air. One car ran into one of the holes before crews arrived to set up warnings and repair wires.

Frank Bowers, of Salem, has begun a new taxi service in Northville with stands and offices at 103 South Center street, the new firm offers two taxi cabs to serve area residents.

Tonight marks the date for the annual Eastern Star-Masonic Ball, to be held in the high school gymnasium. Officials of both fraternal orders predict success equal to previous years.

The Women's League for International Peace will hold a book fair at the Johnson Gift Shop on Main street next Thursday and Friday. Proceeds from the sale of second-hand books will go toward furthering the League's program.

Looking for bargains? Try these: Wolf's Market has eight-ounce packages of Kellogg's Pep at 11 cents each, Velvet Peanut Butter at 29 cents for a one-pound jar, Young Steer Pot Roast at 39 cents a pound, 40-ounce packages of Bisquick for 42 cents and Donald Duck blended juice at 15 cents for a 46-ounce can.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
February 26, 1937

New work tables, seats and desks have arrived for Northville's new $85,000 grade school building. The arrival nearly completes the furnishing of the building.

A $20,000 surplus in the Northville township treasury may keep taxpayers from having to pay township taxes during the coming year. Incumbent supervisor candidate Willard Ely said this week that if he's re-elected, he'll ask no money for township taxes. The state, county and school taxes would still have to be levied, though, he noted.

Fire, believed to have started from a defective furnace, gutted the D & C store in Plymouth Thursday morning. Firemen from the Northville area were called in to assist the Plymouth fire department battle the flames that ate through all merchandise in the store.

March 18 has been set as the date for a community-wide mass meeting for peace. The program for the event, which is to be held in the Presbyterian church building, includes a dinner and an illustrated address by Dr. Francis Onderdonk, of Ann Arbor.

The overshot water wheel on the new Ford factory, which is operated by water from the Yerkes pond, has been turned several times this week in test operations. Plans call for connecting the wheel to the plant's power equipment to either drive machinery or provide electrical power.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS NORTHVILLE SCHOOL BOARD

I. The meeting was called to order by President Robert H. Shafer at 7:30 p.m. Present: Robert H. Shafer, William B. Crump, Waldo T. Johnson, Edward F. Angove, Wilfred C. Becker, James F. Kipper. Absent: Donald B. Lawrence.

Others Present: Superintendent R. H. Amerman; Assistant Superintendent K. M. MacLeod; Director of Administrative Services E. V. Ellison; Principals F. Stefanski, D. Van Ingen, H. B. Smith, R. W. Kay; Mrs. George Weiss of P.T.A.; Miss Patricia Babel of Teachers' Club.

II. The minutes of the last regular meeting, and of two special meetings held since, were read by Mr. Becker, in the absence of Secretary Donald B. Lawrence. There being no additions or corrections, all the minutes were approved as read.

III. Communications:
1. Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Lengemann, First Grade Teacher, requesting a leave of absence to extend from March 16, 1962 to September 1, 1962.

2. Wayne County Association of School Boards, acknowledging receipt of a resolution of the Northville Board of Education regarding erratic payment of State Aid funds to schools.

3. Michigan Association of School Boards, acknowledging receipt of our resolution regarding State Aid payments.

4. Novi Planning Board, inviting the Northville Board of Education to participate in a joint meeting of the Planning Board and the school boards of Novi, Lyon and Walled Lake, at the Novi Community Building on March 8, 1962 at 8:00 p.m.

IV. Report of the Superintendent:
1. State Aid: Supt. Amerman requested appears unlikely to give the board a brief report of current bills pending in the Legislature. The 8% increase requested appears unlikely to be approved now, and the one most likely to be passed appears to be H. B. No. 243, which provides for a gross allowance of $220.00 per child and a deductible millage of 3.5 mills.

2. Teaching Personnel: Dr. MacLeod presented a teaching contract for Mrs. Joan Kranitz, with the recommendation that she be employed to fill Mrs. Lengemann's position. The board grant the latter's request for leave of absence.

It was moved by Mr. Angove, supported by Mr. Becker, that Mrs. Lengemann be granted a leave of absence, effective March 16 to September 1, 1962. Motion carried.

It was moved by Dr. Johnson, supported by Mr. Crump, that Mrs. Joan Kranitz be employed to fill Mrs. Lengemann's position. Motion carried.

3. Self-Improvement Salary Schedule Committee: Dr. MacLeod gave a progress report on the activities of this committee, indicating that all applications received to date have been acted upon and the work of the committee is on schedule.

4. Class of 1961: Dr. MacLeod gave a report of courses taken by students who graduated from Northville High school in 1961, showing how well the recommendations made by the High School Curriculum Committee two years ago have been implemented.

5. Policy Considerations: Superintendent Amerman presented for the Board's approval revised policies and administrative directives dealing with transportation and with athletic game passes. It was moved by Mr. Angove, supported by Mr. Crump, that the revised policy on transportation be adopted, with one amendment. Motion carried.

5. Policy Considerations: It was then moved by Dr. Johnson that the policy on athletic game passes be adopted, with one amendment. Motion carried.

one word deleted. Mr. Crump seconded the motion, which carried.

6. North Central Association: Mr. Stefanski has been invited to attend the annual meeting of the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, at Chicago in March. Superintendent Amerman recommends he be authorized to accept this invitation. So moved by Mr. Angove, supported by Mr. Becker. Motion carried.

7. Kindergarten Screening: Mr. Smith gave the board a brief preliminary report on the kindergarten screening program undertaken for the first time last August. A full and complete report will be given at the next regular board meeting.

V. Report of Secretary: Mr. Becker reported the following monies received in January: Current Taxes, $192,128.25; Delinquent Taxes, $2,470.23; Interest on Delinquent Taxes, $132.36; Transportation Fees, $520.36; Miscellaneous, $1,221.31.

VI. Report of the Treasurer: Dr. Johnson reported the following balances at January 31, 1962:

General Fund $231,534.57; 1936 Bond and Coupon Account $1,650.54; Debt Retirement Fund, $40,538.96; 1957 Debt Retirement Fund, Series A $16,562.08; 1957 Debt Retirement Fund, Series B $47,684.92; 1957 Debt Retirement Fund, Series C, $17,269.08; 1957 Building and Site Fund $416.44; Cafeteria Account $5,569.71.

It was moved by Mr. Angove, supported by Mr. Becker, that the report of the Treasurer be accepted. Motion carried.

VI. Report of Special Committees:
1. Athletic Field: Mr. Ellison reported the results of his and Mr. Schrader's conference with Mr. Robert Thron, bond attorney, of Lansing, regarding the setting up of a Revenue Bond Issue to provide funds for facilities at the athletic field. Mr. Ellison hopes to have final plans available for the next regular board meeting.

2. Athletic Dept. Extra Pay Schedule: Mr. Crump advised the board that he has formulated a possible salary schedule for extra duty pay, which is to be reviewed by the committee before presentation to the Board. A meeting of the committee was set up for Thursday, February 27th.

3. Educational T.V.: Mr. Becker reported that a Miss Kathleen N. Lardie, of Channel 56 T.V., has been engaged to address the Teachers' Club on February 21st regarding educational programming.

VIII. Report of Auditing Committee:
The Auditing Committee approved bills and payrolls for payment as follows: General Bills, $14,552.34; Payrolls, $62,264.47; Cafeteria Bills, $2,804.66. It was moved by Mr. Kipper that the report of the Auditing committee be accepted and bills and payrolls be paid. Mr. Becker seconded the motion, which carried.

IX. New Business:
1. Driver Training Cars: Mr. Ellison announced that an offer has been received from Rattiburn Chevrolet to furnish us with a new driver training car, for the summer program and we have gratefully accepted. A similar offer from another leader is also anticipated in the near future.

X. Adjournment: It was moved by Mr. Kipper, that the meeting be adjourned at 11:00 p.m. Motion carried.

AMENDMENT NO. 4—DOG ORDINANCE AS AMENDED TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE

AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE THE POSSESSING, HARBORING, OWNERSHIP AND RUNNING AT LARGE OF DOGS; TO PROVIDE FOR THEIR VACCINATION AND FOR THE DESTRUCTION OF VICIOUS AND DISEASED DOGS IN THE TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE; TO PROVIDE PENALTIES FOR VIOLATION THEREOF.

The Township of Northville ordains:

SECTION 1. That the Dog Ordinance of the Township of Northville is hereby amended by amending Section 2, thereof, to read as follows:

SECTION 2. (a) Upon application filed with the Township Clerk on or before the 1st day of June, 1962 and the 1st day of June in each calendar year thereafter, giving the full name and residence of the applicant and the name, breed, age, sex, color and markings of the dog, accompanied by a statement or certificate of a licensed veterinary surgeon showing that the dog has been vaccinated and immunized against rabies within six (6) months preceding the date of application, there shall be issued to each applicant a license to own or harbor the dog described in the application within the Township for the term commencing from the 1st day of June and terminating the last day of May following, excepting as herein otherwise provided.

(b) When the dog is vaccinated with modified live rabies virus of chick embryo origin, proof of vaccination within two years preceding the date of the application for license shall be deemed compliance with Section 2 (a) of this Ordinance, as amended.

SECTION II. All Ordinances or parts of Ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed only to the extent necessary to give this Ordinance full force and effect.

SECTION III. Should any section, clause or provision of this Ordinance be declared to be invalid, or shall certain applications of any part of this Ordinance be deemed invalid or unconstitutional, the same shall not affect the validity of this Ordinance as a whole, or any part thereof other than the part or application so held to be invalid or unconstitutional.

SECTION IV. The provisions of this Ordinance are hereby ordered to take effect upon the expiration of thirty (30) days after publication in the manner prescribed by law.

Heard the word? We were third in sales in '61. Third!

It's nice to be loved.

Like we've said: "When people like a car they show it." All you have to do is put together a car that's sharper looking, smoother running and a bigger value. That's why Pontiac and Tempest stormed into third place. * Why don't you see your Pontiac dealer (a very happy man these days) and go with a winner!

*Based on final, official R. L. Polk combined Pontiac and Tempest registration figures for 1961.

SPEAKING for the Record

by Bill Sliger

The rumble that has stirred Novi in recent months erupted last week for everyone to see.

It made the "big" papers and it left many citizens of the community saddened.

The explosion wasn't pretty — but then neither were the long string of events leading to the outburst.

The fall-out has left citizens impregnated by confusion, suspicion and helplessness to detect right from wrong.

To fully understand how a community could become aroused to the point that a member of the school board receives threatening calls in the night, where loyalty to one's country and devotion to God is challenged one must look at the circumstances.

For many years Novi's school board worked almost in complete seclusion. Its members were devoted citizens who provided adequate classrooms, a full staff of teachers, an administrator and a program for proper education of their children.

In an area where competition for teachers and administrators was extremely keen and funds were limited this was no small accomplishment.

Soon growth in the form of new homes and young families arrived in Novi. And these people were highly interested in their schools — not space facilities alone, but the kind of education, teacher problems, facilities for study, library books and specialists to provide assistance for both slow and fast students.

In reflection it would seem that Novi had arrived at a point where this new emphasis was a natural occurrence.

Young, new blood was elected to the board. These members possessed special skills and were eager to display them. They had heavy backing. It would almost seem that their election was a mandate from the people to carry out their program.

This they did — in sledge-hammer manner. In most instances their methods were applauded. And certainly an unbiased observer would have to say that definite improvements have been introduced to the school system.

But the tactic also drove a wedge into the board — an ironic circumstance, when one considers that the forte of the new leaders was in the field of education. Yet in their race to bring about change, they resorted to force rather than reason.

Leader of the new crusade was Dr. Walter Ambinder, who now finds himself after less than one year in office as board president faced with a petition demanding his resignation.

There are undoubtedly many different reasons for the existence of such a petition — some can be traced to highly controversial board meetings, while others are much more deep seeded and ugly.

But a remark made concerning the manner in which Christmas should be observed in the public schools served as the trip-hammer.

It is as difficult for this writer as it must be for the average observer of the controversy raging in Novi to analyze what is taking place and why.

But under direct questioning Dr. Ambinder has said — that he has complete faith in the ability of teachers and administrators to conduct school activities that pertain to religious holidays without embarrassment to any child; — that he was satisfied with the manner in which such matters have been handled in the past.

— that his only reason for raising the subject was to provide "guidelines" for teachers.

Yet Dr. Ambinder voted against a policy on religion submitted by a citizen committee that seemed reasonable enough to win the votes of the other four members.

If from his maze of circumstances we can logically reach a conclusion, it would seem to be this:

— the time has arrived for Novi leaders — business and religious — to rise to the top and put an end to the emotion-ridden conflict;

— that if Novi is to keep its excellent superintendent and teaching staff it must turn attention toward repairing rather than destroying its intra-community relations;

— that board members must sit down as men under God with a single aim in mind and resolve their differences frankly and above board;

— that the board employ some of the educational qualities for which its body is supposed to stand — tolerance, understanding and forgiveness.

Let every citizen weigh what can be gained by expelling a board member under these circumstances. Compare the serious consequences with a solution reached by mutual give and take.

In spite of its controversies the Novi school board has demonstrated keen ability and can be proud of its record of performance.

It can now display its real worth by the manner in which it sets aside personal animosities and closes ranks to meet this crisis.

Advise for Young: Keep Credit Good

Babson Park, Mass., A few weeks ago I wrote about how the Teamsters Union had taken over a large real estate development near Lake Wales, Florida. Such purchases have been going on for some time. The latest news is that the owners of Look Magazine have bought into the General Development Corp. — probably the largest builder of small homes and the creator of Port Charlotte, the Florida city which was started from scratch. Upon checking up with other states I find a surplus of small homes almost everywhere. Such houses should soon be cheaper. Ten years ago there was a shortage of one-family houses to sell for $10,000 to $15,000. Like almost everything else, however, a shortage is followed by a surplus. (The only thing of which there is a shortage now is parking space!) Even President Kennedy has excess stockpiles of metal and other commodities — not to mention wheat, corn, and other farm products. If you chart the nation's birth rates you will be able to forecast when marriages will be at their peak. We were in such a period a few years ago. This resulted in the great demand for two-bedroom single houses. This situation caused development companies to be formed, — especially in the suburbs of almost every city. More real estate agents per 10,000 of population exist today than at any previous time. They now average about 75 real estate salesmen for each 10,000 of population. I include the licensed realtors and their salesmen. The offering price for new vacant houses has not yet been broken in most sections; but the terms of purchasing have been severely cut. A veteran

Public School Increases for 1962 Compiled

School enrollment in Michigan elementary and secondary systems this year rose about 50,000 over the previous year, to 1,726,000 but the hike was not evenly distributed among grades. The MEA research division said the current year brought the number of teachers in Michigan public schools to 66,000. This represents a gain of some 3,000 over the 1960-61 total. Teachers' salaries also increased during the past year, according to statistics compiled by the MEA and the State Department of Public Instruction.

State Superintendent Lynn M. Bartlett reported the current year wages of all Michigan teachers gave them an average of $6,162, as compared to $5,898 a year ago. The apparently high average for all Michigan teachers could be deceiving at first glance, Bartlett warned. One group of about 25,000 teachers in the state had average earnings of $4,372; another smaller group taken separately showed an average of $3,960, and one group of primary teachers received as little as $2,700. Salaries in the larger cities brought the averages up. Complete figures for the current school year were not broken down to areas, but during the 1960-61 period, an average salary of $7,275 was reported for Detroit teachers.

Next in line were Flint, Grand Rapids, Lansing and Dearborn with an average of $6,804; followed by Ann Arbor, Bay City, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Pontiac, Royal Oak, Saginaw, Lincoln Park, Livonia and Roseville with a $6,408 average. Eighteen cities in the 25,000 to 50,000 population rank also helped bring the average up, with salaries set about $6,479. Average annual salary of Northville teachers is $5,800. Senior citizens, of age 65 and older, have come to the attention of government agencies and the public increasingly in recent years.

Some years ago, under the administration of former Governor G. Mennen Williams, a Michigan Commission on Aging was created to encourage activities and services to meet the needs of the state's senior citizen. Now, for the first time, the commission has prepared its first direct contact with the generation of citizens it was created to help. "Most of the work of the commission deals with the people who are serving our senior citizens, rather than with the senior citizens themselves," said Manfred Lilliefors, director of the commission.

A booklet on services recently published by the commission, however, gives the specific information needed by the senior citizen or relatives and friends who may be trying to help. It includes information about using free time, seeking employment, getting medical care, money and suitable housing.

In addition to general information on services available throughout the state, the commission booklet gives a county-by-county breakdown on the location of agencies such as the department of social welfare, bureau of social aid, social security, Michigan employment security commission and county and district health departments.

Tooth decay affects 50 per cent of all Michigan children before they reach the age of two, according to Dr. Fred Wertheimer, director of the State Health Department's dentistry division. In view of this, and the fact that by the time Michigan children reach the age of 16 they may have seven or more decayed, missing or filled teeth, emphasis is being placed by the dental profession on the importance of "baby teeth."

"A child's first teeth are just as important as the permanent ones which will eventually take their place, Wertheimer said. One of the uses of baby teeth, in addition to use for chewing food, talking, and facial expression, is to keep space in the jaw for the permanent teeth. When a tooth is lost too early, adjoining teeth tend to "drift" into the vacant space and there may be an eventual shifting of all the teeth, said Wertheimer. Health department officials are strong advocates of fluoridated water. "Children drinking fluoridated water have a tremendous advantage over those who do not have this benefit," said Wertheimer.

"The fluoride in the water offers built-in protection against tooth decay and has been proved to reduce tooth decay as much as 65 per cent."

Consult Husband on Mother

Dear Dr. Mudd: If I were one of ten children instead of being an only child, I would just drop my mother. I'd let the others carry her along. If it wouldn't make me feel so guilty, I'd never write to her except maybe once a year.

As it is now, if I don't write once a week she calls me up to find out if everything is all right and "why haven't I written!" And when this costs her money so that at the end of the month, I have to ask my husband to send her money so she won't starve to death. And I hate to do that! I just hate it!

And my husband says if she comes to visit us again, he'll just walk right out the front door and never come back. He would too, she just wants to take over — not just me, but my baby and my husband. And George is not one to be taken over! He has a mother too, but thank God his father is living. Mine is dead. For ten years it's been this way. I don't even know why George married me and thank God he didn't meet my mother until after we were married! She's always giving out advice. She tells George he should treat me better when he's the sweetest guy in the whole world.

I think I'll go crazy. I think I'll go stark-staring mad if I don't get her off my back. It's easy to say "forget it" but I can't. She'd starve — she'd literally starve to death just so on her death bed she could point a finger at me and say "Jean, you've done it — you've done this to me. You've killed me like you killed your father."

Dr. Mudd, is there something you can suggest? Mama is 72.

Dear Jean: Some months ago I answered another letter about "mother trouble" and what I had to say upset a few people who sent me quite a few letters.

About half felt I was a heartless villain, not fit to be included in the ranks of mankind, and half commended me for being forthright in calling things as I saw them. One respondent even wanted me to make an appointment for her, for she was certain from what I had said that I would understand the feelings she had about her own mother.

Mothers are a very sensitive subject to deal with and there isn't anyone who isn't touched in some way by the topic. Most of us are pretty fortunate to have had for our mothers, women who could and did tolerate the problems we presented and who never considered that we existed for their especial benefit.

They were women who felt rather than that we were, as one woman put it to me, "loans from God" to be repaid when, as adults, we no longer needed them. You, unhappily, have not been so fortunate. Not only is your mother excessively demanding of your attention, but she exploits, without being aware of it, the tender dependent feeling with which you still cling to her. To just "drop" your mother would be of no help to either of you. She would suffer severely from your neglect and your conscience would not leave you much peace.

There is no perfect solution; no answer completely satisfying. But a compromise, by which you observe the forms of attention your mother needs, considering them as payments for the many years of care she gave you as a child, might be quite satisfactory, or at least tolerable. You could then gradually withdraw the emotional ties which have bound you to your mother, while at the same time providing with support a woman who must be lonely and unhappy at the distance that separates her from her only child.

There is no deceit in this proposal. Does it really hurt you or impose such an immense burden on you to drop her a chatty note once a week? Will it really drain you to be courteously appreciative of her efforts to show you how much she feels towards you?

I think you should talk this over with George and settle between yourselves how the two of you can most maturely meet the difficulties which time alone will erase. I think when George sees how much you need his strength as a man and a husband, he will be more ready to lend a helping hand than to running away from you and your child.

I wonder if you don't rather greatly exaggerate and maybe even get a little pleasure out of the burden which life has placed upon your shoulders? Once you and George have settled upon policy it might be well if you would just keep these feelings that you have about your mother and her demands to yourself. It really doesn't help to talk about them and as far as I can tell it seems to disturb your relationship with your husband.
