

School Boards Meet To Solve $ Problems

The Northville and Novi school boards were slated to meet together last night (Wednesday) to discuss possible means of Novi paying its tuition bill for high school students sent to Northville.

The $74,000 bill was due in March, and earlier this month the Northville board passed a resolution demanding immediate payment of the bill. The resolution also threatened that if Novi could not show satisfactory proof of ability to pay next year's tuition — expected to top $87,000 — Northville would not accept the Novi students.

After last week's 601-389 vote defeating a proposed six mill increase in Novi school taxes, the Northville board reaffirmed its earlier resolution.

Immediate payment of most of the $74,000 bill has been arranged by the Novi board. The board is expecting a $45,000 prepayment of state aid funds owed Novi for this year. It plans to add $15,000 left in the bank after payment of April bills, and the $10,000 regular April state aid payment, making it possible to pay Northville $70,000.

The board plans to pay the remaining $4,000 next month from a $68,000 loan approved this week by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission.

The Novi board had counted on the six mill levy that was rejected last week as the proof Novi would be able to meet next year's tuition bill. Since the vote, the board has been searching for means to raise additional operating funds for next year.

One possibility, suggested by Novi's bonding attorney, is use of the $83,000 building and site fund to pay principal or maturing bonds, allowing the board to cut the special tax levy for payment of the bond principal and interest.

The board could conceivably obtain voter approval of a voted increase in operating millage if it promised to reduce the special tax now levied for the bonded debts, thereby reducing the total tax increase to be shouldered by the taxpayers.

While the maximum reduction possible in the special debt tax would amount to about two mills, the school board would probably have to seek a voted operational increase of more than that to have a balanced budget next year without making curriculum cuts.

Novi is operating this year with a budget deficit of $28,300,000, and Superintendent Tom Culbert has come up with a budget proposal for next year that would mean a $52,000 deficit if revenues are not increased.

State Hospital Plans Open House Sunday

Northville State Hospital is noting its tenth year in 1962.

During these ten years, the hospital has recorded an admission of new patients totaling 3,700.

In recognition of its decade and National Mental Health Week patients, volunteers and members of the staff have extended an invitation to all to visit on Open House Sunday, April 29.

Although the entire week is an observance of National Mental Health Week, tours for the general public are scheduled for this Sunday only. These tours will leave the hospital lobby continuously from 1:00 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., with the exhibit area of the hospital open until 5:00 p.m.

The public will have the opportunity to visit not only the wards, but many of the departments in action during these general tours.

With so many changes in the care and treatment of the mentally ill during recent years, visitors will find the different hospital areas and exhibits challenging and informative. Programs also are being planned for one of the auditoriums.

Young people fourteen and over may tour; a nursery will be provided for those who are younger. A snack shop open throughout the afternoon will add to everyone's convenience.

Already over 300 high school students from six different schools have indicated an interest in attending special programs during the week. Service club members are invited to noon luncheons, with a program and a tour following.

"It is hoped that for each of the 2100 patients in Northville State Hospital, we can count an interested citizen in the community visiting and becoming better acquainted with a modern mental hospital," commented Louis J. Schult, director of community relations and chairman of the Mental Health Week program.

Township Gets New Request For Gravel Pit Landfill Permit

Call Public Hearing On Revised Proposal

A proposal — withdrawn just three months ago as a result of public protests — will be submitted to Northville township appeals board members in revised form Monday night for reconsideration.

The issue is a request from Sheldon G. Hayes for permission to fill gravel pit areas with rubbish from the city of Detroit.

But this time Hayes has submitted a plan that has been termed a "trial" and would specifically apply to three pits. He has asked the appeals board to approve operation of a sanitary fill in three areas representing a total of 587,000 cubic yards of fill that would require an estimated six years to complete.

Last winter Hayes' proposal to rehabilitate some 370 acres of gravel pit area between Seven and Eight Mile roads (principally, the Manning & Locklin gravel pits) for development in 12 years into a community of homesites brought strong protests at public hearings.

Although the board of appeals had voted (2-1) to accept the proposal under stipulations of a year-to-year contract, legal counsel for Hayes withdrew the request when residents voiced objections.

At that time critics of the plan retained Attorney Earl Demel to represent them at the public hearing. Protesting petitions were submitted and Demel explained that his clients "did not object to rehabilitation of the gravel pits if the fill would consist of broken concrete, earth and the like," but that they did oppose dumping of rubbish. It was suggested that such approval would result in legal action against the township.

According to Gunnar Stromberg, who heads the three-member appeals board composed of Roy Terrill and John Miller, the township engineering consultants have surveyed the area and consider Hayes' plan feasible.

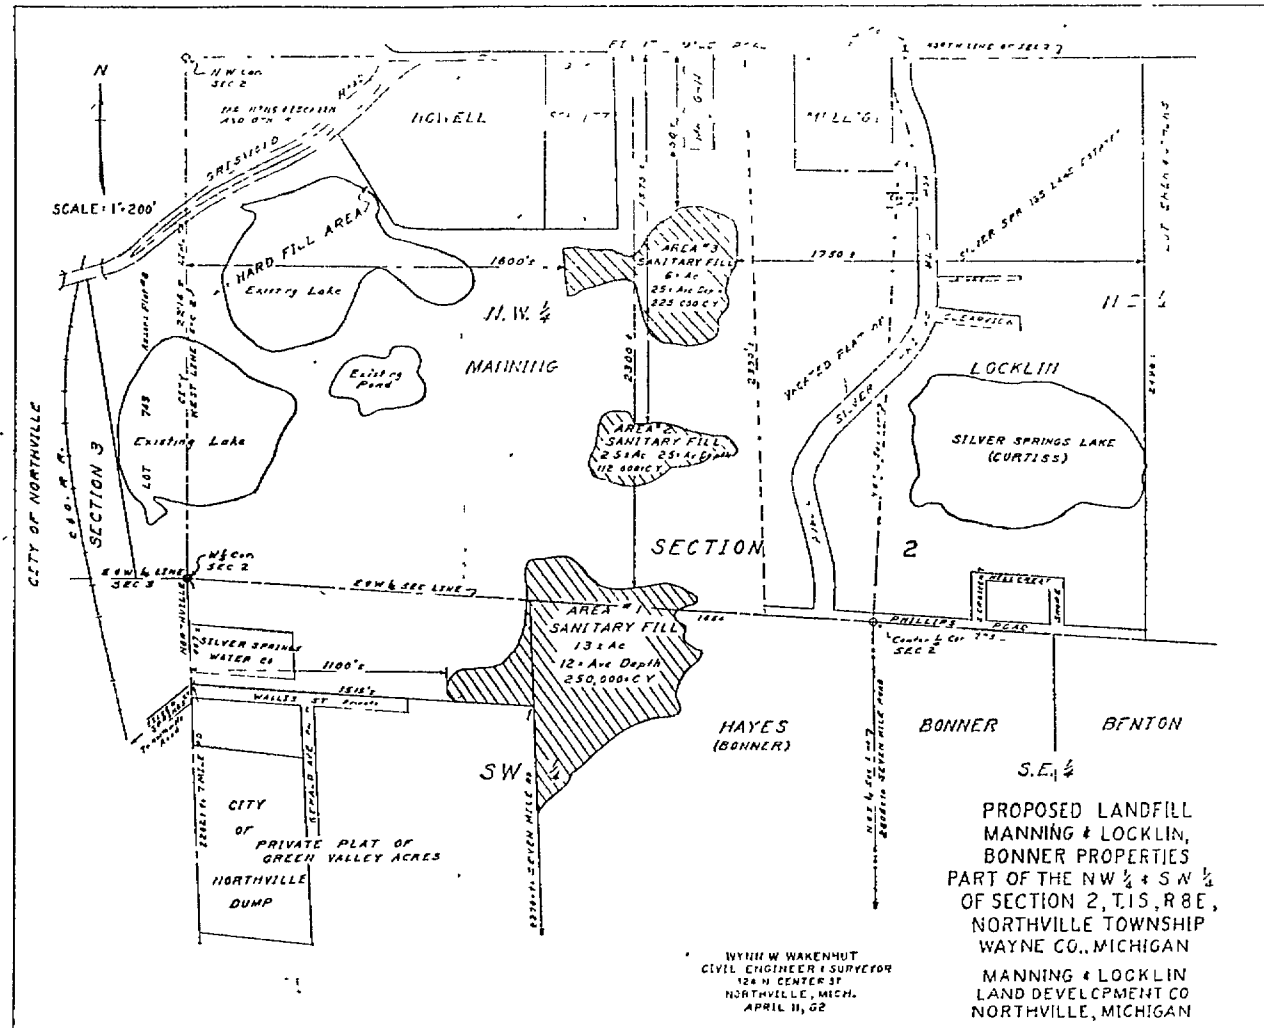

Some of the previous objections to the landfill plan have included fear of pollution to water, presence of rodents and insects and the determination of whether or not such filled areas would provide stable foundation for building.

Stromberg believes these problems have been answered. An advocate of the rehabilitation plan for the gravel pit area from the outset, the appeals board chairman believes modern sanitary fill operation, properly controlled, can be successful. Terrill voted with Stromberg to approve the original request, while Miller voted "no."

Under the new proposal Hayes would fill three separate holes (as indicated on map above). Area number one covers some 13 acres and is located 2200 feet north of Seven Mile road on Bonner and Manning-Locklin property. It would require 250,000 cubic yards of fill.

Area number two covers 2 1/2 acres and would require 112,000 cubic yards of fill. It is directly north, midway between Seven and Eight Mile roads. The third would require 225,000 cubic yards of fill. Both areas two and three average 25 feet in depth, while area one is about 12 feet deep. The third area is some 650 feet from Eight Mile road.

Monday's hearing is scheduled for 8 p.m. at the township hall.

Novi OK's Sewer Project But Northville is Hurdle

Officials of Novi village and township this week adopted resolutions to approve a contract with Oakland county for construction of a sanitary sewer to connect with Wayne county's Middle Rouge Interceptor in Northville.

The proposed sewer will give Novi an estimated 2,900 taps and promises to spark a building boom. Presently the community has no sewer system. Developers have already signed special assessment agreements pledging use of more than 2,000 taps — which provides Novi with a guarantee for its financial obligation.

Total cost of constructing the sewer from 10 Mile road to a point southeast of the city of Northville joining the interceptor is estimated at $1,260,000.

This sum will be raised through sale of the sewer taps. A progressive schedule of sewer tap prices was adopted by the village in December. The schedule provides for a 15-year selling period, with taps costing approximately $435 at the beginning of the period and $785 at the end, the difference going to cover interest costs.

But one important hurdle remains.

Northville city and township officials are fearful that Novi use of the existing sewer line between Northville and Plymouth will tax its capacity. And before the sewer project can get underway Oakland county must sign a contract with Wayne county.

Both Mayor A. M. Allen and Supervisor George Clark have informed Wayne county officials that they would prefer that the new sewer to serve Novi would be extended immediately to join the new arm of the interceptor sewer at Plymouth.

While county officials claim that the line from Northville to Plymouth will handle the Novi capacity, local officials are skeptical. The city of Northville is entitled to sewer capacity in the interceptor system to serve a population of 9,000. The township has credit for some 1,100 taps.

Both Northville officials have expressed no objection to Novi entering the system, but they have pointed out to Wayne county officials that they have an obligation to residents of their community. And less than one year ago both communities had to assume additional obligations for interceptor sewer construction because Detroit area communities had taken all the capacity in the present sewer.

Wayne county officials have assured Northville that no contract will be signed with Oakland county until reviewed by local officials.

Allen and Clark have indicated they would accept delayed construction of the Northville-Plymouth sewer for Novi if an independent engineering firm would survey the present sewer and determine that it is adequate to handle Novi plus Northville's allotted capacity.

Local officials have been told that the contract would be prepared within 30 days.

"I look upon every day to be lost, in which I do not make a new acquaintance."

— Samuel Johnson

THE BOYS love it in Novi, says Louise Kielian, who with her husband, Steve, and sons, John, 5, Tom, 11, and David, 7, (l-r) moved to Novi almost five months ago. Their home is at 41071 McMahon.

Novi newcomers living at 41071 McMahon are the Steve J. Kielians, formerly of Southfield. Before coming to Novi almost five months ago, the Kielians lived a month in Arizona.

They have four sons: David, 7, Tom, 11, John, 5, and Steve, Jr. David and Tom attend classes at Orchard Hills school, while Steve, Jr., a private in the U.S. Army, is stationed in Germany.

Mr. Kielian operates his own bulldozing business. His wife stays busy keeping house.

Causing big excitement around the Kielian household this week was news that the team Tom bowls on had won a trophy which will be awarded Saturday.

St. Mary Guild Meets

St. Mary hospital guild will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Ladywood high school, Newburgh road north of Schoolcraft.

Chairmen and the new board of officers will be introduced and plans discussed for activities in the coming year.

After the general meeting service stripes will be awarded to hospital volunteers. St. Mary guild members who attended the Fifth Annual Workshop of the Southeastern Michigan Division of the American Hospital Association are also scheduled to report on lectures and panels they observed.

Highlights of the evening will be a skit, "The Do's and Don'ts of a Hospital Volunteer", and a white elephant sale to be conducted by the new ways and means committee.

All women who would like to serve the guild are invited to attend the get together. Additional information about the organization and its services can be obtained by calling May Blankenhagen, GA 1-7637.

Red Cross Blood Unit Visit Set

Red Cross volunteers in Northville invite members of all blood group accounts to visit the Red Cross bloodmobile that will be stationed at the First Methodist church Friday, May 11 from 2-5 and 6-8 p.m.

Spearheading the drive for donors is Mrs. C. C. Winter, blood program chairman who lives at 230 North Rogers.

She said those who give can credit their donation to any of the following accounts: an organized blood group, a personal or "self" account, replacement of blood already used by a hospital patient.

Persons with no other blood group affiliation are urged to designate the Northville Community Blood Group account, added Mrs. Winter. They then will be eligible to call on the resources of that account in time of personal emergency, she explained.

Donor cards can be obtained from Mrs. Winter, FI 9-2361, Mrs. A. C. Carlson, FI 9-1330 and the Red Cross Northwest Regional office, GA 4-0220.

Win U-M Scholarships

Regents-Alumni scholarships to the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, have been awarded to two Northville high school seniors, it was announced last week by Dean of Men Walter B. Rea, chairman of the committee on university scholarships.

Selected for stipends are Paul K. Chadwick, 20210 Westview drive, and Dennis G. Gilbert, 43008 Eleven Mile, Novi. Both plan to enter the university's College of Literature, Science and the Arts in the fall. Chadwick is salutatorian of the class of 1962.

While their exact stipends were not revealed, Dean Rea said awards range from an honorary $50 entrance award to a $560 per year grant. Awards continue for the normal length of each student's degree program if his academic record justifies renewal.

Robert G. Yeikes, 20178 Hagerty, is a U-M alumnus who aided the scholarship committee, added Dean Rea.

GOAL: AN ELECTRONIC CLASSROOM — Dads and moms of boys attending Detroit Country Day school are injecting special zeal into their promotion of ticket sales for the May 14 benefit performance of "Trma La Douce" at the Fisher theatre in Detroit. The more tickets sold the closer the parents will be toward paying for a proposed electronic classroom planned for Country Day's foreign language department. Mrs. John Swain (left), who with her husband is taking reservations in the Northville area, confers with Mrs. G. Mardigan (center) and Mrs. John Hatrick (right), ticket chairmen in neighboring communities.

Charter Group Can Buy 'Listening Post' Tickets

In recognition of their early interest in the cultural program, last year's charter subscribers to the Listening Post lecture series sponsored by the American Association of University Women will be able to purchase tickets for the 1962-63 season at a closed sale beginning Tuesday.

The following AAUW members can be called for tickets: Mrs. Robert Beerbower, FI 9-0244, Mrs. Elmer Smith, Mrs. C. B. Levering, Mrs. Robert Messerly and Mrs. W. E. Stinson.

Listening Post will continue its efforts to explore new areas of thought by bringing to its lecture rostrum Dr. F. T. Hadlock, professor of astronomy and electrical engineering at the

Plymouth Chorus to Sing Spring Concert on May 6

On Sunday, May 6, at 4 p.m., the Plymouth civic chorus will present a "Spring Concert" at the Plymouth high school auditorium. The chorus, under the direction of Fred C. Nelson, will perform a wide range of selections including familiar religious numbers, folk songs, show tunes and Negro spirituals.

The Plymouth chorus, whose members are from Plymouth and surrounding communities, departs from tradition this year in its "Spring Concert". For many years it has performed with the Plymouth symphony orchestra and has sung only classical works such as Handel's "Messiah" and Haydn's "Creation". This year, however, it promises perhaps more appeal with its broad variety of selections, which includes a medley from "The Sound of Music" and the well known "Holy City", made famous by Fred Waring's "Pennsylvanians".

The Plymouth civic band will also perform several numbers and the concert will be concluded with the band accompanying the chorus in the stirring "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

State Police Warn

Child Molesting Starts Seasonal Rise Soon

Since child molestation complaints increase at this time of the year, parents should strongly warn their children against accepting lures of strangers to go for walks or rides, says Sgt.
Adolph Ploehn, commanding officer of the Detroit post of the Michigan State Police.

This cautionary advice, given now and occasionally repeated, might prevent some child from suffering an experience which could blight his or her life and even result in injury or death, he emphasizes.

Records of previous years show that child molesting complaints begin to increase in the spring, reach a peak during the summer months, and taper off when schools resume.

"Warn your children to have nothing to do with strangers.
That's the safest rule for them to follow," Sgt. Ploehn advises.
"Urge them to tell you right away if any stranger approaches and tries to lure them with candy or other things to go for walks or rides."

In 1961 there were 593 sex offense complaints, which investigated by the State Police. This was 12, or two per cent, more than in the previous

Children should be assured that policemen are friends who want to help and protect them.
They should be encouraged to notify police of any strangers loitering around playgrounds, schools, public rest rooms or in the neighborhood.

CANDY FOR MAYOR — One of the first boxes of candy sold by the Wivom CAP squadron went to Mayor Wesley McAtee. Cadet Joe Madigan is the salesgirl. Proceeds from the sale will be used to help finance the squadron's trip to summer camp. A Northville CAP unit is being delayed until adult advisors can be found.

Seek Adult Leader For Northville CAP

The second meeting of Northville area residents interested in having Civil Air Patrol establish a unit here was held at the American Legion hall last Thursday.

The history of CAP origin and growth was explained and a film showing Civil Air Patrol cadets touring Europe as part of a summer activity was shown. S. N. Domingue, CAP Major, was in charge of the program.

The prospective cadets and parents present at the meeting wanted to know if they could join the Walled Lake or Wixom squadrons, which Major Domingue commands, if the Northville unit did not materialize and get the full benefits of CAP.

"With this kind of spirit the Northville unit cannot fail, but as yet we have not had any response from a local resident who might be trained to assume command of the new unit," Major Domingue stated.

Prospective cadets started off by selling about 200 boxes of candy last week-end to help finance summer camp. "And they have only made two meetings.

Enthusiasm like this needs encouraging, so let's hear some of the adults in this area who are interested in aviation and youth work that can be trained to take over the Northville squadron of CAP," Major Domingue urged.

Meetings for the Northville squadron are held every Thursday evening at 7 p.m. in the American Legion Hall in Northville.

In Justice Court

Dejmar Rose, 46150 Neeson, convicted of reckless driving by Northville Justice Charles McDonald in court action last week, was fined $50 and $25
cost and sentenced to 10 days in the Detroit House of Correction. He was also assessed $5 for failing to have a valid operator's license.

Rose was taken into custody
by a Northville police officer who observed him speeding north on South Main. The officer said the defendant narrowly missed striking two cars parked at the spring. The car, he added, strayed onto the curb a number of times.

The dry granules of this preventive can be effectively applied right up to the two-

1-inch high). So safe to use, it can be applied on flower and shrub beds. In

New Golf Facility To Open in Salem

Organization of a new area country club got underway this week as letters were mailed to golf enthusiasts in the vicinity of Northville, Plymouth, Livonia and South Lyon.

The new club is called Salem Country Club and is located on Six Mile at Currie road.

George Schmehan, a Plymouth attorney, is heading the non-profit corporation organization drive.

Salem Country Club was constructed with the golfer in mind. Designed by W. Bruce Mathews, nationally known golf course architect, it was built by Hiram Godwin and Sons, well known area sod farmers. Laid out on a 160-acre site

Golfers Lose First Match

Northville linksmen took a lunking in their season opener Tuesday afternoon as Milford's five under parers beat them by 15 strokes to 212-227.

Individual Milford duffers shot 40, 42, 42 and 48, while Northville players blew through the nine holes with scores of 42, 44, 46, 47 and 48.

Dave Zielinski led the Mustang squad with the 42, while Bill Kleckner had 44, Bill Weidner 46, Tom Slattery 47 and Ed Beard 48.

"Only Zielinski shot a normal nine," Coach Al Jones commented. "The others were way off par."

Jones said Slattery, usually one of Northville's top golfers, suffered the worst game of his competitive career. He added that the other players were several strokes over their usual games.

Downs Clarkston 6-2

Ball Club Makes it Four Straight

Northville picked up its fourth straight ball diamond victory Monday afternoon when the Mustangs battered a solid Clarkston club with a series of extra-base hits to score six runs, while giving up only two.

Coach Stan Galonka sent his three-man pitching team to the mound to hold Clarkston to six useless hits, while sluggers Jim Anderson and Joe Hay kicked in a pair of four baggers to open the Mustang home run season.

Tom Swiss held on for three and two-thirds innings, giving up only two walks. But he loaded the bases in the fourth inning, and Dan Brown took over to end the threat.

Brown contributed his second strike-out in the fifth inning, and Eric Peterson added two during the last two innings.

The Mustang batters connected only six times, but they were well sprinkled with multi-base hits, allowing the scores.

Anderson also tripled, and Bell doubled, while Steve and Jim Judy each connected for singles.

Last week the Mustangs traveled to Clarenceville for their third win, also scoring six runs.

Clarenceville's nine had the honor of racking up the first (and their only) run against Northville. The local club's first two opponents went home hitless.

Brown went for four and a third innings against Clarenceville, giving up only one walk while striking out seven. Peterson finished the game, allowing only two more walks and adding two strike-outs.

Swiss, who saw action on third base against Clarenceville, boosted his batting average by clubbing for three singles. Roy Rice tripled for his first hit of the season, and Jeff Crawford and the two pitchers each picked up singles.

Galonka, noting the strong hitting Monday, said the team's batting average is near .300.

He added that pitching and fielding have both been well carried out so far this season.

The Mustangs have committed only three errors so far, and have given up only six hits and three runs. They have scored 27 runs of their own.

Northville was slated to play host to Bloomfield Hills yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon, and will travel to West Bloomfield on Monday. The junior varsity ball squad opens its season today at Walled Lake.

Northville Netters Set 5-0 Patterns

Northville tennis players got their season off to a flying start last week when they swooped through five of their first six meets with perfect 5-0 scores.

Only flaw to appear on the thus far short season score card is a grim loss to St. Stephens last Saturday, when Mustang netters could only take two matches, leaving three for their opponents.

The defeat Saturday was doubly hard to take because part of St. Stephens' net crew also were members of the Hornet track squad that pulled ahead to win over the Northville thin-clads Saturday.

But the Mustangs bounced back this week to shut out Clarkston with a 5-0 match score. Other teams to go down to similar Northville scores were Holly, m-the opener, Milford and Southfield.

Net Coach Keith Krause said after the first loss that team captain Tom Long and Dikran Ornekian were the only Mustangs who played as well as they could. They are the only Northville netters to go undefeated thus far this season.

The Mustangs travel to Clarenceville today (Thursday) for what Krause said he expects to

Hay Makes College Club

Dave Hay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hay, 401 North Rogers, was among players named to this year's baseball team at Central College, Pella, Iowa.

Hay, who played outfield for Northville "high," was selected as an outfielder at Central. He is a freshman.

LET'S TALK CARS...

CONTRACTS AND THE LAW

It has always surprised me how otherwise sensible people, who wouldn't cross a busy street blindfolded, or sign a blank check in a business deal, won't hesitate to endorse an uncompleted contract when they're buying a car.

Fortunately, in most cases where this occurs due to a shortage of time or some other cause in the sales transaction, no harm results because the dealer is an honest and reputable businessman. But it is a bad practice. The buyer should know exactly what he is buying, on what terms, and in writing which he should understand before he signs.

Out-of-town buyers who THOUGHT they were buying on such-and-such finance terms, or specific optional equipment, are the usual victims of misrepresentation of this sort. In most cases they didn't receive a completed contract until weeks after they had taken delivery of their car and their first finance payment was due.

Reputable dealers frequently lose sales by honestly stating the monthly terms, only to have an unscrupulous competitor verbally underbid them with figures that bear no resemblance to those later filled in on the contract.

If you buy your car from John Mach we want you to fully understand all of the terms of your sales agreement. It is just plain good sense for you to know exactly what, and on what terms, your hard-earned money is buying.

Thinclads Drop Their Second Meet to St. Stephens, 62-47

Northville Mustang thinclads tasted their second defeat last Saturday, but it was by no means as bitter as the first.

Northville took the mile and 880 yard events, while their opponents grabbed off the 440 and 100 yard dash. The Mustangs led the way in the 880 relays, but had to eat dust on the mile relay.

In field events, Northville picked up points by capturing the shotput and pole vault honors, but St. Stephens came back to win in the broad and high jumps.

St. Stephens took first and second in the high and low hurdles, usually a strong Northville event. Star Mustang hurdler Dick Bathey was out of town for the meet.

Yesterday (Wednesday) the Mustangs were entered in a triangular meet at Milford with Milford and West Bloomfield. And Friday they travel to Oak Park.

Track Coach Paul Mack said Mustang times have been improving since Romulus' 113-4 humiliation in the season opener the previous week. He added that with Bathey back in the line-up this week and the Mustangs limbered up a little more, he's expecting a better showing.

Bears Getting Up After Big Sleep

Mama bears and their cubs are getting thawed out of the long winter sleep and the whole family is plenty hungry, says Prof. Warren Chase, chairman of The University of Michigan Department of Wildlife Management.

"They won't have an easy time either because food is scarce this time of year. Fortunately, they make use of all kinds of food, including animal remains from the deer hunting season, highway kills, and carrion of any kind," says Chase. "The greater number of dead deer due to starvation will no doubt help them some in getting started this spring."

"The mother bear dens up in late November or early December and gives birth, in January in alternate years, to one or two (rarely three) cubs. These usually weigh from nine to 12 ounces each."

"The mother bear will stay with her cubs until they are weaned in August. The cubs may, and often do, stay with her when she is in hibernation the following winter."

"Bears once roamed all over Michigan. Now they are found only in those parts of Michigan where we have forests. They keep to rough terrain and poor soil regions away from human population. From past experience, the bear has learned not to trust people and this well-placed stand-offishness is one of the first lessons Mama Bear cuffs into her wayward

Man Receives Assault Charge

Northville police have served a felonious assault warrant on a Plymouth man accused of beating a Northville resident with a tire iron.

The victim, Fred Mitchell, 19355 Fry road, suffered a fracture of his left arm that required surgery at St. Mary hospital, Livonia.

Charged in the warrant issued by the Wayne county Prosecutor's office is Vic Norwood, of 14331 Northville road. Norwood is being held by state police in the Wayne County jail on suspicion of breaking and entering at night.

He reportedly struck Mitchell several times across the left arm with a tire iron as Mitchell sat in his car talking to a friend in another car. The assault occurred near the bridge on Seven Mile east of Hines drive.

Police Chief Eugene King said action by local authorities would have to wait until Norwood appears in circuit court on the breaking and entering charge.

U. S. 16 To Lose Its Title

One of Michigan's best-known highway route numbers — US-16 — will be removed from the Detroit-to-Muskegon highway by the end of the year, the State Highway Department reports.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said the route markers will be taken down late this fall when the final section of the new Detroit-Muskegon Freeway is opened to traffic.

At that time, US-16 will no longer exist in Michigan.

The Detroit-Muskegon Freeway is known as Interstate 96 between Detroit and Grand Rapids and Interstate 196 from Grand Rapids to Muskegon.

The final gap of the 180-mile freeway — between Brighton and Lansing — is scheduled to be opened to traffic by late November.

Highways between Detroit and Lake Michigan via Lansing and Grand Rapids have had the number "16" ever since the State Highway Department began numbering routes in 1920.

From 1920 to 1926, the route number was known as State Trunk Line 16 and extended from Detroit to Grand Haven. The US route numbering system went into effect in 1926 and it was one of the few Michigan highways that kept its original number.

The western terminus of US-16 in Michigan was shifted from Grand Haven to Muskegon in the early 1930's.

US-16 stretches from Detroit to Worland, Wyoming, a distance of 1,413 miles.

Children Need Sleep

Longer stretches of daylight and warmer weather bring increased physical activity for children of all ages. This may deprive some of them of the sleep and rest they need for good health and growth. Dr. Joseph G. Molner, County Health Commissioner, reminds parents.

Children differ widely in their individual requirement of sleep. The child from the ages of one to six may need from 12 to 14 hours a day. If he plays hard and eats well, but always rebels at a mid-day nap, he may be one of the few who do not require it.

One important rule is to see to it that a school child goes to bed early enough to awaken naturally and easily in the morning. During periods of rapid growth, which may happen before the teens in girls, more rest and sleep are necessary. Many energetic children need some quiet and relaxation to keep them from being overstimulated. For young children old familiar stories are more relaxing than new exciting ones.

In discussing the difficulty of having children turn off radio and television programs, Dr. Molner reminds parents that teenagers feel less frustrated when they have a voice in working out plans to get sufficient sleep. But the last word must remain with parents where the young person's health is concerned.

Sleep is the most important factor in restoring energy. Adults, as well as children, need sufficient sleep to awake refreshed and help reduce tension. Most adults require eight hours, although requirements may vary. If it takes the combined effort of an alarm clock and repeated calls to get you awake, then you should get more hours in bed.

Law Day Is May 1

The observance — held on the same day communist nations hold their May day celebrations — is aimed at furthering the understanding of the U.S.'s national heritage of freedom under law.

Civil War Veteran

Salem Recalls John Lewis

When the taps sounded over his flag-covered casket 20 years ago, a page in Salem township's colorful history was closed.

But the family of John Lewis lives on to recall that page to day.

John Lewis was born in Mt. Pleasant, Ohio in 1845. His mother, a former slave, and his father, a coal miner, grew up in Virginia years before President Lincoln issued his famous Emancipation Proclamation.

Little is known about his parents, except for sketchy accounts in the memories of their grandchildren, five of whom are still living — four in Salem. Mrs. Lewis reportedly was set free by her "white master" shortly before his death. Mr. Lewis, who was not a slave, worked in the Virginia coal mines.

Whether they married in Virginia or in Ohio is unknown by the Lewis survivors. And although the Lewis grandchildren cannot be sure, they suspect that their grandparents fled to Ohio to escape enslavement during the period that slavery was reaching a boiling point in United States history.

According to records kept by the family, Lewis and his parents fled Ohio shortly before the Civil War "because kidnapers were roaming the Ohio territory waiting to seize Negro youths and carry them into the deep south and sell them." Lewis was 14 at the time.

What happened next is cloudy, a patchwork of memory, conflicting newspaper accounts and some sound guesses. Apparently, the Lewis family followed the route of the famous "Underground Railroad". Their flight took them north to Michigan, in or near Salem, on to Detroit and then across the river to Canada.

The Salem area, particularly that part of the township near Northville, was a prominent stopover for Negroes fleeing from the South, according to early newspaper accounts. Runaway slaves were hidden in barns in the vicinity, and, according to one account, in Northville's old Ambler building.

About two years after the family's move to Canada, Lewis "ran away from home" and returned to Michigan, where at the age of 17 or 18, he enlisted in Pontiac's first Negro division during the Civil War.

An official scroll owned by the Lewis family shows that he enlisted on August 23, 1864 as a private — a three-year enlistment — with Company "G", 102nd Regiment, Volunteer Infantry. He and his Union comrades saw action at a dozen or more historic battlefields, including the capture of Charleston, South Carolina.

Although the scroll fails to mention it, a newspaper clipping states he also fought at Gettysburg. Still another clipping quotes him as serving for a time as a drummer boy. His grandsons "doubt" this, claim, however, even though the Lewis family still treasures a Civil War drum.

Another uncertainty in the history of this Civil War veteran is whether or not he married before or after he entered the service. Whatever the case, he and his wife, a Pennsylvania Dutch woman, lived for a time in Canada and later moved to this vicinity.

At one time they lived in South Lyon. Later they moved to Salem, where he became a stone mason. The old homestead, once a blacksmith shop, still is the home of two sons, Victor and Roy. Two other sons, Raymond and Frank, also live in Salem.

A daughter, one of four, lives in Detroit.

John Lewis was one of the last two Civil War veterans in the Detroit area before his death and for that reason the center of many colorful military assemblies in Detroit. Upon his death at 96, he was living with a daughter in the Motor City.

His funeral, conducted from the Salem Federated Church, drew hundreds of people from this area. Rev. Mrs. Cora M. Pennell of South Lyon conducted the service, which included complete military rites. He was buried at the Thayer cemetery.

Except for a very few, all of the Negro families now living in Salem are related to this man who played an important role in the township's early history.

RECALLS PAST—Frank Lewis of Salem is shown above holding a scroll which traces the war record of his father during the Civil War. The elder Lewis, who died nearly 20 years ago, was one of the last surviving Union soldiers in the metropolitan Detroit area.

How divine guidance aids man in his efforts to make spiritual progress will be brought out Sunday at Christian Science church services.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Probation After Death" will include these words of the Psalmist: "As for God, his way is perfect: the word of the Lord is tried: he is a buckler to all those that trust in him. It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect" (Psalm 18).

This citation from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will also be read (p. 324): "The way is straight and narrow, which leads to the understanding that God is the only life. It is a warfare with the flesh, in which we must conquer sin, sickness, and death, either here or hereafter, — certainly before we can reach the goal of Spirit, or life in God."

The After-Math of Easter

Two men, deeply engaged in a conversation about the recent happenings in Jerusalem, walk leisurely along the road to Emmaus. They are joined by a "stranger" whom later, in conversation and in the breaking of bread, they recognize to be Christ — the very one who had been at the center of the events in Jerusalem. It is strange how men can become so engrossed in talking about those things which are so closely related to the Christian religion as to fail to sense the very presence of Christ!

This kind of spiritual blackout makes for divisiveness in the church and an ineffective application of the Gospel of Jesus Christ to the real issues in community life. The glorious truth is that when men see Christ and accept His counsel they move forward with resolute-ness. We catch an insight at this point as we see these men, walking away in questioning wonderment from Jerusalem, suddenly reverse their direction and head back to the city without fear or hesitancy. Their analysis of the change taken place in their own lives is found in this simple statement, "Did not our hearts burn within us while He talked to us on the road, —"

I have no way of knowing how or why Christ joined the company of these two men in their walk along an open country road. But I do know from their own testimony that when they listened to Him and finally recognized Him (accepted Him for what He was), they made an about-face! And, instead of cowardly walking away from their uncertainties, they walked trustfully toward them and any eventualities.

Though the resurrection of Christ is vitally important to the salvation of mankind, the fact remains that it is in "the after-math of Easter" that the real meaning of Easter lies. This is true because it is in this continuing period that men make their reaction to the glory of God revealed in the person of Jesus Christ. Easter has no meaning to you — in terms of its intended meaning — until you accept it in the light of its intended meaning.

Again, I do not know what Jesus talked about as He walked with them on the Emmaus road. I only know that they who walked with Him described the effects of their conversation with Him in terms of the "burning" (extreme warming) of their hearts. Where there had been coldness caused by confusion, where there had been insecurity incited by ignorance and, where there had been fear fermented by frustration, there now was clarity of understanding and of commitment. This, because these two had made whole-hearted response to Christ!

As you walk "life's Emmaus road," you, too, will find the real meaning in the after-math of Easter as you find your heart "strangely warmed" by listening to the counsel of His companionship.

Kids have 'Field Day' at J-C Easter Egg Hunt

Hundreds of area youngsters swarmed the Northville high school athletic field Saturday morning in search of prize-containing eggs well hidden by the Easter Bunny (with help from members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce).

Everyone found an egg and all contained candy. To the delight of the children — and amazement of the parents — hundreds of the eggs contained a small note which entitled the bearer to a real, live baby chick.

While Dad and Mom were wondering where and how to keep the new pets, their tots were screaming for joy at the sight of the tiny, yellow chicks.

chicks.

It was a day to remember — for the kids, Dad and Mom, and a tired crew of Jaycees who worked all morning in preparation for the event.

"I Think My Car Needs
A Spring Tune-up"

This is a statement quite often made when people bring their car in our garage at this time of year. Yes... after the winter we have just experienced, your car most likely could stand a Spring Tune-Up. We might also suggest a brake inspection, too. It is true... "you never can be too safe", and brakes that operate properly, are one of the best safety devices on your car. Be sure yours are safe!

Northville city council Monday night paved the way for a facility to replace the recently sold scout building. Meeting with representatives of the scouting movement and the recreation council, the city legislators agreed a new facility must be provided. The council expressed willingness to cooperate on the new building, but held off specific action until some planning has been completed.

Robert Freydl, a lifelong Northville resident and a graduate forester, told the city council Monday night that unless a comprehensive program of tree control is undertaken, the city would lose one of its most precious assets. He volunteered free services to conduct a tree survey of tree conditions.

The Northville board of education Monday night appointed a five-man committee to draw up specifications for facilities needed to equip the new high school athletic field for night football games.

Three and a half hours of discussion resulted in no action Monday night as Novi's planners met with the citizens development committee to discuss the proposed master plan. The planning board nearly made a change on the village thoroughfare plan, but decided at the last minute to hold off any action.

Two Detroit youths found out Saturday afternoon that Novi is not exactly the "wide open spaces." The pair, apprehended by village police for discharging high-powered rifles, said they didn't realize they were near homes. They were shooting in the 13 Mile, Meadowbrook roads area, where earlier this month a bullet crashed through the window of a home and buried itself in a wall. The youths don't know anything about the earlier shooting.

Some 850 Northville school children will be tested early next month for possible exposure to tuberculosis in a major pilot study by the Wayne county health department. All elementary school children — with the permission of their parents — will be given skin tests to determine whether their bodies contain tuberculosis germs.

If opening night was any indication, Northville Downs is in for one of the best years in its history. Despite foggy weather and the earliest start in Michigan racing annals, the Downs' opener last Thursday topped last year's event by a wide margin and barely missed setting an all-time record.

A group of Salem educators and parents visited Northville schools Monday night to help in their decision of whether to merge with Northville or South Lyon. The Salem district presently sends most of its students to either Northville or South Lyon, and plans to close its four-grade school for good this summer, necessitating the merger.

Novi township's week without a building inspector ended Tuesday night when Glen Sallow, Jr. was appointed to the post. Former inspector Cameron Lodge was dismissed as of next month at a meeting last week, but countered the dismissal by resigning the following day.

Northville schools are being wired this week for a public address system that will provide for connections in every room. A turntable, program timer, microphone, F.M. receiver and a two-way system will be included in the set-up.

The annual spring concert, featuring about 60 members of the high school and community bands, will be held next week. Director Leslie G. Lee announced.

Northville village officials Monday night gave tentative approval to a $61,000 budget for next year. The proposed budget now goes before the public as a special hearing before it may be given final approval.

Three witnesses of last week's bold daylight bank robbery in Northville were taken to the FBI offices in Detroit by police Chief Lloyde German for identification of suspects. Federal officers are holding one suspect.

School Superintendent Russell H. Amerman this week announced the appointment of Gerald Harrison to the post of high school principal. Harrison, who holds BA and MA degrees from the University of Michigan, has been on the teaching staffs of several Detroit schools.

Northville health officer Dr. R. M. Atchison this week announced that no more fires will be permitted in the village dump. He said the dump property, loaned to the village, will have to be closed if fires are started there.

A new type of telephone service has been authorized by the Michigan Public Service Commission to meet the expanding calling needs of residential customers throughout the Detroit metropolitan area.

For a set monthly rate of $10.95, the service will enable residential customers of Michigan Bell Telephone Company in Detroit and 79 suburban communities to dial calls throughout the metropolitan area during specified time periods without additional charges.

The service, which applies to dialed calls, will be available to customers on an optional basis. It will be in effect from 6 p.m. to 9 a.m. Monday through Saturday, and all day on Sundays and three holidays — Thanksgiving, Christmas, and New Year's.

The monthly charge will include a private line and unlimited calling privileges any time within each customer's local calling area. The usual charges will apply for additional telephone services, such as extensions.

The new service, known as Metro-Calling Service, will be offered first on May 19 in Birmingham and Southfield. Metro-Calling is modeled after a similar type experimental service that has been under trial in those two communities for the past year.

On May 25, the service will next be offered in Farmington and Plymouth where a different type metropolitan plan also has been tested.

Equipment in telephone offices serving Birmingham, Southfield, Farmington and Plymouth can quickly be adjusted to provide for the new service.

Metro-Calling will be offered later in other suburban communities and in the city of Detroit as soon as possible after Michigan Bell makes necessary equipment changes. The metropolitan area where the service will become available is located generally within a ring extending about 25 miles from downtown Detroit. Customers will be notified by Michigan Bell when the service becomes available in their areas.

Included in the 1,500-square mile metropolitan area are about half the telephones in Michigan.

Metro-Calling Service will be offered in the following telephone exchanges and zones: Auburn Heights, Belleville, Birmingham, Center Line, Commerce, Detroit (all areas), Drayton Plains, Farmington, Flat Rock, Livonia, Mayfair, Mt. Clemens, New Boston, Northville, Plymouth, Pontiac, Rochester, Rockwood, Romulus, Roseville, Royal Oak, Southfield, Trenton, Troy, Utica, Walled Lake, Warren, Wayne and Wyandotte.

Plan Pool Club In Farmington

Plans are now well underway for a new swimming club in Farmington, says Mrs. Audrey Murland, wife of the president of the Farmington Glen Aquatic club.

She said the club, which was formed last November, would boast an olympic size pool, a bath house, a wading pool and a paved parking area that would be flooded in the winter to provide ice skating.

Membership in the club, which will be limited to 300 families, will be on a certificate basis, Mrs. Murland said.

She explained that families from Farmington and the surrounding area may purchase a negotiable membership certificate for $350, and then must pay only $50 in annual dues.

Describing the pool as "L" shaped, Mrs. Murland said it would be 42 feet by 85 feet with a 30-foot square diving well at the foot of the "L." It will feature one- and three-meter diving boards.

She said the wading pool will be separate from the main pool, but will adjoin the bath house, which will double as a warming shelter during winter.

The entire facility will be built on a two-and-a-half-acre wooded area located on Freedom road just west of Farmington road.

Mrs. Murland said the pool will be heated, making it possible to have a Memorial Day opening and an October first closing. She said the pool would be open on week-ends until school is out, after which it will be open from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. every day.

BUILDING BURNS — A deserted building, once a Gerald avenue home, burned to the ground Friday afternoon when high winds carried a grass fire to it. Northville volunteer firemen fought both the grass fire and the burning of the deserted building, but could not prevent the building's destruction. The firemen also battled four other grass fires over the week-end. The only other one on Friday was a small grass fire at Six Mile and Haggerty roads. On Saturday, the fire department was called out for three grass fires. Most destructive of Saturday's fires was near Curtis lake, south of Eight Mile road, where nearly 30 acres were burned over Saturday evening. This was one of the largest fires suffered in the Northville area so far this year. Saturday morning a grass fire along Northville road burned a several-blocks-long area near Seven Mile road. The fire burned over grass and weeds on the railroad embankment. Saturday afternoon fire burned off grass and small bushes in the area of Meadowbrook and Seven Mile roads. The fire department has been given a brief breathing spell since the busy week-end. No fires have been reported since the 30-acres were burned late Saturday afternoon and evening. Novi firemen have not been so busy over the week-end. Friday afternoon they put out a small fire on Eight Mile road, near Novi road, and Sunday they were called for a small fire on Eight Mile road between Novi and Meadowbrook.

SPEAKING for the Record

by Bill Silger

Anne M. Conklin, one of the Northville area's two delegates elected to the Constitutional Convention, talked about her job in Lansing at a meeting sponsored last week by the Northville Optimist club.

Her appearance in Northville came just days after Con-Con delegates had voted 80-41 to ban parimutuel betting in Michigan.

Needless to say, the audience was liberally sprinkled with residents holding more than a casual interest in the future status of racing.

Mrs. Conklin knew this, too. She very neatly kept them waiting by announcing at the outset that "if there are any questions, I'll answer them later." Meanwhile, she said she was "keeping her eye" on a couple of members of the audience. (You could get 5-1 at any mutual window that she was referring to John Carlo, executive manager of Northville Downs, and Dr. L. W. Snow, president of the Driving Club).

Mrs. Conklin was accompanied by James Sterrett, a delegate from the Detroit area who substituted for Weldon O. Yeager. The latter, scheduled to appear as Northville's other elected representative, had to chairman an evening meeting.

The two delegates, both Republicans, did a good job of describing the activities of Con-Con. It was easy to tell that they have been living with this subject of constitutional revision. They enjoyed talking about it — like a boy who had just seen his first big league ball game. And they expressed a conviction that the new constitution would pass — whether it reaches the voters in November or April — because of the enthusiasm that will be carried home by the delegates.

Specifically, Mrs. Conklin and Sterrett pointed to these developments likely to win final support for adoption:

— expansion of the state board of education from three to eight members with state superintendent appointed instead of elected;

— expansion of the state supreme court from eight to nine members, all elected (appointments by the governor to fill vacancies would be eliminated and retired judges would be recalled to serve until the next election); although judges would be nominated by party officials, they would not need party convention approval to run for re-election; this represents a compromise effort to remove politics from high court selection;

— retain the voting age of 21;

— increase the state's borrowing power from $250,000 to $60 million;

— forbid the graduated income tax, but leave door open for flat rate income tax;

— four year terms for all elected state officials (governor, senators, etc.) except state representatives, which would remain at two years;

— a reapportionment plan that would place more emphasis on representation by population, increasing the Senate by four seats, and providing for reapportionment every 10 years by a bi-partisan committee (the Northville-Plymouth-Livonia-Redford 21st district would have three representatives in the House instead of one, for example);

— elimination of spring elections;

— greater emphasis on state authority versus federal control.

Both Delegates Conklin and Sterrett emphasized the importance of judging the finished document in its entirety, rather than evaluating its worth on one or two points with which you may not agree.

Passage of every detail in the new constitution has been a matter of compromise between delegates representing every corner of the state and, naturally, interests are wide-spread, they noted.

For final inclusion as a part of the proposed new constitution each article must be voted upon three times and carry by a majority of 73 votes.

Currently, the convention is conducting its second readings. Conclusion is expected next month. It remains a legal question whether the new constitution can be placed on the November ballot or must wait until April.

Oh yes — the parimutuel ban. Just as Mrs. Conklin predicted, the question was asked.

"I wouldn't worry about it," said Mrs. Conklin, but this didn't seem to remove the wrinkles from the brows of Carlo and Dr. Snow.

Then she explained.

The proposal came up as a surprise and had never been discussed previously. Advocates of legalized lotteries (bingo) had sought to make this a part of the constitution. Failing, they decided to introduce a bill that would make lotteries—and parimutuel betting — illegal.

Aware of the maneuver, and not wishing to waste time in long debate, the majority of the delegates voted "yes"—to the complete surprise of the authors of the bill.

Mrs. Conklin gave two reasons why this measure would live a short life. Initially, she does not believe that the drafters of the constitution will throw out $8 million in tax revenues.

Secondly, and what seems most logical and important to this writer, such a proposal has no place in a state constitution. It is a matter for the legislature to determine.

The odds are 2-1 that the provision won't pass the second reading.

Coal for Shelters

Babson Park, Mass., I do not expect a nuclear war unless one starts by accident. I do expect the cold war to last for some time, during which time fallout shelters will be constantly discussed. It is not expected that such "shelters" would protect us if our city or one nearby should be bombed.

But a properly constructed shelter should protect from the "fallout" accompanying nuclear war, when some — not all — of our large cities would be destroyed.

Stocking Shelters

It is one thing to build a shelter; but another thing to stock it properly with food and the many other articles needed to make it livable for two or more weeks. For details, send to the Department of Defense, Office of Civil Defense, Washington 25, D.C. — or check with your local Civil Defense officials.

At best, only a few of my readers will build shelters. Therefore, I wish to write this week about what the rest of us will do. Here is some good advice.

I am urging my family and friends to seriously consider how much we all owe to electricity — our lights, oil burner, refrigerator, and often our cooking and other conveniences. Yet, whether or not we have a shelter, we would have no electricity if a nuclear war should start.

Furthermore, those of us who would be compelled by law to remain indoors until the federal signal allowed us to go out should have enough food and water to care for our necessary requirements.

Driven Well

Our first expenditure should be for a driven well, to give an independent water supply. This would need a modern double-action hand pump to pump up the water. This pump should be located in the cellar, as near as possible to the "water table" level.

Readers Speak:

Fly Flag May 1st

As spokesman for Northville Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4012, I urge all home owners and places of business to fly the flag on Loyalty Day, May 1.

It was to combat the infiltration of the Communist evil in this country that Loyalty Day was born, created at the demand of thousands of VFW members who made their voices heard in the high places of our Government. Since July 18, 1958, when President Dwight D. Eisenhower affirmed his signature to the measure that officially proclaimed May 1 of each year as Loyalty Day, this day has belonged to all Americans.

It signifies that we stand steadfast in support of those principles that we hold most dear — freedom, patriotism and pride in our country.

Loyalty Day should be observed by everyone. Show your affection for our system of government by cooperating in making it an outstanding occasion in your community. Let's set aside this one day to re-dedicate ourselves to the ideals of Americanism and show the world what it means to be a citizen of the United States of America.

Budget - Cutting Bill Unpopular

State government spending causes a controversy every year without exception.

Every year, also, there are cries to "plug up the spending end of the money barrel and we may not have to add new taxes at the other end."

A proposal which gained little note this year was designed to plug the spending hole in the barrel. It was proposed informally by Sen. Lynn O. Francis, a Republican from Midland, but made little impact, perhaps because of timing.

Francis "cut the budget" for his "tried to get attention for the 'cut the budget' proposals at the same time a bitter partisan fight on taxes was in the works.

The Midland Senator gave his colleagues suggestions of ways to reduce the state spending by a maximum of $131 million.

Francis said he was serious about all his proposals, although some suggestions drew remarks that he was going to a lot of trouble to be sarcastic.

Ideas which might rate serious consideration in the future involve about $5 million in savings, but budget-writers feel every "little bit" helps.

A $1 million saving could be realized if bookkeeping and accounting systems were improved, Francis said. There are now about 21 separate computer systems in state government for bookkeeping. The Senator said reduction of this to three systems could do the same job more economically.

An "emergency appropriations commission" within the Legislature, has received a $100,000 "appropriation" each year, but has had no expenditures in the last three years. Dropping this, as Francis recommends, would result only in a "paper saving," however, because this budget item has not been used.

Another $85,000 saving could be accomplished, according to Francis, if the functions of the Civil Defense Department were taken over by existing police agencies. Gov. John B. Swanson also recommended this action.

A 10 per cent increase in college and university fees would result in a $2.5 million saving to the budget if the revenue from the hike were used for recommended salary increases, Francis said.

Lessened state contributions to various retirement systems; county contributions to support of patients and inmates in mental hospitals and prisons; and elimination of duplicating efforts in public and private agencies also were suggested in the Francis plan.

Michigan Week, the ninth annual "brag week" in the state, will add a new feature this year for the May 20-26 celebration.

In past years, there has been an award for the product which contributed most to making Michigan known throughout the nation.

This year, some community organization will receive an "Achievement of the Year" award.

Organizations of a community nature, serving a town, village, county or larger area, will compete for the prize.

"Many community organizations have made outstanding contributions to the state by undertaking new business or industry or otherwise having advanced or improved the area they serve," said Milton Kendrick, chairman of the awards unit of the Michigan Week planning committees.

"It is this kind of community accomplishment which we will recognize in the new award competition," Kendrick said.

Entries in the new contest will compete in the same way products do. They will be judged on a regional basis, with the 16 final regional winners competing for the state prize.

The ground rules for the new contest are broad. They provide that the achievement need not be entirely accomplished in a single year.

Michigan's service clubs, 1,150 at last count, will play an especially active role in Michigan Week this year. The state lists some 400 Lions clubs, 280 Rotary, 210 Kiwanis, 90 Exchange, 80 Optimist, 20 Civitan, and 35 Soroptimist clubs. There are also five women's service clubs: Zonta and Soroptimist have 20 chapters each; Altrusa has 15; Quota has 12 and Pilot has 5.

Each club was asked by Edwin O. George, a vice president of Detroit Edison and the Week's general chairman, to help find ways to promote the state. He has already received about 30 suggestions which are available to service club chairmen.

Tourist interests are up in arms over a proposal by the President to tax pleasure boats, to provide revenues for development and purchase of national parks and recreation areas.

The proposed tax would cost Michigan residents an estimated $4 million, according to the Federal authorities.

Michigan people are even more concerned about the long-range costs such a tax would impose on the state's economy.

Boat registrations in Michigan were the highest in the nation last year as about 430,000 pleasure craft are owned by state residents.

The money spent by these boat owners, and by those coming into the state to use the many inland lakes and Great Lakes connecting waters, is uncountable, but considerable.

Tourist association officials are fairly certain of one thing, however. Such a tax would cut down the spending by boat owners, in addition to its likely impact of decreasing the number of persons who buy boats.

Sincerely,
Sandor Mudd, M.D.

So I walk out of this doctor's office and here is my husband waiting outside in the car for me. He's as sweet as you could want a man and as innocent as a baby just like nothing has happened. You won't believe it, Doctor, he asks me if I'm feeling any better and what the doctor found wrong and what kind of medicine he gave me.

I learned long ago not to argue so I lied and said the doctor didn't find much wrong and that those stomach pains were just nerves. "Gee," he says, "I'm glad you're O.K. I was pretty worried about you." You see, Dr. Mudd, he's so sweet I just can't be mad at him.

You see how it is? I can't stand him and I'm afraid I couldn't stand it without him.

Then he, my husband that is, got real mad. He asked me if I wanted him to leave and I said "yes." "All right," he said, "this is goodbye" and he stamps out of the room and I even hear the front door as he slams it.

Well, this doctor is real nice and sees how embarrassed I feel so he and the nurse go out. Now the rest of it I got second hand because I was in that room in just a white gown with no back in it and I couldn't leave.

It seems my husband told the doctor's office and called the girl who answered "Tell my wife 'goodbye'." Then the girl examined me unless he left the room.

Still I need advice about what to do.

"Unhappy"

Dear Unhappy:

Your letter is eloquent and descriptive of some of the goings-on in families of which neighbors and acquaintances are often unaware.

You have been living with this situation for many years and trying to make a hazardous undertaking. Apparently you were once accepting of your husband's behavior, but have, over the years, become less enthusiastic and less tolerant just as, he, for his part, has gradually found that he could go further with his extraordinary activities than at first he believed possible. The two of you supplement each other.

You are at first the offended and then the forgiving one while he plays the part of the bad little boy who, with jam on his face, denies any wrongdoing. I even wonder if perhaps your letter doesn't express a certain amount of satisfaction — all things taken into consideration. I have no advice to offer other than to suggest that you consider with a great deal of care how your life might be if you do leave your husband as you seem to, offer as a suggested solution.

You are no longer young and it is not an easy time to make major changes so late in life. From what you tell me your husband is not a well man but I doubt he could profit from seeing a psychiatrist since he himself appears to have no interest or even awareness that all is not well with him.

Dr. Mudd

Sincerely,
Sandor Mudd, M.D.
