THESE AREA auto accidents serve as a vivid reminder to Labor Day weekend motorists that injury or death can lurk just seconds away. Figures compiled from past Labor Day weekends in Michigan reveal that some 15 deaths and 900 injuries involving 3,400 cars can be expected over the three-day holiday. Haste, impatience, fatigue, momentary inattention because of distractions and driving after drinking are listed as the principle causes of highway accidents.

Oakland County College Hits Snag

EDITOR'S NOTE — The Oakland county community college proposal should not be confused with the Northwest Wayne County Community College. The latter includes the school districts of Plymouth, Livonia, Garden City and Clarenceville and recently voted to purchase a 140-acre site at Haggerty and Seven Mile roads for construction of its new college.

The legal committee of the Oakland county community college advisory council is expected to meet soon to discuss the next course of action in view of the state attorney general's ruling concerning community college districts.

Dr. Gerald Boicourt, council official, told this newspaper this week that the council's only remaining course of action in establishing an Oakland county community college appears to be in pushing for a change in the state law.

Attorney General Frank Kelley ruled last week that under the present statute, the inclusion of the same area within two college districts is prohibited and withholds authority to exclude a portion of a county and approve the remainder.

Kelley made his ruling upon the request of State Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn Bartlett, who was asked for an interpretation by the Oakland county council.

School Hears Bids on Lights

The Northville school board received three bids Monday night for installation of quartz type lighting at the new high school athletic field.

Low bidder was the Transform Inspection company of Royal Oak at $15,138.25. The two other bidders were $18,700 and $19,443.

The board instructed E. V. Ellison to examine the bids and make a recommendation at the next board meeting.

Under question was the council's plan to exclude the Clarenceville school district from the proposed Oakland county community college district because it is already a part of the Northwest Wayne county community college district.

A somewhat similar situation exists in Lyon township school district, which has representatives serving on both the Oakland county council and a similar community college survey committee in Washtenaw county. The Northville school district also is located in more than one county.

According to Boicourt, the deadline for placing the community college proposal on the November ballot had already passed by the time Kelly made his ruling. Had he interpreted the law differently, the proposal would have been scheduled for the spring ballot, he said.

In adopting a survey report last spring, the council recommended purchase of three sites for the proposed community college system. The council recommended that two of these sites, one in Troy township and the other near Pontiac, be purchased immediately. Purchase of the third site, in the Novi Farmington area, for later college construction also was recommended.

If the community college district were formed along county lines, students from the Oakland portion of Northville would be eligible to attend.

Liquor by Glass Vote Sought in Township

Petitions are being circulated in Northville township this week requesting a proposal be placed on the November ballot to permit sale of liquor by the glass.

According to Township Clerk Marguerite Northup, the petitioners must submit a minimum of 497 signatures of qualified electors of the township.

Deadline for submitting the petitions to the clerk to permit a November 6 vote on the proposal is September 6.

The attempt to place the proposal on the ballot is the result of plans of the owners of Dun Rovin Country Club, 16377 Haggerty at Six Mile road, to construct a $300,000 club house.

Richard Kenzie, manager and one of the three principle owners of the golf course, stated

Early Copy

Like most business places, The Record will be closed Monday, Labor Day.

We request that news and advertising copy be submitted tomorrow or Saturday morning, but not later than Tuesday noon. The paper will be published at its usual time next week.

This week that their plans to proceed with the clubhouse hinge on whether or not they can obtain a liquor license.

Kenzie's partners are Harold Edwards and William Buber.

The Dun Rovin course is in its first full year of operation. The facility is located on 140 acres with complete underground watering system.

If petitions are submitted by the deadline, the township board must check the legality of the signatures and then forward the request to the county clerk.

Sale of liquor by the glass is legal in the city of Northville, but not the township. It can only be legalized by a vote of the public. Private club licenses, such as held by Meadowbrook Country Club in Northville township, may be obtained, but the sale of liquor is restricted to members and guests. Dun Rovin is a public course.

Approve Recreation Building For Immediate Construction

City Asks Bids September 24

Plans for the proposed new recreation-scout building won approval of the city council Monday night as September 24 was set to award construction bids.

The facility will be constructed on city-owned property on West Cady street across from the city hall park. It replaces the scout building sold by the city and formerly located on the corner of Dunlap and Hutton.

Barring bad weather, it is anticipated that the building will be completed within three months.

Colonial in design, the building will be 47 feet wide and 32 feet deep. Entrance to the split-level building will feature a protected front porch at sidewalk level. A half-flight of stairs will lead to a 45' by 20' meeting room that can be divided by folding doors.

It will contain a fireplace at one end, a small kitchen, office, storage room and coat room. The lower level will provide a 19' by 31' game room, warming room and fireplace with raised-hearth. Both the game and warming rooms will open to rear area where playground and ice skating facilities will eventually be provided.

Toilets, storage and heating facilities will also be included on the lower level.

Plans call for block construction with brick outside.

Provisions for parking are planned along the west side of the recreation area.

Architect Clifford N. Wright points out that the building has been designed for possible expansion. He also notes that a ground-level entrance has been provided in the rear to accommodate older persons who may make use of the building as part of the recreation department's "senior citizen" program.

A study committee composed of Director Kenneth Conley and the community recreation committee first outlined the facilities that would be required in the new building. They also recommended the location.

Councilman Richard Ambler then headed a committee that set the proposal in motion.

Architect Wright was retained and drawings submitted.

The city received $13,000 from the sale of the old recreation building, which represents about one-half of the estimated cost of the new building. (See adjoining story).

Storage of recreation equipment is now sorely needed by the department and temporary offices have been used by Director Conley and his staff during the past summer program.

It is anticipated that the new building will better serve all age groups in the wide range of recreation activity as well as boy and girl scout troops.

Bids will be open at 8:00 p.m. at the city hall on Monday, September 24.

$12,000 Appeal

Raising the necessary funds to pay for construction of the new recreation building is a responsibility that Mayor A. M. Allen has assigned to Councilman John Canterbury.

The city will probably need about $12,000.

Contributions totalling approximately $3,000 have already been received or pledged from the Jaycees, Rotary club and Mothers club.

The city has another $13,000 in the building fund from the sale of the old scout-recreation building.

"We're planning an area-wide drive to provide everyone an opportunity to contribute regardless of how little", Councilman Canterbury emphasized this week.

He said that an advance gift solicitation would precede the public appeal.

"It's our plan to make something of a contest of this with quotas and competition between soliciting teams", Canterbury explained. He said that committees would be formed to seek donations from industrial, retail and civic organizations.

Exact cost of the building cannot be determined until bids are opened September 24. But it has been pointed out that some money will be needed for interior furnishings.

Councilman Canterbury said his fund drive would get underway in September.

City OK's Sidewalk Bid

The city council awarded a contract for sidewalk construction Monday night to C. Bagnasco company of Detroit.

There were three bidders for the installation of new, and replacement of old, sidewalk on 14 streets throughout the city. Bagnasco was low with a bid of 42 cents per square foot for new installation.

Total bid for new installation including grading was $4,573.60. Removal and replacement of old sidewalk was awarded to Bagnasco at 52 cents per square foot for a total of $1,216.80.

The council set a November 15 deadline for completion and requested that installation of new sidewalk in front of the Amerman school be completed as soon as possible, preferably before school starts.

State to Hear Echo Valley Appeal To Join Northville School District

A state board of education hearing on the request of the Echo Valley subdivision area to transfer from the Novi to Northville school district has been scheduled for September 7.

The Echo Valley group's original petition to the Oakland Wayne and Washtenaw county boards of education for the transfer was denied at a joint meeting of the county boards July 12.

The state level hearing was ordered after the group appealed the ruling of the county boards.

The request for the transfer had been opposed by the Northville board of education, but Novi board members could not agree on a position. Northville indicated Monday night it will communicate its opposition to the state board.

Specifically, the group seeks to transfer a strip of land 1/2 by 1 1/2 miles in area that includes the Echo Valley subdivision. The area is the only portion of Novi school district lying south of 10 Mile road and west of Novi road.

Evan D. Henschell, chairman of the Echo Valley committee which has carried on the struggle to enter Northville school district, said this week the committee is planning a considerable change in the manner in which it approaches the hearing.

He pointed out that at the county meeting, the group rested mainly on the written report included in its petition. Henschell, as spokesman at the county meeting, merely answered questions of the members of the three county boards.

"This time we're planning to give a complete oral presentation of our reasons for making the transfer request," he declared.

"We want to be certain the state board members understand exactly what we want and why."

The group, which includes all 32 resident property owners in the transfer area, contends it is seeking to become part of the Northville district to obtain for its children the "well-rounded" education Northville offers.

"We're willing to pay for the type of education we want our children to have," Henschell declared at the county meeting last month.

He explained that the petitioners would gladly assume the additional millage charges in the Northville district in order that their children might receive some of the educational extras which Northville schools offer and Novi schools don't.

The group's petition also included such reasons for the transfer as:

- straightening out school district boundaries;
- simplifying school transportation by eliminating the need for both Northville and Novi to route buses in the area;
- preference for the equal opportunities for all students found in kindergarten through 12th grade programs;
- establishing a more complete identity with Northville because Northville is the business and cultural center of their area.

The Northville school board listed six reasons in opposing the transfer:

1. The annexation would weaken the financial structure of the Novi district, and would reduce its ability to develop an adequate kindergarten through 12th grade program.
2. It would not straighten out the boundary lines of the Northville school district.
3. Acceptance of the area could conceivably start a series of petitions from other areas which could overcrowd Northville schools.
4. Addition of the area to the district would overload present crowded transportation schedules at a time when Northville does not have funds for additional buses.

5. The building and financial plans adopted by Northville five years ago did not anticipate the addition of new subdivisions or acreage, so unanticipated annexation would impose additional taxes on the other property owners in the Northville district.

6. Granting of the petition might lead to eventual dissolution of the Novi school district.

The Northville board stated in its letter to the county boards that it has been "impressed by the diligence exhibited by the Echo Valley area in presenting this proposal," and pointed out that all school districts need such residents.

"Northville regrets that, because of budgetary, space and transportation limitations it cannot approve the petition and welcome these fine people as members of the Northville school district," the letter added.

Novi school Superintendent Tom Culbert explained to the joint boards that the Novi board had been unable to agree upon a stand on the proposal because of split opinions.

At a regular school board meeting the night before, two of Novi's board members said they approved of the proposal, two said they didn't and one said he could neither sanction nor oppose the transfer.

Boardmen David Fried and Walter Ambler had maintained that while Novi might suffer from the loss of the Echo Valley group's school interest and tax base, they could not refuse them the opportunity of bettering the education available to their youngsters.

But board Members Arthur Jeslip and Russell Taylor said they could not support a measure which would hurt the Novi district even though they might sympathize with the Echo Valley residents.

Board President John MacBride said he understands their reasons for wanting the transfer, but can neither support nor refuse their request.

The proposed transfer area now sends 32 children to Novi's elementary and junior high schools, and 15 to Northville high school. Its student population and equalized valuation of about $523,000 both equal about our per cent of the Novi school district.

Should the state board permit the transfer, the Echo Valley taxpayers will experience an increase of 2.53 operational mills as part of the Northville school district.

It will also have to continue assuming its portion of Novi school district indebtedness which is already established.

The transfer committee was scheduled to meet last night (Wednesday) to settle plans for its presentation before the state board.

NEWCOMER'S CORNER

"I look upon every day to be lost, in which I do not make a new acquaintance."

— Samuel Johnson

A NEW HOME in Meadowbrook Manor was a pleasant interruption in the usual vacation fun of the Bernard Adams' family, 41280 Llewellyn. Posing in front of their new tri-level staircase are (l-r) Mr. Adams, 15-month-old Jeffrey, Mrs. Adams, Jeanne, age 5, and eight-year-old Terry.

This is the first summer in a long time that Bernard and Joanne Adams and their children, Terry, 8, Jeanne, 5½, and Jeffrey 15-months haven't spent most of their vacation days swimming and skiing in the North.

But with building a new tri-level home in Meadowbrook Manor and moving from their Dearborn residence, the family just hasn't had time for summertime leisure.

Mrs. Adams says she hasn't missed their vacation. "I'm so excited about moving I haven't given it a thought."

If any of the Adamases have had any regrets about being "handlovers" this summer it's Terry. He's the skier in the family. But so far he hasn't let a new house stand in his way and he makes frequent use of the country club swimming pool across the road. Mrs. Adams says Terry dives right in and swims in the deepest end.

Jeanne, age 5½, says she likes to sing and dance best. The little talkative miss also likes school, and can hardly wait for her first grade classes to begin.

Right now Mr. and Mrs. Adams are keeping busy with furnishing their red brick and white-shingled home, putting in the lawn, and — Mrs. Adams says — "just plain getting organized."

The couple is originally from right around this area — Mrs. Adams from Livonia and Adams from Dearborn. They both went to Bentley high school in Livonia — and that's where they first met.

How did the Adams family happen to choose Northville? Mrs. Adams explains that they were planning to move from their Dearborn home anyway, and since they liked this area,

Apple-Cinnamon Puffs ... H'mmm Good!

Since the Cleve Strohs, 8779 Napier, live in a neighborhood of apple orchards it seems fitting that one of their favorite desserts on brisk fall evenings is "Apple-Cinnamon Puffs."

Mrs. Stroh finds that this quick — but tempting — dish fits easily into her dual role as homemaker and receptionist secretary at the local branch of the Manufacturers National Bank.

She notes, "The puffs are especially good served warm and topped with cream or rich milk. And anyone who likes desserts will like this one."

In Willowbrook

Mrs. George Ames GR 4-0830 and her children Skippy and Robin spent a few days at Higgins Lake on their vacation.

Beth Branch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Branch, of Mallott drive, celebrated her fifth birthday Monday. Linda Kraus, Lonnie Stewart, Marion and Ann Coan, Tommy Dukes, Danny Henry, Janie Blackwell, Susan Hendrickson and Jeffrey Killeen were guests at her party.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bingham, of E. Le Bost, entertained Mr. Ed Alger, of Grand Rapids, at dinner Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradway Phillips, of Barboursville, Ohio, spent four days here last week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Errol Myers, of Border Hill road.

Announce New Library Hours

Library Aide Miss Kathleen Sprenger said this week that the hours of the Northville branch of the Wayne county library have been changed for the fall and winter seasons.

Beginning next week the Wing street library will be open Monday through Thursday from 12 noon to 8 p.m., closing one hour in the afternoon, 5-6 p.m. The building will be closed all day Friday, with hours from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday.

They decided to build here. Probably the newcomers' happiest neighbors are another Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Adams — Adams' father and mother — who live right across the street. Mrs. Adams notes, "It's a lot less confusing when we call my husband Roland."

"Our Legs Don't Get Cold Anymore!"

"With electric heat, there are no drafts or cold spots—even the floors are nice and warm," says Mrs. William Albert of Nankin Township, Michigan. "We saved $300 on installation when we converted from the old system. Electric heat saved us space, too—now we have an extra closet where our chimney used to be. There's nothing to worry about or take care of. My draperies stay a whole lot cleaner. For all the electric appliances we have—range, water heater, clothes dryer, air conditioner—we think our $35 per month electric bill is a real bargain. Believe me, once you have electric heat, you won't want anything else."

What about your home? Do you have a hard-to-heat room? Are you adding on a room? Are you buying a new home? Is the heating system in your present home more trouble than it's worth? One of the types of electric heating units shown below may be the answer to your heating problems. One easy way to find out is to ask your electrical contractor. Another is to call your Edison office. We'll be glad to send you a copy of our free booklet "Electric Home Heating" and will answer any questions you may have about the modern, worry-free way to heat your home—electrically.

NOVI HIGHLIGHTS

By Mrs. L. Rix

Blood Bank

The Oakland County Chapter of the American Red Cross will be in full swing at the Novi Community Hall Thursday, September 20 from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. Those who may donate are any person in good health 18-59, and must weigh more than 110 lbs. 9-2703 or Mrs. Gordon Demps. In 1961, 106 pints were donated. To date Novi is 20 pints over drawn, so one can see how urgent is the need to make a pledge to donate a pint of blood. It is very simple, takes but a few minutes of your time and your help can save some one's life, or it could be your own. Pledge to donate. Call Mrs. Evan Henschel at 9-2703 or Mrs. Gordon Demps. ## 36 Mustangs Attending First Work Sessions

"All right, now, you backs, get her heads up in the air — don't bury them like ostriches," his voice blared across the field. The heavy-set man whose voice echoes from atop the high school hill these days is head football coach Ron Horwath. Beginning his third season as Northville's grid mentor. And after each of his brief orders, the resounding clash of football gear as players bounce ending process of toughening up.

The coach, arms folded across his chest, squints into the sun and watches as his backfield runs through plays. Every so often he orders a halt and steps into a player's position to show him how he should be standing, or in which direction he should take his first step.

Then it's back to the sidelines again to wait and watch until spots another incorrect move which, in a game, could cause loss of the ball or failure to gain ground.

Horwath and Assistant Dave Longridge, who's helping with the backs and handles the ends and Alex Klukach, who's in charge of interior linemen, are spending most of these first days of practice watching and experimenting with different players in different positions, trying to find the right man for the right job.

"We've got 36 players out," says Horwath as he stoops to pluck a handful of grass from the already clear-marked practice field, "but only a third of them were on last year's varsity."

Another dozen of his players had experience last year as reserve gridders, and the other 12 have never played high school ball.

"All we lack is number, speed and size," he jokes as he rolls the grass between his fingers and tosses it into the breeze.

In a more serious vein, Horwath points out that he has lost most of last year's top scorers, ground gainers and beefy linemen.

Both his defensive and offensive lines averaged about 200 or better pounds a player last year, but at present, Horwath says he'll be doing well if he can field a line that approaches a 170-pound average.

Con Con Proposes 4 Year Governor Term

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is No. 5 in a series about the proposed new Michigan Constitution. Additional articles will appear in subsequent weeks.

Article V of the proposed new Michigan Constitution is concerned with the Executive Branch of state government. The role of the governor as the key responsible person in the executive department is strengthened by:

1. Increasing his term and that of other elected administrative officers to four years. 2. Providing that the governor and lieutenant governor be of the same political party and that the lieutenant governor be nominated at party conventions. The two would run as a team at the general election in the same manner as the president and vice president of the United States. 3. Giving the governor power of appointment or heads of executive agencies and board members, except for three constitutionally-elected officials the lieutenant governor, attorney general and secretary of state — and members of constitutionally-elected educational boards. 4. Requiring the re-grouping of the state's 126 executive agencies into not more than 20 departments. After the initial reorganization, the governor is given the power to recommend further reorganization of executive agencies in the interest of efficiency and economy and to enforce his recommendations subject to veto by each house of the legislature. 5. Retaining the feature of senatorial advice and consent, but providing that unless the senate acts to reject an appointment within 60 days the appointee shall be deemed confirmed.

Financial responsibility is guaranteed, to the extent it is possible to do so constitutionally, by new provisions requiring:

1. Preparation by the governor of a balanced budget, with detailed recommendations covering not only expenditures but the means of raising any additional revenue required.

2. Adoption by the legislature of a balanced budget, with total appropriations held within a published estimate of revenues.

3. Executive enforcement of spending levels within the limits of actual receipts.

4. Retention of the governor's authority to veto individual budget items.

In place of an elected highway commissioner, a system unique in Michigan among the 50 states, a four-member bipartisan highway commission is to be appointed by the governor. They will appoint the highway director who will be the principal executive officer of the highway department.

The new highway set-up is designed to bring that department into closer touch with the executive branch of government and to make it less of a one-man operation. Those favoring the new proposal in the convention felt that the divided responsibility of a four-member bipartisan board was a healthier situation than the continuation of an elected commissioner.

Rain Hinders Novi Gala Day, Skydiving Event

Novi Gala Days

Old Man Weather was the only one who didn't cooperate last Saturday when Novi held its fourth annual gala day and village anniversary party.

But he was certainly present, with his drippy attitude and overcast countenance, putting a damper on the day-long event.

"We still did quite well," commented Herb Driver, chairman of the board of commerce committee which made the arrangement.

"And the Methodist church, which provided plate dinners, even sold out and had to order more supplies," he pointed out.

He estimated the board sold about 1,100 tickets for their drawing, probably clearing more than the $800 earned last year.

At right, above, Joe The Clown entertains two young ladies in the midway, which was lined with over three dozen booths and displays. And township and board of commerce Trustee Emery Jacques tosses a basketball into the air, inviting midway goers to try their luck for a prize.

At right, a youngster tosses a hoop at a fuzzy statue, in hopes that by ringing it he may win a similar prize.

Below, skydiving judges watch as a competitor in the Michigan state championships comes down somewhat off the mark. The divers, shooting for the white cross, were unable to complete the championships because of weather.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

By Rev. John I. Wittstock
Our Lady of Victory Church, Northville

When we analyze the world about us, we are disappointed by the widespread disagreement on the very nature and purpose of human life. Varying points of view are expressed, for example by:

(1) The Atheist: Few people in this so-called Christian country call themselves outright atheists, but for millions of Americans today, God is a non-reality. For such people, religion is superstition, the phrase "divine purpose" is meaningless, and life ends with the grave.

(2) The Agnostic: Vast numbers of people today profess no religion and no clear cut convictions about God or eternity. While not actually denying God's existence or any of the claims of organized religion, the agnostic suspends judgement on these things. His stand is nearly the same as the atheist's: get all you can out of this life — who knows what's next?

(3) The Materialist: The materialist may be an atheist, an agnostic, a pantheist, (who says God is nature or an abstract, impersonal, cosmic force) or even a person of professed religious belief. Practically, however, the materialist makes man's purpose a worldly one. Riches, pleasure, knowledge, power, earthly success — these are the only goals worth striving for.

Like the atheist and agnostic, the materialist is never motivated by considerations of an immortal soul or by the fact of a Last Judgment by God or by high objective standards of morality. Even when he does good, the reason is, as he might say, "it seems the decent thing to do."

Now, we can easily observe, the long-range outlook of an individual, a person's philosophy of life, will have a decided bearing on what he or she thinks and how he or she acts in regard to particular social problems and situations.

What is really the whole purpose and meaning of man's existence? In less than twenty five words, we get the simple answer: God made me to know Him, to love Him, to serve Him in this life and to be happy with Him forever in the Heaven.

(1) God Made Me. I am not a biological accident, I am a creature of God who made and governs the whole universe. Human reason points to this, as the world's greatest philosophers show. Further, by faith and reason, I know I am a child of God, a creature endowed with an immortal soul by whose powers I am able.

(2) To Know Him. God gave me an intellect which enables me to recognize His existence and His concern for "His creatures." With this same intellect I am able to know God's revelation to mankind, which was climaxed by the coming of His own Divine Son whose Mystical Body continues the Redemption in time.

(3) To Love Him and Serve Him in This Life. God gave man a free will which enables me to return His love for me. By my own free choice and with the help of supernatural grace, I am able not only to keep His laws and commandments, but I am able to share His life, which begins in the soul at Baptism and which grows in the soul by means of the Mass and sacraments.

(4) To Be Happy With The soul, being spiritual, cannot die. God has promised eternal happiness to those who express their love for Him by obedience and service. So, death is only a change in the state of my existence.

Beyond the grave lies my true home, heaven, if by my choice I have served Him; and Hell, if by my choice I have rejected Him and failed to serve Him.

State Births Drop

Michigan's birth rate has been on a steady decline for the past four years, State Health Department officials note.

The number of births recorded in 1961 was 192,230, a drop of 2,698 from the 1960 report.

The state's birth rate has been dropping over the last four years at a rate of 1.2 to 1.4 per cent annually, said State Health Commissioner Albert E. Heustis.

A highlight of tourism in Michigan through last fall is Mackinac Island, which this year is celebrating the 150th anniversary of the War of 1812. That was the year the British captured Fort Mackinac in a surprise attack on the American garrison.

The fort museum on the island depicts the original garrison life through various years with manikins fully dressed in the uniform of the day.

While no automobiles are allowed on the island, visitors may soak in the historic atmosphere of the tourist spot on bicycles, horseback, in horse-drawn cabs, or short walks.

The island fort was built by the British in the 1780's after they abandoned the old Fort Michilimackinac, at the present Mackinaw City on the mainland.

This restored fort also is a highly-regarded tourist attraction.

The fort on the island was turned over to American forces in 1796 but was recaptured by the British in the War of 1812. It was turned back to the Americans in 1815 and remained an active army post until 1895.

State officials turned a major portion of the island into the current tourist attraction by making it a state park development.

Mental Health programs have increased and improved greatly in the past 12 years under the direction of State Director Charles F. Wagg, according to the Mental Health Commission.

Wagg recently was nominated by the Commission for a national award recognizing contributions to the field of mental retardation.

In this specialized field of mental health, the Commission noted Michigan's home, and training school locations increased from five in 1950 to nine this year. The facilities to accommodate mentally retarded children jumped from the care of 2,800 patients to 10,082 in the same 12-year period.

The staff serving in institutions for the mentally retarded also was increased during the 12 years, from one staff member for every 3.77 patients in 1950 to one staffer to every 2.5 patients this year.

Expansion of therapy departments; improvement of the quality as well as number of staffers; and extension of clinical services in the operation of 19 child guidance clinics and 12 branches were also cited as major accomplishments during the period.

Wagg started his service with the Mental Health Department 25 years ago and was named director in 1949. A year later he started a long-range program of improvement which prompted the Commission citation for service.

The annual calm of the summer has finally arrived in the State Capitol.

The legislative chambers, busy for about six months each year, become almost deathly quiet during the summer months between sessions.

In an election year particularly, the interim committees named to study various state problems frequently delay their working sessions until well after the August primary.

Soon to begin, however, are the endless committee meetings on laws or ideas for laws relating to trading stamps, state parks, juvenile delinquents, community colleges, and scores of other miscellaneous subjects.

In the interim between the 1961 and 1962 legislative sessions, some 70 committees existed to study various sections or groups of laws. Less than 10 per cent of the committees turned in reports or recommendations.

Of the committees which do work on the study assigned, however, most present valuable recommendations to the Legislature: either proposing regulation or recommending retention of the status quo.

African Imports

Babson Park, Mass., During my many years in business, the only bad investment I have made was in the lobster business. This I am now selling out at a loss, although the company has paid all debts and has some money in the bank to distribute to stockholders. This company was the largest distributor of live lobsters in the world, selling at one time about five million live lobsters annually.

Competing with Africa Suddenly "lobster tails" began being imported from Southern Africa. I visited there three years ago to learn about Africa. Last year over fifteen million "lobster tails" came to the United States. It was too much for our company to compete against, with our antiquated plant and high labor costs and heavy overhead, and with vessels operating from Newfoundland and Nova Scotia.

Live lobsters will always be in demand and small operators can trap lobsters near shore here at home and make good money; but expenses must be kept low.

If you eat at the very best hotel in any city and order boiled or stuffed whole lobster, it must come from the East Coast of New England or Canada and not from Africa; but if you order a lobster salad in many parts of the United States, chances are it will be made of lobster meat imported from Africa. So much for that!

(1) Lobsters are wonderful, biologically and chemically. If a lobster loses a "leg," it can grow another — which is something you cannot do. Lobsters go into hiding and climb out of their shell once a year in a most remarkable manner. During this time the mother lobster lays 10,000 eggs.

(2) Thus far no profitable way has been found to dehydrate lobsters or to stop their spoiling by any process while preserving their delectable flavor. The housewife is content to buy dead fish — in fact this is the only kind she can buy — but she will not buy dead whole lobsters!

People will be watching live lobsters which have been dropped into hot water turn from green to red 100 or more years from now, as the New England legislators will try to protect the industry by fixing big fines for selling "short lobsters".

However, the purpose of this column is not to "cry on the shoulders" of readers because I have lost money from lobster imports. Rather, I want to warn manufacturers all over the U.S. that they may suffer the same from African imports.

Africa has over 200,000,000 native Negroes who are just

Dr. Mudd Replies

Doctors Need Money, Too

Dear Dr. Mudd:

You are, supposed to be a psychiatrist; so I'm writing to you to find out about a few things.

I saw this other psychiatrist a couple of months ago for two times and then I stopped seeing him because my baby-sitter quit and I just didn't get another one. So last week I asked my mother to look after the kids and I made another appointment. I no sooner got inside the door when he asked me how come I hadn't paid his bill. He seemed real mad about it and I don't see why. He's going to get his money. After all, he's a doctor and he has enough money anyway. I don't see what difference it makes, but this man thought it did.

I came to see him because I wanted to talk about my problems. I've been divorced two times and I'm scared of my husband and I want to get another divorce, but I'm afraid to because I'm getting older and it might not be such an easy time with me. What should I do?

Emma

Dear Emma:

Well, first off, I should pay the good doctor whatever amount you owe him. This amount has been outstanding for several months. He rendered services you wanted and you have the responsibility and obligation to pay for them.

In this regard, I should like to point out the great and even present misconception people have about doctors and their incomes. Many people like yourself have an attitude that the doctor doesn't get paid for his services or at least that he needn't be promptly paid.

I know one colleague who has the equivalent of an entire year's income, "on the books" most of this; from patients who readily enough called upon him when they needed him, but who feel that this doctor should be like a good parent and not require payment of a fee.

When you consider the many years (14 years after high school to become a certified psychiatrist, for example, plus the $10,000 or $12,000, approximately, it may cost for a deep psychoanalysis) physicians are not over paid! Whatever success they have is due to their willingness to work long and arduous hours. I think you misinterpreted some of the interest the psychiatrist showed in your delay in paying him. First, he no doubt wondered if you had had some financial reverses which would account for your dilatoriness, and he was trying to focus attention on an event or a transaction that had occurred between the two of you.

He rendered a bill and you had developed a certain attitude towards it that is not the one responsible people usually display toward their obligations. In fact, you seem insulted and offended that he should dare to confront you with this matter!

Perhaps you deal with unpleasant things (like bills) in a characteristic way and pretend to yourself that they do not exist. He was, no doubt, trying to encourage you to express your feelings, freely and without censorship, so that by this means he could help you understand the irrationality of your anger over his inquiry of a long overdue account.

Unfortunately, you felt constrained to keep what you have written to me to yourself in his presence. It would have been so much better had you told him right out the very things you have written me! I doubt that he was angry with you. It is much more likely that you ascribed to him an anger and resentment originating within yourself, but which you are at pains to disclaim and deny.

I feel confident in saying this, for if he had been angry rather than curious about the delay in paying him, he should have promptly put your delinquent account into the hands of a collection agency! The fact that he did not do so pretty well rules out his being "money hungry."

It is difficult at first to understand how and in what way everything a patient says and does has an actual or symbolic meaning. And it always happens after a time that the patient transfers onto the therapist feelings and attitude which, during his infancy, childhood, he experienced, often without recognizing them toward a parent or some other person important to him.

This phenomenon is called "transference" and in psychotherapy the understanding the develops about the feelings that arise in the treatment session towards the doctor clarifies for the patient the concern with which he had been living all these years. There is a ways resistance to treatment and it assumes manifold guises, but always with the same object of avoiding therapy; i.e. of avoiding the encounter with earlier painful experience which inevitably occur in a successful treatment.

My best advice to you would be to go back to your doctor. Let him know how you feel about him and his ways. He has already, I am sure, told you how to proceed by telling him what comes to your mind in the treatment sessions.

Very truly yours,
Sandor Mudd, M.D.
