

Mothers March Tuesday to Fight Crippling Disease

More Than 100 Women Join Door-to-Door Drive

Over 100 Northville city and township women will join with some 40,000 Wayne county women next Tuesday to climax the month-long March of Dimes campaign with the annual Mothers March.

Northville Mothers March Chairman Mrs. Irvin F. Marburger said some 47 township mothers will begin solicitations in rural areas during the afternoon and visit subdivisions in the evening.

The 56 volunteers in the city will conduct their march starting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, she added. Solicitors in both the city and township plan to contact every home in Northville.

Using this year's March of Dimes slogan, "Give for the Life of a Child", the mothers will try to match or beat the 1962 collections of about $1,400, Mrs. Marburger said.

She urged residents to turn on their porch or front lights to aid marchers in their campaign to call at every Northville door.

THE MOTHERS Marchers in Northville will be joining with some two million volunteer workers all over the nation in asking support for the March of Dimes efforts.

March of Dimes receipts are used in the continuing battle to ward off the crippling diseases of birth defects, arthritis and polio, as well as to support the new Salk Institute for Biological Studies located in California.

The annual Mothers March is traditionally the most productive portion of the March of Dimes campaign held throughout January. It is considered the greatest organized effort for fighting crippling disease ever made by American women.

The Marching Mothers who voluntarily brace cold weather will be wearing Golden Keys of Hope — symbolizing the hope that exists for victims of birth defects, arthritis and polio through March of Dimes-nated by merchants will await the workers.

Following the final reporting in of workers, a pair of gift certificates donated by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors the March of Dimes campaign in Northville, will be awarded.

Mrs. Marburger said one certificate will be given to a township mother and one to a city mother. Winners' names will be drawn, she added.

Other March of Dimes activities staged this month include a crutch sale, a bean-guessing contest, a benefit basketball night, a peanut sale and the tavern dimeboard contest.

The crutch sale, sponsored jointly by the Jaycee auxiliary and the Ugashton club, with Mrs. Robert Pankow and Leonard Bogotaitis as co-chairmen, netted $124.32.

THE PEANUT sale, sponsored by the high school student council with Assistant Principal LaGene Quay as chairman, earned $108.11 for the March of Dimes.

And the basketball benefit, with Bob Prom as chairman, received $44.81. The bean-guessing and tavern dimeboard contests continue through the month.

March of Dimes activities besides the Mothers March last year earned about $400, says General Chairman William Bingley, bringing Northville's total to about $1,800 for 1962.

City to 'Shoot' Stray Dogs

City Manager Bruce Potthoff asked city councilmen Monday night for permission to "shoot" stray dogs.

Specifically, Potthoff wants to acquire a tranquilizer gun that doesn't harm the dog but puts him to sleep temporarily so that he may be caught.

"We're getting a great number of complaints about dogs running in packs and, frankly, we just can't catch them," the manager reported. He said that a crew of men had tried chasing the free-running dogs.

Northville township presently uses a tranquilizer gun and Potthoff reported that it has been successful.

The council approved of the idea and urged enforcement of the city's dog ordinance which forbids dogs to run free. It was also suggested that licensing of dogs be strictly enforced.

Ex-Chief Denton Surprise Entry In Council Race

Northville's city council race is getting crowded. The field of candidates seeking two seats on the council has now reached seven.

Lates to take out petitions for the April election are: — Joseph Denton, retired Northville police chief.

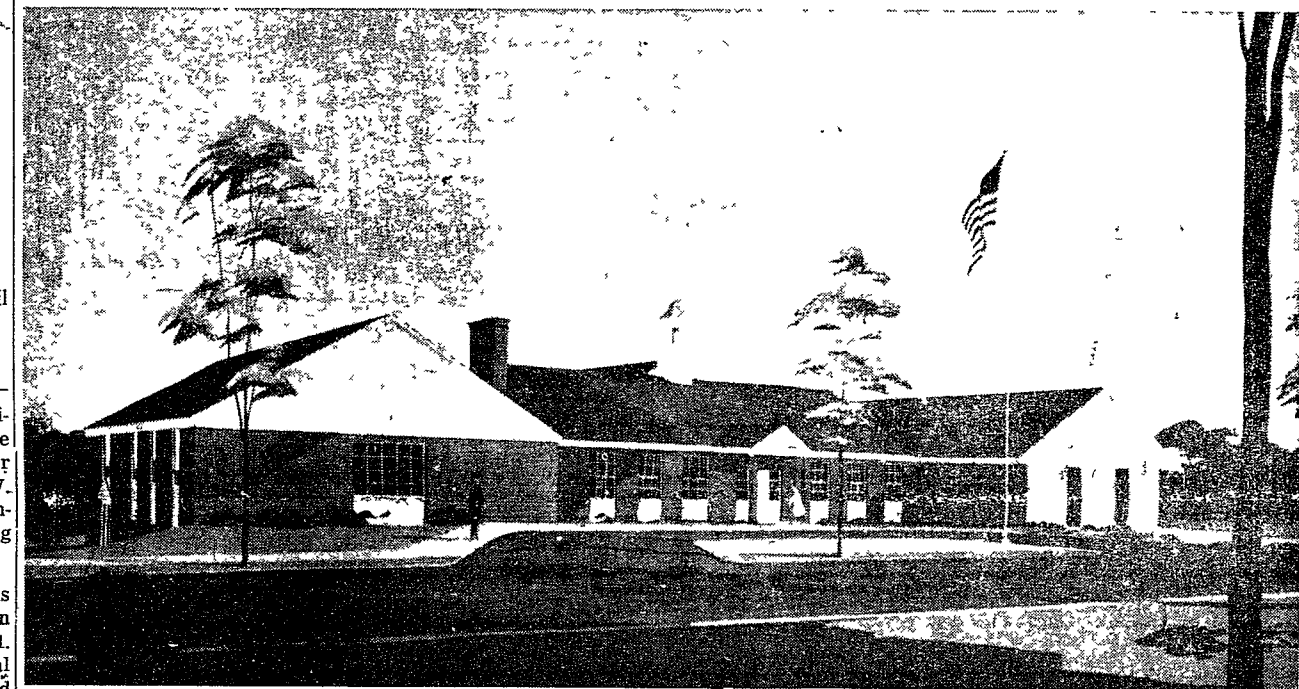

—Sidney Frid, retired Northville businessman and former village commissioner; —Fred P. Kester, manager of a local variety store.

Four other candidates had previously taken out petitions for the four-year council term and two candidates have entered the race for the two-year term of mayor.

The council hopefuls are William Bingley, Incumbent Councilman John Canterbury, Peter Gross and Hiram Pacific. Mayor A. M. Allen and Earl Reed are in the mayor race.

Deadline for filing petitions at the city hall is February 18. Denton's decision to seek a

Proposed Northville City Hall

Northville's new city hall and library will look like this "if" the federal government approves matching funds under the public works acceleration act. In the above rendering submitted by Architect Harry M. Denyes the building is shown facing Main street. The wing on the left side is the library with entrance off Wing street. At the far right is the fire hall. Entrance to city offices would be in the center with a circular drive off Main street. The police station would be on a lower level with entrance from the rear. The colonial design building would be located on the present site of the city hall. City officials have awaited word from the Housing and Home Finance Agency offices for nearly two months. Estimated construction cost of the above building is $210,000. Without matching federal funds the facility would not include the library. A color drawing of the building is now on display at the city hall.

City OK's Library Rent Plan

The city council approved a formula Monday night for a proposed rental plan with the township in the event the city constructs a new city hall-library (see picture above).

Terms of the formula were drawn jointly by City Attorney Philip Ogilvie and Township Attorney James Littell.

Basically, rent of the building would be divided on a use basis. Present figures released by Wayne county show city residents top the township in book withdrawals, 71.18 per cent to 28.82 per cent.

Actual rent payment would be determined by the final cost of the library (divided by two because of the federal grant).

In other business Monday night Sid Frid, the city's Oakland county supervisor, called for official city protest to the Novi road-Eight Mile road cut-off intersection. He said Frazzer Staman, recently appointed road commissioner in Oakland county, had promised to help alleviate the problem, which is considered both a hazard and bottleneck to traffic.

Manager Bruce Potthoff read a letter already prepared on the subject. It was agreed to send copies to both Wayne and Oakland county road authorities.

The council voted to purchase a new police car at a bid of $799.52 (including trade) from John Mach Ford Agency.

It also viewed a preliminary plat of Yorkes subdivision number six and pointed to possible difficulties with water flow through the Rouge creek. It was proposed to study costs of installing a storm sewer.

Building Fund Drive Nears $12,000 Goal

"There's just a little way to go — two more weeks ought to do it".

This was the optimistic report of Councilman John Canterbury Monday night as he told fellow councilmembers that the Scout-Recreation Building fund drive was near its $12,000 goal.

This week donations hit $10,155.23. Entire cost of the building is approximately $28,000 — some $12,000 more than was available for the facility.

Although State Racing Commissioner Edgar Hayes awarded the 1963 harness dates more than one month ago, there's heavy speculation this week that announcement of legal action to contest the decision is near.

Hayes gave Leon Slavin, official of Jackson Raceway, Inc., 42 nights at Jackson fairgrounds.

But Slavin had requested dates at Northville Downs. Meanwhile, it is reported that management of the Jackson County Fairboard is threatening to seek another racing tenant for its track on the basis that Slavin broke his Jackson lease by applying for Northville.

Jackson contends that the dates belong to the track, not Slavin.

Middleman in the struggle seems to be John Carlo, executive manager of Northville Downs. Carlo claims to have spent some $750,000 in improvements preparing the Downs for a fall meet. These improvements that Hayes acted illegally and points to racing law stating that dates can be granted only when applied for a certain location for a definite time.

He's hopeful that Slavin will take his case to the state supreme court and win his dates at the Northville track.

Latest list of contributors reported by A. R. Clarke, treasurer for the drive, is as follows:

Leona Parmalee, B. W. Seccord, Roger Harrison, B. J. Pankow, Mr. and Mrs. Cleve W. Stroth, Conrad E. Langfield, Detroit Edison Company, W. C. Wiley, Douglas G. Day, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McCarthy, C. Wesley Ebling, Dr. Jan K. Bosch, Donald E. Hannabarger, Dean White, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Cayley, Herbert Froger, Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Filkin, "Luncheon is Served" (Scout women), Dr. and Mrs. Waldo T. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Schwendemann, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard R. Bach, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kolb, Mrs. T. J. Knapp, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Williams, Consumers Power company, Mr. and Mrs. John Stubbenvoll, Arthur Kobierzynski, Bernice E. Bodine and R. J. Regenhardt.

The building, located on West Cady next to the cemetery, is expected to be completed by the end of February, Contractor Harley Cole reported this week. It will be used as a headquarters for the recreation department and for scout meetings.

State Hospital Names Assistant

The appointment of Dr. Richard J. Lilly as assistant medical superintendent at Northville State hospital was announced last week by Dr. P. N. Brown, medical superintendent of the Seven Mile road facility.

The position had been unfilled since the resignation of Dr. Robert Yoder nearly three years ago.

During the past three years Dr. Lilly has been in private practice in Parkersburg, West Virginia. He is not unfamiliar to the Detroit area, however.

After graduating from the University of Pittsburgh medical school he served his internship at Providence hospital in Detroit and his psychiatric residency at Pontiac State Hospital.

He was director of research and education at Pontiac and later attended the Menninger School of Psychiatric Hospital Administration.

Dr. Lilly served as medical superintendent at Weston State Hospital in Weston, West Virginia for one year and then assumed the position of director of the department of mental health for the state of West Virginia before entering private practice.

Dr. and Mrs. Lilly and their four daughters are making their home in Birmingham.

Art of History and Today

By JESSIE HUDSON

Ann Arbor is full of art, as befits a university town, but it takes a great deal of perseverance to see it.

There is, for instance, the University Art Museum, in the Alumni Memorial Hall right across State Street from the Michigan Union. The building sits back on its somber pillars, squat, uninviting, grey. The front door, a massive relic of wrought iron, guards the entrance as if to some sacerdotal tomb, reluctant to let intruders in. It takes a mighty maul to pry open this resistant seal, and a mumble foot to escape its rushing closure. The entrance hall, is indeed, a tomb, commemorating the glorious dead alumni, presumably the donors who created this mausoleum to their immortality.

Past this forbidding narthex the twentieth century begins to take over. Banks of pierced metal partitions form a maze for special exhibits. "Islamic Art" occupies part of this complex as of now, the rest blank, in preparation for the next attraction. A floating, and rather fearsome, metal staircase soars off to the right, forms a floating bridge, then leads to the safety of the second floor, which is divided into several wings.

The next ranking citadel of art in Ann Arbor, the Forsythe Gallery is located in the Nickels Arcade, a drafty, dreary, vaulted passageway between State street and Maynard. Not far from the Maynard end, up a wide, uneven, inhospitable stairway, is the barn-like expanse of the gallery. It takes a display of powerful art to overcome the entrance and the atmosphere, but fortunately the Forsythe Gallery partners have consistently good taste in exhibits. The current show,

The Ann Arbor Public Library on Fifth Street also harbors art. Winding through the maze of one-way streets in this part of the city one finds a convenient parking area, a rare treasure indeed in this crowded town, behind the library or in the next door municipal parking lot. The exhibits of art by members of the Ann Arbor Art Association are hung in a downstairs meeting room. The current show, "A Report on Subject Matter" features the work of eight women painters, Patricia Altung, Helen Cohen, Alice Crawford, Barbara Dorr, Arlene Johnstone, Mary Tupper, Ellen Wilt all of Ann Arbor and Catherine Hartley of the Hartley-Powers Gallery in Northville. Unlike the Forsythe or even the Museum of Art itself, the hours here make it very convenient for viewers, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day except Sunday. The Forsythe closes awkwardly at 4 o'clock during the week and at 1 o'clock on Saturdays. The Museum is open from 9 to 5, but is open one evening, Wednesday from 7 to 10 and on Sunday from 2 to 5.

Around the corner from the public library on E. Washington street towards Fourth street, is the newest in galleries, a cooperative venture, financed and manned by the artists themselves.

NEWCOMER'S CORNER

I look upon every day to be lost, in which I do not make a new acquaintance.

— Samuel Johnson

The Samuel G. Glenn family moved to Northville township from Livonia. Their children are: (l. to r.) Gary, Karen and Devon. That's "Holly", the family pet.

For most people, the cold weather which settled across the nation last week meant nothing but problems. But not so for the Samuel G. Glenn family of 39840 Sunbury — they enjoy the cold.

That's because the lower the mercury dips, the better the skating, and the Glens, Samuel and Donna, son Gary, 9, and daughters Karen, 7, and Devon, 5, have recently taken to the ice as a family sport.

Glenn, who moved his family to Northville in the latter part of August, is a marketing research analyst at Fort Motor Company's Lincoln-Mercury division offices in Dearborn. Although the Glens are recent residents of the Northville area, they've been planning to move here from Livonia for about two years.

Mrs. Glenn explained that they purchased their property here two years ago after investigating sites throughout the metropolitan area.

"We liked the surroundings and were particularly pleased with the high degree of planning for future development," she said.

She added that the small-town atmosphere also added to the attraction of Northville, explaining that she is originally from a small town, Uby, in Michigan's thumb area. Her husband is one of those relative rarities, a native Detroit.

Both graduates of Michigan State university, Glenn studied business administration while Mrs. Glenn concentrated in journalism and later returned to the university to earn a teaching certificate.

An oil painting enthusiast "for pleasure only," Mrs. Glenn is hoping her husband's growing interest in do-it-yourself carpentry will mean he'll soon be making frames for her paintings.

Calling '41

A reunion of the 68-member Northville high school class of 1941 is being planned for the first part of August.

Former class members are asked to contact Mrs. Robert Casady of 1419 Monte Maria, Novato, California, for further details. Mrs. Casady, the former Marilyn Cavell, was senior class president at Northville high school in 1941.

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO

January 25, 1962

—Northville's economic development committee named city Councilman John Canterbury its chairman when it met for the first time last week to become acquainted with the job at hand. A. Russell Clarke was elected vice-chairman and school board President Robert Shafer was named secretary.

—Some 120 'Mothers Marchers' will climax the monthlong March of Dimes campaign next Sunday through Tuesday evenings by calling at every home in Northville city and township.

—The Northville school board Monday night endorsed the idea of applying to the Michigan Municipal Finance commission for permission to sell $41,500 worth of revenue bonds for seating and lighting of the new high school athletic field.

—The Novi village council and township board met jointly Monday night to discuss settlement of an issue that has long been a hot-spot of debate — problem of rising village costs for fire and police service in the township coupled with the loss of tax revenue through disconnection of properties which are returned to township status.

—A total of 13 candidates will be vying for positions on the nine-man city charter commission in the March election to decide whether Novi village should incorporate as a city. If the city vote is favorable, the nine top vote getters of the 13 candidates will comprise the commission.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

January 23, 1948

—Nearly 100 representatives of contracting firms jammed the Northville board of education offices Monday night as competitive bids were received for the new high school. The keen bidding elicited school officials, who predicted the entire project may fall a half million dollars below original cost estimates.

—Two major sewer projects were given tentative approval by the Northville city council Monday night, both on the city's north side. City Engineer Harold Penn outlined plans and costs for storm and sanitary sewers running down East street to provide service for the new high school, and storm sewers to serve the Northville Heights subdivision off North Center street.

—A new water well for the city of Northville was ready for use this week after final tests were completed. Located just west of Novi road near the C & O crossing, the new well awaits pumping equipment. The new source greatly boosts Northville's water supply.

—Novi will probably vote March 17 to decide the question of incorporating the township as a village. The date was set Monday by the Oakland county boundary committee, and now needs only final approval of the county board of supervisors, which meets Friday.

—A Detroit firm this week revealed plans to build a man-made lake in Novi and surround it with a 132-home subdivision. The development, called Crescent Lake subdivision, would be located on 200 acres at the northwest corner of Nine Mile and Meadowbrook roads.

—Northville's request for dismissal of the Warren Products annexation suit was denied Monday by Oakland county circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

Warren started the suit after a November election annexing 220 acres of Novi township to the city. The suit which claims all township voters, not just those in the annexed area, should vote.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

January 23, 1948

—Northville village commissioners this week set a limit of 20 feet farther in drilling of the thus far unsuccessful Fairbrook well. Drillers have reached a depth of 110 feet without finding sufficient water to support a well.

—The Northville Driving club holding its annual meeting last Friday at the Veterans Memorial Hall, re-elected all present officers. They are, President Dr. L. W. Snow, Vice-President Gerald Taft, Secretary Clifton Hill and Treasurer Arthur Schulte.

—Miss Dorothy Grieger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Grieger, of Northville road, was chosen this week to receive the annual D.A.R. citizenship award. The award is given yearly to stimulate and encourage good citizenship in schools and homes.

—Northville Postmaster Fred E. Van Atta reported 1947 to be the most successful year in local post office business history. He said the post office experienced a 15 per cent increase in sale of stamps and handling of all mail classifications.

—Three grades of the elementary school and a group of 22 patrol boys will visit this year's Shrine Circus at the State Fair grounds next week as the guests of the Ely Coal and Ice company and the Northville Hardware.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

January 28, 1938

—With the resounding success of Northville's first ice carnival January second, local residents have started planning for an ice follies festival next month. To be held on the Ford pond, the festival would feature exhibition skating rather than competitive races held at the ice carnival.

—Final result of a minor accident last December 10 which marred the first high school basketball game of the season was the school board's decision this week to hire a bus for transporting players to games. The chartered bus will rule out the problems connected with sending players to games in individual cars, schoolmen noted.

—A lecture series being sponsored jointly by the Northville Teachers' Rotary, Exchange and Women's clubs gets underway next Monday with Robert B. Hall's address titled "Expansion of the Japanese Empire."

—General Chairman Nelson C. Schrader announced this week that the advance ticket sale for the annual President's Ball next Saturday is well underway. The dance raises funds for charity activities of the King's Daughters organization.

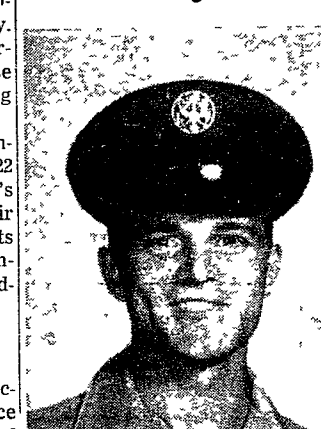

C.A.P. OPEN HOUSE — The new Northville unit of the Civil Air Patrol received its charter last Saturday evening at a Community Building open house program. Following the ceremonies, which included a drill team performance and uniform fashion show, a dance was held for the youths.

You'll make the wisest choice no matter which Chevrolet you choose!

These four different cars are alike in one important way. Each is a product of Chevrolet Division of General Motors. So each will give you more performance, beauty, comfort and good news at trade-in. But each is tailored to a certain kind of buyer. Our big Chevrolet has the Jet-smooth ride, luxury and styling you'd expect only in costly cars. Chevy II features parkable size, perky performance and outstanding fuel economy. Corvair gives you rear engine maneuverability and sports car flair. The new Corvette is dramatic. With a choice of 33 models, there's one Chevrolet that will suit you best.

Keeps Going Great

Shown (top to bottom), '63 Chevy II Nova 400 Station Wagon, Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan, Corvair Sting Ray Sport Coupe and Corvair Monza Club Coupe

REPORT from LANSING
By PAUL CHANDLER
STATE REPRESENTATIVE, 21st District

LANSING — Two subjects appear on the agenda today, as the new Michigan Legislative session gets to work on a regular schedule.

1 Your State Representative (me) just yesterday learned the Committees to which he has been assigned. Every Legislator votes on bills when they reach the floor, but the in-fighting takes place within the Committees, where most bills on particular subjects arrive and die without getting to the floor. It has been a fond wish to get on committees where the subject matter affected suburban areas such as our own.

2. A series of conferences have just been completed by myself with most of the local municipal and township governing bodies in the 21st District. This provides a chance to report on the kind of legislation the officials in our area seek from Lansing as soon as possible.

Allison Green, the new Speaker of the House has assigned me to the following committees: Education, Apportionment, Economic Development, Tuberculosis Facilities.

Forget Tuberculosis Facilities — it's relatively inactive. Every legislator winds up with at least one of these.

But the other three are "major" in every sense of the word and as a freshman here, I feel lucky in spades.

"Education" Committee chews huge holes out of the State budget and it's the biggest subject on the taxpayers' mind throughout our District, whether it be Livonia, Plymouth, Northville, Belleville, Redford Township — or even Detroit.

School taxes use from 60 to 70 percent of our total tax payments locally, in most places, and expansion hardly has had a healthy start. Everybody's looking for a "new source of school revenue"; the schools generally want more money from Lansing, to ease the load locally.

"Apportionment" is perhaps loaded with more dynamite than any committee in Lansing. The general subject provides the main contest today between Republicans and Democrats (and is the crux of the argument over the new Constitution), and with the Supreme Court of the State, the U. S. Supreme Court, and others all in the act, reapportionment will be a spritely subject. The ground floor is a most alluring place from which to participate. We in the suburbs are the most under-represented body of people in all of Michigan, incidentally.

"Economic Development" for Michigan is the big subject where serious people are concerned with State action to bring new industry, new re-

In what must go down as the most inept exhibition of basketball ever performed for a local audience by two Wayne-Oakland League teams Northville's Mustangs scrambled their way to a 38-24 win Friday night over the hapless Brighton Bulldogs.

Captain Dave Longridge could only shake his head in disbelief. "It was just one of those nights," he tried to explain — but nobody could remember a night like it.

Consider these statistics:

—Northville did not score a field goal until the second quarter, when the game was 11 minutes and 40 seconds old;

—Northville scored but two field goals in the entire first half, Captain Craig Bell scoring both;

—The Mustangs had quarters of 8, 8, 16 and 6 points, respectively.

BUT IF this sounds bad, just take a look at the Brighton side of the ledger:

—The Bulldogs could sink only six field goals all evening; —as bad as Northville played, the outcome of the game was never in doubt as Brighton trailed throughout with quarters of 4, 6, 8 and 6 points.

Both teams found it almost impossible to hit the basket from the floor. Northville made but nine of 37 fieldgoal attempts, while Brighton was even worse, with six out of 47.

The circus-like exhibition was marked by bad passes, double-dribbling and all-around sloppy play that resulted in frequent interruptions from the referee's whistle.

ONLY BRIGHT spot of the evening was the Mustangs' success from the free throw line. While the entire team had trouble finding the hoop from the floor, at the free throw line they hit on 20 of 26 chances.

Bell and Bill Challas did all of Northville's scoring in the first quarter dropping four charity tosses each Northville led at the quarter, 8-4.

The half ended 16-10 as Bell scored two field goals and Bob Boyle contributed two free throws and Tom Swiss and Challas one each.

The Mustangs got "hot" in the third period and scored 16 points to pull away from Brighton, 32-18. Both teams scored but six points in the final stanza.

Despite the off-night performance, Captain Bell came up with a respectable scoring record leading all players with 14 points. Swiss and Challas had seven points each for the Mustangs.

Northville travels to Clarkston next Friday as the second round of league play begins. The Mustangs opened the season here against Clarkston and lost, 52-45.

In a make-up game last week (Tuesday) Clarkston upset previously undefeated Holly. On Friday night Clarkston copped its fourth league victory by downing Clarenceville, 58-39.

In other league action Holly rebounded to knock Bloomfield Hills out of a tie for first place, 49-38. West Bloomfield kept pace to remain tied for the league leadership with Holly by defeating Milford, 65-44.

Coach Alex Klukach called the team performance against Brighton "better than usual". The Colts turned in an exceptionally good fourth period racking up 20 points.

Coach Klukach pointed to the performance of Tim Krug as outstanding for the team. Krug was captain for the night and had been promoted to starter for the first time. He led the Colts with 17 points. Three other Colts hit for double figures. They were Tom Wicke, 12, Kent Kipper, 11, and Jim Lufis, 10.

Wrestlers Lose To Romulus

Northville high school's matmen are taking their bumps but their coach, Jack Kreiner, says that's what they need — more experience.

Last week the grapplers lost to Romulus, 35-11. Scoring points for the Mustangs were Mike Brandenburg, who pinned his opponent; Ronald Rebitzke, who took a decision; and Larry Spangler, also a winner by decision.

Kreiner points out that wrestling is a sport that requires team depth and experience. Most of the Mustang wrestlers are beginners. It didn't help, either, to have four of the regulars out because of illness or injury last week.

Tonight the varsity meets Oak Park at 7:30 p.m. at the Northville high school gym. The JV's face Whitmore Lake at 5 p.m.

If Wide-Track is as hot as Pontiac says, why don't they put it in their Tempest?

They just did.

We can take a hint. When people are as happy with something as Pontiac owners are with Wide-Track, we're willing—nay, eager—to let everybody else in on it. That's why Tempest has a Wide-Track of its own this year. It's why you get to choose between a lively 4 and a 326-cu. in. V-8, too. We aim to please—and if we do say so, we're pretty accurate. *Optional at extra cost.

Now there are two kinds of Wide-Track cars . . . Pontiac and Tempest.

LET'S TALK CARS . . .

What It Costs To Stay in Style

It happened recently that a well-endowed young matron had dressed for a party in one of those expensive, low-cut fashions and presented herself for approval to her engineering-minded husband.

"I'm confused by that dress," he said. "Are you inside trying to get out or outside trying to get in?"

It's plain that you just can't please everybody. If the car makers were sure of being ninety percent right they could save millions.

Here's what happens to a car body style before you get a chance to turn your nose up at it on the street.

Stylists working with thousands of variations for three years finally decide on twenty. These are made into clay mock-ups at $25,000 each. Then the pick of these, with the best features of others, are made out of plaster or fibre glass. Add another $25,000 each. Then the one you finally get is built by hand at around $100,000 before the multi-million dollar tool-up begins.

Styling expense comes out finally to about $4,000 a car with mass production, which isn't too bad. Engineering changes average $58.00 per car.

Nobody really knows what style is except that it goes in one year and out the other. Human nature doesn't change though. People still want honest and fair treatment when they buy a car and good service after that doesn't cost too much.

A dealer who supplies them will outlast the styles.

IN OUR CHURCHES

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

By Rev. John I. Wittstock
Our Lady of Victory Church, Northville

My previous article dealt with the First Commandment of God. In this article I wish to treat of the Second Commandment.

Various forms of profanity are with some people, merely a bad habit. They curse and swear thoughtlessly, without any real interest to dishonor the name of God or to blaspheme against Him. They would, in many cases, conscientiously abstain from a false oath or perjured testimony which they know would be a violation of God's commandment. But if such people really understood the meaning of this commandment, they would realize that day after day and time after time, they are using the lips God gave them to show irreverence to Him.

A man's name is his individual and personal possession. His name represents him in the minds of others. Wherever his name is, there he is; whether it be in print or in lights, men think of him when they see his name. Honor to a man's name is honor to him and if we wish to honor God we will honor His name.

Much of the irreverence shown to God by the misuse of His name is due to a lack of knowing God as He is, all-wise, all-perfect, almighty; a lack of penetrating God's loving concern for His creatures, the depths of His mercy, the strictness of His justice, and the supreme dominion He exercises over all. When the true character of God is known and appreciated there will be reverence, compounded of filial fear, love and respect.

Our English language has a large vocabulary. It is not necessary to use God's name to show surprise or impatience. We need not punctuate our remarks with the name of Christ. This is using the name of God lightly and without good reason. It is taking God's name in vain. The angry man who spouts blasphemies is not always guilty of a serious sin; often he is the victim of a stunted vocabulary. But there is serious sin where a professor, for example, who in his classes, insults God by calling Him a myth.

Full-fledged blasphemy is speaking against God in a contemptuous, scornful or abusive manner. When such blasphemy proceeds from a hatred of God, it is a very serious sin against the second commandment. A man is guilty of cursing when he damns people, his wife or children.

It is serious business to call upon God to witness to the truth of what we say and so it should be done with judicious caution and only when necessary. It has been said that a great percentage of the witnesses in our law courts today are guilty of perjury. Perhaps the majority do not consider the oath they take as having any religious force, but only as a solemn declaration that the truth will be told. In such cases, they are just plain liars who bear false witness.

Let us love God with all our minds and hearts. May we use His name reverently in all our speech. God, in His generosity, blessed us with the gift of speech. May we use it for His honor and glory.

First Semester Exams Top Student Schedule

From The Top

An issue under great discussion at Northville High School is the question of standardized class rings. The Student Council talked with the salesman who handles the rings and viewed samples of standardized rings of other schools. Each school actually designed its own ring by choosing the shape, emblem and setting. The Council decided that it would be best if the entire student body could hear the salesman, so he will bring his presentation to the school in an assembly which is to be scheduled. The rings will be displayed for student viewing.

(Earlier this year, the Student Council members defeated the Student Lounge project which was proposed.)

If you were in town on January 12, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. you know that the Council completed its annual "Peasants for Polio" drive. Many thanks to all the students and townspeople who participated and contributed. The amount collected was $108.

The Student Council suggestion box, found in Mr. Quay's office mailbox, has housed very few suggestions this year. Each letter has been read to and discussed by the Council. But, judging from the number received, either the students are satisfied with the school system, or they aren't sufficiently opposed to any policies to suggest any improvements. The Council greatly appreciates all suggestions which have to do with the Council itself, faculty-student relationships, the cafeteria, or anything in school which someone feels isn't working as well as it could. The box is strictly for the convenience of the students, so if something in school — besides grades and exams — bothers you, why not write a note and slip it into the Student Council suggestion box?

All League Choir

Leslie G. Lee, choir director, announced the names of those students from Northville high school who will participate in the All-League Choir.

Representing NHS will be: sopranos — Christine Baretti, Lou Ann Casteel, Gail Hartner, and Diane McIsaac; altos — Marcia Clum, Nancy Bosak, Gretchen Schneider and Kristine Larson; baritone — Jim Drew, Bill Cargo, Robert Tugbull and David Lane; and tenors — Bill Elwell, Michael Harland, and Larry Forth. The Northville accompanist will be Linda Line.

The concerts will be presented in early February. Milford and Brighton will be the sites of the evening concerts. Day concerts will be presented at Bloomfield Hills and Holly. Northville is not on the schedule because it enjoyed a concert last year.

Congratulations to all!

Club Currents

Northville High School clubs have been busy during this month of January even though final exam pressures were prevalent.

January 24, Art Club members are going with the students of the art classes to the Detroit Institute of Art to see the Vincent Van Gogh art exhibition. Sponsoring the trip is Mr. Roy Pederson, high school art teacher and Art Club advisor. January 26, the Art Club will have a skating party for its members.

The Future Teachers Association is planning a banquet for February.

Forensic Club members went to see the Broadway musical, Camelot at the Fisher Theater in Detroit, January 16.

The Commercial Club is making plans for a dance to be held February 1.

The Girls Athletic League has begun a bowling tournament at Northville Lanes, Wednesday and Thursday nights for 12 weeks. Sixty girls attended the January 9th meeting, and are bowling either Wednesday or Thursday nights. Six G.A.L. members who were interested in basketball, went to a playing clinic at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, January 5.

The Future Nurses Association is busy preparing for a February dance. They are also continuing to work at Northville State Hospital and will also start working at the Plymouth State Convalescent Home as soon as the Home's volunteer's service is set up.

The Library Club is beginning a vertical file in the High School Library. They are reorganizing the magazine storage area to make room for 1963 magazines, and have been kept busy collecting delinquent fines from students who were anxious to take their final exams

Well, it's finally all over! Everyone is exhausted — teachers are busily correcting exams, figuring out grades, six-week averages, and final semester grades, and students are worrying about the results and recuperating.

Northville High School will finish its first semester tomorrow, January 25. Prior to this date were the long-awaited, but hardly-wanted exams. Monday, the students had their first exams. The other exams were taken Tuesday and Wednesday.

Now, one may wonder what is so difficult and exhausting about four, five or six one-and-a-half hour tests. Some do not realize that an exam usually accounts for a quarter of the final semester grade in a class. The three six-week and final exam grades are averaged to arrive at the final semester grade. Because of the high emphasis placed upon this letter quarter mark, some students spend long, late and exhausting days and nights cramming for the "zero hour." This

Staff Progresses With Yearbook

The Palladium staff, sponsored by Mr. Yahne, is doing its best to meet the numerous deadlines connected with the output of a yearbook.

On January ninth the Store-Spellman photographer spent the entire day recording, on film, the various activities, students, and locations of NHS. In planning the photo schedule the staff attempted to retain a feeling of reality and simplicity in accord with daily occurrences at the high school. Georgia Webb and Sandra Leigh Ronk helped the photographer arrange and seat the groups for the pictures, directed him to important locations, and recorded the names of the students being pictured. From the office, Carol Yahne announced where and when the groups

Varsity News

The Varsity Club will accept new candidates into the organization in the near future. The club policy, as outlined in the new constitution, which was adopted only last week, will be to omit the traditional initiation ceremony and substitute a vote of the club's members as the basis for admission. A reasonable majority of affirmative votes will gain an admission.

The "N" club held the first meeting of its four-team basketball league this past week. Sparking their teams to victory were Gary Grysiwicz and Dikran Ornekian who scored 23 and 20 points respectively. The two winning and the two losing teams will clash next Monday.

The club will attend a professional hockey game this week. This is the first in a series of activities aimed at the development of the "N" Club into one of Northville's finest and most active organizations under sponsors Mr. Horwath and Mr. David Longridge.

Debaters Win Again

The Northville Debate team has done it again... Won, that is, by defeating Bloomfield Hills and Holly High schools at the last League Tournament Debate, held at Northville, January 15. This brings the NHS score up to 12 wins and no losses. This makes the team almost League Champions.

How does it feel? Good? "You bet!" said one debater. "We faced our toughest competition with Bloomfield Hills. Our two teams exchanged stands for the conflict, so adaptation. But, on the whole, it turned out all right."

Indeed it did. Now, there is another plaque of merit which has been added to the collection adorning the walls of the speech room.

The next step is Districts; after that, Regionals, and after that? "Well, there is a State Championship that someone has to win..."

While oblivious Gordie Hammand madly leafs through his notes, Penny Balke, Debby Stafford, Diane Westphall and Brenda Coburn enjoy a joke. Frank Steinberger looks dubious and tries to get his "2 cents" in. Looking bored with the whole affair — perhaps, it's an expression of exhaustion — is Heidi Handorf. This was the scene before exams. Before that, these Hoof Prints staff members were busy putting together this edition.

Meet This Month's Student Personalities

Duna Penn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Penn of 45241 Grand River in Novi.

This young lady has attended schools in Arizona, California, nia, Houghton and Livonia, Michigan and finally came to rest at Northville when Duna was in the ninth grade.

Duna Penn

Throughout her four years at NHS, her interests have included the debate team (which hasn't lost yet!), music, preferably the accordion, and running errands for the Senior class.

By that last comment we mean that she has already begun to choose committees for that all important event, the Senior Prom.

Duna is the first girl to hold the office of Senior Class President for a good many years. When asked how she felt being elected to this position she replied, "I didn't know I was elected until I had won."

Soon all of her high school days will be in the past and only those plans for the future will remain. For Duna this is easy. She has been accepted at M.S.U. in Rochester, the sister college of Michigan State University. Of the four programs taught there, she has her eye on Scientific Engineering. We of the Hoof Prints staff wish her much success.

This "up and cumming" Junior Class President joined Northville in the ninth grade. After being asked what he thought of NHS, he emphatically stated, "It's great!"

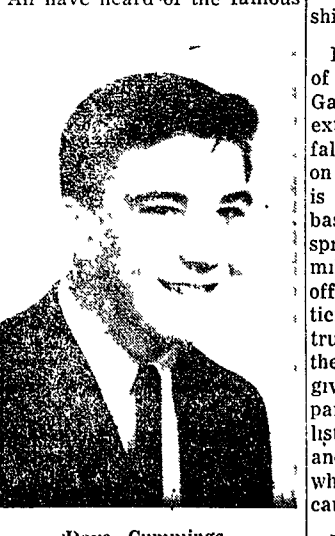

Dave is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Cumming of 39474 Burton Drive in Novi.

"Quite active" is the only way in which to describe this fellow. He is on the Mustang football and basketball squads and spends his extra time playing hockey and bowling. Since ninth grade he has been a Student Council member and not only that, he has a part time job at Southfield Bowling.

In school he is an average student and is taking college preparatory courses. Like most people he does have a favorite subject — history.

Dave's plans for the future are that he wants to attend Michigan State university and major in Business Management, he also hopes to play football on the MSU team.

All have heard of the famous

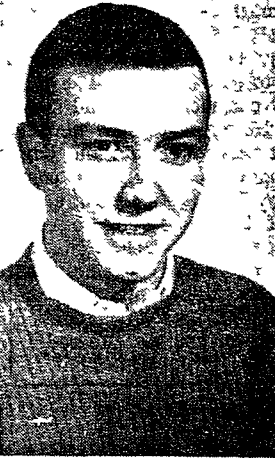

Dave Cummings

James Brothers, the Brother's Four, and the Kennedy brothers. But did you know that Northville High has a "brother team"? It happens to be that of the Davis brothers, Gary and

Bill Davis

Bill Gary, having shown his influence and leadership in the Sophomore class, was elected class president. Bill, not to be Northville this past summer after a years absence. During outdone, is the president of the Freshman class.

The Davises returned to that time, Bill and Gary lived in Wellesley Hills, Massachusetts, with their parents and sister Andy, who is ten. While there, their father was attending Massachusetts Institute of Technology on a Sloan Fellowship.

Besides being the presidents of their respective classes, Gary and Bill engage in many extra-curricular activities. This fall Gary was the star harrier on the cross-country team. He is now playing for the J.V. basketball team, and in the spring he plans to run the half mile in track. When Gary is off the athletic field, he participates in band, playing the trumpet. Being busy with all these extra-curriculars doesn't give Gary much time to take part in his favorite pastime, listening to progressive jazz and "hit" Broadway musicals while munching on hot Mexi can food.

Bill, like his brother, takes part in cross-country and freshman basketball. Instead of running the half mile, Bill runs the quarter mile in track. Bill is also on the Student Council, while his favorites are Italian foods and soft mood music.

Exam Complaints . . .

Twice a year, NHS students find it necessary to study for exams. It is only during these uncertain times that high school students are forced to make a concentrated effort toward learning the basic principles of the courses in which they have been sitting or participating for a whole semester. It is also during exam time that more complaints are voiced and heard than in the entire remainder of the school year.

Some students feel that an exam requires too much factual knowledge of a subject, or at least a better understanding of the course than they have time to muster up. The obvious solution to these needless panic, or would-be catastrophe, is forethought. Students should handle their courses with the future exam in mind, so that the need for "cramming" at the last minute is eliminated. This, of course, does not mean that students should not be worried about learning something, too, in the process.

Another sounder complaint against exams is the probability of students having a "bad day" or a period of "forgetfulness" which often results from built-up tensions. But, if one's mind is orientated toward this day, then chances of a blank-out are less likely. These "off-days" do come about, however, as can easily be voiced by the editor. The most natural solution to this problem is to schedule exams as a series of tests, and to use the average of these as the exam grade.

Those in favor of exams maintain that they are necessary to test the student's power to apply what he has learned without the use of the text it also shows which student is analytical and which student really understands what he has been exposed to. It is on the final examination that generalizations and application of facts are tested.

After considering both sides of the question, I would like to offer a new and unheard of solution, which will neither make or break the situation. Although I feel that exams are important, I do not believe that we should be judged on what we can recall in an hour and a half exam, but rather, on our entire achievement in the course; i.e. the student would receive one semester grade which would be an average of the entire semester's work. This would do away with the complaints of "no time", "off days", "retaining knowledge", and the numerous other excuses ingenious students are able to conjure up.

Gossip . . .

Gossip, originally a god-parent, soon came to mean a friend or acquaintance, either of the parents of the child baptized, or of the other god-parents, and hence women friends of the mother present at the birth.

This definition no longer means anything to our society to who, gossip, has malicious connotations. A gossip is one who spreads idle talk or rumors or hearsay. Just as the modern definition is a distortion of the original one, so is the end result of a rumor is an extreme distortion of reality — the process is gossip. Whether it be "man-talk" or "woman-talk" any kind of gossip can be harmful.

There are two types of gossip — the intentional and accidental. The intentional gossip is spread by a person who exaggerates the truth to create excitement, hate, interest — perhaps, he exaggerates to boost his ego. This, he tries to do with no consideration about whom he steps on. It is he who "promises never to tell. He tells of experiences, knowing from the first time that his words will be interpreted the wrong way by his listeners.

This situation has occurred many times — especially in the high school. Tell someone an incident; he misinterprets it and tells it to someone else, who in turn misinterprets and relays it. Apply "forgetting" to "gossip" and you have a distorted rumor.

Next time you hear a rumor, check to see that it is true, and that you don't become a gossip! B.C.

Say "Cheese" . . .

Almost anyone, who has ever listened to the radio or has records, has heard at one time or another that well-known song, "Smile", which is based upon the theme that no matter what happens one should "smile" or, in other words, "grin and bear it" And how true this is! However, this editor is very sorry and sad to say that people, particularly the teenagers, are doing just the opposite. If one looks at people objectively, one would notice that the mouths and the lines of the mouth are going DOWN. Not only does this create an unpleasant expression, but it also creates a feeling of discord and tension. People who have sullen expressions are, naturally, considered disagreeable.

Now, at this point many of you, the readers, probably consider this a ridiculous topic to be editorializing upon. But, read on! Would YOU enjoy being in the company of, or employing someone who never smiles; and, if he or she does, it disappears as soon as something tragic occurs, no matter how big or insignificant it is? Even though it is unknown to many people, the expression, and whether or not a smile occurs or not, is not controlled by physical actions or injuries. If you don't believe this, look at a baby. It smiles at the oddest times and under conditions that an adult would probably have a tragic expression.

Sometime look at yourself in the mirror — and take a good look at your natural expression, maybe, just maybe, you are one of the people I'm writing about. H.H.

TIMING another typing exercise is Miss Betty Leavitt, high school commercial teacher.

Teacher of the Month Miss Leavitt Interviewed

Have you ever bathed a steer? Northville High's new commercial teacher Miss Betty Leavitt certainly has.

Teaching commercial subjects and washing hereofers seem to be an odd combination, but Miss Leavitt was raised on a 300-acre farm near Lansing, where she got her "steer-washing" experience. She was very active in 4-H projects, beside doing her homework and regular chores. As a lasting remembrance, our Miss Leavitt has a scar on her foot where she was tread upon by one of her steers.

To change the subject, Miss Leavitt attended Central Michigan University, where she majored in commercial courses. She gave us useful ideas about attending college. "Just being there," she says, "is a wonderful experience. You have to learn to live, to live with people, and you are shocked by the fact that you don't know all the answers."

Miss Leavitt liked high school and always had a lot of fun. She amused us by saying, "I'm sure I couldn't have gotten along without it." Northville High pleases her very much, as it is similar to St. John's; where, incidentally, she maintained a "B plus" average. She told us we should be proud to attend NHS. (of course we are!), and that we have an "excellent group of teachers and administration."

To delve into her private life, Miss Leavitt's favorite sport is swimming, besides watching football and basketball and dancing. In her spare time, she enjoys such domestic activities as reading, sewing and working in the flower garden.

SPEAKING for The Record

by Bill Sliger

It was on January 17, 1903 that a company of some 200 employees started producing electricity for about 22,000 people of the 300,000 living in the 28 square mile area of Detroit.

On January 17, 1963 that company could point to a record of growth and achievement that reflects its emphasis on service and progress.

It now employs 9,500 men and women and serves the electrical needs of more than 4½ million people living in a 7,600 square mile area of Southeastern Michigan.

We're referring, of course, to the Detroit Edison company, now observing its sixtieth anniversary.

By way of celebration Edison office managers throughout the Wayne district held a luncheon last Thursday and invited representatives of the various community newspapers.

George Matthews, recently appointed manager of the Wayne district (and, incidentally, the son-in-law of Northville's School Superintendent and Mrs. Russell Amerman), was our host.

It gave us an opportunity to talk to our local Edison manager — Bill Scott in Northville, as well as Harry Wagenschutz, a Northville resident who heads the Plymouth office — and also renew acquaintances with fellow newsmen, who we see all too infrequently.

I thought that a newspaperman pretty well summed up the success of Detroit Edison when he noted that he had never met an employee of the firm who was not proud to say "I work for Detroit Edison".

Big or little, this is a mighty accomplishment for any employer.

Here's an interesting item that could scare the "day-light" right out of our local schools (and officials).

It's a study currently underway by authorities of the Michigan and National Education Associations on school-building design.

Specifically, they're wondering if "windowless" schools wouldn't help students to concentrate better.

But before we rush out to buy a load of bricks it might be wise to wait for results of the entire study. Another consideration: the school building itself disappearing or becoming only a coordination center as education moves from the classroom to the universe.

Following are a few possibilities for the school of the future.

SUBJECT MATTER: for several years, educators have recognized that the accumulation of knowledge is increasing so fast that teachers cannot reach all the facts that are known in a given area.

So subject matter teaching, in math for example, is being taught so students understand the theory behind the facts. And, along with this, goes the idea that man can never stop learning.

TESTS: there will, undoubtedly, be fewer "outside" tests — those initiated by groups outside the local school system — which have already come under fire from school administrators. It is wasteful to give so many tests, the administrators say, because many of the tests measure the same thing — academic ability.

GRADES: an articulate group of educators, whose number is growing, says that grouping pupils on the basis of age is illogical, because age alone has little to do with the level of ability of the student.

Grouping on the basis of grades in each subject is better. But the best is abolishing grades, and abolishing report cards, too. Instead, each pupil should be taught, these educators say, as much and as fast as he can absorb it.

Lake St. Clair Island Plan Boosted

THE BANDWAGON promoting an idea to build a chain of islands in Lake St. Clair is getting crowded, but when it will get rolling and how far is anybody's guess.

Detroit's City Plan Commission, the State Conservation Commission and U. S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., have all indicated an interest in the proposal set forth late last year by Paul Lutz, aide to Secretary of State James M. Hare.

Each agrees extensive studies would be required, however, before a decision could be made on whether and how to implement the plan.

THE PROPOSED chain of 20 islands might well fall to the federal government, Lutz said, because Lake St. Clair is an international body of water.

The plan for the islands could well emphasize the international character by giving the recreational facilities proposed themes from other lands. Lutz's ideas included a Tivoli garden on one island, similar to the giant amusement spot in Copenhagen, Denmark; an oriental island with Japanese cherry trees and a tea garden; one with Dutch windmills, tulip fields, and canals; or similar German, Polish, French, Irish or Italian themes.

Scores of recreational facilities could be incorporated into the island chain. These would include bathing beaches, marinas, nature trails, riding stables, picnic tables, ice fishing areas, and others, Lutz said.

ONE OF THE main advantages of the idea, according to its author, is the flexible time schedule.

"If started at once, an island could be created each year for the next 20 years," Lutz said. "If the leisure time requirements of the area demanded it, the job could be done in 10 years, or five."

What is needed now is just what Hart, the Conservation Department and Detroit area civic leaders are discussing: studies by competent engineers, planners and conservation experts.

IMPROVED economic conditions, new highways, and increased motel and resort facilities throughout the state gave Michigan its best tourist year in history during 1962.

State Tourist Council Director Robert J. Furlong said these and increased promotional activities helped induce vacation travelers in Michigan to spend more than $680 million last year. This was a 5 to 7 per cent increase over the industry's business in 1961.

"This increase is especially significant because Michigan's annual income from tourism had remained at about the $650 million level since 1958 while many competing states were recording increases," Furlong said.

THE IMPROVED highway system plays a major role in the tourist industry, said Furlong.

"The greater capacity of freeways for traffic volumes, speed and safety means these limited access highways are drawing travelers from some of the older routes," he said. "This can be quite beneficial to communities close to the freeways, while less conveniently located areas may lose some 'pass-through' business." Several communities are counteracting the traffic pattern shifts by stepping up their promotional efforts to attract tourists, the Council director noted. "With adequate informational signs, our highways will continue to encourage even more recreational travel."

A GROUP of newspaper officials have been enlisted in the attempt to familiarize Michigan citizens with the content of the proposed Constitution, which will be voted on April 1.

Ink White, St. Johns editor, who served in the Constitutional Convention, is continuing as head of the Convention's public information committee. He has gained support from newsmen representing 14 areas.

The group, headed by White, plans to help coordinate the presentation of information about the new document in Michigan newspapers before the voters pass judgment on it.

The newsmen participating on the committee, some representing daily papers and other weeklies, are spread throughout the state. They represent the Tecumseh Herald, Manistiquie Pioneer Tribune, Gaylord Herald Times, Monroe Evening News, Coldwater Daily Reporter, Crosswell Jeffersonian, Wayland Globe, Midland Daily News, Brown City Banner, Petoskey News-Review, Standish Independent, Fremont Times-Indicator, and West Side Courier, in Detroit.

Here's How Sides Line Up In Constitution Question

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series about the proposed new Michigan constitution. Additional articles will appear in subsequent weeks.

Much of the support for the proposed new Michigan constitution which the state's voters will pass judgment upon at the April, 1963, election is coming from the so-called nonpartisan organizations.

Urging adoption of the new document are these major groups:

—Michigan League of Women Voters, which has 3,700 members in 33 local chapters.

—Michigan Education Association, representing 70,000 school teachers and employees.

—Michigan Municipal League composed of city and village officials from 430 municipalities.

—Michigan Farm Bureau, first to announce its support of the document and originally opposed to constitutional revision, represents about 70,000 farm families.

—Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, which has about 300,000 members in 2,000 local units.

Others who have indicated they will soon make a decision on the proposed constitution include the Michigan Retailers Association, representing mercantile interests in the state, and the Michigan Townships Association, a group which includes township officials throughout the state.

Opposition to the new document appears to have a narrower base. Lined up against the constitution are:

—Michigan State AFL-CIO, which has about 600,000 members. Two affiliates of the parent union, Michigan State Employees Union and the Michigan Federation of Typographical Unions, individually have announced opposition.

—Michigan Farmers Union, a group smaller than the Farm Bureau and strikingly opposite in philosophy.

—Michigan state Grange, which passed by only a bare majority a resolution opposing the new constitution; those in opposition feared the new document gave too much representation to metropolitan areas.

—Michigan Branch, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which has its greatest concentration of members in Flint, Pontiac and Detroit.

—Michigan Justices of the Peace Association, representing 6,000 justices.

—Citizens Committee to Defend Michigan's Constitution, a recently formed group headed by State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

—The Democratic party of Michigan.

There is some overlapping of membership among groups supporting the document and between those endorsing and opposing it. A pamphlet summarizing the most significant changes proposed in the new constitution may be secured by addressing a postcard to: Con-Con Office, Civic Center, Lansing, Michigan.

Roger Babson

Small Business Not Dead

Babson Park, Mass. — Now and then I hear someone say that the day of small business is over.

That seems foolish to me. Is this really so? To be successful does an operation have to be vast, enormous, colossal? The answer is no ... in spite of the growing numbers of "mile-long" supermarkets and giant industrial complexes.

Like thousands of others, I have always liked the personal touch, the "Good morning, Mr. Babson, I have saved your papers for you." So long as you and I want this kind of neighborly, friendly service, we must be optimistic about the future of small business in this country.

HUGE SIZE does not necessarily mean huge success. This fact reminds me of that fighter of earlier days, Bob Fitzsimmons, who became famous for his quotation, "The bigger they come, the harder they fall." Philosophers might even point out that bones of extinct and childless prehistoric monsters decorate our museums.

But take a look at the tiny insects, the microscopic microbes, for instance. They have done very well down through the ages, and their descendants are still keeping busy and fit, — and may one day exterminate man himself.

I do not mean by this that the small businessman can just coast along without a worry. The mark of the successful independent in business is his industry, his absolute determination to give his utmost in personal consideration and service. He must present himself as an individual that the buying public can rely on completely. This is surely not easy.

But it is encouraging to realize how many tens of thousands of small businessmen throughout the country have the imagination and the ambition to succeed and do succeed in this way.

I HAVE watched with much interest the development of electronics and aerospace businesses over recent years.

While the big boys might have been expected to hog the field, countless small producers have also done a tremendous amount of the experimentation, research, and actual production of new, complicated items. Analysis of available figures proves that most smaller concerns are getting along extremely well, not just in civilian production and trade, but also in the booming aerospace, defense, and other electronics fields.

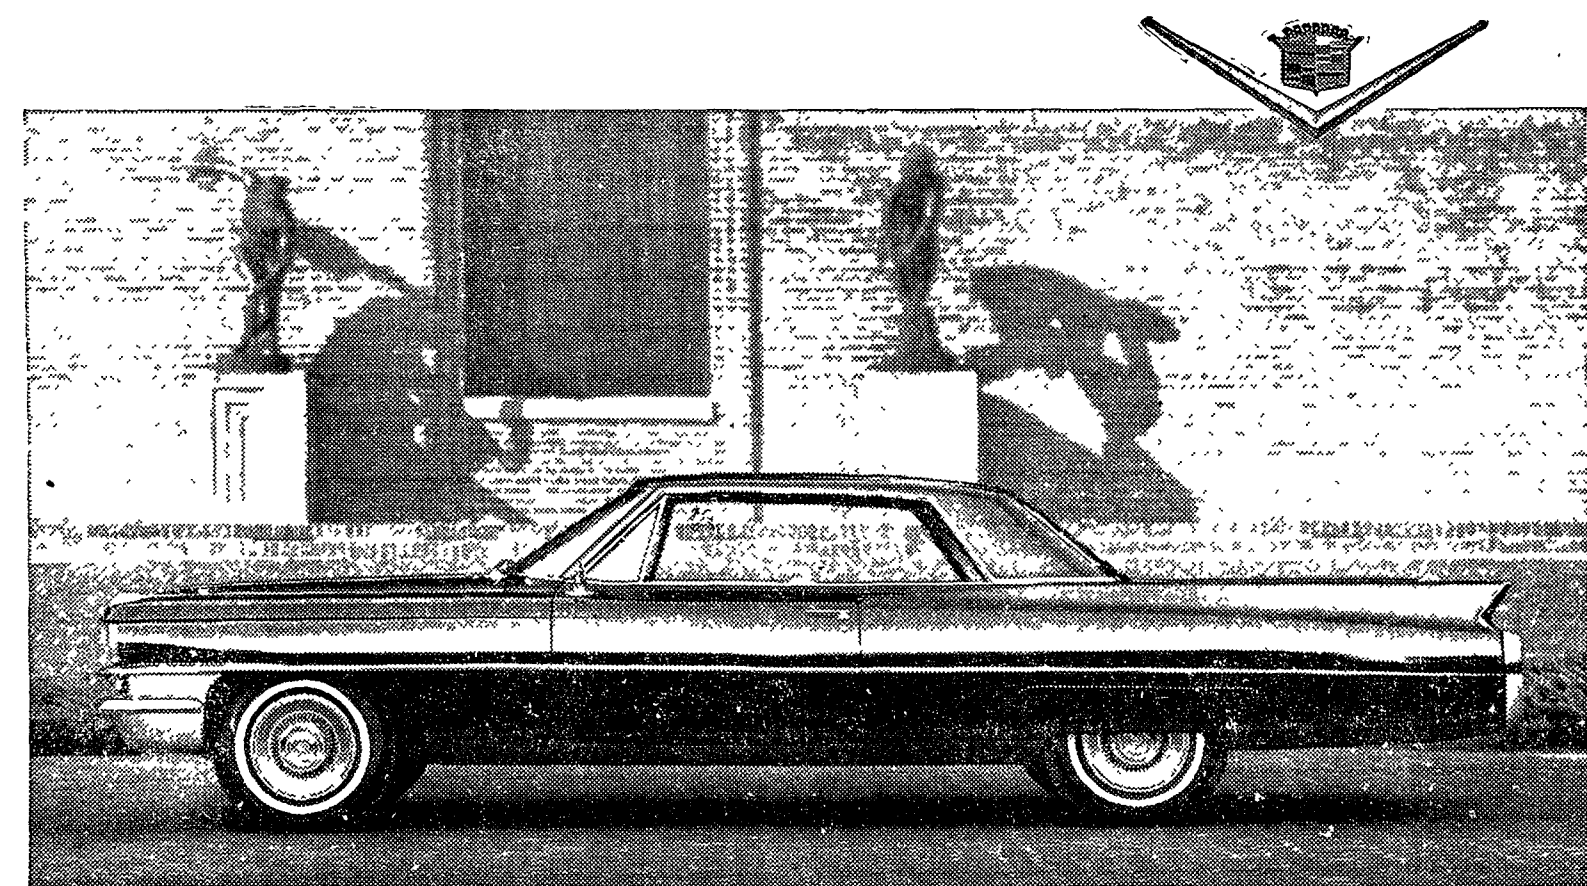

Some time ago I heard of a perfect example of what can be done by a small businessman with get-up-and-go. A large prime contractor bought and installed in his tiny plant costly machine-tool equipment. The proprietor of this almost one-man shop was, of course, a highly trained expert. He put in endless hours of overtime, operated the complex machines personally, and turned out finished work, on schedule.

THIS INCIDENT reveals how success can be attained by businessmen who may rate very low in number of employees and dollar assets, but who rate very high in personal industry, stick-to-itiveness, and talent. If you look around, you will find similar examples in your own locality. They prove better than statistics and the most logical theories that the roots of economic success go far deeper than dollar capital.

It is true that you cannot operate a business without capital, but I am sure that the White House does not measure capital only by bank balances. The White House desires that any man or woman should be able to "capitalize" on skill, diplomacy, patience, good taste, and other intangible resources. Too many think only of going to the bank for the needed capital, and never think of tapping their own reserves of mind, energy and spirit.

Large business concerns feel that Robert Kennedy, the Attorney General and the President's brother, treats big business unfairly, and I am sympathetic to their position; it would be impossible to build up foreign trade without "big business" to fight for us. However, I know that the White House wants to help "small business" in every legitimate way.

The enthusiastic acceptance being accorded the 1963 Cadillac is without precedent.

This comes as no surprise to anyone who has driven it. Have you? Your personal appraisal at the wheel will reveal the many exclusive new motoring developments that make such popularity inevitable.
