

Proposed Post Office Snarled by Conflict, Confusion

BY BILL SLIGER

One day, perhaps not soon, Northville will open a new post office. And on this occasion officials may recall with some measure of humor the trials and tribulations that led to its being.

But today — for those dedicated citizens who are honestly striving to bring about this new facility in the interests of community improvement — there is no joy in Northville.

The proposed new post office is snarled in a web of misunderstanding and confusion that may prove fatal and at the least will serve to delay the project indefinitely.

It is doubtful that any one individual could present a wholly accurate resume of the details that have led up to the present impasse. But with a conviction that this is an important addition to the community, and one that basically belongs to the people of the entire area, an explanation and appeal for settlement of differences seems in order.

Today two letters from official sources in the community bearing conflicting opinions are in the hands of district post office authorities charged with the responsibility of recommending a local site.

One describes the southwest corner of Wing and Cady streets "best suited to meet the needs of the total community."

The second labels the site entirely unsatisfactory.

The first letter was drafted following a recent meeting of the city council, township officials and representatives of local businessmen.

It was followed by a letter from the postmaster, who had not attended the meeting and did not agree with the conclusion. It is impossible to understand how communications in such a small area can become so confused.

Yet it is the firm conviction of this writer that both "sides" in the post office controversy have attempted to reach agreement — and honestly believed that they had succeeded just as the branch became its widest.

Here's the history, as accurately as we know it.

Four sites were originally considered. At the outset (last winter) the city council and planning commission announced a preference for Cady-Wing.

The Retail Merchants Association and Postmaster Leland Smith filed a strong preference for the southwest corner of Main and Center streets or the Main street lot across from the P&A Theatre (called the Stone lot). The fourth site considered was on Cady street directly behind the Stone lot.

It would seem accurate to report that the counter-action taken by the latter group was partially prompted by the failure of the council or planners to consult postal or business interests before expressing a preference.

Recognizing this, the council then attempted to bring about harmony. Finally, a letter was drafted that essentially assured authorities who would make the final choice that there would be no protests to the selection, whatever determination might be made.

Everyone agreed that the construction of a new post office was the most important consideration, and that site was secondary.

Finally, it appeared that the sites had been narrowed down to two — the Stone lot on Main street and Cady-Wing.

At this point the city council was called upon in an official letter from district post office authorities to report if any objections (zoning or otherwise) existed to the Stone lot. In its response the council reported that it had considered purchase of the lot for public parking (and possible future commercial development).

Postmaster Smith considered this action a breach of the previous understanding that the final choice would be left to district authorities. Therefore, he reported preference for the Stone lot over the Cady-Wing site.

In an attempt to find grounds for compromise another site was introduced — two lots adjacent to the A&P on Main street, one vacant and the other containing an apartment house. District postal authorities stated that this was the only other possibility within the community.

Not all individuals concerned with the project were willing to accept this compromise, but no official protest was lodged.

As time passed and little progress was apparent, concern mounted that the project had been shelved. Finally, it was reported that the compromise site had been rejected because of cost.

By then it was June and the building season was waning. A meeting was called and all interested parties invited. Unfortunately, local post office officials were unable to attend but it was reported that they now considered site secondary to the construction of a post office.

With the history of the issue explained at the meeting those in attendance concluded that a letter should be sent immediately advising postal authorities, as well as our elected representative in Washington, that all was now accord in Northville.

And with the information that indicated all sites except the Cady-Wing lot eliminated, the group decided to point out its endorsement of this specific location.

It was later reported that the A&P site had been completely eliminated. Furthermore, Postmaster Smith vehemently objected to the letter's reference to the Cady-Wing site. He explained that he had agreed that obtaining a post office was most important at this point, but that it was his understanding that no preference of site would be indicated. Last week he so informed district postal authorities in a letter condemning the Cady-Wing site.

Advocates of the Cady-Wing site believe it will serve to develop an attractive civic center including a new city hall, recreation building, and library, as well as post office. They believe that the Stone lot would be more valuable for commercial use and that the A&P site would create traffic problems because of its sloping terrain.

Those opposing Cady-Wing point out that it is not convenient to shoppers in the downtown area, that it is in a residential area and that it, too, may create traffic problems in conjunction with school traffic.

Postmaster Smith has also stated that it is outside the center area of the community so far as postal service is concerned.

Personally, we have no strong feelings as to location. We would agree, however, that the Stone lot could become more valuable as a potential business site.

The important thing now is that all interested parties meet — face to face — and reach an understanding — either to agree or disagree.

The barrage of contradictions reaching authorities outside the community can only serve to settle the project.

It should be possible for individuals equally interested in the welfare of the community to compromise their differences.

If it is not, then so inform district postal authorities. Let each side state the constructive reasons for his preference. Then accept the decision and move ahead to other projects.

Top Horses Meet At Downs Friday

Northville Downs officials are looking to an outstanding "double header" attraction Friday night to boost its lagging mutual handle and produce the biggest attendance of the season.

More than 10,000 fans are expected to be on hand to watch Duke Rodney, the nation's finest trotter, and Rusty Range, the greatest homebred pacer in Michigan history.

The Duke, who was voted the top three-year-old of 1961 even though he didn't win the coveted Hambletonian, is even better as a four. In fact, he's so brilliant at the moment that he may hold down the entry in Friday's $10,000 added HTA trot, first leg of the nationwide series that ends with a $50,000 finale in New York City in late September.

Northville has the distinction of staging the first of the HTA trotting series. Racing Secretary Bill Connors is looking forward to a field of eight or 10 of the fastest four-year-olds, including the Duke who arrived at the 'Downs on Monday.

He set a track standard at Chicago's Sportsman Park 10 days ago when he was clocked in 2:00.1 in winning the $50,000 American-National stake. The Duke's share was $30,000, boosting his 1962 earnings to $105,727. He won by seven lengths.

Pitted against him in the HTA at Northville will be Harlan Dean, 1961 Hambletonian king; Matastar (2:00.1); Castleton Farm's Orbiter (2:01.4); Pigeon Hanover (2:01.3); Claire Sampson (2:00.3); Darn Dandy (2:01.2); Winnie's Pride (2:00.4); and Air Medal (1:59.4).

Then in the secondary feature, the three-year-old place stake of the Michigan Colt series, Rusty, who has won his last eight, will go after No. 9 as the odds-on favorite. Nohe has been close to Rusty all season even though he continues his now-patented style of coming from far back to win.

Rusty won two last week at Lake Odessa, each time moving up from as much as 20 lengths back of the leader at the half.

The Down's mutual handle made something of a comeback last week, although it is still four per cent behind last year's pace.

The current average nightly handle is $219,146 compared to $229,149 last year.

Last week the night before the July Fourth holiday produced a mutual handle of $287,431, while Friday and Saturday nights betting totalled $267,818 and $278,534, respectively.

Mrs. E. H. Lapham Dies Here at 87

Funeral services for a descendant of one of Northville's pioneer families were held Monday afternoon from Casterline Funeral home.

Mrs. Ethelwyn Dubuar Lapham, widow of Banker Edward H. Lapham, died last Friday at the age of 87.

She resided at 239 High street and had been in failing health recently.

Mr. Lapham, who passed away more than a decade ago, was the founder of the Lapham State Savings bank, which combined assets with Northville state bank following the "bank holiday" in the thirties to form the Depositors State Savings.

Mrs. Lapham's family was among the early settlers in Northville. Her great-grandfather, the Rev. Marcus Swift, was the first minister of the Methodist church here. Her grandfather, the Rev. James Dubuar, was the first regular minister of the Presbyterian church. Mrs. Lapham was active in the church as organist and Sunday school teacher from childhood.

After studying at the University of Michigan school of music she became the first music teacher in the Northville public schools. She was also a member and past-president of the Northville Woman's club.

Surviving Mrs. Lapham are her daughter, Mrs. E. A. Chapman, and one grandson, Greig L. Chapman.

The Rev. Dr. Frank Pitt, retired Presbyterian minister of Birmingham, and the Rev. Dr. Fred Harold Fredsell, formerly pastor at Northville's First Presbyterian church, officiated at the services. Interment was at Rural Hill cemetery.

Wash-Oak Casts Vote For 7-8 Grades Here

It was a "quiet" meeting, far different than the stormy session that prompted a call to State Police a month ago.

More than 50 persons filled the one-room Wash-Oak school Friday evening (in Salem township), heard a brief discussion by Washtenaw county school officials, and then in an orderly fashion voted 34 to 20 to send seventh-grade students to Northville.

But the special meeting, which resulted from petitioning by school district citizens, may very well have been the calm before the storm.

Storm clouds began to form when the special meeting officially ended and residents stayed behind to question the superintendent and his deputy. These three issues sparked the stormy forecast:

—Uncertainty as to whether or not the Wash-Oak school board will carry out the mandate of the election;

—Signing by some 25 residents of a petition asking for the recall of Board President Louis Wallenmaier;

—A possibility that recall petitions will be circulated for the remaining two members of the board.

The two-dozen residents who remained at the school following the election meeting voiced fear that the board would not "follow through" on the election results by officially informing Northville school officials of the election results thereby authorizing the enrollment of seventh and eighth graders at Northville.

County Superintendent Julius Haab then explained that the board had no other recourse, that failure to act by the board would constitute a violation of law, and could lead to a court battle.

The superintendent said the only remaining function of his office will be to officially inform the board of the election results.

The next step, he said, is up to the board, and if the board fails to act then, it will be up to the district residents to decide whether or not to start legal action.

Citizens signed the petition asking for Wallenmaier's recall after their discussion with Haab. Drawn up by Loren Campbell, an Ann Arbor attorney, the petition was first considered following the annual meeting last month. However, circulation of the petition was postponed at that time, although a second petition asking for the special meeting and election was submitted to county officials.

Haab said Monday he had not received the recall petitions. Under the law, Haab was forced to recognize the election petition and, because the board would not recognize it, he or someone else in his office had to chair the meeting.

In opening the meeting, Haab's deputy, Howard Thayer, gave these statistics:

The tuition costs for sending 14 pupils to Northville next fall (this includes two seventh graders) will be $4,555. Some $4,200 was budgeted for this purpose. But because of state aid increase, an additional $500 will be available for tuition.

The millage rate will increase from 7.6 this year to 8.3 next year, he said, not because the budget is higher but because of the valuation of the school district is lower.

Wallenmaier, who along with the other two board members were present in an unofficial capacity, questioned the accuracy of Thayer's tuition cost figures, indicating that Northville had stated costs will increase next fall. The deputy superintendent replied saying the figures were obtained from Northville and could be documented.

Wallenmaier made only this one comment during the entire election meeting.

This week, however, he announced that he would challenge the legality of the special election meeting.

Following the explanation of costs, Floyd Taylor, Dean Honsinger, and Leonard Wurster were sworn in as election tellers and the ballot vote was taken.

The proposition contained on the ballot read: "Shall grades 7 and 8 in said school district be discontinued (closed) for year 1962-63 and the children of said grades 7 and 8 be sent to the Northville Public Schools, Northville, Michigan."

Haab officially closed the election meeting, but stayed behind at a citizen's request to answer questions. Nearly half of the residents left, including two board members. Mrs. Sarah Bryant, secretary, was the lone member to remain.

During the ensuing discussion the secretary was asked if the board would "follow through" on the election matter. She said she was unable to answer the question until after conferring with fellow board members.

New Homesite Area Plans First Sewer System in Township

A major home development in Northville township — the first ever to provide sanitary sewer facilities outside the city limits — is scheduled to get underway this fall.

Subdivision plats for Shad Brook and Edenderry developments, both located south of West Seven Mile road and east of Valencia avenue, have had preliminary approval of the township board.

Shad Brook, a 66-home development, is owned and will be constructed by the John Northrup company.

Edenderry is owned by Walter Couse and is planned for 33 homesites.

The Northrup area, which contains 45 acres and will feature $28,000 to $40,000 homes on lots ranging from one-third to 2 1/4 acres, is exactly east of Valencia, one of the entrance roads, and south of Seven Mile road. The Couse property, which will have access from Seven Mile road, adjoins the Northrup parcel on the east.

A stream, rolling terrain and an abundance of trees mark the area as one of the most beautiful in the community. Both Northrup and Couse have indicated that every effort will be made to maintain and take advantage of this natural beauty in developing the community of homes.

Northrup's plans call for faster development than the Couse area. Both, however, plan installation of lateral sewer lines beginning September 1. The Middle Rouge interceptor line runs through the area.

Northrup plans installation of paved roads at the same time and expects to build his first homes beginning October 1.

A Northville builder, Northrup has constructed many homes in the area and developed Taft Colony, also in the township area. He estimates the total valuation of the Shad Brook development at over $2 million. Northrup reports that early response by prospective homebuilders has been enthusiastic. Twelve sites have already been sold, he stated.

Couse, owner of a major industrial construction firm in Detroit, plans slower development of the area that surrounds his own home. Sites will be mostly one acre with a total of 33 homes planned for the 53-acre area.

There is a possibility that water, as well as sewer facilities, will be available in the area. The city of Plymouth main runs through the property and it has been indicated that water rights for permitting the line through the area may be available.

Moving to provide for anticipated subdivision development in the area (see story above), the Northville township board adopted two ordinances last week to provide for management, operation, maintenance and regulation of sewage disposal and water systems.

Previously, the board had named three members to a water and sewer commission. The authority of the three-member commission is set forth in the new ordinances.

Serving on this commission are Supervisor George Clark, Clerk Marguerite Northup and Trustee Alex Lawrence.

It will become their duty to make recommendations for water and sewer facility specifications to the township board for approval.

Presently, the township has no lateral sewer system. Seventeen residents of the township are tapped into the Middle Rouge Interceptor sewer, Supervisor Clark noted.

Eventually, however, the township will have both sewer and water systems (the latter source presumably coming from Detroit) requiring rules and regulations for use.

"We knew of impending developments that will have sewer facilities and realized we must be ready for this," Supervisor Clark explained.

Complete text of both ordinances appears on page four, section two

Try This Lo-Cal Luncheon

Despite the help and encouragement given by pills, mixtures, vibrating machines and group therapy sessions, dieting is a constant struggle.

Nevertheless the number of American men and women using these devices is growing at a rapid rate. Northville's TOPS (that's Take Off Pounds Sensibly) club reports that there are 125 of them in the organization in Michigan — 43 of them right here in the Detroit area. Total national membership number is 30,000.

All struggling weight-watchers who feel their "battle of the bulge" must be the hardest can look at the example set by Mrs. William Schief, 4549 Six Mile road, Northville.

A leader in both the Northville and Plymouth TOPS, Mrs. Schief manages to stay on her low-calorie diet while at the same time cooking for her husband and five growing children.

Her family is making it less difficult, however, and is beginning to enjoy some of her diet dishes. (She says they accidentally discovered one of the items in the refrigerator and found it delicious!)

Mrs. Schief explains that TOPS has aided her in cooking more sensibly. Many of the starch and fried foods are now eliminated from her family's menu.

TOPS club members eagerly await their low calorie luncheon which often feature Mrs. Schief's creations.

Mrs. Schief stressed the fact that TOPS luncheons are only occasional events — occurring whenever the club wins a weight-loss contest, a member reaches her goal and at special picnics and Christmas parties. Mrs. Schief adds that she hopes others will enjoy these low-calorie treats as much as TOPS members do.

This Friendly Blackbird Likes Living with People

Friends of the John Begles, 41700 Nine Mile road, could vouch for the fact that the Begle home just hasn't been the same since "Pee Wee" arrived.

Who's "Pee Wee"? Ardent birdwatchers would call her a quiscalus quiscalus. But for simplicity's sake most people refer to the eight-inch-long specimen as a Grackle or crow blackbird.

The excitement began two months ago when daughter Lucy Byard, 13, found a tiny featherball on the Begle front lawn. With the help of sixteen-year-old brother, Mark, (and, of course, Mrs. Begle), Lucy began to care for the orphan "Pee Wee".

As is the case with many animal projects, care of the bird was soon turned over to Mrs. Begle. "I was conned into it," admits Mrs. Begle. "And ever since, she's ('Pee Wee') been quite a problem."

Problem number one was food. Mrs. Begle soon discovered that since the Grackle is rarely kept in captivity, no one knew just what to feed the bird. So the experiments began. And with the caution of a chemist Mrs. Begle finally came up with this formula: a mixture of dog food, shaved liver and hard-boiled egg yolk. "Pee Wee" enjoyed it so much that she begged for a meal every half hour.

Then came the Begles' second major difficulty. Because of her frequent feeding hours, and the threat of cats, "Pee Wee" could not be left alone. And with a family that's as "on-the-go" as the Begles this created quite a problem.

Mrs. Begle soon found her show — the Begles have two self-calling off appointments, show horses — they had to hunt meetings just to stay and feedup a babysitter (bird siller, the Grackle. When the entire that is) family had to travel to a horse Imagine teen-age neighbor

Sue Burtham's surprise when she was asked to sit for "Pee Wee"!

Not wanting to give up too much for the bird Mrs. Begle hauled her to a Garden Club board meeting. "Once she went right along with me to the hairdresser's", chuckled Mrs. Begle.

As "Pee Wee" began to grow older she found more and more of her own food. Constant attention became no longer necessary — to the relief of her new family.

"Penny" — the Begles' beagle — also helped matters by chasing away the neighborhood cats.

The days passed and "Pee Wee" became even more responsive. Mrs. Begle feels that the pet is more attentive than the family dogs.

"We've found that she is amusing, affectionate and intelligent — qualities we didn't think existed in the so-called common backyard birds."

Even though she taught herself to fly (she's been banded) and now travels into the neighbors' yards, "Pee Wee" still makes her home at the Begles'. And believe it or not, she comes "a flying" whenever they give a good clear whistle.

When she isn't perched high on someone's shoulder — calling into his ear, "Pee Wee" strolls beside her masters as they walk to and from the backyard barn. Up until recently their feathered friend slept on the Begle's front porch. But since warmer weather has arrived she's started to camp out under the stars.

The only two members of the Begle family that are slightly leary of the new addition are the two dogs. Aside from having pangs of jealousy, the dogs are a little afraid of their feathered sister.

Just the other day "Pee Wee" proved her might by attacking one of the dogs when he tried to steal her cigarettes.

No — "Pee Wee" hasn't actually taken up the smoking habit — but she does play with cigarettes. Mrs. Begle tells of "Pee Wee" taking them out of the package one by one and then carefully pulling them apart. Despite the fact that the Begles are becoming attached to "Pee Wee" they realize that she should begin to migrate and return to her natural habitat.

"My husband asked me just the other day if she had found any little bird friends yet," said Mrs. Begle.

"Pee Wee" apparently doesn't take the same view of the situation and seems to prefer human beings over her fellow Grackles.

OPEN WIDE — "Pee Wee", the John Begle family's pet Grackle, doesn't have to be coaxed to dinner. He likes the silver spoon treatment he's receiving here from Mrs. Begle.

Sue Burtham's surprise when she was asked to sit for "Pee Wee"!

Not wanting to give up too much for the bird Mrs. Begle hauled her to a Garden Club board meeting. "Once she went right along with me to the hairdresser's", chuckled Mrs. Begle.

As "Pee Wee" began to grow older she found more and more of her own food. Constant attention became no longer necessary — to the relief of her new family.

STORY HOUR — A dozen children listened last week as many better read the story of 1,000 hats at the Northville P-TA's first story hour of the summer. Mrs. James Norris (far right) watches as the children's expressions change with each new event in the story. Mrs. Norris is in charge of the story hour sessions, which are held each Thursday from 1 to 2 p.m. in the Northville library. The story hours will be held through July and August.

Here's Delicious Parfait That's the Raspberries

Fresh red and black raspberries are available now — so let's enjoy these delicious berries.

When shopping for berries, select ones which are plump and have a bright, clean, fresh appearance combined with a solid full color. Good berries are free from dirt, trash, moisture and adhering caps. Avoid over ripe raspberries — ones which are dull in color, soft and leaky. Such fruit is wasteful and not always desirable.

Don't buy wet berries. The moisture causes berries to mold and decay more rapidly. Stained berry boxes mean over ripe or leaky fruit, so be wary. Berries with the caps attached may be immature. Under ripe fruit lacks the excellent flavor of a good berry.

Raspberries may be used in many ways — fresh eating, pies, dessert ideas, jams, jellies and preserves.

Fresh raspberries inspire colorful, easy, hot weather desserts. Combined with cookies and sherbet they create a queen of a dessert such as this one.

Raspberry Parfait

1 pt. fresh raspberries
1 6½ ounce package sugar
1 pt. lemon sherbet
wafers, crushed (about 1 cup crumbs)

Crush raspberries, saving a few for garnish (Add a little sugar to taste, if berries are tart.) Layer crushed berries with sugar wafers and lemon sherbet in four parfait glasses. Freeze. Serve with sugar wafers. Makes four servings

MICHIGAN'S FREEWAY SYSTEM

THE GROWTH OF MICHIGAN'S freeway system during the Michigan State Highway Department's first five-year roadbuilding program is shown on these two maps. Five years ago (map at left), Michigan had 101 miles of freeway. Today (map at right), Michigan has 805 miles of freeway open and 329 miles under construction. Contracts for modernization of nearly 4,000 miles of other state highways also were awarded during the last five years.

— Out of the Past —

ONE YEAR AGO

July 13, 1961

—Buoyed by a warm reception from Congressman Martha Griffiths, the Northville city council decided this week to take a definite aim at obtaining federal funds for urban redevelopment. Mayor A.M. Allen appointed Councilman John Canterbury who introduced the idea, to head the project.

—Northville Mayor A.M. Allen Monday night appointed

Councilman John Canterbury to direct the city's efforts to obtain a replacement for City

Manager John Robertson, who has resigned to become manager of Ferguson, Missouri.

—Northville township voters will be asked to approve the creation of a Northville township planning commission when they go to the polls in September to elect delegates to the constitutional convention. The ownership board voted last Wednesday evening to place the proposal on the ballot.

Richard Faulkner, a 25-

-year old Novi man, was appointed to the Novi police force

Monday night after long-time candidate Leon Dochot was blocked because of new evidence that he is a blood relative of a council member. The new patrolman was appointed after council president Pro-Tem Dean Lenheiser

produced a certified photostat

of Dochot's birth registration showing him to be a half brother of Councilwoman Miss Eugenie Choquet.

—An attorney general's ruling this week knocked out any chance of Novi spending the $68,000 donated by the Power estate for development of a park. Instead the money goes to the state for purchase of land for a park.

FIVE YEARS AGO

July 11, 1957

—Novi's July Fourth celebration was marred by what some termed "a damn strong wind,"

but what the weather officials finally agreed must have been a tornado. At least one home was left roofless, dozens of trees were upended and traffic was jammed — "the worst in Michigan history" — by trees that were blown down across

Grand River avenue, Novi and Taft roads.

—State highway officials this week began looking toward early completion of the new Farmington Brighton expressway which cuts through the heart of Novi Highway commissioner

John Mackie has placed the four-lane highway at the top of the priority list.

—A 16-year-old Detroit youth who would not admit to friends

he was a weak swimmer drowned in Walled Lake Friday afternoon when he tried to swim to a raft he could not reach.

—Wixom will vote next week on its proposed village charter and select six councilmen and a council president. There are

15 candidates for the council posts and three for the president's position.

—Thirteen Northville merchants unanimously agreed

Tuesday evening that the financial burden of providing off-street parking should be shared by both the city and businessmen. Meeting with the city council, the members of the Retail Merchants association called for a joint committee to work on a long-range program to provide parking facilities.

—Nearly 100 young riders will saddle up in Northville Sunday afternoon for a "dust-kin", bronc-bustin' rodeo. The Northville Optimist rodeo and junior horse show will feature everything from crack drill

Justice Has Traffic Cases

Fines and court costs totaling $214 were levied recently in 11 Justice of the Peace court traffic violations.

Clarence Spencer, 52, of 442 10 11 Mile road, was ordered to pay $50 after he pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving.

Lonnie W. McQueen, 21, pleaded guilty and was fined $19 for driving without due care and caution, resulting in an accident.

Raymond J. Reader, 48, of Howell, was ordered to pay $3 after he was found guilty by Justice Robert K. Anderson of a charge of reckless driving.

Richard J. King, 20, of Highland, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving without due care and caution, and was ordered to pay $50.

Eunice Roney, 31, of Ferndale, paid $25 and was sentenced to two days in jail after pleading guilty to driving on a revoked license.

Bennie C. Robinson, 25, of Detroit, was sentenced to two concurrent two-day terms in jail for charges of failure to transfer license plates to a correct automobile and driving without a license. He pleaded guilty to both violations.

Culling R. Chapman, 49, of 7545 Pontiac trail, paid $35 and was ordered to spend two days in jail after pleading guilty to driving while his license was revoked.

In other action, Wilma McDaniel, 27, of Detroit, paid $75 and was placed on six months probation for being a disorderly person at the Walled Lake amusement park.

James R. Turner, 25, of 1538 West Lake drive, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 for a charge of being a disorderly person.

COMPLETE LANDSCAPING — The Methodist church property on the southwest corner of Dunlap and Center streets took on a new look last week as member of the Methodist Men's club completed their landscaping project for the area. The corner was sodded and several planter boxes were installed. Also added were a row of small trees and a low fence along the south side of the grass. Green Ridge Nursery donated part of the shrubbery.

Go-Cart Accident is Only Cloud On Bright July 4th Celebration

"Biggest crowd I've ever seen in Northville", one spectator commented as he watched the Fourth of July parade go by.

Some estimates place crowds for the afternoon parade and evening fireworks display at near 10,000 people.

Whatever the size, the Junior Chamber of Commerce promotion was a whopping success.

Activities started at 10 a.m. in the morning and continued throughout the day until the hour-long fireworks at 9 p.m.

And only an accident involving Northville Police Sergeant Frank Heintz and a racing go-cart marred the celebration. It occurred in the Kroger store parking during the warm-up session and resulted in the cancelling of all races.

Heintz walked over to the low railing on the north side of the parking lot to warn a race watcher that sitting on the rail might be dangerous.

As the officer had his back to the racers, a fan shouted a warning and Heintz leaped into the air. When he came down, one of the small racers, driven by 13-year-old Daley Hill, clipped Heintz in the leg and sent him tumbling over the rail.

He received a badly bruised leg and a facial bruise as he tumbled down the six-foot bank on the other side of the rail. The race fan also received a bump on the leg.

Police report that a broken tie rod caused the youthful driver to lose control of his cart.

None of the injuries were reported as serious, but Heintz will be off the job for about 10 days.

In events conducted during the day Chairman Karl Knott reported that Chet Hines had won first place prizes in both the 1 1/2 and 3 mile bicycle race, while Maurice Giles copied the walking contest.

A bicycle awaits Mark Joslin, winner of the "balloon in orbit" contest. A card bearing his name which had been attached to a balloon was returned from Yonkers, New York.

But Joslin listed no telephone, and Knott stated that the address on the card is no longer legible.

So if Mark Joslin will report to the Jaycees, he can collect his prize.

Prizes were also awarded for the best decorated bicycles, while The Record float was awarded a plaque for best parade float.

For pictures and more details of the celebration, see page one, section two.

Here Are Answers To CD Self-Help Quiz

How well protected you, your family or your neighbors may be in the event of an atomic attack will probably depend upon your knowledge of the correct precautions to take.

A special course in civil defense and medical self-help planned for this fall will give Northville area residents an opportunity to increase their knowledge of what to do in case of radiation.

The training program, which will begin September 12, is planned as one step toward better preparing this area for disasters and developing an adequate civil defense plan.

The 12-week course will be held Wednesday evenings. Those interested in the cost-free program should contact civilian defense Director Bruce Potthoff or advisory committee Chairman William Milne.

The answers to the questions presented last week about medical self-help procedures are:

1. D (bloody discharge from ears).

2. A (mouth-to-mouth).
3. D (a covered well).
4. D (try boiled water beginning two hours after vomiting has ceased).
5. B (administer a remedy to settle his stomach).

Youths Draw Court Fines

Charges involving reckless driving, minors in possession of alcoholic beverages, and fleeing from the police were levied against three youths in Justice of the Peace Charles McDonauld's court Thursday.

Fined $35, $10 costs or 5 days for reckless driving was Donald Frazer, 20, of 55000 West SIX Mile road. In addition he was ordered to pay $15, $5 costs or 2 days for possessing liquor. One of the two passengers, Ted Lyons, 18, of Detroit was fined the same amount for possessing liquor as a minor.

Vincent Brust of Livonia had to pay $35, $10 costs or serve 10 days because he ran from the police upon being apprehended.

State police chased the youths after they failed to stop at a stop sign on Wednesday, July 4. When they were apprehended at a local parking lot it was discovered that they were minors in possession of liquor. All three pleaded guilty to the charges.

In other court action Thursday, John William Fawcett, who has no permanent address, was found guilty of vagrancy. He chose to leave the city after being ordered to spend 90 days in the Detroit House of Correction if he did not leave.

George Cyle Lively, 216 Church street, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He is currently at the Detroit House of Correction after being ordered to pay $25, $5 costs or spend 10 days in the institution.

In Monday's court session, Richard Mondlin of Detroit was fined $25, $5 in costs or 10 days for reckless driving June 21.

Fireworks Aren't Over

According to the complaints of several Northville residents, the Fourth of July isn't over yet. Police Chief Eugene King says that a number of cases have been reported involving firecrackers being thrown on to the streets and lawns from automobiles.

Offenders are reminded by Chief King that firecrackers are unlawful in the state of Michigan and violators will be prosecuted.

Chief King asks that parents be responsible for keeping the noise-makers — which can be highly dangerous — away from their children.

Witnesses to Attend Jackson Convention

Mr. C. Carson Coonce, president of the Jehovah's Witnesses, announced that the Plymouth Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will be among the more than 100 congregations invited to assemble in Jackson this summer.

The event will be a district assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses scheduled for July 27-29 at the Jackson County Fairgrounds. This is one of a series of 58 such gatherings this summer and fall in North America. There will be many more around the world. "We are expecting about 7,000 to be in Jackson," Mr. Coonce stated.

The conventions are sponsored and arranged by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Brooklyn, New York. The series will be based on the theme, "Courageous Ministers". "We feel that the theme of this convention is especially appropriate," Mr. Coonce said. "It is becoming increasingly difficult to have the courage to exercise Christian principles and maintain a Christian stand in these turbulent and materialistic times," he said.

Bunker Wins Golfing Event

Some 75 Detroit area track workers held their annual golf and dinner outing Sunday at Glen Oaks country club. Guest of the day was former Jockey Eddie Arcaro, whose 82 was high for jockeys.

Prizes of about $500 went to trackmen. Northville Downs Clerk Harold Bunker's 73 nosed out Sportservice's Ray Hartner, of Northville, who shot a 74. Hartner had won the same tournament last year with an identical 74.

Jaycees' Fourth of July Celebration Attracts Thousands

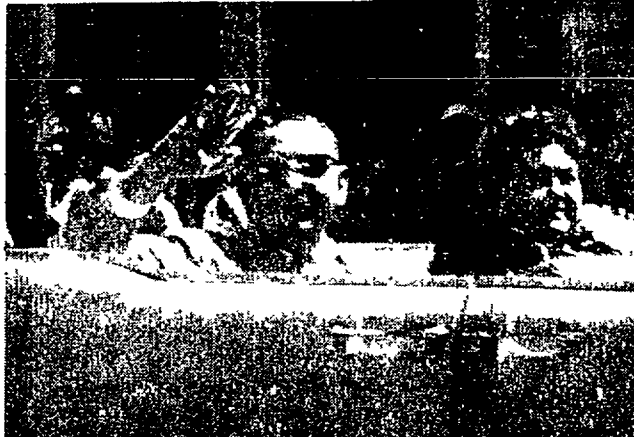

HONORARY Parade Marshal was Joe Denton, former chief of police for the city of Northville.

CONGRESSWOMAN Martha Griffiths, popular U.S. Representative from the 17th congressional district, addressed the Independence crowd following the parade. State Senator Raymond Dziedzic also addressed the crowd at Ford Field, as did young Mitt Romney (subbing for his Dad) and James F. O'Neil, GOP primary candidate for 17th district congressman.

A SHIRT-SLEEVE George Romney bubbled enthusiasm and brought the greatest response from the crowd as he stood and waved from his compact convertible. The industrialist-turned-politician proved himself a capable salesman by persuading his son to address the crowd following the parade (see Speaking for the Record, back page).

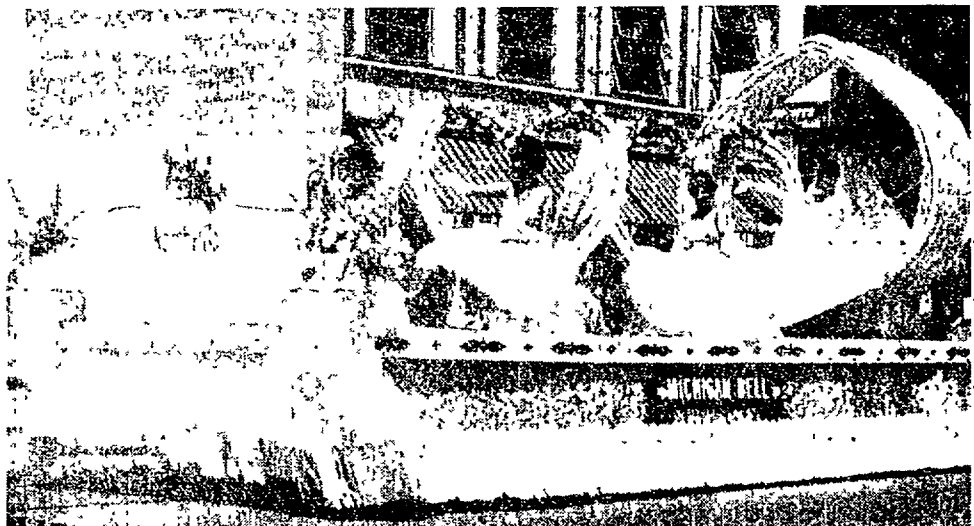

A WAVE from His Honor, Mayor A. M. Allen and Mrs. Allen. Other local officials participating in the parade were Councilmembers Richard Ambler and Beatrice Carlson, City Manager Bruce Potthoff, and Township Supervisor, George Clark and Clerk Marguerite Northup.

THE HIGH STEPPING and arm-swinging Royal Canadian Sea Cadets proved to be crowd favorites as they marched in cadence to the rolling drums.

CIVIL WAR days were recalled by the Loomis Battery of Light Artillery, formed to commemorate Michigan's participation in the 100-year-ago war between the states.

ONE OF THE MOST attractive floats was the Michigan Bell Telephone company entry—complete with pretty girls.

THE CLIMAX to Northville's biggest Fourth of July celebration ever came in the evening when an hour-long fireworks display was enjoyed by thousands. Cars jammed every parking facility throughout the high school area and lined adjoining streets as spectators "oohed and aahed" at the colorful bursts.

MISS JUNIOR MISS — Mary Ellen Pike, Michigan's Jaycee Queen, took part in Northville's Fourth of July festivities atop an open convertible. She was followed by Miss Northville Jaycee, Judy Lonn, and her court of nine high school Jaycee queens.

BEST WALKERS — Maurlee Giles out-walked the field in the morning 1½-mile walking contest. But in close pursuit were the Shoner sisters, Judy and Jackie.

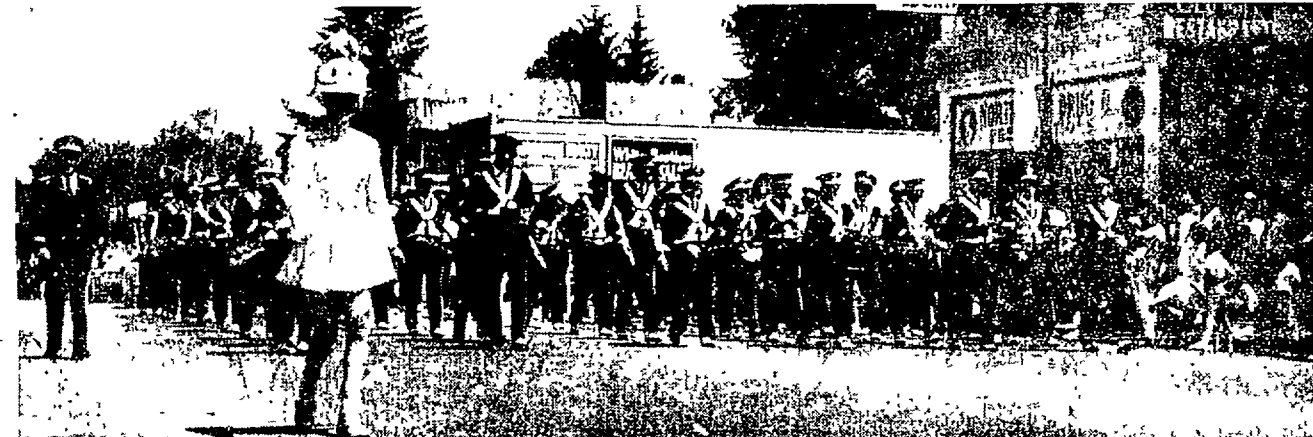

HERE IT COMES — The curb made waiting a little more comfortable for the parade crowd.

ROARING ALONG and keeping pace with the parade by driving in circles were the speedy go-carts.

A CROWD estimated up to 10,000 men, women and children lined the parade route from South Main street to Rogers at West Main and finally up to Dunlap and back to Ford Field.

MUSIC was provided by the Northville high school marching band as well as the Sherwood Children's band of Canada and the Royal Windsor band.

FLOAT WINNER — The Record's mock wedding in which everyone but the bride was reading The Record won the parade's "best float" plaque.

Freedom from enslavement to every kind is available through spiritual understanding of the mighty power of God. This is the encouraging theme of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God" which will be presented at Christian Science churches Sunday.

Bible readings will include this verse (Revelation 11): "We give thee thanks, O Lord God Almighty, which art, and wast, and art to come; because thou hast taken to thee thy great power, and hast reigned."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this selection will also be read (p.228): "The enslavement of man is not legitimate. It will cease when man enters into his heritage of freedom, his God-given dominion over the material senses. Mortals will some day assent their freedom in the name of Almighty God."

Mrs. William Bingley of Baseline road spoke regarding the building of the sidewalk on the east side of North Center street. She was assured that no decision on this would be made before the July 2nd Council meeting. As a result of this discussion it was decided that the City Manager would make a report including figures on accidents before and since the removal of the 3-way stop at N. Center and Baseline road, alternative plans and possibly consult the school regarding this and handling of traffic in this area.

Mr. Sid Frid spoke regarding the communications he has received from Oakland County and Mr. Alexander regarding the sewer contract between Oakland and Wayne County.

BIDS FOR POLICE CAR

Council asked that proceedings to vacate the various properties concerned in this matter be instituted.

The City Manager reported he had talked to Mr. Ed White, successful bidder on North Center street paving, and that he would like to start paving the latter part of this week.

Northville, figured at the increased amount asked by Mr. Willard, averages 62 1/2 cents per pickup per month (1800) pickups. Council asked the City Manager to write specifications for this contract and advertise for bids. Consider one and three-year contract, and also have them bid for one commercial pickup and for two.

APPOINTMENTS for the Planning Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals

The City Manager is to check these lists and determine if the incumbents will reconsider reappointments and talk to chairmen of each group, come to next council meeting with the vacancies to be filled.

The owners of all houses, buildings or properties used for human occupancy, employment, recreation or other purposes, situated within the Township of Northville, and abutting on any street, alley, right of way or easement in which there is located or may in the future be located a public sanitary or combined sewer of the Northville Township Sewage Disposal System are hereby required, at their own expense to install suitable toilet facilities therein, and to connect such facilities directly to such sewer in accordance with the rules and regulations provided therefor within ninety (90) days after official notice to do so.

SPEAKING for The Record

by Bill Sliger

Everyone agreed — Northville's July Fourth celebration was the best ever seen around these parts.

And as any casual observer could determine, such an undertaking requires more than a week's preparation and costs something greater than the average Jaycee organization's budget.

But Northville doesn't have "an average" Junior Chamber of Commerce. In size it's below average (and could use more members); in determination and ambition it's a giant.

With Karl Knott doing the pushing as general chairman the Northville Jaycees sponsored a half-dozen fund-raising projects (balloon in orbit, Miss Junior Miss contest, canister drive, etc.) to collect enough money to sponsor the event.

And it started making plans and inviting marching units, floats, dignitaries, etc., immediately following last year's event.

To the credit of the Jaycees it can be said that they worked for every penny collected and asked no financial favors from any civic or governmental organization. And when excess funds are realized, they're donated. (Last year the Jaycee house showed netted nearly $1,000 for the proposed recreation building).

To the Jaycees, especially Chairman Knott and his committee of Dick Pullen, Charles Ely, Jr., Stan Gurney, Bob Prom, Bill Sullivan and Paul Palmer, we add our congratulations to all the others.

One of the interesting highlights of the Independence Day celebration was the appearance of 11-year-old Mitt Romney on behalf of his father on the speakers' platform.

The senior Romney had planned to ask his press aide to make apologies for him when it became apparent that Romney was falling behind schedule and would have to leave for Howell.

One of the Jaycees suggested to Romney that his son pinch hit for his dad.

"That's a great idea," said Romney. But when Mitt was informed of the plan, he was less enthusiastic. He pulled his dad aside and for five minutes the two huddled privately.

Finally, Romney announced that Mitt had been "sold." Mitt smiled rather weakly as he pondered his first public appearance on behalf of his campaigning father.

But the handsome youngster scored a victory. In steady voice he thanked Northville for its invitation and said that it was the very first American Fourth of July celebration he'd ever attended. In previous years he had been at the Romney cottage on Lake Huron in Canada.

If Mitt had butterflies, he hid them well.

Speaking of the Fourth of July, I read the following editorial in the Frankenthumb News last week. It strikes me as a pretty accurate description of its subject: "What is an American?"

He yells for the government to balance the budget and then takes the last dime he has to make the down payment on his car.

He whips the enemy nations and then gives 'em the shirt off his back.

He yells for speed laws that will stop fast driving, and then won't buy a car if it won't make 100 miles an hour.

An American gets scared to death if he vote a billion dollars for education — but he's cool as a cucumber when he finds out we're spending three billion dollars a year for smoking tobacco.

He gripes about the high prices of the things he has to buy but gripes still more about the low prices of things he has to sell.

He knows the line-up of every baseball team in the American and National Leagues — and doesn't know half the words in "The Star Spangled Banner."

An American will get mad at his wife for not running their home with the efficiency of a hotel, and then he'll get mad at the hotel for not operating like a home.

He'll spend half a day looking for vitamin pills to make him live longer — then drive 90 miles an hour on slick pavement to make up for the time he lost.

An American is a man who will fall out with his wife over her cooking and then go on a fishing trip and swallow half-fried potatoes, burnt fish, and gritty creek water coffee made in a rusty gallon bucket — and think it is good.

An American will work hard on a farm so he can move into town where he can make more money so he can move back to the farm.

When an American is in the office he talks about baseball, football or fishing — when he is out at the games or on the creek bank, he talks about business.

He is the only fellow in the world who will pay 50 cents to park his car while he eats a 25-cent sandwich.

An American likes to cuss his government but gets fighting mad if a foreigner does it.

We're the country that has more food to eat than any other country in the world and more diets to keep us from eating it.

We're the most ambitious people on earth, and we run from morning until night trying to keep our earning power up with our yearning power.

We're supposed to be the most civilized, Christian nation on earth, but still can't deliver payrolls without an armored car.

In America we have more experts on marriages than any other country in the world — and more divorces.

But we're still pretty nice folks. Calling a person "a real American" is the best compliment we can pay him. Most of the world is itching for what we have — but they'll never have it until they start scratching for it the way we did.

Support Your Local Bank

Babson Park, Mass., According to the newspapers, one hundred billion dollars has been lost in stock values since May 28, 1962. Selling has been done for one of three purposes: (1) By people who have been buying stocks on borrowed money and want to reduce their loans; (2) by people who have temporarily quit the stock market and simply charged off their loss to experience; and (3) by those who sold out at a profit and are putting their money into saving banks.

Stock Prices Vs. Yields
Wherever the market may be historically, it is high in consideration of the low yields of most good stocks. These yields are from 2 percent to 3 percent mostly. Compared with this most savings banks pay from 3 1/2 percent to 4 1/2 percent on deposits, which deposits they advertise as "insured by an agency of the government." Therefore, many of those who sold out and took a capital gain are depositing their money to secure a rate of 3 1/2 percent or more.

I am devoting my column today to discussing the various advertisements in magazines, placed largely by big-city West Coast banks and savings and loan associations, promising this high rate of interest with safety. Probably some people in each of the 400 cities in which this column appears are sending money out of their local community for deposit in one of these establishments which advertise in leading magazines. I believe this is wrong and unpatriotic. My Own Experience I invest money for a charitable organization in Gloucester, Massachusetts, for which I sold stocks at a handsome profit early in 1962. I deposited $75,000 with the Savings Department of the Cape Ann National Bank & Trust Company at 3 1/2 percent interest. I invested $50,000 in the 4 percent stock of the company which supplies Gloucester with natural gas. This preferred stock sells at a discount to yield around 5 percent.

One of my co-trustees urged that I use the 3 1/2 percent deposit to buy similar cumulative stocks which would yield 5 percent. The able Vice President, Mr. Walden Anderson, telephoned me that a member of my family is a director of the bank and that my great-uncle was one of the founders!

Thereupon, I agreed to leave this $75,000 at 3 1/2 percent with the understanding that, if the rate is changed to 4 percent on new deposits, this charitable trust's deposit of $75,000 will be marked up to 4 percent although of course, the higher return will not be made retroactive.

I believe that it is very unpatriotic for anyone living in an eastern city to withdraw his money from a local bank, or take his "capital gains" and send the money to great banks in Los Angeles or even San Francisco.

Every one of the 400 cities or towns having this column needs the money for expansion

MSU Plans Two-Year Pre-Medical School

Michigan's fourth medical education facility is well on the way toward becoming a reality at Michigan State University.

The Legislature has specified, in the 1962-63 appropriation for MSU, that the proposed two-year preclinical medical school shall not be expanded to a four-year training program without prior legislative approval.

University officials, with little choice, plan to abide by this dictate.

MSU's Institute of Biology and Medicine is scheduled to officially start operation in 1964 to prepare medical doctors, biologists, nurses and medical technicians.

Dr. Richard U. Byerrum, acting director of the Institute, said he consulted a group of leading medical educators to help work out details for the new program.

"Since our approach is new we wanted to know if it would be acceptable to medical educators," he said.

The educators consulted, from medical schools at various universities throughout the country, were "generally enthusiastic" about the MSU plans, Byerrum said.

The Institute will be designed to help relieve the national and state shortage of medical doctors and biologists. Because the two-year program will instruct in only preclinical work, it will not require extensive hospital teaching facilities.

Students who complete it, however, will be ready to fill the many vacancies which occur annually at the third-year level in the nation's medical schools.

One bit of advice offered by Dr. Morton Levitt, assistant dean of Wayne State University's medical school, will likely be incorporated as plans for the Institute program develop, Byerrum said.

Levitt recommended that the medical program in the Institute follow traditional patterns since students will be going to other schools for their final two years of training.

MSU plans several modifications in the Institute program which are not generally used, such as allowing students to progress well into their education before being required to declare their specialty preference.

Appointment of the year in state government may be that of Gary D. Hansen as director of Michigan's Commission on Aging.

The Commission, which deals with services for the senior citizens of Michigan, previously has had individuals with personal "experience" as members or leading it. Most participants in the Commission work are "up in years" or nearing the age which the unit is designed to serve. Hansen is 25.

His age, however, appears to have little to do with his qualifications for the job. If education and work records are any indication, Hansen is well qualified.

At his young age, Hansen has completed requirements for his doctoral degree at the University of Minnesota, where he taught for three years. His major in undergraduate study was sociology.

Prior to his appointment with the Michigan Commission, Hansen was supervisor of a demonstration-research project on chronic illness and aging problems in rural Minnesota.

The new director has written extensively on aging, social security and rural retirement, including a book on aging in the Midwest which is now being published.

Secretary of State James M. Hare has a reassuring warning for Michigan drivers traveling outside the state.

The warning is an annual one: Michigan's point system is applied against traffic violations committed in other states and provinces of Canada under cooperative agreements between the governmental units.

The reassuring part of Hare's warning is that the points added to a driver's record are based on Michigan's system. The Secretary of State's office recently has had several questions from motorists charged with violations in Ontario, where provincial officials recently stiffened the penalties under the "driver demerit-point" system.

"The point system in use in the state where the conviction was received has no bearing on the points he receives in his home state of Michigan," Hare said. "If the driver has been convicted of driving through a stop sign in Toronto, he gets the same three points he would if convicted of the same offense in Alpena."

A little known service of state government has been offered for the past 14 years to a select group of citizens as a cooperative project of the Conservation Department and State Library.

This is a library service in effect this summer at 42 state parks scattered throughout Michigan.

State Librarian Genvieve Mber. Casey said the average park library this year has about 250 books. The collections include fiction and non-fiction on subjects of a wide range.

Under the program, the State Library in effect "loans" some 8,200 books to the Conservation Department for the summer and early fall months. They are returned to the Library in Lansing in October or November.

Miss Casey said the program has been expanded each year since it was started, to provide more books and more locations available to the campers using state parks.

The books are available at the manager's office at state parks.

Dr. Mudd Replies

Can We Help Our Son?

Dear Dr. Mudd:

I have a son who is 22 years old. He was going to the University up until last September when he failed in his grades and was not permitted to return.

He has always been a kind of withdrawn boy. When he was little he would cling to my wife's skirts and never want to play with the other boys. When he got older he didn't do much better and never had other children over to the house unless my wife invited them. When they would come he wouldn't play with them or talk to them either.

He doesn't seem to like people and never has. I wanted him to play sports but he never liked them and would rather just walk around by himself. His marks weren't too good but I had some influence and got him in college. He didn't have to work and I paid all his bills but he didn't do well.

After he couldn't get back in school he got a job. He never writes and finally last week my wife and I got worried so we went up to see him. He has a little room downtown. It's filthy. There are no sheets on the bed and the mattress is greasy where his head has been. There are dirty clothes all over the floor along with trash and empty tin cans which he has eaten out of and just dropped on the floor. The window is so covered with grime it barely lets any light in.

Of course my wife started crying when she saw this mess and she insisted we go down and buy him a radio since he doesn't have one. He didn't have anything to say — just "hello" when we came and "goodbye" when we left and nothing much in between.

I think there is something wrong with the boy but my wife says he is just lonely and that we should bring him home. I don't want to because he does work and I'm afraid if he quits that job he'll never find another. I took him to some kind of a counselor years ago and was told he'd grow out of it — that he was just shy.

I know now that it's more than that but I'm afraid to do anything about it because it would upset my wife. What should I do?

J. F.

It would be hazardous to suggest a definitive diagnosis, though it seems clear that your son is seriously ill — and that his illness is one of major proportions.

You should count yourself fortunate, I think, that he is motivated to work and support himself. He is far better off, even under the dismal conditions you describe, than he would be confined and leading a useless existence in a mental hospital. His illness is of long duration — and the symptoms of abnormality have been present from his earliest years.

I urge you to leave things as they are and to behave as you and his mother have in the past. It will be hard on her and you have to use firm persuasion to keep her from exercising her natural mother feelings to look after and take care of him. Such action on her part will only serve to make him worse for he will come to expect or demand even more from her and will give up in his efforts to remain independent.

You are in the midst of a tragedy and no one can help but feel the frustration and puzzlement which you experience. Unfortunately, at this late date, there is very little which can be done, even by the most expert psychiatrist.

But perhaps your sadness will be enlightening to other parents of abnormal children, and will encourage them to seek help from a trained child psychiatrist. Unfortunately, few parents will ever admit to themselves that which is obvious to others when it comes to their children for they are understandably too close to the situation.

Very truly yours,
Sender Mudd, M.D.

We've got a "HOLIDAY"!
Everybody get on the job!

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS, "HOLIDAYS" ARE NOT VACATION DAYS, BUT MEAN HARD WORK FOR THE PIPELINERS.

The Natural Gas pipelines, a huge network of strong, seamless steel tubes covering thousands of miles underground, assures dependable Natural Gas service. Still a thorough check and inspection must continually be made to guard against corrosion. When breaks or flaws are found to exist through inspection by trained men and electronic equipment, they are called "holidays". In Outstate Michigan, Consumers Power Company has over 7,000 miles of Natural Gas pipeline to keep under constant surveillance. Continual inspection and immediate communication to emergency crews by these trouble shooters keep this call, "Holiday", to a minimum.
