

Police Crack Down On 'Drag' Racers

Teen-age "draggers" racing have given rise to appeals from local police fearful for the safety of area motorists. But the police were unable to catch dragsters in the actual State Police crack-down — and

CITY HALL

PINNED — Patrolman Christopher F. Flynn (left) gets his badge from Chief Eugene King as the newest member of the Northville police force. Flynn replaces Leonard Mazuchowski, who joined the Washtenaw county sheriff's department. The new officer is 25 years old and recently completed an eight-year tour of duty in the Marine corps. He is married and lives with his wife, Carol Jean, and five-year-old daughter, Deborah Denise, at 100 West Dundas street. Flynn is originally from Troy, New York. Mrs. Flynn is the daughter of John Goss, former Navy recruiter for the Northville area.

Checker Taxi Cab Coming to Town

Checker Cab company is coming to Northville. The well-known, 42-year-old Detroit company will complete details this week purchasing the Northville Cab company from Arthur Meloche. Richard Pittman, vice president of Checker Cab, appeared at the city council Monday night along with Meloche to obtain council approval. The firm, which operates 800 cabs in Detroit, also serves the communities of Redford, Livonia, Farmington and Plymouth. Pittman promised all new metered cabs, 24 hour service and a Northville cab station at 125 West Main street. The council was advised by City Attorney Philip Ogilvie that no provision for transfer of taxi franchise is made in the city charter, but the council could cancel the Northville Cab license and issue a new one to Checker. "I think it's a fine opportunity for Northville to have real ly excellent cab service", Mayor A. M. Allen stated, noting that smaller operators had experienced trouble in Northville. Meloche took over the local company last November after the former operator went out of business. The council voted to meet briefly next Monday night to approve the Checker license. In other business, Monday night the council approved purchase of an insurance policy covering voluntary firemen. The policy provides $5,000 death and dismemberment benefits, $2,500 medical expenses and $40 per week compensation for two years for injuries. The policy was issued through the Bloom agency.

Michigan Week Tickets on Sale

Tickets to the annual Michigan Week "Mayor's Exchange" luncheon scheduled this year on Monday, May 21 went on sale this week. Northville will play host to Mayor and Mrs. John Hammond of North Muskegon. Chairman of the week-long observance is C. Oscar Hammond. The Northville Exchange club will host the luncheon at the First Methodist church. The luncheon is open to the public and tickets are available through the Exchange club, Rotary, Optimist and the Junior Chamber of Commerce as well as at the offices of Manufacturers National Bank and city hall.

because of a highly-organized system of "spotters" used to warn participants of approaching police cars.

State Police Sergeant Adolph Ploehm, assigned to the Redford post, said the youths were so well organized they even had "citizens band" radio so that the "spotters" could give quick warnings that police were in the area.

The two-way radios are available at relatively low cost and do not require the regular hard-to-obtain "ham" licenses of larger transmitter-receiver radio outfits. They have a five-to-seven-mile range for transmission.

Ploehm and Sergeant Robert Vesey, of the Brighton State Police post, point out that their main worry is the danger — not only to motorists but to the participants themselves.

Ploehm pointed to an accident just two weeks ago in Livonia in which two youths were killed during a drag race. He said one driver swerved to the right to avoid hitting a car traveling at a normal pace, and struck a semi trailer truck parked on the side of the road. The young driver's car was loaded with nine teen-agers.

Ploehm said the cars involved on Eight Mile road last week were not the type of all-out dragsters seen on supervised drag strips, but rather were either standard automobiles or near-stock cars that had been only slightly doctored.

Because police were unable to catch dragsters in the act, they had to hand out tickets for only minor violations.

Of eight youths summoned by State Police to appear in Northville justice court, three are from Northville. Others are from Wayne, Farmington, South Lyon and Garden City.

Tickets were issued for violations ranging from reckless driving to illegal parking, and included such things as improper lighting, expired drivers licenses and defective exhaust. Similar cases were also sent to South Lyon justice court.

The police knew about the late-night racing, Ploehm said, because of reports that pavement was being marked off for drag racing distances. He added that there were also a number of complaints from residents along Eight Mile during the racing.

Similar activities took place last year, the State Police officers reported, but this is the first serious incident this year. Ploehm said the youths use about a half dozen roads in the Wayne county area for periodic drag racing. These include Seven Mile road near Whitmore Lake.

Ploehm issued an appeal to youths who are involved in the dragging to form an organization and seek an off-road strip for their activities.

He said he and fellow officers would be willing to help in the organization of a club, and urged persons and area service organizations interested in either joining or helping to contact him at the Redford post. The telephone number is KE 1-4100.

School Board Deadline Saturday

Two deadlines ran out within the coming week for electors in the Northville school district. Saturday, May 12 at 4 p.m. is the last day for candidates seeking the two openings on the school board to file nominating petitions. To date, only incumbents Robert Shafer and William Crump have filed to run. District voters who want to cast ballots in the June 11 election have until 5 p.m. Monday, May 14 to register. Both the city and township offices are taking registrations. Two seats also come up for election on the Novi school board. No petitions have been filed to date. Incumbents A. J. Hieslip and Russell Taylor have not indicated whether they will seek re-election.

Good Bids Lower Paving Assessments

There's good news for property owners on East - High - Elm and Walnut streets.

Thanks to exceptionally low bids received Monday night for paving the four streets, previously announced assessment estimates will be lowered—probably by 25 per cent.

The council heard bids from four companies and awarded the contract to A & A Asphalt company for a bid of $8,816.95.

City Engineer Harold Penn had estimated costs of the project at $13,374. This figure includes engineering and inspection costs which must be added to the contractor's bid. But even at that, the total cost will be reduced at least one-fourth.

The East - High - Elm - Walnut project has been marked by controversy from the outset. The surprise reduction may help soothe the battle scars.

The plan to pave the streets by a 25 percent assessment was defeated earlier this year when petitions from property owners protesting the assessment forced the council to pass the measure by a four-fifths vote. With the council split 3-2 on the issue, it failed to pass.

One week later, however, another petition urged reconsideration. Since then the council has moved swiftly to bring about improvement of the streets.

Monday night the council urged City Manager Bruce Potthoff and Engineer Penn to sign contracts with A & A Asphalt as soon as possible. This should be concluded within 10 days and the company promises 30-day completion of the job from the time of contract signing. It was originally estimated that some 49 property owners would divide a total assessment of $2,575.30. The city's share would have been $10,498.70. Each will now be reduced proportionately.

Blast Warning

Northville area residents take note:

"BB" is due Friday, precisely at noon.

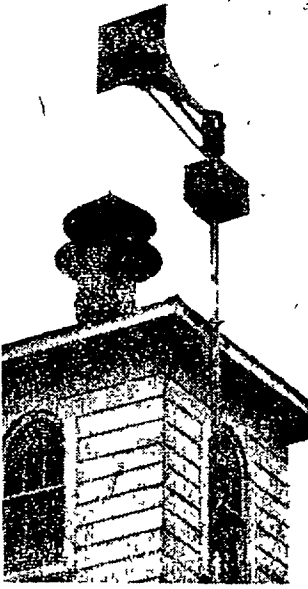

No one knows quite what to expect, but authorities are warning all residents not to become alarmed.

What's "BB"? It's the city's new combination fire and civil defense siren — which is expected to give forth with a "Big Blast" when it is tested for the first time at noon tomorrow.

Police Chief Eugene King announced this week that civil defense officials from Wayne county will conduct the first test. He's not quite sure how many times the siren will blast — or just how loud it will be.

The siren replaces the city's present fire whistle and was purchased through the county civil defense department on a 50-50 basis at a total cost of $4,000. It is reported to have an effective radius of one mile — about four times the volume of the old siren.

Installed last week, the new siren is air driven and rotates horizontally when in operation.

Friday noon the city's new siren will "sound off". The old fire whistle (left) will be removed.

See Court Action On Landfill Plan

Members of the Northville township board of appeals were faced this week with a "yes" or "no" decision on the request from Sheldon G. Hayes for a permit to operate a landfill in township gravel pit areas between Seven and Eight Mile roads.

The board has not met since its April 30 hearing. But Chairman Gunnar Stromberg stated this week that the applicant has asked for a decision. Previously, Hayes' attorney had withdrawn a similar request as a result of public protests.

Hayes now wants a permit to bring rubbish from the city of Detroit into three specific pits involving some 21 acres. He has requested a six-year permit, which must be renewed yearly under terms of a township-drawn contract.

Presumably, Hayes does not intend to withdraw his latest bid for a permit. If the permit is denied, it has been suggested that Hayes may test the case in court. If the permit is granted, legal action against the township and Hayes has already been threatened by opponents of the plan.

In either event, the township seems destined to find its final answer in the courts. Stromberg has indicated that the board wishes to huddle once more with Township Attorney James Littell before voting. In previous voting Stromberg and Roy Terrill have favored issuing the permit. The third member of the board, John Miller, voted "no".

County Refutes Plan to Connect S. Main, Novi Rd.

A plan to provide a new north-south traffic route in the city of Northville was scuttled this week when results of a feasibility study by the Wayne county road commission were revealed.

Conceived by city planners and submitted last February to the county as a possible solution to the city's growing traffic problems, the plan called for extending South Main street northward from a point at Park Place to Novi road north of the Eight Mile road cut-off.

The proposed extension would parallel the C & O railroad.

Councilmen learned Monday night what the county thought of the plan.

In a report signed by Oscar M. Gunderson, county planning and negotiating engineer, the total cost of pavement — not including right-of-way acquisition — was placed at $993,000 for a 24-foot pavement and $1,544,000 for a 48-foot width.

The report stated that such a plan would introduce traffic operational problems at Main street, Baseline road and Novi road. "In view of the foregoing, it is obvious that no justification can be found for the construction", the report concluded.

It held out some hope to city officials concerned over local traffic problems.

"Future road construction for north-south traffic in the Northville area will include the paving of Beck road by the county road commission and the building of Interstate 275 in the vicinity of Haggerty road by the state highway department", the report stated. No dates for these projects were indicated.

City planners and councilmen knew the connection of South Main street and Novi road presented many problems. But congestion at the present intersection of Novi road and the Eight Mile road cut-off plus increased north-south traffic through the city since elimination of the Novi road route to Griswold has created new traffic headaches for local officials.

While the council had no other choice than to accept the county's conclusions, Mayor A. M. Allen noted that it hadn't changed the problem.

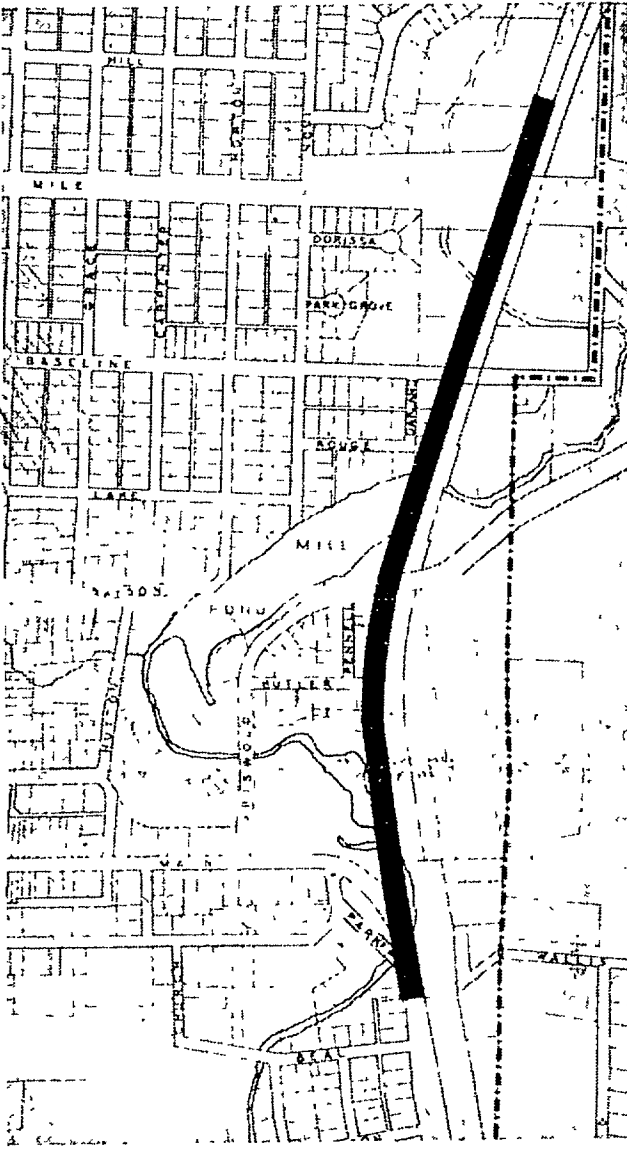

"Paving Beck road or building a new road near Haggerty won't solve our traffic problems. Motorists won't go that far out of their way driving north and south through the city," the mayor stated.

Take School Census Here And in Novi

Census takers will be canvassing homes in the Northville and Novi school districts this month to get their annual count of children from birth through 20 years of age.

Required by state law, the nose count covers all homes in both districts and is part of a statewide census.

George Hill, Mrs. Fred Hart, Mrs. I. Paul Terry and Mrs. Lloyd Moore will be calling on families in the four-county Northville district. A three-member team is in charge of tabulating Novi children.

Novi Road-South Main Street connection ruled out by county.

Water, Sewer Rules Adopted by Township

With an eye towards the day when it will have a water and sewer system the Northville township board has adopted an ordinance to provide for administration of such facilities.

And by mid-summer the board expects to adopt ordinances to provide for establishment of sewer and water lines within the township.

Study of proposed ordinances to provide for creation, maintenance and administration of such systems has been underway for more than a year. Supervisor George Clark appointed Trustees Alex Lawrence and R. D. Merriam to the project. They have worked with the township's consulting engineers and Attorney James Littell in drafting the ordinances.

The initial ordinance (see text page three, section two) provides for appointment of a water and sewer commission and defines and establishes membership, duties and authority of the body. It calls for three members.

Name Allen, Clark To County Posts

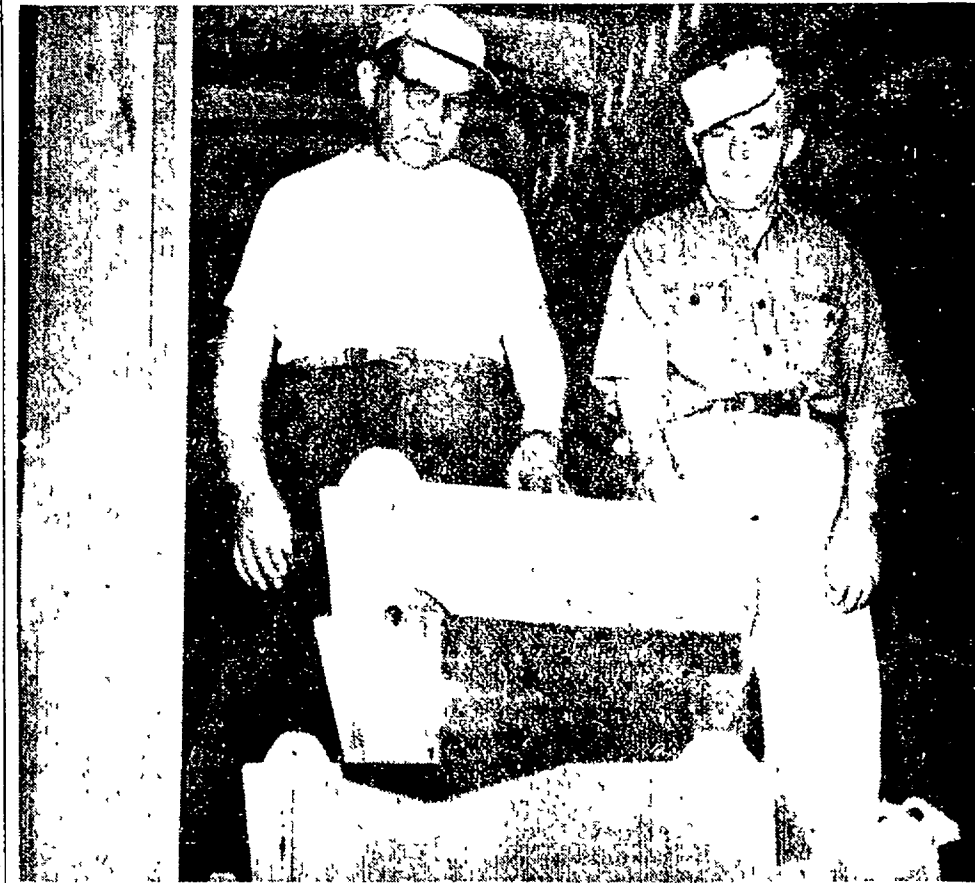

Appointments announced this week by the Wayne county board of supervisors placed Northville's two representatives on the following committees:

Township Supervisor George Clark — chairman, library committee; member, sewage disposal and water supply, and drains committees; Mayor A. M. Allen — member, Wayne County Training school committee and parks and parkways committee.

School Page Coming Up

"Mustang Hoof - Prints", a page of news about activities of Northville high school, will be presented next week as a special feature of The Record. The page — the first of two planned for this school year — will be completely compiled and written by high school students as an extra curricular activity.

Mrs. Anne Ripberger, who teaches English, history and French at the high school, is acting as advisor to the students. Students working on the "Hoof-Prints" staff include Dennis Gilbert, Grace Brinson, Frank Stenberger, Jim Morris, Carol Leavenworth, Brenda Coburn, Shirley Coleman, Robert Galli, Alison Altherton, Don Busch, Ron Rice, Diane Westphal and Dave Cummings.

FLOWER BOXES, made by the Cerebral Vascular Accident Enterprise, Northville's newest business, are on sale in several Northville business places and at Harrowood's Service in Novi. The stroke victims' products are available in Northville at the Northville Hardware, Lila's Flower Shop, Gambles and Enterprise headquarters across Center street from Northville Downs. Jack Miller (left), of Plymouth, and Frank Sasse, of 16121 Sunset, show off a few of the boxes. They also make boxes to order, foot rests for beds and arm rests for wheel chairs.

Methodist Women Travel To Port Huron Conference

Members of Northville First Methodist church's Women's Society of Christian Service (WSSC) played active roles in the 22nd Annual Meeting of the WSSC's Detroit conference at Port Huron May 1.

Highlight of the trip for the Northville delegation was the re-election of one of its members, Mrs. William H. McCallum, to the conference presidency and the election of another, Miss Ethel Cameron, as the conference's Wesleyan Service Guild secretary.

Attending for the Northville society were Mrs. Cansfield, Mrs. Paul Beard, president, Mrs. Paul M. Cargo, Mrs. Merner Eilber, Mrs. Walter Murphy, Mrs. Douglas Bolton, Mrs. Floyd Gregory and Mrs. Ward Schultz.

They served as tellers for the election of officers.

Mrs. William H. McCallum, vice-president of the Women's division of the national WSSC, gave the keynote address on "Frontiers That Call in Latin America". Mrs. McCallum, former Detroit woman who now lives in Columbus, Ohio, has traveled all over the world on the Methodist church's Board of Missions.

all sorts of things

By SHARON MAZANEC

SARAH EMMA Edmonds was a real trooper — trooper like the fella who really gets in here and pitches and trooper in the soldiering sense.

Long before anyone was inspired to organize either the WACs or the WAVes — much less think about taking up arms for women's suffrage — the Michigan woman donned a uniform and went to war.

Granted, she did it surreptitiously — joined the army, that is — nevertheless, the fact remains that she did respond to all those wartime slogans and billboard appeals about Uncle Sam needing you. Or were those of a later, World War II vintage?

Regardless, Sarah answered the call, she fought in the Civil War, shoulder to shoulder, with the stalwarts of the Flint Union Grays, part of the Second Regiment.

And the punchline to this story is that it wasn't until over 20 years after Lincoln had rendered his "Four score and seven years ago" rhetoric that Sarah revealed her identity to the Flint outfit.

There must have been more than a few shocked expressions when the boys "discovered" "Franklin Thompson" actually wasn't one of the boys.

A woman posing as a man — going to battle with men — and never being found out? That was Sarah.

She had gone through the Civil War and kept her sex a secret. Her guise might never have been known if she hadn't decided to apply for a government pension.

Of course, being taken for a man was nothing new for Sarah. The Canadian farm girl had posed as a Bible salesman in Hartford, Connecticut before the war.

She didn't meet her match though, until her hitch with the Flint Union Grays.

She recorded some of her war experiences in two letters that were recently acquired by the University of Michigan Historical Collections.

While the Second Regiment didn't get into the thick of the Battle of Bull Run, it covered the chaotic retreat.

SARAH WROTE: "Officers and men alike confounded, regiment after regiment broke and ran, and almost immediately the panic commenced. Companies of cavalry were drawn up in line across the road with drawn sabers, but all was not sufficient to stop the tide of fugitives. Then came the artillery thundering along, drivers lashing their horses furiously, which greatly added to the panic of the thousands crowded together."

Where was "Frank" in all of this confusion? Caring for the wounded and so absorbed in it that she became separated from her company. She made her way to Washington under cover of darkness to rejoin her regiment.

Later, in 1862, Sarah was appointed army mail carrier. She recalled:

"The floods frequently carried away the Chickahominy bridges and I was more than once obliged to swim my horse across the swift running stream. Thus cold baths in the Chickahominy River fastened chills and fever upon me which eventually drove me from the army."

During the Battle of Fredericksburg, "Frank Thompson" was detailed by Colonel Orlando Poe as an orderly. "He carried messages through showers of shot and shell with a fearlessness that attracted the attention of officers. There was not the shadow of a humbug about the soldiery of Frank Thompson."

She was a real trooper — until April, 1862 when she deserted, spending the rest of the war in woman's clothes nursing the sick in hospitals.

Incidentally, you can tour "The Civil War Scene in Detroit" May 19.

The day-long tour, offered by Wayne State university's Center for Adult Education, the University of Michigan and Eastern Michigan university, has been planned with the Detroit Historical museum.

To find out more about it, phone TEmple 3-1400, Ext. 608 or 371.

Note to the Woman's Club — Christine Parascos, University of Michigan pianist who came here for "An Afternoon With Music" in February, has been awarded the $1,000 Lucy Elliott scholarship by a university alumni committee.

Proposed Clinic Will Aid Area's Disturbed Children

Although it's still a long way off, initial ground-work for a child guidance clinic to serve mentally disturbed children in Western Wayne county was laid down April 26 by a committee headed by Mrs. Crispin Hammond, 47100 Timber lane.

Children from the Northville area will be able to draw on the services of the clinic, which will operate on an out-patient basis.

Watercolor Artist to Open Exhibit at Gallery Sunday

A wizard in the art of watercolor painting, Mrs. Ruby Churchill, of Ann Arbor, comes to Northville Sunday to begin a two-weeks' showing at the Hartley-Powers gallery, 116 East Main.

Mrs. Churchill, who adds a touch of realism to her perspective drawings to achieve a fresh impression of both landscapes and figures, will be featured Sunday afternoon from 2 to 6 at a reception at the gallery.

The artist's penchant for painting and art didn't come to the fore until after she had concentrated on mathematics and physics at Indiana University and the University of Chicago. Before her marriage — her husband is a mathematics professor at the University of Michigan — Mrs. Churchill taught grade school.

After the couple's two children started to school, Mrs. Churchill entered the U-M's School of Architecture and Design. In addition to her instruction there, she attended group classes in painting conducted by several artists.

Once on her way, Mrs. Churchill found a favorable climate for her water colors all over the state. Since May of last year she has shown her works at the Annual Michigan Artists exhibition, Michigan Regional exhibition, Western Michigan exhibition, Scarab Water Color exhibit, Michigan Water Color society, Ann Arbor Art Association Annual and Detroit Society of Women Painters, among others.

"Dabbling in" paints some 30 years now, the artist does the majority of her work in blue and green, her favorite colors.

To Stage "Pirates" May 17, 18

Borrowing from the light operatic literature of Gilbert and Sullivan, the Northville high school music department will present "The Pirates of Penzance" next Thursday and Friday, May 17 and 18 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Some 75 students have parts in the annual spring operetta which is directed by Leslie Lee.

Principal characters and those portraying them include: Major General Stanley, David Lane; Pirate King, James Drew; His Lieutenant, Russell Stevenson and Robert Turnbull; Frederic, James Frisbie; Sergeant of Police, Don Busch; Mabel, Gail Hartner and Linda Polak; Edith, Diane McIsaac and Linda Lane; Kate, Gretchen Schneider and Ginger Bierman; Isabel, Cynthia Hildebrandt; Ruth, Sue Swank and Marcia Clum.

Susan Price and Diane Brasure are accompanists.

Roy Peterson, O.F. Reng and Charles Yahne are making the scenery.

The 27-member steering committee that elected Mrs. Hammond its chairman pro tem was called together by a committee of the Western Wayne Planning division of United Community Services, consisting of Mrs. Hammond, chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Rehkopf, Romulus, and Miss Marjorie Lingenfelter, Livonia.

Studies that help determine how money from the United Foundation Torch Drive will be spent are sponsored by the planning division.

The proposed Western Wayne guidance clinic will be a branch of the Children's Center of Wayne county.

It won't be started overnight, emphasized Mrs. Hammond. It may take years before all the details can be worked out and the clinic opened for patient traffic, she said.

The important thing is that some headway is being made toward a much needed facility, added Mrs. Hammond.

Mental health centers in the county currently have waiting lists of six months to a year.

Relationship of the steering committee to the Children's Center was explained at the April 26 meeting by John Sherf, a member of the board at the center. Bart Berg, well known for his interest in mental health and for having started National Mental Health week several years ago, outlined local responsibilities. General information about the operation of a guidance clinic was furnished by Mrs. Viola Grigg.

As a start, Mrs. Claude Waterman, Northville, Mrs. R. H. Hermanson, Dearborn and Robert Wesley, Inkster, have been charged with preparing by-laws for a permanent organization.

Also serving the steering committee from Northville is Mrs. James Mahoney.

The group is scheduled to meet next on May 17 at the Easter Seal building in Inkster.

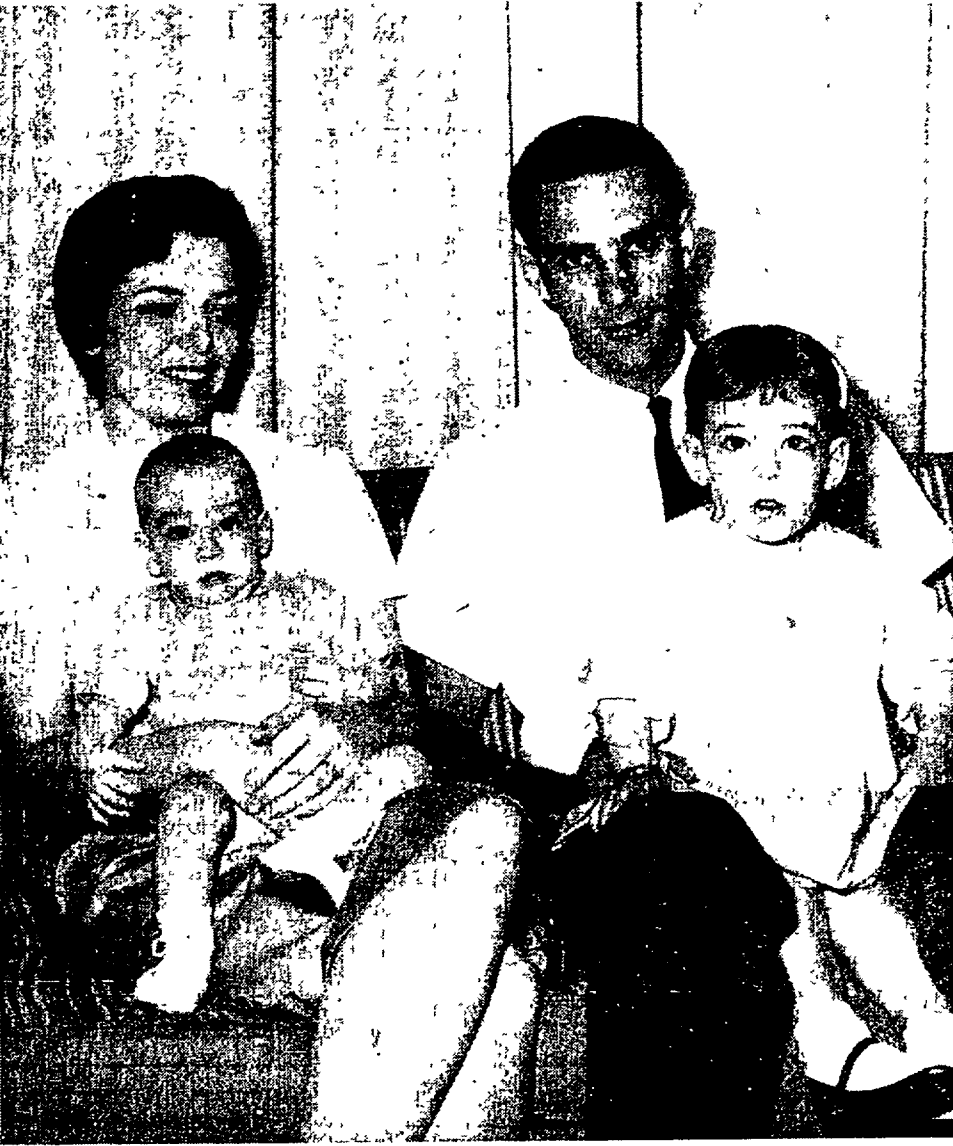

Mrs. Hammond encourages persons interested in this project to contact either her or the United Community Services office in Dearborn, Logan 1-3800.

"Men as well as women, and lay as well as professional people are invited to help," said Mrs. Hammond.

Conference Reports to Top WILPF Agenda Tuesday

Reports of meetings recently attended by branch delegates and a preview of a coming international confab will top the agenda at next Tuesday's meeting of the Northville - Plymouth branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom (WILPF).

Mrs. Cy Frid, 515 Dubuar, will hostess the Tuesday meeting, slated to start at 8 p.m.

Miss Alta Powers and Mrs. C. E. Woodruff will report on their trip to Atlantic City for the annual meeting of the U.S. Section of the WILPF.

National president Dr. Dorothy Hutchinson presided at the session, opening the meeting with a statement on the growing worldwide concern for world order and disarmament, which have been goals of the organization since it was founded in 1915.

Plans were also made for the WILPF's International Congress at San Francisco and Asilomar, California July 7-14. The U. S. Section will be the hostess branch at the California congress, welcoming delegates from 40 countries. Mrs. Woodruff, member of the national board of the U. S. THEY'RE ALIVE — Charles Altman, owner of Northville's Good Time Party Store, is mighty proud of his live lobsters. "You can't get them anywhere else this side of downtown Detroit," boasts Altman. A special temperature-controlled "swimming pool" had to be installed which will hold 100 lobsters. Each weigh about one pound. Altman's become an authority on lobsters — he told the photographer that he was holding a "right handed and left handed" lobster. "You tell the difference by which of their claws is the crushing claw and which is the tearing claw," he explained. Left or right handed, we're happy about Altman's lobsters, too. He advertised them in The Northville Record - Novi News and the response has been (quote) "terrific".

Thank You

To The Editor:

You are to be complimented for the very fine photographic story in last week's issue about our hospital's recent Open House. We are sure that the readers of your newspaper gained a good impression through your outline of some of our facilities here of many of the changes which are occurring in the care of the mentally ill.

The story your newspaper and other newspapers carried prior to this major annual event, for which staff members, volunteers, and patients devote several weeks of preparation, contributed greatly to many new residents in the area viewing our facility for the first time.

Sincerely yours,
Philip N. Brown, M.D.
Medical Superintendent

Statements Were True

To the Editor:

Prior to the recent Novi millage election, some 51 persons, ourselves included, endorsed a letter knowing that it would be mailed to every registered voter in the Novi School district. It is absurd to think that we would do this without sufficient proof that the statements it contained were true.

Yes, that's right, I was just plain whipped as to what to do about our old drab furniture and woodwork until I went to E-Jay Lumber Mart and they showed me "Old Masters Liquid Wood" to create beautiful blond wood finishes without messy removing, tiresome scraping or costly bleaching.

But Downs Holly 11-0

Baseball Club Drops First

Northville Mustang ball players over-ran Holly 11-0 last Thursday to end the first round of the Wayne-Oakland league 160p, but were edged out 4-3 by Milford at the start of the second round Monday.

The defeat, first of the year for the Mustangs, even up Northville-Milford competition at 1-1 for the season, and knocks the local club into a first place tie with Bloomfield Hills, which has lost only to Northville.

Northville jumped to an early lead, scoring all three wins on seven hits in the first three innings. But the Mustangs were unable to continue the early pace, and had only three hits for the rest of the game.

Milford tied the game in the fifth inning, and scored the final run in the last inning when two Northville errors allowed a base runner to advance to a third base scoring position.

N Duffers Win, Lose at Meets

Northville duffers played a pair of multi-entry meets recently, winning over one of three opponents and one of two opponents.

Monday afternoon the Mustang linksmen lost 169-176 to Milford, but stayed ahead of West Bloomfield, which scored 193.

Last Friday in a four-entry meet, they shot 174 to top Clarkston's 196, but lost out to Brighton, at 173, and Bloomfield Hills, at 157.

Northville shot 43, 43, 44, 44 Friday afternoon, and 42, 44, 45, 45 Monday. Bob Hallam led Friday, while Dave Zielinski topped Northville Monday.

Still Seek First Dual Win

Thinclads Lose Two More

Mustang thinclads ran to a second place in a triangular meet last week but ended with a loss in a dual meet Tuesday.

Playing host to Bloomfield Hills this week, the trackmen scored 31½ points while their opponents powered to 67½ to take the meet.

Last Friday the Mustangs scored 41½ points to land in the middle of triangular competition with Clarenceville and West Bloomfield.

Clarenceville led the way Friday with 73 points, while West Bloomfield lagged to a 23½ point score.

The Mustangs so far have won only one triangular meet. They have no dual meet wins, have placed second twice in three-entry competition, and third once.

Long and Ornekian put on perfect performances to win 6-0, 6-0, while Rumble easily took the third singles honors 6-3 and 6-0.

In doubles competition, Grysiwicz and Jiggins walked home with 6-0 and 6-3 set marks. Palmer and Clark were the only Mustangs to have difficulty against Holly. They had to go the distance in a long match to win 8-6, 8-10, 7-5.

Northville was slated to take on Bloomfield Hills Wednesday in a match that has been rescheduled. A match with Ypsilanti Roosevelt slated for last Tuesday had to be rescheduled for the second time.

Lack of sprint power showed up in both the recent Northville efforts. The Mustangs did not place in the 100 and 220 yard dashes in either meet. Although they were also unable to place in the 880 yard relays Tuesday, they did win the mile relay last Friday.

Hurdler Dick Bathey contributed to Northville scoring in several instances, and set a new school record in doing so. Bathey raced to a new 15.5 record in the high hurdles Tuesday.

He also captured first place in the low hurdles this week, and took both highs and lows last Friday. His other scoring included a tie for second in the high jump Friday and for a third Tuesday.

Jerry Biddle took firsts in the shot put in both meets, while Bill Krist placed third Friday and second Tuesday.

Jim Mazel placed in the broad jump for both meets, and Kent Kipfer captured 1st Friday and tied for second Tuesday in the pole vault events.

Kipfer also ran to a second in the 440 Friday and a third this week.

Distanceman Don Biery added points with a first in the 880 Friday and a second Tuesday. Adams placed third in the same event in both meets.

His lack of short-distance strength has bothered track Coach Paul Mack all season. He's been looking to several younger sprinters to quicken their speeds a little — enough to add support to the relatively strong Mustang showings in other events.

"Our basement was hard to heat..."

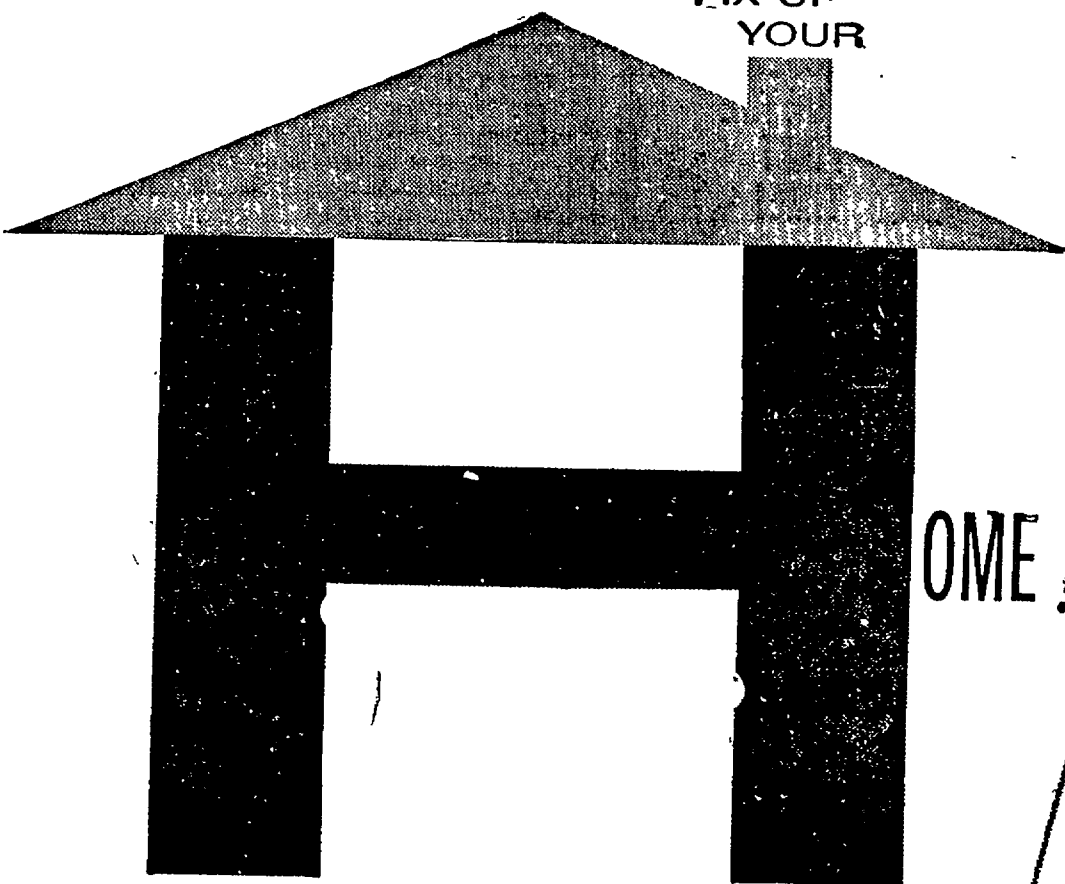

"Electric heat helped us turn a chilly basement into a year-round family room," says Mrs. Horace Johns, of Millington, Mich. "We have electric heat in the second-floor bedrooms and bath, too. Keeps them as warm as the rest of the house—even warmer if we want. We can raise the temperature in any of these rooms without overheating the whole house. One reason we chose electric heat in the first place was because it cost less to install. Now we like the convenience of electric heat so much that, if and when we buy another home, we'll have it throughout."

What about your home? Do you have a hard-to-heat room? Are you adding on a room? Are you buying a new home? Is the heating system in your present home more trouble than it's worth? One of the types of electric heating units shown below may be the answer to your heating problems. One easy way to find out is to ask your electrical contractor. Another is to call your Edison office. We'll be glad to send you a copy of our free booklet "Electric Home Heating" and will answer any questions you may have about the modern, worry-free way to heat your home—electrically.

NotStopping Brings Fine

Leaving the scene of an accident brought a $100 fine for a Detroit man in Novi Justice of the Peace Court last week.

Hubert H. Bell, 72, pleaded not guilty to the charge, but Justice Robert K. Anderson found him guilty and ordered payment of the fine. Bell had lingered at the scene of the accident and then left without reporting his name.

Two men who injured another when he attempted to break-up their fight were ordered to pay $25 fines each on charges of being drunk and disorderly. Raymond W. Kunkle, 48, of Dearborn and Marvin F. Rhea, 50, of Detroit both pleaded guilty and paid the fines.

Harold Walker, a truck driver from Kalamazoo, was ordered to pay $105 after he pleaded guilty to a Michigan Public Services Commission charge of hauling for hire without an MPSC permit.

John M. Wanko, 19, and David B. Borlace, 20, both of Detroit paid $15 fines after pleading guilty to being minors in possession of alcoholic beverages.

Fines of $25 each and sentences of three month's probation were set for Ronald J. Luttman, 19, and David J. Cruickshank, 19, both of Detroit after they pleaded guilty to being minors in possession.

Arnold G. Gornall, 47, of 341 East Main street paid $20 and was placed on one year's probation after he pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly.

MOVING — This huge tree changed sites last week — from Detroit Federal Savings and Loan to the city's Joe Denton Park. The tree was donated to the city jointly by Detroit Federal and Green Ridge Nursery. John Miller, owner of Green Ridge, said he'd like to plant the tree in memory of the late Mayor Claude Ely, who originated Northville's tree preservation program in 1950. Detroit Federal Savings and Loan is construction a new 21-car parking lot next to its building and also adding a new touch around its offices by installing sidewalk planter boxes.

TRIBUTE TO PATRIOTISM — The American flag flew over Our Lady of Victory school for the first time Friday afternoon climaxed an impressive outdoor ceremony that included a Veterans of Foreign Wars color guard and the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and other anthems by an all-school gathering. Eighth grader Michael Williams (left), who delivered a poignantly stirring thank you address for the students, says thanks again to Miss Ruth Knapp, responsible for the school's new flagpole, and C. W. Myers, representing the VFW which donated the flag.

Two Firms Report Thefts

Vandalism at the Foundry Flask Equipment company, 455 East Cady, and larceny of a tire and wheel from the Gib Bergstrom auto dealership, 200 South Main, were reported this week by Northville police.

Chief Eugene King said a pop bottle had been used to damage two panes of glass at Foundry Flask Friday night.

The tire and wheel were taken from a car in Bergstrom's used car lot, King stated.

In justice court Saturday, Conrad Alrick, of Alma, was convicted of reckless driving by Justice Charles McDonald and ordered to pay a $50 fine and $15 cost or spend 10 days in the Detroit House of Correction. Alrick, who had earlier entered a not guilty plea to a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor, took the jail sentence.

A Howell man, Burl Loew, pleaded not guilty to being drunk and disorderly on a public street, but was found guilty by Judge McDonald and penalized $10 and $5 cost or two days at DeHoCo. He chose the jail stay.

How Good Are 30,000 Mile CHASSIS LUBRICATIONS?

One of the many benefits in buying a new car these days, as the auto manufacturers have done a good job of pointing out, is the money you'll save with fewer chassis lubrications.

What has gone unnoticed though is that the new lubricating chemicals that made the extended intervals possible are doing a much better job of reducing wear on chassis joints.

This is a real advance in auto engineering and it is due to a chemical called molybdenum disulphide that is added to the lubricating grease. The "moly" additive, as engineers call it, resists acid and air oxidation and clings tenaciously to metals.

It has improved the lubricating qualities of conventional grease so much that in extensive tests on trucks and buses receiving heavy wear, the "moly" lubricated parts showed one-half the wear of parts greased with conventional lubricants.

To their credit, since it is bound to reduce the sale of lubricants somewhat, much of the "moly" research was done by the major oil companies.

A word of warning is in order though. Moly lubricant in new cars is sealed in a grease up attached to the moving joints of your car's chassis. Rutted roads or hard snow and ice can damage or break them off entirely, leaving the joint without lubrication.

It is wise insurance to have your car checked periodically for grease cup damage, even though new grease is not needed. We'll be happy to perform this service in our garage at no cost to you.

Northville Consumers Power Station Pumps Gas to Thousands

BURNS WELL — The calorimeter, which checks the heat-producing ability of all natural gas coming into Consumers' pumping station, insures high quality products for the customers. Duane Baker of Plymouth takes a reading from the intricate instrument, which is in continuous operation.

MAIN SUPPLY — The large valve Kenneth Evans, 26867 Beck road, is closing shuts off one of the three main natural gas lines coming from the Trunkline Gas company's line in Ohio. The Consumers Power company's pumping station also has two smaller lines feeding it. The Northville station is the only Consumers station which is capable of pumping gas in or out of all its lines. If pressure is down, making it difficult to take accurate readings, one or two of these lines may be shut down to increase flowage in the other line.

Few people probably realize it, but located on the western edge of Northville township is a shiny compound of metal buildings and huge pipes valued at nearly five million dollars.

The quiet installation, of great importance to a good portion of southeastern Michigan, is Consumers Power company's Northville pumping station, which distributes natural gas to most of the suburban area around Detroit.

The history of the plant, which was completed just two years ago, dates back to the early 1950's, when oil was discovered in what came to be called the Northville field.

Oil discovered eight years ago on the Roy LeMaster farm on the west side of Napier road, near Seven Mile, set off a flurry of petroleum prospecting that ultimately led to the founding of the Northville pumping station.

That first LeMaster well was brought in by Mecosta county oilman William C. Taggart in January of 1954, and is still producing. More than 40 wells were drilled during the next year, with only a few of them proving to be of any exploitable value.

But the discovery of oil and natural gas resources interested Consumers in the area, and resulted in the firm's purchase of land on the east side of Napier, just a short distance north of that original LeMaster well.

Oddly enough, however, the Consumers installation has little to do with the Northville petroleum field.

According to Floyd Neff, superintendent of the pumping station, no natural gas from the Northville field is handled through the station.

He pointed out that at the time, Consumers' only pumping station in southern Michigan was located at Freedom, a few miles south of Ann Arbor.

Because Pontiac and the suburban areas around Detroit constitute Consumers' largest customer area, the Freedom station was often unable to maintain sufficient pressure in all its lines, he explained.

Neff, who lives at 266 Harvard street in South Lyon, said the Northville station now handles between 25 and 30 percent of all natural gas distributed in the state by Consumers.

Main source for the local pumping facility is the Trunkline Gas company's main pipeline through Ohio, the superintendent said. He added that all Trunkline gas is handled by the Northville station.

"We pump about 149 million cubic feet of gas a day," Neff said. "During the peak demand day last winter, Consumers provided about 980 million cubic feet, and we handled 230 million of it."

Little gas purification takes place in Northville, Neff said. He explained that the local station filters out moisture and small particles of dirt and then distributes the gas just as it comes from Trunkline.

But Neff was quick to point out that the gas is still of high quality. He said the Michigan public services commission requires all gas sold to provide at least 980 BTU's — British Thermal Units used to determine the amount of heat-producing ability of a fuel.

A quick look at the Northville station's calorimeter—a delicate instrument that continuously measures the BTU's of gas coming into the station — showed that the gas is averaging a rating of 1006 BTU's.

"We just raise the pressure a little and then pump it out," said Neff, glancing at a row of dials outside his office door. By the dials he showed that gas last weekend was coming in at about 500 pounds of pressure and leaving at about 600.

When the gas leaves Northville, it goes either to local customers — which require nearly all of the station's capacity during the coldest periods of winter — or to Consumers' main storage facilities located in Maion, near Cadillac, and Overisel, near Holland.

Neff explained that Consumers has turned its now low-producing wells in Marion and Overisel into huge underground storage tanks by pumping the gas into the wells at a greater pressure than what native gas is left would come out.

Pressure to pump the gas is supplied by four giant compressors, which are powered by 2700 horsepower engines. Two of the engine-compressor systems were installed last fall, doubling the station's previous capacity and making it possible to pump in either direction on any of its lines — the only Consumers station able to do this.

Besides the main gas supply from Trunkline, the Northville station also has connections with Consumers Panhandle Gas company line through South Lyon. The Panhandle line supplies most of the gas Consumers distributes in Michigan.

Natural gas, estimated at between five and six million cubic feet a day, is taken by Consumers from the Northville field, but none of it goes through the pumping station.

Neff explained that the local native gas is piped to the Sheldon road regulator station, where it is fed into distribution lines to local customers.

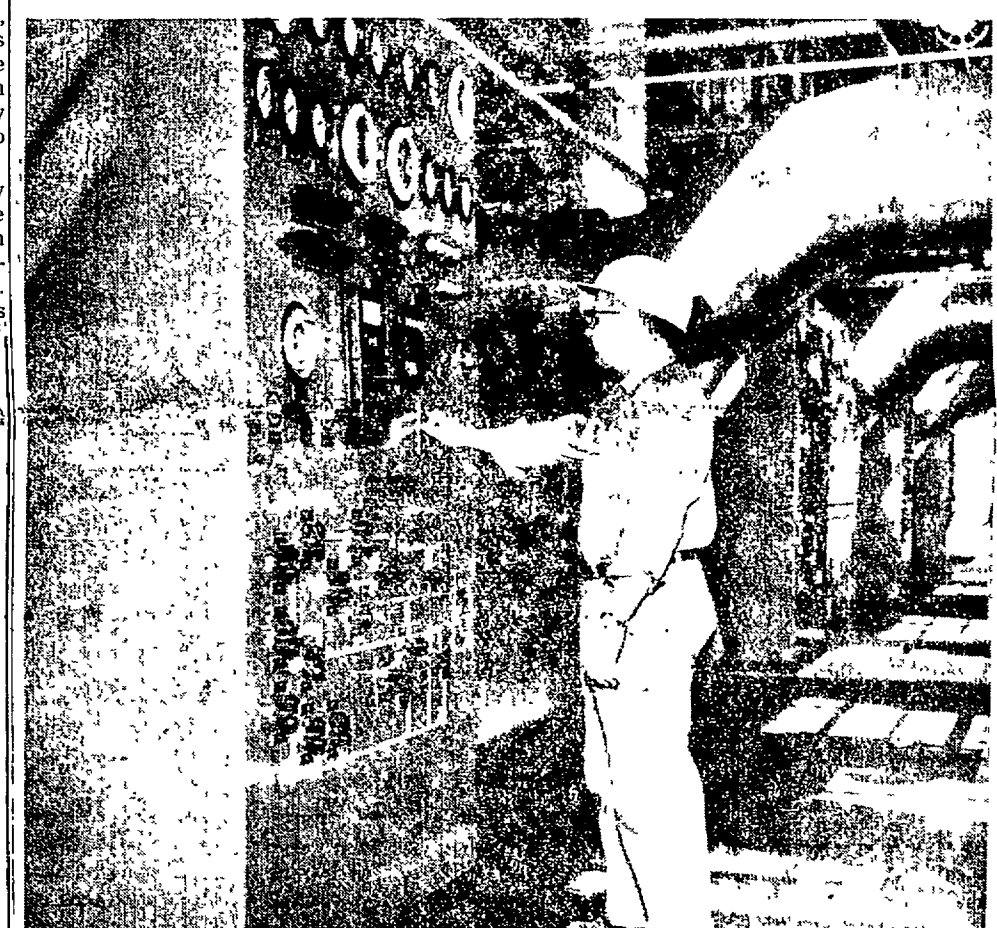

Consumers also draws some oil off the Northville field, Neff said. It is transported away by tanker trucks.

Most of the oil discovered in Northville came from the Niagara and Trenton petroleum formations — the areas where oil deposits collect. Formations which support oil are usually porous layers of rock in which the pores are linked together, making it possible to draw off the deposits with wells from the surface.

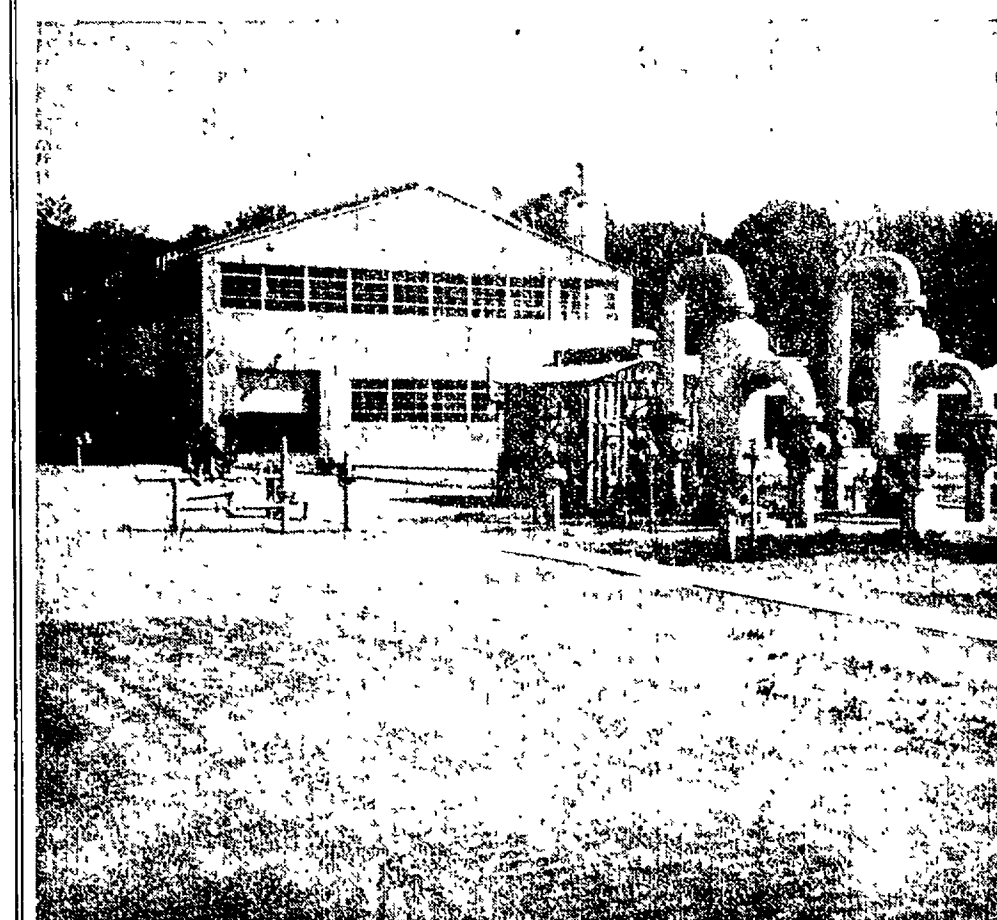

The LeMaster well was the first substantial producer in Michigan to be struck in the Trenton formation. This particular layer is located nearly a mile beneath the surface, and produces most of the oil in Ohio.

SAFETY FIRST — A twist of the wrist and Floyd Neff, pumping station superintendent, could shut down Consumers Power company's Northville station. The valve he's holding closes off incoming and outgoing pipe lines, shuts down the giant engines and compressors, disconnects the main power line and emergency generator and opens a blow-out valve to clear all pipes in the station. All operations except the blow-out require only 15 seconds. The blow-out would be completed within four to five minutes. Consumers has five such emergency stations located in its pumping facility. They would be used in case of a ruptured live, fire or other danger that could cause an explosion.

FIRE ONE — Robert Vibber, 925 Napier road, prepares to start one of the giant engines that drive compressors for Consumers Power company's Northville pumping station. The panel of controls operates the huge 2,700 horsepower engines automatically. Any one of a half-dozen things that could go wrong with one of the engines would automatically shut it off. The engines burn the same natural gas that their compressors pump to thousands of customers. The cost of natural gas fuel constitutes Consumers' largest pumping station expense. To insure unhampered operation, over $35,000 worth of engine parts are kept at the station.

THE HEART of Consumers Power company's natural gas pumping station in western Northville township is this large metal building. It houses the four giant engines which drive the compressors that pump gas to Pontiac and suburban Detroit areas — Consumers' largest customer area. The two tall tanks and pipe lines in front of the building are called "scrubbers". They remove moisture and dust particles from all incoming natural gas. The small building houses delicate instruments that measure the amount of gas going to the compressors.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Arnold B. Cook, Pastor
First Baptist Church of Novi

How's your heart? Physically, the heart is an intricate, vital and delicate organ of the body. It will pump 15 gallons of blood per hour, and make 4,320 strokes in this time. For a person 68 years of age, this means the heart has been working for 25,000 days or 600,000 hours. If you will multiply the 600,000 hours by the number of strokes which it makes in one hour's time you can see how vital the heart is to man's existence.

No less important is the heart spiritually. By this we mean the seat and center of man's soul life, or his spiritual being. Paul referred to the heart in Romans 1:10 "With the heart man believeth unto righteousness." Our Lord stressed the importance of the heart in our spiritual relationship to God when he said in Matthew 18:35 "So likewise shall my heavenly Father do also unto you, if ye from your hearts forgive not everyone his brother their trespasses." Again Paul stressed the importance of heart religion when he spoke in Ephesians 6.6 of "the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart." This heart relationship which gives a man the power of forgiveness, which believes in Jesus Christ unto righteousness, and which does the will of God, is the result of that transaction we call "regeneration" or the "new birth". The condition of the heart is of vital importance for its condition will affect the whole life.

The story is told of a boy who was presented a gold watch by his father. The watch case carried with it a 20-year guarantee. But one day the boy noticed that the watch had become tarnished. He immediately rushed to a jeweler and complained that the watch was "not real gold." The jeweler, with a rag and some chemicals which he had removed the tarnish from the watch and asked, "son, have you by chance been taking medicine containing iron?" When the jeweler said, "Then that is the trouble. This iron has gotten into your system and has come out through the pores of your skin in perspiration and it has caused your watch to tarnish.

This, friend, is exactly the case with the heart. If the heart is bad, then the whole life will be bad too; for the condition of the heart determines the condition of the life. The trouble, then, with the unsaved person is a spiritually diseased heart. Men steal because they are thieves at heart. They curse because their hearts are corrupt. They kill because they are murderers at heart. Impure thoughts, immoral deeds, and all the rest in the category of the corrupt, evidences spiritual heart trouble. Thus, the way to change the life, is to let God change the heart. Jesus is the only Physician who can cure spiritual heart trouble. "The word is nigh thee, even in thy mouth, and in thy heart; that is, the word of faith, which we preach. That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth, the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thy heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved."

Built-Ins Provide Useful Storage Landscaping Increases Home Value

From the standpoint of functional, contemporary design, there should be a place for everything in the home but it ain't necessarily so.

There are so many things that you're likely to need storage place for — new acquisitions that must be accommodated, disorganized stereo components that simply have no place to go, etc.

Here are a few how-to's on the subject of better, more attractive and more practical built-ins which can provide a place for the "place-less."

Built-ins fall generally into three categories: Straight storage, living walls which are sometimes called entertainment walls, and furniture combined with storage.

Units built solely for storage are the easiest for which to plan. The most effective way in which to plan them is to list all household items that need storing, include general sizes and shapes, how they are arranged (side-by-side, vertically, etc.) and the areas of the house where the stored items will be near the point of use.

Balance this against available space in those areas, then combine the elements into the built-ins you need.

Key Storage Areas
 Key areas in which additional storage space might be used are kitchens, bathrooms, laundry and hallways.

In bathrooms, for instance, under-sink space often goes to waste. This area might be enclosed to accommodate linens or cleaning items.

Kitchen storage is often poorly organized, and additional built-ins can usually be incorporated above counters and surface appliances.

The end of a hallway is more often than not wasted. But this valuable space would be suitable for built-ins to hold linens or perhaps infrequently used china and glassware.

Forgotten places such as underneath stairways or beneath attic eaves can also be put to use for storage use and thereby do double duty.

Two-Sided Utility
 In addition to creating distinct activity areas, a partition between living and dining area might house china and such on the dining side and perhaps books on the living room side.

The second built-in category — the living wall — serves as an activity center as well as a wall and its design is limited only by the family's interest.

A wall can be designed with one special activity in mind such as hobbies.

For instance, in a home workshop a wall might be devoted to drawer space, cabinets, racks, etc. to house tools, materials and blueprints for woodcraft projects.

Entertainment walls are self-explanatory and are geared to family interests as well. Such walls may feature television-framing bookshelves, hi-fi or stereo components, vertical storage space for record albums, a pull-down movie screen and a special cabinet to store a movie projector.

The third category of built-ins — furniture-storage combinations — include those items such as banquettes and window seats, bunk beds, snack bars, desks and headboards. Since this type of furniture is usually stationary, special care must be given to planning.

Whether your home planting agenda calls for a few shrubs or complete re-landscaping as part of your home improvement program this spring, it is advised that you follow a basic landscaping plan. For a well-planned property not only reflects the beauty and charm of your house, it provides outdoor living for the family, and increases its real estate value.

Plan with a purpose: trees for shade, screens, or accents or color and form — shrubs and evergreens to enhance the architectural lines of the house. Garden and shrub borders should be planned and not scattered hit or miss about the property, says the American Association of Nurserymen.

Conform to Design
 For instance, in planting around the contemporary house with its long low lines, keep planting under long picture windows low and conform to the lines of the house by using low material such as ground covers.

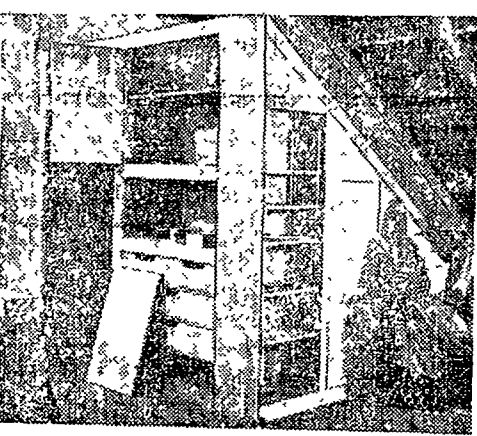

To add height and softness, place a flowering tree away from the house, not against it.

Step-Saver

The kitchen pass through could save you a lot of steps. It's simply an opening in the wall through which you can pass food, dishes or the like. Usually it is located between the dining room and the kitchen.

It is well to use a sturdy, heat-proof material like ceramic tile for the pass-through's serving counter. The counter must have a fireproof surface for safety — and plenty of durability to stand up under the constant abuse of hot dishes and pans. Because it's bound to be soiled, your counter should also be easy to clean. A wet sponge will do the trick on real tile.

Making Best Use of Space

IN PROGRESS here: construction of a storage unit under attic's sloping ceiling. Job is done without fancy carpentry. Fir plywood sheets cut to shape take the place of hard-to-fit framing.

THE RESULT is one of great utility. Awkward area under ceiling has been filled with storage cabinets. Included: reach-in cabinet at left, built-in desk and additional storage space in rear.

FINDING TINY PARTS
 To find a needed small nut, bolt or screw in a box or drawer of odds and ends, simply spread contents on a cardboard or newspaper. When you have what you need, shape paper into a "trough", and pour the rest back into the drawer.

HANDY STORAGE
 Circular saw blades of various sizes can be safely and conveniently stored in old photograph record albums, each blade slipped into a pocket.

SPEAKING for the Record

by Bill Sliger

AN OPEN LETTER to Northville Merchants:

This message would be more properly addressed to every business person in our community — retail, professional and industrial.

It comes not from this writer alone — but from numerous individuals who hold deep concern for the future welfare of our business center.

By all logic it would seem that this concern would originate chiefly from those among us who depend upon a thriving business atmosphere for our livelihood.

This is not true, however, it comes from elected officials and just plain residents acutely aware of the importance of a shopping center as the hub to a well-balanced community.

They stand ready to provide both planning and financial assistance.

All that is lacking is an expression of enthusiasm and willingness to cooperate from those who benefit the most.

Past experience would indicate, however, that this enthusiasm does not exist in sufficient numbers among our businessmen to undertake a program that calls for two-party (city and business) responsibility.

Let's get down to specifics.

In recent weeks a parking committee composed of three representatives of the Retail Merchants Association and two council members has met to study the community parking problem.

Most important, this committee recognizes that there is a problem.

It knows that two of the most used lots in the business district are privately owned—and could be closed at a moment's notice.

It recognizes that additional ingress and egress must be purchased to the city lot when Methodist church plans eventually block the Dunlap street entrance.

It has looked closely at other key areas in the business district considered essential to proper development. In some instances condemnation has been proposed to correct conditions considered detrimental.

Committee members are also aware that parking accommodations for employees outside the central shopping area are also needed because these cars now take valuable shopper spaces.

They have also considered removal of all meters in parking lots combined with replacement of street meters with new machines and a program of strict enforcement on meter parking.

These proposals cannot be accomplished immediately.

But it is conceivable under a three-to-five-year plan.

The council members on the committee have pledged strong city financial support to such a program. They recognize the importance of a prosperous business district and the threat of shopping centers to the older, established downtown areas.

It is proper, I believe, that the city should offer such leadership and financial help.

But it cannot be expected to undertake the program alone.

A united organization representing business, professional and industrial interests must guarantee cooperation. It should consider itself fortunate to have a city council that is interested in their problem to the point of offering heavy financial help.

It is impossible for any merchant representative on the committee to speak for such a group.

Today, for example, some $1500 is still owed the city for parking lot acquisition and improvement. Businessmen who worked hard to promote that project are unwilling to try again.

There is an opportunity now for all business interests to join together and plan for the future — at a nominal cost in money and time.

Private interests — such as Kroger, A&P, Manufacturers National Bank and Detroit Federal Savings and Loan — have provided a giant stride forward with their improvements.

A united effort now — a willingness to contribute a few dollars monthly to a fund that would be more than matched by the city — could solidify our business center, insure a prosperous future and serve notice to prospective shopping centers that Northville has beaten them to the punch.

Investing versus Gambling

Babson Park, Mass., I have spent the day reading a remarkable book — "The Pictorial History of Wall Street" — 368 pages size 12" x 9".

This history shows clearly that the fundamental facts underlying investing during the past decades apply equally to today. (This is an anniversary of the New York Stock Exchange founded just 170 years ago) Let me describe ten facts.

(1) SAFETY and income come from careful selection and supervision of your investments. Profits come usually from 'gambling'; although your total investment will rise and decline in "value" along with the Dow-Jones Averages. But big profits come from buying into new ideas, new discoveries, and scientific developments. To make big money, read scientific journals rather than ordinary financial news.

(2) NEWTON'S Law of Equal and Opposite Reaction can be depended upon when the AREAS involved are properly considered. This was first noticeable when African slaves and gold were the only "commodities" traded on Wall Street 200 years ago. I believe that we will continue to have periods of Decline and Depression during the next few years. Congress can legislate only to temporarily postpone declines; but cannot change AREAS involved.

(3) A STUDY of Wall Street history during the past 170 years shows that dips in the stock market have always come unexpectedly, without warning. This was true when slaves, gold or stocks were selling abnormally high — as at present. Such bear markets have always followed great wars, from Napoleonic Days through World War I. The D-J Industrial Average was around 100 in 1942 and has since climbed fairly steadily upward, standing around 670 today.

(4) SPECIAL groups of stock have acted differently during the past 150 years. The demand for slaves and land declined from 1850-65 while the demand for gold and railroad stocks was very active. Then, being over-popularized — as the electronics and space stocks are today — they had a terrible slump with most of the companies going into receivership. Most of the stocks in the same group suffer more or less together; but different groups can act very differently.

(5) BONDS — other than governments — were almost nonexistent until 75 years ago when corporation bonds began to be issued. A study of quotations shows that the bond market is usually going down when the stock market is going up. Careful investors will hold both stocks and bonds in a proportion varying according to conditions. For instance good corporation bonds can now be bought to yield 4½% while the stocks of the same corporation will yield today 3% or less. Hence, the switching of stocks into bonds has now begun on Wall Street and it will continue until the stock yield equals the bond yield.

(6) NATURALLY, everyone who knows Wall Street will advise diversification of all kinds. Don't put all your money in stocks or bonds. Real estate can be bought in the Central West and South West at $75 per acre. One must pay more to get land in an oil or mineral "terrain". There never will be any more and. If you can get enough land for pasture rights to pay axes, buy such land. When buying land, be willing to pay for adjoining fresh water. Someday fresh water in quantity will almost be "liquid gold".

I believe in African gold stocks — also good Mutual Funds and especially insured savings to pay 4½ percent. I once asked Thomas A. Edison who was the greatest inventor. He replied "The man who invented compound interest". The lower Manhattan Island — with Wall Street later its center — was bought from the Indians for a few trinkets valued at $24. If the Indians had taken the cash and invested it at 6 percent interest, compounded quarterly, this $24 would today amount to around sixteen billion dollars. So don't forget the great power of compound interest even if the bonds yield you only 4½ percent.

(7) SEEK THE professional opinion of investment advisers who have been in business over fifty years and have made money for their clients. Tell your adviser that you want to diversify according to the basic fundamentals — but that you are willing to do some "gambling" by buying now into companies which may have a big future.

(8) KEEP IN GOOD health — do not worry. Unless your health is good your judgment cannot be good. You do not need capital or a college diploma to "gamble" successfully; but you do need good health, a good wife, plenty of sleep, and to say your prayers.

(9) THE BEST "gamble" of all is a bunch of good children. Have enough of them and some are sure to turn out to be "whizzes" — very smart. Keep out of debt. I have never borrowed or loaned one dollar in my life or bought on margin.

(10) PROFITS must come from forecasting the future. Your bankers will call it "gambling". But every forward-looking man has been a "gambler" — from Columbus to those scientists who, like M.I.T.'s Provost Charles H. Townes, are now working on condensed light rays and masers and lasers! Forget the moon; but capitalize on four big things: (1) The heat of the sun; (2) the coming scarcity of fresh water; (3) the cellulose of wood and cotton, to give us cellophane, plastics, and fibers; and (4) science. Stick to these four fundamentals, although you can diversify your holdings over many companies.

We are living in a new age, the age of "television", fuel cells, ion engines, harnessing gravity, and good bacteria. Don't spend too much time on present educational courses based only upon memory. Rather, learn to forecast the future by reading scientific magazines. In a previous weekly column I discussed stocks in good honest drug companies. Just now they may be selling for all they are worth. But these drug companies are great "gamblers"; if you own their stocks they will do the "gambling" for you!

In closing let me say the US Navy is supporting a project at Santa Fe Springs, California to make bacteria batteries! The chemists are raising bacteria for new insecticides. The seed dealers are using same to improve quality of seeds. Interest in good bacteria and other "microorganisms" is now so high that the American Type Culture Collection, the national repository for "germs" in Washington, D.C., is planning to build new facilities to house its expanding activities. ### Dr. Mudd Replies

Don't Over-Protect Son

Dear Dr. Mudd:

We — my husband and I, have a little boy who is very shy and backward. We have always given him a lot of love and affection, but this hasn't made any difference.

He seems to like other children, but only when they come to visit him. He never wants to go to their homes. He does good work in school, but even here he is not interested much in children of his own age unless they come to him.

We don't think there is anything wrong with him, but we do worry sometimes that maybe we are doing something wrong. My husband spends as much time with him as he can but the child, instead of being appreciative, just takes this as a matter of course. Nothing seems to make much difference to him.

I hate to admit it to myself, but I think he is a little antisocial. We have one other child, a girl, but she is four years older and not very companionable with her brother. He doesn't seem to like her, and the two of them are always squabbling about something.

My heart almost breaks for the child I see him wandering around like he's lost and doesn't know what to do. I do want him to have a happy childhood. My own was pretty grim. My father died when I was three and my mother went to work. I didn't have much fun and I want him to have the things I never did.

My husband is a very happy person. He likes his work and he's a good father and husband, but he just doesn't seem to be able to get to our son. I know something is wrong and I'm afraid I've done something somewhere along the line to make him the way he is.

But I don't know what I'm doing wrong I don't expect any miracles, but maybe you could suggest something I could do.

Anne B

Dear Anne B:

You are, I have no doubt, a devoted mother who spends an enormous amount of time and energy at the task of bringing up her children. It may be that you are, and have been, too concerned with your children, especially your son.

I get the impression from your letter that you are extremely involved in all phases of his life, and that both you and your husband manipulate the child's environment a great deal. You seem to me to be overly anxious about your son and perhaps, the fact that you have been so for a number of years has left an impression on him which cannot be quickly erased, even if you should completely change your ways.

Nor can what you take to be abnormal behavior and attitude on his part be entirely the result of your motherhood. There would seem to be little motivation on his part to be different than he is. After all, most things come to him without his having to lift a finger.

As far as his experience with life goes; "all things come to him who waits," and you hardly find fault with such a philosophy when you have done so much to encourage it. That you have done, and continue to do as you do out of the most sincere motives for your son's benefit, it might nonetheless be well for you to consider what you get out of all this.

I know many who would deny it, but you know there is really no completely unselfish act.

What appears on the surface to be attitudes directed solely for the benefit of someone else, even one's own children, always contain a personal, even if unrecognized and unacknowledged element of emotional satisfaction.

I cannot say with certainty that very much can be done to change you son now. I'm not sure it would be desirable, even if possible. I seriously doubt that things are as bad as you picture them and I am certain there are many personality assets of a positive nature which you have neglected in favor of your over-emphasis of what you find undesirable.

If you really think there is something wrong with the child, then I suggest you discuss it with your family physician. He may find it desirable to refer you to a facility where doctors are specially trained to evaluate the seriousness and feasibility for treatment for disturbed children.

In the meantime, perhaps showing less concern for your son through your over-veiling efforts to "help him" would be of benefit to all concerned.

Cordially yours,
Sandor Mudd, M.D.

Cadillac

No place to tell a secret!

Take it from us, you'd better not try to exchange confidences in a new 1962 Cadillac.

For the car is so silent in operation—even at the legal limit of the road—that even a whisper can be heard.

But while that wondrous quiet might make it difficult to trade secrets—it speaks volumes about motor car quality and goodness.

For the silence of the Cadillac car is as unique as the circumstances that produce it.

Cadillac cars, for instance, are built in only one place—and they are built by men who build nothing else.

They are crafted to unbelievably fine tolerances. Some engine parts must be machined to an accuracy of one ten-thousandth of an inch.

They are styled so scientifically that wind noise is reduced to a lullaby—and they are constructed so well and insulated so thoroughly that outside sounds are virtually eliminated.

They undergo more than 1400 inspections in the course of their manufacture and assembly—and are then subjected to the most authoritative final inspection in the industry.

You ought to visit your Cadillac dealer soon and sample the results for yourself. And while you're at the wheel—listen to the eloquent quiet.

It's one more example of why only a car that's designed like a Cadillac and built like a Cadillac can ride like a Cadillac.
