

Township Reveals Board Change Plans

A major change in the makeup of the Northville township board was announced last week with the resignation of Treasurer Roy M. Terrill effective November 1.

The 77-year-old Terrill's announcement resulted in the resignation of Alex M. Lawrence as trustee, also effective November 1, and the subsequent appointment of Lawrence as successor to Terrill as treasurer.

The board has indicated that it will name Donald E. Robinson, 39955 Six Mile road, to serve as trustee replacing Lawrence as soon as the vacationing Robinson's resignation from the board of review is received.

Supervisor George Clark and board members accepted Treasurer Terrill's resignation "with regrets". The announcement had not been unexpected. Terrill, had told the board that "the work is getting a little harder to do each year" and that he'd like to retire from the duties. By retiring in November the responsibility of collecting winter taxes will fall to the new treasurer.

The passing from the township government scene of Terrill marks the end of an era. He was the last of the officials whose service dates back to the forties.

Terrill was appointed township treasurer in July, 1941. He replaced Mrs. Mollie Lawrence, who took over as supervisor upon the resignation of William Ely. Previously, Terrill had been a member of the township board of review.

A popular vote-getter, Terrill was always one of the ballot leaders for the township Republicans along with the supervisor, Mrs. Lawrence. In 1959 Mrs. Lawrence retired and was succeeded by Supervisor Clark.

Only once did Terrill have stiff competition in the Republican primary. "They decided they would throw us old timers out", Terrill recalls. "But we beat them by more than three-to-one."

Terrill is a Northville native. He has lived on his 160-acre Six Mile at Napier road farm all his life.

In 1930 the homestead was destroyed by fire and Terrill rebuilt on the same site, a large, brown-brick two story home.

In 1905 Terrill married Mary Kohler and July 17 the couple celebrated their 57th wedding anniversary.

From 1905 until 1923 Terrill farmed. Then he accepted a job as milk inspector for the Detroit Board of Health, a position he held until 1940. In 1932 Terrill started converting his farm to a fruit orchard and later became an active commercial fruit farmer until leasing his apple and peach orchards to Ralph Foreman in 1957.

Terrill remembers that in 1941, his first year as treasurer, the total township tax collection was $49,000. And in those days the township included the entire Northville area. Separation of the village from the township did not take place until city incorporation in 1955.

In 1955, last year that Terrill collected taxes for the area which is now the city, the total levy was $232,000. In 1956 the levy without the city portion was $123,000.

Five years later, in 1961, the total tax levy in Northville township reached $404,000, Terrill points out.

"This is due to state equalization, higher school taxes and building growth", the treasurer explains.

Terrill will tell you he has enjoyed his work with the township but at 77 feels that he'd like to take it a little easier.

"I'm proud of the fact that I've built up a good following in the township. I've always tried to do a good job", Terrill stated.

Resignation as township treasurer doesn't mean complete retirement, however, Terrill is a real estate salesman for the Forrest Doreh agency and will continue in that capacity.

He's promised to stay close to home this winter to help Lawrence with the tax collections. But in future winters he hopes now that he and his wife will be able to take a vacation to warmer climates — something that he hasn't been able to do for the past 21 winters.

Mr. and Mrs. Terrill have one daughter, Mrs. Alfred Strasen, and one granddaughter.

Car-Truck Crash Kills Local Woman

A Baseline road resident died Saturday morning when her car crashed into the rear of a dump truck on Seven Mile road in front of Northville state hospital.

Mrs. Emeline Slover, 65, of 518 Baseline, was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital shortly after the 8 a.m. accident.

State Police report Mrs. Slover's 1956 two-door sedan was demolished when it smashed in to the back of a gravel-loaded dump truck driven by Alexander Tonarelli, 55, of Southfield. Both vehicles were headed east.

Tonarelli, who was not injured, told investigating officers he had been traveling at between 15 and 20 miles an hour when the accident occurred. The officers did not estimate the speed of Mrs. Slover's car.

The police theorize Mrs. Slover either lost consciousness, possibly because of a heart attack, or lost control of her car. An autopsy report shows she had a ruptured heart, but doctors attributed this to accident damage.

Mrs. Slover, who lived alone at the Baseline address, was born July 18, 1897, in Redwood, New York, the daughter of Henry S. and Martha Hanna Soper.

She was a long-time resident of the Northville area, and belonged to the Methodist church. She was a past matron of the Order of the Eastern Star, a member of the White Shrine of Farmington, and a past president of the Rebekahs.

Mrs. Slover is survived by two brothers, J. D. Soper, of Ompa, Ontario and Willard Soper, of San Diego, California.

Funeral services were held Tuesday evening from Casterline funeral home, the Reverend M. I. Johnson, pastor of the First Methodist church of Plymouth, officiating.

Special services were conducted Wednesday by the Order of the Eastern Star, and cremation took place this morning at Woodmore cemetery.

FATAL ACCIDENT — This is the car which Mrs. Emeline Slover drove into the back end of a dump truck on Seven Mile road, in front of the Northville state hospital Saturday morning. Mrs. Slover, of 518 Baseline road, died before reaching the hospital.

Happy Note: 1962-63 School Tax Reduced

The Northville board of education approved its 1962-63 millage levy, set tuition fees and adopted a resolution to borrow $200,000 against future state aid payments Monday night as activity began humming for school opening September 8.

The millage rate should please taxpayers. It's down.

The board approved a total levy of 24.95 mills against state equalized valuations. This rate is .8 of a mill less than last year. Savings in the levy were realized by reductions in debt retirement millage.

Specifically, the 1957 debt, series A was reduced from one mill to .75; the series B from four mills to 3.6; and series C from 1.5 to 1.5; and the 1954 debt from 1.25 to 1.20 mills.

Of the total tax levy 17.90 mills provide for the general operating fund, while 7.05 mills go to retire bonded indebtedness.

Tuition rates for the new year to the sending district or parent were established at $332 for grades kindergarten through six, and $351.46 for secondary classes. State payments bring the annual income per pupil for primary and secondary grades to $556 and $575.46, respectively.

The board approved the recommendation to adopt a resolution to borrow $200,000 against state aid, the same sum needed last year to meet school opening obligations.

In other business the board consented to act as sponsoring school district for the education program at Wayne County Training School. Clare Ebersole of the Wayne County Superintendent's office made the request. Under the arrangement Northville merely acts as a vehicle for the training school through which state aid payments are made.

The board also heard a request from Gordon Bunn of the South Lyon school district for admission of his son, a 10th grader, to the Northville system. Bunn is employed in Northville. He said he did not believe his son would receive an adequate education in South Lyon. The board tabled the request when President William Crump suggested that it might review its policy concerning outside students.

Water, Sewer Plans Sought in Township

Northville township board members heard requests from two proposed housing developments for sewer and water facilities at its regular meeting last week.

Both inquiries were referred to the newly formed water and sewer commission by the board. Specifically, Walter Couse, developer of Edenberry subdivision, and John Northup, who will develop the Shad Brook subdivision, requested permission for the installation of the facilities.

Both water inquiries were based on a request to the city of Plymouth which would permit the West Seven Mile road subdivisions to tap into a Plymouth water line running through the proposed developments.

Specifications and permits for installation of water and sewer systems would be needed from the township.

Northup appeared at the meeting and made an additional request. He asked for permission to post a cash bond with the township equal to the cost of installing sewers so that he might proceed with the installation prior to final approval of the subdivision plat. He said that a similar arrangement was being made with the county road commission for road installation and noted that it would permit him to build homes for sale this fall.

The board agreed to permit the arrangement pending an opinion from the township attorney.

The Edenberry and Shad Brook developments will provide 33 and 66 homesites, respectively, in the $30,000 to $50,000 class when completed. The proposed developments are adjoining on property south of West Seven Mile and east of Valencia.

No answer has been received from Plymouth concerning the water request. The developments will be the first in the township to offer sanitary sewers, and possibly city water.

In other business, the township board appointed Richard Mitchell constable replacing Chester Lupa, who resigned.

The board also approved a motion to provide longer office hours at the township hall. Presently, the office is open weekdays from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

It was agreed that the office will open at 10 a.m. beginning in September.

The board also heard a request from Gordon Bunn of the South Lyon school district for admission of his son, a 10th grader, to the Northville system. Bunn is employed in Northville. He said he did not believe his son would receive an adequate education in South Lyon. The board tabled the request when President William Crump suggested that it might review its policy concerning outside students.

C. Oscar Hammond In Top Legion Race

A campaign to elect C. Oscar Hammond of Northville as state department commander of the American Legion has been launched state-wide.

Hammond is married and the father of three children. His wife has served as unit and district president and department chaplain of the Legion. Son Walter is a Navy veteran and a 16-year member of the Legion. Daughter Hazel has served as unit president and district vice president, while another daughter, Gladys, served in the maimes.

In community affairs Hammond has been active in the First Methodist church and served for the past 10 years as a member of the city's civil defense committee. He also chaired Northville's Michigan Week celebration this year.

Hammond, who is 68, lives at 511 North Center street. He entered military service in November, 1917 and served until April, 1919. He has been a member of the American Legion since June, 1920.

He has served the Northville post as junior and senior vice commander and commander. He held the position of 17th district commander in 1952-53 and served as the third zone department vice commander in 1956-57.

Hammond also served on the department and national levels as a member of the National Security Committee. He is presently a judge advocate for the 17th district and for the past three years has been captain of the district ritual team. He is also chairman of the board of directors of the post home corporation.

College to Build Near Northville

A 137-acre parcel "across the road" from Northville township has been selected by the Northwest Wayne County Community College board of trustees as the future site of its $4 million college.

The location is the southeast corner of Haggerty and Seven Mile roads directly across from the Northville State Hospital property.

The 150-acre farm is owned by Mrs. Reynold Esch and it is proposed that Mrs. Esch will retain some 13 acres where her residence is located. The Esch home is located at 18974 Haggerty.

Final details in the negotiations have been turned over to the college's legal advisor, but the price of the property was announced as $250,000, the limit set by the board for land cost.

The property is located in the city of Livonia and college officials stated that sewer and water facilities have been assured by the municipality.

A Northville township site, 100 acres at Bradner and Elk roads, had been given serious consideration but presented sewer problems. In a last-minute, all-out effort Livonia officials came up with five new locations last week. Previously, it appeared that land cost would be prohibitive in Livonia.

The Seven Mile-Haggerty site is as close, and provides a better access road, for the majority of the population of Northville than the proposed Northville township site.

But whether Northville will ever become a part of the community college district remains for the college board of trustees, and finally the Northville school district, to decide.

Petitions bearing signatures of 98 Northville school district voters have been submitted to the college board requesting entrance into the district. A reply to the request is not expected before mid-September.

Favorable consideration by the college would then require submission of new petitions to the Northville board of education calling for an election on the issue.

School districts of Plymouth, Livonia, Garden City and Clarenceville make up the community college district. Voters in these districts approved an annual one mill tax levy to support the college.

In a meeting of the Northville school board Monday night board members expressed reservations concerning the entry of Northville into the college district.

In a lengthy discussion of the issue the board took the position that its first consideration must be to the local school system.

"The question is, are we willing to jeopardize our own primary and secondary system to assist the community college?" Board Member Robert Shafer stated. He said it was the board's position that it was not in expressing fear that the local system might suffer loss of millage because voters become overburdened with property taxes, Shafer pointed out that any vote on the college plan should be clearly presented so that voters are aware of their responsibility to the local system and its needs — and that the college millage would be additional.

President William Crump expressed agreement with Shafer. He further proposed a meeting with P-TA members and interested citizens as well as college representatives to discuss the issue.

Paid Vice President Donald Lawrence added a word of caution. "I don't think we should create an opinion that we are against the community college per se... only, afraid that it will jeopardize our own system," he concluded.

City Taxes Due Soon

With the deadline just a week away less than 50 per cent of the city's total tax roll has been paid, City Clerk Martha Milne reported this week.

To date some $56,217.15 of the total levy of $131,381.76 has been paid, the clerk reported Monday.

Final date for payment without penalty is August 31. After the deadline a four per cent collection fee is imposed with a half per cent per month penalty thereafter.

Payments may be made at the city clerk's office in the city hall. Office hours are daily 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. and Saturdays until noon.

No Bond Bidders For Grid Lights; Plan Public Sale

The possibility that Northville high school's football team might open its 1962 season under new lights at its new athletic field became a funn flicker Monday night.

A proposed lump sum sale of some $43,000 worth of revenue bonds failed to attract a single bidder.

Board members immediately moved to assign the job of selling the bonds to Nelson C. Schrader, a former board president.

Schrader had previously agreed to head a citizens committee to acquire sufficient funds to equip the field with 3,000 bleacher seats and quartz-type lighting. But the board had been hopeful that an investment firm might purchase the entire issue at a favorable interest rate.

Failure to receive any bids Monday night leaves Schrader with little time to complete the job for the home opener September 21 — although it is still the board's intent to have the field ready for play this season.

Schrader said Tuesday that he had not formed a committee but that he would do so immediately and that unofficially, at least, the bonds are on sale now.

The bonds are in increments of $100 and will bear an interest rate not to exceed five per cent. The exact amount has not been determined.

Interest from the bonds is tax exempt, Schrader noted. It is anticipated that the $43,000 bond issue can be retired within 10 years by earmarking some $5,000 annually from athletic receipts for payment.

Plans call for 2,000 seats to be installed on the east (home) side of the new high school athletic field and 1,000 seats on the west side. Four poles with quartz-type lighting will be installed with a single pole at the 20 yard lines on each side of the field.

The school board received 150 bids for bleachers Monday night. Low bidder was the Standard Steel Bleacher company at $26,420.35. Estimates place cost of lighting at $15,000. In order to expedite the project the board decided to submit specifications for bids on the lights immediately.

In undertaking the complete of the new athletic field board members have pointed out that Ford Field, where games are now held, is not adequate in terms of lights, seats and parking. They further note that the field is not owned by the school system.

Business Pick-up Date Changed

New arrangements for rubbish collection in the Northville business district were announced this week by Clerk Martha Milne.

Under the city's agreement with the McCredy firm, which was awarded the contract for city garbage and rubbish pick-up commencing August 1, collections will be made Monday and Thursday mornings.

The Thursday pick-up must be paid by the business directly to McCredy. He may be contacted through the city hall, Clerk Milne said.

City-wide collection each Monday will continue as usual. This fee is paid from the city's general fund.

His condition is considered serious and no visitors other than the family have been permitted.

Carrington, 74, is a life-long resident of Northville, a former postmaster, member and past chairman of the planning commission and frequently referred to as Northville's "Mr. Republican".

'Wacky' Cake is Quickie

Mrs. Fred Casterline, 114 West Dunlap, calls her "Wacky Chocolate Cake" a real quickie — "and my son Butch's favorite".

"Date Nut Cake" is another one of the talented homemaker's specialties.

When asked if she baked often Mrs. Casterline was quick to declare, "Oh yes. Cooking's my hobby." And no one could be more pleased than her husband and fourteen-year-old Butch.

"Wacky" Chocolate Cake
Mrs. Fred Casterline

1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup cold water

Sift dry ingredients into an 8x8x2 inch ungreased pan. Level off and punch three holes into the mixture with the back side of a spoon. Into one hole pour vinegar; into another, the shortening; and into the third the vanilla. Pour the water over all and stir thoroughly with fork. Bake 25-30 minutes at 350 degrees.

Date Nut Cake

1 cup chopped dates
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup hot water
2 tablespoons butter

1/2 cup water
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 tablespoon butter

Mix 1 cup of dates with soda and hot water and let stand. Combine sugar, butter, flour, baking powder and nuts and mix well. Add this to date mix and mix well. Pour into a greased 8x9 inch pan and bake for 35 minutes at 350 degrees. When cake is removed from the oven, pour over topping which has been made by cooking over medium heat until thickened. Top with whipped cream if desired.

Select peaches which are bright and fresh in appearance, have some blush, and a background color that is either yellowish or creamy. Peaches should be fairly firm, but not hard. Firm, ripe peaches have a melon texture, a natural peach goodness and can be held from three to four days for fresh use.

How many peaches do you need to buy to serve your family? Two pounds of peaches will make four 1/2 cup servings of sliced peaches or one 8-inch pie. One bushel of peaches will yield 32-48 pints, canned or frozen. The number of pints depends on the quality and size of peaches, whether the peaches are sliced or halved, and how closely you pack the peaches in the container. If you pay $3-$4 a bushel for fresh peaches to can or freeze, each pint will cost 15-17 cents.

At home, store firm, ripe peaches at room temperature; full, ripe fruit should be stored in the refrigerator. Handle peaches carefully to avoid bruising — bruising causes excessive waste.

Peaches may be used in a number of ways — in salads, as a meat accompaniment, or as a dessert. Here is a peachy dessert idea for you to serve your family within the next few days.

Peach Upside-Down Cake
4 t. butter
2-3 c. brown sugar
2 c. sliced fresh peaches
1/4 c. walnut or pecan halves
1 1/2 c. family flour
2 1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
4 t. fat
1/4 c. sugar
1 egg
1 c. milk
1 tsp. vanilla extract

Melt butter in 9-inch skillet; add brown sugar. Cook, stirring constantly until sugar is melted. Arrange peaches and nuts over sugar and butter. Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cream fat; add sugar gradually, beating constantly. Add egg; beat well. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk and flavoring, beating after each addition. Pour batter over fruit. Bake in moderate oven (375 F.). As soon as cake is removed from oven invert on serving plate. Serve hot or cold with sweetened whipped cream. Yield: 8 servings or 1 9-inch cake.

Note: For canned peaches, reduce brown sugar to 1/2 cup.

Recreation Kids Show Off Their Pets and Dolls

One thing's certain, there's no shortage of pets in Northville.

There's also a pretty good supply of dolls.

Most of them were on hand last Friday evening for the annual Northville Recreation Department Pet and Doll Show.

There must have been 100 youngsters at the event. They all had at least one pet or doll. Many had made elaborate floats and before the judging of pets and dolls took place they paraded through the business district.

Judging was held at the city hall park.

In the pet line there were meat dogs and friendly dogs, big cats and small cats and a cat with no tail. There were ducks, chickens, lobsters, guinea pigs, crickets and salamanders.

Despite the confusion created by barking dogs, screeching cats, quacking ducks and a run-away chicken, Recreation Director Ken Conley and his assistants carefully judged each animal and doll before awarding cash prizes.

The classifications and winners were as follows:

Floats — Most Original: 1. Martha and Mark Gazlay; 2. Sally Sliger; 3. Madigans. Prettiest Float: 1. Nancy Hoffman; 2. Rene LaPointe; 3. Kathy Becker.

Most Original Bike: 1. Curt Souer; 2. Patti Mallett. Best Decorated Bike: 1. Sally McBride; 2. Wayne McBride.

Dolls — Most Unusual Doll and Dress: 1. Kathy Bowen; 2. Jennifer Bowen; 3. Connie Prodder; 4. Jimmy Prodder. Prettiest Doll: 1. Judy Utley; 2. Cathy Hemepe; 3. Teresa Hines.

Oldest Doll: 1. Charlene Holloman; 2. Charlene Holloman; 3. Linda Prom. Best Homemade Doll: 1. Darlene Baggit; 2. Lori Cain. Largest Collection: 1. Charlene Holloman. Smallest Doll: 1. Patti Mallett; 2. Lisa Wright; 3. Kay Sterling.

Best Dressed Doll: 1. Donna Wilmer; 2. Kathy Ashby; 3. Celia Miller. Biggest Doll: 1. Candice Cain; 2. Jane Skelley; 3. Karen Sepp. Largest Collection of Foreign Dolls: 1. Denise Meyer; 2. Paula Joslon.

Outdoor Cooking Can Be a Ball

Bring out the chef's hat for Dad because cooking on the outdoor rotisserie can be easy and fun when a few facts are kept in mind.

Start the charcoal fire in advance — allow 45 minutes for the coals to become completely gray-hot.

For a fast start, use this method to get the fire going: Punch large holes in a No. 10 can, spaced about 1 inch from the bottom. Remove the bottom and top of can. Place the can, bottom edge down, in the fire bowl. Fill the can with briquets and soak with lighting fluid, then light the fire. When the briquets are covered with gray ash, remove with tongs. Arrange the briquets at the rear of the fire bowl. Attach rod with meat and start motor. Place drip pan under the meat.

For even, moderate cooking, start with a small amount of charcoal and add more as needed. Tender cuts of meat are best for rotisserie cooking, such as: a lamb rolled leg roast, smoked ham roll, beef rolled rump roast, rib-eye roast, pork boneless roast, spareribs or lamb riblets. Frankfurters or smoked sausages are delicious when cooked in a tumbling basket over a charcoal fire.

Meats cooked on the rotisserie may be basted during the entire cooking time or the last half hour of the cooking period. When the basting sauce contains sugar, apply during the latter part of the cooking time to prevent burning.

School Board Meetings Offer Variety of Topics

Lansing — In case you have the impression that school board meetings are boring — full of dry discussions of pencil purchasing — it's not so. When you attend a school board meeting, you may find yourself listening to discussions about safety education, a projected site for a new school, or adding a foreign language to the curriculum.

School board meetings are personally important to you — after all, their decisions affect you and your child in so many ways.

The Michigan and National Education Associations report on some of the problems that our modern-day school boards may be asked to solve.

"Shall we add Russian to the curriculum?"

A school board, deciding whether to start foreign language study in the elementary grades, finds that a variety of problems have to be solved. What age is best for learning a new language? (The board brings in experts for advice.) How much will the program cost? (The superintendent reports on the experience of other school systems with foreign language programs.) Are good teachers available? (The superintendent explores the local supply.) Will it be possible to continue the program through junior and senior high school? Board members might talk informally with individual parents, set up a citizens' advisory committee, and ask parent-teachers associations to discuss the question. When a board considers a new idea of this kind, the community helps them make the decision.

"You mean three more teachers are leaving?"

Most school boards and superintendents devote a large amount of time to finding and keeping personnel and establishing clear-cut personnel policies. When the teachers are happy, feel secure in their work and have opportunities to work at a professional level, the whole study body benefits. That is why you will hear your board giving serious consideration to such items as reduction of classroom size, improvement of the salary schedule, or to summer employment for teachers.

"Is a two-story building more economical?"

When a school board is in the middle of a school construction program, you'll probably hear questions like these around the conference table: Shall we cut corners so we can build today, or wait until we have more money and use materials that will last longer? Should more space be given to science laboratories? Do we have a good architect? Is the site the best one available? Architects, builders, school planning experts, citizens' committees, and the professional staff all are called upon for advice when a school board faces one of its most complicated problems — how to build schools that will serve the children well and give the community real value for its expenditure.

"How about a training school for bus drivers?"

When a school board has a transportation system under its jurisdiction, the members will be concerned about the enforcement of safety regulations, improvement of the safety records of bus drivers, and the maintenance of discipline among students on buses. A meeting may find board members looking into ways and means of setting up a training school for new drivers, calling in the highway police for advice on safe bus routes, checking into the price of new buses, and making sure that the old vehicles measure up to the latest national school bus regulations. Great progress has been made in safety in school bus transportation.

"How will the budget stand the population explosion?"

A big part of the school member's job is looking at the future education needs of his community. He confers with officials and studies statistics on the expected birth rate; these tell him how many classrooms will be needed five to ten years from now. Board members compare the birth rate with the potential school funds and hope that people realize the value of education and give it the support it deserves.

Since these are only a few of the matters which school board members consider, you can realize the importance of having thoughtful, enthusiastic, and well-informed board members. The next time there is a school board election in your town, find out whether the candidates are sincerely interested in the welfare of all the children in the community. Attend the school board meetings that are open to the public. By taking an active interest in your community's school board meetings, you will help insure better educational opportunities for all children.

Wayne County Names Shunk New Superintendent of Schools

Mrs. Betty Becker, President of the Wayne County Board of Education, announced that the long search for an outstanding educator to assume the duties of the Wayne County Superintendent of Schools had ended with the appointment of William A. Shunk. Officially, Shunk assumed his county superintendent duties on August 20th.

He succeeds Dr. Charles E. Blake who retired as superintendent in June.

For the past 17 years, Shunk has been the Superintendent of Schools, Waterford Township in Oakland County. In 1945, when he was appointed Waterford's school chief, the district had less than 3,000 children enrolled. When he submitted his resignation to his Board of Education, Shunk commented on how he had seen the district grow and expand to its present 13,400 enrollment.

The Wayne county educational system, largest in the entire state, offers a challenge to any administrator. Over half a million children attend the 750 school buildings in the County of Wayne. The Wayne County Board of Education, with a staff of 23 educational consultants, provides a wide variety of services for Wayne county's 43 school districts. William Shunk's thirty-five years in Michigan educational work has prepared him for the challenging county office position. He has been a teacher in Schoolcraft, and a university teacher at the Eastern Michigan College of Education. During 1933 to 1942 he was the Superintendent of Schools in Bloomfield Hills.

Currently, in addition to his Waterford Township superintendent's duties, Shunk has been responsible for the many activities of the Michigan Association of School Administrators as their president. He has his master's degree from the University of Michigan and has done additional graduate work at Wayne State University and the University of Michigan.

Shunk is married and has three children. He will move into the Detroit area in the near future.

Ball Action Slows As Season Wanes

The baseball season, now on its last legs, is threatened with nearly-certain death by this weekend in the Novi-Northville area.

All the Northville recreation department's summer leagues except the Men's softball league have already completed both season and post-season play.

Northville's class "E" Plumb-ers were only stragglers left after knothole ball ended last week, but they went down in defeat — first of the season — when they competed in a tour-nament Monday. (See other story this page).

In Novi, all activity except the tail end of little league play has already ceased. The West-ern Wayne county league team members dusted off for good nearly two weeks ago.

And all activity in both com-munities will cease after the Men's softball league plays its final game tonight (Thursday) and the little league ends its season either this week or next.

In Novi, it all depends upon the Paragon Steelers — they're tight behind the league-leading National Bank Bandits, and if they can come up with two more wins in the only two games they have left in the season, there will have to be a play-off next week.

The Bandits have won 18 this summer, and are all through unless the Steelers, with 16 wins and two rain-outs to make up, tie the leaders' record.

There will be no competition for places further down the line. The Novi Drug team is

10-Pin Call For Women

Kent Leads Area Parks

Kensington Metropolitan Park led two other Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority parks in attendance during the month of July.

The local area park drew a total of 427,000 people during July. July attendance at the Lower Huron Metropolitan and Metropolitan Beach was given at 348,000 and 323,000 respec-tively.

Attendance at all three parks was down from the attendance of July 1961.

This past July, which started out as a torrid month, proved to be a mixture of unseason-able low temperatures and several rainy days, thus ac-counting for the drop, officials explained.

Eight Pass Swim Tests

Seven youngsters received Red Cross beginner swimming certificates after completing the Northville recreation de-partment's beginner lessons. While nearly 50 beginning swimmers started lessons under the program, most did not have time to complete the 21 requirements necessary for cer-tification.

Awajed beginner's certifi-cates were Demeece Bidwell, Bill Goldsmith, Bob Hicks, Nancy Hoffman, Alan Jaslow, Bonnie McKinney and Tom Whea-ton.

Mike Conley received the on-ly intermediate swimming cer-tificate awarded this year. He took part in regular swimming lessons and then did special work to complete the dozen intermediate requirements.

They Shoot Grid Mouth Guards For Prizes On Display at Fair

Some 15 local youngsters "shot it out" Robbin Hood style Friday morning in the Northville recreation department's annual archery tournament. Most of the young archers ended up winning in some cate-gory.

First place in the six to seven age group went to Mark Frid, while Ricky Moore took first in the eight to nine group. Sec-ond place behind Turnbull was not awarded because of lack of entries. Ricky Fitzgerald took third.

Craig Turnbull was first place winner in the 10-11 age group, while Ron Baggett and Robert Stoddard took second and third, respectively.

Winners among the 12-13 year olders were Dale Sterling, first, Bill Skelly, second, and Mike Conley, third.

Mike Turnbull, only entrant in the 14-15 group, was the highest scorer of the tourna-ment.

Only two girls competed in the tournament, and they were awarded second places on the basis of their scores. Nancy Hoffman was sole entrant in the 10-11 age group, and Susan Con-ley was entered in the 14-15 group.

Golf Draws A Foursome

Only four entrants, about one third the usual number, compet-ed in the Northville recreation department's annual golfing tournament Monday at Brae Burn country club.

Craig Turnbull was winner in the 11-year-olds class. He shot a 61 for the nine-hole event, while brother Mike Turnbull shot a 51 to win in the 14-15-year-old event.

Frank Pauli helmed the long-est drive of the day, while Craig Turnbull came closest to the pin.

The dental display at the Michigan State Fair this year will feature the actual fabrica-tion of mouth guards for foot-ball players and other athletes.

Such mouth guards are com-pulsory this year for Michigan high school football players.

The State Fair display, spon-sored by the Detroit District Dental Society in co-operation with the Michigan State Dental Association, also will include a modern dental office and mod-ern dental laboratory.

The dental exhibit will be on display through the State Fair's run, August 24 through Sep-tember 3.

On hand daily from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. will be a dentist, dental hygienist, dental assis-tant and dental student. They will demonstrate and explain various instruments and dental techniques to State Fair pa-trons.

The mouth guard section of the exhibit will be set up to show why such protective de-vices should be custom-made for the individual athlete and to demonstrate the ease with which they can be made by

LET'S TALK CARS... How to Succeed In Business by Really Trying

We came across some sound philosophy a little while back that is bound to make a sure fire success of any business that applies it faithfully. The trouble is, as any business man will tell you, good intentions somehow become forgotten and resolutions are more recited than practiced.

If we often fall short of per-fection, we hope you'll forgive us. But we did think you'd en-joy reading some of these pearls of good common sense. Though we don't always suc-ceed, we're always trying to make them our rules of busi-ness. If you deal with us, then they're bound to affect you. And if not, perhaps you'll find them interesting anyway.

Here they are:
"Reputations will continue to be made by many acts and lost by one ...

Performance will continue to outsell promises ...

Business will continue to go where invited and remain where appreciated ...

Go-givers will become the best go-getters ...

People will go right on pre-fering to do business with friends ...

Know-how will surpass guess-how ...

Trust, not tricks, will keep customers loyal ...

Enthusiasm will continue to be as contagious as ever ...

Quality will be prized as a precious possession ...

And as anyone who has driv-en it knows, the "extra mile" has no traffic jams."

May we have a chance to serve you?

School Millage Faces 4th Vote in South Lyon

South Lyon voters will go to the polls Monday to decide whether or not 5-mills should be levied to produce operating monies for the Lyon school system.

Five mills at 90-percent collection will produce $105,022.92.

Monday's election will be the fourth school millage election held this summer. In the previous three elections, voters turned down 65-mill proposals twice, 5-mills once, and 4-mills once.

Dependant upon the outcome of Monday's vote, taxpayers will return to the polls the following week to decide two other proposals. These proposals, which are alike except for wording, will ask the electors to decide if $105,000 should be transferred from the building and site fund to the school's operating account.

School board members decided last Friday to bring the last two propositions to a vote on a separate election date because, according to officials, there was insufficient time to process the proposals for placement on the August 20 ballot.

This school board action drew strong protest from J. C. Cahill and other citizens. Some of those who support the transfer of funds have threatened to take the board to court for not placing the propositions on Monday's ballot.

Because officials had learned that the first of the latter two proposals might be interpreted as unlawful, a second petition was presented to the board last

— Justice Court —

A Plymouth woman, Lulu M. Green entered a plea of guilty to charges of reckless driving in Justice of the Peace Charles McDonald's court last Thursday.

On Wednesday, August 8 she had been apprehended by Northville Police as she was driving in the wrong lane on the Northville boulevard while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Her fines and costs totalled $50.

In Monday's court session Walter D. Smith, 600 Horton street, was found guilty and fined $75, $5 costs or 30 days on the charges of reckless driving and failure to keep his car under control.

Traveling north at an excessive rate of speed, Smith had approached the Sheldon road-Edward Hines drive intersection on Saturday, July 28. When he was unable to make a complete stop at the crossing, he came to a rest in a ditch on the east side of Sheldon road.

In other court action Monday John L. Dowd, 4690 Ten Mile road, Novi, was found guilty and fined $75, $15 costs or 60 days after he pleaded not guilty to reckless driving charges.

For failing to yield the right of way, thus causing a property damage accident, a Wixom woman, Janet C. Parvu, received fines and costs of $30.

The accident, which occurred at Sheldon and Ann Arbor roads Monday, July 23, involved the car driven by Jack W. Sheppard of Detroit. There was severe damage to both vehicles.

A Detroit youth was sentenced to spend five days in the county jail after he pleaded guilty in Novi Justice of the Peace court to driving while his license was suspended.

Justice Robert K. Anderson sentenced Thomas F. Urban, 19, to the five days. Urban's license had been suspended twice before.

Donald J. Lowell, 47, of East Detroit, pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly at the Walled Lake amusement park August 5, and was ordered to pay $35.

John W. Cutchall, 34, of 1605 East Lake drive, paid $15 after he was found guilty of driving without due care and caution. Police charged, Cutchall had squealed his tires and exceeded the speed limit.

In Wash-Oak District Elect New School Board

The Wash-Oak school district settled down to normalcy this past week with the election of new board members to fill the seats of the three members who had resigned.

Elected at a special election meeting conducted at the on-room country school Friday were:

Floyd Taylor, 55815 West Eight Mile road, president; Marvin Partridge, 54433 West Eight Mile road, secretary; and Burrell Downing, 8292 West Seven Mile road, treasurer.

County Superintendent of Schools, assisted by Deputy Superintendent Howard Tahayer, conducted the election meeting which produced unanimous support of the three candidates. Forty-four electors cast secret ballots.

Wash-Oak school is located on Currie road, between Seven and Eight Mile roads. The small primary school district includes areas of Salem and Lyon townships.

The special election meeting was called by the county superintendent following the resignation of President Louis Wallenmaier, Secretary Mrs. Sarah Bryant, and Treasurer John Sprenger. The resignations came on the heels of petitions which

Local Drug Employee Sought in Cash Theft

An employee of the Northville Drug company is being sought by Northville and Walled Lake police for his connection in a theft totalling $2,825.

Northville police report that the Wayne County prosecutor has requested that a warrant of arrest on the charges of larceny from a building be issued against David H. Leach, 27, of Livonia. Leach has been employed as a part-time drug-gist in both the local drug store and the Anderson Drug company, Walled Lake.

The proprietor of the Northville Drug, Al Laux, called local police Sunday when he discovered a note written to him from Leach. The letter asked that Laux "not say anything" until he was contacted by Leach. A bottle of sleeping pills had been placed beside the note.

Police report that upon further investigation, Laux found that $350 in cash was missing from the store.

After local police had been informed of the incident, they were notified by the Walled Lake police department that $2500 had been taken from the Anderson Drug firm.

Leach's wife reports that she has heard nothing of his whereabouts.

Northville Police Chief Eugene King said that a second warrant will probably be issued by the Oakland County prosecutor.

Last week police investigated a breaking and entering incident that took place at Lapham's Northville Men's shop, 120 East Main the evening of Wednesday, August 8 or the early morning of August 9.

Entry was gained into the basement by prying a lock off a door located at the rear of the building.

Chief King said that the burglar was not able to enter the main part of the building, and nothing was stolen.

Dr. Mudd Explains...

Dear John:

I didn't mean you — honestly! But as I wrote before some charlatans style themselves psychologists. And some otherwise ethical psychologists imagine themselves qualified to engage in the practice of medicine. They mistakenly but quite sincerely believe that the emotional distresses of mankind can be dealt with without reference to the body which houses the mind.

A few odd ones even claim that their lack of education in anatomy, physiology, biochemistry, etc., makes them superior to doctors of medicine as psychotherapists. I find that most sick people want a doctor to treat them and are not satisfied that even a PhD is an indication of therapeutic skill.

Sincerely,
Sandor Mudd, M.D.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jerome and son, Jerry, 419 Du-huar, have been vacationing in Upper Michigan and Canada for the past two weeks. Two days of their vacation were spent with their daughter and her family, the Reverend Richard Hookets of Kalamazoo.

Jaycee Charity Horse Show Attracts Over 2,000 Entries

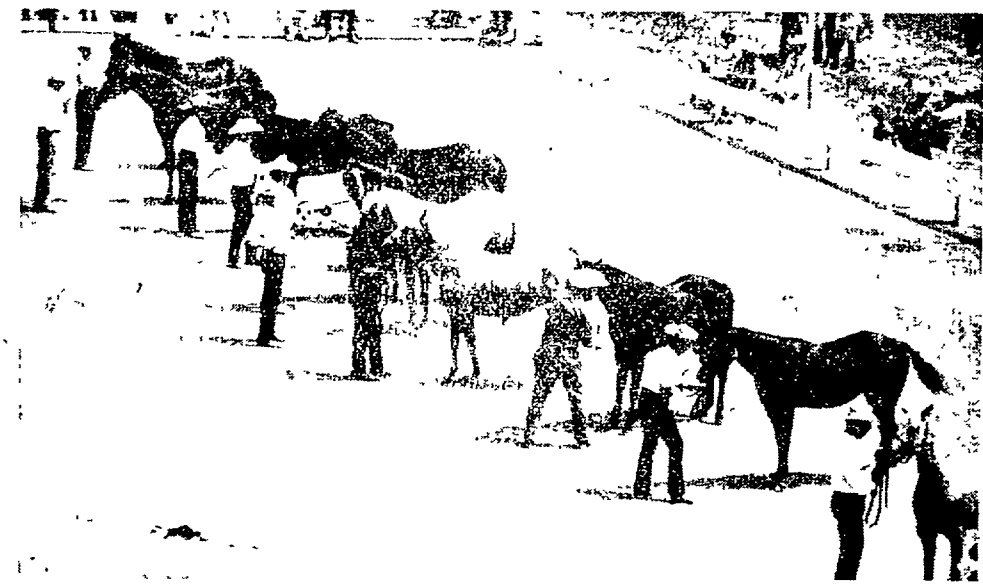

"It was the biggest horse show ever held in the state," agreed Jim Powers and Don Blair, co-chairmen of the Northville Jaycees' Northville Charity Horse Show last week.

The Jaycees were co-sponsors with the Arabian Horse Association for the three-day show, which featured the sixth annual Michigan All-Arabian Horse show.

Powers said there were 750 horses entered a total of 2,500 times in the 155 judging events held over the three days of activity at the Northville Downs.

"There were at least 2,000 entries on Sunday alone," he said — about twice the number of entries in last year's two-day show.

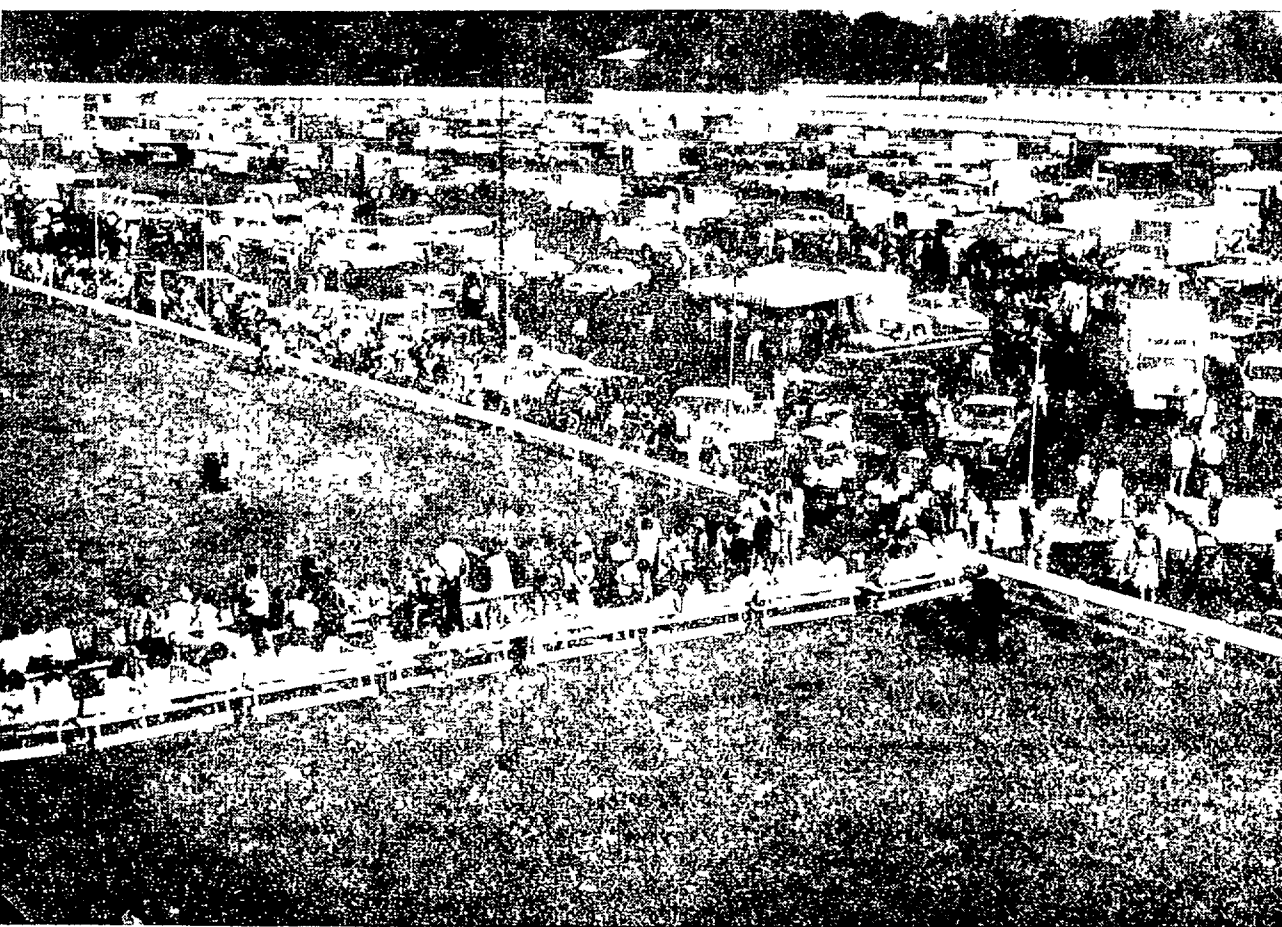

"And better than 5,000 fans passed through our gates," added Blair. Both agreed it was a big success and predicted the show would clear more than the $3,000 earned last year.

BREEDING CLASSES — Exhibitors line up their quarter-horse mares Sunday afternoon in readiness for judging.

CROWDED INFIELD shows representative cars, trucks and trailers of exhibitors during the Sunday events. In the foreground are two competition rings, the closer one for reining classes and the other for English Jumping competition. There were so many entries Sunday that the final event did not end until 1:25 a.m. Monday, some seven hours later than planned.

2ND PLACE WINNER — Eddie Earehart, of Salem, took second in Morgan English performance during Sunday's all-breed competition.

FANCY DRIFTING during the two-year-old fine harness class Sunday won prizes for Henry Jennings, of 39431 Nine Mile.

Something you should think about if you're about to buy a truck:

If all trucks were built the same way, cost the same to keep up, were worth the same at trade-in . . . then probably the price tag would be your only concern. It can't be, of course, because some trucks have more quality than others. And marks of quality are the real keys to low cost.

Chevrolet trucks, for example, have double-wall construction, which gives bodies and cabs more strength. Cabs are insulated against heat, cold and noise. A big part of road shock, which shortens truck life, is damped out by Chevrolet's suspension system; it also makes riding in the truck a pleasure. Pickup bodies and cabs are separated to eliminate stress between them.

Value such as this has induced more people to invest in Chevrolet trucks every year since 1937.

This can be a good time to buy a modern new Chevrolet truck

Late summer traditionally is the season for all-around savings on a new Chevrolet truck . . . selection is still good . . . deliveries are prompt . . . and Chevrolet dealers are doubly anxious to put you into a new vehicle in order to make way for next year's models. Coupled with the efficient performance a new Chevrolet truck will give you, it seems evident that you couldn't buy at a better time. Come in and take full advantage of it!

Man's dominion over the bondage of materialism will be set forth in Christian Science churches this Sunday.
Selections from the Bible and correlative passages from the Christian Science textbooks, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will comprise the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul".
The Golden Text is from Exodus (20): "I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other gods before me."
This citation will be read from Science and Health (p.14): "Entirely separate from the belief and dream of material living, is the Life divine, revealing spiritual understanding and the consciousness of Man's dominion over the whole earth. This understanding casts out error and heals the sick, and with it you can speak 'as one having authority.'"

The fact that the Psalms record human experience and divine assistance, makes them perhaps the most loved portion of God's Word. When the Psalmist cried, "Oh that I had wings like a dove, then would I fly away, and be at rest," he uttered the feeling and desire of many people; who long to escape some bitter circumstance of life. The psychologist calls this "an escape psychology" — the desire to avoid the disagreeable; the longing for wings to fly from distress.

There are many causes for this common urge, such as: physical suffering, sorrow, misfortune, domestic discord, unfaithfulness of friends, etc., but above all it must be acknowledged that the basis or root of all sorrow and suffering is the burden and guilt of sin. What a destructive power sin is in the world today. While many people make fun of the spiritual diagnosis of world problems, and make light of God's claim concerning human nature and the divine remedy for sin, it is affecting their blood pressure, poisoning their systems, breaking down their nerves, sending them to hospitals, and giving no rest.

Recently, our news media carried the tragic report of a young woman, born of dire circumstances, but reaching the heights of entertainment success, who could find no peace of mind in life, and apparently took her own life, seeking to escape. Like the young woman in Acts 16, who brought her masters much gain by soothsaying, so this young woman earned for her film production masters two hundred million dollars, from her portrayal of a sex goddess. With her fame and fortune, she failed to find what every heart longs for, and what God alone can give — Peace.

Cowper expressed this human urge for peace and rest as follows:
"O for a lodge in some vast wilderness;
Some boundless contiguity of shade,
Where rumors of oppression and deceit,
Might never reach me more."

Dear friend, if you are one of those who try to "drown your trouble" by drink, or render yourself insensitive to life's complexities by tranquilizers, or seek one of the many other avenues to escape, remember, each time we run from a tough situation, we lessen our courage to face the future ones.

Instead of crying for wings like a dove, let us do what God asks, "Cast thy burden upon the Lord, and He shall sustain thee." Like the dove in Noah's ark, when you can find no rest for the soul of your foot, you can come back to the Ark, and when life proves unbearable, God is ever waiting to give you Forgiveness of Sin, Eternal Life, and Peace of Mind.

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO
August 10, 1961

Officials of the A & P supermarket announced this week they will move from their present 130 East Main street store to the corner of Main and Iltton. The building, now occupied by Kroger, will be completely renovated and feature an Early American front. They expect to be relocated by late fall.

The Wayne county department of public works has offered Novi 2900 taps in Wayne County's Rouge Valley sewer system. Township Supervisor Frazer, Staman estimated (roughly) that it would cost Novi some $300,000 to buy into the system, and that construction costs would run $1 million. The village council was to meet Wednesday with Raymond Alexander of the Oakland county DPW.

This year's Northville high school German exchange student, Uta Rosenbrock, left this morning to return to her native country. Her American family has been the Lawrence Filkins of 621 Fairbrook.

Northville city councilmen decided in their Monday night meeting to vacate West street between Main and Cady. The street, which has been closed to traffic and used as a pedestrian walkway, now becomes the responsibility of the school board.

FIVE YEARS AGO
August 8, 1957

A fire almost completely destroyed Northville's second largest industry. Powdered Metal Parts division of Allied Products company, Tuesday, causing an estimated $1,000,000 damage. No one was injured. Plant General Manager, John V. Roberts of Plymouth said that an acetylene tank may have been figured in the fire, but the exact cause has not yet been determined. City manager John Robertson called the loss a "bolt to the city's economy."

Two Northville recreation baseball teams are striving for berths in the Michigan Recreation Association tournament. The Northville Braves will meet in a play-off title game with Livonia tonight. Joe Kritek pitched the Northville Class B squad to a 4-0 victory over Ford Civic Tuesday night to secure the league championship.

Superintendent of schools R. H. Amerman returned to Northville this week from the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minnesota, where he underwent treatment for what doctors determined was a bone injury resulting from a fall. Amerman reports that his condition is improved and he is on the road to recovery.

Novi's Echo Valley estates opened last week for the sale of lots. Some 225 homes will eventually be built on the project, located on 10 Mile near Beck road.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
August 8, 1947

"August 14th is V-J Day... REMEMBER! Two years have passed... and time has dimmed the memory of blood and tears, of prison camps, and casualty lists. It is not pleasant to think about these things again. But we have an obligation to remember. For there are those among us who can never forget the nightmare and horror that is war. Today, they turn to us and ask, 'what have you done with our VICTORY?' Have you made the most of these years of peace... the momentous opportunity, given to you? On this anniversary of V-J Day, we may well ponder what our answer shall be."

The Railway Express Agency announces that daily pick-up and delivery service within the corporate limits of Northville, Novi and Farmington, out of Plymouth, are now available. Arthur J. Heslip of Nine Mile road, who's in charge of this year's 4-H Agricultural fair to be held at Pontiac, has announced that a farm machinery exhibit will be one of the special features of the fair.

"Swimming has been discontinued for the rest of the summer at Pickett's Gravel Pit because latest tests of the water samples revealed contamination."

The "weekoscope" this week says "look forward to a change of luck this week — which will accompany a 'wind-fall' of money."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
August 6, 1937

Two Port Huron boys were caught Thursday after they had smashed a glass window in the rear door of Melvin Kilken's gas station, South Rogers street. They're being held for hearing in the Wayne county jail, Detroit.

The "quartet of death" — four beautiful young girls fresh from the moving picture lots of Hollywood — will be one of the opening day features of the Northville Wayne county fair. They'll be racing their motor cycles down the track at the rate of 60 miles an hour and will crash through four solid walls alive with leaping flames.

The village council voted Monday evening to accept the PWA reservoir project, acknowledging the completion date as June 19. They acted upon the recommendation of village attorney, F. J. Cochran.

When making his monthly report, Chief of Police Loy M. German stated that contrary to street rumors, no dogs had been shot here. "Any dogs we've picked up on the streets have been taken to Dr. E. B. Cavell's and placed in the pound," he added.

Goodwill Pickup

The next visit of Goodwill Industries pick-up trucks to Northville is scheduled for Monday. Goodwill trucks collect household discards of clothing, shoes, hats, toys, most types of furniture and other household discards.

To arrange for a Goodwill Industries truck pickup, ask the operator for toll-free Enterprise 7002.

U-M Professor Sees Cities Underground

Ann Arbor — Whole cities may have to be built underground if our civilization is to survive the acute danger of nuclear war, says William A. Paton, University of Michigan professor emeritus of accounting and economics.

Paton suggests relocating urban housing and production facilities in critical industries with a view to approving our chances of carrying on in the event of an all-out nuclear attack in a recent issue of "The Michigan Quarterly Review."

"It is not too difficult to envisage an entire city area, including transportation approaches and the necessary means of movement within the city, both horizontally and vertically, and all necessary services, underground."

Modern engineering is fully up to the chore of designing and constructing such an area, as evidenced by existing tunnels, subway systems, mines, and underground plants and storage facilities.

Paton points out that the underground city would not be paralyzed by hurricane or blizzard, nor be faced with the problem of snow removal (except at major entrances).

In general, the underground city should not exceed three or four stories in depth, although in special cases a depth of ten or more stories may be practical, Paton believes.

Problems of design are minimized in the underground house Paton adds. "For the single family a strictly one-floor underground is recommended, with no space wasted in stairways.

"The underground home, built of concrete, will last indefinitely. With appropriate furnishings such a building will be practically fireproof and no storm insurance will be required."

"Specialists in housebreaking will be out of business when we go underground, with a reinforced concrete roof over our heads, topped by several feet of earth. The snooping neighbors next door will be completely thwarted. The underground home will enjoy real privacy."

How will we look above ground, a community may well appear on the surface as a lovely wooded park, with flower gardens and fine recreational facilities," says Paton.

What about cars? "With the modern car reduced to an overall height of between four or five feet, it is a relatively simple matter to construct a short approach which is not too steep for comfort," says Paton.

"The roof of the garage could be raised above ground level a couple of feet and be used as a sun deck for members of the family especially addicted to sunlight."

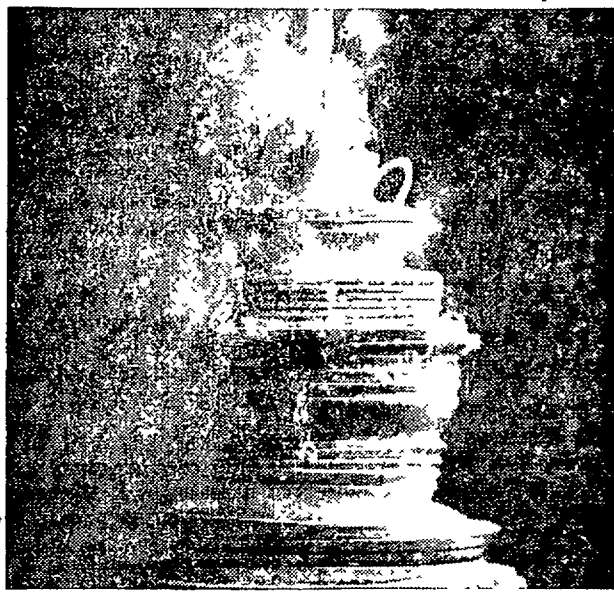

"I'm not forgetting the possibility of the family periscope as a means of taking an occasional peek at the trees and flowers on the surface!"

In conclusion, Paton takes note of the psychological and other difficulties in the way of the development of a widespread interest in underground housing but he suggests that attitudes may change and that "conceivably, on the basis of a modest tryout here and there, the underground home, with its many intrinsic advantages, may some day become a popular form of residence."

New Constitution

Article Three Sets Forth Branches of Government

EDITOR'S NOTE: Number 16 in a series of reports covering highlights of changes in the proposed new Constitution. Summaries of each article will appear in subsequent weeks.)

Article III — General Government — covers such basics as the seat of government shall be in Lansing; that there shall be a great seal; that the militia shall be organized, equipped and disciplined as provided by law. It also says that we shall have three branches of government — Legislative, Executive and Judicial — and that no person belonging to one shall exercise the powers properly belonging to another branch, except as expressly provided in the Constitution.

This provision offers greater flexibility by letting the law-makers decide what public improvements are to receive the help of the state. By inference, it prohibits the use of tax money in privately financed ventures.

A new section recognizes the emerging problems involved in been enacted into law. Under this provision, the Supreme Court could declare a state law unconstitutional before it becomes effective.

The provision breaks a precedent set by the U.S. Supreme Court, when it refused a request of President Franklin D. Roosevelt to rule on proposed legislation. The high court held that a court suit must be started before it had the power to rule. Massachusetts allows its supreme court to grant such advisory judgments.

Section 6 says: "The state shall not be a party to, nor be financially interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engage in carrying on any such work, except for public internal improvements provided by law."

If future needs demanded it, this provision would allow Michigan to join with nearby states or Canada in such cooperative ventures as civil defense, flood control, in solving water supply problems, navigation, protection of wild life and game and harbor development and regulation.

cooperation between this state or its political subdivisions with one or more of the other states, the federal government, the Dominion of Canada or any of their political subdivisions.

Subject to general law, this state or any of its political subdivisions are permitted to enter into working agreements with the other units mentioned for the performance, financing or execution of their governmental functions.

As an example, the section would allow Detroit and Toledo (or Port Huron and Sarnia, Ont.) to cooperate in projects to their mutual benefit. Involved in general would be federal grants-in-aid projects, which require matching state money and participation with the federal government.

Cancerous Birthmark Rarity, says Professor

Worried about your birthmark becoming cancerous? Don't, for the chances are so remote that cancer will develop, it is not worth worrying about, states Dr. E. Richard Harrell, professor in the dermatology department at The University of Michigan.

He says birthmarks fall into two categories: the mole and the blood vessel tumor. The latter is subdivided into three major types:

—The "strawberry" where the tumor is composed of a large network of small blood vessels, close to the skin's surface.

—The "cavernous birthmark" which is located deep in the skin and usually involves veins. This type of birthmark often displaces a large area of skin.

—The "portwine stain" is a perfectly flat mark, bluish to purplish in color, but not close to the skin's surface. This one is most likely to "persist" throughout life and is often found on the face and neck, the U-M dermatologist said.

Some birthmarks disappear of their own accord. For instance, the strawberry that develops in infants, if left untreated, will undoubtedly go through spontaneous, natural healing," Dr. Harrell said. It is the cavernous mark that often requires surgical treatment, especially if it assumes a very large size. But the chances of any birthmark becoming cancerous is "exceedingly remote".

SPEAKING for The Record

by Bill Sliger

Northville's Jerome brothers — Phil and Dave — must have felt something like modern-day versions of the notorious out-law James brothers last Saturday night.

And anyone acquainted with the youngsters knows the casting couldn't be more ridiculous.

Nevertheless, customers at a local drive-in root beer stand saw the boys "apprehended and frisked" under the guns of two Northville police officers.

The bizarre affair took place like this:

Phil, 18, and Dave, 16, had attended a movie together in Plymouth. Upon driving away from the theatre, Dave picked up a toy detective gun belonging to his seven-year-old brother, John, that had been left in the seat of the car.

Phil was driving, and apparently as Dave was fooling around with the toy gun he was observed by a pedestrian in Plymouth who immediately called police to report what had been observed: a motorist being forced to drive a car under gun-point.

Moments later the report was received by radio by Northville police. Alertly, they observed the car at the root beer drive-in.

Just as Phil and Dave were about to order a refreshing glass of root beer from the waitress, two officers with guns drawn opened the front doors of the Jerome car and ordered them out.

And just like on television, the boys were ordered to stand with their hands on top of the car while the officers searched them.

Dave still had the gun in his hand.

The officers then searched the car.

They found a number of books and other religious literature including Bibles and a hymnal entitled "Rejoice and Sing".

It hardly seemed like the time for that, however, Phil remarked later.

The "notorious" Jerome boys are the sons of the Reverend and Mrs. George Jerome of Horton street.

This year Dave was selected as the Honor Citizen at Wolverine Boys State in Lansing.

He's a junior this year at Northville high school. Brother Phil attends Maryville college.

The boys returned the "gun" to brother John.

In respect to the police officers who were performing their duty, it should be noted that the incident was very real and potentially dangerous under the circumstances.

They acted promptly to intercept a "gunman" headed for Northville. No criticism of their action is intended. Had the report been accurate, they could have prevented a crime.

But the incident focuses attention on another area problem. It took place in the township, where city police are without jurisdiction.

The officers guessed — and accurately — that youngsters as described in the radio report might go to a drive-in. After checking in the city limits, they proceeded to the township. They hoped to intercept trouble before it became serious.

It is not the first time that local officers have violated boundary jurisdiction — either by request or emergency.

It may be time for city and township officials to work out some agreement to cover such circumstances. The city attorney has wisely pointed out that a matter of liability exists. Would local officers be covered in the event of injury or death outside the jurisdictional limits of their duty area?

While on the subject of police, have you noticed the new color atop the city patrol cars?

Blue lights have replaced the red.

Chief Eugene King tells us that blue becomes the official color of all police vehicles on January 1 by state legislative order.

It seems that red is becoming too common on other vehicles such as ambulances, fire trucks, etc., and it is reported that motorists frequently ignore the red signal.

Roger Babson

You Can't Predict Business 100%

Babson Park, Mass., While on a recent vacation I have been relaxed and able to think at length about certain fundamentals of investing for safety and profits.

Study Depressed Securities

After years of intensive study and the spending of millions of dollars in statistical research, I have learned certain things: (1) It is impossible for any man or group of men to accurately forecast business conditions so as to justify the investing of all of one's money in any one way, or in any one class of security, or in any one company or industry; (2) investors who decide to buy even depressed issues should always distribute their funds over several securities and be ready to undergo disappointment if some of them do not do well.

Yes, many stocks at times are classified as "depressed", but eventually turn out to be valuable.

Emphasis should also be placed on the importance of the well-known axiom, "He profits most who serves best." It is possible to make large profits without undue risk, the investor should have for his primary objective the rendering of service.

This especially applies to the buying of "depressed" stocks even when few have the courage to do so. When money or effort is directed properly so that society and economic law will unite to reward the investor, he is on safe ground. When a man attempts to profit in any business without a desire to render commensurate service, he is a foolish gambler. In fact, this question of service forms the line of demarcation between investing and gambling.

Times Rapidly Changing

My mind is now filled with several other thoughts. We are living in a new world. Authority and responsibility have been focused at Washington, while the whole world lives in the fear of a new, totally destructive war. Since 1931 all has been in the melting pot: currencies, credits, debts, exchanges, tariffs, taxes, banks, corporations, laws, liens, and licenses. Much of the world is ruled ruthlessly by self-appointed Communist party leaders. Familiar landmarks are gone. New Administrations can only moderate or speed up the journey ahead. Whether these paths will lead to glory or to grief, no man now can say. There is but one certainty. The old ways have temporarily, at least, been laid upon the shelf.

The President can provide new heads but not new hearts. Furthermore, Newton's Law of Action and Reaction, the Theory of Relativity, and the Law of Diversification will continue to influence economic phenomena. There cannot long be human dictatorship over fundamentals. Therefore, in the midst of radical ideas and reactions to them, hold fast to the old ideals — the ideals of service and reward, of patient probing for facts, of constant flexibility to changing conditions, of timely caution and courage.

Administrations can be changed, new legislation can be enacted; the map of the world can be altered; but the basic laws of economics will continue to rule. Now, investment opportunities may lie in some of the "depressed" securities. Having already declined from relatively high price levels, they should be less vulnerable to further marked declines, and I believe they offer the best opportunity.

Use Your Own Brains

This especially applies to the buying of "depressed" stocks even when few have the courage to do so. When money or effort is directed properly so that society and economic law will unite to reward the investor, he is on safe ground. When a man attempts to profit in any business without a desire to render commensurate service, he is a foolish gambler. In fact, this question of service forms the line of demarcation between investing and gambling, for profit, and perhaps for income.

But avoid new companies, especially in the electronics field. Insist that a company have at least five years of earnings to compare. And — most important of all — use your own brains. Do not depend upon rumors or tips.

Nation's Young Farmers Show Leadership

The agriculture industry in Michigan and throughout the nation is looking to its teenagers for the future leadership which will improve its contribution to the economy.

In Michigan there are some 11,183 youths involved in the Future Farmers of America chapter, the organization from which is expected to come the leaders of agriculture in the years ahead.

Walter W. Wightman, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, credits the Future Farmers of America with outstanding contributions to both the agriculture industry and the youth involved.

There are 232 FFA chapters in Michigan alone. "Out of a group of this size with the kind of training they are getting there is bound to come some outstanding agricultural leadership," Wightman said. "And as we look ahead to the future, it is evident that agriculture is going to need more of this kind of leadership."

The FFA members gain knowledge in all phases of farming: from specific instruction in the use of modern machines being developed, to the minute details of keeping financial records.

Led by adults but self-governed and directed, the FFA aims to provide an educational and social experience for the nation's youth who are interested in farming.

The adult leaders "are dedicated men who fully realize the importance of teaching the American Heritage to our younger generation," Wightman said. The organization's aim is fully embodied in its motto: "Learning to do; doing to learn; earning to live; living to serve."

An individual measures the cost of a motoring trip in terms of the funds needed to operate the car, purchase food, and buy clothes and souvenirs for and during the trip.

The costs of an unsafe auto journey, however, can be astounding, according to state safety officials.

Through mid-July, for example, fatal traffic accidents in Michigan cost an estimated $128,700,000. This is based on a yardstick set by the National Safety Council for estimating the cost of traffic fatalities.

With 715 deaths on Michigan highways through mid-July, the cost of each fatality averaged $180,000. This included the calculable costs of wage loss, medical expense, overhead cost of insurance, and property damage.

Gerald Shipman, executive secretary of Michigan's Safety Council, emphasized the dollar value placed on a highway death is an incomplete figure, however. The portion left out is worth thought.

"There is no way to chart the pain and suffering of the injured, or the problems the relatives of the deceased have for years after their loved one is gone," he said.

The Great Michigan Foundation, which annually organizes the Michigan Week observance, is branching out into other activities.

Among the foundation's latest plans is an event to be called "Operation Progress: U.P." A series of one-day conferences are scheduled across the Northern Peninsula to discuss ways of development in the future.

Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern Michigan college at Marquette, was named to head the program.

Scheduled for October, the conferences in a number of U.P. cities will cover key subjects for development of the area. Plans are also under way, through the State Economic Development Department, to gain federal funds for development projects in the U.P.

"Our program will examine the progress the Upper Peninsula has made in recent years and its great potential for progress in the coming years," Harden said. "I am confident it will show the Upper Peninsula to advantage to people outside the area."

Technical improvements, methods of keeping records and cutting costs saved $2.5 million in the fiscal year which ended June 30, according to State Controller I. Polley.

Polley reported on request from Gov. John B. Swain, that eliminated efforts by state members, and some elimination of personnel were accomplished during the year through variety of uses of modern methods and employee ideas.

Dr. Mudd Replies

Stop Chasing, Examine Life

Dear Dr. Mudd:

I have just gotten back from the hospital and I don't know where to turn. You see, I tried to commit suicide and I guess I did a pretty good job of it, too. The doctor said I was closer to being dead than anyone he had ever seen before. I took a bottle of sleeping capsules that my doctor had given me to help me sleep. I don't want to blame him because he was just trying to help me in the best way he knew how.

Suddenly it just came over me how much I wanted to die — to be at peace — and I couldn't help myself and I took that fatal step. I've had a terrible time. In the last year my mother died of cancer, my father committed to a mental hospital because he's senile and no one can handle him any more, and my husband doesn't seem to care for me like he once did. There has never been a lot between us, but it has been a pretty good marriage and we've gotten along.

I feel so much guilt and remorse the way I've hurt everyone. Three years ago I met a man where I work. You can just feel sometimes how something is going to happen, and it did. I went out with him and then we started to have an affair. I thought I had found everything that was precious to me in life — everything that meant anything to me in this relationship. He was everything I ever wanted.

Then one day a couple of weeks ago his wife called me and told me there would be no divorce; that she was Catholic and that she wasn't going to give up her religion just so the two of us could be happy. Then this man told me — I guess I always knew it was coming — that he had decided to go back to his church and that our relationship must come to an end.

I was crushed. I felt a terrible loneliness roll over me and I realized I had come to the end of the line and there was nothing to do but get off. My husband doesn't know that this was a bed-affair. He thinks we were just friends because I never stayed away nights with this man, but would only see him at lunch time, or an hour after work, and then we'd be together on my day off.

I feel a little better since I am home, but I still yearn for him and my heart aches. I get so nervous and I feel so guilty everytime someone calls up to ask me how I am. I just can't say I had an asthma attack because people know it was something more than that. Is there any way I can get help for myself, because if I ever needed it, I need it now.

Virginia

Dear Virginia:

It sounds to me that you have been chasing a "will-o'-the-wisp" a long time and that your discomfort is presently more out of frustration than anxiety. Undoubtedly you are so angry at your paramour's decision to finally follow the saner dictates of his conscience that you could have killed him. You chose, however, without even being aware that such a choice had been made, to turn the anger resulting from your bitter frustration and disappointment against yourself. You did not, of course, really want to die and, as a matter of fact, most suicide attempts fail because they were intended to succeed, and those which do succeed do so largely because of miscalculation or accident on the part of the person who appears to be seeking his own destruction.

I cannot and should not offer comment on the morality of your behavior. It is evident that you are emotionally disturbed and that severe distortions have occurred in your values which permitted you to live the double life you have for so long a time. Even though you are a disturbed person, it is not so certain that you can be helped by psychiatric treatment. For it seems to me and I write more because you are still suffering from the recent loss you have sustained rather than from an inner conviction of the need to understand yourself.

Psychotherapy can be of help to people, but only in a particular and special way of helping people help themselves. It makes no demands but only encourages each person to define his own life and to live his own beliefs.

I noted that you pass over and barely mention your husband (except casually). You ignore so completely how he might be affected by your scurrying about looking for self gratification, but I wonder if maybe you aren't missing something? It is entirely possible, you know, that you have been looking outside of your marriage for something that was to be found all along within it.

In any event, you would be well advised to get in touch with your family physician and ask him to recommend a psychotherapist to you.

Very truly yours,
Sander Mudd, M.D.
