Expect Nearly 2,000 Show Horse Entries

Northville's Jaycees always do things in a big way and their three-day Charity Horse Show opening Friday at Northville Downs is no exception.

City Strikes Out In Sewer Protest

The city of Northville's search for evidence to back its claim that sale of capacity in the Northville - Plymouth sanitary sewer line to Novi would exceed the limits of the facility apparently backfired this week.

To prepare for possible legal action against Wayne county for selling 4 cubic feet per second capacity in the Middle Rouge interceptor system to Oakland county the city council retained a consulting engineer to study the disposal system.

Monday night the council received a written report from the consultant, Ralph Main of Main and Fox, Inc., Birmingham engineers.

In brief Main said the city's allocation in the sewer system was not endangered by the sale.

The council received the report at the conclusion of its meeting and held no discussion on the matter. It is expected that Main will appear before the body in the near future to explain his findings in detail.

The city of Northville had opposed the plan that will give Novi 2,900 sewer taps on the basis that it will exceed the capacity of the Northville-Plymouth line when heavier development takes place in the city and township of Northville.

The city proposed that Oakland county construct the sewer all the way to the new interceptor at Wilcox road in Plymouth. The present plan, which has been approved by Wayne and Oakland counties as well as the village and township of Novi, calls for construction of a line from 10 mile road to the Northville-Plymouth interceptor at Seven Mile road.

Northville township's engineering firm of Mosher, Associates surveyed the proposal earlier and advised the township board that the system was adequate to handle Novi's 4 CFS, Northville township's 1.6 CFS, the city's 3.6 CFS and institutions located in the township.

On this basis the Northville township board did not oppose the sale.

In his report to the city council Main emphasizes:

—Wayne has agreed to sell Oakland 4 CFS capacity in the new facilities or the Rouge Valley System;

—Oakland may make a temporary physical connection to the old existing facilities in Northville. This will convey Oakland's sewage to the beginning of the Rouge Valley facilities at Wilcox road. The maximum rate of flow at such point of connection by Oakland must not, under the agreement, exceed 4 CFS;

—When Oakland contracts for capacity in excess of 4 CFS, the contract requires that Oakland shall then construct a sewer line for minimum capacity to transport all of the sewage that Oakland has the right to deliver to the Rouge Valley system.

At this time, Main points out, all of Novi's sewage must be re-routed through a new interceptor from Northville to the interceptor at Plymouth.

The engineer said that his studies reveal that the Northville-Plymouth line is running at less than 40 per cent of capacity.

Engineer Main concludes that the agreement between the counties, plus the fact that "the Michigan department of health is the watch-dog on sanitation" assures the city of Northville that "it will not be hurt by this action of Wayne county."

Tentative time tables provide that installation of the new sewer facility will be completed by late fall, 1963.

It would appear unlikely, in the face of Main's report, that the city council would elect to challenge Wayne county in court.

But council members have been outspoken in their criticism of the plan because of fear that a long delay will take place between the time when the line reaches capacity and a new facility to serve Novi is provided.

They point to the fact that Northville had not yet obtained its allocation in the present interceptor sewer when it was forced to participate in the cost of another line because communities closer to Detroit had exceeded their capacity.

For this reason the council is not expected to withdraw its protest to the county, even if legal action is not pursued.

It's being billed as the biggest horse show staged in Michigan in years.

And if the show even approaches expectations, the community could very well have more horses than people!

Chairman Jim Powers boasted this week that entries would probably double last year's event when 916 horses performed.

"We have more than 500 entries right now and we're certain to have at least 1,000 more on Sunday alone," Powers stated.

The show begins at 10 a.m. Friday when breeding classes will be shown. Activity continues until 7 p.m. Friday.

Performance classes occupy both Saturday and Sunday with the show starting at 10 a.m. Saturday and an hour earlier on Sunday. The show is expected to continue until 8 p.m. on both the final two days.

The show will attract every breed of horse from throughout the Midwest. Cash prizes, trophies and ribbons will be awarded to the top performers.

Judges for the event are Dee Burke of Wagoner, Oklahoma, George Benjamin of Walled Lake, and Carl J. Asmus of Sykesville, Maryland — all acknowledged experts in the profession.

Jaycee Chairman Powers said the classes represented in the show would be Arabians, Morgans, Hunters, Jumpers, Saddlebreds, Walking Horses, Palominos, Quarter Horses, Appaloosas and Ponies of the Americas. Many classes of non-registered horses will also be featured.

Some of the events to be included in the performance classes are barrel racing, fence cutting, equitation over fences, speed and action, pleasure driving, and just plain racing, western saddle style.

The Jaycees intend to donate 25 per cent of their proceeds to the community recreation-scout building fund. The club is co-sponsoring the show with the Arabian Horse Association of Michigan.

Working with Powers as co-chairman for the Jaycees is Jon Blair.

Admission is $1.00 with children under 12 admitted free.

In addition to the entertainment provided by the variety of show horses, there'll be refreshments, food, prizes and entertainment. Children accompanied by their parents will be given pony rides free. And four $25 savings bonds will be awarded to lucky visitors.

The show will be staged, rain or shine, the co-chairmen noted.

Council Ready to Start Scout Building Project

A "go-ahead" was granted City Councilman Richard Ambler and his committee for construction of a new recreation-scout building Monday night.

Councilman Ambler reported that Architect Howard Wright had final plans prepared and had set the maximum cost of the Cady street facility at $26,300.

"We're ready to move and would now like to submit plans to the council and advertise for construction bids," Ambler stated.

The council promised to proceed with the proposal at a special meeting called for August 15.

Councilman Ambler noted that the estimated cost would leave the city some $10,000 short. The city received $13,000 from its sale of the old scout building at Dunlap and Hutton and has had contributions from the Jaycees, Rotary and Mothers clubs.

A fund drive to raise the balance of the money will be headed by Councilman John Canterbury.

In other business Monday night the council held a public hearing on installation and repair of sidewalks on 14 streets throughout the city.

Assessment estimates had previously been sent to property owners and approximately a dozen were on hand to question the project. Concern over the location of the proposed sidewalk along the south side of West Main street between Rogers and Orchard drive was expressed. Residents in the area either extend to or approach road right of way.

Mayor A. M. Allen explained that the county would determine the location of the walk and that property owners would be informed when it had been decided.

For a limited time the council is participating in the installation of new sidewalks with property owners on a one-third, two-thirds basis. The formula applies to preparatory work (bringing the site to grade) with a maximum charge for grade work of $25 to the property owner.

The council adjourned final passage of the sidewalk assessments until August 15 when it could be determined whether the city manager, now on vacation, had included engineering costs in his estimates.

An offer to repaint the city's water tower a metallic blue to cover an unsatisfactory white paint was accepted by the council on the basis that the firm from which the city purchased the tower would guarantee a satisfactory job.

The council also learned it has a $4,025.57 refund from the Wayne county drain commission on payments made for the first Middle Rouge interceptor. The money will be applied to the current interceptor sewer debt.

A plat submitted by the D & R Building company for 25 new homes in Yerkes Estates number five, north of Maplewood, was retained for study by the council. The developer was told that the city had sewer problems to consider before approval of the plat could be granted. It is scheduled to be acted upon at the August 15 special meeting.

William Crump, president of the Northville school board, asked the council if it would consider participating in the cost of new sidewalk in front of the Amerman school. A plan similar to the city's one-third, two-thirds program with residents was suggested.

Mayor Allen proposed that the answer be delayed until a check of previous sidewalk installations for schools could be made.

Finally, Sidney Frid complained on behalf of tenants living in apartments he owns on Main street that parking is not permitted. He said that it should be allowed on a part time basis. The council promised to discuss the matter with the police chief.

Northville Township Supervisor George Clark will be the guest of "Municipal Reports" Sunday, a weekly news commentary conducted by WWJ-TV and radio.

Supervisor Clark will appear on channel 4 with Commentator Paul Williams Sunday at 2:15 p.m. The program will be heard on radio Tuesday evening at 10:45.

Romney Most Popular Of All Candidates Here

City and township voters stayed away from the primary voting booths Tuesday in about equal proportions as the turnout fell 10 per cent below the 1960 primary vote.

In the township 321 votes were cast out of a registration of 1,575 for a 20 per cent average in the city the average hit only 17 per cent as 390 out of 2,142 registered voters cast ballots.

As has been traditional in Northville, Republican candidates received more votes than Democratic.

Gubernatorial Candidate George Romney was by far the most popular vote-getter in Northville — and throughout the state. He collected 488 votes compared to 173 for Democratic Governor John B. Swainson. Both were unopposed in the primary. Runner-up honors for vote gathering in Northville went to Alvin M. Bentley, unopposed Republican candidate for U.S. congressman at large, with 382 votes, more than 100 behind Romney.

Both Northville's state senator and state representative faced competition but were re-nominated. State Senator Raymond Dzendzel, Democrat, led local polls and won handily in the 18th district. Likewise, Democratic Representative Harvey J. Beadle from the 21st district, won.

Democratic U.S. Congressman Martha Griffiths had no competition. In the November election she'll meet James O'Neil, Republican Patrick J. McNally will run against Senator Dzendzel, while Livonia Newspaper Publisher Paul Chandler was the Republican nominee to seek Representative Beadle's office.

Incumbents won all the Democratic county races. Prosecutor Samuel H. Olsen, Sheriff Andrew C. Baird, County Clerk Edgar M. Branigan and Drain Commission Christopher J. Mulle all faced primary competition.

County Republicans who won races for nomination were William H. Ferguson for prosecutor and William G. Jeffries for sheriff.

Women out-voted men in both the city and township, but the margin was narrow.

In the township the count was 161 to 160, while in the city it was 198 women to 192 men.

County convention delegates elected were: City, precinct one — Paul Palmer, Democrat, 31 votes; Beatrice Carlson, Republican, 106 votes; precinct two — Al Smith, Democrat, 25 votes; Wilma Campbell, Republican, 47 votes; precinct three — Jack Rutland, Democrat, 27 votes; township, precinct one — George Bennett, Democrat, 33 votes; Alex Lawrence, Republican, 108 votes; precinct two — Jane Zobel, Democrat, 30 votes; Betty Hoffman, Republican, 93 votes.

There was just one write-in candidate. He was recorded in the city's precinct one for Republican lieutenant governor. The name was "John Doe".

"Doe" lost to Clarence A. Reid.

Following are the totals for U.S. congress and state offices as cast in the city and township. The nominee's name is listed first.

Both Roberts and Baker won re-nomination.

It Rained and Rained and Rained

Flooded basements and washed-out roads kept Northville public works employees busy this week after heavy downpours hit the community Saturday and Monday, followed by an encore Tuesday evening. DPW Superintendent Bud Harber said repairs on Orchard drive, Carpenter, Beck and Taft roads would require two weeks' work. About a dozen basements were flooded when storm waters overflowed in the northern section of the city. On Main street (above left) clogged storm drains turned the street into a river Tuesday evening with water lapping into store entrances. But the water didn't bother Judy Nauman (above right). She just took off her shoes, grabbed her umbrella and trotted along her way.

Connie Kahley Weds Thomas A. Moshimer

Double-ring wedding vows were exchanged by Connie Kahley and Thomas A. Moshimer Saturday in St. Joseph's Catholic church in Monroe. The Reverend Father Joseph Canaan performed the ceremony at 11 a.m. Soloist William Hetrick was accompanied by Miss Loretta Maurer at the organ. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Carey J. Kahley of Dundee. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Beit Moshimer of 355 Baseline road, Northville. A floor-length gown of white silk organza and chantilly lace over tulle was worn by the former Miss Kahley. Fastened to her crown of lace and pearls was a fingertip veil. She carried a cascade arrangement with a white orchid as her sister's maid of honor.

Barbara Kahley wore a street-length dress of mint green silk tulle. Her headpiece was a half-hat with a circular veil, and she carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations tipped with green. Mrs. Ronald Rowe, sister of the bride; Mrs. Robert Johnson and Faye Jennings wore yellow bridesmaid dresses fashioned like that of the maid of honor. Patty Johnson was the flower girl and Richard Brown served as the ring bearer. Mr. Moshimer chose Donald Thomson of Northville for his best man. Duncan Leetka, Jerry Fraydl, Pete Fisher and Larry Kahley seated guests. A breakfast was served in the church hall following the ceremony. The Silver Blue Ballroom, near Toledo, Ohio, was the scene of the evening reception. The newlyweds are now spending a week in Wildwood, New Jersey. After August 11 they will reside in Dundee. Mrs. Moshimer, a Dundee Community high school graduate, attends Siena Heights college at Adrian. A 1952 graduate of Northville high school and alumnus of Michigan State university, Mr. Moshimer is a teacher at Dundee Community high school.

Four Northville residents were among the 525 students who received degrees at Eastern Michigan university's summer convocation Monday evening, July 30. Those receiving master of arts degrees in education were Joanne E. Roese, John Henry Heard and William G. Kinnard. Raymond F. Kuter was awarded a bachelor of science degree. Burton Munro, 25650 Taft road, recently attended the National Lapidary and Mineral show in Des Moines, Iowa. He exhibited a 16 pound Lake Superior agate rock at the show.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cearbaugh of 9850 Lower road attended the first Cearbaugh family reunion Sunday at the Bill Cearbaugh residence in Ft. Wayne, Indiana. Seventy-four of the ninety-two members of the family were present.

Northville's Superintendent of Schools and Mrs. R. H. Amerman have returned from three weeks of vacationing in Montana. They were accompanied by their grandson, Kurt Amerman of Livonia; and their daughter and her family, the George Matthews of Redford. While in the West they visited Amerman's twin brother, Robert.

Mrs. R. G. Nelson and daughter, Linda, of Napier road have returned from a three weeks stay at a Silver Lake cottage. Mr. and Mrs. William Hensch of 855 Scott avenue recently spent six weeks traveling through Minnesota, the Dakotas, Iowa and Upper Michigan. While in Iowa, the Henschs visited their daughter-in-law and her family and Mrs. Hensch's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Robertson are visitors in Northville this week. A former city manager of Northville, Robertson is now the manager of Ferguson, Missouri. After visiting friends here, they will vacation with Robertson's parents in Birmingham.

Justice Robert K. Anderson was happy to accommodate the couple — he recessed court briefly to conduct the ceremony. Novi policemen Richard Faulkner and Allen Olsen acted as witnesses.

As members of the local branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden association, they planted 25 blooming delphiniums and 15 geraniums on the hospital's grounds. The project is one of many being sponsored by the club's horticulture therapy program. Headed by Mrs. Meyer the therapy committee has been working with the hospital's geriatric patients for 14 months.

Kitchen Diary You'll Like '4 Bean Salad' Like a rambling grape vine (both kinds) — recipes, helpful household hints and Old Wives' Tales are endlessly passed on from one person to another. Mrs. Clyde Ferguson, 110 Maplewood, stresses the fact that her "Four Bean Salad" came to her "grape vine fashion" and wasn't originated in the Ferguson kitchen. "Most everybody likes it," says Mrs. Ferguson of her spicy dish that can be used as both a salad or relish — and is just the thing for summer picnic days. The "everybody" Mrs. Ferguson speaks about especially includes bean salad fans Mr. Ferguson, sons, Dennis and Bill, and daughter Joanne.

THE FOUR BEAN SALAD Mrs. Clyde Ferguson 1 can of wax beans (Fresh beans may be used) 1 can of green beans 1 can of kidney beans 1 can of small lima beans (yellow or green) 1 sweet onion 1 cup chopped celery 1 cup of raw carrots cut finely For the dressing, 2 cups sugar 1 cup white vinegar 1 tablespoon of salt 1 teaspoon celery seed 1 teaspoon of mustard seed Boil dressing ingredients together. Let cool and pour over vegetables. Let set for 24 hours. Serve as you wish. The Salad will keep for a long period of time in the refrigerator.

Visit From the Governor

GETTING ACQUAINTED — Northville area residents had an excellent opportunity to become personally acquainted with their state governor last Friday evening at a reception held at the "White Pillars" home of Dr. and Mrs. Albert G. Kalin, 22375 Haggerty road. Governor and Mrs. John B. Swainson mingled among the 250 guests for nearly two hours. Governor Swainson explained the Democratic position on reapportionment of the Senate and then answered questions. The reception was sponsored by the Northville and Plymouth Democratic clubs. Mrs. Jack Ruland and Mrs. C. E. Woodruff assisted the Kalins in hosting the event. State Senator Raymond Drendel and State Representative Harvey Beadle also attended the reception. The Governor is shown above in a discussion with a number of guests and below chatting with City Councilman and Mrs. John Canterbury.

There's Plenty of Variety in Younger Set's Summer Jobs

Butch Willing

Chris Muller

John Callaghan

Looking over a list of the jobs area high school and college students have for the summer is like turning on the T.V. to "What's My Line?" For, besides being varied, some of the vacation occupations are quite unusual.

Ever wonder who gets around to washing those outdoor telephone booths? Just ask Dick ("Butch") Willing, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Willing, Smock road, and a sophomore at Eastern Michigan university. He's now in this third summer of "booth washing".

The maintenance firm that handles the service was formerly owned by Butch's father, but is now operated by an uncle, Joseph Willing of Detroit.

Butch and five other members of the crew manage to clean 2,000 phone books that trail all the way from Ann Arbor to the Detroit river and from Metropolitan beach to Monroe.

With the help of special soaps and chemicals Butch gives a booth a "once over" in about 10 minutes. "And some of them are pretty dirty," notes the husky college student.

Pedestrian comments such as "What a stupid job," and "I always wondered who did this," are all in a day's work for Butch.

Several years ago a troupe of Belleville girl scouts sent a letter to the booth-cleaning firm suggesting they send one of their employees to "What's My Line?"

An even better suggestion might be for Butch to sit down and write a book about all the interesting situations he encounters on the job.

The other day he was working near a gas station in Ann Arbor when a sparkling new 1962 automobile was stolen while the owner was inside the building.

Butch adds, "Once a lady wanted me to stop my work and make a phone call for her."

Christine Muller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Muller, Hill street, may not have a unique occupation like Butch's, but she does have an interesting one.

Since the first week of July she's been the receptionist in Dr. De Vries' Main street office.

Chris, who manages to keep her golden tan despite her three day a week office job, does the dentist's bookkeeping and makes all of his appointments. She also develops the X-rays and has learned to use some of the less technical dental equipment. "Oh, and I run after coffee every half hour or so," jokes Chris.

The pretty receptionist, who'll be a freshman this fall at Central Michigan university, adds that she finds working in the office very interesting. "You never know what's going to happen next."

Chris still laughs about the time a patient called in and immediately blurted out, "Hi, I've got a tooth ache."

Carol Jones, daughter of high school Athletic Director and Mrs. A. E. Jones of Horton street, has a job at Meadowbrook Country Club until she begins freshman studies at Michigan State university this fall.

Every day between nine and five, Carol may be found soaking up the sunshine, while at the same time watching the little tots at Meadowbrook's "baby pool". She also makes frequent use of her "lunge" with shrieks of "No running," "No Pushing," and "No eating on the deck" — aimed at the older children swimming in the main pool.

Blonde and always smiling, Carol says she just loves her work. And why wouldn't she? She'd rather swim than eat. Rather than relaxing and getting away from the pool during her 15 minute break and supper hour, Carol sometimes plunges into the pool for a swim.

After some prodding Carol admitted that she hasn't always had such a glamorous job. She had her own paper route when she was eight. High school juniors Danny Bishop and Jim Mahoney have assumed the roles of door-to-door salesmen these past summer weeks.

Local businessmen may recall the boys, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bishop, Neeson street, and Mr. and Mrs. James Mahoney, South Rogers, knocking on their doors with the annual plea, "Want to buy an ad in this year's football program?" Apparently the merchants have been generous, and the 38 ads have almost all been purchased.

But their efforts won't go unappreciated. Many's the proud parent and beaming girlfriend who will leaf through the booklet trying to identify the star halfback.

It may seem like a normal, everyday occupation, but high school senior Vicki Boyd enjoys clerking at the local D & C store.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boyd of Horton street says she likes being with people. "There are so many different types of people coming into the store," notes the dark-haired summer salesgirl. "I feel it's helped me understand and talk to them better".

Vicki, who's worked at the store one year, likes operating the main cash register best of all.

Tall lanky John Callaghan, a sophomore at Northville high school, earns his summer money by mowing three two-acre lawns a week.

John says he can speed right along and finish each yard in four hours. His secret? — he uses his father's power mower that's complete with a "lazy man's" seat.

"The tractor mower actually makes mowing fun", muses John, who's the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Callaghan of Sheldon road.

On Saturday, September 1 Diane Luchtman and Nelson C. Schrader III will be married in the Martha Mary chapel, Greenfield Village.

The setting is not so unusual. Anyone who wishes may be married in the quaint little church. But for Diane the scene is special.

For three summers the Michigan State senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Luchtman, Orchard drive, has been one of the 65 college girls employed as a Greenfield Village guide.

Wearing identical brown shirt-waist dresses (each year the uniform changes), the guides lead tours and give out scores of facts and figures about the historical buildings and the people who once lived in them.

"It's surprising," comments the former high school homecoming queen, "nearly every group, old and young alike, asks the same questions."

Given a Greenfield Village book to study and memorize, Diane is rarely confronted with a question she can't answer.

Her former art studies have helped Mrs. Blanchard develop a worthwhile hobby. She now hand decorates and refinishes furniture.

Blanchard is an avid reader and especially enjoys fiction.

Mrs. Blanchard notes that there'll soon be a new addition to the Blanchard family — a basset hound for Linda and Janiene.

Janiene.

NEWCOMER'S CORNER

"I look upon every day to be lost, in which I do not make a new acquaintance."

— Samuel Johnson

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Blanchard and daughters Linda, 3, (left) and Janiene, 14 months.

Mother's Day was quite an occasion this year for the Phil Blanchard family. They packed up all their belongings and moved from their St. Clair shores home to a new colonial dwelling in the Village Green.

"Price-wise we found our Northville home very reasonable," says Mrs. Blanchard. "And we liked the schools. The children (Linda Susan, 3, and Janiene Anne, 14 months) will someday be able to walk to school."

Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard are both from Grosse Pointe, although they didn't meet until after their school years.

Mrs. Blanchard attended the Meininger art school in Detroit and also Wayne State University. Blanchard also studied at Wayne.

"It's quite interesting how we met," notes Mrs. Blanchard. "We were both working for J.L.

Iludson's, my husband with the real estate division, while I worked in the picture framing department.

"One day he brought up a house plan to be framed, and I framed it. We went together from then on. Friends say I framed him."

Blanchard still works for the real estate firm (now called Northland Center Incorporated), and is presently the assistant property manager.

Her former art studies have helped Mrs. Blanchard develop a worthwhile hobby. She now hand decorates and refinishes furniture.

Blanchard is an avid reader and especially enjoys fiction.

Mrs. Blanchard notes that there'll soon be a new addition to the Blanchard family — a basset hound for Linda and Janiene.

LET'S TALK CARS

Hot Weather Complaint

If your engine repeatedly stalls in traffic jams; on hot days it is likely that "vapor lock" is the cause of the trouble.

The cause of this condition is sudden and intense heat that results in the gasoline in the fuel lines and carburetor coming to a boil and giving off a vapor that unbalances the fuel-air mixture causing the engine to stall.

You may prevent this stalling by shifting to neutral and gunning your engine from time to time. This results in fresh, cooler fuel being pumped into the fuel lines and carburetor, which eliminates the condition until this fuel too becomes overheated.

Vapor lock invariably occurs while a car is standing or moving so slowly that there is little air circulation. The moment that the car gains momentum the vapor lock disappears. The reason is that rushing air cools the fuel lines, eliminating the boiling condition.

If you are having frequent stalls in temperate weather when first starting your car in the morning then your engine has more than vapor lock trouble. It is likely that your carburetor fuel-air mixture needs adjusting and your points and plugs checking.

In short, while there is no actual cure for vapor lock, short of bringing about a situation where the gasoline can cool off, it is much more likely to occur in an unfueled engine. If this problem is bothering you, our service department will be glad to check it for you without obligation.

Winners Emerge as Baseball Season Closes

The E-Jay Lumber Mart Crest Dairy Bears 16-5 to hold on for second place in the league. Steve Utley paced the Cubs with several run-stopping parition's Knothole softball league.

Last Tuesday they won by forfeit from the Rathburn Chevrolet Panthers and Thursday they downed the Northville Optimist Cubs 7-2 to end their season. The Lions led 4-2 until the last inning, when they erupted for three runs.

The Cubs topped the Farm

In other action, the Panthers forfeited to the Northville Drug Tigers Wednesday and the Lions out bid the Lapham's Mens' Store Colts 17-13. Four-for-four hitting of Jeff Jones and Jim Hostetter aided the Lions' 19-hit slam. Bernie Bach clubbed three for the Lions and Jim Sasse contributed four for the Colts. Thursday the Tigers scored six in the fourth inning to take the lead away from the Bears. They added two more later to win their fifth straight game.

Final standings of the league were:

Team	W	L
Lions	9	0
Cubs	6	4
Panthers	5	4
Tigers	5	5
Bears	2	7
Colts	1	8

In men's softball, the Thunderbirds continue to lead the league with a perfect 8-0 record. Angie's Angels stand second with a 5-2 record, while the Ford Valves threaten with a not-too-distant 5-3 showing for their efforts.

The 6-Paxers have won two of seven, while Lapham's Mens' Store stands 1-5. The Northville state hospital Misfits are trailing the league with six losses. The league's season continues for another week.

In Western Wayne county's class "E" league, the Northville Plumbers outpaced all competitors to take the league title and win a crack at the Recreation Association of Michigan district title next week.

The Plumbers, whose record is marred by only one tie, will meet league leaders from Jackson, Ann Arbor, Wayne, Nankin and Inkster during the playoffs. Drawings have not been made as yet, but their competition will probably begin Monday or Tuesday.

Last week the Plumbers ended their season by out scoring the Novi Giants 8-4. Third inning singles by Howard Jones and Jerry French scored base runners who had walked, and Jerry Jmsland doubled to drive both Jones and French home.

Bob Tuck scored on throwing errors in the fourth, while French drove home another run and then scored on Jmsland's single in the fifth. Jmsland then scored on throwing errors.

In Knothole baseball, an upset resulted in a two-way tie for the league lead, and caused a three-way tie.

Last week the Asher Pure Angels upset league-leading Northville Record Dodgers 5-2, enabling the previously second place Northville Electric Giants to match the Dodgers' 8-3 season record.

Strong one hit pitching by Jim Beerhower prevented Dodger scoring while the Angels' Jim Hill struck a big-blow single to drive in two runs.

Also last week, the Giants out paced the John Mach Ford Yankees 4-1 on the two hit pitching of Jerry Asher and Jay Richards' three-run triple.

Last Wednesday the Yankees held on for what was second place and a chance to tie with the two league leaders by downing the V.F.W. Athletics 9-5.

All Athletic scoring was in the last inning. The Casterline Indians and the Angels both built up early four-run scores, but relief pitchers for the two teams shut off further scoring and the game ended in a tie.

On Friday the Yanks bombed the league trailing Bloom Insurance Cardinals 10-1. They scored five in the first, and similar batting added another five later on, while Pitcher Jack Willis allowed the Cards only one hit.

The Indians clubbed the Giants 7-1 with Stan Nutter and Randy Simpson each providing two hits to pace the Indians. Nutter's pitching held the Giants to four scattered hits.

Saturday the Angels broke open a close game in the final inning when they scored four runs to lead the Athletics 9-3. The Dodgers and Yanks played to a stand off until the fifth inning, when the Dodgers scored two. They added two more without giving up a run to win 4-0. Final games in the league were to be played yesterday (Wednesday). Standings to then were:

In Livonia's class "D" 18-and-under league, the Northville Plumbers ended up tied for second, and are now in a playoff to decide which "D" team will represent the league in the inter-city tourney.

The Northville Braves are holding on with a 2-1 showing in the class "F" playoffs. They are one of five teams left from the 14-team playoffs, which will end this weekend.

WINNING WAYS — That winning smile Jennifer Ratliff displays above is part of the winning tennis game she has learned to play this summer. She's developed in just a few short months a winning ability on the courts which last weekend took her all the way to the semi-finals in the Detroit News Novice tennis tournament at Lasky park.

She Wows 'em With Her Tennis

Jennifer Ratliff started playing tennis last spring in the high school Girl's Athletic League. She'd puttered around with a racket and ball before, but not seriously.

Last weekend, after only one summer of practice, she battled to the semi-finals in the Detroit News Novice tennis tournament — the first Northvilleite to go so far in the annual event.

Sixteen-year-old Jennifer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ratliff, of 3983 West Eight Mile road, was one of four youngsters to reach the girls' division semi-finals — the four who emerged from among a field of 60 entries.

After winning the local girls' division last month, Jennifer traveled to Lasky park for the opening rounds July 28. That

Water Carnival Ends Recreation

Nearly all of Northville's summer recreation activities will come to a halt during the next week or so.

The annual water carnival marks the official end of recreation activities for all but post-season playoffs in baseball.

Archery ends tomorrow (Friday) morning with a tournament at Ford field. Youngsters will compete in two-year age groups starting with six and seven year olds and ending with a 16-and-over group.

Prizes will be awarded to winners in each group. The tournament, which begins at 9.30, is open to both boys and girls six years old or older.

Another tourney will bring the golf program to its close Monday morning. Boys and girls age 10 and over will meet in the recreation office at 157 East Cady street at 8.30 Monday and then go to Brae Burn country club for the competition.

All participants in the golfing event must pay a $1 greens fee.

Buses to the water carnival next Wednesday will leave both the community building and Amerman school at 9 a.m., and will return at about 4 p.m.

All participants in the carnival must either bring their own lunches or be prepared to purchase a lunch. The regular 25-cent charge will cover admission to the beach.

Events featured in the carnival include swimming races, diving contests, canoe races and other water competitions.

First on the agenda are swim races for youngsters 10 and older. Boys and girls will compete separately in two-year age groups.

Diving contests for the same divisions will follow the races. Youngsters who are 12 or older will then compete in canoe races, while younger children will hold wading races.

As the older swimmers begin watermelon diving — chasing a greased melon in competition with other youngsters, the younger participants will compete in sponge and spoon team races to fill cups with water.

A free swimming period will follow the end of competitions.

Recreation Director Ken Conley said families are invited to the carnival, and added that no youngsters under eight years old may participate without adult supervision.

Only activities which will continue beyond next week are men's softball, which ends August 16, and participation of local teams in baseball playoffs.

Final event in the recreation department's activities is office clean-up, Conley said. Many lost and found items have been turned in to the office, he explained. He urged youngsters to call for them.

You'll Spot Them Soon

If you should see a cat or dog walking around town all dressed up like Little Orphan Annie's monkey, it's not because the comic strips have invaded the area — it's probably a local youngster's pet spruced up for the Northville recreation department's annual pet and doll show.

The show, scheduled for tomorrow (Friday) evening, will get underway with a parade at 6 o'clock. All show entries must be in the parade, which starts from the park behind city hall.

Following the parade, pets, dolls, floats and bicycles will be judged for a variety of classes and prizes.

Doll classifications include the best dressed, largest, smallest, greatest collection, best homemade, prettiest and oldest.

Dogs and puppies will be judged for the largest family, friendliest, most varicolored, largest, cutest, prettiest, smallest, shaggiest, youngest, oldest, meanest looking and homeliest.

Cats and kittens will be judged for the largest, blackest, most varicolored, largest family, cutest, smallest, fluffiest and youngest.

The judges will also be selecting the most original and prettiest floats as well as the best and most originally decorated bicycles. All pets will be reviewed to determine the winner in a smallest pet category. All youngsters whose pets and entries appear in the parade and show must be registered at the recreation office.

HUNTING FOR NOISE — Wayne County Circuit Court Judge James Montante cups his hand over his ear in jest as he listened for gun noises in Salem and Plymouth townships Sunday morning to determine whether or not noise from the Western Wayne Conservation club range is a nuisance to surrounding property owners. A suit has been brought against the club by Clyde Smith, owner of the nearby Oak Haven

Trailer Court. An injunction barring the club from using the range was temporarily lifted Sunday to permit the judge to go hunting for the rifle noise himself. No court decision has been made. Others in the picture (l-r) are: Ronald Nilsen, club vice president; A. L. Meredith, attorney for the defendant; Judge Montante; Smith; and Dale Libby, attorney for the plaintiff.

Students may not want to think about it, but summer is swiftly drawing to a close, and before too long school books and supplies will have to be purchased.

High school principal Fred Stefanski has already announced the book store schedule for high school and junior high students.

Students in grades 7 and 8 must purchase their texts at the junior high building, and books for grades 9 through 12 will be available at the high school store.

All store hours are Monday, August 27, Tuesday, August 28 and Friday, August 31 — from 8 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

High school newcomers were also reminded by Stefanski to register anytime after Monday, August 13 at the high school.

Downs Betting Tops $9 Million

Northville Downs had fewer fans but more betting in its 42nd night season just ended compared to the 1961 meet.

Official total mutuel handle for the current season was $9,488,973 for an average night handle of $225,928.

Last year in a 38-night season the total mutuel handle was $8,830,933 for an average night of $232,458.

Percentage-wise, betting was up .63 per cent.

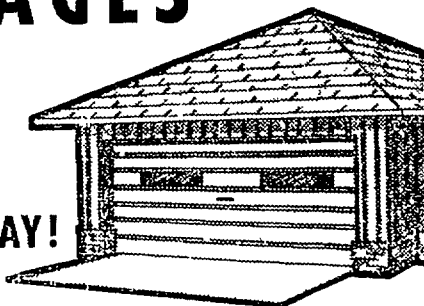

Attendance fell slightly more than five per cent. A total of 195,185 fans attended Downs' harness races this year for a nightly average of 4,650 compared to 4,914 last year.

Based on the additional four nights of racing, the city of Northville stands to receive approximately $100,000 in state tax returns on mutuel handle, compared to $91,000 last year.

Youth Hostel Sailing Classes Begin Sunday

Because of continued demand for sailing classes, the Metropolitan Detroit council of the American Youth Hostels will again offer their Kent Lake class program, an official says.

Stephen S. Olney, chairman of the AYH sail committee, said the council held classes for 20 students in July, and, beginning August 12, will hold shore schools again.

The 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. shore schools are for would-be sailors who have had little or no experience. Those who are familiar with sailing may attain "skipper" classification and open sailing privileges after completing a test.

Olney said there are no age limits for participation in sail school. Only requirements are that each person have an AYH pass and pay the $10 school fee.

Sets Rules For Sewers

Northville township's newly appointed water and sewer commission was scheduled to submit its specifications to govern sanitary sewer installation last night (Wednesday) to the township board.

The regular board meeting was postponed one night because of Tuesday's primary election.

The specifications were prepared by Township Engineer L. W. Mosher and the three-member water and sewer commission composed of Township Supervisor George Clark, Clerk Marguerite Northup and Trustee Alex Lawrence.

Set forth in the document are specifications for developers to follow in installation of sanitary facilities including design capacities, location in streets and easements, depth, permissible types of sewer pipes and joints, pipe classes and depths, manholes, plan standards, approval of plans and construction requirements.

The commission's recommendations require board approval before adoption. It is anticipated that the township's new regulations will come into use soon in two recently announced home developments that will connect to the interceptor sewer.

They Don't Laugh At Fish Rig Now

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following article appeared in last week's South Lyon Herald. It concerns South Lyon High School Band Director Frank Kochalko and his amazing success at fishing since his adoption of a new "gimmick". We think that anyone who has ever felt the tug of a fish on a line will thrill at this "fisherman's tale".

Waving a seven-foot rod and a reel from a rubber rostrum, Band Director Frank Kochalko has, composed a new score that's sure to get fellow faculty members back on their heels.

The short, amiable South Lyon man, who took the good natured ribbing of fellow teachers in stride last season, is catching the eye of angling old-timers with his amazing ability with hook and worm.

And his fishing success, says grinning Kochalko, is all due to a "gimmick" that illicit only smirks from his cohorts when he told them about his plan to buy one.

"I seldom fished before," explains the band director. "Never had any luck. In fact I had become pretty well disgusted with the whole business."

"Then about two years ago I read about this new 'fishing boat'. I couldn't afford a regular boat, so I kept the idea in the back of my mind until this year."

Kochalko told his teaching friends about the idea, but their advice came in chuckles and wisecracks. So he ordered it anyway.

Then just five weeks ago, Kochalko's pride and joy arrived — all in a package that couldn't weigh more than a few pounds.

About the simplest way to describe it is this: a truck inner tube with a bottom. "Course, it comes with a few other gadgets too. Wrapped around the tube is a nylon covering that stretches across the bottom, leaving just two holes through which his legs and feet dangle in the water."

On the top side of the cover are two water-tight compartments for tackle, lunch and what-have-you.

Attached to his feet are a pair of metal fins that permit him to "walk" in the water.

"It's the easiest thing in the world to operate," says Kochalko while demonstrating. He climbs inside the tube, pushes his feet through the holes, hitches up his suspenders. (they hold the tube up on land), then walks into the water.

With his feet moving in a regular walking stride, he can maneuver the "boat" into any direction. In shallow water he stands, in deep water he sits.

"It's excellent for deep or shallow fishing." And he has the fish to prove it. Fishing his few spare moments, he has pulled in more than 25 bass since his amphibious craft arrived. All of 'em weighed between two and three pounds — and last week he pulled in a five-pound whopper at Kensington.

But the real fun for Kochalko hasn't been the big catches, but rather the sensation that he stuns up when he scoots along through deep water. Seated in the center of the tube, he appears to be walking in water well over his head. "I just tell them I have long legs," he laughs.

And when he walks up out of the water, carrying three or four good size bass, the eyes really pop out.

"It's the most fun I've ever had," the director grins, thinking about the crowd some teachers will be eating come September.

Con-Con Dropped Spring Elections

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Number two in a series of reports covering highlights of changes in the proposed new Constitution. Summaries of each Article will appear in subsequent weeks.)

Article II — Elections — which is Article III in the present Constitution, eliminates much legislative detail and a mass of outmoded provisions.

A major revision does away with the Spring Election and provides that all except special elections shall be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November of the even years. An exception would be if Congressmen have to be elected at a different time, due to the action of Congress. An attempt to move the Spring Election up to November in the odd years was balked.

The Convention rejected the 18 or 19-year-old vote on the grounds there was no great demand for a lower voting age.

A new section would set aside the law which gives legislators an incumbency designation on the ballot — a practice delegates felt was unfair to opponents. Other than judicial, incumbency designation would be limited to cases where there are candidates for the same office with the same or similar surnames.

Another section recognizes that issues and candidates for president are the same throughout the country. In addition to waiving the six-month residence requirement for otherwise qualified voters moving into Michigan, the Legislature could let former Michigan residents vote absentee for president if they are not eligible to vote in their new state of residence.

As in the old Constitution, when it comes to voting on the issuance of bonds, only persons having property assessed for taxation, or their spouses, may vote, but there is added a provision that the same qualifications shall apply to those who vote for increased millage for more than a five-year term. When the question is on an increase in millage for less than five years, any qualified elector may vote, as at present.

Existing initiative and referendum guarantees are retained but delegates deleted language considered statutory in nature. The provision was greatly shortened and moved to this Article from the Legislative Branch Article.

A new section permits, but does not require, the Legislature to exclude from voting two groups felt to be unsuitable: The mentally incompetent and jail or prison inmates.

Local canvassing boards are prohibited from having a majority of its membership from the same political party. A provision which now applies only to the state board of canvassers. Also extended to local boards is language prohibiting candidates for an office to be canvassed from serving on canvassing boards.

The provision for recall remains as in the old Constitution. It retains the machinery for recalling nonjudicial elected officials through petitions signed by 25 per cent of the electors voting for governor in the official's district. Stating that reasons for a recall are political prevents the courts from setting aside a recall. The many provisions of the old Constitution about gaining or losing residence for voting purposes by being in the military service, attending college, and so forth, are deleted from the new document and left for the Legislature to regulate. The provision that an elector, except for treason, felony, or breach of the peace, shall be privileged from arrest in going to and from an election, is omitted. It applies only to civil arrest anyway and the thinking is that it was not of sufficient importance to put in the Constitution.

The practical value of striving for perfection will be stressed at Christian Science church services Sunday.

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read. It will include this admonition of Christ Jesus (Matthew 5): "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect."

Among the correlative citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following:

"The divine demand, 'Be ye therefore perfect,' is scientific and the human footsteps leading to perfection are indispensable. Individuals are consistent who, watching and praying, can 'run, and not be weary; walk, and not faint,' who gain good rapidly and hold their position, or attain slowly and yield not to discouragement. God requires perfection, but not until the battle between Spirit and flesh is fought and the victory won" (p. 253).

"GOD, MAN, AND HEAVEN IN THE SPACE AGE"

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

By the Rev. James F. Andrews
Full Salvation Union Chapel

A Union of God's People
The work of full salvation union is going steadily on in the hearts of all those in whom God is working in this way.

To be united with all of God's people, no matter where they are or what organization with which they identify themselves, is a matter of an inward, conscious realization. It is a divine spirit of tolerance and goodwill. It is a spirit of long-suffering, and gentleness, and meekness and temperance. It is heavenly. It is Christ in you the hope of glory. It recognizes no improper racial distinction, national boundaries or denominational barriers. It is founded on the living Truth — Christ, not crystallized doctrines and theories of men.

It is a wheel within a wheel. All who are recognized as being identified with the nominal Full Salvation Union — that is, the Full Salvation Union that is recognized and understood by the natural man, have not as yet been added to this great universal Union of God's people.

Those who are being added, know it by an inward realization which possesses them. They have a fellowship with all of God's people that is Divine. Race, nor creed, nor difference of religions, faith and practice is not able to destroy that Union for it is founded on the Rock — The Rock of Personal Divine Revelation.

"Blest be the tie that binds Our hearts in Christian love, The fellowship of kindred minds Is like to that above."

The work is going on. Many are conscious of the growth of this inward spirit. It is stronger than the might of division. It is sure to conquer, for it is the light of God's eternal day. You cannot separate or divide God's people permanently.

"Thou sunderest far by faith they meet Around one common mercy seat."
It is an inward reality. Confusion and strife and backbiting and bitterness and false accusations cannot touch it. It is beyond the reach of the natural man to give or take away. It is Divine!

"Oh, are you in such a blessed state? Is it growing on your hands?"

Are you conscious of being in the Full Salvation Union wheel that is whirling in the Full Salvation Union wheel?

The secret is to cease to do evil and learn to do good which means to drop back out of self — your own will, your own mind, your own understanding, your life, the way you see things, the way you think and believe, to cease to live in your own mind and thought, to be willing to die — to lose your life — that you might find it in that flow of the Holy Spirit springing up out of your inward parts — that carries you into all truth, that makes you more than conqueror, that fills you with all knowledge and wisdom concerning His will, that makes us One even as Christ and God are One.

"It is not by might nor power but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts!"

READERS SPEAK:

Reply to Dr. Mudd

To the Editor:

In the August 2nd, column "Dr. Mudd Replies" the writer began with some comments on charlatans in the mental health field and then moved, without pause, into a discussion of the controversy between psychologists and psychiatrists as to who is qualified to do psychotherapy. Dr. Mudd fails, in his article, to give his readers any sound advice on how they may avoid the charlatan or inadequately trained practitioner when seeking assistance for emotional problems, and his inclusion of references to an interprofessional dispute between psychiatrist & psychologists, may carry the implication for some readers that psychologists are to be classed with charlatans. Consequently, it would be to your readers' interest to have these questions discussed in a more intelligible manner.

For those who are not too familiar with the terms, a psychiatrist is a medical doctor who specializes in the treatment of mental illness, just as other physicians specialize in surgery, pediatrics, or internal medicine. Psychology began in universities in the 19th century as the science of the study of the mind and behavior. As psychologists developed various tools and techniques for evaluating and changing behavior, demands were made upon them by educators and physicians to use psychological techniques in assisting individuals with emotional problems. A branch of the science, clinical psychology, developed for this purpose. Although many psychologists and psychiatrists work together with mutual respect, the official medical position is in opposition to much of the work of psychologists, just as medical practitioners in the past opposed osteopaths and other disciplines, whom they felt infringed on their practice.

The greatest controversy between psychiatrists and psychologists is in regard to psychotherapy. Psychotherapy is a method of conducting a series of interviews with a patient to uncover causes of his problems and to increase his understanding of himself that he may better control his emotions and behavior. Psychoanalysis is one of the best known forms of psychotherapy although there are many other forms. Psychiatrists claim that psychotherapy is a form of medical treatment, and that psychologists are not trained adequately in the technique. Psychotherapy is a very complex process, as much an art as a science, and demands a vast amount of training and experience if the therapist is to be effective. Psychologists are well aware of this and are conducting many research studies in the area and are constantly striving to improve methods of training in therapy. Psychologists take the position that with adequate training psychologists, as well as social workers and psychiatrists, may be psychotherapists. One reason psychologists oppose the medical view is because medical practitioners claim that all physicians are qualified to do psychotherapy. Actually, the physician receives very little instruction in psychiatry or psychotherapy in medical school. Any physician can work with emotionally disturbed patients and even call himself a psychiatrist, if he chooses, without additional training. Physicians who obtain a diploma from the American Psychiatric Association have completed a residency program in psychiatry which may have included extensive training in psychotherapy, but, even psychiatric training programs are highly variable, and may be completed without adequate training in psychotherapy. Psychologists do not automatically assume that members of their own profession are competent in psychotherapy; they feel that members of the medical profession should be as realistic.

Sincerely,
John L. Mac Bride M.A.

situation. Henceforth, a doctorate degree in psychology and five years of acceptable work in an agency will be required for certification as a consulting psychologist. Few professions require such lengthy supervised work before one is entitled to practice privately. Dr. Mudd is acquainted with this law, and he knows that individuals seeking the services of a consulting psychologist will not encounter charlatans.

Dr. Mudd would have performed some service if he had advised readers as to how they might find a qualified practitioner in time of need. Certainly one is ill-advised to pick a name from a telephone directory. Family physicians are well-intended in referring patients for help, but many have no way of evaluating whether a psychotherapist is competent or not. I have known of instances where physicians unknowingly referred patients to charlatans, neither psychologist nor psychiatrist!

One who is in need of assistance for emotional problems should realize that any competent practitioner must specialize in those types of problems with which he has had most training, the field being too vast for anyone to be skilled in handling all types of cases. Consequently, even if one is duly licensed or certified, as a psychologist or psychiatrist, he may not be sufficiently skilled in the area of need of the patient. If the practitioner is ethical, he knows his limitations and will refer the patient to an appropriate therapist. Individuals stand the best chance of getting to a competent practitioner if they contact a social agency such as a guidance clinic, counseling service, psychiatric hospital or court clinic and request a list of private practitioners who specialize in the type of problem with which the individual is concerned.

If the individual consults a psychologist he has every right to request proof of the practitioner's certification as well as a detailed description of his training and experience. The individual would do well to expect the psychologist to have had extensive experience in a social agency dealing with problems similar to those of the patient. If it is a child, the psychologist should be able to show that he has had some years of work in a child guidance clinic or some other agency offering service to children. If it is a marital problem, the practitioner should be expected to have had such service handling marital and family problems. If an educational problem, the practitioner should have appropriate experience, and so on. Competent psychologists are quite ready to inform the patient of their training and experience. I assume psychiatrists will do likewise.

SPEAKING for The Record

by Bill Sliger

For several months — perhaps years — Northville's planning commission has been working on a master development plan for the entire community.

While the finishing touches have not been applied, the city council was given a sneak preview of what to expect when the wraps are taken off the report and the public is given an opportunity to consider the long-range recommendations for our community.

Without revealing details, it can be said that the report is extremely conclusive and delves into basic goals, community characteristics, population projections, new concepts for business area, residential and industrial potentials, a thoroughfare and street plan, plus areas for schools, parks and recreation.

The planners have taken a long, studied look at the future and have recommended guide lines for the future progress of our community. The work has been done in relative obscurity with the assistance of a professional planner who also assists Northville township and is therefore aware of mutual problems and can offer advice where singleness of purpose is needed.

In the not too distant future this plan will be ready for public presentation.

We mention it now for two reasons. First we believe that George Zerbel's planning commission deserves public recognition for its outstanding job. The work is tedious and time-consuming. Its only rewards are the knowledge a genuine contribution is being made toward the future welfare of the community.

Secondly, I believe it is particularly important now that local businessmen (and citizens interested in what lies ahead for Northville) know that their government is devoting serious study to this problem.

The closer one becomes to the matter of preserving and planning for a healthy, prosperous community, the greater becomes the realization that action is needed.

And when one recognizes that in less than two years a $20 million shopping center featuring some of the nation's leading merchandisers and providing parking spaces for 4,000 cars will be scarcely 10 minutes away, talk that "Northville has plenty of parking and adequate shopping facilities" sounds hollow, indeed.

(The Sears, Crowley center will open at Seven Mile and Middlebelt early in 1964).

With this in mind we hope that the planners' report, when announced, will be digested slowly and that would-be critics remember it is a recommendation for long range guide posts.

And acknowledge, too, that outside developments may dictate prompt action on some aspects of the plan than may have seemed necessary when the planners began.

Reduce Foreign Spending, Boost Gold Supply

Babson Park, Mass., The history of gold dates back to very ancient times. Bible students will remember how the "Wise Men" 2000 years ago brought "gold, frankincense, and myrrh" to the Christ Child. The temples of Moses, Mecca, and Buddha are decorated in gold. Gold has always been sought after because it has an indestructibility, scarcity, and beauty which no other metal possesses.

The world is getting "smaller" due to advances in transportation and communication. Some day an international currency system will be inevitable, and gold will probably be the basis. The present excitement over Telstar is further proof of what lies ahead.

Devaluation of the Dollar
Gold is widely discussed at this time because of its relation to the value, and possible devaluation, of our dollar. Some people talk as if "by a nod from the President", the world's economic troubles would cease, but it is not so simple. Among the reasons: (1) All the other leading countries would also "devalue" their dollar (or equivalent) (Franklin Roosevelt learned this 25 years ago); (2) There is now no agreement among the nations as to an international currency and its relationship to their own domestic currency; (3) the question as to our own budget and deficit must be resolved in advance; (4) the other nations could raise their tariffs against us; and finally, (5) President Kennedy proclaims he will prevent devaluation with a big "No".

For these and other reasons, I now believe that this "devaluation" talk will be harmful to the stock market and surely to the price of good bonds. On the other hand, devaluation would increase our "paper" reserves and automatically reduce our aid to underdeveloped countries.

Theoretically, agreements could now be made with the large banks of other countries which would, for the present, quash all talk of devaluation. This could be helpful to the U.S. stock market, especially if the bankers will take President Kennedy seriously.

Fear of Losing Gold

Many people feel that the very talk in Congress of "devaluation" would cause foreign banks to withdraw their gold. But without the consent of Congress, President Kennedy could — by Executive action — put an embargo on gold. This, of course, he would do simultaneously with recommending "devaluation" to Congress. With all the President's other troubles, I doubt if he would now do either.

Only Two Real Political "Cures"
After several weeks of no gold loss, foreign takings of our dwindling gold stock have a gain occurred. This loss simply points up the ineffectiveness of government efforts so far. In deed, the immediate impact of our problem has been blunted by certain fortuitous developments in recent weeks. Collapse of the Canadian dollar caused a sharp demand of American dollars. France repaid some $300 million in remaining Marshall Plan loans.

However, there is an end to this type of oneshot relief. What is needed is a cure for the causes. Proposed hiking of interest rates for foreign deposits held here is a step in the right direction — but again it is a palliative. No matter how much we pay foreigners to hold dollars here, it will not prevent them from converting to gold if they lose confidence in our dollar. We have got to cut our foreign outlays or build up our favorable trade export surplus high enough to cover them. There is no other way.

My Personal Solution
If I were President-Kennedy I should be honest with all nations of the world and make an active effort to increase the supply of gold. This would help Canada and also Africa in their present difficulties. It also might be considered a friendly gesture by Russia, which has much gold underground. This would lower the free market for gold, which is what we should have.

Then as the supply of gold increased, our dollar would be slowly devaluated without hurting any country. Or, course, the "silver states" might put up a cry against this.

What Are Community Colleges?

Community or junior colleges have been sharply increasing in number throughout the country, but Michigan Education Association officials report many people do not know the purpose or function of the institutions.

Generally the junior colleges, interchangeably called community colleges, are operated by municipalities, school districts, special junior college districts, or as off-campus branches of four-year colleges or universities.

The offering at such an institution is a post-high school education, usually in a two-year program of a terminal nature, or as preparation for further study at a four-year college or university.

Students at a typical junior college will include high school graduates who want two, rather than four, years of education; those eventually bound for a four-year college; housewives interested in homemaking, child care, general education, or preparation for re-employment.

Others will be workers who want to improve their skills, prepare for advancement, gain a vocational experience, or expand their general education. Also studying at such institutions will be young adults who did not graduate from high school or study part time to earn a college diploma; or senior citizens seeking new interests.

Advantages of a junior college, both from the standpoint of location and curriculum, are many, according to George F. Hancin, public relations director for the Michigan Education Association.

These include allowing a transition from secondary school to college, eliminating the emotional strain of leaving family and friends; lower costs of education; and good choice of courses for persons who want to enter one of the technical occupations.

Junior colleges also are attractive institutions for "late bloomers," Hancin said. These students with college-level abilities but low high school grades can prove themselves by doing well in a junior college and thereby win acceptance to a senior college.

Hancin said counseling facilities are usually more adequate than in senior colleges also. This is generally true because faculty members at junior colleges usually are more readily available for counsel and advice.

"Let the buyer beware." This rule of old was never more true than in the modern world, according to Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley.

A division of Kelley's office, the Consumer Protection Division, was formed about two years ago to warn consumers about irregular or fraudulent business practices being perpetrated in Michigan.

One of the most recent practices brought to the division's attention involves what officials have termed "the shell game" as applied to houses.

"Nothing down, nothing to pay until October," marks an oft-used sales gimmick in many fields today. To the Consumer Protection Division, this sales pitch is a warning in itself. In the housing sales field, the

Dr. Mudd Replies

Your Mother Needs Help

Dear Dr. Mudd:

My mother is 54 and my father is 62. For many years they have operated a grocery store and meat market in the neighborhood where my two brothers and I grew up.

It has been tough and go for them since the supermarkets put the little man out of business, but they can manage by working long hours to make a living and stay out of debt. My mother has always worked in the store right along side of my dad.

For the past year they have been talking and planning about selling the store and moving to California where my oldest brother lives. They decided they would put the store up for sale last February, and as soon as it was sold they would leave. Then on Christmas Eve my father had a heart attack. It was a real bad one and he was in the hospital for six weeks, and every day the doctor never gave my mother or me one word of encouragement. He told us how bad it was and that my father could die any time. And to make it worse, we know that every minute of every day he is living on borrowed time.

My father is a philosophical man with a lot of religious faith and his illness hasn't bothered him a lot. He just shrugs it off and says that "when the Lord is ready He'll call me." But my mother is having a nervous breakdown I think. She complains all the time about pains in all sorts of places and when her doctor tries to help her, he finds his hands tied for he reacts so badly to all kinds of drugs, they make her even sicker than she was in the first place. She's up half the night pacing the floor, or when she's not doing that, she keeps waking my dad up "to see if he's still alive." Yet sometimes she can be as clear and as sharp as a bell and she's got me coming and going! Everything we want to do for her she turns down; everything we suggest she claims she can't do. She won't try to help herself and yet keeps insisting that she needs help.

The doctor told her she had to see a psychiatrist and now she's furious with him because, she says, he thinks she's crazy. I don't know about these things and I certainly would appreciate your help.

Dear Ernie:

The difficulty you describe is another variant of one with which every physician is familiar. A woman in her 50's who has never before reported any difficulties, suddenly and sometimes causelessly "goes all to pieces."

In your mother's case, the illness of your father, the ever present threat of his sudden death, and the disappointment in her plans to go West to take up life anew are all pretty obvious "precipitants." But these unfortunate circumstances are by no means to be considered the cause for her anxiety.

Unknown to others, your mother has been suffering severe emotional difficulties for many years. No doubt she employed every source at her command to avoid recognizing this fact herself. One of these defensive measures was the necessity to work long and continuous hours, for without her work she should have surely fallen overtly ill years ago. It is as though she made a compromising bargain with herself and agreed to work hard as long as she was spared anxiety.

And once the defense of work was removed, then all of her psychic energy, so suddenly set free, attached itself to her underlying problems and brought them sharply and dramatically into focus. It is characteristic of such unfortunate whose defenses have been overwhelmed by anxiety to be incapable of doing anything to help themselves. They often cannot tolerate returning to work though this would be the very best thing for them.

At every suggestion they find an objection. They have so far regressed that, like children, they have to be told and ordered to do what would be of greatest help. You mother, I have no doubt, needs hospitalization and needs it now and urgently. She cannot be successfully treated outside of an institution adequately staffed to provide occupational therapy, recreational therapy, and all of the other adjunctive therapies with which every first class mental hospital is staffed to provide for the patient.

After a period of hospitalization it will be clearer whether or not she will require a specific kind of somatic therapy. I rather suspect that her psychiatrist will recommend electroshock therapy, but it may be possible that with some of the newer drugs, this may be avoided altogether.

Very truly yours,
Sander Mudd, M.D.
