

"Mother of Year" May be Novi Mom

Mrs. Rosemary Heslip, a Novi mother of nine children, has been named as one of the finalists in a contest to select a Michigan "Mother of the Year" as part of the American Mothers Committee's efforts to find a National "Mother of the Year."

Mrs. Heslip, wife of school board member Arthur Heslip, was chosen to represent the Novi Youth Protection association as one of nearly 300 Michigan mothers nominated for the state title. Last week it was announced she had been selected as one of 24 "Merit Mothers" for the state, from among which the state title winner will be picked.

The state honors will be conferred at a special dinner April 9 at Northland center.

Since most emphasis in choosing the finalist is based on the nominee's success at raising children, says Emory Jacques, the Youth Protection association member who suggested Mrs. Heslip's name, she should have a very good chance.

"Her success in God's most noble profession — that of motherhood — is possibly best indicated by the fine family she has raised," he pointed out. All of her nine children who wished to attend college have done so, he said.

He pointed out that sons Michael and Patrick are presently in college, Thomas, who graduated from Michigan State University, is a practicing veterinarian, Robert, who holds a Masters degree in horticulture, has just returned from military service in Korea, John attended college for two years and is now a brick mason, James is a tool and die maker, William completed a blacksmithing course at MSU and Richard has become his father's strong right arm on their Nine Mile road farm.

The Heslip's only daughter, Mary Ruth, is now a student at Ladywood Academy, Jacques said, and helps her mother with the work of the home.

All of the Heslip boys have gone to school in Northville, attending Our Lady of Victory elementary school and Northville high, Jacques said.

He added that she is a past president of the OLV altar society.

city, and Mothers club, and is presently a member of these organizations as well as the National Council of Catholic Women, the League of Catholic Women and the Ladywood Mothers club.

Mrs. Heslip is also a member of the Farm Bureau, and has been active for the past year on the Youth Protective association's casework committee.

The latter group was established to help local youngsters and their families solve family problems, "and her contribution to this effort has been monumental," Jacques said.

The American Mothers committee is a non-profit organization recognized by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce as the official sponsor of Mother's Day on May 13.

Calling its objectives the development and strengthening of the moral and spiritual foundation of the American home, the committee explained in a pamphlet that the Mother of the Year project is the culminating point of a year-round program.

Included in this program are such projects as prayer groups, remembrance of older mothers and the basic counselor motherhood service.

The latter program is the main purpose of the committee. It is carried on in local communities by successful mothers, and is designed to give help and advice to young mothers who may be far removed from their parents and in need of guidance.

Owners Face Fine if Dog's A Rover!

Police Chief Eugene King issued another reminder to dog owners this week. King said the number of calls complaining about dogs running loose has increased to the extent that the department plans to launch an all-out campaign to curb the problem.

He said a city ordinance provides a scale of fines for owners who permit their canines to roam free. A first conviction brings a $3 fine, second conviction a $5 fine and third offense a $10 fine. An additional cost for boarding may be levied if the dog is impounded.

Was Headline Inaccurate?

By Bill Sliger

The headline on last week's street assessment story brought a sharp rebuke from Councilwoman Beatrice Carlson at Monday night's council meeting.

"I don't think it was accurate and I received many telephone calls accusing me of backing down on my position against street assessments," Councilwoman Carlson told fellow council members (and this writer) during the course of Monday night's council meeting. She said such headlines create dissension in the community.

The councilwoman's husband, a member of the audience, supported the claim. "I was there and I know — only one man made that statement," Carlson declared.

The headline said: "No Assessments — No Paving, Says Council."

The Record upholds the headline as an accurate description of what took place at the public hearing on street assessments.

It reflects a statement made by Mayor A. M. Allen and supported by Councilmen Richard Ambler and John Canterbury in which the mayor assured a North Center street resident (who had agreed to pay the assessment for paving) that so long as they were members of the council they would not vote for street paving without assessments. Their 3-2 majority constitutes a council policy.

Mayor Allen and Councilmen Ambler and Canterbury reiterated this position when questioned by Councilwoman Carlson. She declined their offer to take an official vote again.

Two members of the audience who had attended the public hearing also supported the accuracy of the headline. Councilwoman Carlson remained unchanged in her position.

The Record takes exception to the accusation for two reasons: First, it casts suspicion on the integrity of the newspaper; and secondly, we resent the over-worked phrase "the paper had it wrong" and believe it's high time newspaper stand up and take exception to shot-gun criticisms.

We'll use every possible eye-catching phrase that will fit into a headline — but we'll keep them accurate, just like our stories.

Tougher Policy On Water Bills OK'ed by City

A new policy designed to tighten the city's operation of the water department won the praise and adoption of the city council Monday night.

It was presented by City Manager Bruce Pothoff. The report disclosed that a survey of city water customers revealed 93 inoperative meters and 30 customers without meters at all.

It further revealed a large number of delinquent water bills, many more than a year old with individual amounts up to $100.

"The obvious result is loss of revenue to the city and poor service to the consumer," Pothoff noted in adding up the disclosures of the survey.

Pothoff said the water department is now in the process of repairing the inoperative meters which can be restored. He noted that since December the department's lone meter-reader has been able to repair 25 meters.

The department recently took its first step towards collection improvement by dividing the city into three water routes thereby distributing the work load in the billing office over a longer period.

The routes are: 1-all customers south of Main street, billed in December and quarterly thereafter; 2-all customers between Main and Baseline, billed in January and quarterly thereafter; and 3-all customers north of Baseline, billed in February and quarterly thereafter.

Pothoff said that billing records show that approximately 10 per cent of the water customers are chronically delinquent. "This is best solved by vigorous enforcement of the established policy," he declared.

The policy, he noted, provides the use of a meter with notice of delinquency one month after the billing. If the account isn't paid within the month, a seven day notice is sent to the owner as well as the occupant.

If, after seven days, the bill remains unpaid or there have been no arrangements made for its payment, the water service will be terminated.

A turn-on charge is then made if turn-off is necessary. Pothoff noted that the purpose of the notice to the owner as well as occupant is to protect the owner from becoming liable for a substantial water bill through the neglect of his tenant.

Councilman Richard Juday was particularly impressed with the city manager's report and said it deserved congratulations.

The council approved the policy and advised the manager to make it effective immediately.

New Petitions Request Walnut Assessment

Petitions are curious things. They have both "starters" and "stoppers".

Monday night a petition with a bigger "starter" than the "stopper" presented last week set machinery in motion again to pave East-High-Elm and Walnut streets by the 25 per cent special assessment plan.

The petition was filed by C. Oscar Hammond, a 20-year resident of Walnut street. It asked the council to "proceed with the paving" . . . and that "we hereby agree to pay the special assessment proposed to be levied against our property."

On Monday, March 12 the project was dropped when Maxwell Austin, also a Walnut street resident, presented a petition against the assessment.

Austin's petition contained signatures representing property owners bearing $1503 of the total assessment — or slightly more than 50 per cent.

By provision of the city charter such a petition required a four-fifths vote of the council for approval of the paving project. The motion to pave East-High-Elm-Walnut then lost 3-2 when Councilmembers Beatrice Carlson and Richard Juday supported the petitioners and voted against the assessment.

Hammond's petition contained signatures representing $1781.19 of the total assessment — or 60 per cent. Curiously, it contained some 18 names that had been on the Austin petition.

City Attorney Philip Ogilvie advised the council that the entire special assessment procedure would have to be followed again — which he estimated would require four to six weeks. (The council moved ahead with the Center street project and opened bids for paving Monday night. See adjoining story).

The council moved swiftly on the new petition — which again found Councilmembers Carlson and Juday voting together, but this time against the petitioners.

By a 3-2 vote the council adopted an initiatory resolution and city manager's report on the street's involved and proposed assessment.

Monday, April 2 was set as the first public hearing on the new proposal to pave East-High-Walnut and Elm streets by 25 per cent assessment.

While Mayor A. M. Allen and Councilmen Richard Ambler and John Canterbury were wasting no time in moving through the procedure for calling for another public hearing, Councilmembers Carlson and Juday questioned the legality of the action.

"Is it proper to take action on this matter when it was not on the agenda?", Juday asked. The city attorney said that late business could legally come before the council at a regular meeting. At special meetings only business listed on the agenda can be considered, he explained.

Clerk Martha Milne explained that the petition had not been filed at the office until 7:30 p.m. Monday and could not have been previously listed on the agenda.

In presenting his petition Hammond said that he had opposed assessments "six months ago".

"But I've given this matter a lot of thought and looking into the future I can see growing problems for the city in its improvement program. I believe that the proposed assessment plan is the only just approach", he concluded.

Hammond said he had "no trouble" in obtaining the signatures and that the "newspaper story or headline" (see editorial on this page) had not influenced his action, taken before he had read the newspaper.

Get Good Bids On Center Street

A total of 10 bids ranging from $15,131.35 to $25,795.75 were submitted to the city council Monday night for paving and installation of curbs and gutters on North Center street from Eight Mile road cut-off to South Ely drive.

City Engineer Harold Penn had estimated that the job would cost $20,305.

The council instructed the engineer and city manager to examine the bids for accuracy and check the qualifications of the bidding contractors.

They were told to recommend a contractor at the city's next regular council meeting, April 2.

Not every bidder estimated the time required for completion of the project, but those that did ranged from 60 to 90 days. The council had indicated a desire to complete the paving by July 1 when first assessment payments are due.

The Center street paving project won approval last week on the basis of a 25 per cent assessment against property owners on the east side of the street. The school district is paying 100 per cent of the cost of its half of the street in front of American school. The city pays the balance from the general fund.

The vote for paving North Center street was 3-2 with Councilmembers Carlson and Juday dissenting. Their votes defeated the East-High-Elm-Walnut paving project last week when petitions representing more than 50 per cent of the assessment were presented protesting the plan. The charter requires that when such a protest is filed a four-fifths vote of the council is required for passage.

Councilwoman Carlson asked City Manager Bruce Pothoff why bids for the East-High-Elm-Walnut project (advertised at the same time as the Center street project) were not opened Monday night.

The manager explained that the contractors had been notified that the paving proposal had been defeated and was therefore withdrawn to save them the cost of bid bonds (a five per cent performance bond must accompany each bid).

Bids received Monday night for North Center street were: Lynn Excavating & Contracting, Southfield, $25,795.75; Minirelli Construction Co., Livonia, $19,632; J. C. Sachs, Detroit, $18,971.46; Edward R. White, Berkley, $15,131.35; Macomb Concrete Corp., St. Clair Shores, $17,763.20; Tony Angelo Cement Construction Co., Detroit $17,903.80; John Carlo, Inc., Detroit, $22,573.95; Calwell Contracting, Detroit, $21,756.65; Alva L. Gier & Sons, Roseville, $18,883.80; Michigan Curb & Construction Co., Plymouth, $20,611.15.

Exploding Rocket Injures Two Teenagers

Two Northville youths were injured Saturday when a homemade rocket they were making exploded, forcing wood splinters into the arms of both and the eyes of one.

Recovering in University hospital, Ann Arbor, and ready to come home by this week end was 14-year-old Tom Bogart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bogart, of 46638 West Main street. He received splinters in his arms and eyes, but Mrs. Bogart reported he seemed to be recovering well. She added that doctors said it would be six months before they would know for certain whether one of his eyes had been permanently injured.

Treated for splinters in his arms was Kent Hunter, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunter, of 46901 West Main.

Mrs. Bogart said the boys had been using a piece of wooden dowel to force paper match heads into a metal tube they used as a rocket. She said the match heads exploded, splintering the dowel.

The boys had performed their experiment on previous occasions, Mrs. Bogart added, using an electric train transformer to ignite the match heads.

Council Holds Up Sign Ordinance

City council members decided to send the controversial "sign ordinance" back to the planning commission Monday night while approving a revised zoning map and accessory building ordinance for public hearing April 2.

Mayor A. M. Allen said he felt the ordinance was "a little too restrictive". Other questions concerning the language of the ordinance were also raised by the council. It was finally decided that it should go back to the planners and arrangements made for a joint meeting to study the ordinance.

It was further suggested that the planners and retail merchants organization consider a survey to determine how many signs presently in the community would be in violation under the new ordinance.

Specifically, the proposed sign ordinance would limit total area of signs, eliminate overhanging signs (more than 12-inches into public right-of-way) and flashing or intermittent type signs. Such existing signs would have to be removed within three years after adoption of the ordinance.

In other business Monday night:

— The council appointed C. Oscar Hammond chairman of the forthcoming Michigan Week celebration; — set a special meeting for tonight to consider transfer of liquor license of Ramsey Bar to Leo M. Markham and study a proposed $1,800 per year reamner contract for the city engineer;

— instructed the city manager to obtain more information on laws governing the operation of a liquor license at a track so that a request from Michigan Sports' Service for a class C liquor license at Northville Downs can be considered for the coming season;

— proposed to the city manager that a meeting with Wayne county officials be arranged to discuss recent turning over of Randolph and Baseline roads to the city and inquire as to future county plans regarding local county roads;

— approved a letter to State Senator Raymond Dzendzel opposing legislation that would outlaw use of radar for clocking speeders (the city recently approved purchase of radar equipment, but the order has been withheld pending action on the radar legislation).

MARCH 1st Milton D. West of Connemara drive struck a hole in the pavement as he was driving on Randolph street. (It must have been something like the hole along side the Randolph street pavement pictured above). It dented the rim of the car's wheel and blew out a tire. He reported that he was traveling under the speed limit and asked that damages be paid. But who should pay? By coincidence jurisdiction of Randolph street was turned over to the city by Wayne county — effective March 1. Monday night the council instructed the city manager to call the county. And what do you think the county said? (You're wrong). The county accepted responsibility and agreed to pay the bill.

Savor Good Food, Humor At Woman's Club Finale

Members of the Northville Woman's club wrapped up the club year Friday afternoon with their annual 'Turcon luncheon in the Presbyterian church house.

As always, the luncheon is a fun meeting enlivened by a skit, which this year as in past years was a humorous take off on some everyday quirk or custom.

Friday's production, a spoof of the currently popular lecture "Detroit Adventure", an original idea, inspired chuckles in the receptive audience and captivated on the dramatic talents of six club members.

"Detroit Adventure", an original idea, inspired chuckles in the receptive audience and captivated on the dramatic talents of six club members.

John J. O'Brien cast as the moderator with "noted authorities" Mrs. Paul Cargio as the White Hunter, Mrs. Leland Mills as Professor Middlehaus, Mrs. H. Lorne Dyer as Madame Toulard and Mrs. Robert Yoder and Mrs. William Slattery as "Twists".

Then presentation was prefaced by an introduction by Mrs. George Jerome, program chairman.

Adding a bit of nostalgia to the business meeting that preceded the skit was Mrs. George Kohls' brief thank you to outgoing club president Mrs. C. E. Woodruff.

Mrs. Kohls will assume the president's gavel held by Mrs. Woodruff the past two years. Joining Mrs. Kohls in the new executive line-up are: Mrs. Richard Kay, vice-president; Mrs. William Crump, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Davis, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Carl Johnson, treasurer.

Also named was a new board consisting of Mrs. James Cowie, Mrs. D. E. Hannabarger, Mrs. Alfred Parmenter, Mrs. R. J. Wright and Mrs. C. E. Woodruff.

FOLK DANCE? — Even the twist found its way into the Woman's club spoof. There's more to this folk dance than meets the eye, cautioned the bearded, silver-thatched 'Northville Adventure' psychologist, Dr. Middlehaus.

Kitchen Diary

Not for Weight-Watchers

In between turns at her desk writing notes for the Northville Woman's Club, Mrs. Robert Davis, the club's corresponding secretary, has time to be handy in the kitchen.

A cookie she makes that rivals any at Woman's Club teas is a bonbon confection, rich in cream cheese, butter and finished with apricot or strawberry jam.

Another of Mrs. Davis' specialties is her Crumbled Torte dessert, a taste tempter topped with a swirl of whipped cream.

Both cookies and torte are easy to make, she assures.

Mrs. Davis lives with her husband and a daughter, Bobbie, at 317 West Dunlap.

1 cup soft butter
2 cups sifted flour
1/4 cup sifted confectioner's sugar
1/2 cup apricot or strawberry jam

Allow cream cheese and butter to stand at room temperature about one hour. Mix together with fork. Mix in well flour and sugar.

For easier handling chill awhile in refrigerator. Pinch off small amount of dough, about one teaspoonful; roll into ball and put on cookie sheet. Flatten slightly and make dent in cookie with thumb or bowl of spoon. Put small amount of jam in depression.

Bake 15-17 minutes at 375 degrees. Yields about 100 cookies. Best when served fresh.

CRUMBLD TORTE
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 cup dates (coarsely cut)
1 cup nuts (finely cut)
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
whipped cream for topping

Beat egg yolks until frothy. Add sugar gradually, beating until well mixed. Add dates, nuts, flour and baking powder. Stir until all ingredients are moistened. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites until mixture is blended.

Spread batter into greased 9-inch square pan. Bake in a hot (425-degree) oven for 15 minutes. Let stand until cold. Crumble torte into sherbet glasses and top with sweetened whipped cream. Serves four to six. This party treat can be made a day ahead.

Travel Leisurely, Nurse Advises; Go Round the World by Freighter

Editor's Note: What is it like to go around the world by freighter? Basically, that's the question Emma C. Ameel asked herself about five years ago when she came across some literature on freighter travel.

Miss Ameel, a registered nurse living at 219 Hutton, contemplated the trip as a seasoned sightseer. She had taken in choice tourist attractions here and abroad. The freighter idea sounded intriguing.

After waiting a year for reservations, she departed last fall on a four-month cruise aboard the "Flying Cloud".

What was it like to travel around the world by freighter? Miss Ameel now has the answer along with some helpful tips for anyone anticipating a similar trip. She writes about both in her narrative below.

Around the World by Freighter By Emma C. Ameel

My cargo freighter trip around the world far exceeded my expectations in terms of pleasure, economy and relaxation.

Our ship was the Flying Cloud (Isbrandtsen Line) and no name could have been more appropriate unless it had been the Flying Carpet for she took us around the world in four months of exciting adventure.

Our itinerary took us to nineteen ports in thirteen countries and extra time in port permitted us to take five trips inland while cargo was unloaded.

The thrill of entering a new port never diminished throughout the entire trip. It was like seeing a new stage play — the plot the same but actors and scenery different. From the time the pilot boarded the ship to take her into the harbor, stubby little tugs puffing, pulling and pushing her up to the dock, the contrasts became apparent. Stevedores boarded the ship, those from each country unique either in dress and customs or the manner they worked and manipulated the giant machinery.

In one port centuries old, modern machinery loaded the cargo on trucks and railroad cars, while in a port comparatively new, cargo was loaded on clumsy little carts drawn by Brahman bulls — contrast between the old and new was fantastic.

Accommodations and food were excellent. The ship was very clean and the crew, from the captain down to the deck hands, did everything to make our trip interesting and enjoyable.

Our ship carried ten passengers, some left at certain ports, others joined us. We were fortunate in having an interesting and congenial group of fellow passengers. Among them were a drama student, Maronite priest, Lebanese registered nurse, social worker, teacher, two young girl missionaries, a dentist and his wife, a rancher and his wife and my companion (Ida Blucher) and myself. Conversations ran the gamut from Greek tragedy to amoeba diseases of the Far East and from sage brush to Lebanese cooking. It was never dull.

The weather, except for a few rough days in the North Pacific and the Straits of Formosa, was ideal at sea and ashore. We sailed the last of September and returned the last of January.

The informality of this type of travel was a delightful feature of the trip. Long hours were spent in our deck chairs watching marine life which was always interesting. It was the "ultimate" in relaxation.

Sunset and sunrise, rainbows forming a perfect arch in the sea and star-studded skies are not easily forgotten. Schools of porpoises, dolphins, flying fish, giant turtles, black fish, sharks and many unidentified species, with whales spouting in the distance — provided constant interest to all of us on board.

At those ports in which time permitted us to leave the ship and travel inland, we saw ancient culture and the new mingled side by side. In one large Far East metropolis, our modern car moved on wide clean avenues, passing vehicles drawn by tiny donkeys and camels — the contrast was almost unreal.

In many ports, when our ship was berthed in the harbor, tiny native boats, such as junks and sampans, were anchored below us.

Adding to our enjoyment was the sight of native flowers, trees, costumes. In one country women were wearing the same type of dress worn there for the past four hundred years.

Among the shore trips inland was one to Cairo, Egypt and through the New Territory beyond Kowloon to the Bamboo Curtain. Down thirty-five miles of jungle to Saigon, Vietnam was a fascinating trip.

I feel that three requisites are necessary to really enjoy freighter travel:

No. 1 — Be able to disregard the time element since cargo and weather may hold up the ship. If you are traveling on a deadline, you will be most unhappy. Also, be able to adjust to the uncertainty of schedule.

No. 2 — If you are the type who needs planned activity and entertainment, this type of travel is not for you — you will be bored to death.

No. 3 — Be a good sailor. Dramamine will take care of Mal-de-Mer but confidence in your captain and his ship will give you peace of mind when the sailing gets rough. You are bound to have a few rough days going around the world.

So — for economy, informality and the unusual in sea travel, "Go Freighter".

all sorts of things

By SHARON MAZANEC

JULIETTE Gordon Low no doubt would have busted her buttons with pride Saturday afternoon had she been able to attend the impressive pageant staged there by close to 200 girls outfitted in green and brown.

The festivities, after all, were in her honor. They commemorated the Golden Anniversary of an idea she imported to America, Girl Scouting.

From the first handful of girls that gathered at the home of the fashionable Southern belle to the millions now part of the movement, scouting has inspired to one primary goal: instilling the highest ideals of character, conduct, patriotism and service in girls that they may become happy and resourceful citizens.

These enviable traits stood out Saturday as noticeably as the crisp, colorful uniforms worn by the girls.

It was a big day for parents as well as for the Scouts and Brownies. About 350 moms and dads turned out to cheer on their daughters.

Everything went off like clockwork, right from the opening flag ceremony to the retiring of colors.

It was a polished production coordinated by a modest woman who greets praise with a shy smile. Mrs. Archie Moore made a brief appearance on the community building stage to accept flowers from her grateful co-workers. She stayed only long enough to say thank you and cite "all the others who did so much."

ANOTHER red letter day comes up next week, Friday. That's when Northville's well-known octogenarian, Belle McColl, celebrates her eighty-ninth birthday.

She'll be feted at a tea being given by Mrs. Maxwell Austin and Mrs. Ernest Wood. The flu bug, which leveled Northville residents this winter like a boll weevil going through a cotton field, must have been working overtime — he even lighted on the energetic Mrs. McColl.

"I'm feeling much better now," she tells us, adding that spring will be a welcome visitor.

SUN AND A TRIO of Mallard ducks reminded Mary (Mrs. Donald) Ware of a project she'll be working on between now and June 11.

As chairman of the annual Garden Walk sponsored by the local branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association, she was enthused by the recent return of the Mallards, harbingers of spring for the Wares — to the pond behind the couple's home.

After all, she reasons, they mean that budding trees and blossoming flowers — ingredients critical to the Garden Walk — aren't too far off.

This year's tour will take gardening enthusiasts to five local garden showplaces and a private greenhouse. A Silver Tea — benefiting the club's scholarship fund — will round out the June 11 afternoon.

It Was Quite a Party!

Saturday was a busy afternoon for Northville Girl Scouts and Brownies celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the Scout movement at the community building.

It was a time for recognition and a time for thanks.

ville Scouting neighborhood, introduces Barbara Zerbel (center), who extended a "blossoming thank you" to Mrs. Archie Moore (left) for the work she did organizing the anniversary party.

Mrs. Langtry at the right offers a token of gratitude to Del Campo, Wayne County Training school staff member, who has aided the Scout swimming program 13 years.

In a welcome to new leaders (above), Scout Susan Hill presides at a ceremony in which Scouts and Brownies recognize leaders by pinning them with yellow shoulder ribbons.

Detection Turnout Tops 500 Here

The Northville Coordinating Council learned last week that its efforts in sponsoring the three-day mobile detection unit earlier this month were well worth while.

There were 498 tests for diabetes and 576 chest x-rays given by the Wayne county health department.

The program was sponsored by the Coordinating Council with Mrs. Mabel Cooley acting as chairman of volunteer services for the project.

In other business at its regular meeting last Thursday evening the council representatives heard John Swain discuss the Beautify Northville campaign. Swain charmaned the local campaign two years ago.

It was proposed by Swain and adopted by the Coordinating Council that the cleaning drive become a year-around effort so that projects started during the initial campaign could continue.

Mrs. Beatrice Carlson, city council representative on the Coordinating Council, reported to the city council Monday night that the Junior Chamber of Commerce would be asked to take over the Beautify Northville project on a permanent basis.

Last week's Coordinating Council meeting was attended by Mrs. Hurd Sutherland, representing the Woman's Club; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Moehlman, Exchange Club; Mrs. Peterson Cuchetti, Business and Professional Women; Mrs. Louise Cansfield, First Methodist Church; Mrs. Cyril Frd, WILPF; Miss Ruth Knapp, D.A.R.; and Mrs. Douglas Straith, Garden Club; Mrs. Robert Rahaley, Our Lady of Victory.

Two 1961 Northville High school graduates have won William J. Branstrom prizes for scholarship in freshman studies

James Tuck and Carol Simon were selected after finishing in the top seven per cent of their school or college with a minimum of 15 hours of degree credit. Carol was salutatorian of the high school graduating class.

They will receive their choice of one of 19 deluxe bound volumes, gold stamped with the U-M seal, in a 2 p.m. convocation May 11 at Lydia Mendelsohn theater on the campus.

Bankers Name Miss Parmalee

Miss Leona Parmalee, Northville Branch of the Manufacturers National Bank, has been named Chairman of the Printing Committee for the Tri-Regional Conference of the National Association of Bank Women to be held May 3-5 at the Statler-Hilton hotel, Detroit.

The N.A.B.W. was organized in New York in 1921 by a group of bank women for the purpose of bringing together bank women executives for an exchange of ideas and experiences.

National and Regional Conferences are held annually in the fall and in the spring in various parts of the country. Detroit, this year, will include the Lake, Mid-West and North Central divisions.

Grade School Principals Pitch in at NEA Confab

More than 8,000 elementary school principals from all over the country will converge on Detroit's Cobo hall Saturday through Wednesday, March 24-28 for the annual conference of the Department of Elementary School Principals of the National Education Association (NEA).

Hundreds of Michigan members of the Department of Elementary School Principals (DESP) of the Michigan Education Association (MEA) will be active participants in the five-day session.

Northville representatives Harry Smith, from the Main Street school, and Richard Kay, from the Amerman school, have committee assignments. Kay is one of the coordinators at a resource center on school public relations and Smith will serve on the conference's welcoming committee.

Keynote speakers who will address the gathering are Benet A. Cerf, president, Random House, New York; Senator Gale W. McGee, Wyoming; Ole Sand, director, NEA Project on Instruction (on leave from Wayne State University); and Dorothy Fraser, professor of education, The Colleges of the City of New York.

Other general session speakers will include John I. Goodlad, director, University Elementary school, University of California at Los Angeles; Raymond W. Mack, chairman, department of sociology, Northwestern University; and Harold Drummond, chairman, department of elementary education, University of New Mexico.

Conference activities will focus on procedural operations in a good elementary school. General sessions, assemblies, demonstrations and interviews are all designed to meet the challenges of change.

Highlight of the conference will be a Soap Box program. Speakers will be stating positions currently being taken by some people on such problems as grouping, control of education, and placement of content.

Several simultaneous assemblies on current educational problems will be held March 26 and 27, at 9:30 a.m. Areas to be treated are patterns of school organization, leadership for the elementary school, testing and evaluation, fostering creativity, the use of printed media of instruction, classroom organization and practice and the use of television and other audio-visual aids. These areas also will be discussed in discussion groups scheduled for March 27, at 1:30 p.m.

Also featured at the meeting will be resource centers dealing with specific problems in elementary education and administration. Areas to be discussed include elementary school libraries, science in the elementary school, foreign languages in the elementary school, audio-visual materials, testing and evaluation, problems of the big-city school systems, techniques for international understanding and school public relations.

Presiding at the conference will be Martin C. Tate, Phoenix, Arizona, president of the National DESP.

President-elect of the national department is Marion Cranmore, Burns Park school, Ann Arbor. Miss Cranmore will become president of the 20,000-member department during the annual conference.

President of the Michigan DESP is Dorothy Haldy, principal, Isaac Cray Elementary school, Detroit.

Also attending the conference will be Dr. E. Dale Kennedy, executive secretary, MEA and Gerald N. Simmons, MEA assistant executive secretary for field service and counseling.

NEWCOMER'S CORNER

"I look upon every day to be lost, in which I do not make a new acquaintance."

— Samuel Johnson

SOUTHFIELD teacher Richard Nowland, his wife, Rita, and 9-month-old daughter, Elizabeth are new neighbors to residents in the vicinity of 249 Hutton.

Two University of Michigan football fans were closer to Ann Arbor, home of their favorite college grid team, last fall following their September move to Northville from Detroit.

The "Big Blue" rooters are Richard and Rita Nowland. Nowland, who hails from Ann Arbor, got his master's degree in special education from the U-M. He did his bachelor's work at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti. Southfield Public Schools employ him as a visiting teacher.

Mrs. Nowland calls St. Johns home. She specialized in education at Central Michigan University in Kalamazoo and Aquinas College in Grand Rapids, and was a grade school teacher before retiring to the full-time career of housewife and mother.

The Nowlands, parents of a 9-month-old daughter, Elizabeth, live in a brick Cape Cod home at 249 Hutton.

They've taken up a new interest — refinishing furniture — since moving into the house. Nowland, however, will no doubt swap varnish and sand paper for golf clubs as soon as the snow melts from the fairways, says his wife.

A DREAM that we had as many customers as there are chuck holes in Orchard Dr. — and more — that their pockets were as deep as the road pond on Scott Ave. — and still more — that their pockets were full of cash to buy some of my nice listings. What a dream — but I am sure that it will not take that many customers to see the big value in the nice business bldg. near the cor. of Griswold and E. Main St. Sure profits here. Still cool but just the right time to look over the several fine bldgs. lots we are offering. OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO

March 23, 1961

Plans were announced this week for a 'meet-the-candidates' night to introduce every Northville city and township office seeker to the public. City Attorney Phil Ogilvie will serve as master of ceremonies at the March 30 meeting.

School officials this week announced procedures governing the kindergarten admissions policy adopted last fall. The policy, which goes into effect next fall, requires all entering kindergartners to be five years old, or, if the child's birthday falls between September and December 1, the child may be admitted if it can pass certain tests and screening procedures.

The Northville city council Monday night dispensed with a zoning matter that had a history of long meetings before the planning board and council last year. Rezoned were parcels on the city's northeast section owned by developers of the Yerkes Estates subdivision.

Wixom's Lincoln plant will end a 12-day shutdown Monday. The plant has been completely shut down since March 15 because of a shortage of parts, a Ford spokesman explained.

FIVE YEARS AGO

March 21, 1957

In a long-awaited decision, Oakland county circuit court Judge Frank L. Doty returned to Novi township some 95 acres of its area that was annexed by the city of Northville last June 21. In his decision, Doty ruled a land purchase agreement in the annexation area constituted a vote fraud, and added that handling of the petitions for annexation had been improper.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for a new home for Our Lady of Victory Catholic church were held Sunday afternoon on the Orchard Drive site. Construction on the $215,000 structure is slated to be finished by mid-December.

The city council awarded contracts for construction of the Wing, Fairbrook and First streets storm sewers and curb and gutter project at Monday night's meeting. The contracts, divided between two firms, totaled $39,839.

Novi township Supervisor Piazzer Staman told board of commerce members this week that continued division of assets with neighboring communities could bankrupt the township. Speaking as a citizen, he said division of assets over township areas annexed by Northville and incorporated into Wixom pose a financial threat to the township.

Novi Boy Scout Troop 54 was reactivated last week in charter ceremonies presided over by District Executive William Wells, of the Clinton Valley council. Robert Skellenger, scoutmaster of the 14-boy troop and Robert Gazlay, commander of the Wixom AMVETS, sponsors of the troop, took part in the ceremonies.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

March 21, 1947

Novi township board action recently paved the way for a ballot, question during the April election to ask the voters whether the board may add $3,000 to the fund for a township hall. The special question will ask township electors to approve setting aside the $3,000 sum, providing it doesn't exceed the 2-mill township tax.

Over 80 guests attended the 28th anniversary party of the Lloyd H. Green Post at the Veterans' Memorial Home Tuesday evening. The event, sponsored by the ladies auxiliary, featured a bountiful potluck dinner.

The Northville high school choir entertained at Plymouth last Friday as part of the program for the district teachers' institute. The choir, directed by Leslie G. Lee, presented four numbers to the thousand or so teachers and school officials attending the meeting.

The Northville P-TA has completed plans for an audience participation meeting next Thursday to keep the community education minded. Floyd Smith, supervising teacher at Michigan State Normal College, will lead discussion.

The Reverend and Mrs. W. Leslie Williams, of the Methodist church, are planning an open house in the new parsonage at the corner of Dunlap and Rogers streets. Since its purchase, the manse has undergone extensive improvements.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

March 26, 1937

Nine-year-old Billy Foreman, a DeKay school student, died last week in University Hospital, Ann Arbor, following his being struck by a truck while riding his bicycle. Billy, the son of the Ralph Foreman's had ridden across West Seven Mile road and then darted back, in front of a truck driven by a South Lyon man. The boy died of head injuries.

The high school was the scene of a Boy Scout talent show last Friday, which netted $30 for the scout building fund and kept 200 area residents in a gleeful mood. Features included tap dancing, skits, musical performances and magicians.

Twelve college-level courses will be offered in Northville schools for area adults interested in both credit and non-credit classes supervised by the University of Michigan extension services, says Superintendent Russell H. Amerman. The adult education courses are offered as part of the WPA program.

Budget Plan For Gas Heat

Budget billing for customers who heat their homes with natural gas was announced today by Consumers Power Company.

A customer who chooses to adopt the plan will pay one-twelfth of his estimated annual service bill each month during the budget year, which begins with May and runs through the following April. The final bill of the budget year will be adjusted to cover any difference between the estimate and the customer's actual use of service during the 12-month period.

"We are putting this plan into effect as a convenience to our home heating customers," said James P. Thomas, division manager for Consumers. "People who heat their homes with natural gas use much more service in winter than they do at other times. Under normal billing there is a wide variation between their smallest and largest service bills."

"The budget plan will enable customers who wish to do so to pay approximately the same amount each month, spreading their heating cost evenly through the year."

Build Salem School, Committee Tells Board

Reports and recommendations representing three months of study were presented to the Lyon township school board Monday evening by the Citizens Advisory committee.

Covering four specific areas, needs, curriculum, facilities and finance, the study reports and the resulting recommendations were accepted by the board. The board also, upon the motion of Donald Roderick and the support of Wilfred Heide, voted unanimously to invite members of the advisory committee to any subsequent meetings at which the board may discuss the recommendations.

Among the two major recommendations were:

Facilities — Immediate construction of a four or five room expandable elementary school in Salem township; Finance — An increase in voted operational millage from 6.487 in the 1962-63 fiscal year, to 8.640 in 1963-64, to 10.552 in 1964-65.

The former recommendation, which drew most of the comment from the capacity crowd attending the meeting, was predicted primarily upon present and projected student census in Salem township.

Other related factors, not included in the report itself, were presented by spokesmen for Salem area residents, including Salem Supervisor Harlow Ingall. In Salem, said Ingall, residents are more troubled by the fact that the township does not have a school than they are by taxes.

The supervisor and others indicated that the majority of residents in Salem were dissatisfied with the present system of transporting Salem school children to schools outside the township. Furthermore, Sam Bailo pointed out that the school board had previously "promised" to build a school in Salem as soon as conditions warranted. Advisory committee study, he concluded, has shown that such a school is now both warranted and feasible.

Cagers Rally, Romp To Cop Regional Crown

STRONG SHOULDERS of the Northville Mustangs hoist Coach Dave Longridge, regional tournament trophy in hand, into the air following last Saturday's 78-47 rout of Clarkston for the regional championship. The Mustangs downed Marysville earlier to advance to the regional finale.

Northville Record—Novi News—Thursday, March 22, 1962
Section One — Page Seven

Northville's Mustangs battled to a 55-49 win over a strong Marysville team last week and then flew past Clarkston 78-47 to thunders over the hardwoods to their first Class B regional championship.

The high flying Mustangs were slated to take on the Lakers of Elkton-Pigeon-Buyers high school last night in state quarterfinals at Flint. (See story below)

Against Marysville a week ago the Mustangs met the strongest competition they've run into during this year's thus far perfect 19-0 season.

The powerful Vikings coupled a zone press with race-horse ball to prevent Northville from building up a lasting lead until the final period. But it was still Northville that repeatedly pulled away to a several-point lead before being overtaken again by a burst of Marysville's scoring.

Marysville opened scoring on a free throw, but the Mustangs countered with a charity shot of their own to tie the game up. It was tied up twice more in the first quarter, with Marysville eking out a 12-11 advantage to start the second period.

The two teams matched points through the second quarter, with the lead changing hands nearly every time a field goal was made. The Mustangs moved out front 30-23 with just under two minutes remaining in the half, but Marysville succeeded in picking off two Northville passers with less than a minute to go, and as the period ended, the Mustangs enjoyed only a one-point lead.

Northville's high jumping center Dan Brown, who had spent half of the second quarter on the bench with three fouls, played only the first two minutes of the third period before drawing his fourth. He was pulled, with the score tied at 32.

Brown's loss hampered Northville rebounding, but the local cagers soon regained part of their backboard control as forwards Dick Bathey, Jim Juday and Tom Swiss moved in under the basket, and Marysville's zone press started taking its toll by threatening to foul-out Viking first stringers.

Marysville's center Harry Rochi was pulled after he earned his fourth foul in the third quarter. He drew his fifth midway through the final stanza. Also in danger during the third quarter were their tall forward, Dave Perry, who later fouled-out Leading Viking scorer Frank Polk drew four fouls before the game ended.

With Brown back in the game throughout the final period, the Mustangs dominated rebounding, and tight defending enabled Northville to hold Marysville scoring to a 10-point minimum. The Mustangs, beginning the final stanza with a two point lead, outscored their opponents to end the game 58-49, and advance to the regional finale Saturday night.

Clarkston's Wolves lived up to their name during the first quarter of the regional championship, tying and even leading at times, with the Mustangs gaining only a two-point edge over their opponents when the first period buzzer sounded.

But Northville broke loose in the second quarter, adding 24 points while giving up only 14. Brown, who regained his shooting eye after missing 11 of 14 free throws against Marysville, connected on four straight gravity shots to stretch a second period lead to six points, and then came back a minute later to sink a field goal.

Steve Juday, following Brown's example, sunk four field goals for eight points in the final two minutes of the quarter to boost Northville to a healthy 40-25 half-time score.

Northville scorers pumped in 19 points in each of the final two stanzas, while holding Clarkston to quarters of 12 and 10 points each.

Unlike the Marysville game, in which only six Mustangs saw action, all but one of Coach Dave Longridge's chairlegs was in the running against Clarkston. Leading by better than 20 points in the final period, Longridge substituted freely from the bench.

Stiff zone defending contributed most to the Northville quintet's win. Clarkston scoring aces Mike Applegate and Chuck Funk, who netted 22 and 18 points against the Mustangs in their last meeting of regular season play, were held to 15 points each Saturday. And Applegate, who has led Clarkston all season, was not permitted a second-half point.

Mustang Guard Steve Juday led Northville scoring with a season high of 25 points. Runners up were guard Craig Bell, with 19, and Brown, who netted 18.

LET'S TALK CARS...

The Growing Case For Seat Belts

Every car manufactured in North America during the current model year will have holes drilled in the floor — and not for air conditioning. The manufacturers, if not the public, are at last responding to the avalanche of recorded evidence that seat belts are saving lives.

The factory-installed anchor holes will further reduce the already nominal cost of installation and mass produced quality belts are now selling for less than ever.

As always, the public is the last to respond to a safety appeal. But evidence is growing that the case for seat belts is getting across to the average motorist. Drivers who have adopted the seat belt habit now say it has become just that — automatic to buckle and adjust the belt before driving — like a habit.

Seat belts, as their constant users are anxious to advise, hold you firmly to the seat. You ride more comfortably, side sway from turning corners is almost eliminated, they don't muss your clothes and they can be released by a flip of your hand in the event of an emergency.

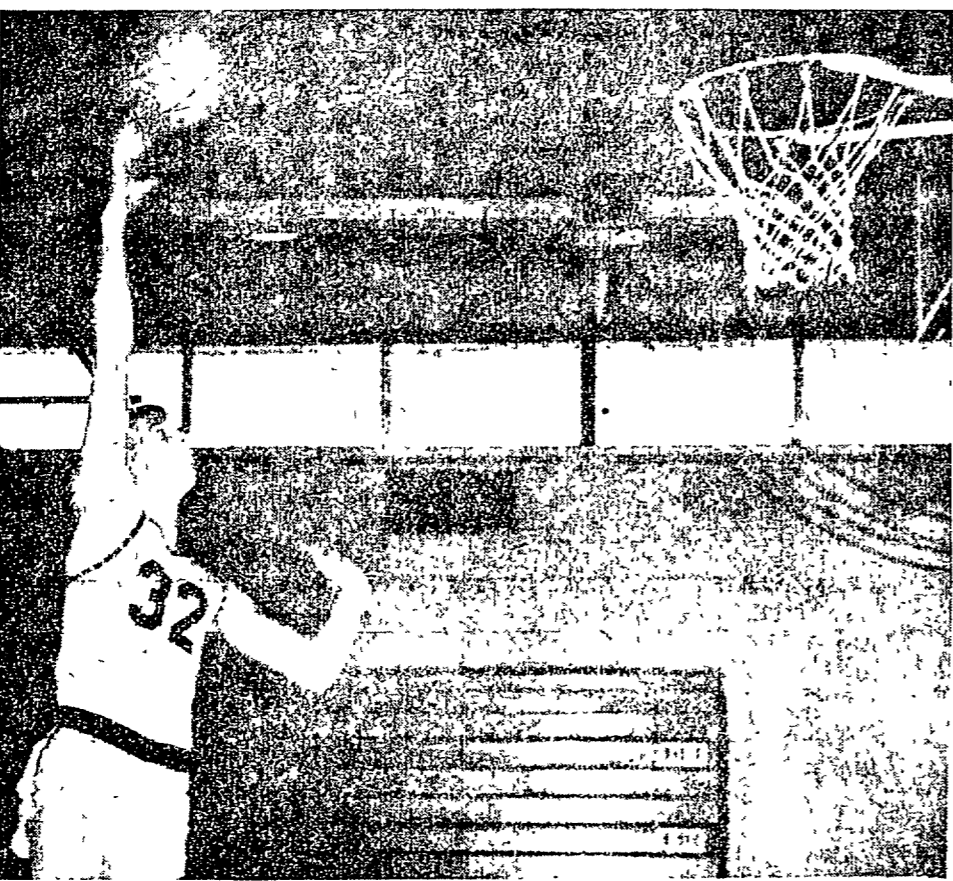

Research has shown that belts reduce fatal injuries by 35 per cent in accidents of all speeds by holding the victim in the car. Women's organizations, medical associations and government bureaus concerned with safety all endorse them.

All except the motoring public of whom little better than 2 percent consistently use them. Among this loyal percentage are drivers who owe their lives to belts and those injured because they lacked them.

He's All - Suburban

Northville's center Dan Brown, leading scorer for the Mustangs and one of the key reasons the local quintet is now well along in post season tournament play, last week was named to the All-Suburban starting five. Brown, who thus far has netted 320 points for a game average of 16.4, was also picked on the All-State fifth team. Guard Steve Juday, who has turned in excellent defensive games all season and has also been one of Northville's top scorers, joined Brown as a member of the All-League team selected last week.

THANK YOU ...

Being this was my first attempt on entering the political race for Councilwoman I wish to thank the citizens who voted for me.

I feel that more women should campaign for an active part in our Village Government. Women should be represented on our Planning Board as well as the Council.

I wish to congratulate the three councilmen that were elected. If they can hang on to the convictions and objectives they made during their campaign as a candidate, I feel the citizens will have good representation.

Cage Fans Hit By Iffy Fever

Basketball and "iffy talk" gripped Northville this week as the undefeated Mustangs marched through the regional tourney at Pontiac and waited to take on a triple-monickered opponent at Flint last night (Wednesday) in the state quarter finals.

It marks the best showing of any Northville quintet in history — and wherever you go the fans reflect the fever pitch enthusiasm.

They swarmed to Pontiac to cheer the Mustangs. Hundreds, maybe thousands, headed for Flint last night.

And as they say at the coffee counters, if the Mustangs stretch their string to 20 and 0 against Elkton-Pigeon-Buyers, it's Lansing (and probably defending champions River Rouge) and the state semi-finals Friday night.

Highly favored River Rouge was scheduled to play Redford St. Mary last night (Wednesday). The other four teams of the final eight are East Grand Rapids vs. Mason and Ludington vs. Escanaba Holy Name.

The state class B finals will be held at Jenson Field House in Lansing at 11 a.m. Saturday (and if Northville tops E-P-B, and if Northville beats the winner of the RR-RSM game ... well, you get the idea).

Even Mustang Coach Dave Longridge is caught up in the "iffy talk". If his cagers meet River Rouge, he predicted the Mustangs "wouldn't be afraid of 'em and just could beat 'em".

See you in Lansing ... that is, if...

Local Pair Win Honors At Western

Only 78 outstanding students were named to the high scholarship list at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, during the fall semester, reports Registrar Clayton J. Maus.

Full-time undergraduate students are considered, and one requirement states that they must not carry more than eight hours in a single academic department, ruling out a number of students who carry heavy departmental loads as seniors. Of the 78 students, 21 had all-A records.

Among those listed is Michael Adas, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Adas, 213171 Stansford road, Northville, and Frederick Steeper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Steeper, 19320 Marilyn.

Mike is a freshman in the secondary education curriculum, majoring in speech and English. He was a 1961 graduate of Northville High school. Fred was a 1961 graduate of Northville High school also. He is a freshman in the secondary education curriculum, majoring in biology and history.

Fire Leaves Two Families Homeless

Fire caused heavy damage to this 334 Yerkes home Sunday afternoon. In the pictures above firemen are shown fighting the second story blaze. They were hampered in their efforts when the 500-pound test hose on the township tanker broke under 300-pound pressure. Most of the belongings of the Neil Galbraith family, residing upstairs, was lost. The Norbert C. Parents, who lived downstairs, were able to move many of their household items outside (as shown below).

In Justice Court

Northville Justice Charles McDonald levied a $25 fine and $5 cost against Homer DeShais, of Redford township, in court action Friday.

DeShais was found guilty of passing a check without sufficient funds. McDonald suspended a 90-day jail sentence, ordering DeShais to make restitution within the time or fulfill the sentence.

Fire destroyed the second floor of a two-family residence at 334 Yerkes street Sunday afternoon causing heavy water damage to the main floor apartment and driving both families from the house.

Fire broke out in the second story porch or roof at approximately 1:00 p.m. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Galbraith and their nine-year-old daughter resided in the upstairs apartment, while Mr. and Mrs. Norbert C. Parent and two sons lived downstairs.

Owner of the house is Ted Malik of Plymouth. He said the house was insured but that adjusters had not determined the extent of the damage. It is not certain that the house can be restored.

The Galbraiths, who moved to Novi from Canada 18 months ago and to Northville just six months ago, were having a cup of coffee in the living room when they noticed the smoke. Their little girl was playing outdoors.

All their furniture, which had been purchased recently, was destroyed. It was not insured. Most of their clothing was also lost.

The Parents' belongings were moved outside but were damaged by water.

Firemen fought the blaze for more than two hours. They were called back later when flames again broke out in the roof.

Meanwhile, neighbors and the Kings Daughters organization helped out the routed families. The Parents found another apartment immediately. The Galbraiths were accommodated by neighbors and located another house later in the week. Tuesday a Red Cross representative visited the family to offer assistance.

Besides the two calls to Yerkes street Sunday, firemen also were called to the Main street apartment house adjacent to the A & P parking lot to bring a small fire caused by an overheated oil stove under control.

Stroke Victims Join Ranks To Work and 'Live Again'

"We've been put on a shelf and we want to get off that shelf."

Gill Glasson, out of the familiar blue uniform he once wore as a patrolman for the Northville Police department, hooked his cane on the edge of the desk and now standing without its aid shifted his weight to the right leg, the one that doesn't need a brace.

"We think this will help us get off the shelf," he said, holding a piece of paper.

Emblazoned across the top were the words "Cerebral Vascular Accident Enterprise," the name of a new organization, a unique idea, that its founders hope will catch on in Northville and perhaps someday spread throughout the country.

Five charter members belong to the organization. All were "shelved" by cerebral vascular accidents. They suffered strokes. And after recovering from the initial impact, they found themselves paralyzed on one side, unable to work.

Not one of them was ready to retire.

A stroke felled Gill suddenly and unexpectedly last year. He was 55.

Joe Sands' world literally collapsed in 1959. All his life he had made a living with his hands. He was four-years-old when his father gave him a needle and thread and started teaching him to sew. At six he could tailor a pair of trousers and did just that at a machine in the window of his father's shop. Later he took up carpentering.

Frank Sasse was a carpenter, too. He was stricken last year. Bob Carter, only member of the group from Novi, was a farmer. He's been disabled since 1945. Carl Wellwood had been a printer before his stroke in 1955.

"We were all good men before we had our strokes," said Joe. "Then this thing happens and it's like you're dead; you're outside the world. You try to work, but you can't."

"We may be physically afflicted," stressed Joe, "but we're alright mentally."

For him and the others, Cerebral Vascular Accident

(CVA) Enterprise means "living again."

The enterprise, its members explain, will give them a means to help themselves — and eventually others — economically, psychologically and socially.

"Joe's got it right," chimed in Bob, "we'll 'live again.' Now there's something to look forward to."

What each are looking forward to the most, perhaps, is getting back to work.

"We're not afraid to work," assured Frank.

The first project they'll tackle is making flower boxes. They already have a workshop — across from Northville Downs — thanks to Al Smith, Sr., a CVA Enterprise adviser along with Dr. Russell Atchison and Attorney Cliff Hill.

"We'll make them any size and personalize them with initials if that's what the customer wants," explained Gill. "If it can be arranged we would like to distribute them through local merchants, maybe bigger department store chains."

"All of us are going to do as much as we can do," asserted Bob. "No one's going to sit around — we're going to work together."

This cooperation, the men feel, is an especially integral aspect of the enterprise. Each of them are at different stages in their recovery. The more capable will help the less capable, and by doing this they all hope to help themselves.

The CVA victim, they point out, faces the biggest struggle after leaving the hospital.

"You can't dress yourself at first," recalled Joe. "You have to learn all over again."

"I had an awful job learning to put a sock on," said Frank.

Regaining his balance posed a problem for Bob as well as the others.

"You can't throw horsehoes without balance," added Bob.

"Therapy is what helps bring you back," emphasized Gill. "But 90 per cent of the battle is up to you."

"Activity is the best therapy," said Joe. "You don't have to go to the doctor for this. You can get it at home and here."

And there will be plenty of activity for members of the new enterprise if enthusiasm is a necessary ingredient for success. Not only are the charter members buoyed by the prospect of their new venture, their advisers share the same zeal.

Their primary contribution to the infant project is encouragement, says Dr. Atchison. We're encouraging them to go out and do something they have wanted to do — contribute to the community, be able to face their friends and the business world again.

"Up to now CVA victims here and elsewhere have been candidates for convalescent homes or have had to rely on their families," said the doctor.

"They feel discouraged, inadequate, reluctant to go out and face the community because they feel they cannot contribute. Many of them sit at home, doing nothing."

"SHORT TERM programs have been initiated by colleges and universities, but nothing like this."

"We hope that this will spread, that other communities will follow the lead set here."

An obvious need exists, explained Dr. Atchison. "Just multiply the number of CVA victims in our town alone — 7 to 12 approximately — by the number of towns this size in the United States. The total takes in a substantially large percentage of the population."

A key philosophy of the program stressed by both the members and their advisers is that they are not looking for charity. Quite to the contrary, they want and are willing to assume economic responsibility.

As they get some indication of how well their products sell, expansion will follow, new items will be introduced.

Along with expansion of the product line will come expansion of the group and its other activities.

"This (a stroke), after all, can happen to anyone and it keeps happening right along," said Joe. "We'd like to make it nationwide," added Gill, "but we realize that before you can walk you have to creep."

LETTERS are being mailed to area doctors, explaining the enterprise and inviting them to refer other CVAs to the organization. Race, sex and religion are no bar to membership.

Dr. Atchison remarked that he had already received favorable responses from a number of area doctors who have seen the need for such a move.

In addition to the work program, social and recreational activities will eventually be introduced.

Whatever they tackle, members will be guided by their motto, "Don't Say: 'I can't.' — Say: 'I'll Try.'"

Readers Speak

To the Editor:

After reading Dr. Yoder's letter in the Northville Record, I wish to pat him on the back.

I am a 22 year old wife, and someday will be faced with questions from my children on sex.

I planned on doing as my mother did with me. I was raised to where I felt I could go to either of my parents and ask any questions about sex or anything else. And I might add, it helped me in my adulthood.

When I was in school, our class (11th grade) was shown movies on "Human Reproduction". Believe it or not many students didn't understand the movie because of their lack of knowledge about sex. Many of their parents never allowed the discussion of sex in the home and never spared the time to make the child feel free to discuss any problem with them.

They gained all their ideas of sex from off colored jokes, uncensored books, and other experiences. Thus, you can realize the bad outlook they had toward sex.

Being raised as I was I felt free to discuss any problems (sex, too) with my parents and now my husband. This has helped my marriage as all young brides have sex problems when first married.

When so many parents fail and leave all the sex education of their child up to others they are neglecting their duties as parents. I agree with Dr. Yoder when he says "Sex is a personal and private matter". If you are God chosen to be a parent you should live up to the responsibilities of being a parent.

Sincerely,
1958 Northville High Graduate from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Arnold B. Cook, Pastor
First Baptist Church of Novi

"Out of the mouths of babes ... Thou hast perfected praise."

Our sophisticated adult world does not give to children the degree of consideration as did our Lord.
Who among mankind would concede that perhaps our world's problems could best be analyzed by the simple forthright, and honest opinion of a child? "Inconceivable", you say. But we need the mature, wise diplomat, men of political minds, trained to deal with national and foreign affairs.

The supposed geniuses of our generation are discovering more and more the complexities of government without God. Super politicians and puppet diplomats have lost the proper perspective, and while the world perches precariously as it were on the edge of its social, moral, and political precipice, many people are mistaking the excessive political activities as a sign of progress. This is a delusion.

What then is the proper perspective? The following story taken from a publication for children well illustrates the point.

"Mr. Levins wanted to read the papers, but was being bothered by his little daughter, Suzie. Finally, he took a sheet out of his magazine, on which was printed the map of the world. Tearing it into small pieces, he gave it to Suzie, and said,
'Go into the other room and see if you can put this together.' After a few minutes, Suzie returned and handed him the map correctly fitted together. Mr. Levins was very surprised and asked how she had finished so quickly.

"Oh," she said, 'on the other side of the paper is a picture of Jesus. When I got Jesus in His place, then the world came out all right.'"
(Young Pilot)

In one of our Lord's prayers, he was heard to say,
'I thank Thee O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because Thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes (Matthew 11:25).'

Individuals and families often find life to be a complicated puzzle, but when Christ is given first consideration, and our attention is directed to Him, and he is permitted to rule and reign in our hearts and homes, we will discover that instead of a puzzle we have a proper perspective; and, where once there was chaos, there will come the calm.

By a genuine repentance from sin and a simple faith in Christ and His redemp-tive work, we shall then know the meaning and purpose of life. "Why not let God have your life; He can do more with it than you can?"

Don't Use Water From Flooded Wells

The upsurge of hepatitis in the metropolitan area has caused Dr. Joseph G. Molner, Wayne County Health Commissioner, to warn residents against the use of water from wells which may have become contaminated due to recent flooded conditions.

Flooding of yards and surrounding land areas brought on by the rapid melting of snow has motivated many Wayne County residents to call the Health Department for information about possible health precautions. In some communities where flooding has occurred, water could become contaminated with sewage from septic tanks in the area.

Dr. Molner says that water from any well which has been flooded or submerged should be considered contaminated until proven safe by bacteriological tests. He urges residents not to use for any drinking or domestic purpose water from wells that may be flooded without following proper disinfection procedures.

Residents are urged to consult their county health department for instructions on how to make the supply safe and for obtaining a sterilized bottle to submit a sample to the laboratory for testing.

In the meantime use a water supply from a source of known safety. If such a supply is not available it is possible to use water from the contaminated well if the precautions listed below are carefully followed:

1. Pump out well until the water is clear and clean.
2. Either boil or disinfect with chlorine.
- a. Boil the water for two minutes to make it safe. To remove the "flat" taste from boiled water, cool the water and then pour it back and forth between two clean receptacles several times.

ANNOUNCING A BUDGET PAYMENT PLAN

For Home Heating
Customers of Consumers Power Company

SPREAD YOUR YEARLY COST
OF HEATING OVER 12 MONTHS

It takes a lot more heat to keep your home warm in January or February than it does in July or August.

Monthly service bills of home-heating customers therefore vary considerably as between summer and winter.

Many home-heating customers have told us they would like a plan that would permit them to pay about the same amount every month.

The Budget Payment Plan makes this possible.

HOW THE PLAN WILL WORK

The budget year begins with May and runs through April of the following year. The total amount to be paid for service during the budget year will be estimated on the basis of past usage or other available data. Your monthly service bills then will be approximately one-twelfth of this amount.

During the first part of the budget year, your monthly payments will be somewhat larger than they would be under normal billing. You will thus be building up a credit against the winter months when your use of natural gas reaches its peak.

You will be billed for the same amount each month unless the credit you have built up is insufficient, when combined with the amount of the budget payment, to cover the service used, in which case you will be billed for the amount due.

In April you will receive a bill for the amount then remaining due, which may well be less than the amount of the monthly budget payment. Small overpayments of a year's bills can be carried over to apply against the next year. Larger overpayments can be refunded.

Novi School Board Official Minutes
The regular meeting of the Board of Education was called to order by the president, Dr. Ambinder at 8:15 p.m. on Wednesday, February 14, 1962.

Present were Dr. Ambinder, Mr. MacBride, Mr. Heslip, Mr. Fried, Mr. Culbert and a group of interested citizens. Mr. Taylor came in later.

It was moved by Mr. Fried, and seconded by Mr. MacBride that the secretary's minutes of the regular meeting of January 15 and special meetings of January 22 and February 7 be accepted as presented. The motion carried.

Mr. Culbert visited a school in Oak Park to observe a Science program presented on Airborne T.V. He felt the program still needs finalization and that Novi was not ready at this time for this project.

The first meeting of a committee to discuss plans for a community college for Oakland County will be held February 15. Mr. Culbert has made two appointments to this committee.

The Novi Schools held a Fluoride Clinic January 16 through February 9, 212 children participated at a fee of $3.00 each.

Mr. Fried offered a resolution, seconded by Mr. MacBride that the Board of Education rent a safety deposit box (No. 271) at the Novi Branch of National Bank of Detroit, at the cost of $12 per year. The resolution passed.

It was moved by Mr. MacBride, and seconded by Mr. Heslip that the board purchase tables and chairs for the Jr. High science room, 15 Peabody tables — plastic top — 24" x 54" at $388.20, and 30 Eureka chairs with book racks at $206.10. The motion carried.

It was moved by Mr. Heslip, and seconded by Mr. Taylor that the Superintendent be authorized to deposit $75,000 of building and site fund money into 4% Saving Certificates. The motion carried.

It was moved by Mr. Fried and seconded by Mr. Heslip that the board pay the Tax Anticipation Note of $55,000 plus $827.83 interest. The motion carried.

Mr. Culbert read a letter from the Novi Teachers Association requesting a change in the date of Spring vacation.

It was moved by Mr. Heslip, and seconded by Mr. Taylor to extend the school Easter vacation to include the Thursday and Friday before Easter and Easter Monday. The motion carried.

It was moved by Mr. Taylor and seconded by Mr. Heslip that the board share one-half the cost of constructing a fence between the Lynn property and the School property not to exceed $340. The motion carried.

Mr. Dean, chairman of the Citizen Committee of Finance, presented to the board the Final Report of this committee. The report indicated a need to raise $73,000. The Finance Committee suggested a millage increase in order to raise the needed money.

The board president extended thanks to Mr. Dean and his committee for the work done on this report.

The superintendent handed out question and answer sheets to everyone present. These pertained to the suggested millage increase and reasons why an increase was necessary at this time. There were questions and comments from the floor.

The president of the board called for a short recess.

When the meeting resumed, discussion was again opened to the public for their comments on the proposed millage increase.

Resolution offered by Mr. MacBride, and supported by Mr. Fried that the board hold a Special Election on Monday, April 16, for the purpose of raising 6 mills for 5 years. The resolution was passed unanimously. A copy of the resolution is on file in the Superintendent's office.

Mr. Heslip commented on his reason for voting "yes" on the millage resolution. He said he still feels it is up to the citizens of the district to decide what they want in their schools. Mr. Taylor stated this was also his feelings.

It was moved by Mr. Taylor, and seconded by Mr. Heslip that the bills be paid as presented. The motion carried. The bills are as follows:

General fund bills: $5,201.24; Building and site fund bills: $621.52; Lunch fund bills: $1,423.51.

Recess was called.

The meeting was called to order. Mr. Lloyd George read a policy regarding religious matters for the Novi Community Schools. The "Citizens' group" sponsoring this policy asked that the board adopt this as the official religious policy of the school district.

Rev. Arnold Cook then spoke on the group giving his views on why such a policy is needed in our school system.

Recess was called.

When the meeting reconvened Mr. Emory Jacques cited cases from several states where classroom prayer of Bible reading were held not to be unconstitutional.

Several members of the assembly group gave their opinions and made comments on the handling of religious matters in the Novi School.

It was moved by Mr. Heslip, and seconded by Mr. Taylor that the board adopt the Policy Regarding Religious Matters that has been presented.

Mr. MacBride offered two amendments to the motion. Mr. Fried seconded these amendments. The motion on the amendments passed.

Dr. Ambinder expressed the opinion that this policy might not be constitutional. Dr. Ambinder was interrupted while making his remarks and therefore, recessed the meeting until the group quieted down and the meeting could be conducted in an orderly manner.

When the meeting came to order again, Dr. Ambinder continued his remarks on the religious policy.

The board then voted on Mr. Heslip's motion, including the two amendments. The motion carried. Mr. Fried, Mr. Taylor, Mr. Heslip, and Mr. MacBride voting "aye" and Dr. Ambinder voting "nay".

The policy adopted was as follows:

POLICY REGARDING RELIGIOUS MATTERS

The Novi Public Schools are operated for the benefit of all the children of school age in the district, regardless of race or creed.

Students in the public schools are members of families that differ widely in their religious beliefs. Accordingly, the public schools may not properly attempt to indoctrinate students in the tenets of any particular religion. The responsibility for any such indoctrination lies with each individual family.

In spite of the foregoing, virtually all of the members of the community acknowledge and worship one God. The existence of that God and prayer to Him have traditionally been recognized in the public schools through the observance of weekly holiday and the annual Thanksgiving holiday and by the singing of songs, such as "America the Beautiful", "America", and "God Bless America".

The holidays of Christmas and Easter may be observed in the schools and the music, decorations, and symbols commonly associated with these holidays may be used.

Students of the school district who desire to observe recognized religious holidays, or church specified religious exercises, other than those mentioned above, may be excused for the purpose on request, without penalty.

Teachers may offer non-sectarian prayers in the classroom or at meals.

Teachers may explain the significance of the holidays of various religions to their students in order to expand the knowledge and understanding of the student body, but at no time shall such discussions be compulsory for any student or employee.

Mr. Jack Anglin presented petitions asking for the resignation of Dr. Ambinder. Mr. Anglin asked the Superintendent to hold the petitions for one week at which time he would take them back.

The meeting was adjourned at 12:20 a.m.

SPEAKING for the Record

by Bill Sliger

Where does a family, struck by sudden tragedy, turn for immediate help?

Councilwoman Beatrice Carlson posed this question for the city council Monday night after fire had driven two families from their home at 334 Yerkes Sunday.

Mrs. Carlson is chairman of the local Red Cross chapter. As such she was called for assistance.

"I had always thought that Red Cross emergency help required a disaster involving four families or more," she explained. Therefore, she turned the appeal over to the Kings Daughters.

"Apparently there was more to be done than they could handle properly. At any rate I checked further and found out that Red Cross does provide help. It's called 'one family burn out' assistance," Councilwoman Carlson continued.

"In the meantime, I'm afraid the Red Cross was unfairly criticized because I didn't know about this emergency plan," she explained.

Mrs. Carlson has been an active leader of local Red Cross affairs for eight years and is quick to defend the service of the organization.

She reports that a Red Cross home service representative was scheduled to visit the families this week. Money, clothes, rent and replacement of furniture are available under such circumstances, she said. Meanwhile, neighbors have provided shelter and food, while the Kings Daughters have helped clothe the families.

But Councilwoman Carlson's original question remains unanswered. What local agency does one call for emergency help — particularly if it happens to be Sunday?

A letter from the world-touring Sydney Frids (he's Northville's representative on the Oakland county board of supervisors) arrived from Bombay, India.

According to Sid, they haven't seen anyone "we like better than Northville."

In England they almost froze without central heating (an electric blanket saved the day); in Port Said machine-gun-bearing police swarmed all about while people live on the sidewalks in poverty and filth; then a 100-mile-long trip through the Suez Canal: next Karachi with cows, goats, water buffaloes as well as people in the streets — "they pull teeth and fit false teeth right on the sidewalk."

Next stop, Hong Kong.

Harold Hartley, Jr. is a fine photographer and turns in an excellent job as our darkroom technician. But his talents as a mechanic are questionable.

He's probably driving the only Triumph on the road that starts by pulling down the turn signal lever — the result of a "few minor adjustments" made by Hartley to the electrical system.

Weight Scales For Customers?

Consumer protection is a primary responsibility of the weights and measures division of the State Department of Agriculture.

The past calendar year was a busy one for the state unit when a number of short weight outbreaks were noted in concentrated inspections of grocery stores.

In all, the department reported only 646 convictions for law violations. Some 248, or 38 percent of these violations of weight and standards laws, were for short weight or short measure.

The number of convictions, however, do not clearly depict the department inspection activities. In reweighing or checking quantity, 171,020 packages were checked during the year and 39,740 were found to contain less than the quantity listed.

Many of these short-weight disclosures were corrected by the 305 seizures of the items, the department said.

Additionally, a total of 1,336 seizures or "stop sales" orders were placed on more than 10 million pounds of commodities which did not conform to the law.

Gov. John B. Swainson called for legislation this year to bone up the laws relating to weights and standards but ran headlong into a problem: enforcement.

Department officials pointed out that present laws could stand tightening, but even currently the major problem is the difficulty of using 40 inspectors and seven supervisors to check the estimated 75,000 establishments which come under the laws.

The Governor then called for legislation to help make every shopper an inspector, a bill which would require retail meat stores to provide a scale for the consumer to check weight. A first attempt to pass the measure failed in the Senate, but Sen. Raymond D. Dzendzel, D-Detroit, hoped to gain support for the proposal later in the session.

Trouble on the highways across the nation fails to lend itself to the uniform S.O.S. distress signal used on lakes and waterways.

A uniform distress signal has been adopted, however, for use on freeways where getting out of a car to signal for help could cause additional trouble.

Weather permitting, the American Association of State Highway Officials advises motorists who need help on a freeway system to raise their car hoods and tie a white cloth to the door handle closer to passing traffic.

Under no circumstances should a motorist walk on a freeway. This makes him vulnerable to accidents or might cause a driver to swerve suddenly, the Association reports.

If the trouble occurs at night, motorists should have their tail lights and interior lights on in addition to raising the car hood. A turn light should also be left on so passing drivers won't mistake the vehicle location for the through traffic lane.

If a disabled vehicle blocks any part of a traffic lane, other warning devices, flares, flashing lights, lanterns or reflectors, should also be used to warn oncoming traffic.

Parental pressure on youth preparing for college can be a deterrent to success in full utilization of the youth's own aims, the Michigan Education Association says.

Theoretically, there may be one perfect college for each child, but the Association warns that parents who emphasize the importance of gaining entrance to "the school" can cause unintended problems.

"While your child is waiting for acceptance by a college, help him realize that his success does not depend upon admission to any one college," the professional organization advises.

"No matter where he goes, he's likely to find more books than he can read in four years, more equipment than he can master, and teachers who will be wiser than he is even when he is a senior."

The association advises parents to remember that regardless of enrollment pressures at a given institution, "somewhere in the nation there is still space in an accredited college for every qualified high school graduate."

How healthy are you? The answer may surprise you, according to the State Health Department.

A recent sampling of Michigan's population told the department that nearly two of every five persons in the state between the ages of 21 and 70 need to see their doctor.

In a testing of some 639 persons, the department measures height, weight and blood pressure and tested the blood and urine. Some 249 of the persons showed some abnormality and 124 were referred to their physician.

The results showed little difference between the sexes. About 40 per cent of the men and 39 per cent of the women exhibited some irregularity.

Most prevalent abnormality was disproportionate height-weight measurements. Abnormal blood pressure of high levels of sugar in the blood or urine were also found in many of the persons who considered themselves in perfect health.

Ideas That Paid Dividends

Babson Park, Mass., So many young people seem to feel that it is necessary to have some capital or a college degree or an important relative in order to start a business of their own. This week I wish to write about some acquaintances who started with only an idea; but who, with persistence, made a great success.

My first job was with George Horace Lorimer, editor of the Saturday Evening Post. He told me that Mr. Cyrus Curtis paid $10,000 for the Post, but could raise only $100 as down payment.

I saw its circulation grow to over 6,000,000 copies, and — including the Ladies' Home Journal — the Curtis Publishing Company stock sold for over $100,000,000.

Among the important people Mr. Lorimer sent me to interview was Thomas A. Edison. Mr. Edison told me that he had only five years of schooling and only $100 of capital when he started in business. With the help of Sydney Z. Mitchell and my cousins he built America's great electrical industry, based on the incandescent light, the phonograph, the storage battery, etc., which Mr. Edison invented.

All these came from ideas, as neither Mr. Edison nor my Chicago cousins had any money.

I remember interviewing John Deere, who founded the farm machinery business when it seemed impossible to interest any farmers in machinery. I also interviewed Henry Ward Jones, of the Johns-Manville Company.

He became interested, in asbestos, believing that it had a great future as a building material. Clarence Birdseye, founder of the great frozen food industry, was a personal friend of mine — a Gloucester boy, and later one of the trustees of the Gravity Research Foundation in which I am much interested.

He asked me to buy some of his stock, but I didn't; later he sold out to General Foods for over $20,000,000. If I had bought his stock at $100 per share, I could have got $100,000 for each share.

Bill Walker of Thermos Bottle fame, and Elisha Otis, who with no capital and after many failures, founded the Otis Elevator Company, taught me lessons. I remember the Walter Baker story — how his family started their famous chocolate business in the kitchens at Dorchester, Mass., Charles Good-year's idea of vulcanizing rubber was a similar "kitchen" illustration. Their only assets were a new idea and the persistence to develop it.

My father kept a drygoods store in Gloucester, Mass. Manufacturing and engineering did not interest him, though I was an MIT graduate. He urged me to go into merchandising; he would tell me the story of Rowland Macy, who started his great retail venture with a little "thread and needle" shop. Today, 175,000 shoppers a day visit Macy's in New York!

His new idea consisted of elaborate window displays and original advertising, always marking the price of goods in the window and in the advertisements. The other drygoods merchants thought this was undignified and would have nothing to do with it.

The Henry Ford Story

Mr. Ford himself told me that he was seven years in raising $100,000 after making his first Ford car. He had only one idea, but he stuck to it, without education or capital.

However, those who invested $100 in the first Ford Motor Company stock ultimately were able to take out $1,000,000 for each $100 they invested, — all from an idea and perseverance.

Opposite my father's drygoods store was a "Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea" store. My father would tell me about George Hartford, who opened the first A & P. His one idea was to cut out the middleman. He went to the wharf, where the ships from China came in, and bought his tea. Then he took it to New York in a horse and cart and sold it at retail, proving it was fresher and cheaper than any tea that could be bought elsewhere.

From this one idea the company now operates over 4300 stores and employs 145,000 clerks, grossing over $5,000,000,000 from tea and groceries annually.

I could tell of Mr. Patterson and his wooden cash register; Whitcomb Judson and his "crazy" zipper; Mr. Borden, who made condensed milk; Mr. Gillette and his razor; and that humble pharmacist of Atlanta, Ga., who started the Coca-Cola Co.

I ought to mention Minute Maid and the frozen juice products, and John M. Fox, who last year left this company to become Vice President in charge of sales for United Fruit and "do for bananas what he had done for oranges!"

Tots at the Table

Dear Dr. Mudd:

How do you get children to eat properly at the table? All four of ours are like little savages. I can't do a thing with them, although I keep at them an awful lot.

In fact, I feel badly because I do. I don't think I should have to ride herd on them all the time. Manners at the table aren't the only thing, but to me it's the most important.

It reflects the home environment and I don't want people to think less of us because of the way the children act at the table.

Mrs. J.E.C.

Dear Mrs. J.E.C.:

Children's table manners! I think in all ages and all times, parents have been startled by the ineffectiveness of their efforts to educate the young in the proper ways of eating.

Children know their hands much better than they know knives, forks, and spoons, and far prefer to use the former to the latter. Besides, using silverware requires a degree of dexterity which is relatively late in developing. Hands, you must agree, are so much more convenient! So one can't blame children for resisting their parents' effort to eat properly all the time, you can manage it, but the cost and effort is exceedingly great and hardly worth the effort since almost everyone knows that in time, the child will come to perform at table admirably.

Indeed, it is often a marvel to parents that their children, whose manners they describe as "monstrous" at home, when they have the occasion to be a guest in some friend's house, inexplicably become polished little citizens of the world. So you see, the efforts to teach, persuade, and cajole the child into adopting the modes of civilization as his own are not entirely without effect.

I suspect that you are much more tolerant of your children's behavior than you believe. They know how much they can get away with at home. Can you blame them if they take advantage of it?

MASS PRODUCTION IS FINE for some things—but never for our service. What do we mean? Simply this: we try to run our business to provide the best possible service we can—for each individual customer.

It's a policy that makes for telephone service you can rightfully depend on, whether you're calling the decorator, the doctor, or the District Attorney. So, while it's true we handle hundreds of thousands of calls every day of the year, you can be sure the one you're going to make next will—as always—get the same careful attention that's become a Michigan Bell tradition.

THESE TWO TELEPHONES may look alike, but they aren't. One is a private line and the other is a party line telephone, and there's quite a difference. A private line telephone is always ready for you to use. And friends can reach you when they want you. And though it may seem hard to believe, in town a private line costs only pennies a day, more than a party line does. It's a down-to-earth blessing of a down-to-earth cost. If you live in town and now have party line service, why not call us about getting a private line telephone soon?

PASSING THE BUCK usually refers to letting "George" do something nobody else wants to do. But that's a far cry from the reason why your telephone company arranges with others to accept payments for phone bills. Since many people like to pay bills in person, we had to find a way of making this possible at a reasonable cost. So, at no extra cost to you, we've arranged for several conveniently located banks and other businesses to accept payments for us. It all helps keep your phone bills low, while making sure you get the service you want.
