

'Education Changes But Not Youngsters'

EDITOR'S NOTE: American Education Week is being observed by Northville public schools, November 11-17. Special programs will be held this evening (Thursday) with open houses at the junior high school and Main street elementary school. In observance of this event, The Record is highlighting some of the changes which have taken place in education. For this information we turned to Northville Superintendent Russell H. Amerman, who has served local schools as teacher, principal, and superintendent for the past 35 years.

"Education Meets the Challenge of Change" is the theme of American Education Week, being held from November 11 through 17, points out Northville Superintendent Russell H. Amerman, and the growth of local schools pretty much follows the idea expressed by the theme.

Amerman, who has headed up administration of Northville schools for nearly 30 years, noted that local schools have undergone vast changes during that period.

Northville's total school budget 30 years ago amounted to about $75,000 and now the schools pay more than that sum for maintenance alone.

Utilities of gas, fuel, water and sewers cost Northville schools approximately $40,000 each year, he added. And where the schools went for many years with just two maintenance men, they now employ 19.

"We had 25 classrooms when I became superintendent in 1933," he said, "and not all of those were in use. Now we're overcrowded with 74 classrooms."

Northville, which now has a total student body of slightly over 2,100 youngsters, had a graduating class which averaged about 18 seniors during the 1920's and 30's. Last year Northville awarded diplomas to 154 graduates.

Both the size and value of the Northville school district have increased many fold. When Amerman became superintendent, the school district included two square miles and was valued at about $2,000,000.

Now the district encompasses an area of about 32 square miles and has a valuation amounting to approximately $28,000,000.

"We had about 25 teachers in the early 1930's," Amerman noted, "and now, with a visiting psychologist, we have 99 and one-half teachers."

Mirroring the physical changes the Northville schools have undergone are the changes in philosophy of education which have occurred.

Amerman pointed out that Northville's curriculum used to be a "straight-jacketed" program which provided instruction in science, mathematics, social studies, English, a foreign language and small doses of commercial and industrial arts courses.

But the schools now offer a myriad of courses ranging from the basic "Three R's" to highly advanced study in a number of technical areas, as well as many "extras."

"Drop-outs used to be the rule rather than the exception," the superintendent said, "but, now their occurrence is rare. We try to offer classes which will attract the student, hold him in school, and better equip him for later life, whether he goes on to college or to work immediately after graduation."

Counseling and guidance have grown from a nearly non-existent state to a full-fledged portion of the school program, he noted, and have helped keep students interested in education.

Amerman recalls that counseling and guidance first amounted to a principal or similar person telling a student what he ought to study and take up, all based upon observation and a few skimpy tests.

But now the counseling and guidance program has reached a point where highly-skilled personnel spend a good deal of time with each student to determine his skill and ability and suggest areas of study he should consider.

"One of the most profound changes has occurred in the testing program," Amerman said.

He pointed out that testing was usually done with "home-made" exams that were difficult to interpret. Now the schools use tests prepared by outside firms, which supply standardized means of evaluating the students' progress.

Amerman, who estimates he has served with some 50 school board members at well over 700 board meetings, pointed out that one aspect of education has remained constant:

"We have always had to search for sufficient funds to educate our boys and girls."

Adding to financial problems have been changes in education.

Early Copy

Like most business places, The Northville Record will be closed next Thursday, Thanksgiving.

Because of the holiday the newspaper will publish early next week.

All copy — both news and advertising — must be submitted no later than Monday at 5 p.m. Where possible, copy should be in our hands by Saturday.

Text books and reference materials used to be good for many years, the superintendent said. Most texts were usable for at least 10 years, and reference works were good for as much as 40 years.

"Now, many of these items are obsolete before they have reached production stages," he said.

Then there are the many pieces of equipment which have been introduced over the years. The radio was to revolutionize education, but ended up being of limited classroom use.

Movies, however, have been among the most helpful of the classroom aids, Amerman said. He pointed out that film libraries are inexpensive because of the wide availability of films on a cheap rental basis. And strip films have proved useful for illustrations.

Television, with its more recent applications to education, and the programmed instruction for teaching machines have become modern classroom equipment.

Northville is now joining the educational TV project on a minimum basis, to determine whether it will be of benefit. The local schools are also examining equipment available for language laboratories, in anticipation that the language program may reach a point where it would support an automated lab.

"There are many new vistas in education," the superintendent said. "All the changes have been made to try to cope with the problem of what will the boys and girls need for the future."

It's impossible to know what today's youngsters will need in the way of education by the year 2000, he noted, but the main task is to teach them how to adjust to changes, he added.

"Over the years, we've had to lift our sights from the local area to the state and nation," he said, "and now to the universe."

How have the changes affected the youngsters?

"They haven't changed basically — they're the same fine people they've always been," Amerman said. "They continue to rise to their obligations. The ambitious and capable youths have many more opportunities now, and while it's more of a challenge, they are still meeting it."

As for the future, the superintendent pointed to the possibilities of higher education offered by the community colleges. He said these institutions provide training for either the student interested in further study at a university or the person seeking a vocation.

"I don't know what lies ahead for Northville, but I feel we had better take a long, hard look at community colleges before we make a final decision," he concluded.

Rotary Honors Community 'Old Timers'

NEARLY 3,000 years of active community life is represented in this picture of 36 Northville senior citizens who were honored guests of the Rotary club Tuesday night. And although they may be old in years, they were young in spirit. The banquet proved to be one of the most lively and interesting affairs ever conducted by Rotary. The club hopes to make it an annual event and President Charles Smith expressed regret that more senior citizens were not contacted. Frank Balden, who will be 90 December 13, was the oldest honored guest. Mrs. Belle McColl was the oldest of the ladies. She'll be 90 in March. The witty Mrs. McColl quipped "being 89 is the biggest racket I've ever known. Everyone wants to do something for you." Philip Ogilvie served as master of ceremonies for Rotary. Russell Amerman greeted the guests. Mr. A. E. Hackett responded for the senior citizens. The four-page pamphlet will be used by the newly-formed group to let industry, business and the public know that Northville is a good community in which to do business.

A more complete brochure of information will be compiled for replies to definite inquiries.

The organization also plans a public appeal for financial and moral support through a direct mailing within 10 days.

Agree to Settle Assessment Suit

An out-of-court settlement has been reached between the city of Northville and a property owner in a pending suit involving a special assessment for street improvements.

The city council agreed Monday night to accept $4,087.95 for work on Novi street involving the installation of sewers, water lines, curb, gutter and paving, and an additional $600 for improvement work on 154-foot of Maplewood street.

The compromise was reached by Attorney James Littell representing Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Yerkes and City Attorney Philip Ogilvie.

It concerned an 80 per cent assessment levied by the city against property owned by the Yerkes' and abutting Village Green subdivision. Half of the road improvements were paid by the subdividers, D. & R. Building Company. The city levied 80 per cent of its share against Yerkes. One of the objections lodged by Attorney Littell was that part of the work was completed before confirmation of the special assessment.

D & R Building Company is presently completing more improvements on Maplewood. In order to install water and sewer lines before winter the firm agreed to pay that portion that would have been assessed against the property owned by Yerkes.

Two in Township Supervisor Race

Last week Northville Township Supervisor George Clark announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election in the spring balloting.

The two-term Republican supervisor said the pressures of personal business and the growing responsibilities of the supervisor's post prompted his decision.

This week petitions were being circulated for two candidates ready to take up Clark's reins.

Both are Republicans.

Trustee R. D. Merriam, 1910 Beck road, obtained petitions and announced he would seek the supervisor's job.

Mrs. Harold B. (Elsie) Price, 46221 Bloomcrest, also revealed an interest in the top township office and began circulating petitions.

Although the election does not take place until April, it is necessary that petitions for township office be filed with the township clerk by the end of December.

In the township's partisan-type elections a primary election is scheduled in February if there is competition for nomination to one or more of the offices within the individual political party.

To date no Democratic candidate has requested petitions, although the party has entered a slate of candidates in recent past elections.

Merriam has been a trustee on the township board for 12 years. For 39 years he has been employed by the Wayne County Road Commission and currently serves as engineer of bridges, structures and expressways.

Merriam stated that he would retire from his county job to devote full time to the duties of township supervisor.

In addition to his membership on the township board, Merriam has served as a member of the community recreation commission. He is married and has three daughters.

Mrs. Price has never sought public office before. She is married and has a five-year-old son. Her husband is a Ford Motor Company engineer. Mrs. Price, 35, was graduated from Pershing high school in Detroit and has taken numerous college credit courses in accounting, finance, philosophy and political science. She was once employed as an accountant for Darling and Company.

Mrs. Price has been a member of the Greater Northville Republican club since its beginning. She was formerly club president and currently serves as treasurer.

Merriam's decision to run for supervisor assures another new face on the township board. The board's membership was changed recently with the retirement of Treasurer Roy Terrell November 1; the transfer of Trustee Alex Lawrence to treasurer, and the appointment of Donald Robinson as trustee replacing Lawrence.

Every member of the board will face re-election except Trustee Robinson. These include Clerk Marguerite Northup, Treasurer Lawrence, a successor for Merriam's trustee post and a new supervisor.

Other elective posts on the April township ballot will be justice of the peace, board of review and constable.

Bachert Is New Novi Supervisor

Hadley J. Bachert

The Novi township board Monday night appointed Clerk Hadley J. Bachert as supervisor of the township.

Bachert replaces Frazer W. Staman, who resigned a week ago Monday to seek an Oakland county road commissioner's post. Staman's appointment to the $10,000-a-year commissioner's post was made last Wednesday.

Naming of the clerk as supervisor was made on a motion by Trustee Frank Watza. Treasurer Duane Bell supported the action, and no other names were suggested.

The appointment of Bachert, who received unanimous support of the remaining members of the township board, leaves open the position of township clerk. The board is planning to meet with at least one candidate before making a decision.

Apparently none of the board members are willing to accept the clerk appointment. Trustee Emory Jacques refused several times Monday night to be considered for the position.

Trustee Watza said his health would probably rule him out as clerk. And Treasurer Bell gave no indication of interest.

Jacques, however, had a nomination of his own. He suggested the board consider Lloyd George, a Willowbrook subdivision resident and Republican delegate from Novi's precinct number one.

Both Bachert's appointment and the choosing of his successor as clerk will last until next April, when the regular township election is scheduled. The terms of supervisor, clerk, treasurer and Trustee Watza will expire then.

Town Hall, Travelogue on Tap

The Northville Town Hall and Rotary club's travelogue series will both bring personalities to the community during the coming week as the second presentation of their respective programs.

Author Robert St. John will address Town Hall members today at 11 a.m. at the P & A theatre. A speakers' luncheon will follow at Lofy's Arbor-Lil.

It is said that listening to St. John is like "being at the ring-side of history." For a third of a century he has been dealing with news as a reporter, author of topical books, radio and television commentator and foreign correspondent.

He concentrates his attention presently on Africa and the Middle East. The subject of his talk will be "Crisis in the Middle East."

St. John will be introduced by Dr. Philip N. Brown, medical superintendent of Northville State Hospital.

"The Soul of Mexico" or "Legend of the Sierra Madre" is the title given to the Northville Rotary club's second presentation in its world travel series.

Romain Wilhelmsen, often labeled "the Legend Hunter," will narrate his film story of a journey to a lost world next Tuesday at the high school auditorium.

He takes his viewers through a region in Mexico that was completely unexplored before his visit. In a lofty wilderness of skyscraping rock and magnificent scenery, Wilhelmsen's camera probes the secrets of a lost city.

Coloring the explorer's narration are vivid accounts of his numerous adventures while seeking out many of Latin America's hidden worlds.

The most exciting — and most dangerous — of his experiences was a run-in with bandits while on a bus ride through a remote region of Colombia. Wilhelmsen was shot in the side during a shoot-out in which one of the bandits was killed and the others driven off.

Mexico's wild scenery is beautifully pictured in Wil-helmsen's color film, which includes scenes of barbaric Indian festivals and views the secrets behind many legends.

Tickets for the five remaining shows, including next week's presentation, are available from the high school. Some 200 tickets, sold only on a season basis, were turned over to the "N" club by the Rotary club.

All collections from the $4.50 tickets (sold at a reduction because the first show has already been sold) will be used to help construct a press box at the new athletic field.

After next week, the remaining shows for this season include:

—David Paul's visit to the south seas in "Hawaii — Our 50th State," on January 22;
—Douglas Wilson and "The Ganges River of India," a visit to the land of the Taj Mahal, on February 19;
—"Romance of Kentucky," Donald Shaw's look at the United States' famous horse-raising area, on March 19;
—Julian Gromer and "The Mighty Amazon," an adventure logue of the world's largest river, on April 23.

Legion Honors Youngsters From Boys, Girls State

Reports from four Northville high school girls who attended Wolverine Girls' State and one boy who attended Boys State last summer were heard Monday night at a program sponsored by the American Legion and auxiliary.

Approximately 70 persons attended a potluck supper honoring the youngsters, their parents and sponsoring organizations which send the youngsters to the government-in-action programs.

Girls giving reports were Karen Petersen, Rose Marie Kaminsky, Elta Rutan and Lynn Johnson. Sponsoring groups for the girls included the Northville Woman's Club, Mothers Club, UAW-CIO and Northville P-TA. Dan Bishop, whose trip to Boys State was sponsored by the Northville American Legion post, reported on his activities there.

Following the reports the Legion conducted its annual Veterans Day flag burning ceremony in front of the Legion home.

The orchestra, under the direction of Wayne Dunlap, will play Prelude to "The Afternoon of a Faun" by Debussy and Suite from "Petrouchka" by Stravinsky. The program commemorates the celebration of Stravinsky's 80th birthday and the centennial anniversary of Debussy's birth.

The concert begins at 4 p.m. and is free of charge. It will take place in the Plymouth high school auditorium. Sitter service for children age two and over will be provided by a Plymouth girl scout troop.

On December 9 the orchestra will present a Christmas concert at 4 p.m. in the Plymouth high school.

Junior High P-TA To Award Pins

When the Northville Junior high Parent-Teacher association holds its annual open house in conjunction with American Education week tonight (Thursday), an important pre-tour meeting will be held.

Mrs. Ray Westphall said that the group will meet at 7:30 in the girls' gymnasium to discuss methods of shortening the lunch hour to prevent the youngsters from going to the business district at noon.

Also scheduled for the meeting is the awarding of service pins to teachers who have been teaching in Northville for five years or more, she said.

She pointed out that after the meeting tonight, only two more P-TA meetings are scheduled for this year. One will be held January 17, and the other March 21.

WATCH THEM IMITATE THIS ONE!

This is the look of things to come in modern motor car styling.

It's the 1963 Cadillac—a motor car so beautiful and so tempting it is difficult to resist.

The new look in Cadillacs combines formality and youthfulness, majesty and vigor in a way that is predictably trend-setting.

And it belongs to Cadillac alone. You won't see any others with that sweeping expanse of hood and deck that gives the 1963 Cadillac its unique look of vitality and power.

And its discerning use of chrome and adornment welcomes a new purity of form in automotive design.

Of course, there's a great deal more than styling in this new Cadillac that is worthy of emulation.

There are Cadillac's beautiful and luxurious new interiors—and Cadillac's remarkable new performance—and Cadillac's unprecedented choice of personal appointments and accessories—and Cadillac's unrivaled dependability and value.

Cadillac is now more clearly than ever before the Standard of the World.

The thing to do is to see and drive one of the twelve brilliant new models and get the whole Cadillac story for 1963. And for a full year at the wheel, do it before another week goes by.

LET'S TALK CARS...

Cold Weather Starting

The frost is on the pumpkins and it is time to make sure that your engine will keep turning over these frosty mornings as the temperature dips lower.

Just why lower temperatures make cars hard to start is not primarily because lubricants become sluggish as many drivers believe. Though this is one of the major causes of hard starting, the major trouble results from low battery output.

Engineering tests show that normal battery output taken at temperatures of 80 degrees drops 60 percent at zero. While this is happening the engine is getting harder to turn over, of course, and the combination makes for hard starting. There is insufficient charge for spark plug ignition, a situation that gets rapidly worse after two or three starting failures.

A minor tune-up is not costly and will probably be sufficient to put your car in shape for easy starting in the cold mornings to come. Our mechanics will check your battery for charge, clean and tighten terminals and check your points and plugs.

Now is also the time to change to lighter grade oils that make starting easier and cover moving parts with protective lubrication on cold mornings faster than thicker summer grades.

Drop in soon before the winterizing rush starts.

NEWS FROM THE

American Legion

LLOYD H. GREEN POST 147

Next meeting November 27. Monday, November 12, our "Potluck" Supper and Flag Burning Ceremony was held by all who attended. Daniel Bishop, our Boys' State Representative, gave his report. Danny is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bishop, 46111 Neecon, Northville.

Friday, November 16, will be our Annual Feather Party. Come out and have fun. Starts at 8:00 p.m.

The paint and clean-up program is progressing very slowly, due to lack of interest and attendance. The few who have turned out have done a good job and the Post owes them a vote of thanks.

The week of November 11 through 17 has been designated by Governor John B. Swainson as "American Education Week". This week is sponsored by the National Education Association, the American Legion, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the U. S. Office of Education. The basic purpose is to make every American aware of the important role that education plays in democracy.

American Education week will be observed in 1,712 school districts in this state. Why don't you, as a parent, visit your child's school and, if possible, confer with his teacher. There are an estimated 66,000 teachers in Michigan.

Mustangs, Highlanders End Year in 14-14 Tie

Northville's Mustangs closed the first quarter. The Mustangs had received Howell's kickoff and battled from their 17 yard line in 15 plays for the touchdown. Halfback Joe Hay carried on several runs, while Fullback Ron Rice added yardage and Quarterback Craig Bell picked up the rest on passes to Ends Don Biery and Jim Juday. Northville opened scoring with just over three minutes left in the first quarter on a 15-yard run, and added the extra point to put Northville ahead 7-0. The second Mustang score came when the second period was four minutes old. Hay carried on a three-yard drive for the TD. The score was set up when Juday recovered a Howell fumble shortly after the kickoff, and the Mustangs moved to the Highlander 42 before being forced to punt. But Howell fumbled the punt, and Northville recovered on the 22. Hay picked up nine yards in four runs and Halfback Tom Swiss added another five. Mirroring the Mustangs' first quarter, the Highlanders opened the second half by marching in 10 plays from their own 42 for their first score. Main figure of the drive, and of the remainder of the second half, was Highlander Fullback Charles Arnold. He plowed through the Mustang line seven times for 44 yards and the TD. Howell came right back after the kick, recovering a Northville fumble on the Mustang 48, and marching in nine plays for the TD. The third quarter ended as Northville began its only drive of the half. The Mustangs took over on their own 30, moving into the final stanza and Howell territory in eight plays. But they ran out of downs and were once more forced to punt. Northville had its best second-half chance to score late in the fourth period when the Highlanders fumbled on their own 34. But the Mustangs were unable to cross the 30, and the game ended two plays after Howell took possession.

Many Area Hunters Out; Some Already Have Deer

If hunting licenses are any indication of intentions to go deer hunting (and at $5 a shot, they should be), then the Northville-Novi area will be drained by at least 1,000 of its population for a portion of the next two weeks as the annual trek to the north woods takes place. Local merchants report sales of over 350 deer hunting licenses for Michigan's split season which started last Saturday and continues through November 30. Stone's Gamble store and the Northville Hardware report an average of about 350 license sales each, while Trickey's Sporting Goods on Grand River avenue has handed out over 200 hunting tags.

Oglesby Wins Grid Contest

F. R. Oglesby, 40210 Fairway III drive, stood all alone at the top of the long list of football contest entries last week. He missed only three games — and one of these was the 14-14 tie between Northville and Howell. While Oglesby easily won top prize of $15, Bonnye Bradford, a ninth grader who lives at 211 West Dunlap street, tied for second with two other entries but her pick of the Detroit-49'er score was the closest. Oglesby, a school equipment consultant, enters the contest weekly but this is his first win. His son, Steve, won earlier this year Bonnye had never entered the contest before and admits that she had help from a girl friend and has to split the prize.

Report Thefts To Police

Two cases involving thefts were reported to Northville police during the past week.

Mrs. Bonnie Finney, Garden City, reported that on November 6 a purse was stolen from her car that had been parked on West Cady near Center street. A wallet from the purse was later found on Cady near Wing and police investigation turned up other articles from the purse in an incinerator.

Cal Cross, owner of Cal's Gulf Service, 202 West Main, reported to police that a box containing some $230 in cash and checks, $130 in credit card charges and $50 personal charges had been stolen from his station last Thursday about 10 a.m. Cross said he had been busy in the garage when the theft occurred.

That afternoon Cross found his money when an anonymous telephone call from a girl reported "the money that my father took is in the ladies' wash room". He told police that he recalled a small girl asking for the key to the wash room earlier in the afternoon.

An Open Letter to Eating Establishments in Northville. To Whom It May Concern:

There has been a recent instance of racial discrimination which has come to the attention of our group. Prompt and efficient service has not been accorded equally to all customers. This is contrary to our fundamental Christian convictions. We hope that this is an isolated instance which will not be repeated.

They Like Romney!

To the Editor:

It has come to our attention that the Greater Northville Republican Club's pre-election ad made no mention of Mr. George Romney.

It was through the efforts of our group that Mr. Romney visited Northville's July 4th parade. We also made contributions to Mr. Romney's campaign.

We realized early that George Romney enjoyed a universal appeal that transcended party lines. We are proud to say that the voters of the Northville area proved us correct.

2. Provision for a clear statement of all subjects to be considered at every legislative committee hearing in advance of such hearing.
3. Right to inspect all financial records, accountings, audit reports and other reports of public mores.

PROCEDURAL RIGHTS:

1. Right to obtain a civil (not criminal) jury verdict when 10 out of 12 jurors agree.

4. Right of a professional person never to be brought before an examining or licensing board that is not composed of at least a majority of members of the same profession.
5. Right to direct court review of administrative action which affects private rights or licenses.

VOTING RIGHTS:

1. Protection of the integrity of your vote by authorizing the legislature to bar from voting mental incompetents and persons committed to prison or jail.
2. Right to vote for President and Vice President of the United States after you have moved from the state, so long as you have not met voting residence requirements in your new home.
3. Right to vote for President and Vice President of the United States after you have moved into the state but before you have met the ordinary voting residence requirements

PROPERTY OWNERS' RIGHTS:

1. Provision that when a vote is required only owners of tax-assessed property and their spouses may vote on the question of increasing millage limitations for a period of more than five years.
2. The right, after 1966, never to have your property assessed for property tax purposes at more than 50 per cent of the cash value.
3. Strengthening of the rights of married women with respect to their property.

5. Personal property exemption raised from $500 to a minimum of $750.
6. The right to have the property of your church or school, if used exclusively for religious or educational purposes, exempt from all real and personal property taxes.

MISCELLANEOUS RIGHTS:

1. The right never to have your life taken by the state is provided by prohibiting capital punishment in Michigan.

Spiritual healing will be a topic dealt with at Christian Science services Sunday in a Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Mortals and Immortals."

Scriptural selections will include this verse from Matthew: "And when he had called unto him his twelve disciples, he gave them power against unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all manner of sickness and all manner of disease."

One of the correlative citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states:

"Every day makes its demands upon us for higher proofs rather than professions of Christian power. These proofs consist solely in the destruction of sin, sickness, and death; by the power of Spirit, as Jesus destroyed them. This is an element of progress, and progress is the law of God, whose law demands of us only what we can certainly fulfill." (p. 233). port of mission work.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

By the Rev. James F. Andrews
Full Salvation Union Chapel

It is a reality to those who have experienced such that man is only able to move in strength as he moves in God. They know that when God is not moving it is best to wait.

"They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; and they shall walk and not faint." Isa. 40:31.

We should never yield to any type or degree of pressure that would cause us to be dishonest with God or the reality within. Every individual, man or woman, must stand alone before God as a responsible person to be judged.

The many-membered body of Christ will only be made manifest in this world as it is born in the reality of the consciousness that fills each individual member of that body. The will of God can only be done among men as it is done in men.

"The Kingdom of God is not in word but in power." 1st Cor. 4:20. Those who through actual experience know the truth of this statement always depend more on the "power" than they do words which they might use.

The words are necessary even as Jesus Christ (the word) was necessary since we live among men who communicate with each other in that way; but words even though they are turned into spirit and life are never primary to the "power" — (God) that gave them birth.

"It is God which worketh all in all," 1st Cor. 12:6. The Kingdom of God will never come or be born by the might or power which man is able to generate. The same power that worked in Paul must work in you if you are to be a part of what God is doing today. To merely subscribe to certain views that are advocated by strong-minded men or to believe and practice certain truths to which you fully surrender will not bring you into the Kingdom of God.

A man is able to get an inspiration and then build an automobile, but he cannot build the Kingdom of God in that way, though many have tried.

The Kingdom of God is like a grain of mustard seed. It is like a tree. The power of life in the seed causes it to grow. Man may help by watering it and dunging it but he cannot by taking thought add one cubit to its stature. Its growth is spontaneous, natural. That is the reason Jesus said His yoke was easy and His burden was light.

All unnatural efforts are abortive and useless. There is a rest that remains for the people of God. They who enter in shall cease from their own works as God did from His and find rest unto their souls.

At this trying hour in the "travail of Zion" and distress of our world, everyone should relax and let nature take its course — let God be true and every man a liar. Rom. 3:4.

And lo — the man child is born! Rev. 12:5. The stones slip into place without the sound of a hammer. The Kingdom of God comes. "Where the carcass is, there will the eagles be gathered together." Matt. 24:28.

It is the Lord's doings and it is marvelous in our eyes. It is not meat and drink but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Ghost — not of works lest any man should boast.

The best of all is God is with us. All is well.

REPLACE THAT OLD GARBAGE CAN WITH A MODERN GAS INCINERATOR

The "Refuse Receptacle Rage" is what you fly into every time you view that unsightly, unhealthy garbage can. Getting mad won't help though, unless you get angry enough to buy a Gas Incinerator. A modern, automatic Gas Incinerator doesn't just store garbage and trash—it consumes them. It consumes all garbage—bones, corn silk, onion skins, plus paper, cardboard, leather and other rubbish—without smoke, odor, or noise. And it does all this indoors, so you're not a slave to the weather. See the new Gas Incinerators, soon!

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

RECENTLY a newspaper editor in Montana placed his tongue firmly in his cheek and composed a list of answers to a hypothetical questionnaire on what a weekly newspaper subscriber would like to read. Our South Lyon editor, Jack Hoffman, picked them up for his column. We liked them, too.

1. My name (and please use the middle initial).
2. A front page article showing how crooked the city government is most of the time.
3. My wife's name (and please mention her husband's name).
4. A feature article showing 25 ways on how to cheat on income tax forms.
5. My kids' names.
6. A local news item about the affair my neighbor is having.
7. A classified ad offering a new home for sale for $4,000.
8. More news about law-breakers.
9. Less news about law-breakers. I was arrested last night but I'm innocent so certainly my name should not appear in your newspaper.
10. An editorial condemning high school teachers for being too liberal with E's.
11. A wedding picture of the groom instead of the bride when he is more handsome than she is pretty.
12. More advertisements on things that merchants are giving away.
13. More news stories on things that merchants are not giving away.
14. A front page picture of my neighbor being hauled out of the bar by his wife.
15. A front page spread about the deadbeat who lives across the street from me who just had his car repossessed.
16. Forget the last one. I just got word from the finance company that they're coming after my car.
17. More letters to the editor naming the crooks we have in town.
18. Stop printing all that trash called local items. (My wife says you spelled her name wrong when she visited her aunt).
19. A full page of local news, a full page of national news, 16 pages of sports, 26 pages of comics, one page on divorces and three pages on all the domestic troubles we are having in town.
20. Less stuff about how cute everybody else's kids are. My kids are better looking than those you rave about.
21. A complete biographical sketch about the "most important citizen in town", and be sure you spell my name right.
22. My great aunt in Nebraska is a former P-TA president there, so why don't you write a feature story about her?
23. More news about our club. The other member and I will send you a three-page release next week.
24. A sports picture of me when I bowled 183.
25. A wider paper so my wife doesn't have so much trouble wrapping her garbage.

Crises Not Necessarily So

Babson Park, Mass. — The Cuban situation is "crisis" in the news as a great "crisis". I think, however, that all news today must be discounted somewhat because of the competition between the various news media. The newspapers have to come out with an edition on schedule, while radio and television grind out material for eighteen hours daily.

Owing to the fact that these newer methods of communication get tremendous income from advertising in connection with these newscasts, probably twenty per cent of the news has to be manufactured and certainly much of it is exaggerated. Therefore anything called a crisis today should be discounted.

Hases and Have Nots

It seems as if this struggle all started with Cain and Abel, and has continued throughout the ages. A reading of the Old Testament shows how crises constantly developed in Persian, Babylonian, Egyptian, and Roman history. Whatever change has occurred in military warfare, there seems to have been no change in human nature.

Furthermore, each nation has its cycle. Those who are at the bottom gradually come to the top; then power and wealth deteriorate and they go back to the bottom again. Even the stock market has its cycles. Moody counts ten of these from the time our battleship Maine was sunk in the harbor of Havana, Cuba, in 1898 to President Eisenhower's heart attack in 1955.

English History

During the past summer, I have been reading a most complete history of England. It consists of seven volumes and about six thousand pages. It is entitled "The Pictorial History of England, published by W. and R. Chambers of London, England, about 1850. The story consists of continual crises beginning with the year 56 B.C. As one reads these volumes, he thinks that England could not possibly last more than a hundred years. The serfs were continually fighting to get a little property and freedom, while those who inherited their property lived in great castles. The conflict, however, was much the same as today.

From my reading of history I see no possibility of either Democracy or Communism being wiped out. Both will be suppressed, at certain times in certain nations, but will rise up again in other nations. Whether, in the final analysis, it will be the same old struggle with each free state, and both will always have the above advantages and disadvantages. This even applies to a little country like Cuba, which is making headlines today.

East Versus West

At present, the Communist nations consist of Russia, China and their satellites, with India more or less on the fence. These Communist countries are controlled by Dictators and hence are more efficient in time of war (whether cold or hot) than are the Democratic nations.

The Dictators of these countries can control the news, and actions of the people much better than can the President and the Congress of any Democratic country. Furthermore, I believe there will always be Dictators, and there will always be Presidents or other such heads of free states, and both will always have the above advantages and disadvantages. This even applies to a little country like Cuba, which is making headlines today.

Dr. Mudd Replies

'My Wife's Overweight'

Dear Dr. Mudd:

My wife has a problem with overweight. She has had this problem since she was a child. She got herself thinned down after she was 16 and stayed that way until after our son was born. Then she began to put on weight which didn't bother her until one day she overheard some woman refer to her as a "baby blimp". She really got upset and this upset me so, I got her to go see our doctor. That was a year ago. He examined her, of course, and did some tests but everything turned out normal. She's been taking pills — something to make her lose her appetite — but she can't take too many of them because they make her nervous and then she eats all the more. I keep telling her she's just a bad habit of eating, but nothing does any good. She still hasn't lost any weight.

Now the doctor wants her to see a psychiatrist. He has told my wife that there is nothing else he can do for her and that the only help for her is a psychiatrist. Naturally my wife was very much upset when she heard this and so was I. I don't think she has any mental trouble — it's just that she has a habit of eating when she gets nervous. The kids have always bothered her but I understand that this is natural so I don't think this can be it. She had a normal childhood so there is no trouble there which might have caused it. In fact, she had parents, especially her father, who would buy her anything.

Our marriage is normal, too, and we don't have any trouble so it can't be that.

How can a psychiatrist help such a condition? What does he do? How long will it take? My wife doesn't want to go but the doctor wants her to. All I wonder is will it do any good I don't mind the expense if it is going to help her reduce, but I don't see how he can do it. Can a psychiatrist help people with a weight problem?

Dear A.B.:

I sympathize with your concern and puzzlement. Your wife has a symptom which is a worry for her and her inability to master her impulses to eat more food than she needs, lowers her self-esteem. Medicinal means to curb her appetite having failed, the psychological basis for her difficulty is at long last suspected and, very properly, her physician refers to a colleague specializing in psychiatry.

So far, so good. But an even larger problem becomes evident. She resists the idea that anything can be wrong with her "mentally" — and understandably so since part of her heritage is the idea that physical illness is decent and honorable whereas emotional disorders are bad and despicable. What is more, you aid, abet, and support her reluctance to obtain help as you assure me that everything is and has been "normal." To quote Dr. Ernest Jones — "I have never seen a normal person. I have no idea what such a person would be like."

Your wife's obesity is not her problem, but it is an obvious outward manifestation of inner conflicts of a nature I could no more than speculate upon at this juncture. Unfortunately, her symptom of obesity practically guarantees her a relatively early death and perhaps serious cardiac difficulties in the years yet left to her. There is no way I know of persuading a person to seek psychiatric help if that person does not acknowledge to himself not only the need for, but the wish to obtain assistance. If it should come about that your wife overcomes her reluctance and actually makes a try at therapy with a psychiatrist, she may be able to understand why she became obese as a child, why at the age of 16 she lost weight, and why, after the birth of her child she reverted to the obese physical state of her childhood.

Once one knows the reasons for the compulsion, the force of that compulsion diminishes. I should advise you to encourage your wife to follow her doctor's recommendation. She won't take kindly to the idea that you support him rather than her, but such an attitude may help her

MSU Needs $101 Million

EMPHASIS on science in education will increase in future years if an estimate of needs at Michigan State University is any indication.

A recent MSU survey for the National Science Foundation shows the East Lansing institution needs more than $101 million for scientific buildings and equipment during the next 10 years.

Dr. Milton E. Muelder, vice president for research development at MSU, said the survey individuals in the state view represented "an honest state-health programs as a distinct ment of needs reflecting the trementous explosion surrounding scientific research."

FULL IMPACT of this tremendous money need cannot be seen, however, without a closer look at what it would include. Muelder said the expansion in scientific research would call for nearly 100 new faculty members at MSU, representing 56 areas of special skill not now included in the faculty ranks.

About 77 per cent of the $101 million, or $73.2 million, would be used for new buildings which would contain approximately 62 per cent as much space as is now available in all academic buildings on the campus.

WHERE WOULD this money come from? Muelder hopefully estimates about 33 per cent of the required building program and 38 per cent of the funds needed for scientific apparatus would qualify for federal support. This would amount to about $32.7 million, he predicted.

The rest presumably would come from other public and private sources.

Individuals considering the purchase of health insurance think of it only in terms of the cost to them and the benefits available.

The insurance industry in the state, however, views the various available health coverages in terms of the total benefits and cost to Michigan residents.

Statistics compiled by the Michigan Insurance Information Service indicate that most MICHIGAN ranked among the top 10 states in percentage of the population covered by health insurance at the end of 1961, with 82.5 per cent of state residents participating in some kind of plan. This represented an increase of 2.1 per cent over the number covered the previous year.

The benefits derived by all Michigan citizens from their payments to health insurance plans also is rarely contemplated by the individual. He thinks only in terms of his personal benefits.

The industry's information service notes that Michigan residents collected almost $400 million last year for medical, surgical and hospital care and loss of income.

HIGH SCHOOL age wards of the state may soon have available to them a special scholarship fund at several Michigan colleges and universities, according to the Department of Public Instruction.

The State Board of Education has approved a plan for granting scholarships of deserving state wards. In addition, other state institutions of higher education have been asked to consider providing special scholarships to these youth.

Four schools, Central, Western, Northern, and Eastern Michigan, are under jurisdiction of the State Board of Education. The control board of Michigan College of Mining and Technology also has created a special scholarship fund for state wards. Department officials said.

DEPARTMENT spokesmen said a number of high school graduates who have spent part of their lives as state wards are known to be college material. Because of their "difficult living experience" up to and through their high school years, however, they frequently do not perform well on college entrance examinations, and thus do not stand a good competitive chance for scholarships.

The scholarship plan established by the Board is constructed, so as, to give special consideration to the unique pattern of development of these young people. Department officials said.

WITH THE COMING holidays our thoughts will be ones of tinsel, holly and, of course, that "just-right" gift for those near the top of our Christmas list.

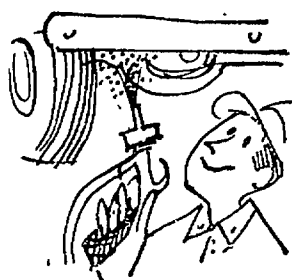

To keep in step with Santa and make your job an easy one, your 'CHRISTMAS GIFT CONSULTANT' at the telephone office has a "sleigh-full" of gift ideas that will make your shopping a merry experience.

Two exciting gifts are the Princess Telephone for your favorite teenager, and the bell chimes for those new home owners. There are lots more — so why not call your business office, 551-9900.

TAKE A TURKEY with all the trimmings, add the family 'round the table, and what do you have? A Happy Thanksgiving! But even if someone in the family can't be with you, there's one sure way to keep the day joyful. A Long Distance telephone call, of course. It's the next best thing to being together... spreads holiday cheer at both ends of the line. Rates are lower all Thanksgiving Day and, on calls within Michigan, lowest after 9 p.m. when you can call any place within the state for 50 cents or less, excluding taxes.

DOWN WITH RUST! Michigan Bell has recently developed a new rustproofing method for its 4,600 trucks and cars. The new method is designed to prevent car rust caused by corrosives used on icy streets. Developed by our motor equipment maintenance people, the process uses a new protective coating on metal surfaces and is expected to save $40,000 a year in the operation of our motor fleet. It's another Michigan Bell cost-cutting technique that helps us keep the price of telephone service low.

Picture your plant in

in the strategic circle of Southeastern
Michigan's industrial and research facilities

Draw a circle indicating a 25-mile radius and place Northville smack in the center. See how this location provides a circle of accessibility that puts you within minutes of the things that make companies grow . . . See how close it brings you to the greatest research facilities in the entire Midwest — how it can open doors to new markets, speed raw materials, provide more skilled and semi-skilled personnel . . .

Excellent expressways by-pass city congestion, reduce to minutes the driving time to key destination points.

The Northville community consists of a city and a pleasant surrounding rural area of some 30 square miles . . . The area offers a limited number of premium industrial sites, ready for immediate use.

Northville offers premium sites in parkside locations - - -

You can't tell the story of Northville with statistics anymore than you can describe Lake Michigan by saying it's a large lake. Northville is an old town dating back to the time when Michigan's population first pushed westward from Detroit. Tree-shaded streets and stately old homes recall that heritage . . . the entire Northville area is a growing area — one of the fastest growing in the entire metropolitan district.

On the edge of a great metropolitan center — but apart from it — Northville provides big city advantages without big city congestion. It offers the kind of home environment that stimulates the best performance from employees.

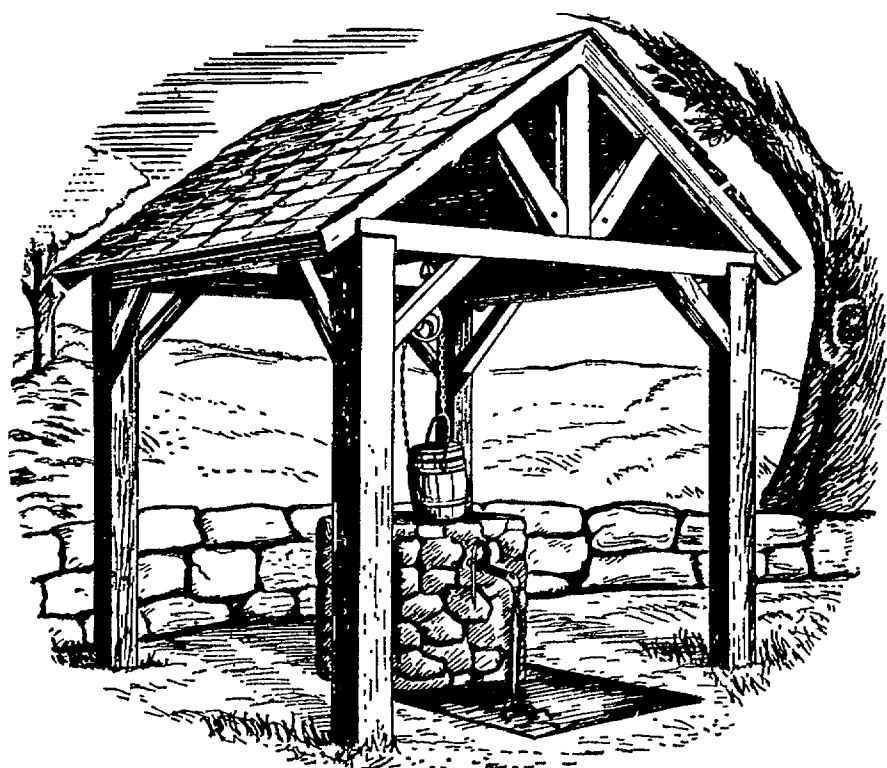

Henry Ford personally picked Northville as the town for trying out his experiment in decentralizing of industry. The Ford Valve Plant, sole producer of valves for the Ford Motor Company, testifies to the success of that experiment. Here employees work in a park setting and live in homes only minutes away. Employee turn-over is notably low.

Northville welcomes new residents and invites them to take part in the community's many activities. Here in this solid grass roots environment families can develop according to true American tradition. They are not swallowed up in the anonymity of a big city; they are individuals — not statistics.

Northville area's terrain with woodlands, streams and hills, offers unusually choice suburban homesites for personnel. Resident employees arrive on the job alert and ready to do their best work. No work loss because of traffic fatigue.

Several new subdivisions provide water mains and sewers.

Cultural advantages here, too: the best in music, opera, the theater is within easy reach.

Northville's water is a prized mineral resource; its Silver Springs are nationally noted. All day and into the night, people gather around this spring to enjoy a drink of its pure, cold water; its source so deep that the temperature changes but slightly summer and winter. Many bring jugs for carrying a supply home.

This scientific climate helps growth

Here is the climate that stimulates growth. Because of its high concentration of research and development facilities, Southeastern Michigan is called the research center of the Midwest. In addition to the universities and colleges, some 32 companies specifically equipped for research in varied scientific and technical fields frequently make their resources available.

Research expenditures over the past 25 years have paid off at the rate of 100 to 200 percent annually. For every $100 spent on research and development, the return has been $2,500 to $5,000. It is estimated that from 50 to 75 percent of sales today are derived from products which did not exist or are basically different from those of 15 years ago. And the rate of change is continually accelerating.

The area provides a scientific climate in which technicians feel at home. And in such a climate there is a steady supply of science-oriented manpower available.

Can your company use more technical know-how? Save time and improve employe living conditions — with a new location? Then your best move may well be to investigate Northville — NOW!

Northville is an area in which industry will never become crowded by reason of its natural layout and long range planning. Industrial sites have certain built-in advantages suited to varying requirements. Many present industries enjoy park-like locations; others actually adjoin parks. Some of the sites now available are adjacent to large parks.

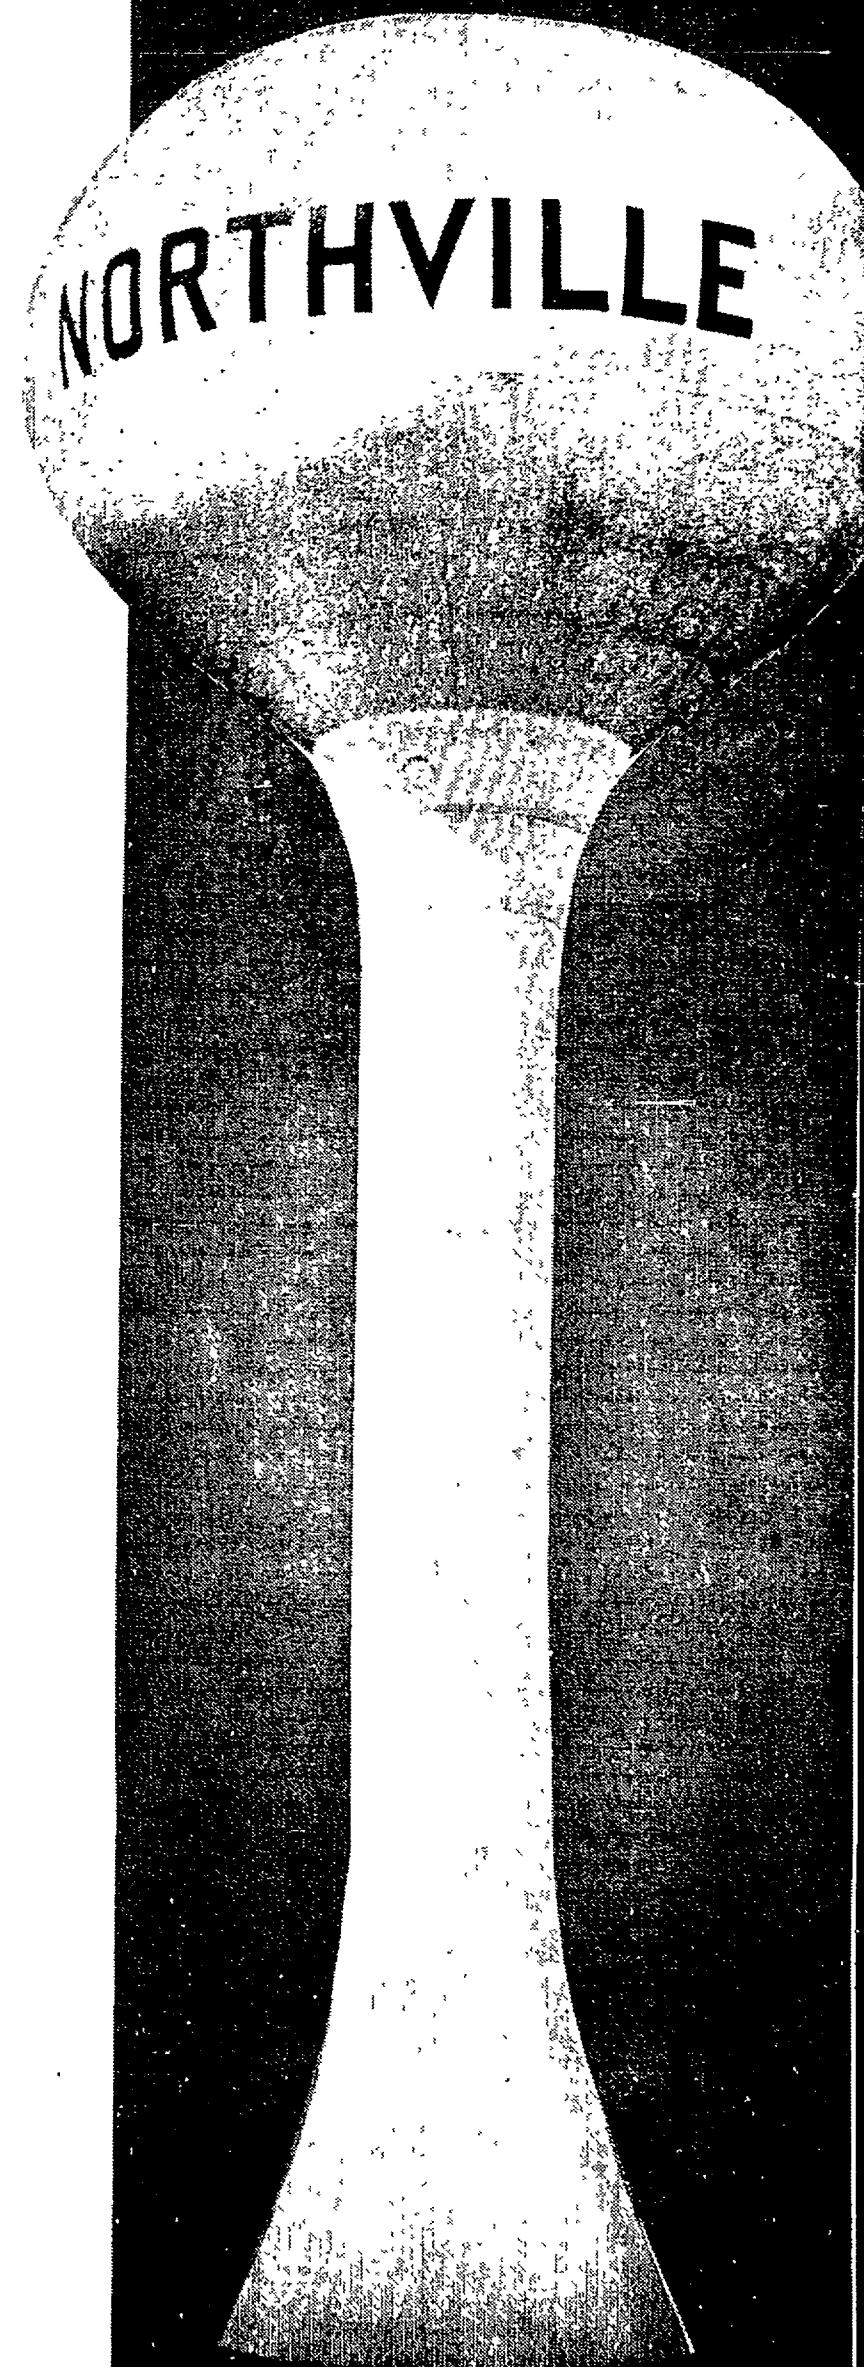

All are zoned for industrial use — all immediately available.

These are typical sites:

1. Parcel: Approx. 40 acres adjacent to Rouge River. Near sewer. Served by rail.
2. Parcel: Approx. 60 acres, near railroad. Adjacent sewer. Excellent roads.
3. Parcel: Approx. 40 acres, adjacent to River Rouge. Sewer. Excellent roads.

Another parcel: approx. 500 acres. Near rail siding. Adjacent to sewer, highway. Not presently zoned, but readily available.

Northville's heights are 400 feet above Detroit — though within sighting distance of the Detroit skyline. This extra height provides Northville with extra clean, pure air.
