Northville area citizens will pause briefly Thursday to pay tribute to those who gave their lives in our nation's wars.

Honored here, as throughout the nation will be servicemen who died in the Civil War, First and Second World Wars and the Korean conflict.

Novi Sewer Route Set

While an exact starting date is "not yet pinned down," Oakland county DPW officials reported this week that plans are near completion for construction of the Novi sanitary trunk sewer through Northville.

The line will give Novi some 2,900 taps in the Wayne county Middle Rouge system and represents the first sanitary sewer system available in Novi.

Specifically, the line will extend from 10 Mile road in Novi to a point in the southeast corner of Northville where it will connect with the existing interceptor.

Route diagrams through the city of Northville were studied by the Northville council last week. The line enters the city approximately at the intersection of the C & O railroad and Novi road. It extends southward on the west side of the railroad, under the new Eight Mile road cut-off, down Oakland then along the Mill pond, down Griswold to Main, cutting south across Main at Park Place and westward to River

College Debate Slated Monday

A full explanation plus a pro and con discussion of the community college proposal will be presented Monday in a public meeting at 8 p.m. at the community building.

Sponsored by the Northville P.T.A. and board of education, the session will be moderated by Nelson C. Schrader.

Speakers will include: William Crump, Northville school board president; Dr. Eric Bradner, president of Schoolcraft college; Harold E. Fischer, chairman of the college board of trustees; and Mrs. Jane K. Moehle, board vice chairman.

Debating the college issue will be two members of a local community college study committee: Mrs. H. B. Price taking the negative, and Kenneth Conley the affirmative.

His Inventions Win State Praise

A Northville resident was one of 55 Michigan inventors honored Tuesday night at a Cobo Hall banquet celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Michigan Patent Law Association.

He is William C. Wiley, 41845 Eight Mile road, who is manager of the applied physics laboratory for the research laboratories division of The Bendix corporation in Southfield.

Wiley has 32 patents to his credit with a half-dozen more pending. A number of his patents, all created to solve technical problems or broaden the company's product base, involve new types of electron multipliers.

In Wiley's words, "an electron multiplier does just what it implies — it multiplies electrons. As an electron strikes one end of the device a million to a billion electrons will come out the other end."

There are a number of applications in science for electron multipliers, Wiley explains. Many are used to detect light.

One of the first electron multipliers invented by Wiley is now orbiting in a satellite called the "Orbiting Solar Observatory" launched by the National Aeronautics and Space Agency a year ago. It is being used to detect the ultraviolet light from the sun, which will not penetrate the earth's atmosphere and so must be measured from a high-altitude

The day's activities will get underway at 9 a.m. "sharp," says Rex Holloman, American Legion post commander, when paraders step out.

Assembling place for paraders is post quarters. From there, the parade will move from Dunlap to Center street and then to Main and down Wing to Oakwood cemetery on Cady street where an American Legion-VFW firing squad will salute the dead. There, a prayer will be offered before the parade continues down Rogers street to Rural Hill cemetery.

En route, a stop will be made at the bridge overlooking the Rouge River to drop a wreath in memory of the Navy's war dead. There, a salute will be fired and Legion Chaplain Mrs. Mable Cooley will pray briefly.

At Rural Hill, Reverend Robert Spradling, pastor of the First Baptist church, will lead the services; Harry Smith, Main Street school principal, and a colonel in the Army re-

School Sets Driver Ed Pay, Policy

In one of its shortest sessions of the year, Northville's board of education approved paying "driver education teachers a flat rate per course and discussed the program Monday night.

Each driver education teacher is to receive $1,000 for each 30-pupil session, the board decided. If a teacher has less than 30 pupils, his salary will be reduced proportionately.

High School Principal Fred Stefanski recommended to the board that if the policy of using only high school teachers in driver education courses is changed, a summer program director be appointed.

Stefanski, however, urged that the program remain "a building program."

It is important, he said in a letter to the board, that the teachers that teach these students know them. "We find that much of driver's education is attitude development," he noted. "Being able to observe them throughout the year with us is an important aspect and aids in the teaching of driver education."

He added, "If it becomes necessary that teachers from throughout the system be used in this and other summer programs, teachers not associated with the buildings involved, it is my humble opinion that these programs be put under a summer school director."

The board postponed changing the present program set-up, but approved letting this year's summer program stand as set up.

Board Member James Kipper objected to using only high school teachers in the program, declaring, "There has been discrimination enough against men in this system. I'd not like to see it extended to driver education."

Speaker for graduation, announced this week, is C. Russell Wentworth, a Michigan State university alumnus who joined the university's staff in 1961 as office manager of the office of admissions and scholarships. He is currently assistant director.

Public school classes end for summer vacation on June 12.

for a number of other applications.

One of these involves the development of a pair of night vision goggles. If successful, this would permit one to see at night about as well as one can see in the daytime without any artificial illumination.

In a lighter vein, Wiley notes that such a pair of goggles has some interesting ramifications.

"It would mean that darkness no longer affords cover and any night-time activity which depends upon secrecy is in danger of being eradicated. This is fine for crime, but what about lovers' lanes?"

Wiley asks.

Another Wiley invention of note is the mass spectrometer, a scientific instrument which can sort out and identify molecules or atoms of which matter is composed.

It sorts out the basic building blocks of nature by weight, which is usually sufficient to identify the particle, Wiley points out. Wiley's new mass spectrometer can sort out and identify all of the different kinds of particles which may be in a substance in a few millionths of a second, and can do this 100,000 times per second.

"The unit which we use to measure time in this instrument is as much shorter than a second as a second is shorter than one year," he noted. The instrument is so fast it can follow the various chemical reactions that take place during an explosion.

Wiley is a graduate of the University of Illinois, where he majored in physics. He joined Bendix immediately after graduation 14 years ago.

The Cobo Hall banquet was attended by all of Michigan's U.S. senators, congressmen, deans of law and engineering schools and the U. S. Commissioner of Patents. Guest speaker was Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh.

In recognition of the contributions of Michigan's leading inventors, Governor George Romney proclaimed May "Michigan Inventors' Month."

From there the paraders will proceed to Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens at 9 a.m. where Reverend R. LaVere Webster, pastor of the Methodist church,

We All Scream . . .

The kiddies haven't been forgotten in the Memorial Day program.

As usual, C. E. Langfield of Northville Laboratories will be on hand following the ceremonies at Rural Hill cemetery to distribute free ice cream bars.

Mr. Langfield has carried on this custom for some 20 years in memory of his father.

And it's appreciated to the tune of some 2,000 bars which are gobbled up annually by young and old alike.

will lead them in services.

In Wixom, the VFW post under the command of Forrest Sims will conduct Memorial day activities.

Post members will be assembling at the post at 6 a.m. They'll hold first services at 7:20 a.m. in the Wixom cemetery with services following in Richardson cemetery, Commerce cemetery, Walled Lake cemetery and Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens.

The parade's scheduled to begin forming at 10 a.m. in the Big Value store parking lot and will step out at 11.

Leading the marchers will be Walled Lake Chief of Police James Decker and the Walled Lake high school band. The paraders will come to a rest on West Lake drive where Reverend J. Moran Hill, pastor of St. Ann's Episcopal church in Walled Lake, will lead service at the World War II monument.

City Hall's Last Stand

A demolition crew started tearing down Northville's 119-year-old city hall Tuesday.

City Manager Bruce Pott-hoff estimated the project would be completed in less than 10 days.

Construction of the city's new $274,000 city hall-library-fire hall is scheduled to get underway as soon as possible. City offices are now located at 122 North Wing where they will remain until opening of the new facility probably in January.

Seniors Eye Graduation

Some 155 Northville high school seniors are marking two dates in red on their calendars: June 9 when they'll be attending baccalaureate services and June 13, graduation.

Speaker for graduation, announced this week, is C. Russell Wentworth, a Michigan State university alumnus who joined the university's staff in 1961 as office manager of the office of admissions and scholarships. He is currently assistant director.

Public school classes end for summer vacation on June 12.

Move Polls For June 10 School Vote

Polling places for the Northville school district June 10 election have been changed from the community building to the Main street elementary school.

The switch was made so that voters may use machines.

Earlier School Superintendent Russell Amerman had feared that it would be necessary to use paper ballots because city machines located in the community building — and normally used by the school district — are locked until the recount of the April 1 con-con vote is complete.

It was learned this week, however, that it was legally possible to switch polling places. And Northville township gave the school district permission to use its machines, which were not included in the recount districts.

In addition to deciding upon two school board members from a field of three candidates, school district voters will also decide upon the question of annexation to the North-west Wayne County Community College district.

In the local school board race Edward F. Angove and Wilfred C. Becker, incumbents and William C. Soellner, Jr., will compete for two four-year terms.

Superintendent Amerman noted this week that only taxpayers electors will be permitted to vote on proposition three of the college question.

This proposal obligates Northville to assume its pro-rata share of the bonded indebtedness of the existing college district, which is a 20-year building and site bond for $2,435,000 dated October 1, 1962.

A tax-paying elector is defined as a qualified and registered elector having property assessed for taxes in any part of the district, or the lawful husband or wife of such person if otherwise qualified.

For the community college to pass all three proposals must carry — granting annexation, approving a one-mill levy and assuming the indebtedness.

Construction of Schoolcraft college is scheduled to get underway in a matter of weeks with classes set to open in the fall of 1964. The college will be located on Haggerty road at Seven Mile.

The district is presently composed of Plymouth, Livonia, Garden City and Clarenceville. South Redford school district will also vote on the annexation question June 10.

Applications for absentee ballots may now be made at the board of education offices at the Main street school. They are available until 2 p.m. Saturday, June 8.

Township Airs Water, Sewer Planning Projects

Water, sewers, development and planning presented problems for the Northville township board meeting in special session Monday night.

In rapid order the board considered:

- creation of a special district to provide water for some 175 homes in the southeast section of the township where wells are drying up;

- entrance into a comprehensive two-year master plan study conducted by the township's new planning consultants, Vilcan-Leman Associates, at a cost of some $22,000 of which 75 per cent would be paid by the federal government;

- construction of a sanitary sewer along Seven Mile road from Marilyn road to Northville road at an estimated cost of $80,000 to be paid through pre-sale of sewer taps to two prospective developers.

Each of the issues gave rise to some differences of opinion and are certain to come up again next Tuesday at the board's regular meeting.

The board's first order of business concerned the water problem.

A dozen residents of Plymouth Gardens, a development of 16 homes in the $30,000-plus class overlooking Phoenix Lake, attended the meeting. Noticeably absent were residents of Ambrose Estates and the remaining stricken area east of Bradner along Five Mile road from Marilyn to Park Lane.

Three months ago representatives of the entire area appealed to the board for help in securing water. Since then, the board has learned that possible sources exist both from Detroit and the city of Plymouth.

Monday night Supervisor R. D. Merriam announced that legal and engineering details had been completed for preparation of petitions that must be circulated to initiate a special assessment action for construction of a water system.

Merriam cautioned the homeowners that cost figures to date were only preliminary and were not to be considered accurate.

He explained that the assessments could be levied by two methods — either by lot or on a front-foot basis.

While there are 175 houses in the area under consideration, the supervisor noted that there are 386 lots, and a total of 160 acres. Using the tentative cost figures, Merriam said the overall figure including taps at the property was some $160,600. On the basis of 386 lots, this would bring the per lot cost to some $417. In addition each house would be charged a tap fee of $200 for a total estimated assessment per house of $617. The supervisor noted that it had not yet been determined whether or not this house tap fee could be included in the assessment or would have to be paid in cash.

On the basis of a 10-year assessment of $417 the yearly payment would be $57; at $617 it would be $84, he explained. Merriam also pointed out that the assessment period could be stretched to a maximum of 18 years.

Attorney James Littell explained that before public hearings may be called and the special assessment procedure undertaken the property owners must produce petitions signed by at least 51 per cent of the property owners "of record."

It was also noted that it would be possible to construct the water system for a portion of the entire area but that the cost per property owner would increase.

A spokesman for the Plymouth Gardens residents said that petitions would be circulated as soon as they are prepared — presumably by Friday.

Supervisor Merriam noted that Detroit had not yet answered Northville's request for water through existing Livonia and Plymouth township lines. He called the city of Plymouth route the most likely source.

Trustee Wilson Tyler disputed Merriam on this point calling for written statements from Plymouth township and Livonia officials confirming their willingness to permit connection to their line. He called for a motion which died for lack of a second when other board members saw little reason for the action "if the source is not available from Detroit."

The proposed application for a federal grant under the government's so-called "701 plan" was left to Attorney Littell for study and report at next Tuesday's meeting.

It would include an inventory of present conditions, outlines for residential and facilities areas, economic base analysis, thorough plan, future land use and maps.

The idea drew praise from Trustee Donald Robinson, but criticism from Attorney Littell, who suggested it was expensive for an area as small as the township.

Finally, the board encountered more difficulty in deciding whether a proposal to build the Seven Mile road sewer was a good or bad deal for the township.

The project is directly related to proposed developments on Seven Mile road.

A public hearing to consider rezoning for one of the development projects has been called by the planning commission for June 20. It involves a 3½-acre parcel across the corner of Seven Mile and Marilyn roads, and a 55-acre parcel adjoining to the north.

R-4 zoning is sought for the smaller parcel for construction of a convalescent home-hospital, described as a 75-bed, two-story building. The larger parcel would be rezoned R-1-H Country Homes to permit a development of homes. The entire project is proposed by Dr. Waldemar E. Gyzynski of Livonia and is estimated at $300,000 to $400,000.

Sheldon Hayes, owner of a 90-acre parcel further west on Seven Mile road, has joined Gyzynski in seeking the sewer facility. Hayes plans a development of homes on the site in the future.

To date the two developers have financed a study to determine the feasibility of the sewer at a cost of some $1,400. Now they propose to buy 100 taps each at a cost of $400 per tap to pay for the cost of the trunk line sewer, estimated at $80,000.

Trustee Robinson took a firm stand against trading tap fees for sewer construction funds.

He would prefer a "pay-back" plan which would call for payment of construction of the sewer by the developers with funds to be repaid from future tap-in fees. Robinson reasoned that the township was losing a portion of the tap charge by giving up the full fee in return for construction cost.

Supervisor Merriam noted that the township was gaining a trunk sewer line and desirable development without cost to the taxpayer or a bonding program. Trustee A. M. Lawrence agreed with the supervisor's position. Attorney Littell also noted that the line benefited other properties along Seven Mile road opening up both residential and industrial development potential.

The matter was left for further review by the board and remains subject to the rezoning action.

THE FAST PACE OF PROGRESS

It wasn't so many years ago that the average automobile mechanic diagnosed car troubles like the country dentist working on his unfortunate patients. The story goes that the dentist had a stock reply for his victim whenever he hollered that he had pulled the wrong tooth: "Calm yourself friend, I'm coming to it."

Changes in all branches of industry, in fact, are moving so fast that it is estimated that the average engineer now graduating from school has only half his normal working life ahead of him unless he's prepared to return to school for refresher courses on his specialty.

Automobile mechanics, for instance, must keep going back to factory schools, just to learn how to use newer scientific tools. That's a very real bonus in efficiency you get when you have your car serviced at a franchised dealer's garage.

Even the new 24-month warranties that the car industry is so justly proud of are helping to make our new cars even better. Statistical records of part failures must now be kept up to date on a national scale, which enables the manufacturer to spot immediately those part failures that consistently cause the most trouble and remedy them.

Our new Fords are shining examples of this modern progress. Why not drop in for a demonstration drive soon?

"I look upon every day to be lost, in which I do not make a new acquaintance."

— Samuel Johnson

WILLOWBROOK ADDITIONS — Mr. and Mrs. John Holroyde and their two sons, Michael (left) and Jackie, are newcomers to the Novi area.

From Maine to Michigan, there's no person who "feels more like a queen" than a Novi housewife.

Mrs. John Holroyde reigns supreme in her home as the lone female — she's surrounded by six males.

Although two dogs and a cat are included in that number, they're still like members of the family.

"We have two German Shepherds named Fritz and Huster whom we exhibit in dog shows and Kissy, our angora cat," said Mrs. Holroyde. "We're one big happy family."

Michael, who is seven, and five year-old Jackie love the animals, according to Mrs. Holroyde. They also like to play on the big new lot. "In need of more space for the whole family to move about, the Holroydes moved from Farmington into their new home at 23696 Willowbrook."

Mr. Holroyde is a sales representative for Allied Chemical. He claims Old Orchard Beach, Maine, as his home town.

Mrs. Holroyde is also from Maine — Bangor to be exact. "We knew each other in high school," explained Mrs. Holroyde, "but we weren't married until later when my husband was in the army."

When his hitch was up and after Mr. Holroyde graduated as a chemical engineer from the University of Maine, the Holroydes were traveling quite a bit while Mr. Holroyde was training as a sales representative.

They moved to Michigan two years ago.

The Holroydes are members of St. Andrews church in Livonia. But most of their spare time is devoted to grooming their two pets for dog shows.

A dog, too, threatens to unseat Mrs. Holroyde from her unique position as the lone female in the family.

"We're thinking of buying a female to enter her in the puppy class," noted Mrs. Holroyde.

New Teacher Appointed At St. Paul's Day School

A graduate of Concordia Teachers college in River Forest, Illinois, Miss Carol Radke will be the new elementary teacher at St. Paul's Lutheran Day school this fall.

She succeeds Miss Ruth Elison, who will be teaching in St. Peter's Lutheran school of Arlington Heights, Illinois.

Miss Radke, a native of Lyons, Illinois with a B.S. in education from Concordia, will also serve as one of the church's youth counselors and will use her organ and piano talents in the congregation.

Early enrollment applications for the 1963-64 school year are now being received in the school office at East and Elm streets.

Aid for Guidance Clinic

The proposed Northwestern Child Guidance clinic last week received support from United Community Services.

UCS pledged $5,000 to the clinic and "continued support for three years until the clinic can receive local support," according to Mrs. Crispin Hammond of Northville, clinic president.

The $5,000 grant is slated to be given to the clinic in payments starting this September and continuing through December.

Mrs. Hammond noted, that with the promise of UCS funds, the clinic has begun "actively looking for staff members and will be able to open its doors this September."

The clinic, which earlier this month received legislative authorization will operate in Eloise.

Northville school district is among the nine districts which have pledged monetary support to the clinic. Northville agreed to give the clinic 25 cents for each child enrolled in the district.

She Sits to Go Abroad

"Dreams do come true," says a retired minister's wife, "especially if there are youngsters around to help them along." That's the word from Mrs. Harriet Gunther of 23870 West LeBost drive who, after three years of scrimping and hoarding babysitting money, has enough saved for a European tour.

Mrs. Gunther, wife of Fred Gunther, a Baptist minister for 25 years, reported she and her two sisters "always wanted to go traveling."

So, she explained we put our heads together and went out to find jobs to finance the venture. One sister, she reports, went to work for General Motors in Detroit; the youngest, returned to her job as a beauty operator. "I became a babysitter."

The money in hand, the three will be leaving next week from Metropolitan airport for Frankfurt, Germany. They'll then tour Germany, where Mrs. Gunther was born in Essex continuing through France, Switzerland and Luxembourg.

Golfers Fare Well in Tourney Play

The regional golf trophy won't be lonely any more. It has a mate — the Pontiac Press class B trophy, won Monday by the Northville high school golf team with a 413 effort.

But the new trophy might have had more class if the Mustangs had matched their first nine hole total of 202.

"We were the tourney leaders at the half-way mark," Coach Al Jones noted, "but we couldn't hold the pace."

Instead, Walled Lake walked off with class A and tournament honors, tallying a 407. It was followed by Oak Park and Rochester, both with 408's. Royal Oak Dondero (410), then Northville.

Further down the line were the class A schools, including Bloomfield Hills, and five class B quintets.

Northville had another distinction. Captain Dave Zielinski fired a 78 to top class B medalist honors.

The four other scorers for the local team were Bill Wiedner, 80; Bob Boyle and Jim St. Germaine, 81, and Rick Talbot, 93.

The Northville golf team ran into stiff competition and some misfortune last week, but came out a respectable second best.

The local linksters placed seventh in a field of 17 teams in the big one — the state golf meet Friday and Saturday at the Cascades golf course, in Jackson.

They carded a 339 as compared to Kalamazoo University high's first place finish with a score of 315.

Other teams that finished higher than the Mustangs were Tecumseh (326), defending tourney champs, Alma (329), Dowagiac (332) and tied for sixth, East Grand Rapids and Swartz Creek, both with 333.

Evidence of tough competition is found in tournament favorite, Okemos, tie for tenth.

The Mustangs might have placed higher except for one unfortunate setback.

Bob Boyle, who had parred the first four holes, lost the head of his putter. He was then forced to use his driver for putting the last 14 holes. As a result, he came home with an 88.

Jim St. Germaine once again scored low, a 78. Following him were Dave Zielinski with an 86, and Bill Wiedner with an 87.

Lady Luck's smile also turned to a frown Wednesday. This time on the back nine of the Burrough's golf course, site of the Wayne-Oakland county league match.

Victim of the Lady's whim was Northville which lost its best bid for the conference crown to Milford, 339-344.

The Mustangs however put forth a good effort. They led the field by five strokes through the first nine, then faltered and coasted in second, five strokes behind.

Bloomfield Hills, perennial loop and state power, finished third with a 353.

Other teams and scores were Holly (365), Clarkston (366), West Bloomfield (377), Brighton (384) and Clarenceville (398).

Solace came in the guise of Mustangs St. Germaine and Boyle, who carded 82's and copped first and third place medalist honors, respectively.

Larry Hoy of Milford finished second.

Other entries for Northville were an 89 by Zielinski and a 91 by Wiedner.

Biery Leads Trackmen

With the state finals and the W-O meets by the board, the track season is over.

It was closed out Saturday at the state finals. Don Biery captured seventh place in the 440 yard run. Also, entered in the finals were Frank Steinberger in the mile, and the members of the mile relay team, Biery, Kent Kipper, Gary Davis and Bill Adams.

Milford traced to the Wayne-Oakland conference title here, May 21. Clarenceville (49), Bloomfield Hills (44½), Holly (26), Northville (10), West Bloomfield (7), Clarkston (5) and Brighton (4) finished in that order.

Placing for Northville were Biery, first in the 440; Adams, fifth in the 880; Steinberger, fifth in the mile, and the mile relay team, composed of Adams, Gary Davis, Biery and Kipper, fifth.

Although the Northville harriers did not burn up the track, there were some stellar individual performance this season.

Tops among those was Biery's record 440-yard performance in the W-O conference meet. Biery, who was clocked at 51.4 seconds, set a new school and conference record in the event.

Two other Northville team records were eclipsed. Steinberger recorded the fastest local high school mile mark of 4:46.8. Kipper set a new record in the pole vault, soaring 10' 11 and three quarter inches.

The Mustangs might have placed higher except for one unfortunate setback.

Bob Boyle, who had parred the first four holes, lost the head of his putter. He was then forced to use his driver for putting the last 14 holes. As a result, he came home with an 88.

The Mustangs salvaged a first place in one meet, however.

They scored a 165 Thursday at the Brae Burn Course to beat out Oak Park and Redford Union which had scores of 174 and 180, respectively.

St. Germaine tallied a 37, Zielinski, a 42, and Boyle and Jim Bertoni both came through with 43's.

NICE HABIT — Winning the conference championship is becoming an annual event for Northville netmen — or so it seems. They added another conference trophy to the many they've accumulated with Coach Keith Krause at the helm. Team members pictured here are (l to r) Gary Grysiwicz, Jim Wiedner, Dikran Ornekian, Dave Schmidt, Mark Byard, Bob Langtry and Jim Jiggins.

Northville failed to defend its regional tennis crown by the narrowest of margins Friday and Saturday at Cranbrook.

Dearborn Riverside eked out the title by just a quarter of a point.

"We were so close to winning, I could almost taste victory," Mentor Keith, Krause noted.

Although the home team was defeated, all wasn't lost. Turk Ornekian and the doubles team of Gary Grysiwicz and Jim Jiggins qualified for the state tourney June 7 and 8.

Ornekian, who has been making short work of all opposition this season, successfully defended his singles crown. He lost only two games in four matches, while shutting out two opponents.

Grysiwicz and Jiggins won three matches, then lost in the finals, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Another doubles team, composed of Mark Lipa and Bruce Dayton copped a first round victory, 6-3, 8-6. They were eliminated in the second round.

Mark Byard contributed a first round win in the singles, 6-3, 8-6.

Dave Schmidt, normally a doubles man, almost won the tourney for Northville. After taking the first set, 6-3, he lost an extended second set, 10-8, and the last set, 6-1.

Untouchable — Dikran "Turk" Ornekian has earned the title of "untouchable". He's undefeated in singles play this season, including W-O conference and regional title play. He'll be one of the favorites to capture the class B state singles title June 7-8. A senior, he hopes to attend Clemson university on a tennis scholarship next year.

Peterson Hurls No Hit Game

Eric Peterson was at his best Monday as he pitched Northville to a no-hit, 8-0 triumph at Holly.

Peterson faced only 25 men in the seven inning game. He walked two and two reached base on errors, but none went any farther than second.

Good fielding preserved the no-hitter for Peterson. Outstanding play of the game was made by John Mach, who raced to his right and gloved a solid liner in deep right center field.

Peterson was also given good support at the bat with the Mustangs collecting 10 hits.

Jeff Crawford continued on a hitting rampage with three hits in four at bats, including a triple. Tom Swiss connected for three singles and Jim Juday singled twice.

The game was close until the sixth when Northville came up with four runs on four hits, two walks and a sacrifice. Key hit of the inning was a bases-loaded single by Crawford.

Mustang bats spoke with authority Thursday at West Bloomfield as Northville clubbed its way to a 15-0 victory.

Local batsmen pounded the opposition pitching for 11 hits. Tom Swiss started Northville on the rout with a two-run round tripper over the left field fence. Jeff Crawford, who was safe on an error, and Jim Juday, who had singled, scored ahead of Swiss.

Swiss also gained credit for the win. He pitched the first four innings, giving up two hits, striking out seven and walking none.

Jerry Insland pitched the fifth and sixth innings and Eric Peterson finished up.

Standout hitters for Northville beside Swiss and Juday were Crawford with a double and two singles, and Joe Hay, who had three singles.

Defending champion Northville will play its first game of the Pontiac Press tourney 1:30 Thursday at the Pontiac J. C. park number two. The Mustangs opponent will be Pontiac Central. If they win this and the succeeding game, they will play the following times: 5:30 Friday and 7:30 Saturday.

Student Pilot Reacts Slow

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth in a series of articles concerning the fun, adventure and difficulty in learning how to fly, written by Al Lubowitz of the South Lyon Herald who is taking lessons at Pamco Aviation at the New Hudson Airport.

My instructor and I had just taken off and now we were landing. Only there was no airfield below us. This was a forced landing!

Fortunately it was a practice exercise. To put it more accurately, it was a Simulated Forced Landing. Nevertheless, knowing that some day I could be faced with the real thing made me pay attention. This was something I definitely wanted to learn.

We were up 1500 feet when Bill McKinley closed the throttle. "Simulated forced landing," he announced in a calm voice.

Things have to happen fast at that time!

An altimeter reading 1500 feet doesn't mean the plane is 1500 feet above the ground. Altimeters are set according to Mean Sea Level, not ground level. To determine actual distance above the ground, a calculation is in order. Knowing that before take-off the altimeter was set at 950 feet, I subtracted 950 from 1500. I was approximately 550 feet up.

At the same time this calculation was being made, I was making sure my glide was proper. Trying to stretch the glide out or allowing it to become too steep would make my descent more rapid. A normal glide maintained correctly would give me the most time in the air.

Wind direction has to be determined because any landing must be made into the wind. Generally a pilot is always conscious of the wind. He can tell from which direction it's blowing by feeling how it affects the plane. He also keeps an eye open for tell-tale signs of smoke or ripples on lakes. He notes these signs, consults his compass, determines wind direction, and keeps it constantly in mind.

In case of emergency, he can't take time to start his figuring. His reaction must be immediate.

In this case however, Our Hero had been busy gawking at the scene below. Wind direction? I didn't have the slightest idea!

At the same time I'm trying to figure out the wind, Bill asks, "Where are you going to land?"

Quickly I look below, but all I see is a seemingly confused mess of trees, fences, fields, hills, roads, and more trees. What does he mean land? There's no place to land.

"Quick! Where are you landing?" he demands.

Relieved, I gather that I've guessed right. I'm around 350 feet above the ground now and I have to make an abrupt 180 degree gliding turn in order to sweep down on the field. I remember that Bill had told me that there's a loss of approximately 250 feet in a gliding turn.

Good, I think. That'll put me about 100 feet off the ground after the turn and I'll be able to coast right in on target.

But no sooner do I start my bank when a flash of fear hits me. That turn Bill was talking about was a 90 degree turn! The one I plan to make is 180 degrees. That means a loss of 500 feet and I'm already down to 300.

Just then I feel the wind buffet the plane. Dawns the fact that I'm not landing into the wind. What to do?

I look up. Two hundred feet to go and trees ahead! I'll never make it. I have two choices. Ploof the plane into a hill or else into a clump of trees. Big choice.

Of course I have goofed. I have goofed horribly. As Bill guns the motor and pulls the plane up and away, I sit back in disgust. My first solo flight seems more distant than ever.

Back on the ground, I listen to the charges against me. First and foremost is bad judgement. "You were flying too low over rough terrain. There weren't too many places to land, were there? Over rough terrain, stay up high. That way you have more time and can cover more distance in your search for a good landing spot."

But, Bill tells me, in spite of my low altitude, there was a beautiful landing spot off to my right if I had been alert enough to find it. "You have to train yourself to react more quickly," he tells me.

Another fault was my complete disregard of wind. "That's an oversight that could be fatal."

Again he attacks my judgement regarding my attempted turn of 180 degrees.

"Almost all crashes are caused by pilot error, not mechanical failure. Pilots crash themselves," he says. "An error in judgement, an oversight, something forgotten, a lack of precision in your maneuvers — all of these can cause trouble."

There was no excuse," he tells a humble beginner. "For not remembering the difference between a 90 and a 180 turn. A mistake in arithmetic could mean a crash."

Then he explains to me the reason for simulated forced landings. "Exercises like this give us practice in training our reflexes, correcting our mistakes, and testing our proficiency. They also prepare us in case the unexpected occurs. In case of emergency, there's no reason why you can't land the plane safely."

"Flying is as safe as you make it. And before you get a license to fly, we're going to see to it that you make it as safe as possible."

And Bill means it too. He and the whole Federal Aviation Agency.

Before any person can obtain a private pilot's license, there are all kinds of qualifications he must meet.

Besides being 17 years old, able to read, speak, and understand English, pass a rigorous medical examination as prescribed in the Civil Air Regulations, the person must excel in a written test dealing with the following:

(a) Civil Air Regulations governing pilot privileges and limitations, general operating, air traffic, and accident reporting rules; (b) practical aspects of cross-country flying, including flight planning, map reading, pilotage, radio communication procedures, radio navigation, and emergency procedures; (c) recognition of dangerous weather conditions and the evaluation of weather reports; and (d) general safety practices in the operation of airplanes.

That's not all. Along with the written test the student must show his flying proficiency in a practical demonstration before a Federal Aviation Agency Inspector.

"Hardest and most rigorous demonstration of your aeronautical skill that you'll ever be called on to display," old flying veterans insist.

Plus the student must have so many hours of dual instruction and solo flight. Otherwise he isn't legally eligible for even the examinations.

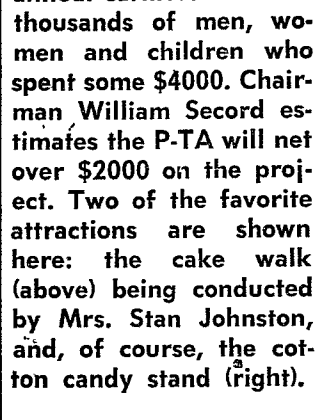

Therefore when Bill tells me that he's going to make sure that I'm as safe a pilot as possible, I'm inclined to believe him. Incompetency and carelessness are not tolerated — Safety and skill are demanded.

Convinced of this truth, I keep practicing. All the time I'm waiting for the next time Bill cuts the throttle back and announces, "Prepare for a Simulated Forced Landing."

That could be any time. The question is ... will I be prepared?

BIG SUCCESS — Northville's P-TA treasury was given a big boost last Friday afternoon when the annual carnival attracted thousands of men, women and children who spent some $4000. Chairman William Secord estimates the P-TA will net over $2000 on the project. Two of the favorite attractions are shown here: the cake walk (above) being conducted by Mrs. Stan Johnston, and, of course, the cotton candy stand (right).

— OBITUARY —

CARL W. TOUSSAINT
Carl W. Toussaint of 528 Horton, 73, a retired farmer, died May 22 in his home. He had been living with relatives in Northville for the past year. Prior to that, he resided in Utica where he was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Born October 23, 1889 in Utica, he was the son of the late August F. and Friederike (Botcher) Toussaint.

He leaves three brothers, Henry Toussaint of Northville, Ernest Toussaint of Royal Oak and William Toussaint of Rochester, and two sisters, Mrs. Anna Brown of Northville and Mrs. Martha Tebau of Auburn Heights.

Funeral services were held Saturday in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Utica, with the Reverend Burton Harger, pastor of the church, officiating. Burial was in Sterling township cemetery, Utica.

Calling hours were observed in Casterline Funeral home, 122 West Dunlap.

MRS. EVELYN EPPERSON
Mrs. Evelyn (Morton) Epperson, 37, of 1039 Allen drive, a Northville resident for the past three years, died in her home Sunday.

She had been in failing health for the past year. Formerly a resident of Plymouth, she was a member of the Allen Heights Baptist church in Plymouth and the Woman's Missionary union of the church. She was a leader in the beginner's Sunday school department of the church.

Born October 28, 1925, in Obion county, Tennessee, she was the daughter of Clara (Spicer) Morton and the late Howard Morton.

In addition to her mother, Mrs. Clara Morton of Plymouth, she leaves her husband, William E. Epperson; two sons, Terry Dean Epperson and Howell Anthony Epperson; a daughter, Barbara Lynn Epperson; two brothers, Allen Morton of Plymouth and Milford Morton of Memphis, Tennessee, and two sisters, Mrs. Anna McQueen and Mrs. Florence Carter, both of Plymouth.

Funeral services were held Tuesday in the Casterline Funeral home, 122 West Dunlap, with the Reverend Vincent Smith, pastor of Allen Heights Baptist church, officiating. Burial was in Rural Hill cemetery.

Three women were injured Monday, evening when the cars in which they were riding collided, trying to avoid a farm tractor on Eight Mile road.

Admitted to University hospital, Ann Arbor were: Concetta Marie Cook, 24, of Northville, driver of one of the vehicles, facial and chest injuries; Esther Shields, 30, of Northville, passenger in the Cook car, a dislocated left thumb and chest injuries; and Lucy King Miller, 48, of South Lyon, multiple fracture of the right arm, facial and internal injuries.

State police officers said the Cook car was traveling east on Eight Mile when the Miller car, traveling west, was braked to avoid running into the back end of a tractor.

The Miller car, they said, skidded across the road and ran into the Cook car.

Preparing For Work

Ann Arbor — Employment should be grouped according to their interests, abilities and goals, says Ralph C. Wenrich, University of Michigan professor of vocational education and practical arts.

"Most schools now group students in the academic subjects," says Wenrich.

"It is generally recognized as good practice to group youth for instruction in English, mathematics, science, and other academic subjects according to their motivations, abilities and purposes. In my opinion it is equally desirable to do something similar for employment-bound youths," he says.

"Technicians for business and industry can not be trained in courses designed primarily for the preparation of engineering college to prepare skilled and semi-skilled work-research engineers and laborers. We would not expect the engineering college to prepare technicians in the same courses, or the school of nursing to train registered nurses and practical nurses in the same classes."

"On the high school level it is equally unreasonable to expect a teacher of electricity and electronics to train electronic technicians, and radio and TV repairmen in a mixed group."

"Moreover, the schools must guard against thinking their job is done when these youths graduate or drop out," warns Wenrich.

"Follow-up studies of employment-bound youth will reveal ways in which the school programs might be improved. Such studies will also identify the needs of workers for in-service training which will help them advance in their present occupations and prepare them for employment requiring more education and training."

Michigan Week Coverage Praised

To the Editor:

I and my committee wish to express our thankfulness for the fine newspaper coverage of our part in the Michigan Week program — the Mayors Exchange Day — your assistance and cooperation was indeed appreciated.

Your assistants must have had wings to be able to be in Novi and Wixom almost simultaneously — they really did a fine job, and were working in high gear.

We are all so very pleased with the pictures that have appeared in your paper. (We all liked your editorial in this week's news).

We are going to clip out all Michigan Week pictures, and information and send to Mayor Teifer at Trenton — also all coverage of our Michigan Week news will be sent to the headquarters at Lansing to John Patriarche, city manager of East Lansing and chairman of all committees, who did an excellent job of keeping the area chairmen informed as to what was taking place throughout Michigan.

Our hats off to Mayor Robert J. Huber of the city of Troy — 60 Wattles road, Troy, and chairman of Oakland county for Michigan Week.

Also a fine worker is Mrs. Audrey Marriner, who coordinated all Michigan Week activities in Oakland county. Mrs. Marriner lives at 1510 Buckingham, Birmingham.

At the county and local levels, some plans flowered and grew into fruit while other plans never materialized for a variety of reasons. We live and learn — that's part of the fun and excitement of working on the Michigan Week program. Next year's local celebration will be even bigger and better because of this year's experience.

We have enjoyed participating in the work of Michigan Week and note that our personal appreciation of our state and its fine people has multiplied. It has truly been an opportunity to meet and work with so many fine, wonderful people.

We would appreciate this letter appearing in your paper thanking all who participated in our Mayor's Day.

Michael C. Bodak explains to the youngsters how the sky divers will fall by using one of the boys as a model.

In Northville Township

Sky Divers are Hit of Party

Northville township residents in the area of Bradner and Franklin roads were "invaded" last Friday afternoon by the four members of the All American Sports Parachute team.

Apparently, some of the residents thought there had been a plane crash. They called police to report airmen bailing out of a troubled plane.

But actually, it was just a show to entertain seventh grade classmates of Karen McAllister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McAllister, 15674 Lakeside. Needless to say, it was the highlight of the party.

The event all came about as the result of Michael C. Bodak of Plymouth offering to have the team jump. Bodak, an officer and organizer of the parachute team, was a member of the 82nd Airborne division in World War II and was wounded in the Normandy invasion. He's now a retired captain and national director of the paratrooper division.

Dr. Gerald Fitch, a neighbor of the McAllisters at 15562 Lakeside, also helped out. He flew the sky divers of the jumping area in his plane which he keeps stationed at Mettetal airport.

Before the jumpers arrived Bodak explained to the youngsters exactly what would happen. And just as he predicted, the four experienced sky divers came in right on target.

Pilot Dr. Fitch first flew his plane over the area at 2,200 feet. A streamer was dropped to determine the drift. Then the plane climbed to 7,500 feet.

Two sky divers jumped at a time with two different jumps being made. The divers must, according to regulations, open their chutes no lower than 2,200 feet.

They zoomed through the air in "free fall" from 7,500 feet to 2,200. Three of the four divers came in right on the "X" that marked the spot in the open field.

Bodak looks skyward. He landed at Normandy.

"TURNING TROUBLES INTO OPPORTUNITIES"

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

By the Rev. James F. Andrews
Full Salvation Union Chapel

Divine Inspiration is one thing — the formal expression of that Divine Inspiration is another thing.

The Divine inspiration is perfect. But when ever an attempt is made to crystallize the truth or Divine inspiration into a formal statement then shades of error creep in. The reason for this is because of the imperfection of man for whom the formal expression of truth is made. God needs no formal expression of truth in order for him to see the way of righteousness more perfectly. But man because of his present environment does. And he should always recognize that the formal expression of truth is only a means to an end which is the revelation of the truth or inspiration in his own soul — the same inspiration that gave birth to the formal expression.

The Bible is a formal expression of truth. It is a means to an end. It is not an end in itself. It is error for one to idolize the Bible as a perfect formal expression of truth and rest in it as an end in itself.

No man is able to form into words an inspiration of truth he may have received so as to be sure that others will by hearing or reading those words receive the same understanding or inspiration that caused him to make the effort. Only by the power of the Holy Spirit can such a transfer be made from man to man. That is the reason Paul said what he did — That the kingdom of God is not in word but in power. He knew that only by the power of the Holy Spirit could the mind of God or truth of God be revealed to man. That is the reason that everywhere through the Bible such emphasis is placed on the work of the Holy Spirit in leading us into all truth. Jesus did not tell his disciples to wait until they had the Bible prepared and that through written words they would be led into truth but he told them the truth — that the Holy Spirit would when he was come guide them into all truth.

Now, all I am doing right now is trying to make a formal expression of an inspiration of truth that has been born in my soul. I know that the formal expression is not perfect. I know that perhaps there are many others who could make a more perfect statement of this truth. No doubt you see where it is not as accurately and properly worded as it might be. But I am doing what I can and can only say as did Jesus, "Let him that hath ears to hear, hear." The truth, the inspiration, the understanding means everything. The words are only a means to an end. The words alone mean nothing or they may mean life or death depending on the understanding that fills those who hear or read them.

How foolish it is for a listener to criticize or judge harshly a speaker on the basis of the words which he may utter. The likelihood is that such a one is criticizing only the understanding that fills his own mind as to what is filling the mind of the speaker. How much better it is to strive to understand each other than it is to strive together about words to no profit.

The reason certain formal expressions of truth worked so well in years gone by was because of the power of the Holy Spirit. Those formal expressions did not produce the power. Rather the power produced those formal expressions. And those formal expressions of inspiration and understanding were not perfect then and are not perfect now. The truth, the divine inspiration, the experience is perfect but the expression is imperfect.

Death, instead of life, results when men try to produce the power today through those formal expressions that were produced by the power yesterday.

Oh let us unite in Spirit and pray that we all may be baptized into the one body by the one Spirit rather than to try to have the unity of the Spirit by insisting on the use of certain words.

No one should follow any man, even though he may be inspired of God. Not should we line up behind some logical presentation of truth simply because it appeals to our mind as being right.

We should not lean on our own understanding in any degree but always trust alone in the inspiration of the Almighty that gives God's understanding to but millions have missed man.

A man who is inspired of God is not a perfect reflector of that inspiration. We have this treasure in an earthen vessel. That is the reason many have gone astray following an inspired man.

Those who wrote the Bible were inspired of God the way trying to follow that crystallized expression of inspiration.

Christians everywhere are divided because of failing to follow God themselves by looking alone for that personal inspiration of the Almighty that gives them understanding in themselves.

You need God yourself. We need the inspiration of the Almighty today — in our generation — now! Without it we have no spiritual understanding.

Mrs. Charles Ware MA 4-1601 On Saturday, the city of Wixom was host to over 200 children to a treat of hot dogs which were donated by the Wixom merchants. There were over 500 hot dogs consumed and 26 cases of pop.

The children paraded from the Wixom school at 1 p.m. led by the chief of police and a covered wagon which was made from hoola hoops by Mrs. Val Van Geesen. The covered wagon was hauled by Sheryl LaChance dressed in 18th century style and her two brothers Eric and Robert rode in the wagon.

There was also a replica of the carrier Keersarge that picked up Gordon Cooper from the Pacific. After the colorful parade over 60 children played baseball in the new baseball field at Wixom. There were several prizes given for the different floats. First prize went to Sheryl LaChance for the covered wagon. Second prize went to the aircraft carrier and third to Pat Marshall for the best decorated bicycle.

Friday night, the Walled Lake OES entertained 45 members from Flint Pilgrim Chapter OES at a potluck supper. After the meeting, everyone was served punch, cake and coffee. A good time was had by all.

They made plans for an investiture for the remainder of the troop for next week, discussed Memorial Day parade, made plans to ride in an antique car or in a decorated convertible. They also had an evaluation of the Pow Wow and discussed the swaps, songs, and the day in general. They plan to have a display of the treasure boxes they made at the Pow Wow at their meeting next week. Takes CD Course
Eugene S. Guido, 20390 Westview drive, Northville, who is a coordinator for the Wayne County Civil Defense, has completed a special civil defense course at the Department of Defense, Staff College in Battle Creek.

The five-day course on Elements of a Shelter System Capability is one of several special courses offered by the OCD Staff College and Training Centers.

It provides technical training for responsible officials who will be involved in planning, developing and directing a community shelter system capability for protecting the population from the hazard of radioactive fallout. Utilization of a shelter system is taught, including resources, time-distance movement factors, the requirements of shelter management and matching shelter availability to the population.

Art Around Us

By Jessie Hudson

"If they have these photographs, why do they want to draw the buildings?" asked one of my students the other day.

The answer to this perfectly reasonable question is to be found at the Dunning-Hough Library in Plymouth where the drawings requested by the Historical Society for Michigan Week are on display. Of the thirty or so drawings there, the majority are of the Historical Society Museum itself, since it is in a very convenient location, easily seen from the benches on the high school grounds, right next to the much more difficult city hall.

More of the drawings are of the Historical Society building, but each one is different. Some, though almost photographic in detail, show an individuality of treatment, either in the character of line, amount of light and shade, or in a slight alteration of proportions and perspective as seen through the eyes of the artist. Some are less realistic in detail but emphasize the aspect of the building which particularly appealed to the student. Here he used his artist's license to stress the oddness, or the quaintness, or the bushiness of the plantings around the house. Some are done in a hasty sketching manner, others are meticulously developed and a few are done with draftsman-like precision.

The City Hall was chosen by only a few students who were brave enough to tackle the greater number of perspective and proportion problems presented by this complex old building. The abilities of these students vary from a very accomplished third year student to the earnest effort of a beginning art student with a few shades of experience and ability in between.

But each drawing is interesting and individual. And this, after all, is what makes the difference between a cold, impersonal photograph and an original, personal interpretation by an artist. The camera can only reveal facts, a drawing reveals something about the artist as well.

The drawings will remain at the Plymouth library until the end of school.

SPEAKING The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Astronaut Gordon Cooper were gazing on our 50 states in tomorrow morning's night, he'd see the reflections from thousand, white and blue stars and stripes.

Individuals, Memorial Day holds meaning hours alone. But as a nation, it is a day to honor brave deeds, to pay tribute to those who live for their country, and to be proud of it is that on May 30, Memorial Day, we fly the American flag.

Frequently I hear complaints, justifiably, that proper respect is not accorded the flag. It is, of course, either a case of not knowing or negligence.

As a review, and a reminder, and based on a joint resolution of Congress to codify display of the flag, following are marks of respect we should show to the flag:

— The flag should be displayed on all legal holidays and on special occasions designated by the President, the governors, or other authorities; On Memorial Day it should be displayed at half staff until noon;

— The flag may be displayed by a citizen at any time, customarily from sunrise to sunset; it may be displayed at night on certain occasions, but it should not be flown in stormy weather;

— The flag should be raised and lowered carefully without touching the ground. It is raised to the top of the staff with the union at the peak. When hung over a sidewalk from a rope, the union should be away from the building and the flag should hang flat, not draped;

— When hung over a street, it should have the union to the north of an east-west street, and to the east in a north-south street; no other flag may be flown above the United States flag except that the United Nations flag may be placed above all flags of its member nations at U.N. headquarters; and the flag announcing religious services on board ship may be raised to the top of the mast;

— When flags are flown from adjacent staffs the U.S. flag is hoisted first and lowered to the right of the U.S. flag; when a number of flags are grouped and displayed from staffs, the U.S. flag should be at the center and at the highest point;

— The flag should not cover a speaker's desk or be draped in front of a platform; it may be displayed flat above and behind the speaker; if on a staff, it should be at the right of the speaker as he faces the audience and other flags should be at the speaker's left;

— In a parade when carried with other flags, the U.S. flag should be either on the marching right or in front of the center of a line of flags;

— When the flag is passing in a parade or in a review, or during the ceremony in hoisting and lowering the flag, all persons present should face the flag, stand at attention and salute; those present in uniform should render the military salute, when not in uniform men should remove the hat with the right hand holding it at the left shoulder, the hand being over the heart; men without hats salute in the same manner; aliens should stand at attention; women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart;

— When flown at half staff the flag first should be hoisted to the peak and then lowered to half staff; it should be raised to the peak before it is lowered;

— The flag should not be dipped to any person or thing; it should never be displayed with the union down save as a signal of distress; it should never be carried flat, or horizontally, but always aloft and free.

Miracle Drugs And Long Life

Babson Park, Mass. — Drug stocks, in the not too distant past, ranked high on the hit parade of glamor stocks. Since then, they have fallen on hard times as investor preference once again demonstrated its shifting characteristic.

A number of pharmaceutical issues have rebounded, but, by and large, the group remains well below its lofty peak reached in late 1961. I, however, have great respect for and faith in the drug industry. It has accomplished unbelievable strides in my lifetime, and I forecast that the next 10 or 20 years may see similar progress.

The public has only in recent years shown any great interest in population statistics and trends and their implications for the future. Nonetheless, the trends have been evident for several decades. For example, the death rate per 1,000 population was 17.2 in 1900. By 1960 this had been cut nearly in half, to 9.5 deaths per 1,000 population!

This is a most remarkable achievement, in which the drug industry has played a prominent part.

The birth rate, on the other hand, has not decreased much during this period. In the early years of this century, the birth rate was around 27 per thousand and population. Currently, it is around 23.5 per thousand. Of course, the birth rate shrank markedly during the depression, but since World War II the baby boom has more than made up for that drought.

The important point is that advances in the pharmaceutical and medical fields have so drastically reduced infant and child mortality that the crop of youngsters has been indeed bountiful.

When I was a boy, a person in the "forties" was considered "old". Today, those of you readers who are in this age group constitute the bulk of the "middle age" population, and one generally doesn't become an "old fogey" until well after retirement age.

This is, of course, the effect of the lengthening life expectancy. Just think, in 1900 the life expectancy was 47.3 years. But thanks to the wonder drugs, vaccines of one kind or another, vitamin pills, etc., which the drug companies have produced, the average lifespan today is around 70 years. In short, nearly half a generation has been added to life expectancy since 1900.

This means that the so-called "senior citizens" segment of the population is increasing significantly. My friends in the drug industry tell me that their research efforts are being trained more toward this group. They want to give the "old duffers" a longer and more comfortable life.

Perhaps partly in jest, they talk of a lifespan of a hundred years for many more people than live that long today; but I suspect these research staffs may be more serious than we think. My reading of the Bible reminds me that the patriarchs lived for hundreds of years. I unhesitatingly forecast increased interest in the geriatrics field, including advances not only in drugs, surgery, transplants, and medicines, but also in food, eye-glasses, hearing aids, and even clothing.

In looking back over what has been accomplished in the pharmaceutical field, my friends in that industry agree with me that no one could have forecast ahead of time exactly which company would first "strike pay dirt", or when! This still holds true for the future. The industry is pouring about $270 million a year into research, and there is no telling when there will be a big payoff.

I wish investors would learn to be as patient as those engaged in the research work! Hence, while I am optimistic over the long run for the drug companies, one must be prepared to "sit a while" with the drug stocks. Ultimately, however, I believe such patience can be rewarded handsomely. Because of the tightened regulations on specifications for the release of new drugs, due to the thalidomide fiasco, research has to be even more exacting, and involves time-consuming tests and "proofs".

Since it is impossible to tell in advance which company will come up with a prize discovery, investors would be wise to buy a few shares of a number of drug issues rather than to "bet on one horse". Those that "come through" could more than offset the disappointing situations.

Michigan Mirror

Mental Health Help

Shift of emphasis in the care of the mentally ill is foreseen under a law enacted by the Legislature this year.

The so-called community mental health services bill was sponsored by Pontiac Republican Sen. Farrell E. Roberts and seven of his colleagues.

In signing the measure into law, Gov. George Romney lauded the intent of the bill, saying it will "give local citizens more power to establish the kind of mental health programs their communities need."

Similar measures were proposed in previous sessions during the administration of Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson on recommendation of State Mental Health Director Charles Wagg. Each failed to gain the needed Republican support in the Legislature.

Robert's bill would allow boards of supervisors in one or more counties to establish a 12-man community mental health board. Creation of the board would be contingent on majority approval of the County Board of Supervisors.

Any program devised by the community board would be submitted to the State Mental Health Department for approval. If approved, the state would match local funds, up to 60 per cent of the cost of the program.

Romney agreed with the sponsors of the bill, who contended the community program would "stretch dollars earmarked for mental health permitting local units to channel the funds into the services which are most essential."

Michigan stands in the middle in an area of controversy in the transportation industry.

This state is one of eight which limit the length of trucks to 55 feet. Twenty other states have either 60 or 65-foot limitations, and the remaining 22 states and the District of Columbia restrict the length to 50 feet.

The controversy arises, as far as Michigan is concerned, over battles between the truck and rail interests to corner their share of the auto hauling business.

In the last several legislative sessions in Lansing, the pressure has been great to boost the truck length to 60 feet, allowing three additional feet of overhang. This would give the auto haulways a total allowable length of 66 feet.

The trucking lobby convinced a number of legislators the length should be increased, to allow the transportation of more autos at a time and thus decrease the transportation costs.

Rail interests, however, gained support in their fight against the proposal from tourist-minded legislators who argued against the bill for safety reasons. The railroad people themselves contend such an extension would virtually eliminate them for the auto transport business because their costs would not change.

The truck length proposal has been killed in the last three sessions; but pressure becomes greater each year and is expected to continue.

Civil Defense efforts throughout the state are progressing but not nearly as fast as State Police Captain Richard L. Nicolsen had hoped.

Nicolsen, named deputy director of the Civil Defense division when it was put under the State Police, is urging a speedup in the licensing agreements with building owners for public fallout shelters.

Washington, building owners who sign license agreements permitting use of their structures for public shelters receive certificates of commendation from the U.S. Office of Civil Defense.

About 2,000 properties designed to accommodate more than one million persons are now under licensing agreements, Nicolsen said. Another 1,700 buildings have been approved for licensing, but agreements are yet to be signed.

Each building considered for public shelter use is inspected by teams of architects and engineers under the direction of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Nicolsen said the number of building owners participating in the program was very encouraging, but the program is not progressing as rapidly as it should be.

Addressing the graduates will be Edward H. Kelley, L.L.D., general manufacturing manager of the General Motors Chevrolet Motor division.

A bachelor of arts degree will be granted to 30 lay students and 24 sisters, and a bachelor of science degree to 5 lay students and 1 sister.

The baccalaureate Mass will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. in the campus chapel by the Rev. Matthew Chernick, O.S.C. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Michael A. Doriovan, A.B.; he also will confer the hoods after Mass.

An added "golden glow" is given to family fun when you prolong the enjoyment of a pool, garden or patio with a gas yard light. Outdoor gaslighting has so many advantages. It makes it possible to entertain outdoors after dark. Gives just the right light for patio cooking and dining. With a soft, mellow glow, gaslighting serves as a safety feature too. It illuminates steps and walking hazards while it dresses up a flower garden, accents a well-shaped tree, a path or a rock garden. The gas yard light is gaining widespread popularity among homeowners because it lends a pleasant note of grace and charm to even the most informal occasions.
