

Here's Crane's Eye View of New City Hall

When someone suggested taking a picture of the work progress at Northville's new city hall from a "bucket" dangling high above the operation, our photographer sought volunteers. Robert Crownover, a

Half Days to Start

Schools Initiate New First Grade Program

Initial half-day sessions for first graders, aimed at providing a more sound introduction to the first grade and the basic skills in reading, writing, and numbers, were approved by the Northville board of education Monday night.

Suggested by the elementary principals and recommended by Superintendent Russell H. Amerman, the experimental program will mean that all children entering the first grade will attend school for a half day only for the first full three weeks (September 9-27).

Principal R. E. Spear of Amerman school pointed out that some 25 parents — or about one-fifth of the parents with first graders — were contacted and told about the proposed program and asked if they might have any suggestions. All 25 parents, he said, had favorable comments.

Parental comments ranged from "O.K.", to "soundest educational program I've heard of — wonderful."

Letters explaining the program, which has been incorporated successfully in other school districts, were to be mailed out to parents this week. A second, follow-up letter will go out later giving the parents their children's assignments for attending school during the first three weeks.

This new program, Principals Spear and H. B. Smith stated in the letter that went out this week, "will enable the teachers to work with half of the class each day and provide a stronger foundation to build on during the school year."

The principals outlined what they considered to be four strong advantages of the program:

1. It will facilitate the transition from kindergarten to the first grade;
2. It will facilitate the transition from summer vacation to "back to school";
3. It will enable the teachers to provide more individual help through working with smaller groups (14 each session instead of 28 for both sessions);
4. Its ultimate result will provide a more sound introduction to first grade and the basic skills in reading, writing and numbers.

Under this program, the principals explained, all first grade children will attend school together on September 5 and 6 in order that they may meet all of their classmates before splitting into groups. "It will also provide an opportunity for the teacher to determine how she would like the groups split for the first three weeks," they said.

Children will bring their group assignment home with them on Friday, September 6, and will attend school through September 27 in keeping with this assignment.

Bus transportation, Spear said, will be handled similar to the current kindergarten program during the duration of the half-day sessions.

Considering still another elementary program — this one inaugurated several years ago — Smith gave a preliminary report of the kindergarten screening program ended just recently.

Under this program, preschool youngsters who will become five years of age between September and December are screened to determine whether or not they are matured enough to enter kindergarten.

This unique screening program, which has attracted the interest of school officials in other school districts, has met with a great deal of favorable response from parents, Smith said.

According to the principal, the program, which is entirely voluntary, included some 54 youngsters this year. Of these, 15 were asked to wait a year before attending school, 16 were on a trial basis, 14 were fully acceptable, three moved from the district, two will enter kindergarten under special education, and four are not yet accounted for.

Under the state law, children who reach five years of age by December may enter kindergarten. This screening program, then, is a means of determining which children may not yet be ready to enter school, Smith said. The final decision is, up to the parents.

Superintendent Amerman pointed out that some parents in adjoining school systems have asked to have their children included in the local screening program.

Township Water Still Uncertain

Water should become one of the chief topics of discussion at the regular meeting of the Northville township board next Tuesday night.

Supervisor R. D. Merriam reported this week that discussions have been held with both Plymouth and Detroit officials to determine a source of supply for township residents in the Five Mile and Bradner area.

Merriam indicated that prospects for Detroit water are somewhat dim.

Last week Gerald Remus, Detroit water manager, reported that Detroit Water lines will be extended along Eight Mile road to Sheldon in the city of Northville by next spring. According to Merriam, he also indicated that the line could be extended southward on Sheldon to the Wayne County Training School if Northville township would agree to buy Detroit water.

But the township supervisor reports that further discussions with Detroit water engineers leave some doubt as to when water lines could be extended as far as the Training School. Merriam also indicated that the present WCTS line, that would be converted to service for the township is reportedly in poor condition.

At this point Merriam said the possibility of securing Plymouth water seemed best. The Plymouth city council has guaranteed the supply and is presently studying rates. The line would be extended up Five Mile road from an existing line on Northville road. The system would then be extended down Bradner to Franklin and through Plymouth Gardens subdivision.

The project would be paid by special assessment by the benefitting property owners. Merriam has indicated it cannot be accomplished before spring.

Pick-Up's the Same

Garbage and rubbish collections in the city of Northville will follow the same schedule next week despite the Labor Day holiday.

The northern portion of the city will be collected Monday and the southern section Tuesday, as usual.

State Fair Prizes Go To Area

Few communities can boast more winners in Michigan's giant 1963 State Fair than this area.

As judging picked up steam this week it became obvious that local area residents and farms would cop a lion's share of the prizes. By Tuesday, numerous awards were already in the hands of local exhibitors.

Foreman Orchards of Northville, owned by Ralph Foreman Sr. and his son Ralph, a state fair exhibitor for 30 years, walked off with first-place honors in both the artistic fruit display and the commercial fruit display as well as picking up several other awards.

The big double win was the first for Foreman Orchards since it began exhibiting.

Attracting the attention of the thousands of spectators and the judges was the 10 x 12-foot artistic fruit display by Foreman, which took for its theme the Olympic Games.

Positioned on an incline, the display was made up of different kinds of fruit, including the familiar Olympic rings made of crab apples, surrounded by plums and framed by torches on either side.

In addition to the two big prizes, the Foreman family — including William, Norda, Ralph and other relatives, also took sixth and seventh places in horticultural crops, and second, third and fifth in the educational exhibit.

The coveted "Four Rosettes" prize went to Erwin Orchards of Novi and South Lyon for combined exhibits of apples, peaches, pears and plums in the horticultural commercial growers division.

The award is reserved for the best combination of exhibit plates in four types of produce. Out of 97 entries in the competitions, Erwin walked away with 70 ribbons — including a first for a visual demonstration of the controlled atmosphere cold storage process.

Public OK's Improvement

A reluctant group of property owners with little alternative consented to action taken by the city council Monday night for the proposed improvement of Orchard drive.

Not all of the 20 taxpayers on hand opposed the installation of storm sewer under the city's 25 per cent assessment plan. Some did because of the assessment, but none voiced opposition to the improvement of the street.

The council unanimously approved a resolution to continue with the special assessment procedure and plan as outlined.

But the council also promised it would examine a possibility that the storm sewer is being constructed larger because of water flow from areas not within the assessment district. It was the contention of several members of the audience participating in the public hearing that some reduction in assessment was due property owners within the district because of the so-called over-size line.

Specifically, the installation of the storm sewer is the first of three steps in the proposed improvement. If sewer is installed this fall, curbs and gutters will follow next year and paving a year later. The proposed line has been designed to serve an area of 31.29 acres of which 22.14 is in the city limits. Of this some 15.84 acres of the benefited property is privately owned. The assessment is being levied on an acreage basis.

The new storm sewer will start at the intersection of Thayer and Orchard drive and run south along Orchard drive to Fairbrook and then east to Eaton drive and south to the Johnson drain. Lateral collectors will service Spring drive, Scott and Grandview.

Curbs, gutters and paving are planned for Orchard drive from Thayer to Fairbrook. Total cost of the storm sewer project is estimated at $36,071 with the city paying $32,301. The council pointed out Monday night that this actually represents an assessment of slightly more than 10 percent of the total cost. While property owners to be assessed pay 25 percent of their share, the acreage not privately owned or lying within the township but still served by the drain must be paid from the city's general funds.

After Mayor A. M. Allen opened Monday night's hearing at the community building and outlined the improvement program he called for comments from the audience.

Mrs. R. W. Doeksen, 400 Orchard drive, asked if residents of the first block of Orchard drive (between Main and Thayer) were to be assessed. The council noted that this block had been paved by special assessment and was serviced by a storm sewer already. It was later noted that the sewer had been installed prior to the 25 per cent assessment policy.

The fact that the existing sewer in this block will be tied into the new sewer prompted some of the taxpayers present to suggest that benefit was being derived and an assessment should therefore be levied against the first block property owners.

City Attorney Philip Ogilvie noted that it was not possible to assess once an improvement had been installed. Some question remained as to whether the block could be assessed on the basis of benefit from the improved sewer.

W. H. Johnston, 370 Orchard drive, and Mrs. John Raubar, 640 Fairbrook, both noted that the sewer had been long needed. The delay, they noted, caused the property owners to be assessed for the work.

"Why don't you put in the sewer and pay for it?" asked Mrs. Raubar. "We're willing to pay for paving."

It was also argued by several residents that the improvement of the street was for the general welfare of the public.

At this point Councilman Richard Ambler noted that the general public was paying the biggest share of the cost — "nearly 90 per cent." He emphasized his belief in the practice of special assessment and warned citizens that residents of the new subdivisions pay 100 per cent. "If we don't make some token assessment in the older section of the city, then I'm confident we can expect some legal action from the newer areas," Ambler concluded.

George Lockhart, 618 Orchard drive, was also critical of the assessment plan, but finally led an appeal for council examination of reduction in assessment due to the possibility that the line might be larger than necessary for those assessed.

Councilman John Canterbury was the first to yield to this suggestion. He agreed that the possibility should be explored. Rather than delay proceedings and possibly hold off construction of the line until next spring, Canterbury asked the audience to trust the council to re-examine costs, yet pass the original resolution immediately. Attorney Ogilvie warned that any change in the assessment district would result in a call for another initial hearing.

At one point in the proceedings Councilwoman Beatrice

Carlson "scolded" the audience. An admitted opponent of special assessment for the "old city", Mrs. Carlson said she had warned residents of the Orchard drive area "to organize, come to meetings and speak up." She noted that "times change and new thinking comes in." Mrs. Carlson also noted that the voters had elected three proponents of special assessment (Allen, Canterbury and Councilman Fred Kester) in the last election. But she admitted that "deep down in my heart I still feel that improvements in the old city should be paid from general funds."

William Hensch, 855 Scott, was one of the few taxpayers to speak up in support of the city's position.

Mayor Allen finally called for an expression from the audience and won backing for the program. But as the meeting closed, one lady noted that "you can't beat city hall."

Provided there are no changes in assessments, the project will next be advertised for bids. Another public hearing will then be called to set forth exact amount of assessments.

The council voted to permit payment over a five-year period at six per cent interest.

350-Home Development Plan Eyed

A parcel of land containing some 153 acres on Taft road near Eight Mile road has been optioned by the Thompson-Brown company, land developers.

The property is owned by Gerald Taft and includes approximately 30 acres on the east side of Taft road north of Eight Mile and 90 acres on the west side. Both of these areas are within the city limits. The remaining acreage lies south of Eight Mile road across from Taft and in the township of Northville.

Robert Carey, president of the development firm, is scheduled to appear before the city council Tuesday night to discuss possible development of the land for homesites.

It has been indicated by Carey that a development of 350 homes in the $25,000 to $30,000 class is possible if water and sewer facilities can be established.

Time Running Out For Tax Payment

With only a few days remaining before the deadline, less than 70-percent of city property owners had paid their tax bills earlier this week.

The deadline for payment before penalties are invoked is Saturday, August 31.

According to City Clerk Mrs. Martha Milne, tax collections in Northville have doubled since her last report at this time last month, but still only about 64-percent of the $137,462 total tax bill was in by Monday.

By Monday afternoon, a total of $87,929.13 had been paid. Approximately 73-percent of Novi village taxpayers have paid their 1963-64 property taxes, Village Clerk Mrs. Mabel Ash reported.

Despite a surge in collections Monday, the Novi percentage falls considerably short of the rate of collections in neighboring Wixom.

In Wixom where collections are termed "about average", Treasurer Mrs. Elizabeth Wixom reported that approximately ly 95-percent of the tax levy has been collected to date.

Of the $146,032 Wixom tax levy, $139,664 had been collected, through Monday, Mrs. Wixom said.

Novi's property tax collection stood at $46,690 on Monday, with receipts coming in rapidly. The total property tax levy in Novi, not including special assessments for road paving in Willowbrook subdivision is $63,658. The special assessment totals about $700, Mrs. Ash said.

Property owners in the three communities must pay their tax bills by Saturday to avoid penalty. Beginning September 1, a four-percent collection fee will be levied by the three communities.

In Northville and Wixom, an additional one-half of one percent interest on overdue bills will be charged monthly, beginning in September.

The additional monthly interest will not be charged in the village of Novi until March 1.

AHOY LANDLUBBERS — More than 30 "pirates" swamped the backyard — and pool — of Mr. and Mrs. George Lindorfer's Echo Valley home Saturday evening during a hilariously entertaining party carrying a pirate's motif. For the party, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Reganess and their two children who are visiting here from New Jersey, the Lindorfers as usual pulled out the stopper in decorating their home and yard for the occasion. Guests from Echo Valley and neighboring communities came dressed as pirates and found themselves sharing the scene with ship, treasure chest, skulls and cross-bones, banners, colored lights and a variety of other symbolic scenery, including a ship's plank which one uninvited guest toured. A barbecued pig topped the delicious pirate's delight.

FASCINATED TOT — Tamara Pittman maneuvers a toy seal while one-year-old Randy is wide-eyed with wonder. Mr. and Mrs. Pittman and sons, Michael (left) and Larry, watch Randy's reaction.

Natives of the deep south, who came north some 18 years ago, have recently moved to the Novi area. They are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pittman of 41046 Mallot drive. Pittman is from Hawk,

North Carolina, and his wife, claims Elizabethon, Tennessee as her home town. Although born in Dixie, the Pittmans met in the North, Washington, D.C., to be exact. Shortly after marriage, work brought them to Michigan. While living in Taylor township, Pittman was employed at the Ford Motor company plant in Wayne.

With the shift of plant operations, the Pittmans decided to move near his new place of employment, the Wycom plant. A materials handler, Pittman has worked for the Ford Motor company for 15 years.

Choice of a home site remained for Mrs. Pittman. She took a yen to Willowbrook, and what is now their home.

In fact, the whole family likes the neighborhood. That includes Larry, 10, and Michael, 9, both of whom will attend the Orchard Hills school come September. Tamara, 4, and Randy, 1.

Nearby are plenty of lakes where the Pittmans might swim. "We like the water very much," said Pittman, "and we have a lot of fun at Kent and Walled Lakes."

When cold weather moves in, the Pittmans take to the bowling alleys. Top kegler in the family is Pittman, who can boast of a 172 average. Holding her own on the lanes is Mrs. Pittman, a 126 bowler.

Even the children get into the act. Larry's and Michael's scores are inching upward and four-year-old Tamara "knocks a few pins down here and there."

The Pittmans are members of the Orchard Hills Baptist church.

Mother's Spare Ribs, Dad's Pizza Both Tops

Mmmmm, Good.

That's the way the three youngsters of the Dell Brambles describe their mother's barbecued spare ribs or their dad's pizza.

The Brambles — Dad, Mom, Rachel, Elizabeth and Peter — enjoy semi-spicy foods and oftentimes add their own touches to dishes.

Their recipes:

BARBECUED SPARE RIBS
4 pounds spare ribs
½ cup chopped onions
2 Tbs. shortening
1 cup water
4 Tbs. vinegar
2 Tbs. Worcestershire sauce
½ cup lemon juice
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup chili sauce
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. paprika

Put spare ribs in shallow cake pan. Cover with wax paper and put in 500 degree oven for 15 minutes.

While spare ribs are in oven, saute onions. Take out ribs, remove wax paper, pour sauce mixture over. Return to oven to bake for one hour at 350 degrees.

PIZZA A LA BRAMBLE
1 cup warm water
1 tsp. salt
1 package dry yeast
3 cups flour
1 pound ground beef
1 small onion, chopped
½ green pepper, chopped
1 10½ ounce can tomato sauce
½ pound grated Mozzarella cheese
mushrooms

Dissolve yeast in warm water and salt. Add 3 cups flour. Mix dough. Cover and let rise for 30 minutes. Pat dough out on greased cookie sheet, forming fluted edges along sides. Use 14 by 16 inch cookie sheet or 2 12-inch pizza pans.

Mix meat, onion and green pepper. Spread tomato sauce evenly over dough. Add cheese, meat mixture and last, the mushrooms. Bake in 400 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes or until crust is lightly brown. Serves 6.

Communications from Citizens:

Mr. Richard Ritchie, S. Ely drive and businessman of Northville, spoke regarding signs "No Parking" on N. Center street but was particularly against the ban on the west side in the a.m. and asked if this applied to Saturday and Sunday parking. The City Manager is to check with the Police Department regarding the "No Parking" on the west side (6-9 a.m.). Council is supporting courtesy tickets at this time relative to N. Center St. "no parking". Moved by Canterbury, supported by Carlson that is hereby resolved that the recently imposed ban prohibiting parking on either side of N. Center street — 6-9 a.m. and east 3-6 p.m. — be amended to apply only on Monday through Fridays inclusive. Unanimously carried.

Mrs. Ted Kester and Ed Zweig of the Northville Estates Subdivision appeared regarding the clean-up of vacant lots, grading of culverts and swampy lot near Mr. Nelson Hyatt's. The swampy lot is to be checked and taken care of. The City Manager is to report back to Council on this matter.

Attorney's Opinion on City Participation Extension of Water and Sewer along Novi road to Service Property of East Side of the C & O Railroad tracks:

After preliminary discussion concerning background of Mr. Beniecke's request, it was established that the total area to be serviced is 12 or slightly more acres; with the City owning about 4 acres. The total cost of the proposed project is estimated at $8455; water — $3,084 and sewer $5,371. The City participation is to be based on the benefit to city property and that the city cost should be figured only on the sewer extension and to be figured on the following basis:

1. City acreage against total acreage benefited.

2. Add cost of tapping fee (additional credit for subsequent property).

3. Tapping fee for Beniecke and Krue property.

Moved by Canterbury, supported by Allen that the City Attorney draw up an agreement on the above terms. Unanimously carried.

Preliminary report from the City Engineer on Yerkes Estates No. 6

Mr. Penn presented a preliminary drawing of the Yerkes Estates Sub. No. 6 and described the layout of the water and sewer. The Mayor asked that a work session, or possible special meeting be called for Tuesday, August 20 to discuss this and related matters. The City Attorney is asked to give a decision on which is the most desirable for the city — a private or public owned easement. Plat information should be conveyed to the Planning Commission.

Request from Liquor Control Commission for Recommendation Concerning the Request from The Northville Bar for a dance license:

It was unanimously agreed that a police report is desirable on this establishment and that this matter be placed on the agenda of August 19 for a final recommendation.

Miscellaneous:

Mr. Allen explained the J. C.'s Safety Program planned for Saturday, August 17 when cars will be checked for safety. This will be done in the vicinity of Main street between the Seven Mile cutoff and Beal street, with the cooperation of the police department. The city manager is to check whether Wayne county should give permission for the placement of the sign for this program.

Moved by Ambler, supported by Carlson that the JC's be given permission to conduct this Safety Campaign. Unanimously carried.

Mr. Canterbury reported the study on the police department is still continuing. He also spoke about the numerous pigeons flocking in various areas of Northville and wondered if the City Manager could contact the man who had trapped some last year. The city manager reported on the written and oral tests conducted with police candidates. There were four candidates who were very close and the two selected were Louis Westphal and David LeFond.

Mr. Ogilvie expressed interest in having a meeting with the City and Township officials to discuss the possible cost of the library which will be in the city hall and service building now under construction. Council would like a recap of figures and information prior to this meeting.

Mr. Kester reported that the Eagles organization is interested in placing a plaque of the Ten Commandments on the lawn of the new city hall.

Mr. Kester also asked regarding the status of the Bernhardt Springs. The city attorney was asked to write a letter to Mr. Bernhardt, expressing the city's desire to conclude this business.

Mr. Bogart of the Northville Swim Club is concerned regarding the easement agreement with the city. This has been accomplished.

The matter of the solution of old and broken water lines to township users was discussed. Council requested figures on water revenue from all sections that pay double rates.

Mayor Allen appointed Mr. Ambler and himself as a committee of two to work on this problem and the city engineer is to get water maps to both Mr. Allen and Mr. Ambler.

Mrs. Carlson reported a request from Mrs. Ivy Brown of W. Main street that a water break on West Main street be fixed.

Local Officials to Attend Convention at Mackinac

Mayor A. M. Allen, City Manager Bruce Potthoff and City Attorney Philip Ogilvie will represent Northville at the Michigan Municipal League's 65th annual convention on Mackinac Island, September 5-7.

Feature speaker will be Robert Briscoe, councilman and former Lord Mayor of Dublin, Ireland, and one of the leaders of the Irish Rebellion in 1917-1924. Briscoe will address an expected gathering of over 1,000 municipal officials, wives and guests at the annual banquet at the Grand Hotel on Friday, September 6.

During his 69 years, Briscoe has had a remarkable career as a businessman, a leader in the Irish Independence Movement, a political figure, and an outstanding humanitarian. His career is distinguished further because he is of Jewish origin in an overwhelmingly Catholic country.

Legislative implementation of the new constitution will be the key item of discussion of the convention. The opening day session, Thursday, will be almost entirely devoted to a report from the League's special constitution committee on recommended League policies relative to implementation of the new constitution. Delegates will vote on these policy recommendations at the League's annual business meeting held on Friday afternoon.

Highlighting the convention will be the appearance of Governor George Romney at the opening luncheon. Attorney General Frank J. Kelley will keynote the session on implementation of the new constitution.

The first day session will be concluded with a discussion of proposed state fiscal reforms by Glenn S. Allen, Jr., State Controller, former mayor of Kalamazoo, and past president of the Michigan Municipal League, and L. William Seidman, advisor to the Governor on fiscal matters.

Joseph Robbie, Chairman, Minnesota Municipal Commission, and Senator Milton Zaagman, chairman, Joint Interim Committee on Annexation, Incorporation, and Consolidation, will make the presentation. The Minnesota Commission is an impartial administrative agency, established in 1959, which reviews all incorporations and most annexations within the metropolitan areas.

Other prominent speakers include Senator William J. Leppien, chairman, Senate Elections Committee; Representative Russell H. Strange, Jr., chairman, House Elections Committee; Richard C. Van Dusen, Legal Aide to the Governor; Gerald R. Barr, member of the Michigan State Tax Commission; Rudolph J. Egizi, county clerk of Gogebic county and president of the County Clerks' Association; and Robert M. Montgomery, State Director of Elections.

LET'S TALK CARS ...

THE EYES HAVE IT

As the old saying goes — "Seeing is believing" — and it was never more true, or vital, than when you're driving.

The armed forces, universities and industry researchers working on cutting down accidents say it is the way many drivers use their eyes that causes them to "miss seeing" oncoming vehicles.

You may have had the experience yourself while pulling out from a parking space, or passing an intersection. Suddenly, as if out of nowhere, another car is just THERE. You thought you looked and yet saw nothing. Your eyes momentarily fooled you.

What happens in such cases is that we use too much of our "peripheral" or side vision instead of looking at the source of danger directly through our clear central vision.

Look directly, left and right, and through the rear view mirror for rear approaches when caution demands it. It's sound practice, too, to keep your eyes moving, especially at night when they have a tendency to stare. And sight beyond the headlights for shapes if the visibility is poor. And next to your own eyes, watch the eyes of pedestrians and other drivers. They're keys to where they might move unexpectedly.

Safety checks show that almost thirty percent of all headlights are improperly aimed, resulting in strain to oncoming cars and reduced vision for the driver. If you are in doubt about your lights, bring your car in for a check. If they need realigning, the charge is very nominal.

School's 'Trailer Resolution' Draws Favorable Comment

A resolution recently enacted by the Northville board of education concerning the taxing of house trailers has met with the favorable response of the Wayne County Intermediate School District board.

According to School Superintendent Russell H. Amerman, the Wayne county board voted to approve the resolution "in substance" on Monday.

Local board members enacted its own resolution after receiving a letter from the Clarenceville board of education regarding a resolution adopted by that board.

Although the Northville board agreed with Clarenceville that legislation is needed to increase the tax levy on house trailers, it decided to take its own action.

According to Helen Field of the Highland Park board of education and chairman of the legislative committee of the state school board association, the Northville resolution probably will be studied thoroughly before formal introduction to the school board association and eventually to the legislature.

Specifically, the Northville resolution recommends to the legislature the enactment of creating the tax levy on occupying house trailers and providing for an increase in the portion of such taxes as are by law required to be remitted to school districts to the end that the portion of such taxes required to be remitted to school districts is more nearly representative of a fair burden of the school tax.

Although the resolution deals with house trailers, the Northville school district does not itself have a community of trailer homes within its boundaries.

Other matters to come before the Northville board Monday included:

IN-SERVICE MEETINGS — The board agreed with a suggestion by Amerman that a "kick-off dinner" for staff and board members be held this fall, setting a pattern for future in-service meetings.

A discussion ensued regarding the various subject matters that might be considered at these meetings.

Principal

Wins Award

Robert St. Germaine, principal of the Wayne County Training School at Northville, will be among 33 outstanding Michigan educators honored on Teachers Day at the Michigan State Fair, August 30.

St. Germaine, president of the Michigan Education Association's Council for Exceptional Children, will receive an award for his service and contribution to Michigan education during the past year.

The awards will be presented in a ceremony at the Fairground's Music Shell. Following the presentation the 33 educators will be honored at a reception in the adjoining Symphony Gardens.

Calling 21'ers

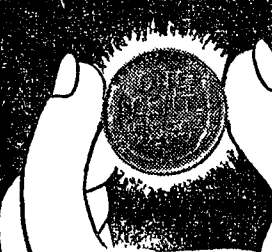

All 21'ers and newly naturalized citizens of the area who have not received an invitation to the 23rd annual Citizenship Banquet on September 11 are urged to contact Miss Ruth Knapp, FI 9-1829.

The annual event honoring new voters will be held at the Thunderbird Inn. It is sponsored by the Northville Coordinating Council and Optimist club.

Speaker this year will be Eric Bradner, president of Schoolcraft college.

Tickets are available from Optimist or Coordinating Council members.

Merwins Attend Conclave

The Mid Western Regional Conference of the Children of the American Revolution was held at the Hotel St. Nicholas in Springfield, Illinois the weekend of August 24 and 25.

For the first time as a part of the region the Michigan Society participated in the program. Eleven members and seniors from Battle Creek, Lansing, Saginaw, Grosse Pointe and Northville attended. The State President, Marcia Southworth of Saginaw gave Michigan's report.

Plymouth Corners Society was honored by having Mimi Merwin act as personal page for the national president, Mary Huston Armstrong of Columbia, Tennessee. Jack and Mrs. Merwin accompanied her for the fun. Andrea Egan of Grosse Pointe also accompanied the Merwins on the trip.

On Friday evening the Merwins were guests at dinner of the senior national vice president of the region, Mrs. Fred Krueger of South Bend, Indiana and Mrs. Killey, state regent DAR, of Monmouth, Illinois for the play "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" produced at New Salem State Park.

On Saturday after the meeting in the St. Nicholas Hotel in the afternoon the group visited Lincoln's home in Springfield and gathered at the cemetery to place a wreath at Lincoln's Tomb. After dinner in the hotel a dance was held for the members while the seniors adjourned to another room for a round table discussion.

Firemen

Keep Busy

Hectic days for Novi firemen were Sunday and Monday. They extinguished two small fires and came to the aid of three Novi residents, who suffered heart attacks.

A grass fire Monday afternoon, which burned up one-half an acre in the vicinity of the C&O railroad tracks near Novi road, was quenched in a short time.

Firemen also put out a small fire Monday at the home of J. Assemany, 46400 10 Mile road. According to firemen, a fire broke out in the dryer, located in the basement, when the tumbler stopped and the heater continued to burn.

Efforts to revive Mrs. Robert Sparks of 251 Faywood with a resuscitator were to no avail. She died Monday shortly after 4:23 p.m.

Walter Delmski of 210 Bufington, who suffered severe chest pains and labored breathing 1:51 a.m. Monday, was given resuscitation and taken to Pontiac General hospital by ambulance.

Firemen also answered a call for the resuscitator at the home of Arthur Forgette, 41121 14 Mile road. He was taken to Pontiac Osteopathic hospital Sunday morning.

The devotional service Sunday morning was held in the open air theater at New Salem Park after brunch in the Lodge. The group broke up and headed to their various homes in Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Michigan after a tour of the New Salem Park.

New Firm Opens Here

A small manufacturing firm, called Midwest Pool Equipment company, has begun semi-production in Northville.

Located in the rear of the building at 126 West Main street, the plant manufactures aluminum diving boards for distribution throughout the United States.

Ronald Cook of Farmington, owner, who currently is directing operations out of an office in Plymouth, hopes soon to open an office here. Cook was associated with other pool equipment firms for five years before establishing Midwest.

The particular diving board made by Midwest was designed by Cook. A patent is pending. According to Cook, the board is less expensive than the standard wooden board, has a longer life, requires less maintenance, and is more attractive.

Oakland County Job Challenges Frazer Staman

Ex-Supervisor Guides Giant Road Program

Imagine a transcontinental road stretching from New York City to Spokane, Washington — more than half of which is covered with gravel.

Sketch in the ditches, bridges, road signs and bumps — and complaints.

Now you have an idea of the task facing Oakland county's road commission — a giant industry charged with maintaining more roads than any other county in Michigan.

Constructing, grading, paving, salting, spraying and painting this vast network of roads last year cost $4,484,320.18, required nearly $2.5 million worth of equipment and machinery, and involved the services of approximately 450 men and women.

Heading up this giant operation are three men, one of whom for 10 years served as supervisor for Novi township.

Frazer W. Staman of Wixom road in Novi was appointed a road commissioner last year after the death of H. M. Thatcher. The two other commissioners are Sol Lomerson, who is serving his seventh term as chairman, and Robert O. Felt, a 15-year veteran of the commission.

The junior partner in this industry pushed aside his paper work this week long enough to discuss his new job and remuneration.

"It's a different kind of job," Staman said, "a real challenge every day. Roads have been very important even back to the days of the Roman Empire, but their importance today is so much greater and it will be even more so tomorrow."

Staman pointed out that no nation has even dreamed of the huge public works program now underway in the United States. He referred to a $41-billion national program that hopefully will be completed by 1972, he said, and Michigan is leading the way.

On a smaller scale, but nevertheless a vast one, Oakland county's road program is itself growing rapidly. Last year's county program, he pointed out, was 42-percent greater than in 1961 — and 120-percent greater than five years ago! And this year's program will be even greater, primarily because of assistance through the federal government's matching funds program.

But with so great a network of roads in the county, even today's program is hardly a dent in what must be done, he added quickly.

Because the road commission's projects are so numerous, the commission has instituted a bonding procedure so that more of tomorrow's roads can be built today, he explained. Without borrowing money against anticipated income, he said, many projects would have to be delayed. "This way we can provide and service roads that the public can use today."

Except for matching monies of townships, the commission treasury is almost entirely the result of funds provided through gas weight taxes channeled to the county by the state highway department. County appropriations for the commission — which until a few years ago totalled $100,000 — has been at least temporarily discontinued.

The fact that the lion's share of the commission's annual income is from the state highway department accounts for the concern voiced by municipal road departments over the possible decrease that could take place under the new state Constitution, Staman explained.

(It has been rumored that some of this money may someday be used to help support the State Police department).

As a matter of fact, said Staman, the percentage of the road tax money for the state highway department has been increased somewhat to help pay for the inter-state highway building program, thus decreasing funds to the counties.

Michigan is second to none in this program, Staman said proudly, but the emphasis on inter-state and super highways within the state may have its adverse upon other roads.

"Motorists can get to one place to another on the super-highways, but what happens when they get off them? They want good roads there, too."

Staman, who considers highway safety as one of the most important factors in the work of the commission, indicated that super highways may be indirectly responsible for the alarming increase in traffic fatalities.

"The expressways are safer, I'm sure. Drivers are able to get from one place to another quickly. But once they get off the expressways they keep right on speeding, forgetting that safety conditions have changed. It's just a theory of mine, but it's something that must be considered."

Each of the three commissioners are responsible for particular departments within the organization. Staman, for example, is in charge of engineering, purchasing, accounting, and primary roads. All three men, however, work together in all of these areas. Others, departmental areas include plant facilities, personnel, local roads, projects, legal, and right-of-way.

The latter, according to Staman, is one of the most difficult and certainly one of the most painful jobs. New roads excite and please people until the commission attempts to secure right-of-ways, he said.

All of which brought Staman to this comparison between his present job and that as township supervisor. All municipal officials are subject to criticism; they learn to expect it. But on the township level, complaints and criticism are more personal. They're aimed at the individual. At the county level complaints are less personal, aimed instead at the department, not one individual.

The commissioner admitted that complaints are sometimes justified. "We aren't all perfect; we just try to do the best job we can."

One of the biggest problems facing the commission each year is weather. Because winter weather cannot be predicted accurately, budgets are sometimes ripped apart by severe snows and ice. An unexpected severe winter can upset building plans for the next year, he said.

For example, three years ago the commission expended $34,000 for salt and sand during the peak winter months. But two years ago that cost skyrocketed to $260,000 because of the unusually heavy winter ice and snow.

Ang salt and sand are not the only costs that increase or decrease with the weather. Workmen must be alerted and pressed into extra service; equipment must be serviced and used, and a host of other details must be attended to — all of which affect the budgeted income.

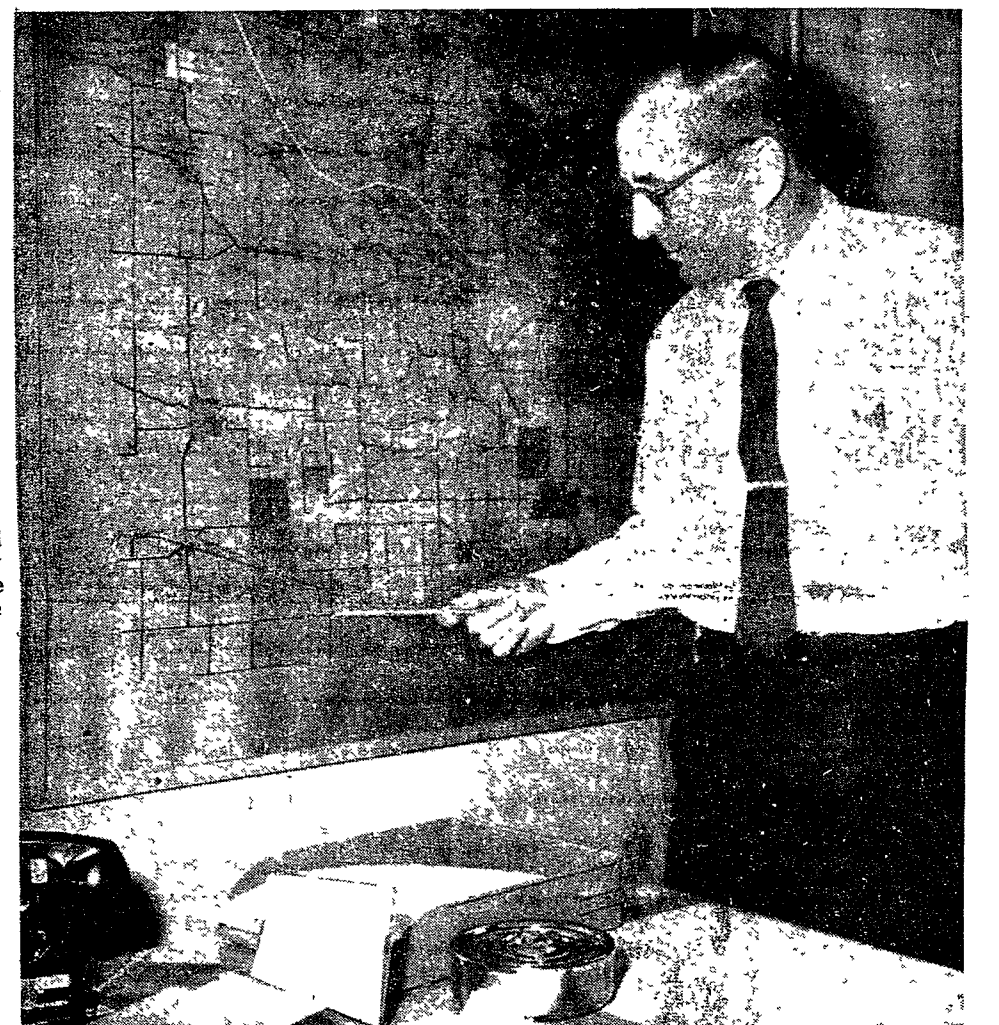

With such a mountain of work to do and with limited funds with which to do it, why doesn't the county appropriate money for this work?

"They have done it in the past. But it's not as easy as that. Because most of the roads that we maintain are located in the townships, — cities and villages that maintain their own roads don't like to be taxed for road maintenance elsewhere. They feel that if they must pay for building and maintaining their own roads, townships should do the same."

As a matter of fact, Staman said, the commission depends upon townships to help service local roads. The commission will expend only that amount of money matched by the townships for construction of local roads, bridges, etc. This share-the-cost system is necessary because under the road tax formula, the county receives most of its money for primary roads, which represents less than a third of the roads under the jurisdiction of the county, he said.

Despite the problems and responsibilities, the former Novi supervisor is enthusiastic about his new job. "The challenges are fascinating," he said returning to his paper work. "There's something new every day."

Not every one associates "labor" with "Religion." Much of man's relationship with God is in terms of God's character and what God can do for man. It is very important that men never lose sight of the fact that God is "the great giver." God places at man's disposal all that He has created and He has created all things. He gives forgiveness, comfort, salvation and countless numbers of other things vital to man's welfare.

It is when it begins to dawn upon man's conscience that to "receive" something carries with it the "responsibility" to use it, that some men begin to lose interest in religion. It is much easier to pray, "Thy kingdom come; thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven," than it is to have to toil to attain and maintain it.

Early in His ministry, the world's greatest religionist said, "It is meat and drink for me to do the will of him who sent me until I have finished his work." Again, later, he said, "My Father, worketh even until now and I work." These two statements are brief but sufficient evidence that for Christ religion and labor belong together. This reminder might well serve to re-alert us to the two singular facts that 1) religion is labor (work) and 2) labor can be religious.

As for religion being labor, we need but be reminded ed that God is engaged in a great struggle between righteousness and unrighteousness. It follows, therefore, that those who consciously identify themselves "religiously" with God become partakers with Him in this conflict. The battle between good and evil will be won, like any other battle, only at the price of honest toil.

But even more significant is the fact that behind engaging in this conflict is the necessity for man to first give himself over to God in order to join God in this warfare. This, in itself, is not easy; it is hard work. Man is inherently selfish and the surrender of his personal will to the will of God, which is one of the basic elemental experiences in a "religious" life, is difficult to come by. In the act of surrendering his will to the will of God in His prayer in the Garden of Gethsemane, it was written of Christ that "his sweat was like clots of blood falling to the ground." It is hard work to pray in self-surrender to God!

As for labor being religious, it is a knowledgeable fact that it can be. Then, again, it can be far from being religious. What one does and the spirit in which he does it makes all the difference in the world. Whether one's purpose is "to make a living" or "to make a life" is an indication of how intent one is upon making his labor an expression of sincere religion. There are those who find it difficult to understand how certain vocations and businesses can be engaged in by so-called "religious" people. A great number of past generations would always write these words across his completed score, "To the glory of God." If every man carried this inscription in his heart and exemplified its meaning in his daily tasks, what a difference would take place in the whole realm of labor relations.

The words of a hymn in the Christian heritage are these:

Go labor on! spend and be spent.
Thy joy to do the Father's will.
It is the way the Master went.
Should not the servant tread its still?

Flying Robots Host Contest

100 Watch Stunting Model Airplanes Sunday

Ken Morse holds his plane for a standard take-off.

Approximately 200 eyes scanned the sky Sunday from behind a roped-off area in a field near Six Mile and Beck roads, watching airplanes twist and turn through a pre-determined pattern.

Sometimes, part of an aircraft failed and a plane plummeted to earth in the nearby woods. Although there was some show of alarm, there was little concern with loss of human life.

That's because no one was piloting the planes for this was the Flying Robots Radio Control club's model airplane contest.

Some 20 odd persons were entered in the contest, hosted by the Flying Robots, a group of model airplane enthusiasts from Northville and surrounding communities.

The objective of each contestant is to maneuver his plane through a course to pick up a perfect total of 35 points.

To do so, the contestant must know his craft, reckon with wind and send his craft through a series of straight lines, a loop and finally, a figure eight.

What's more, he must be a sharp shooter to bring the plane home within a 10-foot circle within a limit of seven minutes.

Northville residents have a vested interest in the contest and the fate of the club.

Two Northville men competed in the event, Dick Myers and Ken Morse.

Two other Northville men are honorary and life members of the club. They are the Lapham brothers, Chuck and Jim. Active in past years, Jim has not entered any contests this year. He is the owner of several model planes, however.

The home field for members of the club is the old Stinson Aircraft test strip, the site of Sunday's contest. Owned by Mrs. Beth Lapham, she donated the field for club activities.

Furthermore, former member Fred Casterline and Al Vrandenburg, who is still active, were two of the four founders of the Flying Robots in 1952.

Since then, the radio controlled model aircraft have come a long way. As Vrandenburg pointed out, "the planes are 100 times better," mainly as a result of the development of transistorized tubes. This makes for smaller, compact and more versatile model planes, Vrandenburg noted. But the cost of operating a plane has not significantly diminished. From a minimum of $150, the transmitter, receiver, fuel system and the body may cost as much as $500 to $600.

Nevertheless, enthusiasm for radio controlled model airplane flying seems to be growing. "Our membership now totals 33," President Andy Keller of Plymouth said, "and every one enjoys the activities."

Spectators watch the show on a windy but otherwise perfect day.

Waiting first on deck, this craft will soon be airborne.

GRAND CHAMPION MOTHER — No sooner had "Terry", Norman Balko's prize holstein, walked off with the grand championship August 6-10 at the Oakland county fair, than she became the proud mother of these two calves. With his four entries, two cows, a calf and a pen of three roosters, Norman (right) copped 23 ribbons. His brother, 12-year-old Neil, also won his share of ribbons — seven. Two of Neil's entries took blue ribbons: "Linda", a senior calf, and a pen of ducks. Norman, Neil, "Terry", "Linda", "Fay" (a two-year-old cow) and the pen of roosters will make the trip August 26-29 to Lansing to compete in the Michigan 4-H show. Norman and Neil are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Balko, 52730 Eight Mile road.

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO

August 30, 1962

—A state board of education hearing on the request of the Echo Valley subdivision area to transfer from the Novi to the Northville school district has been scheduled for September 7.

—The Wixom city council last week received notification from the county drain commission that the once-proposed Beck road drain is now a matter for the city to handle. The proposal was ordered dropped by a special board of inquiry appointed by the Oakland county circuit court because several property owners objected to the project.

—Absence of two village councilmen Monday night delayed action on a planning board recommendation of change of zoning for the property of board member Joseph Dunnabeck. Recommendation is that Dunnabeck's 10 acres, located at 21900 Beck road, be rezoned from agricultural to R-4 multiple family residential. Plans for the proposed new recreation-scout building won approval of the city council Monday night as September 24 was set to award construction bids.

—Petitions are being circulated in Northville township this week requesting a proposal be placed on the November ballot to permit the sale of liquor by the glass. —Thirty-six gridders reported for practice Monday at the Northville high school, though only a third were on last year's team, Coach Ron Horwath noted.

FIVE YEARS AGO

August 28, 1958

—Northville's city council took definite steps this week to thoroughly review and map out its water system and undertake a major program of improvements.

—Ten candidates will vie for five seats on the proposed village council in Novi's special charter election September 22. The candidates are J. Philip Anderson, George Ames, Russell Button, Burt Fisher, David Fried, Dirk Groenenberg, Dickon Taffralian, Leo Harrowood, Walter Tuck and Donald Woodward.

—New principal of Our Lady of Victory school is Sister Rose Edmond, O.P., who replaces Sister Anita Marie, O.S.B.

—Donald A. Knodle was named this week by the board of education to replace Mrs. George Atkinson as principal of Novi school.

—Based on preliminary estimates more than 1700 students will attend Northville schools this year which open September 8.

—Novi's slow registration rate for the coming village charter election became cause for concern this week because only 140 of an estimated 2500 qualified electors have registered.

—Novi students are lining up in record numbers awaiting the opening of school doors next week. Approximately 600-odd students are expected with the figure increasing to nearly 700 by the end of the school year.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

September 3, 1948

—William F. Miller, president of the Northville Parent Teachers Association, rendered his resignation at the first meeting of the organization's executive board for this school year Thursday. He is moving in September.

—Hats will be off Monday to those men and women through whose skilled hands flow the great abundance of goods that make the American way of life more pleasant. It's labor day.

—George A. Dondero, member of the United States House of Representatives, outlined what congress is doing in a speech Tuesday at the Rotary club. He considered three laws imperative: control of pollution of fresh water streams; repairing and building new roads; and temporary housing for G. I.'s at colleges and universities.

—Dr. V. George Chabut, Northville's Health Officer, attended a meeting Wednesday in Plymouth where he heard that rabies cases have been reported in Bedford Township, Livonia (9), Canton (10), Plymouth, two in Plymouth township and five in Northville and Northville township. As a result, the dog quarantine will be continued.

—Over 800 students were enrolled in the Northville village schools for the coming school year.

—Cliff Hill, at a gathering of Northville Exchanges Wednesday at the Plymouth Country Club, showed movies on world famous sporting events.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

September 2, 1938

—E. V. Ellison of the high school faculty gave the newly adopted apprentice plan its send-off this week by placing one high school student in a shop and practically completing arrangements to have another boy work in a dry cleaning establishment.

—Arthur C. Carlson is the newly elected commander of the Northville American Legion post.

—G. V. Harrison and E. V. Ellison gave brief accounts of their vacations at the Exchange club meeting Wednesday, but refrained from any tall fish stories as many were more versatile than they.

—Librarian Leslie G. Lee announced this week that the Northville high school book store is stocked with textbooks and ready for students' selection.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

We'll probably never find a way to eliminate highway traffic deaths. But it should be the goal of every driver of a motor vehicle.

It is difficult to imagine a more useless cost of life — to save a second, win a race, as a result of weariness or over-indulgence.

Traffic safety experts are alarmed at the spiraling statistics in Michigan. And they dread the thought of the slaughter that can take place over the Labor Day week end.

In emphasizing the ever-increasing traffic accident problem, F. Granger Weil, editor of the Port Huron Times and a member of the Traffic Safety Committee for the Michigan Press association for the past 10 years, has written a series of articles for weekly newspapers.

In an earlier appeal he called for an end to "slap-on-the-wrist" sentences handed down in traffic courts. And he notes that the fault doesn't lie entirely with our judges, but with the general public. He also has asked for some uniformity in sentencing "tempering justice with mercy, but not with maudlin or political considerations."

In the latest article by the Port Huron editor a call is made for a special session of the legislature to meet the state's traffic emergency.

His concern is the result of many years of close association with state traffic problems. It's worth our consideration — on Labor Day and every day we drive our cars.

Michigan needs swift, courageous action on the part of its officials to halt promiscuous blood-letting on our highways.

If the trend for this year continues, roughly one of every 10 Michigan drivers will have an accident — one in 20 will be injured — one in every 2,500 will die in traffic.

In my book this is an emergency situation calling for immediate and drastic action, namely, a special session of the legislature.

The traffic problem has been getting more complicated since 1958 when fatalities hit their lowest postwar level — 1,382. More cars, more drivers, more travel have aggravated the situation.

But accidents do not have to happen. They are caused — and almost always by a driver, or two drivers, ill-equipped to travel on high-speed freeways, uninformed about traffic regulations and the limitations of the vehicle, grossly negligent or momentarily careless behind the wheel, any one of which deficiencies can cause a life to be snuffed out, a body to be racked unceasingly by pain.

Michigan was in a similar accident situation in the early 1950s. Accidents spiraled up until 2,016 persons were killed in 1955.

Substantial measures were imperative to halt the holocaust and they were forthcoming!

A special session of the State Legislature was called then and out of this came a number of highly important measures that bent back the rising trend and made Michigan highways substantially safer for a number of years. These measures included 200 additional Michigan State troopers, a central driver license file to keep a historical record of the violations of all Michigan drivers, a high school driver education program, an absolute 65-mile per hour speed limit and establishment of the Michigan State University Highway Traffic Safety Center.

Michigan needs the same bold action today. The impetus from the 1955 traffic safety package has ground to a halt. Michigan today actually has fewer State Police troopers on highway patrol than in 1957. It is encouraging to note that Governor Romney and safety authorities recently discussed the request for more State troopers, better driver licensing procedures, compulsory vehicle inspection, strengthened high school driver education programs and reactivation of the Michigan State University Safety Center.

There have been numerous discussions.

Now we have to face facts head on.

Time, cold cash and lives are being wasted with every day of delay.

Let's cut the preliminaries and get down to brass tacks.

State Tourists Spend $680 Million

Summer's end marks the conclusion of the vacation and touring season for many people, but the Michigan tourist industry provides year-around attractions.

The industry, ranking among the top three contributors to Michigan's economy, realized an estimated $680 million from tourists in 1962.

Indications that this business will increase are pointed to by the Michigan Tourist Council. Council officers note that by 1975 the nation's population will reach an estimated 230 million.

At the same time, the average family income is supposed to rise to $7,500 per year. More people with more money means there will be more leisure time and a resulting increase for the Michigan tourist industry.

Tourist Council spokesmen say studies indicate that with proper promotion tourism can be a billion dollar industry in Michigan and account for 100,000 new jobs within the next 10 years.

Ample room to relax in state parks, forests, and county and city parks; the abundance of game for the hunter; the many lakes, rivers and streams for the fisherman and swimming-boating enthusiasts; the largest number of ski centers in the nation; and a highway network ranking among the finest. These are the main attractions in Michigan's favor.

The future, then depends largely on what the Council calls "proper promotion."

One of the widest promotion gimmicks in use today is the state license plate which boasts Michigan is the "Water Wonderland." This is backed up by the fact that the state has four times the water area of any other state.

In all, Michigan boasts 1,194 square miles of inland water and 38,075 square miles of Great Lakes water area. The Great Lakes shoreline around Michigan covers 3,121 miles, forming the outline for the giant mitten and Northern Peninsula in which some 11,037 inland lakes and 36,350 miles of rivers and streams are bounded.

Local promotions and regional boasting probably draw as many tourists to the state as any combined effort. The Soo Locks, Mackinac Bridge, Sleeping Bear sand dunes, Tahquamenon Falls, Greenfield Village, and countless other local attractions are available.

The Tourist Council will be encouraging local promotion to boost Michigan's proud industry to its full potential in the future.

Legislative committees formed to serve in the interim between the 1963 and 1964 sessions will have their work cut out for them in the last few months of the year.

Each committee is responsible for submitting a report of its work to the Legislature early in the 1964 session.

In addition several of the working units still are conducting various studies.

The legislators, of course, are expected to be on hand for the special September session. Hearings are scheduled in various cities around the state, however, by a number of committees. These include the minimum wage study group and tourist industry committee.

Presence of key legislators, some of them members of the committees, could be very important during the tax discussions at the special session.

Automation is finding its place in state government operations as well as in private industry.

The Civil Service Commission's annual report shows that uses of machine scoring and an electronic computer to speed up the examination process was a valuable experience.

During 1962 a computer was used to score and print examination results, making possible a great acceleration in making employment lists available to state agencies seeking workers.

With some 57,359 persons taking civil service examinations in 1962, it can easily be seen how use of electronic processes could make the task easier and more efficient.

Plans call for continued rental of the giant computer and use of additional time-saving machines. The Commission will get another scoring machine capable of reading ordinary pencil mark answers by a light sensing process.

In addition to saving time in checking examinations, the computers to be used will automatically notify job applicants of their scores, and will perform an item analysis of the examination content. The latter will give Commission staff members a constant evaluation of the test material.

During the current year, and probably into 1964, Civil Service use of the computers will continue to be on an experimental basis. Every indication is that the man-replacing machines will be an integral part of the man-seeking process in state government.

Check 'Worthless' Stocks

Babson Park, Mass. — Every now and again I receive a spate of questions from readers about what to do with old and apparently worthless stock certificates that have been found around the house. How can they be sure, they want to know, whether or not these stocks have any value at all?

My first advice to such people is not to let go of such investments for any amount until they check every possible source of information about the companies involved.

I remember some years ago that a Wall Street banker asked me if I would help him get some "worthless" stocks from readers of my column for a few pennies per certificate (not per share). Looking into the situation, I found that 49 out of 50 certificates bought by this broker turned out to be actually worthless, BUT one out of every 50 might be worth as much as $1,000. This usually was a certificate needed by a company to dissolve or consolidate without any outstanding obligations or complications.

While I am in no position, of course, to tell my readers exactly what to do in such situations, I still insist that you should not throw away any certificate just because some member of the family or some other "helpful" persons says it is valueless.

Probably the best bet is to show it to your regular banker. He will know how to go about checking on the current value, if any, of your certificates.

You will find that lots of your "worthless" certificates that turn up in desk drawers or in your attic represent old mining companies. Maybe they never were any good, or perhaps they were issued by mines that petered out. Some companies didn't have the money to dissolve legally, so perhaps they let some rancher pay the taxes for the right to use the land. And so the company was forgotten after stockholders were told that it had "passed out."

But I can remember, for example, some instances in the 1950's when uranium was found on such lands, with an increase from, say, $5 an acre to $50,000 an acre resulting.

Maybe an oldtimer who recalls the company gets himself a list of original stockholders and writes to them offering $10 a share for their certificates. Most families still having the certificates are probably glad to get $10 a share. What they don't know is that the shares may now be worth as much as $1,000 because of the new-found uranium. Who can tell what new changes might come about for such undissolved companies?

I have often urged people who move from one address to another to be sure to write any company whose stock they hold and let them know of the change. If you have some "worthless" stock, spend 5 cents on a postage stamp and take the time to write a letter giving your new address. If you move too many times and such shifts are not reported, a company gets back the letters they send to you — marked "unknown" — and after a time the firm puts you down on its records as "deceased."

My family for some time had large holdings in a national retail corporation. At one time this firm had had nearly 100 stockholders who could not be located. It may sound unlikely, but you actually might be one of these stockholders. There must be hundreds of other companies with the same difficulty.

And don't forget that such stocks can double or triple in value, and you may not be found to be given your just share in the profits. Don't let that happen to you or your family.

While on this subject, let me warn you not to rush to sell bonds that you hold when they default. The price of the bond may plummet from par to 50 cents or so on the dollar, but I have seen many such bonds climb back up to $1,000 in the course of years. I remember that Sheraton Hotel chain bonds sold at $1,000 before the turn of the century, then they defaulted and fell to around $200 where they remained for years.

Long after that, a courageous and imaginative financier named Ernest Henderson showed his faith in the hotel business by buying up these "undesirable" bonds. Since that time they have, of course, been paid off at par.
