Township to Buy Plymouth Water

Northville township board members decided Tuesday night to seek water for its "dry-well" Bradner-Five Mile road residents from the city of Plymouth.

The board gave Supervisor R. D. Merriam permission to proceed with plans to purchase water from Plymouth and start planning of the system to serve the southeast township area.

Plymouth's city council has already assured the township that it will supply water from a main along Northville road. The township must construct its line from Northville road along Five Mile to Bradner. The system will continue along Bradner to Franklin road and will include the entire Plymouth Gardens subdivision overlooking Phoenix Lake.

Plymouth's city council has promised to determine its water charge at a September 9 meeting. Presently, Plymouth charges double rates (68 cents per 1,000 gallons) to users outside the city. But the council assured Supervisor Merriam that this rate would be reduced because Northville will service its own lines, read meters, etc. Sale of the water will be directly to the township, not to the individual property owners.

Merriam pointed out Tuesday night that construction of a booster station may be necessary to assure adequate pressure.

The new township water main will be sufficient to serve some 500 homes in the future. Presently, however, it will serve only the 20 homes in Plymouth Gardens. The project is being financed by special assessment with the cost being charged to the property owners in Plymouth Gardens and lots facing Bradner between Five Mile and Franklin.

Two other possible sources of water were declined by the township. Detroit water coming through Plymouth township at Five Mile road was turned down because the supply was limited to serving some 25-30 homes with no guarantee of pressure.

A proposal by the city of Detroit to provide water through an existing line in the area which now serves Wayne County Training School was turned down because of too many "ifs."

The Detroit line will be constructed to Eight Mile and Sheldon roads in the city of Northville next spring. Whether funds are available to extend the line southward on Sheldon to the training school remains indefinite.

Supervisor Merriam also questioned the condition of the 12-inch main serving the training school. It was proposed, however, that Detroit water through this line could be requested on a stand-by or emergency basis.

In other business Tuesday night the board adopted an installment plan for payment of interceptor sewer connections. Payments may be made in eight annual installments of $50 each at six per cent interest.

Charges for sanitary sewer installation inspection were approved by a 4-1 vote with Trustee Wilson Tyler dissenting. Tyler said he "wanted to hear the reasoning behind the fee" and compared it with the tap-in fee, which he termed "a guess-timate."

The approved charge is based on a per diem cost with a deposit of $500 plus 75 cents per foot. The township will retain 10 per cent of the deposit to cover costs and will return any part of the deposit beyond the actual cost of inspections.

ACCIDENT-FREE HOLIDAY — Up goes another number as another accident-free day is recorded over the Labor Day weekend. Tap Fees Split Council In Lengthiest Session

In its longest session of the year the city council solved two knotty problems, decided to move ahead on plans for sidewalk and street improvements and delayed action on two other agenda items when the clock struck twelve.

Most time-consuming issue concerned a decision regarding the waiving of tap-in fees for property owners giving easements for construction of the new Oakland county sewer line through the city of Northville.

The line will serve the southern portion of Novi and will hook into the Wayne county system southeast of the city. Northville has been given 6 cubic foot per second capacity in the line by Oakland county (for $2,800) to help ease the load in the northern portion of the city.

An attorney representing

Foundry Flask and Equipment Company informed the council that his firm was scheduled to appear in court Friday for condemnation proceedings if it did not grant easement across 21 feet at the rear of its Cady street plant.

He said Oakland county had offered the company three taps into the line with the work to be performed by the county.

It later developed that a similar offer had been made to Mayor A. M. Allen. He explained that the new sewer line will cut-off some 61-feet of his 'Allen Monument' property on South Main street and will block-off his entrance into an existing city sewer line. The line crosses one other parcel of private land in the city.

The council finally voted 3-1 to waive tap-in fees with Mayor Allen abstaining and Councilman Richard Ambler voting "no."

Long discussion of the issue found Councilman Ambler maintaining that a portion of the tap-in fee was collected to help pay for the city's capacity allocation in the interceptor. And he noted that the capacity that might be used by the three properties tapping in would be subtracted from the city's 6 CFS. Ambler proposed a half-fee, a policy following in new subdivisions where the taps are made by the developer.

"What if there were 20 acres involved instead of just three properties? Would we waive all these fees?" asked Ambler.

Mayor A. M. Allen noted that the city would not have to maintain the line and that it was saving the city thousands of dollars in construction of a parallel line.

It also became a question as to whether any of the properties would ever use the taps. Currently, they are served by existing city lines.

"I don't think we're giving them anything," said Councilman Fred Kester.

Councilwoman Beatrice Carlson was in favor of waiving fees from the outset of the long discussion. She prodded the council to "get on with business" and noted that such a decision would save Foundry Flask from costly court charges. Mrs. Carlson finally made the motion to waive fees. It was seconded by Kester.

Councilman John Canterbury admitted he could see a basis for arguments on both sides. He finally agreed to "go along" because he didn't believe the city was giving anything away.

In other business the council heard an engineering report that said no reduction in assessments were due residents in the proposed Orchard drive storm sewer. The engineer noted that the proposed line is the same size it would be whether a line existed or not in the first block of Orchard between Main and Thayer.

The council decided to move ahead with plans to improve Pennell, Butler and West streets. All three need storm sewers, curb, gutter and paving. Special assessment proceedings will be started this winter so that spring construction bids may be awarded.

Development Could Prompt Annexation

A proposed development of more than 300 homes in Northville's Eight Mile-Taft road area was approved for a "feasibility test" for utilities by the city council Tuesday evening. But introduction of the proposal produced the following unexpected reactions and possibilities:

— the developer noted that the project depended upon availability of water and sewers and noted that 33 of the 133 acres involved are in the township; he said annexation to the city would be sought so that utilities could be installed;

— approximately 20 residents of nearby Taft Colony attended the meeting; their spokesmen expressed concern over the type of homes in the proposed development, but added that it was possible that "we might ask the city to annex us."

Specifically, the 133-acre parcel lies at the intersection of Eight Mile and Taft road. Some 65 acres on the west side of Taft extend to approximately 8 1/2-Mile; 35 acres are on the east side of Taft running about one-quarter of a mile north; and the remaining 33 acres are on the south side of Eight Mile in the township.

The township acreage adjoins Taft Colony, a township subdivision of 30,000 to 40,000 homes on half-acre lots.

Tompson - Brown company has taken a one year option on the property from Gerald Taft.

Robert Carey, Thompson-Brown president, explained to the council Tuesday night that his option pertained to all the acreage and depended upon providing water and sewer facilities. He proposed that his firm would pay for the cost of a feasibility study to determine whether it is economically possible to service the area with water and sewers. City Engineer Harold Penn estimated the cost of the project at $1,500 and the council approved the drafting of an agreement.

Carey said the homes would be in the $25,000 to $30,000 class and would be built on lots 90-100 feet wide and 130-140 feet deep. He said the development would have paved streets, curbs, gutters and sidewalks in addition to utilities.

He noted that the company's option expires August 1, 1964. Carey said that project development would begin in early 1965 if undertaken.

Councilman John Canterbury pointed out that the city would not be interested in annexing township property without the approval of township officials. "We're on friendly terms with the township and attempt to plan our community cooperatively," he added.

Gerald Taft noted that such an annexation had been approved by the township several years ago, but a plan to develop the area was abandoned when Wayne county placed a ban on all new sewer construction.

Donald Boor, president of Taft Colony Association, spoke on behalf of the residents in attendance. "We're very happy with our area and are here because we are concerned over the type of development you propose. If it is a development that will maintain our property values, we have no objection. We might even ask the city to annex us." (Boor apparently made the observation on the basis that the township subdivision could then obtain city water and sewer facilities if desired).

Boor asked that Taft Colony interests be considered in planning of the new development.

Both Mayor A. M. Allen and Councilman Canterbury assured Boor that the city, too, was interested in maintaining values in neighboring township areas in keeping with a policy of joint city-township planning. Engineer Penn reported that his survey would be completed by November 1.

Bridge Work To Detour Northville Road

The replacement of two bridges on Northville road between Five and Six Mile roads will eliminate through traffic for the next three months between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Wayne county road officials have announced that all traffic will be detoured to Edward Hines drive between here and Plymouth. Signs were scheduled to be erected this week.

While it will be possible for vehicles to travel Northville road between Seven Mile and Six Mile roads, a partial barricade will be erected at Northville and Seven Mile roads directing through traffic to the Seven Mile road cut-off and Hines drive.

The new bridges will replace two badly worn bridges and will be widened to provide for the eventual widening and resurfacing of Northville road. The two new bridges will be expanded from 24 to 48 feet.

Two more bridges are slated for construction next year, one north of Five Mile and one north of Six Mile. A final bridge at Phoenix Dam will be constructed in 1965 with road widening and improvement to follow at a later date not yet determined.

Area University Women Start Membership Drive

A drive for new members is being conducted by the Plymouth-Northville branch of the American Association of University Women, announces Mrs. Richard Fritz of Plymouth, branch president.

Any woman who holds an approved degree from one of the 460 American colleges and universities which have met the AAUW standards is eligible for membership.

An approved degree is one which contains a significant program in "liberal arts": literature, languages, history, and science. To meet AAUW standards a college must have: a high academic rating, a basic liberal arts program, make adequate provision for women students, give recognition to its women faculty members, and maintain freedom in teaching and administration.

A member of AAUW has stimulating contacts in cultural, community, and educational fields, as well as the opportunity to serve her community and fellow women throughout the world through the Association's many activities, Mrs. Fritz points out.

The four broad areas of activity are: Community Problems, with Mrs. W. K. Lewis of Plymouth as representative; cultural interests, under Mrs. Wendell Smith of Plymouth; education, with Mrs. A. A. Gulick, Plymouth; and world problems, with representative Mrs. Laverne Jones of Plymouth.

Study groups within these areas will be studying "The American Family in a Changing World" with chairman Mrs. Howard Raafaub of Plymouth; "Bridging the Gap Between Science and Layman", Mrs. Howard Bloom of Plymouth, chairman; "Expectations for Education", under chairman Mrs. Walter Hoegy of Livonia; and "Occident and Orient" with Mrs. F. H. Armstrong of Plymouth as chairman. New members will join those groups which interest them.

The branch is active also on the community level: a used-book sale is held each spring, a children's play is presented in March, and the Listening Post lecture series is given through the winter. The branch also supports the National AAUW Fellowship program, helping many deserving women in graduate studies.

The legislative committee studies impending legislation and supports that which promotes the ideals and aims of the association.

Eligible women are invited to the first meeting of the season on September 15 at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the Plymouth Junior high school, East. A coffee social hour will precede a program which will present the many facets of AAUW.

Meetings are held the third Thursday of each month through May, the next one being on October 17. For additional information or rides, call Mrs. Robert Messerly at GL 3-3605, Mrs. William Riley at GA 7-8560, or Mrs. David VanHine at FI 9-3015.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hinchman, 522 Baseline road, Northville announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Lee to Mr. Donald Thomas Busch.

Mr. Busch is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Busch, 280 S. Center street, Northville.

They are both graduates of Northville high school. Mr. Busch attends Michigan State University and Miss Hinchman works at the Northville Record, Inc.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Coach Sees More Depth

Battles Rage for Berths On Starting Eleven Squad

If the Northville Mustangs' regular season contests are as heated as the battles now raging for starting berths on this year's squad, the 1963 football season in these parts should be a slambang affair.

At this stage — the second week of practice — even last year's letter winners must hustle to remain in contention.

Where some boys have lived up to expectations and some have surprised, others must show their metal within the next eight days to stay ahead in the game.

At the end of that time, the Plymouth gridders will invade the local athletic field to prove they're nothing but Rocks.

In fact, the coaching staff is doing double duty just moving name tags on the giant four-team board in the coaches' room trying to find a winning combination.

According to Coach Ron Horwath, one thing's for sure — this year's version of the Mustangs is potentially deeper at every spot.

Even though eight boys have been sent down to the JV's to gain experience, there's still approximately 50 some hopefuls on the varsity.

And there's no major injuries to date.

There was one loss, however, in the person of Bruce Dingwall, the only veteran center. He dropped football to work.

Fighting for the position left wide open by Dingwall are Jerry Burns and Dave Kerr.

A heavyweight wrestler in the winter, Burns has the size (210 pounds) and the potential, noted Horwath. He lacks experience.

Kerr, a transfer student from Royal Oak, merely has had taken experience, but definitely has the size. He comes with a good report from the staff at Royal Oak.

Brightest spot of all is at guard, where two starters from last year are showing signs of returning to their old forms. To the left of center is 160-pound Dave Jerome. Playing on the strong side of the line is Dave Mahoney, weighing 170.

Although small, both have

Jayvees To Begin Practice

With the opening of schools this week, Northville junior varsity and junior high school gridders will soon begin practice sessions.

Coach Brian Dunn, who "expects a pretty good JV turnout," predicts that approximately 40 will answer the first call to practice.

Although a definite date for the first workout has not been set, prospective gridders will be notified through school channels.

Lost from a JV team that posted a 4-2-1 record last year, are the likes of Bob Fisher, Ron Hall, Mike Turnbull, Greg Penn, Artie Forth, John Callaghan, Ted Jacques, Kent Hunter and Tom Baughman. The nucleus of last year's eleven, they are contesting for berths on the varsity this year.

Assisting Dunn will be a newcomer to the coaching ranks, Dick Gray. He is a sixth grade teacher at the Main street school and a former graduate of Northville high school.

Junior high hopefuls are urged to get their physicals before tomorrow, Friday, noted Coach Bob Prom.

Prom and Ralph Redmond anticipate a turnout of 60 some boys. The seventh and eighth graders will begin practice within the next two weeks. Schedules will be announced in the school.

the speed and aggressiveness to hold their own against bigger men.

"The tackle spots are wide open," Horwath said, as he looked over a list of five men vying for a regular job.

Tim Krug, a 170 pound, regular, is running into tough competition from Ernie Lamb, Jim Tuck, John Pemberton and Dave Brueck.

Perhaps the most improved lineman is Brueck, whom Horwath describes as quick and seems to want to hit. Weighing 160, he was on the junior varsity eleven in '62.

Tuck, the heaviest tackle at 195, was moved from Center to tackle to beef up that position. Pemberton, another veteran performer with weight needed at tackle (190 pounds), and Lamb at 180 give Northville welcome depth.

Out on the wings are two stalwarts.

Giving the Mustangs height (6'2") and size at one end is Jerry Imsland, a sophomore. "He's a good short receiver with average speed," said Horwath. "We expect a lot from him."

Letterman John Jameson, although not especially tall (5'11"), Horwath said, has good hands, fair speed and heady moves.

In the backfield where the gaps loomed large because of graduation, a bevy of anxious ball carriers are rushing to fill the holes.

The only returning veteran is Fullback Ron Rice, who has been "looking great good," according to Horwath. Pushing Rice, however, is Mike Hall. A senior like Rice, Hall will be the second fullback.

The race for left half has Coach Horwath smiling.

Dave Cummings, a regular last year, is the reason. "He's one of the fastest guys on the team," said Horwath, "and he provides us with the blocking and running we need in the backfield."

Just a freshman, Doug Swiss is "catching on." "He's got a lot to learn, however," the Mustang helmetsman noted. Coming up fast is Junior Bob Steeper, a 140 pounder. His forte is a "combination quickness and aggressiveness."

Competing for the right halfback spot are 5'11", 175, Jerry French and "Red" Wilson, "a tough kid, who never played organized football before." Either one will be expected to snare plenty of passes and pitch-outs this season.

There's three answers to "who will be calling the signals?" As Horwath sized it up, John Mach is the best runner; Gary Stobbe looked real good, especially as a passer; and Tom Baughman, up from the reserves, is the steadiest performer.

Pocket Billiard Champ To Exhibit Skill Here

Willie Mosconi, world's pocket billiard champion will give an exhibition of his cue skill Thursday, September 19 at the Northville Cue Ball, 120 West Main, at 2 and 7 p.m.

The popular star of the pocket billiard game will devote his show to a demonstration of billiard fundamentals, designed to show the beginner how to approach the game. He will also open his well-filled bag of trick shots, and regale his audience with his feats of pocketing rolling balls.

Mosconi without question is one of the all-time greats of pocket billiard history. In 1941, 1942, 1943-1945, 1946-1948, 1950-1953 and 1955, he held the world's title in competition with some of the finest players ever to step to the table. He retired from tournament play in 1958.

Willie, one of the handsomest competitors in sport, holds many records, of which perhaps the most spectacular is his feat of scoring a high run of 526 to establish a new world's exhibition record. He set this mark by beating his own record of 365.

A fast, brilliant player, Mosconi is certain to please his audience, both with his play and his rapid-fire comments as he goes about his work. His "machine-gun shot" is a favorite with many spectators. In this trick, Willie employs a force-fellow with side "English" which caroms the cue ball off each of fifteen balls before counting on a corner pocket shot.

ARBORCREST LOT HOLDERS COMMITTEE

New Hours Scheduled

Library patrons were reminded this week that beginning this weekend the Northville public library will be opened on Saturdays, closed on Fridays.

The change is made as a result of the opening of school.

Library hours will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays. Other library times, except Fridays, will remain the same. These are from noon to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

COMPLETE EXPANSION — Casterline Funeral Home, 122 West Dunlap, recently completed a remodeling program that has doubled usable space. A new addition (at left) includes a chapel large enough to seat 200 persons. A new entrance room and private family room adjoin the chapel. In the rear a casket display room provides space for showing 21 caskets. New furnace and storage room plus air conditioning throughout are also new additions. The new chapel may be divided into two rooms for smaller funerals. A fireplace is centered in the rear wall of Tennessee ledge rock. Special lighting effects may be obtained through color lighting controls. Improvements in the Northville funeral home have been under the direction of Fred A. Casterline, who recently purchased the business from the estate of his father, the late Ray J. Casterline. The elder Casterline began his career in Northville in 1919. Fred joined his father in 1937 and became a licensed director in 1941.

In Years Gone By

Do You Remember When?

ONE YEAR AGO
 September 6, 1962

Two petitions were submitted to the Northville city council Tuesday evening. One called for the elimination of heavy truck traffic from Center street; the other requested the city to install curbs and gutters and pave Pennell and Butler streets between Pennell and Griswold under the city's 25 per cent assessment plan.

Jan Svensson, will be Northville's exchange student this year. He will spend the year with the Muri Lamb family, 205 Westview drive.

Buyers for $12,000 worth of revenue bonds to help install new lights and seats at the Northville high school athletic field were being sought this week as the school board announced a decision to "go ahead" with completion of the new facility.

The Northville Rotary club announced this week plans for its second World Travel series. The travelogues will be shown and narrated at the high school on Tuesday evenings.

The Northville varsity football squad was sliced to 23 by cuts, dropouts and injuries.

Negotiations between the village of Novi and Willowbrook subdivision Developer Paul LeBost for acquiring LeBost's Willowbrook Water company reached an impasse, according to Attorney Howard Bond. Negotiations will have to be on other terms than the $150,000 asked for the water system.

The Novi township board is scheduled to meet with an architect next Monday night to discuss plans for the proposed addition to the community building.

FIVE YEARS AGO
 September 4, 1958

Warren Products, Incorporated, served notice this week that it will appeal the circuit court decision for annexation of the company and 220 acres of surrounding property to Northville. The appeal will be made to the state supreme court.

The Northville city council adopted a "get tough" policy with regard to the city dump, located in the Beal-town area. Odors have been causing unrest among Beal-town residents.

Foreman Orchard's entries in the Michigan State fair this year have netted $860 for its owners, the Ralph Foremans of Seven Mile road.

Starting this Saturday, a record hop and canteen will be held each Saturday afternoon from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Veteran's Memorial home in Northville.

A private convalescent home is scheduled to be constructed on a five-acre site on Haggerty just north of Five Mile road later this year. It will be operated by three Detroit women.

To alleviate a financial squeeze, Novi's school district voters will be faced with a proposal to increase the district's operating millage by two and one-half mills per year for the tax years 1958-1962. The election will be held September 22. It is intended to raise $25,000.

Another public hearing at which Novi's proposed village charter will be explained has been scheduled for next Thursday. All 10 candidates for the council will introduce themselves to the audience.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
 September 10, 1948

Northville high school and grade school once again opened their doors for the fall semester this morning.

G. E. Miller Sales and Service on Hutton street is planning a gala opening tomorrow, Saturday. Dealers of Dodge and Plymouth autos and trucks will be partners, George E. Miller and Robert McElgunn.

Next Thursday Northville will observe National Guard day as proclaimed by the President.

Northville village citizens will parade to the polls September 14 to cast their ballots for state officials in the fall primary.

About 300 persons from the surrounding communities attended a political rally Wednesday night at the local American Legion hall in honor of Milton F. Cooney, who is running for congress on the Republican ticket.

Elmer DeKay is the newly appointed chairman of the Northville village zoning board of appeals.

The Northville chapter of the Blue Star Mothers, under the direction of Mrs. Don Miller, president, will hold their annual Tag Day in the village Saturday.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
 September 9, 1938

Superintendent of Northville schools Russell Amerman Wednesday morning specifically pointed out that "we've been an accredited school since 1900 and nothing could be further from the truth than that we are now discredited." Rumors had been circulating that the schools were not accredited.

Sixteen automobile speeders were given tickets and paid heavy fines, totaling $138 during the month of August, Chief of Police Loy M. German reported.

For the third time the millage increase issue for the Salem Union school district failed to pass at a special election held Tuesday. Increase asked for amounted to 1.9 mills.

Pre-school enrollment figures released Wednesday morning by high school Principal G. V. Harrison indicate that the freshman class, 97 members strong, will be the largest in the school this year.

FUTURE COLLEGE — Next fall at this time Schoolcraft college will be enrolling its first students. But right now the 139-acre site at Seven Mile and Haggerty roads is just beginning to take form. Work is progressing on schedule on the administration, classroom and maintenance buildings. Contracts will be awarded September 18 for construction of the newly-designed library. The community college will serve the school districts of Northville, Plymouth, Livonia, Garden City and Clarenceville. It is supported by a one mill levy against the college district's total equalized valuation of $562,780,712.

It's School Time Again!

 DRIVE CAREFULLY

It is unpleasant to take injured children to the hospital
 in our ambulances.

Five Points Of Driver Responsibility —

1 DRIVE SLOWLY

Be doubly sure that you are in control of your car, able to stop on a split-second notice, if a child should dart in front of you.

2 STOP FOR SCHOOL BUSES

State law requires a complete stop ten feet in either direction from a school bus stopped to serve passengers until school bus resumes motion or bus driver signals you to proceed.

3 NOTE THE TIME

Remember children are always dashing about. Watch out for those peak traffic periods, mornings, noons and afternoons.

4 OBSERVE SIGNS

Heed signs that warn you where school traffic is to be found. Obey the temporary school zone crossing signs.

5 CHECK YOUR CAR

Take a little time to be sure your car is functioning properly. The responsibility for the life of the little folks is yours.

Please Remember: Children are Unpredictable

Evangelist To Speak

Rev. Jerre Brubaker
Evangelist Jerre Brubaker will conduct one week of evangelistic meetings at the Salem Federated church, September 8-15. The meetings on Sunday will be at 10:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.; the meetings Monday thru Friday will be at 7:30 p.m.
The Rev. Mr. Brubaker is a graduate of the Lancaster School of the Bible in Pennsylvania, and has been in evangelistic work for nine years. At the age of 18 he entered and won the first International teen-age preaching contest for the United States, sponsored by Youth for Christ, International, and held at Winona Lake, Indiana. He preached the winning message to a capacity crowd of 8000 people at the famed "Billy Sunday Tabernacle."
In addition to evangelistic crusades, Evangelist Brubaker speaks at scores of individual meetings such as youth rallies, church services, high school assemblies, banquets, and radio broadcasts. He was the youngest man to ever speak before the Armed Forces personnel in the United States Pentagon.
The Salem Federated church is located at 9481 W. Six Mile road, three and one-half miles east of Pontiac Trail, in the center of the village of Salem. The public is invited to attend any of these meetings.

Local Church Speaks Out On Race Relations Here

The congregation of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Epiphany, Northville township, recently went on record in reaffirming the expression of the Executive Council of the Lutheran Church in America on the subject of segregation and discrimination.
In a regularly called meeting on Sunday, August 25, the congregation adopted a resolution that:
—Affirms the statements of the Executive Council of the Lutheran Church in America regarding race relations;
—Declares its conviction that any segregation or discrimination on the basis of race in church's congregation or any congregation is in violation of God's Will;
—Commits itself to work for the eradication of such segregation and discrimination wherever they may exist;
—Calls on the Church Council, the Church School, the auxiliaries and committees of the congregation to develop within their assigned areas of responsibility programs of self-examination and action leading to justice in race relations;
—Urges individual members of the congregation to initiate and support attitudes of reconciliation between the races.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Robert K. Spradling, Pastor
First Baptist Church of Northville

Jesus Christ believed in the verbal inspiration of the Old Testament. His entire ministry and use of the Scriptures proved this point. Again and again, He used the term "it is written" as His final authority. For example, in Matthew 22:29 regarding the well-known controversy with the Sadducees over the doctrine of the resurrection, Jesus said to them, "Ye do err, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God." In other words, our Lord is saying that men go astray doctrinally, morally and spiritually because they do not know and adhere to what is written in the Book of God which we call the Bible.
Jesus Christ always assumed that the great miracles of the Old Testament actually took place. In Matthew 19:3-6 He referred to the Creation story, as being absolutely true, not merely folklore or tradition. In Luke 17:26-27 He referred to the Genesis flood as an historical fact dwelling upon the minute details of that great event. Matthew 12:40-41 gives evidence of His belief in the Old Testament experiences of Jonah. Needless to say, this is one of the most ridiculed portions of the Old Testament and yet Jesus affirmed that it was absolutely authentic. Either the great miracles of the Old Testament were true or Jesus Christ was poorly informed and led many people astray, for He referred to them as events in the stream of human history. This writer finds it impossible, even ridiculous, to believe that Christ was misinformed regarding these great historical facts.
The Saviour further proved belief in the inspiration of the Old Testament by showing personal faith in them during the great crises of His life. His attitude was not mere lip service to the Scriptures, but one who rested upon His beliefs. In His conflict with Satan as recorded in Matthew 4:1-10 when Satan sought to defeat Christ in an hour of physical weakness, Jesus rested upon the one thing that every believer has at his disposal — the Word of God! Christ did not try to out argue or impress Satan with His intellectual ability. He simply referred to the Scriptures saying, "it is written." Even Satan had sense enough to know that that was the end of the matter, the final authority!

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Whatever happened to the Foundry Flask expansion?

Just ask members of the Northville Economic Development Corporation and they'll tell you that projects of this kind take time.

But it's full speed ahead again. Plans call for the $185,000 addition to the Cady street plant to begin this fall.

You'll remember that the Foundry Flask and Equipment company expansion was announced nearly six months ago as the first project of the local, non-profit development corporation.

Working through the federal Small Business Administration, the development group obtained approval for a loan of $185,000. Foundry Flask plans to construct a 120 by 150-foot building to accommodate its expanding business.

New equipment purchases made it impossible for the manufacturing firm to finance its own building. This is often true of small, but growing businesses. That's where SBA and the local development groups come into the picture. For its part the development group must raise $27,500.

Several months ago the members of the development group started selling 15-year, six percent debentures in denominations of $50. They sold some $18,000 worth.

The campaign 'bogged down when final details were being negotiated. Now it's all GO and the sale of the remaining $10,000 worth of debentures is underway.

Nelson C. Schrader is in charge of the debenture sale. Others who can take care of investors include A. R. Clarke, Philip Ogilvie, Bruce Potthoff and C. A. Smith.

It's the aim of the development group to obtain as many investors as possible — rather than a few large investments.

The project, when completed means more tax dollars, more employment for the community. It also means a fair return for your investment dollar.

There are indications that the Northville Economic Development Corporation will have more projects in the near future — new industries for the limited sites available.

But this is the first. It's important that it has community support and understanding.

So, if you're looking for an investment, look no further than Northville.

Tax Tussle

The special legislative session this fall bears close watching.

Michigan empowers its Governor to call a special "emergency" session of the Legislature at his discretion to consider matters of importance.

Gov. George Romney's first session is designed to deal with an emergency which has plagued Michigan for several years: fiscal or tax reform.

The special session also will be called to enact laws needed to take effect when the new Constitution takes effect January 1.

Romney hopes to get quick action on fiscal reform by dividing the special session into two parts. The first presumably would deal with the fiscal problems; the second with the Constitution enabling legislation.

With this two-part session, the Governor expects legislators will be more likely to work productively on the tax matters with the realization that the second part of the session is an absolute necessity.

In the history of special sessions there have been very short ones and some considerably long emergency meetings. The coming get-together has all the earmarks of an extended session.

Best guesses indicate the Governor will have considerable problems getting action on fiscal reform because of the recent disclosure of final 1962-63 fiscal year revenues.

A $82.6 million surplus, larger than even the optimists predicted, cuts well into the state's debt which was built up over the four previous years.

Fiscal experts, both inside and out of the Legislature, agree on one thing:

Even if the revenue income remained at the high level sufficient to meet the mounting last year, it would not be sufficient to meet the mounting costs of state government for long.

The point which will extend the special session comes from the varying viewpoints of legislators on how income should be raised under new plans. Some firmly feel that the addition of more "nuisance taxes," used twice to help freeze or lower the debt level, should be sufficient to accomplish a balance.

A growing number, led by the Governor, are of the belief that a general overhaul of Michigan's tax structure is necessary to provide a continuing balance.

Taking into account the possible reluctance of some legislators to overhaul the tax structure, Republican leaders predict a long session.

One group has hopes of ending the meetings by early November. Others say the opening of the deer season, November 15, is the earliest prospect.

Very few sessions, even regular ones, end as early as optimistic predictions. In this case, there are just a few legislators willing to forecast what is most likely that the session will run well into the final month of 1963, and probably very close to Christmas.

Michigan employers have a big stake in a series of conferences being held by the Employers' Unemployment Compensation Bureau.

Colin L. Smith, executive director of the Bureau, is conducting a series of briefings on the new unemployment compensation law enacted by the 1963 Legislature.

The new act made considerable changes in financing provisions and qualification requirements. Fund: Smith plans to inform employers of the financing provisions, with an eye to cutting business costs; and new means of processing claims, as well as protesting questionable claims.

Smith's clinics for businessmen should hit most employers. Sessions have been set in Ellsworth, Port Huron, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Muskegon, Bay City, Pontiac, Saginaw, Kalamazoo, Flint, Alpena, Detroit, Cadillac, Oak Park, Battle Creek and Ann Arbor.

Have you ever seen red while driving on Michigan's highways?

If you do while motoring anywhere besides St. Clair County it would be advisable to stop to let your temper cool. In St. Clair County, however, it might not be anything to worry about.

The State Highway Department recently started an experiment in the Thumb area county to test the use of color paint on road bridges. A rose-cinnamon and a maroon were among six colors used in the test conducted on a new seven-mile stretch of Interstate 94.

Engineers believe the pastel paints may be more durable; thus reducing maintenance costs. In addition, extensive use of colors on bridges could break the monotony of the previously all-silver structures.

Department officials say extended use of the different colors, foliage green, ivory, beige and light green in addition to the two red shades, will depend largely on public reaction. "If favorable, then we'll eventually paint all of our bridges with a variety of colors," said Commissioner John C. Mackie.

Editor Wilts under Kilts In College Operetta

EDITOR'S NOTE: With this article, Managing Editor Jack Hoffman begins a weekly column that will concern a wide variety of subjects — all of which are intended to tickle a few funny bones or generally entertain our readers. Readers with interesting stories, experiences or opinions are asked to contact Hoffman so that he can write about them in this column.

"Did ya read about the choir director who lost his pants?" one of my friends asked, followed by a round of guffaws by other members of the coffee clatch.

Whereupon a discussion of embarrassing moments ensued, with each participant claiming special honors for his experience. A silly discussion to be sure, but the kind that men are wont to engage in on a warm afternoon.

None of the stories could match my contribution nor my understanding sympathy for the director who clutched wildly at his pants while waving his free symphonic hand.

That director, though I probably never will forget his experience. Even if he makes a stab at it, the angelic faces of his choir members shall always remind him of the grins that crawled uncontrollably across their faces one Sunday morning.

Years will pass but the story shall never escape him.

I speak from experience. For back on the now new campus of Flint Junior College a somewhat similar story undoubtedly still lingers; veteran professors still recall it, and students who have since left the campus for other fields of endeavor snicker in their recollections. My wife is a member of that latter contingent.

And, frankly, the star of that tragedy can himself, after years of mellowing time, join in the laughter.

As a member of the college chorus, I — along with three other male participants — was given a special role in an operatic production. Dressed in kilts, the four of us were cast as portraits of Scottish ancestors, who during the course of the show come to life and step from the picture frames to sing and dance.

We were more than a month in rehearsals before the operetta was ready for a trial run at a nearby high school. It proved to be a big success and the four portraits along with the rest of the cast were justifiably proud of themselves and eager for the big show.

So it was with no little egotistical motive that I invited a special female friend (not my wife) to view my performance at the feature show. The auditorium, filled to capacity, included among others my wife-to-be, my special female friend, companions of the basketball team, cohorts of the college newspaper, and — encamped in the front row of seats — the college president, professors and their wives.

Readying ourselves backstage, I discovered belatedly that the safety pin that kept my kilts in place was missing. Everyone searched frantically, but no safety pin could be found. At the last minute, the director hastily improvised with three or four pieces of string.

The curtain went up and the show rapidly progressed to the grand entrance of the four portrait characters. We stepped from our frames and walked to the footlights to sing and dance our number. Midway through the number, the backstage prompters began tossing out what sounded like whispered directions. Since none of us had forgotten our lines, I ignored them until I detected an unusual amount of laughter from the audience. Ours was a comedy number but never had it been so received.

Suddenly, an ugly breeze of air touched a bare kneecap. Still singing, I quickly surveyed the situation and found that the lower strands of string were missing from my plaided skirt and, to my horror, the top strand was rapidly making an exit. At the precise moment that the last string gave up I grasped the skirt and narrowly preserved by modesty and the color of my shorts beneath.

Thus, the number continued uninterrupted to the final line — three Scots with unusually wide grins and the fourth, his hand clasped to his side, perspiring profusely.

At the conclusion of the number, the four portraits were to toss their arms into the air and bow to the audience. Tossing one hand into the air would not have hurt my performance one iota, but unfortunately, long hours of practice had conditioned me to perform out of habit. And in the spontaneity of the moment, I joined the others in lifting hands skyward.

To this day in recalling that grandiose bow, my head banged sideways by a hurriedly drawn curtain. I can see a college president slapping his knees, tears streaming down his face. And beside him, a generous wife kept her eyes on the auditorium floor as she choked back a high-pitched roar that did not escape until I had disappeared.

Babson Park, Mass., September 5. — My advice to young men and women entering college this fall is not necessarily to major in whatever seems good right now. They should consider, instead, what is likely to look good several years from now — after they get out of school.

The difference between the college graduate who just holds down a job and the one who gets promoted on a job is that the successful climber knows enough to look ahead. For example, the young man or woman who is a careful career planner wants to know first where the road he hopes to take is heading. Better this than to accept what looks like a good job now and be regretful later on. My father told me long ago, and I have told my grandchildren the same thing: The first step in planning a career is to appraise your own interests, values, goals, personality, and abilities. You've got to like the job you're doing, too.

It is a sad and much too common sight to see a fellow butt his head against a wall trying to compete in a position for which he lacks both the proper personality and the basic aptitude. If you want to be a success, develop your assets and do work for which you are fitted and which makes you happy. These steps I feel are essential, but they do not go far enough.

All job hunters should investigate, in their search, the probable future expansion and growth of the industries being considered.

Our population right now is close to 190,000,000, and further definite gains lie ahead. More than 70,000,000 are gainfully employed. Our gross national product has climbed to $580 billion, and still further advances are in store over the years ahead. With a shorter working week and more efficient production, our people should receive in wages, interest, and other income about $550 billion by the time this year's college entrants graduate in 1967.

Spensible income should grow greater in the coming period, and there should certainly be a continued expansion in consumer spending as a result. This will open ever broader opportunities for those going into advertising and the selling of new products. My forecast assumes, of course, that the international situation will not grow worse and that there will be a generally favorable economic climate so that business can operate without serious disruption.

Labor costs — both industrial and agricultural — should continue to rise, so give close attention to industries that make labor-saving devices such as materials-handling equipment, conveyors, farm machinery, construction machinery, office machines, and automated processors. Remember, too, that the need for more new roads, hospitals, and schools is bound to boom construction as the population increases. Still further development of new materials will ensure gains in light metals and high-speed alloys.

Look also to the chemical industry, which could surpass most other lines as a result of unending research in farm chemicals, drugs, petrochemicals, plastics, and synthetic fibers.

I see no end to the uses of electricity, and output rapidly will move ahead. Both domestic and foreign markets will expand for electrical appliances such as clothes dryers, electric blankets, heaters, dishwashers, television sets, and air conditioners. The market for electronics applications is also very far from saturated. Engineers will be turning out a never-ending array of new products, new materials, and still-undreamed-of gadgets.

Young men and women should note that there will be excellent job chances for those interested in surveying, re-searching, analyzing, and motivating human wants. College freshmen should now look toward 1967. They should recognize the fact that there will be a still insatiable demand for doctors, nurses, school teachers, and preachers.
