The possibilities of an advisory ballot proposition and a change in the Northville school board's expressed neutrality to the issue of Northville joining the Northwestern Wayne county community college district were aired by the school board Monday night.

Board Member Donald Lawrence opened the adjournment hour discussion by announcing a personal change of opinions about community colleges and the school board's responsibility for higher education.

Lawrence noted that in the past the school board has felt it should remain neutral while stressing that Northville's own public schools will need continued and possibly increased financial support.

He stated that he still feels the responsibility for higher education rests with the state, but it is obvious the state is being slow to recognize the responsibility.

Admitting that he once considered a community college "a place for post-graduate high school courses," Lawrence said, "the need and value of community colleges constantly is growing more apparent."

He pointed out that community colleges are now beginning to replace the first two years of degree colleges and universities, as well as providing vocational training.

Lawrence said local districts or groups of districts should point out to their voters that the needs of the present public school systems will continue and possibly increase, but that the need for community colleges also exists.

"I feel we, as a board, should try to make our position clear, and I feel I should voice my opinion that a community college program would be advisable for Northville," Lawrence concluded.

Board member Robert Shafer said that before the board forms an opinion, it should put an advisory proposition on the ballot to determine public reaction to supporting a community college.

He noted that in about two years Northville will lose 10

Board Considers School Calendar

The Northville school board Monday night reviewed with "little comment" a proposed school calendar for 1963-64 and decided to determine the opinions of staff members and parents before approving the schedule.

Main concern was extension of the school year to June 19, a week later than this year's closing date. Administrators pointed out many favor the longer Christmas holiday made possible by the longer year.

Principal dates of the proposed calendar are: school opens September 3, with half-day sessions on Thursday and Friday; September 4 and 5; Christmas vacation beginning December 20 and extending to January 6; Easter vacation beginning March 26 and extending to April 6; final classes June 14; and commencement June 18.

Alternatives proposed in the event the June 19 closing date would cause a hardship to a substantial number of persons include:

- Open school one week earlier, on August 26.
- Reduce Christmas vacation by closing school December 23 and reopening January 2, and by holding Easter vacation the week of Good Friday.
- Eliminate Easter vacation, with school closed on Good Friday only.
- Another school date considered by the board was that of next Thursday evening, January 24, for a dinner meeting with the teaching staff to discuss policies on salaries and teacher applications.
- The 6:30 meeting will be held in the school cafeteria, with the cafeteria staff preparing dinner for the 99 teachers, $1,275, with just a little over school administrators and board members. The discussion will begin at 7:30.

The board also:

- learned from E. V. Ellison, director of administrative services, that the new accounting system required by the state takes considerably more time than was needed in the past, and will necessitate some additional office work;
- received a report from Superintendent R. H. Amerman that Nov. Superintendent Tom Culbert has been unable to obtain a firm commitment from either Farmington or Walled Lake school systems for assistance in educating Nov. ninth grade students next year.
- Board members agreed that once Northville's predicted enrollment for next fall is determined, the board will set the maximum number of Nov. ninth graders Northville may handle next fall;
- approved acceptance of four Northville state hospital youngsters for high school classes next semester, subject to the discretion of administrators. The board instructed Amerman to seek a source of financial support for educating such students;
- requested administrators to compile available information concerning health test and physical examination requirements for bus drivers, and proposed extension to custodians promptly the request;
- authorized removal of an interior wall to enlarge the principal's office at Amerman school;
- heard from Ellison that the new athletic field earned $1,984 last fall, and the bond redemption fund for the $43,000 in bonds issued to install lighting and seats now has a balance of $1,275, with just a little over $200 worth of bonds to be re-deemed next July.

Prominent Local Woman, Mrs. C. C. Yerkes, Dies

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday for Mrs. Clement C. Yerkes, a member of a pioneer Northville family. She would have been 87 Sunday.

Services for Mrs. Yerkes were held at the First Presbyterian church by the Ebert Funeral Home with the Reverend Lloyd Brasseur officiating. Pallbearers were E. A. Chapman, Robert Coolman, Clarence R. Davis, Edward Mills, Phillip Naumann and James A. Huff. Burial was at Yerkes cemetery.

In accordance with a request by Mrs. Yerkes' son, Edmund, the following information was written by Mrs. Yerkes' lifelong friend and relative, Mrs. John C. Burkman of Northville.

Mrs. Clement C. Yerkes passed away on January 13 at the University of Michigan hospital where she had been taken by ambulance on December 11. She is survived by a son, Edmund P. Yerkes of Northville, grandsons Charles and William, and great grand children, Renee and Eric Yerkes.

Margaret Thompson Yerkes was born January 20, 1876, to Eleanor Starkweather Thompson and Edwin B. Thompson. Her brother was the late Frank L. Thompson. The family lived on a farm on the south side of Seven Mile road, one half mile west of the city limits.

When she was seven her family traveled to South Dakota where they homesteaded a parcel of land near the town of Aberdeen and lived in a sod hut.

After six months they returned to Northville and moved into the house on the corner of Wing and Randolph street across from the Baptist church.

Mrs. Yerkes vividly remembered the occasion of their next move to the house on the north west corner of Dunlap and Linden. She was assisted in moving her cherished possessions of dolls and other toys in the shiny red wagon belonging to the late Harry S. German, Sr., a popular Northville baseball personality of that day.

It was in this home that she spent her girlhood and was again to return in the late years of her life to have the same bedroom she had occupied in her teen years.

In 1893 she was graduated from Northville high school.

Proposed One-Way Traffic Meets Business Resistance

★ Master Plan Ideas Revealed ★

Planners work for tomorrow by establishing guide-lines for their goals today.

Northville's planning commission is no exception. It is their duty to "make and adopt a master plan for the physical development of the municipality" under the ordinance that created the commission.

For the past several years Northville's planning commissioners have gathered data and consulted with professional planners to help prepare a development plan to keep pace with the future population and traffic growth of the area.

The proposed master plan was briefly introduced to businessmen Monday night by Planning Chairman George Zerbe.

Planners must look beyond the limits that outline the city and consider the "community area". This they have described as the area bounded by Nine and One-half Mile road on the north, Five Mile on the south, Chubb road on the west, and Haggerty road on the east.

They predict that population for this community area (which Northville's business district should be equipped to serve) will grow from 7,500 today to 25,000 in 1980. They see the number of residences increasing from 2,207 to 6,756. Projections to the year 2000 indicate a total of 14,493 dwelling units with a population of 54,000 and ultimately 18,882 dwellings with a community population of 69,861.

In the city alone, planners forecast a population of 7,500 by 1980.

The master plan study concerns itself with nearly all aspects of the community—from its early history, topographic features, economy, land use and government to population projections, commercial patterns, purchasing power, residential potentials, industrial land use, thoroughfares and streets and provisions for neighborhood needs, parks and recreation.

The document itself is a compilation of present and past statistics and a projection of future needs.

Perhaps the most outstanding feature of the master plan is a new concept for the commercial center of the community. A color drawing of the proposal has been made by consultants and was on display at Monday night's meeting with the businessmen.

Basically, it introduces the shopping center idea as opposed to the "business strip" plan with stores on main arteries without parking facilities.

Under the master plan for the future a central business area would be ringed with a boulevard access drive. Parking areas would encircle the shopping center, which would be confined to shops providing necessities and comparison goods shopping facilities. Related service types of business would be near the central business area but outside the main core.

A more complete presentation of the proposed master plan will be published in a future edition of The Record, but following are a few of the more interesting statistics included in the report:

- highest elevation is 970 feet above sea level at Eight Mile road near Napier with a low of 720 feet at Seven Mile road near Haggerty;
- Curtis Lake is the only natural lake in Wayne county (located between Seven and Eight Mile roads near the Manning-Locklin gravel areas);
- females in the city outnumber males, 2,036 to 1,931;
- the city has 1,266 households and in them there are 1,009 married men, 291 single and 105 widowed or divorced, while there are 1010 married women, 273 single and 266 widowed or divorced;
- median education for a resident of the city is 12.2 school years with 323 of the city's

COOL RECEPTION — About 40 representatives of Northville business places heard the city council and planning commission outline the proposed "one-way traffic plan" Monday night at the community building. General reaction to the idea was negative.

Assessment Reductions Set for City, Township

Assessments on residences and buildings in the city and township of Northville will be reduced this year by an average of approximately five per cent.

The good news was announced this week by both Township Supervisor George Clark and City Manager Bruce Potthoff.

Specifically, the reduction is permitted as a result of depreciation permitted five years after complete reappraisal has taken place.

City and township property underwent total re-assessment in 1958.

Supervisor Clark provided these examples of the reductions, which would closely approximate city reductions, from residences on the township roll:

- built 1954, present assessment $6,020, assessment for 1963 — $5,430;
- built 1954, present assessment $2,870, assessment for 1963 — $2,590;
- built 1938, present assessment $4,150, assessment for 1963 — $3,910;
- built 1926, present assessment $2,890, assessment for 1963 — $2,700.

Property owners wishing to check their property assessments may do so at the board of review hearings, Clark noted. The supervisor announced that the 1963 hearings include two late afternoon and evening sessions. The dates are: March 5 — 10 a.m. - 4 p.m.; March 6 — 4 p.m. - 10 p.m.; March 11 — 10 a.m. - 4 p.m.; and March 12 — 4 p.m. - 10 p.m.

The city will determine its board of review schedule at next Monday evening's council meeting.

A proposal to establish a circular one-way street traffic pattern around the shopping area and introduce a "parking mall" on one block of the city's Main street failed to win support from 40 Northville businessmen Monday night.

Members of the city planning commission explained the plan in a meeting attended by representatives of the city council as well as local retailers.

Ironically, the idea was presented to the planning commission several months ago by the president of the Northville Retail Merchants Association, Earl Wuneman. Planners had agreed to study the plan — which incorporated some features of its own long-range master plan (see story, this page) — and bring it back to the retailers for consideration. But none of the businessmen was ready to support its trial.

Specifically, the proposal would direct traffic in a counter-clockwise direction around the business district with Cady, Church, Hutton, Dunlap and Wing streets forming the circle. Main street would be one-way from Wing to Hutton (eastward). Two-way traffic would flow on Center but no left turns would be permitted off Center in either direction at the Dunlap, Main or Cady street intersections.

Between Center and Hutton on Main street angle parking was proposed on the north side of the street with parallel parking on the south side. Entrance and exit to the existing parking lot would be provided from Main street.

While the plan originated with the Retail Merchants Association, it obviously did not carry the endorsement of the businessmen at large.

Closest thing to support for the plan came when it was suggested that perhaps one phase of the plan could be tried — or that it might be useful in future years.

James and Joseph Spagnuolo, John Paulos, Fred Casterline, Harley Cole and John Mach all voiced definite disapproval of the idea.

Their complaints were particularly aimed at one-way Main street plan and the fact that a southbound motorist on Center street who had failed to make a right turn at Dunlap would be unable to get into the business district without driving south to Fairbrook and circling back to Cady.

After opening comments by Councilman John Canterbury, who presided in the absence of Mayor A. M. Allen, and Planner Chairman George Zerbe, the traffic plan was explained by William Slattery.

In pointing out the purpose of the idea planners said it would provide a smoother flow of traffic and move trucks through the city with less traffic congestion. (The council acted last week to initiate a "no left turn" for southbound trucks off Center at Main).

They also saw advantages in the Main street parking plan for ease of shopping.

Defending the idea, Zerbe pointed out that "the whole idea is to promote shopping in your stores. If this won't do it, we don't want it."

At one point it appeared the entire plan would be permanently scrapped.

After expressing his disapproval of the idea, Ford Dealer Mach proposed a vote. Zerbe was willing, but Councilman Canterbury suggested that the group should "not be hasty."

"Even if everyone was in complete agreement here tonight to adopt this plan, I do not think we could go ahead without further study and a survey of public opinion", Canterbury stated.

Essie Nirdler, owner of Northville Hardware, noted that as a long-range plan the idea might have merit but that it is premature. Insurance Agent George Clark recommended a "phase trial" plan incorporated in the plan.

R-R-Robin Reported

He's either late in leaving, early in arriving or lost.

Whatever the reason, there's a hearty Robin hanging 'round the James Tellam residence, 20031 Caldwell. And with temperatures hovering near the zero mark, it helps a little just to think of things like Robins, spring and warm weather.

Mrs. Tellam, who calls herself "an amateur bird-watcher", says her family spotted the Robin in their backyard wild cherry tree along with a flock of about 15 cedar waxwings.

Oddly enough, the Tellams had a Robin visit their yard about the same time last year.

Two More Council Candidates

Two more candidates entered the Northville city council race this week bringing the number competing for two vacancies to four.

Joining William Bingley and Incumbent Councilman John Canterbury as announced candidates were Peter Gross and Hiram Pacific.

There were also indications that the quartet would be joined by more hopefuls before the February 18 deadline for filing for the April 1 election.

Gross, 48, lives at 625 Novi street and is employed by Continental Motors in Novi. He has been a resident of Northville since 1939 and is a member of the volunteer fire department. He has also been active in local civil defense activities. Mr. and Mrs. Gross have two children.

Pacific lives at 46959 Grasmere and has been a resident of Northville for six years. He is 42. He is employed by the Ford Motor Company as a principle design engineer. Pacific helped organize the Northville Estates Association and was instrumental in activities leading to its annexation to the city. He has also been an officer in P-TA groups. A graduate of Wayne State University, he also attended Notre Dame. He is married and has three children.

In addition to the council race two candidates have taken out petitions for the office of mayor. They are Incumbent Mayor A. M. Allen and Earl Reed, a former city councilman.

Hawaii Next Stop In Rotary Series

The land of luaus, leis and flaming lava will jump to life on the screen next week when the Northville Rotary club's world travel series presents David Paul's "Hawaii — Our 50th State."

The third event of this season's series will be held Tuesday evening in the Northville high school auditorium. The lecture and film start at 8 p.m.

Paul offers one of his most enjoyable film lectures in taking his audience to the lovely Hawaiian Islands.

His familiarity with the land, its people and its customs provide a spectacular thought-provoking evening. Paul gives his audience a close look at how Hawaiians live, dress, work and play.

The well-known lecturer will also report what the south Pacific islanders think of statehood.

Included will be a tour of romantic Honolulu, authentic hula dancers, daring surfboard riders at Waikiki beach, historic Pearl Harbor and the new look in Oahu, all in beautiful color.

Paul will also take his viewers to the burning of a sugar cane plantation, a luscious luau, a statehood celebration and a night of spear fishing by torch light at Molokai.

Other scenes of his professional 16 mm. color film, include a visit to the crown jewels, the black sands of Kalapana, a glimpse of the amorous octopus, sounds of ukelele serenaders and the majesty of the famous King Kamehameha pageant.

Capping Paul's presentation will be vivid shots of Mauna Loa, the world's largest volcano in terrifying eruption climaxed by night scenes of flaming rivers of molten lava.

Truck, Trailer Weights Needed for License Plates

There's trouble ahead for truck or trailer owners who have not had their vehicles weighed since September 1, warns Harold Hartley, manager of the secretary of state's office in Northville.

He said many owners do not realize that all trucks or trailers weighing more than 450 pounds must be reweighed before new license plates may be issued.

Only exceptions are mobile homes or municipally-owned vehicles.

Hartley's afraid that many truckers will apply for 1963 plates just before the deadline and lose a day's work because they cannot produce an official weight certificate.

Forms are now available at the 116 East Main street office.

Owners of all vehicles are reminded by Hartley that February 28 is the last day they may use 1962 plates. The local office is open daily from 9 a.m. - 6 p.m.

Legion Auxiliary Note Scholarships

The American Legion's educational handbook, "Need A Lift?", containing hundreds of college and vocational high school scholarships for qualified high school students of this area has been presented to the Northville high school by the Lloyd H. Green

Birth

A son, their fifth, was born December 31 to Mr. and Mrs. William Kahler, 26065 Whipple street. Born at Pontiac Osteopathic hospital, John Frederick Kahler weighed eight pounds, six and a half ounces.

This revised publication for the 1962-1963 school year is recognized as one of the most complete sources of career and scholarship information in the United States. The handbook does not limit its listings to the children of Veterans but contains scholarship and educational aids which are available to all students.

Mrs. C. Oscar Hammond, president of the Lloyd H. Green auxiliary, stated that thousands of young people have not taken advantage of the generous available due to failure to plan early for their future education.

She mentioned in particular the Junior GI Bill which provides up to $110 per month in educational help for sons and daughters of veterans who lost their lives as a direct result of war-time military service. Over half of the young people eligible for this help have failed to apply.

Experience has proven that plans for higher education should begin during the student's sophomore year in high school. "The boy or girl who starts considering career and scholarship sources early is the one with the best chance of going on to school," she stated.

Parents and students are encouraged to make use of the copies of "Need A Lift" provided as a service to the community. The publication prepared by the Education and Scholarship Committee of the American Legion in Indianapolis, is now in its eleventh edition with distribution of more than a quarter of a million copies since its first issue in 1951.

Women Told How to Enjoy Homemaking

"More Time for Living" was the homemaking topic presented at the Monday meeting of the Wayne County Extension Service Northville Club "Northville Lites" at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Gregory, 346 S. Rogers Road, lesson leaders, gave many pointers on how to achieve more work by doing unpleasant tasks first, yet doing some things in between that are more to your individual liking or pleasure.

Did you know a housewife's tasks are very invaluable and expensive so far as hourly wages are concerned? Homemaking can be made to be pleasant and enjoyable. There were many bits of humor interspersed throughout the lesson and discussion.

Mrs. Sadie Ferguson of Plymouth, Wayne County District 2 Representative on the County Executive Committee was a guest and gave an informative account of what takes place "business wise" at Executive meetings.

The February, Homemaking topic will be on a Family Retirement Series.

The work was commissioned by orchestra conductor, Wayne Dunlap, who has described the music as a "poetic United Nations". It will be performed for the first time at the Family Concert.

Dr. Eitzen has used six poems to form the lyrics for the composition. They are "A Piper" (Ireland) by Seumas O'Sullivan, "Children's Song" (Greece) a folk poem, "Vacation" (India) by Rabindranath Tagore, "Sleep, Baby Sleep" (Germany) a folk poem, "The Panther" (USA) by Ogden Nash, and "The Grasshopper's Song" (Israel) by H. ## Prominent Local Woman, Mrs. C. C. Yerkes, Dies

One of a class of six. That same summer she attended the World's Fair in Denver, Colorado, and stayed on to work in that city for the balance of the year.

Wishing to attend the University of Michigan, she found it necessary to enroll in Ann Arbor high school for two years since, at that time, Northville high school was not an accredited school. She then enrolled in the University of Michigan where she spent the following year.

She returned to Northville where she obtained a teaching position in the fourth grade of the local school. She gave up this position at the end of the year because her health would not permit her to teach full time and continued to do substitute work for the next several years.

In April, 1906, in a ceremony held in the Dunlap street home, she was married to Clement Charles Yerkes, a practicing attorney in Northville. They moved into the home at 42580 East Eight Mile road where she resided until 1959, when she moved back to her girlhood home on Dunlap street.

Mrs. Yerkes was a member of the Presbyterian church and had been an active worker in its Women's Union. She was a life member of the Northville Woman's club and had belonged to the Five Towns Club and Diversity Club of Detroit. She had always enjoyed playing bridge and had played with a group that began over 40 years ago. She had played with the members who have replaced the original group just two weeks before she was hospitalized for her terminal illness.

Mrs. Yerkes was an enthusiastic and practiced hostess. Her circle of friends was wide and she had kept pace with the growth of Northville numbering many of the new residents as well as the old ones among her friends.

One of her hobbies or pastimes was writing "jingles". She insisted that they lacked the necessary polish to be called poetry. One of the favorites of her friends follows:

"One rainy night I sat on our porch alone,
The driveway lantern thru the maple branches shone.
Like diamonds, rain drops on the leaves seemed to be.
As I sat there, God was very near to me."

Everything was so clear and bright and plain,
Undulled by tumbling wind, and splashing rain."

Although she had used a walker to get around these last few years, it had never really hampered her activity, except to slow her down. Her courage and indomitable spirit will remain a vivid memory in the minds of those who knew her.

CHEVROLET...the Quality truck!

WALK 'AROUND IT. SEE THE DIFFERENCES.

Start at the rear of this Fleetside pickup. Grab the tailgate and pull hard. No give. Two wedge latches keep it tight. Now unfasten them and let down the gate. Jump up and down on it. Does it sag? Notice how the chains are wrapped in rubber so they won't rattle or mar paint.

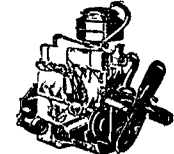

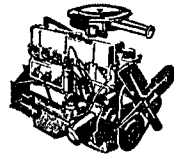

Now look at the lower side panels. Two walls. You might dent the inside one but it won't show through. The floor will never rust. It's select wood, not metal.

Now please sit in the cab a minute. Comfortable? It also is double walled and the roof is insulated. Let's start 'er up and look for a washboard road. Chevrolet coil-spring suspensions fight road shock better than other types, good for the truck, load and the driver.

There are other things. But you can see why this is a truck that does a job without a lot of pampering. It's built right. Which is why it's usually worth more at trade-in. When would you like us to deliver it?

Betty Gail Peterson

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Peterson of South Lyon, announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty Gail, to Verne L. Baggett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Baggett of Northville. No wedding date has been set.

Canter Unit Moves Into New Offices

The Northville-Plymouth area Michigan Cancer Foundation offices, destroyed last month when fire struck the Plymouth building in which they were located, are re-opened in a new location.

The offices are again in Plymouth upstairs above the Mail newspaper offices on Main street.

Mrs. L. M. Eaton, a volunteer worker in the offices, announced that patients can now obtain supplies there.

She also revealed that the office can use sheets, table cloths and white goods for dressings.

Art of History and Today

By JESSIE HUDSON

Regular readers of this column may wonder if there is any overall plan linking the many facets of art discussed each week. Although we seem to jump from prehistoric to ancient to modern art and back at times, an informal kind of plan exists. It might be considered as a tapestry with the basic threads the major movements in the History of Art; the embroidery, current exhibits stitched, as they occur, into the main fabric.

The first strand of the tapestry was a comparison of cave-painting with the work of today's artists. Succeeding threads have woven in the art of ancient Egypt, of the Tigris-Euphrates Valley, Cretan, Greek and Roman art, spiced with special articles on encaustics, mosaics, and Christian symbolism. Embroidered patches have featured the encaustics of Cecil North in the Hartley Gallery, Northville, and the Van Gogh exhibit continuing at the Institute of Art in Detroit.

One small applique patch will be blanket-stitched to the tapestry this week; a review of the two-man exhibit at the Forsythe Gallery in Ann Arbor. As a loyal alumni of Eastern Michigan University I made a special effort to attend the opening of this show on January 9th. The trouble with openings is that you see so many people it is difficult to get a good look at the art. Drawings, watercolors and acrylic paintings by Kingsley Calkins, head of the art department at EMU, and drawings and sculpture by John Pappas, one of the most popular members of the faculty, were the art-works displayed.

A somewhat cursory look, through the crowd, revealed several familiar watercolors by Mr. Calkins in his personal rather crowded, off beat color combinations, a few oils in more open, larger compositions for him, somewhat foggy color, and some very interesting acrylic-resin paintings.

Mr. Pappas' sculpture was a complete surprise. Trained, as he was, in academic, realistic, drawing we expected portrait heads or classical torsos. Instead, we found, small, charming, freely formed bronze castings of groups of humanity. One especially haunting head seems to grow out of the bronze in which it is cast. Mr. Pappas' colored drawings for his sculpture studies are also especially interesting. The show continues at the gallery in the Nickel Arcade, Ann Arbor until February 1. Gallery hours are 10-4 weekdays and 10-1 on Saturday.

IN THE GALLERIES:

Dunning-Hough Library, Plymouth — Lots of mosaics by students of Plymouth High school, also drawings and color studies. New exhibit planned for January 15 to February 15.

Hartley - Powers Gallery, Northville — Special sale of art works, ceramics, jewelry. January clearance hours. 9-6 weekdays, 9-9 Friday, 9-6 Saturday.

Detroit Institute of Art — Van Gogh exhibit until January 27. Go early and avoid the crowds.

AAA Gallery, Grand River, Detroit. Faculty show by entire staff of EMU.

Artists Gallery, 206 E. Washington street, Ann Arbor — Twenty members display their wares for the month of February. 12-9 every day except Wednesday and Sunday, of course.

TOPS Crown Champion Weight-Losers for 1962

The Northville Take Off Pounds Sensibly (TOPS) club last week crowned a Queen of the Year and elected new officers.

Mrs. Harry Rathbun, of Plymouth, led the local branch of the national organization in weight loss, and was named winner of the annual Queen honors.

Mrs. Rathbun shed 46 pounds during 1962. She has lost a total of 109 pounds since joining TOPS in June of 1961, and represented the local group at the national convention held last spring in Milwaukee.

The Northville club, formed in January of 1959, now has 21 active members. It is sponsored by the Northville recreation department, and meets each Monday evening at Amerman elementary school.

Mrs. Rathbun's achievement amounted to nearly a sixth of the total 300 pounds lost by club members last year. Runner up was Mrs. Kenneth Ensign, also of Plymouth, who lost 33 pounds.

New officers installed last week include Mrs. William Schlieff, club leader, Mrs. Ivan Baldwin, co-leader, Mrs. Frank DeFina, secretary, Mrs. Jeff Baker, treasurer and Mrs. Louie Mallette, weight recorder. Mrs. Schlieff explained that while the group's meetings boast a variety of programs, one activity always starts off the session: each member weighs in.

"TOPS is essentially a group therapy for overeating — something like alcoholics anonymous," she added.

Meeting programs include speakers on such topics as dieting and the psychology of dieting, group discussions of problems connected with losing weight, presentations of new exercises and exchange of recipes for tasty diet foods.

Mrs. Schlieff pointed out that the object of TOPS is the sensible removal of excess weight. The group discourages crash diets, weight control pills unless prescribed by a doctor and health studio treatment unless ordered by a doctor.

"We're the only weight reduction association approved by the American Medical association," Mrs. Schlieff added, "and we only sanction weight loss methods suggested by doctors."

While all present members of the Northville branch are women, Mrs. Schlieff noted that the club is not restricted to women. She said the group is seeking male members, and will form a separate branch if enough are interested.

"Men seem to lose weight faster than women," she said. She added that the club is also seeking teen-age members. It now has two teens and two "Tiny TOPS", youngsters up to 13 years old.

Persons interested in joining the Northville branch may do so by merely attending one of the Monday evening meetings. Mrs. Schlieff added that if Monday evenings are not convenient, Northville area residents may join one of the other nearby groups that meet on a more convenient evening.

There are branches in Plymouth, Farmington and Livonia, all meeting on different nights. She said interested persons may call her at FI 9-0731. The national TOPS organization, formed in 1948, now has about 15,000 members. Northville TOPS members have lost 1,698.5 pounds since the club was formed.

She Tops TOPS — Before and after shots depict the over 100 pounds Mrs. Arnetta Rathbun has lost since June of 1961, when she joined the Northville branch of the Take Off Pounds Sensibly (TOPS) organization. Mrs. Rathbun weighed 319 pounds and wore size 56 dresses when the snapshot was taken, and she is now 109 pounds lighter and wears size 24½ dresses. Her goal is to lose 50 pounds more. She was crowned Queen of the Year for leading the TOPS group in weight loss last year. The 15,000 members of the national TOPS organization lost over 100 tons in 1961.

George W. Matthews, assistant manager of Detroit Edison's Oakland sales division, has been promoted to manager

George W. Matthews

of the company's Wayne sales district. The district includes the Northville office.

He succeeds Frank J. Quinnan who died December 30 following a short illness.

Matthews, who was born in Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, and received his early schooling in Windsor, Ontario, was graduated from Northern High school in Detroit.

He started working for Detroit Edison during summer bachelor of arts degree at the University of Michigan and joined the company full-time soon after his graduation in 1941.

From his first assignment as a customer clerk he advanced through a series of sales department posts in Detroit including personnel and training coordinator and assistant to the district customer business superintendent. He was assigned to the Wayne sales district in 1956 as assistant to the district manager and served in that capacity until early 1962 when he returned to Detroit as assistant to the manager of the Detroit - Wayne sales division.
Later the same year he was appointed assistant manager of the Oakland sales division with headquarters in Pontiac.

On his new assignment Matthews will be responsible for all of the company's sales activities in western Wayne county.

In 1954 he was awarded both the Detroit Edison Company
Alex Dow Award and the Detroit Junior Board of Commerce title, "Outstanding Young Man of the Year," for his leadership in many civic, community and religious activities.

He is a director of the Detroit Council of Churches, a member of the Board of Managers for the Downtown YMCA in Detroit and a former president of the Detroit Junior Board of Commerce.

Matthews is a veteran of World War II in which he served with the 96th Infantry Division in Leyte in the Philippines and in Okinawa.

"I strongly believe that we must do something in our business district to maintain our shopping area — or the time may soon come when a shopping center will be built nearby, possibly in the township", Clark noted. He added that he was speaking as a businessman, not in his capacity as supervisor of Northville township. Councilwoman Beatrice Carlson pointed out that the merchants should be more united in attendance and membership at their Retail Merchants Association so that better understanding could exist at the business level. While she favored another meeting with businessmen and the public at large, it was later decided that the council, planners and representatives of the business area should re-study the plan based on suggestions advanced at the meeting.

Master Plan Revealed

2,312 persons 25 years old or more having graduated from college;

—there are 1635 employed persons, 1,024 men and 611 women;

—the median family income in 1959 was $7,642, while the median individual income was $6,975;

—estimated total income (to reflect purchasing power) for the entire Northville community in 1960 was $14,189,000, while the predicted total income in 1980 is $47,292,000; this is expected to double by the year 2,000 and reach $132,174,000 at capacity of population; it is estimated that 73 per cent of this income goes for retail sales and services with 10 per cent for taxes and 16.9 per cent for miscellaneous (based on the average $6,900 to $7,000 income).

Hockey Team In First Place

Northville's recreation hockey team moved into first place in the Garden City adult hockey league Sunday by pulling ahead of Belleville in the third period to win 8-6.

The Elroy Oil Kings now boast a record of six straight victories to one loss. Sunday's win broke a 4-1 first place tie with Belleville.

Sparkling the victory was Left Wing Bob Papp, who netted five goals in the final period. Belleville had ended the second period with a 6-2 lead over the Northville pucksters, but Papp's rally and an additional goal by Center Don Crabtree clinched the first place honors.

Also scoring were Right Wing Dick Willis and Center Nick Spanos.

Sunday's win pushed Belleville into a two-way tie with second place with Garden City, which also has a 4-2 record. Plymouth with 3-2 standing.

The Oil Kings put their record on the line again at 9 p.m. next Sunday when they take to the ice against Bell-Temp. The league plays at Garden City's artificial outdoor rink at Meridian and Cherry Hill roads.

In Uniform

Fort Jackson, S.C. — Private Roger W. Rathburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Rathburn, 729 Grandview, has been assigned to Company D, 16th Battalion, 4th Training Regiment at the U.S. Army Infantry Training Center in Fort Jackson, S.C. for specialist training.

He is attending the Basic Army Administration Course and will be trained for duty as a clerk-typist. Training emphasis during the eight week course will be placed on typing, preparation of military correspondence, Army reports and orders, and filing procedure. He will learn the general administrative and personnel procedures used by the U.S. Army.

Coordinating Council To Hear Child Clinic Plan

Northville coordinating council members will hear Mrs. Crispin Hammond discuss the proposed Northwestern Wayne County Child Guidance Clinic tonight (Thursday) at their eight o'clock meeting at the city hall.

Mrs. Hammond is the chairman of the board of directors of the clinic group.

School districts within a 16 county area are being urged to financially support the clinic. It has been estimated that some 900 children within the area need the service and that the clinic could handle about one third.

Estimated cost of operating the clinic would be 25 cents per student enrolled in the 19 districts within the 16 communities — or, in the case of the Northville district, about $500 annually.

Mrs. Hammond has announced that the first regular community meeting dealing with the proposed clinic will be held Wednesday, January 23 at the home of Mrs. James E. Mahoney, 110 South Rogers.

Interested individuals as well as organization representatives are urged to attend the meeting which will be held at 2 p.m.

Area Engineers Hold Meeting

On January 8, 39 Registered Professional Engineers of the newly established Chapter of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers for the Farmington, Livonia, Northville and Plymouth areas met at Dan's Chop House.

The petition to organize the chapter was initiated on November 27, 1962, and on December 19, the State Board in Lansing approved the petition. The following interim officers were elected until June at which time the chapter's constitution will be adopted, and a new election will be held. The officers are: James M. Jabara of Plymouth, President; Duane R. Egeland of Livonia, Vice President; George H. Van Hise of Livonia, Treasurer; and John R. Broderick of Plymouth, Secretary. In addition chapter directors are: Arthur Pachulski, Dearborn; Robert Dean, Livonia; Edward Brender, Wayne; and State Directors are Al Thoman, Plymouth, and Don Wells, Farmington.

Special guests for the evening were Edwin H. Young of Ann Arbor, State President of M.P.S.E.; Dick Cosgrove of Lansing, State Executive Director; Tommie L. Fry of the State Committee for Chapter of Organization; Sam Warhabe, President of the Ann Arbor Chapter.

All Registered Engineers living in this area are invited to attend the next meeting to be held in February. Further information may be obtained by calling James Jabara, GL 3-0489, or John Broderick GL 3-3950.

"The lengthening of the days will be decidedly more noticeable in the evening with the later setting of the sun than in its earlier rising in the morning.

"This is because at this time of the year the sun is moving along its yearly path fastest, delaying its rising and setting as timed by our clocks," Professor Losh notes. Our standard time clocks are always ahead of the sun, but at this time of year they are farthest ahead, hence the later setting of the sun.

LET'S TALK CARS . . .

A Simple Way to Increase Your Car's Trade-In Value

Once in awhile we take in a three to five-year-old used car from a new car buyer that has virtually no body rust despite the fact that it has been driven in all types of weather and parked outdoors overnight. In talking to the owner it invariably turns out that he or she had the car washed frequently so that road grime and corrosive salts have not had a chance to eat into the paint.

Immaculate body condition in a used car can easily up the value a hundred dollars since a dealer realizes that the car's appearance will do much to increase its normal resale value.

An additional fact that is not generally known is that hot steam, used by many assembly line wash plants, will dull any car finish and ultimately cause flaking and rust spots. Automobile manufacturers' instructions clearly state that only lukewarm or cold water should be used to preserve the finish on the new acrylic paints.

Another worthwhile suggestion is to have the attendant play his hose under the fenders for a few seconds to wash out accumulations of salt that continue to eat away at the inside of metal surfaces even after the car has been washed normally.

Cagers Hold on—Cop Second W-O Win

The Northville Mustang cager squad built up a third quarter lead of 48-33 over Milford's Redskins last Friday and then coasted to a 59-49 victory, their second Wayne - Oakland league win in six starts.

Northville opened scoring just seconds after the starting whistle blew on a driving lay-up by Guard Bill Challas. But the Redskins bounced back to lead 4-2 before the first minute had been played. The Redskins pulled ahead to lead 9-4 by the middle of the quarter, when the Mustang offense started rolling.

Within two minutes newcomer Center Mike Lang dropped in the basket that tied the game at 10 points. Thirty seconds later Forward Jim Juday added a two-pointer to put the Mustangs in the lead, where they stayed till game's end. Northville opened the second quarter with a 13-10 edge, outscoring Milford by one point to end the half out front 27-23.

The Mustangs kept Milford away from the basket for half the second period, while stretching out the scoring gap to a 19-14 lead. But the Redskins threatened at the mid-point of the quarter when they sliced the lead to one point.

Stealing Northville's passes, Milford continued to keep pace with the Mustangs through the rest of the first half.

With an 11-point third quarter, Forward Tom Swiss accounted for half the Mustangs 1 points and nearly half his team-leading game total of 23.

Continued rebounding by Juday and Swiss, and use of Lang as high post man in first-time use of several offensive patterns gave Northville a 2-1 scoring edge over Milford for the third period, putting the locals out front 48-33 at the buzzer.

Milford's zone defense continually fell for Northville's over-loaded side offense, leaving Swiss open in the corner.

The Mustangs coasted through the last quarter, switching to an offensive weave pattern to stall until they had a sure shot. While the Redskins outscored Northville 16-11 for the period, they were unable to overcome the Mustang lead.

Coach Dave Longridge pointed out that the addition of Lang, a six-three, 210-pounder, to the line-up as center gave Northville added rebounding strength and boosted under-the-basket defense.

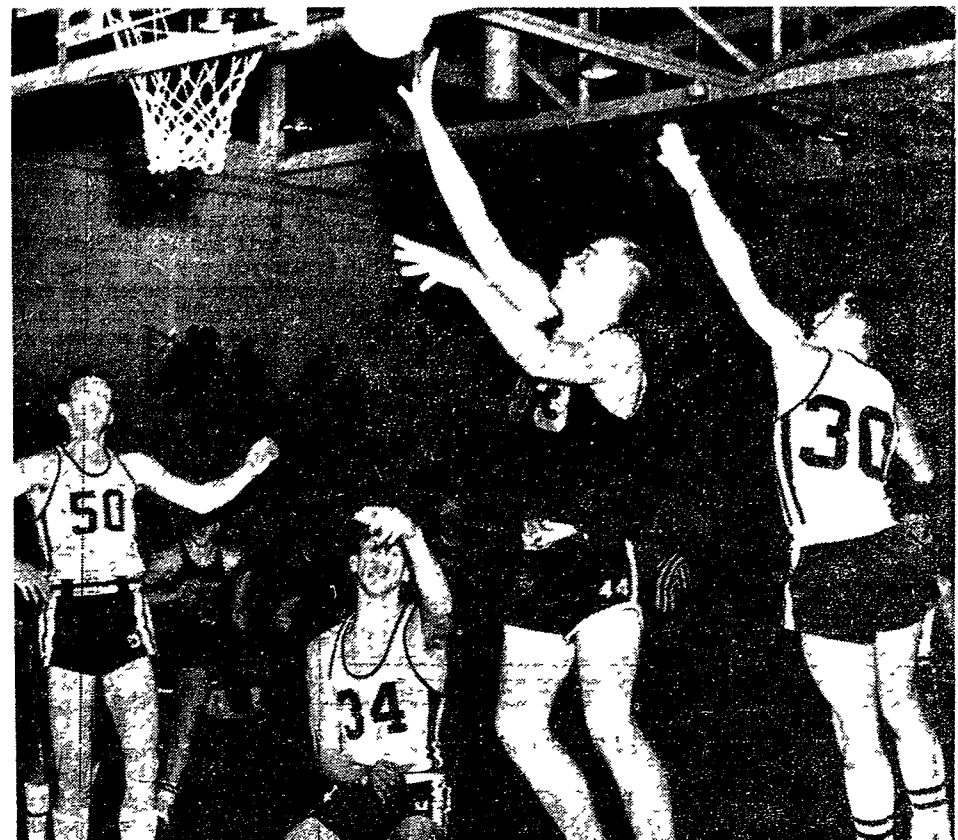

He said Lang pulled down a dozen rebounds, and freed Juday to move around the boards a little more. Juday snagged 15 off the boards and piled in a best-of-the-season 12 points.

The coach also singled out Swiss' offensive efforts for special praise, and noted that Lang connected for nine points.

"Defensive work wasn't what I thought it should be," he said, adding, however, that the team was generally improved over the previous week.

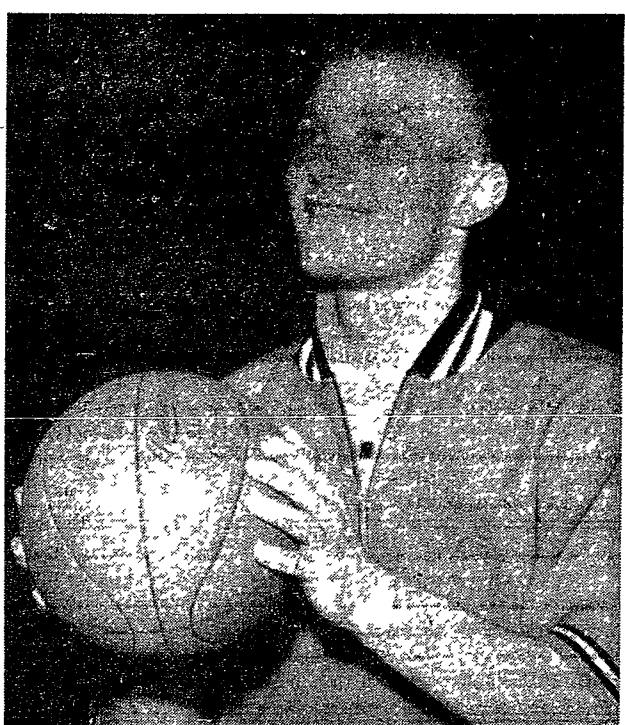

Besides Swiss' 23 points, other scoring included Guard Craig Bell's 12 points, Lang's nine tallies and three chalked up by Challas. No one else on the squad scored.

Tomorrow (Friday) night the Mustangs play host to Brighton in the final game of the first round of league competition. The junior varsity contest begins at 7 p.m., with the varsity tilt following at shortly after 8.

ADDING HEIGHT to the Northville Mustangs is newcomer Center Mike Lang, shown as he goes up for two of his nine points scored against Milford last Friday. He's a six-three, 210 pounder.

Cager of the Week

LEADING SCORER of last week's victory over Milford was Mustang Forward Tom Swiss, 17, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Swiss, 17455 Ridge road. A two-year varsity cager, Tom is a member of the "N" club and a former student council officer. He enjoys all team sports, and particularly likes hunting and fishing. A "B" student, he plans to study hotel management and business administration in college.

JV Colts Fall to Little Redskins

Northville's junior varsity Colts, suffering a third quarter slump they were unable to overcome in a fourth period rally, lost their fourth Wayne-Oakland league contest 39-35 last Friday in Milford.

The Colts now have a 2-4 league record and a 3-4 mark for the season.

Scoring was slow as the game opened, with both teams sinking only one basket by half way through the first period. Strong rebounding gave Milford only one shot at a time, and Northville led 11-6 as the quarter ended.

The Little Redskins switched from man-to-man to a zone defense as the second quarter started, but to little avail as the Colts opened their lead to 14-8 by the middle of the period.

Northville's man-to-man defense continued to hold Milford out, but the Colt fouls started to mount and the Little Redskins threatened 12-14 with just over a minute left in the half. The Colts opened the lead again with two field goals and a foul shot to stay out front 19-13 at the half.

Milford opened the second half with two quick baskets and continued to play alert defensive ball, stealing Northville's passes several times.

Standings

Con Con Film Available to Clubs

"Michigan Can Lead the Way", a 27-minute documentary film portraying the activities of Michigan's constitutional convention will be ready for free distribution through the film loan libraries of the state's three major universities after January 14.

The film's title is taken from the address of former President Eisenhower to the Michigan convention on December 13, 1961. He said: "The responsibilities, best exercised by the people of a state, can be returned to them in all 50 states. And Michigan can lead the way."

Interested groups and organizations in Michigan may show the documentary without rental charge. Reservations for its use and shipping instructions may be sent to the audio-visual departments at the individual universities or directly to the Constitutional Convention Office, Civic Center, Lansing, Michigan.

Adoption of the basic state law framed by the Michigan constitutional convention will be on the April 1 ballot.

Ford Accepting Nominations For Annual Employee Awards

The fourth annual Community Service Awards program for Ford Motor Company employees in the Greater Detroit area was announced today by J. Philip Martin, manager of Ford's Community Relations Department.

The program, which gives special recognition to Ford men and women who contribute voluntary services to their communities, is open to all Ford employees except those directly connected with the program.

Nominations will be accepted from January 14 through January 31 and an employee may be nominated by a member of his family, a fellow employee or persons in the community familiar with his activities.

A special feature of this year's program is a new Community Service Citation to be awarded to all eligible employees who are nominated.

"The purpose of the program is to give all employees an annual opportunity to be recognized for community service, regardless of how modest their contributions may be," Martin said. "The citation insures all nominated employees of recognition."

(In past years several Northville-Novi-Wixom residents have been honored.)

Community Service Awards will be given to employees whose services have been outstanding. They will receive desk plaques bearing an engraved commendation from Henry Ford II, company board chairman.

A committee of judges made up of prominent Michigan citizens will select "Ford Citizens of the Year" and each recipient of this top award will receive a cast bronze "Town Crier's Bell" engraved with his name and the symbolic figure of the town crier.

Among activities which qualify an employee for nomination are public service in elected or appointed capacities; participation in citizens' groups such as PTA, civil defense, traffic safety, city planning and neighborhood associations; participation in youth and recreation programs; and participation in community fund campaigns and special club projects.

Ford began the Community Service Awards Program in 1955 in 10 cities outside the metropolitan Detroit area. By 1962, the program had spread to 38 communities nationwide where Ford has facilities.

To date, more than 2,000 Ford employees have been cited for community service. Last year, some 700 employees from 80 communities in the Greater Detroit area were nominated for awards. Six employees received the top award as "Ford Citizens of the Year" and 101 received Community Service Awards.

Martin said presentation of this year's Detroit-area awards will be made in March at a banquet for recipients and their wives.

Ford plants and offices participating in the Detroit program are in Dearborn, Highland Park, Livonia, Allen Park, Lincoln Park, Wayne, Redford Township, Northville, Brooklyn and Wixom. Separate Michigan programs are held in Monroe, Ypsilanti-Riversonville, Birmingham, Macomb County and Ossos.

For people who want to make a budget work

Some tell us they have budget trouble because it's so hard to remember every budget item. Others say it's because they never know how they're doing from month to month.

You'll find that you can overcome these obstacles with our "Money Management Guide & Workbook"—now available at any of our 72 offices for $1.25.

This book tells you how to plan for a budget and how to prepare one—although it allows for the fact that no two people could—or should—manage their money exactly alike. It shows you if you're keeping within your budget—and what to do about it if you're not.

Of course, there are the day-by-day record sheets you find in any budget book. But there are many extras, too: charts that keep track of tax data, insurance and your net worth. Unlike most budget books, it's looseleaf so you can insert new pages.

With the "Money Management Guide & Workbook," instead of asking where your money went, you could be telling it where to go. It's another part of our continuing program to help you with family money management.

The Apostle Luke's inspiring account of the raising of the widow's son from the dead will be heard at Christian Science services Sunday. Subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Life." The Golden Text is from Matthew 4:4: "It is written, Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." Passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include this selection (p. 547): "The Scriptures are very sacred. Our aim must be to have them understood spiritually, for only by this understanding can truth be gained." And, continuing on the same page: "It is this spiritual perception of Scripture, which lifts humanity out of disease and death and inspires faith."

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

By the Rev. B. J. Pankow, Pastor
St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Northville

What is the Gospel?
The word "Gospel" means "good news." The good news of what? The good news of our salvation in Jesus Christ.

The angel said to the shepherds: "Fear not; for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, for unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." (Luke 2:10-11). This is Gospel.
Jesus said to Nicodemus: "God so loved the world that He gave His only-begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." (John 3:16). This is Gospel.
The apostle John writes: "In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent His only-begotten Son into the world that we might live through Him." (1 John 4:9). This is Gospel.

St. Paul writes: "Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures." (1 Corinthians 15:3). "By grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God; not of works, lest any man should boast." (Ephesians 2:8-9). This is Gospel.
The glad news that Christ died for our sins and by His cleansing blood saved us from eternal damnation and earned for us eternal life.
The chief mission of the Church is to announce this Gospel and no other "gospel."

A "gospel" that some have substituted is the idea that all is well with man as long as he is outwardly respectable and lives in a sanitary and wholesome environment and that he need not occupy himself with the thought of his soul's salvation after death. Those who proclaim this kind of a gospel have the gospel at all, since it offers no forgiveness or hope of eternal life. The true Gospel of Jesus Christ with its message of forgiveness and salvation regenerates the heart. Since it transforms a person into a new creature, it enables him to be a better citizen and a good neighbor to his fellowman. This is the Gospel that we must believe and proclaim.

CHARLES G. GOERS, TOWNSHIP CLERK

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
LANSING, MICHIGANREPORT
from LANSING

By PAUL CHANDLER

STATE REPRESENTATIVE, 21st District

(Paul Chandler has begun work as a member of the Michigan House of Representatives in Lansing. To help keep constituents informed of things happening there, this column will be written weekly and is offered without charge to any newspaper published in the 21st District.)

LANSING — The freshman legislator arrived bright-eyed at the State Capitol at ten minutes to one, expecting to be sworn in and legally seated by no later than 1:30. But it took almost four hours longer than that because of an argument.

Local politicians and campaigners should be keenly interested. The dispute arose over the seating of a man who had been elected to the House from the 12th District, which lies adjacent to Redford Township, just over the Detroit city limits to the east. The 12th is within our 17th Congressional District, and the case was one with which I was familiar before going to Lansing.

Leonard Walton, a Democrat, defeated his Republican opponents in November by about 4,000 votes. During the closing days of the struggle, a piece of literature, was distributed on his behalf which plainly urged the voters to "Re-Elect" Walton and also led one to believe that he, in fact, was the "State Representative".

His Republican opponents, Bill Harrington and Earl Stephens, were incensed when they saw the printed material. Police were asked to investigate. The Republicans sent a woman to the candidate's house and she says she was handed one of the offensive cards by Walton herself.

A formal complaint was made to the County Prosecutor's office, Walton examined, and bound over for trial in Recorder's Court. It will take place soon.

There is a new special law which flatly prohibits use of the words "re-elect" or "incumbent" in behalf of a candidate who does not hold office. It was passed in 1959 by a unanimous vote of both Houses and was added to the election code to cover just such abuses.

In Lansing, the Republicans met in caucus the night before the session opened and there determined, to a man, to hold together and refuse to seat Walton the next day. If he were seated, and then a later effort made to remove him, it would require two-thirds of the House, something impossible as a practical matter. (There are 58 Republicans, 52 Democrats this year). It took only a simple majority to hold up the seating while the House was being organized.

The Democrats, out-voted, determined upon a delaying action on the floor of the House in which, apparently, the hope was to wear down the patience of legislators (and the audience), and that the embarrassment and absence of "harmony" on opening days would be so unpleasant that the Republicans would cave it.

They didn't, and the opening hours — usually sweet and ceremonial — were a carnival of the most windy kind of speeches.

I supported the GOP position because elections are getting dirtier, and the rules more meaningless, every time they hold one in these suburbs. The fact that the objectors were able to even get a warrant through the Prosecutor was a minor miracle. Usually such complaints are brushed off with a sort of "boys' will be boys" attitude.

Whatever else happens, his case will serve as an example and deterrent to other campaigners.

Once the Walton case was handled (he wasn't seated, pending a study by a special committee), matters moved gracefully.

Freshmen legislators worry about seat location. The old-timers, by years of service, get to pick their chairs first. Then numbers are drawn by a box which give the firsttimers an order in which to choose from what's left.

My number popped out of the box on the second draw. It gave me a chance to select No. 21 (same seat number as number of my district, by coincidence), which is right up in the front row, on the GOP side of the chamber.

Later I learned the general location has been known as "conservative corner."

Nobody's asked me to move yet.

Interest in New Constitution High

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series about the proposed new Michigan constitution. Additional articles will appear in subsequent weeks.

Citizen interest in Michigan's proposed new constitution is evidenced by a continuing stream of inquiries reaching the Con-Con office at Lansing's Civic Center asking for printed materials describing the new document. Voters will make their decision on the constitution at the polls on April 1, 1963.

The small staff of aides which remains to wind up the work of the convention has been kept busy in recent weeks filling the scores of daily requests for copies of the proposed constitution and two other pieces of literature produced by the convention for distribution.

More than 50,000 copies of the text of the document have been mailed out to groups, libraries, schools and interested individuals. About 35,000 of the 110-page booklet explaining in detail revisions proposed by the convention have also been distributed.

Greatest demand is for a 12-page pamphlet, "The Proposed New Constitution of Michigan — What It Means to You." This leaflet contains the preface from the larger booklet and summarizes the most significant changes. Upwards of 150,000 of this pamphlet have been sent out from the Con-Con office.

Many of the 144 ex-delegates to the Constitutional Convention have made themselves available to fill speaking engagements before interested groups throughout the state. Frequently these meetings have been panel discussions with two or more former delegates participating.

Con-Con delegates lost their official status when the convention adjourned August 1. Their pay and expense checks had ceased on May 15 — ten weeks prior to their final adjournment. Most delegates, however, regard their post-convention chores as a public service which is a continuing responsibility to the citizens of their districts.

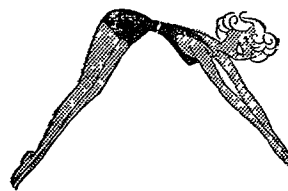

A visual aid to their work which will be available before January 1 is a documentary sound film of convention activity produced through the cooperation of the audio-visual departments of the state's three major universities.

The Con-Con office plans to have enough prints of this film on hand to provide for wide circulation throughout the state. Citizen groups who would like to have the film for showing at meetings after January 1 may contact their former delegates or communicate directly with the Constitutional Convention office at Lansing.

Requests for pamphlets and copies of the new document may be sent on a postcard to: Con-Con Office, Civic Center, Lansing, Michigan.

January 17th Is Detroit Edison's Sixtieth Birthday

Ever since 1903 . . . for all of the sixty years of our company's corporate life . . . people like those pictured here have enjoyed the responsibility of serving people like you.

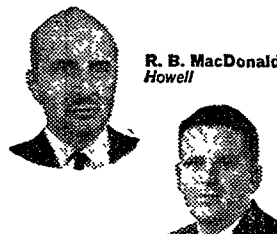

You can find your Edison man (or, in one case, a woman) on this map near the place where you live. He is one of the managers of the 10 districts and 51 customer offices outside of Detroit. And, of course, he's only one of many Edison men—and women—who serve you. Also essential are the linemen, the power plant and substation operators, the meter men, the appliance servicemen, the engineers, the builders and planners and clerks and record-keepers—each and every one of the 9,500 men and women of Detroit Edison.

Like the neighborhood people shown here, all of Edison's people throughout the communities of Southeastern Michigan are doing their best to help you to live better and better . . . electrically.

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO

January 18, 1962

Counsel for promoters of the proposal to rehabilitate some 370 acres of Northville township gravel pit area by means of a 12-year landfill plan and subsequent development of a subdivision abruptly withdrew the request for a dumping permit Monday night after numerous protests were voiced by residents in the area during the township zoning board's consideration of the permit request.

Nelson Schrader, former president of the Northville board of education, agreed this week to the school board's request to head up a citizens committee to spark a drive aimed at raising $41,500 for lighting and seats at the new high school athletic field.

Two teams will compete next Wednesday night, but the real winner will be the March of Dimes when the junior chamber of commerce and Northville school faculty members stage a basketball game at the community building. All proceeds will be donated to the March of Dimes.

Novi village councilmen started discussion Monday night of what is to them a new and fascinating subject—possible projects for use of surplus funds left unspent at the end of the fiscal year. Financial projections show a possible surplus of $30,000 by June 30.

Disconnection suits have been filed against the village of Novi and the city of Wixom by George Kovacs of 40261 13 Mile road, officials of the two communities learned Monday. Kovacs filed suit to withdraw about 20 acres from the village and some 34 acres from the city, reverting the total parcel to Novi township status.

The Wixom city council last week approved contracts for nearly $10,000 in federal aid for development of a master plan. The city's one-quarter share of the project cost will amount to $3,478.

FIVE YEARS AGO

January 16, 1958

How your children learn what the current theories of mental development are and their applications in today's classrooms will be the topics covered next Thursday night when the Northville P-TA holds the first of a series of meetings designed to explore the background and application of current theories of education.

Northville Downs will return to summer racing dates this year, but with a shorter schedule. Dates announced last week run from June 30 to August 9. Last year the Downs' meet was staged during the spring.

Motorists in the habit of parking their cars on city streets will have to change their ways beginning Friday—that's when a new city ordinance banning parking between 2 and 6 a.m. goes into effect.

A nucleus committee of six members met Thursday night at the city hall to discuss a community-wide clean-up drive to be held next spring, and set a tentative period of April 1 through June 15 for the campaign.

State highway officials may be in Novi next month to hear complaints, and answer questions concerning the new Farmington—Brighton expressway and its effect on Novi. The board of commerce, at the recommendation of Supervisor Frazer Staman, agreed Thursday night to invite state highway Commissioner John C. Mackie to its next meeting.

Petitions to incorporate Novi township as a village are headed through the final steps in the process leading to the scheduling of an election. The petitions will go before the Oakland county board of supervisors boundaries committee next Monday.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

January 16, 1948

Northville will stage one of its largest events next week when doors open on the two-night annual community hobby show. The show will be in honor of newcomers and sportsmen Wednesday evening, and in honor of old timers and the school Thursday night.

A community family dinner is being planned for next Thursday to honor safety patrol boys at Northville schools. The dinner is sponsored by the parent-teacher association.

tors State Bank in the annual meeting Tuesday re-elected all directors for another year. In a meeting following the stockholders' session, the directors reappointed all officers.

Township taxes have been coming in at the highest volume in his experience, Northville township Treasurer Roy M. Terrill announced this week. He said approximately two thirds of the $98,432 being levied this winter has been paid.

The Perry Kenner Post Number 76 of the AMVETS will sponsor a breakfast meeting Sunday morning at the Novi school. The meal will be served from 9:30 to 10:30, and will be followed by the annual post election of officers.

Novi board of commerce members elected new officers last Thursday evening. The new board of directors will be Leo Harrowood, John Crawford and Ray Shepherd. The board will meet next month to elect board officers.

Petitions were signed in Novi last week asking the Postmaster General for a rural route from a Novi post office to serve the approximately 200 homes located more than a mile from the post office.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

January 21, 1938

The Wayne county training school, scene for the past 30 months of some 15 WPA construction projects, again took the lead for other Wayne county federal allotments for further school improvements. Some $252,000 was approved for completion of projects already started.

Northville Republicans will join with Plymouth and the Western Wayne county district GOP members in a fried mush dinner February 9 in the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth. Organized by Elton R. Eaton to offset the $25 and $100 a plate dinners given two weeks ago by Democrats, the mush dinners will sell for 50 cents each, and proceeds will go to assisting unemployed and handicapped children.

Nelson C. Schrader will head the fourth annual President's ball a week from Saturday in the high school gym. Schrader will have assistance from Mrs. T. Glenn Phillips. —Flames gutted beyond repair the two-story home of the Elmer S. Reed family at 519 Dubuque Wednesday evening. A defective chimney was what firemen theorized started the blaze, which had gained overwhelming headway before the fire department arrived. The house was owned by Clarence Cornwell.

Thomas R. Carrington, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Carrington, a junior at Michigan State Normal College in Ypsilanti, became editor this week of the Normal News, the weekly campus newspaper.

In Uniform

PVT. BURTON

Camp Pendleton, Calif. — Marine Private Richard J. Burton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burton of 109 North Rogers, completed four weeks of individual combat training, December 28, with the Second Infantry Training Regiment at Camp Pendleton, California. The training provides newly enlisted marines with a background of experience in the field under combat conditions. Live-firing exercises are conducted, in addition to field trips and classroom lectures.

Under carefully selected instructors, the young marines learn to take their places in small fighting units, such as the four-man fire team and the 14-man squad.

SPEAKING for The Record

by Bill Sliger

The record of complaints filed against juveniles in Northville during the past year was an enviable one for any community.

Police Chief Eugene King's report for 1962 shows that only 11 complaints involving juveniles were filed with local police. In all except one case the difficulties were handled without referral to county juvenile authorities.

It's a tribute to both parents and their youngsters. But 1963 didn't get off to a flying start — as anyone who attended the P&A's "horror show" last week can attest.

It seems a group of local youngsters — between the ages of 13 and 17 — decided they would "bomb" the "monster" with eggs when he made his appearance on stage.

Their aim wasn't so good. The result is a hole through the center of the theatre's $2,000 screen. It's estimated that it will cost about $100 to repair the damage — and even then the screen will probably reveal the flaw.

Chief King reports that as many as 20 youngsters could be involved in the plot. Apparently, he says, it was pretty well known around school that a raid was planned. The boys even had help from the girls, who carried eggs in their purses.

Conferences were held with several youngsters and their parents last Saturday. More are scheduled for this week.

Theatre owners are willing to let local police reach a settlement without filing a formal complaint.

But it's no secret that their business has not been booming. And aside from the damage to equipment, they fear loss of patrons due to rowdiness in the theatre.

In short, the local theatre hasn't been a paying proposition, anyway, and it could be closed.

Chief King reports that cooperation from parents of the youngsters has been excellent. They've already set forth stern punishment and when the strong-armed youth who threw the egg through the screen is identified, he'll have a $100 repair bill to pay. (An expensive pitch in any league).

We all know that "boys will be boys", and can undoubtedly recall a few escapades of our own, but when property damage or possible bodily harm is involved, strict action by both police and parents is important.

Usually, parental understanding and cooperation is 100 per cent, Chief King notes. But not always.

He recalls a case, for instance, where local youths admitted stealing considerable sums of money from the purse of a working woman.

There were several youngsters involved. Most of the youngsters have been made to repay the sum through their own efforts. But because charges were not pressed, no effort has been made by one of the families involved.

As it turns out, the scout-recreation building is the loser. As the money is returned to the woman, she's giving it to the building fund.

Another parent, whose son was reported to have deliberately knocked down a parking meter post with his car, has insisted that the boy work and repay the city for the damage. He wouldn't even consider filing a claim with his insurance company "because it was my boy's fault, and he'll pay for it."

Sometimes, notes the Chief, we can point to a youngster instead of an adult as the good example.

In a truly remarkable act, he relates that a seven-year-old girl witnessed a hit-and-run property damage accident recently while on her way to school. She took down the license number of the car and a description of the driver. When she arrived at school she called her mother, who informed authorities.

Police did the rest. It was not a teen-age driver.

One of the most difficult, expensive and least appealing services to provide for taxpayers (who must foot the bill) are sewers.

Having observed many councils wrestle with sewer problems with little more public attention than an occasional complaint, it was both surprising and reassuring to me to witness the presentation of a $500 check from the Wixom chamber of commerce to the city council last week so that it could pay for legal advice associated with a sewer study program.

Coincidentally, the presentation was made by Donald Brooks to Mayor Wes McAtee, who defeated ex-Mayor Brooks in the last city election.

State Land Sales Hit $3.7 Million in 3 Years

ODD AS it may sound the State Highway Department is one of the state's biggest real estate "dealers."

Deputy Highway Commissioner Frederick E. Tripp reports the department has sold more than $3.7 million in excess land during the past three years.

Spending millions to buy land on which to build new highways, the department attempts to sell parcels unused when construction is completed. The parcels may be part of a package needed during construction but are no longer needed when this phase of work is done.

DURING THE last three years, Tripp said 1,180 parcels of excess land were sold with money returning into the construction fund. About $3 million of the sale proceeds came from sales at public auctions, which returned the properties to local tax rolls.

The remainder of the land was sold to the Conservation Department, counties, or municipalities for public use. State agencies and local government units get first bids on the excess land, which they can purchase at the appraised price.

In public auction, the highest bidder takes the property, but the appraised value is the minimum bid that can be submitted.

THE OPENING of the 1963 Legislature, marked by victories in both houses for the so-called moderate Republicans, augers well for Gov. George Romney.

In the Senate, new majority caucus leader Stanley Thayer of Ann Arbor, has indicated his Republican group will be solidly behind the Governor's session, however, that any holdouts from the old school in the House could well be convinced by their Senate colleagues that the Grand Old Party must stick together if they are to survive future elections.

LITTLE IS likely to be done in the early months of the session. With the prospect of Lynn Bartlett dropping out of the race for Superintendent of Public Instruction, Republicans will be hard pressed to name a well-known candidate.

Bartlett's possible retirement from public office could provide the GOP with the inroad they need into the State Administrative Board. Romney would like at least one member of his party with him on the now all-Democratic board.

The April 1 balloting on the proposed constitution also will call for considerable campaigning.

It appears at the start of the session, however, that any holdouts from the old school in the House could well be convinced by their Senate colleagues that the Grand Old Party must stick together if they are to survive future elections.

WITH SMEEEKEN'S support, the roadblocks met by Democratic programs in previous years apparently would be almost invisible.

The House poses possibly a greater challenge this year for the new Governor. It has not been tested recently to show the breakdown in Republican ranks between the moderates and conservatives.

The House leadership appears strongly behind the GOP chief executive, but a number of previously-considered conservatives still hold key committee positions.

Business Fears Attorney General

Babson Park, Mass. — I have been criticized for forecasting a moderate decline in 1963. I admit that most of the forecasts by others have been for good business — "at least as good and probably much better in 1963." I sincerely hope that they are right and I am wrong.

My wise father many times said to me, "Roger, it is wrong for you to mislead others who really have confidence in you. Tell them that you do not know if you wish; but when you make a statement be sure you have the reasons therefor." Hence this week I will give you two reasons for my doubts about 1963:

(1) Unemployment is sure to increase during 1963; those employed, (who, statistics show, should be more numerous in 1963) will not get overtime work. This means they will not have so much "take-home" pay. The government figures for employment and unemployment are very tricky. Actually, the government should make only one computation in this whole area — namely, the total take-home pay of all wageworkers.

(2) An important second reason is that employers do not know how President Kennedy really feels toward the nation's business leaders. We know he is surrounded by a group of very liberal advisers, — mostly college professors who have been dependent on endowed funds for their salaries. Very few of them have ever been obliged to "earn a living" as most readers have.

Furthermore, the President himself is a very rich man enjoying trust funds set up by his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, who is said to be worth over $300,000,000. In addition, the President knows that business leaders are in the great minority in terms of prospective votes; wageworkers not in business for themselves represent the big majority.

The government is constantly urging manufacturers to install new machinery and increase production. With the present excess of commodities, this means we must develop more foreign trade. To do this efficiently our manufacturers should be encouraged to combine to form trade associations. They now do not dare to do this for fear that the President's brother Robert, who is Attorney General, will prosecute them under the Anti-Trust laws.

These outdated laws should either be relaxed to meet present foreign-trade needs or else be amended so that they will apply also to labor unions. Europe's "Common Market" not only encourages the manufacturers of one industry to work together, but also those of several different countries. Labor unions are encouraged, but are treated as these other associations are treated. The Common Market was created to encourage co-operation — in direct contrast to what our Administration at Washington is now doing. Readers should note what Governor Romney of Michigan, formerly President of American Motors (Rambler Co.), said in his inaugural address.

When President Kennedy took office, the Dow-Jones Industrial Average was around 650. Then it was manipulated to over 700, after which came the big break of May 28, 1962. The market had gone up from around 275-300 during the Eisenhower Administration. With the President's father "Old Joe" now putting his money into real estate (which is much better tax-wise for Trusts), most businessmen feel that both the stock market and general business will decline in 1963.

Without doubt the Cuban situation helped the President last year. I believe he is sure to be a shrewd enough politician to keep Cuba in the news until after the election in 1964. This, along with a tax cut which Congress will probably pass in 1963 to take effect January 1, 1964, should re-elect President Kennedy in November 1964. But this is not time to talk about 1964.

My interest today is in discussing business in 1963 and my reasons for forecasting a "decline". To repeat: The real reason is the attitude of the President's brother Robert, who should interpret the Anti-Trust laws so they can be used cooperatively to develop foreign trade abroad. This is what 1963 lacks. Business leaders are scared.
