

School Board Lets $200,000 Loan Bid

Name Planner For Township

The Northville school board Monday night accepted a Manufacturer's National Bank bid for the school district's $200,000 loan.

The bid, of 1.85 per cent interest, was the only one submitted for board action. The $200,000 loan is to carry the school district's operating budget over until $102,000 in state aid due the local schools is paid.

The board also opened bids for cutting down the retaining wall which blocks vision at the top of the high school driveway. Clifford Smith was low bidder, at $279.50, while Walter Couse submitted a bid of $779.

The board accepted Smith's bid, stipulating that Director of Administrative Services, E. V. Ellison first check with the bidders.

The board also voted to accept the low bid for a school bus insurance policy, providing Superintendent Russell Amerman and Ellison find that it gives the coverage the board wants.

Low bidder was the T. H. Clark insurance agency, of Detroit, which offered alternate proposals, one at a cost of $773 and the other for $1,066.

The Harold Bloom agency's fleet policy renewal would cost the schools $1,172. Bloom has carried the school bus insurance since the schools first purchased buses.

In other business, the board learned from Assistant Superintendent Kenneth MacLeod that he is interviewing several applicants for the American school of principalship vacated by Richard Kay. Kay has resigned to take a principal post in the Grosse Pointe school system.

The board also received new census figures from Ellison, indicating that the population of the 0-9 age group in the district — used in figuring part of the state aid funds — has increased by 155 over the past year. Amerman reported the increase averages about 100 a year.

In concluding Monday's action, the board agreed to set its regular July meeting on July 2, one week early. The board has to meet then to reorganize for next year, as required by law, and will try to take care of regular July business at the same time.

Police Radar Unit Has Multiple Uses

That shiny chrome thing that looks like a spot light you might see hanging out the rear door window of a Northville police car is a radar sending unit, now being used to check the speed of vehicles traveling through the city.

But don't worry, the police won't be issuing tickets — at least not until the city gets some new "speed radar timer" signs to post on each road entering the city.

"And then, the motorist who wouldn't have been ticketed before we got the timer won't be ticketed now," says Police Chief Eugene King.

He explained that the police have been following the practice of allowing motorists five miles an hour over the speed limit because of speedometer error.

"We plan to continue the same practice," he stated.

The radar timer, which cost the city $1,195, is now being tested out by officers so that they will be fully familiar with its use by the time the signs arrive.

It works on the same principle which allows a radar operator to tell how far away an object is and how fast it is moving — the time it takes for a radio beam to leave the sending unit, hit the object and bounce back.

Chief King explained that the radar sends out a continuous radio beam, which is reflected back by the objects it hits. The reflected beam has a different wave length than the original beam, and the difference depends upon how far away the object is.

The wave length of the original beam and the reflected beam are compared by electronic measuring equipment included in the radar unit. Because the beam is continuous, the speed of an approaching object may be computed from the changes in the reflected beam's wave length.

Also included in the radar equipment the police have is a mechanism which computes the speed of objects either approaching or leaving the sending unit and shows on a dial the exact speed being recorded.

The police will be using the radar equipment for a number of jobs, King said. He explained that it will be used mainly to check speeds, but not always for the purpose of catching speeders.

The equipment can be used to show complaining residents that traffic is actually moving slower than it looks, he said. Many people are actually poor judges of vehicle speed, he said, and to them, a large truck that's going 25 looks like it's doing 35.

Another use will be determining the proper speed for a road. King explained that the limit should be the speed at which about 85 per cent of the cars travel. With the radar equipment, he said, the job of setting speed limits will be much easier.

The radar equipment, manufactured by the Muni-Quip corporation, of Decatur, Illinois, runs off the cigarette lighter of the patrol car. It consists of the sending unit, a control box, and the dial which indicates a vehicle's speed.

The sending unit is mounted on the door window of the patrol car, with the beam pointed backward. This permits the officer to park at the side of the road, headed in the same direction as the vehicles being timed.

The dial is in a box which can be set inside the car or placed outside so the officer may flag down speeders rather than chasing them. The control box remains in the car at all times.

The beam of the sending unit may be varied to lengthen or shorten the distance at which cars are being timed. Set on long range, the timer will check a car's speed from about 1,600 feet away to the patrol car.

Short range, designed for use in congested traffic, will check vehicle speeds from about 300 feet away, while medium range will check them from about 600 feet.

King said the city investigated several types of timing devices, but decided upon the radar because it is the most compact and the most portable.

He pointed out that such timers as those which use pneumatic tubes across the road are not as handy because in the case of a call, the officer would have to pull in all the equipment before he could leave.

TUNING UP — Northville Police Chief Eugene King "tunes up" the city's new radar timer. The tuning fork is used to adjust the radar sending unit's radio beam to pinpoint accuracy.

WATCH IT — Northville City Manager Bruce Potthoff gets a first-hand look at how fast he was traveling down Main street. The speed indicator of the city's new radar timer has a thumb switch which holds the indicator on the speed being recorded so that police may show a motorist how fast he was going.

Jaycees to Host Many Dignitaries July Fourth

Romney, Broomfield, Griffiths Are Included

When the Northville Jaycees decide to do something, they do it big. Besides arranging for the longest parade ever assembled in this area for the July 4th activities next week, look at the dignitaries they've lined up:

Republican gubernatorial candidate George Romney, Congressmen William Broomfield and Martha Griffiths, Senator Raymond Dzendzel, and possibly Senators Patrick McNamara and Philip Hart, and Lieutenant Governor John T. Lesinski.

The Jaycees have also scheduled a full day of July 4th activities that promises to be the biggest celebration ever staged locally. Heading up the Jaycee committee for the event is Karl Knott.

Knott promises a four-mile-long parade, 30 floats, the Northville high school marching band, the Canadian Sherwood band, numerous military marching units, the Detroit Mounted Police, Arabian and Western horses, old vehicles, the Loomis Battery of Light Artillery with a $4,000 original civil war cannon on wheels, the Eighth Michigan Cavalry — another Civil War marching unit — sheriffs patrols, Michigan State and local police representatives, plus numerous dignitaries.

In the morning bicycle and walking contests will be held at Main and Center streets for both young and old, with trophies and ribbons to the winners.

At 1:30 p.m. the parade is scheduled to begin from the Northville Downs parking lot, starting at Beal and South Main streets.

The parade will pass up Main street to Rogers, then north to Dunlap and finally east to Rutledge ending at Ford Field.

Honorary parade marshals will be former police chief, Joseph Denton. City and township officials have been invited to ride in open top convertibles (30 new convertibles have been requested).

"Michigan's Junior Miss" — Mary Ellen Pike of Traverse City will also adorn one of the official cars, as will the newly-elected "Miss Northville Jaycee" and her court.

The local queen will be chosen from a field of 13 candidates. "Voting" ends Saturday (see picture, this page).

The Loomis Battery will demonstrate the use of its Civil War cannon at Ford Field following remarks from the honored guest. A unit from the Detroit Mounted Police will also perform.

Then the fun for youngsters will be staged — games, races, prizes, refreshments, a go-cart race at the Kroger parking lot, and finally, free ice cream at 5 p.m.

"The biggest display of fireworks ever" is promised by Knott at 9 p.m. at the high school athletic field.

"And we won't delay between displays," said Knott, noting a criticism of last year.

Prizes are also scheduled to be announced for the winners of the "balloon in orbit" contest. Longest flight recorded to date is from New York state, Knott said.

The entire event has been planned and sponsored by the Northville Jaycee organization. Nearly every organization in the community — including retailers, churches, civic groups, etc., have been asked to participate in the event, Knott noted.

VOTE CASTING — Nine-year-old Margaret Lepper adds votes to one of her sister Linda's canisters in the hope it will help elect Linda as Miss Northville Jaycee, to reign during the Fourth of July festivities next week. Canisters are placed in a number of Northville stores for contestants Linda Lepper, Rita Crawford, Diane Sudz, Vicki Boyd, Susan Pharo, Gail Ann Hartner, Diane McCollum, Betsy Nichols, Judy Lonn, Karen Peterson, Lynn Wineman, Sue Winner and Carol Jones. Final selection of the queen will be by "penny votes", from the canisters. Receipts from the voting will be used to help pay Jaycee expenses for the giant Fourth of July celebration.

Find Moonshine Still Near Wixom

Pick-axes bit deep into the sides of barrels, and moonshine alcohol in various stages of production spilled out of a Milford township farm house, just outside Wixom Monday night.

Federal agents watched as a wrecking crew dumped 26 barrels of fermenting grain mash and then chopped holes in a still they estimated was costing the federal government about $2,400 a week in loss of taxes.

James DeLuca, of the alcohol and tobacco tax division of the U.S. Treasury department, estimated the 220-gallon oil drum used as a "cooker" for the still would turn out about 120 gallons of finished alcohol during a one-day "run."

He said the still, housed in the basement of a run-down farm house at 4355 Old Plank road, a little northwest of Wixom, was probably operated twice a week.

The Treasury agents said the moonshiners were probably selling the illegal alcohol in Detroit for $8-10 a gallon.

Calls Eastern Sewers Good

The capacity of Northville's existing sewer lines to handle maximum flow from development presently planned in the eastern half of the city is adequate, City Engineer Harold Penn told city councilmen last week.

Penn's report was made at the request of the council and is the initial step in a program to determine the capability of the present sewer system within the city to handle ultimate growth.

The engineer cited one "trouble spot" and also noted that a relief line would be needed if any new housing developments, other than those now planned, were constructed.

Penn's study included all the area of the city east of Center street plus the high school and Eastlawn Rest Home area.

It did not include the unplatted area in Northville Heights subdivision. "When this area is completed, a relief line to the interceptor will be needed", Penn stated.

The lone trouble area is a stretch of 300 feet of 12-inch line in the Beal street area, Penn pointed out.

Councilman John Canterbury noted the value of the information compiled by Penn and urged continuation of the study for the entire city. City Manager Bruce Potthoff said that a complete study was planned.

Both Councilman Canterbury and Mayor A. M. Allen emphasized the importance of knowing exactly what requirements should be asked of developers planning new area subdivisions so that the additional cost of services for the development can be charged to the new user, and not taken from the general fund.

During any type of disaster professional medical help will be difficult, if not impossible, to obtain during the most important first several hours.

How well your family is protected may be indicated by your answers to the above questions. City Manager Bruce Potthoff points out.

As civilian defense director for the community, the city manager as well as the advisory committee chairman, William Milne, has encouraged resident participation in the Self-Help course.

Classes will be conducted for 12 weeks each Wednesday evening from September 12 through November 28 from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Residents interested are urged to contact either Potthoff or Milne. There is no charge for the course.

And incidentally, the answers to the five questions above will be published in next week's edition — along with another quiz.

Downs Hurt By Weather

Northville Downs officials this week called bad weather the cause of a five per cent drop in opening week mutual handles as compared with last year's first full week.

Some 27,500 race fans wagered $1,259,269 last week, off about five per cent from the $1,330,786 wagered during opening week last summer.

The enthusiasts who turned out last week braved five nights of either rain or threats of rain, while last year's 29,345 fans had somewhat better weather.

That the mutual handles will improve with more cooperation from the weather man is almost a sure thing, the Downs officials declared. They pointed out that per capita betting is still at its normal level, despite the bad weather.

Marcella Douglas Leaves WCTS Post

The end of 24 years in school administration at the Wayne county training school was marked last week for Mrs. Marcella Douglas at a special dinner.

Mrs. Douglas, who has been WCTS principal since 1938, was feted at a dinner party in the Mayflower Hotel by members of the school faculty. The dinner, held last Wednesday, was attended by 68.

Most of Mrs. Douglas' life has been spent in Michigan. She was graduated from Detroit's Eastern high school, and the following fall she enrolled at the Martindale Normal school, which later became Detroit Teacher's College.

It was from the latter institution that she received her Bachelor of Arts degree. In 1938, Wayne University conferred the Master of Arts degree upon her. She took a greater portion of her educational and child development courses at the Merrill Palmer Institute.

Mrs. Douglas entered teaching in Detroit public schools, spending her last five years at the Roosevelt school as demonstration and critic teacher. For some years she operated her own private school in the city and then joined the staff at the Country Day Nursery School in Grosse Pointe.

In September, 1938, Mrs. Douglas accepted the position of school principal at the Wayne County Training school, where she has remained until this year.

Mrs. Douglas has been active in several organizations. She has been a Fellow of the American Association on Mental Deficiency and has contributed to its writings and deliberations in various capacities.

She is a charter member of the Association of Education and Training Administrators, which embraces all institutions in the states of the Great Lakes Region.

The WCTS principal has been active in the Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Incorporated, being a charter member of the Northville club. She has also been a member of the Detroit Women's City club.

Many friends came to greet Mrs. Douglas during the dinner. Former teachers joined the present staff in paying tribute to her retirement. Various members of the group and their families provided the program, which included tap dancing and piano and trumpet solos by children of faculty members.

It's Salad, Shish-Kabobs for Summer

After school's out, the Alfred C. Parmenters, 727 Thayer, pack their swim suits, bermuda shorts, and skis and head for near-by Wolverine Lake.

Since their summer home is only 12 miles from Northville, their city friends are often invited to join the Parmenters in swimming, skiing, fishing, sailing, or just plain loafing.

Mrs. Parmenter says entertaining is the easiest, especially for teen-age friends of daughters Pam and Sandy, when the menu features "sloppy joes", hamburgers, and hot dogs.

Guests of the Parmenters have a special treat when their hostess serves her Fruit Salad. Mrs. Parmenter explains that the salad is both easy to prepare and refreshing to the appetite.

FRUIT SALAD

Mrs. Alfred Parmenter
2 cans mandarin oranges
2 medium size cans of chunked pineapple
1 can coconut flakes
1-3 bag baby marshmallows

Combine ingredients and let stand in refrigerator overnight. Garnish with lettuce leaves for serving.

For outdoor cookouts this summer Mrs. Glenn Cummings,

Six Mile road, suggests the "Shish-Kabob" — an elaborate ice-box raid on a stick.

Mrs. Cummings tries several "Shish-Kabob" recipes on her backyard diners but this is her favorite:

Build Safety Rest Area On Expressway in Novi

Construction has started on Novi's $105,489 safety rest area, being built on the Interstate 96 expressway, between Beck and Taft roads, the contractor said this week.

The rest area, one of about 100 planned for the state, will serve the eastbound freeway traffic only. It is being built on the south side of the expressway, on property formerly owned by the Van Every family.

The land for the new area features a small rise with a grove of trees, which will be cleared out to provide a shaded picnic area. The parking area will be located behind the trees.

The C. E. Frisinger construction firm of Ann Arbor is contractor for the rest area construction. A spokesman said the firm will carry out the grading and paving of the area, while other contracts will be let later for construction of buildings and other work.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie reports that 15 such rest areas are now in operation, and the state will have 26 ready for use by the end of the summer.

These figures put Michigan in the lead of states with the safety rest areas on the interstate highway system, he added. He predicted that Michigan will "eventually have 100 rest areas on its freeway system."

The landscaped facilities, located every 45 to 50 miles along the freeway system, are about eight acres in size, provide parking for 24 trucks and 50 passenger cars, and boast a variety of helpful items for the motorists.

Besides providing a safe place to leave the highway for a rest, the areas offer drinking facilities, rest rooms, picnic tables, trash barrels and information bulletin boards.

Mackie said recent studies show the rest areas to be popular with freeway travelers.

"A survey taken on I-94 last summer showed 12 per cent of all motorists stop at a rest area during the day and eight per cent use the facilities at night," Mackie said.

Ice Cream Social

The W.S.C.S. of the First Methodist church is planning an "old fashioned ice cream social" for the Fourth of July parade watchers.

Homemade layer cakes and vanilla ice cream will be featured in the church parking lot between 1 and 3 p.m. Should it rain, the ice cream social will be held in the church.

Eyes Roundup

Andrea Bissa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert V. Bissa, 7409 Napier road, will be among thirty senior girl scouts representing the Huron Valley Council at the third International Girl Scout Senior Roundup to be held at Bolton Bay State Park, Vermont July 20-29.

A senior this fall at Northville high school, Andrea was chosen on the basis of her ability to demonstrate camping skills and her overall scouting and camping background.

Attend Career Day

Two Northville high school students, Taddy Johnstone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Johnstone of Homer road, and Robert Orr, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Orr, Grace street, recently attended the first of eight Career Day sessions sponsored by the Eastern Seal Society of Western Wayne County.

The program is designed to point out that physical disabilities need not prevent high school graduates from furthering their education and job opportunities.

High Court Gets JP Assault Case

A Plymouth man was bound over to circuit court after he waived examination on a felonious assault charge in justice court Monday.

Victor Norwood was sent to the higher court by Justice Charles McDonald on the assault charge brought by Fred Mitchell, of 19335 Fry road.

In other court action, Nelson C. Wiley, of Pontiac, was ordered to pay $15 in fines and $10 in costs after he pleaded guilty to failing to yield the right of way, resulting in an accident.

Wiley, who was attempting a left turn into a Horton street driveway, struck another car Sunday.

Lewis A. Greenhoe, of 111 North Main street, changed his plea from not guilty to guilty and was fined $5 and $15 costs and sentenced to two days in jail on a charge of driving on a suspended license.

Also driving on a suspended license was Milton Caldwell, of Detroit. He was ordered to pay $25 in fines and costs and sentenced to two days. He was also charged $15 in costs for a ticket for driving north on the south-bound portion of the Main street boulevard.

Conley said the change is necessary because the large number of participants is overtaxing the swimming instruction program.

Last year the swimming program averaged about 100 youngsters a day, with the number increasing to between 130 and 140 on extremely hot days, Conley said. He added that the recreation department has never taken as many as 260 youngsters, even on water carnival days.

Northville Student Gets College Review

More than 2,500 freshmen who expect to enter Western Michigan University for the first time next fall are spending two days this summer in visiting the campus.

Dean Paul L. Griffeth and his staff of counselors have arranged an intensive program of counseling, advance registration including the payment of a part of their fall fees, and a bit of social life. They will thus clear up many of their early fall duties and know the campus a little better when they arrive.

When they return to the campus in September it will be to start classes almost immediately without the usual days of orientation and registration.

A Northville student participating in the first group is Sally Filkin, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Filkin, 621 Fairbrook.

WHY ADVERTISE?

There's only one businesslike reason to advertise. You can make more money WITH advertising than you can WITHOUT advertising. This means your advertising is an investment ... not an expense.

HERE ARE FIVE WAYS ADVERTISING PAYS DIVIDENDS:

1. Advertising builds a desirable reputation for your business. You must sell your store as the place to buy before you can sell your merchandise.
2. Advertising attracts new customers to your store. Before you can really sell, you have to bring customers to your store. Advertising attracts new customers, brings back former customers ... many more and much faster.
3. Advertising helps you meet and overcome the fierce competition in today's retailing world. Advertising helps you maintain and protect your business.
4. Advertising is informative ... it tells your customers what's new.
5. Advertising increases profits by building volume. Competition tends to trim profits on each sale, so volume becomes the key to success. Advertising gets your selling message to enough people to build volume sales.

With Two Victories

Plumbers Start Win Streak

The Northville Plumbers stretched their predicted winning streak to four straight last week by downing the Wayne-Pond Civics 6-3 and Redford 4-0.

The Plumbers, local entry in the 18-and-under recreation league, have been named the team to beat by their enthusiastic manager, Joe Kritch.

His team roster includes most of the Northville high school varsity which this past season took top honors in the Wayne-Oakland league and won the Pontiac invitational tournament.

Kritch, who the week before watched the Plumbers win their first two games, sent Dan Brown to the mound against the Wayne team last Wednesday. Brown hurled the first five innings, striking out 11. He also walked 11, but gave up only two hits, making it impossible for the Civics to capitalize on base runners. The game was called in the sixth because of darkness.

Brown's difficulties at the start of the game gave Wayne two runs. When the Plumbers scored only one in the bottom of the first, they were trailing 2-1, behind for the first time.

The lanky pitcher came back in the third to hold the Civics aimless. He then stepped to the late and slammed a double down the left field line with no out. Joe Hay, who had sparked with hits in every game, drove a ball out of the park to bring Brown home.

Wayne tied the score in the third, but Northville came back in the fifth to score three runs. Brown singled, Terry LaRue walked and a bunt by Jim Anderson loaded the bases.

Knothole Baseball Program Underway

Northville's summer recreation baseball program swung into full blast last Friday as seven knothole baseball and six knothole softball teams opened their seasons.

The seven-team baseball league plays on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings in the Cass Benton park diamond number two. Knothole softballers face-off each Tuesday and Thursday morning at the diamond near the foot of First street.

Playing in the baseball league are the Asher Pure Angels, the Casteline Indians, the Bloom Insurance Cardinals, the John Mach Ford Yankees, the Northville Electric Giants, the Northville Record Dodgers and the V.F.W. Athletics.

Knothole softball teams include the E-Jay Lumber Mart Giants, The Farm Crest Dairy Bears, The Lapham's Men's Store Colts; the Northville Drug Tigers; the Northville Optimist Cubs and the Rathburn Chevrolet Panthers.

In opening baseball action last Friday, the Dodgers downed the Indians 2-0, and the Yankees trimmed the Angels 3-2. Monday, the Giants slugged to a 14-10 victory over the Athletics and the Dodgers whipped the Cards 7-0.

Softball action got underway Tuesday, with the Lions lashing the Tigers 8-1 and the Bears bombing the Colts 12-3.

Indians Plan Tryout Camp

Players must be 17 to 22 years of age to participate in the program, and American Legion players who attend must have a written permit from their post commanders.

All players are requested to bring their own uniforms including shoes and gloves. The Indians will furnish bats and baseballs.

In charge of the camp will be Cleveland scouts Hal Newhouse and Nap Ross. Newhouse is the former Detroit pitching star and Michigan native who is now a scout at large in the Cleveland organization.

Tryouts for pitchers will begin at 10 a.m. Friday

Faces Tough Competition

Top Pacer Set for Downs Feature

Rusty Raife, the brilliant three-year-old son of the former Michigan Champion Russell Raife and generally rated as the best of all Michigan-bred pacers, will have the spotlight Friday night at Northville Downs in the second of six $5,000 invitational exchange events.

Rusty, who won his last two starts at Hazel Park in identical 2:02 times, has outstepped the performances of his illustrious dad, who was the state's two and three-year-old champion.

As a matter of fact, the great come-from-behind youngster is far ahead of any of his predecessors as a sophomore. His 2:02 clocking is better than that of the great Walter McKillop at the same time; faster than that of Knight Time; and much better than the best time of his father as a three-year-old.

Perhaps the most astonishing thing about Rusty, and the one that has won the plaudits of the state's harness racing enthusiasts, is his ability to come from way back in the final half-mile to win.

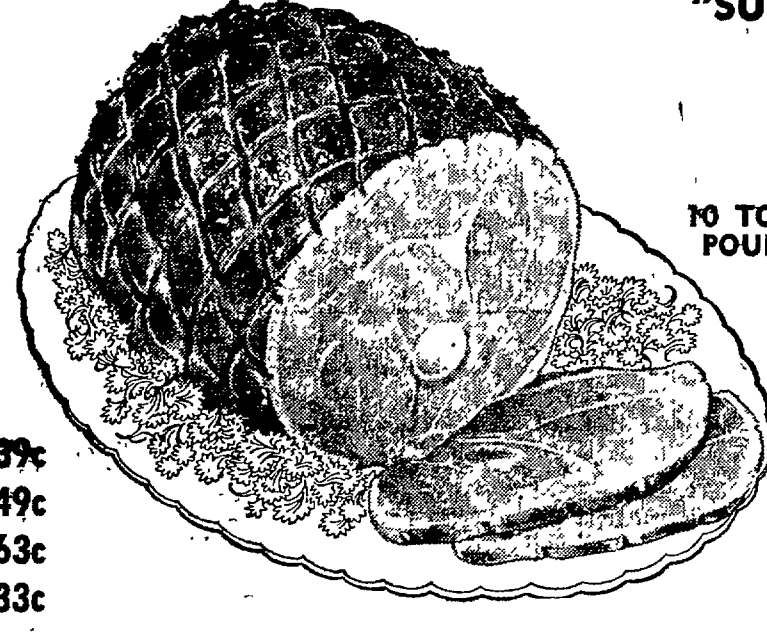

Even Owner William Eggers of Livonia, almost has heart failure at the performances of his star colt. But then he survived 18 winning efforts in 1961 and five thus far this year with many more in sight before the end of the 1962 campaign.

Rusty will be going against older competition in the invitational but that doesn't bother Driver-Trainer Willard Niles a bit. He faced the same kind of horses at Hazel Park and beat them and looks like a heavy favorite again this time.

Matched with the speedy youngster are such tested campaigners as Butch Harmony, Shafter Hanover, Bill Rainbow and Vite Volo in the expected field of eight.

Savings & Loan Traces Growth

"Building a better Michigan for over 75 years", is the 75th Anniversary celebration theme of the Savings & Loan Association of Michigan, according to Sam Sherer, assistant vice-president of Detroit Federal Savings & Loan Association and manager of the Northville office of the Association.

"Here in Michigan, home ownership is enjoyed by a greater percentage of the population than in any other state in United States, according to the Michigan Savings & Loan League, which points out that more than 65 per cent of the total of our 2,548,363 housing units in the state now being owner occupied.

This achievement is in a significant measure due to the influence of the Savings & Loan Associations in Michigan, which have financed more than 1,141,730 home mortgages during their 75 year history in this state.

"It was back on March 29, 1887, that Cyrus G. Luce, then Governor of the State, signed the bill that became Act 50 of the Public Acts of 1887, which brought savings and loan associations into official existence here in Michigan," pointed out Sherer.

"The growth of these associations in Michigan was very slow from their inception until 1915, at which time there were 65 associations with assets of $27,696,545.

Today Michigan has 35 state-chartered associations with assets of better than $691 million, and 38 federally-chartered associations with assets of better than $1,509 million. This makes a total of 73 Michigan savings and loan associations with assets of more than $2,200,000,000.

Warden to 'Shoot' Dogs

If you should happen to see a short young man with blonde hair aiming with what looks like a 20-gauge shotgun at a dog in Northville township, don't be too alarmed.

It's probably Dog Warden Dick Mitchell, and the gun he's using is intended to make unnecessary the killing of stray or wild dogs.

For when Mitchell "shoots" a dog, his gun does double duty, and only puts the dog to sleep in the process.

The rifle Mitchell uses is officially called a "Cap-Charge tranquilizer rifle." It shoots a syringe full of a tranquilizer drug that causes complete relaxation of a dog's muscles, thereby preventing the dog from either escape or a fight while he's being captured.

"I only use the gun on dogs I either can't corner or can't capture because they are enraged," he explained. He added that before the gun was available, he had to shoot such dogs.

Mitchell, who's been dog warden for two years, said he's used the gun on 10 dogs in the two months the township has had it on demonstration loan from the manufacturer.

"I only dropped about a half dozen of them," he added, but he was quick to point out that the shotgun-shell-sized syringe does not serve as the most accurate projectile that may be shot from a rifle.

The syringe holds a one cubic centimeter portion of the tranquilizer drug, which is varied in strength according to the size of the dog. The nose of the syringe has a short, stout needle, while the tail has a fluffy wool ball.

The gun is operated by air pressure from carbon dioxide cartridges, and the fluffy tail is used to stopper the barrel of the gun so that the blast of pressure can push the syringe with sufficient force.

Inside the syringe, a charged plunger injects the drug after impact with the target. The plunger is fired by a pin when the impact occurs.

The drug takes almost immediate effect, Mitchell said. He added that he has timed the delay in reaction several times, and the lag was never more than about 15 seconds.

The tranquilizer attacks the dog's nervous system, rendering its muscles useless for a short period, Mitchell explained.

He said the dog that has been "shot" will lose its balance after about 15 seconds, and a few seconds later will be unable to move.

"Although the dog is conscious," Mitchell said, "it is so relaxed it cannot put up a fight."

Recovery time after the shot takes between 10 and 15 minutes, the dog warden said. He added that this is normally enough time to get the dog into a retention cage.

The drug will be harmful to a dog only if it is in poor physical condition, Mitchell said. He pointed out, however, that most dogs that would be in poor enough health to suffer from the tranquilizer would probably be ownerless animals.

Mitchell said the gun is only "a 50 per cent deal — it's only reliable about half the time."

He explained that accuracy is quite bad both because of the size of the syringe and because of the power supply. He said each time the gun is fired, the pressure in the carbon dioxide cartridge is reduced a little, making it difficult to judge the distance in which it will be effective.

He added that the South Lyon police department has a similar gun, and has experienced the same problems. Mitchell said, however, that he expected to become more accurate after he has used the gun a little more.

Patient Takes Own Life At Northville Rest Home

An elderly patient of the Eastlawn rest home on High street hanged himself from an outside stairway Sunday night, police report.

Found suspended from a steel stairway at the rear of the home's main building was Stanley Grazemko, who was in his late sixties.

Grazemko, who has been a resident of the home for several years, used a pushbutton light cord to hang himself. His body was discovered about 10:30 Sunday night by Earl Martin, an orderly.

Martin said he had gone to one of the rear cottages for a periodic check, and discovered the body while returning to the main building.

Police say the remains were taken to the Wayne county morgue, where a regular inquest was held Monday.

The police also report the car stolen from a parking lot behind the Old Mill Restaurant last Friday was found by Taylor township police the next day.

The car, belonging to Rosemary Cash, of 557 Blunk street in Plymouth, was taken in the afternoon while she was at work in the restaurant.

The police also are investigating two thefts from cars parked near the race track Saturday night.

Roger Ikola, of Detroit, said two men's suits and five women's dresses were stolen from his car late Saturday night. Mike Grey, of Livonia, reported that four ties and a transistor radio were taken from his car at about the same time.

Richard Mitchell Inserts Syringe into Gun

An important announcement from BUSTER BROWN:

Simon J. Wikler, Doctor of Surgical Chiropody, and one of the youngsters he has helped.

The look and structure of infants' and children's shoes has been revolutionized by Simon J. Wikler, a Florida podiatrist.

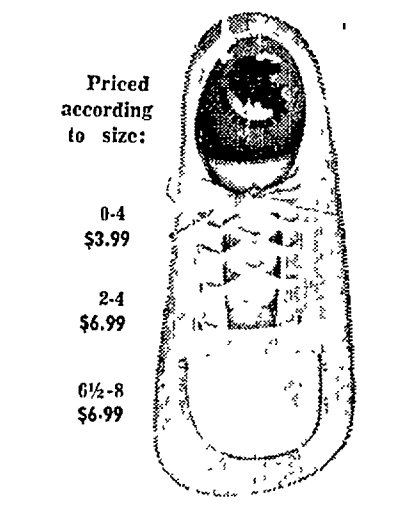

He has designed a new shoe according to the structure and needs of the growing human foot, consulting many physicians, pediatricians, orthopedic surgeons and podiatrists over the years. Their interest and approval encouraged him to patent his unusual shoe and bring it to the attention of Brown Shoe Company, makers of Buster Brown Shoes for children.

Dr. Wikler's method of explaining the principles of his patented new shoe is as unorthodox as the shoe itself.

He'll ask you to take off your shoes and wiggle and spread your toes, as you would your fingers when playing the piano. Then, the condition of your foot indicates how often you went barefoot as a child. His trained eye can tell what kind of foot distress (if any) you may be prone to.

"The captive toes"

Fingers and toes behave alike, says Dr. Wikler. Watch a baby in his crib—always stretching and flexing his fingers and toes. But, he asks, suppose you encased the baby's hands and fingers in tight-fitting mittens, removing them only when he slept? What would happen to the dexterity and mobility of those fingers after a few years? Or the muscles and ligaments which make them so responsive? Would they not become cramped, weak and ineffective like most people's toes in later years?

Dr. Wikler says the ideal answer is to allow growing toes freedom to spread and exercise. In other words, to go barefoot.

A remarkable new shoe

It is designed to avoid a lifetime of foot troubles

"Bare feet are healthy"

Dr. Wikler cites statistics on foot distress: by the age of one year, 8% have foot trouble; at age five, 41%; at age 20, 80%.

He observes that results of foot trouble may be worse than the foot distress itself. For instance, a slouching posture, common when defective feet cannot support the body, causes improper weight distribution that may result in chronic fatigue or even more serious disorders.

Yet, in countries where most of the population goes barefoot, Dr. Wikler has never heard of a native with fallen arches. It would seem, he decided, that the trouble with feet is ill-fitting shoes.

"Are shoes necessary?"

Cold floors, city pavements and gravel roads make going barefoot impractical. So, Dr. Wikler worked on a new idea that would make wearing shoes "like walking barefoot with shoes on."

After consulting eminent foot doctors, physicians and pediatricians and applying his principles to his own patients, he came upon the idea for his radically new kind of shoe. He spent 12 years perfecting a model before he felt it was exactly right.

"New kind of baby shoes"

His dream came true when the Brown Shoe Company recognized the soundness of his principles and incorporated the shoe in the famous Buster Brown brand, to be known as The Wikler Shoe, available only at Authorized Buster Brown Retailers.

The shoe has soft leather uppers, with no overlapping inside seams to irritate sensitive feet, or metal shanks to interfere with the flexibility of the sole. The unusual fan-shaped toe design allows toes to spread within the shoe, combined with a heel that positions the foot firmly, without cramping it. It lets a baby go barefoot with shoes on, allowing his feet to grow and exercise normally.

The conventional shoe forces the growing foot into a cramped position, Dr. Wikler points out, making toes helpless and puny without giving them a chance to attain their natural spread.

Ideal shoe for children. Plenty of room for the foot to grow into this shoe without deforming pressures on the toes.

"Vital for early years"

Foot experts say that in early years permanent damage can be done to a child's foot in a few days' time, without any word or sign of distress. To insure proper foot growth in these vital years, The Wikler Shoe is made by Buster Brown only in infants' and small children's sizes.

If you have children under four years old or an infant who is ready for his first shoes, visit the Authorized Buster Brown Retailer near you. He'll be glad to give you a folder telling all about the new Wikler Shoe, available in sizes 0 to 8, high white or oxford styles. Let him start your child off on the right footing with a pair of these remarkable new shoes, made only by Buster Brown.

Summer Road Construction Projects Started

EAST STREET'S NEW LOOK — Northville's city paving program has gotten underway, with East, High, Elm and Walnut streets being blacktopped first. The four-street paving package was an on-again, off-again affair, with residents first rejecting and then requesting the city council to start the program, carried out under an assessment plan that charges part of the cost to property owners.

WEST ROAD in Wixom receives "the big move" treatment from huge earth movers and bulldozers. The contractors discovered large deposits of muck under the road bed, which had to be dug out and replaced with solid dirt before the new road bed could be constructed. The contractors are scheduled to finish off the south end of Beck road and rebuild Loon Lake road this summer in the city's $80,000 road building program. Paving of all three roads will be done later.

NORTH CENTER STREET, next in Northville's summer paving program, was being reached this week. After pulling trees and stumps, as above, workmen began grading. Paving is expected to begin next week.

EIGHT MILE road gets a new layer of pavement as workmen begin the job of paving from Haggerty road to the Eight Mile cutoff. The huge scoop shown near the top of the picture above receives materials for making concrete from trucks. The large machine bed, it acts as a giant cement mixer, complete with a bucket-like carrier for spreading the cement out.

NEW REST AREA — Work started last week on the Novi rest area, being built on the south side of the I-66 expressway, between Peck and Tall roads. The rest area, which will serve the eastbound traffic only, is being constructed by the C. E. Fisinger construction firm of Ann Arbor. Plans call for a large parking lot behind the stand of trees to serve both passenger cars and large trucks. The $190,000 safety rest area will also provide a shaded picnic area, to be located among the trees. Other plans include rest room facilities, an informational bulletin board, drinking fountains and scrap barrels. The Ann Arbor firm has prime contract to the rest area, and will sublet paving and building construction work, a spokesman has reported. Novi's rest area, one of about 100 planned for eventual construction along Michigan's interstate highway system, is slated for completion in October.

A correlative citation to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 142): "Truth is God's remedy for error of every kind, and Truth destroys only what is untrue. Hence the fact that, today as yesterday, Christ casts out evils and heals the sick."

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO
June 29, 1961

—Some 75 floats and parade units will assemble in Northville next week for what must be termed the longest parade ever in the area—the Junior Chamber of Commerce's July Fourth parade.

—Calvin H. Monfils, administrator of Community General Hospital in Northville since its organization two years ago, has resigned to accept a position as assistant administrator at Mt. Clemens General Hospital.

—Charles W. McDonald, Northville's new justice of the peace who defeated former Justice E. M. Bogart at the polls this spring, was sworn in at special ceremonies in the city hall this week. Bogart had served as Northville's justice for the past 10 years.

—The first superintendent of Novi's consolidated school district, William H. Medlyn, has announced his resignation. He told the school board last Wednesday that he will be leaving July 31 to take over duties at the University of Indiana, in charge of college and university placement.

—Charles Freydl, Jr., became president of the Northville Exchange club yesterday when new board members and officers were installed at the Wednesday noon meeting of the local service organization.

FIVE YEARS AGO
June 27, 1957

—Novi township may have harness racing by next year, a spokesman for the proposed Novi race track said this week. But state racing commissioner James H. Inglis called the forecast "little optimistic at this time." The $5,500,000 sports center would be located at Grand River and Meadowbrook.

—Trenching for storm sewers on Wing, First and Fairbrook streets was well under way this week. The work began the first of June and will be completed by August 31.

—Amerman school students would hardly recognize their alma mater today, even though they just left it two weeks ago.

LET'S TALK CARS

THE SUMMER MARKET

In the six weeks ending June 30, dealers take in more used cars as trades on new car sales than in any other six weeks in the year. This volume means that used car buyers purchasing in this abundantly supplied market can choose from a much greater variety of models, often at reduced prices.

The car business is like any other when it comes to the costs of maintaining a large inventory of products, in this case used cars. It is very much to the dealer's interest to keep his supply to an economical minimum so as to reduce his daily overhead.

This is especially so this year when auto sales are nearing their all-time record of 1955. Recent industry statistical reports show sales in April reached their highest point in 6½ years with market forecasts for early Summer of "glowing strength" according to Ward's Automotive Reports.

We believe that thoroughly reconditioned used cars sold with reliable guarantees are both easier to sell and build repeat business for a dealership. As a matter of fact, it is the used car operation that spells success or failure to most dealers in our business today. Certainly a dealer would have a difficult time succeeding handicapped by a poor used car operation.

It is for this reason that we take pride in our used cars. Time and effort and money spent on conditioning them is returned in many ways, but most especially in customers who come back to buy their next car and who often bring others.

Walls for a 13-room addition are already taking shape, and door frames have been set in place. The $191,000 addition is expected to be completed by this fall.

—Salem school district voters will go to the polls Saturday to decide whether or not to send their children to South Lyon schools. The school board and several parents have visited both Northville and South Lyon facilities, and the board last month decided on South Lyon as their recommendation.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

June 27, 1947
—Reverend William Matthew Hughes will preach his first sermon at the local Methodist church Sunday morning. He comes to Northville from St. Paul's church in Highland Park.

—Some 54 students were included in the honor roll announced after the end of the final marking period as the high school closed last week. The largest number of honor students were supplied by the junior class.

—Melvin "Chick" Harbert, Meadowbrook Country club's pro, this week was runner-up in the famed PGA golf tournament at Plum Hollow.

—One hundred twenty-three exhibits were entered in the ninth annual garden show sponsored in the village by the Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. The exhibition was held in the Schut building. Plans for a play group for three- and four-year-olds were formulated this week as some 18 mothers met in the kindergarten room.

—Some 300 employees of the Novi Equipment company went on strike Tuesday noon when bargain hunters for the management and the union could not agree over a 10-cent difference in pay raise offers. The workers began picketing after the union demanded a 15-cent raise and the management offered a five-cent raise.

—Between 30 and 60 youngsters take part each afternoon in Northville's summer recreation program activities, held on the school grounds, but officials say there is room for many more.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

—Northville's flying dentist, Dr. D. A. Brief, made his first airplane trip Wednesday as a full-fledged pilot. It was just last week that Dr. Brief completed the 50 hours of flying time required for a pilot's license. He and Mrs. Brief celebrated by flying to Clare to visit relatives.

—Misuse of fire crackers and other explosives will not be tolerated, police Chief Loy M. German stated Wednesday afternoon. He warned local residents to be extremely careful about Fourth-of-July fireworks.

—Miss Kathryn Marburger returned from Toledo Saturday with a silver loving cup, symbol of her first prize award in the ladies' riding event at a Toledo horse show.

—Northville school Superintendent Russell H. Amerman this week was installed as head of the Northville Rotary club. He was officially made president of the local club in installation ceremonies Tuesday noon.

—A pair of local teen-age girls were critically injured in an automobile accident Tuesday evening. Virginia Lanning, 16, of 307 North Center, and Catherine Trost, 18, of Base Line road, received broken legs and head cuts when their car, driven by Miss Lanning, went out of control after hitting a dip and crashed into a telephone pole.

"Do - It - Yourself" Hints

Do-it-yourself is an integral part of our way of life today, and this handyman skill is reflected in well kept, modern homes.

Home handyman have progressed from simple repair jobs to major home improvement projects as their skills have sharpened. Today it isn't unusual for a handyman paneling an entire room to give it a new appearance.

Do-it-yourselfers like to work with 16" x 8" plastic-surface hardwood planks because they are easy-to-handle and apply. Only ordinary carpentry tools

Workman emphasizes that the clips should be fitted snug before being nailed to the wall.

Spacing Important

Adhesive is applied to each plank before the tongue is inserted into the groove of the plank already installed. Press the planks gently together, allowing one-sixteenth inch in the joint. Workman points out the clips are designed to help provide correct spacing between panels.

Here are several other important points —

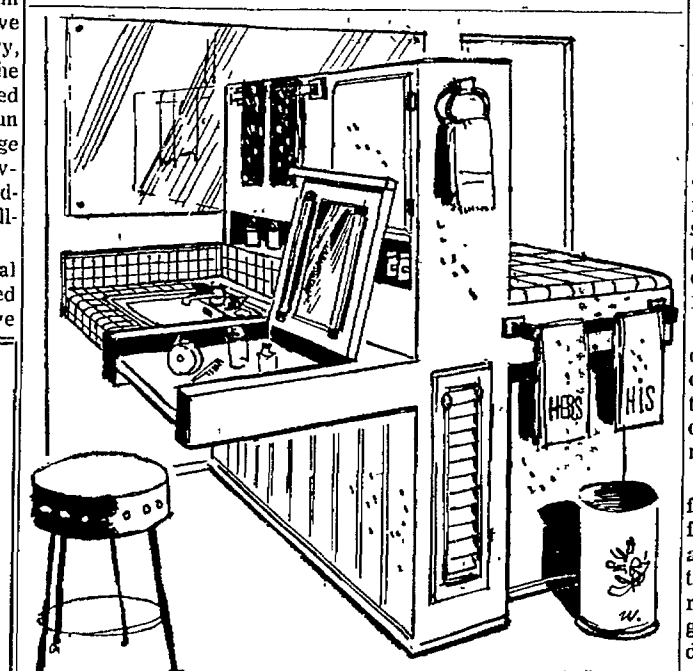

1. Always install the planks over a surface that is clean and dry.

2. Saw with the finished side up.

3. Nails fastening base molding should go below the bottom of the planks, never through them.

The planks have a tempered melamine plastic finish, provides a permanent, washable surface. Damp-wiping will remove mussy handprints, fruit juice stains and other causes of deterioration.

Lumber dealers carry the planks, which are available in high-fidelity woodgrains and pastel colors. Matching moldings also are available.

Handsome Hiss & Hers divider for bathroom is two-faced, with wash basin, medicine cabinet, cosmetics shelf on each side. Hiss side is higher; Hers also has a vanity built into the countertop. Installation is painted fir with tile counters.

Don't Burn, Panic

Careful Vacation's More Fun

Planning a vacation at the lake or weekend excursions to the "wilds" this summer: Here are some facts that may make your relaxation more pleasurable and more healthful.

The Detroit department of health points out that sunshine in moderate amounts is good for most people, but sunburn is as harmful as any other burn. The department lists these pointers on sunburn:

—most severe sunburns will be produced by the sun's rays between the hours of 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.;

—"skyshine", consisting of ultraviolet rays, can cut through clouds and fog, will cause sunburns;

—reflections by water, sand or snow of the sun's rays can increase the risk of a sunburn;

—a suntan should be obtained by carefully-controlled increases of exposure, starting with a moderate exposure. Those whose skin is fair should be extra careful;

—protective suntan preparations should be used by all until a tan is obtained. A commercial product containing a known sun screening agent such as p-aminobenzoic acid, a salicylate or a digalloyl trioleate — which is listed on the label — should be favored over home-made concoctions;

—eyes do not build up immunity like tanned skin, and should be protected at all times, either by a covering when lying down or by dark glasses;

—sunburn symptoms begin appearing from 12 to 18 hours after overexposure. If the skin feels hot to the touch, it should be treated as a burn. If the burn is severe, a doctor should be consulted;

—the skin should be lubricated to help prevent excessive drying by the sun.

"Prevent sunburn as you would any other accident — by being cautious," the health department concluded.

The American Medical association adds that those persons who are planning hikes in woods and fields should remember that snakes will be seeking food and sunshine. There are some 35 different types of poisonous snakes in the United States.

An AMA report points out that snake bite can kill, but seldom does. Although as many as 3,000 persons are bitten each year, deaths usually number between 10 and 20. It offers these suggestions when a bite occurs:

—first kill the snake, and have the victim lie down and remain quiet to slow circulation and retard absorption of the poison;

—tie a tourniquet above the bite marks to dam off the poison from the rest of the body, being careful that the tourniquet does not completely cut off circulation. The tourniquet should be loosened once every 10-15 minutes;

—sterilize a knife tip or razor blade with flame from a match and make a cut lengthwise of the limb through each fang mark, pressing the wound to encourage free bleeding;

—if a snake bit kit is available, use the suction cup to draw out the poison, otherwise use your mouth — you will be safe as long as you have no cuts or sores inside your mouth. Suction should continue for a half hour;

—keep the injured person warm, hot tea or coffee — do not use liquor, it can be harmful;

—after first aid, transport the bite victim to a doctor or hospital as quickly as possible — making certain he moves himself very slowly or is carried — so that antivenin may be administered;

—if possible, notify the doctor you are coming so that he may arrange to get the antivenin, which might not be immediately available.

"Of utmost importance is that neither you nor the victim panics," the report concluded.

GAS

air conditioning cools it off

.....Automatically!

A gas-powered home cooling system is not only silent and economical, it is beautiful, automatic, as well. In all the major household jobs — home heating, air cooling, cooking, water heating, refrigeration, clothes-drying, incineration — gas is economical, fast, clean, dependable, safe, silent, and automatic. You couldn't ask for more — except for information on how to modernize your way of life with gas equipment. See your gas utility or gas appliance dealer.

Home Water Problems Result Of Modern "Over-Appliancing"

In Today's modern home it's a case of water, water, everywhere — and particularly hot water. But the problem is how to get enough of it for our larger families and needs, how to store it in our smaller-sized houses, and produce it as rapidly as possible and inexpensively.

Today's house may "over-appliance" itself with hot water-gulping contrivances, but fail to be equally modernized in its hot water capacity.

White householders go merrily along buying such time-saving items as automatic dishwashers and washing machines, and adding extra bathrooms, not to mention having lots of babies, the "incumbent" water heater becomes literally "swamped" by the increase in the demands placed upon it.

From early morning till late evening, the kitchen, laundry, and bathrooms of the modern American house are continually in use for any number of reasons — showering, shaving, bathing, washing, shampooing, brushing teeth, food preparation — and, of course, washing dishes — frequently in a new, hot water-gulping dishwasher.

Add to this, washing the family clothes in the automatic machine, and the other general household uses for hot water, and it is easy to see how this element — and the water heater play a vital and new role in modern living.

A generation ago a family of four used about 1,000 to 1,200 gallons of hot water a month. Today's needs are triple — around 3,000 gallons a month (160 gallons a day). Dishwashing and automatic laundry consume about 5 per cent of this showers and baths another 2 per cent. The rest goes into washing hands and face, house cleaning and miscellaneous uses.

Not only do homes need more water, but a lot of it has to be hotter — 140 degrees for average uses up to 160 degrees recommended for dishwashers.

Lightening Fire Damages Cost Millions Yearly

Lightning causes over $125,000,000 annual property fire loss and damage in the U.S., according to the Lightning Protection Institute.

Yet, lightning loss to property can be prevented. With correct materials, properly designed and installed, a lightning protection system rarely, if ever, has failed to carry out its protective function.

A lightning protection installation is not a do-it-yourself job. This is a job for the expert who produces or uses Underwriters' labeled materials and supervises or installs according to the code requirements of Underwriters Laboratories, Inc., for lightning protection.

In order to be entirely safe, metallic bodies on structures require interconnection with the system or separate grounds for such items as vent pipes, television antennas, etc.

"I can't add much more to that than to say that the driver who wants safety can have it by following those simple rules," he said "There's nothing complicated about it, just attention to the serious job of driving."

SPEAKING for The Record

by Bill Silger

By the time this column is published my wife and I and our two children will be completing a week's vacation in Washington, D.C.

This is my first visit to our nation's capitol. Undoubtedly upon my return I'll be qualified to recommend numerous methods for reducing the chaos and inefficiency that reportedly exist there.

Seriously, I hope to learn a great deal more about the operation of our democratic processes by this firsthand visit. And there is at least one local issue apparently snagged in official red tape that bears questioning.

Our agenda is a busy one — thanks to arrangements and suggestions outlined by Congresswoman Martha Griffiths. During our absence I asked Township Attorney James Littell if he would care to take over our corner of the newspaper for one week.

A former newspaperman — and currently personally interested in legislation which would convert Michigan's Sleeping Bear Dunes area into a national park — Littell kindly agreed to lend a hand.

Later this summer Mr. and Mrs. Littell will enjoy their annual vacation at their Sleeping Bear Bay cottage. Here he explains why all residents of Michigan, and the nation, should know and understand legislation like Senate Bill 2153.

THE SLEEPING BEAR ISSUE

By James Littell

One inning, even a big one, seldom determines a ball game. But it often affords a definite advantage. So it is with the people of the Sleeping Bear Dunes area and their legion of friends throughout the United States who, despite the President's recent attempt to relegate our natural distaste and fear of big government to the status of "worn out clichés," see in the bureaucratic trend a serious erosion of sound democratic safeguards.

The big inning in the game between the Sleeping Bear Dunes area and the "storming battlers" from the department of Interior led by Secretary Udall and Senators Hart and McNamara shows that Senate Bill 2153 is apparently dead in its present form. Great effort in all directions is under way to "water the bill down," make it more palatable and to save face.

But in truth there is no way to escape the obvious conclusion that any suggested changes so far fail to provide the essential and necessary guarantees and protections against bureaucratic fiat exercised in the name of the people, but actually for departmental expansion and growth. The same frightening teeth are present in the suggested revision.

No amount of double talk by bureaucrats, conservationists and others obsessed with the idea of governmental control over all of Michigan north of the Bay County line has as yet established the economic need of a 90,000 acre national park or seashore in Leelanau and Benzie Counties, or the propriety of such an undertaking in face of our commitments at home and abroad.

The overwhelming impact of the statistics establishing the obvious impropriety of the taking still remains. But certainly the proponents will play the game out. Therefore it is for everyone, residents of the Sleeping Bear area and others, who see in the proposal further tax burden, unnecessary expense and an unjustifiable land grab, to continue the opposition until the proponents are more successful in demonstrating need and are willing to adhere to established principles applicable to governmental taking.

In view of the expressed philosophy of the Secretary of the Interior advocating and employing what is but a creeping condemnation resulting in wholesale depreciation of values for property not immediately taken, it becomes a matter of concern for those of us in Northville, Kankakee or any place within the domain of the Department of Interior as well as Leelanau and Benzie Counties. The time to defeat a philosophy abhorrent to democracy is before it acquires respectability through legislative sanction.

As Congressman Griffin of Traverse City has said, "the people oppose S2153 not because they don't understand it, but because they do understand it."

TV Advertising Hurts Magazines

I recently had luncheon sitting next to Mitch Miller who puts on one of the very best television programs now available. If usually goes on at 10:00 p.m. EST, Thursday nights.

I had an opportunity to obtain some very interesting data on the tremendous growth of TV advertising. It surely illustrates why it is working havoc with magazines.

The "Sing Along With Mitch" program takes about four or five days a week to prepare and rehearse. Each of the twenty or more men who sing receives $500 a week and the girls on the program are also well paid.

Altogether, including commissions, the cost of producing these weekly shows exceeds $130,000. There are many experts engaged in the program, lighting, and various other technical arrangements. Their names appear on the screen at the close of each show.

I was especially interested to know that the sponsors for one minute of allotted advertising time pay the equivalent of $20,000; this, for a total of six minutes, means a cost of $120,000. This, of course, includes the commissions which go to the advertising agencies. TV advertising has certainly grown to be "big business."

When we come to realize that this show which we see Thursday evenings is appearing simultaneously on 150 TV stations which have about 40 million viewers, it may be the cheapest form of advertising obtainable for any product that has universal distribution and can be bought in any city or town.

The entire "TV industry" is still in an experimental stage; it is impossible to forecast its future. This is especially true when it is realized that only one percent of the TV receiving sets now carry color. Color will become almost universal when perfected.

When discussing with "Mitch" the above story, he said that the TV programs "are really revolutionary." He stated: "If you will study any of the leading magazines, you will see that they do little to arouse the real interest and emotions of the reader. For instance, none of these magazines would think of printing the old songs and familiar poems which my men sing."

"Yet, it is these old songs which bring back to listeners their younger days and appeal to their hearts. I have thousands of letters telling how the songs which my men sing remind the writers of their fathers and mothers and their boyhood and girlhood days."

Another important factor is the speed with which news of special events or happenings may get to every city and village of the country — for instance, if some great fire, or airplane accident, or cyclone takes place. This was especially evident when Carpenter was orbiting the earth.

While going 17,500 miles an hour and 125 miles in the air, he was radioing messages which appeared on TV within a few minutes after he sent them. Hence, in addition to the advantages mentioned above in connection with advertising, TV can publish news almost instantaneously.

At the present time, the best foreign pictures must be shipped to this country on film by airplane; but a development with which the American Telephone & Telegraph Company is experimenting will revolutionize the transmission of foreign pictures. By throwing beams to satellites, we will have instantaneous pictures from all over the world on our own TV sets.

While labor worries about losing jobs through automation, their leaders should not forget that TV vastly increases employment. This is also true of the rapidly growing electronic inventions.

Furthermore, the TV industry will not be curtailed if Russia and the United States should come to an agreement on limiting nuclear warfare. Such would cause much unemployment around Cape Canaveral, Florida and throughout California.

There is one thing, however, which young people must realize — namely, that the demand will be for trained men and women. This means that, to avoid unemployment, all ambitious young people should get a college education.

If this is impossible, young people must at least get a good high school education and take additional evening courses. Parents should count upon this now.

State Government Employs 31,000 Persons

State government last year employed nearly 31,000 persons, the State Civil Service commission reports.

Of the 30,552 persons on the state payroll at year's end, more than two-thirds of them were in three general areas of service: mental health, highways, and health, welfare and employment security.

Mental health units around the state accounted for 10,100 employees. Departments of health, welfare and employment security employed another 5,417 persons, and 4,646 were listed on the highway department payroll.

The year also marked what Commission Chairman George N. Higgins of Ferndale called

"some of the most significant advances of any year since civil service was established by Constitutional amendment 21 years ago."

Agency personnel officers worked with the commission staff to accomplish the first overall revision of the commission rules which affect all classified employees.

The state also entered its first contract to provide group life and health insurance for its employees, similar to policies used in private business.

Automation made its way into the Civil Service department system in 1961. A method of producing employment lists and scoring written tests by machine was designed.

The Commission also instituted a partial tuition program to encourage employees to improve their abilities by training at accredited schools on their own time.

Seasonal changes in employment boosted the average to 31,562 during the year although at the end of the calendar period the figure was down somewhat. The average for the year was an increase of 1,000 from 1960, Higgins said.

Children entering school each fall have their problems. Most of these are small and resolve themselves as soon as the child gets used to his new surroundings, but there are a number which take much longer. Some of these, such as vision irregularities, often take some time to solve because they are not discovered immediately. The State Health department has hopes of eliminating this problem which prevents many children from adjusting to their new life in the classroom.

A vision screening device designed by department technicians is being used commercially for the first time this year to test the sight of large numbers of pre-school children.

It is hoped that widespread use of the machine can be gained within a few years to catch sight problems before children reach the stage where they are causing a teacher difficulty which is not easily diagnosed.

Previously the limited ability of pre-school children to communicate, the lack of an effective vision testing device frustrated efforts to check the sight of youngsters.

The new screening device, designed for use with three-year-olds and older children, avoids the use of concepts such as up, down, right and left — which are often confusing to a child in these years.

Instead of these abstract terms, the youngsters are asked whether the letter "E" is pointing to a rabbit, flower, clouds, or grass.

Another technique developed by the Department gives the child an opportunity to become familiar with the idea. A replica of the testing device is sent to parents of children to be tested. They are encouraged to teach their child the "game" on which they will be tested.

Experiments with the machine showed nearly 6 per cent of the youngsters screened were referred to their eye doctor because of possible defects. Half of these failed the test and the others were referred because of symptoms such as squinting or watery eyes.

Officials who developed the machine said the three-year-old testing age was set because of the advantages of working with this group. They more readily need glasses or a patch to strengthen weak eyes than other age groups, either older or younger.

The Constitutional Convention will not officially be concluded until after its scheduled August 1 session to approve the final printed version, but Secretary Fred I. Chase has compiled an interesting note on the proceedings during the bulk of the meetings.

Convention delegates worked a total of 70,344 man hours in formal sessions. This compilation did not include the thousands of hours in the early weeks last fall when only brief formal meetings were held but long hours were spent in committee rooms.

Many of the work hours were accumulated during the final 16 days prior to the May 11 adjournment.

Dr. Mudd Replies

Seek Psychotherapist's Aid

Dear Dr. Mudd:

My sister has just come back to us from the hospital at Lexington, Kentucky where she was treated for addiction to heroin. We want to know what we can do to keep her off the "junk."

This is all very new to us and we don't know where to turn for information or advice. I had never even heard the name "heroin" until a couple of months ago when the police called to say that my sister had been picked up during a narcotics raid and was in jail.

I went down early the next morning and I never saw such a pitiful sight. She was sick, you could tell. There was sweat on her forehead and she had just awful cramps, and she kept begging anybody that came around for a "fix."

I know now that she was having withdrawal symptoms, but at the time I must admit that I thought the police were just being brutal by not getting her to a doctor right away. She was so different I hardly recognized her. She was like a hungry animal who had only one thing on its mind.

We were pretty close to each other, but when she was this way she didn't have time for anyone but herself. It was pretty horrible. I didn't even know she had been taking dope, but it turned out she had been for well over a year.

Since she was a first offender, they released her to go to the U.S.P.H.S. at Lexington.

Now she is back with us, and she is just like she was before all this happened. She has her old job back and she seems o.k. to us, but what shall we do now? How should we treat her? Are there any precautions we should take? What made her an addict in the first place? D.M.

Dear D.M.:

It appears that up to this point your sister has received the very best in treatment for her addiction problem. The U.S.P.H.S. hospital at Lexington, Kentucky is world renowned and a model institution.

Unfortunately, a large percentage of addicts return to their addiction even after they have been treated by the most modern methods. Addiction is a very common problem but the seriousness of it depends upon the substance to which one is addicted. The most frequent addiction is to tobacco, followed by alcohol, barbiturates, and narcotics in decreasing order.

These addicts all serve, each in their own way, to fill an indescribable feeling of longing or hunger. Because they satisfy these inner hungers, people often become dependent upon them.

Narcotics are unique because in addition to the psychological dependence which develops, there are varying degrees of physical dependencies as well. Heroin is notorious in this regard and the physical dependence that develops in the addict increases the difficulty of breaking the spiral of an ever increasing demand for the drug. In the United States, heroin is only obtainable through illegal criminal sources or for medical research purposes, but in many countries of the world it is readily obtainable.

I should think it essential that your sister seek to understand the particular reasons she became addicted to heroin in the first place. She has not been cured despite all appearances, for the urge, the hunger, the craving — whatever you want to call it, for the relief she gets from heroin is lying in wait ready to spring at her at any time.

She should see a psychotherapist; a psychiatrist who treats people not by drugs (it seems to me she has had enough of these!) but by helping them come to an understanding of their inner and unrecognized drives and motives.

There is no work more difficult than psychotherapy and its successful undertaking requires tenacity and the motivation of many posesses. And even if your sister is motivated to seek for herself this help, you can expect the treatment to extend for a long time.

For the roots of addiction reach back to the very earliest phase of life — so early in fact that there is little memory from this period of living to be recalled. As a consequence, much of it has to be reconstructed by the physician who would be treating her. I suggest she ask her family physician for the name of a psychiatrist who is especially trained in the technique of psychotherapy.

Sincerely,
Sander Mudd, M.D.
