Percy C. Angove Services Held Wednesday

Percy C. Angove, 73, of 841 West Main street, who dedicated much of his life to serving the interests of others, died Saturday of a heart attack at his Glen lake summer home.

Funeral services for the prominent Northville resident were conducted yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon from Casterline Funeral Home, with the Reverend Lloyd Brasure officiating.

Burial was in Rural Hill Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers friends are asked to remember him in a memorial to the First United Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Mr. Angove, who had retired on January 1 as executive director of the Michigan Society of Crippled Children and Disabled Adults, was born June 16, 1890 at Hoyle Cornwell, England to John F. and Mary Elizabeth (Trebilcock) Angove.

At the age of 13, he was a journeyman decorator. He came to the United States at the age of 25, settling in the copper mine area of the Upper Peninsula.

After completing high school, he was graduated from Western Michigan university with a bachelor of science degree. In 1933 he received his MA degree at Wayne State university.

He was married on Christmas, 1918 to Eloise M. Salvo, who survives him.

Formerly a teacher in the Ionia, Michigan school system, Mr. Angove was the founder of the Vocational Rehabilitation Department for the State of Michigan and was superintendent of education for the Wayne County Training School.

A member of various committees and a consultant for most of the Michigan governors for the past 40 years, Mr. Angove was considered a pioneer in all forms of education.

He wrote the original legislation establishing industrial safety standards which have been used as models by other states.

In 1935 he was a guest of the Mexican Ministry of Education for six months, planning special education programs for that country. Four years later he was a delegate to the world conference on special education in London, England.

He also lectured at Bedford College, England.

In May of this year, Wayne State university awarded him the Distinguished Alumni honor.

Mr. Angove came to Northville in 1929. He attended the Presbyterian church here.

Besides his wife, Mr. Angove is survived by two sons, Edward of Northville and Robert of Bloomfield Hills; a daughter, Mrs. Murray (Marie) B. Foster of Ypsilanti; two brothers, Garfield of Detroit and Sidney of Long Beach, California; and nine grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by three brothers and two sisters.

Small But Steady

School Tax Shows Decline

A small but significant drop in the millage rate for the 1963-64 fiscal year was approved by the Northville school board here Monday evening.

The decrease — from last year's 24.95 millage rate to this year's 24.70 mills — represents a small continuous decline over the past few years due primarily because of a steady increase in the school district's equalized valuation.

In adopting the new millage rates as suggested by Superintendent Russell H. Amerman, board members noted the decrease with an air of reserved delight.

It's only a small reduction, Trustee Robert Shafer said, but "it's real pleasing."

The new millage rate is down from a high rate in 1959-60 of 27.75. This downward trend, Amerman has explained, is primarily the result of increased equalized valuation of the district. And it's going down, he noted, despite increasing operational costs and a decline in the percentage of state aid.

School officials have explained that as the valuation of the district increases, state aid decreases.

The latest equalized valuation of the school district is $28,919,630 as compared to the previous year valuation of $28,014,369.

Previous valuations include: $26,583,246 in 1962; $25,103,364 in 1961; $22,162,385 in 1960; $21,131,148 in 1959; and $18,018,257 in 1958.

Between 1957 and 1958 the equalized valuation jumped from $10,461,512 to the $18,018,257 figure for an increase of 41-percent. This major increase was the result of a reassessment program.

Specifically, the new millage rate calls for these individual levies: 7.90 county allocated and 10.00 voted increase for operational purposes; 1.10 for the 1954 debt fund; .90 for the 1957 debt fund, Series A; 3.50 for the 1957 debt fund, Series B; and 1.30 for the 1957 debt fund, Series C.

The 17.90 mills for operation is expected to produce $517,661.38. Under the new budget — which provides for non-tax receipts and an eight-percent delinquency — a total of $520,098 was needed in taxes.

The board voted Monday to call $19,000 in bonds for the 1954 debt on the next interest date — October 1.

In other financial transactions Monday, the board voted to pay in full to the city the remaining cost of the sidewalk along Center near the high school, and $1,500 for part payment of paving on Center at the same location. Together, the two payments will total $2,999.23.

Board members also adopted a new type "promissory note" resolution, which permits completion of financing for a new school bus. The bus has already arrived.

Bank, bidding against Kenower MacArthur & Co. for lending of money against anticipated tax income, was the low bidder at 1.95 percent. Kenower's bid was 2.5 percent. The contract went to Manufacturer's.

Bids on fuel oil, gasoline, motor oil, and lubricants were opened by the board and then turned over to E. V. Ellison, director of administration, for review and recommendation.

Five companies submitted bids on the fuel oil. Discounting grades, the bids ran from a low of 8.75 cents per gallon to 10.5 cents.

Three firms bid on gasoline, five on motor oil and lubricant. They were Mobil, Pure, Sun, Standard and Sinclair. Standard, Sinclair and Mobil b'd 12.7 cents, 13.5-cents, and 13.59-cents, respectively on gasoline.

According to Ellison, a check of past records showed that the price of gasoline ranged from 11.9-cents to 15.9-cents for an average of 13.68-cents. The average with bids was 12.7-cents.

A milk contract was awarded to Wilson & Son, lone bidders at .051-cents per pint of white milk and .055 per pint of chocolate.

In discussion of and the preparation for the opening of schools these matters came up.

The board hired Mabel Bowers, who for the past 30 years has been with the Wayne County Training School, as a music teacher in the elementary school at a total salary of $5,600.

A half-day English teaching position remains open in the junior high school, but Amerman expressed confidence that the position can be filled before the opening of school.

Ellison reported that three bus drivers still are needed.

Amerman reminded the board that under a policy adopted last year, all employees of the system must have chest examinations. The examinations may be by either X-ray or skin test. Examinations can be had at Maybury Sanitarium for $5, by private physicians at about $15, and by the Wayne county department of health free of cost, Amerman noted.

It was reported that Fred Clark, maintenance man who recently injured himself while lifting a load into a school truck, has developed a chest ailment which may prolong his absence from work.

President William Crump introduced literature on a pre-fabricated refreshment stand for consideration by the board.

Officials reported that Norwood Dickinson, janitor, has taken employment elsewhere and Herb Brown has been hired to replace him.

Wilfred Becker was appointed by Crump as board representative to the Michigan Association of School Boards meeting in Detroit, September 11, 12, and 13. The board also voted to support the incumbent directors of MASB.

Liz Spurns Gussie But Mort Neff Beckons

Spurned by an ungrateful 'Liz Taylor' and her lovers, a rising young star may make his television debut tonight.

And Liz, 'Richard Burton' and 'Eddie Fisher' probably won't get much more than supporting roles. Gussie McQuack — a handsome, colorful duckling — is slated to make a guest appearance this evening on Mort Neff's popular TV program, Michigan Outdoors. Sharing his billing will be Charles and 'John' Genitti.

It just couldn't happen to a nicer fellow.

Few have made the big jump to stardom so quickly as this youngster whose story of success is a tragic yet tender biography.

It all started last month when Liz, a raven-haired beauty, began entertaining some of her old friends in Northville — near the appropriately romantic apartments of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ware of Hutton street.

Eddie and Richard were regular visitors, of course. But there were others too — "mysterious" fellows who jetted in daily from over by Northville's Ford plant.

Liz enjoyed all this attention and, like any fickle female, had difficulty obssessing her next husband. Her suitors, competing for her love, took her out for dinner, for walks around the apartment lawns, and together they went sailing.

Finally, Liz decided. She picked Richard and they were married.

Five weeks or so later, Gussie and six brothers and sisters were born to Liz and Richard. All were ordinary, dark-colored ducklings — all save Gussie, who emerged from his egg fluffy yellow.

Liz, who like her friends was named by the Wares, was stunned by her handiwork. In fact, the "ugly duckling" infuriated her and she tried to do him in.

That's when Mr. and Mrs. Al Gleason came to the rescue. They found Gussie, alone and barely alive in the rocks bordering the Ware's pond. They took him (maybe he's a she) in to their home, nursed him back to life.

Then, because a baby duck "needs the love of children", Gussie was given to the Ware's nephews, Charles 13, and John 16, of 16636 Edmore drive, Detroit.

Later a telephone call to Mort Neff substantiated a suspicion: Gussie is indeed an oddity — perhaps an albinio. At any rate Neff invited the boys to appear on his program with Gussie. They'll make that appearance tonight — provided, of course, that Gussie's still alive at air time.

Meanwhile, Liz — unaware of her offspring's stardom — continues to care for her other babies. And she's doing it alone 'cause Richard, Eddie and her "mysterious" friends have abandoned her.

According to Mrs. Ware, Liz has been raising families near the apartments for the past five years, leaving in the fall and returning with warm weather the following year.

Although she may have been brutal in her treatment of Gussie, in all fairness to Liz she hasn't had an easy time of it. In the past five years Liz has had to nest at least twice each year to produce a family.

Invariably, her first eggs have been destroyed by raccoons or other animals. But each time she nests again until successful.

By the time she leaves Northville for her trip south, her children are as large as she, and they too head for warmer temperatures.

Until they leave, however, Liz, her lovers, and her children receive the constant attention and affection of the neighborhood children and adults.

Big Splash At Swim Club

Northville Swim Club members who have anxiously awaited the opening of their new pool were scheduled to take their first "splash" yesterday (Wednesday).

The facility, located behind the high school, still has some "finishing touches", reports Club President John R. Jackson, but it has been fully approved for opening.

The Northville Swim Club is a private enterprise organized last winter. Its membership now stands at approximately 125, but it is the club's aim to double the number. Interested families may contact Jackson at FI 9-1157.

Local Man, Woman Head District Legion

Steimel

Northville's role in American Legion activities will reach an all-time high this Saturday night when a local man and woman take over as commander and auxiliary president of the 17th district, respectively.

Last month C. Oscar Hammond of the Northville Lloyd H. Green post was elected Legion commander for the state of Michigan.

In district ceremonies to be conducted in Northville John Steimel will be installed as district commander and Mrs. Howard Wright as auxiliary president. The district is comprised of posts and auxiliary units from Plymouth, Livonia, Redford, Detroit, Redford township and Rosedale Park as well as Northville.

Steimel, 35, is a past commander of the Northville post and has held all local offices. He is a former senior and junior vice commander of the district.

Mrs. Wright, who is the daughter of State Commander Hammond, just completed serving as vice president of the district. She has also been district treasurer. In local post activities Mrs. Wright has been secretary for two years, treasurer one year and president three years.

The public is invited to attend the 8 p.m. ceremonies at the post home here Saturday. A social hour will follow.

In another Legion appointment involving a local man, David McDougall of Northville was named state membership chairman by Commander Hammond (see story, page 8).

NEWCOMER'S CORNER

I look upon every day to be lost, in which I do not make a new acquaintance.

— Samuel Johnson

Meet the Moons — Robyn, Jeffrey, (Mrs.) June, Lewis and Janice.

A newcomer to Northville has graduated — in a sense — from high school to college.

Lewis Moon, a former high school coach and teacher of American history is the new head of high school relations at Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Officially, he is also the athletic director and head of student activities.

The change of jobs thus brought the family to 390 Fairbrook.

A graduate of his home town college, Albion, and of the University of Michigan with a master in guidance and counseling, Moon has taught at Addison, Elkton, Sandusky and Clio, in that order.

Perhaps the most significant event in his long years of teaching took place at Addison when he met Mrs. Moon.

Just out of Bowling Green college, Ohio, Mrs. Moon was teaching Business courses. There are three children in the Moon family, Janice, 15, Robyn, 13, and Jeffrey, 9.

Janice, who will be a 10th grader, and Robyn, who will enter the ninth grade, are looking forward to joining the band. Janice plays the flute and Robyn, the clarinet.

Jeffrey will be a new addition to the Main street school fourth grade.

The whole family specifically has one interest in common — swimming and water skiing.

"We go to our cottage on Devil's lake near Jackson almost every weekend and whenever Lew can get away," said Mrs. Moon.

The Moons interests, however, extend beyond the cottage and water sports.

Mr. Moon, a member of the Masons, is a woodworking enthusiast, Mrs. Moon reports, while she sews and plays bridge. Janice, too, likes sewing and knitting.

During the winter, the Moons like to skate.

There will be one change, however, in the Moons' winter activities this year. No longer will Mrs. Moon and the children sit on the edge of their seats to watch dad's basketball team go through it's paces.

Residents Attend CAR Session

The eighth North Central regional meeting of the National Society of the Children of the American Revolution has been held this past weekend in Battle Creek, Michigan, hosted by the State Society.

Mrs. Edwin P. Davis, senior national vice-president, Shorewood, Wisconsin called the meeting to order and turned the gavel over to Richard Vincent, national vice-president, of Marshall, Michigan.

A procession of dignitaries from Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana and Alaska gave delegates an opportunity to see the national, regional and state officers and carry out the theme "Getting to Know You" of the two day conference.

Among the representatives from Michigan attending the meeting at Holiday Inn were Mrs. George F. Merwin of Cotford road, senior state president of Michigan, and daughters Vicki Lyn, Mimi and Jacki and Rick Martin of Whipple drive. The young people are members of the Plymouth Corners Society of this area.

The two-day program included, besides business, a tour of Kellogg's plant, a Smorgasbord dinner at the Doo Drop Inn, luncheon and swimming at the motel and a corn roast, games and Hootenanny in Binder Park. Some members drove over to Marshall to visit the Honolulu House.

The two local societies hosting the conference were the Johnny Appleseed and Pere Marquette.

Kitchen Diary

Old Recipes Taste Best!

The measurements may not always be exact, but heritage recipes produce dishes with a flavor like no others.

This week's Kitchen Diary contributor, Mrs. Ronald Tipping of Novi is fortunate in having two old-time recipes in her cookbook.

Both are dessert recipes; both passed from her grandmother's hands in Oakville, Ontario, to her mother's hands and finally into hers.

The first, a strawberry shortcake recipe, can be used for other berries such as blueberries now coming into season, according to Mrs. Tipping.

The second, tapioca cream dessert, is "delicious early around," the Novi cook and her office manager husband maintain.

Mrs. Tipping's recipes:
STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE
3 cups all purpose flour
3 Tbs. baking powder

1 tsp. salt
1 Tbs. sugar
2 large Tbs. butter
Add enough milk to make a stiff dough and then 2 or 3 egg yolks. Bake in 425 degree oven.

To make the sauce, crush 1 quart of berries with masher. Mix 1 cup white sugar and ½ cup softened butter and then add mixture to berries.

Beat egg whites until quite stiff. Fold with above mixture, finally folding in one cup whipped cream. Serve over warm cake.

TAPIOCA CREAM DESSERT

1 cup tapioca
3 egg yolks, beaten
1 cup white sugar
dash of salt
1 tsp. vanilla

Soak tapioca 3 or 4 hours in sweet milk, using just enough to cover the tapioca. Then, mix all ingredients and pour into 1 quart of milk heated to the boiling point. Remove from heat.

Have egg whites beaten stiffly and fold into mixture while still hot. Set aside to cool and thicken.

Serve very cold topped with whipped cream and a dash of red jelly for color.

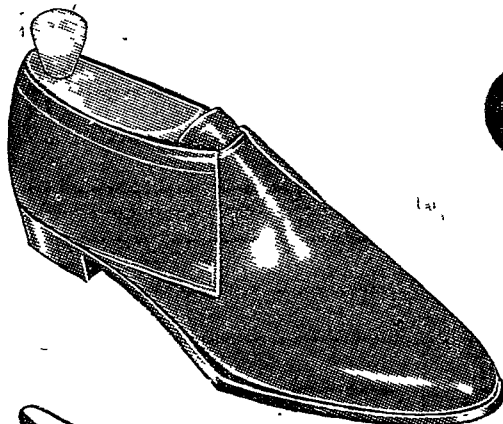

Carrots have no more food value to the eye than any other vegetable.

Art Around Us

By Jessie Hudson

My friend Bill Mant and I took off for ancient Egypt last week. We visited the tombs of the ancient kings and examined at first hand some of the precious objects buried with the royal mummies. The trip took no longer than fifty minutes by direct Comet to the Art Institute in Detroit. There a special showing of the treasures of Tutankhamun's tomb is set up.

Among the beauties on display are scarabs, amulets, signet rings, armlets, miniature mummies and small gold coffins. The most impressive aspect of the work shown is the loving detail carefully worked into the metal objects... every inch covered with hieroglyphics or designs, repetition and variation, the basis for all good design. Alabaster vases were the most appealing, these in simple, classic shapes but beautifully translucent. Three small pottery dishes in dark blue with turquoise inscriptions were particularly attractive. One peculiar item was a set of finger stalls... gold finger and toe guards used to protect the bandaged extremities of the mummy. A gold dagger and sheath is an excellent example of the kind of over-all-decoration typical of their art. The catalog describes it, "...The blade is of a hard alloy of gold; the hilt is decorated with granulated gold work and inlaid with colored glass and semi-precious stones, and the face of the sheath bears representations of wild animals. Found in the wrappings of the mummy, it is 12 inches long." And handsome, too. There is a fee for this exhibit, 75 cents for adults, 50 cents for students, and 25 cents for children. Interesting. Still time to go down. Will be on hand until September 1st. Institute summer hours are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. Closed on Mondays and holidays.

Although many galleries are closed for August, Hama-mura's and the Detroit Artist Market, for instance, many are gallantly carrying on despite the heat and drought. The Little Gallery in Birmingham is one which is open. This gallery in an old house on Maple east of Woodward is always interesting. The present show is contemporary Japanese paintings and prints. More interesting to me are the assemblage done by Glen Michaels in all kinds of "found objects". They always seem to be on hand here. Newly moved to Birmingham is the coffee-shop gallery "The Raven". Prints and paintings by Robert Broner are the current attraction. "The America House" in Eng-lenders furniture store should make everyone proud to be an American. Here is a very fine collection of original pieces of pottery, stoneware, sculpture, copper enamelled plaques, and weaving. Very handsome. Also in Birmingham on Cranbrook Road is the Birmingham Art Association show. Still appealing are the tapestries by Carolyn Hall and the paintings by all and sundry.

Further west and nearer home is the Hartley-Powers Gallery in Northville. Currently showing regular gallery artists, the emphasis is on cool blue and greens with a few hot numbers thrown in for contrast. In stages of preparation is a group show coming up of collages by Bette Szczepanski and Catherine Hartley ceramics by Cate Edgerton all of Northville and oils and water-colors by Beverly Shankwiler of Wayne. Should be a colorful exhibit August 25 to September 7. Gallery hours here are 12 to 6 every day, 12 to 9 on Friday and 9 to 6 on Saturday.

In the Galleries:
Hartley-Powers, 116 E. Main street, Northville. Regular gallery artists until August 25 when new group show goes up.

In Our Justice Courts

A Walled Lake man was arraigned on two counts Monday before Judge Charles McDon-ald in Northville justice court.

Jere Gammel was found guilty of disorderly conduct July 20 at the Clark service station, for which he was fined $20 and $5 costs and $7.50 restitution for a broken mirror.

In addition, Gammel paid a fine of $50 and $5 costs for reckless driving July 20 on the Seven Mile road cutoff near River street.

The reckless driving charge was the result of a five-car accident which happened shortly after the broken mirror incident at the Clark Service station.

According to police, Gammel was driving east on the Seven Mile cutoff when his car veered over the center line, striking a car traveling east. Gammel's vehicle rammed into the rear of another west-bound car, then bounced into a car stopped at the corner of River street, police said.

One of the cars that were hit collided with another car, noted police.

A Detroit man was placed on six months probation and fined by Judge Robert K. Anderson Thursday in Novi justice court for fighting at the Walled Lake Casino.

Donald Siddall, 18, pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct July 28, for which he was fined $42.

Thurman Carpenter of Brighton, guilty of consuming liquor on Grand River July 26, paid a $15 fine.

First X-Way Section Open for Traffic

The first section of Detroit's East-West Metropolitan Freeway was opened to traffic recently. The 5.4-mile section of freeway from I-96 at Novi to Orchard Lake road was opened to serve local traffic only.

Later this year, an additional 2.5 miles from Orchard Lake road to Northwestern Highway will be opened in conjunction with the completion of a freeway along Northwestern.

DOESN'T HURT A BIT — Eddie Kritch, 860 Spring drive, was a little worried at first, but after Winston S. Greene, immunization technician, had administered the immunization shot with a hypospray gun Eddie agreed with most of the 417 other children and adults who received shots at the Northville immunization clinic last week Wednesday: "It doesn't hurt a bit." Sponsored by the Wayne County Department of Health, the clinic was held at the First Presbyterian church of Northville. Clinic officials said they were a "little disappointed" that more Northville area residents didn't take advantage of the clinic but they nevertheless called it a "success." Last year 548 local area persons received immunization shots through the department's mobile unit.

Readers Speak:

Realtor's View on Sales

To the Editor:

Much publicity is being given with respect to Civil Rights, forced housing and proposed laws and ordinances to be passed under the guise of "best for all", "equal rights", etc. In much of this publicity, the real estate Broker is made the whipping post and many troubles, whether beyond his control or not, are laid at his door. For this reason, I feel it is time to express my views, not as a Realtor, but rather just a plain "Joe Doaks", like you, your and my neighbors and friends. On this basis and with due regard to every race, to every creed and to every color, I respectfully submit my 2 cents worth.

Is "forced housing" the answer to harmony among us? Can we gain freedom by destroying another? Are YOU satisfied in the fact that numerous proposed state and municipal laws will force YOU as an owner to sell or even rent YOUR property to anyone who simply has enough money? Are YOU ready to accept these proposed rules or laws that offer you no choice or respect for YOUR desires or intentions? Has our society reached that stage whereby merely having enough money is the only requirement? These are questions, my friends, that apply to YOU — to EVERYONE — regardless of their race, creed or color.

I therefore respectfully submit for your thinking what is known as a "Property Owners Bill of Rights". This article has been edited and approved by the National Association of Real Estate Boards. I believe that many readers of the Record feel the same way as shown in the following paragraphs, regardless of their race, creed or color.

"In 1789, the people of America were fearful that government might restrict their freedom. The first Congress of the United States, in that year, proposed a Bill of Rights.

"The Bill of Rights, essentially, tells the government what it cannot do. The statements comprise the first 10 amendments to the United States Constitution.

The Bill of Rights, has had a profound impact upon the history of the world.

Forty million immigrants gave up much to come to this land, seeking something promised here — and only here. Many countries have abundant natural resources, vast vacant lands, and climate as good as America.

They came here for the promise of security — the promise of freedom — for the precious right to live as free men with equal opportunity for all.

In July of 1868, a new guarantee of freedom was ratified. Its purpose was to guard against human slavery. Its guarantees were for the equal protection of all.

This new guarantee of freedom is the 14th Amendment. It reads, in part, as follows:

"No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

The vital importance of these federal laws was reemphasized in a recent statement of the Chief Justice of the United States in which he urged the retention of "government of laws in preference to a government of men."

Today, the rights and freedoms of the individual American property owner are being eroded. This endangers the rights and freedom of all Americans. Therefore, a Bill of Rights to protect the American property owner is needed.

It is self-evident that the erosion of these freedoms will destroy the free enterprising, individual American.

It is our solemn belief that the individual American property owner, regardless of race, color, or creed, must be allowed, under law, to retain:

1. The right of privacy.
2. The right to choose his own friends.
3. The right to own and enjoy property according to his own dictates.
4. The right to occupy and dispose of property without governmental interference in accordance with the dictates of his conscience.
5. The right of all equally to enjoy property without interference by laws giving special privilege to any group or groups.

6. The right to maintain what, in his opinion, are congenial surroundings for tenants.

7. The right to contract with a real estate broker or other representative of his choice and to authorize him to act for him according to his instructions.

8. The right to determine the acceptability and desirability of any prospective buyer or tenant of his property.

9. The right of every American to choose who in his opinion are congenial tenants in any property he owns — to maintain the stability and security of his income.

10. The right to enjoy the freedom to accept, reject, negotiate, or not negotiate with others.

Loss of these rights diminishes personal freedom and creates a springboard for further erosion of liberty.

Respectfully submitted
D. J. Stark

Says Thanks

Mr. William Sliger
My dear friend Bill:

I have delayed writing to you and even at this time it is hard to find proper words to thank you and your staff for the wonderful job you did in publicizing my campaign and especially the great coverage you gave me after my election, as state commander of the American Legion. It is somewhat hard to believe that I deserve these honors.

A special thanks to Robert Blough for his handling of the brochures. May I also extend a special thanks to all the citizens of Northville for their wonderful support given me during the past year while I was campaigning. I can assure you that especially during this year Northville will be known anywhere I travel in Michigan and elsewhere.

Again thanks for everything.

Plumbers Spark Late

But for one inning, the Northville Plumbers, winners of the local class E recreation league, would be winging their way to the district finals of the Michigan Recreation Association tournament at Wayne high school.

In that one inning, Northville's hopes of a championship were smashed as Ann Arbor scored seven times in the first frame yesterday. The Ann Arborites made it stand up for a 9-4 conquest.

Manager Bob Visser put it poignantly. "After they scored their seven runs, we beat them 4-2."

The manner in which the runs were scored added insult to injury. They came on five walks and four hits.

All hits were singles. Two rolled through the infield when the Plumbers were pulled in for a play at the plate; two were Chinese liners.

Ann Arbor's only solid hit of the game, a homerun in the sixth, scored its other two runs.

Heads up play by Doug Swiss of the Plumbers led to Northville's first marker in the fourth.

Swiss singled, stole second and moved to third on the high throw to second. He tallied on a grounder.

But not all of Northville's scores were untainted.

Gary MacDermaid tripped to lead off the fifth. He was thrown out at the plate as Steve Evans rolled to the mound.

Doug Dingwall kept the rally going by singling and Mike Turnbull followed with another single. With the bases loaded, Jerry Inslund grounded hard to the pitcher who threw wild to first. Two runs scored.

The mightiest blow for the Plumbers was stroked by Phil Andrews. He poled a long homer to left to lead off the sixth.

Northville gained the second round of play by thumping Wayne Monday, 6-2.

Inslund and Keith Mueller shared pitching duties. In four innings, Inslund gave up only two hits while fanning five and walking two. Mueller almost bested Inslund as he permitted one hit, walked five and struck out four.

While the Wayne batsmen could muster just three hits, the Plumbers garnered seven.

Three swingers accounted for all of them. Jameson led the field with three for four. Close behind were Inslund and Swiss, each of whom recorded two for four.

The Northville line was never headed.

A single by Jameson and Swiss double brought home the first score in the opening frame.

Again in the third, the Plumbers scored once. Bob Regenhart, who walked, was doubled home by Jameson. Jameson, in turn, moved around on two wild pitches.

In the fifth inning, Northville wrapped the game up with a bow of three runs.

Regenhart walked and Jameson reached first on an error. Inslund then lined a single to left to score Regenhart. Swiss spanked another single to score Jameson.

Inslund came across with the third marker by stealing home.

Knothole

As far as the Athletics and Panthers are concerned, the same brand of ball paid off all season long.

Through heavy hitting, good defensive play and stellar pitching, they won the knothole championships in a breeze.

The Athletics with an 11-1 slate copped the baseball crown and the Panthers, the softball honors, with an unblemished record in 12 outings. Each of their finale's were no different.

The Athletics spanked the Dodgers, 16-2, last week, scoring five runs in the fourth and 10 in the fifth frame.

Barry Willanborg led the onslaught with a triple and a homer.

To protect their clean record, the Panthers proved they were all but invincible as they swamped the second-place Bears, 16-1. The lone Bear marker was scored in the last inning.

In the only other baseball game, the Cardinals lost to the Giants, 14-3.

Closing out the softball season, the Tigers chewed up the Colts, 20-6, and the Lions slipped by the Angels, 5-4.

JC's Win

The Northville Jaycees continued their winning ways Sunday with an 8-4 conquest of Plymouth in the JC district number six league.

Andy Neely and Pete Petrie with circuit clouts led the local contingent to its fourth win in six starts.

Livonia will furnish the opposition in the next game September 1 at Ford Field.

Pillars, Wheels Set for Playoff

The Wheels and Pillars of the Novi Little League, who deadlocked for first place with 16-4 records, will play a best two out of three series this week to determine the circuit champion.

Reason for the tie was the Wheels unexpected, 4-3, loss Saturday to the Jayhawks in sudden death overtime.

The Jayhawks scored their first time at bat. Tony McDaniels singled and stole second. Dave Branch then spanked a single to left to score McDaniels with the winning run.

At the end of seven innings Monday, the two teams were knotted at three-all, necessitating the overtime.

The Wheels were formerly known as the Bandits.

And they did it at their own expense.

They received instruction from a qualified group of coaches, who covered every angle of the sport, including practical fundamentals to modern aggressive tactics and defensive methods.

Coaches, officials and wrestlers from many areas of the nation attended this, the first such clinic.

Attention Athletes

A physical examination for prospective high school sports enthusiasts will be held tomorrow evening (Friday), Athletic Director Al Jones announced this week.

The examinations will get underway at 7:30 p.m. at the high school. Athletes are urged to be prompt.

An inaccurate time reported in last week's story on physicals forced postponement until tomorrow. Jones also emphasized that youngsters intending to obtain physicals from their own physicians should call at the high school for medical history cards.

In another pre-school sports announcement this week, Cross Country Coach Chuck Yahne reminded cross country hopefuls that it's time to start daily workouts on their own.

He noted that those who have been running all summer are now doing 20 minutes or covering three miles non-stop every day.

Seed New Lawns Now

One of the hottest times to be out in the yard is between August 15 and September 15. It's also the best time to seed your new lawn.

Weather conditions are ideal at this time and those hot temperatures are excellent for proper seed germination, according to James Tyson soil scientist with the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service. Also, there are few hard rains, which can wash away the seed during this period.

The soil needs to be moist to develop a good stand of grass. "Don't let the surface soil dry out after the seed once begins to germinate," cautions Tyson.

The development of good turf is much easier with generous fertilizer applications. A soil test will accurately determine just the kind of fertilizer to be used. One pound of nitrogen per 100 square feet of lawn should be applied to Kentucky Bluegrass three times during the growing season. Merion Bluegrass requires twice this amount of nitrogen.

Home owners seeding a new lawn this fall can get some timely tips and hints from County Extension Service offices. Just ask for extension folder—211—entitled "Making a New Lawn."

Two Women Hurt In Car Crash

Two Northville residents were among five injured in a two-car collision Saturday on Novi road and a Farmington man was injured in a freak motorcycle accident Sunday on Grand River.

All were taken to St. Mary hospital, Livonia.

Still in the hospital are Mrs. William Walker, Jr., of 562 Baseline road, who will undergo facial surgery, and Mrs. William S. Chizmar of Ypsilanti, who sustained lacerations and a punctured leg.

Released after treatment in the auto accident were William Walker, William Chizmar and Morris Terry of Milford.

According to Novi police, the Chizmars and Walkers were riding south in a car driven by William Walker when it was struck by a northbound car driven by Terry.

Police reported that Terry said he was stopping for a car which was making a left-hand turn. When he applied the brakes, his car veered left across the center line into the Walker car.

Police noted that the asphalt road was slippery from the heat.

At 1:28 p.m., George Arnold of Farmington was injured in a freak motorcycle accident.

His wife, who was driving the vehicle, was turning around on loose gravel. Arnold's leg caught between the wheel and fender. The wheel spun through his boot and scraped down to the bone.

On the advice of Doctor H. Lorne Dyer, he was taken to the hospital where he received treatment and was released.

BUSY AGAIN — Mrs. Floyd Kupsky, Northville's hobby enthusiast, recently was elected membership chairman of the National All States Hobby club. She has also received the annual membership award for 1963 from the national organization.

Local Hobbies Back in Action

After a year of relative inactivity, Northville's hobby enthusiast Mrs. Floyd Kupsky is bubbling with excitement again as she takes up an official position with the All States Hobby Club.

A former executive vice-president of the national organization, Mrs. Kupsky, who lives at 318 Yerkes, was elected membership secretary of the hobby club at its 15th annual convention recently at Charleston, South Carolina.

She'll begin her work with the hobby club within a month — a year of work that's certain to keep her busy corresponding with some of the more than 500 club members.

In addition to being elected membership chairman, Mrs.

Kupsky also was given the membership award plaque for obtaining new members during the past year — a period when she supposedly was "taking a leave of absence."

The plaque was made in the form of the club's emblem by Mrs. Pearl Utrecht of St. Marys, Ohio, who also is known to hobbyists by the name of PUFF — meaning Pearl Utrecht's Feather Flowers. (Feather flowers are her hobby specialty.)

Madison, Wisconsin's has been selected for the site of the 1964 convention and hobby show, to be held July 24 through 26.

Besides participating in activities of the national organization, Mrs. Kupsky also is co-founder and member of Detroit's Wolverine Postcard Club, member of the Windy City Postcard club, and member of a postmark club.

Her hobby specialty is collection of Tuck Oilettes, cards of the early 1900's depicting all types of subjects. She has approximately 20,000 postcards of all descriptions in her collection.

Pleads Guilty To Assault

A paroled prison inmate, who beat a Northville woman about the head June 16, pleaded guilty to a charge of felonious assault Wednesday in Wayne county circuit court.

By admitting his guilt, Dale Swegles, who was on parole after serving two of a maximum 15 years for breaking and entering, will be returned to Southern Michigan prison in Jackson to serve the remainder of the sentence, police said.

In addition, Swegles may be sentenced to a maximum of four years for felonious assault. He is presently being held in Wayne county jail.

Swegles admitted beating Mrs. Grace Miller of 321 Yerkes on the head with a lug wrench while she lay in bed in her home.

Approximately three hours after the bludgeoning, he was apprehended by police in Livonia. Swegles had been stopped by a policeman as a suspicious character. A check of his driver's license showed it had expired. He was taken to the police station.

Subsequent investigation revealed that Swegles had also stolen money that same morning from a Livonia home.

Firemen Extinguish Utility Barn Fire

A fire in a utility barn, which police believe was started by youths, was extinguished by Novi firemen August 7.

Damage was confined to the floor of the building, owned by G. Hawkins. It is located on Nine Mile road near Meadowbrook road.

According to police, articles were found in the deserted barn which led them to believe that it had been the site of a party.

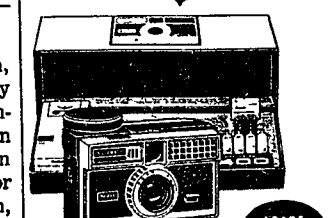

A small grass fire at 40935 10 Mile road was also put out in 30 minutes.

A single drop of blood contains about three hundred million red corpuscles.

Water Becomes Precious Mineral When 'Well Runs Dry'

"Our wells are drying up! What are we going to do?"

More and more concern is being voiced by residents of the Northville area and by property owners in other sections of Michigan over what appears to be a dwindling supply of water.

Hardest hit have been those with private wells, both deep and shallow.

In one section of Northville township, for example, some homeowners report that their wells have "gone completely dry" while others say pressure has been reduced to only a trickle.

Last week D. H. Dodge told township officials that he has no water and that he has drilled three wells to date. His only source for house use is to pump from Phoenix Lake, he told the board.

To combat the township's water problem, homeowners in this southeastern portion of the township have petitioned the board to consider installation of water lines from either the Detroit or the Plymouth systems under special assessment financing. Currently, plans and costs of such installation are under study.

The city of Northville, which also may eventually tie into the Detroit system — as may Novi — has no immediate problems. However, Engineer Harold Penn reports that the water table beneath the city wells is "down between six inches and a foot". He adds that recovery is sufficient to offset the lower water table.

In March Penn was instructed to investigate the city's well-known "old spring" well to determine why the flow of water had slowed to a trickle.

Because there are no records (the spring is estimated to be more than 100 years old), Penn was able to come up with little more than supposition based upon reports of oldtimers. Since then the water flow has "picked up" and today it's nearly as strong as it was last year at this time. The artesian well located at the old Silver Springs Bottling works, east of the city's famous spring well, also is flowing again — although not nearly as fast as in past years.

C. H. Bryan, Northville realtor, discloses that the two wells are completely separate, that the city's spring well is not connected, as suspected, by pipe to the artesian water source or other wells on the property.

Furthermore, he explains, the bottling company did not close because of dwindling water but because the water had become contaminated by oil seeping from railroad tank cars. Such contamination would have affected the city spring had the source of water been the same.

Few would know more about it than Bryan, for it was he and a "Mr. Porter" who in either 1913 or 1914 opened the artesian well and established a deep springs company which later was acquired by the now defunct Silver Springs firm.

What then is causing the water tables to drop off? Penn gives three reasons: Increased use of ground water because of more and more wells, low rains, and the piping off of sewer water, thus curtailing the replenishment of the ground supply.

Through natural filtration, he explains, even sewer water can be purified.

Conservation department officials, who hear complaints from many sections of Michigan, note that many of the problems may only be false alarms.

They point out that the trouble may be caused by scale from pipes plugging the underground nozzle of the well's jet. Other possibilities include water-logged pressure tanks which make pumps come on every time water is used, or well screens filling up with sand, or screens becoming encrusted with calcium carbonate or iron oxide.

But what causes the failure of new wells?

Sometimes, department officials admit, dry-well complaints are real when a city or industry builds a field with two to a dozen high-capacity wells, thereby removing enough water from the ground in one area to render other nearby wells useless.

In line with the laws of nature, a downward cone of influence or large dimple in the ground water surface is formed underground around each well, they explain. The cones of influence soon merge, thus forming a large cone around the well field which spreads out farther and farther as time goes on.

For cities or industries, one solution lies in drilling more wells to enlarge the area from which water is drawn, but the disadvantage here is that more domestic wells may soon be affected, officials say.

An alternative solution, they add, is now available to most communities, namely through use of a process called artificial recharge whereby large supplies of surface waters from rain, rivers, streams or lakes, are allowed to seep into the ground near heavily-used well fields. These waters replenish underground supplies of fresh water and, in large measure, limit the size of the downward cones of influence.

A third method involves directing water from rivers or distant wells through relatively deep wells and shafts into the formation being recharged. Before water can be put down a well or shaft, however, it must be treated to remove silt that may plug the formation's openings, and to prevent pollution.

Admittedly, these are expensive solutions and of little immediate value to the individual property owner who needs water now.

Pipelines from adjacent water systems, for the present, appear to be the simplest method for those facing immediate problems.

But water experts continue to emphasize the need for long range solutions. They point out that there is no real shortage of water, that the real shortage is in the lack of long-range planning for local water systems to get the water from where it is to where it is needed.

A water conservation release from New York to weekly newspapers this past week pinpointed the problem with this comment:

"Years ago the townspeople failed to ask the imperative questions about their community's potential growth that would affect their demand for water. Faced now with inadequate equipment for transporting, pumping, treating, storing, and distributing water, they're answering for their neglect with cries of 'water shortage'."

TOP — D. H. Dodge, 15531 Lakeside in Northville township, demonstrates his water supply. He pumps water from Phoenix lake into a tank (he's using a home-made filter on the hose) for laundry and toilet use. He must haul drinking water from neighbors or the Northville Spring. Dodge has had three wells and efforts to deepen his last one proved unsuccessful. Most homes in the Plymouth Gardens subdivision in which he lives have experienced problems with wells running dry. Dodge hopes that the township plan to install water lines and purchase water from the Plymouth system soon becomes a reality. He'd like to turn on the faucet and enjoy a glass of water.

BOTTOM — City Engineer Harold Penn adjusts the tap at Northville's famous Old Spring. Water flow from the spring has improved in past months since it was down to a mere trickle, but it's still far below previous years.

The Reverend B. J. Pankow of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church and Mr. Fred Sterner Sr., Lay representative, will attend the 80th convention of the Michigan District of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod meeting at Ferris State college on August 29-29.

The Rev. Dr. W. Harry Krieger of Ann Arbor, President of the Michigan District will preside at the convention. Doctrinal essays will be presented by the Rev. Dr. David Schuller and the Rev. Prof. William Danker, both members of the faculty of Concordia Seminary in St. Louis, Missouri.

The Rev. Dr. Roland Wiederanders, First Vice-president of the Missouri Synod, will serve as the synodical representative. Delegates to the convention, representing over 280 Lutheran congregations of lower Michigan, will consider for adoption a record budget of $3,300,000 for 1964. A proposal also will be submitted requesting the district to accept ownership of the Michigan Lutheran College in Detroit. The liberal arts college is a gift of the late Dr. Louis Ettinger, founder and first president, and presently is being held in trust by a board of regents.

A committee appointed by the 1961 convention will submit its report requesting authorization for construction of a central office building to be located in Ann Arbor. The proposed structure would provide facilities for all major departments of the district including the office of the president.

The Rev. Dr. Arnold Meyer of Minneapolis, Minnesota will represent the Synod in its "Faith Forward" program, a concerted effort of all districts of the church to make possible greater mission expansion and additional facilities at the church's colleges and seminaries to meet expected increases in enrollments of future pastors and teachers.

It is anticipated that the "Families for Christ" mission, a program of mission education and out-reach for the coming year, will receive endorsement by all congregations of the district.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Rev. Lloyd Brasure
First Presbyterian Church

The words "Thus saith the Lord" are found a number of times in the Bible. They should have meaning for every generation. Uttered in many languages across the years and coming from the prophets of other days, the meaning of this admonition and its attendant application must not be lost. When their meaning and application are lost, man's relatedness to his Creator slips away gradually and an inevitable moral decay and ethical irresponsibility prevails.

The Old Testament book of Isaiah, chapter 45 reminds us of this prophetic call and plea to the people of his time. He appeals to all who know God to be the power behind all that is, the mind of all knowledge and wisdom. He brings into focus such great ideas as we find in verse 18, — "who formed the earth and made it (he established it; he did not create it a chaos, he formed it to be inhabited)." Here we learn how the ancients accepted a divine purpose and something of a dependability that reflects more of the true nature of God. On such ideas as this have great lives been based. This is our first and most important beginning. As in the Creed we can repeat again the affirmation, "I believe in God the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth."

Isaiah continues with such a thought as this, "I did not speak in secret, in a land of darkness; — I the Lord speak the truth, I declare what is right." Here we learn more of the forthrightness of the God of the revealed word. He calls the people from the idols that trap them in materialistic orgies and false worship. Every generation must learn how to apply the truth of spiritual teaching. We are vitally concerned that our day and people not become so engrossed in self pity or self desire or hate and prejudice of all kinds, that we forget to heed the words, "Thus saith the Lord". History bears witness to the careless ways of our prior cultures and empires when the word of the Lord became a buried and belittled thing.

Let us dedicate ourselves to those goals and objectives born of a faith in an Eternal Purpose. So best must we serve the Lord of the Universe and come finally to the Savior of the world, who calls all people unto Him.

"For thus says the Lord, — I am the Lord, and there is no other" (Verse 18).

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

In recent weeks I've heard, either directly or indirectly, several youngsters apply for work. With summer vacation half over they'd like to earn some money before returning to college. Frankly, I resent these inquiries.

It's commendable that a youngster wishes to earn money for college, but where was he in June and July?

The fact is, too many seek employment as a "fill in" for their own convenience — and then complain that they "can't find work" when the business-world doesn't stop and adjust its schedule to fit their plans.

It's been my impression that a genuine desire to work is the biggest single "missing link".

This was somewhat confirmed by an article this week in U.S. News & World Report concerning young people without jobs.

It casts a new light on the oft-heard statement that there are great numbers of teen-agers unable to find work.

The inquiring reporters talked with prospective employers, government officials handling employment problems and employment agencies in New York, Washington, Detroit and San Francisco.

Admittedly there are nearly one million teen-agers looking for work, but they're mighty choosy.

It was found that unskilled jobs are going unclaimed; that restaurants, hotels, farmers in harvest season, homeowners with odd jobs and cities with clean-up details complain of chronic shortages.

Here are some of the observations from various job-placement officials:

— yard work is considered too hard, too sweaty;

— Parents often tell children not to seek jobs during summer's hot months — or encourage them to quit jobs to take a long summer vacation;

— A Detroit firm seeking 50 salesmen for ice cream filled only half the jobs;

— Another Detroit employment service reports an abundance of door-to-door selling jobs;

— A shoe-repair shop in Washington can't get help because "nobody wants to be a cobbler";

— A young girl in New York quit a filing clerk job at $60 a week because she had gotten bored after three days;

— A $75 a week clerk-typist making $15-per-week more than her previous job quit because "they kept me going from 9 until 5";

— Jobs lacking "status" are often rejected; a clerk-typist's job might be passed up for the title of "administrative assistant", even at lower pay;

— One New York girl was quite willing to work, but she had something creative in mind — she wanted a job suggesting to Leonard Bernstein what music he should play.

The employment experts didn't blame the youngsters entirely. They pointed to over-protective parents, and an insistence by parents that children take college-preparatory work rather than business or vocational courses.

Local Level Mental Health Programs Fill Need

Attention to mental health problems at the local level brings together the many people involved in the "public interest" professions.

Under the 1963 Community Mental Health Services Act, 12-member boards are provided to administer programs in individual communities or for counties or groups of governmental units.

The most likely representatives on these boards, according to the Michigan Society for Mental Health, are members of the clergy, medical and legal professions, general hospitals, schools, public health, public welfare and citizen organizations.

Working in concert, such individuals can design a mental health program to fit the particular needs of the community the board serves.

For example, a community mental board might contract with the psychiatric unit of a local general hospital to provide intensive, short-term inpatient service for the acutely mentally ill.

'State funds would match the community expenditures' if such a program met state standards for service.

The board might also find an entirely new service is necessary to meet the community's needs. In this case also, if state standards were met, up to 60 percent of the cost would be paid for from state funds.

The best estimates available indicate that as many as 75 percent of the acutely mentally ill can be saved from long-term state mental hospitalization if intensive inpatient services are provided at the local level.

Communities already are spending money on mental health because each county is responsible, for the first year cost of an individual hospitalized in a state institution.

Under the new act, officials estimate much of this money could be put into the community programs because of the anticipated decrease in state commitments if local facilities were available.

Individuals and groups which urged passage of the new law this year, including the Society for Mental Health, expect widespread participation by communities. They predict, on the basis of experience in other states, that Michigan might cut its mental hospital population by 50 per cent in 10 years because of the new law.

Could Reduce Payroll
A possible side effect of the new Community Mental Health Services act could reflect on the State Civil Service Commission.

During 1962, the Commission reported 33.3 per cent of all state employees were working in the mental health field. This was the largest single employer in state government, with some 10,400 workers.

The second largest employer was the combined services of health, welfare and employment security agencies, which had nearly 5,500 employees during the same period.

During the year, state employment averaged 31,407 workers.

Presumably a reduction in the case load at mental hospitals would result in a decrease in mental health employment. The employment reduction probably would not be as great, however, because currently mental health officials say the hospitals are understaffed for the work load.

Department officials could be expected to balk at any attempt to reduce the work force at the same rate as admissions are cut.

A Billion in Gas
Michigan is among some 22 states which have collected more than $1 billion in gasoline taxes since the levy was imposed.

The first imposition of a state gas tax in the nation occurred in 1919. Since then states have collected an estimated $52.7 billion from this lucrative source of income.

Michigan first imposed a tax for the privilege of using highways in 1925. The current state levy is 6 cents per gallon. Farmers and governmental units get all the tax they pay back, however, and 1.5 cents of the levy is refunded to bus companies operating under a municipal franchise.

The income remaining is divided, with 47 per cent going into the state motor vehicle highway fund, 35 per cent to counties, and 18 per cent to cities and villages for road maintenance and construction.

During the last completely reported fiscal year Michigan took in more than $155 million in gas taxes and refunded some $7.5 million of this to farmers, bus companies and governmental agencies.

Free Advice

Cost of maintaining good health is increasing in nearly every direction: health insurance premiums, hospital care, convalescent care, doctor's and prescriptions. But the State of Michigan offers a service which can be very helpful and is without cost. Write to "Michigan's Health," Department of Health, Lansing 48914, to be put on the mailing list for "Michigan's Health", the monthly publication of the Michigan Department of Health. This publication deals with various subjects regarding good health, as well as explaining the use of our tax dollars in health work, and how the local and state health departments can be called upon to aid the individual.

Roger Babson

You Can Count on Change

Babson Park, Mass., — Before my late wife suddenly passed away as the result of an unexpected heart attack, we had been talking about the great changes we had noticed in only the past few years.

At the time he learned of my wife's death, my grandson Roger Webber was eating lunch in Paris. He hopped on a jet plane and in seven hours was at my side in Boston. It seems that some of the airlines run specials from Paris to Boston every day. This is common knowledge; but we forget the many different lines of business affected thereby.

I have no fear of a railroad strike; but what one could mean to every supermarket and household is unimaginable. In three days the shelves of most supermarkets would be bare. We would be completely in the hands of the Teamsters Union and their president, James Hoffa.

As companies and their stockholders continue to combine into larger units, the wage-workers are sure to do the same. Hence, to avoid a dictatorship in this country, the laws designed to prevent and break up monopolies must be amended to include labor unions. This is something for which the President's brother — Robert Kennedy, the Attorney General — should be responsible.

With the possible exception of old-fashioned hotels in our large cities, the days of the hotels are slowly coming to an end. At present they are being changed over into apartments. But they will gradually be torn down and their sites used for the building of motels of one or two stories.

What will come after the "motel"? I do not know; but some new change will follow. With the increase in superhighways and supermarkets, more people are living in the suburbs and the motels are merging into motel apartments. In fact, I visualize these bordering the main highways between cities on land which is now barren, or else taking the place of small farms lining routes a block away from the main highways.

The typical frame houses now being built in most suburbs will be torn down. Zoning laws will be enacted to prevent the building of such single wooden houses.

As I have heretofore emphasized, land between a superhighway and the ocean or near to large lakes or rivers will continue to become more valuable. For many hundreds of years there will be a surplus of ordinary land, but the supply of land bordering navigable waters will constantly become scarcer and more in demand. Don't put all your money into stocks and bonds. Well-located land and well-behaved "kids" will become the best investments, whatever our form of government.

I think it was President Franklin Roosevelt who stated, "The only thing we can count on as permanent is change."

Hence this is my thought this week: The form of schools and colleges will completely change. Many patients, clients and customers now with independent doctors, lawyers, and "Indian Chiefs" will become more socialistic. Taxes will be higher, but the average householder will get more for his money.

It will be harder to live on inherited money. The old saying, "The rich get richer and the poor get poorer", will be revised. Our children and grandchildren will prosper according to what they contribute in honest labor to the general welfare of all.
