

New Landfill Bid Goes to Township

A request that has been before the Northville township board of appeals on two previous occasions may soon come up for public airing again.

The board has received a request from the S. G. Hayes Land Development company to deposit rubbish in three specific areas in the 325-acre Manning and Locklin gravel pit land between Seven and Eight Mile roads. Hayes now owns the acreage.

The request asked permission to conduct a landfill operation so that the area could be developed into homesites. It stipulated that the three parcels to be filled would be used as parks, not building sites. They were described as "swampy" areas.

A similar request by Hayes was withdrawn in January, 1962, and denied by the appeals' board three months later because of public protests. Tuesday night Planning Chairman Gunnar Stromberg called a meeting of the appeals' board, which he also heads, and the supervisor, engineer and legal counsel.

The group studied a 16-page document setting forth regulations for governing landfills compiled by Mosher Associates, township engineers. It was decided that before another public hearing is called on the new Hayes' request the proposed regulations will be studied from legal and engineering aspects. They will also be made known to Hayes. Engineer William Mosher termed the regulations designed to control the operation of any landfill proposal in the township "very rigid". Legally, the board was told that some doubt exists as to whether or not it has the power to permit or deny a landfill operation. It is not specified under township zoning, therefore it is presumed that permission would necessarily come from the board of appeals as a "variance."

Township officials have shown indications that Hayes' plan might win approval if regulations can be invoked that provide adequate safeguards. Hayes has implied that he intends to pursue his request to a final decision — in the courts if necessary.

Members of the board of appeals with Stromberg are Alex Lawrence and John Miller. It is unlikely that a public hearing will be called before mid-October.

the city of Northville got a "break" worth nearly $15,000. More accurately, the money is the result of "breakage" at Northville Downs.

Based on a total mutual handle of $10,767,010 for the past 45-night harness season of the Downs, it was computed that the city of Northville would receive $107,670 in state tax rebates.

This was considered good news by city officials, who had anticipated $100,000 in the 1963-64 budget. It also represented an all-time high, topping last year's take by $10,000.

But the final check arrived from the state last week. It brought the total to $122,426.73

ed. "We'll try to spread them thin to open up their defenses. Then we may be able to throw," he added.

This means that the burden will fall on Quarterback Gary Stobbe, who will see action for the first time tomorrow.

Northville's only experienced signal caller, letterman John

Mach, won't suit up for the game and he may be out for the season. He injured a leg in scrimmage last week.

Mach figured prominently in Horwath's plans. "He's a good defensive back — the only one with experience — and I was counting on him to kick-off and for extra points," Horwath said.

Taking over the place-kicking chores will be untied Tackle Larry Angove.

Even though Northville has 10 veterans — minus the injured Mach — seven members of the starting offensive squad will receive their varsity baptism Friday night. Included are Ends Jerry Insland and Gary Hahn (a transfer student from Boston), Guard Greg Penn, Tackle Robert Tuck, Center Dave Kerr (a transfer student from Royal Oak), Stobbe and Wingback Bill Wilson.

Bolstering this team of "green hands" will be lettermen Tackle Tim Krug, Guard Dave Jerome, Tailback Dave Cummings and Fullback Ron Rice.

Only one veteran, End John Jameson, will assume a familiar defensive role.

Black Cats and Sidewalk Specials

Northville Merchants to Sell-abrate

Friday the 13th should be a lucky day for shoppers in Northville.

And on Saturday the 14th the bargains will be even better, more plentiful and much easier to find. They'll be outside on the sidewalks.

The two-day "sell-abration" is designed to help the merchant clean his shelves of many leftovers while giving the customer honest - to - goodness bargains in good merchandise.

Because Friday the 13th is by superstition a "bad luck" day, the merchants decided to do a turnabout. They're promoting "Black Cat" specials for that day.

Saturday will be the sidewalk sale, an event held annually with great success by local retailers.

Twenty-seven different businesses will have sidewalk stands providing everything from food to furniture.

As added attractions there will be a stage-coach and surrey rides, bread at five cents per loaf (there's only 500 loaves, so hurry), and free gingerale.

Some of the bargains that will entice the shopper with an eye for good buys include:

Men's socks for 10c; slippers at 39c; boy's slacks for $2; a grab bag that may contain a diamond ring or watch for $1; a beautiful, new sofa at less than half the regular price; just in time for winter — a furnace filter at 47c; and if you feel like shouting about these bargains, you can buy a yell-a-phone for only 50c.

There are hundreds of other values, of course. You can read about them in advertisements throughout this edition and you can see them first-hand Friday and Saturday in Northville. The week end promotion is being sponsored by the Northville Retail Merchants Association. Committee members handling the event are LeRoy Stone, Charles Lapham, Earl Wineman and John Hobart.

The committee has also made arrangements for sunny skies on Saturday.

Northville Eyes Revenge Over Arch Rivals Friday

Football fireworks will light up the sky tomorrow (Friday) on the high school field when the Northville gridders open the 1963 season against arch rival, Plymouth.

The game is scheduled to get underway at 8 p.m., following a half-hour band performance.

Seeking to improve on last year's 5-3-1 season record, the Mustangs will play their first opening game on the high school field. The field was completed last year near mid-season.

Although the Mustangs won't be putting a 13-game winning streak on the line as they did last year, spirits are high.

Perhaps the local boys can recall last year's 20-6 defeat. Tied six-all at half time, Plymouth capitalized on two Northville fumbles to win.

As last year, it'll be Northville's aerial attack against Plymouth's running game, predicts Mustang Mentor Ron Horwath.

"They're bigger and more experienced and at least as fast as we are," Horwath noted. "We'll try to spread them thin to open up their defenses. Then we may be able to throw," he added.

Portable Rooms Eyed by Board

Growing concern over increasingly crowded elementary classrooms prompted the Northville board of education to take three steps toward correcting the condition Monday night:

1. Granted immediate authority to hire another first grade teacher for the Main street elementary school;

2. Agreed that the board of education offices "must" be moved from the Main street school to provide another classroom before next year;

3. Proposed consideration of portable schoolrooms for possible use next year and until another elementary school can be constructed.

Current enrollment statistics as presented by Dr. K. M. MacLeod, assistant superintendent, alarmed board members. School administrators were particularly concerned with first grade class sizes and Superintendent Russell Amerman asked for board permission to seek another teacher. He noted that increased state aid due to larger than anticipated enrollment would provide additional funds for the teacher.

Dr. MacLeod's enrollment report revealed that there are 38 more elementary students than projected. There are nine more than the projection in the junior high school, but 15 fewer in the high school for a net gain of 32. Total enrollment is 2,261 — 1097 elementary, 297 junior high and 867 high school.

Superintendent Amerman noted that he had "hoped we could delay another bond issue two years," but admitted that it now appears that the grade school program must be accelerated.

Amerman told the board that Belleville is currently using six portable schoolrooms, a comparatively new innovation. He reported that the units had been very satisfactory in Belleville and stated that he planned to visit the school district soon. The units may be purchased or leased ($3,000 per year), Amerman noted.

Main School Principal Harry Smith noted that six more elementary rooms would be needed next year. "A problem exists in kindergarten through third grade now, but there's no place to put additional teachers," Smith stated. He said he would find room for a new first grade class, however.

One sixth grade class is currently being held in the junior high school. Board President William Crump agreed that portable classrooms might be considered for next year. "If we need five or six classrooms, we'd have to lease. We have no time to build," he concluded.

All board members agreed that new space must be found for the board of education offices. The area will be converted into a classroom. While several possible locations were considered, it was agreed that the school board will write city and township officials to determine the possibility of leasing the present library when the new city hall-library building is completed.

The teacher-pupil ratio as revealed by Dr. MacLeod's report showed that elementary grades have classrooms averaging 27.4 pupils; junior high, 24.7 and high school, 22.8. Kindergarten is highest with 31, while first and second grades both have 29.

In other business Monday night the board:

—voted to discontinue the adult education program because of lack of interest and in support of the full program offered in Plymouth;

—approved use of the high school football field for a band festival sponsored by the Jaycees and planned for late September; a $100 fee was charged and bands must stay off the turf if the field is wet;

—accepted $33 from the "Amerman Heights Civic Association" towards construction of a press box at the high school athletic field;

—President Crump called for a "special closed meeting" to discuss problems with Athletic Director Al Jones next Monday evening; Jones indicated a desire to resign as athletic director last July; Monday night Superintendent Amerman called the problem a "communication breakdown";

—heard High School Principal Fred Stefanski report that 204 students in 10th and 11th grade English will attend a Shakespearean play at Stratford, Ontario in charter buses September 26;

—received a report from E. V. Ellison, director of administrative services, indicating that private buses will be hired to take youngsters to the first two "away" football games; a 50-cent charge will be made and buses will be under the direction of private owners, not school supervision Ellison noted;

—finally, a telephone was approved for use on the football field in case of emergency.

Officers Eye Busy Season For Local Women's Clubs

Another busy season is in the offing, as local area women's organizations prepare to launch their 1963-64 activities with new officers, project plans, luncheons and meetings.

Rapping the gavel for two local organizations again this year will be Mrs. George Kohls, president of both the Northville Woman's Club and the local branch of the National Farm and Garden association.

Some 175 active members will come to order when Mrs. Kohls officially opens the fall Women's Club activities with a luncheon at the Thunderbird Inn on Friday, October 4. The luncheon will get underway at 12:30 p.m.

Besides its 175 active members, the organization includes numerous life and associate members. The club meets on the first and third Friday of each month.

Working with Mrs. Kohls as officers in the Woman's Club are:

Mrs. O. F. Reng, vice-president; Mrs. William B. Crump, recording secretary; Mrs. P. N. Brown, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Carl Johnson, treasurer.

Plans are already underway for the Garden Club's major activity of this year — its Green's Market scheduled for December 7. Some 12 other groups will join with the local club in making this project "bigger and better" than ever, Mrs. Kohls said.

Other officers of the Garden Club, which meets on the second Monday of each month at the homes of members are:

Mrs. John Begle, first vice-president; Mrs. William Slatery, second vice-president; Mrs. C. W. Whitlesey, recording secretary; Mrs. Alfred Millington, treasurer; and Mrs. E. O. Whittington, corresponding secretary.

The TOPS club meets each Monday evening at 8 p.m. During the summer the group has been meeting in the home of Mrs. Baldwin. But beginning on Monday, September 9, TOPS began meeting at American school.

This year, according to club officials, special emphasis will be placed on good grooming, including hair styling, choosing appropriate clothing, etc.

Currently, there are 35 members in the local TOPS club.

The Kings Daughters, which deals principally with welfare matters, meets on the first Tuesday of every month at the home of a member.

Heading up the 100 member organization are: Mrs. Harold Bloom, leader; Mrs. Oscar Hammond, vice-leader; Mrs. Ruth Starkweather, recording secretary; Mrs. Merner Eilber, treasurer; and Mrs. William B. Walker, membership chairman.

A new meeting place is in store for members of the BPW (Business and Professional Women's organization) when they attend the first fall meeting on Monday, September 23. The meeting place this year will be at Hillside Inn, with the first session slated to get underway at 7 p.m.

A workshop session is planned for the first meeting, with discussion concerning the upcoming year's programs and activities.

The Business and Professional Women club meets on the fourth Monday of each month. Between 50 and 60 women are members of the organization.

Activities planned by the Newcomers Club are well along as the first meeting — a membership tea — draws near.

All the newcomers generally meet the second Monday of each month, although the membership tea will be held September 19.

The first big event planned by this group will be a fundraising card party slated for October. Together with this event will be a Christmas Toy Discount Sale.

Mrs. Livingston also is president of the State Button Collectors organization.

The next regular meeting of this group, which studies the history of buttons as well as collecting them, is scheduled for Saturday, September 21.

Providing facilities for the school system is the main function of the 35-member Mothers' Club, headed by Mrs. Essie Nirider, president.

Other officers of this club are Mrs. Fred Schwarze, vice-president; Mrs. Frank Pauli, secretary; and Mrs. R. W. Bgart, treasurer. Mrs. William C. Wiley is chairman of the finance committee, and Mrs. C. A. Hoffman is program chairman.

FIRST FAMILY ON WELCH STREET — That's the distinction that the James Schrot family can claim. Pictured here are Kevin (left), Mr. and Mrs. Schrot, Jaymie and little Carolyn.

Small town atmosphere and a rustic setting induced the James Schrot family to move to Northville from Oak Park just two short months ago. Even more to their liking was the home at 404 Welch street, the new street in the Village Green Subdivision. The move worked no hardship on Schrot, who is a journeyman electrician. As such, he contracts throughout the Detroit metropolitan area.

Salads Take Honors In This Mom's Kitchen

Anyone who's looking for Mrs. Norman Faustyn can usually find her in the kitchen of her Pickford court home.

There, Mrs. Faustyn delights in creating a new masterpiece for her four youngsters and husband.

Often, her culinary creations are salads for she and her family are "salad luncheon eaters."

Among the favorites of Mr. Faustyn, Lynn, Julie, Jane and Brian are sweet and sour cucumbers.

Here's the cuke recipe, plus two others: Maurice salad and molded ham salad.

SWEET AND SOUR CUCUMBERS

2 cucumbers
2 onions
½ cup white vinegar
½ cup sugar

Slice cucumbers paper thin, do the same with onions. Boil vinegar, making sure it's white, and sugar for one minute. Pour mixture over cucumbers and onions. Chill for several hours.

MAURICE SALAD

Combine lettuce, and cubed chicken, ham and Swiss cheese for salad.

To make 2 cups of dressing, combine the following:
1 cup Kraft mayonnaise
1 cup Kraft miracle whip
3 hard boiled egg yolks, sieved
1 Tbs. finely grated onion
3 Tbs. chopped parsley
½ cup sweet pickle.

MOLDED HAM SALAD

1 package lemon jello
1 cup salad dressing
1 cup cucumbers
1 cup celery
½ cup onion
½ cup green pepper
1 cup chopped ham

Dissolve jello in one cup boiling water, cool. Mix other ingredients together, add to jello as it begins to thicken. Best if set in a mold or low pan.

Auxiliary Seeks Volunteers

A concerted effort to enlist the services of 125 new volunteers by October is being made by the Auxiliary at Plymouth State Home & Training School. The first volunteer organization in the country to serve in a state institution for the mentally retarded, the Auxiliary is holding an informal coffee meeting Tuesday morning, September 17, in the auditorium of the Administration Building on Sheldon Road at Five Mile in Northville township. Beginning promptly at 9:30 a.m., the two-hour orientation will include a general introduction to the field of mental retardation; the State Home's philosophy, goals, and programs; the Auxiliary's variety of services and a tour of the facilities. Elaborating on the importance of doubling the present membership, William Boyd, Community Relations Director in charge of the volunteer program, stated, “a recently constructed resident building will soon increase the patient population by another 220 which will mean a total bed capacity exceeding 900. With the present ratio of staff to patients being 1:12, many of the children compete with each other for attention. Additional volunteers will alleviate this feeling of loneliness which inhibits their development. Like any other children, the retarded child responds and progresses more rapidly in an atmosphere of personal attention and affection.” Completely service oriented, the Aux. Lary, according to the Medical Superintendent, Robert I. Jaslow, “is regarded as part of the staff and provides many of the ‘luxury’ programs and services which would otherwise be impossible. The volunteers are one vital segment of the team which attempts to bring each child to his fullest possible development.” Any interested persons or groups in the metropolitan and suburban areas of Detroit are invited to attend. Contact the Community Relations Department (GL 3-1500) for further information.

COME TO MAMA — With arms cradled, this Northville back beckons the ball — to no avail. A split second later it slipped through his arms and was covered by the opposition. Fortunately, it was only a scrimmage. Tomorrow night, it'll be for keeps; Plymouth comes to town.

Distance Runners Hit Pavement

With their sights set on a marker and a stop watch some two miles away, the Northville high school runners have started their workouts at Cass Benton park in preparation for the coming cross country season.

Every week day after school, the local harrys trek down to Cass Benton park — "home" — where they whittle away time until they approach their goal, two miles over rough terrain in 10-40.

The Mustangs have their work cut out for them. Four of the top distance men, who paced Northville to a second-place finish in the Wayne-Oakland conference, were lost through graduation.

The only returning letterman is Chuck Annett. There are other veteran performers, however, in the persons of Dick Forster and John Spietz.

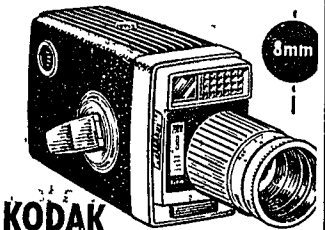

Newcomers to the sport this year are John Blackburn, Jack Fritz and Mike Horner.

On these six men, then, rests the hopes of Coach Chuck Yahne. According to Yahne, there's room for anyone with a yen to run, and he would be a welcome addition to the team.

Juday May Win Top MSU Berth

Michigan State's ever-present search for a top-notch football quarterback may be solved this fall by the presence on the Spartan varsity of Northville's Steve Juday.

The 5-11, 175-pound sophomore has impressed Coach Duffy Daugherty with his play selection, pin-point passing and fine running ability. While currently an understudy to letterman Dick Proebstle, Juday is certain to see a lot of action in the coming season and could move into the driver's seat if Proebstle falters along the way.

JV Grid Optimism Runs Short

Optimism is a quantity in short supply as far as the Northville junior varsity coaches are concerned.

Also in short supply is the number of linemen now practicing — just 15. Lining up to fill the backfield positions, however, are some 18 grid-ders.

This is the dilemma that faces Mentors Brian Dunn and Dick Gray as they send their charges through practice drills.

"An injury to one of the linemen could really hurt us," said Dunn. "There's just not enough replacements."

Perhaps the primary reason for the thinning of the JV ranks is the large number of players being retained on the varsity. In past years, Dunn explained, quite a few boys have been sent down to gain experience.

"We're young, small and inexperienced," noted Dunn, "but the boys seem to want to play."

Even though the ranks are quite thin, several candidates show promise, and most are freshmen.

Standout linemen thus far are Tackle Mike Utley, a 170 pounder; twins, John and Peter Gorczynski, both of whom weigh around 180 pounds; Neil Brasure, "a pretty good guard," and Mike Mahoney, another guard.

Tops among the ball totters are Jim Darnell, a big freshman fullback, and Doug Dingwall, a halfback with good speed.

Taking the snap from center are two quarterback candidates, Chris Holman and Tom Zielinski have both shown quite a bit of talent.

This, the first week of practice, will be devoted to conditioning and fundamentals. Dunn said, adding, "we've got to get ready for our opener against Holly, October 5."

Dandy for Dad

It isn't often you see the name of Dick Juday, former Northville city councilman, on the sports pages. Usually it's his sons — Bill, Steve and Jim — who have displayed their athletic talents at Northville high school, Vanderbilt and Michigan State.

But Sunday, their Dad proved he was a pretty keen sportsman, too. Hunting in the upper peninsula with Walter Hammond of Northville, Juday bagged a 175-pound bear.

Juday was participating in a hunt staged by the Michigan Bear Hunters Association. Others had hunted all week but through Sunday a total of just nine bears were shot. Juday and Hammond joined the hunt for the week end.

Dave Hay

Bill Juday

Dave Hay Cheers Skip

David Hay, former football player at Northville high school, is a veteran candidate for a halfback position with the Central College (Pella, Iowa) football team.

The 170-pound junior will be playing under Ron Schipper, former head football coach at Northville high school, who now heads up the varsity eleven at Central and holds down the position of Dean of Students.

The Flying Dutchmen, who last season posted a 7-2 record with Schipper at the helm and Hay in the backfield, open this year's season Saturday at William Penn. Other opponents included in the nine-game schedule are Iowa Wesleyan, Buena Vista, Missouri Valley, Luther, Simpson, Dubuque (homecoming), Warburg and upper Iowa.

Central finished second in the Iowa Intercollegiate Athletic Conference last year.

Cue Ball Grand Opening Features Willie Mosconi

Billiard Champion Willie Mosconi, who will give an exhibition of his cue wizardry, next Thursday (September 19) at Northville Cue Ball, 120 West Main, first learned the game by shooting potatoes on his father's billiard table.

Willie recalls with amusement the occasion on which his father hid the billiard balls so that his son would not be practicing so often. Nothing daunted, little Willie secured several round-shaped potatoes and was diligently shooting them about when his parents returned unexpectedly. What followed he leaves unsaid, but admits that he took several meals off the mantle thereafter.

Willie will demonstrate to his audience that billiards is in fact an easy game to learn and to play well if strict attention is paid to fundamentals.

WILLIE MOSCONI

All-Stater To Help Vanderbilt

Bill Juday, former all-state lineman from Northville high school, was one of 66 grid-ders who turned out Labor Day for the first fall practice for the Vanderbilt football squad.

A veteran, 210-pound guard, Juday's line experience is expected to help Coach Jack Green in carving out a formidable 1963 squad.

Juday, whose brother Steve is a top quarterback contender at Michigan State university, is a 21-year-old junior at Vanderbilt (Nashville, Tennessee) where he is studying mechanical engineering. He is one of two Michigan players included in the initial varsity football roster at Vanderbilt. The other is Dan Gerow of Sturgis, a 210-pound junior candidate for an end position.

Green proclaims that Monday was an excellent time to start football practice. "The day is appropriately named," he said, "for that's exactly what we planned — labor. We had a fine spring practice. Our men know what is expected of them, and I believe they are in condition to work hard during fall practice."

Vanderbilt opens, at home, with Furman, on September 21 in a night game, then tackles Georgia, Alabama, Florida and Ole Miss before engaging BC, then finishing with Kentucky, Tulane, George Washington and traditional rival, Tennessee.

Walter Couse Participates In Prayer Breakfast

Walter L. Couse, West Seven Mile road, gave the closing prayer Wednesday morning at the Governor's Prayer Breakfast in Lansing.

The breakfast, held for the first time in Michigan, is now conducted in 46 states throughout the nation.

The program began at 7:30 a.m. at the Jack Tar Hotel with Walker Ciser presiding. Stanley S. Kresge gave the invocation, which was followed by a welcome from Lansing's Mayor Willard Bowerman, Jr.

Following breakfast former Michigan governors Wilbur Brucker and John B. Swainson read scriptures from the Old and New Testaments, respectively.

Remarks by Judge Boyd Leedom and Governor George Romney came just before the prayer by Couse.

The Rev. Lloyd Brasure, Ben Duguid and William Shiger, all of Northville, were among some 500 attending.

Trustee Explains 'No'

To the Editor:

In the September 5 edition of The Record an explanation was given for my negative vote on the revised engineering fees for the inspection of sanitary sewer installations. I believe it should be clarified that my negative vote was based on my unwillingness to accept the arbitrary assessment which would be retained by the township. A negative vote was necessary because the township's add-on was a part of the proposal to revise the engineer's fees. However, if the engineer is to bill the township based on time expended and if the contractor is to pay the Township based on number of feet of sewer, unnecessary administrative expense is invited.

It is true I referred to this method of cost determination as similar to that used in the development of the $400 tap-in fee for interceptor sewer connections. The tap-in fee has only one defined cost factor — approximately $135 — being that due the County for the Township's share of the bonded indebtedness incurred by the County for the sewer. With the consideration to purchase additional taps at a lesser unit cost, I wonder if we will also consider a revision of the over all tap-in fee.

As we enter a period of assuming service facilities, I believe cost considerations and determinations must become of more concern in our deliberations. Fundamentally, we must build into fees a recovery of capital, operating, maintenance, and administrative expenses as applicable. Where related to the benefit or utility of a few, the costs generally should be borne by the few. The determination, of a fee on the basis of certain estimates is not evil, but the failure to consider and define the composition of the estimates is poor management.

Whether a service fee is for a facility in the general interest or for the benefit of a few, we must also take precautions against the programming of unwarranted surpluses. If permitted, surpluses invite misuses of funds. Surpluses are temporary happy accidents — not permanent planning — of public funds administration.

2-Year-Old Boy Hit by Car

A two-year-old boy suffered a slight head fracture Monday afternoon when he was struck by a car in front of his home.

Injured was Fred Goss, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Goss of 250 Rayson street. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital by Casterline ambulance service where he was treated and kept over night for observation.

According to police, the boy darted into the path of a car driven by David Kelly of 48709 Six Mile road.

Northville police are continuing their investigation of vandalism this past weekend at Rural Hill Cemetery.

According to Police chief Eugene King, several monuments were knocked from their foundations. There was evidence of a beer party in the vicinity, he said.

King said police will check the cemetery periodically, and he warned vandals that arrest and prosecution await those without business in the cemetery.

In other police action this past week, George Buckler of South Lyon was arraigned on a charge of reckless driving. He pleaded not guilty and was released on bond pending trial.

New Elementary School Opens Doors in Salem

NEW SALEM SCHOOL — The long, clean lines of the new Salem elementary school are evident in this view (top) from the rear. Cluttered yet with packages of incoming equipment, the front view of the building cannot be appreciated. Classes began for first through fifth graders this past week with only minor items of equipment lacking. But Monday the kindergarten pupils began with used equipment transported from other South Lyon district school buildings. The ditch in the foreground was dug to install a chlorine line from the school to the disposal plant. At left: Spacious, sunny and bright, the kindergarten classroom needs only its spanking new equipment to be the delight of any youngster.

The salvation Jesus came to provide was life. He did not come to establish a new religion based on certain rules and regulations pertaining to outward deportment, or the strict observance of certain rites and ordinances. He came that we might have life and have it more abundantly. You are not a Christian because you harmonize with the current idea of what constitutes a follower of Christ. You are a Christian if you have the life of God in you and you cannot be in this state without knowing it.

The very idea and essence of life in created intelligence is a consciousness on their part that they are alive. The reason God made men rather than machines was that they might know when the love of God was shed abroad in their hearts by the Holy Ghost. God can get no glory from doing great and mighty things unless there are intelligent creatures who are aware of what is going on.

The idea of love is that an intelligent creature is conscious of such an emotion. If you do not know that you love you certainly do not love. It is absurd to think of a young man being full of love for a young lady and still not know it. When one loves God he knows it. When his love increases he is aware of it. If his love grows cold he feels the chill.

The purpose of God in making intelligent creatures is that they may know when they are filled with and actuated by the Holy Ghost. The Spirit of God moved through Balaam's ass, but it was not known and appreciated by that ignorant mule. The difference between animals and men is that men are endowed with intelligence to know within certain limits what is going on in their being. They appreciate the witness of the Spirit. They know when God gives them the Holy Ghost and when they are filled with the Spirit and they know when this is not the case. Wise men who have not been deluded by Satan also can distinguish between desiring to be filled with the Spirit and in actually being filled.

How conscious are you right now of Christ in you? Do you know that you are filled with the life of God? Let us pray that this consciousness may ever increase, that we may know of a surety that God is living His life in us just as we know that we are physically alive.

I insist on this not to discourage anyone but rather to encourage all of us to pray and seek for such a clear consciousness of God's life within that, we may have power to bring Him to unbelieving men. It is the only hope for our day. Our religious doctrine, our strict pharisaism, our radical views concerning proper conduct, our philosophical theories, will never save anyone; but once let the people of God be overwhelmed with a consciousness of Christ formed within and like Jacob of old sinners will be impressed that they are at the very gate of heaven. Who will help in this regard?

Keep Food Hot or Cold

Ann Arbor — If you can't keep food hot, and you can't keep it cold — don't keep it long.

This advice comes from dietitians at The University of Michigan Medical Center who report that correct temperature of food plays an important role in preventing food poisoning outbreaks — especially prevalent when many organizations, church groups, and families gather for late summer and fall picnics and suppers.

The U-M food specialists warn that bacteria causing food poisoning often grow in warm foods. These organisms form a toxin in the food, causing nausea, vomiting and diarrhea. For these bacteria, "Life begins at 40 and ends at 140" — degrees Fahrenheit, that is.

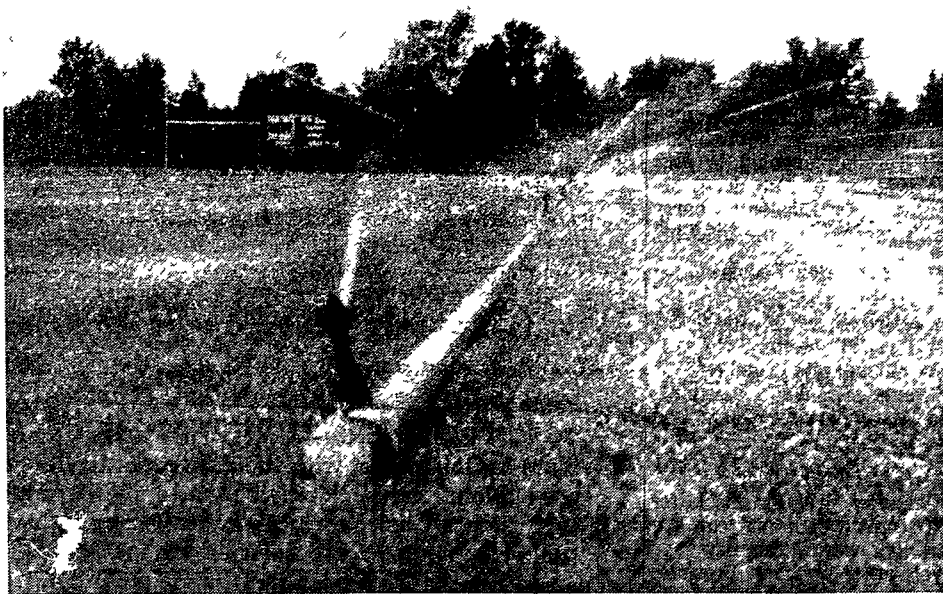

Foods to be served hot should be cooked thoroughly and kept above 140 degrees until eaten. Heating food after toxin develops does not destroy it, the dietitians emphasize.

Several hot dishes to be wary of are fried chicken, creamed casseroles and baked beans. Cold foods to be cautious of include potato salad or any dish containing mayonnaise, cream-filled pastries and mixed sandwich fillings such as egg or tuna.

The U-M dietitians urge you to follow the sound rule: Always keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold. Remember it's the temperature of the food that counts — not the temperature of the oven or refrigerator.

Amerman School P-TA Plans First Fall Meeting

Another season of spirited activities will get underway here Monday when the Amerman P-TA convenes for its first fall meeting.

The opening meeting is slated for 8 p.m. in the multipurpose room of the school. According to officials, this year will mark the second time that the P-TA will be offering programs specifically designed to meet the needs and interests of parents and friends of Amerman School children.

Program Chairmen Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bach expressed enthusiasm over the prospective programs. At the opening meeting, Principal Raymond Spear and his staff of teachers will especially welcome parents of children who are attending Amerman for the first time. Parents also will have an opportunity to meet their children's teachers as well as learn of new policies to be set in motion.

"Since the program is less formal, officials explained, this will be 'a particularly good time to ask those questions about school rules and regulations that have been troubling us.'"

After a short business meeting and program, refreshments will be served. Everyone is invited to remain for a "get-acquainted" cup of coffee.

Incoming Amerman P-TA officers are: Mr. and Mrs. George Wilkie, co-presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bach, co-vice presidents; Mrs. W. S. Funk, teacher vice-president; Dr. and Mrs. Donald Karr, co-secretary-treasurers; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Cook, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Myers, area council delegates.

Committee chairmen are: Mrs. Dean Busch, social; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Taggart, hospitality; Mrs. Kalin Johnson, membership; Mrs. Roy Kohn, drama; Mrs. N. Jenesel, room mothers; Mrs. John Stuebenvoll, savings stamps; Mrs. A. R. Basel, publicity; Mrs. R. Soucy, kindergarten roundup; and Mrs. Neva Irey, newsletter.

Monday's meeting also will give everyone an opportunity to become a paid member of the P-TA for a total fee of 50 cents, officials said. A portion of this fee remains with Amerman P-TA for various activities.

For those who are new in the area and/or who have no transportation, the following persons will help in any way possible: Mrs. Wilkie, FI 9-3356; Mrs. Bach, FI 9-2306; or Mrs. Johnson, FI 9-3685.

Art Around Us

By Jessie Hudson

This column started out to be primarily a discussion of the principal movements in the History of Art with an attempt on the part of this reviewer to show the relevance of these movements to art as it is today. Occasional reviews of current exhibits were to be interspersed into the main theme of history of art. The accent on "current" rather than "past" seems to have prevailed, however, an indication that there is a lot more art around us than we had realized. This is great, a healthy sign, and an indication of hope that this area will continue to grow in developing and appreciating original art. It is encouraging to think that, despite our predominantly pragmatic philosophy which makes us first think, "but of what practical use is it?", there is still room for the impractical, the beautiful, the decorative, or the daringly new approach which startles us into examining our cherished prejudices.

But history is patient. It waits. It silently spins its threads and weaves them inexorably into the fabric of man's culture. Each current development, of fad becomes an embroidered design which looms large at the moment as all concerned are involved in its intricacies but which in time becomes only a tiny part of the whole tapestry.

The tapestry of the history of art began with the history of man himself. Ever since he began walking the dry land on two feet, man has had the urge to beautify his surroundings. It would be hard to state which kind of art is the oldest — drawing, sculpture, ceramics, mosaics or jewelry. Ancient examples of all of these have been uncovered over the centuries with evidence which links them to pre-historic man. Nomadic tribes decorated their everyday utensils and weapons, picked up beautiful stones, wove baskets and rugs into art forms which could easily be carried with them. Cave-men decorated their walls with drawings of animals and hunting which was their only means of providing food and clothing.

Using burned sticks, dried blood, animal fats and colored earths they recorded, instinctively, an invaluable record of life around them. Forest dwellers carved intricate sculpture from native materials making fetishes, masks, utensils and weapons. Primitive peoples in all climates using readily available materials such as mud, wood pulp, straw, treebark, skins and the stains of trees, vegetables and earth, created religious costumes and masks to exercise the evils which beset them; predatory animals, pestilence, hate, war.

Currently attracting huge crowds is the exhibit of Egyptian treasures at the Detroit Institute of Art. Here are excellent examples of a somewhat later but still ancient civilization. Proof of man's persistent interest in art is abundant, also, in Toledo's handsome Art Institute. Its extensive collection of historic class is evidence that the desire to create beauty by using good design, sculptural form as well as technical skill is an integral attribute of the human species.

How Long Should Appliances Last?

How do you compare your neighbors in the number of years you use household appliances?

U.S. Department of Agriculture home economists have conducted studies to find out how many years of service families get, on the average, from appliances.

Life Expectancy of Household Appliances

Washing machines, automatic	11 years
Washing machines, wringer type	10 years
Clothes dryers, electric	14 years
Refrigerators, electric	16 years
Freezers	15 years
Ranges, electric	16 years
Ranges, gas	16 years
Vacuum cleaners, upright	18 years
Vacuum cleaners, tank type	15 years
Sewing machines, electric	24 years
Toasters, automatic	15 years
Toaster, non-automatic	7 years
Television sets	11 years

These are average figures and may not apply in individual cases. The figures are useful in long-time planning. When you purchase appliances it is helpful to estimate life expectancy in relation to total investment.

Common Colds Take Biggest Toll

The common cold continues to be the largest single factor contributing to the 14.2 days per school year the average Michigan student is absent from school, according to a study by Schering Corporation, a leading pharmaceutical company.

Using statistics from the National Education Association the study reveals that Michigan ranks 11th in days attended per pupil. The best attendance record for the 1962-63 school year was set by the state of Washington with an average of 10.5 days missed. Utah was second with 11.2. The national average of school absences was 18.9.

Medical surveys indicate that children of elementary school age have five times as many colds as do adults. According to a 1963 U.S. Public Health Service report, respiratory illnesses were responsible for about two-thirds of school days lost because of acute illnesses or injuries during the 1961-62 school year.

The first onslaught of colds strikes the schools almost as soon as children reassemble for the new year. One contributing factor to this, according to research scientists, is that spread of colds like other virus-caused infections is accelerated by the mixing of populations. In fixed stable groups which are not exposed to strangers, cold-like infections tend to die out, and do not reappear until there is contact outside the group.

The best defense against the common cold is prevention. Warm clothing should be worn and good diets planned. Whenever possible avoid contact with a person suffering from a cold.

Medicines, of course, are important. A recent survey by a drug industry publication revealed that only one out of eight home medicine cabinets is fully equipped with products needed in common types of health situations arising in the home, such as the cold.

NOVI HIGHLIGHTS

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO

September 13, 1962
The state board of education ruled against the request of the Echo Valley subdivision, Novi, to transfer from Novi to the Northville school district.

An additional proposal will appear on the November 6 ballot in Northville township. It will read: "Shall the sale of spirits in addition to beer and wine be permitted for consumption on the premises within the township of Northville under the provisions of the law governing same?"

"Sorry, all sold out!"

That's the story on the $43,000 worth of revenue bonds the Northville school board offered for sale to finance new lights and seating at the high school athletic field.

"We could have sold more," E. V. Ellison, director of administrative services told the board Monday night.

Haller, Incorporated, revealed plans for its third expansion within two years — by far its largest.

FIVE YEARS AGO

September 11, 1958
Preliminary steps leading to a bond issue for improvement of the city's water system began this week in Northville.

Reports of rats in Cass Benton park brought a quick investigation by county park officials and a promise to rid the area of the rodents — if there are any around.

But neither the park officials nor The Record could find evidence of rats in the area where upwards of 50 of them were reported.

According to Police Chief Joseph Denton, renewals of driver's licenses can be made at the city hall anytime by anyone, no matter where they live.

Representatives of Northville Downs and the Retail Merchants' association sent up a "trial balloon" before members of the planning commission.

With the announcement that horses would not be wintered in existing barns at the track site the group sought an option from the commission on its feelings regarding use of the new barns for wintering of horses.

A special citation for photo presentation of Michigan Week activities has been won by The Northville Record.

A request for a new trial in the Warren Products-City of Northville annexation suit will be heard by Oakland county circuit court Judge Clark J. Adams.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
September 17, 1948
A total of 259 ballots were cast in the Novi general election and Novi voters voted overwhelmingly Republican.

Joe Denton, Northville's Chief of Police, will address the Parent Teachers Association on the subject: "Northville Safety problems" at the association's first meeting.

He Owns More Than 200 Banks

The Northville branch of Manufacturers National Bank is sharing its downtown office here this week with one of the most prolific bank owners in the Midwest.

He's Charles A. Schoultz, a retired automobile repairman, who normally does his "banking" in his home. But currently he is displaying a fascinating collection of banks in Manufacturers' lobby.

A resident at 718 East Baseline since shortly after his discharge from the Army in 1919, this genial old man has been collecting banks for more than 30 years. And in that time he has collected more than 200 banks.

BANKS IN BANK — Arranging a display of part of his bank collection in the lobby of Manufacturers National Bank is Charles Schoultz of 718 East Baseline. A retired automobile repairman, Schoultz has been collecting banks for more than 30 years. Today he has more than 200 banks, many of them antiques.

The Northville Record—Novi News—Thursday, September 12, 1963 Section Two — Page Five

Part of this collection can be seen at Manufacturers.

Most of the banks owned by Schoultz are antique, dating back as far as 1864, and gathered from shops and individuals in many of the United States and provinces of Canada. Lately, he has begun to add modern, but unique banks to his collection.

The bank hobby was started more or less by accident while Schoultz was attempting to find a substitute for the run-of-the-mill glamor-gal posters that threatened to line the walls of his service garage located next to his home.

Schoultz had little enthusiasm for the vogue that seemed to be sweeping other garages in those days, so he began looking around for something more original.

Several attempts fell by the wayside until Schoultz installed a shelf and set out a bank. A second one was added, and then a third, until he had inaugurated a small museum in his garage.

A number of the banks in the Schoultz collection are rare and very valuable, although the Northville collector prefers not to set a monetary value on them. "They lose some of their value," he explains, "when you start talking about money."

Some of the most fascinating of his banks are those which operate mechanically, but he tries never to duplicate a bank. He also takes precaution in selecting banks for their authenticity, pointing out that many of the old banks on the market are merely copies of the original.

While Schoultz is particularly proud of this bank collection — and by the way, he prefers doing his banking in real banks — he also assembled a great variety of other antique and novelty items over the years.

In fact, before his retirement the walls of his workshop were completely filled with old relics of all kinds. Even today, he has enough antiques and old pieces to easily fill a good-size room.

As a matter of fact years ago his workshop was a regular visiting place by school classes, Scouting units, and other youth and some adult groups.

Now that he no longer operates the shop, visitors are few and his collections slowly are dwindling, with items going to museums, others to his grown children. Collecting is fun only if the collector can show items to interested persons who appreciate them, he said.

All of which brought Schoultz to the subject of a museum for Northville. He suggested that possibly the old library building could be moved from its present site, after the new library is opened, and be turned into a museum. "I'd be willing to donate most of my collection if I could be sure the museum would be permanent," he said.

"It's something the community could use and appreciate. Maybe someday someone will come up with a good idea. I hope so. Otherwise, my collection probably will end up at some other museum."

Errors Dip With 'Dial 1'

Since telephone users in Northville have been dialing the access code "1" before placing a long distance call, there has been a sharp drop in wrong number cases, the Michigan Bell Telephone Company reported this week.

Put into use early in April, the code makes it impossible for a customer to mistakenly reach a long distance point as he dials an intended local call.

Prior to the introduction of the access code, Michigan Bell said there were unnecessarily high instances of customers being inconvenienced by reaching a long distance point after dialing what they intended to be a local call.

"These intended local calls went to long distance points through a dialing error, but now no call can reach a long distance number unless the user first dials the numeral "1," said Hazen J. Wilson, manager here for Michigan Bell.

Wilson cited a case as an example. A user here intends to dial a Superior 8 (788) number in Detroit. By mistake, he dials SU 9 (789). Before use of the code "1," that call would have proceeded on to the Sunset 9 in Flint, Michigan.

"Long distance calls to wrong numbers have dropped about 75 per cent since the code was put into effect," Wilson said, "and this reduction comes with two important benefits to our users. The first is that calls are getting through faster — no loss of time while the called party explains a wrong number has been reached. Secondly, subscribers are not subjected to the inconvenience of having to contact their telephone business office to correct charges for unintended long distance calls."

Wilson said that some customers are still not entirely in the habit of dialing the "1" before a long distance call is attempted.

"When a user now tries a long distance call and forgets to dial the '1' first, that call is blocked and the user hears a recording which reminds him of the omission."

Some users, Wilson pointed out, are not certain of what is a long distance call and what is not, and he suggested they refer to page 2 of their telephone directory.

Northville Cue Ball
120 WEST MAIN STREET

- City Council Minutes -

The regular meeting of the Northville City Council was called to order by Mayor Allen on Monday, August 19, 1963, 8:00 p.m. at the City Hall.

Present: Allen, Ambler, Canterbury, Carlson and Kester. Absent: None.

On motion by Carlson, supported by Kester, the minutes of the previous meeting of August 5, 1963, were approved as corrected. Unanimously carried.

Moved by Canterbury, supported by Ambler, that the bills in the following amounts be paid:

General	$14,078.42
Water	1,397.04
City Hall Constr.	7,560.00

Unanimously carried.

Mr. Canterbury suggested that Judge McDonald give a report on the results of the meeting of Judges' Association at Cadillac.

Communications:

A letter from the Michigan Public Service Company was read, relative to the matter of the application of Michigan Bell Telephone Company for authority to revise the boundary between its Northville exchange and the Livonia zone of its Detroit District exchange.

Clyde Fulton, Attorney for Foundry Flank and Equipment Company, appeared before Council to check as to policy on private taps for Novi Sanitary Sewer. Mr. Canterbury suggested that the City Manager and the City Attorney study the matter and report back to council at the September 3rd meeting.

Open Bids for tractor, loader and backhoe:

The clerk read the advertisement for bids as it appeared in the Northville Record and the following bids were opened:

Hugh Arms & Son: 1963 Model 51203-23 Ford Series, 5000 Super Major Tractor, $5490 (within 20 days).

Canton Tractor Sales, Inc.: Model 5000 Super Major Diesel tractor, Model 712 Ford Loader with yard bucket, Model 723 - 14 ft. Ford Backhoe with 24" high capacity bucket - $5485 (no delivery date).

Broquet Ford Tractor & Equipment Co: Tractor, Loader and Backhoe, per specifications - $5,290.00 (no delivery date).

The City Manager is to check with the Supt. of Public Works and report back at the next meeting at which time the contract will be awarded.

Report from Police:

In a report from the Police Dept., relative to the application from the Northville Bar for a license to have a dance permit, the Chief of Police reported they have a clean record and are most co-operative in policing their own problems. Moved by Canterbury that as worded by the proposal from the State Liquor Control Commission be notified the City Council has no objections to granting a dance permit to the Northville Bar, supported by Ambler. Unanimously carried.

Proposed Parking District Amendment:

Mr. William Slattery presented to the council the Planning Commission's proposed amendment to the parking ordinance for the protection of those living in a residential area if a parking lot were allowed, in that the owner of the parking lot would have to establish a "green belt" (shrubbery, wall or barrier) between the parking lot and the residence, the parking lot, not to extend beyond the front building line of the adjacent homes, a specified width to be set between the front building line and the parking area to be blacktopped to alleviate any dust conditions. The question of the set back on both sides of a corner lot arose and after discussion this matter was referred back to the Planning Commission for their further consideration.

Planning Commission's recommendation regarding new setback regulations for corner lots:

Mr. Slattery presented the Planning Commission's tentative plan to require subdivisions in new subdivisions to spell out the proper dimensions of their lots and where in the older part of the city this conflicted with existing conditions it would be a matter for the Appeal Board to decide if homeowner would be forced to abide by the regulations. Since the new plan did not too clearly define the limits of side yards, etc. it was suggested by Allen that this matter be held in abeyance and a future meeting set for this and the parking lot hearing for the same time.

Suggestion made that City Attorney meet with Planning Commission when necessary. The attorney stated that it has been, and will continue to be, his practice to be available on request.

Report from Playschool group, making Requests Regarding use of the Recreation Building:

A letter from the Play School Group to use the Recreation Building, beginning September 13 was read by Mr. Ambler, in which several questions were raised as to approximate rent, maintenance, locked storage available and asking that they be permitted to build storage space and open lockers for wraps, boots, etc. They also offered to donate play equipment. This matter is to be referred to the Recreation Committee and its Director.

Mr. Ambler reported that as yet they had not been able to locate the water-proof coating they needed for installation of a skating rink but would continue their search. Robert Cole was to be notified to remove the pile of rubble and take care of other minor items and if within two weeks of notification this has not been done, the City will hire someone to do the job and bill Robert Cole for the charges.

Mr. Potthoff reported that Mr. Robert Cole had agreed to install the folding door and the kitchen units.

Renewal of Garbage Contract:

Following a discussion on the service rendered by the present contractor for garbage collection - Mr. McCreedy - it was agreed that some of the problems encountered had stemmed from the fact that some of the requirements as to time limit for containers to appear along the curb, type of containers, etc. had not been too clearly spelled out to both the contractor or the general public. Mr. Canterbury suggested the city manager institute an enforcement campaign in order to make all citizens more aware of their responsibilities in the matter of the garbage collection. Some complaints had been registered as to the hours of collection and the City Manager is to see the contractor regarding dates and hours.

Agreement with Benecke & Krue:

Moved by Carlson, supported by Kester that the Water and Sewer contract as presented by the attorney be approved. Unanimously carried (Ambler not present).

Miscellaneous:

Mrs. Carlson reported that the bridge on Hutton Street near Mr. Ware's apartments was in need of attention.

Announcement was made that the 21st Banquet was scheduled for Wednesday, September 11, at the Thunderbird Inn, with a speaker from Schoolcraft college. Tickets - $8.00. September 5 to 7 are the dates for the delegates to attend Michigan Municipal Convention at Mackinac Island.

Mayor Allen announced that the 3rd annual Citizens' Recognition Banquet would probably be scheduled for the latter part of October and appointed Mr. Fred Kester as chairman in charge of arrangements, tickets, etc.

By unanimous agreement the regular council meeting scheduled for Monday, September 2 is changed to Tuesday, September 3, 1963 because of the Labor Day Holiday. There being no further business, the meeting adjourned 10:35 p.m.

LET'S TALK CARS...

How Good are Today's Cars?

Back in the days when granddad was a boy folks thought that the automobile was a modern miracle, thirty miles per hour was a reckless speed and that engineering wizards had "gone about as far" as they can go in developing the new horseless carriages.

Youngsters won't remember it, but back before the invention of the self starter all cars were started with a mighty heave from a hand crank that every motorist carried as a necessity. The cranking action was to the right and it often required numerous turns before starting. Then when it did start, the counter thrust when the engine compression forced the crank back left many a pioneer motorist with a broken arm.

Progress since those days has meant thousands of inventions as well as improvements upon improvements. Mufflers, for instance, would be fifteen feet long and two feet in diameter if built on the standards of thirty years ago. But to meet the needs of today's engine power engineers found ways of improving muffler efficiency as the engines became more powerful.

Modern cars are truly mechanical marvels. Machined tolerances made possible by electronic measurements are finer than one tenth of the thickness of a human hair. If it were not for modern mass production methods they would cost so much that only the wealthy could afford them.

Therein lies the primary reason dealers exist and are important — to give individual attention and service to a mass-produced product.

Governor Names Tyler to Area Planning Body

Announcement has been made by the office of Governor George Romney of the appointment of Wilson D. Tyler, 19772 Meadowbrook, to the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission.

Tyler, who is an assistant vice president of The Detroit Bank and Trust company, was named to the 75-member commission as a representative of banking and finance.

The area served by the regional planning commission comprises Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties. Its purpose is to guide the physical development of the area, recommend economies, further cooperation between governmental and private agencies and make available to public and private agencies knowledge on economic, social and physical aspects of the region.

The agency maintains headquarters offices in Detroit and is headed by Paul M. Reid, executive director. The work of the agency involves land use planning and development of service facility plans for transportation, recreation, water supply, sewers, drainage, airports and waterfront utilization.

The 75-member body is appointed by the Governor to serve three-year terms. The commission meets as a whole quarterly with the executive committee meeting monthly. Tyler was elected to the Northville township board in last April's election as a trustee.

Michigan Bell Starts 'Super' Service Here

The Michigan Public Service Commission has approved a petition of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company to offer greatly expanded calling privileges into Detroit on an optional basis for telephone users here. Referred to as SEAS, super extended area service, the service started Saturday on a trial basis to determine customer acceptance.

Under the plan, residence telephone users in Livonia, Farmington, Plymouth, and Garden City who subscribe to SEAS are able to call up to half a million telephones in an area including downtown and midtown Detroit on an unlimited basis, without toll or message unit charges.

Business customers enjoy the same service except that one message unit (4.2 cents) would be charged for each call, regardless of length, to the portion of the super extended area that is in the Detroit zone. Previously, business subscribers paid either toll charges or multi-message units for these calls.

Local Boy Leaving To Study Abroad

David Filkin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Filkin, 621 Fairbrook, is among 121 Kalamazoo College students who expect to leave this month for two quarters of study abroad. Filkin, who is participating in the College's Foreign Study program in Erlangen, will sail aboard the ship "Arkadia" from Montreal September 20.

Kalamazoo College students will enroll in classes at Aix-en-Provence and Caen, France; Munster, Bonn and Erlangen, Germany; Madrid, Spain, Sierra Leone, West Africa; Beirut, Lebanon and Mexico City, Mexico. This fall will mark the first time Kalamazoo students will study in Erlangen and Beirut.

Besides six months of foreign study for juniors, Kalamazoo's new plan for full-year education includes independent research projects for seniors, jobs for sophomores during their vacation quarters arranged by the college's Career and Service department and an accelerated three-year program for qualified freshmen.

RETIRING — Leiter B. Rice, manager of Automobile Club of Michigan's Livonia division office for the past two years, is retiring this month after 27 years of customer and civic service in northwestern Wayne county. His successor will be named in the near future. Rice is well known to Auto Club members in Northville and Plymouth. He served as manager of the Plymouth division from 1936 until a Livonia Auto Club office was established in May, 1961. His present territory also takes in a portion of Redford township. Upon retirement Rice plans to move to a permanent home in Punta Gorda, Florida with his wife, the former Virginia B. Hathaway.

Traveling's Fun in Michigan

Extra Adventure Awaits Upper Peninsula Motorist

Editor's Note: How to make Eye-ways out of I-ways is the title of a series of travel articles prepared by this newspaper and the Automobile Club of Michigan. They are dedicated to making the 1963 travel season more enjoyable for motorists and more profitable for Michigan's tourist industry. Following is the sixth of seven articles.

That little extra touch of adventure most vacationists like can be anyone's simply by exploring some of Michigan's Upper Peninsula byways, the roads ignored by most tourists.

Without getting very far off the beaten track, a motorist could see such widely known spectacles as the internationally famous Soo Locks, the Tahquamenon falls (largest in the Midwest), Porcupine Mountains State park (also largest in the Midwest), the artificial ski jump at Iron Mountain (largest anywhere) and any number of other attractions with superlative labels.

But if the gypsy spirit moves him, there's a lot of color, romance and excitement waiting along the Upper Peninsula's byways.

Instead of driving directly to Sault Ste. Marie from St. Ignace, a motorist might want to head for Drummond Island, easternmost part of the Upper Peninsula. He can get there by taking M-134 to DeTour (a village, not a highway deviation).

From DeTour, the only way to get to the island is by ferry. The island is a quaint place, full of marvelous scenery and history. The British held it for 16 years after the War of 1812 and the ruins of Fort Drummond lie in mute testimony to Redcoat rule.

At Marquette, there's an inviting byway beckoning. It's a little village with a big name Big Bay.

It was in Big Bay that Henry Ford built a large sawmill in the days when wood was needed for car bodies and floorboards.

In 1952 the Lumberjack Tavern in Big Bay was the scene of a murder remarkably similar to the one that formed the basis for the best-selling novel, "Anatomy of a Murder." When the movie was filmed in 1959, several scenes were made in the tavern.

Big Bay is the home of an unique and relatively little-known institution — Bay Cliff Health camp, a nonprofit, non-denominational summer camp for crippled, children and youngsters with all sorts of physical handicaps from throughout the Upper Peninsula.

Most travelers en route from Marquette to Houghton drive right past one of Michigan's most scenic spots simply because it has received very little publicity. It's the Sturgeon River Falls and Gorge.

This is probably the only true gorge in Michigan, and the falls are among the most beautiful in the state. A foot trail leads the visitor to the falls and gorge, which are located on woodlands owned by the Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

When visitors get to L'Anse, they may want to take a side trip to Pequaming, a ghost town about eight miles distant. Henry Ford once owned a summer home here, which he acquired along with other property. In fact, Ford's holdings once included the entire Pequaming peninsula.

From Houghton, one can drive to another of the Upper Peninsula's "end of the line" towns — Copper Harbor, Michigan's northernmost community.

It was here that the U.S. government built Fort Wilkins in 1844 to protect copper miners from feared attacks by Indians that never materialized. The fort has been restored and is now maintained as a state park.

Copper Harbor is one of the Upper Peninsula's older settlements while White Pine is its newest. Located in Ontonagon County southwest of Houghton, White Pine merits a visit because it is a model town that mushroomed out of the woods along M-64 a few years ago when the Copper Range Company opened a vast copper mine there.

From White Pine one can drive south to US-2, the main-traveled east-west route in the Upper Peninsula, all the way back to the Mackinac Bridge.

But the motorist who neglects to turn off US-2 and drive down the Garden Peninsula, will have missed seeing Fayette.

Among other things, Fayette is a ghost town and state park. It's a piece of land overlooking Snail Shell harbor, the most beautiful harbor in the Upper Peninsula. Fayette was built as a charcoal iron furnace town around 1869.

But when the hardwood forests around Fayette were cut over, costs of operating the furnaces rose until, around 1892, Fayette was turned into a deserted village. Today it is complete with a genuine legend of a buried treasure.

Good Discussions Require Planning

Ann Arbor — The first step, when you are conducting a group discussion, is to feel the group's pulse.

And if you detect any sign of frustration, resentment or other emotions, you should do something about it then and there — a practice often neglected by discussion leaders.

When a group meets to solve a problem, the conferees must deal with realistic and factual matters. But the problem often can, and does, produce "a state of frustration," according to University of Michigan psychologist Norman R. F. Maier.

"Since problem solving can not proceed effectually until the emotional aspects have been dealt with, it is wise to play safe and explore and respect the attitudes that may be present in the group," says Maier, widely noted for his research in group problem solving and decision making.

One way to deal with feelings in a group is for the leader to give whatever realistic assurance he can. This should not be confused with pitying or agreeing, however.

"The second way to cope with feelings is to help the conferees express their emotions in harmless ways. 'A conference leader is in a good position not only to permit, but actually to encourage verbal release of hostility, and if he realizes that bitter feelings are modified thereby, this own feelings on the matter are less inclined to be aroused," Maier explains.

Specifically, the leader must always be sensitive to guarded expressions of feelings. "The beginning and the close of every conference frequently offer opportunities to capitalize on 'uncalled for' expressions of feelings."

The leader should also give the group a chance to think and plan what to say; dominating the talking encourages the group to take a passive role.

Accepting expression of feeling — not rejecting, disagreeing, or arguing — is important. "A conference leader shows skill in acceptance when he demonstrates respect for the dignity of his group members as well as for the importance of their feelings and thoughts."

There are two other skill points that may help the leader: "Understanding a participant's thoughts and feelings — not evaluating or acting as a judge," and "involving all participants in the discussion — not getting into a prolonged two-way exchange with one participant."

UP IN THE AIR — Northville firemen, who have fought just about every kind of fire you can think of, encountered still another kind last week Friday when a fire of undetermined origin destroyed a treehouse located near Bradner and Five Mile road in Northville township. The treehouse was destroyed, but quick action prevented damage to the tree itself.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Have you ever tried to define success?

The dictionary says it's "the accomplishment of a purpose".

This leaves some degree of latitude, depending upon the level of one's purpose.

The thought came to mind as I talked with Roy Stone this week. Most area residents know Roy, his wife Esther, and the six little Stones, each of whom has grown up helping out at their Dad's Gamble store.

Roy and Esther and their youngest, Corky (8), recently moved down to Largo, Florida to try semi-retirement. Roy's back this week and you can bet a $2.95 hickory-handle hammer marked down from $3.50 that he'll stick around town at least until Saturday's sidewalk sale is over.

While he may admit that business is as good or better than ever with son Buzz at the helm, Roy's not quite ready to fish and lay in the sun all the time.

He came to the Northville area in 1935 and for 17 years the Stones raised chickens and sold eggs from their Seven Mile road farm. They worked hard and prospered.

In June, 1949 Roy started in business locally at the Gamble store. Some 14 years later his store is doing nine times the volume.

Success? I think Roy and Esther Stone know its meaning. It's everything in life all wrapped up in the accomplishment of a family unit. It's the chicken and egg business that paid for the store; it's the store that helped send the youngsters to college; it's the youngsters, themselves — a girl who set new records for scholastic honors at the University of Michigan, and will one day soon become an actuary with one of the nation's top insurance firms, one boy in Diesel engine research after graduation from college, another managing the family business, two more in college and a youngster still at home.

The Stones have worked hard for their success and it would appear that it has been complete. But like many businessmen who have known the affect of Roy's energy upon all business activity in Northville, I hope his visits to the store remain frequent.

While, Buzz is perfectly capable of carrying on at Gamble's, Northville isn't quite ready to meet its business challenges without the help and advice of merchants like Roy Stone.

Bah, Humbug

The good fairy has invaded our home and despite my obvious dislike for her — she just plain refuses to take leave. I'm not sure how she managed to wrangle her way in, but I have a strong suspicion that my sympathetic wife greeted her with open arms when my back was turned.

"Didn't you ever have a good fairy when you were young?" my wife scolded me upon hearing my purposely rude reception.

Now if there every was an unfair question that was it. What right had she in digging ghosts out of my closet, I ask. Sure, the good fairy was around in my day, too, but certainly that's no reason for red carpet treatment, to permit her to frolic with my youngsters' already vivid imaginations.

My first real clash with the good fairy took place a few months back when my eldest daughter — barely in to her seventh year — pried loose a tooth. She'd been working on that bicuspid for hours and, without any help from her parents, she dislodged it without a whimper. I was proud of her. Proud, that is, until she proclaimed confidently that the good fairy was going to reward her with a quarter.

"A nickel, maybe even a dime, but a quarter! Good gracious, woman, has inflation hit the fairy land too? Besides, what right has the good fairy in telling our child how much she's going to receive? Never, Never. That fairy will get no help from me."

That was in the evening. The next morning she had her quarter.

Since then our seven-year-old has been removing teeth as easily as picking dandelions. And the good fairy continues to parlay enamels into hard cash — and she's still naming her own prices, too. Worse still, that imaginary creature has begun to spread her words of wisdom to our other children. So we now have a house-full of youngsters who make a daily practice of testing soundness of their teeth. And they've taken to bragging that the good fairy will give them bigger rewards.

Five children. Each with a mouthful of teeth.

Anyone with just a simple knowledge of arithmetic can appreciate the dangers of permitting this unwelcome guest to stay on indefinitely — particularly now that this freeloader has begun to drop hints about the inalienable right of every child to a healthy allowance.

All of which brings me to Robert Paul Smith's new famous Law of Allowances: "An allowance is a sum of money freely given to a child under normal circumstances to purchase anything which his parents would in no way allow him to buy."

In a special report published some time ago, Smith contended that allowances have become big business in the United States. "Because of the cupidity of the kids," he said, "and the competitiveness and blockheadedness of us parents, more and more of the national wealth is pouring into grimy pockets where it nestles alongside four marbles, a scout knife with two broken blades, six feet of fishing line, a dead frog and a matchbook from Harold's Club in Reno, Nevada."

Smith disputes the statement that about 70 percent of the cabbage in our Republic is controlled by women. "The fact is," he declared, "that at least 50 percent of the cash in the country today is ungainfully employed in piggy banks, dime banks, and strongboxes of American children."

That Smith is no dummy. Three cheers for him! Down with the good fairy!

Heredity's Role

Babson Park, Mass. — No body sensibly thinks that we are not affected by heredity. It is fundamental, and has existed for all the thousands of generations that have preceded us.

But, we have come from so many generations that it is absolutely impossible to pick out any one person and say that this is "the one" from whom we have descended. Therefore, although we must recognize that the life of each of us is affected by one or more previous generations, it is absolutely silly for us to attempt to single out any individual as responsible for our inherited characteristics.

There is, of course, no question but that our mother's blood came to us through the umbilical cord, and no doubt we were very much influenced by what our mother was thinking about during the nine months preceding our birth.

She, in turn, was largely influenced by the way her husband treated her and by the various events that happened to take place during those nine months.

So you see that heredity can be, and often is, affected by very strange and tiny circumstances which complicate the whole problem still further. Therefore, although we must all believe in heredity, both in a general way and even with regard to our specific immediate ancestry, it is a very delicate — and sometimes even irresponsible — link for any of us to tie to.

I like to date my own ancestry from a brave woman who came from England or Holland with her son James, and landed in Salem in 1637. This was a year when the so-called "witches" were being so brutally treated, and Isabel took her son James and got on the first fishing boat which happened to be coming to Cape Ann. She landed on the beach and built a rough log cabin which is now number 59 Main street, Gloucester.

Later, she helped her son James build a stone house which may still be seen on Route 127 halfway between Gloucester and Rockport. There James cut staves in the woods out in back and made barrels which he sold to the fishermen to pack with dried codfish for Bermuda and the West Indies.

Then there is another story, telling how James' son John lost all his sons at sea. But one was married and had left a pregnant wife on shore, from whom our family all descended.

Isabel Babson in the 17th century did for eastern New England what Florence Nightingale did two centuries later for the whole world. She acted as physician, midwife, and nurse to all the families then living on Cape Ann. This year (1963), at approximately the 300th anniversary of her death, a handful of people bought for a memorial the property on Isabel's home site at what is now 69 Main street, where she lived and served the people during her lifetime.

The purpose of my column this week is to tell my readers that the Isabel Babson Memorial is designed to call the world's attention to the importance of those nine months which precede a baby's birth. Here is where the great importance of ancestry comes in. Although the baby is little influenced by great-grandparents and earlier ancestors, who increase to large numbers, the baby is tremendously affected by what his mother is doing and thinking during those vital nine months before the umbilical cord is cut and the effects of direct inheritance are thus ended.

I cannot close without one important comment on the work of the six countries which have combined to trade in goods and commodities and eliminate tariff barriers. In short, I wonder if these six nations will realize their real ideal and goal until they recognize the importance of heredity by combining in a new spirit. In order for the Common Market to be a success, it must unite its dreams and prayers in a common laboratory at Brussels. Instead of each country having its own theology, or selfish ambition, it must ally with the others in one spiritual laboratory if it is ultimately to succeed.

States Miss Few Sources for Taxes

Taxes imposed by the various states differ considerably, but there appears to be a definite trend to stick with a few main sources of income.

In addition to state income taxes, three of the most common sources of income for state operations are gasoline, sales and cigarette levies.

A traveler in the United States will find some 10 states where he does not have to pay a state sales tax. A sales tax also is in effect in Washington, D.C.

All of the 50 states impose a tax on gasoline sales, including Alaska and Hawaii, and all states except Oregon, Colorado, and North Carolina have imposed levies on cigarettes.

The range of sales taxes is from two to four per cent, with most states levying a three percent tax. Five to eight cents is imposed per gallon of gas purchased. Among those levying a tax on cigarettes, several Southwestern states have enacted an 8-cent per package tax. Most of the others range from two to seven cents and two states tax cigarettes on a percentage-per-pack basis.

Michigan uses all three of these popular sources. The state imposes 6 cents tax on each gallon of gas, four per cent on sales, and 7 cents per package on cigarettes.

Democratic leaders could easily be in a long line in 1964 to challenge Gov. George Romney if he runs for a second term.

The current special session and its outcome will largely determine whether there is to be a feast or a famine of Democratic office seekers next year.

Former Gov. John B. Swainson, Congressman-at-Large Neil Staebler, Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, Secretary of State James M. Hare, State Central Committee Chairman Zolton Ferency and a number of others have been most frequently mentioned as the likely candidates for governor on the Democratic ticket.

If Romney is successful in accomplishing fiscal reform during the special session, the Democratic Party likely will have a real selling job to find someone to run against him.

If reluctance of some Republican legislators produces only partial success of the Governor's program, however, any and all of the possible Democratic candidates could be eager to get a swing at him.

Needless to say, anything less than complete success would give a Democratic candidate much ammunition for a 1964 campaign.

Alcoholism, at its worst a killer and a serious mental illness, at best, has been the object of new attitudes by corrections officials and the general public in recent years.

Fewer than 10 years ago, according to the Michigan Board of Alcoholism, people wouldn't even talk about alcoholism, much less consider trying to understand it.

Today, however, George Stewart, the Board's educational director, says the public is becoming more interested in alcoholism as a problem, and more alcoholics are admitting that they have a problem.

"Most people felt about 10 years ago that if they forgot about alcoholism, it might just go away," said Stewart.

Today a number of voluntary agencies offer community referral information for treatment of alcoholism, and some hospitals have set up special alcoholism wards staffed by personnel skilled in treating the problem.

"We now talk about alcoholism not strictly as a problem, but as a problem which can be treated," he said.

The year-end holiday season often poses problems about which many citizens are confused, according to the consumer protection division of the Attorney General's office.

These problems arise through the gimmick of sending unneeded items through the mail.

The person receiving the package also receives a bill. If he fails to pay for the greeting cards, book, toy, clothing, or what have you, he soon gets a series of dunning letters threatening all kinds of stern measures if payment isn't forwarded immediately.

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley emphasizes there is a very distinct right of the person who has received any unordered merchandise:

First, you need never accept items you did not order. You may return the package to the mailman unopened. If you should open the package, however, there is still no obligation to return it or pay for it.

As long as you do not use the merchandise, you have no legal obligation to pay for it. Kelley's advice is to disregard the dunning collection letters.

The merchandise should be kept for a reasonable period of time. If it is not picked up by the sender, or if you are not provided the postage to return it, you are entirely within your legal rights to dispose of it, according to Kelley.
