

An Old Problem Returns: How to Rehabilitate Gravel Pits

The lanky, cigar-smoking business man wheels his ivory Cadillac over the ruts past the groaning earthmovers and dreams of a rich subdivision surrounded by sandy-bottom lakes.

Suddenly, he tromps on the brake pedal and the car skids to a precarious perch atop a deep, starving mine.

"Six beautiful lakes," he says, "all connected. And beautiful homes. Just look at that terrain. Can't you see a home there looking down to the lake?"

"And over there by that yellow sand ... another lake."

Over there, past the trees, another one. See those big piles of black dirt ... we'll use it for dressing for the lawns on this side."

He talks and describes his dream. Sheldon G. Hayes is a determined man who, despite two strikes against him, is bubbling with enthusiasm and optimism as he prepares to swing for the fence once again.

Nothing short of a homer will do.

How well he will do depends a great deal on the people of Northville township who would like to dream of a rich subdivision but who fear instead a nightmare.

Twice before the people of the township listened to Hayes' plan. And twice they rose up in arms when he proposed to facilitate the plan by creating a landfill in the gravel pit area between Seven Mile and Eight Mile roads.

Two months ago Hayes purchased the 270-acre Manning and Locklin gravel pit that abuts his own gravel mining and asphalt plant site. He made the purchase primarily because it enhances his dream of a subdivision with homes in a price range of $25,000 to $50,000.

Furthermore, he envisions a huge park system, six artificial lakes, and a large convalescent home that includes a natural, spring-fed pool.

Soon, says Hayes, he will again ask permission to create a landfill to rehabilitate waste mining land in the center of the two mining operations. And this time he's

EDITOR'S NOTE — Sheldon G. Hayes, president of Cadillac Asphalt and owner of a sand and gravel operation, is a man with a dream for the future. He's a familiar figure to many Northville township residents. Twice he has been refused permission to operate a "landfill" in the gravel pit area between Seven and Eight Mile roads. Presently, he's mining and moving earth around a 90-acre parcel on Seven Mile road just south of the 270-acre Manning and Locklin pits. Now he has purchased those pits, too. The 68-year-old successful business man foresees a development of 350 homes situated around six lakes connected by a canal. He's started his dream on the 90-acre parcel. But to complete the plan, he insists a tightly-controlled landfill operation must be conducted in the larger pit area. So next week he'll go back to the township with another request. This time he's determined to stick to his plan for the future. This is a story from Hayes' viewpoint. Township officials, residents or perhaps the courts, will finally decide whether it is practical.

more confident than ever that permission will be granted.

His confidence, he explains, is based upon personal conversations with some of the people who previously objected to his landfill proposal. These people, he continues, have seen how he is rehabilitating land in the 90-acre "Bonner" parcel off Seven Mile road. "They're a little surprised. They didn't think I'd do the job."

As for the landfill, he adds, "It'll be located out there in the middle of both places — a good half mile from the nearest homeowner. And I got lots of heavy equipment to keep the stuff covered all the time."

Hayes says that the area rehabilitated by the landfill will not be used for homesites but for recreation areas within the proposed subdivision.

Why must he have a landfill?

Hayes gives two reasons: One, it restores mining holes for useful purposes and, second, it provides an income to offset the cost of rehabilitating land elsewhere in the mining area.

The latter, he points out, includes moving earth from one section to others more than a half-mile away, deepening future lake beds, digging canals, etc.

Without some money coming in, he says, land rehabilitation for residential purposes would be economically impossible.

According to the mine owner, who likes to climb around in the dirt with his men, initial subdividing may begin within five years inside the "Bonner" parcel. Already earth is being moved, hills leveled, and lakes dug for this purpose.

The entire project, including the Manning and Locklin site, may take up to 20 years to complete, he says.

What if the people defeat his plan again?

This question tricks Hayes' anger. "Look there, mister, if they can let a dump like that operate (Points to the city dump) how can they object to something decent? The trouble is if you don't ask for a permit you can dump anywhere ... like that guy there (points to private property containing piles of trash). But go over there and ask permission then look out brother!" Hayes chews on his anger and spits out another observation:

"Just let 'em stop me. Let them go ahead. That's alright. But I can tell you no judge is going to look at that city dump and let them turn me down for trying to operate something decent."

So Hayes dreams confidently, fuming a little too, as he goes to plate for his third swing for the fence.

Spring-fed Crystal Lake adjoins the pock-marked gravel pit area.

Sheldon G. Hayes — he sees homesites in his gravel pits.

Guessing's Gone With Telebinocular

Short of actually sitting right in a car with an operator to instruct him how to drive his vehicle safely, the Northville police department is doing its utmost to prevent traffic accidents.

Part of its all-out safety effort is the newly acquired driver testing equipment — the telebinocular.

The telebinocular tests a driver applicant's vision.

Unlike the old reading-chart test where the applicant was merely tested for usable vision, the telebinocular also tests for depth and color perception.

It looks like a microscope with one exception — the eye piece, which crosses around a person's eyes. In that respect, it is like a viewgraph. And in operation the new instrument is also similar to a viewgraph.

The applicant sees the testing cards in technicolor and three dimension.

Examiner Mrs. Harvey Ritchie, who administers the test, noted that the telebinocular eye test is foolproof.

"We can immediately tell if anything is wrong with either eye," she said. "The old eye charts could be memorized, so they may not have been a true test of a person's vision. The applicant would receive a driver's license although he may not have good vision," she added.

"With the new equipment, there is no way of memorizing the test, and it is more thorough," Mrs. Ritchie noted.

The procedure is fast and simple. Mrs. Ritchie inserts a card with five rows of figures on it. The top row contains three lettered blocks which test for usable vision; the next three rows of traffic signs test depth perception; and the last line of colored blocks tells whether a person is insensitive to color.

Failure to pass the color or depth perception tests does not mean that an applicant will not receive his driver's license. Mrs. Ritchie noted that a person with both sight deficiencies can compensate for them. In fact, the Michigan secretary of state explicitly directs that no one will be refused a license because of inability to determine depth or color.

If the applicant fails to pass the first usable vision test, he is given another. On this card are two rows of signs shaped in diamond-like four leaf clovers. The applicant must tell on which leaf a dot appears.

Failure to pass this test means that the applicant will be referred to his doctor for an eye examination. Glasses may be needed.

The individual is then tested again. Should he fail a second time, he will not be issued a license.

The test of usable vision, then, is the only one which may or may not ultimately qualify a person for a driver's license.

Since the old eye examination did test for usable vision, why is the telebinocular superior?

As mentioned, the test is fool proof. And what's more, the telebinocular makes the person aware of certain sight deficiencies. This makes him a better driver, Mrs. Ritchie points out.

The telebinocular test takes only 10 to 15 seconds, same as the old test. It is given 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

The evening hour service is possible now that the city has round-the-clock dispatchers. Mrs. Arnold Teshka conducts the tests after 5 p.m.

Those renewing their licenses need take only the eye test. But those applying for a driver's license for the first time must also take a road test. Road tests must be arranged by appointment.

Mrs. Harvey Ritchie readies the telebinocular for Rhonda Atchison.

Immunization Clinic Here On Wednesday

One of 15 mobile immunization clinics planned by the Wayne County Health Department for out-county communities during August will be held in Northville.

Dr. Joseph G. Molner, Wayne county health commissioner, announced this week that a clinic is scheduled for next Wednesday (August 7) at the First Presbyterian church. Clinic hours are from 3 to 8 p.m.

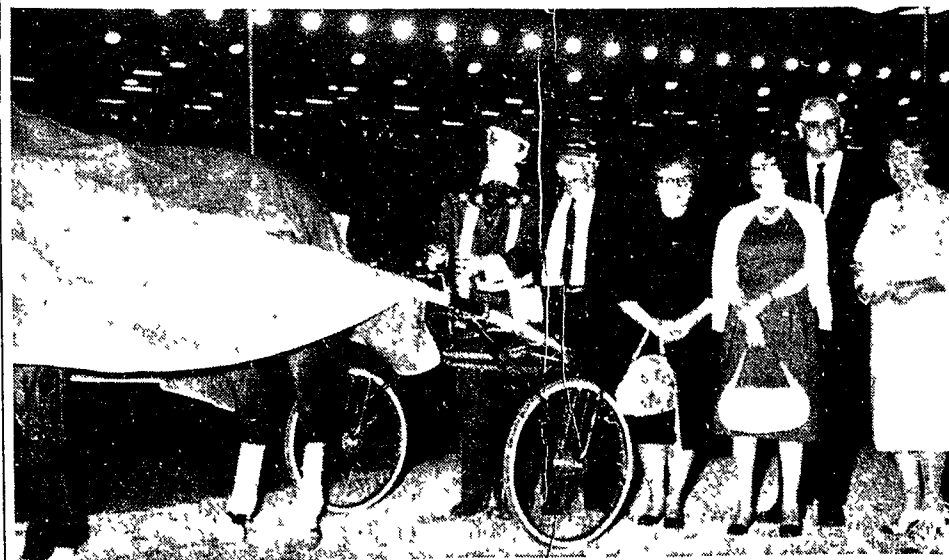

"Mass immunization is probably the greatest weapon available in the public health war on communicable diseases," declared Dr. Molner, in announcing the clinic schedules. He said the practice of extending mobile clinics throughout the county takes protection right into communities where it is needed.

The Wayne County health commissioner said that many adults are particularly negligent in maintaining adequate protection against contagious diseases such as polio. Protection against this disease is afforded by inoculation. Dr. Molner said that there is no excuse for over half of Wayne County's population being unprotected against the disease. He urged that parents make immunization a family affair during August, suggesting that parents as well as children take advantage of health protection afforded by the mobile clinics.

Children between three months and six years old will be given one inoculation providing protection against diphtheria, whooping cough, lock-jaw and polio. Youngsters of ages six through 15 will receive a shot which provides protection against diphtheria, lock-jaw and polio.

Adults and children over 16 will be offered polio protection where needed. The painless hypodermic gun will be used in administering the inoculations. A fee of $1.00 will be charged to cover expenses, but persons may pay less, according to what they are able to afford. Dr. Molner said that no one will be turned away for lack of funds.

Officials View Plans For New Post Office

Easements Delay New Novi Sewer

Chances of completing Novi's first sanitary sewer system before next fall grew slim last week as the Oakland county DPW initiated condemnation proceedings against 11 property owners.

Holding up the sewer with their refusal to sign easement agreements are three village property owners, one in the township and seven in Northville.

Oakland DPW officials said this week they expected some of the 11 would sign easement agreements within the next few days. But they didn't hold out much hope for all signing.

After the two-month long condemnation proceedings, officials said, still another month will be consumed in accepting bids.

Then, if the weather permits, sewer construction can begin immediately and continue through the winter. If such construction is possible, officials said they could finish the sewer in nine months.

Once completed, the line will give Novi some 2,900 taps in the Wayne County Middle Rouge Interceptor system.

The city of Northville will also make use of the new trunk line. Through an agreement with Oakland county, the city gained permission to tap into the line to relieve some of the capacity from the city's north-central and northeastern section.

The city's capacity in the Novi line is limited to 6 CFS or service for about 1,500 residents.

Bike Tabs Go on Sale Saturday

It's license day Saturday for Northville's young bicyclists. And cooperating with the police department in issuing the new bicycle licenses will be Northville Optimist club members who will give each bicycle a safety check.

Under a new city ordinance bicycles owned by city residents must be licensed. The fee is 25 cents. Chief Eugene King notes the licensing will assist the department in promoting safety, and identifying lost or stolen bicycles. He reminded youngsters that they must know their bicycle serial number.

Optimist President Roger McClain is in charge of the safety program. He noted that all bikes must have rear fenders.

The licensing and safety check will be conducted at the city hall, 122 North Wing, from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m.

Chief King noted that only city residents are required to comply, but that several township youngsters had expressed a desire to obtain a license. He said they would be sold to all school district youngsters upon request.

Licenses may be purchased any day after Saturday at the city hall.

Revised plans for Northville's proposed new post office were reviewed Friday night in special meetings of the city council and planning commission called by Mayor A. M. Allen.

Specifically, the architecture has been changed from contemporary to Early American — a move prompted by protests from the city when the post office department advertised for bidders to construct a modern facility at the Cady-Wing street site.

Attending Friday night's session with council members and planners were Postmaster Leland Smith and Elmer Balko, assistant postmaster, and the city hall architect, Harry Denyes, Jr.

While planners and councilmen reviewed the new plans in separate sessions, they jointly agreed upon four recommendations and forwarded these requests to the Chicago regional office real estate branch.

In their four points the local officials asked that:

1. All sides of the building be brick because the building is next to residential property;
2. That the chimney be constructed of brick and in harmony with architecture of the building;
3. Windows be provided on the west elevation;
4. That a limited number of off-street parking spaces be provided for customers.

Mayor Allen also requested that a copy of final plans and specifications be provided to the city.

Northville officials contacted the post office department soon after it was learned that bids were being sought for the new post office. In previous negotiations postal authorities had agreed that the design would coincide with the new scout-recreation building and city hall, both in the same area and both Early American.

But a number of sets of plans were in the hands of prospective builders before they were known to local authorities.

Originally, the post office department specified that bids were to be submitted by August 8. Presumably, these plans have been cancelled and new dates will be set for bidders.

The contract for the post office project will be assigned to the successful bidder who will purchase the site on the southwest corner of Wing and Cady streets, construct the building according to specifications and lease to the post office department for a basic period of 10 years with option to renew for 20 years.

Site plans for the new Early American design reveal that the building will face Wing street, but be placed some four feet from the Cady street lot line. It will extend 87-feet deep on Cady and 73-feet wide on Wing.

City Taxes About 30% Paid to Date

Approximately 30 percent of Northville's city taxpayers have paid their 1963-64 property taxes, City Clerk Mrs. Martha Milne reported this week. Total collections were $42,367.21 as of last Saturday. This year's total tax bill hit $137,452.

Novi and Wixom tax collections are running about the same as last year at this time, officials in both communities report.

To date, Novi has collected about 50 percent of the $63,658 spread, according to Village Treasurer Mrs. Mable Ash.

Wixom officials report collections totaling less than half of the $146,032 levied, but add that taxes are "coming in well."

Property owners in the three communities must pay their bills by August 31 to avoid penalty. Beginning September 1, a four percent collection fee will be levied by the three communities.

In Northville, an additional one-half of one percent interest on overdue bills will be charged monthly, beginning in September.

NEWCOMER'S CORNER

I look upon every day to be lost, in which I do not make a new acquaintance.

— Samuel Johnson

Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Sparta are not only newcomers to Willowbrook, they are also newlyweds.

Newlyweds, who like to golf, have made their first home in Novi.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Sparta were recently married at the Redford Presbyterian church and within a few weeks, chose to live in Willowbrook village. In fact, the house in which they are now living at 40890 West 16 Mile was the first one erected in the subdivision some seven years ago.

They're not far from area golf courses which should prove a challenge to the couple. Mr. Sparta consistently shoots in the 80's and, although his wife normally can't match his game, Mrs. Sparta can hold her own.

"I've been playing for four years and enjoy the game very much," Mrs. Sparta said. "I guess it was a normal outgrowth of my work."

Mrs. Sparta was a club attendant at the Twin Elms Country club in her home town of Clare.

There she met her future husband. A native of Farwell, Mr. Sparta moved at a young age to Detroit, but he went back to Farwell to visit.

And after a hitch in the Army, he met his wife. Marriage was postponed, however, until he finished college. He attended Central Michigan university; then transferred to Ferris Institute in Big Rapids where he graduated with a degree in mechanical drawing.

He is employed as a pharmaceutical representative for Ives Drugs of New York. As such, he covers the whole state of Michigan, making approximately four trips a year, some as far away as the upper peninsula.

But he has been farther north than northern Michigan. Last year he brought home a prize from a Canadian hunting excursion — a moose.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Sparta will be traveling back to a familiar site Sundays once they get settled. They plan to attend the Redford Presbyterian church.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Risler of Mt. Prospect, Illinois, announce the engagement of their daughter, Marjorie Lynn, to Paul Douglas DeJohn, son of the Joseph C. DeJohns of 17637 Beck road.

Miss Risler was graduated from Prospect high school in 1962. Her fiancé graduated from Northville high in 1960 and served two years in the U.S. Navy. Both attended Hillsdale college last year. Mr. DeJohn is now employed by General Motors of Detroit.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Art Around Us

By Jessie Hudson

Summer is a time for change. Students become teachers — teachers become students. A look at the classifieds in this paper shows several students who offer to tutor (or teach) everything from French to college-level physics. University students offer their services for art classes, private or group. Turn about is fair play, teachers flock to the nearby institutions of learning in hundreds. They take classes in all fields. Many take art classes. Some of them are art teachers other times. Most are back for extra credit or are working on their Master's degree.

Eastern Michigan University is one such target for higher learning and this art teacher is one of the thousands of students enrolled. Now it is I who must figure out what the teacher wants; I who am no longer the authority on what's right; I, the recipient instead of the giver of grades.

Even harder than figuring out what it is the instructor wants is trying to understand what he means by his specialized language. The painting teacher, for instance, talks repeatedly about "weight" — the weight of the paint or of a certain area. He doesn't mean only how heavily the paint has been applied, or the amount of bright color in it; it is some mystical combination of color, texture, value and intensity compared to its relations with everything else around it.

The ceramics instructor talks constantly about "form" — "sculptural form" — we are not making bowls, or cups, or plates, we are creating three-dimensional shapes which must have good relationships between height, depth, thickness of walls, have a good "foot" and especially have a "strong, lip."

One thing common to both these fine young men is their emphasis on contrasts. In painting the dark, light and intermediate tones must form an interesting design regardless of the subject matter in the painting. This is the structure, the backbone of a composition, and the ingredient which is basic to all good paintings. Both teachers emphasize the value of textural contrast and the importance of having some areas of rest to set off the textured areas.

The ceramics instructor is even more specific. He insists that a small amount of texture or decoration be judiciously applied, or in some cases left off entirely if the form is especially strong in itself. He points out the greater interest inherent in those forms which contrast bulky with dainty parts, rough with smooth, tall with short, and those which have unequal sides. Asymmetry, that's the key, or one of them, anyway.

She Goes to 'Biblical Times'

Mrs. King examines some pre-Inca artifacts she unearthed on her Bolivian trip. On her lap is an Indian shawl and a wood carving.

A Northville woman returned last week from a journey to "Biblical times."

Mrs. Charles King of 19911 Woodhill drive — in Bolivia for five weeks visiting her minister son and his family — says she felt as though she was "cut off from the world."

"Being in Bolivia was like being in Biblical times. The Indian men there still use a double ox team to plow, the women spend hours upon hours spinning yarn by hand with crude, handmade spindles."

In spite of the primitive means of living, Mrs. King reports she saw history made.

For she and her hosts were part of a caravan that followed some natives into the deep southern jungles to found a new colony.

"Fifty-two families marched with muskets, their youngsters carrying small flags to their new jungle home. They walked over five miles of newly-hewn out road."

"In the jungle village, surrounding a well, they hoped to earn a living for themselves by claiming the ground for agriculture," she reported.

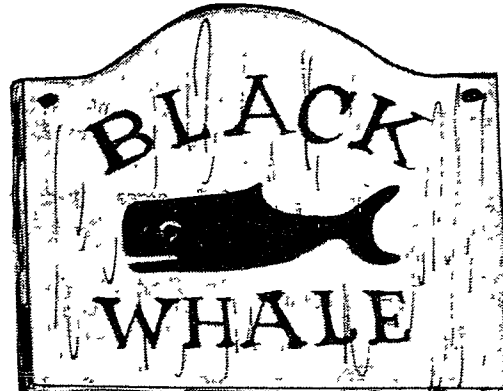

While in Bolivia, Mrs. King says she traveled to all the major cities with her son, the Reverend Charles King; his wife, Jean; their youngsters, Karen and David, and Jean's mother, Mrs. Lloyd Simon of Cincinnati, Ohio.

The trip, compliments of her son, was an eye opener for Mrs. King, particularly one visit to an Indian church.

"The devoutness of these Indians put us to shame."

"When it was time for prayer, everyone got up and surged to the altar, all praying aloud for 10, 15 minutes."

"Perhaps their devotion to Christianity stems from their worship of gods in the past," she said. "I don't know, but my visit to Bolivia's oldest Methodist church was an outstanding experience."

Former Northville Couple Mark 50th Anniversary

Two former Northvillians, Mr. and Mrs. James Copland, recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in Westchester, California.

They were honored there with a buffet reception in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Douglas Worboys and her husband.

Flying in to attend the celebration were a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Emma Copland of 487 West Cady and a son, Norman Copland of Chicago. The Coplands were both born in Aberdeen, Scotland. Before moving to the Inglewood, California area, the Coplands resided in Northville.

Highlighting the occasion was the traditional Scottish toast rendered on bagpipes by Ross Worboys, grandson of the honored couple.

Mr. Benicke of Benicke and Krue spoke regarding a sewer and water extension to connect with the main that was installed by the county at 8-Mile road and the underpass (approximately 500 ft. 8"). Mr. Benicke explained that a factory is planning to locate in this vicinity and that this is a necessity for its location. The engineer is to do a study on this, presenting any or all difficulties from an engineering standpoint. The city manager and city engineer are to figure out a basis on which this could be charged for other uses. This fee would be for tap-in costs.

Moved by Carlson, supported by Ambler that the engineering agreement between Benicke and Krue and the City of Northville be approved. Unanimously carried.

Resolution approving Low Bids for the Construction of the City Hall:

A letter was read from Mr. Denyes, architect, recommending that the following be awarded contracts:

Architectural: Carl Luoma, Builder — $165,164.

Mechanical: Inter-Lakes Mechanical — $59,450.

Electrical: Gillis Electric Co., Livonia — $22,885.

Moved by Ambler, supported by Kester that the resolution awarding the contracts for construction of the City Hall be adopted. Unanimously carried.

Mr. Denyes explained the procedure regarding the Certificate and Letter of Intent as required by FHHA. There is to be a meeting on Tuesday, July 9, 1963 at the building site with contractors, City Manager and the architect.

Retain Iccerman and Johnson for Purposes of Annual Audit.

Moved by Kester, supported by Carlson that the City of Northville retain the firm of Iccerman, Hoffman and Johnson for the City's annual audit. Unanimously carried.

Appointments to the Zoning Board of Appeals and Planning Commission:

The City Manager reported that Messrs. Palmer, Bingley and Ritchie wish to continue on the Board of Appeals; Mr. Eaton of the Planning Commission wishes to resign and would enjoy being appointed to the Board of Appeals; Mr. Hannabarger cannot continue on the Planning Commission because of a conflict in time and Mr. Al Smith wishes to continue on this commission.

Moved by Carlson, supported by Kester that the above three appointments to the Board of Appeals, transfer of Mr. Levi Eaton from the Planning Commission to the Zoning Board of Appeals and Wallace Nichols be appointed to the Planning Commission; appointment of C. E. Ely, Jr. to fill Hannabarger's vacancy and the re-appointment of Al Smith to the Planning Commission be approved. Unanimously carried.

Further Consideration of Electrical Fees:

Moved by Ambler, supported by Canterbury that the electrical fees as submitted by the City Manager be adopted. Unanimously carried.

Report on Street Lights:

After some discussion, the City Manager commented that the list as submitted is not by priority. Council agreed that they would like to take the list and do some studying of the streets and lighting before discussing this question further.

Moved by Allen, supported by Canterbury that a committee to study the lighting situation be appointed — Mr. Ambler, Mr. Kester, the Chief of Police and the City Manager. Unanimously carried.

This committee is to report at their earliest convenience. Engineer to Present the Preliminary Plans for Orchard Drive:

The engineer presented preliminary plans for Orchard drive (according to sketch, to go from area north of W. Main street, south to Weidner property on Seven Mile where an easement would be needed; 32 1/2 acres — 30 ft. wide street, curb — 2 1/2 inches of asphalt). It was recommended to the City Engineer that Mrs. Mollie Lawrence be approached for an easement on her property instead of Weidner's. The engineer is to have an estimate on this for the next council meeting. A time calendar on Special Assessments as prepared by the City Attorney should be presented by the City Engineer and the City Manager at the July 15th meeting.

Discussion of Proposed Time Limits for Parking Lots:

The Parking Committee is to meet with the merchants and bring back a recommendation regarding these three lots: Dunlap street, E. Main street and the Presbyterian Church lots. Mr. Allen asked that the car parked in front of L. Hahn's on Griswold street be investigated.

The matter of cars parked on the street without license plates and the length of time for parking was discussed.

Right of Way Agreement With Northville Swim Club:

Moved by Kester, supported by Carlson that the Northville Swim Club agreement be approved. Unanimously carried.

Attorney's Report Regarding Mr. Elmer Smith's property at 701 Spring Drive:

A letter of direction from the City Attorney regarding Mr. Smith's claim for storm damage was read. The City Manager was asked to write to Mr. Smith requesting him to file a claim with the city's insurance company and to contact the insurance company, making them aware of this situation.

Miscellaneous:

Mrs. Carlson asked that the matter of the septic tank in the rear of the Tewksbury property on N. Center street be investigated.

Mrs. Carlson also asked if the grass could be cut and trash cans removed from curb at Wing and Main street.

Mr. Kester asked if a letter could be written to the Board of Education on policy of who pays for the use of the Community Building — this letter to be written by the City Manager.

Mr. Potthoff discussed the request of Mr. Wineman's concerning the naming of the alley south of E. Main street parking lot. The Parking Committee could discuss this matter. The City Manager reported on the conversation he had with Mr. Jeohowski. He then talked to Mr. VanPetten's assistant in Chicago and the City Manager will continue in this matter of a colonial building being built instead of a temporary one.

The City Clerk discussed with council the plans for the July 4th parade.

Mr. Ambler asked if there could be a study made of the sewage situation affecting the Pixley and Ambler property. There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned at 11:35 p.m.

LET'S TALK CARS...

Who Ever Heard Of A Trade-In Like This?

Whenever we have the chance to take in a really superior used car we pay a premium price for it. That's because quality used cars are always a good buy. To the dealer who can then sell them with confidence and to the retail buyer who gets a lot of trouble-free transportation at a real saving.

Just to show you how much it can pay you to give your car extra loving care, a motorist recently traded in a 1934 automobile on a new '63 in a large eastern city and received $750.05 for his used car. That was actually $9.54 more than he paid for it new 29 years ago.

Of course, 29 years of inflation helped some and this car had likely acquired some antique value. But the real deciding factor was what the dealer described as the "mint" condition of the car. The original paint glistened and a well-used and faded owner's manual was still in the glove compartment. The car had been driven 58,000 miles.

Within a week the dealer had several chances to sell it for more than he had paid for it.

If you're thinking of trading up to a new or newer car, it will pay you to come in and talk over your needs with us. No matter what condition your car is in our trade-in values are high, but better than average condition is always reflected in the price.

Angie's Angels Lead Men's Softball Loop

Angie's Angels increased their lead in the Men's Softball League last week with an 8 to 0 victory over second place Northville Lab.

The Angels' victory was due to a combination of good fielding, hitting and pitching.

They moved off to a fast start with three runs in the first inning. Joe Kritch opened with a single; Ken Kisabeth doubled him to third; and Don Thomson, the league's leading slugger, belted a long home run over the right field fence.

The Angel's picked up three more runs in the second with Kisabeth and Thomson again providing the hitting punch.

Ken Kisabeth, making his first start of the season, held the usually hard hitting Lab team to three hits.

Two other tilts were played last week.

The Ford Valves defeated by a score of 8 to 1. Captain Dick Chapman delivered three hits to lead the Ford attack. Lapham's Men's Shop downed the Valves by a 9 to 3 score. Orson Atchinson went the distance for Lapham's.

Men's Softball
Angie's Angels 7-1
Northville Lab 4-3
Lapham's 3-4
Ford Valves 2-5
Walled Lake Merchants 2-5

Class D

Pitcher Eric Peterson paved the way as the Northville

Plumbers of the class D 18-and-under league avenged an earlier loss to the Wayne Merchants, 5-2.

Score of the previous game was 11-1.

Peterson gave up only four hits, walked none and fanned 12. He received good support in the field as his teammates played errorless ball.

Class F

Party Pantry, a team from Plymouth with plenty of batting muscle, walked away with first place honors in the class F 13-and-under baseball league Tuesday night.

Runner-up Northville Orioles split their final two games to extinguish any chance of even a close finish.

The Orioles were one-hit as they lost to Plymouth Recreation, 7-0. Scott Bargo was credited with the lone hit, a scratch single.

In a contest of Northville teams, the Orioles outscored the Ely Oilers, 16-11.

Dennis Mathews and Larry Biddle shared pitching chores for the Orioles. Scott Bargo, once again headed the hitters by slamming a round tripper, a triple and two singles.

The Oilers salvaged a game with the DiPonio Contractors, 5-4, coming up with four runs in the last frame to win.

Two three-hit performances by three pitchers paced the Casterline Braves to victory. Craig Turnbull fired a 6-5 win over Finlan Realty and Skip French and Jim Fox teamed up to hurl a 16-8 win over the Wayne County Training school.

Knothole

The Athletics in baseball and the Panthers in softball polished off their opponents in convincing fashion last week in Knothole play to improve their first place positions.

Scoring 42 runs in two games, the Panthers proved they were all but invincible.

Their first victims were the Clippers, 20-5. It was close until the league-leaders scored 12 times in one inning.

Then the Panthers blanked the Lions, 22-0.

While the Panthers were winning, the second-place Bears lost ground by dropping a 12-5 decision to the Tigers.

In winning 15-0 over the baseball Cardinals, the Athletics drove the ball all over the lot to cop an easy victory. Every member of the team had at least one hit.

The Athletics won their other game by forfeit from the Indians. They did not field a complete team.

In other baseball games, the Angels squeezed by the Giants, 9-8; the Indians clipped the Cardinals, 13-12; the Dodgers outslugged the Angels, 10-5; the Giants beat the Yankees, 13-9, and the Dodgers, 12-1.

Scores of other softball games were the Colts 25,

Lions 0; Angels 13, Tigers 4; and the Clippers 2, Angels 0.

Class E

With one week of play left in the class E 15-and-under league, Northville Recreation suddenly came alive last week to win twice by one-run margins.

Although buried in the cellar, the local team played solid ball.

In his first mound effort, Dennis Anchors hurled a 2-1 win over Plymouth Kiwanis. While striking out five, allowing only three hits and walking none, Anchors also lashed out a double and a single to pace the batters.

A stalwart all year long, Bob Regenhart twirled the other Northville win over Novi General Filters, 3-2.

The Northville Plumbers, only a half game behind first place Loper Firestone as the result of a cancelled game, racked up two more wins.

They felled the Novi Flyers, 6-4, and Bill's Market, 8-5. Walks and errors in both contests almost led to the Plumbers' defeat.

Northville's other representatives in the league, Spagy Thunderbird Inn lost two encounters, 14-3 to Loper's and 7-1 to Fisher's Shoes. Lack of hitting and poor fielding proved fatal.

Montagano graduated from the U of M in 1956 and has lived in Northville for the past year. He's hired a staff of eight attendants and lifeguards. #### In Justice Court

A Walled Lake man, who stood mute before Judge Charles McDonald Monday in Northville justice court, will stand trial August 12 on two counts.

Trial for Jere Gammel for July 29 charges of being drunk and disorderly and driving under the influence of alcohol will be held in justice court.

The drunk and disorderly charge resulted from an incident at the Clark gas station on Main street.

According to police, Gammel and a companion, Alfred Northcutt of South Lyon, had torn a mirror off the rest room wall while under the influence of liquor.

A few minutes after the incident, Gammel and Northcutt were involved in a five-car accident on the Seven Mile cutoff.

Witnesses said that Gammel was driving east on Seven Mile at a high rate of speed, police noted. The car which he was driving went over the center line, struck a car headed west, and Gammel lost control, said police. His car struck the rear of a car traveling east, bounced and slammed into a car waiting on River street.

Northcutt, who was arraigned the following Monday, pleaded guilty to drunk and disorderly conduct.

James Walton, 19, of South Lyon, guilty of having liquor in his possession July 28 on Johnston street between Main and Yerkes streets, paid a $15 fine and $10 costs.

Cooling Motor Hot

Northville firemen were called to Meadowbrook country club Sunday at 11:25 p.m. to extinguish a small fire caused by a short circuit in an electric motor.

Fire Chief William McGee reported heavy smoke concentration in the basement but said damage was confined to the motor. It operated the club's cooling system.

Ready or Not, New Recreation Building Hums with Activity

Although dedication ceremonies are not planned until fall, Northville's new scout-recreation building is getting plenty of use — dedicated or not.

The building, recently completed by Harley Cole and Son, Northville builders, is a source of pride to the entire community.

Complete cost of the facility will probably run close to $30,000. About half of these funds were collected by public donation. The city provided the land and the other half of the building cost from sale of the old scout building on Dunlap street.

This summer the building serves as headquarters for the community recreation program, which includes some 900 youngsters. Year-round activities bring the total participation to about 1,100, says Director Ken Conley.

A playground area in the back of the tri-level building is planned to include two blacktopped skating rinks, which in the summer will become tennis and basketball courts. A permanent archery range and playground for smaller tots will also be included.

In September area scouts will begin using the building for their meetings and special activities. The Northville Cooperative Pre-School Play Group will also conduct its program in the building. Director Conley explains that the building is for the use of organized youth groups either sponsored or approved by the recreation department.

The community's new Cady street scout-recreation building is now open and busy with activity. Grounds in the rear area will be used for ice skating, day camp and archery in the future.

"WHERE ARE WE SAFE?"

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Reverend LaVere Webster,

Pastor of Novi Methodist Church

Shakespeare reminds us that everything speaks to us — that we can "find tongues in trees, books in running brooks, sermons in stones, and good in everything." Our churches are sermons in themselves. From the smallest wayside chapel to the largest cathedral, they stand as silent witnesses to man's faith in God. They tell us of his belief and his need for fellowship with other believers.

Many things go into the building of a church. Some of them we can see, some of them we cannot, but we know that they are there. We see the walls, the stained glass windows and the beckoning doors. But woven into the building are also the hopes, dreams and prayers of many people whose sacrificial gifts make the building possible.

Every place of worship is an outward expression of something that existed first in the hearts and minds of men. When Jacob said, "How awesome is this place! Surely this the House of God and the gate of heaven," there was no sign of a building there. But immediately afterward Jacob took a stone, built an altar, and called it Beth-el (House of God). And so it is with our churches — built first in our hearts and then on the ground.

Churches are sermons in themselves. The spires pointing to the sky seem to say "Lift up your hearts." Our inner response is, "We lift them up unto the Lord."

There is a great danger of going to extremes about the physical conditions of the church. Therefore we must have a balance and not go too far in either direction. The one extreme is a careless, slipshod attitude and indifference to dust and disorder. Spotted, rumpled linens ignore the heritage of the past. We cannot worship with distracting physical conditions. The other extreme is just as bad. We may become enamored with furnishings, form and beauty of the physical. Things become an end in themselves rather than a means to the end of worship. This attitude is a form of idolatry.

Between these two extremes is a balance — a setting that will draw the attention of the congregation beyond themselves to the consciousness of the presence of "One greater than the temple." Most assuredly one can worship God in a barn or a hall — or any kind of structure completely devoid of symbolism or churchly structure; but under such conditions the need for discipline is very great. God's presence is never wanting where two or three are gathered in His Name to worship Him. However, there is a growing feeling these days when so many secular-izing influences are bearing upon us, that the Church and its appointments should speak to us overtly of the higher life in ways that will give our spirits a lift. Divine worship gives us our only breathing spell from the tensions set up by the modern way of life. Nothing else can take its place. Therefore, it is important that the character of the Church building suggest a complete departure from the background against which we do our daily work. When we enter it, we should feel instinctively that we are standing on holy ground. A church is dedicated to the glory of God — the service of men, worship, preaching and Holy Sacraments. J. E. Thomas III, "Church Altars" writes:

From city streets and country lanes
Against the peaceful skies
We see the upward-pointing spires
Of friendly churches rise.

And from their altars there ascends
Like incense rising sweet
The hopes and prayers of humankind —
Where love and mercy
meet.

So may the sacred hush we feel
In quietness and calm,
Renew our souls and fill our hearts
With one unending psalm!

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

There's a little bungalow at the corner of South Main and Beal streets that's shining with a new coat of white paint.

It's neat as a pin inside, but the exterior had become weather-worn and gray.

Mrs. Lottie Stockman owns and lives in the house. She was born there 80 years ago.

One day recently a young man called at her house to ask if she would like to have it painted.

"I'd love to have it done, but I can't afford it," the little white-haired lady replied.

"It won't cost a cent. I'm from the Northville Jaycees and we want to do it for you free of charge," the young man explained.

Naturally, Mrs. Stockman was surprised. And, as she tells it now, she really felt she should pay something. "I'm proud, you know. It's alright to accept welfare, but only if you need it," she pointed out.

"Well," said the young man, "we know you've lived in Northville all your life, been a good citizen, and always paid your taxes. We just want to honor you by painting your house."

Mrs. Stockman was pleased. This week she inserted a "card of thanks" in The Record classified ads to express her appreciation.

She was also amused and amazed at the way the six Jaycees pitched-in and painted her entire house Saturday between 8 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

"Their wives brought them coffee and cake at noon. I never thought they'd get done so fast."

Mrs. Stockman has been a widow since 1952. When her husband was ill during the war years, she surprised him (and herself) by getting a job at the Ford Valve Plant. She worked there from 1944 to 1949. She's always wanted to "pay her way" and still does.

And although she could have sold her home many times as a desirable piece of commercial property, she continues to live there because "it's home."

The Jaycees, explains President Karl Knoth, want to do something besides "July Fourth parades."

"We want to do something worthwhile . . . to help people . . . to help the community. We thought this was a good idea."

I agree. So does Mrs. Stockman.

A good deed done for the Jaycees . . . a happy and appreciative Mrs. Stockman.

Legislature Faces Long Session

The prospect of a long fall session of the Legislature is strongly indicated when one views the subject matter to be discussed.

First and foremost, the Governor's special call to the Legislature sometime after Labor Day will ask for consideration of fiscal reform. This vast project has been an aim of the two Democratic predecessors of GOR Gov. George Romney.

There is still no real indication that Romney will get the full cooperation he needs from legislators in his own party for his fiscal reform program, still to be spelled out in detail. Secondly, the Legislature will have before it a number of bills designed to bring Michigan law into conformity with the new Constitution which will take effect next January 1.

Much of the implementation of the new document will take place next year and in successive sessions, but some sections of the state's recently adopted basic law require immediate changes in the statutes.

A committee headed by Rep. Rollo G. Conlin, Tipton Republican given bipartisan credit as the Legislature's tax expert has been studying the Constitution this summer.

Only priority measures will be taken into the special session by Conlin's committee.

Then during the 1964 session there will be introduced. Finally, in 1965 the Legislature will likely complete most of the statute revision needed to implement the new Constitution. With tax reform and law changes required by the Constitution on the Fall docket some Capitol observers are predicting the special session could easily run until mid-December.

Voters who either overlook or deliberately fail to cast ballots on machines for local issues and special questions may one day get biennial lessons in exercising their voting right.

The recent recount of the new Constitution and a survey of the vote on the document has prompted Secretary of State James M. Hare, whose department administers Michigan's elections, to ask for ways to eliminate this practice.

Hare said a study of voting habits on machines as compared with tallies in paper precincts showed many machine voters consistently fail to cast ballots for minor offices and special questions.

The reason for this sharp difference is not known, of course, but Hare and many others think lack of familiarity with the machines could be a major factor.

Normally when a person first votes on a machine, a precinct worker will demonstrate on a sample ballot. The succeeding elections, however, often find the voter not looking at the sample machine which shows the various offices to be filled and questions to be decided.

A refresher course in operating the voting machine at each election likely would increase the percentage of votes cast for the ballot questions other than major offices.

The Secretary of State said a study of the Constitution vote last April indicated one substantial fact: if most of the voters who failed to had cast their machine ballot on the document it could have been defeated or approved by such a margin that the costly recount would not have been sought.

The case pointed out by Hare is similar to the many stories heard before every election of how one man's vote has meant the difference in many tallies.

Several cities are planning to make use of economic development legislation passed this year, but Pontiac gets the "first" rating.

State Rep. Gilbert E. Bursley, Ann Arbor Republican who spearheaded the movement of the legislation through the House, notes Pontiac officials plan to set up a business development corporation.

One of the development bills passed this session provided for the creation by municipalities of business development corporations to help industry location.

In Pontiac, Bursley said, two local banks have pledged to assist businesses seeking Pontiac area location through this new corporation.

The Ann Arbor legislator said a number of other cities expressed interest in getting a full explanation of how to create industrial parks, business development corporations, or other industry-drawing plans.

As a result of the widespread interest, Bursley said his economic expansion committee would spend much of the time before the Fall session visiting with officials around the state about procedures and ideas.

Thoughts for Living

Babson Park, Mass., — I trust that the millions of readers of this syndicated weekly column of mine will forgive me for making today's discussion so personal. I have never done it before. I quite this same way.

The fact is, however, that I have just returned from the grave where I have buried my dear wife. This column, of course, must be written; and I cannot think of anything else.

Here is a very important thought that occurred to me yesterday; namely, that some thousands of husbands in this country are today suffering the same bereavement. They are burying their dearest friend. We are often too self-centered to recognize this fact. We think too much about ourselves alone, and forget these nine hundred and ninety-nine, or even nine thousand and ninety-nine, others who are suffering the same tragedy.

I can truthfully say the following about Nona Dougherty Babson (and I believe millions of others can say the same of their wives): I had a faithful wife who gave me a good home.

She was an able executive and yet loved everyone. She was a praying partner, and we said our prayers together every night before going to bed. She was the personification of loyalty, thoughtfulness, and kindness.

As I look over my morning newspaper, I feel that we are not only guilty of the self-centeredness mentioned above, but that we have missed or are lacking in some fundamental training by our parents or teachers and friends. First, we have failed to seek out and appreciate the facts of life. We read the headlines of our newspapers, but neglect the fine print. How many of us actually seek knowledge rather than mere news?

The second lack in our education has been our failure to develop tolerance.

We neglect tolerance — in our family life — with our neighbors, in our region and politics. This intolerance — between members of the same families, between employers and wage-workers, between rich and poor, between different racess, colors, and nations — is the real reason for revolutions and wars, both "cold" and "hot."

So, on this sad morning, I shall resolve to be more tolerant with those who are still living.

Again I ask my readers to forgive me for making this week's column so personal; but I cannot help it. "The show must go on," as the song on a record so poignantly points out. But I am still human — and I hope I shall continue to be so throughout my life.

My late wife was very human. One of the thoughts she kept constantly before me was our dependence on our fellowman and our need for faith in God and in the power of goodness.
