

Schools Filled to Capacity for 1963-64

Vacation days are fast fading away for an estimated 2,228 Northville public school students.

They will return to classrooms Thursday, September 5 at 8:30 a.m.

Elementary grades will have half-day sessions both Thursday and Friday, while secondary students will attend all day Thursday and Friday morning.

The 1963-64 enrollment stands at a record high that will not be attained again in the immediate future. After this year Novi will no longer send its ninth graders to Northville high school. And eventually, as Northville's school population grows and Novi provides its own high school, the local enrollment will be further reduced by the removal of all Novi students.

Northville school administrators point out that all school buildings are being used to capacity this year. The high school, with grades nine through twelve, will experience the tightest squeeze with 865 students.

Next year, however, the pressure will be off the high school building when ninth graders will remain at junior high school. Without the Novi ninth grade pupils the junior high building will be able to accommodate seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

But looking ahead, the building picture is not as rosy in the grades. One sixth grade class will be held at the junior high building this year. It must move back into the Main street building next year to make room for the ninth grade. Administrators plan to make room for the sixth grade class at Main street by moving the board of education offices, although a site has not yet been found.

While Superintendent of Schools Russell Amerman cannot make predictions as to the exact date, he admits that a new elementary building is not too far in the future.

Other enrollment figures for this year show 1,038 elementary students about evenly divided between Main and Amerman schools and 282 junior high school students.

Twenty-three new teachers (see page six) will report August 29 at 9 a.m. for an orientation meeting with Superintendent Amerman at the junior high school library. They will meet in their assigned buildings on Friday, August 30.

All teachers meet at the high school Tuesday, September 3 and attend more conferences on Wednesday, the day before the pupils arrive.

Book stores will be open next week (August 26-30) in both the high school and junior high school. Hours are 8:30-12 and 1-4.

At the high school the schedule for obtaining books is as follows: seniors — Monday; juniors — Tuesday; sophomores — Wednesday; and freshmen — Thursday.

At the junior high school: eighth graders — Thursday; seventh graders — Friday.

Bus schedules for the new school year will be published next week. They are now being prepared by E. V. Ellison, director of administrative services.

OLV, St. Paul's Open Sept. 4

The 1963-64 school year officially begins for Northville's two parochial grade schools, Our Lady of Victory and St. Paul's Lutheran, on Wednesday, September 4.

Sister Mary Bernarda, principal of Our Lady of Victory school, estimated that this year's enrollment will reach 340, an increase of approximately 40 over last year.

The number of teachers, however, will remain the same, eight, said Sister Bernarda. Four new teachers will eventually join the staff this year.

Two have already been appointed. They are Sister Ann Davidica, formerly at St. Paul school, Owosso, and Sister Joseph Virgna, who will return after a year's absence.

An eighth grade teacher is yet to be appointed and a lay teacher will be hired.

Teachers returning for the coming school year are Sister Bernarda; Sister Deirdre Ann, Sister Mary Kathleen and Mrs. Carroll Mulligan.

The Wednesday opening will be for only half a day, Sister Bernarda noted, with youngsters attending an 8 a.m. Mass. Class instruction will commence at 8:45. Registrations have been closed in the first four grades, she added.

When school opens Wednesday at St. Paul's Lutheran school, there will be a new principal to greet some 40 to 45 students.

He is Warren O. Zabell, who will teach grades five through eight.

A 1955 graduate of Concordia Teachers College, River Forest, Illinois, Zabell previously served congregations at Shawano, Wisconsin, (St. James Lutheran school) and Muskegon, where he taught at Our Redeemer Lutheran school. Zabell is married and has two children, Mark, age 7, and Kim, age 4.

He succeeds Harold Kenow, who accepted a position at St. Paul, Minnesota.

Succeeding Ruth Ellison as a teacher at St. Paul's is Carol Radke of Lyons, Illinois, a 1963 graduate of Concordia Teachers college. Miss Ellison will be teaching in St. Peter's Lutheran school of Arlington Heights, Illinois.

Miss Radke will be the new elementary teacher, and will also serve as one of the church's youth counselors.

Student applications are still being received by the principal at the school office. Final registration will take place September 3 in the school office, corner of Elm and East streets, 2-4 and 5-8 during the day. Principal Zabell announced.

Church worship 8:30 a.m. Wednesday will officially open the school year. Text books and supplies will be issued immediately after the service, Zabell said.

During the afternoon, there will be program, orientation and initial assignments will be given to the children, Zabell noted. Dismissal time will be 3:30 p.m.

Detroit Water Lines Coming to Northville

City of Detroit water lines are coming to Northville next spring.

The extension could take place even sooner, Gerald Remus, general manager of the Department of Water Supply for the city of Detroit told The Record this week.

Remus revealed that Detroit had been awarded a federal grant to assist in the cost of the extension of the lines along Eight Mile road to Northville. Conditions of the grant stipulate that the work must get underway as soon as possible.

Remus said the extension of the line to Northville was not dependent upon the city's purchase of water. "We've got the money. We're going to extend our lines to Northville", he stated.

Just how far Detroit carries its supply depends to some extent upon Northville township.

Remus said Tuesday he had offered water to Northville township if township officials would sign a contract for service.

Township Supervisor R. D. Merriam acknowledged the offer — a proposition which leaves township officials with a knotty problem to solve (see adjoining story).

If the township agrees to purchase Detroit water, the line would extend from its present end on Eight Mile near Haggerty to Sheldon road in Northville and then south on Sheldon, perhaps as far as Five Mile road.

Remus indicated that Detroit might extend the lines southward on Sheldon whether the township signs up or not. He noted that the Sheldon road line would replace the present 12-inch main serving the Wayne County Training School and DeHoCo.

The exact route of the water line into and through Northville has not yet been settled. Route plans are now being studied, Remus indicated, and would depend greatly upon the reaction of the city of Northville.

While city councilmen have discussed the possibility of acquiring Detroit water, a thorough study has not been undertaken. Cost-wise, Remus declares that Northville water users would "save money" with Detroit water. His estimates were based on the softness of Detroit water which, he stated, would eliminate the need of water softening service.

Last year City Manager Bruce Potthoff reported that Detroit water would probably increase the cost about 60 percent to the average home owner — or approximately $4 per month. The cost of softening service was estimated at between $4 and $5 per month, per home.

Remus indicated a strong desire to sell Detroit water. He pointed out that the new line would make water available to Novi, as well as the city and township of Northville.

He said Detroit plans call for the Sheldon road line to be extended to Ford road in Canton township. "We're committed to do this by 1965," Remus added. This will complete a "loop" of the Detroit system around the metropolitan area.

Remus said he hoped the city of Plymouth would decide to buy Detroit water, too. Plymouth township is already a Detroit customer.

Township Quandary

Water, Water Everywhere . . .

Suddenly Northville township has water coming from all directions.

Officials learned this week that supply sources are available from both Detroit and the City of Plymouth.

And it would appear that both systems would be ready for service at about the same time — next spring.

Monday night the Plymouth city council assured Northville township that it would supply the water-starved southeastern township area near Bradner and Five Mile roads.

At almost the same time the city of Detroit water manager, Gerald Remus, offered Northville township service directly from Detroit.

Remus called Township Supervisor R. D. Merriam and stated that Detroit had acquired federal monies to extend water lines to Northville (to a point near Eight Mile and Sheldon Roads).

He said that if the township would agree to purchase Detroit water the lines would be extended southward on Sheldon to the area of the Wayne County Training School.

Remus explained that if Detroit lines were extended to the training school, a 12-inch main currently serving the school, and running directly through the southeast corner of the township where dry wells exist, would be made available for the township. The Detroit water manager said this existing line would be adequate to serve the dry area.

Ironically, Northville township has been seeking water service for months for residents of Roberta and Lakeside streets in Plymouth Gardens subdivision. Petitions from residents of the 20-home area plus a strip along Bradner from Five Mile to Franklin road were recently approved by the township for initiation of a program to install a system of lines by special assessment.

Presumably, township board members must now decide what source of water it prefers. And this could be determined by quantity of supply, cost of installation of lines and water rates. The fact that the Detroit line is already in existence in the area should result, in some saving in costs.

While city of Plymouth councilmembers assured Supervisor R. D. Merriam and L. W. Mosher, the township's consulting engineer, that water was available, rates are not yet determined. Supervisor Merriam said that the Plymouth city council promised to consider a reduction in its normal "double rate charge" to outside users because the township would be purchasing on a wholesale basis. Plymouth would not have to read meters or service the system in Northville.

The Plymouth supply line would be constructed from Northville road to Five Mile and Bradner.

Engineer Mosher was scheduled to test pressure and flow rates of the Plymouth supply this week. Supervisor Merriam noted that the first public hearing in the lengthy special assessment procedure was at least 3 to 4 weeks away. He said it was doubtful that water could be supplied to the area before next spring, regardless of the source.

BOOK BLUES — Kerry Luedtke is a little apprehensive as he views the mountain of books that await his entrance into high school this year. Summer vacation will end for some 2,200 Northville public school youngsters on September 5.

Car Crash Hospitalizes Two Youths

A Northville boy was seriously injured and another suffered minor injuries Saturday night when the car in which they were riding crashed through a guard cable, hit a tree and then a utility pole on Seven Mile road.

The boys, 17 and 15, are Kenneth Noder, 17, of 125 Ely drive. He is suffering from a skull fracture.

Noder was a passenger in the car driven by William C. Higgins, III, 18, of 46180 West Main street. Higgins is also in St. Mary hospital with minor abrasions.

According to Wayne county sheriff's deputies, the car was traveling east on Seven Mile road and failed to negotiate a curve some 300 feet east of Clement road. The accident occurred at 11:20 p.m.

Deputies said that the driver was going too fast for conditions.

City Manager Hears Negro Housing Plan

The Northville city manager, clerk and council members received an invitation to attend a meeting last week called by the Detroit Council for Human Rights.

Specifically, the letter of invitation noted that the meeting had been called "to discuss how the few colored families who will be moving into your neighborhoods under the President's recent order, and the FHA and VA resale housing program, might be accomplished without violence or harassment."

Officials from 40 suburban government units were invited, but only eight sent representatives. Manager Bruce Potthoff attended from Northville. The session was conducted by James Del Rio, chairman of the housing committee for the Detroit Council for Human Rights.

According to Potthoff, the meeting was brief, to the point and completely informative.

While no time table was mentioned, a plan was outlined for assisting Negro families in need of housing to buy houses in suburban areas which have been repossessed by the FHA or VA.

The suburban community officials were told that the council would not offer financial assistance, but would select families who could afford to purchase the house and have reason and desire to live in the area.

According to Potthoff, the meeting went beyond the issue of racial discrimination in housing. He noted Del Rio's emphasis on schools, too.

With the introduction of Negro families into many all-white suburban communities, schools will then have Negro children and the placement of Negro teachers, it was pointed out, will automatically follow. Many highly capable Negro teachers find it difficult to pursue their profession, it was noted.

The meeting lasted less than an hour. None of the suburban officials responded when asked if they had questions.

Besides Northville, the meeting was attended by representatives from Highland Park, Grosse Pointe, Grosse Pointe Park, Plymouth township, Dearborn Heights, Taylor township and Pontiac.

Banquet Set For 21'sers

Tickets went on sale this week for the 23rd annual Citizenship Banquet, sponsored by the Coordinating Council in cooperation with the Optimist club.

The banquet, which honors young men and women who have reached the voting age of 21 and newly naturalized citizens, is scheduled for Wednesday evening, September 11, at the Thunderbird Inn.

According to William E. Schulz, banquet chairman, tickets may be purchased from any Optimist or council member, or by contacting Jack Rutland, ticket chairman.

Highlighting this year's banquet will be an address by Eric Bradner, president of Schoolcraft College. Emcee for the event will be Richard Kay.

Invitations have been sent out to all known 21ers. However, in the event someone was missed he should contact Miss Ruth Knapp at FI 9-1829 immediately.

Plan New Bridges On Northville Road

Construction of two new bridges along Northville road, south of Six Mile road, are to begin immediately, officials of Wayne county road commission revealed this week.

Once these bridges and three others scheduled for construction between now and 1965 are completed, Northville road will be widened and resurfaced from Five Mile road to Northville, officials said.

The two bridges slated for immediate construction and completion by December 1 are located three-tenths of a mile south of Six Mile and five-tenths of a mile south of Six Mile.

Contract for construction of the two bridges was awarded to Walter Toebe Company, lowest bidder of six construction companies. The winning bids were $35,566.58 and $36,254.54. Other bidders were A. J. Williams Construction company, L. A. Davidson company, Jutson-Kelly company, E. C. Nolan and Jarvick Construction company.

Both bridges will be of concrete construction, with the roadway being expanded from 24 feet to 48 feet wide — or four lanes. Expansion will take place on the west side of the road.

Two more bridges are slated for construction next year, one north of Five Mile road and another north of Six Mile. The fifth and final bridge, located at Phoenix Dam, is expected to be constructed sometime in 1965.

Resurfacing of the road will take place after these bridges are completed. However, road officials declined to predict the year of construction.

City to Hold Public Hearing

The city council will hold a public hearing Monday at the Northville community building at 8 p.m. to consider installation of a storm sewer to serve Orchard drive.

The hearing is the first step in the special assessment procedure under which property owners in the area would be assessed 25 per cent of the cost of the project.

Total cost of the project is estimated at $36,071. Plans call for completion of the sewer this year so that curbs, gutters and paving may be completed next year.

The sewer will extend from the intersection of Orchard and Thayer south to Fairbrook with collectors serving Spring, Scott and Grandview. It will run east on Fairbrook to Eaton drive and then south across Fairbrook to the Johnson drain.

Property owners who would be assessed have been notified by mail.

BIKE HIKERS — These eight youngsters and teacher John Hyde (left) are now bicycling through northern Michigan and will have pedaled some 400 miles when they return to Northville August 30. They left Northville last Thursday by bike, boarded a train in Plymouth for Traverse City to avoid bicycling in the traffic-congested lower area of the state, and then set out for the Mackinac Bridge. They'll follow the coast of Lake Michigan to Wisconsin and then return to Frankfort by boat. The youngsters earn their own money for the trip which costs about $4 per day. They stay out overnight in sleeping bags, buy breakfast and lunch, but cook supper. Pictured with Hyde, who is a junior high school teacher, are: (l. to r.) # Chorale Tour Thrills Local Girl

Music is an international language — and none can appreciate its significance more than a 17-year-old Northville girl just back from a seven-week "speaking" engagement in Europe.

Donna Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Williams of 446 Eaton, arrived home Thursday after touring Scandinavia and England with the 1963 Michigan Youth Chorale — sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches.

"You can't imagine the number of friends we made," said the '63 Northville graduate upon her return. "Musically, it was really a thrilling experience; we loved it, so did they."

Donna recalled that the people of Europe, particularly those in Scandinavia, turned out in throngs to hear the 68 Michigan boys and girls sing numbers ranging from the classical and musical comedy to Negro spirituals and American folk songs. Often extra chairs had to be brought in for those left standing.

Audiences, she said, were nearly always moved by the music. "Many of them had tears in their eyes when we'd finish. It was a great feeling... I just can't describe it."

"I think," she added, "that they want to have an understanding of our teenagers. Music is a good way."

So thrilled were some of her Scandinavian "parents" following a concert, she recalled, that when she returned to her room "I'd find a big bouquet of flowers. They were really proud of us. I guess."

"Parents," she explained, "were host families arranged for members of the Chorale in each of the countries visited during the tour. Altogether, Donna lived with six different families — and she fell in love with every one of them. "When it was time to leave, it was really hard to say goodbye." The tour began in England. Later the Chorale flew to Finland, then on to Sweden, Denmark, and through Germany to the Netherlands.

Her greatest thrill, she said, was performing in the famous Coventry Cathedral of England. Destroyed by bombs during World War II, she explained, a huge, modern church has been built next to the ruins.

"Everyone of us was inspired because the acoustics were extremely good ... and they have one of the best organs in Europe."

While the Chorale sang in many churches, its concerts took place "just about everywhere."

"We sang in amusement parks, on television and on radio. In England we sang over BBC, the largest broadcasting system they have. We also sang for the President of Finland, and our (U.S.) only colored ambassador."

Although music served as an international language, even without it the boys and girls had little difficulty conversing with their families and with others they met.

"Someone usually was able to speak at least some English. It made you feel pretty good to think English was an important language to them."

Of all the countries that the Chorale visited, Finland was the most exciting for the Northville girl, who next fall will attend Michigan State university. "I think it's the most beautiful country of all of them. It's very picturesque. I toured many of their lakes — they have 62,000 of them. I enjoyed my family very much... they showed me everything."

"Finland's interesting too because it's so close to Russia. I realize now how much they dislike Russia. You don't hear about it much, but when you talk to the people ... I guess it's because of so many wars."

Overall, said Donna, family life in Europe seemed very little different than in the United States. "But in Finland and Sweden, the people live mostly in apartments — even the very rich."

Does Donna feel that the Chorale, founded in 1958, serves a good purpose? Certainly, she said. First, it helps the Chorale member understand herself better. Second, she learns how to get along with others. And third, she learns to become a good ambassador of America in other countries.

Actually, "Chorale members are top caliber even before they leave. They're chosen for the quality of their voices, their musicianship and, equally important, their potentiality as good ambassadors."

To qualify, Donna had to fill out an application and questionnaire, write a theme about why she wanted to go to Europe, and she had to have a transfer of her grades and recommendations from her music teacher, counselor, principal and minister.

The Chorale is only one part of the Youth For Understanding Program of the Michigan Council of Churches. Its inception stems from a visit of John Eberly to Europe after the war. Visiting church families in Germany, he became deeply concerned about the interpretation of America in a country where the United States had troops of occupation.

Administered by Mrs. Rachel Andersen of South Lyon, the program has steadily grown in scope ever since.

Mothers Plan Bridge Marathon

A unique fund-raising project, sure to interest local area bridge players, will be sponsored soon by the Northville Mothers' Club.

Club officials announced this week plans for a nine-month bridge marathon to begin in September. Open to all area bridge players, the marathon will feature cash prizes of $50, $20, and $10.

The prizes will go to the three top winners at the conclusion of the marathon in May.

Here's how the marathon will work:

Entrants will play 20 consecutive hands; once each month for nine months as scheduled. One table will be permitted in a home with the hostess responsible for collecting $1 per person each game and turning in scores.

The marathon will be open for singles, mixed couples or ladies, officials said.

Among the rules are: Only two consecutive deals are permissible; all hands bid must be played including one bid; doubling, but no redoubling; bonus of 50 for fulfilling of a contract (when doubled); one person of each couple keeps score; all scores with totals must be signed by players; no scores may be changed by players after they are turned in; and each player should keep a record of his own score.

Scoring is done in rubber bridge: 700 for two game rubber; 500 for three game rubber; 300 for one game; and 50 for dangling score.

Reservations must be made by September 7 by calling any of these persons: Mrs. William Wiley, FI 9-0255; Mrs. Gordon Forrer, FI 9-0348; Mrs. Harold Wright, FI 9-1276; and Mrs. William C. Sliger, FI 9-0581.

Monies raised by the Mothers' club are used for purchasing equipment and facilities for local schools.

Secretaries Go to School

Three secretaries in the Northville school system attended a special work conference at Ferris State college here August 4-7.

They are: Miss Alice Hosback of 15518 Middlebelt road, Livonia; Mrs. Florence Rowland of 16325 Homer road, Plymouth; and Mrs. Elizabeth Wilking of 19300 Smock road, Northville.

The conference, which drew more than 150 secretarial specialists staffing the offices of Michigan's school systems, was staged cooperatively by the college and the Michigan Association of Educational Secretaries.

It was aimed at equipping the participants for strengthened service in the on-going development of public education.

Speakers for the three-day workshop included Dr. Donald D. Fink, dean, Grand Rapids Junior college; Mr. Nicholas Musselman, assistant professor, Ferris State college; Dr. Richard C. Gerfin, professor of business writing, Northwestern university; Dr. Earl Strong, assistant dean and professor of management, Pennsylvania State university; Father John Najdowski, Rector of St. Paul's Chapel, Big Rapids; Mrs. Martha Luck, assistant dean, Northwestern university; and Dr. Dacho Dachoff, director of music, Ferris.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jackson, Jr. of 876 Allen drive are happily announcing the birth of their fourth child, David Harry, on August 10.

The baby boy weighed 8 pounds, 2 ounces upon arrival at Garden City Osteopathic hospital. He has three sisters, Patti, Vicki, and Laurie.

Mrs. Regina Jackson of Northville is the paternal grandparent, and maternal grandparents are Mrs. Patricia Schoof of Northville and Mr. Fred Schoof of Detroit.

A baby girl was born to L.C. and Mrs. Woody Aenchbacher of Vista, California on August 19. The baby, named Debra Lynn, weighed 7 pounds, 7 ounces at birth.

Mrs. Aenchbacher is the former Janet Riordan of South Lyon. Her husband is stationed at Camp Pendleton, California.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Aenchbacher, 129 West street, Northville, and Mr. and Mrs. John Riordan of 7811 West Six Mile road, South Lyon.

Staff members of the Michigan Education Association, the Department of Public Instruction, and the State Retirement Board conducted concurrent technical sessions at the conference.

Miss Hosback is secretary to the superintendent and head bookkeeper of the Northville public schools; Mrs. Rowland, Second Lieutenant Richard Atchison arrived Saturday evening to spend a short leave with his parents Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Atchison of South Rogers. He will depart Tuesday for his next duty station, which is Wright-Patterson Air Force base in Dayton, Ohio.

Antique Shows Coming Up Soon

The city of Livonia will hold its first "Antique Show and Sale" at the new Roma Hall, 27777 Schoolcraft, next to Detroit Race Course.

The show will be held from 1-10 p.m. on August 30, 31 and September 1.

Mayor Harvey W. Moelke of Livonia will attend and cut the ribbon at the official opening.

Thirty dealers, local and out-of-state, will bring exhibits amounting to over a half million dollars, all to be displayed and sold.

The Redford-Detroit Antique show will be held daily September 5-6-7, at Carpenter's Auditorium, 22521 Grand River Avenue. Hours will be from 12:00 noon to 10:00 p.m. This showing is its 51st semi-annual presentation, and is hereby recognized as the oldest show in the state.

Echo Valley — Goodwill Pickup — Hosts Party

Approximately 20 couples enjoyed a "Hoe-down" in The Valley street party Saturday evening, sponsored by the Echo Valley Civic Association.

The couples were picked up in front of their homes and they rode to the party on a hay wagon.

Highlighting the menu was sweet corn cooked in large kettles over a huge fire. Other food included fried chicken, baked beans, etc. served buffet style from a cleverly designed chuck wagon.

Dancing included round and square dances, called by Bob White of Echo Valley.

Clothing for the fun-filled event included cowboy hats, scarfs, boots, vests, colorful skirts, sheriff's badges and guns and holsters — some real and some borrowed from children's toy boxes.

Echo Valley children were not overlooked. On Sunday afternoon the children were treated to a ride around the subdivision on the hay wagon, and they stopped for refreshments at the B. Lindorfer home.

1963-64 Tuition Rate Slightly Lower Here

Tuition rates in the Northville school system will be slightly lower than last year.

The costs to the sending school district or parent are: Elementary school (kindergarten through sixth), $330.90 per student; high school seventh through 12th), $350.32 per student.

These are maximum rates which may be charged, officials have said.

Procedure for establishing rates is established by the state and the final net charge is based upon per capita cost and contribution by the state.

Here's the formula used for rate:

A. Per capita cost (1962-63), $443.92.

B. Elementary school charges (Kindergarten through sixth):

Maximum rate (443.92 plus 25-percent), $554.90; state pays $224, leaving a net balance of $330.90.

Concerning the matter of tuition Russell H. Amerman has explained to the board of education that the problem of tuition charges for Northville State Hospital students is still not resolved.

Although the local school system would gladly accept qualified youngsters from the hospital, Amerman points out that it must charge tuition costs or be penalized through state aid.

Dr. Philip N. Brown, medical superintendent of the hospital, has said the hospital budget does not — as he had hoped — include approximately $1,500 to cover tuition of approximately five students.

In Little League Playoffs

Novi Pillars Roll Over Ex-Champs

There's jubilation — and despair in Novi this week following last week's exciting climax to a three-game championship playoff between the Rotary Wheels and the Rexall Pillars.

Facing an opponent that claimed three of their four games during regulation play, the Pillars snatched the Little League crown from the Wheels by coasting to two easy victories after losing the opener, 6-4.

So while the Pillars celebrated the championship, the Wheels looked back over a season that went well until the final two games of the regular season.

Out front going into those final two contests and with their ace pitcher slated for duty, another championship seemed assured. But both games were lost, forcing the three-game playoff with the Pillars.

In losing the final two playoff games — 10 to 1 and 9 to 3 — the Wheels slipped to second place after commanding championships for the past several years.

The battle for the championship proved to be a psychological fight for the winners. Although the Pillars were labeled tops in the league by many "Monday night quarterbacks," they simply could not cope with the "Yankee"-like jinx of the Wheels during the regular season.

And after the opening playoff contest, it appeared the "jinx" was continuing.

But two excellent performances by Pillar hurlers Buddy George and Dave Romain plus some timely hitting, the Pillars bounced back with two straight triumphs to claim the championship.

In losing the opener Thursday, August 15, the Pillars managed to bang out as many hits as the Wheels — eight — but lacing the ball wasn't enough.

Joe Donner was credited with the Wheels victory and Lee Snow was nipped for the loss.

Wielding two big bats, Ronnie Thompson and Bill White were tops at the plate for the winners. Thompson clubbed a homer, and a two-bagger, while White pounded out three hits in three trips to the plate.

Both teams committed two errors in the game.

Buddy George gave up only two hits in leading his squad to their surprisingly easy, 10-1 triumph in the second tilt. Ron Thompson was on the mound again for the Wheels. The Pillars collected eight hits and committed no errors, while the Wheels were charged with three errors.

Jeff Sutz was the outstanding batter of the game. The Pillar slugger smashed out three hits in four attempts.

In the final and deciding contest, the Pillars backed up Hurler Dave Romain with eight hits to the Wheels' seven. Bill White was on the mound for the losers.

Ron Thompson sparked the plate for the Wheels, collecting a homer and two singles in a perfect day at bat. Dave Romain came up with three for three for the winners.

Airplane Show Set

The Flying Robots club will hold its first radio controlled model airplane contest Sunday in Northville.

Specific site of the contest will be the old Stinson Aircraft field, located 100 yards east of Beck Road, off Seven Mile road. It will begin at 8 a.m. and end at 5 p.m.

Trophies and prizes will be awarded to the first three finishers in the intermediate and rudder classes. Not an AMA sanctioned contest, there will be a pattern flight only with landing pattern and landing perfection.

Members of the Flying Robots Model Radio Control club are from the Detroit and suburban area, including several from Northville. Every week-end members fly radio-controlled model planes at their official air strip, the old Stinson Aircraft field.

LET'S TALK CARS... Ethics and the Car Dealer

Sometimes it's difficult to stay honest in the car business. If we advertise a GOOD used car at its normal value, someone else will advertise a worn out wreck of the same make, year and model at a far lower price.

What happens then? Well, unwary buyers are attracted by the low price to the advertiser's used car lot where they are in many cases talked into buying some other car at a much higher figure.

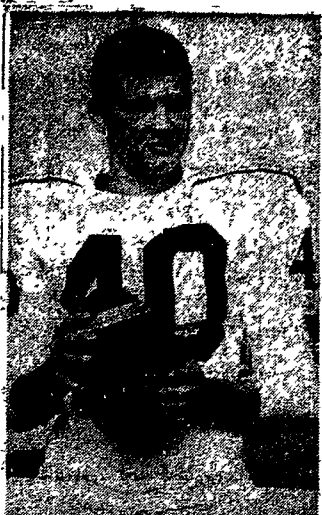

There are lots of ways of doing this. The most common one is for a salesman trained in this technique to talk about different models, makes and options until the prospect is so confused he no longer has any idea of the real value of the car he finally buys. In any event, the big job is to get the potential buyer to the lot in the first place which this kind of unethical gimmick does nicely.

Just as often, a used car is advertised that simply doesn't exist. In this case the dealer chooses some make and model that is particularly popular at the moment and of course tags it with an extremely low price. When the prospect shows up the car has just been conveniently "sold."

We always have the cars we advertise and they are not junkers but clean quality automobiles that we have in most cases reconditioned. They are advertised at an honest price and we are prepared to stake our reputation on the satisfaction you will derive out of owning them.

VERSATILE — Northville's Steve Juday, a quarterback at Michigan State university and former all-state high school griddler, has traded uniforms this summer to head Adray Appliances of Detroit in the All-American Amateur baseball Association tourney in Johnstown, Pennsylvania. Playing shortstop, Juday's red-hot bat helped boost Adray as far as the semifinals.

Choppy Waters Fail to Dim Lake Fun

Despite choppy waters, chilling winds and the threat of rain, the Northville Recreation department, headed by Ken Conley, wound up its summer program in fine fashion Wednesday.

Approximately 80 youngsters splashed their way through various events at Whitmore Lake, site of the annual Water Carnival.

It was a fitting windup to weeks of canoe, swimming and diving instruction.

All displayed an undaunted enthusiasm as they boarded the two buses, which took them to the lake at 9 a.m. and returned six hours later.

There was a long list of competitors and winners.

Chris Van Ee and David D'Haene paddled their way through two city blocks of water to first place in the class 10-11-year-old canoe race.

In the 12-13 year-old class, the tandem of Cliff Smith and Beanie McDermid inched to victory. And the team of Mike Utley and Daryl Holloman made their canoe know-how pay off in the 14-and-over class with first place finish.

Other youngsters took to the water in the 50-yard swimming races.

Eddie Hammond stroked his way across the finish line before all others in the boys' 9-10 age group. Laurie Karr matched Hammond's feat in the girls' race.

Showing a strong stroke in the 11-12 age group were John Pauli and Sara Bowen, who won the boys' and girls' events respectively.

Class of the 13-14 year-olds were Mike Conley, who outswam his male competitors, and Louanne Godfrey, who did likewise in the girls' race.

No less stellar aquatic performers were those in the 15-and-over grouping. Taking first in their respective boy-girl classes were Bill Van Ee and Peggy Sawin.

The diving was the most spectacular event of the day. Boys and girls, competing in respective groups, were divided into two classes — those 12 and under and youngsters 13 and over.

Judging on the basis of form and correctness of execution, each contestant performed two dives.

Chris Van Ee and Eddie Hammond deadlocked for the junior championship. Bill Van Ee and Louanne Godfrey tallied the most points to win their respective senior titles.

Bill and Chris Van Ee and Louanne Godfrey also copped firsts in the watermelon scramble. Each snared a greased water melon in deep water and brought it to the surface.

John Jerome walked off with a first in the wading race.

No winners were determined in the other children's events. They include, retrieving of marbles and balloons, balancing a peanut on a spoon while covering a predetermined distance and the sponge race. In the latter event, a cup must be filled with water from a sponge, which is soaked up some distance from the cup.

Morris Goudseune, 71, of Tucson, Arizona, a former turkey farmer in this area for many years, died of a heart attack on Wednesday, August 14 at Tucson.

Born October 28, 1891 in Belgium, he was the son of Charles and Lucy (Deero) Goudseune. He was married to Sophie Housman on January 11, 1922. She survives him.

Besides his wife, who will live here temporarily before returning to Arizona, he leaves one daughter, Mrs. Viola Lute, of Livonia; four sons, Pete, Joseph and William of Livonia and Robert of Dearborn Heights; a brother, Hector of Sun, California; and 17 grandchildren.

Rosary was said Friday evening at Casterline Funeral Home, with the funeral held at Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church on Saturday, August 17. The Rev. Fr. John Wittstock officiated.

Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Council Agenda Routine

The Northville city council handled a variety of routine matters in rapid order fashion Monday night.

Most lengthy discussion centered around an explanation by William Slattery, planning commission member, of two proposals by planners.

The first concerned the adoption of a parking district classification that can be applied in any zone in the city. Slattery explained that the classification would merely define a new district that could be created where needed in any zone. Residential areas would be provided special greenbelt protection. Slattery noted that the only way to obtain needed parking areas now is to zone the proposed parcel commercial.

The second recommendation concerned setback regulations for corner lots. The planners' proposal calls for a set-back of 25 ft. on both streets to conform with other houses on the block. Slattery noted the recommendation was most needed in new developments. The present regulation provides for no setback on side lot lines.

Councilmembers suggested that Slattery take the proposals back to the planning commission to reconsider setback provisions for corner parking lots.

In other business the council opened bids from three firms for a tractor-loader-backhoe. Manager Bruce Potthoff was instructed to examine bids and make a recommendation. The bids were: (including trade-in allowance) Broquet Ford Tractor & Equipment, $5,290; Hugh Arms & Son, $5,490; and Canton Tractor Sales, $5,845.

A request for a dance license for Northville Bar, 212 South Main, was approved as well as a motion to renew the garbage and rubbish collection contract with Gus McCree for another year.

The council proposes to notify residents of regulations regarding type of containers, when they should be placed at curbs and when removed, and type and size of rubbish articles that may be left for collectors.

A contract for partial payment of water lines to serve a new industrial plant being constructed by D & R Building company on Novi road was approved.

Dr. and Mrs. O. J. Robinson and family are vacationing this week in the upper peninsula.

Novi Church Plans Move
Novi Holy Cross Episcopal church services will be held at the Orchard Hills Elementary school, beginning September 1, Vicar Peter Tonella announced this week.
Services at the school, which is located just south of 10 Mile road at the junction of Quince and Tamara drives, will begin at a new time, 11 a.m., according to Vicar Tonella.
The move of the mission from its present location at 10 Mile and Meadowbrook roads was necessitated by a lack of adequate space. Specifically, the new facility will provide Sunday school areas which are sorely needed, Vicar Tonella said.
The Episcopal church women staff three Bible classes for children in the following school-age groups: kindergarten; first-second-third grades; and fourth-fifth-sixth grades.
Confirmation classes, adult bible inquiring conferences and junior choir practice will be held in the new vicarage at 44080 Marlon avenue.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY
by the Rev. S. D. Kinde
First Methodist Church
Many times we have heard someone say, "We looked for a house to buy in Northville and at the time only one house was available." Many families have moved into this area and have had the experience of house hunting. This fact reminds me of a clipping from a magazine titled, "God Needs Homes." He too is in the house hunting business as he seeks to dwell with families.
In his book, "The Supreme Possession," G. Ray Jordan points out that God needs each and every one of us. He not only loves us, but needs us in the building of His Kingdom on earth.
There is no place where God needs man's help more today than in the home. Jesus said, "Ye are the light of the world, and the salt of the earth." Parents who seek to do God's will in and through their lives need to become the light of the world and the salt of the earth to their own homes.
John Wesley, an Anglican Priest, said "Give me a generation of mothers with lives consecrated to God, whose highest aim and purpose in life is to bring forth and train that army of Christians who shall conquer the world for Christ, and in one generation the world will be won for Him."
Mr. Wesley himself came from that kind of a home, where the mother spent a definite period of time each day with each child — teaching, counselling, and cultivating the spiritual life. He was speaking out of experience.
Wise parents will seek to put God at the heart of their home and family life. He will be made to feel at home in their home and hearts. Thus will they find his blessing upon the family life within that home. The need of the hour is for consecrated parents. I know of no other hope for the children and youth of America than parents who walk with God through each day.
These are days when religion is greatly needed in homes. The Bible tells of a man who built a house; and it was tested by winds, rain floods... and the house fell because the foundation was nothing but the sand of godlessness, and the storm washed the foundation away and the house fell.
Another man built his house and it was also tested by the storms but it stood up under the testing because it was founded upon rock... the rock of a religious faith.
The storms are testing the family and home life of Northville residents and the question is, will they stand? Or will homes be broken by the separation or divorce of parents?
Too many homes are broken that ought to be saved. Many little children kneel to pray, "Dear God bring my Mommy and Daddy back together again." Will the Lord be able to answer these prayers? Will the marriage vows "I take thee... til death do us part" be kept? Will the admonition, "Those whom God hath joined together, let not man put asunder" be heeded? Will our homes and families be spared from destruction? Let us pray that they will and also do our best with the help of Almighty God to preserve them. God needs homes and homes need God.
So long as there are homes where fires burn And there is bread, So long as there are homes where lamps are lit And prayers are said, Although a people falters through the dark, And nations grope, With God... back of these little homes. We still can hope.

NORTHVILLE Telephone Lines

By H. J. WILSON, Manager
TO DIAL "1" FIRST, or not to dial "1" first? That's a question some telephone users still ponder. Naturally we all want our calls to go through as swiftly as possible.
Most of us in this community have caught on very well to the new DIAL "1" FIRST procedure in making Long Distance calls. However, there are some of us who aren't always sure when to dial "1" first and when to dial only the phone number.
When you are puzzled, a quick look at your phone directory beginning on Page 2 will give you the answer. It's a good idea to call it to the attention of everybody in your family. Especially the find-your-number "boxes" on page 3.

"NO VACANCY" signs at motels—and long waiting lines at restaurants, theaters or recreation areas—need not spoil your holiday fun this summer. Just telephone ahead and make sure there's a friendly welcome waiting for you, all along the way. Takes just a minute, makes such a difference.

QUICK QUIZ. Can you guess which room is the favorite spot for telephones—in homes all across the nation? Here's a partial list of possibilities to help you answer:

☐ BEDROOM ☐ KITCHEN ☐ DEN
☐ LIVING ROOM ☐ ENTRANCE HALL ☐ BASEMENT

Did you think first of Mom's busy day—and guess the phone in the kitchen? You're right! Next comes the bedroom, for privacy and protection. Hall and living room locations tie for third place. Actually, more and more families are finding telephones indispensable in a number of locations. To get an extension phone for any room in your home, just call our Business Office—or ask the man on the telephone truck.

READERS SPEAK: Landfill would be 'No Hit' in Township

NOTE: This newspaper welcomes "letters to the editor", but reminds readers of certain requirements: 1. Letters should be submitted by Monday noon of week of publication; 2. All letters must be signed, but name will be withheld upon request; 3. Please confine length of letter to 400 words; 4. To the Editor:

In your front page story of August 1, you profile the story of the man in the White Cadillac. As you develop the story you see it as a contest between the personal ambitions of Sheldon G. Hayes and the people of the Northville community who have no quarrel with Mr. Hayes as an individual but who do object to having their area made a dumping ground for Detroit city refuse.

While there are some who may object to your comparison of the public interest with our popular sport, I find it most apt. In fact, I think the layman will find your analogy far easier to understand than the proceedings emanating from the township hall. Therefore, falling into the spirit of the thing when you say that the promoter will be swinging the fences, my question is:

Teen Job Problem

To the Editor:

I just finished reading your editorial in the August 15th issue, and I would like to present the case of many teens who have applied for jobs. Most of us started looking for jobs in April or May. We were told: "We don't need anyone now," or, "Come back in a month when we might have something for you," or, "I'm sorry, but we need someone at least 18, or over." Myself, I received all of these replies and many more not so politely phrased. Many teens were interviewed and tested, and then told, "I'm sorry, but we don't have any openings for anyone just now."

Some teens applied for and obtained work, but after working a while found conditions so intolerable that they quit, or their parents told them to quit. Some of these jobs were called "Housekeeping" or "nurses aid." I know of one case where one of the parties turned out to be an alcoholic, and the other a person who was supposed to be completely paralyzed, but wasn't as helpless as was supposed.

Other teens applied at places no self-respecting adult would go into simply because no one else would hire them. You spoke of many teens not wanting certain work because of low pay and long hours. I know of one girl who, simply because she took a low-paying job, will not be able to go back

What member of the township team will serve up the home run ball? In this overtime contest of Personal Profit vs. Community Interest, who will go to bat for the community? The people. The appeals board in a final gesture of futility fanned ignobly when a member declared: "Let the courts decide."

As the contest shapes up, it might be a good time to assess the community's chances. All three teams — township, city and school board — on the field, apparently only the township will be carrying the ball for the entire community in this vital contest. The city bats are muted because the city does not seem to consider itself in the same league. I refer, of course, to the City of Northville which sits on one side of the political boundary that separates city from township. This fiction exists despite the fact that the park in which the contest is played lies within the city borders and is policed by it. The resource, air, shared by city and township, transports odors and vapors with equal impartiality over city and township. The resource, water, is disbursed at the presently flowing spring by the city which professes to be its guardian. Although city and township find common self-interest in economics, they divide on resources. The city and township seem to be out-doing each other in politeness. Says City Alphonse to Township Gaston: "After you, my dear Gaston," while the ball of common community responsibility falls between them for a double, a home run — a disaster. This means that the community's hopes and fears will be riding solely on the township team when play is resumed.

I once played on the township team at a time when we had real teamwork between all units of government. I walked off the field, resigned, because the team of which I was a member refused to play the game under the rules laid down in the township zoning ordinance, which specifies that the use of land fill for the disposal of rubbish is not a permitted use in any of the three districts comprising the proposed fill area. The township team, given political power, by the electorate to boldly handle an administrative problem, became engaged instead in an old fashioned Donnybrook with the people. The Appeals board in a final gesture of futility fanned ignobly when a member declared: "Let the courts decide."

Individually, there are very capable players on the township team with good batting averages; collectively, however, they haven't won a contest for the home side on the refuse issue. Using the platoon system of divided responsibility they have been unable to put together a winning combination on this issue. Just when they showed signs of getting into the winning column, the first line team, the zoning board, was benched, and the appeals board irregulars took the field. Before they could warm up, read all the reports, they handed the game to the visitors. The score then read: visitors 2; community 1. But unexpected help came from the people's bench. The people were warmed up (and plenty) and they proceeded to drop irrefutable objections all over the infield. Due to the people's batting prowess the game was replayed, another hearing and this time, and only because of extreme public pressure, the score was reversed. This time it read: visitors 0; community 3. Significantly, it was the people who saved the day — saved the community from a refuse fill.

Will the township again side-step its political responsibilities to the electorate? In a story in The Detroit News (dateline Chicago, Aug. 14, 1963), Justice John Marshall Harlan of the Supreme Court said, "too many people see the courts as a cure-all. Some well meaning people apparently believe that judicial rather than the political process is more likely to breed better solutions of pressing or thorny problems ... such a course would denigrate the legislative process since it would tend to relieve legislators from having to account to the electorate." In layman's language, pass the buck! What of the future? Patently, the refuse problem and the water problem are inseparable. Last winter Northville's flowing spring suddenly dropped away to a mere trickle. According to the Northville Record, the city engineer attributed this water drop-off to the falling water-table and deep gravel operations. But not one word was heard from the township engineer. Yet the strongly worded Waring & Johnson report (repeated, or ignored — which?) said, in part: "There is a flowing spring which is accepted and shared as a natural resource by many of the people in the area and many outsiders. Surely nothing should be attempted in these present times of world unrest which might possibly cause this water to be unfit for human consumption ... It is our opinion that the lake water would be more desirable to swallow in less apt to become contaminated; if no land fill were made in the surrounding area."

This plain talk impressed the zoning board — made a hit — but the other township team passed it off as just another routine fly to the outfield.

Now that the Northville Spring has given us a reprieve from the water scare, how are we going to use the time, thus gained, to apply corrective conservation methods? We understand that compacted refuse waste is the lowest in water retention capacity; and that plant growth — trees, shrubs, grass — would have the highest retention capacity and is a proven means of restoring fallen water levels. Indeed, the previous township consulting engineers testified that after 25 years some of the examined refuse dumps still contained undecayed foreign matter. Obviously, the use of insecticides on a refuse fill is incompatible with the growth of plant organisms. Using the promoter's own estimate of 25 years as the completion time for this project and another minimum time of 25 years for absorption, this area would be a dreary waste when today's babes-in-arms have become grandparents.

Louis Bromfield's Malabar Farms became nationally noted as a dramatic demonstration of effective land conservation methods — how sterile fields can be restored and dried up streams made to flow again. Why not do this in Northville? Undoubtedly, there would have to be a change in attitude, a recognition that there is more than one solution to this problem. Given time, nature could do the job singlehanded. And, with a conservation assist, could do it faster.

However, our township team seems obsessed with defeatism and with the fixation of a refuse fill as a remedy. "Got to fill the hole you know."

No alternatives? Township's case hopeless in court? Can't win with the public peace, health and safety at stake? Since when has the public peace, health and general welfare become the wrong side of a public issue? Refuse is a Detroit city problem; must it be allowed to become Northville's problem? Instead of getting in an altercation with Mr. Hayes, should we not concentrate on our own problems? No one can deny that since the refuse came up, we have had civil discord, firings, and resignations in the local government, realignment of technical consultants, the heightening of community tensions between neighbors and the almost certain prospect of court action. Is it worth it?

Racism Out of Date

To the Editor:

This letter is an open letter to any or all the residents of Northville and Mr. D. J. Stark. I am happy to inform you who believe that the Bill of Rights does not also include minority groups that this country is entering a stage of truer and more mature democracy. Whether you like it or not racism is out of date and is being overcome by something greater: Brotherhood.

The realtors of America and the original home owners have been found to be at fault in nearly all cases of property depreciation in "mixed neighborhoods," not the minority group who are buying. Realtors have used the American people's ignorance and prejudice as a tool to buy homes cheaply from the "White Anglo-Saxon Protestant" segment of our population who have groundless fear. The realtor makes fantastic profits by selling the property to minority groups at a higher value than the original price.

Mr. Stark says he wishes to speak as "Joe Doaks" not a realtor, yet he constantly referred, in last week's letter to the Record, to the issue as a realtor would. He displayed his prejudice by statements such as "merely having enough money is the only requirement" for purchase of homes. If a tenant or home owner of any race, color or creed acts in a manner in which is not healthy for the community or his neighbors then there are grounds for the prescribed legal action. With these present provisions to evict careless tenants, what is there to fear in selling or renting to anyone who has the financial standing to warrant? These fears are groundless prejudices, nothing more.

The "government of law" that Mr. Stark praises will be retained by strong civil rights legislation. Law of man is now being practiced by mobs and individuals with prejudice trying to deprive other individuals of their rights. If freedom was granted to people by the Bill of Rights to protect them from the government then we now need another bill of rights to protect individuals from the ignorant, prejudiced, and fear-filled cruelty of his fellow countrymen.

I would like to ask Mr. Stark if our society has reached the stage where the money of the Negro is different than money of the Japanese or whites. Has our nation reached such a social-economic stage that the government should issue separate currency for the Negro? I ask if Northville residents are satisfied with individuals being forbidden to live in certain homes, on specific streets, and in entire communities merely because they differ in religion, skin pigment, or land of origin. If a man has the "money enough" to purchase a home he would not doubt be a suitable neighbor; at least with the same percentage of bad residents in the White Anglo-Saxon-Protestant group. The members of the minority groups are not ever given the same chance to error as those whites who are not such wonderful residents. There are always peaceful and legal means of rectifying and poor residential occupants of any race, color, or creed.

Mr. Stark asked if "forced housing" is the "answer to harmony among us?" Among us there is no forced housing, yet we still have no harmony. There are no Negroes living in Northville, unless there is a section of town that has escaped me. We have no harmony because we have nothing to harmonize with.

Are the home-owners' rights being eroded? No. Strong civil rights legislation merely rids our society of the cruelty of denying decent housing to minority groups.

Sincerely,
W. Grove Sandrock

Man Needs Food Too, Says Indian Missionary

JOHN THOMAS, INDIAN MISSIONARY, visiting at the home of the Rev. James F. Andrews of Eight Mile road, checks through some books donated locally for his mission. The missionary is in the United States promoting the establishment of a vocational school within his missionary fellowship.

John Thomas, 48, is a minister who believes Christian man must prepare himself for Heaven and yet make a place for himself in this world.

"And I'm not a materialist either. It's just that I've seen the need of the people, and they must be helped materially as well as spiritually."

This greying, native missionary of India, who has been a guest for more than a week of the Rev. James F. Andrews of the Full Salvation Union, speaks with a deep concern for the earthly well-being of his people. He does so even though his primary interest is in their souls.

Founder and president of the Sharon Fellowship, which includes within its ranks approximately 10,000 Christians in the southern states of India, Rev. Thomas has been visiting the United States for the past 10 months, promoting the establishment of a vocational school within the Fellowship.

With education, particularly in the fields of agriculture and industry, says this father of three children who hails from the state of Kerala, Indians are able to help themselves and thus create an atmosphere conducive to teaching Christianity.

"We need technicians and instructors. With 470,000,000 people, the country cannot support itself without such things as vocational schools."

Rev. Thomas dramatizes this need by describing the plight of starving Indians of the rural areas, who desperately need food, and by pointing out that his missionary organization is attempting to satisfy the hunger for God and for food.

"Soup, Soap, and Salvation," is a self-explanatory phrase, is the official slogan of the Fellowship unit that works primarily in the rural, poverty-stricken areas of India. "We try to give them something to eat, we clean and clothe them, and then we take care of their spiritual needs."

Sharon Fellowship, he explains, is a non-denominational mission engaged in the establishment of small Christian churches, operation of a children's Bible school and a training school for ministers, and the fulfillment of its "Soup, Soap, and Salvation" slogan.

While Rev. Thomas believes the work of foreign missionaries in India is vastly important, he notes with frankness that it is easier for native ministers to preach Christianity.

Too many Indians, he explains, have the mistaken impression that Christianity is a "foreign" religion. "To them Christ was born in Buckingham Palace."

Sharon Fellowship — without downgrading any non-Christian religion — points out to the people that Christianity grew up in Asia, he says.

As a matter of fact, Rev. Thomas explains, India itself is the home of one of the oldest Christian movements. Today India has nearly 2,000,000 Christians — and many of them are descendants of a known as the Syrian Church Christian movement dating back to the first century after Christ; not all are the product of modern Christian missionaries.

Much of the Christian heritage of India dates back to the year 52 when the Apostle Thomas came to India to preach the Gospel.

He established seven churches and became a martyr in India. During the Fifth Century about 2,000 Christians from Syria came to southern India and colonized. Later they joined with the ancient church of St. Thomas. Their descendants now are a large part of the present-day Christians.

So although Hinduism is the principal religion of India, Christianity itself is well founded, he adds.

Rev. Thomas was to leave this week — perhaps with his host, who may go on to India with him. Nevertheless both men encouraged interested persons to call should they desire to learn more about this Indian mission.

Full Salvation Union is located on west Eight Mile road; the telephone number is FI 9-0056.

"Please Don't Hurt My Children"

Dear Driver,

IN A COUPLE OF WEEKS MY DAUGHTER

who is five years old starts to school. She will wear a plaid pinafore and will have on her new shoes with colorful anklets. Her older brother Bruce will probably run ahead for an early trip to school and our younger children will wave goodbye as she starts off to the hall of learning.

LAST NIGHT WE TALKED ABOUT SCHOOL

my daughter and I. She wondered what the teacher would be like — she hoped she could sit beside Mary (the little girl next door). She said her "letters" for me — just to be sure she knew them. Oh, we talked about a lot of things — tremendously vital, unimportant things. Then she tried on her plaid pinafore to show me . . . and then to bed.

SHE LOOKED SO HELPLESS —

sound asleep, with "Princess Elizabeth" (that's her doll) cuddled in her right arm. You see, I'm her daddy. When her doll is broken or her finger is cut, or her hand gets banged, I can fix it — but when she and Brother start to school, when they walk across the street, then they're in your hands.

THEY'RE NICE KIDS,

both of them. They like to ride horses, swim in our lakes and hike with me on Sunday afternoon. But I can't be with them all the time. I have to work to pay for their new school clothes and education. So please help me look out for them. Please drive slowly past the schools and intersections — and please remember children do run from behind parked cars.

PLEASE DON'T HURT MY CHILDREN!

— A Proud Daddy

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

It could be the last straw... ZIP, I mean.

We already have social security, telephone, street, credit cards, license plates, bank account and zone numbers.

Now they've added another. It's 48167 in Northville. It's some other five digit number in other zone areas.

It's supposed to speed up the handling of mail. Numbers are easier to classify than towns. I guess — just like it's easier to remember 349-1700 than FI-9-1700.

Regardless of the reason, after reading an editorial in the Trenton Times recently I began wondering what might happen if numbers (say social security) were substituted for names.

It's almost possible to write a person's entire life story simply by the use of numbers.

Taking myself as an example, an obituary might read something like this:

3-14-23, 48126, 381-14-5621, 6-10-41, 49201, 0-829-326, 8-23-46, 2-10-48, 49224, 8-1-56, 48167, P-1,414,646, 135-214151, 48167, 8-18-63, 11 p.m., 8-20-63, 48167, P686.

Everything important is there. My birth date and place, social security number, high school graduation date and place, army serial number, marriage date, college graduation date and place, date of moving to Northville, insurance policy number and bank account number for heirs, place, date and time of death, place of burial and cemetery lot number.

Just to be on the safe side I used last Sunday as time of death with burial Tuesday. I also decided upon an evening hour to avoid disruption of the daily routine.

I left out many numbers that really don't seem important — like our card number for disposing of rubbish at the city dump, fishing and hunting licenses, blood type and gas credit card.

The whole idea might not be as silly as it seems. The Trenton Times editorial relates the story of an accountant in that community who mailed a letter from his office to his wife at his home addressed thusly:

Mrs. S/S No. 363-36-9117

3309 13-9-4-4-12-5-6-5-12-4 Drive
48183

On the return address he gave the following information:

Mr. S/S No. 378-24-3910

133 23-5-19-20 Road
48183

The key to the system was the use of social security numbers instead of names and corresponding numbers to the letters of the alphabet (A is 1, B is 2, etc.) for the street names, followed by the Zip code.

The letter arrived at its destination... but the envelope was stamped "delivery delayed on account of incomplete address".

Chances are, the editorial points out, the mail handlers would have liked to have employed slightly stronger terms.

The point of ZIP, of course, is to speed up mail handling and cut operational costs. So despite the inconvenience, we're the winners in the end. Don't forget your ZIP — in Northville it's 48167, Novi 48050 and Wixom 48096.

Trouble Ahead In Redistricting

Two reorganization requirements under the new Constitution, one involving the Legislature and the second other state government agencies, may well produce an unfortunate occurrence.

Under the 1960 Federal census, Michigan picked up a 19th seat in Congress. Inability of the Legislature to agree on a redistricting plan forced the 1962 election of a Congressman-at-Large. No new division of the state has yet been accomplished.

This stalemate is a minor forecast of what will occur when the legislative apportionment and agency reorganization begins.

Another example of the backbiting which can be expected in meeting the Constitutional provisions was seen last year when the State Supreme Court ordered changes in the State Senate districts.

Although the order was stopped by an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, the members of the lawmaking body were worried. Each was hesitant to recommend any plan which would cut one of his colleagues out of a seat, but primary was each Senator's concern for his own district.

In its wisdom, the Constitutional Convention provided for a commission rather than the Legislature to redistrict, the lawmaking body when necessary. The commission members, however, will meet the same pressures as legislators have when they attempted to realign the U.S. House districts.

Instead of having 18 Congressmen pleading for the safety of their seats, however, the four-man apportionment commission will get pressure from 144 legislators.

State agency heads will be putting on the same kind of battle for their jobs when the Legislature starts work on the consolidation of state government into not more than 20 principal departments.

Among the agencies, however, there is less a spirit of closeness than exists among legislators, so the backbiting is likely to be even more bitter.

Many agency spokesmen would be only too willing for their unit to absorb several others, as long as they were maintained as the chief managers of the new division.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, State Health Commissioner, has already suggested, for example, that a dozen agencies which now deal with various facets of public health be merged into a single unit. Presumably Heustis would be more than willing to be director over the new division.

Undoubtedly several other present department heads will be submitting plans similar to Heustis.

Visitors to Michigan's capital city in future years will see an amazing change from the 1963 model if current plans for development are carried out.

The proposed expenditure of $35 million will provide a group of new state office buildings and parking facilities in a six-block area immediately west of the Capitol Building.

Long under consideration but held up by financial problems, the development plan started to get off the ground at the close of the regular 1963 session.

A House-Senate committee has been studying the Administration Department's plans for the project all summer and will be ready with some recommendations during the special September session; but most of the ideas will be advanced later.

Necessity for new office space in Lansing was put forth in an architectural report which showed state agencies need more than 56,000 additional square feet of working space to meet their needs through 1968.

The plans being considered by the legislative committee call for daily-fee parking facilities for 4,000 employees, a new Highway Department administration building, four-story structure to house the revenue and Secretary of State departments, and a Supreme Court building.

A. N. Languis, state building director, said the plan as proposed would allow 27 state agencies to move their operations out of some 40 rented facilities in the Capitol city.

It seems as if summer just started, but the calendar will show that it is nearly over and there is much to be done to prepare for the winter.

One of the chief concerns of any family as fall and winter approach should be the safety of the home. The furnace tops the list of items to be checked, according to State Attorney General Frank J. Kelley.

Kelley's consumer protection division emphasizes that if a consumer has any worries about his furnace, it should be checked long before it is needed for heavy duty service. Most important, however, the state unit notes that the furnace should be checked by a reputable heating concern.

A common complaint to the consumer protection division in recent years has involved door-to-door furnace repair and cleaning solicitors. Advice on repairs or replacement of a heating unit have frequently induced homeowners to spend money unnecessarily, unit spokesmen said.

By checking the condition of your furnace before cold weather causes an emergency, you can compare estimates of competitors and be more sure the work you pay for is necessary.

Planning Your Tomorrow

Babson Park, Mass. — It is amazing to me how many people today seem quite happy to "live it up" without any regard for their pocketbooks. Our so-called "welfare state" has made people take the problems of unemployment and old age security far too lightly.

When I talk to young people, I find they are giving little or no thought to their financial futures. The result is that they never accumulate even the few dollars they need to start them along the road to sensible budgeting and a program of successful investment.

Thrifty Men Come Out Ahead
My father — I have never forgotten — used to warn me that the man who spends less than he gets will be an employer, but that the man who constantly spends all that he gets will always be an employee. The importance of saving, my father insisted, was in no way related to how much a man had or how much he brought home on payday. He believed that a poor man who saved something was far wiser than a wealthy man who had no system of saving whatsoever.

I have often thought about my father's words. And I have noticed that partners in business and partners in married life always get along better when they have some cash in the bank. A great many of life's troubles begin when bills come in and there is nothing to pay them with. I decided when I was still very young that I would rather tell my dollars where to go than ask where they had gone.

ABC of Independence
Step number one in beginning an investment program is to set aside some of your income every single week. This involves budgeting regularly and intelligently, putting first things first. It is obvious, for example, that it is better to pay the grocer than the doctor, even though food costs may be fairly high. Household labor costs and general expenses are also high today, plus insurance, taxes, repairs, etc. But oftentimes children or other members of the family can help lessen expenses by doing more of the chores and-or by bringing in some extra money from outside jobs.

My observations of present conditions indicate that a man with a family of four bringing home earnings of $5,000 (after income and social security taxes) ought to try to hold his living costs under 85% of that total. About 43% would go for food and clothing, and 39% for housing and transportation. I have said before — and I still believe it is true — that many families are paying too much for transportation. This is particularly true of those in the lower income brackets. Unless they buy more for cash and buy less on credit, they will never get started on a sensible financial basis for the future.

Even with reasonable allowances for benevolence and church and for personal and miscellaneous items, there should still be at least 5% left for insurance, savings, accounts, and investments. — or, more specifically, about $250. I heartily advise you to put half this amount into life insurance and the other half into savings. Starting on such a tight budget, I would definitely not make any provisions at this time for speculative investment.

Only by way of labor and saving is important capital built up. Those who consume less than they produce can

BOARD OF EDUCATION

NORTHVILLE, MICHIGAN

August 22, 1963

To the Citizens of the Northville Community School District:

Once again the time draws near when Northville's public schools will open their doors for a new year of study.

The 1963-64 school year will find the high school and elementary schools filled to capacity. All full time teaching positions have been filled with fully certified teachers. We are making every effort to keep the pupil-teacher ratio at an economically and educationally sound number.

During the 1963-64 year we will complete plans to include the ninth grade in the junior high organization. This will alleviate crowded conditions at the high school and will, with normal population growth, fill each building to capacity.

It will be necessary to seek other quarters for administration offices for the 1964-65 school year.

We will stress "in-service education" this year. It is our hope to examine as many areas of the curriculum as possible. Present plans will start the discussion with mathematics.

Our staff is continually examining new trends and teaching procedures. New methods and text books are adopted when it is proven they are better than those being used.

As your board of education, we wish to express our appreciation of your support and solicit your suggestions for continued improvement of our public school system.
