"I look upon every day to be lost, in which I do not make a new acquaintance."
— Samuel Johnson

PENNSYLVANIANS — The Warren Walter family moved to Northville last month from Muncy, Pennsylvania. Left to right are Mr. and Mrs. Walter, Thomas, Gerald and Douglas with the family dog, "Patrick".

Warren and Marilyn Walter and their three boys Thomas, 9, Gerald, 6, and Douglas, 3, moved to Northville slightly more than a month ago from Muncy, Pennsylvania.

Their new home is at 769 Spring drive.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Walter consider themselves Pennsylvanians having lived their early lives in Williamsport — although Mrs. Walter resided in New England as a child.

The move to Michigan came about as a result of Mr. Walter's assignment as district representative (he covers the entire state of Michigan) for Sprout-Waldron company. The firm manufactures equipment for the chemical and processing industries.

Mr. Walter is a hunting enthusiast but confesses that his efforts to bag a deer with bow and arrow have met with no success. He's had to turn to his rifle to bring home the venison.

Mrs. Walter has recently become interested in refurbishing antique furniture. She likes Early American and had an opportunity to pick up some pieces last summer when the family visited her relatives in New England.

It's 3 Daughters For 2 Sisters!

Mrs. Robert Bennett of Napier road and Mrs. Richard Fizeirodo of Chubb road are sisters — daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Lower of Napier road.

On Sunday, November 4, they each gave birth to daughters — three to be exact!

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett became the parents of twin girls, Korinne and Karinel.

A daughter, Kristen, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fizeirodo.

Both sisters were at Grace hospital and were attended by the same doctor. Kristen was born at 5:14 a.m. and weighed seven pounds, one-half ounce. Korinne and Karinel were born at 9:49 a.m. and 9:53 a.m. and weighed four pounds, one-half ounce, and four pounds, one ounce.

Kristen is the third child for the Fizeirodos. They have two sons, Brian and Mark.

The twins are the Bennetts' first children.

Birth

A son, Daniel Russell, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Danhauser, 1245 East Lake drive, Novi, on October 28 at St. Mary hospital in Livonia. He weighed six pounds, 10 ounce.

To Exhibit Encaustic Paintings

Cecil C. North, chairman of the Art Department at Ann Arbor high school, will have a one-man show of encaustic paintings at the Hatley-Powers Gallery, 116 Main street, beginning Sunday afternoon with a reception from 2-6 p.m.

Encaustic painting is one of the oldest known art forms. Egyptians, Greeks and Romans used this technique. The word "encaustic" is from the Greek, meaning "burnt in". The technique consists of mixing beeswax with a hardening agent and then adding pure pigment to the hot wax. The hot, colored wax is applied with a brush as in oil painting. A blow torch is used to fuse and blend the wax at various stages.

The artist holds BS and MA degrees from Ohio State University and has continued his studies during summers at the Thurn Art School, Gloucester, Mass. and at Cranbrook Academy of Art. He came to Ann Arbor High School from Florida Southern College, Lakeland, Florida, in 1948 and has had the privilege of planning the exceptionally fine Ann Arbor high school fine arts laboratories.

Gallery hours are from 1-6 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 1-9 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. Saturday. The exhibit runs through November 24th.

Kitchen Diary

They're Good and Fast!

There's two reasons why "crumb cake" and "date cookies" are favorite desserts in the Robert Boyd home, 605 Hortofi. Mrs. Boyd considers them her favorites because they're easy to prepare!

But what's more important, the whole family likes both treats because they are just plain good.

Only one of the Boyds' three daughters still lives at home, Vicki, a senior at Northville high school. But they still enjoy frequent servings of "crumb cake" (extra good when it's warm) and "date cookies".

CRUMB CAKE
2 cups brown sugar
2 cups flour
½ cup shortening
½ teas. salt
Mix into crumbs
Save three or four tablespoons for top and add:
1 beaten egg
1 cup sour milk
1 teas. soda
Mix all together in 9x15 pan. Sprinkle the crumbs you saved on the top. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 25 to 30 min.

DATE COOKIES
These are like filled cookies but are real easy to make.
1 cup shortening
2 cups brown sugar
3 eggs
½ cup water
1 teas. vanilla
¾ cups flour
½ teas. salt
1 teas. soda
Mix these together in order given.
Filling:
2 cups dates, cut up

¾ cup sugar
½ cup nut meats, chopped

Defense Has "Hay" Day

Mustangs Clobber Clarkston Club 60-6

It was a night for the defense last week as Northville's Mustangs' bombed an uninspired Clarkston grid club 60-6.

"Our defenders gave us five touchdowns," pointed out Coach Ron Horwath, "as well as thoroughly discouraging Clarkston."

The Mustang mentor was also happy about the performance of his second string, which played more than half the game, and which tallied a couple of Northville's scores.

"We had a chance to look at some of our younger players," Horwath said, "and we also gave them some experience."

He singled out freshman End Jerry Inmsland, sophomore Quarterback John Mach as turning in fine performances Friday.

Scoring most for the Mustangs was Joe Hay, who carried for three TD's, kicked five extra points and blocked punts to set up two additional touchdowns.

Northville's Third Place In League

Final standings in the Wayne-Oakland league's football contests this year, were decided last week with Bloomfield Hills and West Bloomfield taking the top two positions, but not necessarily in that order.

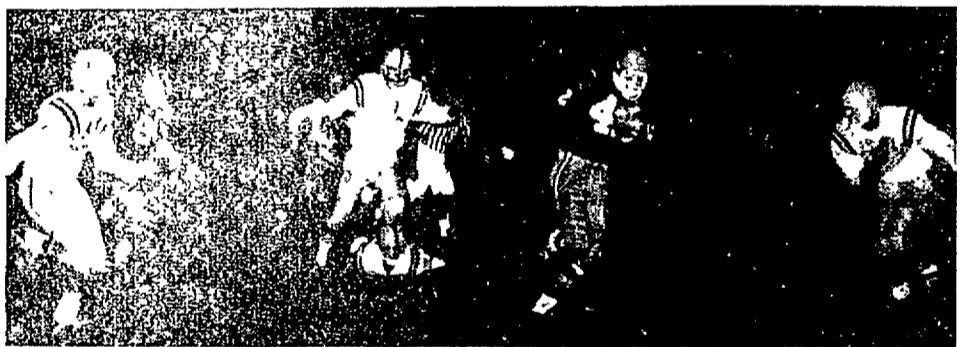

The two league leaders, which had gone unbeaten all season until their meeting Friday afternoon at Bloomfield Hills, ended their grid schedules with a 19-19 tie.

Northville captured third place behind the Bloomfield entrants, which were the only league squads to beat the Mustangs this year.

Fourth place went to Brighton, while Milford took fifth, Holly sixth, Clarkston seventh and Clarenceville eighth.

TD BOUND — Northville End Jerry Inmsland (42) heads for the Clarkston goal line (lower right corner) as Wolf defenders try in vain to reach him. Inmsland took Quarterback John Mach's pass for the second-half score.

Colts Beat Wolves to End Season

The Northville junior varsity Colts Tuesday night polished off their Clarkston counterparts 39-12 to end their season with a 4-2-1 record.

Contest Helps Class Treasury

The combined effort of Don-ald Van Ingen's junior high school class paid off for the second time last week — but it wasn't the entry signed by any of the class members that won top prize in the weekly football contest.

Official winner was Mrs. Van Ingen! But Ye-Oldie Contest Editors suspect that someone else filled out her entry. She was hospitalized at the time — but is home recuperating now.

For those who may not have heard, Van Ingen's eighth grade home room enters the contest in mass — and the prize money, if any, goes to the class treasury.

"Mrs. Van Ingen's" entry had only three wrong in a week marked by a flood of upsets. A opened the game with a first-play touchdown run of 50 yards, the Colts bounced back with a flurry of scoring.

Fullback Mike Hall picked up two TD's, one on a 35-yard draw play and the other on a 65-yard pass play from Quarterback Tom Baughman. Halfback Bob Steeper added another, with a 55-yard run.

Baughman carried on a bootleg roll-out to dash 35 yards for a fourth Northville touchdown, and Halfback Mike Turnbull picked up 13 points with two TD's on short runs and one extra point run.

Ends Artie Forth and George Simenton each scored extra points on passes from Baughman.

Clarkston's second tally came late in the fourth quarter after a 50-yard march against the Colts' second string.

Coach Paul Mack expressed happiness over the winning season. He pointed out that the Colts ended up 2-3-2 last year, his first season as coach, and added:

"I consider it a successful season. The players have done a good job in the last four weeks. They were learning techniques during the early portion of the season, and they put what they learned to good use in the latter games."

He pointed to Tuesday's game as an example, saying that the entire team played a good game — its best of the year.

Horwath's hoping to keep the same high spirit going which aided in the resounding defeat of Clarkston last week.

"We'll need it," he declared. He explained that Howell has been a top contender for the Capital Circuit league's championship this year, although Mason took the title last week by defeating Howell.

He said Howell has one of its finest and largest teams in years, and will be tough competition for the smaller Mustangs.

"They have a big line — 20-25 pounds a man heavier than us," the coach said, "and they have some strong backs. They've been averaging five touchdowns a game this year."

Game time is 8 p.m. under the new lights on the new high school football field.

Elwell carried again, reaching the 14, and Bell again connected with Inmsland to move to the four yard line. Bell's third connection with Inmsland brought the Mustangs their sixth TD, and the first half ended after Mach's extra point conversion, with Northville leading 41-0.

Hay's final score came on the opening play of the second half, when he raced 69 yards for the TD. His extra point kick gave Northville a 48-0 lead.

The Mustangs scored again when the fourth quarter was just two minutes old. They had taken possession on their own 34 just before the third period ended, and marched in eight plays to the Clarkston 31.

But Mach's fourth down pass attempt was intercepted by a Clarkston defender on his own 11. However, Wolf Quarterback Dan Craven's pass was intercepted by Bell, who returned the ball to the one.

Elwell dove over the right side of the line to score, and the Mustangs led 54-0.

On the first play after the kickoff, Halfback Jim Jiggins snagged another of Craven's passes and dashed to the Clarkston one foot line.

Jiggins then slammed through the line to pick up the final Northville score. Mach's conversion attempt was blocked, and the Mustangs led 60-0 with eight minutes left in the game.

Clarkston took the kickoff and moved in 11 plays to the Northville 37, where the Wolves ran out of downs. But a Northville fumble was recovered by Clarkston, which started to move again.

Five plays later Craven completed a five-yard pass to his End Norman Olafsson in the endzone, for Clarkston's only score. The Wolves' extra point run was not successful, and the game ended after the kickoff, before Northville could get a play underway.

The Mustangs play their final game of the season Friday night when they play host to Howell for the annual parents' night game.

- In Justice Court -

A driving violation and two disorderly conduct cases topped Northville Justice court proceedings Monday.

James D. Johnson of Walled Lake was fined $15 and $10 costs following an accident in which his car crashed into the rear of a Northville police car near the Eight Mile and Novi avenue intersection.

Damage to the police car was estimated at $50.

Terry Welch, 21, of 428 River was found guilty of a disorderly charge and was fined $25 and $5 costs. Police arrested him while he was drinking in the self-serve laundry here Monday. Dennis J. Spiker, 412 West Dunlap, was fined $15 and $10 costs for disorderly conduct. Police said he struck a Northville youth.

Halloween, a favorite day for vandals, proved to be a "very quiet" day in Northville, Police Chief Eugene King said.

With three cars patrolling the city and 12 policemen on duty, the greatest disturbance of the night was caused by egg throwing. No arrests were made.

Novi Police Arrest 25 For Drinking

Novi police last weekend arrested 25 under-age youths on charges involving possession of alcoholic beverages.

"We are now patrolling with all three cars on both Friday and Saturday nights because of this large number of young violators," Police Chief Lee BeGole said.

He said that with the increased patrol, there have been none of the complaints of malicious destruction that were received in former years.

"When the kids get all liquored-up," he said, "they become malicious and cause damage and disturbances."

BeGole pointed out that in former years, there were many instances of damage to mail boxes and road signs.

The chief added that the youths arrested last weekend ranged in ages from 17 to 20, with the most common age being 19. He said the majority of them are from either the Pontiac-Union Lake area or from Detroit.

Past Resident Dies In Car-Train Crash

A former Northville resident was killed last Thursday night when his car crashed into the side of a train in Plymouth. Frederick Paul Bernhardt, 30, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bernhardt, of 46644 West Nine Mile road, was alone in his car when the 10:45 p.m. accident occurred.

Wayne county Sheriff's deputies report Bernhardt was killed when his car struck the eighth car of the train, which was at the Chesapeake and Ohio crossing on Sheldon road, just north of the Plymouth city limit.

The officers said witnesses told them Bernhardt's south-bound car passed three other cars which were stopped at the crossing, drove around the crossing gate and struck the train.

The deputies said the red crossing flashers were operat-

"My Sister Eileen" Going On Stage Here Wednesday

Dress rehearsals are planned next week for "My Sister Eileen," this year's production by the high school Forensic club for the all-school play. The bone-tickler, authored by Joseph A. Fields and Jerome Chodrov, will be presented next Wednesday and Thursday nights in the high school auditorium. "My Sister Eileen" is based on stories by Ruth McKenney. The play reviews the experiences, sometimes funny, sometimes sad, of two young Ohioans who move into a Greenwich Village apartment when they decide to try careers in New York. Directors of the Forensic club's production are Miss Patricia Dozrian and Miss Florence Panatoni, who said that the players are performing well and should be ready by curtain time.

The play was first performed in New York in 1940, with Shirley Booth and Jo Ann Sayers playing the lead roles. The Forensic club's produc-

3 Firemen Served 133 Years

Northville Honors It's Retirees

HONORED BY CITY — Three retiring volunteer firemen and a retired police officer were among those honored last Thursday night at the city of Northville's third annual Recognition Dinner held at the VFW hall. Badges, wrist watches and merit certificates were presented to the four men by Mayor A. M. Allen. Pictured (l. to r.) are Roy Matheson, Harvey Van Valkenburg, Gill Glasson, Mayor Allen and Arthur Mitchell. Matheson, Van Valkenburg and Mitchell are retiring firemen with a combined total service to the department of 133 years. Van Valkenburg is the "dean" of the retirees with more than 50 years service. Glasson retired from the police department after suffering a stroke. He was commended by the mayor for his return to active employment. A special plaque was also awarded to T. R. Carrington for his long service to the community as a member of the planning commission. Carrington is recuperating from a heart attack and was unable to attend the banquet. It was accepted in his behalf by his son, Charles. Police training certificates were presented to the city's auxiliary police force and to volunteer firemen for special training courses. Dr. Kenneth MacLeod was master of ceremonies for the program and Wallace Arrowsmith, city manager of Wayne, was speaker. Councilman John Canterbury and Police Chief Eugene King were co-chairmen of the program. About 100 city employees and volunteer workers attended.

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO
—A definite site for savings and loan facilities in Northville was revealed this week with the announcement that Detroit Federal Savings and Loan Association has purchased the Detroit Edison building located on the northeast corner of Center and Dunlap streets. Half the first floor and the entire second floor of the two-story building will be leased back to Detroit Edison.

—In stark contrast to a year ago, Northville's total residential collection in the United Fund drive is expected to fall $700 short of the hoped-for 1961 goal of $2,508, says Chairman Mrs. Hugh Conser. Only $1,857 has been collected.

—A brief comment made by Novi school board President Walter Ambinder last month has stirred up a turmoil of controversy which reached a high point at an afternoon meeting last Sunday in the Baptist church. A flurry of objections have arisen over Ambinder's cautioning Superintendent Tom Culbert to be certain teachers won't violate state and federal laws in their observances of Christmas.

FIVE YEARS AGO
—No additional parking spaces are needed in Northville's central business district, but improvements should be made in the existing facilities, the Automobile Club of Michigan told the city council Monday night. An Auto Club traffic research supervisor reported on a $1,500 survey of Northville's parking conducted under his direction this summer.

—A pretty Northville girl is reigning this week as "Miss Rodeo America" at the country's top rodeo in San Francisco's famous Cow Palace. Jan Porath, of 6846 West Seven Mile, a Michigan State University student, was chosen for the title from among 1,500 girls from across the country.

—The Northville school board Monday night passed a resolution to apply to the Michigan Municipal finance commission for permission to sell $1,850,000 in bonds for construction of the new high school. If permission is granted as expected, the board will then advertise for bids for construction of the building.

—Election notices were posted this week to remind residents of the city of Northville and some 220 acres of Novi township that an annexation vote is less than two weeks away. Proposed for annexation to the city is the Northville estates subdivision and areas between it and Novi road.

—A survey of Novi residents' feelings on the question of incorporating the township into a village is now being conducted by the Farmers and Landowners Protective association, which opposes the proposed incorporation. Both the association and the incorporation committee have urged Novi voters to take part in the straw vote.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
—Northville residents were loud this week in their praise of the way village police officers kept things quiet during Halloween. Police received no complaints, and had praise themselves — for the behavior of local youngsters.

—The curtain will rise next weekend on "We Shook the Family Tree," a comedy to be presented by the junior class of Northville high school.

—The Northville recreation committee's attendance report for October shows a total of 1,489 persons taking advantage of its various classes. The committee reports that 526 area adults and 963 youngsters are taking part in the classes.

—Neil Hannaford was elected president of the Suburban Shrine Club at the group's monthly meeting last week. Chosen to the board of directors of the club was Roy LeMaster. The organization serves Northville, Plymouth, Farmington, and South Lyon.

—A new benefit venture is being planned in Northville. The P-TA is planning its first auction of used clothing, toys and other items. Harold Hartley, in charge of the project, said his committee is seeking donations of salable items.

—Northville area lovers of symphonic music will have plenty of opportunity today to enjoy the same. Appearing in two concerts at the high school this afternoon and evening is the Kryl Womens Symphony Orchestra of Chicago.

—Novi received national attention this week when the American magazine included in its story on how communities are named W. J. Whiting's version of Novi's naming — the explanation that Novi was stop No. IV on the stagecoach trip from Detroit to Lansing.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
—Lower taxes and better legal descriptions of local property will result from a survey of Northville now being made for the Wayne county tax commissioner's office, according to the engineer in charge of the survey. He said the survey, now two weeks old, will take until late next summer to complete.

—John Norton made oral application to the village council Monday night for permission to sell liquor by the glass at his tavern. The council instructed Norton that he must submit written application before any action may be taken on his request.

—Work is now underway to approximately double the present production floor space in the local Ford plant. A basement is being excavated under the present production area and the removed earth is being used as a fill for the plant's parking lot across Griswold.

—Workmen of the Detroit Edison company are installing seven new boulevard lights on East Main street between Park Place and the Pere Marquette spring. The extension of the boulevard lighting was ordered by the village council to end a traffic hazard existing near the spring.

—A prosperous Wixom dairy farmer is being held without charge at Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, while provincial police continue their investigation of the mysterious shooting and death of a pretty Pontiac stenographer who had accompanied the farmer to a remote cabin on a hunting trip. The woman's pajama-clad body was found in the kitchen of the cabin, which belongs to a Northville resident.

LET'S TALK CARS ...

The Bargaining Illusion

If you are thinking of price shopping for a new or used car sometime soon then you would be well-advised to closely examine the various "offers" you are bound to receive.

Many a purchaser has lost money when he was trying hard to save it only because he failed to understand what he was actually buying at a seemingly low price.

If you are buying a new car, then be sure that you understand EXACTLY what accessories are included in the purchase price, how the terms of purchase, finance and insurance compare and how you stand with regard to service after the sale. The final purchase figure means nothing, of course, unless all the details are clearly understood.

It is especially easy to go wrong on a used car buy. This is because there are no two used cars in the world exactly alike. What you are really buying is not the make and year of a model. It is the UNUSED mileage that might or might not be left in the car. How you measure it is a complicated business.

Every used car we offer for sale has been checked by an experienced mechanic with the equipment to do the job. For the protection of your interests and our good name we have made it our business to refrain from retailing taxis or worn-out cars that we know will not render the service their buyer is looking for. Or to confuse the buyer on price to gain a sale.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

This week two well-known area officials announced that they were giving up their posts as heads of their respective governmental units. Circumstances and reasons surrounding the announcements differed, however.

In Northville township Supervisor George Clark told fellow board members that he would not be a candidate for re-election.

In Novi township Supervisor Frazer Staman resigned to seek appointment to the Oakland county board of road commissioners.

Clark has served two terms as supervisor of Northville township. And during his four years in office he has devoted himself to the responsibilities of the job with complete thoroughness.

Clark points out that township activity is growing rapidly and that he could not assume the increased work-load without hurting his own business.

There are many achievements that could be singled out during Clark's administration — a new planning commission, sewer and water commission and efficiency and public service improvements — but none, we believe, compare to his efforts toward better community cooperation.

We believe Supervisor Clark has boosted considerably the relationship between city and township. He has suggested joint planning meetings; cooperated with a community economic development committee; joined in the effort to hold a joint city-township-school board meeting. In short, he has recognized that boundaries do not divide the community insofar as common good and progress is concerned.

This new era of cooperation has served to strengthen each of our governmental units, thus dispensing the fears (still held by some) that a dark, grim cloud might fall and usurp their individuality.

We believe Supervisor Clark when he says that pressures of personal business make it impossible to continue in public office. He would not give less than his full effort.

And we hope that his able board, and eventual successor, will continue this policy of community-wide thinking.

In Novi Staman's status is still somewhat "iffy". If he is chosen as road commissioner for the county, he cannot serve as township supervisor.

The selection was scheduled to be made in Pontiac Wednesday (yesterday). It was necessary that he submit his resignation to the board before he could be considered for the county position.

If he was not chosen, presumably he would be available to be renamed by the board.

But this is a sticky question, and it is known that opinions differ sharply on the Novi board.

Staman has been Novi's supervisor for 10 years. It has been a period marked by progress, turmoil, controversy and complacency — just about in that order.

We have not always agreed with Staman — but we'd call his batting average .850, tops in any league. And frankly, we hate to see him step aside.

Our congratulations to Phil Ogilvie, Northville's city attorney, for his "Silver Beaver" award in scouting.

Presented by the 'Sunset District, the award means that Ogilvie has devoted many hours to helping boys in scouting.

The Silver Beaver is the highest state award that a scout leader can receive.

And we can't think of a higher purpose.

We know that Ogilvie gives many more hours to community and church affairs. And now he plans to become active in local cub pack work where he can introduce his own youngster to scouting.

Asks Health Tests For Middle-Aged

ARE YOU one of the "neglected" segment of the American population where health is concerned?

"We're neglecting the middle-age segment of our population in our concern for the health of the very young and the very old," contends Dr. John A. Cowan, director of the State Health Department's Division of Tuberculosis and Adult Health.

What Cowan calls "health conservation" measures should be stressed among the 20 to 45 year age group. These measures primarily consist of periodic health examinations.

MANY CHRONIC diseases which afflict persons in their later years could be prevented by early detection and treatment in the younger years when the individual is apparently healthy and not concerned about the prospect of chronic disease, Cowan says.

A recent national health survey showed about 35 per cent of the population in the 20 or 45 age group has one or more chronic disease conditions, Cowan recalled.

"If we would only apply the knowledge that we have today in preventive and curative medicine, much of the chronic illness and disability present in today's aging population could be dissipated," he said.

THE USES of electronics in state government are becoming more and more varied almost daily.

Data processing units used by several departments are making record-keeping and other systems simpler and more efficient.

Now, officials relate, an electronic reporting system will be used extensively next year to keep members of the tourist industry informed on the demands being placed on the industry.

THIS NEW electronic reporting system was used briefly this past summer at State Highway Department Tourist Information Centers, reports department information officer, John Murray. "Information gathered by the system will be of real value to the tourist industry," he said.

Murray said use of the system would be expanded early next year, particularly during the summer season.

"This system provides a rapid profile of the Michigan tourist. It tells where he comes from, what he wants to do, where he stays and how long, and what kind of service he is looking for," said Murray.

MICHIGAN is the first state to use such a reporting system and several other states have expressed an interest in the experiment.

"The tourist profile will be helpful to the tourist promotion agencies of the state as well as those who serve Michigan's growing tourist population," Murray said. "It will tell them what is happening in their industry in time to plan their advertising and promotional activities to take full advantage of current trends."

Information to be disseminated among tourists industry groups will be collected next year at five permanent Tourist Information Centers as well as two mobile information units which are circulated throughout the state.

OVERCROWDING and waiting lists in mental health facilities may soon lose their impact as a political tool.

Waiting lists for state institutions, particularly, have been a bone of contention between Republicans and Democrats for many years.

Democrats contended new facilities were badly needed to eliminate the waiting lists. Republicans said many on waiting lists could be accommodated if senile and merely old patients were placed in private facilities.

NO ONE is actually winning their point by action taken recently, but the weight of the two arguments should be lessened considerably.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced that public assistance grants would be available for persons in the older age groups who might be eligible for release from mental hospitals.

Care of "just plain old people" and senile citizens long had been a sore point with Michigan Mental Health Director Charles F. Wagg, who contended they had no place in institutions under his jurisdiction. Commitments of many of these people were ordered, however, at the local level and Wagg had no choice but to take them.

AVAILABILITY of public assistance grants meant release of these individuals would provide funds for their keep.

More than 500 such persons have now been referred to agencies and homes outside state government, Wagg said. It is estimated about 2,800 such persons will be placed in the near future.

The bed space made available by the discharge of old and senile patients will not, however, completely eliminate the waiting lists for state institutions.

MANY OF the persons on ment to special facilities, such as homes for mentally retarded children or hospitals with programs for special types of mental illness.

Placing patients past the age of 65 who no longer require intensive psychiatric care should, however, make a large dent in the waiting lists of committed persons who can be taken into most state hospitals.

We'll Control Climate from Moon

BABSON PARK, MASS. — Millions will be distributed to nearly fifty thousand contractors; the contracts will extend over five years, and may benefit every reader.

It is fair to assume that Russia and possibly other countries are working on similar programs. We will know more about this when Mr. Khrushchev comes over to make his visit. It is even rumored he will recommend that the moon project be made a joint effort. This would unite the brains of both countries as well as the money. I should not be surprised if Germany joined and made it "tripartite." Such a joint effort could be a forward step toward world peace.

The Moon and Canada
Canada is very rich in natural resources, but unfortunately too much of this wealth is under ice as well as underground. Canada is in good financial condition but its one great liability is climate, which meteorologists believe could be greatly ameliorated by influencing the weather from the moon.

If, however, the weather of Canada could be changed, so could that of other countries, — the tropics as well as the cold-er countries. We know what the moon does to our tides.

Wherever we were born, we have taken the climate of our fathers as something permanent and unchangeable; but this is a mistake. Practical ways will be found to adjust climate, and this will be of great advantage to all nations.

It may be the one effort which will result in a useful and permanent United Nations Organization. The thought has been in my mind since I saw the possibilities for South America and the west coast to profit from the gold rush of 1848. They went on a four-months trip from Boston to get this gold and take passengers to California. But it will take only four days to go to the moon at the speed which is being counted upon. I am told that after a port has been secured and the landing made safe, this speed can be reduced to what will seem normal to modern youth.

Psychology and Business
Mr. James P. W. Davidson, in an address given in Wellesley this week, thinks that the talk about "going to the moon" will have a stimulating influence upon general business. It will raise the hopes, expectations, and enterprise of many people, — especially young people.

It should help general business as the automobile did fifty years ago, and as the discovery of gold in California did a hundred years ago. In the meantime, it certainly should indirectly increase newspaper advertising during the next year.

Dear Dr. Mudd:
I should like to have you settle an argument which a friend and I have been carrying on for years. We are both about the same age and we've both been married about the same time. We both have two children and both our husbands work for the same company. Mine has the better job but we really don't make that much more money.

I keep telling her that she is soft in the head. You should see the way she treats her husband. About half the time she fixes herself up before he gets home. She combs her hair and puts on make-up and, if she has time, she even takes a shower!

Can you imagine all that just because her husband is coming home at night? He likes a cocktail just before dinner so she will have one all fixed and ready for him. When he walks in she's at the door to actually kiss him. Then she walks in to his chair in the kitchen, and hands him the newspaper. And all this with a sickly moon-calf look on her face!

One of the kids has the job of getting his slippers and as he takes off his shoes, the other child tunes in his favorite FM music. Meanwhile, my friend is bustling around putting the finishing touches on dinner. Sometimes she has a drink with him, but more often not. She works herself to the bone for him. She's a real nut and even cuts the grass so he, the lord and master, can play golf on Saturday afternoon!

My friend doesn't seem to care at all how I treat my husband. Mind you, I'm pretty good to him even if I don't go in for the cocktail, slippers, and golf routine. To me, any woman who does all she does has holes in her head. She must want to be walked on like a rug all the time because she sure waits on him hand and foot.

Can you imagine it? She even lays out his clothes for him in the morning. I'll admit he's a nice guy, but I can't see how he or any other man can be that nice.

Tell me — am I right or is she? Isn't she missing something with all this lord and master attitude of hers?

Problem Wife

Dear Problem Wife:
Someone is missing a lot of fun and pleasure out of life but I don't think it is your friend.

Sincerely,
Sándor Mudd, M.D.

Imagine! She Pampers Him

She seems to be having a fine time doing what she feels. Evidently she loves her husband and has no inhibitions standing between her and the outward manifestations of these feelings.

And I think too, her husband must be a remarkable and deserving fellow to be the recipient of this kind of attentiveness. At least in her eyes he is a loveable, wonderful person and I dare say the attentions and tenderesses you observe are mutual.

It looks like your friend realizes the truth of the fact that we pass this way but once and that it is a privilege, as well as an obligation, to make the most of our lives. It is a pity that so many women take an antagonistic view towards those of their kind who choose to treat their husbands with loving deference. I think your friend is fortunate to be so free. I should think that their lives together are both rich and full.

Her life is abundant with good things because it is filled with thoughts and actions aimed at pleasing someone she loves. At least she doesn't have to write to me!
Did you ever think of taking her as a model? You might find out for yourself why your friend is the way she is and why she enjoys doing for others. It sounds as though she is a bit more enthusiastic than most women would be but then maybe she has good reason to be the way she is. It also appears that the two of them have a good time together and afterward their are few things more important in life than enjoying your marriage.

Sincerely,
Sándor Mudd, M.D.
